THE WEATHER

Fresh northwest winds, fine and cool.

Thursday—Northwest winds; fine.

The Daily Intelligencer.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, [illegible]

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1920.

Fishing Rights of Indians Argued at Ottawa

IMPORTANT CONSTITUTIONAL CASE BEFORE HON. MR. JUSTICE RIDDELL IN SUPREME COURT — MOHAWK INDIAN WOMAN IMPRISONED FOR NET FISHING IN QUINTE WATERS—E. GUSS PORTER, K.C., ARGUES CASE FOR RIGHTS OF INDIANS UNDER TREATY.

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—At a special sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario held here and presided over by the Hon. Mr. Justice Riddell, an important constitutional case was heard having great general interest, inasmuch as it was instituted by the Mohawk Indians of the Tyendinaga Reservation to establish their original rights of fishing on their reservation and in the waters of Bay of Quinte adjoining without license, and which involves the right of all Indians in Canada to fish in waters contiguous to their reservations without being subject to paying a license fee and taking out licenses from the provincial government for so doing.

The case as presented by E. Guss Porter, K.C., for the Indians, disclosed that the plaintiff, Eliza Sero, is an Indian woman of the Mohawk band of Indians, occupying certain lands in the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve, bordering on the Bay of Quinte, and as such Indian woman drew bounty money from the Dominion Government from the consolidated fund held by it for the benefit of the Six Nation Indians, of which the Mohawk band is one.

In November, 1919, Gault and Flemming, two fishery overseers appointed by the provincial government of Ontario, and acting upon its instruction, went to Mrs. Sero's place upon the reservation and seized her nets and fishing apparatus and confiscated them, their value being something like $700.

Imprisoned at Belleville.

Mrs. Sero was prosecuted before Police Magistrate Bedford of Deseronto for illegally fishing, contrary to the fish and game laws. She was fined by the Police Magistrate and in default of immediately paying the fine was imprisoned in Belleville gaol.

Mrs. Sero's counsel, Mr. Porter, took an appeal against her conviction, and before it was heard the Ontario Government abandoned the conviction, ordered her release from gaol and restoration of her property, but her property seized was not in fact given back to her. Mrs. Sero then brought this action against the two officers of the government to recover the value of her property and to establish her right to fish without a license or paying a license fee.

Trial Judge Died.

The case was tried before the late Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, Chief Justice of the King's Bench, but before the case was argued or judgment given he died and by consent Mr. Justice Riddell was appointed to determine the case; and he appointed Ottawa as the place for hearing argument in order that he might have access to the public archives, many ancient documents, proclamations, treaties, etc., therein having to be consulted, considered and construed.

Mr. Porter, on behalf of the plaintiff presented a most elaborate argument, showing careful preparation and for which he must have brought to his help many musty, if not forgotten, documents of the constitutional history of Canada, and showing exhaustive research in his efforts to establish the rights of his Indian client. Incidentally he mentioned the fact that his client was backed by the whole of the Six Nations Indians. Mr. Porter's main contentions were that the Indians, being the original possessors of the land as well as the waters of Canada, were never a conquered people like the French, but were always treated as allies of the British Crown, and while a conquered people might have imposed upon them any laws their conquerors saw fit to impose and also forfeited their territorial and possessory rights, yet the Indian as an ally was not so subject, but only to such laws as they assented to by treaty, or otherwise. The British Crown has in regard to the Indian always recognized this distinction, and while the French at the cessation of Canada and the Treaty of Paris following that event forfeited their rights, by the treaty itself and the proclamation of Great Britain following the treaty, the possessory rights of the Indians were preserved—and so through all the legislation creating the province of Quebec, the separation of that province into Upper and Lower Canada; and in the Act of Reunion of the two provinces as the Province of Canada, and finally the Confederation under the British North America Act, the rights of possession by the Indians were reasserted and declared, and by the B. N. A. Act as a final effort to protect such possessory and other rights of the Indians it was declared that exclusive jurisdiction over the Indians and their affairs was vested in the Dominion Government, thus securing them against provincial interference. Under these conditions, and when Canada was divided into Upper and Lower Canada in 1793 the deed of the Mohawk Reserve, known as the Simcoe Deed, was granted to the Mohawk band of Indians, and in that deed ,and following the principle of the Crown theretofore declared, it was expressly stated that "Our faithful allies " (the Indians) should "hold, use and enjoy the territory free and clear from any fees, dues, exactions, etc., and according to their ancient uses and customs" (one of which would be fishing).

Indian Rights Preserved.

Mr. Porter declared that there had never been any legislation taking away this ancient use and custom and that no provincial government could pass such law, as the Dominion Government alone had jurisdiction, if there was jurisdiction anywhere, to deprive the Indians of this right; that the Dominion Government had never taken any right in land from the Indian without his consent and surrender, and it had never taken away any right the Indian had to the water, even by a surrender or otherwise, and never would, as it provided one of the most essential things of their livelihood. Besides, these Indians as riparian owners under the Common Law, had the right to fish in waters adjoining their lands, and the attempt of the Ontario Government to apply the general fish and game laws to Indians, to whom the grant has been made giving them the right, would be in derrogation of its own grant, which would not be allowed.

Many documents and authorities were cited by Mr. Porter in support of his argument.

Messrs. M. Wright and Wm. Carnew argued the case for the defendants, contending that whilst not contesting the original right of the Indian to fish as was claimed, yet that the Fisheries Act and regulations thereunder, which, had the same force as statutory legislation; that the Indian, although not specifically mentioned in such law and regulations, was subject to the same observation of them and were liable to the same penalties as the white man, and as the act of the plaintiff was such as would render a white man subject to the provisions as to confiscation in the case of unlawful fishing, so the plaintiff, too, was so liable, citing the statute and regulations.

Complimented Counsel.

Mr. Justice Riddell, at the conclusion of the argument, complimented all the counsel for the able and exhaustive arguments they had presented and said that the questions involved were of such great and far-reaching consequence that he anticipated it would take considerable time to read and consider the documents in the archives and the cases already decided on somewhat analogous questions by the courts. It was too important a matter to deal with hastily and he could not promise when judgment would be given.

SUES EXPRESS CO. FOR MISSING LIQUOR

Sandwich, Aug. 31.—Arthur Meloche of this town has instructed his solicitors to institute legal action against the Canadian Express Company for $1-350, said to be the value of a consignment of liquor which he ordered from Montreal on May 17. According to the suit entered by plaintiff, there were 58 cases in the consignment, and these have never been delivered, and it is alleged they were stolen or disappeared from the car while still in care of the Express Company. Officials of the company are non-committal in the matter. The case will be tried here in November.

Four U.S. Soldiers In Gun Fight

Young Men Wanted by Police Escape Across St. Lawrence River in Hail of Bullets

A gun battle at Rockport, a summer resort on the St. Lawrence River east of Gananoque, last Saturday marks the latest trace of the four young men dressed in United States army uniform, wanted by the police of Montreal and other places.

Four young men dressed in U. S. army uniform visited Belleville last week but do not seem to have perpetrated anything more serious here than flirting, although they were accompanied by two girls. The fact that the local police kept close tab on them while here may have been the reason for their short visit for they soon pulled up stakes and left for other scenes.

At Rockport Saturday, Inspectors Taber and Worden of the Provincial License Department ran across the fugitives and Worden found that they were wearing clothing stolen from his room in Brockville. An attempt to arrest the four men resulted in them drawing revolvers and making their escape in a row boat to the American shore. They were followed, but eluded their pursuers after a spirited engagement in which revolvers and rifles were used.

Watertown, N.Y. police are searching for the men in the woods along the shore of the St. Lawrence and have discovered a kit of burglars tools some clothing and a warm trail, but the fugitives have kept just a little ahead of the officers all the time.

The two girls who accompanied the young men from Montreal and were arrested at Brockville have been released, no charge having been preferred against them. The young men are wanted in Montreal on a charge of robbing a storekeeper at the point of their revolvers.

Girls Prank Cost Her Life

She and Companion Were, it is Said, Flashing Light in Farmer's Window.

OTTAWA, Aug. 31—Miss May Casey, a well-known Ottawa young lady of twenty years of age, who resided at 230 Lyon street, was shot and killed on Monday night by a farmer of Mud Lake, near Westport, named John Neil, who was shortly afterwards arrested by the Perth police and is held on a charge of manslaughter.

Miss Casey, with a young man named Gilles, with whose parents she was spending a holiday, was sitting on a cliff overlooking Neil's house, between 8 and 9 o'clock. They had a flashlight, which, it is stated, they were shining through the man's window. This, it is said, annoyed him, and he shot a rifle in the direction of the light.

The bullet entered Miss Casey's hip and came out of her abdomen. She was carried to Mr. Gillies' home, but before medical aid could be summoned she expired.

Neil, who is 65 years of age, admitted when arrested that he had fired the shot. He stated, however, that he had no intention of shooting anyone, but just wished to scare the young people away. Residents in that vicinity describe the man as "queer."

Engineer Saved Many Lives

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 31.—The collision on Saturday evening between the C.N.R. express running from Moncton to Tormentine, and a work train at Vimy Ridge, west of Sackville, was more serious than the Moncton despatch indicated. It was learned today that nearly everyone on board the express was injured in some way or badly shaken up.

The train left Moncton about two hours late, having waited for the afternoon express from St. John. When approaching Vimy Ridge the work train was sighted running on the same track in the opposite direction. Engineer Sherlock stuck to his post and applied the emergency brakes, but it was too late to prevent the head-on collision. When the engines crashed together they reared, falling back on the roadbed.

The passengers declare that Sherlock's action in applying the brakes probably saved their lives.

* * *

New York stocks showed a varying trend; rails being firm, while industrials were heavy.

Cost of Bread Coming Down

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1.—Prospects for a decrease in the cost of bread were quickened yesterday when leading Canadian spring wheat millers announced a considerable reduction in the price of the new crop. The spring wheat flour announcement coincides with the exit of the Canadian Wheat Board, with prices running from $1.10 to $1.80 lower than the Government standard flour was selling at. The price for first patents was announced as $13.75 with similar reductions all along the line for various grades used by bakers.

Cork Mayor Sinking Rapidly

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, Sept. 1.—MacSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, suffered a change for the worse last night in Brixton prison where he is confined. Late morning editions of London newspapers say he is sinking rapidly, complete numbness of the limbs has develpped and MacSweeney can no longer speak because of weakness, it is said.

Thresher Sparks Fired Barn

BEAVERTON, Sept. 1.—The barn and contents of Jay Morgan of the township of Thorah, near the village of Gamebridge were totally destroyed by fire caused by sparks from the engine of a threshing machine. The loss is $3,000, partly covered by insurance. By extraordinary efforts several of the houses in Gamebridge were saved, the Gamebridge Inn being in danger for some time.

Lightning Fires Many Barns

KINGSTON, Sept. 1.—During a severe electrical storm yesterday morning a number of buildings were destroyed in this district. On Wolfe Island two barns, the property of James Daley and Howard McCready, were destroyed with their contents. At Odessa a barn and poultry house owned by R. Hartman were struck and destroyed. On Cedar Island, near the city, a historic landmark in the shape of a Martello tower was struck. Flames burst out of the tower, but they were quenched by the heavy rain.

Canada A Nation Says Sir James

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—Speaking before the Canadian Bar Association at the opening meeting this morning, Sir James Aikins, president, and Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba, evoked continuous cheering when he referred to the close ties of kindred and interests between Canada and the United States. "We are of the British Empire an autonomous nation in it. We are also of America, but we are not Americans while cordial friendship has existed between us and them for over a century there has also existed an impenetratable barrier of sovereign state hood as deep as an abyss which both nations mutually regard as holy," he said. "With them we, the representatives of the British Empire hold and will hold agains all other states this continent for our common civilization from the Rio Grande to the North Pole."

TWO HIGH COURT JUDGES TO HEAR ELECTION CASE

Brockville, Sept. 1—Notification has been received by the sheriff of these united counties that the petition filed against the return of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson in the last provincial election and the counter-petition against his defeated opponent G. A. Payne will be heard at Prescott on Sept. 13th before two High Court judges. Mr. Payne was a Farmers' candidate.

* * *

Sterling at $3.55 was ½c. lower on the day and 1½c. from the previous close.

Scattered investment buying was more noticeable on the Canadian exchanges.

Election Trial Fixed For Oct. 13

Cross Petitions Filed in Connection With Ferguson's Election.

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—Not since 1909 has an Ontario election protest been tried in this province. The protest that now goes to trial is against a Cabinet Minister of the late Conservative administration that went down to defeat in October last. The protest against Hon. G. H. Ferguson, member in the Legislature for the county of Grenville, will be heard at Prescott before Justices Magee and Sutherland on October 13, next.

Particulars were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday and likewise particulars in a cross petition by Hon. Mr. Ferguson against G. A. Payne, the U. F. O. candidate in Grenville in the recent election.

The two sets of particulars vary somewhat. The entire range of statutory charges appear in both petitions. But it would seem from a perusal of the allegations contained in Mr. Payne's document that while everything else has gone up in price the value of a vote remains pretty the same as it was in the olden days.

There are fifty-four charges of bribery of one sort or another alleged by Mr. Payne under one section of the Act. Most of these are that money in some cases $2 and in others $5 and $6, was paid through agents to secure votes for Mr. Ferguson, or to induce people to abstain from voting.

It is strange to note the number of instances in which not the male vote but the female vote is alleged to have been bartered for, either through husband, brother or friend.

One section of the particulars deals with a lady elector voting twice, an apt pupil of the old adage, "vote early and vote often."

Certain irregularities in the conduct of the polling booths are alleged, the taking of Government advertising in the Kemptville Advance, a paper owned by Mr. Ferguson, is advanced as cause for voiding the election.

The complaints made by Mr. Ferguson cover a much wider range and more or less strike at the basis of the U.F.O. organization. There are sixty-seven paragraphs in the petition.

The document reads in part: "The directing genius of this organization was the Secretary, J. J. Morrison, who wrongfully and with corrupt intention gathered together certain farmers from many parts of Ontario to dictate to Farmers' Clubs in the various ridings where elections would be held what they should do politically and threatening and intimidating the members of the said Farmers' Clubs with dire consequences and discrimination if they did not adopt the policy and support the candidates of the United Farmers of Ontario.

New Standard of Living Costs

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, Sept. 1.—Announcement of a long drop in the price of both new and old crop wheat is iewed as a serious bend in the back of the high cost of living bogey and the forerunner of a general decline in prices. Though bakers state that the price of bread will not be affected for some time yet it is conceded that the break in the wheat market is the beginning of a new standard of living costs.

TWO BOYS ADMIT STONING AGED FARMER TO DEATH

Winnipeg, Sept. 1.—Two boys, nine an deleven years old respectively have confessed to stoning John Kochut, the aged farmer of the Galician settlement near Gimli who died early last Monday morning of cerebral hemorrhages, Major G. W. Clark of the Provincial Police Force announced Saturday. The boys, whose names are J. Buraski and Harry Zalubnick, are now in the custody of the Provincial Police. No charge has yet been laid. John Walechuch, who was held as a material witness in the case, has been granted his liberty.

CATHOLIC PRIMATE DENOUNCES MURDERS

Dublin, Sept. 1—Cardinal Logue, Primate of all Ireland, has issued a manifesto to Ireland on the shooting of policemen, which reads:

"I have been told that this is an act of war. That it is lawful to shoot on sight anyone wearing a policemans uniform and honestly discharging a policeman's duties. I prefer to call it by its true name—cool, deliberate murder pure and simple—hence anyone that encourages, abets or even sympathizes with the act participates in the guilt before God."

Soviet Forces Scattered Polish Victories Continue

POLES ADVANCE TOWARD GRODNO — GREATER PART OF EASTERN GALICIA RECOVERED — PURSUIT OF RETREATING PRUSSIAN REDS CONTINUES.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WARSAW, Sept. 1.—Polish forces advancing towards Grodno have nearly reached the banks of the Neimen River, which flows past Grodno towards the north, according to reports from the northeast front. A great part of Eastern Galicia has been recovered by Polish and Ukrainian troops, who are masters of all the left bank of the Dnieper River. The pursuit of the Bolshevik forces which appeared along the upper reaches of the Bug River, near Sokol, continues. In the region of Przemysl, 25 miles southeast of Lemberg, the Poles have scattered the Soviet forces that attempted to start offensive operations. General Pawlenko's Ukrainian columns, which crossed the Dniester River, southeast of the city of Buczacz, have developed their offensive successfully, obliging the Bolsheviki west of the Sereth River to hurried retreat in order to avoid being surrounded.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Washington, Sept. 1—Poland has answered admonition of the United States that Polish armies halt at the Ethnographic frontier of Poland with the statement that strategic considerations must govern Poland's course.

Milk Price Advances

Toronto, Sept. 1.—Milk prices today took a jump of two cents per quart, the winter price going into effect this morning. The price to dealers will be $3.25 per eight gallon can.

Cars For Wheat

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—Efforts are being made by Canadian Railways to reduce the number of their cars in the United States in order to make provision for handling the wheat crop. In recent weeks the balance of Canadian cars on United States lines as against American cars in Canada has been greatly reduced but the Railway Department officials here point out that while the United States is actually suffering from a car shortage herself it is a hard matter to get Canadian cars back to this side of the line. So far as possible, Canadian railways are getting their own cars back here and are not loading for shipment to United States points any Canadian cars which would be serviceable for handling of wheat and other grain.

BIG KICK MEDICINE WITHIN THE LAW

London, Ont., Sept. 1.—The case of John McDonald, charged with selling intoxicating liquor, to wit, six bottles of beef, iron and wine, was today dismissed. McDonald, who is a Middlemiss merchant, was tried before Squires W. H. Chittick and John Stuart last Saturday.

The case was regarded as a test one and had a conviction been registered several prosecutions of druggists and merchants throughout the district would have been registered. The court held that beef, iron and wine has been on the market for years as a proprietary medicine, even after the inception of the Ontario Temperanc Act, and as such is protected by the Government.

The bottle introduced as evidence was shown by analysis to contain 33.17 per cent. proof spirits and 15.29 per cent. absolute alcohol by weight.

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press Limited

U. S. coal diggers will accept award.

MacSweeney has a better day, but is in a bad way.

New details of his crime show MacSweeney had dangerous documents in his possession, also police code.

Children's Day at the Toronto Exhibition record breaker, 125,500 in attendance.

Two killed, sixteen injured in elevator crash at New York.

Miss Casey was shot and killed by John Neil, a farmer, near Ottawa.

Triple alliance will support British miners.

Miss Casey of Ottawa was shot and killed by John Neil, a farmer.

A meeting was held at Ottawa to promote a "Better Understanding Association."

A Hamilton vestry meeting decided to ask the rector, Rev. Percival Mayes, to leave the church.

The Canadian Victor, built for the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, was inspected at Montreal.

Mrs. Xavier Demers, Montreal, died as a result, it is alleged, of being thrown downstairs at a neighbor's house.

Metal workers at Milan have seized possession of the factories.

Enforcement of the "Dangerous Drugs Act" begins in Great Britain.

General Wrangel is reported to have proposed an alliance with Petura, the Ukrainian leader.

Many British manufacturers are preparing to shut down work as soon as a strike in the coalfields is announced.

The London team are champions of the Michigan-Ontario League.

Shortstop Keating of Buffalo, playing against Akron, made a triple-play unassisted.

Fibberty-Gibbet won the feature event on opening day at the Connaught Park Club meet.

Baltimore was idle Tuesday, and the Leafs, by winning at Rochester, are again in first place.

Sterling exchange in New York was ½c. higher at $3.55½.

Canadian securities were weaker, following the reduction in Victory bond ıu ɯq ɯq ɯq ˙ɹƎɹ ˙Ʞ pue ˙ɹW

prices.

Rebel Arabs in the Mesopotamia valley are preaching a holy war against the British.

Fighting Resumed In Belfast Heavy Casualty List

RIOTING BEGAN AGAIN ON WEDNESDAY MORNING BETWEEN NATIONALISTS, UNIONISTS, SHIPYARD WORKERS AND TROOPS—HEAVY FIRING ON STREETS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

BELFAST, Sept. 1.—Fighting was resumed here this morning between Nationalists, Unionists, shipyard workers from the Shankhill district and troops. Heavy firing continued nearly half an hour, and it is feared the casualty list is heavy. The firing centred about North Street.

SINN FEINERS DISLODGED.

North Street was thronged with shipyard workers at eight o'clock when suddenly a series of revolver shots caused disorder. Military pickets rushed to the scene and shots were exchanged, but matters finally became too hot for the Sinn Feiners, and they were dislodged with the aid of an armored car. One man is known to have been killed in the encounter, while a docker was killed in a riot in another section of the town.

214 FIRES.

The total of serious fires in Belfast since Wednesday reached 214 this morning.

Special
Values on all
Summer
Shoes
—
Adams
The Shoeman

McFEE'S
EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
& OPTICIAN

Wallbridge & Clarke's
AMERICAN BLEND
COFFEE
Try it for a change
65c lb.

[illegible] Extracted Honey, 5 & 6 lb. tins
[illegible] Mayonnaise Salad Dressing .. 30c.
Pure Olive Oil, bottles .... 35c. & 60c.
Pure Olive Oil, pint tins $1.25
[illegible] Oil, for salads or cooking
in pint, quart and gallon tins.
[illegible] Flavoring Extracts—all kinds.
Flavoring Extracts in Tubes—all kinds.
[illegible] or hot.
[illegible] Oats, pkg. .... 20c.
[illegible] Grape Juice, pints .... 35c.
[illegible] 2 pkgs. .... 25c.
Celery, well bleached .... 10c.
[illegible] TEA, ½ lb. pkgs. .... 40c.
—Very savory and refreshing.
Fine Black Teas .... 70c., 80c. and 90c. lb.
At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

IN THE PUBLIC EYE
by Alex Ray, Opt.D.

WHATEVER the cause of your present eye trouble—whether your vision has always been defective or strain and age have impaired it, you should no longer neglect it. You may simply need resting glasses to allow your eye muscles to regain their vigor, or you may be in need of lenses that will aid your eye muscles to properly focus images upon your retina. We are thoroughly dependable.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
Exclusive Eyesight Specialist

ALL KINDS OF Foundry and Repair
Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

Little children's little noses that get clogged with dust and dry mucus can be cleaned out quickly and painlessly with Par-ol.

Thus the breathing is made easy and disease germs warded off. But be sure to get Par-ol—The Human Body Lubricant. $1.00 at all druggists.

City & Country

COWS KILLED

Two cows broke through a fence and were killed by Train No. 19 near Findley station a few nights ago. The cows belonged to Chester Cowan, R. R. No. 1, Kingston.

COULD NOT FIND ADDRESS

Mr. Armstrong, who was on the market yesterday with garden produce reported to the police that he sold some corn to a lady and was unable to ascertain her address. He left his name and address with the police.

OBSERVED HALF HOLIDAY

Although the Wednesday afternoon holiday season is virtually over, a number of the grocers of the city closed their places of business this afternoon.

BITTEN BY DOG

Leonard Hall, a young son of Mr. M. Hall, was last evening delivering papers on Bleecker avenue, when he was attacked by a dog and severely bitten upon the leg. The victim was taken to a physician who cauterized the wound. The canine is owned by a family named Jackson.

DIED AT GRAND RAPIDS

Died in Grand Rapids, Mich., Wm. J. Meagher, brother of Messrs. Chas. V. and Geo. H. of this city. Mr. Chas. Meagher left yesterday for Grand Rapids and will return with the body. Further particulars and funeral notice will be given later.

COMBINE STATIONS

G.T.R. Superintendent J. D. McMillan and G. H. Firth, assistant engineer G.T.R., were in Brockville yesterday attending a conference in regard to the question of Lyn station. Both G. T. R. and C. N. R. have stations at Lyn and it is desirable to make an amalgamation. One station is near the village and the other is some distance away.

START BLACK FOX FARM

Purdy Bros. of Murvale, Frontenac County, are starting a black fox farm in that county, being the first of the kind in this section of the country. The farm will be located near Murvale village, and at the beginning it is planned to have about a dozen foxes. The animals are what is known as the black fox and they are being secured from the far north. Then fencing which will be used to enclose them and the kennels for the animals are being brought from Prince Edward Island, and is the regular kind used in enclosing fox ranches. The location of the ranch is said to be most desirable, being situated on a sandy knoll, covered with young cedar, and being sufficiently isolated to give the animals the retirement which they need. Purdy Bros. are among the most progressive of Frontenac residents.

First come, first served and I'm served both first and last when it comes to
POST TOASTIES

?

Why not try McCoy Bros. for fine shoe repairing and dyeing? Their material and workmanship is guaranteed. A trial visit convinces you of our ability to give service and satisfaction.

McCoy Bros.
Shoe Repairers — 378 Front St.
Opposite Graham's Cold Storage.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE MOFFATS ARE COMING

The quaintness of "Bunty Pulls The Strings," the typically native revelations in "A Scrape O' The Pen," the homely idea of farce in "The Concealed Bed," and the idyllic appreciation of the home-land in his "Annie Laurie" are all living examples of the versatility of Graham Moffat, than whom no other Scottish writer has done more for the theatre of his country. Each of these plays seems to have struck a new note in its individuality and now Mr. Moffat has written another play which seems to have been received with equal enthusiasm in Glasgow and Edinburgh, according to press comments received from abroad. The new work is called "Don't Tell!" and is described as a comedy of Glasgow life as it is lived today, the today being of 1913. The story is concerned chiefly with a Glasgow plumber who is suddenly elected to the Magistracy and, yielding to the demands of his family, consents to hold a private rehearsal in his home, of the duties he will be called upon to perform officially as the Baillie. The complications of the story develop when, in the mock-trial, he suddenly discovers that his eldest daughter is concerned in a matter which seriously affects the entire family.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Moffat, Miss Winifred Moffat and the Scottish cast will appear here at Griffin's next Friday night, September 3rd, for one night only.

CAST OF UNUSUAL MERIT

"Good evening, ladies. How's everybody's business?" You can imagine what a bomb it was when Billy Fortune interjected the above remark into the scandal-reeking atmosphere of the ladies sewing circle of a western town. And when you know that the inimitable Will Rogers takes the part of "Billy Fortune" you can guess the humor in the Goldwyn picture, "Water Water Everywhere," which is being shown at Griffin's for the last time tonight. The men of the town just behaved "something scandalous," going to the saloon all the time, and the women decided something had to be done. So they hired a prohibition expert from the city. About that time it was the men's turn to get even, and what they did was a-plenty. You'll laugh when you see the comic denouncement in "Water, Water Everywhere." On the same program with the above offering, an interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, "Belgium Smiles Again," a 2-reel Sunshine comedy, and Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack" are also being screened.

THE LOVES OF LETTY

Does a lover's kiss signify that a proposal of marriage is forthcoming? In "The Loves of Letty," Pauline Frederick's Goldwyn picture, it is evident that it does not. Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, the greatest English dramatist who wrote "Letty" some years ago for the legitimate stage, has a depth of understanding of human nature; and he has depicted the character of a typical cad in the role of Neville Letchmere (Lawson Butt). Letty is the penniless daughter of a former London solicitor and is forced to earn her living in a bucket shop near London Stock Exchange. When Letchmere, the handsome and aristocratic man about town pays her marked attention she sincerely hopes he will marry her and take her away from her sordid surroundings. She sacrifices everything to win him, and when he clasps her in his arms and kisses her, she believes he earnestly loves her. However, just when her hopes are highest the news comes to her that Letchmere is a married man and that his wife stubbornly refuses to divorce him. He offers her a home with him in his apartments. She has an alternative in the offer of the fat, coarse beast who employs her in his office. Her problem is intensely difficult and the plot moves to a happy conclusion in an interesting and original manner which could only have been evolved by as great a writer as Sir Arthur Wing Pinero. An interesting Outing Chester Travelogue, a funny 2-reel comedy, British Canadian News Pictorial and Charles Hutchison in the 5th chapter of his thrilling stunt picture has also been arranged for exhibition on the same program.

MOFFATT'S AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 31, 1920.—In the Russell Theatre here last night, William Morris presented for the first time in America, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Moffatt, Miss Winifred Moffat and the entire original Scottish cast and production, which he brought from Glasgow, in "Don't Tell!" described as a new Scottish comedy by Graham Moffat, author of Bunty Pulls the Strings. In the large audience attending the premiere were the full memberships of the local Scottish societies to welcome their countrymen and women to this side of the Atlantic. During the day a band of Scottish bag-pipers and a committee of Scottish members escorted Mr. Moffat to the local club where the Scottish author made an address. The members of the local Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs also turned out, en masse to welcome the Moffats who will play in Canada four weeks before their New York premiere, which is scheduled for September in a theatre, the anme of which cannot be divulged at name of which cannot be divulged at present in deference to the attraction

RAMSAY'S
PAINT AND VARNISH
Mean less frequent painting. Seventy-eight years of increasing demand has proved the value of "The right Paint and Varnish to Paint and Varnish right."
"Save the surface and you save all"
J. W. WALKER - - - HARDWARE.

From Our Own Correspondents

CARMEL.

Rev. Mr. McMullen occupied the pulpit on Sunday and gave a very interesting discourse.

Mrs. J. Pitman is suffering from an attack of erysipelas. She is under the care of the physician.

Miss C. Coulter is on the sick list.

Mrs. C. Brintnell has been staying for some time with her mother, Mrs. Bronson, Stirling, who is seriously ill.

Mr. Sullivan, of Michigan, who is visiting Mr. F. Sullivan, is suffering from an attack of jaundice.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan were suddenly called to the bedside of their son-in-law, Mr. Cal. Garrison, who is dangerously ill.

Mrs. M. Parks, Mount Pleasant, spent a few days with Mrs. Patterson recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanna, Belleville, spent Thursday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds.

Mr. Tom Hicks is visiting his father for a few days.

Mr. Patterson, Stirling, visited his son, Mr. J. B. Patterson, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Caldwell and family of Belleville spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dafoe.

Miss Mildred Jones and Mrs. Foster spent Sunday evening with Miss Wanda Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Patterson and son, Vernon, Stirling, spent Sunday with Mr. John Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert on Sunday last.

WELLINGTON.

Mr. P. Rylot and four children of Rochester were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Luffman, recently.

Mrs. Emma Stinson is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. Smith, Pleasant Bay.

Miss Helen Pettit is visiting in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Carroll returned to Toronto this week.

Dr. McCulloch is back from Peterboro, where he spent his holidays.

Mr. Roy Rierdon of Madoc, Mrs. Rierdon and two daughters, Belleville, were in town on Sunday.

Inspector J. E. and Mrs. Minns and family have returned home to Tweed.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Garratt, Mr. Arthur Harris have returned to Yonkers, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Geddes and family have returned to Toronto.

Mrs. Wood has returned home from a visit at Toronto.

Miss Hilda Tait has gone to Toronto to visit her sister.

Mr. Wright Clark has returned to Oshawa.

Mr. William Hunt and Verna are in Toronto.

Mrs. (Dr.) Dean and two children of Kingston are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Shourd.

Miss Norma Clark has returned to Belleville.

Mrs. Tice will occupy her cottage for a while yet. Her son will visit her soon on his holidays.

Mrs. Estella Stinson is ill.

On Saturday night, August 28th, Mr. Richard Garratt, aged 87 years, an old and highly respected resident, passed away at the home of his son, Mr. Wallace Garratt. He was a member of the Society of Friends and a number of relatives are left to mourn his death, including an aged sister Mrs. Beth.

REDNERSVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hawkins and son Lorne of Ottawa, also Mr. Freer Herman, Helen, Cecil and Fred motored to the Sand Banks on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McLeod are entertaining company for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Clapp and son of Corbyville spent Sunday at Chas. Brickman's.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Russell returned home on Friday after a visit to Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Elijah Brickman, also Mrs. Jas. Brickman, and Mae, spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Thompson.

Mrs. Elijah Brickman is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Clarence Russell returned home on Thursday after spending a few days in Hamilton.

GILEAD.

The farmers in this vicinity are very busy threshing and completing their harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Huffman visited on Sunday at Mr. L. Coulter's, sixth line.

On Saturday afternoon Master Kenneth Yorke gave a party in honor of his third birthday.

Miss Pearl Spencer, Zion Hill, visited last week with Miss Muriel Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Huffman spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Treverton.

Mrs. Fred Yorke and Kenneth and Miss Nellie Yorke visited friends at Thomasburg last week.

Mrs. M. Yorke of Roblin is visiting her father, Mr. Albert Martin.

THIRD LINE, THURLOW

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ketcheson, also Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ketcheson, all of Moira, were the guests last Friday of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cooley.

Mr. Will Phelps has sold his farm to Mr. Rupert and will move to Belleville.

Mrs. Percy Mott and Mrs. Vandervoort, of Avondale, also Mrs. Nelson Schryver and Mrs. Levi Graham, of Belleville visited one day last week at Mr. Fred Swain's.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tweedy visited friends this week in Prince Edward County.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Casey of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Easton spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cooley.

Mrs. S. Kinlon and three children, of Oshawa, are visiting her father, Mr. Zara Vanvalkenberg.

Mary and Bernard O'Brien are spending a few weeks with their sister, Mrs. Eugene McAvoy, Ivanhoe.

Miss White of Lonsdale is visiting her friend, Miss Vera Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tweedy and mother, visited friends in Huntingdon last week.

Mrs. Sam Dean spent a few days last week in Belleville with her daughter, Mrs. Roy Wilson.

MESOPOTAMIA TO HAVE A NATIVE GOVERNMENT

London, Aug. 31.—According to the Daily Mail it has been decided to establish an Arab Parliament in Mesopotamia, and also an Arab Cabinet, with their advisors in charges of the administration. It is understood that approval will be given if the Arabs create a native prince as Governor.

The present serious unrest in Mesopotamia is primarily due to the fact that the administration of the country has been entirely in the hands of British officials. If Britain has decided to place the Government in the hands of natives, it will be a great step towards peace.

It is only a few days since it was announced that native rule would be conceded to Egypt.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS FROM OCT. 26 TO OCT. 30

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Competitive civil service examinations for a number of classes will be held from October 26 to October 30 at Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie, North Bay, Windsor, Sarnia, London, Woodstock, Brantford, Hamilton, Toronto, Peterboro, Kingston and Ottawa in Ontario.

G.T.R. will pay U. S. wage rate.

Poels make gains on Northern front. Reds driven back.

McClary's
Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

SINCLAIR'S

DRESS
-SALE-

THIS WEEK WE OFFER SOME WONDERFUL VALUES IN LADIES', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S DRESSES.

Just Look at These Values

Children's Dresses Half Price

We have about Ten Dozen Childrens Gingham and Chambray Wash Dresses in sizes from 3 to 12 years, regular prices from $2.50 to $7.50 each, to clear this week at HALF PRICE—or from

$1.25 to $3.75 each

Ladies Dresses
Only $3.00

At this price we are clearing one table of about 50 Ladies' Gingham House Dresses, in several styles and sizes, 16 and 18 years, also Women's sizes 36 to 46 bust measure, Dresses at less than cost of Gingham. Your choice, only

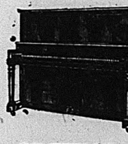
$3.00

Ladies' Silk Dresses
To Clear $17.50 and $27.50 each

At these Two Clearing Prices we offer your choice of more than Fifty Ladies' and Misses' Silk Dresses, in all the fashionable colors, and in a full range of sizes, Dresses from $29.50 to $27.50, to clear at $17.50, and Dresses from $32.50 to $47.50 to clear, your choice, only $27.50.

To these Sale Prices we have to add the War Tax of 10 per cent.

SINCLAIR'S



The GREENE Piano
Sings its own Praise

Listening to the Greene Piano satisfies because of its sweetness and clearness of tone.

Thoroughly sound in design, material and workmanship, the Greene Piano has achieved its reputation through sheer merit.

Priced moderately and sold on easy terms of payment.

The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited
HOME OF GOOD MUSIC - - - - FRONT ST.

Use The Intelligencer Want Col

First Time in America
COMING DIRECT FROM SCOTLAND
WM. MORRIS presents
MR. and MRS.
Graham Moffat
and the original Scottish cast, including
MISS WINNIFRED MOFFAT
in
"DON'T TELL"
The new Scottish comedy by GRAHAM MOFFAT
Author of "Bunty Pulls the Strings."
Griffin's Next Friday, Sept. 3rd
Prices—50c. to $2.00. Seats Thursday. Not a Picture.
NOTE—"DON'T TELL" is to be presented on Broadway for an all-winter run, starting Monday, Sept. 27.

Whose Picture Did Letty Turn to the Wall?
It was the picture of the man she loved—and the man she couldn't marry—because he was poor.
All her life the grim spectre of poverty had hovered over her of the luxuries she craved.
Then three men proposed to her. One offered her untold wealth, another position, and the third only his love.
Was she justified in turning from the poor man whom she loved to seek the gilded palace of wealth?
Would YOU have done the same? SEE and DECIDE!
PAULINE FREDERICK
in
"The Loves of Letty"
By Sir Arthur Wing Pinero.
OUTING CHESTER—COMEDY—"WHIRLWIND" Serial
GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F GRIFFIN
TOMORROW AND SATURDAY—MATINEE SATURDAY 2.30
COMING MON.—WALLACE REID AND WANDA HAWLEY in "YOU'RE FIRED"

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F GRIFFIN
LAST TIME TONIGHT
WILL ROGERS
in "WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE"
JACK DEMPSEY
COMEDY — SCENIC

Buy Victory Loans
at present prices, including accrued interest to date of delivery, at your own bank.

1922 at 98, to yield	6.37%
1923 at 98, to yield	6.15%
1937 at 98, to yield	5.68%
1927 at 97, to yield	6.00%
1933 at 96½, to yield	5.88%
1924 at 97, to yield	6.27%
1934 at 93, to yield	6.24%

Subject to change in price.
Your order solicited by
R. W. ADAMS
24 Victoria Ave. Phone 858.
e1-4td-1tw

"Say It With Flowers"
Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Bigonias
Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty
T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Friends Tell Friends
ZUTOO
Stops Headache
Five years ago ZUTOO was practically unknown in Canada.
To-day, thousands and thousands of men and women depend on these little harmless tablets for quick relief from Headaches.
Their fame has gone from friend to friend—from town to town—from coast to coast.
Wherever there are headaches, there should be ZUTOO Tablets—they relieve in 20 minutes. 25c a box—at all dealers or by mail postpaid. B. N. Robinson & Co. Regd., Coaticook, Que.

MILITARY NEWS

Military News

A Provisional School of Instruction has been started at the Armouries for Officers and N.C.O.'s of the Argyll Light Infantry. All those wishing to avail themselves of the opportunity will send in their names to the Adjutant at the Armouries as soon as possible. When all the names have been received the hour and date of assembly together with all other necessary information will be published for the information of all concerned.

It is hoped that by these classes keener interest in the work and the spirit of comradeship will develop as well as the making of efficiency.

Indoor Baseball games will be held frequently and it is hoped that the shower baths, bowling alley, rifle range and other conveniences will help to pass through the winter months with as much comfort and congeniality as possible.

Recruits are required and it is hoped that the old members will bring in their friends and help to swell the ranks of the City Corps

The two captured German guns taken from the Huns at Cambrai in 1918 by 2nd Battalion and presented to the City of Belleville are now in custody of The Argyll Light Infantry inscription attached to each. Arrangements have been made to have concrete bases placed for these guns.

Militia Headquarters orders have issued instructions for Captain F. G. Wallbridge to take up the position of Medical Officer of The Argyll Light Infantry to which he has been posted with effect 26th May, 1920.

Capt. Wallbridge served overseas with field ambulances chiefly in connection with surgical work in the field and he was specially employed with the British army for a period. He is an old Belleville boy and the Argyll boys are glad he is connected with the City Corps.

◆

DOMINION PARK, MONTREAL, FIRE-SWEPT

Montral, Sept. 1.—Fire which swept Dominion Park, the well-known Montreal amusement park, on Monday night, resulted in damage to the amount of about $25,000, according to Markland Hannaford, Superintendent of the park. No one was injured, as owing to the rain the park had been close. The fire was not under control until 1 o'clock Tuesday morning. A length of buildings and amusement booths over a stretch of 150 feet were destroyed.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

Her young lover had dazzled her with his heedless courtship, flown away with her on motor wings, dipping to earth now and then to sip refreshments at a high cost, and then swooping off with her again.

And now his wings had broken; his gasoline was gone; his motor burst out; and the rest of the journey was to be the same old trudge.

She had been leaning heavily on Clay's arm. Now she put it away from her in a mixture of pity for him and of self-reproof. When he protested, she said:

"I think I'll walk better alone for a while."

So she hobbled and hobbled by herself, he pleading to be allowed to help her. But she kept him away.

And they crept on a little farther, loving each other piteously.

In the course of time they reached the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument and Daphne sank down at the base of it.

"I can't go any farther," she said "not if I die of starvation." He sank down at her side. The moon peered at them between the columns and the cella of the monument, and seemed to tilt its face to one side and smile. A motorcar went by with the silence of a loping panther. Another car passing it threw a calcium light on Tom Duane and his guests and his chauffeur. How gorgeously they sped! If Daphne had had a bit of luck she would be with them, soaring on the pinions of money, instead of hobbling on without it.

Daphne took off her slippers and fondled her poor abused feet as if they were her children. But when she tried to thrust them back into her slippers for a final desperate effort she almost shrieked with the hurt.

"I'll have to go the rest of the way in my stocking feet," she moaned.

"Not if I have to carry you," Clay growled.

Before he had a chance to carry out his resolution a taxicab that had deposited its fares at an apartment house above went bowling by with its flag up.

Clay ran out and bowled at it till it stopped, circled round, and drew up by the bridle-path. Then he ran to Daphne and bundled her into it, and gave her address to the driver.

"But how are you going to pay him?" she sighed, blissfully, as they shot along. "Not that I care at all."

"I haven't figured that out," said Clay. "I'll drop you at home and then take him to my club and see if I can't borrow from somebody there. If I can't, I'll give him my watch or the fight of his life."

"That's terrible!" Daphne sighed. "To think how much I have cost you!"

"Well, I wanted to give you a good time on your little visit," said Clay, "and it's only two days till my next salary day."

Her heart sank. Her guess was right. His bank account was dry. It had gurgled out in amusing her. She felt that there was something here that would take a bit of thinking about—when she had rested enough to think.

The taxicab swung into Fifty-ninth street and drew up to the curb. Clay helped Daphne out and said to the chauffeur, "Wait!"

He said it with just the tone he had used when he said to the waiter, "Check!"

When Clay had kissed her his seventeenth farewell and was wondering how he could tear himself away from her without bleeding to death, Daphne pressed the bell.

Instead of her drowsy mother opening the door half an inch and fleeing in her curl-papers, Bayard himself appeared in his bathrobe and pajamas.

"Bayard!" Daphne gasped as she sprang for him. "What on earth brought you home so soon?"

"Money gave out," he laughed.

"Hello, Clay," he said as he put forth his hand. "Mother tells me you've been secretly engaged to my sister all this time, you old scoundrel! How are you? What's the good word?"

"Lend me five dollars," said Clay.

CHAPTER VI.

The meeting of Daphne and her new sister-in-law was not what either would have expected or selected. Daphne was tired in body and soul, discouraged, footsore and dismayed about her love and her lover. She had reached the door of the apartment in the mood of a wave-buffeted, outswum castaway, eager for nothing but to lie down in the sand and sleep.

Daphne could imagine the feelings of her brother's wife when she reached her home after a long ocean voyage, a night landing, the customhouse ordeal, and the cab ride among the luggage, and found a mother-in-law asleep in her bed and a sister-in-law yet to arrive!

Bayard and Leila, serene in the belief that Daphne and her mother had gone back to Cleveland, entered the apartment without formality and went about switching on lights, recovering their little home from the night with magic instantaneity.

Hot? Drink FAM-LY-ADE
WITH FAM-LY-ADE you can make a cooling, tang-filled beverage at home—five true fruit flavors to choose from. FAM-LY-ADE comes in a tube which makes 32 sparkling glasses. Simple directions on each package.
35c a tube at grocers and druggists. Made in Canada.

Mother Kip's awakening came from the light that Bayard flashed in his bedroom. Leila had a lovable disposition, but she was tired, and all the way up in the overloaded cab she had thought longingly of the beautiful bed in her own new home, and had promised herself a quick plunge into it for a long stay. How could she rejoice to find a strange woman there—even though she bore the sacred name of mother-in-law?

Mother Kip ordered Bayard and Leila out of their own room and when she was ready to be seen she had so many apologies to make and accept that the meeting entirely lacked the rapture it should have expressed. Even a mother could hardly be glad to see her son in such discouraging circumstances. All three exchanged questions more and more perfunctorily, and kept repeating themselves. The most popular question was, "I wonder where Daphne is?"

(To Be Continued)

Sports

PICTON 8—DELORO 7

Picton, champions of the Bay of Quinte League defeated Deloro, the Trent Valley League champions in a sudden death game here on Monday afternoon at the Agricultural Park, the score being 8 to 7. At Picton Deloro was beaten by 5 to 3 and at Deloro Picton lost by 5 to 1.

Deloro led until two were out in the ninth inning, the score being 6 to 4. Then Picton filled the bases and scored four runs. Deloro came back with one run. The batteries were:

Picton—Croft p., and Frederick c.

Deloro—Leal, p. and Evans c.

Umpires—Kay and Solomon of Peterboro.

As a result of the Picton win the Veterans of Lindsay who last week defeated Lakefield, winners of the East Peterboro League, will now meet Picton, the first game to be played in Picton on Thursday of this week, with the return game in Lindsay either Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

EXHIBITION GAME

At the Agricultural Park this afternoon, a large number of baseball fans were present to witness a game between the Peterboro champions of Central Ontario and the G.T.R. team of this city.

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Toronto	90	44	.672
Baltimore	87	43	.669
Buffalo	85	49	.634
Akron	82	49	.626
Reading	59	73	.447
Jersey City	53	81	.396
Rochester	41	91	.311
Syracuse	31	98	.240

Yesterday's Results.

Toronto.........	16	Rochester ...	3
Buffalo.........	7	Akron	4

Baltimore at Syracuse—Wet grounds.

Games today — Baltimore at Syracuse; Reading at Jersey City; Akron at Buffalo; Toronto at Rochester.

◆

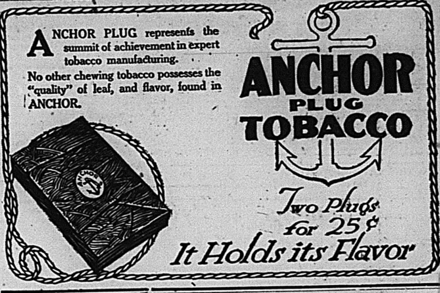
DIVINE SARAH ILL, BUT MAY RECOVER

Paris, Sept. 1.—Sarah Bernhardt the actress, is suffering from congestion of the lungs and inflammation of the kidneys and is confined to her bed.

Her illness is due to a motor trip which she took a few days ago from her summer home at Belle Isle to Paris.

The attending physicians are not apprehensive of serious developments, the start of Mme. Bernhardt's English farewell engagement will be delayed for several weeks at least.

The Sugar Saver among cereal foods
Grape-Nuts
No added sweetening needed.
You'll like the appealing flavor of this sugar-saving food.
SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE!



ANCHOR PLUG represents the summit of achievement in expert tobacco manufacturing.
No other chewing tobacco possesses the "quality" of leaf, and flavor, found in ANCHOR.
ANCHOR PLUG TOBACCO
Two Plugs for 25¢
It Holds its Flavor

"I improved my Cooking—
I improved my cooking the very day—
I baked the Borden way. You too can make richer cakes, cookies, etc. and actually improve your favorite recipes by using BORDEN'S "ST. CHARLES" Evaporated Milk. You'll notice the difference, appreciate the added goodness, and you'll never consider using any other kind of milk once converted to cooking and baking the Borden way.
Recipe Book free on request.
THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
MONTREAL
1-920
ST. CHARLES BRAND
Borden's Evaporated Milk

DIED

SHAW—In Rochester, Tuesday, August 24, 1920, Helen Genevieve Shaw, aged 9 years.

Funeral from Ward's Mortuary Chapel, No. 1103 Main street east, Wednesday morning at 9 a.m. Interment at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

◆

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Jas. Bunnett, Sr., and family wish to thank their many friends for flowers and kind sympathy during the recent sad bereavement of husband and father.

◆

G.W.V.A. Notice

The opening meeting of the Belleville Branch will be held on Wednesday evening, 8 p.m. A good attendance is requested to be present. Refreshments will be served. Orchestra in attendance. A number of Princess Mary Gift Boxes will be distributed.

C. F. WALLBRIDGE,
President.

a31-2td

◆

Cincinnati's reverse and a victory by Brooklyn gives the latter the lead in the National League race.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.
Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.
Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.
John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Paints, Oils, Glass Varnish, Floor Wax
Everything in Paint at most reasonable prices, at
SCANTLEBURY'S
—the up-to-date Paint Store.
—constantly using and seeking the best in paint materials a decorator is most likely to locate the better lines we have located.

Mercer Hospital
Graduate Nurses can always obtain positions at attractive salaries in private nursing, schools, hospitals, insurance companies, industries, etc. Nurses are needed more at present than ever before.
Mercer Hospital offers a three years course of instruction with board, laundry and medical care, in case of illness, free. Monthly allowance is given sufficiently large to cover cost of text books and uniforms and enable the student nurse to take the training without other financial assistance. Classes are now being formed. For information call or address
Superintendent of Training School
MERCER HOSPITAL
Trenton, N.J.

School Shoes
YOUR CHILDREN WILL NEED NEW SHOES, AND SHOES OF GOOD SOLID MATERIAL THAT WILL STAND THE WEAR AND TEAR OF SCHOOL DAYS. WE HAVE RECEIVED SOME NEW LINES, MADE OF REAL SOLID LEATHERS AND GUARANTEED TO WEAR.
Kor-Ker Welts for Girls, black calf uppers, heavy welt soles, sizes 11 to 2 .... $5.00
Black Kid Mother Hubbard Shoes that will give good wear. Sizes 11 to 2 .... $3.25
Kor-Ker Welts for Boys in black and brown calf uppers. Sizes 11 to 2, $5.00; 8 to 10½ $4.00
Boys' Black Boots of very good quality, 1 to 5 ..... $3.00
We have these lines in smaller sizes at correspondingly smaller prices, and every pair of shoes we sell we guarantee to give satisfaction. TRY US ONCE!
HOLMES & MURDOFF
BELLEVILLE SHOE SPECIALISTS TRENTON

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY—

The rut is only a small-sized grave.—Spear.

MACKENZIE KING'S FORLORN HOPE.

Mackenzie King is evidently convinced that he needs more than a manipulated "solid Quebec" to even place him in the running for the Premiership and at Brocvkville he spoke hopefully of a Liberal-Farmer-Labor combination.

The leader of the Liberal Rump is opposed by a farmer candidate in North York and all the pressure brought to bear by King and his backers has failed to induce Farmer Burnaby to retire from the race.

Fat chance Mackenzie King has of coaxing the Farmers into his pasture or getting on their hay wagon.

BUREAU'S BOAST OF A "SOLID QUEBEC"

Hon. Jacques Bureau, M.P., stated that the message he brought to the Liberals of Ontario was that at the next election the Province of Quebec would return sixty-five followers to Mr. King. He made a plea for the "bonne entente" in Canada.—Toronto Globe's report of the Mackenzie King meeting at Brockville.

Bonne Entente, indeed! Bureau, M.P., should take a little himself. In one breath he boasts of the "solid Quebec", the revenge of Little Canadian politicians on Canada's war government; in the next he speaks for bonne entente. As long as politicians continue to capitalize the differences between Quebec and all the rest of Canada, so long will the bonne entente be impossible, and just as long as Bureau, Graham, and greater and lesser lights of Murphy-Dewart-King Liberalism spout from the platform hypocritical sympathy with Quebec and condemnation of Ontario and other provinces for attitudes they do not take, ill feeling will be fostered, not only in Quebec, but in all Canada.

Canadians are quick to forget and forgive, and old sores would speedily close if the politicians would only let them. However, the game now is to keep Quebec stirred up and antagonistic to the government and the rest of Canada, so that Jacques Bureau and other oily politicians can make good their boast of sixty-five Quebec followers of Mr. King at the next election—a solid Quebec.

Was there ever such hypocrisy and deceit?

PREMIER APPRECIATED.

From Victoria, on the Pacific coast, through the columns of the Daily Colonist, comes this appreciation of Mr. Meighen:

"Premier Meighen has made two speeches which stamp him as a man of varied parts, having at least two of the elements in his character which qualify him in an eminent degree for the high position to which he has been called. The first bore testimony to his qualities as a fighting man disposed to carry the banner of his party right into the camp of the political enemy. Another speech delivered at the home of his boyhood in St. Mary's, Ontario, was indicative of an altogether different temperament, inasmuch as it sounded chords strung in harmony with the sentiment of almost every human heart—love of home, old associations, of happy relations formed in 'the days of auld lang syne.' "

CRISP COMMENT

If Ireland is to be made free through Sinn Feiners starving themseles, why do not all the blatant gang follow the example of Mayor MacSweeney? —Toronto Telegram.

× × ×

On what fact, on what declaration can the charge be based that the Hon. Arthur Meighen is the enemy of French- Canadians? 'It was Mr. Meighen, they say, who drafted the conscription law, and the electoral law. Mr. Meighen was Solicitor-General, that is to say, assistant to the Minister of Justice. And are these measures of exception directed against French-Canadians in particular? In what way do they affect the province of Quebec more than other provinces?—La Minerve.

× × ×

The Boy Scout movement teaches boys to play the game of life according to M.C.C. rules, and if there are fairer laws than those we should like to know on what tables of stone or marble or board they are to be found. The best proof of the value of these rules is that Boy Scouts are easily recognizable even when they are out of their uniforms. The discipline has got hold of them. They have a frankness and a courage of bearing which distinguishes them from their fellows who have not passed through the ranks of ordered comradeship. Above all, they have acquired that mysterious quality of handiness which enables them somehow to be on the spot when they are wanted, and to do the right thing at the right time, with cheerful briskness. The Boy Scout is one of the best hopes of the world. More power to their poles! There are still foul dragons which await their slaying.—London Daily Telegraph.

× × ×

Mackenzie King objects to the military and naval expenditures, but Canadians can not soon forget that if there had been less pacifist propaganda before the war there would have been fewer graves in Flanders.

× × ×

It is the rankest kind of hypocrisy for Mackenzie King and his lieutenants to prate about discord between the races in Canada and thus keep forever stirring up bitter feelings which would die out if left alone. There is method in their madness, unfortunately, as revealed by Jacques Bureau, M. P., in his public boast at Brockville that Quebec's sixty-five seats would be handed over en bloc to Mackenzie King at the next election. Are the electors of Quebec to be herded like cattle into one corral by political heelers who promise to deliver a "solid Quebec" at the polls? The threat of a "solid Quebec" is un-Canadian and a challenge to the rest of Canada to line up solidly against any such revengeful political plot.

× × ×

Be patient with the young woman who uses her powder puff in public. If you reproach her she may take out her tooth brush.—Chicago News.

× × ×

Of course England understands that our politicians twist the lion's tail in an effort to squeeze out a vote.—Baltimore Sun.

× × ×

Since Ray won the golf championship, we don't care if the doughboys do claim they won the war.—Guelph Mercury.

OTHER VIEWS

The Overall Campaign
Louisville Courier-Journal

The overall clubs accomplished nothing whatever. A few of them got as far as street parades in which prominent business men, and in some cities chorus girls who did not object to becoming prominent, appeared and were interviewed. In many instances the clubs boasted a large prospective membership, which did not actually materialize. In the meantime there has been an increase of saving bank accounts and an increase in the number of checking accounts, in many States. The man who shouts that he will wear overalls rather than buy a pepper and salt suit of clothes at what he regards sentably and live presentably, but I lead others in any direction for any considerable distance. The man who progresses is the man who says, communing with himself: I shall dress presentably, and live presentably, but I shall save part of my earnings, to that end exercising judgment and foresight in providing myself with the necessaries of life and such of the luxuries as my purse permits.

Enough As It Is
Calgary Herald

Someone asked the premier of Newfoundland if the island colony did not want to join Canada, to which he replied that if Canada wished to join Newfoundland well and good, but nothing doing in the other direction. Probably it is just as well. Inclusion of Newfoundland in the Dominion would make our problems, already numerous enough, even more complex.

A Startling Change
Edmonton Journal

In Winnipeg, where a company controls the street railway, the fares were yesterday placed on a level with those in Edmonton by order of the utility board of that province. The Free Press recently pointed out that while in 1919 the Winnipeg system had the largest gross income in its history, its net income for shareholders, after paying operating expenses, interest charges, taxes, etc., was practically nil. Before the war the owners were thought to have a gold mine and probably had. No other enterprise in the country illustrates more startlingly the changes that the past six years have wrought.

THE POET'S CORNER

FARMER GOES TO TOWN
By Edna Jacques

Put on your lid and let us go
To see a movie picture show.
My drooping spirit's on the want,
I need some joy to clear my brain,
Some baby vamp to play a part,
To warm the cockles of my heart.

This is the life, I'll say it is,
Behind a faithful old tin Liz.
That eats the road up mile on mile,
Yet wears the same old-fashioned smile.
Just like Maw used to smile at me,
When I had coaxed her on my knee.

Oh, here we are, what's on tonight?
Oh boy, was ever such a sight?
Of golden curls and twinkling feet,
That jazz across the silver-sheet,
Of custard pies and walking sticks,
That blaze the trail for knockout kicks.

Then like a dream before us play,
The happy hours of yesterday,
The foolish things we used to do,
Till I got sentimental too,
And give Maw's hand a little squeeze,
Laying there across her knees.

Say but that picture ends up swell
The country fellow gets his gal,
And takes her home, say ain't he proud!
A-struttin' through that city crowd,
And we're as tickled as can be,
'Cause it was just like Maw and me.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Less Expensive

Customer—I'd like to look at something suitable for a wedding anniversary.

Salesman—Silver wedding perhaps?

Customer (with a sudden inspiration)—No—I think—er—it's a nickel wedding.

She Made an Impression

Wifie—I made a terrible hit at the club this afternoon.

Hubby—Make a speech?

Wifie—No, but I wore my dress that I just had cleaned and the odor of gasoline was so prevalent that everybody thought we had a car. We'll have to get one now, dear.

Where Pessimism Pays

Said the weather prophet, "I think it is safest always to predict bad weather."

"Why's that?"

"Well, people are ready to forgive you if you turn out to be wrong."

Conversation Conservation

He said little,
She said less,
Both conserving
Wordiness; . .
Then it slimmered
Down to this:
"Um-um-ummm?"
"X"! (means kiss).

Nile Crosses the Red Sea

"WHEN the Nile shall cross the Rea Sea, then, and not till then, will Arabia be free."

This is a saying which in Arabia has come down through many centuries. But could anything seem more impossible of fulfillment?

Surely not. And yet the miracle has been brought to pass. The waters of the Nile have crossed over to Arabia and that country, so picturesquely interesting to students of history, has been freed of the Turkish yoke.

Look at the map. Arabia is separated from northeast Africa by the Red Sea. Until recent years the separation was not complete because of a land strip at the north end connecting Africa with Asia. Through this strip was dug the Suez Canal, joining the waters of the Red Sea with those of the Mediterranean.

During the war one of the principal objectives of the Turks was the Suez Canal. If they could so damage it as to destroy its usefulness they would thereby inflict a deadly blow upon the Allies, cutting the main line of communication for troops and supplies between Europe and the East.

It was of utmost importance to prevent them from doing this. Accordingly, the British maintained a formidable army there with its base at Kantara, on the east side of the canal. It was from Kantara that, late in the conflict, Allenby, the last of the crusaders, made his victorious march into Arabia and through Palestine to Jaffa and Jerusalem.

Enemy opposition apart, the main difficulty of that march was the water supply. Along most of the route water that would serve for animals was obtainable by sinking wells, but it was too brackish for human beings. In places there was water that Bedouins could and did drink, but it was too salty for Europeans.

At Kantara there was need of water for many thousands of soldiers, and it had to be fetched thither in tanks from the "sweet water canal," which runs parallel to the Suez Canal, west of the latter.

The lower Nile, being invaded for a long distance by the tides of the Mediterranean, is salty. But the "sweet water canal" taps the river at a point far up, bringing northward a plentiful supply of fluid good to drink.

It was Allenby who hit upon the idea of tapping the "sweet water canal" and fetching its water by a "siphon" across the Suez Canal to Kantara, whence it could be carried by pipe line through the desert into Arabia and as far as the army might proceed.

The army engineers undertook the business with great expeditiousness and in a remarkably short time a twelve-inch pipe was laid, connecting the "sweet water canal" with Kantara. It was, of course, an iron pipe, and the sections required for crossing the Suez Canal were laid on the bottom of that waterway.

It may be said here, by way of parenthesis, that the British, to help in the defence of the Suez Canal, had resorted to a very curious and interesting expedient. They dug out gaps in its banks in a number of places and therein put battleships, of obsolete pattern but formidably gunned, to serve as forts.

As Allenby's army advanced a railroad was built, keeping pace with it, to facilitate transportation. In the beginning, before the pipe line was constructed water was carried by camels to the workers and the troops guarding them, in tanks of galvanized iron. As the railroad progressed, the water was forwarded by rail and siphoned into canvas reservoirs erected in convenient places.

These reservoirs were called "water dumps," and were made of waterproofed white or green canvas, their average capacity being about 2,300 gallons. From them the water was siphoned into camel-borne iron tanks for distribution to the troops.

The railroad was built in stretches of five to ten miles and at the end of each stretch wells were sunk to procure water for the horses and camels. Then a small party of engineers would go ahead, protected by mounted troops, and search for water.

This method was pursued after the pipe line, which was carried steadily ahead through the desert, had been put into operation, for it was very desirable to economize the supply of drinking water for the soldiers, and the animals could get along well enough with the somewhat brackish fluid derived from wells.

Experience proved that the most likely place to look for water was at the foot of one of those high sand dunes which, driven by wind, are perpetually though slowly traveling over the desert. Such a dune has a steep side—which is the side away from the prevailing wind—and at the bottom of this sand cliff was a good place to dig.

The most interesting part of the story, however, is the bringing of the Nile across the Red Sea. For that, in effect, was what was accomplished, inasmuch as the Suez Canal is a continuation, though artificial, of that body of water. And when the miracle was actually performed, Arabia, in obedience to the ago-old prophecy, regained her freedom.

When Allenby's forces got as far as the Judean hills much rain water was found stored from the previous winter in curious "cisterns" hollowed out of the rock. These are in many cases natural, having been merely improved by the natives. They are like gigantic jugs, many of them twenty feet or more in diameter, but invariably with only a small opening at the ground level—a sort of bottle neck which, to prevent evaporation, is customarily corked with a boulder.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

Every 10c Packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Wall Papers and Art Decorations, Burlaps Leathers, Grass-Cloths, etc.

There is nothing made in wall hangings that we cannot supply.

There is nothing in decorating that we cannot do.

Just put us to the test by commanding

The Scantlebury Decorative Service

CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION
TORONTO
Aug. 28-Sep. 11

"The Greatest Annual Event on Earth"

Where the Nation shows its best finished product of the Mine, Fisheries, Forest, Factory, Studio and Laboratory for Exhibition, Comparison, Instruction and Encouragement

Pageantry on a Massive Scale.

Incomparable Music.

Fine Arts, Applied and Graphic Arts International Photographic Salon.

Demonstrations daily by Northwest Mounted Police

Two days of sensational automobile racing. Mile-a-minute motor boats and water sports, Electric show.

America's best Live Stock Poultry, Tractor and Farm Machinery Display

Government Exhibits and Demonstrations.

And a score of other Special Attractions

42nd Consecutive year-1,201,000 Visitors in 1919.

JOHN G. KENT,
General Manager.

Big Leaguers Use

Absorbine Jr.
THE ANTISEPTIC LINIMENT

Many of the stars in the big leagues use and endorse "ABSORBINE JR." for the rub down after the game.

They know that "ABSORBINE JR." keeps their salary wings strong and properly toned and prevents stiffness in joints and muscles.

"ABSORBINE JR." is the ideal rub-down and liniment for athletes—stops lameness and inflammation; allays pain; heals cuts and bruises; reduces sprains, wrenches.

Every amateur should make it a point to have a rub-down with "ABSORBINE JR" before and after the game.

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists' or sent postpaid by

W. F. YOUNG, Inc.,
Lyman Building, Montreal. 55

NOTICE !

Now is the time to have your furnace and pipes overhauled and cleaned by our experienced workmen.

We do plumbing also, and are Agents for Happy "Thought Ranges" famous every where.

DIAMOND & HYDE

PHONE 38

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.40
Leaves Belleville at 2.10
'Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 435

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rod or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 206.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
26 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont

Belleville Fair

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
September 6th, 7th, 8th

FIRST CLASS SPEEDING EVENTS.
BASEBALL MATCHES, TUG OF WAR, ETC., EACH DAY.

HON. MR. DOHERTY, MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE, WILL BE PRESENT ON LABOR DAY, SEPT. 6th.

EXHIBITS OF LIVE STOCK BETTER THAN EVER

FIRST CLASS MIDWAY HAS BEEN SECURED

THE CELEBRATED G.W.V.A. BAND IN ATTENDANCE
BE SURE AND ATTEND THIS FAIR.
GOD SAVE THE KING!

H. K. DENYES, M.P.P., President.
R. H. KETCHESON, Secretary.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food forwhich little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS		Train 20	READ UP. Train 22	Train 38
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	—	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*7.00 a.m.	—
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§11.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.55 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.30 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.20 p.m.
7.55 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	3.00 p.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	5.40 p.m.	—	—

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday. B. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

EARLE & COOK COMPANY

Final Clearing Sale of Summer Goods

LADIES' SUITS

25 Ladies' Suits at 25 per cent. off regular price.
Ladies' Serge and Silk Dresses, 20 per cent. off regular prices.
Voile Blouses, regular $5.50 to $7.00, only $4.95
Children's Dresses, reg. $5.00 and $5.50, only $3.75
Children's Dresses, regular $3.00 to $4.00, only $1.95
Tussah Silk Bloomers in white, sky and flesh, regular $3.75. Sale price $1.95
Ladies' Summer Dresses in Percale, Voile and Indian Head, regular up to $7.50. Sale price $2.50
Blouses in Silk and Crepe de Chine in white, flesh, maize and black, regular $4.50 and $5.00; to clear at $2.95
Shantung Silk in natural colors, 33 inches wide, reg. $1.50; to clear at $1.19
Silk Boot Hose in grey, white, black, sand. Special value at $1.19
Ladies' Pure Silk Hose in white, black, grey and sand, regular $2.25 and $2.50. To clear at $1.95

EARLE & COOK COMPANY
STORE OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAY.

Special Sale

Women's White Canvas Slippers, reg. $2.75, for $2.00
Women's White Canvas Boots, reg. $2.75, for $1.40
Misses' White Canvas Boots, reg. $2.75, for $1.40
Child's Canvas Slippers, reg. $1.50, for $1.15
Child's Patent Sandals, clearing $1.50

Also other lines at real bargains.
We Carry a Complete Stock of
TPUNKS, BAGS AND SUIT CASES
At Very Low Prices.
Come in and look, as it is a pleasure to show our goods.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Fashionable Furs

A neckpiece of fur gives the finishing touch to the well dressed and fashionable lady.
The choice is varied, but the furs most in demand are

Ermine and Foxaline

We have some nice pieces in these furs and would be pleased to have you call and see them.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

HAY FEVER and ASTHMA

Conquered by the World's Only Two-bottle Remedy. Don't suffer a minute longer. Send today $4—32-day treatment. Trial size 25c. and guaranteed.
W. K. BUCKLEY, Mfg. Chemist
97 DUNDAS ST. E., TORONTO.

City And Country

SHIPPED HOGS.

D. Scott & Son shipped two carloads of hogs, receiving $20 per cwt. for the lot.

NOW FOR DUCKS

The ducks had better practise ducking or there will be some dead ducks hereabouts, judging from the signs manifest in shotgun cleaning and ammunition sorting in anticipation of the open season beginning September 1.

SCHOOL OPENING

Public and Separate schools in Belleville opened Wednesday and the children reported in large numbers, being assigned to their various classes and seats and given lists of supplies needed. The initial session was brief but not too brief for the kiddies. High school opens on September 7.

SOME SUNFLOWER!

Kingston claimed the champion sunflower of the season in one grown in the garden of James A. Holland, measuring 12 feet 7 inches in height. Kingston can go away back and sit down now for Belleville has a taller sunflower in one grown in the garden of Mr. Newton Thompson, 281 Charles street, measuring 13 feet 10 inches in height and 6¾ inches around the base. Kingston has certainly lost its place in the sunflower class.

PRESENTATION

Last Friday evening the members of the Holloway Street Methodist Church assembled at the home of Miss Strethel Walton, Catherine street and presented the guest of the evening, Miss Mabel Woodley, with a beautiful club bag as a remembrance of her association with the choir of which she was a valued and deservedly popular member. The remainder of the evning was spent in games and music, the guests returning to their homes at a late hour all wishing Miss Woodley every success in her training and future profession as a nurse.

SOMETHING DOING.

People come to Belleville Fair for instruction, entertainment and social enjoyment. The directors this year have made provision for both education and entertainment. The Midway will be one of the best ever seen here with something doing every minute for young and old. There will be baseball matches, trials of speed with some of the best horses in Canada, exhibitions of farm produce, stock and manufactures, and there will be music all the time, the famous G.W.V.A. band being engaged for the entire exhibition. Meet your friends at Belleville Fair and have a good time at the last open air festival of the season.

BOYS' CAMP CLOSED.

After seven weeks continuous occupancy the Belleville Boys' Community Camp at Moira Lake has closed. The first four weeks the camp was in charge of Angus Buchanan, of the Belleville Y.M.C.A., two weeks in charge of Rev. Mr. Ramsay, with the boys of the John Street Presbyterian Church. The final week the camp was in charge of Rev. Mr. Hall of Madoc, with the Madoc Scouts occupying the tents.

POLITICAL EXECUTIONS.

Big changes in the outside service of the Game and Fisheries Branch of the Provincial Government are outlined by Hon. F. C. Biggs. Hon. Mr. Biggs recently inspected the fisheries on Lake Nipigon. He states that some of the men employed are 80 years of age, and one is blind. About 240 have received notice to quit. These men are paid only small yearly sums for a certain period of work. They will be replaced by a permanent force of about 40 capable men, who will receive a good annual salary.

CASE ENLARGED.

Four Belleville youths who a week ago were apprehended at Marmora village on a charge of having broken into Moses Tobe's garage, in this city, and taking therefrom a Dodge motor car, were this morning brought before Magistrate Masson. Mr. E. D. O'Flynn, who appeared for the accused, asked for an enlargement of the case for a week. In answer to an enquiry from the Magistrate, Mr. Carnew, County Attorney, stated he had no objection to the request and the case was enlarged for a week. Two of the boys were allowed to accompany their fathers home, being liberated on bail. The other two will have to remain in jail.

GIVEN A SHOWER

Last evening friends of Miss Thelma Fairman assembled at her home, 97 Cedar street and presented her with a miscellaneous shower in honour of her coming marriage. The gifts were many and varied and told of the high esteem in which the recipient is held among her numerous friends. Miss Fairman, though completely taken by surprise, in a few well chosen words expressed her hearty thanks and appreciation for the kind thoughtfulness of her friends. The evening was spent in card playing and other games after which a dainty luncheon was served, to which all assembled did royal justice. After receiving the congratulations and good wishes of those present and with the singing of "She's a Jolly Good Fellow" followed by three cheers for the bride and groom-to-be, the happy assembly came to an end in the wee small hours of the morning.

Mr Mikel Urges Bonne Entente

Better Understanding Meeting at Ottawa Heartily Approved by Premiers.

The Premier of Canada and the Premier of Ontario have each written W. C. Mikel, K.C., heartily approving of the objects of the "Better Understanding" meeting held at Ottawa presided over by Mr. Mikel. The principal object of the meeting is to endeavor to bring about a better understanding between the English-speaking Canadians and the French-speaking Canadians. The letters are as follows:

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 30, 1920.

Dear Mr. Mikel,—

I am very sorry indeed, it will be impossible for me to accept your kind invitation contained in your letter of the 26th August. My engagements are such that to arrange to attend now is not possible. You may assure the delegates of my sincere interest and sympathy with any movement that looks to so desirable—indeed so essential—a goal as you have in mind. A better understanding between all divisions in Canada, whether of race, religion or occupation, is the greatest need of the present hour.

Your faithfully,
"ARTHUR MEIGHEN."

W. C. Mikel, Esq., K.C.,
Belleville, Ont.

Toronto, Aug. 27th, 1920.

Dear Mr. Mikel,—

I fear it will be impossible for me to accept your invitation to attend the "Better Understanding" meeting to be held in Ottawa on Wednesday, Sept. 1st. On that date we have arranged for the meeting of a very important committee of the Legislature which it will be necessary for me to attend, so that I am effectually prevented from taking advantage of your kindness.

At the same time I wish to say that I am strongly in sympathy with the objects of your meeting. It seems to me that those who have in the past stirred up animosities on this North American continent, either interprovincial or international, have been guilty of a very great crime, and that any movement which has for its object a better understanding between these antagonistic sections should receive the support of all good men. Like yourself, I am prepared to believe that all we have to do in order to foster a better feeling between French-Canadians and English-Canadians is to get them to know each other better. Both sections of the community have admirable qualities of citizenship which must only be understood by the other to be warmly appreciated. I have every sympathy with your movement, and if at any future time I can be of service to you I can assure you of my warmest co-operation.

Wishing you all success, I remain,
Yours sincerely,
"E. C. DRURY."

W. C. Mikel, K.C.,
Belleville.

◆

SIDNEY COUNCIL.

A special meeting of the Sidney Township Council was called on July 6th, the principal object of which was to discuss the advisability of making an appeal against Hastings County equalization.

The subject was introduced by W. A. Reid, who made a number of comparisons between Sidney's assessment and that of other municipalities, and after some discussion the following resolution, moved by C. H. Ketcheson and seconded by Chas. H. Vanderwater, was carried unanimously:

Resolution.

"From a comparison of Sidney's assessment with that of other municipalities in the County of Hastings, we the members of the Council of the Corporation of Sidney Township, in session assembled, believing our assessment too high, hereby authorize W. A. Reid, Deputy Reeve, to enter an appeal against the County Equalization and request that such appeal be heard by a committee composed of the County Judge of the County of Hastings, the Sheriff of Hastings County, and a Judge from an adjoining county."

On motion of C. H. Ketcheson, seconded by W. A. Reid, the Clerk was instructed to prepare a Voters' List to correspond with the proposed village of Frankford to be incorporated from and after the first day of January, 1921.

A regular meeting of the Council was held. The members present were C. H. Vanderwater, Reeve; W. A. Reid, Deputy Reeve; E. Pyear, F. R. Mallory and C. H. Ketcheson, Councillors.

The minutes of the May session, also of the special meeting held July 6th were read and adopted on motion of E. Pyear, seconded by C. H. Ketcheson.

A communication was read from Daniel Dickinson, of Toronto, re assessment and back taxes on Lots 104, 105 and 106, Plan 534, Bay View Gardens, in Sidney Twp. near Trenton.

Moved by C. H. Vanderwater, seconded by W. A. Reid, that C. H. Ketcheson and Frank V. Safford be a committee to investigate and report on foregoing.—Carried.

Moved by E. Pyear, seconded by C. H. Ketcheson, that the Reeve and F. R. Mallory be a committee to attend the Tax Sale of lands in arrears for taxes in Hastings County in the interest of Sidney Township.—Carried.

On motion of W. A. Reid, seconded by F. R. Mallory, the following accounts were ordered to be paid: Richard Pyear, for sheep killed and injured, $40.00; Municipal World, account for supplies, $1.22.

The usual grant of $25 was ordered to be paid to Kelley George, a returned soldier, on motion of C. H. Ketcheson, seconded by E. Pyear.

Moved by W. A. Reid, seconded by C. H. Ketcheson, that if bylaw No. 828 passed on Aug. 5th by the County Council of the County of Hastings in compromise on the Equalization Assessment of the County of Hastings, is not accepted as such or is repealed or quashed, that the Township of Sidney continue its appeal.—Carried.

Moved by F. R. Mallory, seconded by E. Pyear, that the use of the Township grader and help of two attendants for half a day's grading be given gratis to the Frankford Agricultural Society, the society to pay the Road Superintendent for his services.—Carried.

The Council also ordered that the Reeve and Assessors receive pay for two days' committee work each in the matter of Equalization in Union School Section No. 23 in Sidney.

On motion of W. A. Reid, seconded by C. H. Ketcheson, bylaws to levy and collect taxes, to appoint a collector of taxes, to assess and levy a rate for school purposes, to provide for expenditure on roads, to appoint a road overseer, and to levy and collect a special rate on public supporters were duly passed and numbered 746, 747, 748, 749, 750 and 751.

On motion of W. A. Reid, seconded by E. Pyear, the Council was adjourned to meet again Dec. 15 at 10 o'clock a.m.

W. H. NOBES, Clerk.

SUMMER
ASTHMA—
HAY FEVER
—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—
RAZ-MAH
brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.
Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

Says He's Never Seen Its Epual

Quebec Farmer Declares His Health Has Been Restored By Tanlac

"I shall never forget my trip to the States, because it was while there that Tanlac restored my health," said Napoleon Therrien, well-known farmer at St. Leonard, Province of Quebec, Canada.

"For about six years I suffered from indigestion and stomach trouble. My food turned sour and I used to bloat up so with gas that sometimes I thought it would kill me. Then my appetite failed and I had no desire to eat at all. I couldn't sleep much and would get up in the mornings as tired as though I had been up all night. I became so weak at last that many a day I had to lay off from work and just let my farming go. Finally I decided to take a complete rest and went to Manchester, N.H., to visit some friends.

"I told friends there about my condition, and everyone would say, 'Why not try Tanlac?' I called at the drug store and bought a bottle, and I hadn't taken half of it before I began to feel better. I felt hungry all the time and thought I should eat my friends out of house and home. I can eat things now that I haven't dared to touch in years and my food agrees with me perfectly.

"I never have any gas on my stomach now and sleep sound all night. I have gained ten pounds and have returned to Canada feeling better than I have in years. In all my sixty years I've never come across a medicine to equal Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

SCHOOL SHOES

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

NO CAKE IS BETTER than the materials used in its making. That's why, if you wish good cake, you should use our raisins, chocolate, flavoring, baking powder, etc. Then you can be sure that your baking efforts will be fully rewarded with a most delicious cake. And you will have the added satisfaction of knewing you have not been extravagant, for our prices are always as low as the lowest.

Phone DAY 531

Pickle Spices Jar Rings, Parowax Etc.

Be sure you get the best by buying them at

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
208 Front St.

We are offering a limited number of Suits from $15 up.
An opportunity to buy a good suit at a reasonable price.

Lawn Seed

May be Sown Successfully Durilng August and September
OUR SPECIAL MIXTURE
40c. lb.
Also Lawn Fertilizer, 50c. pkg. at

Bishop's Seed Stoe
192 Front St. Phone 283.

PILES

Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

New Suits
Coats
Dresses
Blouses
Skirts
Camisoles
Etc.
Arriving Daily
at WOTTEN'S
LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose

your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.

T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

You can buy cheaper
"Corn Flakes"
Why not buy the Best?
Ask for Genuine Original

Kellogg's

TOASTED CORN FLAKES

toasted to a turn, always crunchy and fresh, full of the sustaining nutrition of selected corn kernels—the kind most people have eaten for 14 years —better to-day than ever before.

London the home of Kellogg's

33

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 15 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 5 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

30 x 3½
NON-SKID
TIRES
$14.95
Tubes, $1.95.
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.,
353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—FARM OF 62 ACRES, THIRD concession of Thurlow, lot 31. Good buildings, lots of wood and water. Will exchange for city property. R.F.D. No. 6, Belleville. G. N. Phillips. s1-6td

FOR SALE—DRESSER, IRON BED, BOOK Case, chair, walnut upright piano and music cabinet, lawn mower, tables, crib, carriage, bicycle, motor washer and other effects. Phone 166. 32 Octavia St. s1-dtf

FOR SALE AT A SACRIFICE, UNDERWOOD Typewriter, 14-inch carriage, in first-class condition. Apply Chamber of Commerce. a31-2td

FOR SALE — ONE GILSON ENSILAGE cutter, 13-inch, in first class condition. A. O. Roblin. a31-6td

FOR SALE—10 M. NO. 1 STOCK BRICK. Apply Belleville Creameries, Limited. a31-3td

SHERLOCK-MANNING PLAYER PIANO, 88-note, for sale. Apply T. M. Fraser, Snell's Terrace, East Moira. a31-4td

FOR SALE—CANARIES. A FEW GOOD young singers, also hen birds. Very reasonable. Apply 11 Harvey St. a31-2td

FOR SALE—BRICK VENEER HOUSE—GAS, water and electric lights. Large garden. Convenient to G.T.R. Station. Apply to 84 Grier Street. a31-4td

FOR SALE—STOVE. APPLY TO MRS. Welsh, 73 Grier Street. a30-4td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

FOR SALE—BICYCLES—MASSEY SILVER Ribbon, for years of service. New and rebuilt bicycles, all sizes, bought and sold and exchanged the year round. Bicycle Licence, Belleville. a6-d&w1m

TWO MOTOR TRUCKS FOR SALE—MENARD 3-ton and Menard 5-ton, completely equipped with Continental Motors, worm drive. Just overhauled and painted. Splendid condition. Will sell for any reasonable offer. Grahams Limited. a27-6td

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

LOST

LOST OR STOLEN — BLACK AND TAN hound with a collar, no tag. Last seen was by G.T.R. freight shed with a boy. Reward for information as to his whereabouts. J. W. Johnson, at Walker's Hardware. a30-4td

WANTED.

WANTED—FUR COAT OR GOOD LINING. State price and quantity. Apply to Box W., Intelligencer. s1-3td

WANTED—BOARD BY MARRIED COUPLE and little girl 12 years old. Central location preferred. Apply 32 Cedar street. a30-4td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. a21-dtf

FOUND

FOUND—CHESTNUT COLT WITH SILVER mane and tail, at Mrs. Jackson's Gilbert street, Thurlow. Owner may have same by paying for the damage and this advt. a31-4td

BUSINESS PERSONAL

BUSINESS SERVICE

Multigraph and form letters are cheap and have a direct, personal appeal that ordinary printing lacks. For particulars inquire at Chamber of Commerce. a31 3td

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHout experience, are making $20 weekly in spare time without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference. Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. a25,28;s1,4,6,8,11,13,15,18

HELP WANTED—MALE

DISTRICT MANAGER WITH ORGANIZING ability, capable of managing office and salesmen. Small security required, exclusive protection, big profits. Confidential. Wonder Oil Gas Burner Co., 1133A St. James St., Montreal. 1td

WANTED—NIGHTWATCHMAN FOR FAIR Grounds. Five nights' work. Apply Chamber of Commerce. 1t

WANTED—EXPERIENCED BREAD DRIVER—steady position for right man. Apply mornings and evenings, 10 Gordon St. Phone 398. 1td

WANTED — STRONG MAN TO DRIVE truck; one willing to do dairy work. Citizens' Dairy Co. a31-4td

WANTED—SMART LAD FOR STOCKROOM and window work. Good opportunity for the smart lad. Apply F. W. Woolworth, Co. a31-4td

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge Gangway. a25-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—HOUSE, CORNER QUEEN AND Chatham Streets. All modern conveniences; also garage. Possession immediately. Apply E. P. Wilkins, Farmer, O. S. D. s1-4td

TO LET — FOUR ROOMS AND BATH, electricity and heat. Central location. Rent, including light and heat, $32.50. Apply Chamber of Commerce. s1-2td

TO LET—SIX ROOMED HOUSE, WITH conveniences. Apply 186 Dufferin Ave. a31-2td

TO RENT—HOUSE ON EVANS STREET, 6 rooms. Apply to Mrs. Walsh, 73 Grier Street. a30-4td

TO RENT—FLATS, HEATED, WITH ALL improvements. Small house on Dufferin Avenue. Apply to Dr. Caldwell. a28-6td

TO LET — HOUSE; NO. 114 CANNIFTON Road. Apply D. V. Doyle. m25-1fd

TO RENT FOR SIX MONTHS—FURNISHED house, modern conveniences. Possession October 1st. Apply 286 William St. a27-dtf

TO LET—HOUSES—ONE WITH ALL CONVENIENCES, 69½ W. Moira Street; one, No. 35 Cedar Street; one on Cannifton Road. Apply Dan Doyle, Phone 869. a27-dtf

TO RENT—A NICE LARGE ROOM SUITABLE for office or light housekeeping. Apply S. Burrows. a27-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED — A WOMAN TWO DAYS A week for laundry work at the Children's Shelter. Apply Mrs. A. W. Gribble, 241 John Street. s1-2td

WANTED—WOMAN TO DO CLEANING, 25c. per hour. Apply mornings or evenings, Mrs. Abbott, 147 S. George St. a31-4t

EXPERIENCED SALESLADY WANTED IN Ladies' Ready-to-Wear. Apply Kroch Bros., 301 Front. a31-2td

WANTED—A MILLINERY IMPROVER; also to help in Show Room. The Ritchie Co., Limited. a31-4td

WANTED—GIRL FOR LIGHT ACCURATE work in factory. Apply Belleville Creameries, Limited. a31-3td

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

GIRL WANTED FOR GENERAL HOUSEWORK. No washing. Apply Cooper's Flour Mill. a30-dtf

WOMAN WANTED TO CLEAN OFFICES weekly. Apply at The Intelligencer office. a30-3td

WANTED—GIRL FOR WORK IN BINDERY department. Apply The Intelligencer. a30-4td

WANTED — COMPETENT MAID. APPLY Mrs. J. Williams, 233 Charles Street.

FUR FINISHERS AND APPRENTICES wanted at once. Apply to Miss Graham, 10 Everett Street. a19-dtf

12-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Ridgetown, Aug. 31.—George Newell the 12-year-old son of George Newell, a Detroit undertaker, was killed when the car, in which he was journeying to Aylmer with his parents, collided with a car driven by Miss Sherley Lawton, daughter of Dr. T. M. Lawton, of this town.

City and Vicinity

Daly's Good Tea, unequalled for quality, strength and flavour. At McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

Latest Jazz Hit, "Chile Bean Fox Trot," A2952. Hear it at C. W. Lindsay Limited.

At Lindsay's you will find all the new and familiar songs on the word rolls. Hear these, Miami Shore, If You Could Care, Bells of St. Marys, While Others Are Building Castles in the Air, Hand in Hand Again. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

If you haven't the record Bells of St. Marys, ask to hear it at C. W. Lindsay Limited.

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville

SPECIAL SALE
OF PORTABLE AND FLOOR LAMPS
HYDRO SHOP.

AUCTION SALE.

Mrs. Bessie Meagher, 10 Emily St., will sell her household effects on Thursday, Sept. 2nd at 1.30 o'clock. S. J. Fisher. a31-2t

THEY DON'T AFFECT US

The proposed message rates for business telephones apply only to Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, Ottawa and Quebec. The active discussion in the papers of those cities may have created the impression that such a change is intended to apply on business telephones here. This is not the case. The charges proposed for this locality are all on the flat rate basis as heretofore. 1td

All local unions are requested to send representatives to the G.W.V.A. Rooms, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to complete arrangements for Labor Day. s1-2td

AUCTION SALE
OF MOTOR BOAT

Motor Boat 18 ft. 5 ft., 3 in. beam, auto top, auto steer wheel, electric head almp, 2 cycle engine 6 H. P. nickle plated, A1 condition. Will offer above on Friday, September 3rd at 3 o'clock at the Park, Belleville.

GEO. O. TICE,
Phone 568 Auctioneer.
s1-2td

DEMONSTRATION of the WEED HARVESTER on Ontario School for the Deaf farm, in field on 2nd con., Sidney, MONDAY, SEPT. 6 at 2 p.m. EVERY FARMER SHOULD SEE THIS. s1-4td-1tw fairs in this district issued by the Onto, J. Lockie Wilson, superintendent:

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Alexandria	Sept. 7-8
BELLEVILLE	Sept. 6-8
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Cornwall	Sept. 1-4
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Delta	Sept. 13-15
Forest	Oct. 5-6
Inverary	Sept. 8
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Kemptville	Sept. 7-8
Lanark	Sept. 8
Morrisburg	Aug. 3-5
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Perth	Sept. 8-9
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE
Wednesday, Sept. 1, 1920.
Minimum 50
Maximum 70

Social And Person al

George Rose of The Kingston Whig staff visited in the city yesterday.

Dr. E. M. McCoy returned to New York today after a holiday in the city and Prince Edward County. ✓

Mr. Chester Carlyle of Syracuse, N. Y., has been spending a few days in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davison, Coleman St.

Mrs. Bartlett of St. Catharines while visiting her sister, Mrs. D. M. Jose, Murney street, city, was taken seriously ill a few days ago, but is reported to be progressing favorably.

Miss Mabel Woodley, Dunbar street, left yesterday, Tuesday afternoon, for Ottawa, where she will begin her course as nurse-in-training in St. Luke's Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Brockel and daughter Kathleen, accompanied by Miss Bromley of Toronto, their guest, have returned from a very pleasant vacation outing at Cottage Grove, Moira Lake.

Col. W. N. Ponton left for Ottawa Wednesday to attend the meeting of the Canadian Bar Association.

Mr. Grenville R. Sinclair of this city, and Mr. Jack McLean, of Hamilton, are holidaying at Crow Lake. They report the fishing first class.

Mrs. Arthur Wells, 56 Moira street is visiting relatives in Syracuse.

Miss Blanche Taft, from Sanford, Maine, is visiting wth her aunt, Mrs. A. Asselstine.

Miss Vallere Wrightmeyer is spending a few days in Toronto, visiting friends and the exhibition.

CALLED BY DEATH

CECIL C. MATTIS

In Rochester, Sunday, August 29, 1920, the death took place of Cecil Clare Mattis of Belleville, Ont. Deceased was thirteen years of age. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Mattis, one brother, Reginald and four sisters, Nora, Marjorie, Gladys and Thelma, all of this city. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from Wards Mortuary Chapel No. 1103 Main St. Interment took place at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

ALLEGED SALE OF LIQUOR

The case of Turp Asselstine of this city accused of selling liquor was called in court this morning but by consent it was enlarged for a week.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION

Sergt. Naphin and police officer Thompson this morning brought to the party of our American soldiers whom were attired in military clothing. It was thought that they were two of a party of our American soldiers whom the police are looking for, but such proved not to be the case. They were subsequently allowed their liberty after they had convinced the officers whom they were.

Have you 100 accounts, more or less? Is it not worth 75c to have them mailed in neatly typed envelopes each month? Send them to the Public Stenographer, Hotel Quinte, Phone 103. s1-4td

Attendants Wanted

Cooks, laundresses and housemaids at Ontario School for the Deaf. Wages $35 to $50 per month with room and board. Apply to

ONTARIO SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF. 30-3t

IN THE ESTATE OF CHARLES J. PEPPIN, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Electrical Supplies, authorized assignor.

NOTICE is hereby given that Charles J. Peppin, above named, on the 28th day of August, 1920, made an authorized assignment to the undersigned.

Notice is hereby given that the first meeting of creditors in the above estate will be held at the Sheriff's office, Court House, Belleville, Ont., on the 7th day of September, 1920, at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

To entitle you to vote thereat proof of your claim must be lodged with me before the meeting is held.

Proxies to be used at the meeting must be lodged with me prior thereto.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that if you have any claim against the debtor for which you are entitled to rank, proof of such claim must be filed with me within thirty days from the date of this notice, from and after the expiration of the time fixed by subsection 8 of section 37 of the said Act I shall distribute the proceeds of the debtor's estate among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which I have then notice.

DATED at Peterboro, this 31st day of August, 1920.

W. R. MORRIS,
375 Water St.,
Peterboro, Ont.,
s1&4 Authorized Trustee.

Neglected eyes mortgage your child's future

Bad sight in the child means a constant strain on the health—a struggle to keep up a handicapped future.

It is for you to see that your child's eyes are examined, and properly cared for. Faults corrected now mean good eyesight in years to come. A visit to Blackburn's will assure your child a careful examination, and, if necessary, properly fitted glasses.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and
Optician

IT'S A TICKET BACK HOME
GSN

Bicycle Licence says

A little blow-out now and then
Puts zest and pep in any man !

STORE CLOSED ALL DAY WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 1st.

Bicycle Dealers' Association Convention in Toronto.

Some of our blow-out patches will be carried so as to get home Thursday.

Bicycle Licence

Sign Writing and Picture Framing

We make signs of all kinds, large and small. At present we are writing the largest sign in Belleville for A. S. Richardson Co. We can prepare your sign and do it right.

Scantlebury Signs
ARE THE BEST SIGNS

Decorating

Is Useless if Not Correct.

Consult an expert when you contemplate decorating your home or your church. He will cost you less and serve you best, who knows how.

Command—

C. B. Scantlebury
Designer & Decorator.

S. J. FISHER

Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

Take a Brick of our ICE CREAM

HOME WITH YOU !
They are refreshing,
They are cooling,
They are healthful,
They are appetizing
They are pure, and
The flavers are the best.
We put them up fresh every day.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

RITCHIE'S

JUST NOW SCHOOL SUITS

For the Boys

Some interesting values for the prudent, thrifty mother in this special showing of Boys' School Suits.

100 TWEED SUITS 100

For Boys of 8 to 16 years

at $10.00

Under ordinary circumstances these Suits would cost you Dollars more. And a most interesting feature about this money saving offer is that the assortment of patterns is so varied that not more than a few will be found alike.

The materials are firm, durable wool and cotton and wool tweeds of smooth and rough finish. In light, medium and dark shades of grey, brown, blue, green and fawn. There are stripes, pin checks and fancy mixtures. The style is one of the favorites among young fellows just now, a three-button model with slash pockets, smart lapels and belt that may be fastened with buckle or button. All well tailored, with roomy bloomers. Sizes 26 to 34.

Suit Special $10.00

SCHOOL BLOOMERS

$3.50 Value

Wool and Cotton Tweed Bloomers that wear like iron—grey and brown check and fancy mixture patterns, cut full, with Governor fasteners. All sizes.

$3.50 pair

Men's Fall Suits

PLAIN NAVY ALL WOOL SERGE SUITS

at $45.00

Here they are in weights for present, fall or winter wear—dark navy indigo blue serge suits for men and young men, all popular styles—both single and double breasted, all sizes. These suits are values which in our way of thinking are unsurpassed, at prices of a few years ago, and are exceptional values today at from $8.00 to $15.00 more than the price we are asking.. Come in and look them over. Specially priced for quick selling.

$45.00

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Wheat and All Other Grain Wanted

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

If too far to team—and we have no Representative in your district—ship same to us from your nearest station.

For Carloads in Bulk or less than carloads in bags we will pay the highest spot cash prices.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.

133-135 Station St. and 50 Albion Street - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Fine and cool

The Daily Intelligencer.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 280.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1920.

Famous "Trench Of Bayonets" Undermined By Vandals

PIECES OF CLOTHING TAKEN FROM THE SKELETONS OF FRENCH HEROES AND SOLD TO VERDUN TOURISTS AS SOUVENIRS—FRANCE'S "MOST GLORIOUS TOMB" VIOLATED BY VANDALS.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Stories of vandalism by tourists on the French battlefield are still coming into Paris. Unscrupulous souvenir hunters have undermined at Verdun the famous "Trench of the Bayonets" a spot where the tips of bayonets disclose the tragedy of a mine explosion, where a company of French infantry were buried alive when standing upright in a trench.

Another trench had been dug alongside the place where the bayonets protrude and the desecrators of "France's most glorious tomb," which is to be perpetuated as a national monument, have taken pieces of clothing and accoutrements from the skeletons of the heroes, who, upright in death form the most gruesome relic to the glory of French arms.

The souvenirs thus obtained have been sold, it is charged, at high prices to tourists at Verdun.

Northern Lakes Being Restocked

Ten Million of Whitefish Fingerlings Deposited in Lake Nipegon

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works returned yesterday from an inspection trip to Lake Nipegon and Lake Nipissing, where he made a thorough study of Government fishing operations, inspected the equipment and generally familiarized himself with the whole scheme.

Though he is now in full possession of all the facts the Minister had not yet made a decision in regard to the continuance of Government fishing and distribution. He stated yesterday that he would probably do so within the next two weeks. Despite the pressure being brought to bear upon him by the commercial fishermen, who want the Government to get out of the business, it is unlikely that Mr. Biggs will favor the stoppage of all operations. It is probable that any curtailment there will be in the future will be made with an eye to the conservation of the fish supply in the two lakes. The Minister is a firm believer in re-stocking and conservation, and no more fish will be taken out of the lakes than can be spared.

"This year we have placed ten million whitefish fingerlings in Lake Nipegon," he said, "and that is more than twice the number of whitefish taken out last year."

FAMILY EARNS $25 PER DAY.

"Me, my man, three girls, two boys, pull one acre in one day." Thus answered a Belgian woman in Lambton recently when questioned regarding the amount of flax pulled in a day. At present prices for wages this amounts to $25 or $150 a week. In sugar-beet and tobacco growing similar wages are being received.

Citizens Can Help Needy Family

Sickness, Sorrow and Want Calls For Assistance—Remember the Children

In the midst of plenty there is want, sickness and sorrow. Belleville blessed with prosperity and progress and happiness contains at least one family in pressing need of assistance from warm-hearted citizens blessed with an abundance of this world's goods.

The family in question consists of the father and mother and three children. The children are all under five years of age. The father is in the last stages of an incurable disease and is being nursed by the mother who has had to leave her employment to care for her husband and look after her children. The family is in urgent need of assistance and it goes without saying that the citizens of Belleville will not see them suffer.

The Intelligencer will be glad to accept subscriptions, large or small for the benefit of this needy family and will see that the money reaches the family in question.

Subscriptions left at The Intelligencer will be duly acknowledged in these columns.

Fires In The West Take Heavy Toll

Sixteen Homesteads Burned in Ste. Rose du Lac District

WINNIPEG, Sept. 2.—Sixteen farmers in the Ste. Rose du Lac district have lost their homes, barns, implements and crops in bush fires that have been laying waste the area in the last few days, according to an official report by provincial authorities today.

Thousands of acres of hay lands and hundreds of tons to cut have been destroyed in the northern part of the province.

The danger in all sections is at an end for the present, however, on account of the rainfall which was fairly general over Manitoba Monday night and today.

Miners Attack on Coal Mines Fire on Village

Between 25,000 and 30,000 to Go Out in Pottsville Area.

WILLIAMSTON, W. Pa., Sept. 2.—Firing from the wooded heights upon the village of Chatteroy, in the coal strike country near here continued during most of the night, according to information from there this afternoon. Attacks also were renewed upon mine No. 2, of the Thacker Coal Co., two miles up Thacker Creek from the Norfolk and Western Railroad. Reinforcements of Federal soldiers were sent to both points. Only eight soldiers were on duty in Chatteroy when the shooting began from the mountainside, but they returned the fire.

Many Mines Idle.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 1.—Thirty per cent. of the mines of the district served by the Hazleton and Mahoney division of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. were idle today, the men failing to report for work. This is said to be in protevst against the award of the wage commission which the men do not consider sufficient.

Four Are Idle.

Mount Carmel, Pa., Sept. 1.—Four out of the 11 collieries in and about Mount Carmel were idle today, due be in protest against the award of the President's coal commission. All of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. mines were working. Everything in the Shamokin district is tied up.

Thousands Are Out.

Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 1.—Between 25,000 and 30,000 miners will be on "vacation" in district 9 by tonight, according to the reports received at the various headquarters this morning. More than 20,000 were already out at 9 o'clock and the remainder were rapidly joining the movement.

RECTOR ASKED TO GO OR LIVE AS JANITOR

Hamilton, Sept. 2.—As a result of trouble between Rev. Percival Mayes, rector of St. Mark's Anglican Church, here, and his parishioners, which began early in the summer, over a garden party held by the church, a special meeting of St. Mark's vestry has asked the rector to leave.

It has been intimated that if he remains in charge of the parish his stipend will be reduced to $300, the same sum that is paid the caretaker of the church. Some time ago Mr. Mayes was told that it would be better if he resigned his charge; but, it is said, he declined to go unless directed by the bishop to do so, or was provided with another charge by the bishop.

Canada's Growing Merchant Marine

R. B. Teakle, General Manager, C. G. M. M., Talks to Journalists of Government's Triumph.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1.—A visit of inspection which proved to be a revelation to visiting press representatives from Ontario took place yesterday afternoon at shed 12. With the Canadian Government acting as host, newspaper representatives from the two provinces were guests at a luncheon on board the newest of the C. G. M. M. fleet, the Canadian Victor.

The luncheon was followed by an able address by R. B. Teakle, general manager of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. His account of the brief and record-breaking year which placed Canada among the ocean carriers of the world was nothing more than a romance of ocean trade development never before equalled. The visiting press men then toured the new freighter.

The new vessel of 8,400 tons, under Captain T. R. Coffin, is of the largest type under C.G.M.M. operation and the first taken over this year built in the Canadian Vickers, Ltd., yard. In addition to passenger accommodation, which is necessarily limited, but equal to the best liner accomodation, the new freighter is the first to be equipped with refrigerating facilities, which will make her invaluable in tropical and sub-tropical trade routes.

Oil Burners Planned.

R. B. Teakle, who presided at the luncheon, gave out figures which astounded the visitors. Beginning with the Canadian Voyageur, which left Quebec, January, 1919, for the West Indies, the C.G.M.M. fleet has now grown to 38 vessels with a total tonnage of 203,000. The fleet will be increased, he stated, until it comprises 66 ships, many of the newer vessels to range from 8,400 tons to 10,500 tons in size. Some of the new ships will be oil burners. The eventual aggregate tonnage will be 400,000.

Mr. Teakle also alluded to four of the vessels of the new fleet under construction in lake ship yards and coming through the canal in two sections to Montreal, where they are put together. Of these, the Canadian Otter has already been completed and is now on her maiden voyage south. She is being followed by the Canadian Runner, half of which has already arrived here, and the Canadian Carrier, both built in Port Arthur, also the Canadian Squatter from Welland.

This huge fleet is now carrying the Canadian flag to the seven oceans. Lying alongside of the Canadian Victor was the Canadian Pioneer, bound for her initial voyage to India and Java. Offices of the C.G.M.M. are now opened in Australia and New Zealand.

The general manager of the C. G. M. M. was very much in earnest when he completed the world trade links with his reference to a new trade route he proposes to open to China and India. In this manner the vast market of the Orient would be tapped by the C.G.M.M. simultaneously from the east and the west and the Canadian flag encircling the globe.

Wheat Records Broken.

The gathering was a very representative one, and included M. P. Fennel, of the Montreal Harbor Commission, who spoke very convincingly of the prominent position held by Montreal port, second only to New York in this hemisphere. The Harbor Commissioners' elevators, No. 1 and 2, Mr. Fennel stated, had already handled this year 27,000,000 bushels of grain, an increase over last year of 114 per cent. and this increase, he added, was largely due to the C.G.M.M.

Captain E. E. Tedford, Marine Superintendent of the C.G.M.M., gave an interesting account of the apprenticeship system established by the company, which recruits all its cadets from the Navy League of Canada.

G. T. R. FREIGHT HANDLERS TO GET U. S. RATE OF PAY

Montreal, Sept. 2.—The System Board for the eastern lines of the Grand Trunk Railway was informed today that the company would put into effect the same rates of pay for the employees belonging to the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees, as have been recently adopted in the United States by the Railway Labor Board.

The Canadian Pacific Railway adopted this schedule some weeks ago. The Canadian Government roads, outside the Grand Trunk, have yet to take up the new schedule of this class of employees, but will do so shortly.

The new rates adopted will go into effect on September 15th, and will be retroactive to May 1st last, as in the United States.

One Bolshevik Army Annihilated by Poles

GEN. BUDENNY'S FORCES OUTFLANKED AND CUT TO PIECES, ONLY REMNANT ESCAPING—POLISH VICTORIES REPORTED ALONG ENTIRE FRONT.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WARSAW, Sept. 2.—The Bolshevik army of General Budenny, the Soviet cavalry leader, was annihilated during operations in the Lemburg sector, which began August 29 and ended Sept. 1, says a Polish official statement on military operations issued today. An isolated detachment of Budenny's forces succeeded in escaping and are now in disorderly retreat. The Soviet general's men had been endeavoring to break through the Polish lines and march upon Lublin. They had virtually completed an encircling movement against Samosz, but were outflanked by the Poles and attacked from the east.

The communique states that the engagement resulted in the defeat of the Soviet forces along the entire centre of the front. They lost heavily in killed and wounded, the Poles capturing thousands of prisoners, sixteen guns and enormous quantities of material. The communique also reports successes along the entire centre and southern fronts.

Canadian Unity League Launched at Ottawa

Another Attempt to Foster Better Feeling Between French and English

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—The Canadian Unity League was formed here last night, having for its purpose the establishment of a stronger bond of unity between the great primal races which form the basis of the population of Canada to forever replace the differences which have existed between them.

It was with this object in view that ten representative citizens of Quebec and Ontario met here and took the first steps toward the bringing into being of a permanent Canadian Unity League. The meeting was at the call of W. C. Mikel, a barrister of Belleville who for many years has given his time and thought toward the formation of a Better Understanding Association, Dominion-wide in its ramifications. Although the meeting was sparsely attended the discussion which took place was of a most important nature.

Mr. Mikel outlined the object for which the delegates had been summoned. He spoke of the steps taken in the past in endeavoring to secure a better feeling between the different races and creeds existent in the Dominion, and said that the time had come when it was found necessary to form a Better Understanding Association to carry on this work.

Russian Reds Seek German Alliance

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—Dr. Walter Simons, Foreign Minister, today declared he had been urged to collaborate with the Russian Bolsheviki against the Western Powers as a means of breaking the bonds imposed by the Versailles Treaty, but that after mature reflection he had rejected this course.

The Foreign Minister said that proposals also had been made that Germany co-operate with the Western Powers against Russia, which he considered an equally impossible course. No power at war with Russia need count upon our support, he added.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE AND SERIOUSLY INJURED

Stratford, Sept. 2.—Florence Price, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Price, 17 Douro Street, is in the General Hospital with a broken hip, as a result of being run over by an automobile on the road in front of her home. The car was driven by Mr. Harold Kincade, 633 Mornington Street. In his endeavor to avoid striking the child he ran his car up on the sidewalk, but was not able to get it clear, the front of the car hitting the little girl, who had run out in front of the car.

BOY INJURED ON PINTA.

Windsor, Sept. 1.—Falling to the deck of the training ship Pinta, moored at Government dock here, Harry Barfoot, 15 years old, of Port Arthur, suffered injuries to his head and face Tuesday afternoon.

True Blue Orphanage Building Next Spring

Already $95,000 Has Been Raised of $300,000 Objective.

OSHAWA, Sept. 2.—Work is to start next spring on the new $300,000 orphanage that the Loyal True Blues are going to build north of Richmond Hill. The forty-sixth annual session of this organization is now being held in Oshawa, and Supreme Grand Master W. G. Farley, in his report to the meeting stated that already $95,000 has been raised of the $300,000 objective, and that building would be proceeded with next spring. This will replace the one now in Picton.

There are 150 delegates here from all of Eastern Canada. S. G. M. W. G. Farley of Toronto was re-elected to the office at the election yesterday morning.

In the afternoon Mayor Stacey officially welcomed the delegates to Oshawa at Alexandra Park, where a program of sports was run off and a picnic held. This is the third fraternal organization to meet in Oshawa this summer.

Snatched Woman From Sure Death

Had Fallen Over Niagara River Bank at Edge of Whirlpool

BUFFALO, Sept. 2.—Miss Matilda Schoonert, Philadelphia, was plucked from certain death in the whirlpool rapids at Niagara Falls Wednesday evening by Gordon W. Dunn, Montreal who was severely cut in the rescue.

They were among the passengers on a Gorge Route trolley that was blocked at the edge of the Whirpool Rapids by a fallen rock. The passengers got out of the car and were walking on the brink of the river. The girl fell over the slight embankment some 15 feet into the river, but caught and clung to a projecting rock. Dunn saw her instant danger and vaulted the embankment. He landed on a slight beach of rocks and cut himself severely on the hands and head. Getting to his feet, he seized the girl before she was swept away.

Help was quickly at hand and the pair were taken back to Niagara Falls. Dunn, after his cuts were dressed left the hospital The girl is still suffering from shock.

Burns Father's Barns and Crops

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Sept. 2—John Richard, aged 28, of Deblois, five miles from Tignish, was arrested on board the car ferry "Scotia" at Borden, Tuesday, as he was leaving for the mainland, and was taken to Summerside jail.

He is charged with setting fire to the house, barns and outbuildings belonging to his father, Alex. Richard, on Sunday night, after he had quarreled with the latter and beaten him. He also made a visit to the home of his brother, John, created a disturbance and smashed the windows.

The barns, containing this season's crop of hay and most of the grain, were totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at about $7,000.

The quarrel arose over a horse which Richard wanted to take out against his father's wishes.

The death list in Belfast now totals 25 for the week.

Public Ownership Of Ontario Telephone Service

EXPROPRIATION OF BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM ASKED BY CANADIAN UNION OF MUNICIPALITIES—ASK GOVERNMENT TO TAKE STEPS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—On behalf of the Canadian Union of Municipalities, of which he is vice-president, Controller J. G. Ramsden welcomed the Ontario Municipal Association delegates and also the chairman of Toronto's special committee on Bell Telephone rates. Two resolutions approved by the Toronto Board of Control were adopted by the convention. The first of the resolutions called for public ownership of the Ontario telephone service and appointment of a deputation from the Municipal Association to wait on the Ontario Government with that end in view. The other resolution asked Ontario municipalities and the Government to unite in securing a postponement of the telephone rate increase

Sinn Fein Raid on Royal Air Force

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—A Sinn Fein raiding party invaded the Royal Air Force headquarters at Baldoyle, near Dublin, Saturday night, and carried off a large number of secret military documents, including the army code and cipher used at the present time, according to the Daily Mail. It is declared the coup was the most daring and important that has been attempted in Ireland since the present fight-

Mail Airplanes Crash To Earth

MORRISTOWN, N.J., Sept. 2.—Two men, unidentified were burned to death in a United States Government all-metal mail airplane Wednesday morning which went down on James all metal mail airplane Wednesday The plane was flying at a low altitude and the pilot seemed to be experiencing trouble with the engine. It took a sudden dive and burst into flames. As it hit the ground a tremendous explosion occurred throwing mail bags hundreds of feet in every direction. The pilots were pinned under the wreck-

Chicago-New York Route

DESHLER, O., Sept. 2.—Two aviators, W. L. Smith and Edward Haight, both of New York city, were severely burned when their airplane, carrying mail from Chicago to New York broke into flames more than 5,000 feet above the earth near here Wednesday. The plane was not badly damaged and the mail was unharmed.

REWARD FOR A. J. SMALL REMAINS UNCLAIMED

Toronto, Sept. 1.—The offer of a reward of $50,000 for information as to the whereabouts of Ambrose J. Small, the millionaire theatre owner who disappeared from this city on December 2 last and has not since been seen or heard from, expires automatically today, also the offer of $15,000 for the recovery of Mr. Small's body if found dead.

Dr. G. B. Connelly, president and managing director of the Capital Trust Company, trustees of Mr. Small's estate, said last night that he did not know whether the offers would be renewed or not. He said he probably would confer with Mrs. Small and her solicitor, Frank Hughes, soon, with reference to this question. Nothing of a really tangible nature had resulted from the offers of the rewards, Dr. Connelly said, although they had been productive of a great deal of effort on the part of the police and detective agencies all over the world.

Reward for Small's Secretary.

There is a reward of $5,000 for information leading to the arrest of John Doughty, Mr. Small's private secretary, who disappeared on December 28, 1919, and warrants are out for his arrest on a charge of kidnapping his former employer.

CANADIAN AVIATOR FLEW FROM ENGLAND TO EGYPT

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Captain G. W. Higgs, of Toronto, a member of the R. A. F., who returned to active military service in Canada two days after the signing of the armistice, has arrived back in Toronto, having been demobilized only three weeks ago. Capt. Higgs holds the honor of having successfully made the flight from England to Egypt, a journey so dangerous that at least sixteen lives have been lost in unsuccessful attempts. He is the only Canadian to make the trip. His parents reside at Kemptville, Ont.

McSweeney's Friends Let Policemen Die

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Appeals on behalf of MacSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, will not be recognized by the British Government, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, intimated, emphatically, in an interview with the Times' correspondent at Lucerne today. None of the mercy which some seek to invoke for the Lord Mayor of Cork, he said, was shown eighty policemen who have lost their lives in Ireland.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Immigration Increasing.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—Immigration to Canada is steadily increasing from overseas countries and the United States. Approximate July figures secured today show a total of over 12,000 entering Canada from ocean ports and 4,300 from the United States. The increase for the month, compared with last year is 5,400. Most of the immigrants were British, thirty per cent. of them farmers.

Canadian Exchange Improves.

New York, Sept. 2.—Marked improvement in Canadian Exchange was shown this morning. The discount rate on Canadian dollars went down to eight and one half per cent. Officials at local agencies of Canadian Banks said they could not ascribe any reasons for the drop. They refused to discuss reports published here that a large amount of gold is to be shipped from Ottawa to New York. Sterling exchange was heavy. Demand $3.56.

Milk Producers Checked

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—Declaring that, in its opinion, the practices of the Toronto Milk and Cream Producers Association are likely to operate to the detriment and against the interest of the public and constitute a combine, the Board of Commerce in an order made public today demands the appearance of Association officers at a sitting of the Board to be held in Toronto on Thursday next. The order restrains the association from demanding a higher price than that of August until new order is issued.

Apples And Peaches in Abundance

RUTHVEN, Ont., Sept. 2.—The apple orchards in this district are wonder sights, with their enormous crop of apples, and many trees are breaking down under the load of fruit. The peach trees are also loaded, and hundreds of bushels of the fruit have already been shipped. The fact that the "katydids" have not yet begun their late summer song is taken by the weatherwise to indicate that there will be no frost in this section for at least two months. The blackbirds, which have been quite numerous here this season, are, however, alreadp preparing for their trip to southern climes.

Hickory nuts, walnuts and chestnuts are all very plentiful this year, but the crop of butternuts is not so plentiful, a leaf worm having done much damage to the trees.

Spracklin, preacher-inspector at Windsor, fires at rum runners near Sandwich, but they escaped.

Tons of fruit in the Niagara peninsula will go to waste unless pickers are secured.

Special
Values on all
Summer
Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

Wallbridge & Clarke's
AMERICAN BLEND
COFFEE
Try it for a change
65c lb.

Clover Extracted Honey, 5 & 6 lb. tins
Libby's Mayonnaise Salad Dressing .. 30c.
Pure Olive Oil, bottles .... 35c. & 60c.
Pure Olive Oil, pint tins $1.25
Mazola Oil, for salads or cooking
in pint, quart and gallon tins.
Royal Flavoring Extracts—all kinds.
Flavoring Extracts in Tubes—all kinds.
Peppers—sweet or hot.
Two Minute Oats, pkg. .... 20c.
Welch's Grape Juice, pints .... 35c.
Jumbo, 2 pkgs. .... 25c.
Celery, well bleached .... 10c.
FAR EAST TEA, ½ lb. pkgs. .... 40c.
—Very flavory and refreshing.
Fine Black Teas .... 70c., 80c. and 90c. lb.
At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

WHATEVER the cause of your present eye trouble—whether your vision has always been defective or strain and age have impaired it, you should no longer neglect it. You may simply need resting glasses to allow your eye muscles to regain their vigor, or you may be in need of lenses that will aid your eye muscles to properly focus images upon your retina. We are thoroughly dependable.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
Exclusive Eyesight Specialist

ALL KINDS OF Foundry and Repair
Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

PLANKING ON FIRE.

Yesterday afternoon the firemen from No. 1 fire hall were called to extinguish a blaze which broke out in the planking of the lower bridge. The blaze was extinguished before any particular damage was done.

MARKET PRICES.

There was a fair attendance upon the market this morning and considerable garden produce was offered for sale; also fruit. Tomatoes sold at 75c. a bushel and the ruling price for potatoes was 35c. a peck. Peaches sold at $1.25 per basket and plums from 80c. to $1.00 per basket.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS.

The police yesterday afternoon were notified that some suspicious-acting men were in the woods north of Frank street. Two officers visited the place but learned that the parties had made their escape by way of a G.T.R. freight train.

TROUBLE IN A RESTAURANT.

At 6.30 last evening the police answered a call to a restaurant where trouble was ensuing between the proprietor and a patron. The difficulty was amicably arranged by the officer who answered the call.

BROKE ARM CRANKING CAR.

Mr. Ralph McMaster of this city was yesterday afternoon the victim of an unfortunate accident. He was engaged in cranking a motor truck when the crank flew back, striking him on the right arm, breaking a bone.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Mrs. Harriett Levesque, who was apprehended here a few days ago was this morning brought up before Magistrate Masson. She pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy, but upon promising to leave the city immediately was given a suspended sentence of six months in the Mercer Reformatory.

WANDERED AWAY.

The four year old daughter of Mrs. David Prunie, Carleton Place, wandered away. At night the town was aroused and searchers went in all directions. One party in an auto, got trace of tiny footprints in the sand. On the 7th line of Ramsay, Mr. McGregor went to see a sick cow in a field. He carried a lantern and his hair almost stood on end when his light revealed a little child lying on the grass alongside the animal. This was late in the evening and four miles from Carleton Place. The child, in her bare feet, had travelled that long distance, going ahead without any purpose, and without crying—just on and on till she wandered into the pasture where the cow afforded her the nearest approach to a symbol of human kindness.

MORE G.T.R. POLICE

In order to give more adequate protection to freight in transit and generally to attend to the interests of the company, the Grand Trunk Railway is understood to have under advisement a material strengthening of its police force on the main line between Montreal and Toronto. Under the plan, Brockville will be the headquarters of five extra constables, making a total of seven to be placed here. The addition of these men to the railroad police force will ensure that every carload of whiskey or alcohol which passes over the road will have full protection, each car being personally accompanied by an operative. The road has sustained some heavy losses through theft particularly of liquor shipments and is taking this means of safeguarding its interests. One heavy loss suffered near here during the summer was of 75 cases of whiskey which were stolen from a car in transit, the goods stolen being valued in excess of $2,200. It is possible that the extra men will be taken on only for the winter months.

* * *

IT IS JUST AS NATURAL
to take Chiropractic adjustments as it is to take exercise or food. Spinal adjustments have been used by all aboriginal people, including our own American Indians. The next time you have occasion to watch a horse "roll" notice how persistent he is in his efforts to roll clear over. He will not arise until he does so. It is not uncommon to see the same thing occur with dogs and cats. All of this has a tendency to relieve the tension and strain which the spine has to bear. It is a natural thing that has a natural cause and a natural effect.

The more educated we become, the more we are apt to resort to artificial means and to neglect the natural. If you are sick, give the same natural health method known as Chiropractic an opportunity to restore normal health and harmony to your body. You owe it to yourself to investigate this new Science and be convinced of just what it can accomplish in your case. Without cost or obligation on your part we would be pleased to have you call at our office and receive a spinal analysis and consultation regarding your case. Delay is harmful—act today. Drs. Redick & Redick, Chiropractors, 283½ Front St., Belleville, Phone 900.

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE
Thursday, Sept. 2, 1920

Minimum	38
Maximum	67

Belgium's Scars Are Fading

IT must be a real pleasure for everybody to see how surely and, considering circumstances, how rapidly Belgium is returning to her fine working self of other days. The smoke stains have not yet faded from the Cloth Hall of Ypres. Belgian soil still contains many fragments of hostile German steel, the Cloth Hall itself shows bravely its classical ruins, and beneath them the Belgians have just held a first post-war cattle show. Nothing could picture the heart of peace better than a cattle show, and this year nothing could more splendidly exemplify the undaunted soul of the little nation than that seventeen months since the last hostile shot was fired for her utter destruction, she rises again to resume her national life purpose. It is done with the same courage that first drew the world's applause at Liege and sanctified every Belgian battlefield. No nation in the war was more severely and brutally handled by it than Belgium. The foul feet of the Hun occupied all her soil, save a tiny strip of Flanders near the sea which the king defended.

It is not merely in "cattle" Belgium has recovered and is rushing ahead, says the Boston Transcript. A Brussels engineering firm pointing to the safe in the steel of which a gap had been cut by oxy-acetylene flame in the hands of a Hun, said the other day: "They removed all our records and papers so we should have nothing for a new start. That was after every tool in the works had been removed and all the machinery damaged. Yet now we are so busy it makes my head swim. We had 3,000 workmen before the war! now we have 2,000. From nothing to 2,000 in a year isn't so bad." What is true of this engineering work is true all over the country. A whole nation's industries have been remade in a year. Everyone going to Belgium is astonished at the recovery, which means that Belgium at the present rate of advance will be relatively the most prosperous country in the world in a few years, and all achieved by hard, unremiting work sustained by national pride. Belgium to-day is doing in trade 70 per cent. as much as in 1913-1914. In some industries the output is higher—glass for example has recovered to 98 per cent. of pre-war manufacture, coal production, despite the German floodings and destruction of mines, is 95 per cent. And all this when Belgium has spared 80,000 of her best work people for reconstruction in Northern France.

It is a pleasure also to know Liege has also recovered where a quarter of a million people are doing their best—for masters and men in Belgium work together as masters and men have never worked before—to bring Liege back to normal. It is only lack of machinery and material that delays and that won't be for long. At Liege they are building 100 locomotives and 1,200 passenger coaches for the state railways, which testifies anew that the railway troubles of King Albert's country were put to rights with extraordinary rapidity; 200 army locomotives and 18,000 trucks having been purchased from the British as a starter. Another 200 locomotives are being shipped from the United States and 600 are building in Britain. Everywhere is the same story of returned prosperity and everywhere the report that Belgium has the least Socialism of any country in Europe. A sharper measurement of this phenomenal rebirth is given by the Belgian official statement that the damage to Belgian industrial concerns during the plague of Germans was $1,300,000,000. At one works—Marchiennes—the Germans removed or rendered useless 57,000 tons of machinery. To-day Marchiennes is overwhelmed with orders. At Antwerp shipping has revived and the wharves are again crowded with moving merchandise. Money is plentiful everywhere. The people don't talk of "the war" but of "work."

The average of the whole country's restoration is something over 75 per cent. in commerce, industry, transportation and finance, the foundation of a nation's wealth. In many industries commerce and finance the 100 per cent. of pre-war times has been reached and in some increased. Belgium's exports to Holland, France, Italy and Germany now surpass her imports. With England she is approaching a balance of trade. A favorable trade balance for the nation is in sight by the end of this year. And after that who can predict where the present national enthusiasm for work will carry her? None speak of the war, that is taboo in the face of national necessity to recover from it. Political wrangles, which were plenty before August, 1914, have largely faded. There is a Socialist party, but it offers no opposition to efforts of reconstruction. In it all, around it and for it appears the steady, inspiring influence of the King and Queen, the most beloved and respected monarchs Belgium ever had.

A most illuminating instance of this splendid national purpose is the fact that the highly cultivated lands of Belgium this year will produce their crop quotas. The resurrection in cities could in some parts have been anticipated by anyone knowing the Belgian people. But not so soon and so thoroughly the revival of agriculture. The Belgian peasant was in the ranks in thousands, thousands of his farms and firesides were destroyed. Many did not come home but were buried in war graves. It might have been expected that the spirit of the new life would grow but slowly in many areas. But it has not been so.

Gov't Report On Crop Conditions

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The apple market has been livelier than for several years past. Brant states that around Paris there are some orchards well loaded with the Northern Spy, and that buyers are offering from $1.50 to $2 for sprayed fruit, the purchaser to do the picking.

Prince Edward reports much activity in fruit buying during the last week, when about two-thirds of the apple crop passed under the control of the buyers at a wide range of prices. Some owners sold outright for a set sum; others to be paid by the barrel. An 8,000 barrel lot owned by several growers around Wellington, sold for $2 a barrel on the trees, the orchardists being under no obligation except to draw the barrels, not even boarding the pickers and packers. Other growers in Prince Edward county have received as high as $5 a barrel for Nos. 1 and 2 f.o.b. One special lot containing a high percentage of Spies sold for $3 a barrel picked.

Tomatoes Plentiful.

Tomatoes have been plentiful. The Welland representative says they are a glut on the market.

Tobacco cutting has been started in the Lake Erie section. The crop is said to be very uneven and much of it will be late.

Middlesex reports that some fields of flax have been left for seed for lack of pullers.

Spring Grains.

While most of the spring grains have been cut, a considerable quantity is still in the shock, and some sprouting is complained of. Reports are common of oats yielding from 50 to 70 bushels to the acre. Wentworth states that many farmers threshed their grain as they drew it in so as to cut down the labor cost.

New Hay

New hay is selling in Peterboro from $25 to $26 a ton, but Peel quotes loose hay as bringing around $20 a ton. The Fort William representative says that there is practically no local market for hay.

Live Stock.

Live stock have been doing well on fair pastures, but beef animals have been moving slowly to market. Prices range from 8 cents a lb. for dry cows to 13 cents for well prepared beeves. Calves bring from 12 to 16 cents a lb. Peel reports that the demand for stockers and feeders is increasing.

Milk.

Milk has kept up well all summer owing to the unusually good pastures. There has been a slight decline in the flow of late, but the production is still up to the average for the time of year.

The Peel Milk and Cream Producers' Association is renewing milk contracts from September to April inclusive at the rate of $3.25 per eight gallon cans, delivered at the dairies; cream at 84 cents per lb. butterfat f.o.b. shipping point.

Glengarry quotes white cheese selling at 27 1-8 cents a lb., and colored at 27 3-4 cents a lb. on the local board during the week, and further states that there was a shortage of 101,295 boxes of cheese on August 14th compared with the same date last year.

Bacon hogs are being disposed of at from $19 to $19.50 a cwt. Little pigs in rant are bringing from $5 to $6 Beach.

Prince Edward reports a large shipment of sheep at prices ranging from 10½ to 13 cents a lb.

Opinions vary as to the probable extent of fall plowing this season. Middlesex, however, reports that a good deal is now being done in that county, and that some tractors are going day and night.

U. S. BATTLESHIP TARGET FOR SHELLS

The cause of naval efficiency is soon to claim as a sacrifice another old-time fighting ship of the United States navy, the battleship Indiana. In Lower Chesapeake Bay this month this vessel will be subjected to a rain of bombs from a squadron of naval seaplanes, just to see what the bombs will do to her.

United States naval officers claim that this will be the first actual test to be conducted by any navy to show the possibilities of direct attack upon warships from the air. Flying at heights ranging from 4,000 to 8,000 feet the six planes which it is planned to include in the squadron will attempt first to demonstrate the practicability of hitting a target the size of a battleship, using for this purpose non-explosive bombs.

If the range is found the battleship will then be subjected to the explosive force of bombs carrying a minimum of 1,000 pounds of T.N.T. If there is a visible remnant of the Indiana at the conclusion of the bombing experiments she will be used later as a stationary target for the dreadnoughts of the Atlantic fleet.

The Indiana was one of the first battleships of the U. S. Navy and recently was placed out of commission to make way for a new super-dreadnought of the same name. She played a part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Santiago.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

WHAT OTTAWA THINKS OF GRAHAM MOFFAT'S "DON'T TELL"

The Ottawa Journal in reviewing the first presentation in America at the Russell Theatre, Ottawa, of Graham Moffat's new Scotch comedy "Don't Tell" which comes to Griffin's Opera House to-morrow night speaks of the performance in the following glowing terms:

"When the orchestra in the Russell Theatre last evening broke into a Scottish medley as an overture to the Graham Moffat production of "Don't Tell," the atmosphere of the land of the heather seemed to settle over the whole house. The first spoken word from the stage intensified the effect, and five minutes after the curtain had ascended, the large audience realized that the entertainment offered was far out of the ordinary. Mr. and Mrs. Graham Moffat have long been successful exponents of the drama on the English and Scottish stage. In fact they have given pleasure by their productions practically all over the world. Last evening marked the premiere performance in America of Mr. Moffat's latest production, one which promises to rival in popularity and success his other vehicle, "Bunty Pulls the Strings."

"Don't Tell" presents a story of occurrences which might easily happen in any family, but a particular treat about the production lies in the fact that while the scenes are laid in Glasgow, Scotland, and the characters are such as can be found in practically any Scottish family of the middle class the actors and actresses presenting the types are also Scots; their accent is not acquired, but real. From Mr. Moffat himself, down to the smallest character in the production, none of them act—they live the parts they portray. It is art, but art at its highest; simple, unaffected, winsome naturalness which carries the audience through three acts and leaves it at the final curtain delighted with play and players. The story of "Don't Tell," is simple. A plumber has been appointed a magistrate in his native city. His charming eldest daughter, (a militant suffragette), becomes involved with the police, as suffragettes had a habit of doing in Scotland a year or two before the opening of the war. It falls to her father's lot to try her for a minor misdemeanor, and every member of the family—even to the Magistrate himself—attempts to make arrangements for the payment of the fine imposed. The ensuing complications can easily be imagined, and they furnish the fun of the play. The comedy is, however, far different from the American farce or farce-comedy, inasmuch as it holds a delicate, subtle humor, and depends for its success upon naturally developed situations, instead of a forced though possibly, more intense action. With its quiet pawky Scottish humor, it is a most delightful a real triumph of comedy. Of course it is well produced, so well in fact that it is unnecessary to particularize the different members of the cast.

While Mr. and Mrs. Moffat and Miss Winnifred Moffat are featured, there is not a weak member in the entire company. Each actor or actress fits the role for which he or she is cast as if melted into it. Altogether it is an unusually artistic performance, and well worthy of patronage sufficient to tax the capacity of the theatre. Nothing more really excellent will be seen in Ottawa during the present season. This evening the vice-regal party will attend."

PAULINE FREDERICK IN "THE LOVES OF LETTY"

"The Loves of Letty," adapted from the stage success by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, the celebrated English dramatist, is Pauline Frederick's new Goldwyn starring vehicle. This picture will be shown at Griffin's to-night and Saturday, matinee and night. This dramatic story involves the problems which come to every attractive woman during her life time. There is the test of her honor when temptation comes to her in her darkest hour and the gradual character development through bitter experience which many women are called upon to endure. As with the character of Letty the woman who successfully wins real wisdom, peace and happiness. The scenes in the story fluctuate between locations in London's financial district, beautiful English homes and a cheap boarding house.

Players of exceptional ability support Pauline Frederick in her latest picture. They are Harland Tucker Lawson Butt, John Bowers, Willard Louis, Florence Deshon, Leota Lorraine, Della Bliss and Joan Standing.

An interesting Outing Chester Travelogue, an amusing comedy, Charles Hutchison in a new chapter of the thrilling stunt picture 'The Whirlwind' and British Canadian News Pictorial will also be shown on the same program.

NEW YORK COMPOSER KILLED BY MOTOR CAR

New York, Sept. 2.—Samuel Lemhan the well known musical composer of "Everybody Works But Father," was killed here Sunday by an automobile. Lehman was 38 years old. The driver of the car was arrested on a manslaughter charge.

SINCLAIR'S

DRESS
-SALE-

THIS WEEK WE OFFER SOME WONDERFUL VALUES IN LADIES', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S DRESSES.

Just Look at These Values

Children's Dresses Half Price

We have about Ten Dozen Childrens Gingham and Chambray Wash Dresses in sizes from 3 to 12 years, regular prices from $2.50 to $7.50 each, to clear this week at HALF PRICE—or from

$1.25 to $3.75 each

Ladies Dresses
Only $3.00

At this price we are clearing one table of about 50 Ladies' Gingham House Dresses, in several styles and sizes, 16 and 18 years, also Women's sizes 36 to 46 bust measure, Dresses at less than cost of Gingham. Your choice, only

$3.00

Ladies' Silk Dresses
To Clear $17.50 and $27.50 each

At these Two Clearing Prices we offer your choice of more than Fifty Ladies' and Misses' Silk Dresses, in all the fashionable colors, and in a full range of sizes, Dresses from $29.50 to $27.50, to clear at $17.50, and Dresses from $32.50 to $47.50 to clear, your choice, only $27.50.

To these Sale Prices we have to add the War Tax of 10 per cent.

SINCLAIR'S

COMBAT "RED" PROPAGANDA.

Secretaries of all state councils of defence have been called upon to meet in Kansas City September 13 and 14 in an effort to consolidate more than 5,000 organizations in different parts of the country who claim as their object the combatting of "red" propaganda. Call for the meeting was issued by J. J. Metcalf, of Des Moines, Iowa, secretary of the Iowa state council of defence during the war, and by J. C. Mohler, formerly secretary of the Kansas council. Many of the state councils have ceased to function. The object of the meeting here, it is stated, is to determine as far as possible what alleged patriotic organizations are deserving of support, as well as to formulate "Americanization" plans.

A Woman's Greatest Problem !

As vital to every woman as life itself is the problem of choosing a husband. To Letty the problem was fraught with difficulty. Her life had been a pitiful, unending struggle against poverty, barren of the comforts and luxuries that every woman craves.

Then three men sought her love: One, a moneyed barbarian; one, an unprincipled nobleman, a defiler of women; and the other a struggler like herself, but a man worthy of the name.

Which man did she marry? You think you know the answer, but a surprise awaits you when you see the screen's supreme emotional star.

PAULINE FREDERICK

in

"The Loves of Letty"

By Sir Arthur Wing Pinero.

Outing Chester — Charlie Chaplin — "Whirlwind" Serial

GRIFFIN PICTURES

DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

Tonight and Saturday. Mat. Sat. 2.30

COMING MON.—WALLACE REID AND WANDA HAWLEY in "YOU'RE FIRED"

First Time in America

COMING DIRECT FROM SCOTLAND

WM. MORRIS presents

MR. and MRS.

Graham Moffat

and the original Scottish cast, including MISS WINNIFRED MOFFAT

in

"DON'T TELL"

The new Scottish comedy by GRAHAM MOFFAT

Author of "Bunty Pulls the Strings."

GRIFFIN'S TO-MORROW NIGHT

PRICES—50c. to $2.00. SEATS SELLING. NOT A PICTURE.

NOTE—"DON'T TELL" is to be presented on Broadway for an all-winter run, starting Monday, Sept. 27.

The Farmer-Banker Alliance

You go to your lawyer for legal advice; to the doctor for medical advice; why not to The Merchants Bank for financial advice?

If you want a loan to buy cattle, hogs or equipment—if you want information as to how to invest money—come to those who make a business of financial matters, and are in a position to give you sound and impartial advice.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

A little blow-out now and then
Puts zest and pep in any man!

STORE CLOSED ALL DAY WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 1st.

Bicycle Dealers' Association Convention in Toronto.

Some of our blow-out patches will be carried so as to get home Thursday.

Bicycle Licence

Buy Victory Loans,

at present prices, including accrued interest to date of delivery, at your own bank.

1922 at 98,	to yield	6.37
1923 at 98,	to yield	6.15
1933 at 98,	to yield	5.68%
1927 at 97,	to yield	6.00%
1937 at 96,	to yield	5.88
1924 at 97,	to yield	6.27%
1934 at 93,	to yield	5.75

Subject to change in price.

Your order solicited by

R. W. ADAMS

24 Victoria Ave. Phone 858

a1-4d-1t

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Alexandria	Sept. 7-8
BELLEVILLE	Sept. 6-8
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Cornwall	Sept. 1-4
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Delta	Sept. 13-15
Forest	Oct. 5-6
Inverary	Sept. 8
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Kemptville	Sept. 7-8
Lanark	Sept. 8
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. [illegible]
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Perth	Sept. 8-9
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	89	43	.674
Toronto	90	45	[illegible]
Buffalo	86	49	[illegible]
Akron	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Reading	50	74	[illegible]
Jersey City	51	80	[illegible]
Rochester	42	[illegible]	[illegible]
Syracuse	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Yesterday's Results.

Rochester	5	Toronto	4
Buffalo	[illegible]	Akron	4
Baltimore	[illegible]	Syracuse	[illegible]
Jersey City	[illegible]	Reading	[illegible]

Games today: Reading at Jersey City; Baltimore at Syracuse; Akron at Buffalo; Toronto at Rochester.

FIGHTING HAIR SEALS.

These Animals Hated by Fishermen on Pacific Coast.

Another attempt is being made to kill off the hair seals that live in such numbers on the flats at the mouth of the Fraser river. This great salmon stream has been the home of the seals since the memory of white men. The hair seal is a true seal with a black and white spotted coat of hair, but no underlying fur. He grows in size from a kitten as big as a spaniel puppy to an animal of perhaps 350 pounds in weight. His cousins of the Queen Charlotte and Vancouver Island reefs reach a ton weight, but they do not get into the inland channels. The latter animals are known sometimes as sea lions.

The hair seals of the Fraser have been thorns in the flesh of the fishermen ever since salmon fishing became a recognized industry. They are strong, aggressive and intelligent. They have learned that fish collect in the nets of the fishermen and on the baited lines. They rob nets and lines, break them to pieces, and thus cause loss not only of fish but also of fishing tackle.

Various campaigns have been undertaken to clean up the colonies of these animals, but without success. They are hard to trap, seldom are found within reach of a gun, and avoid flats where men are liable to be seen. Yet they are always on hand. A hair seal will follow a man who is trolling for hours, and frequently plucks the salmon from the hook after one has been caught. If one is shot the body turns on its back, the air comes from the lungs, the creature sinks like a stone. At one time the Government tried the benefits of a bounty, but it did not bring results desired. The leather is marketable, when obtained, but there are few pelts brought in.

The Government has now decided to try an experiment. Cross lines, operated by two employes of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, will be strung over the shallows of the river mouth, where seals are most frequent. This will be the third Government effort. The first was the bounty, the second was a measure brought on perhaps by wartime conditions. Explosives had played such havoc in fighting humans in Europe that their efficiency with regard to seals was considered. Two years ago a mudflat on the Fraser, where the seals sunned themselves in hundreds, every day, was mined with high explosives, arranged to be exploded by pressure on a button. The mines were exploded. Hundreds of seals are said to have been killed, though few bodies were found. The experiment was expensive, and was not repeated, as no appreciable reduction in the hordes of amphibians was noted, and it was thought that the natural birth-rate of the creatures would more than offset the harvest of dead animals by the mine method.

This third attempt is one which promises results in reduction of seals and in saving the skins for market. The method is practically the old and illegal night-line. A strong line is strung across the current with short lateral lines hanging deep in the water. At the lower ends of the shorter lines are strong, sharp, steel hooks. These catch the bodies of the seals as they swim through and hold them until they drown or until the men come and despatch them. If it proves successful an extensive campaign will be undertaken in an effort to rid the broad flats and waters of the Fraser of the animals.

Our Folk Songs.

G. A. Grant-Schaefer, Canadian composer, is spending his holidays collecting Canadian folk-songs and arranging them for publication. In this work he is receiving valuable assistance from R. Stanley Weir. This country has a mine of beautiful folk-music, if it were only properly developed. One Canadian who is giving a great deal of time to the promotion of this much-neglected work is M. Marius Barbeau, a Rhodes scholar who is connected with the Geological Survey of the Dominion at Ottawa. It is not generally known that nearly 3,000 versions of folk-songs have been recorded and transcribed from the Province of Quebec alone. These were published as a supplement by the American Folk Lore Society, which now has a Canadian branch. The Department of Indian Affairs for the Dominion has also been doing some active work in securing permanent records of Indian tunes before they become extinct. It is very apparent that with the extension of musical education in Canada, they are fast disappearing, but some excellent records have been made. The lumber camps in various parts of Canada, but particularly in Quebec and New Brunswick, still have their traditional tunes, while the sailors' chanties in the Maritime Provinces constitute another avenue of folk-song.

Poles In Canada.

The latest available census figures indicate that there is within the borders of the Dominion of Canada a considerable number of Polish people. When the census of 1911 was taken it revealed a total Polish population of 33,365. For several subsequent years there was a fairly heavy movement of Poles to the Dominion, more particularly to the western provinces, with the result that the 1916 census for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta showed a Polish population of those three provinces alone of 27,000. While Poland's war with Russia has undoubtedly influenced many Poles to return home to fight for their native country, there is no indication that the movement has been a particularly heavy one.

Playing Up.

"Hiram," said the farmer's wife, "what makes you say 'By Gosh' so much and go around with a straw in your mouth?"

"I'm getting ready for the summer boarders that's comin' next week. If some of us don't talk an' act that way, they'll think we ain't country folks at all."

MARRIED

LASHER—FRECHETTE—Married in Toronto, Wednesday, August 25th, Miss May Frechette of Belleville to Mr. Hawley Lasher by Reverend Msgr. Whalen, in Our Lady of Lourdes Church. 1t

Sports

G.T.R. 6—NEW LISKEARD 1

Baseball fans in considerable numbers yesterday afternoon wended their way to the Agricultural Park and the great majority expected to witness a mach between two well known rival teams, namely the G.T.R. team of this city last year's Provincial amateur champions and Peterboro, winners this yeas of the Central Ontario League. In this respect they were disappointed as the opposing team to the G.T.R. players was from New Liskeard the champions of the Temiskaming district. Our boys proved to be easy victors over the northern players, the score being 6 to 1 in their favor. It was in many respects a good exhibition of the game and at times snappy ball was played by both teams. In the 7th innings, W. Mills, catcher for the G.T.R. retired from the game owing to an injury to his left ankle which fortunately was not of a serious nature. Frank Goyer replaced him playing the position well. Mr. E. Thomas as umpire on balls and strikes was most impartial and Harold Woodley, base umpire, performed his duties well. The play by innings was as follows:

1st Innings

New Liskeard—Burns walked and stole 2nd. Simms flew to Meagher. Fleming struck out. Britton walked. Burns out trying to steal 3rd. No runs no hits, no errors.

G.T.R.—Ross 1st on infield hit. Weir reached 1st on bunt. Ross going to 2nd. Frank Goyer out at 1st. W. Mills made a two bagger scoring Ross and Weir. Parker made sacrifice hit, scoring Mills. Kelleher walked. Meagher made hit to centre field. Symons out at 1st. Three runs, 2 hits, 1 error.

2nd Innings

New Liskeard—Brisson out at 1st. Thompson struck out. Binkley out at 1st. No hits, no runs, no errors.

G.T.R.—Fred Goyer out at 1st. Ross flew to Grills. Weir made hit to centre field. Frank Goyer made a three bagger to right field, scoring Weir. W. Mills flew to Grills. One run, 2 hits, 0 errors.

3rd Innings

New Liskeard—Grills struck out. Spence reached 1st on a bunt. Burns reached 1st on bunt. Spence out at 3rd. Simms made hit to right field. Fleming flew to Frank Goyer. No runs 1 hit, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Parker struck out. Kelleher flew to Simms. Meagher out at 1st. No runs, no hits, no errors.

4th Innings

New Liskeard—Britton struck out. Brisson struck out. Thompson struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

G.T.R.—Symons hit by pitched ball. Fred Goyer out at 1st on bunt, Symons reaching 2nd. Ross made hit. Symons out at 3rd. Weir made a hit to centre field scoring Ross. Frank Goyer flew to Simms. One run, 2 hits, 0 errors.

5th Innings

New Liskeard—Binkley out at 1st. Grills out at 1st. Spence walked. Burns struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

G.T.R.—W. Mills reached 1st on hit and got second on overthrow. Parker made a two bagger to right field, scoring Mills. Kelleher reached 1st on hit to infield, Parker advancing to 3rd. Meagher struck out. Symons flew to Thompson. Fred Goyer out at 1st. One run, 2 hits, 1 error.

6th Innings

New Liskeard—Simms flew to Ross. Fleming flew to Frank Goyer. Britton out at 1st. No runs, no hits, no errors.

G.T.R.—Ross out at 1st. Weir out at 1st. Frank Goyer made hit to centre field. W. Mills made hit to centre field, Goyer reaching 2nd. Parker out at 1st. No runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

7th Innings

New Liskeard—Brisson reached 1st on infield hit. Thompson reached 1st. Brisson out at 2nd. Binkley made a two bagger to right field. Grills made a hit to right field scoring Thompson. Binkley out trying to reach home. Spencer struck out. One run, 2 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Kelleher out at 1st. Meagher reached 1st on infield hit but was caught trying to steal 2nd. Symons flew to Grills.

8th Innings

New Liskard—Burns flew to Weir. Simms struck out. Fleming flew to Kelleher. No runs, no hits, no errors.

G.T.R.—Fred Goyer walked. Ross flew to Thompson. Weir made hit to centre field. H. Mills made infield hit. Fred Goyer out at 3rd. Frank Goyer out at 1st. No runs, 2 hits, 0 errors.

9th Innings

New Liskeard—Britton struck out. Brisson out at 1st. Thompson flew to Frank Goyer. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score by innings:

G.T.R.—3 1 0 1 1 0 0 0 X—6.

New Liskeard—0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1.

Line up of the teams was as follows:

G.T.R.—Ross, c.f., Weir, s.s., Frank Goyer and H. Mills, 1st b., Parker, r.f., Kelleher, 3rd b., W. Mills, c., Meagher 2nd b., Symons, l.f., Fred Goyer, p.

New Liskeard—Burns, s.s., Simms, 1st b., Fleming r.f., Britton, c., Brisson l.f., Thompson, 2nd b., Binkley, 3rd b., Grills, c.f., Spence, p.

BILLY MISKE IS NOT A PRIZE QUINCE

(By Lou E. Marsh)

Don't be too sure that Jack Dempsey will make mincemeat of Billy Miske when they meet in Benton Harbor, Mich., Labor Day. Miske has already met Dempsey at six and ten rounds and has survived Dempsey's "Alice Ann," so he knows just how hard Dempsey can hit. Miske is a much improved boxer since a spinal adjustment relieved some inward trouble. He is a tall, raw boned fellow and he can hit and hurt. He has a good left jab and a good left jab is an effective defence for Dempsey's right hook. If Miske carries Dempsey along over the 10-mile mark look out that there isn't a new champion on points. I had a talk to "Bat" Masterson, the famous New York fight critic, at the Thousand Island House, Alexandria Bay, this week, and he likes Miske's chances very much. Mr. Masterson says that Carpentier will "murder" Battling Levinsky and he is not too sure that the Frenchman will be such a light lunch for Dempsey.

INDOOR BASEBALL

At the Indoor Baseball meeting to-night at the Armouries at 7.30 p.m. the following teams will please have a representative there. Y.M.C.A., Argyle Light Infantry, G. T. Shops, G. T. Office, Hydro Electric, Marsh Engineering Works, Elliott Woodwork Co., Rolling Mills and any others wishing to enter an Indoor Baseball League. A fast league is anticipated if everyone enters who is expected. Everybody come.

The Baltimore Orioles beat Rochester 8 to 7 and lead the International League race.

In an O. A. L. A. juvenile game at Shelburne the home team defeated Durham 13 to 5.

The Last Corn

When you end your corn with Blue-jay, it will be the last corn you let grow.

You will know how to stop the pain. And how to quickly and completely end all corns.

There are millions who use Blue-jay now, and they never let a corn remain.

The new-day way

Blue-jay is the new-day way, the scientific method.

It was perfected in a laboratory world-famed for its surgical dressings.

It is supplanting the many treatments which are harsh and inefficient.

It has made paring as ridiculous as it is unsafe, for paring doesn't end corns.

Do this tonight:

Apply to a corn a Blue-jay plaster or liquid Blue-jay—whichever you prefer.

Mark how the pain stops. Then wait a little and the corn will loosen and come out.

What that corn does all corns will do. Some 20 million corns a year are ended in this way.

Don't suffer corns. Don't have your feet disfigured. They can be ended almost as easily as a dirt-spot on your face. They are just as inexcusable.

Don't forget this. It means too much to you.

Ask your druggist for Blue-jay.

B&B Blue-jay
Plaster or Liquid
The Scientific Corn Ender

BAUER & BLACK, Limited Chicago Toronto New York
Makers of Sterile Surgical Dressings and Allied Products

In the Case of Detroit—

IN granting increased rates for telephone service in Detroit the other day, the Michigan Public Utilities Commission said:—

"An increase in telephone rates may be unpopular. A collapse in telephone service would be a calamity. It would be easy to jeopardize the investment of stockholders, impair the value of the company's property; cripple its service and destroy its credit, but in the long run the rate-paying public would bear the burden of re-establishing the business."

Public Utility Commissions everywhere, are recognizing the fact that if Telephone companies are to continue to give good service and to meet demands for new installations, they must have rates that will produce adequate revenue.

The Bell Telephone Company
of Canada

School Shoes

YOUR CHILDREN WILL NEED NEW SHOES, AND SHOES OF GOOD SOLID MATERIAL THAT WILL STAND THE WEAR AND TEAR OF SCHOOL DAYS. WE HAVE RECEIVED SOME NEW LINES, MADE OF REAL SOLID LEATHERS AND GUARANTEED TO WEAR.

Kor-Ker Welts for Girls, black calf uppers, heavy welt soles, sizes 11 to 2	$5.00	Kor-Ker Welts for Boys in black and brown calf uppers. Sizes 11 to 2, $5.00; 8 to 10½	$4.00
Black Kid Mother Hubbard Shoes that will give good wear. Sizes 11 to 2	$3.25	Boys' Black Boots of very good quality, 1 to 5	$3.00

We have these lines in smaller sizes at correspondingly smaller prices, and every pair of shoes we sell we guarantee to give satisfaction. TRY US ONCE!

HOLMES & MURDOFF

BELLEVILLE SHOE SPECIALISTS TRENTON

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 287 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 12c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 25 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $6.20; one year post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY—

This day I will live as becomes a man. I will be filled with good cheer and courage.—Anon.

BOOST FAIR BELLEVILLE
BOOST BELLEVILLE FAIR

Belleville Fair is growing bigger and better every year and can be made one of the best expositions in Canada, to the great benefit of Belleville and Bellevillians.

Belleville Fair can be made great only by the loyalty and support of Belleville citizens.

As great oaks from little acorns grow so great fairs evolve from small beginnings, aided by loyal, energetic and progressive citizens.

Toronto, Ottawa, Sherbrooke, Kingston, Picton, and some other places have fall fairs of outstanding merit, growing better every year, and each year largely patronized. The reason is that there is a loyal citizenship back of these enterprises boosting them to the limit.

Belleville Fair until lately was a subject for ridicule, and instead of boosting many citizens took delight in knocking.

In the face of that, however, and notwithstanding the great generosity of the citizens in giving the fair grounds away, necessitating the purchase of new grounds in the near future, Belleville Fair has been making progress, and this year will be brighter and better than ever.

As citizens let us ask ourselves what is our duty toward Belleville Fair. We can make it or break it.

Let us make it the best small city fair in all Canada, so that visitors will come here from all parts of the continent, and when they come let us show them what can be produced in this Garden of the Gods, the finest fruits of vineyard and orchard, the best in field crops, cattle, horses, dairy and every product of the farm.

Let us introduce them to Belleville Cheese, the finest in the world of which it may be said in very truth that the sun never sets on Belleville Cheese, for it is in demand in every nation under every flag.

Let us introduce them to the gold, the iron, the talc, the feldspar, the granite and all the riches of the mineral regions of Hastings.

Let us show them the goods manufactured in Belleville, Hastings, and Prince Edward Counties, which in variety and usefulness surpass any other industrial section in Canada.

Let us tell the world what we have here and the world will soon beat a path to our doors which will be lined with the golden promise of progress and prosperity.

Boost Belleville, Boost Belleville Fair!

SINS OF PARENTS
VISITED ON CHILD

The Toronto Star points out that under the laws of Ontario the innocent child, if it should happen to be "illegitimate," is condemned to pay a life-long penalty for the sins of its parents. The Star goes on to say:

"The child is debarred from all rights of either maternal or paternal inheritance; he is not legitimate by the subsequent marriage of his parents he cannot assume his father's name without consent, however clear the proof of paternity; his birth registration is marked "illegitimate" and the father's name must not appear thereon without the consent of both parents; he is legally no one's child. The father, under the existing law, finds it very easy to escape all financial responsibility for maintenance and upbringing. In Ontario the mother must initiate all proceedings in regard to securing support and proving paternity. The State is simply a disinterested spectator. Unless the mother makes an affidavit of affiliation within six months of the birth of the child no legal action of any kind is possible. As a matter of actual fact, a recent investigation in Toronto revealed that nine out of ten such fathers contributed absolutely nothing. Even counting the cases where a few dollars are given, in less than ten per cent. of the cases was any support whatever afforded."

WHAT WESTERNERS WILL ASK MACKENZIE KING.

The Ontario tour of Hon. Mackenzie King has been a quiet one, but it is scarcely to be expected that when he tours the West—which he expects to do shortly—that he will get through as quietly as he did in this province. It would not be at all surprising if the blunt men of the plains were to ask the Liberal leader one or two plain questions. They can ask him, for example, how it comes that his party welshed last session on its tariff platform of 1920. They can ask him just precisely what he means when he says that the tariff must be reduced. They can ask him what protectionists like Mr. Fielding and Mr. Pardee and Mr. Robb and and Mr. McKenzie are doing in a professedly Cobdenite party.

And, finally, they might enquire how it comes that the great progressive party which Mr. King leads, fought tooth and nail with the Montreal interests to defeat public ownership.—Guelph Herald.

CRISP COMMENT

"Ten-cent Sugar Deemed Nonsense," says newspaper heading. Well, twenty-five cent sugar was damned nonsense, and then some; but how long are the patient public going to stand such nonsense?

× × ×

Silk shirts are coming down, and, says the Kingston Whig, if they come down far enough they can be used as evening gowns. Belleville-made shirts can be worn proudly in any company.

× × ×

The Cleveland Plain Dealer demands the revision of the Jones Act, discriminating against foreign shipping, on the ground that "the United States can ill-afford to build up a merchant marine at the cost of the commercial friendship of her neighbors."

× × ×

Curiously enough, says The Philadelphia Public Ledger, it is only among the more refined and hothouse circles of British and American parlor Bolshevism, far removed from contact with Russia, that the great experiment is still viewed with approval.

× × ×

The Ontario Minister of Public Works says he is not a director of a motor truck corporation. His name was included in a list of directors of such a corporation in a large advertisement published for several days in Toronto newspapers.—Toronto Globe.

OTHER VIEWS

Britain's Happiest Decision
Detroit News

If Egypt is to be free that act fulfils such a purpose in that specific case. It is at once the happiest decision made by the British Government in recent years and, as a quieting influence on the whole of the Mohammedan world, at present in subjection to European powers, cannot be overestimated. It says, in effect, to all subject peoples, that European good faith is to be restored to par.

The Canadian Yacht
Providence Journal

The composite character of the proposed Canadian challenger is of interest. According to the news despatches, she will be designed by a British marine architect, built in Canada and manned by Nova Scotia fishermen. This last information impels the hope that the boat will be a real yacht of sound lines and able to sail in all weathers. The Nova Scotians have always sailed craft as sturdy and as practical as they are themselves. They would be altogether of their element on a "park fountain boat."

Soviet Divorce System
Kingston Whig

Under the Soviet system a husband can put off his wife as he would a garment of which he has tired. If he desires a divorce and his wife does not, the husband simply has to wait three months and he is free of her and can marry again, no matter how much justice there is on the woman's side. The couple are put on probation for three months, and so given an opportunity to "patch it up," and then if the husband still wants a divorce it is granted. Where both husband and wife both want a divorce it is granted without any other reason. In short, every social law that is calculated to save women from becoming mere slaves to man's bestial passions has been wiped out in Russia by the Bolshevists.

THE POET'S CORNER

LATE SUMMER

In regal splendor, supple, full of ease,
She walks the hills and trails her shining gown,
Loosening the purpling roses of her crown
And scattering showers of gold dust to the breeze
She laughing spies in green of rusting trees,
All but concealed, the coat of russet brown
Where jolly Autumn, ambushed, tossed down
Audaciously a few, small crimson leaves.

Matilda holds a teacup poised for me,
Undimmed by years her blue eyes softly smile,
And, matron-like, she chatters to me while
The shadows creep. But in her glance I see
She feels the purpling on the wall
The wind-blown seeds, the little leaves that fall.
—George Wilde in N. Y. Times.

A LAUGH OR TWO

"Where did you say the Grabcoins were going to locate their new garage?" "They haven't decided yet, but since it is to be two storeys high and accommodate half a dozen large cars, Mrs. Grabcoin says it would be a total loss if it couldn't be seen from the street.

Acoustic Phenomenon

"I don't think Edith will ever make a hit as a vocalist."

"She has a good voice."

"Yes, but she's got such a big mouth that there's an echo, and that spoils the effect of her singing."

His Reply

Standing by the entrance of a large estate in the suburbs of Glasgow are two huge dogs carved out of granite. An Englishman going by in a hack thought he would have some fun with his Scotch driver. "How often, Jock, do they feed those two big dogs?" "Whenever they bark, sir," was the straight-faced reply.

Horse Sense

"How did Blank lose his fingers off his right hand?"

"Put them in the horse's mouth to see how many teeth he had."

"And then what happened?"

"The horse closed his mouth to see how many fingers Blank had."

Gave Her An Idea

Charlie—You had better marry me. Eligible men are scarce.

Caroline—I suppose I could offer that as an explanation to my friends!

TWO KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Quebec, Sept. 2.—Joseph Lamontagne and Georges Labrecque, aged 20, of St. Neree, Bellechase county, were instantly killed early Tuesday morning when a barn they were approaching near St. Neree was struck by lightning in a severe storm that was passing over the district at the time. Three horses were killed and the barn was gutted. Georges Labrecque had just sold a farm and had $2,000 in bills on his person when he was struck. The money was found later intact.

West May Supply Coal

COAL operators and consumers in the western field are tremendously interested in the new English process by which inferior coal as low as 3,000 B.T.U. heat value is raised to as high as 12,500 B.T.U. This means the cheapest fuel becomes almost as good as the best. Toronto's experiment with the process is being watched closely in the west and enquires are being made in England. W. F. McNeil, Commissioner of the Coal Operators' Association, is among the most interested. Fuel Controller Armstrong wants to look into the proposition and Boards of Trade in Edmonton, Calgary and elsewhere are discussing the subject with alert interest. As far as the meagre details here are known the process is inexpensive. It consists of furnaces so arranged as to drive out the moisture, preserving the by-products and preserving the residue, which is of high carbon value. The by-products are understood to be sufficiently valuable to pay the first cost of production. McNeil in discussing the subject said the idea was, of course, sound, but the by-products obtained had no market at present in the west. The market would have to be created.

At present even the by-products of the coke furnaces along the Crow's Nest Pass Railway have to be shipped to the States to be marketed. This is especially true of the tar. Still, this new process is not a cokeing proposition. While much of Alberta's coal runs high in carbon or B.T.U. heat value great bodies here are down as low as forty-eight per cent. carbon value and much is still lower. The wet lignite of the Edmonton district lends itself especially to this new process.

If capital can be interested in the establishment of industries for this purpose in this field, Ontario's fuel problem is solved and a new economic stage will be reached here. As the bulk is reduced as well as weight, while the B.T.U. value of the fuel is trebled, the freight rates to Ontario will not be a deterrent factor to traffic from this field. Just before he left for England the other day John Stirling, chief of the Coal Mining Department of Alberta, remarked that the new process, if practicable, might afford the key to the problem that would make Alberta coal the fuel of all that section of Canada from Montreal to the Pacific. Engineers surveying this Alberta field officially estimate that it contains the following huge volume of coal, furnished by A. P. Davies, chief fuel inspector G. T. R.: 382,500 million tons lignite, 1,197 million tons low carbon bituminous, 2,026 million tons bituminous, 668 million tons semi-anthracite. Mr. Davies also points out that Canada imported during 1919 21 million tons of coal from the United States, valued at $70,000,000. That year the Alberta field produced some 4,900,000 tons, just a fraction of her potential volume, and for the reason that there was no market for more. In actual mine figures, this field did produce last year a total of domestic coal equalling 2,611,000 tons and of bituminous, 2,325,787, of anthracite 86,616, briquettes 70,642, a total of 5,092,447.

Here is where the domestic fuel went from all this field during 1919: Alberta consumed 51 per cent., or 1,219,070 tons; Saskatchewan, 36 per cent., or 865,698 tons; Manitoba, 11 1-3 or 27,046 tons, while British Columbia used the balance, one and two-thirds per cent., or 3,111 tons. The market these mines can secure scarcely permits them to operate at full capacity half the time. At this season the men are averaging in many of the mines' reduced staff but eleven days per month. With the new process bodies of cheap coal too wet and null of volatile substances to be considered merchantable under present conditions would come into the market with a high percentage of B.T.U. value. The residue would reach Ontario as high grade heating fuel, with the volume one to three times reduced, with an equal saving of freight tolls. The possibilities of benefit in the present fuel crisis are so vast as to justify the tremendous interest the process has disclosed.

With the huge grain movement in sight, double last year's, when the railways had difficulty in finding equipment, it is going to be vital to get fuel anywhere at any cost further east than Manitoba this fall, but the hazard and the expense of getting through this winter will probably result in a new stage setting for the fuel drama next year.

Duel of Tongues.

Hard words break no bones, but to an Eskimo they are more deadly than a sword thrust.

That is why they settle their differences by reviling one another in the choicest and most sarcastic language.

They fight their duels with their tongues. When two Eskimos have had a quarrel, they pick a suitable time and place for meeting, and notify the villagers.

They take turns at singing, dancing, beating drums, and hurling sarcastic remarks at each other. While one opponent performs, the other must grin and bear it. Then he gets his chance at tongue-lashing. They are both given several opportunities to tell everything they know and think about each other. They even drag in the sins of their ancestors.

Which one wins? The one who can get the greatest number of laughs out of the audience.

He Knows.

"You women bear pain more heroically than men."

"I suppose a doctor told you that?"

"No, a shoemaker."

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Silver
You Need
When Company
Comes

Beautiful patterns in sterling and the finest quality plate that will keep its handsome appearance through many years of use. It is silver the whole family will be proud of and that guests will admire greatly.

Attractive values are shown in Sets of Spoons, Forks and Knives, and single pieces such as Cold Meat Forks, Pie Servers, Cream Ladles and other choice wedding presents.

6 Iced Tea Spoons, $4.50
6 Tea Spoons $3.50 to $5.00
12 Hollow Handle Knives, $13.00 to $18.00

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and
Optician

Take a Brick of our
ICE CREAM

HOME WITH YOU!
They are refreshing,
They are cooling,
They are healthful,
They are appetizing
They are pure, and
The flavors are the best.
We put them up fresh every day.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Sign Writing and
Picture Framing

We make signs of all kinds, large and small. At present we are writing the largest sign in Belleville for A. S. Richardson Co. We can prepare your sign and do it right.

Scantlebury Signs
ARE THE BEST SIGNS

MOTORISTS' BOOK MARK

Keep Your Car
Fully
Under Control

These
Demand Unusual Care

Street Intersections
Blind Corners
Nearby Schools
Railway Tracks
Slippery Pavements

ONTARIO SAFETY LEAGUE
ROYAL BANK BUILDING - TORONTO

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters,
Ferns & Bigonias

Artistic Floral Work
Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 3.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 435.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street - - - Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 205.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C. M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 2, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

Belleville Fair

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
September 6th, 7th, 8th

FIRST CLASS SPEEDING EVENTS.
BASEBALL MATCHES, TUG OF WAR, ETC., EACH DAY.

HON. MR. DOHERTY, MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE, WILL BE PRESENT ON LABOR DAY, SEPT. 6th.

EXHIBITS OF LIVE STOCK BETTER THAN EVER

FIRST CLASS MIDWAY HAS BEEN SECURED

THE CELEBRATED G.W.V.A. BAND IN ATTENDANCE
BE SURE AND ATTEND THIS FAIR.
GOD SAVE THE KING!

H. K. DENYES, M.P.P., President.
R. H. KETCHESON, Secretary.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.						READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS.		Train 20	Train 22	Train 38
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	———	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*9.00 a.m.	———
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.53 p.m.
5.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.20 p.m.
7.55 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	8.00 p.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	5.40 p.m.	———	———

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday. S. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

WELCOME RELIEF FROM ECZEMA

Complete Treatment That Gives Gratifying Results

WARSAW, ONT.

"I had an attack of Weeping Eczema so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times.

For four months, I suffered terribly, I could get no relief until I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and "Sootha-Salva".

Altogether, I have used three boxes of "Sootha-Salva" and two of "Fruit-a-tives", and am entirely well." G. W. HALL.

Both these favorite remedies are sold by dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

"Fruit-a-tives" is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.

?

Why not try McCoy Bros. for fine shoe repairing and dyeing? Their material and workmanship is guaranteed. A trial visit convinces you of our ability to give service and satisfaction.

McCoy Bros.

Shoe Repairers — 378 Front St.
Opposite Graham's Cold Storage.

BATTERIES
Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS
REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery
Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

S. J. FISHER

Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

Decorating

Is Useless if Not Correct. Consult an expert when you contemplate decorating your home or your church. He will cost you less and serve you best, who knows how.

Command—

C. B. Scantlebury
Designer & Decorator.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

TAXES ON BACHELORS

FRENCHMEN MUST PAY FOR THE PRIVILEGE OF BEING SINGLE.

This New Law Has Many Precedents Dating Back to Very Ancient Times — Even In England There Have Been Times When Bachelors Had to Give Extra Money to the State, and Married Men Still Want to Punish Their Single Brothers.

SENATOR HERVEY tried to challenge Senator Delahaye to a duel. "The tumult was so terrific" that Senator Berand, the acting president, felt compelled to suspend the session. Much Latin temperament, indeed, displayed itself the other day as soon as the French Senate attempted to discuss the question that has irritated legislators for two thousand years and more—namely, "Should not the bachelor be discouraged through a special tax?"

The bill before the French House responds to this inquiry with a most emphatic "yea" by imposing a tax of no less than 25 per cent. upon the income of all unmarried or divorced "citizens" more than thirty years of age. Even if, the bill should be amended, as some have proposed, by omitting all religious celibates, no blow so heavy has yet been struck at bachelors and spinsters. The French Convention, in 1795, went no further than decreeing that bachelors should not be chosen for the Conseil des Anciens, the Revolutionary Senate. More than a hundred years later the National Alliance for the Increase of Population of France suggested no reminder more severe than the privilege of a double vote as premium for the father of three children.

Non-religious celibates among the Orientals were apparently so abnormal that they created their own reproof. But the justice of old Sparta, traditionally rigorous, chastised the bachelor in a psychological fashion. The Spartan still unmarried after a certain age was forbidden to behold "the gymnastic exercises of the maidens"; but imagine, if you can, our legislators forbidding any bachelor to patronize a musical show!

A serious British reviewer has criticized this legislation as far from politic. "It deprived the single man," he says, "of occasions when he might have fallen a victim to the charms and the athletic proportions of some charming damsel."

The Romans, who made laws for every case conceivable, enacted mildly, in the calm days of Augustus, that no unmarried man under sixty could take possession of a legacy until, within a specified time, he had acquired a wife.

Mediaeval bachelors may have lost importance through the multitude of absentee husbands abroad on "quests" and crusades. One of the few efforts to check the derelict gallants was made by an indignant woman—Margaret, Countess of Nevers. Granting a charter of liberties to the town of Auxerre, France, in 1223, she laid an annual tax of five "solidi" on every man who "has no wife and is a bachelor."

The Briton's individualism and his regard for personal liberty have nearly always shielded the unmarried man in England against discriminating taxes; similar reasons probably account for the apparent absence of such imposts in the revenues of the Thirteen Colonies. The little colony of Bermuda, however, imposed a tax of a shilling a head on bachelors early in the eighteenth century. It was not until the time of Charles II's Restoration that an act "to pay off the Armies and the Navy" included a charges of 12 pence (24 cents) upon "every single person above the age of sixteen years." But the most comprehensive and important British effort to collect from bachelors a penalty for their freedom or their loneliness took form in 1695, under William III, as part of a "grant for carrying on the war against France with vigour."

This act demanded contributions from "all batchelors and widowers" above the age of twenty-five, and for the next five years. It was certainly not a failure, since the tax was reimposed until 1706. The more important the offender, the more he had to pay. A knight was assessed £2 11s. each year, the unwed duke was charged £12 11s. Six shillings annually was the tax of every unmarried "gentleman" — every man with an income of £250 or with a personal estate worth £600. Classes between knights and dukes paid graduated sums. Smaller amounts were taken from the sons of those who owned the titles or estates, the heir paying the most. The undistinguished bachelors and widowers were each taxed annually a single shilling.

The same enactment, nevertheless, put a tax upon the privilege of marrying; of being born, too; and, although one could die without immediate expense, one could not be interred until the King had collected a small tax for "burying every person whatsoever."

In later days some laws of Pitt's administration comprised the only British encroachments upon the bachelor's peace of mind. He paid for keeping servants a relatively higher tax than Benedict in 1785; and a few years thereafter Cælebs suffered a like discrimination through the income tax.

Yet much more recently the English, as well as the French and the Germans, have urged the need of a bachelor tax. In the Westminster Review, for example, the writer previously quoted contends that the bachelor bears "a most inadequate share of the public expenditures, local and national, and that the bachelor fraternity has greatly increased in numbers." Throughout the United Kingdom, he asserts, the proportion of bachelors has risen by 20 per cent. in ten years.

* * *

MacSweeney's mind is unimpaired. Will not be permitted to die if death can be prevented. Restoratives to be used just as soon as Cork's Lord Mayor loses consciousness.

18¢ per package
Two for 35¢

"Little Pal of Mine"

Enjoy them to-day

PLAYER'S
NAVY CUT
CIGARETTES

From Our Own Correspondents

DESERONTO.

A number of our people intend visiting Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dalton were in Ottawa last week.

Mr. Geo. Houle spent a few days in Toronto this week.

Miss May Prickett is spending a few days in Kingston with Miss Vera Gammon.

Miss Nellie Lloyd of New York is spending her vacation with her mother, Mrs. R. W. Lloyd.

Misses E. C. Metcalfe and C. E. Argue and families have gone on a motor trip to points in the United States.

Miss Lulu Drummey has returned after spending a couple of weeks' holidays with relatives at Silver Lake and Detroit, Mich.

Three cases of smallpox were reported from the reserve yesterday.

Mrs. Lowery and little daughter returned to her home, Deseronto road, from Toronto, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman of Toronto have been the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Walker and other friends in town.

Mrs. J. C. Ellement, of Trenton is the guest of her mother, Mrs. John Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sharpe are spending a week's holidays with his parents, at Murray.

Mr. H. Gonyeau of Peterborough was in town this week.

Miss May Cavers of Winnipeg, who has been the guest of her uncle, Mr. Robert Miller and family, for the past two weeks, has returned home.

The funeral of the late Hiram Sagar took place on Friday afternoon to Napanee cemetery.

Mrs. H. M. Moore is home from Crookston.

Deseronto won another game of baseball from Napanee on Wednesday the score being 14 to 3.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson of Roblindale have purchased the house on Thomas street formerly owned by Mr. Madden of Napanee.

BIG ISLAND.

A few from this vicinity attended the picnic at Woodville on Thursday.

Miss Nettie Cunningham, of Toronto, is spending her holidays with her father, Mr. Jos. Cunningham.

Master David Barker of Fairmount returned home on Sunday after spending several days with his cousin, Miss Helen Pock.

Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Carr spent several days recently with Mr. Geo. Thurston and family, Glenora.

Miss Luella Sprague is visiting friends in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kerr and Norman were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hallett.

FRONT OF THURLOW.

Threshing is the order of the day in our neighborhood.

The Methodist Sunday School held their annual picnic on Wednesday in Mr. S. J. Brown's grove. A large crowd and a good time is reported.

Sorry to report the illness of Mrs. Charlie Bradshaw. Hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Geo. Baird, and mother, of Kinburn, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dart, of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. I. Barlow, Havelock, were in our neighborhood attending the funeral of the late Mr. Bunnett last Sunday.

Miss Bessie MacDonald, of Acton, Ont., visited in our midst last week.

Miss Grace Jackson, of Belleville, was the guest of the Misses Ula and Alethia Brown recently.

Mr. James Bunnett.

A gloom was cast on this neighborhood on Friday morning, August 20, when it became known that one of our oldest and most highly respected residents had passed into the Great Beyond, in the person of Mr. James Bunnett, Sr. Mr. Bunnett had been a long and patient sufferer. Deceased was in his 80th year, and was well liked by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. An aged widow, one son James, at home, two daughters, Mrs. J. D. Winter, also at home, and Mrs. Albert Reid, Shannonville, are left to mourn the loss of a dutiful husband and a loving father.

On Sunday at 2.30 p.m. the funeral cortege entered the Anglican church, Shannonville, to the strains of the Dead March. The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. Mr. Gantrell, and Rev. Mr. Geen, of Belleville. The remains were laid to rest in the village cemetery.

TWO BRITISH SAILORS KILLED BY DANZIG MOB

Warsaw, Sept. 1.—An American arriving from Danzig reports that two British sailors were killed yesterday by street mobs, angered by the decision to unload munitions for Poland despite the Danzig Council's declaration of neutrality.

French sailors from the warships in the harbor were patrolling the streets at the American's departure to keep the riotous crowds in check.

GOITRE

Send for free booklet (or ask your druggist) about Gu-Solvo for the successful treatment of goitre in your own home. This medicine is taken internally; softens, the goitre; gradually dissolves it and casts it entirely out of the system. You owe it to yourself and your friends to get rid of this unsightly disease. Gu-Solvo is sold in Belleville by J. V. DOYLE.

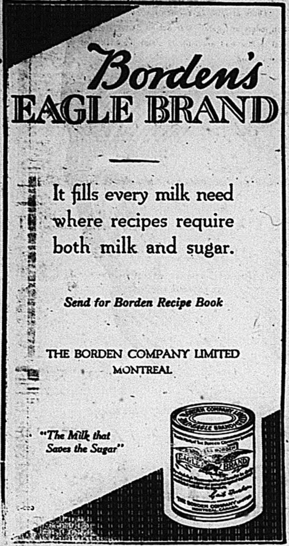
The Monk Chemical Co., Limited,
43 Scott St., Toronto, Ont.

The Finest and Purest Tea Sold

"SALADA"

There is genuine and unmistakeable pleasure in its daily use.

Black - Green or Mixed } Try a packet from your grocer, but be sure it's "Salada"



Borden's EAGLE BRAND

It fills every milk need where recipes require both milk and sugar.

Send for Borden Recipe Book

THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
MONTREAL

"The Milk that Saves the Sugar"

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

For Your Children

YOU say and believe that you would do anything for your children. Have you started a savings account for them yet? Do it today at the Bank of Montreal, even if you begin with only one dollar. There is no better way to teach them thrift and no more important lesson for them to learn.

BANK OF MONTREAL
Established over 100 years
Total Assets in Excess of $500,000,000
Head Office: Montreal
Branches in all Important Centres in Canada
Savings Departments at all Branches

R. TANNAHILL, MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH.

Have the Intelligencer sent to your home address

The Thirteenth Commandment

By
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

They could not know that she was hobbling down the wilderness of Riverside drive. She, too, was thinking longingly of her bed. But long before she reached it her mother had moved in and established herself across a good deal more than half of it. It was a smallish bed in a smallish bedroom.

Leila fell asleep in her tub and might have drowned without noticing the difference if her yawning husband had not saved her life—and very cleverly: he was too tired to lift her from the water, so he lifted the stopper and let the water escape from her. She almost resented the rescue, but eventually got herself to bed in a prettily sullen stupor.

From some infinite depth of peace she was dragged up protesting. Bayard was telling her of Daphne's arrival. Doggedly she began to prepare an elaborate toilet, but Bayard haled her out before she was ready. This was the final test of Leila's patience and of Daphne's.

It was a tribute to both that they hated the collision more than each other. Their greetings were appropriately emotional and noisy, and they both talked at once in a manner that showed a certain congeniality.

It Was a Tribute to Both That They Hated the Collision More Than Each Other.

When at length Daphne went to her room she observed her mother's extra-territorial holdings. She stretched herself along the narrow coastline in despair of rest. But she was too tired to worry or lie awake and she slept thoroughly.

The next morning the three women, about to meet one another by daylight, made their preparations with the scrupulous anxiety of candidates for presentation at court. In consequence, breakfast was late and the only man there, except the evanescent waiter from the restaurant below, was Bayard.

A troop of business worries like a swarm of gnats had wakened him early. He had escaped some of them in Europe, for the honeymoon had been a prolonged and beatific interlude in his office hours; but marriage was not his career. His career was his work, and that was recalling him, rebuking him, as with far-off bugle alarms.

He was so restless that he merely glanced at the headlines of the paper. He was preoccupied when he kissed his mother and Daphne good morning, and he paced up and down the dining room like a caged leopard till Leila arrived.

Her trousseau had included boudoir gowns of the most ravishing description and she wore her best one to breakfast. Daphne and Mrs. Kip made all the desirable exclamations at the cost and the cut of it. Even Bayard paid her a tribute.

"Isn't she a dream, mother? Aren't you proud of her, Daph?"

They agreed that she was and they were, and Bayard drew his chair up to the table with pride.

It was the bride's last breakfast and the housewife's first. That is, Leila, was not really a housewife; only an apartment wife, with nearly everything done for her except the spending of her time. She had to spend her own time.

This breakfast was the funeral of the honeymoon, and Leila hung with graceful dejection over the coffee cup. It might have been a cup of hemlock, judging from the posture of her woe. But the he-brute, attracted by a portion of a headline, had his newspaper and was gulping it down with his coffee.

He was so absorbed in the mere clash of two Mexican generals and the danger of American intervention that he forgot the all-important demands of love, and ignored the appalling fact that he had only a few minutes left before he must take his departure.

It was a pitiful awakening to the new Mrs. Kip. She was being taught that she was not important enough to keep her husband's mind or his body close at home. He had said that she was all the world to him, and, behold! she was only a part of it. He had said that he could think of nothing else and desired nothing else but her. Now he had her and he was thinking of everything else. He had to have a newspaper to tell him all about everything in the world.

The sight of Leila's anguish over the breakfast obsequies of the honeymoon chilled Daphne's hope of marriage bliss like a frost raveaing among peach blossoms.

Her sympathies would ordinarily have been with her brother in any dispute between him and his wife. But this was a dispute between Bayard and love. It was sacrilegious for him to go on reading the Times when his bride had so much more important things to discuss. He heard her discuss them as through a morning paper darkly, and he made the wrong answers, and finally he snatched out his watch, glared it in the face, gasped, and attacked the last of his breakfast like a train-catcher at a lunch-counter.

It was thus that he heard Leila wail, "What's to become of me all morning?"

Bayard stared at her sharply, but spoke softly enough: "Why, I don't know, honey. There ought to be plenty for you to do. The Lord knows there's enough for me at the office."

"All right," sighed Leila. "I'll be brave and worry through somehow, till noon, with my sweet new sister's help. But we'll come down and lunch with you. About what time do you go out to luncheon, By?"

Bayard's answer was discouraging: "This is one of the three days a week when the heads of the firm always lunch at Delmonico's in a private room. I'm afraid I can't lunch with you today."

"And you'll leave me this whole terrible day? I can never exist so long without you."

"I'm mighty sorry, honey. But men must work, and-so-forth. I've been away too long. The office needs me. And I've spent a lot of money, and I've got to go down and earn some more to buy pretty things for my beauty."

This brightened her in a way he had not expected, and a little too far beyond his hopes. Gloom left her face like a cloud whipped from before the sun. She dazzled him with her smile.

"Oh, I know what to do! Daphne and your mother and I can go shopping."

Bayard's heart flopped. He wondered what on earth more there was in the shops that she could want to buy. She had come to the marriage with her trousseau only partly completed, on account of the haste of the wedding. But she had bought and bought in Europe. She had made his honeymoon anxious by her rapacity for beautiful things to wear. And now that they had come to New York with their old trunks bulging and new trunks bought abroad bulging, and had paid a thumping sum at the custom house, now she was still eager to go shopping!

What he wanted to do was to quit buying for a while and sell something.

He did not say this. Love was slipping the bandage off one eye; but it had not yet removed the sugar stick that stops the tongue from criticism.

Leila grew more cheerful at a terrifying rate: "Go on to your old luncheon, my dear child, and Daphne and your mother and I will go on a spree in the shops. Then we'll all have a banquet tonight and a theater, and if we're not too tired, a supper; and if you're very good I'll take you to one of those dancing places afterward. I'll buy the theater tickets myself. I'll get good ones. I want to save you as much trouble as I can, honey. So run along to your office and don't worry about us. But you must miss me—frightfully! Will you?"

(To Be Continued)

SMALLPOX OUTBREAK SWELLS STATISTICS

But Increase in Cases is Confined to one District.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Smallpox cases show an increase in the report of communicable diseases for August, issued by the Provincial Department of Health yesterday. This increase is largely caused by an outbreak in Thurlow township (Point Ann), where 75 cases have been reported. With the exception of this epidemic there is a general decrease. Ottawa shows nine cases, Toronto seven, and Belleville and Peterboro six cases each.

The reports that the measles epidemic in the province has practically disappeared. For the eight months of the year there were 12,296 cases and 179 deaths reported from this disease. Diphtheria shows a decrease of 29 cases and 10 deaths, compared with July returns. There are 171 cases of smallpox reported throughout the province.

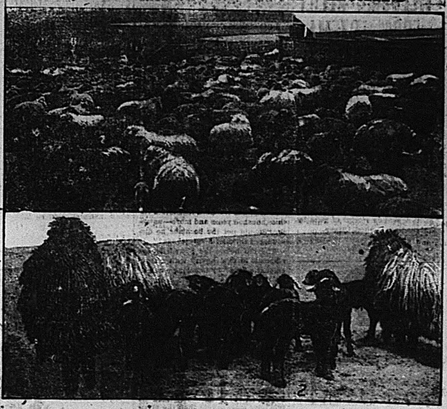
A very decided increase in the number of venereal cases reported through the province has been noticed for the month of August.

Following are the statistics:

Smallpox, cases 171, deaths 0; scarlet fever 173, 4; diphtheria 273, 36; measles 626, 10; whooping cough 178, 21; typhoid 67, 10; tuberculosis 192, 129; infantile paralysis 5, 1; cerebro-spinal meningitis, 6, 6; influenza 6, 6; acute influenzal pneumonia 1, 1; acute primary pneumonia —, 96; relapsing fever and dysentery 18, 3. Totals 1,716, 323.

Venereal diseases reported by Medical Officers of Health: Syphilis, 208; gonorrhoea, 217; chancroid, 9. Total 434.

Canadian Persian Lamb



(1) A Karakul flock gathered for inspection. (2) Karakul sheep and lambs.

The aggressive and enterprising spirit of the Canadian farmer coupled with the diversity of climates to be found throughout the Dominion result in a continual branching out into new lines of agricultural activity. A recent introduction which has apparently taken vigorous hold and will probably assume important proportions, developing into a commercial industry of magnitude, is the breeding of Karakul sheep, the animal whose young produce the fur variously known as Persian lamb, Astrakhan, and Karakul. This breed is but little known on the American continent although interesting experiments have been made with this breed at Penniac, New Brunswick, and in Prince Edward Island. The home of the Karakul sheep is on the vast sandy deserts of Bokara, which are largely inundated in the spring by the river Zerafchane swollen to overflowing by the accumulation of winter's snow in the Altai Mountains. Many deep-rooted bushes grow in this region, the tender shoots of which form the favorite food of the sheep in the summer, whilst their berries supply winter forage. For the supply of furs, the lambs are killed within three days from birth when the wool is curly, a property it maintains afterwards in the most humid atmosphere. If the animal is permitted to live, the growth gradually becomes straight, losing every vestige of flexure at maturity.

In the year 1912 the Karakul sheep was first introduced into the United States direct from Bokara, and in the following year small herds were established in Alberta and British Columbia. Here they have thrived and propagated successfully and give every indication of making the industry in the west permanently profitable. Recently, F. E. Dawley, an inspector of the United States Bureau of Husbandry for New York, who has been running a herd of 45 animals north of Calgary, Alberta, located land in the Kamloops district of British Columbia, on which he proposes establishing a similar ranch. He believes the district to be particularly adapted to the raising of Karakul sheep on account of its elevation, climate and winter conditions closely approximating the animals' native Bokara in Turkestan. Previous to the war attempts were made to acclimatize Karakul sheep in Belgium and Northern Germany, with some success. The climate of certain sections of Canada, however, provides more ideal conditions, and indications are that the foundation has been laid in the Dominion for a new issue in the livestock industry which should prove a very profitable line to Canadian farmers.

Before the war almost the entire Karakul fur crop from Bokara known as Persian lamb or Astrakhan, was treated and dyed at Leipzig, where two houses alone received 750,000 skins valued at about $2,700,000 (at pre-war prices). A full-blooded Karakul sheep is worth about $2,000; three-fourths blooded, $500; halfbreeds, $150 to $200. Skins at the present time range from $20 to $25 each.

ACCORDING TO HIS LIGHTS

Amusing Story That the Late Colonel Roosevelt Used to Tell of "Big Tim" Sullivan.

"Most men, I believe, are good citizens, according to their lights. Take 'Big Tim' Sullivan for example.

"Tim came to me while I was in the White House to get a pardon for a friend. The man was in Atlanta for blowing a post office safe, shooting the watchman and I know not what.

"Tim was insistent that he had reformed and that he'd go straight if he were pardoned. The post office folk did not think so, neither did the department of justice. But Tim was so sure, so positive, that I decided to favor him.

"'I'll give you this pardon, Tim,' said I, 'on one condition. You must take it to Atlanta yourself, see this man before he has a chance to see any of his old pals and warn him that if he goes wrong again he will not only be punished to the limit, but will have to finish out this sentence as well. There will be no mercy for him. And at the end of the year I want you to bring the fellow here and let me know how he's made out.'

"Tim agreed to this. He would have agreed to anything, and kept his agreement, too. He got the pardon and went his way. I forgot all about the thing until just one year ago. I was told Tim was waiting to see me. He had an appointment, he told the attendant.

"'Mr. President,' said he, when he came in. "I've come about that fellow Blank. You know you told me to bring him here when he'd been out a year and let you know how he's been acting. He's outside now.'

"'Yes, I remember,' I told him. 'How has he been doing?'

"'He's been perfect, Mr. President,' said the big fellow. 'When I got him to New York I put him to work behind a wheel in a gambling house, and he's been doing fine ever since.'

"That was good behavior, as Big Tim saw it!"—McClure's Magazine.

The Game of Golf.

Though generally credited as of Scottish origin, there is certain evidence that golf may have been introduced to Scotland from Holland. It was Scotland, nevertheless, that kept the game alive, and gave it to all the Anglo-Saxon peoples. Golf was played in Scotland for generations before it became at all fashionable in England. We know that it was played in the fifteenth century—how long before is unknown. The rules of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, which was founded in 1743, were for many years, and are now, accepted by practically all golf clubs. The rules of Golf Committee, appointed within the last few years, consists of members of the Royal and Ancient Club, so that it has in no way relaxed its authority as acknowledged law giver.

An Indian's Retort.

Northern Indians are not pleased with a story which was recently published in Toronto to the effect that they had been awe-struck and terror-stricken by a giant hydroplane in the service of the Abitibi Power & Power Co.

One of the spokesmen of the Indians has written a Porcupine paper protesting against such an effort to hold the Indians up to ridicule and show they are back numbers. The language used should remove all doubts as to the position of the Indian in these modern days.

"You can tell the world that the paleface newspapers are black-hearted fabricators. Us, afraid of hydroplanes. Humph! Nothing doing! The Indians are too used to seeing the white men going up in the air to be bothered by any little hydroplane. Why, we are not afraid of a threshing machine, an Ingersoll watch or a Ford automobile. The Indians are not afraid of noise nor are we alarmed or mystified by machinery. We use wheelbarrows and phonographs regularly ourselves. These paleface newspapers should quit kidding themselves and their readers."

Genesis of "Gink."

Some new light from an authoritative source has come to us on the meaning of "Gink."

An American gentleman in the smoking room of the Mauretania supplied a correspondent with the following definition of the two expressive trans-Atlanticisms "Gink" and "Boob."

A "boob," he said, is merely a guy that comes from the country, but a "gink" lives so far away from the main pike that the owls come down in the night and raid his chickens.

Keeps Track of Meteors.

An English astronomer has invented a device that tells the elevation of meteors above the earth, the length and direction of their courses and the places of their entrance into and exit from the atmosphere.

Wall Papers and Art Decorations, Burlaps Leathers, Grass-Cloths, etc.

There is nothing made in wall hangings that we cannot supply.

There is nothing in decorating that we cannot do.

Just put us to the test by commanding

The Scantlebury Decorative Service

Paints, Oils, Glass Varnish, Floor Wax

Everything in Paint at most reasonable prices, at

SCANTLEBURY'S

—the up-to-date Paint Store.
—constantly using and seeking the best in paint materials a decorator is most likely to locate the better lines we have located.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Full of Food Value

Nourishing, ready-cooked, economical.

A sugar saver, because

Grape-Nuts

contains its own sugar

You'll enjoy the convenience and the sweet, appealing flavor of this wheat and barley food.

EARLE & COOK COMPANY

Final Clearing Sale of Summer Goods

LADIES' SUITS

25 Ladies' Suits at 25 per cent. off regular price.
Ladies' Serge and Silk Dresses, 20 per cent. off regular prices.
Voile Blouses, regular $5.50 to $7.00, only $4.95
Children's Dresses, reg. $5.00 and $5.50, only $3.75
Children's Dresses, regular $3.00 to $4.00, only $1.95
Tussah Silk Bloomers in white, sky and flesh, regular $3.75. Sale price $1.95
Ladies' Summer Dresses in Percale, Voile and Indian Head, regular up to $7.50. Sale price $2.50
Blouses in Silk and Crepe de Chine in white, flesh, maize and black, regular $4.50 and $5.00; to clear at $2.95
Shantung Silk in natural colors, 33 inches wide, reg. $1.50; to clear at $1.19
Silk Boot Hose in grey, white, black, sand. Special value at $1.19
Ladies' Pure Silk Hose in white, black, grey and sand, regular $2.25 and $2.50. To clear at $1.95

EARLE & COOK COMPANY
STORE OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAY.

Special Sale

Women's White Canvas Slippers, reg. $2.75, for $2.00
Women's White Canvas Boots, reg. $2.75, for $1.40
Misses' White Canvas Boots, reg. $2.75, for $1.40
Child's Canvas Slippers, reg. $1.50, for $1.15
Child's Patent Sandals, clearing $1.50

Also other lines at real bargains.
We Carry a Complete Stock of TRUNKS, BAGS AND SUIT CASES
At Very Low Prices.
Come in and look, as it is a pleasure to show our goods.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Fashionable Furs

A neckpiece of fur gives the finishing touch to the well dressed and fashionable lady.
The choice is varied, but the furs most in demand are
Ermine and Foxaline
We have some nice pieces in these furs and would be pleased to have you call and see them.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

SHIPMENT OF HOGS

A large number of live hogs were today shipped from here to Montreal. The price paid was $19.50 per hundred weight, which price has prevailed for some time.

ASSISTANT PRIEST

His Grace Archbishop Spratt has appointed Rev. Father Leo Gorman as curate to Rt. Rev. Mgr. Materson at St. Mark's church, Prescott. Father Gorman is a native of Belleville, and a son of Mr. Thomas Gorman, a well known G.T.R. engineer.

SCOTTISH NIGHT

Twenty-five candidates will be initiated into Camp Rob Roy, Sons of Scotland, in their lodge rooms tonight (Thursday) and there will be a big time on the heather. The initiation ceremony will be followed by a social at which a very entertaining program will be rendered followed by refreshments. Scots wha hae will all be there

KILLED AT TORONTO

Mr. John A. St. Dennis, a G.T.R. brakeman, formerly of this city, but late of Toronto, met his death in Toronto yards early yesterday morning. Jack was a very great favorite and made many friends while in the city. His parents and sisters reside at Giroux Lake, Cobalt, to whom great sympathy is expressed. Deceased was 25 years of age and was run over by a freight train at Cherry street crossing An inquest will be held.

CORN ROAST

The employes of the Canadian National Express Co., last evening held a corn roast at the home of Mr. A. T. Stillman, Dundas street. The employes brought their families and there were about thirty guests present. Corn was roasted, marshmallows toasted and everybody ate "hot dogs" to their hearts content. After the roasting the guests retired to the house and here they were entertained with music and singing. Ice cream was served and soon after this the party broke up all voting Mr. and Mrs. Stillman a hearty vote of thanks for their kindness in acting as host and hostess. To Mr. G. H. Griffin much credit is due for the success of the evening.

SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR.

"So near and yet so far," remarked one thirsty tourist, as he leaned over the bulwarks of the steamer Kingston on Sunday. With his eyes fixed on the deck of a passing yacht he was contemplating the vagaries of Dame Fortune, for passing the big boat were a number of gentlemen contentedly sipping generous rosy red wine and even sterner drinks. One held his glass aloft as he drank to the health of the passengers on the steamer Kingston, but as one man said, "That'll never get us anywhere."

Figuratively speaking, the passengers put the big boat over on its keel as they regarded the bibulous gentlemen on the smaller and more desirable craft. Never have the Thousand Islands in all their gorgeous beauty attracted so much attention as the tiny gasoline yacht with its liquid more desired, yea more precious, that fine gold—to the thirsty.

SEPTEMBER IN ALGONQUIN PARK

September is one of the most delightful months of the year in the "Highlands of Ontario" and Algonquin Park offers attractions that are not found in other districts. It is situated at an altitude of 2,000 feet above the level of the sea, assuring visitors of pure, bracing air that rejuvenates body and mind. The territory is easy of access via the Grand Trunk, 200 miles north of Toronto and 170 miles west of Ottawa. "The Highland Inn" a charming hotel, affords comfortable accommodation at reasonable rates. The Inn is heated by steam. The cuisine is all that can be desired. "The Highland Inn" is operated by the Grand Trunk Railway. Make your reservations early. Illustrated descriptive literature telling you all about it from any Grand Trunk Agent, or write Mr. N. T. Clarke, Manager, Highland Inn, Algonquin Park, Ont. a2&4

POTATO BLIGHT MAY SPREAD NORTH

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Warnings are issued to potato growers of the Eastern States by the Department of Botany, at the Ohio Experiment Station that late blight is spreading rapidly.

As the cool, moist weather is particularly favorable to its development, there may be widespread and serious infection.

Potato growers are urged to spray with Bordeaux mixture 4-5-50 thoroughly so that the lower as well as the upper sides of the leaves are well covered.

Plant lice and leaf hoppers are numerous on potatoes this year. These little insects are on the under side of the leaves and assist in disseminating the spores of the fungus. By adding black leaf, 40, 1 part to 800 parts of spray, to the Bordeaux the insects can be exterminated.

The authorities also urge potato growers to keep on the lookout for hills which resist attack and to dig these separately for seed.

The Deacon SHIRT

Cut roomy, yet trim—of flannels, drills, tweeds and serges that are soft, yet substantial—made with turned, felled and double-stitched seams, collars in all the popular styles, DEACON Shirts look well, feel good, and wear better.

Every shirt guaranteed—your money back for any defect in material or workmanship. Ask your dealer.

Deacon Shirt Company
Belleville - Canada 26

Called by Death

WILLIAM J. J. MEAGHER.

On Tuesday, Aug. 31st, at Grand Rapids, Michigan, there passed into rest W. J. J. Meagher, of Napanee, after having spent nineteen years as manager of Houseman & Jones, the largest clothing and furnishing establishment in Michigan. He was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis, and after undergoing an operation, which at first seemed successful, a change for the worse took place and all hope vanished. Left to mourn his loss are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meagher of Napanee, three sisters and two brothers. The sisters are: Mrs. W. A. Frizzell, of North Bay; Mrs. W. B. Cronk, of Guelph, and Mrs. Wm. Skinner, of Orillia; the brothers are Geo. H. and Charles V. F., of this city.

Social And Personal

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Burley of this city are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Leeman and daughter Grace, Grove street, have returned after a pleasant visit in Chicago and Detroit.

Dr. Gordon C. Caldwell, son of Dr. Caldwell of this city, who is located in Saskatchewan, has passed his examination in the Dominion Dental Council.

Mrs. Lottie Minns and Miss Mildred Minns have returned to their home in Toronto after visiting at Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Brown's, 16 Yeomans street, city.

Mrs. A. A'Hern of Smith's Falls announces the engagement of her only daughter, Mary Irene, to William J., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Doyle of Belleville, the marriage to take place the third week of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kelleher, on their honeymoon, motored from Toronto to Belleville to visit relatives and friends. Mrs. Kelleher, (nee Tot Baker), is a daughter of Mr. F. G. Baker, formerly of this city but now of Toronto and has many friends here.

HUNTING SEA LIONS FOR STATE BOUNTY

William M. Hunter, known here as "king" of sea-lion hunters, recently collected $880 bounty from the state of Oregon for 352 sea-lion scalps, paid at the rate of $2.50 each. Bounty is paid on the sea-lions because they are considered the Pacific Coast salmon's worst enemy. They gather off the mouth of the Columbia River to prey on fish bound upstream.

Sea-lion hunting is dangerous, Hunter says, and he tells of narrow escapes from angry bulls. Seal, he asserts, are not as awkward as they appear, but can travel fast.

Recently one chased him, over the rocks, but was killed by Hunter's companion before it reached him.

Hunter works from a small launch while at sea. Most of his hunting is done on rocky beaches where seals congregate. He learned his trade, as he terms it, as a mountaineer hunting bear and deer in the Cascade Mountains.

In addition to the government bounty Hunter is paid by salmon cannerymen for destroying seals. Estimated on the 1919 pack the rate of the cannery bounty would be about $2,000 for every 1,000 sea-lions killed.

Sea-lions destroy the fish by snapping off their heads, it is said. During the salmon running seasons in the spring, tons of the fish are victims of the sea-lion herds.

Skins of sea-lions are used extensively in glove manufacturing. Oils and fats also are products.

McSWEENEY'S BROTHER.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—John Terence McSweeney, a brother of Terence McSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, who is now starving himself to death in an English prison, served a term in Kingston in 1918 and the early part of 1919 for refusing to don the King's uniform when conscripted. McSweeney was attested at Iroquois Falls in November, 1918, and upon his refusal to put on the uniform was brought to Toronto and court-martialed. He was given a two-year term in the penitentiary but was released with others after the close of the war.

PREHISTORIC BEASTS

GIGANTIC REPTILES EXISTED THOUSANDS OF YEARS AGO.

Remains That Have Been Examined by Scientists Indicate That These Animals Were Much More Terrible Than Anything That Has Existed Since the Coming of Man—The Laelaps Was the Most Formidable of All.

No animals alive to-day on the earth possess weapons at all comparable to those of many of the gigantic reptiles that prowled over this country a few million years ago.

Take, for example, the laelaps. This creature when alive weighed perhaps two tons and stood about twenty-five feet high as it walked erect, like a kangaroo. It could not walk on all-fours, because its forelegs were relatively very small.

Its hands, however, were armed with huge and frightful claws, which, it is surmised, were used to tear out the eyes of the animals, often much larger than itself, on which it preyed. The above-mentioned skeleton is mounted in such wise as to represent the beast in the act of devouring the remains of a broutosaur, which in life may have weighed twenty tons.

The laelaps was probably the most formidable creature that ever existed in the world. Incredibly agile, with the activity of an antelope, it could leap 100 feet at a bound, its vertebrae and leg bones being hollow for the sake of lightness. Its tremendous jaws were furnished with saberlike teeth half a foot long, and probably the great claws on its hind feet were employed for tearing open the belly of its luckless victim.

There were in those ancient days many species of carnivorous monsters, mostly built on the kangaroo plan. They preyed (as do the carnivora of nowadays) on plant-eating animals. Just as the tiger assails the elephant in the jungle, so did the laelaps attack the brontosaur or its even larger relative, the diplodocus.

Brontosaur and diplodocus were stupid, helpless reptiles, eighty feet or more in length, which browsed in the shallows of lakes. They possessed no weapons of defence, and it is a marvel how they escaped extermination. On the other hand, there were many species, likewise plant-eaters and huge of bulk, which were formidably armed and also armored, so as to be able to put up a very decent fight if attacked.

A typical armored lizard was the huge ankylosaur, whose entire back was covered with ridged plates of impenetrable bone. Low of stature, with a short, blunt head, it carried on the end of its short, heavy tail a great triangular club of bone, which was a dangerous weapon. Each of its eyes was provided with a cup-shaped bony shutter, like the visor of a helmet, which could be closed over the eyeball. The brute was an animated fortress.

The Stegosaur, about twenty feet long, had the smallest brain of any known vertebrate relatively to its size. But in its pelvis it had a sort of secondary brain, ten times as big as the one in its skull, which was a power station actuating its tremendous tail, the latter being armed with two pairs of mighty spikes. One well-aimed blow with those spikes and it was all over with the adversary.

The most remarkable feature of the stegosaur's anatomy, however, was a series of immense plates of bone standing erect along the back of the animal from head to tail. The biggest of them were four feet across. A sheathing of armor protected the body and throat.

By no means so well provided with means of defence was the hadrosaur, which measured thirty feet from the tip of its nose to the end of its tail. As it walked erect on its huge three-toed hind feet the top of its head was fifteen feet from the ground, a good part of its length being represented by the tail. Its head was nearly a yard long and the forepart of its skull was expanded into a broad beak covered with horn, in shape not unlike that of a duck. Its jaws resembled great salad spoons, being appropriately formed for cropping the aquatic weeds on which it fed.

These amazing jaws were furnished with no fewer than 2,000 grinding teeth, arranged, so to speak, in magazines. In each jaw were forty-five to sixty rows of teeth, ten to fifteen of them in each row.

One of the formidably armored reptiles was the styracosaur, the rear part of whose skull extended backward in the shape of a great frill, after the manner of a fireman's helmet. The frill terminated picturesquely in half a dozen long horn-like processes; and the beast's nose carried a mighty horn resembling that of a rhinoceros, but far bigger and more dangerous as a weapon. On the end of the nose was a horny cutting beak, very powerful and not unlike the beak of a snapping turtle, magnified.

Not distantly related to the styracosaur was the triceratops, which was as tall as a big elephant and twice as long, including the tail. Its skull, one-third the length of its body, was provided with the same kind of bony "frill," meant for the attachment of the muscles required to hold up the enormous head, which weighed half a ton. It had the same sort of cutting beak; and its head bore three horns—a short one on the nose, and two that were each a yard long on the forehead, projecting forward. The two great horns were sharp as daggers.

That the triceratops was a fighter, and often engaged in combat, is proved by the finding of many broken and healed bones of reptiles of this species. Evidently they lived to recover from their wounds and fight again another day.

BOYS RETURN HOME.

Peterboro, Sept. 2.—The Peterboro Cadet Camp came to a close Tuesday and the cadets from all parts of No. 3 Military District who were under canvas here entrained for their respective homes.

SCHOOL SHOES

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

NO CAKE IS BETTER than the materials used in its making. That's why, if you wish good cake, you should use our raisins, chocolate, flavoring, baking powder, etc. Then you can be sure that your baking efforts will be fully rewarded with a most delicious cake. And you will have the added satisfaction of knowing you have not been extravagant, for our prices are always as low as the lowest.

Phone DAY 531

Pickle Spices Jar Rings, Parowax Etc.
Be sure you get the best by buying them at
OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
208 Front St.
We are offering a limited number of Suits from $45 up.
An opportunity to buy a good suit at a reasonable price.

Lawn Seed
May be Sown Successfully During August and September
OUR SPECIAL MIXTURE
40c. lb.
Also Lawn Fertilizer, 50c. pkg. at
Bishop's Seed Stoe
192 Front St. Phone 283.

DIED

MEAGHER—In Grand Rapids, Mich., on Tuesday, August 31st, 1920, William J. J. Meagher.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his brother, Mr. Charles V. F. Meagher, 288 Charles Street, Belleville, tomorrow (Friday) at 8.45 a.m., to St. Michael's Church. Mass at 9 o'clock. Interment, St. James' Cemetery.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

New Suits
Coats
Dresses
Blouses
Skirts
Camisoles
Etc.
Arriving Daily at WOTTEN'S
LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose
your film correctly—then bring it to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.

T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

Lawrence Wilson
Company

87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES
RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 15 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 6 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (12) as one word each.

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

30 x 3½
NON-SKID
TIRES
$14.95
Tubes, $1.95.
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.,
353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—ONE HALF INTEREST IN water well drilling machine. One 17-horse power Sawyer-Massey engine, one water tank and wagon, two sets of drilling tools, all in first class shape; also one wood sawing machine. Enquire at 101 Cannifton Road. a2-4td

CHICKENS FOR SALE — BRED-TO-LAY White Leghorns, Anconas and Barred Rocks. Apply to C. H. Leavens, 170 George St. a31,6t

FOR SALE—FARM OF 62 ACRES, THIRD concession of Thurlow, lot 31. Good buildings, lots of wood and water. Will exchange for city property. R.F.D. No. 6, Belleville, G. N. Phillips. a1-6td

FOR SALE—DRESSER, IRON BED, BOOK stand, chair, walnut upright piano and music cabinet, lawn mower, tables, crib, carriage, bicycle, motor washer and other effects. Phone 166. 32 Octavia St. a1-dtf

FOR SALE — ONE GILSON ENSILAGE cutter, 13-inch, in first class condition. A. G. Roblin. a31-4td

FOR SALE—10 M. NO. 1 STOCK BRICK. Apply Belleville Creameries, Limited. a31-3td

SHERLOCK-MANNING PLAYER PIANO, 88-note, for sale. Apply T. M. Fraser, Snell's Terrace, East Moira. a31-4td

FOR SALE—BRICK VENEER HOUSE—GAS, water and electric lights. Large garden. Convenient to G.T.R. Station. Apply to 84 Grier Street. a31-4td

FOR SALE—STOVE. APPLY TO MRS. Walsh, 73 Grier Street. a30-4td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Marney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

TWO MOTOR TRUCKS FOR SALE—MENARD 1-ton and Menard 5-ton, completely equipped with Continental Motors, worm drive. Just overhauled and painted. Splendid condition. Will sell for any reasonable offer. Grahams Limited. a27-6td

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a19-dtf

LOST

LOST OR STOLEN — BLACK AND TAN hound with a collar, no tag. Last seen was by G.T.R. freight shed with a boy. Reward for information as to his whereabouts. J. W. Johnson, at Walker's Hardware. a30-4td

LOST—WEDNESDAY NIGHT, ON TRENT Road, blue pullover sweater trimmed with yellow. Owner please leave at police station. 1td

WANTED.

WANTED—FUR COAT OR GOOD LINING. State price and quantity. Apply to Box W., Intelligencer. a1-3td

WANTED—BOARD BY MARRIED COUPLE and little girl 12 years old. Central location preferred. Apply 32 Cedar street. a30-6td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. a31-dtf

FOUND

FOUND—CHESTNUT COLT WITH SILVER mane and tail, at Mrs. Jackson's Gilbert Street, Thurlow. Owner may have same by paying for the damage and this advt. a31-4td

FOUND—RUG, ON THIRD CONCESSION, Thurlow. Owner may obtain by identifying property and paying for advertisement. H. W. Tweedy, R. R. No. 6, Belleville. s2-2td

CHELTENHAM FARMER IS PARALYZED BY FALL

Brampton, Sept. 1.—Neil Sinclair, a farmer living at Cheltenham, about twelve miles from Brampton, nearly lost his life when he fell from a load of grain. He was arranging sheaves on the back of the load and caught at the ladder when he felt himself slipping. The resulting jerk threw him headlong to the ground. He struck on the left shoulder and has been paralyzed from the waist down ever since. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Sinclair, as he had his home burned during a severe electric storm early in the summer.

HELP WANTED—MALE

BOILER TENDERS WANTED — EXPERIENCED men preferred. No firing. Apply Steel Co. of Canada, Belleville. a2-4td

WANTED — STRONG BOY TO LEARN trade. The John Lewis Co. a2-4td

WANTED — STRONG MAN TO DRIVE truck; one willing to do dairy work. Citizens' Dairy Co. a31-4td

WANTED—SMART LAD FOR STOCKROOM and window work. Good opportunity for the smart lad. Apply F. W. Woolworth, Co. a31-4td

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge Gangway. a25-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS—can have light housekeeping if desired. Apply to Mrs. Sinclair, 42½ bridge St. a2-4td

TO RENT—FURNISHED DWELLING FOR seven months from Nov. 1, 1920. Apply to J. J. B. Flint. 1td

TO LET — FOUR ROOMS AND BATH, electricity and heat. Central location. Rent, including light and heat, $32.50. Apply Chamber of Commerce. a1-2td

TO RENT—HOUSE ON EVANS STREET, 6 rooms. Apply to Mrs. Walsh, 73 Grier Street. a30-4td

TO RENT—FLATS, HEATED, WITH ALL improvements. Small house on Dufferin Avenue. Apply to Dr. Caldwell. a28-6td

TO LET — HOUSE; NO. 114 CANNIFTON Road. Apply D. V. Doyle. m25-tfd

TO RENT FOR SIX MONTHS—FURNISHED house, modern conveniences. Possession October 1st. Apply 296 William St. a27-dtf

TO LET—HOUSES—ONE WITH ALL CONVENIENCES, 60½ W. Moira Street; one, No. 35 Cedar Street; one on Cannifton Road. Apply Dan Doyle, Phone 869. a27 dtf

TO RENT—A NICE LARGE ROOM SUITABLE for office or light housekeeping. Apply S. Burrows. a27-d:2

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—AN EXPERIENCED MAID TO go to Toronto. Wages $35 per month. Apply 247 George St. before Saturday morning. s2-2td

WANTED — A WOMAN TWO DAYS A week for laundry work at the Children's Shelter. Apply Mrs. A. W. Gribble, 241 John Street. s1-2td

WANTED—WOMAN TO DO CLEANING. 25c. per hour. Apply mornings or evenings, Mrs. Abbott, 147 S. George St. a31-4t

WANTED—A MILLINERY IMPROVER; also to help in Show Room. The Ritchie Co., Limited. a31-4td

WANTED—GIRL FOR LIGHT ACCURATE work in factory. Apply Belleville Creameries, Limited. a31-3td

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 136 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

GIRL WANTED FOR GENERAL HOUSEWORK. No washing. Apply Cooper's Flour Mill. a30-dtf

WANTED—GIRL FOR WORK IN BINDERY department. Apply The Intelligencer. a30-4td

WANTED — COMPETENT MAID. APPLY Mrs. J. Williams, 233 Charles Street.

BUSINESS PERSONAL

BUSINESS SERVICE

Multigraph and form letters are cheap and have a direct, personal appeal that ordinary printing lacks. For particulars inquire at Chamber of Commerce. a31 3td

WANTED

HEAD LAUNDRESS, $50.00 per month —and HEAD COOK, $50.00 per month. Apply to Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

WANTED

A TEACHER OF FANCY WORK, part time, and SUPERVISOR, young woman of fair education. Apply Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

Two more Dublin policemen shot to death. Browhead is laid waste, all buildings, including the power station destroyed by fire and bombs.

British manufacturers decide to meet future strikes by closing factories.

City and Vicinity

Unexcelled in Canada—Daly's Good Tea—always the same. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville

SPECIAL SALE
OF PORTABLE AND FLOOR LAMPS
HYDRO SHOP.

AUCTION SALE OF MOTOR BOAT

Motor Boat 18 ft. 5 ft., 3 in. beam, auto top, auto steer wheel, electric head almp, 2 cycle engine 6 H. P. nickle plated, A1 condition. Will offer above on Friday, September 3rd at 3 o'clock at the Park, Belleville.

GEO. O. TICE,
Phone 568 Auctioneer.
a1-2td

..THE JOHNSTONE SCHOOL OF DANCING

Under the personal direction of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnstone, professional teachers of dancing and deportment. Select social dance Monday evening, (Labor Day). Social dance Saturday evening as usual. Private lessons by appointment. Phone 750. s2-3td

ALBERT COLLEGE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Studios, 249½ Front St. Piano, Singing, Theory of Music, Violin and Expression. Teaching resumed Tuesday, Sept. 7th. Experienced teachers. Highest results obtained in all music examinations in a record of the past twenty-five years. Elementary to graduation. Children receive special attention. V. P. Hunt, A.A.G.O., Musical Director. Phone 880. a31,s2,4,7,9,11

Dr. McCullough will be at his office 47 Campbell street, every Saturday for consultation on diseases on the eye, ear, nose and throat.

The Oshawa Salvation Army Band will visit Belleville Sept. 4th, 5th and 6th. This is a splendid musical organization, thirty-three pieces. Monster open-airs, 7 p.m. Saturday evening, Sunday morning 11 a.m. Citadel, Afternoon at 3 o'clock the band will play in the park. 7 p.m. a great salvation meeting in the Citadel. Monday afternoon they will visit and play on the fair grounds. Monday evening a grand musical festival in the Citadel. Admission 25 cents. Mayor W. B. Riggs, chairman. Adjutant and Mrs. Laing commanding officers of Oshawa, will accompany the band and will be in charge of all meetings. 2-3t

All local unions are requested to send representatives to the G.W.V.A. Rooms, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to complete arrangements for Labor Day. s1-2td

BIRTH

DAY—To Dr. and Mrs. Day, 230 Ann street, a son, August 31st. 1td

No German Strong Man.

Lamenting the lack of strong personalities among his countrymen, Admiral Hollweg writes in the Deutsche Tageszeitung:

"This want of character among our leading men lost us the war. To begin with, the kaiser was plainly unequal to the tasks laid upon him. In his restless activity before the war he had used up whatever nerve strength he ever had. I well remember the painful impression made upon me by the meeting of the cabinet at which I was present on March 28, 1916. We had to discuss the prospects of the U-boats.

"The chancellor," Hollweg says, "sat in a general's uniform in the president's chair puffing quickly at a cigar, the picture of nervous prostration. The chief of the admiralty made a long speech, giving a most gloomy outline and blaming Von Tirpitz for all that was happening. Not a man at the table there, it was plain, was strong enough either to end or mend the war. No wonder we lost."

Deadly "Earth Torpedo."

Added to the list of interesting but tardy war inventions is a so-called "earth torpedo" of Canadian origin, described by Popular Mechanics magazine. It bores its subterranean way toward the enemy lines, and then explodes with great force. The burrowing operation is hydraulic. The nose of the torpedo is equipped with an ingenious boring nozzle, and takes with it a length of hose, which a pump in the trench supplies with water at 300-pound pressure. This part of the performance is silent. In a test, the device burrowed 200 feet and then blasted out an excavation 20 feet across.

Tea In Solid Lumps.

China exports tea in solid lumps, like bricks, for consumption in Tibet and Siberia. The tea leaves are pulverized, mixed with water, and moulded into hard cakes. The bricks weigh about 5 lb. each. In this form tea can be carried overland more easily, as it occupies much less space.

Late Telegraph Briefs

Toronto schools enrolled hundreds of scholars who cannot speak English.

Bread prices will be reduced in Montreal this month or the beginning of next.

Lightning destroyed the Dominion Steel Company's transforming station at Sydney, N.S.

The St. Catharines Typographical Union has withdrawn from the Trades and Labor Council.

Rev. W. Louckens, retired Methodist minister, near Flint Siding, is missing from home.

Montreal is asking the Quebec Government for $1,000,000 to build houses for workingmen.

The Empress of France came from Liverpool to Quebec in 5 days 23 hours, a new record.

In the collapse of a hangar at North Sydney, N.S., one man was killed and two were badly hurt.

The League of Nations has purchased a hotel in Geneva.

King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium have left for Brazil.

Italian metal workers have decided to seize all factories in Lombardy.

An airplane vessel service is to be established between Seattle and Victoria, B.C.

Cincinnati lead the National League race, and Cleveland the American.

Hamilton Tigers favor the adoption of the Intercollegiate football rules by the Interprovincial Union.

Baltimore regained the International League leadership by winning twice at Syracuse, while Toronto lost at Rochester.

New York funds weakened to 10⅛.

Sterling exchange in New York was strong at $3.57⅛.

Trading decreased on the Canadian exchanges, but prices were steady.

New York stocks were generally firm railroad issue.

Siberian peasants are leading revolts against the Soviet Governments east of the Urals.

Irish longshoremen in New York refuse to go back to work on British ships until MacSweeney is released.

The second Connaught Cup final game will be played in Toronto.

John Henry won the historic Neponset Stake at Readville yesterday.

The New York and Brooklyn National League teams east lost two games yesterday.

Pitcher Reuther has been suspended by the Cincinnati club. "Slim" Sallee will be released.

WRANGEL ATTACKING RED FORCES IN REAR

Constantinople, Sept. 1.—General Wrangel's forces are reported to be falling back throughout the region north of the Crimea. Bolsheviki have crossed the Dnieper in strong force at several points. Cavalry raiders are said to have captured Alexandrovsk and to have continued southward, cutting the railway. General Makno, who is co-operating with General Wrangel, is attacking the Reds from the rear. He is reported to have captured Mahmud, and to have executed the Bolsheviki commissaries and other

ESTABLISHED 1870 S. A. HYMAN & CO. MAKERS OF FINE FURS

50th Anniversary

Our Furs Go Direct From
Our Factory to You

There is satisfaction in buying your FURS DIRECT FROM THE MAKERS, which admits consistent qualities at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.

The New Style Fur Coats, Fur Neckpieces & Muffs

NOW IS THE PROPER TIME TO PURCHASE YOUR FURS

With the early saving prices on ALL OUR FURS it is economy to make your selection NOW. There is every possibility of a marked advance later in the season on our present prices.

FURS SELECTED NOW will be held for later delivery on payment of a small deposit

S. A. HYMAN & CO.

N.B.—Repairing and Remodeling of Furs carefully attended to at lowest prices.

RITCHIE'S

JUST NOW SCHOOL SUITS

For the Boys

Some interesting values for the prudent, thrifty mother in this special showing of Boys' School Suits.

100
TWEED SUITS
100
For Boys of 8 to 16 years
at $10.00

Under ordinary circumstances these Suits would cost you Dollars more. And a most interesting feature about this money saving offer is that the assortment of patterns is so varied that not more than a few will be found alike.

The materials are firm, durable wool and cotton and wool tweeds of smooth and rough finish. In light, medium and dark shades of grey, brown, blue, green and fawn. There are stripes, pin checks and fancy mixtures. The style is one of the favorites among young fellows just now, a three-button model with slash pockets, smart lapels and belt that may be fastened with buckle or button. All well tailored, with roomy bloomers. Sizes 26 to 34.

Suit Special $10.00

SCHOOL BLOOMERS
$3.50 Value

Wool and Cotton Tweed Bloomers that wear like iron—grey and brown check and fancy mixture patterns, cut full, with Governor fasteners. All sizes.

$3.50 pair

Men's Fall Suits
PLAIN NAVY ALL WOOL SERGE SUITS
at $45.00

Here they are in weights for present, fall or winter wear—dark navy indigo blue serge suits for men and young men, all popular styles—both single and double breasted, all sizes. These suits are values which in our way of thinking are unsurpassed, at prices of a few years ago, and are exceptional values today at from $8.00 to $15.00 more than the price we are asking.. Come in and look them over. Specially priced for quick selling.

$45.00

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Oil Cake Meal, Corn
Cotton Seed Meal

Anticipate your wants in Oil Cake Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Corn, etc., as we are importing a number of cars expected to arrive every day.

We always have large supplies of Flour and Feed on hand and will be pleased to serve you.

Farmers in Belleville vicinity, and in fact, all surrounding districts, realize and are complimenting us on the fact that they are able to get 10c. to 20c. a bushel more for their Wheat than if we were not a competitor in the field.

We ALWAYS py Highest Market Prices.
Buy Nething by the Judge's Best Flour.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St. and 50 Albion Street --- Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Light winds, fine today and on Saturday, with much the same temperature.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEYTEMBER 3, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 280.

To Meet Future Strikes by Closing Factories

BRITISH MANUFACTURERS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY DECIDE TO SHUT DOWN INDEFINITELY AS SOON AS THE COAL MINERS HAND IN THEIR STRIKE NOTICE.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—British industrial leaders have decided to meet any further strikes by shutting down their factories, as was forecast in despatches several weeks ago. The National Union of British Manufacturers, having consulted its membership throughout the country, finds that sentiment is unanimous for closing all their works the moment the coal miners hand in their strike notice.

Hope has not yet been abandoned that mediation may produce a compromise in the critical situation brought about by the vote of the Miners' Federation in favor of a strike to enforce the demand for an advance of wages and reduction of prices to consumers. This hope is held despite the fact that the chiefs of the "Triple Alliance"—railwaymen, transport workers and miners—have formally endorsed the miners' demands as just and declared they should not be abated.

The Executive Council of the alliance has set in constant session today devising measures in furtherance of the strike policy. They have, however, made no move in the direction of peace, and Sir Robert Horne, president of the Board of Trade, declares that the Cabinet stands firm in refusing either increased wages or the removal of the recent increase in the coal price.

The most serious feature in the situation is that in all three of the great unions forming the "Triple Alliance" the extremists have gained control and are forcing the situation. In the strike ballot of the miners, it is now known, if votes of the boys were eliminated, the majority for a walkout would be only 40,000, instead of 367,000 as it appears in the returns. The boys regard a walkout as a chance for a good holiday, but the leaders of the railwaymen and transport workers do not relish the idea of risking their whole financial resources for the sake of the miners, who are now among the best-paid workers in the country.

Simultaneous strike action by the "Triple Alliance" and the national lockout planned by the Manufacturers' Union would paralyze the whole country and bring the masses of the people close to starvation within a few days.

Constitutional Relations Within British Empire

CANADA'S POSITION AS A SELF-GOVERNING NATION WITHIN THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH OF NATIONS SUBJECT OF ELOQUENT ADDRESS BEFORE THE CANADIAN BAR ASSOCIATION.

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—Future constitutional relations within the British Empire and Canada's position as a self-governing nation within the British commonwealth of nations were the subject of several of the eloquent addresses delivered at the opening session of the Canadian Bar Association at its annual meeting here on Wednesday. Allusion to these topics was made by His Excellency the Governor-General in opening the convention, and by Sir James Aikins, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, in his address as president of the association. Viscount Cave, one of the Lords of Appeal of Great Britain, and Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney-General of Ontario, developed the theme at the evening meeting. The former saw in the Imperial War Cabinet formed in 1917 and composed of statesmen from all self-governing British countries, the precursor of an Imperial War Cabinet which, "while remaining wholly voluntary and consultative, might become in world affairs the nerve centre of the Imperial Commonwealth." Mr. Raney suggested changes in the judicial system of the Empire—abolition of the present right of appeal in the Privy Council and reorganization of the Judicial Committeee of the Privy Council as a tribunal to deal with questions arising between nations of the Empire.

Ex-President William Howard Taft, delegate from the American Bar Association, discussed the legal position of the United States with respect to the League of Nations. He indicated that the result of the coming Presidential election should not be regarded as a final pronouncement upon the question whether or not the United States would become a member of the league.

The meeting was attended by leaders of the bench and bar of all the provinces of Canada, and by distinguished representatives of the legal profession of Great Britain and the United States.

Citizens Can Help Needy Family

Sickness, Sorrow and Want Calls For Assistance—Remember the Children

In the midst of plenty there is want, sickness and sorrow. Belleville blessed with prosperity and progress and happiness contains at least one family in pressing need of assistance from warm-hearted citizens blessed with an abundance of this world's goods.

The family in question consists of the father and mother and three children. The children are all under five years of age. The father is in the last stages of an incurable disease and is being nursed by the mother who has had to leave her employment to care for her husband and look after her children. The family is in urgent need of assistance and it goes without saying that the citizens of Belleville will not see them suffer.

The Intelligencer will be glad to accept subscriptions, large or small for the benefit of this needy family and will see that the money reaches the family in question.

Subscriptions left at The Intelligencer will be duly acknowledged in these columns.

Contributions.

T. W. L.	$ .50
Geo. Thompson	1.00
J. H. Hanna	1.00
T. Donohue	1.00
McLaughlin Co. and Staff	7.00
Ritchie Co. and Staff	15.00
Dr. Alex. Ray	2.00
Mrs. A. I. Bird	5.00
A Friend	5.00
A Friend	17.00
Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn	5.00

Mrs. Bert Campbell—Quart of milk per day.
Mrs. C. J. Bowell—Groceries.
Mrs. P. E. Masters—Provisions and nursing care.

Lenine Dreads Monarchic Coup

LONDON, Sept. 3.—A bitter conflict has developed between Premier Lenine and War Minister Trotsky, of Soviet Russia, according to Warsaw despatches founded on information received from the returned Polish delegation.

Lenine, it is said, fears a monarchic coup as the inevitable result of a long campaign. Trotsky remains confident of the ability of the Soviet to deal with the threatening coup and wants endorsement of a plan to reform the Russian armies to smash White Poland.

Trotsky is willing to admit that the desire to restore a Czar-like Government is in evidence among the officers, but declares that the mass of the army is solid for the Soviet and can handle the situation.

According to John Dombski, head of the Polish delegation, the Russians endeavored to hide the political split, but could not quite accomplish their purpose. He said he believes that the removal of the negotiations from Minsk will hasten the signing of peace.

Dedicate Giant Rock to "Walt"

Canada's Gibraltar Stands as Witness to Democratic Ideals of Poet.

BON ECHO, Sept. 3.—The Canadian monument to Walt Whitman, the Good Gray Poet, is now a reality. The giant Gibraltar of Canada overlooking Lake Massanoga, at Bon Echo, Ontario, which for some time past has been known as "Old Walt," is now officially dedicated to his democratic ideals and to his memory. This was made possible through the generosity of Flora MacDonald, founder of the Whitman Club of Bon Echo and owner of the property.

The idea of turning the rock, which is a part of the oldest geological formation in the world, belonging to the Laurentian range, into a permanent memorial to the works and ideals of the Poet of Democracy was conceived in the mind of Flora MacDonald. The final plans for the dedication of the Canadian Gibraltar, were consummated last year during the centenary celebration of the poet's birth. The dedication was performed by Flora MacDonald and the late Horace Traubel on Whitman Day, Aug. 25, 1919.

Although confined to bed for many months, Horace Traubel, who was one of Whitman's literary executors, made the trip to Bon Echo to fulfil his promise to "be here dead or alive." And it was several days after the ceremony that his death occurred at Bon Echo.

The Inscription.

It is to Canada's credit that such a unique recognition of the great poet should be given by a country other than of his birth. The interest in the accomplishment of this stupendous memorial is not only confined to Canada; it has also aroused comment and enthusiasm among Whitman lovers the world over.

The work of inscribing the memorial on the rock has just been completed. The sculptors spent more than one month in the process of carving the following inscription, which is done in simple letters standing from one to two feet high:

OLD WALT.
1819—1919.
Dedicated to the democratic ideals of WALT WHITMAN
by
HORACE TRAUBEL AND FLORA MACDONALD.
"My foothold is tennon'd and mortis'd in granite.
I laugh at what you call dissolution
And I know the amplitude of time."

Unveiling the Memorial.

The services of unveiling the memorial, which took place the other day on the floating dock at its base, were opened by a short address by George Morris of Buffalo. He said: "My friends, the work we decided to do a year ago on this rock and which I agreed to see finished, is now completed. The gigantic monument needs no word of praise. The beauty and simplicity of the work, this enduring inscription, need no excuse. Both are sufficient unto themselves, and, I believe, as Walt would have them. As I recall the circumstances of a year ago today, when our dear friend Horace Traubel was here with us, I feel this work has been inspired. 'And I know the amplitude of time' is just where he placed his trembling, dying hands as with feelings he scarce could control he dedicated this rock to the memory of his beloved friend, Walt Whitman. And today he knows.

"The rock and the inscription will stand here as a beacon light and an inspiration to all seekers of truth and lovers of democracy throughout the coming centuries."

After a few remarks Flora MacDonald read excerpts from Whitman's "Song of Myself." David Cummings, a New York newspaperman, read Traubel's "I Do Not Feel Grateful," and "Worn With the Burdens of Rebellious Years." Frank Bain of Havana, Cuba, read Whitman's "Spirit that Formed this Scene." Mildred Bain, one of Traubel's biographers, sang her own setting of Traubel's poem, "When We Understand." The services were completed by the releasing of the dock by Merrill Denison and Mr. Morris.

Among the people who took part in the services were Reginald Penton, of East Aurora, N.Y.; Arthur H. Clark, of Cleveland; Mrs. Mary V. Priest, of Waltham, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. George Morris of Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. F. Bain, Paul and Betty Bain, of Havana, Cuba; Merrill Denison of New York; Flora MacDonald and David Cummings of New York.

It is the intention of Flora MacDonald to have a permanent committee appointed to act as trustees of the memorial. She is also planning to erect a Whitman Library at Bon Echo which will be a part of the permanent foundation.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

JOHN WALLACE WOOD
of Housar, Wood & Company, Investment Bankers, Toronto

Shot to Death While on Patrol

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—Two policemen were shot dead Tuesday evening while patrolling near Ballaghaderreen.

An official report on Ballaghaderreen killing says that five policemen proceeding from Ballaghaderreen to the French Park petty sessions were attacked by sixty armed men. Constable Murphy and one civilian were shot dead. Another constable, McCarthy, was dangerously wounded. The other policemen made their escape.

Former County Inspector Foley of the Royal Irish Constabulary, was shot Tuesday evening at Menagh, by armed men and seriously wounded. His assailants were raiding his residence for arms.

During a raid on a private residence near Dungarvan, Monday night by 20 armed men, one of the occupants resisted and was shot dead.

The coast guard at Crookhaven reports that all the buildings at Browhead, including the war signal station and the post office and power station, were destroyed by fire and bombs.

Masked Men Kill Boy.

A gang of armed masked men broke into a farm house at Touranena, shot and killed the eldest boy of the family, and a little later shot and killed a farmer as he answered the knock at his door.

Two grenades were hurled on to ships at Limerick. They exploded, but there were no casualties. The engineer of a train out of Cork was shot and killed. A military ambulance carrying a patient broke down near Athlone and was burned to cinders while the driver was telegraphing for a relief gang.

HEIRLOOMS.

The Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King has been walking in the footsteps of his turbulent grandfather, William Lyon Mackenzie, the stormy petrel of Upper Canada of eighty years ago.

The grandfather commanded the band of misguided insurgents, who, advancing from Montgomery's Tavern upon Toronto, broke and fled at the first volley of the militia.

None fled faster or more successfully than did the leader, and perhaps his escape around the head of Lake Ontario and across the Niagara River was Mackenzie's only rebellion exploit that did credit to his judgment and his courage.

The grandson has recently been visiting their scenes, "made historic," the news despatch states, "by the flight of his distinguished grandfather."

There are many things that are historic but not glorious, and that flight is one. In fact, there is little in the career of Mackenzie during the years of 1837-38—years of insurrection, raids, and alarm for the people of Upper Canada—that is creditable to him as a citizen of that Province and a British subject.

The interest of the grandson in the scene of that inglorious but clever flight is no doubt natural, but the public has none, and are not thankful, particularly at this time, for any reminders of lawlessness and rebellion.—Montreal Standard.

Canadian People Should get Together

Better Understanding League Launched at Ottawa

At the Better Understanding meeting held at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, on Wednesday, H. J. Gagne, of Montreal, President of the Canadian Unity League, was in attendance representing that lague which has a mem resenting in every Province of Canada Rodolph Bedard, representing Le Bon Entente, Napoleon Champagne, ex-Mayor of Ottawa, and W. C. Mikel, K.C., represented the Canadian Fraternal Association; W. M. McClaremont and J. L. Petrie of Hamilton, represented the Canadian Clubs.

W. C. Mikel, K.C., was chairman and after calling the meeting to order read letters from the Premier of Ontario, Hon W. L. Mackenzie King, Leader of the Opposition and others, endorsing the movement.

At the close of the meeting arrangements were made to form a permament association for the purpose of bringing about a better understanding between the Canadian people.

Chairman Mikel's address was as follows:

Crank in the Machinery

"In these days when so many persons are trying to throw a crank into the machinery of public affairs a movement for a "Better Understanding" of any kind ought to be welcomed by patriotic citizens, and supported by influential citizens.

Better Understanding

"There are many citizens of Canada who believe that a Better Understanding would remove at least some of the difficulties existing between the French speaking and English speaking Canadians. Let us try that method. Let us endeavour to understand each other better. Let us know each other better. If one hundred young men and young women from English speaking homes in Ontario were selected each year to take up a month's residence in one hundred French speaking homes in the Province of Quebec, and a like number from Quebec resided for a month in Ontario homes, a few years would see a much better understanding and a much better feeling existing between these two people.

Who Is To Blame?

"Most classes must share some of the blame for present conditions. Things have been said, that have perhaps contributed to the difficulty. Leaders of thought have not always given the right direction.

Too Much Calamity Stuff

"Our newspapers have fallen into the habit of emphasizing calamity news. If a bull gores a man or a person is injured or killed in a horrible manner it is flared big in a hundred newspapers. They not only publish calamities that have actually happened but sometimes throw up in bold relief calamities that are merely remote possibilities. If all the things had happened that were suggested or rumored in the newspapers during the past year the world would indeed be a sorry place. We are getting, not news but color. It is like too many of the moving pictures. They are not pictures of real conditions or actions but of camouflage or mere imagination.

Careless Language

"Most people are careless in the use of words. Few are exact. If some journeyman politician at a picnic under the intoxicating influence of a Juniper Grove, and his stomach full of pickles and pies demanding for digestion all the blood that belonged to his brain to keep him sane, says some fool thing, the papers come out with headlines that create unrest and make other fellows angry and they say fool things and the unrest goes on. All the hideousness of the worst features of Sovietism is advertised and then fear is aroused that the whole world is to be swept into a terrible cataclysm of indescribable hell. Large numbers of persons become unnerved and Labor comes under suspicion. Some Roman Catholic with befuddled notions about religion labouring under the erroneous impression that he is assisting his church, suggests that Hell is too good for Protestants. An Orangeman, who perhaps has never read the Constitution of his Order says something that leads people to believe the sole purpose of Orangeism is killing Catholics and perhaps forgets what he said a minute afterwards. An English speaking Canadian in a moment of thoughtless patriotic fervor perhaps says that Britain rules the waves and is going to continue ruling them, and he wants every French Canadian to understand that in English and sing it in English. A French Canadian says they can beat the English raising children and it will only be a question of time till the last shrivelled up English man will be pushed off Canadian soil.

Too Much Prominence

"Too much prominence is given by speakers and newspapers to this character of stuff. Some assert that if the pulp conditions become so acute that we can only get a newspaper once in a while, the unrest will subside. The Sectarian and Fraternal Society Press are not the offenders. When they have anything to say they usually state their facts and present their arguments in a calm and logical manner unadorned by flaring healines. You may not agree with them but you are taught to think not to get mad and do fool things

Never Mind Peter

"Let us try to know and understand each other better. Let none of us judge the other fellow by a few foolish words or a foolish act. Never mind even if Peter did deny the Lord thrice and swear.

Better Understanding Association

"This is the most important movement in Canada. Political leaders are trying to appease the people with material things. The Farmer Party, the Liberal Party, the Conservative Party are offering more bread, forgetting that man does not live by bread alone. A happy and contented people is better than a rich people. Let us organize a "Better Understanding" Association to help all parties, with branches in all parts of Canada. Let us have a "Better Understanding" not only between the two great primal nationalities of Canada but between all nationalities in this country; between the East and West; between employer and employe and weld together one great harmonious whole Canada. Canada was a potent force on the side of right and justice in the Great War. Canadians put fear into the hearts of the disturbers of the peace of the world. Canadians united can be equally as great a force for progress and for justice in the world and can put fear into the hearts of the creaters of unrest.

Rescued Submarine Crew After two Days Submerged

WIRELESS CALL CAUGHT BY AMATEUR OPERATOR—TRANSPORT SENT TO RESCUE BROUGHT OFFICERS AND MEN OF SUBMARINE S-5 TO SURFACE AFTER TWO DAYS AT BOTTOM OF ATLANTIC OCEAN.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—Radio messages flashed from the transport Gen. Goethals, to the Navy Yard here told of the rescue early today of the officers and crew of the Submarine S-5, after they had spent nearly two days locked in the disabled vessel beneath the Atlantic Ocean, fifty-five miles south of Henlopen. It was after three o'clock this morning that Lieutenant-Commander Cooke, the last man to leave, was taken aboard the steamship Alanthus. Nine hours had elapsed since the plight of the undersea boat had been made public through a wireless call picked up by an amateur operator at Farmington, Conn.

Drury Says he Favors Hydro

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—Before the Ontario Municipal Association this morning Premier Drury again seized the opportunity to present his views on the Hydro-Radial Commission and to answer criticism of municipality representatives. The Premier pleaded for fairness, and unselfishness, stating that he was "merely a man who wanted to know in order to do my duty." That the Government believed itself responsible was reaffirmed. "I have been misrepresented by interests which seem to be working to destroy the Hydro-Electric Commission as well as the Government," he said. "I believe the Hydro-Electric resources of the province are as much the property of the province as are the mines and forests. He assured the delegates that the Government had not and would not place a single straw in the way of development of power for the people.

Polish Troops Continue Advance

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited.

WARSAW, Sept. 3.—Polish troops have entered Suwalki, 19 miles north of Augustowo, and were given an enthusiastic reception, according to an official statement issued here. General Budenny, Russian commander of the forces which attempted to break through the Polish lines in Galicia, and who has apparently suffered decisive defeat, is rapidly retreating, it is said.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press, Limited.

Told to Get Out.

London, Sept. 3.—George Gavan Duffy, so-called ambassador of the Irish Republic to France, has been given twenty-four hours in which to leave France, it was officially stated here today.

MacSweeney Weaker.

London, Sept. 3.—MacSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, was reported this morning to be sinking rapidly and to be very much weaker. This statement of his condition was made by Sean MacSweeney, his brother, after he left the prison this morning. Father Dominic, private chaplain to the Lord Mayor, celebrated special mass in the prison this morning.

Hot Fight on In Colchester

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—Hon. W. W. Wigmore, Minister of Customs, leaves today for St. John, for the nomination on Monday. The Minister is expected to be elected by acclamation.

From Colchester county, where Hon. F. B. McCurdy is sure to be opposed by Capt. Dixon, the news is quite different and it is frankly acknowledged in Government circles that the new Minister of Public Works is having quite a fight on his hands. The farmers have brought many outside speakers into the constituency and the fight is getting hotter every day.

Increase Phone Rates Hearing

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—A hearing in the Bell Telephone Company's application for increased rates will open at Ottawa on Sept. 21, according to information received at the Railway Commission's office this morning. It will be a preliminary hearing, when the company will be given an opportunity to present their case.

Late Telegraph Briefs

Mrs. Ambrose Small has requeste that the reward for her husband be renewed.

C. P. R. employees were officially notified of the increased wages schedule.

Fire destroyed a large stock of schoo supplies in a Guelph store.

Three Quebec women have been decorated by the French Government.

Henry Cayer, Parry Sound, is believed to have been drowned while fishing.

A hemlock timber limit, comprising 25,000,000 feet was sold at Parry Sound for $171,500.

Toronto Milk and Cream Producers Association officers ordered to appear before Board of Commerce.

Hon. E. H. Armstrong, Commissioner of Works and Mines, was elected in the bye-election in Shelburne, N.S.

Print paper in the United States will be again increased in price.

According to a despatch to London from Athlone, Ireland, gold has been found in county Westmeath.

Governor Cox of Ohio, Presidential candidate, will leave on a nine-thousand mile campaign tour.

Watermelons are being sold at Baltimore at two cents each.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams The Shoeman!

McFEE'S EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE OPTOMETRIST OPTICIAN

Wallbridge & Clarke's AMERICAN BLEND COFFEE
Try it for a change
65c lb.

Raw Clover Extracted Honey, 5 & 6 lb. tins
Libby's Mayonnaise Salad Dressing... 30c.
Pure Olive Oil, bottles .... 35c. & 60c.
Pure Olive Oil, pint tins $1.25
Mazola Oil, for salads or cooking
—in ½ pint, pint, quart and gallon tins.
Royal Flavoring Extracts—all kinds.
Flavoring Extracts in Tubes—all kinds.
[illegible] or hot.
Two Minute Oats, pkg. .... 20c.
Welch's Grape Juice, pints .... 35c.
[illegible], 2 pkgs. .... 25c.
Celery, well bleached .... 10c.
[illegible] TEA, ½ lb. pkgs. .... 40c.
—Very flavory and refreshing.
Fine Black Teas .... 70c., 80c. and 90c. lb.
At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

THE PUBLIC EYE Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!
BILL FOR GLASSES

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

FOOT CRUSHED

Mr. Tom Maulds, miner of Madoc, received very painful injuries last Tuesday while working in the Perry mine. His foot and ankle were badly crushed.

FIRES CHECKED

The bush fires which were burning last week in the Crow Lake district have burned themselves out, much to the relief of the residents in the district. The fires were quite numerous but the farmers worked hard to check their spread and their efforts were successful.

A PETRIFIED FISH

A definitely marked specimen of a petrified fish was picked up by Mr. Carmen Ireland in a field on his farm near Colborne. It was found high up the south side of a hill in a loamy spot. The opposite side of the hill is gravelly. With the exception of the tail the specimen is a perfectly marked small sunfish, distinctly showing the lines of the mouth, nose and eyes and marks of the gills and scales.

STILL WHISKEY

Mrs. Young, who with her two sons Jack and Edward Sinclair were charged with operating an illicit still appeared before Magistrate Payne of Campbellford and was fined $200 and costs or six months in jail. The sons, who were out on $500 bail, had left for parts unknown and the mother had to face the charge alone. Mr. Barker of the Inland Revenue Department, Peterboro, examined the apparatus and stated that it was the most complete oufit he had seen. The fine and costs amounted to $219.

SPORT AT THE FAIR

Belleville Fair opens Labor Day, Monday, September 6 and continues Tuesday and Wednesday. Monday's programme includes two speeding events on the half mile track, the 2.18 class purse $250, and a named race for a purse of $100. Tuesday's events include the 2.30 and 2.15 classes with purses of $250 for each. Wednesday the 2.25 class and free-for all will be staged with purses of $250 and $300.

S. A. CAPTAIN PASSES

Captain William Newman, of the Salvation Army, passed away at the General Hospital, Kingston, after a short illness from cerebro-spinal meningitis. The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Newman, Barrie street, Kingston, and had just graduated from the Army Training School, Toronto, where he was regarded as a very promising officer. He had been assigned to the station at Bowmanville. The esrvice was conducted Wednesday by Col. Otway who came from Toronto for the purpose and the pallbearers were members of the Kingston corps.

The Sugar Saver among cereal foods
Grape-Nuts
No added sweetening needed.
You'll like the appealing flavor of this sugar-saving food.
SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE!

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer
Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

Decorating
Is Useless if Not Correct.
Consult an expert when you contemplate decorating your home or your church. He will cost you less and serve you best, who knows how.
Command—
C. B. Scantlebury
Designer & Decorator.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE
Friday, Sept. 3, 1920.

Minimum	38
Maximum	70

COLORS THAT CURE.

Are Now Being Tried In Cases of Nerve Trouble.

Color has often been experimented with as an aid to the cure of disease, even such diseases as smallpox.

It is, therefore, no surprise to find that colors are now being tried in cases of nerve trouble, for no one doubts that harmony and taste in arangement have a restful influence even upon normal folk, and that squalor and uncongenial surroundings have a depressing effect upon any artistic person forced to dwell in their midst, says Tit-Bits.

The man suffering from shell shock has largely lost interest in life. He wants to be out of the hurly-burly, and the only way seems for him to die and have done with it all. Now comes the color curist with his gospel of brightness.

He says away with your drabs and greys. Give us color and plenty of it. But not the colors of autumn, the hues of death and decay. Give us rather the bright colors of spring. We want the blue of an April sky, the green of the leaves of the primrose, the gold of a sunbeam, the bright colors of a rainbow painted against a grey cloud by the witchery of an April sun shining through tears.

The mind and body may not be one, but they are very closely related, and what affects the eye soon percolates into the brain.

So, in wards where there are shell-shock patients the first things they ought to see on opening their eyes in the morning are, say, a wall of primrose yellow, with coverlets of an indefinite yellow, and over all a sky-blue ceiling. The wood, of course, must be green, whilst any tapestries and hangings should be a mixture of all three.

Violet rays are supposed to have a curative effect on nerve patients and although the lighter curtains should be yellow, heavier ones of purple might supplement these for occasional use.

One touch of wrong color will spoil all the blending in the world, and the thing to be avoided is the thing that hits one in the eye, so to speak, and calls all the attention of mind and gaze to itself because of its harshness. To be restful the eye must be pleased but not held.

Peers In Canada.

Peers of Canadian birth, or of residence in Canada when the peerage was bestowed, have been few in number. The death of Lord de Blaquiere, a native of Woodstock, Ont., removes one of the group, and with his demise the barony becomes extinct. Another Canadian-born peer (an Irish peer and therefore like de Blaquiere without a seat in the House of Lords) is Lord Aylmer, now in British Columbia. But both these men inherited their titles, which were therefore not bestowed upon them as Canadians.

In fact, only one native of Canada has had the peerage bestowed upon him, Lord Atholstan, the Montreal publisher, who some time ago went through the form of taking his place in the House of Lords. He is without male heir, and there is no provision for the title passing to his daughter. Lord Shaughnessy, who also took his seat in the Upper House, is a naturalized Canadian, having been born in Milwaukee. The next Lord Shaughnessy will be his son, now the Hon. W. J. Shaughnessy, whose wife is a niece of Lord Atholstan. The "Honorable" is a personal title due to his being the son of a lord, and not to any political distinction, though he is now being talked of as a candidate for federal honors in one of the Montreal seats.

Lord Strathcona and his cousin, Lord Mount Stephen, were made peers while residents of Canada, but they were natives of Scotland, not the Dominion. Lord Mount Stephen has no heir. By a special provision, Strathcona's title passed to his daughter, Baroness Strathcona, and her son, Hon. Donald Howard, is in due course likely to be the next Lord Strathcona.

Wanted More Speed.

Her sweetheart had decided to emigrate. To-morrow he would be off to Canada in search of fame and fortune. Tender farewells were the order of the day, or rather night. Slowly Maude and Harry bade each other a fond adieu by the hatstand, then on the door mat and now they were repeating it on the doorstep. In the dining-room father was pacing to and fro, anxiously and angrily trying to estimate the cost of the gas bill in these hard times. Gingerly he opened the door and listened. "Answer me, Maud—answer me," came in gushy whispers from Harry's manly throat. "Answer me now, darling. I can bear this suspense no longer!" "Yes; answer him, Maud," came an appealing cry from the dining-room. "I can bear this expense no longer."

Land Drifting.

Soil drifting in Alberta and Saskatchewan which last spring caused millions of dollars of damage to the newly-planted crop, can be stopped if the farmers use the right methods, Prof. Jardine, of the Kansas State College of Agriculture, told irrigation and dry farmers attending the Irrigation Congress in Winnipeg. It was stopped in a 66-thousand-acre tract in Kansas six or seven years ago, and the land which drifted the worst then, is now raising 25 to 40 bushels of wheat to the acre. He urged that every possible acre in Western Canada for which water can be secured should be irrigated.

That Did the Trick.

A farmer sent ten shillings for a lightning caterpillar killer, which he had seen advertised in a paper, and received in returns two blocks of wood with directions printed on them as follows:

"Take this block, which is No. 1, in the right hand; place the caterpillar on No. 2 and press together. Remove the caterpillar and proceed as before."—Pearson's Weekly.

A touch of gold—
Radiators, picture frames, etc., look better when gilded with RAMSAY'S Perfection Gold Paint
"Save the surface and you save all"
J. W. WALKER - - - HARDWARE.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache, inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as bisurated magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or, tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

Sports

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	91	43	.679
Toronto	91	45	.669
Buffalo	86	50	.632
Akron	83	50	.624
Reading	60	74	.448
Jersey City	54	82	.397
Rochester	42	92	.313
Syracuse	31	102	.233

Yesterday's Results.

Baltimore	3	Syracuse	1
Baltimore	7	Syracuse	0
Reading	7	Jersey City	4
Toronto	5	Rochester	4
Akron	7	Buffalo	4

No games scheduled for today.

ALGONQUIN PARK

The attractive log cabin camp "Nominigan," seven miles from the "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park, owned and operated by the Grand Trunk will be kept open until September 15th, 1920. Those who desire to spend a few days at this delightful resort should make application at once. There are a few vacancies still open for guests. See any Grand Trunk Railway Agent or write N. T. Clarke, Manager Highland Inn, Algonquin Park, Ont.

BOY SERIOUSLY HURT.

Oshawa, Sept. 2.—Three inches of the sharp end of a broken handle of a pitchfork pierced the right side of the abdomen of Norman Kerr, fourteen years old, of Columbus, when he fell on the fork. Immediately after the accident he was brought to the Oshawa General Hospital, where he was operated on by Dr. McLaren of Whitby. Norris is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kerr, who farm three and a half miles north of Oshawa. In an attempt to jump over some hay in his father's horse stable he did not see the fork on the other side of the hay and lit on it, the sharp handle entering his body and taking some cloth with it. His condition is critical.

Sterling Exchange weakened to $3.55 5-8.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"DON'T TELL" AT GRIFFIN'S TO-NIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Moffat, known throughout the English-speaking world as the representative Scottish players of the day will make their first American tour under the direction of William Morris this season in "Don't Tell" described as a new comedy of Glasgow life by Graham Moffat. Of course Mr. Moffat's "Bunty Pulls the Strings" may be said to have really established the worth of Scottish playwrighting throughout the world, although he is the auhor of several other works of equal merit. His "A Scrape o' the Pen" "Till the Bells Ring" and "Annie Laurie" have all been performed in England and Scotland although he is best known here as the author of "Bunty." When Mr. Morris, the manager of Sir Harry Lauder, was abroad last spring, he secured the rights to "Don't Tell" for the United States and Canada, but after realizing the almost impossible task of securing an adequate company of players, he induced Mr. and Mrs. Moffat, Miss Winifred Moffat and their Scottish original cast to come to America. They will be seen here in "Don't Tell!" at Griffin's, to-night, for one night only.

ENGLISH AUTHOR WROTE "THE LOVE OF LETTY"

Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, perhaps the most famous of English dramatists is the author of "The Loves of Letty," the play chosen for Pauline Fredericks new starring vehicle. Under the title of "Letty" it was formerly a stage success in London where it was produced with a notable cast some years ago. Many other plays which have delighted lovers of the theatre owe their success to Pinero's genius. Almost every actress has at one time or another played his "Second Mrs. Tanqueray." "His House in Order" is upheld as one of the finest examples of perfection in play construction and technique. "The Loves of Letty" is human, appealing, and displays a profound knowledge of real life. In this play Pauline Frederick has an unusual opportunity to display her undeniable emotional talents. Sir Arthur Wing Pinero in recognition of his unusual literary ability has recently been knighted by King George of England. "The Loves of Letty" will not be shown at Griffin's to-night on account of the road show "Don't Tell" holding the boards, but will be shown at Griffin's to-morrow, matinee and night, along with a Charlie Chaplin comedy, "Some Nerve," a beautiful and interesting Outing Chester Travelogue, a new chapter of "The Whirlwind" serial and a British Canadian Pathe News.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Alexandria	Sept. 7-8
BELLEVILLE	Sept. 6-8
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Cornwall	Sept. 1-4
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Delta	Sept. 13-15
Forest	Oct. 5-6
Inverary	Sept. 8
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Kemptville	Sept. 7-8
Lanark	Sept. 8
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Perth	Sept. 8-9
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 23
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

McClary's
Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

SINCLAIR'S
DRESS -SALE-
THIS WEEK WE OFFER SOME WONDERFUL VALUES IN LADIES', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S DRESSES.
Just Look at These Values

Children's Dresses Half Price
We have about Ten Dozen Childrens Gingham and Chambray Wash Dresses in sizes from 3 to 12 years, regular prices from $2.50 to $7.50 each, to clear this week at HALF PRICE—or from $1.25 to $3.75 each

Ladies Dresses
Only $3.00
At this price we are clearing one table of about 50 Ladies' Gingham House Dresses, in several styles and sizes, 16 and 18 years, also Women's sizes 36 to 46 bust measure, Dresses at less than cost of Gingham. Your choice, only $3.00

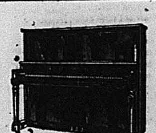
Ladies' Silk Dresses
To Clear $17.50 and $27.50 each
At these Two Clearing Prices we offer your choice of more than Fifty Ladies' and Misses' Silk Dresses, in all the fashionable colors, and in a full range of sizes, Dresses from $29.50 to $27.50, to clear at $17.50, and Dresses from $32.50 to $47.50 to clear, your choice, only $27.50.
To these Sale Prices we have to add the War Tax of 10 per cent.
SINCLAIR'S



The GREENE Piano
Sings its own Praise
Listening to the Greene Piano satisfies because of its sweetness and clearness of tone.
Thoroughly sound in design, material and workmanship, the Greene Piano has achieved its reputation through sheer merit.
Priced moderately and sold on easy terms of payment.
The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited
HOME OF GOOD MUSIC - - - - FRONT ST.

Use The Intelligencer Want Col.

First Time in America
COMING DIRECT FROM SCOTLAND
WM. MORRIS presents
MR. and MRS.
Graham Moffat
and the original Scottish cast, including
MISS WINNIFRED MOFFAT
in
"DON'T TELL"
The new Scottish comedy by GRAHAM MOFFAT
Author of "Bunty Pulls the Strings."
GRIFFIN'S TO-NIGHT
PRICES—50c. to $2.00. SEATS SELLING. NOT A PICTURE.
NOTE—"DON'T TELL" is to be presented on Broadway for an all-winter run, starting Monday, Sept. 27.

-- WM. McINTOSH AND COMPANY --

Featuring the New Fall and Winter Goods

All Wool Navy Blue Serge, 54 inches wide, a splendid material for Ladies' Dresses or Suits. Absolutely the most wonderful offering of the season at $5.00 and $6.00 per yard.

Just arrived—a shipment of Women's All Wool Pull-Overs and Sweater Coats, embodying the newest in styles and color combinations. Prices from $2.75 to $18.00 each.

Ladies' and Misses Fall and Winter Coats are now opened up ready for your inspection. Every garment is absolutely new and each price covers a wide range of style ideas, shades and sizes. Strong in variety, strong in value, deserving special emphasis because today's fashions demand these styles.

SPECIAL—Black Cashmere Hose, sizes 8½, 9, 9½, at 75c. pr.

Ladies' Kimonos, specially priced at .... $3.75 and $6.50 each

Special sale of Black Serges, Covert Cloths and Diagonal Stripes, 36 to 45 inches wide. This week only $1.19 yard.

Skirt Sale For the remainder of this week only we will place on sale a limited quantity All Wool Navy Blue Serge Skirts, in all sizes, worth $10.50 each. Sale price $7.98

Splendid values in Mens and Young Men's Sweaters and Sweater Coats, showing a good range of color combinations and styles. Prices from .... $1.00 to $8.00

Men's Work Sox .... 35c. pair; 3 for $1.00
Summer Underwear .... 20% off
A few Caps left to clear at .... 69c. and $1.00 each
Engineer Shirts .... $2.25 each

Wm. McIntosh & Co.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA ESTD 1873

THRESHER SPARKS START DESTRUCTION

Guelph, Sept. 3.—The extensive buildings on the farm of Mrs. James Black, on the town line between Eramosa and Erin Townships, four miles northeast of Rockwood, were totally destroyed by fire this afternoon. Sparks from a threshing engine were responsible for the blaze. The threshing crew, in charge of Robert McAlpine of Nassagaweya, had just commenced operations and in the barns were a large quantity of grain and hay, farm implements, 26 hogs and two calves.

Children always enjoy
POST TOASTIES
With good milk, cream or fruit juice, these superior corn flakes make an ideal breakfast or lunch for young folks and grown-ups.
Easy to serve. No waste. Delightful
Made by Canadian Postum Cereal Co. Ltd., Windsor, Ont.

WILSON'S FLY PADS
Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F GRIFFIN
2.30—Twice Saturday—8
Pauline Frederick
in "The Loves of Letty"
SCENIC—CHAPLIN comedy
WHIRLWIND serial.

Wall Papers and Art Decorations, Burlaps Leathers, Grass-Cloths, etc.
There is nothing made in wall hangings that we cannot supply.
There is nothing in decorating that we cannot do.
Just put us to the test by commanding
The Scantlebury Decorative Service

Social And Personal

Mr. R. S. Bell of the Kingston Standard is visiting relatives in the city.

Mr. T. H. Thompson, M.P. for East Hastings, was a visitor in the city today.

Misses Eva and Pearl Crawford of Madoc, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Jones, in Belleville.

Mrs. Agnes Donald and two children of this city have returned after visiting Mrs. Alexander Donald at Campbellford.

Miss Kate McCarthy and Miss Margaret Jenkins of Toronto are in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tickell, 181 Charles street.

Miss Helen MacCuaig who is visiting friends at her old home, Ottawa, is returning next week for the opening of St. Agnes School.

Miss Sarah Miller of this city is visiting relatives and friends at Madoc.

Mrs. M. Young of Belleville is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hill of Madoc.

Miss Georgia Springer of Belleville Ontario, is on a pleasure trip to the city, and is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Campbell of Breadalbane. It is Miss Springer's first trip to the West. She is enchanted with the scenery of the Rockies and charmed with the beauty of Victoria.—Daily Colonist, Victoria, B.C.

Mr. Chas. Doyle of Parent, Que., and T E. Doyle, Chatham street, are spending a few weeks at Sarnia, Detroit and other western cities.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McCreary and family returned last night from a pleasant motor trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Stasia Boring of Clarksburg, W Va., has returned home after spending a month with her brothers, Blake F. and Raphael Stortts of Toronto and mother, Mrs. M. J. Wilson, Everett St.

Mr. and Mrs Stanley Burne of Rochester, N.Y., spent the week end with Mrs. M. J. Wilson, 67 Everett street

Mr. and Mrs. John McIntosh who have been spending some months in Scotland, returned on the steamer Empress of France which broke all records for speed to Quebec. Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh had a splendid trip and enjoyed every minute of their stay in Scotland visiting many places of historical interest and meeting many friends and relatives. Mr. McIntosh says that while he enjoyed his visit to Scotland immensely still he is glad to get back to Canada and appreciates his adopted country more than ever.

* * *

Toronto Railway advanced 2 points, but Canadian stocks were quiet.

New York funds weakened to 9¾, but recovered to 10½ at the close.

Spanish River Pulp and Paper Mills net earnings increased 41.9 per cent.

The New York stock market was fairly free of weakness and considerably broader.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

He vowed that he would, and he meant it. She was a most missable creature.

He rose to leave, but she stopped him to say, "What play shall we see?"

This was the occasion for elaborate debate till Bayard gave signs of trumpeting his wrath and bolting.

Leila graciously released him only to call him back to say that he had forgotten his newspaper.

"I left it for you. Don't you want to read it?" he asked. "I can get another at the subway station."

She shook her head: "There's nothing interesting in the papers. I'm just from Paris, and I know more about the fashions than they do."

Bayard shuddered a little, inly. The times were epic. Immortal progress was being made as never before: ancient despotisms were turning into republics, republics were at war with one another; constitutions, labor problems, life problems, all social institutions, were being ripped up and remade, all the relations of masters and men, mistresses, children, wives, animals.

Yet Leila said there was nothing in the papers! Revolutionary news meant to her a change in the fashion in sleeves, the shift of the equatorial waistline a trifle nearer the bust or a trifle nearer the hips, the release of the ankles from tight skirts. The great rebellion in her world was the abrupt decision of the dressmakers that after years of costumes clinging more and more closely to the human outline they would depart from it in every way possible. Leila was interested vitally in what women would wear and what they would leave off, and grandly indifferent to which nations were shooting at which. Bayard hesitated, appealed again to his watch, gasped at the hour and the minutes, kissed Leila violently, kissed Daphne and kissed his mother and rushed for the door. Leila put out her arms again.

"I must be last," she cried, and as he bowed into her arms she kissed his ear and whispered, "and first, too, and all the betweens."

Bayard was a business man from his cradle days. He loved promptitude. He blushed to arrive late at his office and set a bad example to his stenographers and clerks. It was his creed that success comes to those who arrive earlier on the battlefield than the others, fight harder, stay longest there, and end every day with the next day's maneuvers clearly realized as part of the next month's campaign.

There was need for concentration in his business, for he had brought back from Europe a sense of great disaster in the air. And there was no encouragement in American business except an instinctive feeling that the worst must be over because it had lasted so long.

CHAPTER VII.

It was a time when everybody was cutting down appropriations, reducing expenses. Cities, counties, states, nations were all paying the penalty of former extravagances by present economies. Rich people were positively boastful of their penuries.

The three women assailed a list of things for Daphne's trousseau with the ruthlessness of an auditing committee. They cut out this and that, decided that this gown could be omitted or postponed, that waist could be had in a cheaper quality, these parasols were not really necessary, those stockings need not be so numerous all at once.

And yet even Mrs. Kip admitted that the whole array was far beyond the reach of her husband's means. Still she insisted that he could provide a partial trousseau at least. She herself would "go without things" for ten years if necessary.

Daphne, however, was haunted by the vision of her father's harrowed, money-hungry face. When her mother reminded her that it was his last chance to do anything for her, she retorted, "Yes, and it's my last chance to do anything for him."

Her pride was wrung by her plight. She must either go shabby or cause acute distress to one or both of the men that were dearest of all in the world to her. She must leave behind her a burden of debt as a farewell tribute to her father, or she must bring with her a burden of debt as her dot.

"No!" she cried, with a sudden impatient slash at the Gordian knot. "Clay will have to take me just as I am or take back his diamond ring he wished on me."

Her defiance was not convincing. Her mother protested:

"It's not Clay that you have to consider. He'll never know what you have on. It's the guests at the wedding—and your old friends and the neighbors. You don't want them to think we're poor and that your father is marrying you off cheap, do you?"

Daphne flared back, "It seems mighty foolish to go and make yourself really poor in order to keep from seeming poor, especially when you never fool anybody except yourself!"

Leila, with the magnanimity of a native spendthrift, tried to soothe the fever of the rebel: "Let's go prowling around, anyway. I may see something I want for myself. Bayard dragged me away from Paris before I had finished shopping. There are several things I need desperately."

The three wise women set forth; they joined the petticoated army pouring from all the homes like a levee en masse, a foray of pretty Huns.

They reached the alluring place where the famous Dutilh, like an amiable Mephistopheles, offered to buy souls in exchange for robes of angelic charm.

(To Be Continued)

STOP LOOK and LISTEN
before purchasing a baking powder that may possibly contain injurious ingredients. Many food scientists claim that baking powder containing alum is unsafe for use in food. The mere fact that some brands of baking powder have the words "No Alum" on the label is not sufficient proof that they are what they are represented to be. Our chemists find a good many have "No Alum" on the outside but large quantities of it inside.
MAGIC BAKING POWDER
Contains No Alum
Pure Wholesome Economical

FROM SCHOOL TEACHER TO MILLIONAIRE

New York, Sept. 2.—An interesting account of the Canadian career of Arthur T. Walker, chosen as the residuary legatee of his great estate by Edward F. Searles, the Methuen, Mass., multi-millionaire is printed by the World. Before Walker set his feet on the highway which led, to the well rewarded position as Searles' secretary he was a school teacher in a small Ontario town. During the three years he was at this school his salary probably did not much exceed $12 per week. As Searles' heir he is potential possessor of a fortune of $50,000,000. The World asys:

"Arthur Walker, the father, now dead, ran the village hotel at Cedar Springs. It was in the hotel Arthur T. Walker was born. While he was still a baby his parents moved to Charing Cross, a village south of Chatham, the county seat. The population of Charing Cross today is not much more than

* * *

It is estimated that the Saskatchewan wheat crop will be 140,000,000 bushels.

NINE DOLLARS A DAY DEMAND OF N. Y. PLUMBERS

New York, Sept. 2.—A forty-four hour week, $9 a day minimum pay, ten holidays a year and the curtailment of overtime to urgent necessity were demands made by plumbers here in an ultimatum to their bosses. The men say they will call a strike if the demands are not met. Double pay also is wanted for work on Sundays, holidays and after regular hours.

Demanding $10 for an eight-hour day and a five-day week, the painters decorators and paperhangers of New York at a mass meeting Tuesday night voted to strike Thursday. Four hundred of the men employed in the city departments will remain at work, it was said.

* * *

Archbishop Mannix has received a wire from the Pope asking him to report at Rome immediately.

FOR TWO DAYS ONLY

Western Beef Special

Shoulder Roast Beef		20c
Blade Roast Beef		22c
Thick Ribs Beef		24c
Round Steak	per pound	37c
Stewing Beef, fresh cut		18c
Choice Hamburg Steak		22c

CHOICE SPRING LAMB

Legs Lamb	42c	Shoulder Lamb	32c
Loin Lamb	40c	Stewing Lamb	25c

NEW SHIPMENT RED SALMON

Large Cans Red Salmon	each 35c
Flat Cans Red Salmon	" 20c
Large Cans Pink Salmon	2 for 35c
Flat Cans Pink Salmon	2 for 25c

Pickled Hocks	per lb. 12½c
Peerless Shortning	" " 33c
Pure Lard	" " 35c
Roll Bacon	" " 38c
Smoked Roll	" " 43c
Sardines in Oil	3 for 25c

THE WILLIAM DAVIES CO. LIMITED

"The National Smoke"
WILSON'S BACHELOR
Still the most for the money
10c.
ANDREW WILSON & Co TORONTO AND MONTREAL

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 327 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 25 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY—

> Keep your face always turned toward the sunshine, and the shadows will fall behind you.—Whitman.

LEST WE FORGET!

Belgium is covered with signs marking places where the German invaders murdered the villagers, men, women and children, in carrying out their policy of frightfulness. The motion picture travelogues are now showing these mementces of Hun savagery to all the world, and it is well.

Viewing these pictures of Belgium's martyrdom, one cannot help but think that Germany is being rewarded instead of punished. The thought persists that regardless of indemnity, Germany should have been quarantined for ten years and permitted no intercourse whatever with the outside world—compelled to repent in sackcloth and ashes, if such a punishment were literally possible.

It was not a case of individuals being guilty of this monstrous carnival of slaughter, for the entire nation of Germany was guilty as hell from the Red Cross Nurses who spat in the faces of wounded British Tommies, prisoners of war, begging for water to moisten their parched lips and swollen tongues, to the haughty Hohenzollerns who swore that every knee should bow to the Beast of Berlin.

And Germany commercial travellers are covering the earth trying to undersell the manufacturers of decent nations, and in every land German propaganda is being used in an effort to poison the wells of thought and cause unrest and disturbance which will ultimately react in Germany's favor.

CANADIAN MADE GOODS BETTER AND CHEAPER.

The Canadian Reconstruction Association is informed by an experienced Toronto druggist, who is not personally interested, that many toilet commodities, such as face creams, powders, and toilet soaps, made by plants in Canada, are of quite as high quality and as satisfactory in use as similar imported products. Moreover, the Canadian-made goods are somewhat lower in price.

Competition of Canadian-made products and other conditions have compelled many foreign manufacturers of toilet articles to establish manufacturing branches in this country, but still very large quantities of such goods are imported. Under present conditions of exchange it is highly important that the Canadian public should give the preference to Canadian-made products, especially when the supposed superiority of the foreign-made goods is the result rather of extensive advertising than of intrinsic superiority.

TWO FEET BUT A LONG STRETCH.

The Toronto Globe, which is standing with one foot in the tent of Mr. Crerar and the other in the tent of Mr. King, has discovered a new reason for denouncing Mr. Meighen. The reason is that somebody in the Globe office has made the disturbing discovery that the Honorable Bob Rogers is a sort of Rasputin behind the Meighen throne, and that the new Premier is as but clay for a sinister power on behalf of the terrible Tories. The proof? Well, isn't Bog Rogers a Tory? And wasn't he at Ottawa—for awhile—with Meighen? And isn't Rogers "generally credited" with giving Meighen his start? Moreover—and this is overwhelming proof—"nothing has been heard of Mr. Rogers lately"; which shows that he is satisfied "that Premier Meighen will continue to do what he is told."

The poor old Globe! It is often hard pressed for justification of its political acrobatics, but this latest is enough to make George Brown turn in his honored grave. For Arthur Meighen, first as the protege and then the tool of Bob Rogers, is just about the limit, for there is probably no leader in public life who has stood or who stands so firmly upon his own feet.—Ottawa Journal.

CRISP COMMENT

Hon. Mackenzie King's speaking tour does not appear to be a spectacular success, despite the elaborate scenic effects.

× × ×

When the wholesale price of sugar drops, why does the retail price not sag also? When the wholesale price of sugar advances the retail price loses no time following suit—that's business; but there does not seem to be any vice versa in business.

× × ×

Meighen's message is manly and straightforward, capable of no misunderstanding. Mackenzie King's message is vague and unsatisfactory. Meighen takes his stand upon the solid rock of real Canalianism. Mackenzie King's platform is opportunism and partizanship of the old school, happily fast dying out.

× × ×

"The greatest annual event on earth," is the awesome title wished on Toronto Fair by its advertising staff. Just like those city chaps whose little world is bounded by Hanlan's Island, High Park and Yonge Street. Could they but see the World's Fair at Shannonville, how their eyes would be opened!

× × ×

A speaker at a meeting recently held in Toronto advocated taking the street cars from Yonge street. Wouldn't it be easier to remove the motor cars from Yonge street and make the principal shopping street of the Queen City comparatively safe for pedestrians?

× × ×

The man who stood with the Union Government is often asked what constructive legislation it ever enacted. Listen! The abolition of patronage, the nationalization of Canadian railways, women's suffrage, and the Soldiers' Land Settlement plan. And the opposition was very luke warm about the four advanced schemes.—Kingston Whig (Liberal).

OTHER VIEWS

Russia As It Is

The London Times has an interesting report of a lecture recently given by H. V. Keeling, a prominent English trade unionist, who was imprisoned by the Bolsheviki when war broke out and last year went back to make further investigations. With much difficulty he reached Moscow and found it like a city of the dead. The press was completely muzzled, Red journals only being issued.

He was arrested and charged with being a dangerous and suspicious person, an English spy. He was placed in Buttsky prison to await trial, and visited by Litvinoff, who promised to do what he could to secure his release, but decided that his case must go before the "People's Court." At his trial the "Judge" was a young woman, assisted by two youths. He was not allowed to speak in his own defence as his remarks "would not be relevant." His sentence was imprisonment "until the end of hostilites between Imperialistic England and the Russian Federated Soviet Republic." The prisoners had a comfortable time, for the simple reason that all the prison officials from the governor downwards hated the Bolshevists. He most emphatically denied any statements that the present lot of the Russian worker was to be compared with that of he Brion.

Must Win Confidence
(New York Tribune)

In no quarter is there disposition to punish the people of Russia. All would have them free and prosperous. But they must see to it that they get leaders and institutions worthy of confidence. This is their business. As long as they neglect it, as long as their armies are under the command of Lenines and Trotzkys, there is no choice to democracy but to keep a weapon above the mantelpiece, even as our forefathers did when a savage yell and a whizz of a tomahawk informed that the older Reds were on the warpath.

An Ignorant Editor
(Kingston Whig)

Will somebody please come to the rescue of the editor of the Brockville Recorder? He wants to find a summer resort where the fish bite and the mosquitoes don't. What that fellow is long ing for is paradise, but he doesn't know it.

The Modern Method
(Kingston Whig)

When they wished to embalm a question in the old days they moved to lay it on the table. Now they refer it to the commerce board.

THE POET'S CORNER

A TOUCH OF ROSY

To put a touch of rosy
  In the sunrise of a life,
To do one's best in earnest
  In this world of sin and strife,
To mottle o'er the darkness
  Of the blackest clouds of care,
To find the silver lining
  When none would think it there—

To help the growth of thought
  As it struggles to the light,
To crown with laurels woven
  The victors in the fight,
To brush with gentle hand
  The earth stains from the white
Of those who've erred in deed
  But wish to do the right,
To have for our ambition
  The rocks in front to scale,
To put a touch of rosy
  In the life of those who fail.

All would from choice be good—
  Oh, none would be exempted!
Our virtues, half are due
  To never being tempted
Cheer one another onward,
  Of tears the world is rife,
And put a dash of rosy
  Into some gloomy life.
The rising sun is glorious
  The noon-day bright and gay,
But we need a touch of rosy
  At the waning of the day.

A LAUGH OR TWO

If clothes made the girl, most girls would be very slight.

Little Dignity Chasers

To speak to a friend's double only to receive an icy stare.

Not So Healthy

Several Irish towns have to be omitted from this summer's list of health resorts.

It is a safe guess that the man who pokes fun at a woman for shopping all day and not buying anything isn't married.

Strange

His fishing trip was a success,
He caught himself a dandy mess,
And what is stranger still to say
No single big one got away.

The Reason

"Do you know what it is that is keeping me poor?"

"No, what?"

"Pretending to be rich."

At the Musicale

"Professor Adagio just raved over Josephine's playing."

"How rude! Why couldnt he conceal his feelings like the rest of us?"

OUR GREATEST TELESCOPE.

Stands Near Victoria—Equals the World's Best.

It will be news to many to learn that near Victoria, B.C., is an astronomical observatory possessing a telescope which for some time was the largest and most perfect of its kind in operation, and which is still a good second in point of size, while equal to the best in efficiency.

In order to peer farther and farther into the depths of space and to discover the true nature of our universe, it is necessary to use more and more powerful instruments. For a number of years the largest telescope in Canada was at the Dominion Observatory at Ottawa. It is 15 inches in diameter and about 20 feet in length. It had been used continually from its erection in 1905, but the need of something greater was felt, and in 1913 the Government placed an order for one larger than any then in existence.

Now there are two distinct types of telescopes. In one type there is placed at the upper end of the tube a lens, through which the light from the heavenly body passes and is thereby converged to a focus, or, to form an image of the body. Such a telescope is called a refractor. In the second type there is a concave mirror at the lower end of the tube. This is of glass, silvered on the front surface, not the back as in an ordinary looking glass. Upon this the light falls, is thrown back, and thus brought to a focus. Such a telescope is a reflector. The telescope at Ottawa is a refractor; that at Victoria, a reflector. The refractor is the kind we are most accustomed to. Indeed, refractors could not possibly be made as large as the largest reflectors.

The contract for supplying the mirror and the other optical parts was given to the Brashear Co., of Pittsburgh; while that for the mounting was given to Warner and Swasey, of Cleveland. This was in October, 1913. Immediately an order was sent to the St. Gobain Glass Co., of Paris, France, for the glass disc required for the great mirror. On the second attempt the disc was successfully cast at the works of the company at Charleroi, Belgium; and by great good fortune it was shipped from Antwerp a few days before the declaration of war. It arrived in Pittsburg early in August. The glassworks were wrecked by the Germans soon afterwards.

When it was received the great disc was 73½ inches in diameter, 13 to 13½ inches in thickness, and it weighed nearly 5,000 pounds. After six months of work upon it, the edge had been cut truly round, the lower surface had been made flat and the upper surface had been hollowed out into spherical shape. At the edge it was then 12 inches thick, at the centre 11.1 inches, and its weight had been reduced to 4,340 pounds.

Then began the process of "figuring" the surface. By this the surface is changed from a sperical to a paraboloidal form. To get this shape about one-thousandth of an inch of glass had to be removed from the centre of the mirror, and less and less as one approached the edge.

While the great mirror was being slowly fashioned the massive and complicated mounting had been constructed at Cleveland. It is a triumph of mechanical engineering. The moving parts weigh 45 tons, and yet it is so nicely balanced that the current from an ordinary electric lamp, passing through a motor, is sufficient to move it promptly into any position required for observing any object in the sky.

The mounting was completed in May, 1916, and during the following summer it was shipped to Victoria. The observatory is on Saanich Hill, 700 feet above sea level and eight miles from Victoria. The B.C. Electric Railway passes along the foot of the hill, and a fine road, one and a half miles long, to the summit, was built by the B. C. Government. One section of the mounting weighed 9½ tons and twelve horses were required to pull the truck carrying it to the observatory. The sheet metal observatory building and the mounting were completed in the autumn of 1916, but the great mirror did not come until 18 months later.

The instrument has been in use over two years, and it has fulfilled all expectations. The staff of the observatory consists of: Dr. J. S. Plaskett, who was for some years at the University of Toronto and later at Ottawa; W. E. Harper, whose home was near Owen Sound; R. K. Young, of Binbrooke, near Hamilton; and H. H. Plaskett, son of the director.

Some beautiful photographs of some of the heavenly bodies have been taken, but the telescope is chiefly used for photographing the spectra of stars, in this way determining what substances are in those stars and also the speed at which they are moving toward or from us.

Premier Meighen's Mother.

Mrs. Joseph Meighen, mother of the new Prime Minister, is a wonderfully bright and active old lady. Although she has passed the allotted "three score years and ten," she is still a most efficient housewife, even baking her own bread.

Mr. and Mrs. Meighen, senior, are at present living at Ottawa, having recently gone there from St. Mary's, Ont., and next January they hope to celebrate their golden wedding.

Mrs. Meighen is still keenly interested in politics, and follows the debates in the House closely. Staunch Presbyterians, the Meighens brought up their six children in the doctrines of their church. One son, Edward, served as a gunner for three years of the war.

Indians Dying Out.

The Indian population round Port Arthur is decreasing yearly, according to statistics gathered by Indian Agent Brown. In the seven bands in the district there are to-day but 1,511 left. In 1917 there were 1,610. The deaths last year numbered 126 and births 48. The majority of the deaths were from influenza and tuberculosis.

The Charitable View

The Doctor—I had a great many more patients this time last year; wonder where they have all gone.

His Wife—We can only hope for the best dear.

There's a Bob Long Glove for Every Job

Engineers
Brakemen
Firemen
Freight Handlers
Bridgemen
Riveters
Linemen
Smelters
Moulders
Miners

Riggers
Lumbermen
Electricians
Stone Masons
Plumbers
Bricklayers
Carpenters
Farmers
Ranchers
Truck Drivers

Chauffeurs

If your Glove is not listed here, ask your dealer

BOB LONG
UNION MADE
GLOVES

Made by skilled workmen from strongest leather obtainable—soft and pliable.

R. G. LONG & Co., Limited
Winnipeg TORONTO Montreal

Bob Long Brands Known from Coast to Coast 152

To Enjoy Picnics—the lunch must be a success. Whether tea or coffee is the favorite, everyone wants milk in it. Take along a few convenient sized cans of BORDEN'S and insure fresh country milk for every meal.

Borden's
ST. CHARLES
EVAPORATED MILK
THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
MONTREAL 2-920

SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS

Buy Victory Loans

at present prices, including accrued interest to date of delivery, at your own bank.

1922 at 98, to yield 6.37%
1923 at 98, to yield 6.15%
1937 at 98, to yield 5.68%
1927 at 97, to yield 6.00%
1933 at 96½, to yield 5.88%
1924 at 97, to yield 6.27%
1934 at 93, to yield 6.24%

Subject to change in price.

Your order solicited by

R. W. ADAMS
24 Victoria Ave. Phone 858.
e1-4td-1tw

Sign Writing and Picture Framing

We make signs of all kinds, large and small. At present we are writing the largest sign in Belleville for A. S. Richardson Co. We can prepare your sign and do it right.

Scantlebury Signs
ARE THE BEST SIGNS

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work
Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Three Days Sale
Sept. 3rd, 4th, 6th

LADIES' OXFORDS
" SKIRTS
" SWEATERS
BOYS' CLOTHING
" BOOTS

Clearing lines, broken sizes, Ladies' Oxfords, kid, black or brown, patent leather, high or Cuban heel. Some kid pumps. Regular $5.95.

to clear at $3.95

SILK POPLIN AND ALL WOOL SERGE SKIRTS at $4.95
LADIES' PULLOVERS, latest styles, from .. $4.95 to $7.00
BOYS' BOOTS from 8 to 10½ sizes, from .... $2.50 to $2.95
BOYS' BOOTS, sizes 11 to 13, from $2.75 to $3.95; from 1 to 5, from $3.50 to $4.95.
BOYS' SUITS, Tweed, any color, knee pants, from $5.50 to $10.00.
School Book Cases .... 49c.

You can see everything in the window with the prices all marked on.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

We just received a lot of all wool serge dresses, latest styles. Come in and see ours first—from $15 to $65.
FALL AND WINTER COATS from .... $18.00 to $69.00

B. SHNIFFER
331 Front Street

WANTED

House to rent for family of two.

Apply to Manager Merchants' Bank of Canada

Belleville Fair

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
September 6th, 7th, 8th

FIRST CLASS SPEEDING EVENTS.
BASEBALL MATCHES, TUG OF WAR, ETC., EACH DAY.

HON. MR. DOHERTY, MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE, WILL BE PRESENT ON LABOR DAY, SEPT. 6th.

EXHIBITS OF LIVE STOCK BETTER THAN EVER

FIRST CLASS MIDWAY HAS BEEN SECURED

THE CELEBRATED G.W.V.A. BAND IN ATTENDANCE
BE SURE AND ATTEND THIS FAIR.
GOD SAVE THE KING!

H. K. DENYES, M.P.P., President.
R. H. KETCHESON, Secretary.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.							READ UP.
Train 19	Train [illegible]	Train 37		STATIONS.		Train [illegible]	Train 22	Train [illegible]
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	————	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*9.00 a.m.	————
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.06 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
5.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	3.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	8.20 p.m.
7.05 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	3.00 p.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	5.40 p.m.	————	————

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday. S. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

EARLE & COOK COMPANY

Final Clearing Sale of Summer Goods

LADIES' SUITS

25 Ladies' Suits at 25 per cent. off regular price.
Ladies' Serge and Silk Dresses, 20 per cent. off regular prices.
Voile Blouses, regular $5.50 to $7.00, only $4.95
Children's Dresses, reg. $5.00 and $5.50, only $3.75
Children's Dresses, regular $3.00 to $4.00, only $1.95
Tussah Silk Bloomers in white, sky and flesh, regular $3.75. Sale price $1.95
Ladies' Summer Dresses in Percale, Voile and Indian Head, regular up to $7.50. Sale price $2.50
Blouses in Silk and Crepe de Chine in white, flesh, maize and black, regular $4.50 and $5.00; to clear at $2.95
Shantung Silk in natural colors, 33 inches wide, reg. $1.50; to clear at $1.19
Silk Boot Hose in grey, white, black, sand. Special value at $1.19
Ladies' Pure Silk Hose in white, black, grey and sand, regular $2.25 and $2.50. To clear at $1.95

EARLE & COOK COMPANY
STORE OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAY.

Special Sale

Women's White Canvas Slippers, reg. $2.75, for $2.00
Women's White Canvas Boots, reg. $2.75, for $1.40
Misses' White Canvas Boots, reg. $2.75, for $1.40
Child's Canvas Slippers, reg. $1.50, for $1.15
Child's Patent Sandals, clearing $1.50

Also other lines at real bargains.
We Carry a Complete Stock of
TPUNKS, BAGS AND SUIT CASES
At Very Low Prices.
Come in and look, as it is a pleasure to show our goods.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Fashionable Furs

A neckpiece of fur gives the finishing touch to the well dressed and fashionable lady.

The choice is varied, but the furs most in demand are

Ermine and Foxaline

We have some nice pieces in these furs and would be pleased to have you call and see them.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

FORGOT TO LOCK DOORS.

The street letter box at the corner of North Front and Moira streets was last evening found open by a resident of that locality who informed the police of the fact. The door had apparently been left unlocked as there was no sign of it having been forced open.

A SUPPOSED INTRUDER.

At 10 o'clock last evening a citizen residing on George Street telephoned the police that a man was apparently trying to get in the front door of a nearby residence, the occupants of which were supposed to be away. Upon investigation it was ascertained that the would-be intruder was none other than the owner and occupant of the premises.

CAR AND BICYCLE COLLIDE.

Mr. J. Exley, residing in the city, reported to the police that yesterday afternoon, while driving his car, he ran into a boy who was riding a bicycle. The accident occurred at the junction of Pinnacle and Station Sts., and the boy was, apparently, in the wrong. Some damage was done to the bike, but fortunately the boy escaped with a few slight bruises.

REMARKABLE POTATO.

Charles A. Babcock, of Verona, near Kingston, has a single hill of potatoes in his garden consisting of nine stalks, which has at the present time thirty-one distinctly formed potatoes, all above the ground. The highest one has appeared fourteen inches up the stalk from the ground,-and the others on down, but all well up from the ground. The largest one measured a good eight inches the long way and seven inches around. Anyone doubting this has only to call at Mr. Babcock's place and see for themselves.

AUTO STOLEN AND DAMAGED.

Some time last evening a Ford car the property of Mr. H. J. Clarke, proprietor of the Citizens' Dairy, was taken from the dairy premises on Coleman street. Later the car was located on the Trent Road about midway between Belleville and Trenton, and was in a damaged condition, the windshield being broken and the front part of the car damaged, apparently by a collision with another car. The affair was reported to the police and every effort will be made to ascertain who took the car away.

MESSAGE FOR VETERANS.

A meeting will be held in Griffin's Theatre Sunday evening, beginning at 8.15 for war veterans only, their wives, mothers, sisters and lady friends. The principal speaker will be Comrade W. E. Turley, Provincial Secretary-Treasurer of the Great War Veterans Association, an eloquent speaker, who served overseas and has a message of importance to all veterans. Members of the C.E.F., B.E.F., and former wars are requested to wear their service buttons, which will entitle them to admission, as the gathering is for ex-soldiers only. The G.W.V.A. Band will be in attendance and James Booth will sing.

KILLED ON MOTOR TOUR.

Relatives have been advised of the death through a collision on a level crossing in Indiana of George McRae, aged forty-five; Mrs. McRae, and their daughter, Irma, aged eighteen, former residents of Warburton, Lansdowne, but latterly of Edmonton. The party came east this summer to visit at their old home, and at Ottawa purchased an automobile. Three weeks ago they left for Edmonton, touring the United States on the way. Mrs. McRae came from the vicinity of Ottawa, in which Alexander McRae, B.A., a brother of her husband, resides. The bodies will be brought to Warburton for burial.

CANADIAN MAJOR NOW IN PRAISE OF TANLAC

Former Member of Mounted Police and Overseas Officer Says it Restored Him to Complete Health.

"I have tried Tanlac and give it my unqualified endorsement," declared Sed Park, of Victoria, B.C., who formerly was connected with the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and during the war was a Major in the Canadian Expeditionary Forces.

"For the past two years my health declined, brought on by a chronic case of stomach trouble," said Maj. Park "My appetite was gone and I ate very little of anything, for gas would form on my stomach and give me a heavy bloated feeling and cause my heart to palpitate till I could hardly breathe. not troubled with constipation or head aches and many times I wasn't able to work. While in France I was shell-shocked and my nerves were simply a total wreck. It was hard for me to get to sleep at night and then I was disturbed by terrible dreams. My back, too, was weak and pained me constantly.

"A few weeks ago I started taking Tanlac and I feel stronger in every way and am enjoying the very best of health. My appetite is fine and everything agrees with me perfectly. I am not troubld with constipation or headaches and my back never hurts me at all. My nerves are quiet and steady and I sleep fine every night."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

ALBERT COLLEGE

Albert College will open next week and Principal Dr. Baker reports that the prospects for the ensuing term are bright for large classes and success all along the line.

TWO TRACKMEN HURT.

Two accidents to Grand Trunk trackmen are reported. At Mille Roches, A. P. Campeau slipped in starting a track motor car, which ran over him, breaking three ribs. He is in the hospital at Cornwall. Joseph Newman, a trackman employed in the Brockville yard, got in the way of a pick in the hands of a fellow-workman and received a wound on the skull. He is not seriously hurt, chiefly because the pick was blunt.

FAIR OPENS MONDAY

Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, is expected to open the Belleville Fair, and many will have an opportunity to hear him for the first time. He is an interesting speaker and will no doubt get a cordial reception. Every indication points to a large attendance Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and the attractions are many and varied.

RESIDENCE BURNED

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. William J. Tufts of Zion's Hill, Thurlow Township suffered a sever loss when his residence, barn, wagon house and drive house were destroyed by fire. In addition, twenty-one pigs were cremated. From some cause unknown the fire originated in a straw stack adjoining the barn. The latter building was soon abalze and the flames spread to the house and other buildings. From the dwelling some of the contents were removed. The contents of the barn included 525 bushels of oats, 40 tons of hay and some other grain. Some farm machinery was also destroyed. The loss amounted to upwards of $12,000, which is partially covered by insurance.

* * *

The French President may resign office.

U. S. submarine S-5 is on the ocean floor and in dire peril. Assistance is being rushed.

Lloyd George ends his vacation.

Pennsylvania hard coal men sign a contract for two years.

* * *

DIED

WATERHOUSE—At Belleville, September 2, 1920, Mrs. Catherine Waterhouse, aged 69 years 7 months.

The funeral will be held Saturday, September 4, 1920, at 1.30 p.m., from the residence of Mr. Edmund Sherry, 33 Howard Street, Belleville, to Roslin cemetery. Funeral service at Anglican Church, Roslin, at 2.45 p.m.

The Modern Table Drink

A combination of good flavor, economy, efficiency and health satisfaction

INSTANT POSTUM

This pure and wholesome beverage contains none of coffee's harmful ingredients. Especially valuable in families with children.

Sold by all Grocers

Canadian Postum Cereal Co. Ltd. Windsor Ont.

Wedding Bells

RANKIN—KERR

A very charming house wedding took place at Ilahee, Cobourg, the summer residence of Mr. Charles W. Kerr at 1.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when their daughter, Joyce Alida, became the bride of Mr. Carlton H. Rankin, Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rankin, Napanee. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Dr. A. H. Reynar of Cobourg, assisted by the Rev. E. B. Lanceley, Toronto. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Grace Kerr and Miss Snider of St. Jacobs. The groom was assisted by Mr. Morton of Toronto. A reception was held after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin leaving later for a trip north. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

HUNTER—GRAHAM

Thursday afternoon, J. L. Hunter of New York, and Mrs. W. N. Graham of Brockville, widow of the late Capt. W. N. Graham, who was killed overseas while serving with the Canadian forces in France, were married. The ceremony took place in the Church of Transfiguration, (the little church around the corner), New York City, and was performed by the rector, Rev. George Clarke Houghton, D.D., only a few immediate relations were present including Hon. G. P. and Mrs. Graham of Brockville. The bride who was unattended was attired in a tailored travelling suit of blue with hat to match. From the church the party went to the Park Avenue Hoel for lunch after which Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, who will reside at Crestwood, a suburb of New York, left for Boston. The bride was formerly Miss Nettie Dure Westcott of Cannington, Ont.

PIGDEN—PARM

On Wednesday, September 1st, a quiet wedding took place in Belleville when Miss Susie Parm, daughter of Mr. Osborne Parm of Corbyville, formerly of Toronto, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Pigden, son of Joseph Pigden of Madoc. The bride looked charming in her travelling suit of navy blue and carried white roses. The young couple were unattended. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Pigden left for Ottawa on their honeymoon.

Sons of Scotland Get Together

Gala Night at Camp Rob Roy Welcoming 25 New Members

Camp Rob Roy, Sons of Scotland is where the lovers of Scotia's rocks and hills, her bonnie burns and heather are wont to forgather to breathe again the atmosphere of the Highlands and the Lowlands and remember always with pride, the glory of Scotland's history of heroism and achievement.

Camp Rob Roy is not standing still and that was amply evidenced Thursday evening by the skirl of the pipes and the many sounds of activity coming from the lodge rooms on Front street. The occasion was the initiation of twenty-five candidates into the mysteries of the order and the event was made a gala one. Rev. Mr. Kerr, chieftain was in command of the proceedings, ably assisted by Bros. McIntosh, Morris, Johnston and others. After the ceremony of initiation a social evening was spent, the lady friends of the Camp bringing ice cream and cake in great abundance. Then there was singing, the bagpipes, speaking and a good time generally. Those who took part included Messrs. Browning and Moore in an instrumental duet, violin and piano; Messrs. McIntosh and Johnston bagpipes; Messrs Forrest and McIntyre, songs. Miss McIntosh played accompaniments. Brief addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Ramsay and Organizer Moore.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT.

SCHOOL SHOES

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

NO CAKE IS BETTER than the materials used in its making. That's why, if you wish good cake, you should use our raisins, chocolate, flavoring, baking powder, etc. Then you can be sure that your baking efforts will be fully rewarded with a most delicious cake. And you will have the added satisfaction of knowing you have not been extravagant, for our prices are always as low as the lowest.

Phone DAY 531

Pickle Spices Jar Rings, Parowax Etc.
Be sure you get the best by buying them at
OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
208 Front St.
We are offering a limited number of Suits from $45 up.
An opportunity to buy a good suit at a reasonable price.

Lawn Seed
May be Sown Successfully
Durilng August and September
OUR SPECIAL MIXTURE
40c. lb.
Also Lawn Fertilizer, 50c. pkg. at
Bishop's Seed Stoe
192 Front St. Phone 283.

Help Your Digestion
When acid-distressed, relieve the indigestion with
KI-MOIDS
Dissolve easily on tongue—as pleasant to take as candy. Keep your stomach sweet, try Ki-moids
MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE
MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION
19-3A

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

New Suits
Coats
Dresses
Blouses
Skirts
Camisoles
Etc.
Arriving Daily at WOTTEN'S
LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose
your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.
T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

LINDSAY'S

Music in the Home

will fill the idle hours with pleasure, drive away the blues, and deliver a knockout to "old man grouch." Introduce a

LINDSAY Player-Piano

into your home and watch the results.

The Latest and Best in Music Rolls
Q. R. S. LINDSAY'S

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED

249 Front Street Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word: 4 insertions, 75 cents; 8 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

30 x 3½
NON-SKID
TIRES
$14.95
Tubes, $1.95.
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.,
353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—ONE HALF INTEREST IN water well drilling machine. One 17-horse power Sawyer-Massey engine, one water tank and wagon, two sets of drilling tools, all in first class shape; also one wood sawing machine. Enquire at 191 Cannifton Road. s2-4td

FOR SALE—FARM OF 62 ACRES, THIRD concession of Thurlow, lot 31. Good buildings, lots of wood and water. Will exchange for city property. R.F.D. No. 6, Belleville. G. N. Phillips. s1-6td

FOR SALE—DRESSER, IRON BED, BOOK Case, chair, walnut upright piano and music cabinet, lawn mower, tables, crib, carriage, bicycle, motor washer and other effects. Phone 166. 32 Octavia St. s1-dtf

FOR SALE — ONE GILSON ENSILAGE cutter, 13-inch, in first class condition. A. O. Roblins a31-4td

SHERLOCK-MANNING PLAYER PIANO, 88-note, for sale. Apply T. M. Fraser, Snell's Terrace, East Moira. a31-4td

FOR SALE—BRICK VENEER HOUSE—GAS, water and electric lights. Large garden. Convenient to G.T.R. Station. Apply to 84 Grier Street. a31-4td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

FOR SALE—BICYCLES—MASSEY SILVER Ribbon, for years of service. New and rebuilt bicycles, all sizes, bought and sold and exchanged the year round. Bicycle Licence, Belleville. a6-d&w1m

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

LOST

LOST — BETWEEN RIDLEY ST. AND Geen's Drug Store, small sum of money. Anyone finding same please notify Nathan Mason, 63 N. Front St. 1td

WANTED.

WANTED — PRACTICAL NURSING AND light housework. Experienced. Apply 10 Geddes St., Belleville. Phone 311. 1td

WANTED—PARTY WHO CAN FURNISH room and board for lady teacher. Kindly communicate with The Ontario School for the Deaf. s3-dtf

WANTED TO PURCHASE—GOOD OFFICE Desk, roll or plain top. Apply Box "N," The Intelligencer. s3-2td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

FOUND

FOUND—CHESTNUT COLT WITH SILVER mane and tail, at Mrs. Jackson's Gilbert street, Thurlow. Owner may have same by paying for the damage and this advt. a31-4td

FOUND—RUG, ON THIRD CONCESSION, Thurlow. Owner may obtain by identifying property and paying for advertisement. H. W. Tweedy, R. R. No. 6, Belleville. s2-2td

Paints, Oils, Glass
Varnish, Floor Wax

Everything in Paint at most reasonable prices, at

SCANTLEBURY'S

—the up-to-date Paint Store. —constantly using and seeking the best in paint materials a decorator is most likely to locate the better lines we have located.

HELP WANTED—MALE

BOYS WANTED TO LEARN TRADE. THE John Lewis Co., Ltd. s3 2td

DRIVER WANTED—WE WANT A FIRST class driver for milk route. Steady employment. Citizens' Dairy Co. s3 4td

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

BOILER TENDERS WANTED — EXPERIENCED men preferred. No firing. Apply Steel Co. of Canada, Belleville. s2-4td

WANTED — STRONG BOY TO LEARN trade. The John Lewis Co. s2-4td

WANTED — STRONG MAN TO DRIVE truck; one willing to do dairy work. Citizens' Dairy Co. a31-4td

WANTED—SMART LAD FOR STOCKROOM and window work. Good opportunity for the smart lad. Apply F. W. Woolworth, Co. a31-4td

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge Gangway. a25-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS, use of bath and electric light. All conveniences, suitable for light housekeeping. Apply Box 8., Intelligencer. s3-dtf

TO RENT—BUNGALOW ON WEST BRIDGE street. All conveniences. Possession Oct. 1st. Apply J. Panter & Son, 185 Front Street. s3-3td

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS—can have light housekeeping if desired. Apply to Mrs. Sinclair, 42½ Bridge St s2-6td

TO RENT—FLATS, HEATED, WITH ALL improvements. Small house on Dufferin Avenue. Apply to Dr. Caldwell. a28-6td

TO LET — HOUSE; NO. 114 CANNIFTON Road. Apply D. V. Doyle. m25-tfd

TO LET—HOUSES—ONE WITH ALL CONVENIENCES, 60½ W. Moira Street; one, No. 35 Cedar Street; one on Cannifton Road. Apply Dan Doyle, Phone 869. a27-dtf

TO RENT—A NICE LARGE ROOM SUITABLE for office or light housekeeping. Apply S. Burrows. a27-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

CAPABLE GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. No washing; plain cooking; excellent home; wages $37; must be experienced and able to furnish good references. Address Mrs. F. H. Marsh, 69 Keewatin Ave., Toronto. s3-4td

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. s3-dtf

WANTED—AN EXPERIENCED MAID TO go to Toronto. Wages $35 per month. Apply 247 George St. before Saturday morning. s2-2td

WANTED—WOMAN TO DO CLEANING. 25c. per hour. Apply mornings or evenings, Mrs. Abbott, 147 S. George St. a31-4t

WANTED—A MILLINERY IMPROVER; also to help in Show Room. The Ritchie Co., Limited. a31-4to

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

GIRL WANTED FOR GENERAL HOUSE WORK. No washing. Apply Cooper's Flour Mill. a30-dtf

WANTED — COMPETENT MAID. APPLY Mrs. J. Williams, 233 Charles Street.

WANTED

HEAD LAUNDRESS, $50.00 per month —and HEAD COOK, $50.00 per month. Apply to Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

WANTED

A TEACHER OF FANCY WORK, part time, and SUPERVISOR, young woman of fair education. Apply Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf Canada's golf team for the match with the United States, has arrived at New York.

City and Vicinity

Unexcelled in Canada—Daly's Good Tea—always the same. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville

THE JOHNSTONE SCHOOL OF DANCING

Under the personal direction of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnstone, professional teachers of dancing and deportment. Select social dance Monday evening, (Labor Day). Social dance Saturday evening as usual. Private lessons by appointment. Phone 750. s2-3td

Dr. McCullough will be at his office 47 Campbell street, every Saturday for consultation on diseases on the eye, ear, nose and throat.

The Oshawa Salvation Army Band will visit Belleville Sept. 4th, 5th and 6th. This is a splendid musical organization, thirty-three pieces. Monster open-airs, 7 p.m. Saturday evening, Sunday morning 11 a.m. Citadel, Afternoon at 3 o'clock the band will play in the park. 7 p.m. a great salvation meeting in the Citadel. Monday afternoon they will visit and play on the fair grounds. Monday evening a grand musical festival in the Citadel. Admission 25 cents. Mayor W. B. Riggs, chairman. Adjutant and Mrs. Laing commanding officers of Oshawa, will accompany the band and will be in charge of all meetings. 2-3t

LABOR DAY PARADE

The organized Labor Parade will form on the market square at 1 p.m., in the following order:—

American Federation of Musicians.
International Association Machinists 779.
Quinte Lodge 1545.
Brotherhood Railway Car Men 617.
Boilermakers and Ship Builders of America.
Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.
Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen.
Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way.
Canadian Brotherhood Railway Employes.
Order of Railway Conductors.
Federal Labor Union 17314.
International Polishers, Buffers and Lock Fitters, No. 100.
International Moulder's Union.
Bricklayers and Plasterer's Union.
Bay Quinte No. 6 Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

A good speaker is being secured. All local representatives are requested to meet to-night at 8 o'clock at the G.W.V.A. to complete arrangements. s3-2td

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

AUSPICES G.W.V.A.

Band Concert
Sunday, Sept. 5th
8.15 p.m.
Griffin Theatre
G. W. V. A. BAND

W. E. TURLEY, Provincial Secretary, will be in attendance and speak.

All members of the C.E.F. and B.E.F., etc., with their wives, mothers, sisters and lady friends are invited.

Veterans of former wars are also invited.

Called By Death

MISS WINNIFRED LEE.

Perth relatives were shocked on Saturday morning to learn that Miss Winnifred Lee had died in St. Francis hospital. A pimple on her lip developed into blood poisoning and caused her death. Deceased was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee of this town, and was twenty-one years and three months of age. She was of a likable disposition and her death has cast a gloom over a large number of people. She was a clerk in the U. F. O. store. Surviving are her parents, four brothers and two sisters: George, of Belleville; James, of St. Catharines; William and Raymond, and Misses Lucy and Annie; at home. The funeral took place on Monday morning from the family residence on Harvey street, to St. John's church, thence to the Catholic cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Melvin Foster, George Anson, Wilfrid Publow, Tom Brady, Frank Hogan and Francis Clyne. Among those present from a distance were Mr. John Noonan, Detroit; Mr. Melvin Foster, Toronto; Mr. John Fraser, Detroit; Miss Annie Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Noonan, and George, Bernice and Margaret, of Pakenham; Miss Mary Phillips, Carleton Place, and Miss Muriel Lytle and Miss Agnes Garsby. The members of the Children of Mary walked in a body.—Perth Expositor.

SARAH WILLIAMS.

After being in ill health for the past eight years, Mrs. Sarah Williams, relict of the late Elijah Williams, passed away yesterday afternoon at her late home, 153 James street, city. Deceased was in her 79th year, and was born in Prince Edward County, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Moon. For the past forty-five years she had resided in Belleville, where she had many friends. Mrs. Williams was a member of Christ Church. One son, Edwin, in Toronto, and two daughters, Mrs. (Dr.) Foster of Detroit and Miss Melissa, of this city, survive. Two brothers, Mr. Samuel Moon, of this city, and Mr. Elisha Moon, of Bay City, Mich., and one sister, Mrs. Peter Hunt, of Bay City, are living.

MRS. CATHERINE WATERHOUSE

On Thursday, September 2, 1920, the death occurred of Mrs. Catherine Waterhouse, widow of the late H. K. Waterhouse, aged 69 years and seven months. Mrs. Waterhouse was born in Tyendinaga township, the daughter of the late John McLaren. Mrs. Waterhouse died at the residence of her daughter Mrs. Edmund Sherry 33 Howard Street, Belleville. She leaves four sons and four daughters, John M. Waterhouse of Thurlow, William L. of Sidney, Edmund and Blake of Toronto; Mrs. Harvey Carleton, Madoc; Miss Florence Waterhouse, Belleville; Mrs. Wm. Chapple, of Shoal Lake, Manitoba; Mrs. Edmund Sherry of Belleville. There are also one sister and two brothers, Mrs. James Bowen of Marmora; John McLaren, Frankford; Wm. McLaren, Shannonville.

Mrs. Waterhouse spent most of her life at Roslin where she was highly respected for many kindly qualities. She was an Anglican in religion, a good neighbor and her memory will be treasured by many firends.

VESSELS HELD UP.

Owing to a storm on Lake Ontario vessels have been held up for the past two days. The steam barge Overland with tow barges White and Freiant, also the schooner Filer, laden with coal for the Schuster Co., Ltd., of this city, arrived here this afternoon. The Overland was formerly on the sand trade between Niagara and Toronto. She will return to Oswego on Saturday evening or Sunday.

Obsequies

WILLIAM J. J. MEAGHER.

Many were this morning in attendance at the obsequies of the late Mr. William J. J. Meagher, who died at Grand Rapids, Mich. From the residence of Mr. Charles Meagher, 288 Charles street, the body was taken to St. Michael's church, where Rev. Fr. Whalen celebrated mass, and he also officiated at the interment at St. James Cemetery. A number of mass cards and floral tributes were evidences of respect for the departed. The bearers were Messrs. T. Dolan, J. V. Truaisch, C. Bawden, F. Barrett, S. McGuire and A. Wingrove.

Going to the Exhibition?

Before packing your grip, look at our window for suggestions.

A dozen little articles for the toilet—you may need a few.

Toilet roll-ups for carrying the toilet articles, $1.50 to $3.00.

Dolan, the Druggits
Phone 138. 252 Front St.

FAM-LY-ADE
For the Children

YOUR children will love the cooling, fruity tang of FAM-LY-ADE. Give it to them often. Your grocer or druggist sells FAM-LY-ADE in a handy glass tube—enough for 32 glasses. It costs but 35c. Simple directions on every package. Made in Canada.

Just a minute, please!

HERE'S a timely suggestion for your vacation kit.

Put in an Ingersoll Maple Leaf with a Radiolite dial—the face that lights up in the dark.

The cost will be $4.00, and for that you'll have a hardy, handy, husky watch, built to keep going wherever you're going; to stand any rough stuff you can stand, to give you faithful record of the time of day and time o' night.

Thus you can give your expensive watch a vacation in a nice comfortable strong box, knowing that the Maple Leaf will tell just as good time and bear hardships much more cheerfully.

Then if you lose the Maple Leaf Radiolite—you should worry, when you realize you've only lost $4.00. Suppose it had been your high priced watch!

And there isn't any town too small to supply you with a new Maple Leaf.

Maple Leaf Radiolite, $4.00

Ingersoll
Models from $3.25 to $14.50

TIME WAS

when a bracelet watch was a rather useless luxury. Today it is both a necessity and an ornament, desired by every woman. It is the most acceptable gift imaginable.

The bracelet watch purchased at Blackburn's is a reliable, accurate time-piece and an exquisite ornament. We have a large display from which to choose, including products of the standard watchmakers — beautifully designed and attractively priced.

$20.00 to $65.00

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and
Optician

Very Special Chocolate Sale For Saturday

Assorted Chocolates, consisting of Chocolate Chips, Caramels, Bordeaux and the following cream centres: Peppermint, Coffee, Pineapple, Cherry, Vanilla, Maple, Strawberry, Raspberry, Lemon, Chocolate. These are our regular 75c. Chocolates.

Saturday VERY SPECIAL sale price:—
ONE pound . . . . . 53c.
TWO pounds . . . $1.00

Get a pound or two for Labor Day.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY
CATARRH of the BLADDER relieved in 24 HOURS
Each Capsule bears the name MIDY
Beware of counterfeits

RITCHIE'S

SATURDAY SPECIALS

HOSIERY VALUES

$3.00
BLACK SILK HOSE, $1.59
35 dozen Ladies' Black Hose, Jersey tops, pure silk thread, Penman's make, "seconds," regular value $3.00. Saturday special $1.59

Ladies' Plain Black Cashmere Hose
Ladies' Plain Black Cashmere Hose, sizes 8½ and 9 only. All wool, worth regular $1.25. Saturday, to clear at .... 75c. pair

Boys' Heavy Ribbed Stockings
Boys' Heavy Ribbed Stockings for School Wear, in black only. Very special, 75c. pair.

12-4 White Flannelette Blankets
12/4 White Flannelette Blankets, pink borders—"seconds"—slight imperfections. Regular $4.50. Sale price $3.90

PONGEE SILK
Pongee Silk, natural shade, 34 inches wide. Regular $1.00. On sale .... 79c. yard

54 in. UNION SERGE
54-inch Union Serge in shades of Navy, Brown, Black and Plum. Reg. price $3.75. On sale $1.89

LADIES' TAN SILK GLOVES
Tan Silk Gloves, short, 2-dome fastener, full range of sizes, worth regular $1.25. On sale .... 50c. pair

VICTORIA LAWN, ENGLISH
Victoria Lawn, English make, 40 inches wide. Special value .... 50c. yard

Pure Linen Hand Towelling
Pure Linen Hand and Tea Towelling, plain and red edge, worth regular 50c. On sale .... 39c. yard

20 p.c. Off Crepe de Chine and Georgette Blouses
20% off Crepe de Chine and Georgette Blouses. Last day of the discount.

Ladies' Flannelette Nightgowns
Ladies' Flannelette Nightgowns, white, with tucked yoke, three-quarter sleeve. Reg. price $1.75. On sale $1.49

PRINT APRONS
Print Aprons, all light shades, with band, ric-rac braid trimming and pocket. Well made. Special price, 50c. each.

SWEATER COATS
Sweater Coats, wool, silk, odd lines, on sale, half price. Regular $3.75 to $10.00.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

Oil Cake Meal, Corn
Cotton Seed Meal.

Anticipate your wants in Oil Cake Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Corn, etc., as we are importing a number of cars expected to arrive every day.

We always have large supplies of Flour and Feed on hand and will be pleased to serve you.

Farmers in Belleville vicinity, and in fact, all surrounding districts, realize and are complimenting us on the fact that they are able to get 10c. to 20c. a bushel more for their Wheat than if we were not a competitor in the field.

We ALWAYS py Highest Market Prices.
Buy Nothing by the Judge's Best Flour.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St. and 50 Albion Street - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Light winds, fine and moderately warm today and on Sunday.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business to Guarantee for Square Deal
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 260.

Moscow and Petrograd Ruined Under Red Rule

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT GIVES VIVID PEN PICTURE OF CONDITIONS IN RUSSIAN CITIES UNDER BOLSHEVIKI RULE—BUSINESS PARALYZED PRISONS FULL—REIGN OF TERROR.

A Canadian dollar is worth from two to three thousand paper rubles in Moscow, and at this rate of exchange the pay allowed Russian workmen by the Bolsheviki would amount to from two to four dollars per month.

This is one of the sidelights on present day life in Russia, as it is disclosed by reports just received from an Associated Press correspondent who was deported from Lenine's domain to Finland because he made a trip across Russia from Vladivostok without advance Soviet authorization.

The correspondent, who filed his despatches at Helsingfors and Telijoki, in Finland, had opportunity of viewing conditions at first hand, for he was not accompanied by any agents of the Soviet government. The picture of the country which the foreign correspondent generally sees, he declares, is a censored view obtained while being piloted around by a Bolshevik interpreter. Without this attendant the correspondents could not leave the Bolshevik guesthouse. The officials continually probe visitors for their impressions and they are shown only what it is believed will impress them favorably.

Many Stores Closed.

An interesting picture of Moscow and Petrograd is presented by the Associated Press correspondent in his despatches. The whole country contributes to the upkeep of Moscow, he declares. From as far east as Irkutsk shelves of shops have been stripped of supplies and manufactured articles while even the household goods of well-to-do individuals have been shipped to the Soviet capital as well as the war booty taken by the Bolsheviki after they occupied Siberia.

"Only a few stores are open in the city," says the correspondent, "there being block after block of dirty shop fronts long used in the past for posters of Bolshevik propaganda, usually featuring the likenesses of Lenine, Trotsky and Marx. Markets and bazaars are open, however, and it is possible in such places to buy a great variety of food, including meat, white bread, fruits and sugar.

Struggle for Food.

"Prices in the bazaars preclude purchases except by speculators and by those earning more than the three to five thousand rubles monthly, the amount which the Bolsheviki allow workmen. In these markets the American or Canadian dollar brings from two to three thousand rubles.

"The bazaars give a fairly genuine insight into the real life of Moscow. There a thousand speculators, made up of soldiers, workmen, and women, daily risk arrest for trading in supplies other than the black bread, soup and cooked grain which the government has issued.

"While the masses of the people struggle to obtain a daily supply of food, the extra-rationed classes of government officials eat plentifully of white bread and meat at the Bolshevik guest house. The problem of securing food has become a chief concern to the cities. Garden-grown potatoes and cabbages are expected to make the populous centres partially independent of the country for supplies this winter.

After describing the street scenes, in which many apparently well fed and well dressed people are noticeable, the correspondent adds:

"It is apparent that behind the curtain of appearances is the real Moscow. The well dressed persons appearing, it is said, are Soviet officer and commissars and their friends or favorites, who have been permitted to requisition the supplies remaining in Moscow or being sent in from Siberia and other reclaimed districts.

Military Rule.

"An atmosphere of military rule permeates Moscow more than any of the other cities. The population is under a constant nervous strain and few are able to avoid arrest by the supreme counter-revolutionary committee. Persons disappear into prisons and no charges are preferred against them. If they are finally set free, they encounter the greatest difficulties in living. The popular saying in the city now is that Moscow's population is divided into three classes: Those who have been imprisoned, those in prison, and those who will be.

"Moscow's pre-war population of a million and a half is now estimated at half a million.

"Petrograd, once one of the busiest and gayest capitals in the world, is a city of deserted streets, with only scattered groups of people in those centres which were formerly the scenes of greatest activity.

"Along the banks of the Neva from the Winter Palace, where Nicholas was last seen alive, down to the Alexandrovsky bridge, cordwood is piled high along the beautiful marble and stone balustrades and throughout the streets. It is being unloaded by enforced labor. After the conscript labor finishes its work groups of men and women gather through the night to carry away stray bits of wood remaining for their winter supply of fuel. Women are among the workers on the barges, standing waist-deep in the water-logged craft and handling big cross-cut saws.

"The food prices at Petrograd are generally about fifteen per cent. higher than at Moscow, where at the end of July beets sold for 4,000 rubles a pound. Pork then was selling for 5,000 rubles; salt, 1,000 rubles; black bread, 1,000 rubles; small white rolls, 200 rubles each; potatoes, 700 rubles, and eggs, 300 rubles each."

$800 AMERICAN MONEY GAINS $200

How a former resident of Watertown who moved to Canada made an extensive payment upon his farm back of Kingston and realized an even $1000 out of $800 in American cash was told a Watertown lawyer.

The man, whose name is withheld, came to Canada when the Exchange rate of Canadian money was dropping. When it was 20 cents on the dollar, he interested the lawyer in securing all of the Canadian money possible at discount rates, drawing his bank deposit of $800.

With this, the attorney bought up Canadian money at a discount and forwarded the cash to his client. Canadian coin being rated at 100 per cent. in the Dominion, the client was able to realize $200 on the transaction.

Blown up by Dynamite While Digging Well

WELL KNOWN RESIDENT OF PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY MEETS SUDDEN DEATH—DROPPED DYNAMITE, WHICH EXPLODED—BLOWN TO PIECES.

A frightful accident occurred Friday afternoon at Mr. Allen Callan's place at Jericho, near Crofton, in Prince Edward County, resulting in the death of Mr. Joseph Haight, whose home was at Mount Pleasant in the same county. The victim was engaged in digging a well for Mr. Callan and was using dynamite for blasting purposes. While there was no eye witness to the unfortunate fatality it is surmised that Haight dropped some dynamite he was carrying, causing it to explode. The man was virtually blown to pieces, portions of the body being picked up about the place.

Mr. Haight was about sixty years of age and a man highly respected. He was a member of the Masonic Society. A widow and married daughter survive. The distressing affair has caused widespread regret in the community.

Warships Arrive off Belfast Guns Command Ship Yards

UNCONFIRMED REPORT SAYS UNIONISTS ACCEPTED GOVERNMENT TERMS FOR UTILIZING ULSTER FORCE—BIG SEIZURE OF ARMS AT SHIPWORKERS' STRONGHOLD — MORE TROOPS ARRIVE.

BELFAST, Sept. 4.—The British destroyer Wyvern, and a light cruiser have arrived here.

A mass meeting of Unionists was reported to have voted to accept the British Government's terms for utilizing Ulster Volunteers.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Renewal of fighting throughout Ireland on a larger scale than heretofore attempted is possible as the result of the recent success of Sinn Feiners in obtaining arms and ammunition.

According to an official report there were 110 raids by Sinn Feiners during the week ending September 1, in which they seized arms. The previous high record of 59 raids was established the preceding week.

AN OMINOUS LULL.

BELFAST, Sept. 4.—An ominous lull descended over Belfast on Thursday. With the hospitals of this city crowded with wounded, and with Orange and Sinn Fein feeling running high, it was believed to presage another violent outburst. Vigilance was therefore redoubled by the police and military authorities, and what sporadic sniping occurred was promptly suppressed by troops.

During the night there were systematic raids by the military, who succeeded in cleaning out several danger spots. Hundreds of houses were searched for arms or evidence of plots.

The police have seized a quantity of weapons and 9,000 rounds of ammunition in Carrick Hill, where the shipworkers' stronghold was situated.

MORE TROOPS ARRIVE.

It was semi-officially announced Thursday night that supporters of Sir Edward Carson have directly approached the Irish Office with a request to mobilize the Ulster Volunteers. The Government discouraged the delegation, fearing that such action would bring about a real approach to civil war. They pointed out that to bring not only Ulsterites but the hoodlum elements which would attach themselves to the volunteers under the Union Jack, would hamper the military forces and prevent an effectual suppression of the Belfast riots.

A battalion of the King's Royal Rifles arrived here from England today.

Wholesale evictions of Catholic families by Protestants continued in Belfast and vicinity today.

Written notices were sent to all Catholics directing them to leave their homes within 12 hours or their homes would be attacked. The Catholics, who are greatly outnumbered, were leaving in hundreds.

General Bambridge, commanding the British troops, issued a proclamation vainly attempting to halt the evictions.

At a mass meeting of Protestant shipyard workers today a resolution was adopted demanding mobilization and arming of the Ulster Volunteers.

Burned Church Gave up Farm

SUDBURY, Sept. 3—Felix Courchesne and Ferdinantd Rochon, the two Bigwood farmers who pleaded guilty some weeks ago to having burned dawn the Roman Catholic church at Bigwood on June 24, at the instigation of a large number of parishoners were allowed off on suspended sentence by Judge Kehoe Wednesday morning. Courchesne, the older man of the two has sold his farm and the proceeds will go to make due restitution. The burning of the church was the culmination of a three-year controversy regarding the situation of the edifice when it was first erected by order of Bishop Scollard. The two men were apprehended immediately after the crime, and acknowledged their guilt when arrested.

SHOOTING LIQUOR VIA TORPEDO ROUTE

With whiskey-loaded torpedoes shooting under water across Lake Michigan, and with swift launches and other craft smuggling forbidden beverages into the United States, prohibition agents of the Chicago district have their hands full enforcing the Volstead Act.

Major A. V. Dalrymple, inspector in charge of enforcement in Illinois and Wisconsin, is authority for the torpedoes. He was in New York recently to see Prohibition Commissioner Kramer concerning the possibility of strengthening the forces and to discuss other matters with headquarters.

"I intercepted one of those liquor-laden projectiles myself," said he. "The torpedo leaves the Canadian border at a moderate rate of speed under about three feet of water. When nearly spent it is picked up by one of the small boats which infest the lake. My men caught a crew of these offenders right in the act.

"The Great Lakes are filled with all kinds of launches engaged in smuggling liquor from Canada, but we are keeping a sharp lookout and are fast getting the situation in hand. We have seized over $2,500.00 of liquor in my district in the last several months, and in the last two weeks over 22,000 cases of wet goods have been taken.

Army of Bureaucrats Feed on Public

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—The Bolshevist or communist party, as it is now called, which is the ruling class in Russia, consists of a total of 604,000 members, and of that number only 70,000 are active working men. Of the other 89 per cent, 36,000 are party officials, 12,000 are trades union co-operative officials, 162,000 are military officers, military officials and soldiers, 318,000 are state municipal officials, and 6,000 are assistants in trade and commerce. The entire party is gradually becoming "an army of bureaucrats" who feed on the public.

William Dittman, of the Independent Socialist leaders of the Reichstag, who returned with three other German Radical leaders from Moscow, is authority for the above statement. He said the figures were obtained from the Bolshevist executive committee.

Nothing has so chilled the growing desire of German labor to unite with Communistic Russians, so disillusioned the German workingmen or put such strong brakes on the movement for a political alliance with Bolshevist Russia as the revelations of Dittmann and others of the returning Radicals about the actual conditions in Russia especially the state of labor under the Communist regime.

Bitter disappointment and disillusion comes from the group of German skilled workmen who recently emigrated to Russia to work. They charge they were deceived. Their determination to return home has been given extensive attention by the German press.

FAMOUS BAR SUCCEEDED BY SODA COUNTER

Winnipeg, Sept. 3.—The Clarendon Hotel block, which has occupied for many years one of the most valuable business corners on Portage Avenue, has been torn down and is being replaced by a modern business block. The famous semi-circular 100-foot bar has made way for a drug-store's 50-foot soda counter.

Border Bootleggers Have Big Spy System

Accomplices Watch Every Hostile Move Of Chief License Inspector.

WINDSOR, Sept. 4.—One night with the license inspectors at Windsor is more than enough to cause the conclusion that the bootleggers themselves have a police system for their own protection more far reaching and organized than the Government service. Government officers do not scoff at the suggestion that bootlegging constables are continuously on guard at the very door of the chief inspector's office, watching every move of the Government's officials. Such a conclusion is based upon more than mere supposition. "The word goes over the wires the minute our car leaves the garage, you may be sure," said an inspector. Every visit to search the roadhouses strengthens the conclusion.

So convinced is the Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin of this unsleeping surveillance that the secrecy of a state of war is maintained and no habits of attack are formed. The first notification of a raid may come to his aides at lunch in a Chinese cafe, a few minutes before the highpowered car calls at the door, or more often, not until they are in motion, when a council of war is held as the automobile speeds away, probably in the very opposite direction to the neighborhood where the raid will eventually take place. "I have something really good, a big thing, boys. What do you say" says the minister-inspector. Eyes that were heavy from lack of sleep immediately light up with the gleam of the chase, as the plan unfolds, and the car whizzes along.

Have Bicycle Patrols.

An accumulation of evidence pointing to the fact of automobile and bicycle patrols by the bootleggers struck a party of the license inspectors forcibly in a raid a few nights ago. Including the chauffeur, there were six in the strongest of cars. The final point of action, it was disclosed in the council of operations, was a spot on the Canard River, where a big load was to be run in a launch, Mr. Spracklin had been told.

Following the strategic principle that an attack should be sudden and unexpected, operations were begun far from the scene of action while it was still dusk. Cars were overhauled and searched in the opposite direction in an attempt to throw the bootleggers off the scent. Weird rushes followed as darkness fell, and the lights of a suspicious car flashed over some hills on "The Disputed Road." "Let her go and lights out," would come the signal from the minister as the Government car made its dangerous dash down the road. "Stop for Government officers was the greeting to a succession of drivers that night. "We want to search your car." Two inspectors would leap out, and in the glare of the headlights switched on would inspect the car for hidden liquor. Every describable kind of load, including furniture, has been overhauled in this way by these legal Dick Turpins of the road in the last few weeks.

The Smugglers Escape.

It was near the Canard River about ten o'clock, following a dash across miles of road back in the country paralleling the Detroit River, that the police of the bootleggers were first seen. A young man on a bicycle, having made keen inspection of the two occupants of the license inspectors' car, stopped near a store on the road to allow some of the officers who had had nothing to eat since morning to purchase food, turned and dashed in the direction he had come. At that minute a car without a light came in the opposite direction, slackened to let its driver inspect the Government officials, went on to a bend in the road turned, and, with lights on, as a disguise, dashed past, gathering speed and dust on its way to the river. As the officers, in answer to a call, came out with their bag of crackers and cheese, the "put-put" of a launch could be heard as it went down the river.

New Record Set by Sinn Feiners

LONDON, Sept. 4—A high record for raids during which arms and munitions were seized, was set by Sinn Feiners during the week ending Sept. 1st, it is announced officially today. During the week there were 110 raids in various parts of Ireland. The previous high record was 59, established during the preceding week.

Belleville Citizens Respond Sunshine Succeeds Sorrow

IMMEDIATE WANTS OF FAMILY, WHERE SICKNESS OF FATHER HAS DEPRIVED MOTHER AND CHILDREN OF NECESSITIES AND COMFORTS, RELIEVED BY KINDLY CITIZENS—OPPORTUNITY NOW TO MAKE THEM WARM, SNUG AND HAPPY FOR THE WINTER.

The immediate and hearty response to The Intelligencer's appeal for assistance for a family in dire need is very gratifying, showing that the hearts of the citizens of Belleville are warm and generous and suffering will not be allowed to go unrelieved. The appeal was made in Thursday's paper, and ere the ink was dry contributions began to come in.

A month's rent has been paid in advance for the apartments occupied by the family in question, their immediate wants have been supplied, and their future needs will no doubt be cared for, judging by the response to the appeal of this newspaper to our readers.

Three little children, all under five years of age, the father ill in bed, winter coming on with its demands for fuel, food, medicine and clothing, necessitates a considerable sum of money and supplies, and there is no doubt the kind-hearted citizens of Belleville will see that there is no danger of the wolf returning to that door-step.

The following subscriptions have been received thus far:

Contributions.		Add—Contributions
T. W. L.	$ .50	Mr. Shniffer	2.00
Geo. Thompson	1.00	A Friend	1.00
J. H. Hanna	1.00	E. T. Austin	1.00
T. Donohue	1.00	Chief Brown	1.00
McLaughlin Co. and Staff	7.00	Robert Orr	1.00
Ritchie Co. and Staff	15.00	C. F. Cochrane	1.00
Dr. Alex. Ray	2.00	A Friend	2.00
Mrs. A. J. Bird	5.00	A Friend	.50
A Friend	5.00	M. Hatt	2.00
A Friend	17.00	Sympathizer	1.00
Mrs. Bert Campbell—Quart of milk per day		Mrs. G. Dobbs	1.00
		Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn	5.00

Catholics of Belfast Are Ordered to Leave

BELFAST, Sept. 3.—Wholesale evictions of Catholic families by Protestants continued in Belfast and vicinity today. Written notices were sent to all Catholics, directing them to leave within twelve hours or their homes would be attacked. The Catholics, who are greatly outnumbered, are leaving in hundreds. General Bambridge, commanding the British troops, issued a proclamation vainly attempting to halt the evictions.

At a mass meeting of Protestant shipyard workers today, a resolution was adopted demanding mobilization and arming of the Ulster volunteers.

Will Renew Reward For Finding Small

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—The reward of $50,000 for information as to the whereabouts of Ambrose J. Small will be renewed until February 1st, as well as that of $15,000 for the recovery of the body and $5,000 leading to the finding of John Doughty. An order to this effect was received by F. J. Hughes, counsel for the Small estate, from J. A. C. Cameron, official referee.

* * *

Winnipeg, Sept. 3.—Mining men from all parts of Canada and the United States will attend the annual convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy to be held here October 25, 26 and 27.

Canada's Revenue Last Month Double That of August, 1919

EXPECTED TOTAL REVENUE FOR THE FISCAL YEAR WILL BE $150,000,000, COMPARED WITH $58,900,000 IN THE PREVIOUS TWELVEMONTH.

OTTAWA, Sept. 4.—With an increase of $6,321,171.88, as respects war tax collections (which included sales and luxury taxation for the month of August, just closed), as compared with August of last year, the new taxes have begun to make their weight felt in the National Treasury. Canada's total revenue for the month just closed was $11,374,290.98, as against $5,251,801.41 for the corresponding month of last year. The increase in the amount of war tax wiped out the decrease of $198,915.76 in the total amounts received from excise and seizures, fines, methylated spirits and law stamps, and left a net increase in Inland Revenue for the month of $6,122,489.57.

The total revenue for the fiscal year, ending March 31 last, was slightly over $58,900,000. A very conservative estimate, based on the August totals places the total collections for the current year at approximately $115,000,000. However, it is expected that the total revenue for the fiscal year will be $150,000,000 or more. The luxury and sales tax collections, it is stated, are expected to show a substantial increase in coming months.

For June, July and August of this year the war tax collections have totalled $18,185,037.34, as against $3,973,287.43 for the corresponding three months of last year, an increase of $14,211,749.91. If the increase of last month is borne out during the balance of the fiscal year, the total increase would approximate $75,000,000. The comparative statement for the month follows:

Services.	1919-20.	1920-21.
Excise	$3,559,958.10	$3,379,762.41	Dec.	$ 178,205.69
Excise seizures	20,489.00	9,563.01	Dec.	10,925.99
War tax	1,629,731.04	7,950,902.92	Inc.	6,321,171.88
War tax fines	3,014.20	1,275.00	Dec.	1,739.20
Methylated spirits	40,152.39	32,158.51	Dec.	7,993.88
Law stamps	441.10	390.10	Dec.	51.00
Exchange premium	5.58	11.03	Inc.	5.45
Casual revenue		228.00	Inc.	228.00
Totals	$5,251,801.41	$11,374,290.98

Net increase over August, 1919—$6,122,489.57.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

—

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
& OPTICIAN

Wallbridge & Clarke's
AMERICAN BLEND
COFFEE
Try it for a change
65c lb.

Fine Clover Extracted Honey, 5 & 6 lb. tins
Libby's Mayonnaise Salad Dressing .... 20c.
Pure Olive Oil, bottles .... 35c. & 60c.
Pure Olive Oil, pint tins $1.25
Mazola Oil, for salads or cooking
[illegible] in pint, quart and gallon tins
Royal Flavoring Extracts—all kinds
Flavoring Extracts in Tubes—all kinds
[illegible]—sweet or hot
Two-Minute Oats, pkg. .... 20c.
[illegible] Grape Juice, pints .... 35c.
[illegible], 2 pkgs. .... 25c.
Celery, well bleached .... 10c.
FAR EAST TEA, X lb. pkgs. .... 40c.
—Very flavory and refreshing.
Fine Black Teas .... 70c., 80c. and 90c. lb.
At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

IN THE PUBLIC EYE
Alex. Ray, Opt. D.
A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!
BILL FOR GLASSES

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

HAY FEVER and ASTHMA
Conquered by the World's Only Two-bottle Remedy. Don't suffer a minute longer. Send today $4—32-day treatment. Trial size 25c. and guaranteed.
W. K. BUCKLEY, Mfg. Chemist
97 DUNDAS ST. E., TORONTO.

City & Country

WATER IN MILK.

Before Justice of the Peace Hunter of Kingston, a resident of Wolfe Island was find $50 and costs for supplying deteriorated milk to the cheese factory. The tests showed that there were 14 pounds of water to 100 pounds of milk.

MOTORISTS FINED.

Motorcycle spotters along the Provincial Highway are responsible for about a dozen speed fiends appearing in the Bowmanville Police Court during the past week, and Police Magistrate Horsey taxed each one $10 and costs for the gratification of satisfying that desire to exceed the speed limit. One chap made the excuse that he was hurrying to church, but he was fined just the same as the fellow who was hurrying to a picnic party.

LOW WATER AFFECTS POWER

Owing to the extreme low water in the Trent River there is a shortage of electric power just at present. The power requirements of Belleville will be reduced ten per cent daily until conditions improve. The manufacturers are cooperating with the local Hydro-Electric management in effecting the reduction in power consumption with as little inconvenience as possible.

FIRE IN NAPANEE.

Fire broke out in the basement of the Lennox garage at Napanee on Thursday night at 8.45 o'clock. Firemen quickly got to the scene and confined the fire to the basement and machine shop of the garage. The fire broke out again at four o'clock in the morning and spread to the upper floors and stock room and caused a considerable amount of damage.

DROWNED IN PAIL.

Phyllis, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ryan, who reside at the corner of Victoria street and Toronto Road, Port Hope, met a tragic death Friday morning. Mrs. Ryan had occasion to go to a neighbor's house and left Phyllis in the front yard at home. While away the other children unlocked the gate and the little tot wandered around to the other side of the house. While playing about the back yard she fell headlong into a pail of soapy water and was unable to free herself. When assistance arrived life was extinct and all efforts at resuscitation failed.

BARNS BURNED

Tuesday morning's heavy thunderstorm accompanid by a downpour of rain brought much needed relief to the crops that were suffering for moisture, but it also brought serious loss to Prince Edward County farmers in the destruction of three barns by lightning. Those who suffered loss were Hiram Kotchpaw and son of Bethesda neighborhood, Sophiasburgh, Charles Storms and I. B. A. Lucas of Bongards, North Marysburg. Mr. Kotchapaw had a heavy loss. He had a good barn which was entirely destroyed with the contents, including nearly all of this year's crop, a pig-pen and hen-house, adjoining also being burned. Mr. Kotchapaw's barn was insured in the Bay of Quinte Insuranco Co., the amount being one thousand dollars on barn, five hundred dollars on contents and fifty dollars on the pig-pen. Mr. Chas. Storms of Bongards had practically all his crop in his barn. The drive house, which was attached, was also burned, Mr. Storms, however, saving his motor car but losing other vehicles and implements. Mr. Storms had seven hundred and fifty dollars insurance on the barn, but it is understood there was on insurance on the contents. Mr. B. A. Lucas, who also lives at Bongards, a few miles from Mr. Storms, lost a splendid barn and the season's crop as well.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Alexandria	Sept. 7-8
BELLEVILLE	Sept. 6-8
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Cornwall	Sept. 1-4
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Delta	Sept. 13-15
Forest	Oct. 5-6
Inverary	Sept. 8
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Kemptville	Sept. 7-8
Lanark	Sept. 8
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Perth	Sept. 8-9
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

WOMEN TO INVADE B.C.

LAND ARMY MAY SOLVE LABOR PROBLEM.

Farmerettes Who Received Training In Great Britain Intend to Come to the Far West—Many of Them Are Well-Born and Educated, and They Have Proved Themselves Skilled Workers.

WESTERN CANADA believes it is fast solving the labor problem from a very broad standpoint. During the last two years, and more especially the last six months, the question of Oriental immigration has become acute. In order to relieve the congestion forced by highly-paid Orientals, the Province of British Columbia has decided to import as many women from the former Land Army as it can obtain. In this manner it is believed that the shortage in farm labor will be relieved.

In explaining more fully this idea Edward D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture for British Columbia, said that a number of representative English women would come to this province to make a reconnaissance of the farm and labor situation.

"In certain lines of production," said Mr. Barrow, "particularly the fruit industry, we are dependent at present on the farmerettes. The pay is good. It is done chiefly by the 'piece' method. However, even with this inducement we have great trouble in employing enough harvesters. A very small percentage of Canadian women take an interest in harvesting. Orientals can never be depended upon to obtain the right amount of necessary crops. Here lies the opportunity for satisfactory employment of English women. They are used to working on the land. They like the great outdoors. We have a mild climate here, and it should prove ideal for us as well as for them.

"Most of the Land Army women are well-born and educated. During the war, for patriotic motives, they went into the fields. Now a majority of them are homeless. Their male relatives perished for humanity, and the women are left to make a living as best they can. Of course, they are well looked after in the Old Country, but they will have a chance for the future. This country could absorb quite a large number of satisfactory farmerettes.

"Taken from another standpoint, they would make excellent wives for pioneer bachelors. British Columbia is as large as Germany, and has a population of nearly 400,000. Practical farmers would find in the farmerettes practical wives. On the other hand, if the farmer is married it is doubtful whether his wife would appreciate young women on the farm lands doing the manual labor. I should judge there would be trouble in the mixed farming districts. On the orchards, however, women would be appreciated as they would save much money and worry for the careful berry-raiser."

When asked why more Oriental labor was not used in the province, Mr. Barrow continued:

"Orientals are good farmers when allowed to run the entire thing themselves. There are no better truck farmers in the world. Once they are brought into our methods of doing things, trouble commences. They do not like to be bossed in the fields. That is why all the Chinese and Japanese that you see are mostly to be found inside houses."

Mrs. Arthur Cuppage, a representative of the British Land Army in Victoria, British Columbia, in a recent interview concerning the advisability of bringing girls to this country, said:

"We intend bringing less than a dozen at first. The Provincial Government has made no definite promise of financial assistance, but it will undoubtedly co-operate with us in our great undertaking. The type of girls will be fully graduated agriculturists. They represent skilled labor, able to undertake any kind of farming. Most of them are of good birth and education.

"If this first consignment succeeds, others will follow. Farmers are gaining in strength all over the world. We have the assurance of the numerous labor unions everywhere that they will offer no opposition to this new class of labor. Our idea is not to swamp the country with these young women, for that would be a grave mistake. We must go gradually. When the farmers finds what kind of skilled labor they are employing they are certain to want more of it. There will soon be a demand. In England the labor unions have overcome all prejudices.

"At present many women manage their own farms on Vancouver Island. The scarcity of men on the soil since the war has been appalling. This island is over five hundred miles long and eighty miles wide, and yet there are scarcely a hundred thousand persons living on it at present. They have taken a two-year course on the subject and are quite prepared to chop and fell the largest redwoods. This class would be particularly suited to the northern part of the island on account of the huge forest growths."

One of the most interesting women in the Far West at the present time is Mrs. Charles Eykyn. Twenty-nine years ago she was a pioneer of the Middle West. At that time she and her husband settled in Minnesota. She still says with much pride that they used to grow some of the best wheat in that section of the country. Her husband died and she returned to England. While her only son, who bears the picturesque name of Prairie Chicken, fought on the battlefields of Belgium, she became an indefatigable war worker. She is one of the originators of the farmerette idea. It was she who organized the first forestry corps for women in Great Britain.

Foot-Rule For Matrimony

The trouble with most marriages is that a man always makes the mistake of marrying the woman who carries him off his feet—instead of trying to find one who will keep him on them.—Los Angeles Express.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"YOU'RE FIRED"

The many Belleville admirers of Wallace Reid and Wanda Hawley will be pleased to learn that they are to appear at Griffin's this Monday to Wednesday in the Paramount Artcraft picture, "You're Fired." On the same program with the above offering a funny 2-reel Sunshine Comedy, "The Roaming Bathtub," a beautiful and interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, and "Daredevil Jack," featuring Jack Dempsey, will also be shown.

"THE WEB OF DECEIT"

The management of the Palace announce the presentation this Monday to Wednesday, matinee daily, of Dolores Castinelli's latest photoplay, "The Web of Deceit," which is the story of two girl cousins who believe themselves sisters. Marguerite Courtrot appears on the same program in "Bound and Gagged," a novel serial of intermingled laughs, thrills, excitement and suspense. A Snub Pollard comedy and other varied plays of interest will also be shown.

PAULINE FREDERICK IN "LOVES OF LETTY"

Willard Louis plays one of the leading roles in the Goldwyn picture, "The Loves of Letty," starring Pauline Frederick. Mr. Louis is one of the cleverest and most versatile comedians on the screen and furnishes the necessary comedy relief to balance the star's great emotional scenes. Mr. Louis has played with William Farnum for the past two years and is well known among screen fans. An Outing Chester Travelogue, a funny Charlie Chaplin comedy, "Some Nerve," a thrilling chapter of the 'Whirlwind' serial, and British-Canadian Pathe News will also be shown in addition to the feature offering.

"BABES IN THE WOOD"

There are novelties of a grand and varied character embodied in the two and three quarter hours it takes to present Mr. F. Stuart Whyte's new English pantomime, "Babes in the Wood," which comes to Griffin's next Thursday, Sept. 9th, for one night only. In its seventeen scenes of magnificent splendor and gorgeous costumes are introduced splendid singing, artistic dancing, and mirthful comedy, by artists who have proven their worth on the continental stage, and in Canada.

The most notable of the many scenes in the pantomime are The Old Village Fair, a replica of Hogarth's engraving, with the archery tournament and side shows, all produced in mediaeval colorings, and Cupid's Garden, a new and novel idea in stage craft.

MADE IN GERMANY SOLD IN BRITAIN

A statement which has just been issued by the British Government shows that German imports into Great Britain since the armistice total over 10,000,000 pounds sterling and British exports to Germany over 43,000,000 pounds sterling.

It is stated that some alarm is felt in the toy industry at the presence of German competition. In the current year "Made-in-Germany" toys to the value of 460,000 pounds sterling, practically a pre-war level, have been imported, and toys to the value of 146,000 pounds sterling have been imported from Japan.

The Association of British Toy Makers has approached the government with a view to having it carry out its promise to check imports of any kind where the particular industry was in danger of being overwhelmed by excessive importations below cost of production in Great Britain, owing to the state of the exchanges.

Phosphonol Has Conquered Practically Every Disease

Bright's disease, heart troubles, hardening of the liver, diabetes, paresis, anemia, nervous debility and scores of other dreaded maladies have yielded to our Phosphonol Treatment. Broken down men and women who are prematurely aged have regained lost vigor and vitality. And just as efficacious in acute

PHOSPHONOL TREATMENT

Pneumonia, typhoid fever, rheumatism, virulent blood diseases, peritonitis, etc., are treated with a remarkably high average of success. The nerves are made strong and you regain that lost pep. Phosphonol is sold at all good drug stores. If you are out of reach of a drug store, we will mail Phosphonol to you on receipt of price, $3.00 a box or 2 for $5.00. The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Doyle's Drug Store.

WOMAN TRIED TO SWIM CHANNEL

London, Sept. 3.—For the second time a woman has attempted to swim the English Channel and failed. Mrs. Arthur Hamilton, daughter of the late Sir Charles and Lady Fairlie Cunningham, started from St. Margaret's Bay at 6.10 o'clock, with Cape Griz Nez, near Calais, as her objective. She was forced to abandon her attempt near the Goodwin Sands.

Mrs. Hamilton was the first woman to make the trial since Annette Kellerman failed 15 years ago. Mrs. Hilda Willing, an English woman, intends to attempt swimming the channel in the near future.

A Mother's Trials

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown.

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her her children's welfare exact heavy toils, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and relief at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health and that is through the use use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills These pills make new blood and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Edman, the Tennessee reinsman, won the two chief races at the Grand Circuit meeting at Readville.

Connie McLennan, Dorothy Mackay and May Strachan, three of the juvenile stars with F. Stuart Whyte's fifth and greatest English pantomime, "Babes in the Wood," which comes to Griffin's Opera House for one night only, Thursday, September 9th.

SINCLAIR'S

THE FALL SEASON
Has Arrived at
SINCLAIR'S
and we are now making our first display of New Fall Styles in Ladies' Fall Coats
Ladies' Fall Suits
Ladies' Silk Dresses
Ladies' Jersey Dresses
Ladies' Serge Dresses
Ask to See these New Fall Garments

Penmen's Silk Hosiery at Little More than Half Price

$3 Hose for $1.75 $2 Hose for $1.19

Every woman knows that the name "PENMAN'S" stands for the very best in Knitted Goods of all kinds, and Penman's Silk Hose are in a class by themselves.

For this special Hosiery Sale, beginning Monday, we offer about Thirty Dozen Penman's Black Silk Stockings, in sizes 8½, 9, 9½ and 10 inches, and will sell the regular

$2.00 Black Silk Hose for .... $1.19 a pair
$3.00 Black Ribbed Top Silk Hose for $1.75
$3.00 Black Glove Silk Hose for $1.75

Clearing Sale Prices
Ladies' Black & Colored
Silk Dresses

We have about 50 of these Dresses in Ladies' and Misses' sizes, in Black and Colored Silks, and in order to make room for new fall goods, we clear these as follows:

Regular $19.50 to $27.50 Dresses, for .. $17.50
Regular $32.50 to $47.50 Dresses, for .. $27.50

SINCLAIR'S

Lawrence Wilson Company
87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government Since Thirty Years

NOW 765 ROTARY CLUBS.

Mr. H. G. Stanton, district Governor of the fourth district of the International Rotaries gave an interesting address at the Rotary Club luncheon at the King Edward hotel, Toronto, yesterday, on the work of the club and its growth.

"Rotary started fifteen years ago with a membership of four. Today there are some 765 clubs, and some 60,000 Rotarians, meeting under many different flags," he said.

"There is a reason for this extraordinary growth, and a reason for the reputation practically every Rotary Club enjoys in its community. To my mind the reasons are, unselfishness, a spirit all too unusual in this age at any rate—and its good-fellowship."

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

THIS MONDAY TO WEDNESDAY
Wallace Reid & Wanda Hawley
in "YOU'RE FIRED"
Sunshine Comedy—Jack Dempsey—Burton Holmes Scenic.

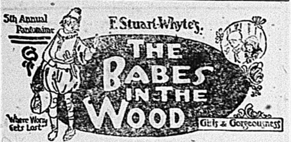
Coming Thurs.—Nazimova in "The Rosebush of 1,000 Years"

-- PALACE --

THIS MONDAY TO WEDNESDAY — MATINEE DAILY
MARGUERITE COURTROT
in "BOUND AND GAGGED"
A novel serial of intermingled laughs, thrills and excitement and suspense.

—ALSO—
DOLORES CASSINELLI
the Beautiful,
in "THE WEB OF DECEIT"
A woman's life drama—the cross-section of her heart.
SNUB POLLARD COMEDY—OTHER VARIED PLAYS

Griffin's Thursday, Sept. 9th



In 17 Tremendous Tumultuous Scenes. Music as haunting as moonbeams on a midsummer sea, and not forgetting, and a ravishing revel of roseate, radiant girls.

PRICES—50c. to $2.00. Seats Wed., Griffin's, 10 a.m.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

2.30--Twice Today--8
Pauline Frederick
in "The Loves of Letty"
SCENIC—CHAPLIN comedy
WHIRLWIND serial.

BATTERIES
Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS
REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

ATHLETES

"ABSORBINE JR." Makes an Ideal Rub-Down.

Football and lacrosse players, tennis and golf enthusiasts, runners and oarsmen, find quick relief from bruises and muscle soreness after a brisk rub-down with a trainer's wash made of one ounce of "ABSORBINE JR." and a quart of water or witch hazel.

This wash—used by many prominent athletes, physical directors and trainers—is healing, soothing, strengthening and invigorating. Puts vim into tired, lame muscles—wonderfully effective in strains and wrenches—prevents "next-day" soreness.

"ABSORBINE JR." keeps the muscles pliable and in proper tone.

Keep a bottle of "ABSORBINE JR." in your locker. $1.25 a bottle—at most druggists or sent postpaid by W. F. YOUNG, INC., Lyman Building, Montreal. 34

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS IN THE ESTATE OF ANNIE LAURA MATHER, late of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Widow, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Chapter 121, that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of Annie Laura Mather, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Widow, who died on or about the 25th day of April, 1920, are required to deliver or send by post, prepaid, on or before the 30th day of September, 1920, to the Administrator of the above Estate, or to his solicitors, their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars in writing, verified by Statutory Declaration, of their claims, and accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

And take notice that after the said 30th day of September, 1920, the Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the Estate amongst those entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he or his solicitors shall then have had notice, and he will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person of whose claim notice is not then received.

Dated at Belleville this 3rd day of September, A.D., 1920.

LEWIS F. PURDY,
Administrator.
PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE,
219 Front Street, Belleville,
Ontario, Solicitors.
s4,11,18,25

HOUSE BURNED AT CHAPMAN.

On Monday evening of this week the residence of Mrs. Florence Lusk, at Chapman, Hungerford Township, was totally destroyed by fire, together with all its contents. Some time during the afternoon Mrs. Lusk, after lighting the coal oil stove, went out to the barn to do some work. When she returned the interior of the house was in flames and she was unable to save anything. The entire contents were destroyed, and the family were left with only the clothing they were wearing. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Solving Britain's Housing Rroblem

Attempts to solve Great Britain's housing problem have already brought forward upwards of 10,000 schemes involving an annual capital expenditure of $600,000,000, according to a report by a representative of the Foreign Trade Bureau of the Guarantee Trust Company. After giving details as to various plans and the number of houses to be built in each of more than thirty cities visited, the report continues:

"The program of the Ministry of Health—complete rehousing in three years—is about one year behind, and is costing more than double the original estimates.

"The Ministry of Health works in conjunction with the Office of Works. When a local authority defaults, the business is then entrusted to the Office of Works.

"What is keeping back housing at the present time is the fact that there are not enough skilled men to do even a quarter of the work wanted. The Trades Unions will not allow the number to be increased from the outside. The Government is using a sort of indirect compulsion by prohibiting 'luxury and unessential building,' so that if a man will not build cottages he is not allowed to build anything else. There are various suggestions for speeding up the work, including a guarantee to the trade unions of employment for a term of years to men employed on housing work, to ensure them against loss of time in bad weather by a minimum wage, 'wet or dry.' In return the trades unions will be asked to consent to dilution and the employment of unskilled and semi-skilled labor, to give up their apprenticeship rules, and to abandon all opposition to the employment of ex-service men, trained or untrained. There are 'luxury building' tribunals to hear appeals against decisions prohibiting buildings regarded as non-essential.

"There are housing bond campaigns all over the country. In London subscriptions to the 6 per cent. bonds are coming in at about the rate of 100,000 pounds sterling a day. While the local governments are issuing 6 per cent. bonds, the British Government charges 7 per cent. Borrowing in the ordinary way for housing schemes not financed by bonds is usually 7 per cent.

"The total number of housing schemes in England and Wales numbers more than 10,000, covering in all land for 800,000 houses. Of these some 7,000 have been approved with an area for 550,000 houses. In Scotland 103,000 houses have been authorized, the bids averaging about 1,000 pounds sterling per house. This is roughly 100 to 150 pounds more than it costs per house in England."

WHERE DOES YOUR HEALTH COME FROM?

Are you astonished when you realize that all of the health you have, or ever will have, is right within your own body—now? Think how unreasonable it is to assume that health should be embodied in some outside agency—some drug or pill or whatnot. True you must eat food, drink water, breathe air, but what your body does with these things after you consume them—that is the vital concern.

If every part is working in harmony with the natural plan, buoyant health will be the effect. If one or more are laggard, disease will be the result. Nature intended you to enjoy good health and will supply that good health through your own body. But she must get her forces to the needed parts. These forces are generated in the brain and are sent out over the nerve branches. Interference with this transmision by pressure of the bony segments where the nerve leaves the spine diminishes this natural force or nerve energy. Your Chiropractor will relieve this pressure and normal health will return. Give your spine the attention that it needs. Arrange today for a consultation and spinal analysis without obligation to yourself. Drs. Redick & Redick Chiropractors, 283½ Front St., Belleville. Phone 900.
rWdKanJ ssha spinf rp(.. c t

ARE TO MAKE TOUR OF G. T. R. SYSTEM.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Members of the Board of Arbitration which is to determine the value of Grand Trunk Railway stock to be acquired by the Dominion, will commence a tour of inspection of the system at Montreal on Sept. 20th. The date of the commencement of the arbitration proceedings will then be fixed. November 15 is spoken of as a possible choice.

This arrangement was made by the arbitrators, Sir Walter Cassels, Sir Thomas White and Hon. W. H. Taft, at a meet. President Kelley advanced the suggestion that the board should inspect the whole system in Canada, and it was decided to accept the suggestion.

FINGERPRINTS TO IDENTIFY

Minneapolis, Sept. 3.—Fingerprints of every man, woman and child in the United States will be taken and filed by the government in the near future as a permanent means of identification, in the opinion of several fingerprint experts who attended the convention of the International Association for Identification here.

Son of Whitby Irish Secretary

THE fifty years of life Sir Hamar Greenwood, the new Irish Secretary, have been divided exactly equally between Canada and the Motherland, the first twenty-five in Canada, the last twenty-five in England. If in his early years he definitely planned a great career in British politics no one here knew of it. His trip to England as soon as he graduated from college was regarded by his friends merely as the casual visit of a young graduate anxious to see a little of the world before settling down. Tradition has it, perhaps falsely, that he made that trip in a cattle boat, in charge of a consignment of stock on the hoof for the Liverpool market. Part of the payment for the service was a free trip home, but Greenwood didn't come home.

No pioneer challenging the wilderness for a fortune ever surpassed in romance the career of the Canadian youth, unknown and friendless and penniless, who challenged fortune where life was most dense and complex and difficult, and who to-day holds in his hands the destiny of the most troublesome issue in modern domestic British politics.

When Greenwood lived in Toronto he was regarded as a born orator. It is not on record that he has set the Thames on fire by his oratory, or that he has been classed by British critics in the upper flights of great orators. But certain it is that he had even as a youth that comparatively rare thing known as platform magnetism.

It was as a forerunner of "Pussyfoot" Johnson that he got his first opening in England. Temperance societies were then getting active, but they found difficulty in getting speakers with ability and enough courage to go out on the platform and espouse a most unpopular cause. Greenwood had that ability and courage to burn.

Paralleling the cattle boat tradition is another story of one occasion when Greenwood was sent to deliver a speech and was for the visit put up as a guest at a pretentious country house. In the morning a valet of the house entered Greenwood's room to brush his suit. During the operation two shillings, all the money Greenwood possessed in the world, fell out. Significantly the valet picked them up, indicating to Greenwood where he laid them. "Oh, take them, my man," said the sleepy but quick-witted Greenwood; "I left them in that pocket for you."

Greenwood's experience as a temperance speaker was valuable in that it served as a stepping stone to politics, and he soon found steady employment in the Liberal organization. He studied law at the same time, and was called to the Bar. And in ten short years he had made himself so valuable to the party that a seat in Parliament was found for him, and he entered the House of Commons in the great Liberal triumph of 1906. It was not long before he was asked to take an under-secretaryship, and his progress has been uninterrupted. Apparently he has made no mistakes so far. If he settles Ireland who can say what future still lies ahead of him?

Before and during his university course Greenwood taught school and held positions as temporary clerk in some of the Government departments. Once he organized a theatrical troup which toured Western Ontario, but it is not on record that this venture helped much in a financial way. Greenwood was himself advance agent and heavy tragedian of the company. The striking figure he made when he struck a new one-night stand, with his silk hat, very long-skirted Prince Albert coat and bright patent leather shoes, is still remembered after twenty-five years in many an Ontario town. He always made a tour of the main street calling at all the shops, making himself agreeable, and drumming up business for the show. In those days he was, as he is yet, a fine figure of a man.

One of his early hobbies was military training and, while yet an undergraduate, he held a commission in the home town regiment of militia. Another story of him which also may be apocryphal is that he went to his first camp against his father's wishes. When his father followed him there Greenwood refused to recognize him but instead had him arrested and detained in the military jail. Does this incident give a forecast of what he will do in Ireland? A man who will arrest his own father and who has taken "Dare to be a Daniel" as his motto ought not to be lacking either in firmness or in humor.

In Whitby, his birthplace, and afterwards in Toronto he was always "Tom" Greenwood, but when he went to England he used his second name of Hamar and it is as Sir Hamar Greenwood, Bart, he is known now. His return visits to Canada since he left her shores have been infrequent. On his last visit he was accompanied by his wife, formerly Miss Spencer, a member of a distinguished and wealthy English family to whom he was married nine years ago.

Those who were intimately associated with Greenwood here regarded him as having the potentialities of a great man. Even in his theatrical outburst he was under restraint. And he had fire, mixed with coolness, judgment, courage, and tact. On one visit home an old friend asked him if he cultivated advancement in the English Liberal party by making a specialty of free trade. "No chance," he replied. "A schoolboy in England has forgotten more about the tariff issue than I ever knew. I talked to them about Canada, something I knew a lot about and they knew nothing."

Significance in Greenwood's appointment lies in the fact that as a Canadian he is familiar with Dominion Home Rule as it works out, as no purely British statesmen can be.

In Memoriam

CLEMENT—In loving memory of our dear son, Reginald G. Clement, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Clement, who died September 4, 1919.

Far and oft our thought do wander
To a grave not far away,
Where they laid our dear boy Reggie
Just one year ago today.

Do not ask us if we miss him
There is such a vacant place
Can we ever forget his foot step
Or that dear familiar face.

Not dead, to us we love him still
Not lost, but gone before
He lives with us in memory still
And will for ever more.

A father's pride, a mother's care
Came in this world our joys to share
He was not long here to remain
Till God called him home again.

—Sadly missed by father, mother, sisters and brother. 1td

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES FLEECED BY MONEY LENDERS

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 3—That money lenders have apparently gained a great hold on a large number of government employees in Brazil is indicated by the introduction in the Federal Chamber of Deputies of a bill authorizing a special loan of $25,000,000 part of which is to be devoted to liquidating such debts. The bill provides that the Treasury shall reimburse itself for the payment of these debts by deducting the amount from the employees' wages in 60 instalments and take interest at six per cent. annually on the balance outstanding.

Part of the special loan, the bill provides, would be used to reimburse government employees for the amounts taken from their salaries by the special tax during the war period.

ONTARIO LADIES' COLLEGE
WHITBY, ONT.
Begins its 47th Year
Sept. 14, 1920
A SCHOOL OF IDEALS AND AN IDEAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS AND YOUNG WOMEN.

Courses
Academic.—Public School to Second Year, University.
Music.—Piano, Singing, Violin.
Domestic Science.
Commercial.
Elocution.
Art.

A Few Advantages
28 miles from Toronto. A City Country School, Gymnasium, Swimming Pool and Outdoor Play facilities unequalled.

For Calendar and Booklet Apply to
REV. F. L. FAREWELL, B.A., PRINCIPAL.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

A SURE RELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS
10 DAYS' TREATMENT FREE.

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened; and the circulation is rendered normal. As this treatment is based strictly on scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease it cannot help but do good in all forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A free Trial Treatment, enough for 10 days, worth 75c., will be sent free to any suffering woman who will send me her adderss. Enclose 3 stamps and address Mrs. Lydia W. Ladd, Windsor, Ont. Sold by leading druggists everywhere.

MACDONALD'S
Cut Brier
Smoking Tobacco

1/12 lb. Package—15 Cents

Serve O'KEEFE'S in the Home

AT luncheon, dinner or supper O'Keefe's Beers play an important part by adding zest to the meal. Their popularity as thirst quenchers; their tonic and food properties and the ease with which they can be served, qualify them to hold a foremost position in your stock of supplies.

O'Keefe's Imperial Ale, Stout and Lager are the result of years of experience in making beverages that appeal to the popular taste.

Purity, cleanliness and uniformity of flavor are the merits through which O'Keefe's Beers have won their prestige and the high esteem of the public.

O'Keefe's—the delightful drink for young and old.

Your grocer or dealer will supply you with O'Keefe's in any quantity. Why not order a case to-day?

O'Keefe's, Toronto
Phone Main 4202

O'Keefe's Beverages are also procurable at Restaurants, Hotels and Cafes. 73

W. RODBOURNE, Distributor, Uptown 2 1-2 p. c. Stor

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.—Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 12c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.20; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 25 per cent. will be added.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY—

Take care to be an economist in prosperity; there is no fear of your being one in adversity.—Zimmerman.

PARTY WALLS CRUMBLE BEFORE GREATER CANADIANISM.

The new party of which Hon. Arthur Meighen is the leader is composed of both Liberals and Conservatives and is the outcome of the coalition war government formed by Sir Robert Borden.

Both old parties have had a combing over, and it may be truly said that the best of both parties are included in the new Liberal-Conservative National party.

Irreconcilable partizans on both sides view with alarm and regret the new party and will hamper it all they can, but the new National party is founded on one hundred per cent. Canadianism and should grow and flourish in that healthy soil.

Right at the beginning Premier Meighen threw out the challenge that this new National party had no room for agitators, anarchists or unrest-breeders of any kind, departing from the usual run of old-time politics which cultivates every class capable of producing votes.

Threats of a "solid Quebec" are not uttered in the real spirit of Canadianism, but in the lowest type of political trickery which plays upon the prejudices of the simple habitant and tries to instil hate where love should prevail.

RUMANIA WANTS CANADIAN WOOLLENS.

Allotment has recently been made among Canadian woollen mills of orders totalling $7,500,000 from Rumania. This amount represents several contracts from that country, including a large order from the Rumanian Government for khaki frieze and serge, and $500,000 for knit goods, principally heavy woollen socks, sweaters, jerseys and hosiery. The fabrics are, for the most part, blanket cloth, curl cloth and Oxford tweeds of a heavy character in small demand for the domestic market, and the order, coming at a time when the Canadian mills had practically completed deliveries under the econtract with Greece, will keep in full operation for some months Canadian woollen manufactories, the capacity of which were largely expanded to meet war demands.

Deliveries to Rumania must be completed within six months from October 1. The order is being financed by a British syndicate and will not involve any credits from the Canadian Government. Mr. Frederick H. Yapp, Secretary of the Canadian Woollen Manufacturers' Association, who negotiated the order, will return to Europe almost immediately with a complete range of samples of products of the Canadian mills. This time he will go as far as Bucharest. Mr. Yapp is confident that additional orders of large volume can be obtained in Rumania and elsewhere in Europe.

AGRICULTURE AND MANUFACTURE MUST WORK IN HARMONY.

There is a thoughtless optimism in Canada today which disregards the probable effect upon agriculture, as upon other industries in Canada, of the rehabilitation of production abroad, and particularly in Europe. The situation and its significance are frankly stated in a recent editorial in the New York Journal of Commerce, which says:

"The exporter of agricultural products must, in common with other exporters, meet the problem of the inability of foreign nations to finance purchases of the production of our farms. Under the stimulus of the Government's efforts to increase home production the agricultural output of a number of the recently belligerent nations is rapidly returning to normal. European agriculture generally is showing remarkable recovery, though there are some exceptions, such as some of the Balkan States and Russia. It is thought that after the present harvest Europe, with the exceptions above mentioned, will be back almost to pre-war conditions as far as production of domestic foodstuffs is concerned. A considerable amount of butter and potatoes have recently reached this country from Denmark; Australian and New Zealand mutton have lately been imported into the United States. The imports of Egyptian onions have reached pre-war quantity. Large quantities of Rumanian wheat have been sold to Italy and other European States."

The Journal of Commerce thinks, however, that until Russia again enters the world markets with her grain, it is probable that this continent will be able to find profitable sale abroad for its entire exportable surplus of breadstuffs; and that good markets for dairy products and meats will continue in Europe for some time.

Canadian agriculturists will do well to consider what these developments mean. Every country in the world is striving to increase its farm production and to decrease its dependence upon outside sources of supply. Competition for markets abroad is certain to become increasingly keen, despite the perennial warnings of disciples of Malthus. Farsighted agriculturists in Canada will appreciate to an increasing extent that the home market is the best market and that their interests will best be served by the development, along with agriculture, of strong and efficient manufacturing industries.

CRISP COMMENT

Lindsay Crawford et al. "will hold the British Cabinet guilty of murder if McSweeney dies." Mr. Crawford seems to be able to hold anything but his tongue.—Toronto Telegram.

× × ×

Missionary work for a better understanding between French-Canadians and English-Canadians could be carried on to better advantage among the politicians who seek to fan the flames of racial prejudice for political advantage.

× × ×

Europe's peace had a raisin in it.—Chicago Daily News.

× × ×

Men who get rich quick must do it on other people's money. There is no other way.—Toledo Blade.

× × ×

It seems that Uncle Sam needs a few bonded warehouses that will not leak.—Little Rock Arkansas Gazette.

× × ×

The span of our national existence reaches from the age of home-spun to the days of home-brew.—Columbia Record.

OTHER VIEWS

Mr. Meighen's Job

Lethbridge Herald

An Ontario paper refers to Canada's new Premier as "secretary for eternal affairs." Holding such a job as that isn't of much encouragement to those who are trying to oust him. An "eternal" position seems almost like a permanent one.

Accumulated Funds

Toronto Mail and Empire

Last year Canada was getting ready about this season to subscribe $600,000,000 to the Victory Loan. There will be no such campaign this year, but the amount would be raised if required. What will the savings be applied to? The accumulation of funds should enable us to get over credit tightness with ease.

A Newspaper Offence

Edmonton Journal

One of the greatest offences a newspaper can commit is to color its news according to its opinions. To do so is a breach of faith with its readers, who are entitled to know the facts, regardless of the conclusions which they arrive at with regard to these. The better a newspaper is the more strongly, as a rule, it expresses its own views, but it keeps these for its editorial page.

A Testing Time

Toronto Globe

A winter of civil war, with its accompaniments of slaying, burning and terrorization, will bring the Irish people to a realization of the truth that peace cannot be secured by following the extremists of either side, but rather through the ending of lawlessness by all parties and a sincere acceptance of the measure of self-government regarded as sufficient to enable the people of Canada and Australia and the other Overseas Dominions to live happily and prosperously within the Empire.

THE POET'S CORNER

GOOD NIGHT

The sun has sunk behind the hills,
The shadows o'er the landscape creep,
A drowsy sound the woodland fills,
And nature folds her arms to sleep;
Good night—good night!

The chattering jay has ceased his din,
The noisy robin sings no more—
The crow, his mountain haunt within,
Dreams 'mid the forest's surly roar;
Good night—good night!

The sunlight clouds float dim and pale
The dew is falling soft and still;
The mist hangs trembling o'er the vale
And silence broods o'er yonder mill;
Good night—good night!

The rose, so ruddy in the light,
Bends on its stem all rayless now,
And by its side the lily white
A sister shadow, seems to bow;
Good night—good night!

The bat may wheel on silent wing—
The fox his guilty vigils keep—
The boding owl his dirges sing;
But love and innocence will sleep;
Good night—good night!

—Philadelphia Bulletin

A LAUGH OR TWO

Music is the language of the soul; jazz is its profanity.

Possibly one reason why the present generation doesn't show respect for age is because it has made the acquaintance of cold-storage eggs.

Always Coming In

"Who was Bildad, pa?"
"Any dad is a bill dad, my son."

One Remedy

The Prodigal Son was eating husks,
While a grin spread out to his ears
"This is the way," he chortled aloud,
"I'm beating the profiteers."

Willing to Split

We understand that one of the New Poor who recently found a burglar in his house searching for money immediately offered the intruder ten per cent if he proved successful. —Punch.

And This Time it Was.

During her vacation the telephone girl was out fishing when someone in another boat sang out "Hello!"

Just then she got a bite.

"Line's busy," she called back.

Worse Than Pining

"Is the rich young widow pining for her husband?"

"Not exactly, but from the way she is making his money fly, it might be said she is wasting away."

WOMEN VOTERS.

Winnipeg, Sept. 3.—Between 24,000 and 85,000 women will have the right to vote in the civic elections on Dec. 3, according to revised estimates of the city assessment department. Approximately 18,000 women were placed on the lists through the enlarged voting system established by the Winnipeg city council. Six thousand women are property owners and go on the lists automatically.

Odd Case Stirs England

FREDERICK ROTHWELL HOLT, ex-lieutenant of the British army, is in Manchester Prison, under sentence of death for one of the most brutal murders in the history of English crime.

The brutality of the crime, however, is not what makes it worthy of more than passing notice. The real problem is: Did the war metamorphose Frederick Rothwell Holt, making a Mr. Hyde of one who had been a Dr. Jekyll?

Before he went to war Eric Holt, as he was generally known, was a quiet, industrious, rather retiring young man, a university graduate who went from school into an engineering position, to which he devoted his time faithfully. He had a private income that more than sufficed for his simple needs.

It was a different Eric Holt who returned from France. An English writer well describes the "before and after" character of the lieutenant:

"Socially Eric Holt belongs to the big middle class group who live comfortably in well-built houses, surrounded with every reasonable luxury. Most of his thirty-one years was spent at Lytham, where he was educated at a first-class private school.

"There was nothing in his boyhood days to mark him out as being abnormal—he appeared to be just a healthy lad of temperate ambitions.

"Later he became apprenticed to a large firm of engineers at Preston. When he became of age he inherited what in former days was considered a very good income from his mother. The sum has been put at £300 per annum, but those who have a more intimate knowledge of his affairs aver that it was considerably in excess of that amount. At any rate, it was sufficient for Eric to live a life of ease and have what is called a good time.

"There you have the picture of Eric Holt at the age of twenty-one.

"After the war, which for a time left him an invalid, there appeared a subtle change. He flung himself into a life of gayety—dancing and pleasure seeking filled his life. He was the gay Lothario and made a triumphal progress among his many women acquaintances. They loved his wit and laughter; his attendance upon them was a thing to be desired and sought after.

"Clean and well groomed and with smiling gray eyes that seemed to look at you with honest good humor from a heart that hides nothing that is not for the world to see—such was the impression that Eric Holt gave as he was known to his many friends at Lytham, St. Annes and Blackpool.

"Color, romance and the society of women became like the breath of life to him. They were essentials and the desirable things for him during this period. The soberness of ordinary, commonplace life was not for him. Commonly you would see him, from sheer exuberance, pick his dancing partner up—he was passionately fond of dancing—and whirl her in the air.

"He had a 'way' with women which made him irresistible to them, so that one woman, disappointed with what life had given her, sought consolation in this remarkable young man.

"That woman was Mrs. Elsie Breaks."

The verdict of the jury was that Holt murdered Mrs. Breaks. Her body was found in the sandhills near Manchester.

According to the evidence, Mrs. Breaks, who was infatuated with Holt, and called him her "superman," was lured by Holt on an excursion into the country and there shot and beaten to death.

A motive for the crime was found in Holt's desire to rid himself of an affair of which he was tired and the more substantial desire to profit from an insurance policy carried by Mrs. Breaks. Holt and Mrs. Breaks were engaged, and Holt suggested that each of them take out a life insurance policy. She agreed, and Holt obtained a policy for her of $20,000, which was far in excess of her ability to carry. He paid the first and only premium paid on it.

Then Holt persuaded Mrs. Breaks to make a will in his favor, saying he would do the same for her. He neither made a will nor took out an insurance policy.

Mrs. Breaks was murdered the day after she made her will.

There was little doubt at any time as to the guilt of Holt, although he did set up a claim to an alibi as well as a plea of insanity. The real contest was over the mental responsibility of the prisoner. His counsel offered the life of Holt before and after his war service as proof that he was insane. Experts testified that Holt was a victim of delusions. A letter written by Holt to Mrs. Breaks a few days before the murder was apparently that of a man deeply in love, and this was cited as proof that Holt either did not kill the woman or was insane when he did so.

On the other hand, the prosecution asserted that only a sane man could have planned such a crime and carried it out with such cleverness.

The trial attracted immense throngs, most of the spectators being women. Their curiosity so enraged Sir Edward Marshall-Hall, Holt's attorney, that he denounced them in a speech, saying:

"It makes one feel sick for the femininity of this country that women should come in their dozens day by day and gloat over the trouble of a man on trial for his life."

The jury, after considering the case less than an hour, found Holt guilty. Holt stood calmly as the sentence of death was pronounced upon him, and at the conclusion of the judge's remarks he turned on his heel, thrust his hands in his coat pockets and walked briskly back to his cell.

BURGLARS IN SMITH'S FALLS

Smith's Falls, Sept. 3.—Burglars entered Jamieson's drygoods store here by prying off bars protecting a rear window and escaped with several hundred dollars worth of goods.

The Deacon SHIRT

For Your Husband

"My wife always buys me Deacon Shirts," said a farmer the other day. They are both well satisfied. The farmer is sure of a good fit, with plenty of room for arm freedom. The wife is proud of the neat appearance and the freedom from mending and patching, and the eternal sewing on of buttons. The wear is there.

Ask your dealer.

Deacon Shirt Company
BELLEVILLE, CANADA
87

Wall Papers and Art Decorations, Burlaps Leathers, Grass-Cloths, etc.

There is nothing made in wall hangings that we cannot supply.

There is nothing in decorating that we cannot do.

Just put us to the test by commanding

The Scantlebury Decorative Service

Here's Proof That

ZUTOO

Ends Headache

Mr. E. F. Tomkins, Ex-Mayor of Coaticook, Que. proves it.
"Your Tablets are a safe and effective remedy for headache"

Mr. Geo. Legge, Editor of the "Granby Leader-Mail" proves it.
"Your Zutoo Tablets deserve to be widely known as a remedy that will stop headache."

A. C. Hanson, B. A., K. C., Colonel of the Hussars, proves it.
"I use Zutoo Tablets and find them a very satisfactory remedy for Headache."

25 cents per box—at all dealers.

Paints, Oils, Glass Varnish, Floor Wax

Everything in Paint at most reasonable prices, at

SCANTLEBURY'S

—the up-to-date Paint Store.
—constantly using and seeking the best in paint materials a decorator is most likely to locate the better lines we have located.

Buy Victory Loans

at present prices, including accrued interest to date of delivery, at your own bank.

1922 at 98, to yield	6.37%
1923 at 98, to yield	6.15%
1937 at 98, to yield	5.68%
1927 at 97, to yield	6.00%
1933 at 96½, to yield	5.88%
1924 at 97, to yield	6.27%
1934 at 93, to yield	6.24%

Subject to change in price

Your order solicited by

R. W. ADAMS

24 Victoria Ave. Phone 858

a1-4td-1tw

Sign Writing and Picture Framing

We make signs of all kinds, large and small. At present we are writing the largest sign in Belleville for A. S. Richardson Co. We can prepare your sign and do it right.

Scantlebury Signs
ARE THE BEST SIGNS

PILES

Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Three Days Sale

Sept. 3rd, 4th, 6th

LADIES' OXFORDS
" SKIRTS
" SWEATERS
BOYS' CLOTHING
" BOOTS

Clearing lines, broken sizes, Ladies' Oxfords, kid, black or brown, patent leather, high or Cuban heel. Some kid pumps. Regular $5.95.

to clear at $3.95

SILK POPLIN AND ALL WOOL SERGE SKIRTS at $4.95
LADIES' PULLOVERS, latest styles, from .. $4.95 to $7.00
BOYS' BOOTS from 8 to 10½ sizes, from .... $2.50 to $2.95
BOYS' BOOTS, sizes 11 to 13, from $2.75 to $3.95; from 1 to 5, from $3.50 to $4.95.
BOYS' SUITS, Tweed, any color, knee pants, from $5.50 to $10.00.
School Book Cases .... 49c.

You can see everything in the window with the prices all marked on.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

We just received a lot of all wool serge dresses, latest styles. Come in and see ours first—from $15 to $65.

FALL AND WINTER COATS from .... $18.00 to $69.00

B. SHNIFFER
331 Front Street

WANTED

House to rent for family of two.

Apply to

Manager Merchants' Bank of Canada

Belleville Fair

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

September 6th, 7th, 8th

FIRST CLASS SPEEDING EVENTS.
BASEBALL MATCHES, TUG OF WAR, ETC., EACH DAY.

HON. MR. DOHERTY, MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE, WILL BE PRESENT ON LABOR DAY, SEPT. 6th.

EXHIBITS OF LIVE STOCK BETTER THAN EVER

FIRST CLASS MIDWAY HAS BEEN SECURED

THE CELEBRATED G.W.V.A. BAND IN ATTENDANCE
BE SURE AND ATTEND THIS FAIR.
GOD SAVE THE KING!

H. K. DENYES, M.P.P., President.
R. H. KETCHESON, Secretary.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.						READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS.		Train 20	Train 22	Train 38
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	———	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*9.00 a.m.	———
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.20 p.m.

Mark Well !
Your safeguard is the name
"SALADA" 8720
This is the genuine 'tea of all teas'.
If you do not use Salada, send us a post card for a free sample, stating the price you now pay and if you use Black, Green or Mixed Tea. Address Salada, Toronto

The Farmer-Banker Alliance

You go to your lawyer for legal advice; to the doctor for medical advice; why not to The Merchants Bank for financial advice?

If you want a loan to buy cattle, hogs or equipment—if you want information as to how to invest money—come to those who make a business of financial matters, and are in a position to give you sound and impartial advice.

THE MERCHANTS BANKOF CANADA
DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

Let us be known as
A THRIFTY PEOPLE!

Let us stop spending heedlessly and needlessly, and begin to save now and save regularly.

THERE IS A SAVINGS DEPARTMENT AT EVERY BRANCH OF
THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

W. A. PARKER, MANAGER Belleville, Ont., Branch.

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 2.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 436.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
288 Front Street - - - Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 363.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 206.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public Etc
E. Guss Porter, K.C. M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St. Belleville, Ont.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as keep all varieties in stock and price right
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; Y31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont

The Thirteenth Commandment

by
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

...in the window, on a dummy, with no head, no feet, and a white satin bust,

In the Window on a Dummy With No Head, No Feet, and a White Satin Bust Hung a Gown That Seemed to Cry Aloud to Daphne.

hung a gown that seemed to cry aloud to Daphne:

"I belong to you and you belong to me! Fill me with your flesh and I will cover you with an aureole."

The three forlorn women understood the message instantly. They looked at one another, then, without a word, entered the shop, doomed in advance.

Leila was known to Dutilh and he greeted her with an extravagant impudence that terrified Mrs. Kip:

"You little devil!" he hissed. "Get right out of my theater. How dare you come here after letting somebody else build your trousseau?"

Leila apologized and explained and he pretended to be mollified as he pretended to have been insulted. Having thus made the field his own, he turned to Daphne, studied her frankly with narrowed eyes as if she were asking to be a model, and sighed:

"Oh, what a narrow escape!"

Daphne jumped and gasped, "From what?"

"That gown in the window, that Lanvin that was born for you. You must have seen it—the afternoon one in parchment-toned taffeta and tulle."

The women, astounded by his intuition, nodded and breathed hard, like terrified converts at a seance. He was referring to the one that belonged to Daphne, and he ordered her to get into it at once.

She demurred: "I'm afraid of the price. How much is it, please?"

"Don't talk of money!" Dutilh stormed. "I hate it! Let's see the gown on you." He called one of his tawny manikins. "Help Miss Kip into this gown, Maryla."

A mournful-eyed beauty led Daphne into a dressing room and acted as maid. Daphne stepped out of her street suit into the Parisian froth as if she were going from chrysalis to butterfly. Maryla was murmurous with homage as she fastened it together and led Daphne forth.

Mrs. Kip felt as if she had surrendered a mere daughter and received back a seraphic changeling. Daphne was no longer a pretty girl; she was something ethereal, bewitched and bewitching. If she could own that gown her mother would be repaid for all her pangs from travail on. She would accept the gown as advance royalty on any future hardships.

Daphne looked about for Leila, but Leila was gone. She reappeared a moment later in a costume almost more delicious than Daphne's—a tunic of peach-blow tulle caught up with pink rosebuds and hanging from a draped bodice of peach-blow satin that formed a yoke low on the hips. And there was a narrow petticoat of peach-pink satin. It was as if peaches had a soul, as perhaps they have.

Perfect happiness is said to need a bit of horror to make it complete. The happiness of the two girls did not lack that element. The price of their glory furnished it. They asked the cost with anxiousness.

Said Dutilh: "To Miss Kip I'll let it go dirt cheap for three hundred and twenty-five. The one Miss—er—Mrs. Kip has on I'll give away for—ummh, well—say the same price."

Daphne and her mother were sickened. But Daphne was suffering one of those gusts of mania that ruin people. Her soul of souls clamored to wear that very gown that very afternoon. Even to take it off would hurt like flaying.

Leila had the same feeling. Her appetite for resplendent gowns had grown with exercise.

Dutilh took pity on them: "Look here," he said, "I'll make the price two hundred and seventy-five. It's giving them away, but you are such visions in them!"

It was a big reduction, but it left the price still mountain high.

"I want something to wear tomorrow afternoon," Leila said. "I've got to go to a tea and my sister has to go with me."

Daphne had not heard of the tea, but she wanted somewhere to go in that gown.

Dutilh smiled: "Nothing easier. Take the duds with you or let me send them. Where are you living now?"

Leila made a confession: "The trouble is, Mr. Dutilh, that I'm just back from Paris and I haven't a cent left, and Miss Kip is buying her trousseau and has spent more already than she expected to."

Dutilh rose to the bait that he had expected them to dangle: "That's simple. Why not open an account with me? Take the gowns along and pay me when you like."

Leila mumbled, "I should have to ask my husband."

Daphne said, "My father wouldn't like me to start an account."

"Charge it to your sister's account, then, and pay her."

"You say you would charge them both to me?" said Leila.

"Certainly," said Dutilh.

"Send them, then," said Leila, with imperial brevity.

"Thank you," Dutilh smiled. "You shall have them this afternoon. And by the way, I've just remembered a marvelous design by Paul Poiret's. Let me show it to you."

"Come quick; let's run," said Daphne, and she hurried out of the infernal paradise.

They dawdled on, down the avenue, pausing at window after window, each flaunting opportunities for self-improvement. But Daphne's joy in her new gown was turning to remorse. She was realizing that that parchment-toned taffeta needed parchment-toned stockings and slippers and a hat of the same era as the gown.

She was startled from her reveries by the sudden gasp of Leila:

"If there isn't Tom Duane just coming out of his club!"

"I met him last night," said Daphne.

"You did? Did he say he knew me?"

"He said that Bayard stole you from him."

Leila was flattered, but loyal: "Nonsense. I was never his to steal. I never loved him, of course. It wouldn't have done any good if I had. Tom Duane's a nonmarrier."

"He's Awfully Rich, I Suppose," Said Daphne.

"He's awfully rich, I suppose," said Daphne.

"No, not rich at all, as rich people go. But he was mentioned the other day in the will of an old aunt he used to be nice to. He's nice to everybody."

Duane met them now and paused, bareheaded, to greet Daphne with flattering cordiality. She was greatly set up to be remembered. She presented him to her mother, who was completely upset at having to meet so famous an aristocrat right out in the street when she was still flustered over the ferocious price of Daphne's new dress.

"Will you have a bite of lunch with me?" asked Duane.

"We were just going to have something somewhere," said Mrs. Kip.

"My husband would object," said Leila.

"I'm not inviting you," said Duane, "I'm inviting the genuine Mrs. Kip. You may come along as old married chaperon, if you have to."

"But Miss Kip is engaged."

"So I suspected. That's why I'm inviting her. I feel safe."

As they turned east into Forty-fourth street and entered Delmonico's the carriage man saluted Duane, pedestrian as he was, called him by name, and seemed to be happier for seeing him. The doorman smiled and bowed him in by name, and Duane thanked him by name. The hat-boys greeted him by name and did not give him a check. The head waiter beamed as if a long-awaited guest of honor had come, and the captains bowed and bowed.

Duane did not ask his guests what they would have. The head waiter told him in a low voice what he ought to have.

Daphne rejoiced. All luxury was music to her. Fine clothes, fine foods on fine dishes, fine horses, motors, furnitures, fine everything, gave her an exaltation of soul like the thrill of a religion.

New York was heaven on earth. The streets were gold, the buildings of jasper, and the people angels—good angels or bad, as the case might be, but still angels. She wanted to be an angel.

Among the squads of men and women camped about the little tables she made out Sheila Kemble again, in a knot of elderly women of manifest importance.

Conference Due to Canadians

THERE assembled recently in England for the sixth Lambeth Conference 279 bishops from Anglican dioceses in all parts of the world. Most of the Canadian bishops were there, and not fewer than 72 bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church from the United States. Had transportation difficulties not been so great the attendance would have been even larger, and the absence of the Metropolitan of India is owing to his inability to book passage. For the first time in history the representative of a church not actually in communion with the Anglican Church was present. This is a bishop of the Greek Orthodox communion. The Lambeth conferences are held every ten years, and their establishment is due to a request made by the synod of a Canadian diocese to Archbishop Longley in 1867, "urging the Archbishop of Canterbury and the convocation of his province to adopt means by which the members of our Anglican communion in all quarters of the world should have a share in the deliberations for her welfare and be permitted to have a representation in one general council of her members gathered from every land."

When his request was granted by the House of Convocation there was much gratification expressed in all parts of the Empire and also in the United States. Since then there has been a meeting every ten years, and most fruitful have been the discussions. The third conference was held a year ahead of time in order that the bishops might take part in the diamond Jubilee celebration. This year's conference is two years late, because in 1918 the energies of the Empire were engaged in the war. The proceedings began on July 3 and will continue until August 8. The first fortnight is always devoted to debate. These proceedings are in private, but shorthand notes are taken, and the matters are referred to various committees for final report. Then the conference reassembles to pass resolutions, after which an encyclical letter is published containing the recommendations of the bishops. A review of the work accomplished at the various conferences shows that the church has been taking a steadily increasing interest in practical problems and social affairs.

The matters to be considered are settled by correspondence before the opening of the conference and no bishop is permitted to introduce a new topic. The program for the present conference is as follows:

(1) Relation to and reunion with other churches—(a) Episcopal churches; (b) Non-Episcopal churches, with questions as to: (1) Recognition of ministers; (2) "validity" of sacraments; (3) suggested transitional steps.

(2) Missionary problems—(a) Relation between missions and growing churches; (b) Missions and governments; (c) Liturgical variations permissible to a province or diocese; (d) Marriage questions and other practical problems.

(3) The Christian faith in relation to: (a) Spiritualism; (b) Christian Science; (c) Theosophy.

(4) Problems of marriage and sexual morality.

(5) The position of women in the councils and ministrations of the church.

(6) Christianity and international relations, especially the League of Nations.

(7) The opportunity and duty of the church in regard to industrial and social problems.

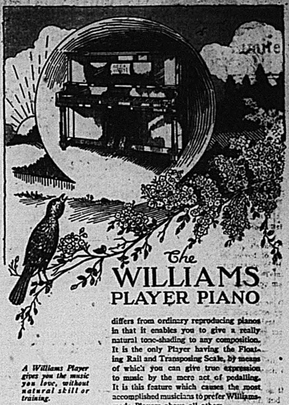
(8) The development of provinces in the Anglican communion.

American bishops are not slow to admit that the Church of England at home has made far more progress toward Christian unity than the Episcopal Church in the United States, and that it has dealt more boldly in grappling with social unrest is perhaps the greatest modern problem which the church is expected to solve, and some suggestive pronouncements under this heading are expected. One of the most interesting resolutions in the history of the conferences was passed in 1888 dealing with the church's practical work in relation to Socialism. The special committee said:

"Speaking broadly, any scheme of social reconstruction may be called Socialism which aims at uniting labor and the instruments of labor (land and capital), whether by means of the state, or of the help of the rich, or of the voluntary co-operation of the poor. Between Socialism as thus defined and Christianity, there is obviously no necessary contradiction. Christianity sets forth no theory of the distribution of the instruments or the products of labor and if, therefore, some Socialists are found to be in opposition to the Christian religion, this must be due to the accidents and not to the essence of their social creed.

"The church's practical duty towards Socialism must be determined by the answer to this question: 'Will the union of labor and the instruments of labor tend to improve the material, mental and moral condition of mankind?' Experience seems to show that it will. The call to aid the weak through works of what is ordinarily known as charity has been at all times faithfully expressed by the Church of Christ, and has been met by a noble response which has been the chief strength of works of beneficence in modern society. But the matter is one not merely of charity, but of social and Christian duty. It is in this light that the church has to proclaim it in these critical times with some special boldness and earnestness."

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.



The WILLIAMS PLAYER PIANO
differs from ordinary reproducing pianos in that it enables you to give a really natural tone-shading to any composition. It is the only Player having the Floating Rail and Transposing Scale, by means of which you can give true expression to music by the mere act of pedalling. It is this feature which causes the most accomplished musicians to prefer Williams-made Players above all others.

A Williams Player gives you the music you love, without natural skill or training.

THE WILLIAMS PIANO COMPANY, LIMITED
Canada's Oldest and Largest Piano Makers
OSHAWA . . . . ONTARIO

We are District Representatives
The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited
THE HOME OF GOOD MUSIC

SEPTEMBER IN ALGONQUIN PARK

September is one of the most delightful months of the year in the "Highlands of Ontario" and Algonquin Park offers attractions that are not found in other districts. It is situated at an altitude of 2,000 feet above the level of the sea, assuring visitors of pure, bracing air that rejuvenates body and mind. The territory is easy of access via the Grand Trunk, 200 miles north of Toronto and 170 miles west of Ottawa. "The Highland Inn" a charming hotel, affords comfortable accommodation at reasonable rates. The Inn is heated by steam. The cuisine is all that can be desired. "The Highland Inn" is operated by the Grand Trunk Railway. Make your reservations early. Illustrated descriptive literature telling you all about it from any Grand Trunk Agent, or write Mr. N. T. Clarke, Manager, Highland Inn, Algonquin Park, Ont. s2&4

◆

ESCAPE FANATICS BY AN AIRPLANE

London, Sept. 2.—The situation in Mesopotamia shows improvement in the disturbed areas, but is becoming tenser in districts not yet in open rebellion, according to a War Office communication.

The Sjawas railway station was attacked on August 29, and is still besieged by increasing numbers.

The British political officers at Munzfaik were saved from assassination by fanatics by escaping in an airplane. Several other stations have been attacked.

In northeast Persia the Reds have made no southward move from Resht.

◆

LOCAL LEGAL

Osgoode Hall, Judges Chamber Before Orde J.

Rex v. Johnstone—C. A. Payne (Belleville), for prisoner, moved to quash conviction by to magistrates of Hastings for breach of Ontario Temperance Act. E. Bayley, K.C., for magistrate. Reserved.

Rex v. Williams—C. A. Payne (Belleville), for prisoner, moved to quash conviction by police magistrate at Trenton. E. Bayley, K.C., for magistrate. Enlarged until 8th inst.

◆

Yorkshire cricketers met an all-Cleveland team at Toronto, each side scoring 70 runs.

New York and Cincinnati won their National League games again and the latter retain the lead.

THE little folks don't know they are Mercury Hosiery—but they do know they are more comfortable and wear longer.

Mercury combed Egyptian Cotton or Mercury French Spun Cashmere Stockings are re-inforced at points of wear.

Great care is taken in the selection of materials and making of our hosiery for children—the care that has made Mercury quality popular.

All sizes for children.

Ask for "Mercury." At all the leading stores.

MERCURY MILLS, LIMITED, Hamilton, Canada
Makers of Mercury Underwear and Hosiery for Men, Women and Children.

Mercury Hosiery

113

WHEN USING WILSON'S
FLY PADS
READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Mercer Hospital

Graduate Nurses can always obtain positions at attractive salaries in private nursing, schools, hospitals, insurance companies, industries, etc. Nurses are needed more at present than ever before.

Mercer Hospital offers a three years course of instruction with board, laundry and medical care, in case of illness, free. Monthly allowance is given sufficiently large to cover cost of text books and uniforms and enable the student nurse to take the training without other financial assistance. Classes are now being formed. For information call or address

Superintendent of Training School
MERCER HOSPITAL
Trenton, N.J.

MOTORISTS' BOOK MARK

Keep Your Car Fully Under Control

These Demand Unusual Care

Street Intersections
Blind Corners
Nearby Schools
Railway Tracks
Slippery Pavements

ONTARIO SAFETY LEAGUE
ROYAL BANK BUILDING - TORONTO

The Ever Faithful
ELECTRIC SERVANT

Campaign Now On Free Trial
Easy Terms
The HYDRO
SHOP

MAIL CONTRACT

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the Postmaster General, will be received at Ottawa until noon, on Friday, the 1st October, 1920, for the conveyance of His Majesty's Mails on a proposed Contract for four years, six times per week on the route, Belleville Rural Mail Route No. 5, from the Postmaster General's pleasure.

Printed notices containing further information as to conditions of proposed Contract may be seen and blank forms of Tender may be obtained at the Post Office of Belleville, and at the office of the Post Office Inspector.

H. MERRICK,
Post Office Inspector.
Post Office Inspector's Office,
Kingston, August 16th, 1920. a21,28,s4

IN THE ESTATE OF CHARLES J. PEPPIN, of the City of Belleville; in the County of Hastings, Electrical Supplies, authorized assignor.

NOTICE is hereby given that Charles J. Peppin, above named, on the 28th day of August, 1920, made an authorized assignment to the undersigned.

Notice is hereby given that the first meeting of creditors in the above estate will be held at the Sheriff's office, Court House, Belleville, Ont., on the 7th day of September, 1920, at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

To entitle you to vote thereat proof of your claim must be lodged with me before the meeting is held.

Proxies to be used at the meeting must be lodged with me prior thereto.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that if you have any claim against the debtor for which you are entitled to rank, proof of such claim must be filed with me within thirty days from the date of this notice, from and after the expiration of the time fixed by subsection 8 of section 37 of the said Act I shall distribute the proceeds of the debtor's estate among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which I have then notice.

DATED at Peterboro, this 31st day of August, 1920.

W. P. MORRIS,
375 Water St.,
Peterboro, Ont.,
Authorized Trustee.

s1&4

SUITS AND FROCKS

New Silhouette for Spring Interesting and Pretty.

Waist Lines Dropped to Hips, Shoulders Narrowed, Skirts Puffed or Slenderly Straight.

Paris has gone adventuring in the matter of new tailored silhouettes for serge suits and frocks and has introduced waist lines dropped to the hip, shoulders narrowed to Victorian constriction, and skirts puffed or slenderly straight, but always slit up at some point.

In fact, the directoire has returned in the vigorous slashing of side or back and also in the long-fronted coats and bodice to be seen on recent models. A chic little trotteur of navy tricotine has a short, tight jacket with the front and back elongated in flat panels, and frilled on the hips by three narrow ruffles. The skirt is plain and nearly to the knee, and underset with a thick fringe of ribbon streamers.

Another smart little walking suit has a box coat of Eton persuasion, slit under each arm and finished with outstanding inch-wide loops. The top of the skirt from waist to the hip line is stitched with inch bands which form loops on each hip to match the coat, giving at the same time a moderated bouffancy, which is altogether charming.

Much serge is being used in tailored suits and frocks, but this veteran material has acquired such alluring quality in its cunning manipulation, that for any woman to see these new creations is to desire them.

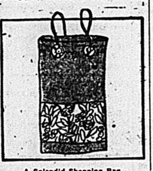
A fetching costume for the "jeune fille" has a jacket cut straight and short and finished around the hips by a six-inch outstanding ruffle of finely plaited serge. The sleeves are three-quarter length with plaiting forming a narrow puff at the wrist. The skirt, also tightly plaited, hugs the knees and ankles, but has several rows of stitching in coarse silk to hold it out around the hips.

A serge street dress has also a novel arrangement of plaiting. The bodice and skirt are closely fitted and severely plain, fastening up the back from hem to collar with tiny, flat bone buttons. A narrow band of vertical plaiting is gathered in on each side and brought together, allowing it to puff out like a boa, and this tubular trimming is applied to collar, cuffs and waist line, giving an unusual and intriguing ruff effect.

EVER USEFUL SHOPPING BAG

Convenience Is Easily Made From Piece of Heavy Crash or Linen of Dark Color.

A shopping bag is useful nowadays, when most of us find it simpler to bring our purchases home with us. The bag shown in the sketch is easily made from a piece of heavy crash or linen, of a dark color for choice. A length 20 by 12 inches is required, joined strongly by machine at sides and bottom, and with a piece of whalebone run through the casing at the top to keep the mouth of the bag stiff and well open. The handles are made of strong window cord, and should be fixed on as follows: Sew them firmly to the outside of the bag and cover the ends with scraps of cretonne cut in circles and buttonholed all round. The broad band round the bottom of the bag is of cretonne to match the circles, and brightens up the whole appearance of the bag.



A Splendid Shopping Bag.

USING MALINES IN MILLINERY

Material Especially Liked in Shape Known as "Bird Cage" Tam; Black Is Predicted.

Malines is taking a still firmer hold on the millinery trade as the season advances. Not only is it especially popular for wear at the present time, but it is being touted as a spring winner as well. For current dress wear malines is especially liked in a shape known as the "bird cage" tam, in which it is used to encase brocade, duvetyn or velvet. For the coming season black malines is expected again to be a big factor, particularly when used with glycerined ostrich trimmings. Rolling Chin Chin models, bulky side crown effects, turbans and the larger dress hats of malines use bands of glycerined ostrich on the under brim or to cover the entire crown. In some cases the ostrich is replaced by a silky black grass.

Veils on All Hats.

In Paris veils are seen on everybody's hat. And brims being covered by them, the crowns are the center of embroidery and decoration.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT.

2 in 1
-PASTES AND LIQUIDS-
SHOE POLISHES
THE BIG VALUE BOX
THE GREAT HOME SHINE

2 in 1 Shoe Polishes keep the leather soft and pliable and their use will double the life of Shoes

For Black, Tan, Ox-Blood, Dark Brown and White Shoes

THE F. F. DALLEY CORPORATIONS LTD., HAMILTON, CAN.

For that Crunchy Freshness and that honey-touched Flavor

Kellogg's HAVE BEEN MADE FOR 14 YEARS IN A BIG CLEAN PLANT AT LONDON, ONT.

THIS BAR IN RED INK IS PRINTED ONLY ON GENUINE ORIGINAL KELLOGG'S

London the home of Kellogg's

RATS—A COSTLY PEST.

American Figures That Have Bearing on Canada.

As carriers of the dread bubonic plague rats are a menace, but that is only one form of their costly and dangerous depredations.

Rats are practically omnivorous and their depredations cover a wide range. They feed indifferently upon all kinds of vegetable and animal matter. They dig up newly planted grain, destroy it while growing, and also when in the shock, stack, crib, granary, mill, elevator, warehouse, wharf and ship's hold as well as in the bin and feed trough. They eat fruits, vegetables and meats in the market, destroying at the same time by pollution far more than is consumed.

They destroy enormous numbers of eggs and poultry, as well as the eggs and young of song and game birds. In addition they invade stores and warehouses and destroy groceries of every description, as well as furs, laces, silks, carpets and leather goods.

They cause many disastrous fires by gnawing matches, by gnawing through lead pipe near gas meters, or by cutting the insulation from electric wires in order to secure material for nests and by gathering oil-soaked rags and other inflammable material in their nests; flood houses by gnawing through lead water pipes; ruin artificial ponds and embankments by burrowing, and damage foundations, floors, doors and furnishings of dwellings.

As disease carriers they also cause enormous commercial losses, especially through the introduction or bubonic plague and the resulting suspension of commerce. With the introduction of pague they become directly responsible for business disaster as well as for an appalling mortality.

Much the greater part of losses from these pests is in foodstuffs, which, as already indicated, are destroyed at every stage from the time the seed is planted until they are ready for human consumption.

Investigations some years ago indicated that the direct annual losses sustained in the United States were about $200,000,000, with a great additional sum in indirect losses, including the effect on the public health and commerce from the diseases carried by rats, and the necessary expenditures in combating them. Assuming, roughly speaking, that as estimated, the rat population in the United States is 50,000,000 for the cities and 150,000,000 for the rural districts, it will require the destruction of property by each rat of only a little more than one-fourth a cent a day to make the aggregate great sum estimated as destroyed by these pest yearly in the United States. Canadian figures have never been compiled, but they are probably proportionate.

"Taking the average yearly returns on a man's labor in agriculture, it requires the continuous work of about 150,000 men, with farms, agricultural implements, and other equipment, to supply the food stuffs destroyed annually by rats in the United States. In addition, rats destroy other property, mainly of agricultural origin, the production of which requires the work of about 50,000 men.

"This gives a total of 200,000 men, with their equipment, in the United States, whose economic output is devoted solely to feeding and otherwise providing for rats. If a small fraction of this army and the money involved could be concentrated in a continuous national campaign against these pests a vast saving could be achieved. And these figures will bear considering by people in Canada, where the plague exists.

An enterprising American, has secured from the Italian Government a concession for the utilization of 800 horsepower of the Marmore Cascades near Terni, about 70 miles from Rome, and maintains that he can turn out nitrogenous plant food for the Italian farmer at a cost as low as 1 lira per kilo (equivalent to $0.088 per pound, with the lira taken at its par exchange value of $0.193). It is said that the falls are capable of generating not less than 150,000 horsepower.

These are the cascades over which Byron waxed so eloquent in "Childe Harold's Pilgrimage." Alfred P. Dennis, commercial attache of the U. S. Embassy in Rome, reports that the only ingredients in the ammonia are water, air and electric energy.

Flying.

Flying is one of the safest pastimes in the world. Judge for yourself: When the Allies were training men to fly in France it was found that one man lost his life for every 3,400 flying hours spent aloft, says a correspondent. If you count that the speed in flying is something like seventy miles an hour on the average, it will be seen that only one life was lost for about 240,000 miles actually flown. In other words, a man while learning to fly, not an experienced pilot, could fly about ten times around the world to every fatal accident. To put it another way, suppose a man drove an automobile one hour a day every day in the year for nearly ten years. The distance covered would be that flown for every life lost in flying. There are few if any pastimes so safe as flying.

Humorous Aboriginal Belief.

Australian natives tell queer stories of creation, each tribe having a different legend. One tribe says that in the beginning the earth opened up in the midst of Perigundi lake and various birds and animals came out. They lay down in the sun to be "finished" into human beings by its rays. When the finishing process was over they got up and walked away.

Another tribe says that before man was made a tribe of magical creatures, known as "Mura-muras," lived on the earth. While one of these was hunting a kangaroo the animal hopped out of sight. Paralina, as the hunter was called, asked some old women where it had gone, but they lied to him, as they had killed it. He became angry, and seeing some half-finished bodies lying on the ground he straightened out their limbs, blew in their ears so they could hear, and rammed some clay down their throats, and clear through their bodies, to make them stiff. These then became men, and he continued to make more men and women.

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 31.—Thirty-five cases of liquor, buried in a coal pile on the river front east of here on the United States side, were discovered by customs officers and seized. The whiskey was a Canadian brand, and is believed to have been consigned to a boat touching at Ogdensburg and bound for the great lakes.

Wrangel Mission In London.

LONDON, Aug. 31. — A step toward the unification of military action against Soviet Russia was taken Sunday, when a mission from Gen. Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik commander in the Crimea, arrived here. Its exact function has not been outlined.

The Polish Foreign Minister, Prince Sapieha, is en route to Paris.

May Boycott British Goods.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31. — Upon the death of Lord Mayor Terrence MacSweney, of Cork, Gertrude Corless, the leader of the Irish-American woman pickets, announced yesterday the pickets will attempt to organize 20,000,000 people in their boycott of British goods in the United States.

Prince of Wales at Honolulu.

HONOLULU, Aug. 31.—The Prince of Wales, aboard the British cruiser Renown, arrived here this morning from Samoa. The prince, who has been visiting the British possessions, is expected to proceed from here to England by way of the Panama Canal.

The Shamrocks of Montreal will go to New Westminster, B.C., for the Minto Cup, emblematic of the Canadian professional lacrosse championship.

Overland
TRADE MARK REG.

Gasoline Economy Coast to Coast

In a continuous run of 3,442 miles from New York to San Francisco in July an Overland stock car averaged 32.64 miles to the Imperial gallon.

Made-in-Canada duplicates of this car are giving their Canadian owners the same kind of economy proofs.

The Overland dealer at Leader, Sask., made a test on a 288 mile trip from Regina, and his car gave him 35 miles to the gallon.

While roads were still partly frozen, a Bridgewater, N.S., owner tested his Overland over 107 miles of rutted roads, and got 26.75 miles to the gallon.

A St. Hyacinthe, Que., traveller recently covered 630 miles at an average gas mileage of 30 to the gallon.

A Toronto business man drove to Kitchener and back, making 31.88 miles to the gallon.

A Mineota, Man., farmer reports getting as high as 34 miles to a gallon.

Triplex Springs contribute to Overland's economy of operation as well as to its comfort—for a demonstration see

ST. CHARLES MOTOR BUS CO. - - - BELLEVILLE
Hugh Morton, Stirling; Percy N. Naylor, Madoc;
Lennox Auto and Motor Boat Co., Napanee.

Head Office and Factories: Willys-Overland Limited, Toronto, Canada
Branches: Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Regina.

EARLE & COOK COMPANY

Final Clearing Sale of Summer Goods

LADIES' SUITS

25 Ladies' Suits at 25 per cent. off regular price.
Ladies' Serge and Silk Dresses, 20 per cent. off regular prices.
Voile Blouses, regular $5.50 to $7.00, only $4.95
Children's Dresses, reg. $5.00 and $5.50, only $3.75
Children's Dresses, regular $3.00 to $4.00, only $1.95
Tussah Silk Bloomers in white, sky and flesh, regular $3.75. Sale price $1.95
Ladies' Summer Dresses in Percale, Voile and Indian Head, regular up to $7.50. Sale price $2.50
Blouses in Silk and Crepe de Chine in white, flesh, maize and black, regular $4.50 and $5.00; to clear at $2.95
Shantung Silk in natural colors, 33 inches wide, reg. $1.50; to clear at $1.19
Silk Boot Hose in grey, white, black, sand. Special value at $1.19
Ladies' Pure Silk Hose in white, black, grey and sand, regular $2.25 and $2.50. To clear at $1.95

EARLE & COOK COMPANY
STORE OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAY.

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Fashionable Furs

A neckpiece of fur gives the finishing touch to the well dressed and fashionable lady.

The choice is varied, but the furs most in demand are

Ermine and Foxaline

We have some nice pieces in these furs and would be pleased to have you call and see them.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

Belleville Fair Opens on Monday

Belleville Fair for 1920 opens Monday and continues Tuesday and Wednesday. The attractions are many and varied and well worthy of large patronage during the three days of the fair. There will be many visitors from all parts of the district and citizens of Belleville should show their loyalty to a local institution by being present in large numbers.

A large attendance of home folks will hearten the directors and give them confidence to work hard for a bigger, better and brighter fair next year and every year.

One of the features of this year's exhibition will be the Made-in-Belleville exhibit arranged under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, showing the many and varied manufactures of Belleville. This exhibit will be interesting and instructive.

Products of the farm will be shown in great variety of excellence and many special attractions are on the program.

Citizens who take pride in Belleville will boost Belleville Fair by being present each day of the fair.

Opening Ceremony.

Mr. H. K. Denyes, M.P.P., president of the Fair, has received word that the Hon. Manning Doherty, Provincial Minister of Agriculture will arrive in Belleville on Monday morning and will officially open the fair at 1.30 p.m. The school children of the city will join in the labor organizations' parade and will be led by the Salvation Army band. The G.W.V.A. band will head the labor organizations.

It Was a Braw Bright Bonnie Night

Hoot, mon! Did ye meet the Moffatta richt fra Glasca. They're a' richt, ye ken!

Such might well be the salutation of brither Scots after the splendid production of a Scotch comedy by a Scotch company which was so thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience assembled at Griffin's Theatre Friday evening to witness "Don't Tell," by the author of that other Scotch classic "Bunty Pulls the Strings." A genuine Scotch atmosphere pervaded the theatre from the make-up of the audience to the selections played by the orchestra, and the stage folk were Scotch from the ground up. The humor of "Don't Tell" is rich and rare and the interpreting company was so well balanced that it was difficult to pick out any bright particular star for special mention. Of course, Graham Moffatt as the Bailie, had the leading character, and he certainly gives to the stage world a new character altogether delightful. Then there was John Willie, portrayed by George Tawde in a perfect manner, contributing much of the humor of the piece, but every character was well taken—Tibbie Tocher, Mrs. Devine, the washerwoman, Violet the maid, and the members of the Plumber-Magistrate's family, mother and the girls and their beaus.

It was a great night, a Scotch night, clean and wholesome, leaving a pleasant taste in the mouth and a smiling memory which will not soon fade. May many more such companies cross the ocean to delight Canadian audiences with something really worth while in the line of stage entertainment!

City And Country

NO PAPER MONDAY.

Monday being Labor Day and a public holiday, there will be no issue of The Intelligencer.

NO DELIVERY OF MAIL.

Monday, being Labor Day, and a general holiday, there will be no delivery of mail by the letter carriers. The post office will be open at the usual hours for box holders and the general wicket will be opened in the morning for some time.

RESIDENCE BURNED.

The frame residence of Mrs. Chas. Lake, situated in the Township of Sidney just west of the village of Foxboro, was on Thursday afternoon destroyed by fire together with the greater portion of the contents. How the fire originated is not known but when discovered had gained considerable headway and all efforts to save it proved futile. The loss, amounting to several hundred dollars, is partially covered by insurance.

A GOOD CATCH.

Of all the fishermen that go out to fish, not all bring home the undisputable proofs of their wonderful stories of the fish they caught and the big ones which got away. However, one party just returned brought the fish—fifteen splendid black bass, weighing 31¼ pounds, and one 'lunge, from a day's fishing at Crow Lake. The party consisted of Ted Clarke and Wm. Gilbert, of Belleville, and Harry Mackie of Toronto, and they sure had the goods to back up their enthusiastic tales of fishermen's luck.

ARE YOU PALE FACED? DO YOU NEED A TONIC?

THEN GET

VITAL TABLETS

Lack of blood causes all sorts of diseases and trouble. The disease germs attack you much easier. You are down and out before you know it. To make blood take Vital Tablets. They are a wonderful blood maker. If you have lots of pure blood, you can throw off a lot of things that otherwise would be impossible. Vital Tablets are a great Tonic, not only will they make blood, but they will build you up. Go to your druggist and get a box. Price 50c. a box or 6 for $2.50. The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Doyle's Drug Store, special agents.

High School Books and Supplies, at GEEN'S. s4-3td

Serpent Mound in a Public Park

WEST UNION, Ohio, Sept. 3.—A serpent 1,300 feet long, built of earth and stone, a symbol of the religion of ancient peoples, stands a few miles from here as the most interesting and important earthwork left by the mound builders of Ohio.

Situated in a rather secluded spot, supposedly selected by the mound builders for privacy in performing their ancient rites, the massive reptile winds gracefully back from a glen to higher land. The serpent's head rests upon a rock platform which presents a precipitous face to the descending sun and is about 100 feet high. The jaws of the mouth are widely extended in the act of swallowing an egg, represented by an oval ridge of earth.

As the mound builders shaped the body they caused it to make four large folds as it tapered back to the tail, which is folded in three complete and close coils.

The land about this curious relic of primitive days is low at the head, but gradually ascends toward the tail. There is ample room on all sides for a gathering of many people and the belief is expressed that the idol worshippers gathered on all sides of their altar to pour forth praise, or beseech forgiveness and blessings from the beautifully hideous god of their own creation.

"The Serpent Mound" was purchased by Professor F. W. Putnam, of the Peabody Museum, Cambridge, Mass., in 1887, along with about 70 acres of adjacent land and shortly afterward a beautiful public park was laid out on the ground. Thus in present days the spot of reverence is used as a playground for picnickers and pleasure seekers. The deed to the land is vested in the museum attached to Harvard University.

Those who have made a study of the work of the mound builders have estimated that in Ohio alone there are over 10,000 mounds and from 1,500 to 2,000 enclosures standing as monuments to their work. By the study of ancient implements and burial places found in and near these mystery hills it has been found possible to form a conception of their life.

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. s4 3t

Constipated Children

Children who suffer from constipation, indigestion or any of the other ailments due to a clogged condition of the bowels will find prompt relief through the use of Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which can always be depended upon to regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach. They are absolutly safe and are sold under a guarantee to be entirely free from opiates or other injurious drugs. Concerning them Mrs. Thomas A. Boutot, Lake Baker, N.B., writes: "I am pleased to state that Baby's Own Tablets were of great help to me when my baby was suffering from constipation." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. s4-3t

SUMMER ASTHMA—HAY FEVER

—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—

RAZ-MAH

brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.

Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

Masaryk Is True Patriot

PROF. MASARYK'S meeting with the Czech Parliament, which had not gathered in three hundred years, places the crown of triumph on a long life spent in behalf of his people. The first act of this Parliament was to elect Prof. Masaryk president. The constitution of Czecho-Slovakia provides that the president shall retain office for a term of seven years. No one is allowed to be a candidate for a third term, but from this provision Thomas Masaryk is specifically exempted. That is to say, he may, if he chooses, remain in office for three seven-year periods, and as he is now 70 years old, his election is equivalent to a life term. The possibility that the people would not re-elect him needs hardly be taken into consideration. He is the creator of the new nation. It owes him more than it owes any other hundred Czechs, and it knows it. Not only from gratiture, but in appreciation of Masaryk's great abilities as a statesman, a philosopher, and a teacher of his people, are the Czecho-Slovaks certain to retain the services of their first President as long as he will be able to guide them.

His has been a remarkable career. His father was a coachman, and his lineage is of the humblest. At one time he was a blacksmith's apprentice, but a thirst for learning that he exhibited in early boyhood and which was never slaked, led to him educating himself and eventually becoming a teacher and college professor. His introduction to the people of Bohemia was not a pleasant one, and indicated that whatever fame he might attain he was not likely to become a popular statesman. He investigated two cherished manuscripts, as dear to the Bohemians as the Declaration of Independence to the Americans, and the Magna Charta to the English. They were supposed to be precious relics of the early culture of the race. Masaryk came to the conclusion that they were forged, and he did not hesitate to say so. A storm of abuse was his reward, and for many years he was attacked as an iconclast and one who had no proper pride in his country. Events proved Masaryk to be right, but it was a long time before the wounded pride of the Bohemians permitted them to forgive him.

His ability, however, was too great to be overlooked, and he became a member of the old Austrian Parliament, and soon was the acknowledged leader of the little Czech group known as the Realist party. The object of this party was to regain the ancient freedom of the race. Most of them hoped and believed that it would be accomplished within the framework of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy. Masaryk had no such delusions. More than forty years ago he saw clearly the tendency of German influence upon Austria-Hungary, and he set himself the task of resisting this German-Austro-Magyar alliance. This brought him enemies in high places. He was regarded in Berlin and Vienna as a dangerous man, but his hold upon the Czechs was so strong that he was re-elected time and again, and made to realize that while he might be almost friendless in Vienna, there were some ten million of his fellow countrymen who believed in him and who were willing that he should guide them. Nor did he stoop to the base arts of the politicians to gain this confidence, as an incident will show.

In the '90's, a wave of intense anti-Semitism swept over Bohemia, provoked by a trial in which a Jew named Hilsner was accused of ritual murder. Bohemian public opinion was practically unanimous in demanding that the man should be executed and that other Jews should be punished. Sasaryk stood out boldly and alone as the friend of Hilsner. He was bitterly denounced. One morning when he entered his class room, his students made a demonstration against him and the Jews. Masaryk, unable to make himself heard, stepped to the blackboard and chalked on it the single word "Work," meaning that the way to meet the competition of the Jews was by labor and not by loud demonstrations. Later on he remarked, "I fought for the Jews because I thought they were in the right. Personally, God knows, I don't like them." Masaryk's name became prominent in Europe in 1909 when fifty Serbo-Croats deputies were accused of conspiring with Belgrade against the Austro-Hungarian Government. At the celebrated trial of Friedjung in Vienna, Masaryk was able to prove that the Austro-Hungarian legation in Belgrade had forged the evidence by means of which the deputies had been convicted. This, of course, made him an object of greater hatred than ever before on the part of the Government.

Shortly after the war broke out Masaryk fled from Austria to give what aid he could to the Allies, whose cause he recognized as being identical with the cause of his own people, and to rouse the spirit of Czecho-Slovaks in all parts of the world. He published a newspaper in Paris. He organized European and American Bohemians and told them that if they would free their countrymen the only way was to cast in their lot with the Entente. In 1915 he founded the Czecho-Slovak National Council, and this body supplied with funds by Bohemians, and recognized by the Allies, was the organization that now has blossomed forth as the Government of the country. In the darkest days of the war Masaryk did not lose heart. He kept on working to get together the machinery of government that he was sure would one day be required. So it has happened.

EXPENSIVE PIPE LINE.

Regina, Sask., Sept. 3—Seven million dollars is the minimum cost at which the southern part of the province can be supplied with water from the South Saskatchewan river. This is the estimate of the Saskatchewan Water Supply Company, and is based on a wood stave pipe line being used. If a concrete pipe line is adopted the cost will be eleven million dollars. Should it be found necessary to adopt this type of construction to make the scheme a success, it would be financially impracticable at the present time, according to Major A. J. McPherson, chairman of the commission. A steel pipe line would cost thirteen million dollars.

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
208 Front St.

We are offering a limited number of Suits from $45 up.

An opportunity to buy a good suit at a reasonable price.

LET US DEVELOP AND PRINT YOUR FILMS

You will be more than pleased with our work. Extra high gloss finish, with no extra charge. Just send your work to us any time before 4 p.m. We will have them ready for you the following afternoon.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
192 Front St. Phone 283.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

New Suits Coats Dresses Blouses Skirts Camisoles Etc. Arriving Daily at

WOTTEN'S LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose

your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.

T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

LINDSAY'S

Music in the Home

will fill the idle hours with pleasure, drive away the blues, and deliver a knockout to "old man grouch." Introduce a

LINDSAY Player-Piano

into your home and watch the results.

The Latest and Best in Music Rolls
Q. R. S. LINDSAY'S

LINDSAY'S
C.W. LINDSAY LIMITED

249 Front Street Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word: 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

30 x 3½
NON-SKID
TIRES
$14.95
Tubes, $1.95.
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.,
353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE — 100 ACRES, CONCESSION 3, Tyendinaga, half mile east of Melrose. Well drained, abundantly watered, convenient to churches, school, store and station. R. C. English, Shannonville. d-s4&11;w-s9&16

TWO HORSES FOR SALE CHEAP. NO reasonable offer refused if sold at once. Apply 42 Murney Street. 1t

FOR SALE—KITCHEN RANGE, TABLE, sideboard and cooking utensils, lounge, rocking chairs, new mattress, water color pictures. Apply 88 Grier Street. 1td

FOR SALE—THE EXECUTORS OF THE S. S. Vandervoort Estate have the following Belleville residential property for sale —12 Catharine St., brick dwelling with modern conveniences; 18-20 Everett St., detached Cement Block Dwellings. 54 Cedar St., Frame Dwelling. For particulars apply to Chancey Ashley, Front Street, Belleville. a21,28,s4,11

CHICKENS FOR SALE — BRED-TO-LAY, White Leghorns, Anconas and Barred Rocks. Apply to C. H. Leavens, 170 George St. a31,s4

FOR SALE—ONE HALF INTEREST IN water well drilling machine. One 17-horse power Sawyer-Massey engine, one water tank and wagon, two sets of drilling tools, all in first class shape; also one wood sawing machine. Enquire at 101 Cannifton Road. s2-4td

FOR SALE—FARM OF 62 ACRES, THIRD concession of Thurlow, lot 31. Good buildings, lots of wood and water. Will exchange for city property. R.F.D. No. 6, Belleville. G. N. Phillips. s1-6td

FOR SALE—DRESSER, IRON BED, BOOK Case, chair, walnut upright piano and music cabinet, lawn mower, tables, crib, carriage, bicycle, motor washer and other effects. Phone 166. 32 Octavia St. s1-dtf

FOR SALE — ONE GILSON ENSILAGE cutter, 13-inch, in first class condition. A. O. Roblin. s11 6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ON sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

FOR SALE—BICYCLES—MASSEY SILVER Ribbon, for years of service. New and rebuilt bicycles, all sizes, bought and sold and exchanged the year round. Bicycle License, Belleville. a6-d&w1m

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHout experience, are making $20 weekly in spare time without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference. Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. a25,28;s1,4,6,8,11,13,15,1

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chances to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G., Toronto. a28-stt-6td

MAKE $30 NEXT SATURDAY—BRAND new proposition. Patented Chemical Auto Windshield Wiper—one rub over glass gives clear vision in rain, snow or fog—stays clear 24 hours. Can't blurr. One man sold two thousand already. Write quick for details and exclusive territory. Auto Accessories Co., 600 Echo Drive, Ottawa, Ont. 1td

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West Toronto. d—o2

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work, with references. Chas. S. Clapp. s4-dtf

WANTED—MAN AS JANITOR. STEADY position. Apply The Intelligencer Office.

BOYS WANTED TO LEARN TRADE. THE John Lewis Co., Ltd. s3 2td

DRIVER WANTED—WE WANT A FIRST class driver for milk route. Steady employment. Citizens' Dairy Co. s3-4td

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

BOILER TENDERS WANTED — EXPERIENCED men preferred. No firing. Apply Steel Co. of Canada, Belleville. s2 4td

WANTED — STRONG BOY TO LEARN trade. The John Lewis Co. s2-4td

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge Gangway. a25-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS, use of bath and electric light. All conveniences, suitable for light housekeeping. Apply Box 94, Intelligencer. s3-dtf

TO RENT—BUNGALOW ON WEST BRIDGE street. All conveniences. Possession Oct. 1st. Apply J. Panter & Son, 185 Front Street. s3-3td

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS—can have light housekeeping if desired Apply to Mrs. Sinclair, 42½ Bridge St s2-6td

TO LET — HOUSE; NO. 118 CANNIFTON Road. Apply D. V. Doyle. m25-tfd

TO LET—HOUSES—ONE WITH ALL CONVENIENCES, 60½ W. Moira Street; one No. 35 Cedar Street; one on Cannifton Road. Apply Dan Doyle, Phone 869. a27-dtf

TO RENT—A NICE LARGE ROOM SUITABLE for office or light housekeeping Apply S. Burrows. a27-d

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—A FIRST CLASS WOMAN TO work by hour. Apply Box "B," Intelligencer.

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dim

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

CAPABLE GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. No washing; plain cooking; excellent home; wages $37; must be experienced and able to furnish good references. Address Mrs. F. H. Marsh, 69 Keewatin Ave., Toronto. s3-4td

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. s3-dtf

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

GIRL WANTED FOR GENERAL HOUSEWORK. No washing. Apply Cooper's Flour Mill. a30-dtf

WANTED — COMPETENT MAID. APPLY Mrs. J. Williams, 233 Charles Street.

WANTED.

WANTED—PARTY WHO CAN FURNISH room and board for lady teacher. Kindly communicate with The Ontario School for the Deaf. s3-dtf

WANTED TO PURCHASE—GOOD OFFICE Desk, roll or plain top. Apply Box "N," The Intelligencer. s3-2td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

WANTED

HEAD LAUNDRESS, $50.00 per month —and HEAD COOK, $50.00 per month. Apply to Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

WANTED

A TEACHER OF FANCY WORK, part time, and SUPERVISOR, young woman of fair education. Apply Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

City and Vicinity

Unexcelled in Canada—Daly's Good Tea—always the same. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville

High School Books and Supplies, at GEEN'S. s4-2td

LABOR DAY PARADE

The organized Labor Parade will form on the market square at 1 p.m., in the following order:—

American Federation of Musicians.
International Association Machinists 779.
Quinte Lodge 1545.
Brotherhood Railway Car Men 617.
Boilermakers and Ship Builders of America.
Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.
Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen.
Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way.
Canadian Brotherhood Railway Employes.
Order of Railway Conductors.
Federal Labor Union 17314.
International Polishers, Buffers and Lock Fitters, No. 100.
International Moulder's Union.
Bricklayers and Plasterer's Union.
Bay Quinte No. 6 Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

A good speaker is being secured. All local representatives are requested to meet to-night at 8 o'clock at the G.W.V.A. to complete arrangements. s3-2td

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. s4-3t

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Have you 100 accounts, more or less? Is it not worth 75c to have them mailed in neatly typed envelopes each month? Send them to the Public Stenographer, Hotel Quinte, Phone 103. a1-4td

ALBERT COLLEGE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Studios, 249½ Front St. Piano, Singing, Theory of Music, Violin and Expression. Teaching resumed Tuesday, Sept. 7th. Experienced teachers. Highest results obtained in all music examinations in a record of the past twenty-five years. Elementary to graduation. Children receive special attention. V. P. Hunt, A.A.G.O., Musical Director. Phone 880. a31,s2,4,7,9,11

Please don't forget the W.C.T.U. rummage sale the second week in October. 1td

High School Books and Supplies, at GEEN'S. s4-3td

BETHEL HALL, SUNDAY EVEING —7 P.M.—MR. TAYLOR, BRITISH GUIANA, WILL PREACH.

AUSPICES G.W.V.A.

Band Concert

Sunday, Sept. 5th
8.15 p.m.
Griffin Theatre
G. W. V. A. BAND

W. E. TURLEY, Provincial Secretary, will be in attendance and speak.

All members of the C.E.F. and B.E.F., etc., with their wives, mothers, sisters and lady friends are invited.

Veterans of former wars are also invited.

STARVED GERMANS FEAST IN HOLLAND

Students of the food situation in central Europe have a good opportunity to observe the effects of a long continued spare diet at Oldenzaal, Holland, which is the first station on Dutch soil after leaving German territory on the main route from Berlin to Amsterdam.

Here Germans have the first opportunity to recoup themselves for lost calories. Fifteen minutes ride to the east, the bill of fare is meager; here it is plenteous and sustaining, and the big station restaurant is daily jammed with hungry clamorous crowds whose capacity for solid trencher work is amazing.

Mountains of white bread sandwiches melt away like snow, and from a score of points cries arise for glasses of fresh milk—an unobtainable luxury in Germany. The meal here only serves as a preliminary snack for an even more plenteous feast aboard the train.

As the Associated Press correspondent was watching the operations, a German theatrical company with a contract to fill in Holland was making a vigorous frontal attack on the luncheon counter. The profession in Germany is in a bad way; salaries are low and living is correspondingly precarious. Competition for joining touring companies in Holland is keen.

Their delight in facing a square meal was pathetic. One, holding aloft a ham sandwich of generous proportions, exclaimed: "Beautiful, bountiful Holland! Behold, the ham in thy sandwiches is draped in luxuriant festoons, far surpassing in beauty and fragrance the roses in the gardens of Semiramis!"

One woman sat with folded hands in rapt contemplation of a chunk of fresh butter the size of a brick. "This is truly paradise!" she gasped.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

CHRIST CHURCH (Anglican)
Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, Rector.
Residence: 88 Commercial St.

8 a.m.—Holy Communion, St. George's.
11 a.m.—Choral celebration and Holy Communion, Christ Church.
3 p.m.—Sunday School, Christ Church and St. George's.
7 p.m.—Evensong.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH.
Rector, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, M.A.
Residence: The Rectory, 79 Bridge St.
Phone 481.

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Choral Communion with sermon—"The Lepers."
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
4 p.m.—Baptismal Service.
7 p.m.—Evensong with sermon—"Two Worshippers."
Prof. Wheatley, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., Organist and Choirmaster.

VICTORIA AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH.
Minister, Rev. Wm. Harris Wallace.
13 Queen St. Phone 481.

11 a.m.—"The Kingdom of God." "Do this in remembrance of Me."
3 p.m.—Bible School. Classes for all.
7 p.m.—"Seven Reasons for Christ's Coming."
Visitors heartily welcome.

TABERNACLE.
The Church on a Hill.

The pastor at both services.
2.30 p.m.—S. S. and Brotherhood.
The music will be fine.
A ladies' trio—Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Nicholson, Mrs. Duff.
A solo—"The Good Shepherd" by Mr. Mouck.
The Tabernacle invites you to come.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Rev. A. S. Kerr, M.A., Pastor.

The congregation will worship in John Street church tomorrow. The pastor will preach at evening service. Re-opening of the church will take place Sept. 12th.

JOHN ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Cor. Victoria Ave. and John Street.
Union Presbyterian Services at John St. Church.
11 a.m.—Mr. Ramsay will preach.
7 p.m.—Mr. Kerr will preach.

THE SALVATION ARMY.
Adjt. I. Cavender, Commanding Officer.

The Oshawa Salvation Army Band will visit Belleville Sept. 4th, 5th and 6th. This is a splendid musical organization, thirty-three pieces. Monster open-airs, 7 p.m. Saturday evening. Sunday morning 11 a.m. Citadel. Afternoon at 3 o'clock the band will play in the park. 7 p.m. a great salvation meeting in the Citadel. Monday afternoon they will visit and play on the fair grounds. Monday evening a grand musical festival in the Citadel. Admission 25 cents. Mayor W. B. Riggs, chairman. Adjutant and Mrs. Laing, commanding officers of Oshawa, will accompany the band and will be in charge of all meetings.

BRIDGE STREET CHURCH SERVICES TOMORROW
Rev. Dr. Cleaver, Pastor; Rev. Geo. Brown, Assistant Pastor.

Our new pastor, the Rev. Dr. Cleaver, will preach his opening sermons, morning and evening.
11 a.m.—Morning service. Rev. Dr. Cleaver. Special music. Mrs. Wilmot will assist the choir. Sacrament after morning service.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School. Rally Sunday.
7 p.m.—Evening service. Rev. Dr. Cleaver. The choir will be assisted by Mrs. Wilmot. Miss Leona Riggs of New York will sing a solo.
Everybody Come.
Mr. V. P. Hunt, director of music.

HOLLOWAY ST. METHODIST CHURCH
West Belleville.
Parsonage, 44 Hillside St. Phone 575.
Rev. A. H. Foster, Pastor.

The pastor will preach at both services.
10 a.m.—Class Meeting.
11 a.m.—Morning Service.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
Miss S. Walton, choir leader. Miss Winnifred Pearce, organist.

EMMANUEL CHURCH.
Victoria Avenue — The City Low Church.
Rev'd George Marshall, Rector.

14th Sunday after Trinity.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Sermon—"In Remembrance of Me."
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and Sermon—"A Prophet's Exhortation."
3 p.m.—Sunday School.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. AMEDEE GARCEAU

82 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont.

"I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1913, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician.

I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again.

I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial."

AMEDEE GARCEAU.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

Neglected eyes mortgage your child's future

Bad sight in the child means a constant strain on the health—a struggle to keep up a handicapped future.

It is for you to see that your child's eyes are examined, and properly cared for. Faults corrected now mean good eyesight in years to come. A visit to Blackburn's will assure your child a careful examination, and, if necessary, properly fitted glasses.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

Very Special Chocolate Sale For Saturday

Assorted Chocolates, consisting of Chocolate Chips, Caramels, Bordeaux and the following cream centres: Peppermint, Coffee, Pineapple, Cherry, Vanilla, Maple, Strawberry, Raspberry, Lemon, Chocolate. These are our regular 75c. Chocolates.

Saturday VERY SPECIAL sale price:—
ONE pound . . . . . 53c.
TWO pounds . . . $1.00

Get a pound or two for Labor Day.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

RITCHIE'S

SATURDAY SPECIALS

HOSIERY VALUES

$3.00
BLACK SILK HOSE, $1.59

35 dozen Ladies' Black Hose, Jersey tops, pure silk thread, Penman's make, "seconds," regular value $3.00. Saturday special $1.59

Ladies' Plain Black Cashmere Hose

Ladies' Plain Black Cashmere Hose, sizes 8½ and 9 only. All wool, worth regular $1.25. Saturday, to clear at .... 75c. pair

Boys' Heavy Ribbed Stockings

Boys' Heavy Ribbed Stockings for School Wear, in black only. Very special, 75c. pair.

12-4 White Flannelette Blankets

12/4 White Flannelette Blankets, pink borders—"seconds"—slight imperfections. Regular $4.50. Sale price $3.90

PONGEE SILK

Pongee Silk, natural shade, 34 inches wide. Regular $1.00. On sale .... 79c. yard

54 in. UNION SERGE

54-inch Union Serge in shades of Navy, Brown, Black and Plum. Reg. price $3.75. On sale $1.89

LADIES' TAN SILK GLOVES

Tan Silk Gloves, short, 2-dome fastener, full range of sizes, worth regular $1.25. On sale .... 50c. pair

VICTORIA LAWN, ENGLISH

Victoria Lawn, English make, 40 inches wide. Special value .... 50c. yard

Pure Linen Hand Towelling

Pure Linen Hand and Tea Towelling, plain and red edge, worth regular 50c. On sale .... 39c. yard

20 p.c. Off Crepe de Chine and Georgette Blouses

20% off Crepe de Chine and Georgette Blouses. Last day of the discount.

Ladies' Flannelette Nightgowns

Ladies' Flannelette Nightgowns, white, with tucked yoke, three-quarter sleeve. Reg. price $1.75. On sale $1.49

PRINT APRONS

Print Aprons, all light shades, with band, ric-rac braid trimming and pocket. Well made. Special price, 50c. each.

SWEATER COATS

Sweater Coats, wool, silk, odd lines, on sale, half price. Regular $3.75 to $10.00.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Oil Cake Meal, Corn Cotton Seed Meal

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

Anticipate your wants in Oil Cake Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Corn, etc., as we are importing a number of cars expected to arrive every day.

We always have large supplies of Flour and Feed on hand and will be pleased to serve you.

Farmers in Belleville vicinity, and in fact, all surrounding districts, realize and are complimenting us on the fact that they are able to get 10c. to 20c. a bushel more for their Wheat than if we were not a competitor in the field.

We ALWAYS py Highest Market Prices.
Buy Nothing by the Judge's Best Flour.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St. and 50 Albion Street --- Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Moderate northwest winds, fair and a little cooler today and on Wednesday.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, [illegible].

Wet Weather Mars Opening of Belleville Fair

HEAVY DOWNPOUR OF RAIN MONDAY MORNING DISCOURAGED ATTENDANCE—RACES POSTPONED ON ACCOUNT OF HEAVY TRACK — MANY HORSES ENTERED FOR SPEEDING EVENTS—FAIR OFFICIALLY OPENED BY HON. MANNING DOHERTY, ONTARIO MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE—IMPOSING LABOR DAY PARADE.

With every indication favorable for a record-breaking exhibition this year, the officers and directors of the Belleville Agricultural Fair feared nothing except the weather, and this, while good for the country, was very bad for the exhibition, as lowering skies and wet grounds do not attract many people. A heavy downpour of rain Monday morning put an effectual damper upon opening day and the attendance was accordingly small. On account of the heavy track the races were postponed. There are many fast horses here for the speedy events and great contests are anticipated when the track dies out.

The parade of the labor unions was very creditable, several hundred men being in line, headed by the G.W.V.A. band and the American Federation of Musicians, the parade marshal being Mr. Morris Callahan, on horseback.

Other unions well represented were the Machinists, Railway Car men, Boilermakers, Iron, Steel and Tin workers.

The Boy Scouts with their bugle band and the Salvation Army band also took part in the parade.

The Fair was officially opened opened by Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, in an address of great interest to the farmers. Mr. Doherty is a pleasing speaker and his knowledge of agricultural problems is practical. At one time he was an instructor at the Provincial Agricultural College at Guelph and is a practical farmer and stockman.

A new feature of the Fair is the Made-in-Belleville exhibit, which is an eye-opener to many citizens, showing that many necessary articles are made in Belleville and should be purchased by Belleville folks not only in a spirit of loyalty to home institutions, but because they are better value than those brought from a distance.

With the cancelling of the races the crowd spent the afternoon inspecting exhibits, visiting, watching the baseball game and other sports or taking in the Midway attractions. Some of the more daring ones essayed flights in the airplane taxi service and looked down on the fair city from above. Aviators Dobbie and Curtiss did a good business with their aerial taxi. The afternoon was pleasantly passed without further showers, although clouds threatened, and the first day closed with bright hopes for better weather for the second and third day.

Poultry.

Upon entering the grounds and going in a westerly direction the first building encountered is that where the poultry exhibit is to be seen. The display is a creditable one and fowls of various breeds are to be seen. This is an exhibit which is both interesting and profitable to visitors at the fair. Chief among the exhibitors are J. W. Holley, Mrs. Geo. Nayler, H. Curtis, J. Livesay, J. B. Archibald, G. L. Bliss, A. S. Large, A. Martin and W. Vasseau.

Horses.

While the display of horses on the opening day was not large, the entries are numerous and include several classes, from ponies to Percherons. Some fine specimens of horse-flesh are to be seen and competition in some of the classes is bound to be keen. Among those entering animals are the following: Chas. Mills, R. Collins, Job Reid, E. B. Finkle, Col. W. N. Ponton, H. Alyea, A. Wright, S. A. Wellbanks, A. C. Dafoe, F. Robinson, C. Benedict, E. Bonisteel, Ed. Vermilyea, Geo. F. Hamilton, H. Yateman, A. Watson and H. Bush.

Cattle, Sheep and Swine.

In cattle, sheep and swine the exhibit made is most creditable, especially in cattle. Many of the best breeds are to be seen and are in a condition that is praiseworthy on the part of the exhibitors. While the Holstein seems to be preferable to many, there are other breeds which do not take a second place. Col. Ponton of this city, shows a number of fine cattle, and other exhibitors are J. R. Harry, Fred Hillman, G. W. Jarrell, A. E. Phillips and G. W. Collins. The chief exhibitors of sheep and swine are R. J. Garbutt, W. A. Martin, H. Curtis, L. Parr and W. Poole.

Seeds and Vegetables.

That this section of the country is capable of raising fine seeds and vegetables is demonstrated by the display made. Some corn stalks upwards of 12 feet in length were to be seen, also fine specimens of corn on the ear. The seeds shown were of a superior quality, while the vegetables were all that could be desired. It was one of the best exhibits ever seen at a Belleville Fair. The display of fruit was also excellent and especially apples. In this department the chief exhibitors were C. H. Ketcheson T. Coulter, W. Calbert, W. A. Martin, J. Weese, G. F. Reid, G. N. Phillips and J. E. Robinson.

Dairy Products.

An excellent showing of dairy products is to be seen in the main building, and it is certainly tempting to the eye. In this class the exhibitors are J. Wilkinson, E. Carter, J. Latta, W. Latta and J. Henderson.

Cheese.

Belleville district has a national reputation for the manufacture of cheese and a large display is made from various cheese factories in this locality. Both white and colored are shown and the competition for the prizes offered will be keen.

Main Building.

It was promised that one of the features of the fair this year would be the Made-in-Belleville exhibit arranged under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, showing the many and varied manufactures of Belleville, and in this respect it is not disappointing but most gratifying.

Natural Tread Shoes.

The Natural Tread Shoe Company have an excellently arranged exhibit of their ware which is in charge of Mr. W. Wheeler.

Canada Steel.

The Steel Company of Canada make a special display of horse shoes in various styles, which is well arranged.

Springer Locks.

The display of locks, etc., made at the Springer Lock Works is one that is much admired. Locks of various sizes and designs are to be seen and many are intricate in their make. Many were the expressions of surprise that such fine articles can be made in this city.

Deacon Shirts.

The Deacon Shirt Company have an artistically arranged display of shirts which are manufactured at their factory on Coleman street. Nothing but the best of material and workmanship is the motto of this well known shirt company.

Judge-Jones Flour.

The Judge-Jones Milling Company make a fine display of their products, chiefly flour, which is arranged in such a manner as to captivate the eye.

Soft Drinks.

Mr. J. B. Ives, head of the Belleville Bottling Works, has made an excellent display of soft drinks made by this well known local firm. It is certainly tempting in appearance.

Weed Harvester.

The Weed Harvester Company have on exhibition one of their celebrated weeders and it was the object of much scrutiny on the part of agriculturists who visited the fair.

Wood Valves.

The Wood air-tight valve, which is manufactured in this city, was to be seen, and its use was explained by those in charge of the exhibit.

(Continued on page 2)

Anglo-Saxons Must Unite in Mighty Peace Treaty

"ARCHITECT OF BRIDGE OF GOLD" MAKES STIRRING PLEA FOR UNITED EFFORT TO KEEP PEACE IN WAR-WEARY WORLD—CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY.

Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to Washington, and "architect of the bridge of gold that is to join the British Empire and the United States in bonds of better understanding" in an address before the luncheon of the Canadian Bar Association at Ottawa, in burning words, pulsating with life and vigor, placed his finger on the fundamental truths of world unrest, declaring that the war was not responsible for the unrest, but that unrest was responsible for the war. This situation he ascribed to the present industrial civilization. This civilization, he predicted, would collapse in untold misery and suffering if the Anglo-Saxon nations did not unite in a mighty effort to keep peace in a war-weary world.

Saw Squalid Conditions.

Sir Auckland, as recruiting officer for the Mother Country during a period of the war, said he had exceptional opportunities for observing the squalor in which a large percentage of the industrial population lived, denied the rights of matrimony, children and homes.

Different people, he explained, gave reasons for the present unrest, such as the war and the high cost of living, but he emphatically stated that the fundamental cause lay far back in the pulsing hearts of thousands, bound down, by an industrial civilization. Sir Auckland's address was a special and powerful plea for a higher and better understanding, and action toward relief.

Continued Rounds of Applause.

Comprehensive, clear-cut and vigorous, Sir Auckland's words found a place in the hearts of his hearers. This was evidenced by the continued rounds of applause.

In graphic word picture after picture Sir Auckland showed the effects of the present industrial civilization. Unrest he classified as being industrial and geographical, citing India and other eastern countries as examples of the geographical unrest. This division was, he said, directly traceable to the contact of European and Eastern civilizations.

Industrial Unrest.

As proof of the statement that unrest was one of the main causes of the war, Sir Auckland stated that prior to the conflict, Great Britain had a great many more strikes than during or since the war.

The British ambassador did not believe unrest could be ascribed to conspiracies, although there undoubtedly were plottings. This phase could not be wiped out until the slime in which it bred was cleaned up.

Is Not a Lawyer.

Mr. Justice Mignault, introducing Sir Auckland Geddes, said that he was not a lawyer, but he had attained special eminence in a sphere where lawyers might well be laymen, namely, in the sphere of national service. Prior to the war, Sir Auckland was a professor in McGill, but the clarion call of war had called him to the service of his country. There he held many posts, including those of Minister of Reconstruction and President of the Board of Trade. The chair of the university was too small to hold so big a man, and in Washington he was promoting good and cordial, and even intimate relations between Canada and the republic to the south, and the British Empire. Sir Auckland's address, coming between that of Hon. Mr. Taft and Hon. H. B. F. Macfarlane, was a connecting link between the two countries.

Sir Auckland was greeted with cheers on rising to speak.

Sir Auckland said that he found difficulty to express his appreciation of the kindness shown him. He would be glad to be here for a month, and regarded the opportunity to speak as a real privilege.

The problem of world unrest was the vital problem of the day. He had heard many reasons ascribed to the great questioning that had seized the world. He did not believe it was a gigantic conspiracy in the underworld. There were mischievous people stirring up trouble, but he regarded them as mosquitoes carrying malaria and fevers. There was a human satisfaction in swatting them, but they would not be got rid of until the pools and slime from which they drew life were cleaned. Some people said it was due to after war conditions. It might be due to economic reasons. Sir Auckland did not believe these were adequate explanations. The dispersion of the European gold hoard and its concentration in the United States was one of the reasons for the economic difficulty. There had been a shattering of markets. All these things added to the unrest. He did not believe they were the cause.

Some said men's minds had been trained to think things could be gained by force, and men were seizing this means of attaining their ends. There was unrest in 1914. The war was a product of the world unrest and not a cause.

Pre-War Conditions.

Great Britain had more colossal strikes before the war than since.

"I believe the unrest is something deep in the hearts of modern nations. It springs directly from the results and effects of the industrial evolution," he said. There was more than one unrest; there was industrial unrest and geographical unrest, as in India.

"I would like to speak of the unrest within the body politic of the Empire, and then the geographical," he said.

Unexpected Conditions.

During the war Sir Auckland conducted recruiting in the mother country, and found conditions quite unexpected. Physical unfitness on a scale not realized; unorganized families, men moving as trade moved, and men with minds warped by their occupations. He instanced the cases of men tending machines, who had been denied the right to create. After years their minds revolted or their minds became comatose, and their greatest ambition was to get drunk on Saturday and stay drunk until Monday, in order to forget their surroundings.

He had found men living alone, and no one caring where they came from or whither they went. Thousands of these people had not been able to marry, and hence had been denied the divine right of having children. This, and the voices of the children slain by the slums, speaking across the grave, were making for unrest. The industrialized countries of the world were all in the same conditions; all industrialized countries had periods of prosperity, and these suffered under depression. It was impossible to raise healthy families. These were the pre-war conditions of Europe, and he did not doubt it had been the same in America, although the wide spaces cared for many.

Its Breeding Ground.

"It is in these places I look for the world unrest," he said.

It was industrial life that gave control of lands far overseas. In some of them the population vanished before the diseases of Europe. In other countries this was not the case, and the populations continued and prospered. It would be noticed that these countries were connected by land with Europe. They formerly had been autocratic countries. Into them had come the human symbol of Europe. From this the people learned that these men sent to them as governors, received their power from the people, and not from God. This was one of the causes for geographical unrest.

Centres in Industry.

Sir Auckland added to this all the plotting of the world, but declared it all centred in the industrial life of the nations. The solution was a work for many years. The nations of European stock must keep peace, if civilization was to remain for future generations. Unrest must be carried away, or civilization would collapse, killed from its very heart.

That friendship between the nations must be based on a close sympathy between the component nations of the British Empire and the United States. He doubted that it could stand for many years on any other foundation. Canada was especially placed to build the golden bridge of sympathy between the Empire and the United States. Canada could wipe out ignorance and animosity, and take the first essential step along the pathway to a world of peace and justice.

War Would Wreck World.

If by any chance war came between English speaking peoples, he would be a foolhardy man to look for any peace. Collapse would follow collapse. Canada's responsibility was plain, said Sir Auckland.

"I know you will take that chance to build the bridge to peace, justice and the safety of civilization," he concluded.

The Architect.

Mr. Hance Logan, in moving the vote of thanks, referred to Sir Auckland as "the architect of the golden bridge to bind the Anglo-Saxon races." In glowing words he painted a word picture of Sir Auckland Geddes' career and said that he was a Canadian by adoption. When Sir Auckland's work for the Empire was done he would be welcomed back to Canada with the same warm hearted welcome tendered him on this occasion. Mr. Logan paid compliments to Lord Cave and Hon. W. H. Taft. The Bar Association had been very fortunate in its speakers.

In reply to the motion, Sir Auckland said: "There is nothing for me to say except "Thank you."

Freight Train Seized by Band of Men

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A freight train seized here last night by a band of men, believed to be members of the striking "outlaw" switchmen, was found early today near Bensonville, Ills., with the throttle wide open and the twenty-one freight cars apparently untouched. Several battles between freight crows and bands of the striking switchmen, who never regained their jobs, preceded the theft of the train, which occurred shortly before midnight in the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul yards at Cicero, a suburb.

Thomas White, the engineer, was driven from his post at the point of a gun, and when Bert Zimpone, the fireman, resisted, he was badly beaten.

White immediately gave the alarm, and after several hours search the train was found. Railroad officials believe the throttle had been pulled wide open and the train then abandoned by those who stole it. It had apparently run down for lack of steam. Five suspects were taken into custody by the police.

Arabs Capture Armored Train

Four Thousand Insurgents in Mesopotamia Overpower Crew After Defense.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—A Mesopotamian communication received by the War Office today says that the garrison of the camp at the St. Mawas Railway station, previously reported as besieged, was withdrawn to the town of St. Mawaas on September 2.

In the course of this operation an armored train broke down, and was rushed by 4,000 insurgents. The train crew made a resolute defence, and are said to have inflicted 500 casualties on their assailants, but were finally overpowered, and are reported missing to the number of forty, including two officers.

A field gun, a Lewis gun, three machine guns and forty boxes of ammunition were lost with the train.

Death of Baroness Macdonald

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Baroness Macdonald, of Earnscliffe, widow of the great Canadian Premier, Sir John A. Macdonald, died on Sunday, it is announced. Baroness Macdonald, who was born in 1836, was given that title in her own right on the death of her husband in recognition of his public services.

Poland May Declare War on Lithuania

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Polish Government has appealed to the League of Nations requesting its mediation in the Polish-Lithuanian dispute. Unless an improvement occurs in the situation Poland will be compelled to declare war on Lithuania. The communication declares that an unprovoked attack has been made on Polish troops by Lithuanian forces. The League of Nations is considering the appeal.

Oil prospectors stake territory for three miles along the shore of Lake Timiskaming.

Lithuanians attack the Poles, driving them back twenty miles.

Offers to Free MacSwiney if Murders of Police End

CORRESPONDENT OF LONDON DAILY NEWS ON PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE'S SPECIAL TRAIN STATES THAT GUARANTEE THAT ASSASSINATIONS SHALL END WILL BE FOLLOWED BY THE RELEASE OF ALL HUNGER STRIKERS.

LONDON, Tuesday, Sept. 7.—The Daily News, in a despatch from the train on which Premier Lloyd George is returning from Lucerne to London, credits the Premier with saying that he is prepared to release Lord Mayor MacSweeney and the other hunger-strikers if guarantees are given that police murders in Ireland cease.

A despatch to the London Times from Viege, Switzerland, quotes David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, as saying that if guarantees are given that the murder of policemen in Ireland will cease the Premier is convinced that Lord Mayor MacSweeney and the other hunger strikers will be released from prison.

According to the Times, the Premier said that not a single one of the deluge of appeals for clemency offered the slightest assurance that killings would be stopped. He added that the unconditional release of the imprisoned men would be disastrous to the morale of the Irish police and make government in Ireland impossible.

The acting-medical officer at Cork Prison, it is officially announced, received today a letter signed "One of the First Brigade of the Irish Republican Army," ordering him to leave the jail forthwith and the country within twenty-four hours, as his professional attendance on the hunger strikers "gives a tinge of legality to the slow murder perpetrated upon them." In the accompanying statement from Dublin Castle, the Government emphasizes its sole responsibility, and says that the doctor had recommended the release of the prisoners on medical grounds, which the Government would not accept, and that the doctor's responsibility was confined solely to medical measures.

Enver Pasha Commander of Reds Mobilized Against India

THEY INCLUDE THE BOLSHEVIKI FORCES IN THE CAUCASUS, AFGHANISTAN, PERSIA AND TURKESTAN—REGARDED AS MANOEUVRE TO FORCE ENGLAND TO MAKE PEACE WITH RUSSIA

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—At the request of Premier Lenine and War Minister Trotzky, of the Soviet Government, Enver Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader, has been made commander-in-chief of the Bolshevist forces mobilized against India, according to advices received here from Moscow. It includes the Bolshevik troops in the Caucasus, Persia, Afghanistan and Turkestan, the despatches declare.

Enver spent two days at the Red army headquarters at Smolensk with Trotzky, and thereafter was received with much ceremony by Lenine at Moscow.

In diplomatic circles the move by Moscow is regarded largely as a manoeuvre to force England to a quicker peace with Russia.

Belleville Citizens Respond Sunshine Succeeds Sorrow

IMMEDIATE WANTS OF FAMILY WHERE SICKNESS OF FATHER HAS DEPRIVED MOTHER AND CHILDREN OF NECESSITIES AND COMFORTS, RELIEVED BY KINDLY CITIZENS—OPPORTUNITY NOW TO MAKE THEM WARM, SNUG AND HAPPY FOR THE WINTER.

The immediate and hearty response to The Intelligencer's appeal for assistance for a family in dire need is very gratifying, showing that the hearts of the citizens of Belleville are warm and generous and suffering will not be allowed to go unrelieved. The appeal was made Thursday's paper, and ere the ink was dry contributions began to com n.

A month's rent has been paid in advance for the apartments occupied by the family in question, their immediate wants have been supplied, and their future needs will no doubt be cared for, judging by the response to the appeal of this newspaper to our readers.

Three little children, all under five years of age, the father ill in bed, winter coming on with its demands for fuel, food, medicine and clothing, necessitates a considerable sum of money and supplies, and there is no doubt the kind-hearted citizens of Belleville will see that there is no danger of the wolf returning to that door-step.

The following subscriptions have been received thus far:

Contributions.
T. W. L.	$ .50
Geo. Thompson	1.00
J. H. Hanna	1.00
T. Donohue	1.00
McLaughlin Co. and Staff	7.00
Ritchie Co. and Staff	15.00
Dr. Alex. Ray	2.00
Mrs. A. I. Bird	5.00
A Friend	5.00
A Friend	17.00
Mrs. Bert Campbell—Quart of milk per day.
Mr. Shniffer	2.00
A Friend	1.00
E. T. Austin	1.00
Chief Brown	1.00
Robert Orr	1.00
C. F. Cochrane	1.00
A Friend	2.00
A Friend	.50
M. Hatt	2.00
Sympathizer	1.00
Mrs. G. Dobbs	1.00
Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn	5.00
Hiram Ibey	1.00
S. Rickett	1.00
Warren's Bakery—Bread daily.
H. W. Ackerman	10.00
Vickers' Bakery—Bread.
G. B. Jones	5.00
J. H. Fry	2.00
Miss Emma Bowen	1.00
Well Wisher	2.00
J. P. Huck	1.00
Mrs. J. C. Westley	1.00
Mrs. Wm. Mullett	2.00

Special
Values on all
Summer
Shoes
—
Adams
The Shoeman

WHAN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

Wallbridge & Clarke's
AMERICAN BLEND
COFFEE
"Try it for a change
65c lb.

[illegible] Clover Extracted Honey, 5 & 8 lb. tins
Libby's Mayonnaise Salad Dressing .. 30c.
Pure Olive Oil, bottles .... 35c. & 60c.
Pure Olive Oil, pint tins $1.25
Mazola Oil, for salads or cooking
In pint, quart and gallon tins.
Royal Flavoring Extracts—all kinds.
Flavoring Extracts in Tubes—all kinds.
[illegible]—sweet or hot.
Two Minute Oats, pkg. .... 20c.
[illegible] Grape Juice, pints .... 35c.
[illegible], 2 pkgs. .... 25c.
Celery, well bleached .... 10c.
FAR EAST TEA, ½ lb. pkgs. .... 40c.
Very flavory and refreshing.
Fine Black Teas .... 70c., 80c. and 90c. lb.
At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
BY Alex Ray, Opt.D.
A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!
BILL FOR GLASSES

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

GRASS FIRE

Saturday afternoon the fire brigade was called to the corner of Dundas street and Bleeker avenue to extinguish a grass fire. No damage resulted.

OVERCOAT STOLEN

Mr. Ben Clarke, R.R. No 1 reports to the police that on Wedneday last an overcoat was stolen from his auto which was left at the agricultural park during the progress of a ball game.

DEATH OF INFANT

An infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marner residing in the 2nd concession of Thurlow township died on Sunday. The funeral on Tuesday was conducted by Rev. A.S. Kerr of St. Andrew's church, city.

TOOK HORSE AND BUGGY

Saturday evening a bay horse attached to a buggy the property of Mr. T.A. Murdoff of Sidney Township was taken from a shed in the rear of the Crystal Hotel in this city. The loss was reported to the police and later the property was recovered. Who drove the horse away was not ascertained.

THREE YEARS SENTENCE

Henry Roy Evans, who some days ago pleaded guilty to the theft of $164 from R. Gatcum of Patterson ST., city appeared before Magistrate Masson for sentence. His worship after commenting upon the seriousness of the offence sentenced Evans to three years in the penitentiary.

LEAK IN GAS PIPE

On Sunday afternoon police officer White discovered a leak in the gas main that extends over the upper bridge. Some person, presumably a boy had applied a match to the leak which made a considerable blaze. Fire men from No. 2 hall put the blaze out and the gas department was notified of the occurrence.

BOOTLEGGERS CHASED.

Provincial Officer J. Warren engaged in a spectacular gun fight with suspected bootleggers between Mallorytown and Rockport on Saturday, the suspects escaping in their car in a fog, in spite of the fact that Warren gave chase in another auto. License Inspector F. B. Taber and Officer Warren seized sixteen cases of liquor among the islands near Rockport on the same day.

FINE MUSICAL ORGANIZATION

The Salvation Army band of Oshawa, a fine musical organization, came to Belleville on Saturday and remained here until last evening. On Saturday evening at the junction of Front and Bridge streets and Victoria Avenue and Front Street they rendered a number of selections which were highly appreciated. On Sunday the band assisted in the services at the Army Citadel and in the afternoon were at Victoria Park and gave a delightful program. The organization is composed of good musicians.

C S TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS E BY Firelighter T

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT SNAKES?

With the exception of rattlesnakes, none of the twenty-seven or so species found in Canada are poisonous, and as they feed chiefly on insect pests and destructive rodents, they are far more useful to the farmer than most of us realize. The principal foods are slugs, snails, insect larvae, beetles, crickets, grasshoppers, caterpillars, frogs, toads, small fish (suckers, catfish, etc.) crayfish, gophers, meadow mice, house mice and young rats, which accounts for the presence of snakes about barns and granaries. Small snakes are sometimes eaten by larger ones, and some species eat rattlesnakes without suffering ill effects.

The outer skin does not grow larger along with the snake, therefore it must be replaced from time to time by one of more ample proportions. Adults shed this outer skin three or four times in a season, while young, growing specimens require a new skin more frequently.

A snake's soft forked tongue is absolutely harmless, as are also the short backward-curving teeth. Located in the upper jaw of the poisonous species are two long hollow fangs, which are connected with the poison glands, situated in the sides of the head. Near the point of each fang is a slit through which the poison is ejected into the wound. When not in use the fangs fold back against the roof of the mouth. If shed or broken they are soon replaced. A venomous snake never springs bodily at its victim and it is physically impossible for one to strike more than two-thirds of its length.

It is estimated that only two per cent. of the persons bitten by venomous North American snakes die as a result.

—Firelighter.

Store Employees Given Voice in Management

Interesting Experiment In Large New York Department Store.

The republican form of government for employees, introduced in certain industrial plants throughout the country, has been adopted by a large New York department store.

Employees of this store, numbering 1,700, have a voice in virtually all matters affecting their relations with the management, through elective bodies modelled after the bicameral system of representation prevailing in the government of the United States.

The employees elect members of their house of representatives and senate directly, while the executive department, consisting of a cabinet of five, is named by the corporation officials. The judiciary functions are carried out by a joint justice committee from the legislative bodies. All branches of the store government derive their powers from a constitution somewhat similar to the constitution of the nation.

The fixing of wage scales and working conditions are included in the broad powers of the house and senate, while the justice committee may bring about the expulsion of an employee from the concern, or if they find a worker has been unjustly discharged, they can have him reinstated. The acts of the legislature may be vetoed by the cabinet, but this has not been necessary as yet, it was said by officials of the concern.

Improvement of the service rendered by the store to its customers is the aim of much of the legislation enacted by the workers, but the bettering of the morale of the force of employees also brings many bills to the floor of the house and senate, which convene one day each week.

Recently a bill providing for the installation of a motion picture machine to provide movies in the building was passed and the management is to spend $5,000 a year in carrying out its provisions. Another act provided for the location and installation of new individual lockers in the basement where employees might hang their coats and hats.

Passing much of the responsibility for the conduct of the institution on to the shoulders of the employees has brought about many improvements, most of them originating in suggestions which are made to the suggestion committee of the house and senate at the rate of more than 50 a week. Employees are paid cash prizes for all suggestions put into use and no suggestion is rejected until an investigation has been made by the committee.

An increase in the earning power of each employee is one of the purposes of the new store government and economy dividends are paid on the saving in the percentage of operating expense. A merit system has been inaugurated by the workers, grades for each employee being made out monthly on a basis of their ability, experience and co-operative work. An average grade is reached by balancing those turned in for all workers by their direct superiors, floor managers, buyers, assistant buyers and department heads. Salaries go up along with the ratings and promotions are based on them.

The house of representatives membership is elected directly by all of the workers except department heads and their assistants. These two groups elect the senators of whom there are 14 compared with 16 representatives. Half the membership of each body changes semi-annually, the electors holding office one year. The five standing committees from each body include those on justice, co-operation economy and service.

As soon as this industrial democracy plan has gone beyond its infancy, its originators hope to take the public into the organization in some way. Already observance of the wishes of customers by employees has resulted in bills directed toward making shopping more pleasant and suggestions for other changes are expected to come from outside after the government grows beyond the embryonic stage.

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. s4-3t

POSTUM doesn't
"let you down"
Many coffee drinkers who have tried the change to Postum feel better; and know
"There's a Reason"

Wet Weather Mars Opening

(Continued from page 1)

Owen's Home.

The Belleville Sash & Door Company had an excellent and varied display of manufactured articles which enter into the building of a home or an industrial plant. In consisted of doors, panels, window sash, etc.

Sewing Machines.

The Singer Sewing Machine Company have on display a number of these widely known machines and the operation of them was exemplified.

Evaporated Vegetables.

Evaporated vegetables, soups, etc., made by Grahams Limited was a display that attracted the attention of many. In addition to the above, boxes containing dried fruit were shown.

Gasoline Hoists.

The Marsh Engineering Works had on display one of their gasoline hoists and its mechanism and mode of operation was to be seen.

Electric Time Savers.

Electric irons, electric sweepers, and other electric appliances useful to housewives were to be seen in the space utilized by the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario. "Let Hydro Serve You" is the motto displayed.

Ladies' Hats.

Hats made in Belleville by the Toronto Hat Company, Limited, was a display that attracted the attention of the fair sex. It was a fine display of ladies' and children's headwear.

Women in Wax.

The same can be said of the wax figures made here by the A. S. Richardson Company, Limited. The figures are very realistic and are used to demonstrate their worth in making a display of ladies' garments and headwear.

Flooring.

In a tent adjoining the main building the Elliott Machinery Company has on exhibition their product in a machine used for grinding and milling purposes.

Experimental Farm.

In the main building the display of the Dominion Experimental Farm must not be overlooked. Here is to be seen samples of various grains, and other products of the soil, also samples of strained honey.

Ladies' Exhibit.

The exhibit of ladies' handiwork is perhaps the most extensive and best seen at a fair here. It not only shows the dexterity of the ladies, but hours of tedious and careful work. Fine arts are also to be seen and some of the etchings show great skill. The following are among the exhibitors in the ladies' work department: Mrs. S. Pennock, Mrs. W. A. McColl, Mrs. S. A. Lockwood, Mrs. M. Coulter, Mrs. W. H. Phillips, Mrs. Orval Gent, Miss Annie Freeman, Miss Keitha Lloyd, Miss Helen Ketcheson.

The Opening.

Shortly after two o'clock, when the labor parade had reached the grounds the fair was opened, and speech-making was the order for some time.

Mr. H. K. Denyes, M.P.P., President of the Fair Association, in opening the proceedings, stated that whilst rain had interfered with the fair, it had, however, done much good to outstanding crops. It was unfortunate that the track was not in a condition for the speeding events, but wou'd possibly be so for the next day. The association was greatly favored in having as a guest the Hon. Manning Doherty, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, who would speak to the assemblage.

Hon. Mr. Doherty was accorded a hearty reception upon rising to speak, and in his opening remarks referred to the pleasure it gave him to accept the invitation of Mr. Denyes to be present at the opening of the fair. He also spoke eulogistically of Mr. Denyes as a representative in the Legislature. Belleville was not a new place for him to visit as he had been here on previous occasions on business. Belleville district was noted in the province as an agricultural centre, and he was particularly pleased that today labor was assisting in the celebration of the opening of the fair. What we want in this country is a unison of feeling with all classes of citizens. There should be no antagonism between residents of cities and the rural parts. The man who works should have remuneration for what he produces. We want a unity of purpose throughout the whole country. Good old Ontario had been blessed with an abundant crop and the western provinces will this year produce 250,000,000 bushels of wheat. Agriculture was important to this country and now that the crop is assured there is already an alteration in exchange. We are all proud of the fact that the prosperity of the country is assured. We are all happy that Providence has blessed us with such crops. It was essential that we should have a good crop this year. There are thousands of acres of land in this country that are still uncultivated. Canada has a great debt, about $50 for every person in Canada, but Canada will repay her debt. The stamina of the people is such that they will pay what they owe. We have passed through years that called for sacrifices, but there are sacrifices yet to be made in the years before us. We have a debt of some two billions, but this debt could be paid in one year from the products of the soil in Canada. That was an evidence of the capabilities of the country. We are passing through a period of unrest in the country. He was not a believer in fads and the high cost of living will not be relieved until there is increased production, not only in agriculture but in other pursuits. This will bring things back to normal. There was no country better to live in than Canada. We have less unrest and more contentment than in any other country. He congratulated the President and directors upon having a three days' fair in Belleville. To the farmers he would say that the market for farm products is open and live stock will be in good demand. The markets will fluctuate and it will test the nerve of the agriculturist, but it is an honor for a man to labor. We have to readjust our opinions of men and we have to value men by the service they can render to their country. He hoped the Belleville fair would be a success in every respect. (Applause).

An opportunity was given a labor representative to speak, but none appeared and the speech-making was brought to a close and a programme of sports carried out.

Sporting Events.

It was a disappointment to many present that the speeding events were not carried out owing to the soft condition of the track from the downpour of rain during Sunday night and early Monday morning. A tug of war took place between teams representing employees of the Steel Company of Canada, the boiler makers of the G. T. R. and the Marsh Engineering Company. The Steel Company of Canada team proved easy victors.

Baseball.

A baseball match took place between the St. Michael's team of this city and the Deloro team. Considering the condition of the diamond it was a good game and St. Michael's proved the victor by a score of 6 to 4. At times good ball was played by both teams. H. Smith, pitcher for the winning team, had good control of the ball and was well supported. Scharmel, pitcher for Deloro did fairly well. Mr. Ed. Thomas was umpire on balls and strikes and Mr. Walter Gerow on bases. Both filled the positions in an acceptable manner. The score by innings was as follows:

St. Michael's . . 0 2 0 0 0 3 1 0 x—6
Deloro . . . . . 0 0 0 3 0 0 0 0 1—4

The line up of the teams was as follows:

St. Michael's—Woodley, r.f., Wilkinson, 3b.; J. Smith, c.; Parker, c.f.; W. Miles, 2b.; Young, 1b.; Armstrong, s.s.; Cornell, l.f.; H. Smith, p.

Deloro—Feeney, 2b.; Drennan, s.s.; Regan, c.f.; Scharmel, p.; Meloche, 1b.; Drusso, 3b.; Berry, l.f.; Kerr, r.f.; Evans, c.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"BABES IN THE WOOD" AT GRIFFIN'S THIS THURSDAY

The master effort of Mr. F. Stuart Whyte in his pantomime, "Babes in the Wood," which comes to Griffin's next Thursday night, Sept. 9th, for one night only. Other years have had these English productions under his supervision, and they have all been popular, but this year the acme of gorgeousness is presented. Seventeen magnificent scenes painted and costumed by artists of renown comprise the stage pictures, while forty people take part in the entertainment. The dancing this year is under the direct supervision of Mme. Jean Van Vlisingen, who possesses the unique distinction of being the tutor of Isadore Duncan, and with her are Audrey Burnham, Arline Goldsby, Elsie Spielman, and Gloria Thompson, sprightly little queens of terpischore. Wee Dorothy MacKay is the dainty leading lady, and six famous fun makers headed by George H. Summers, will furnish the dancing features. Little Gloria Thompson will play "Cupid" and all through the story creates the love interest with charming grace and appeal.

"THE WEB OF DECEIT"

Today brings Dolores Cassinelli, the cameo girl, to the screen of the Palace Theatre in her new picture, "The Web of Deceit." Realizing Miss Cassinelli's splendid emotional ability, Finis Fox designed this story to supply the beautiful star with every opportunity to bring out her talent. Taking two girls who bear a resemblance in features but widely differ as to dispositions, the author has woven a clever and dramatic story in which the selfish girl, by trickery, lies and deceit, gets the riches she craved, though they belonged to the other.

The action of "The Web of Deceit" takes place on a charming New England farm and in New York City and fashionable Long Island. Marguerite Courtrot and George B. Seitz appear on the same program in a thrilling story of adventure and daring, "Bound and Gagged"; a Canadian News Pictorial, and a funny Snub Pollard comedy will also be presented.

WALLACE REID AND WANDA HAWLEY AT GRIFFIN'S

An excellent varied bill of screen entertainment is being presented at Griffin's tonight and Wednesday night, consisting of the screen's most popular co-starring team, Wallace Reid and Wanda Hawley, in an amusing 5-part screen offering, "You're Fired," a Canadian News Pictorial, a very funny 2-reel Sunshine comedy, "The Roaming Bathtub," a Burton Holmes Travelogue, "Parisian Faces and Figures," and Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack."

SINCLAIR'S
THE FALL SEASON
Has Arrived at
SINCLAIR'S
and we are now making our first display of New Fall Styles in Ladies' Fall Coats
Ladies' Fall Suits
Ladies' Silk Dresses
Ladies' Jersey Dresses
Ladies' Serge Dresses
Ask to See these New Fall Garments

Penmen's Silk Hosiery at Little More than Half Price
$3 Hose for $1.75 $2 Hose for $1.19
Every woman knows that the name "PENMAN'S" stands for the very best in Knitted Goods of all kinds, and Penman's Silk Hose are in a class by themselves.
For this special Hosiery Sale, beginning Monday, we offer about Thirty Dozen Penman's Black Silk Stockings, in sizes 8½, 9, 9½ and 10 inches, and will sell the regular
$2.00 Black Silk Hose for .... $1.19 a pair
$3.00 Black Ribbed Top Silk Hose for $1.75
$3.00 Black Glove Silk Hose for $1.75

Clearing Sale Prices
Ladies' Black & Colored
Silk Dresses
We have about 50 of these Dresses in Ladies' and Misses' sizes, in Black and Colored Silks, and in order to make room for new fall goods, we clear these as follows:
Regular $19.50 to $27.50 Dresses, for .. $17.50
Regular $32.50 to $47.50 Dresses, for .. $27.50
SINCLAIR'S

Lawrence Wilson Company
87 St. James Street
Montreal
ALL ENQUIRIES RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION
Licensed by Quebec Government Since Thirty Years

DIED

HINCHEY—In Belleville on Monday, September 6th, 1920, Mary Ann Hinchey, wife of John Hinchey, aged 66 years.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 142 Church street, tomorrow (Wednesday) at 2.30 p.m. Service at the house at 2 o'clock. Interment Belleville cemetery.

Delicious in the Cup.

"SALADA"
TEA
3721

has no equal for quality and flavour.

If you have not tried Salada, send us a post card for a free sample, stating the price you now pay and if you use Black, Green or Mixed Tea. Address Salada, Toronto

-- PALACE --

Tonight & Wednesday Matinee Daily

MARGUERITE COURTROT
in "BOUND AND GAGGED"

A novel serial of intermingled laughs, thrills and excitement and suspense.

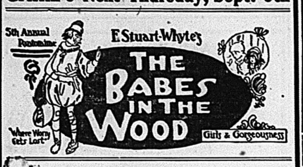
—ALSO—

DOLORES CASSINELLI
the Beautiful,
in "THE WEB OF DECEIT"

A woman's life drama—the cross-section of her heart.

SNUB POLLARD COMEDY—OTHER VARIED PLAYS

Griffin's Next Thursday, Sept. 9th



40 - PEOPLE - 40

…amful of laughter, feminine beauty robed in dazzling cos… …real melody and surprising novelties.

…CES—50c. to $2.00. Seats Thursday, Griffin's, 10 a.m.

Decorating
Is Useless if Not Correct.
Consult an expert when you contemplate decorating your home or your church. He will cost you less and serve you best, who knows how.
Command—

C. B. Scantlebury
Designer & Decorator.

BATTERIES
Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS
REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery
Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

TONIGHT AND WEDNES.

Wallace Reid
and Wanda Hawley
in "YOU'RE FIRED"

Canadian News Pictorial—Sunshine Comedy—Jack Dempsey—Burton Holmes Scenic.

COMING FRIDAY
NAZIMOVA in "Rosebush of a Thousand Years."

THRIFT CAMPAIGNS IN SOUTH AFRICA

Cape-Town, S. A., Sept. 3.—A number of economy and thrift campaigns have been organized in cities and towns throughout South Africa in an effort to bring down the prevailing high prices for food and clothing. Most of the organizers are women, and their main purpose is to induce greater simplicity in the make, material and number of dresses, and to aim at a simpler standard of living.

As an incentive towards thrift, some 150 savings clubs have been formed in the Cape Peninsula for the purpose of purchasing Union Government certificates. These are similar to the Canadian war savings stamps. Their popularity is spreading rapidly.

PROFITS TOO SWEET FOR CHICAGO JURY

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Four Chicago concerns were indicted by a Federal grand jury, charged with profiteering in sugar. Those indicted were: The Bunte Bros. Candy Co., Henderson Taylor and Co., Hadesman Bros., the Empire Wholesale Grocery Co.

The indictment includes officials of the concerns.

Sports

MISKE KNOCKED OUT IN THIRD ROUND

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 6.—Jack Dempsey knocked out Billy Miske in the third round of their scheduled 10-round bout for the heavyweight championship of the world here this afternoon. The end came after one minute and sixteen seconds of boxing in that round. A perfectly timed and powerfully delivered right cross to the jaw laid the St. Paul challenger low for the full count.

"He's Unbeatable"

Miske sitting in his corner after being revived made this statement:

"Dempsey is a better man than I am. That fellow hits too hard. The punch that floored me in the second round all but caved my ribs. I never was hit so hard in my life. The blow took all the steam out of me, and I had not recovered from its effects when the third round opened. I think Dempsey is unbeatable. There is not a heavyweight living that can stand up under his punches. I fought the best battle I could, but was beaten before I really got started.

Dr. Benson's trotter, K. L. Lambert, won the 2.50 class at Gananoque on Labor Day in three straight heats. Best time, 2.34¼.

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	95	43	.688
Toronto	95	45	.679
Buffalo	88	50	.638
Akron	83	52	.615
Reading	61	75	.449
Jersey City	54	86	.386
Rochester	42	96	.304
Syracuse	32	103	.237

Yesterday's Results.

Toronto	7	Rochester	1
Toronto	9	Rochester	5
Baltimore	6	Jersey City	4
Baltimore	13	Jersey City	5
Buffalo	9	Akron	0
Buffalo	1	Akron	1

Games today—Jersey City at Reading; Syracuse at Baltimore; Akron at Toronto; Rochester at Buffalo.

Social And Personal

Judge Fraleck and family returned Saturday from their summer outing at St. Ola.

Mr. Harold O'Neil of Toronto is the guest of his mother, Mrs. M O'Neil Lewis street.

Mrs. Claud Belnap, nee E. Marlow, spent the week end in Brighton visiting her mother and sister.

Mrs. Norey, 32 Harriet street has left for Detroit to attend the wedding of her son Arthur.

Miss Francis Stitt who has been visiting friends and acquaintances in the city for the ast few weeks, returned to her home in Montreal yesterday.

Mrs. A.I. Granner and daughter of Montreal, have been the guests of Mrs. John Bell who returned with them this morning as their guest, in Montreal.

Miss Mildred Wood who has charge of extensive social work in Clevland, O., spent the week end in Belleville the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. Maidens.

Mr. Geo. A. Reid, 76 Queen street, returned from a ten days' trip to Murray Bay, Que. where the convention of the 100.000 club of the Great West Life was held. He reports a large convention and a good time.

Hon. Manning Doherty, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, who opened Belleville Fair, was met upon his arrival Monday noon by a reception committee composed of H.K. Denyes, M.P.P., Mayor W.B. Riggs and Mr. W.H. Ackerman.

Mrs. Tim Truaisch and daughter, Miss Helen, who were visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Ashley since the old boys' reunion, have returned to their home at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. P. J. Wims, of Montreal, a former well known Belleville merchant, is in the city renewing acquaintances.

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson arrived home on Sunday from an extended trip in the west. He went as far as Victoria B.C., and visited several places in the

High School Books and Supplies, at GEEN'S. s4-3td

St. Simon's, O.A.L.A. senior champions, are willing to play Ottawa, E. C.L.A. title-holders, if the A.A.U of C. sanctions the series.

Lambs and calves suffered further price declines at the Union Stock Yards, Toronto.

Montreal interests acquire control of pulp and paper plant at Dryden, Ont.

Great War Finds Way Into Books in Public School

Grammar and Composition Take New Form—Modernized.

The sunburned girls and boys, with fresh memories of long, carefree summer days, now restless under starched collars and uneasy under the school rules and regulations of public school life, need not worry about grammar and composition. This year a brand new text book is being issued throughout the province called the "Public School Composition and Grammar." This is filled from cover to cover with material so different from old standard text books that to call it radical would not be amiss.

The new text book is compiled by H. W. Irwin, B.A., a teacher at Harbord Collegiate Institute, Toronto, and aided by Mr. Andrew Stevenson, of London Normal School, who was partly responsible for the incorporation of the grammar. It is being published by the Copp, Clark Company.

According to Mr. J. E. Wetherell, editor of text books, there are four distinct features of the book that make it entirely different from the books formerly used. In the first place, it is pointed out the elements of English grammar, a knowledge which is required for the clear and correct expression of thought, are introduced earlier and are incorporated in the various chapters on composition at the proper stages in the development of the subject. Then oral composition has been given a paramount consideration, as all good teachers of English recognize the fact that the ability of the pupil to speak correctly and fluently is of the first importance and is the best for written composition, which has too long monopolized the field.

More to Live Topics.

In the third place, Mr. Wetherell says less attention has been given than in former text books to themes for essays based on mythology, poetry and general literature, and more attention has been given to topics connected with the activities and observations of the pupils and with recent current events.

This last is one of the features that will tend to make the text book popular with the pupils. Gone are the prosy tales of musty ages, and in their places are bright stories of the late war, and those things which the children see every day. Sprinkled liberally through the book are reproductions of many of the best pictures from the Canadian War Memorials at Ottawa.

As a basis for a lesson in the introduction and conclusion of a story, is the graphic account of the way Major MacDowell of the 38th Canadian Battalion, won his Victoria Cross. On another page is shown a picture of Canadian troops rushing out from billets when the orderly corporal has cried "Mail up!" From this picture many a boy and girl will be asked to write a little story.

So from page to page, the knotty little questions in composition and grammar have been made interesting.

Technical Cut Down.

The fourth feature, which Mr. Wetherell points out is that the work in technical grammar in the second half of the book has been reduced to the smallest possible proportions in accordance with the requirements of the teachers in the province.

What a difference it will make for the small boy, instead of writing a description of a tale of ancient history or of something he has never seen, to be asked to write a description of "A returned soldier being greeted by his relatives."

As pointed out before, in this new textbook, the grammar is set forth in the pages on composition, so that when the pupil becomes more advanced and is required to wrestle with the 'sequence of tenses' or something similarly advanced for little folk, he will have acquired all the ground work unconsciously.

The new Composition and Grammar is an innovation which should turn a "dry" subject into pleasurable study for the children.

Four Death in Motor Accidents

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—Four persons met death in motor accidents over the week-end—two women, a sixteen-year-old boy and a nine-year-old boy.

Mrs. Mary Meredith, aged 32, of Hudson, Mich., was suffocated in the High Park marsh after her motor car had backed over a four-foot embankment; Mrs. Louisa Stefani, 187 Garden avenue, was killed in a collision on the Hamilton highway; Bernard Brintnell, 523 Soudan avenue, was knocked from his bicycle by an auto and fatally hurt at Eglinton avenue and Yonge street, and Harry Serkin, 1,014 West Dundas street, died on the way to the hospital after being run down by a motor car on Leonard Ave.

The capture of Urfa, in Asiatic Turkey, 75 miles from Diarpelin, by French forces is announced.

Rates for Telephone Service

OUR rates for exchange service, fixed many years ago, developed many inequalities as between cities at one time equal in population.

In the new schedules filed with the Board of Railway Commissioners we have so grouped cities and towns of approximately equal telephone development as to wipe out these inequalities.

The rates for exchange service proposed for Belleville under the new schedule are shown in the following table:—

	Proposed Monthly Rate
BUSINESS SERVICE
Individual Line	$3.50
2-Party Line	2.75
RESIDENCE SERVICE
Individual Line	$2.50
2-Party Line	2.00
Rural Party Service	2.00

These new rates, we submit, should be considered in the light of the present purchasing power of the dollar. They compare favorably with the increased rates which telephone companies have had to secure from Public Service Commissions all over the continent.

The commodities we have to buy—labor and material—have advanced in no lesser degree than have those staples of every day use, the cost of which has made present living expenses so high.

The Bell Telephone Company
of Canada

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST SERBIANS

Charges that the Serbian military forces have stopped a British and a Canadian mission from doing relief work in Montenegro are made by Alex Devine of Winchester in a statement he has just issued.

Mr. Devine describes himself as a friend of Montenegro whose "only interest in that country is that it shall have the chance of determining its own fate—a right that has been denied to Montenegrins alone of all the recognized allied nations, owing to the forcible seizure of their country by Serbian troops." Mr. Devine denies the report that he is a "paid agent" of Nicholas, formerly king of Montenegro.

Mr. Devine alleges that the British relief mission was prevented from entering Montenegro by the Serbian military forces acting on orders from Belgrade and under threats of violence was compelled to retired to a base in Italy.

According to Mr. Devine, the Canadian Medical Mission headed by Col. Burnham which had been operating in Montenegro for some time also has been stopped. He states that Colonel Burnham has appealed to the British Foreign Secretary for protection, informing the secretary that "the seriousness of the situation here, created by the Serbs, admits of no delay," and asking that the British government ensure the safety of the mission. Mr. Devine quotes Colonel Burnham as accusing the Serbians of seizing the boats and material of the mission and of terrorizing his people. Mr. Devine says:

"Colonel Burnham says that he has been threatened with assassination and that the mission is spied on to such an extent that even the sick are afraid to come to the hospital for relief. The Colonel adds:

"When the veil is lifted from the Ipek country there will be found a condition which will come as a rude shock to those who have put their confidence and given their help to Serbia. The reign of terror is complete, there are not many Montenegrins, and in another year there will be none left. The entire country is mourning and it is no longer possible for these people to exist. Many have lost their reason and all are in the direst distress. Montenegro is being done to death."

892

Painlessly remomves your corns or Ends your Bunion Torture. No appliances of metal, rubber, felt or leather. Scientific and ethical. Ask Central for above number, or call 29 Bridge St. E., Canadian Orthopedic Lab.

Serious Charge Against Trainman

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—In the police court yesterday morning, Frank McMahon, a conductor in the employ of the C.P.R., was arraigned before Judge Cusson, accused of being drunk while in charge of number 2 section of the Toronto-Montreal train, which leaves Windsor station at about 10 o'clock every night. Wednesday night, it is alleged by Constable Kitson, who made the arrest, the conductor was in such a state of intoxication when the train was due to pull out that another man had to be secured in his place.

When arraigned yesterday McMahon pleaded not guilty to the charge and at the request of J. J. Creelman, K.C., appearing for the prosecution, bail was set at the sum of $800. Enquete will be held on September 9.

Another C. P. R. employee was arraigned on a somewhat similar charge as McMahon. This man, Benoit Laurin, was, it is alleged, found in charge of the switches in the Outremont yards in a drunken condition by Constable Collis, of the C.P.R. police. He was also arraigned and pleaded not guilty, bail being set in the sum of $800.

Coal Miners Return to Work

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Twenty thousand miners were expected to return from their vacation and resume work in the mines adjacent to Wilkes-barre, Pa., according to reports received by the Department of Labor. It was predicted that ten collieries would be re-opened in the Scranton division. The Department of Labor officials stated today that optimistic reports were being received from Pennsylvania where it was thought all miners would have returned to work by the end of this week.

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE
Tuesday, Sept. 7, 1920.

Minimum	51
Maximum	70

The Toronto International League team beat Rochester in both games on Monday by scores of 7 to 1 and 9 to 5.

Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, knocked out "Billy" Miske in the third round.

Hamilton Westinghouse team won the Dominion soccer championship, beating Winnipeg Britannias 2 to 1 in overtime.

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH

By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.

"GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT"
Made in Canada.

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings Province of Ontario, at their offices, 317 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $5.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 25 per cent. will be added.

THE "OLD GANG" IN COMMAND.

> "We may have new parties spring up here and there, but after all the forces that are going to count in the long run are not the new forces that have just come into being, but the old forces that have come with might through the centuries, replenished, renewed and revived by new springs of influence and power which come with changing times and seasons."

And as exhibits "A" and "B" of the replenishment, renewal and revival of Canadian Liberalism, Mr. King presents—Mr. Jacques Bureau and Mr. George P. Graham. The spectacle of these two ancient members of the "Old Gang" as heroes in a resounding peroration about "changing times and seasons," was enough (in Mr. Pugsley's historic phrase) to "make a horse laugh," and it must have been only by a special effort that Mr. Graham, who is not without a sense of humor, escaped from upoarious laugheer. Either that, or else the Honorable George has become a trifle jaded, and regards this periodical "conversion" of his party to its alleged principles as pretty much of an ancient joke.

And, come to think of it, the story of a Liberal regeneration, when there are no regenerates in sight, is getting a bit stale. Ever since 1911, when most of the old guard were submerged, it has been drummed into the public ears. Always and ever the party was being purified and purged, but somehow or other the "Old Gang" managed to survive, and the old reign of hypocrisy and humbug went on. Last summer a big revival was staged. The country was told that the old spurious Liberalism was dead, that the old Bourbons and reactionaries were no more, and that a new and sanctified Liberalism, a Liberalism purged by the fires of adversity, was at last to take its place. For a time it did seem as though the conversion was real, as though a party of political Magdalens and honest reformers had been born, but, alas for hopeful radicals the promise was unfulfilled. What had appeared to be genuine contrition turned out to be the rankest of humbug, and, with Mr. King for window-dressing, the same old guard, impenitent and incurably dishonest, remained in command.

Ostensibly the leader of the party, Mr. King, whether he knows it or not, is but the tool of the "Old Gang." Where sits McGregor, is "the head of the table." And where sits Mr. Jacques Bureau, with sixty-three Quebec votes at his back, is the leadership of the Liberal party. Mr. King may talk about progress and Liberalism as much as he likes, but Mr. Bureau will see to it that the "new springs of influence and power" do not infringe upon the interests of reaction which he so well knows how to shield.—Ottawa Journal.

UNREST-MONGERS.

Mr. Meighen's stand against Bolshevists and wild-cat politicians shocks some of Hon. Mackenzie King's newspaper sympathizers. One of them gets back at the Premier by misrepresenting his anti-Bolshevist attitude as resistance to all change. This attributing to a public man opinions and courses with the opposite of which he has always been identified is one of the little knaveries of Opposition tactics. It seems to be in accordance with a general order from Opposition headquarters that the Premier should be back-bitten as a foe of progress. His record to the contrary is open so that all who run may read, and makes it hard for the falsifiers to succeed in their campaign of misrepresentation. Not only are the facts glaringly against these unfair antagonists, but their touchiness on the score of unrest hurts their influence. Surely every Canadian who loves his country and wishes it well must desire to see contentment take the place of unrest, and must support the Government's determination to restrain the fomenters and exploiters of unrest. Canada is not Russia, and no Canadian newspaper ought to be found making a plea for unrest or describing a Government's strong stand against Bolshevism as a "typically Tory attitude towards change." The real grievance of the Opposition politicians and newspapers against Mr. Meighen is on account of his great service in the way of forwarding progressive change. He and his associates made wonderful changes for the better in the affairs of this country. The statute books are filled with progressive Government legislation, enacted since Sir Robert Borden came into office, and the policies followed during that time have been for the advancement of Canada. Today Canada is really a nation. Canada has been pulled out of the hole into which the ruinous railway policy of Sir Robert Borden's predecessors in office plunged the country. Generous aid has been granted to the provinces for agriculture, for road building, and for education. The provinces are to be put in possession of their own natural resources. The list of great benefits that have come to the country from the Government of which Mr. Meighen has been a prominent member is a long one. The men who try to fasten on him the "reactionary Tory" label are themselves apparently incapable of salutary change. They want to get things back to the old narrow party grooves and to stick to the issues of half-a-dozen years ago that have been so belittled by the great questions born of the spirit awakened in the Canadian people by the great adventure of the war. Towards the essential things it is the politicians of the Opposition who adhere to what has "become "hoary with age, safe from the sacrilegious hand of the reformer." At the same time these backward-looking politicians and newspapers chide the Premier because he is so outspoken against Bolshevism. Surely the Red flag is not these critics' emblem of progress. —Maile and Empire.

A GIANT FLOATING CRANE.

The floating crane recently supplied from Great Britain to an Australian dockyard is one of the giant cranes of the world. It is capable of lifting a load of 150 tons and swinging it within a radius of 90 feet. In non-British cranes of this kind the entire weight of the load and the swinging arm is poised on the top of the steel tower which rises from the centre of the pontoon; but in this British design the whole of the dead weight is carried on a large "roller path" fixed to the deck of the pontoon. Dangerous stresses are thus avoided; material is saved; and the life of the crane prolonged. The crane has been officially tested up to 200 tons with complete success, all the performances calculated for by the builders having been realized. No moving ballast is used in the pontoon, and at no time is angle of tilt more than about four degrees. Two cranes of a similar type have been at work in the same dockyard for six years. A noteworthy feature of the crane is that, although designed for heavy loads, it handles light loads with ease and rapidity. All the machinery on board is electrically driven, power being obtained from a steam dynamo or from shore by means of a flexible cable.

CRISP COMMENT

Nor is the joint the only thing the world is out of out.—Boston Herald.

× × ×

We stand at Armageddon and we straddle for the Lord.—Columbus Ohio State Journal.

× × ×

That loud resounding roar you hear is everybody yelling at everybody else to go to work!—Topeka Capital.

× × ×

Due to lack of moisture the crop condition of wild oats is about fifteen per cent. of normal.—Associated Editors (Chicago).

× × ×

One of the candidates will not make any rear-platform or front-porch speeches this year. The warden won't let him.—Topeka Capital.

With the aid of a $1,500,000,000 rate increase the railroads may be able to have car windows fixed so that passengers can open them.—Brooklyn Eagle.

× × ×

× × ×

Mr. Taft once stood up and gave two ladies a seat. He is trying to do the same thing now for Mr. Harding and the League of Nations.—Chicago Tribune.

× × ×

A gardener is a man who raises a few things; a farmer is a man who raises many things; and a middleman one who raises everything.—Volusia County (Fla.) Record.

× × ×

There are two sides to every question, and even if there were three, we believe that each of our splendid Ohio candidates for President could be on all of them at once.—Grand Rapids Press.

× × ×

"The ice that formerly went into highballs is now going into the ice-boxes in homes where there are babies."—Prohibition speaker. He can tell it is the same ice by the size of the chunks.—Detroit News.

× × ×

Now that Mexico's new President has been sworn in, it's up to the family to go ahead with the funeral arrangements.—Topeka Capital.

× × ×

The treaty with Turkey was signed at Sevres. Sevres is noted as the place where the world's most fragile ware is manufactured.—New Orleans Item.

× × ×

When France has made Germany deliver that coal, perhaps she will come over here and make our coal barons deliver a little to us.—New York World.

× × ×

What would your grandfather have thought of you had you to'd him lispingly in 1876 that in 1920 women would vote because they could and men wouldn't likker-up because they couldn't?—Pittsburgh Sun.

OTHER VIEWS

Those Big Salaries.

Edmonton Journal.

One of the great benefits conferred by the income tax is that it acts as a curb on those who, for advertising purposes, claim to be earning very large sums. The old jokes about the "real" and "newspaper" salaries of baseball pitchers, opera singers, etc., are now largely out of date. But the other day a press agent was so ill-advised as to state that a certain reigning New York favorite was securing $25,000 for a ten weeks' engagement, in addition to her regular salary. This brought around the tax collector with a demand for $7,540, in addition to what the lady was already assessed for. Now the newspapers are busy announcing that the $25,000 was not a bonus, but only a deposit as a guarantee of salary payment, a rather different thing.

Always Well Earned.

Forest Free Press.

The city papers are telling their readers about the great riches the farmers are gathering in this year. But they forget to say that these returns have been made possible only by the toil, not only of the farmer himself, but by the toil of his wife and his boys and girls, all of whom are doing farm labor. The family on a prosperous farm do more hours of hard work, week days and Sundays, in three months than the members of a well-to-do city family do in a whole year. Any prosperity that comes to the farmer is always well earned. Domestic help is almost unknown on the farm, while in the city the families, outside the laboring classes, which are without help are very few. If the working hours on the farm were as few as they are in the city starvation and famine would soon be the result.

A LAUGH OR TWO

His Specialty.

"What a remarkable memory that old gentleman has!" exclaimed a guest after the venerable raconteur had finally dried up and rambled out. "He recollects an amazing number of things."

"Yep," replied the landlord of the tavern at Wayoverbehind. "He recollects about ten times more than he ever knew."

All Nonsense.

Little Girl—"It's all nonsense 'bout ole maids never tellin' their ages!"

Little Boy—"Why?"

"Queen Elizabeth was an old maid, wasn't she?"

"Yes."

"Well, th' paper says Professor Dryasdust is goin' to lecture on 'The Age of Elizabeth,' so there."

A Candid Witness.

In the examination of an Irish case for assault, counsel on cross-examining one of the witnesses, asked him what they had at the first place they stopped at? He answered:

"Four glasses of ale."

"What next?"

"Two glasses of wine."

"What next?"

"One glass of brandy."

"What next?"

"A fight, of course."

THE POET'S CORNER

A LYRIC.

Hidden in a garden bower,
Fragrant with the gillyflower,
Hollyhocks and columbine,
Where convolvuluses twine
Tenderly their climbing stems,
Crown'd with azure diadems;
Where drones dreamily the bee,
Hid in floral nunnery;
Where ~~the idle~~ butterfly,
Winging wearily, goes by,
On the summer-scented gale,
To the orchard in the vale;
Where the lark with lyric tongue,
In the cloudless vault is hung,
Waking echoes in the wood's
Green umbrageous solitudes;
Where cool crystal fountains leap—
There alone my love doth sleep.

Where the buttercups, alas!
Flower in the tangled grass,
And the meadow worts and weeds
Overrun the path that leads
To the lychgate in the lane,
And the breezes pause again,
And the cypress shades are deep—
There alone my love doth sleep.

—Douglas Carsewell, in Chambers' Journal.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BABIES.

No class of cases respond so readily to Chiropractic adjustments as do those afflictions which are peculiar to babies. There is no mystery why this is so. The reason is a simple natural fact. The power of resistance and recuperation which is innate in the baby's body is much more active than in the adult body. Nature always tries to preserve the young and will sacrifice the older for the younger. The power of growth and expansion also assists greatly in restoring health to a child.

Rashes, so common to babies, respond readily to Chiropractic adjustments. Colic and other pain producing ills are quickly relieved. If you would have your baby's stomach in good condition to prepare his food so that he can grow and develop into a strong, healthy youngster—if you would have his kidneys, bowels and other organs working normally, bring him to our office. You owe it to the little fellow, to provide him with this new Health Method so that he may avoid the chronic ills of later life. You owe it to him to see that his resistance and strength are up to normal. Because you are in doubt don't allow that to permit your neglect. Without cost or obligation to yourself come to us for a spinal analysis and consultation. Investigate now' Drs. Redick & Redick, 283½ Front St., Belleville. Phone 900.

HAIRS WILL VANISH AFTER THIS TREATMENT

(Toilet Helps)

You can keep your arms, neck or face free from hair or fuzz by the occasional use of plain delatone and in using it you need have no fear of marring or injuring the skin. A thick paste is made by mixing some of the powdered delatone with water. Then spread on the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and all traces of hair have vanished. Be careful, however, to get real delatone.

Why do People Take Monkey Glands?

There are people today who are being fed on these glands in order to get back new vitality and energy. Vital Tablets will make you strong and healthy if you are not past the stage where medicine can help you. Vital Tablets are a great French Tonic. Nothing more or less. If you need building-up try Vital Tablets, Price 50c. a box or 6 for $2.50, at all drug stores or by mail. The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Doyle's Drug Store, special agents.

Late Telegraph Briet

The present population of Canada is based on Ottawa estimates at eight million seven hundred and fifty thousand.

Two warships are stationed at Belfast so as to command the shipyards.

Germany fulfils her coal contract. She had delivered one million and a half tons at the end of August.

Inquests by coroners have been prohibited in the counties of Cork, Clare, Galway, Kerry, Limerick, Longford, Lough, Mayo, Roscommon and Tipperary. The functions of these officials will be performed by courts of enquiry operating under the Army Act.

General Ban Wrangel, anti-Bolshevik leader in South Russia, has launched a successful counter-offensive in the regions of Oriekov and Melitopol, north of the Sea of Azov. It is said that the Soviet forces have been driven out of Novo Alexienda.

Canadian and American Stock Exchanges were closed on account of Labor Day.

Satisfying Flavor
sweet without the addition of sugar
Grape-Nuts
A nourishing, ready-to-eat cereal, economical, and without waste.
Sold by grocers everywhere!

Wall Papers and Art Decorations, Burlaps Leathers, Grass-Cloths, etc.

There is nothing made in wall hangings that we cannot supply.

There is nothing in decorating that we cannot do.

Just put us to the test by commanding

The Scantlebury Decorative Service

Paints, Oils, Glass Varnish, Floor Wax

Everything in Paint at most reasonable prices, at

SCANTLEBURY'S

—the up-to-date Paint Store.
—constantly using and seeking the best in paint materials a decorator is most likely to locate the better lines we have located.

Sign Writing and Picture Framing

We make signs of all kinds, large and small. At present we are writing the largest sign in Belleville for A. S. Richardson Co. We can prepare your sign and do it right.

Scantlebury Signs
ARE THE BEST SIGNS

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Three Days Sale
Sept. 3rd, 4th, 6th

LADIES' OXFORDS
" SKIRTS
" SWEATERS
BOYS' CLOTHING
" BOOTS

Clearing lines, broken sizes, Ladies' Oxfords, kid, black or brown, patent leather, high or Cuban heel. Some kid pumps. Regular $5.95.

to clear at $3.95

SILK POPLIN AND ALL WOOL SERGE SKIRTS at $4.95
LADIES' PULLOVERS, latest styles, from .. $4.95 to $7.00
BOYS' BOOTS from 8 to 10½ sizes, from .... $2.50 to $2.95
BOYS' BOOTS, sizes 11 to 13, from $2.75 to $3.95; from 1 to 5, from $3.50 to $4.95.
BOYS' SUITS, Tweed, any color, knee pants, from $5.50 to $10.00.
School Book Cases .... 49c.

You can see everything in the window with the prices all marked on.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

We just received a lot of all wool serge dresses, latest styles. Come in and see ours first—from $15 to $65.
FALL AND WINTER COATS from .... $18.00 to $69.00

B. SHNIFFER
331 Front Street

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Belleville Fair

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
September 6th, 7th, 8th

FIRST CLASS SPEEDING EVENTS.
BASEBALL MATCHES, TUG OF WAR, ETC., EACH DAY.

HON. MR. DOHERTY, MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE, WILL BE PRESENT ON LABOR DAY, SEPT. 6th.

EXHIBITS OF LIVE STOCK BETTER THAN EVER

FIRST CLASS MIDWAY HAS BEEN SECURED

THE CELEBRATED G.W.V.A. BAND IN ATTENDANCE
BE SURE AND ATTEND THIS FAIR.
GOD SAVE THE KING!

H. K. DENYES, M.P.P., President.
R. H. KETCHESON, Secretary.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food forwhich little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.			STATIONS.			READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37			Train 20	Train 22	Train 36
*9.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	———	Lv. Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*7.00 a.m.	———
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv. Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.23 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	6.28 p.m.	Lv. Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	[illegible] a.m.	4.52 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr. Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr. Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.20 p.m.
7.05 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	3.00 p.m.	Arr. Chicago	Lv.	5.40 p.m.	———	———

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday. S. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

EARLE & COOK COMPANY

Final Clearing Sale of Summer Goods

LADIES' SUITS

25 Ladies' Suits at 25 per cent. off regular price.
Ladies' Serge and Silk Dresses, 20 per cent. off regular prices.
Voile Blouses, regular $5.50 to $7.00, only $4.95
Children's Dresses, reg. $5.00 and $5.50, only $3.75
Children's Dresses, regular $3.00 to $4.00, only $1.95
Tussah Silk Bloomers in white, sky and flesh, regular $3.75. Sale price $1.95
Ladies' Summer Dresses in Percale, Voile and Indian Head, regular up to $7.50. Sale price $2.50
Blouses in Silk and Crepe de Chine in white, flesh, maize and black, regular $4.50 and $5.00; to clear at $2.95
Shantung Silk in natural colors, 33 inches wide, reg. $1.50; to clear at $1.19
Silk Boot Hose in grey, white, black, sand. Special value at $1.19
Ladies' Pure Silk Hose in white, black, grey and sand, regular $2.25 and $2.50. To clear at $1.95

EARLE & COOK COMPANY
STORE OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAY.

Shoes for Everybody
Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Fashionable Furs

A neckpiece of fur gives the finishing touch to the well dressed and fashionable lady.

The choice is varied, but the furs most in demand are

Ermine and Foxaline

We have some nice pieces in these furs and would be pleased to have you call and see them.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

DIVISION COURT.

Before His Honor Judge Wills division court was held today. A number of cases were disposed of.

BROKE PARKING BYLAW.

Two parties who reside in the country will be summoned before the magistrate to answer a charge of breaking the city parking bylaw. It is alleged they parked their cars where a sign "No Parking" is displayed.

BROKE AN ARM.

A young son of Mr. John Boyle, of this city, was on Saturday afternoon the victim of a painful accident. The lad was climbing on the cable which supports the footbridge, when he fell, breaking his arm near the elbow.

DIDN'T PAY THEIR FARE.

William Rickwood, Harry Mayes and Harold Regan, three young men who are strangers in the city, were on Saturday afternoon, by Magistrate Masson, sentenced to serve a month in jail for riding on a G.T.R. train without paying their fare. They were also committed for trial on a more serious charge, namely with attempting to break into a sealed freight car, the property of the G.T.R.

OUTING TO SANDBANKS.

Under the management of Mr. Arthur Blackburn, the B.Y.P.U. of the Baptist Church held their annual outing to the Sand Banks yesterday. They went by motor, spending the afternoon viewing the sights and coming back by way of Picton, arriving home about ten o'clock, well ladened with sand, but very happy, voting it the best time ever, and hoping next Labor Day would find all present again.

HER THIRD FLIGHT.

Among those who enjoyed the thrills of an aerial flight from the Belleville Fair grounds Monday was Miss Florence Collins, of this city. This is the third aerial flight taken by this young lady, her previous experiences in an airplane being with Capt. Bradfield of Ottawa, and Capt. Garrett, of Toronto. Miss Collins added to her aerial experience Monday a "pet-top spin," successfully negotiated by Lieut. Dobbins with his fair passenger, who returned to earth with her usual smile.

Wedding Bells

BARRETT—FOLTZ.

The marriage was solemnized at St. Michael's Church, Belleville, on Tuesday morning, September 7th, of Helen Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Foltz, to Mr. Harold William Barrett, son of the late John Barrett and Mrs. Barrett, of Belleville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Killeen.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a charming little frock of ivory satin charmeuse with trimmings of French lace and pearls and hat of white tulle and osprey faced with pink georgette. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Miss Helen McNeill, of Napanee, who assisted the bride, was becomingly gowned in white georgette with black picture hat. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses.

Mr. Thomas Barrett, brother of the groom, was best man.

The wedding march was played by Miss Dorothy Grant and Miss Katherine Bawden rendered the beautiful solo, "Because," in a very pleasing manner during the offertory, while Miss Ruth Shannon, of Lindsay, a cousin of the bride, sang Holden's "O Salutaris" very acceptably during the signing of the register.

The groom's gift to the bride was a cheque, to the bridesmaid a sterling silver rosary and case, and to the best man a pearl tie pin. A dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, where the rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion with white and pink asters, sweet peas and hydrangeas. The luncheon was served by the young girl friends of the bride.

After the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Barrett left for Toronto, Niagara Falls and points west. The bride travelled in a navy blue gabardine suit trimmed with seal and smart little navy blue feather hat to match. After their return they will reside in Belleville.

The many beautiful and costly gifts testified to the popularity of the bride, who is a great favorite among the younger circle of Belleville. She also received several very substantial cheques.

Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. John F. Walsh, of Napanee; Miss Alice Shannon, Bay City; Misses Helena and Ruth Shannon, Lindsay; Miss Helen McNeil, Napanee; Miss Ethel Barrett, New York; Miss St. Charles, Toronto.

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. s4 3t

What G.W.V.A. Has Accomplished

Comrade Turley Addressed Large Audience of Returned Soldiers.

Under the auspices of the Great War Veterans Association of this city a public meeting was held on Sunday evening at Griffin's Opera House which was fairly well attended. Previous to speech making the G.W.V.A. band gave several selections which were of a high order and much appreciated. The speaker of the evening was Mr. W. E. Turley, Provincial Secretary-Treasurer of the G.W.V.A., who is forcible and convincing in his arguments.

Mr. C. F. Wallbridge, president of the local association, in a few words expressed the pleasure it gave the members to see so many present. He welcomed all and hoped the meeting would be of a profitable nature.

Col. E. D. O'Flynn spoke briefly, referring to the proposed memorial club house the Belleville association intended to erect in the city. He also referred to what the association had accomplished for members and their dependents. A number of pension cases had been dealt with in a satisfactory manner to all concerned.

Mr. James Booth sang "Tommy Lad" in a manner that merited an encore.

Mr. Turley spoke at some length, the theme of his address being "What the Association had done and what it hopes to do." There are 800 branches of the G.W.V.A. in Canada today with a membership of nearly a quarter of a million. The main plank in their platform was to see that widows, orphans and disabled comrades who had made sacrifices were properly looked after. Through the efforts of the association pensions had been increased from $40 to $75 per month; widows' pensions increased from $28 to $60 per month; also increases for dependent children. What our aim has been is to get from the Government what widows, orphans and disabled men are properly entitled to receive. Mr. Turley spoke at some length on vocational training institutions which had been established by the Government and the good they were accomplishing for the returned men to get back into civil life. He also spoke of homesteading for soldiers and the number that had availed themselves of a chance to make homes for themselves on the land. In concluding his address the speaker asked for the hearty co-operation of all citizens to assist returned men and their dependents.

The meeting was brought to a close by the rendering of the National Anthem.

Obsequies

MRS. SARAH WILLIAMS.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Williams took place Saturday morning from her late residence, James street, city. Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, rector of Christ Church, conducted the service at the house and the interment at Albury cemetery. Many beautiful floral tributes were placed upon the casket by relatives and friends. The bearers were immediate friends of the deceased.

MRS. CATHERINE WATERHOUSE

The body of the late Mrs. Catherine Waterhouse of this city was interred Saturday afternoon at St. Paul's cemetery, Roslin. At the residence on Howard street, here, Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, of Christ Church, conducted the service and Rev. J. A. Daviees officiated at the interment. The bearers were immediate friends selected by the deceased. A number of floral tributes were evidences of respect for the departed.

REMEMBER WOMEN AND CHILDREN OF AFRICA

The members of Aikins Women's Missionary Society were at home to the members of the neighboring societies of Bayside, Centenary, Stone, and Wallbridge, on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 25. The meeting opened with Mrs. Donaldson, president of Bayside Society, in the chair.

The chief interest of the program lay in the address of the Rev. Mr. Wickware who has spent several years in Central Africa, five degrees south of the equator. Mr. Wickware very vividly portrayed many incidents of his life there, touching on both the hardships and compensations, and closing with a strong appeal to every woman who loves Christ and every woman of Christian lands should love Him, to remember the women and children of Africa.

At the close of the program Mrs. Donaldson, on behalf of the Bayside Auxiliary invited all the societies represented to visit the society at White's Church on the evening of Sept. 15, when Mr. Wickware will show his lantern views made from snapshots which he took while serving in Africa.

Before leaving the guests partook of a twenty-five cent tea served in the church dining hall by members of the Aikins society.

Four auto fatalities and two minor motor accidents occurred in Toronto over the week-end.

MRS. WM. P. SMITH, of Los Angeles, Calif., who says Tanlac completely restored her health when no one believed she would ever be well again. Has gained thirteen pounds.

"I will never stop praising Tanlac, for it has restored my health when everyone who knew of my dreadful condition had no idea I would ever get well.

"Two years ago, following an accident, I began suffering from indigestion and severe stomach trouble. I grew worse so rapidly that my health soon became perfectly wretched. My stomach became so weak I couldn't eat the simplest food or even drink a glass of milk without suffering for hours afterward. I was extremely nervous, and would have palpitation of the heart so badly at times I would almost faint. My circulation was very poor, I had no color, and weighed only eighty-one pounds. It seemed I was just gradually starving by degrees, and I had almost given up hope.

"After the best medical treatment failed to help me travel and a change of surroundings was advised, so I traveled nearly all over the United States and had treatment every place I went, but always with the same disappointing results. How I stood my suffering is more than I can tell, and I became so despondent that life seemed hardly worth living.

"That is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac. When my husband first suggested Tanlac I told him I had no faith in it, but the next day he bought me a bottle, and to my great surprise it seemed to agree with me, so I kept on taking it. The results speak for themselves.

"I have gained thirteen pounds in weight, and I feel perfectly well in every way. My appetite is splendid and I eat just anything I want and never have the slightest symptom of indigestion. I am so happy over the recovery of my health that I feel just like telling everybody about this wonderful medicine."

The above remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. William P. Smith, a well known and highly respected resident of Los Angeles, Calif., residing at 135 East Avenue 36.

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, and by leading druggists in every town.

New Pastor at Bridge St. Church

Rev. Dr. Cleaver Begins His Belleville Pastorate—A Strong Personality.

Large congregations marked the morning and evening services at Bridge Street Methodist Church Sunday to welcome the new pastor, Rev. Dr. Cleaver, who preached at both services. The new pastor made a most favorable impression, both in appearance and in ability as a speaker. Special music was rendered by the choir under the leadership of Prof. V. P. Hunt, and assisted by Mrs. Wilmot. At the evening service a fine solo was rendered by Miss Leona Riggs, of New York, granddaughter of Mayor Riggs. Miss Riggs is a talented vocalist with a pleasing voice and every word of her selection was intelligible to the congregation.

betterment of mankind. Dr. Cleaver based his address on the first line of the first verse in the Bible, "In the beginning God." It was not his intention, he said, to start from the beginning of the Bible and go right through to the end in his choice of texts; the pastorate term was not long enough for that, but he thought it appropriate at the beginning of his pastorate to speak of the beginning and he emphasized the necessity of having God at the beginning of all things in order to ensure success. Sketching the history of the world from the dawn of creation Dr. Cleaver in an interesting manner took the congregation back over the world's history in a series of imaginary stairs and showed that behind the beginning of all things was God, who had raised up mighty men in every age to lead the great reforms necessary for the bettermnt of mankind. Dr. Cleaver said that his initial message to Bridge street church was "In the beginning God." If God is with the church great things can be accomplished. In an earnest and interesting manner Dr. Cleaver pointed out the foundation upon which successful church work could only be accomplished and that true religion experienced which will eliminate selfishness, elevate even business procedure to the standard of the golden rule, not for ourselves, but for others, and permit the enjoyment to the full of this beautiful world, the home prepared by God for us with its bountiful store of comforts from the hidden vaults of gold, silver and precious stones, the coal for fuel, to the soil ready to give the most bountiful of harvests and everything to make us happy.

SCHOOL SHOES

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

LET US
DEVELOP AND PRINT
YOUR FILMS

You will be more than pleased with our work. Extra high gloss finish, with no extra charge. Just send your work to us any time before 4 p.m. We will have them ready for you the following afternoon.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
192 Front St. Phone 283.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

Select Your New Autumn Coat
AT WOTTEN'S.

Dozens of new models just in for your seeing. Some in the popular full length styles, others in the "chic" three-quarter sport effect. The models that have collars of fur are particularly attractive and the prices very moderate.

$30 to $75
at WOTTEN'S
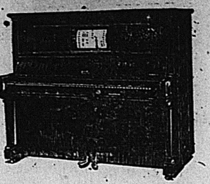
LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose

your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.

T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

LINDSAY'S



Music in the Home

will fill the idle hours with pleasure, drive away the blues, and deliver a knockout to "old man grouch," Introduce a

LINDSAY Player-Piano

into your home and watch the results.

The Latest and Best in Music Rolls
Q. R. S. LINDSAY'S

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED

249 Front Street Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 8 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (122) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

30 x 3½
NON-SKID
TIRES
$14.95
Tubes, $1.95.
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.,
353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

MISS FARLEY, 271 JOHN ST., HAS DECIDED to sell her Millinery business. This desirable business offers a grand opportunity to any person desiring to go into this line. Will sell cheap as Miss Farley is retiring from business. s7-2td

FOR SALE—FRAME BARN, 32x50, STEEL roof on one side, and six young horses, one pair, well matched, blacks, coming four years, Lot 1, 8th Con., Huntingdon. Sam Turner, Crookston. Phone, Madoc 2r5. s7-2td

$3,600—BUNGALOW FOR SALE—122 MOIRA Street west, new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Stationary tubs in basement, furnace, plumbing and electric fixtures of best quality. Apply Bank of Montreal. s7-6td

FOR SALE—ONE HALF INTEREST IN water well drilling machine. One 17-horse power Sawyer-Massey engine, one water tank and wagon, two sets of drilling tools, all in first class shape; also one wood sawing machine. Enquire at 101 Cannifton Road. s2-4td

FOR SALE—FARM OF 62 ACRES, THIRD concession of Thurlow, lot 31. Good buildings, lots of wood and water. Will exchange for city property. R.F.D. No. 6, Belleville. G. N. Phillips. s1-6td

FOR SALE — ONE GILSON ENSILAGE cutter, 13-inch, in first class condition. A. O. Roblin. s11-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ON sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 2. a30-1md

FOR SALE—BICYCLES—MASSEY SILVER Ribbon, for years of service. New and rebuilt bicycles, all sizes, bought and sold and exchanged the year round. Bicycle Licence, Belleville. a6-d&w1m

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chances to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G., Toronto. a28-stt-6td

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West Toronto. d—o

WANTED.

WANTED—PARTY WHO CAN FURNISH room and board for lady teacher. Kindly communicate with The Ontario School for the Deaf. s3-dtf

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

WANTED—DINING ROOM GIRL. APPLY Mrs. Spear, Albert College. s7-4td

WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. Apply to Mrs. Wm. Burrowes, 243 Bridge St. E. Phone 343. s7 2td

Government Candidate.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—The postponed convention for the selection of a Government candidate in the East Elgin by-election will be held at Aylmer on Friday next.

* * *

A Michigan woman was smothered in a Toronto motor accident.

Dr. Pierre Georges Roy has been appointed Quebec Provincial Archivist.

Thos. Woodlet was killed and a 13-year-old girl seriously hurt in a motoring accident near Bridgeburg.

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR—MALE or female. Good wages to competent operator who has speed. Apply in person to The Intelligencer Office. s1-4td

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work, with references. Chas. S. Clapp. s4-dtf

WANTED—MAN AS JANITOR. STEADY position. Apply The Intelligencer Office.

BOYS WANTED TO LEARN TRADE. THE John Lewis Co., Ltd. s3 2td

DRIVER WANTED—WE WANT A FIRST class driver for milk route. Steady employment. Citizens' Dairy Co. s3 4td

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

BOILER TENDERS WANTED — EXPERIENCED men preferred. No firing. Apply Steel Co. of Canada, Belleville. s2-4td

WANTED — STRONG BOY TO LEARN trade. The John Lewis Co. s2-4td

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge Gangway. a25-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—ROOM AND BOARD, ALL CONVENIENCES, in a private family, for two ladies or man and wife. Box "Y," Intelligencer. s7-2td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern—possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. s7-dtf

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS, use of bath and electric light. All conveniences, suitable for light housekeeping. Apply Box S., Intelligencer. s3-dtf

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS—can have light housekeeping if desired. Apply to Mrs. Sinclair, 42½ Bridge St s2-6td

TO LET — HOUSE: NO. 114 CANNIFTON Road. Apply D. V. Doyle. m25-tfd

TO LET—HOUSES—ONE WITH ALL CONVENIENCES, 60½ W. Moira Street; one, No. 35 Cedar Street; one on Cannifton Road. Apply Dan Doyle, Phone 869. a27-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—A FIRST CLASS WOMAN TO work by hour. Apply Box "B," Intelligencer.

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-d1m

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

CAPABLE GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. No washing; plain cooking; excellent home; wages $37; must be experienced and able to furnish good references. Address Mrs. F. H. Marsh, 69 Keewatin Ave., Toronto. s3-4td

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. s3-dtf

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

GIRL WANTED FOR GENERAL HOUSE WORK. No washing. Apply Cooper's Flour Mill. a30-dtf

WANTED — COMPETENT MAID. APPLY Mrs. J. Williams, 233 Charles Street.

LOST

LOST—PARROT, ON SUNDAY, FROM 144 Station Street. Finder kindly phone 606. Reward. s7-4td

LOST ON SATURDAY LAST—SABLE FUR Ruff, from auto on Belleville streets. Return to Sinclair's store or to Mrs. Wm. Belair, Madoc. 1td

WANTED

HEAD LAUNDRESS, $50.00 per month—and HEAD COOK, $50.00 per month. Apply to Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

WANTED

A TEACHER OF FANCY WORK, part time, and SUPERVISOR, young woman of fair education. Apply Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

City and Vicinity

If you want the best, use Daly's Good Tea. For sale at McKeown's Drug Store.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville

High School Books and Supplies, at GEEN'S. s4-3td

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. s4-3t

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Have you 100 accounts, more or less? Is it not worth 75c to have them mailed in neatly typed envelopes each month? Send them to the Public Stenographer, Hotel Quinte, Phone 103. s1-4td

ALBERT COLLEGE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Studios, 249½ Front St. Piano, Singing, Theory of Music, Violin and Expression. Teaching resumed Tuesday, Sept. 7th. Experienced teachers. Highest results obtained in all music examinations in a record of the past twenty-five years. Elementary to graduation. Children receive special attention. V. P. Hunt, A.A.G.O., Musical Director. Phone 880. a31,s2,4,7,9,11

Please don't forget the W.C.T.U. rummage sale the second week in October. 1td

High School Books and Supplies, at GEEN'S. s4-3td

Peaches

The time for preserving good Crawford peaches has arrived. We are getting a fresh car every morning of the best quality Leno baskets. From now on is the best time for preserving. S. Domenico, phone 520, 50 Bridge Ct. Opp. P. O. s7-6td

A SUGGESTION.

When you are down town some afternoon just drop in to John Henley's and have your heels straightened WHILE YOU WAIT. s7-5t

AUCTION SALE.

Farm stock, implements and household goods, late Jos. Wickett, Lot 30, Con. 1, Township of Thurlow. Sept. 9, 1920. S. J. Fisher, auctioneer. s7-2t

GOODYEAR WELTS.

If you are wearing Goodyear Welted Shoes, be sure to have them repaired on genuine Goodyear machinery at John Henley's, Footbridge gangway. s7-6td

FUNERAL NOTICE

THOMPSON—The funeral of the late Mrs. (Rev.) S. A. Thompson will take place to White's Cemetery, Front of Sidney, tomorrow, from the G.T.R. station at 12.06 noon. 1t

AUTO ACCIDENT.

An accident occurred yesterday afternoon near the silent policeman which is situated on Front street opposite the upper bridge. Mr. James McIntosh was driving a car in a careful manner, when an aged man named Henry Juby attempted to cross the street. The man evidently became confused as he went partially across the street and then attempted to retrace his steps, with the result that he was struck by Mr. McIntosh's car and suffered a fracture of the right leg. The unfortunate man was conveyed to a physician's office by Mr. McIntosh and later was taken to the hospital, where the fracture was reduced. Mr. Juby's home is on Jones street. Witnesses of the affair exonerate the driver of the car.

Called by Death

Since Saturday the Grim Reaper has been busy in the city and vicinity, and a number joined the silent majority.

ALGERNON ROSS.

At Greenley, Colorado, on August 18, Mr. Algernon Ross, a former well known resident of Thurlow Township, passed away rather suddenly from an attack of heart disease and dropsy. Deceased was a son of the late W. H. Ross of Ross' Corners and was familiarly known as "Gerney." Mr. Ross farmed for some time and was for some years a milk vendor in Belleville. He was well and favorably known in this locality, where he made many friends. Deceased was unmarried. A brother, Mr. Alva Ross, resides at Orchard, Col., and a sister, Mrs. Thos. McNider, lives in Thurlow. On August 20 the body was interred in the cemetery at Greenley.

Deceased was a cousin of Mr. Chancey Ashley of this city.

MARY ANN HINCHEY.

There passed to rest last evening a well known lady resident of the city in the person of Mrs. Mary Ann Hinchey, wife of Mr. John Hinchey, 142 Church street. Deceased had been ill for some time and her demise was not unexpected. Mrs. Hinchey was born in Murray Township in 1854, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Brown. For the past forty years she had been a resident of the city, where she had many friends. Deceased was a member of St. Andrew's Church. In addition to the husband, two sons, Reginald and William R., survive, also two brothers, Wm. Brown of Trenton, and Peter, of Saskatchewan; also two sisters, Mrs. John Hudgins of Picton and Mrs. Delbert Avery of Michigan.

JOHN A. SPENCER.

The death of Mr. John A. Spencer of Ameliasburg occurred on Saturday. Deceased was 88 years of age and a life-long resident of the adjoining county. For a number of years he sailed on the bay and lake, but of late years was engaged in farming. He was a member of the Methodist Church. One son, Elwood, of Ameliasburg, survives. The funeral was held on Monday at Albury Church, service being conducted by Rev. L. M. Sharpe. Interment in Albury cemetery.

ALFRED H. RIX.

Alfred Herbert Rix, aged five years and three months, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Rix, 5 Boswell street, died yesterday.

MRS. McKENNA.

The body of Mrs. McKenna, who died in Toronto, arrived here today and was taken to Mountain View, P. E. County, for interment. Mrs. McKenna, whose maiden name was Miss Wallbridge, was a former well known young lady of Ameliasburg Township.

New State of Lebanon Has Been Proclaimed

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Proclamation of the new State of Lebanon was made at Beirut on Sept. 1 by Gen. Gouraud, French High Commissioner for Syria. The new state will be bounded on the north by the River Kabir, from which it will extend southward to the Palestine frontier, and its eastern boundary is fixed along the hills to the east of Lebanon. Beirut, the chief city of the country, is named the seat of government, which has been granted administration autonomy. The national flag will be the French colors with the cedar of Lebanon on the white part of the banner.

Britain Regaining Commercial Lead

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Great Britain is well on her way to regain the commercial position which she had before the war, says the official monthly summary issued by the American Chamber of Commerce here. The Chamber bases its opinion on the July returns received by the Board of Trade, which makes the best showing since the war, Great Britain's adverse trade balance being reduced to eight millions, compared with thirty-four millions for June. The present outlook is not good says the Chamber's statement. Some industries are facing a slump and unemployment was rising slightly at the end of July. It adds, however, that the depression is thought to be only temporary, as the world is still badly in need of goods and readjustment of prices will increase the demand.

Ex-Premier Parent Dead.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—Hon. S. N. Parent, ex-Premier of Quebec, died this morning in the Hotel Dieu after a long illness. He was born in Beauport, near Quebec, in 1855.

STOPPED HER HEADACHES

Years Of Suffering Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

112 HAZEN ST., ST. JOHN, N. B.

"It is with pleasure that I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicine "Fruit-a-tives", made from fruit juices. I was a great sufferer for many years from Nervous Headaches and Constipation. I tried everything, consulted doctors; but nothing seemed to help me until I tried "Fruit-a-tives".

After taking several boxes, I was completely relieved of these troubles and have been unusually well ever since". Miss ANNIE WARD.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

The Ever Faithful
ELECTRIC SERVANT

Campaign Now On Free Trial
Easy Terms
The HYDRO SHOP

Wanted At Once

Young man for delivery and general work--with references.

CHAS.S.CLAPP

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

TIME WAS

when a bracelet watch was a rather useless luxury. Today it is both a necessity and an ornament, desired by every woman. It is the most acceptable gift imaginable.

The bracelet watch purchased at Blackburn's is a reliable, accurate time-piece and an exquisite ornament. We have a large display from which to choose, including products of the standard watchmakers — beautifully designed and attractively priced.

$20.00 to $65.00

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

RITCHIE'S

New Fall Goods

ARRIVING DAILY

New Serge Dresses

We have just received some smart styles in Serge Dresses, ranging in price from

$30.00 to $50.00

Braid and embroidery are used as trimming and the styles are up to the minute, and such models shown are exclusive only to the Ritchie Store, Belleville. If you are planning on a new Dress this Autumn Season see ours first at the above mentioned prices.

We have also received some dainty Georgette Dresses in Navy and Black, neatly trimmed with beads and fashioned with smock and overskirt effect, which styles reflect the very latest tendencies, direct from New York. See these first at $35.00, $37.50 and $39.50. Other Silk Dresses, $25.00 to $100.00.

Our Mantle Depart'mt

IS

Brim Full of Style and Quality

For the Autumn Season

New Suits New Coats
New Skirts
New Serge Dresses New Kimonos
New Corsets

Children's Cloth Dresses

Regular $4.50 to $5.75—to clear at $3.75

made in Serge, Corduroy and Plaid, ages 6 to 14 year ceptionally big value ....

The Millinery Parlors

The Millinery Parlors will present the most "chic" collection of Autumn Millinery ever gathered together, featuring New York styles exclusively.

Our Millinery buyer has spared no pains in gathering together a stunning array of Fashion's newest ideas, direct from the most authoritative style centres, particularly New York. Mere words cannot do justice in describing the captivating charm of the modes that Fashion has decreed to be worn this season, and we shall make no attempt at doing so. But we want every lady to accept this as a personal invitation to inspect these newest creations of the millinery art.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Oil Cake Meal, Corn Cotton Seed Meal

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

Anticipate your wants in Oil Cake Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Corn, etc., as we are importing a number of cars expected to arrive every day.

We always have large supplies of Flour and Feed on hand and will be pleased to serve you.

Farmers in Belleville vicinity, and in fact, all surrounding districts, realize and are complimenting us on the fact that they are able to get 10c. to 20c. a bushel more for their Wheat than if we were not a competitor in the field.

We ALWAYS py Highest Market Prices.
Buy Nothing by the Judge's Best Flour.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.

133-135 Station St. and 50 Albion Street --- Belleville, Ont.

PAGES 7 TO 10

The Daily Intelligencer.

PAGES 7 TO 10

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1920.

A NEW RHINE POLICY

BARRES IS IN FAVOR OF MORAL CONQUEST.

French Writer and Politician Hopes to Break the Influence of Germany In Rhineland by "Spiritual Organization" Which Will Win the People Without Affecting In Any Way the Terms of the Peace Treaty.

FRENCH policy on the left bank of the Rhine appears to be generally misunderstood. There was undoubtedly a military party which would have taken simple steps to extend the frontiers of France to the Rhine in order to make France secure from invasion. But the real exponent of the Rhine policy is Maurice Barres, the writer and member of the Academy, who is also a member of the French Parliament. Maurice Barres is in favor of a moral conquest of Rhineland. He works for the separation of these regions from the influence of Prussia and is anxious to bring them within the zone of influence of France. Politically he would help all German parties who strive to escape the domination of Prussia. He expresses his ideas as follows: The guarantees promised by the Versailles Treaty have largely disappeared. The military conventions with the United States and England remain incomplete. The reservations of the Senate relative to the League of Nations destroy one more guarantee. At the same time the disarmament of Germany has not been accomplished. Every village possesses its arsenal. Thirty miles of territory on the right bank of the Rhine were to have been neutralized, but recent events have shown that German soldiers may enter this district. The power of investigation possessed by the Allies is hampered at every turn.

Maurice Barres and the large section of French politicians who think like him would make the most of the few years of occupation, and would endeavor to detach the Rhineland from Germany. The "Spiritual organization," as he calls it, can be proceeded with without contradicting any clause of the treaty. If necessary the treaty could be retouched. Germany is certainly not blind to the peril of a detached Rhineland, and Prussian Ministers have made a tour in the occupied districts while Bavarian Ministers have made a tour of the Palatinate. These Ministers have declared that French propaganda was showing a prodigious activity. Mr. Barres denies that hitherto the propaganda has been active, and affirms that the lively desire for autonomy which manifests itself on the Rhine is spontaneous, and the just consequence of methods of tyranny and oppression that Prussia has employed in provinces which are really alien to her. The manifestations of the Rhenish populations from the frontiers of Alsace to the frontiers of Holland were not for France, but were against Berlin. That is the contention of a powerful French party. Now it is impossible for them to give themselves the regime of their choice unless they enter into an economic pact with France.

As a fact there is a huge project of buying directly from the industrial organizations of Rhineland. An effort is being made to create common interests between this part of Germany and France, interests between the Rhenish workers as well as the Rhenish manufacturers, and France. It is proposed that the necessary labor-power for the reconstruction of the devastated regions shall be accorded to those workers. This would constitute one link between the two countries. The Confederation Generale du Travail is asked to collaborate. Certain territory on the right bank would be included in this economic agreement. It is alleged that the German Government has drawn up black lists which would deprive of coal all Francophile industries in the Rhine provinces. Against this the French would enter into contracts with the directors of Rhine industries to supply them with coal which comes from the Ruhr valley.

Preferential treatment, in short, is proposed by France for Rhineland. There is being studied a list of products which could be exchanged between France and these provinces. What works of public utility and of common interest could be undertaken? Is it not possible to obtain advantageous terms for transports, Customs, and for commercial travelers? Article 270 of the Versailles Treaty reserves to the Allied powers the right of applying a special customs regime for both exports and imports. It will be seen that formidable pressure can be put upon the Rhine provinces in order to bring them within the economic orbit of France, and to tighten the links which bind them to France. At the same time it is easy to separate them from Germany.

In addition to the economic action there should be, according to this party, an intellectual action. French culture and the French language should be spread along the Rhine. The University of Strasbourg, the capital of Alsace recently taken from Germany, would serve as the chief strategic point for this intellectual action.

Movements in the Rhenish provinces have not been for complete separation from Germany, but for autonomy and for the prerogatives and the name of a state. Obviously, if France and the Allies occupy these regions they can greatly favor, if they wish, such movements. Mr. Barres preaches unceasingly an energetic propaganda in this sense. Naturally it is denied that France has taken or would take any part in mere political plots. She would not be behind coups d'etat intended to place persons or parties in power. But she would do her best to influence the sentiments of the people.

Oriental Women.

Korean women are forming an exclusively feminine corporation capitalized at 400,000 yen to buy and sell "clothing, lingerie and toilet accessories," according to an advertisement in the first issue of the new Korean daily, the Chosen Ilpo, just issued. None of the capital stock, divided into 20,000 shares, will be sold to any man. The enterprise is regarded by many as a move toward breaking down an ancient Korean tradition.

The directors and all other officials of the company, it is announced, will be women only and in addition to merchandise, the company will have a sewing department. Its aim is said to be "the promotion of the comfort of living and improvement of Korean women in economic knowledge and experience."

In Japan, cases of women successfully conducting business are not rare. The head of the Owariya Bank, one of the most successful banking enterprises, was a woman who died leaving a large fortune to the cause of female education. The great Suzuki firm, which has a branch in Seoul, is likewise headed by a woman. In Seoul, itself, the Keijo Printing House and the Urao Hotel are good examples of what women can do.

While Japanese women are entrusted by their husbands with the complete management of household affairs, the Korean woman generally looks to her spouse to finance the home.

HIGH-HANDED JAPAN.

Chinese Complain of the Conditions In Manchuria.

Reports reaching Peking indicate that the Japanese are carrying things with a high hand in Manchuria now that the other Allied troops are virtually out of the country. The Peking and Tientsin Times has received from its correspondents reports which it presents under the heading, "Reign of Terror in Manchuria." It says that at Imanpo two Russian workmen who made some disparaging remarks about the Japanese Emperor in talking to a Japanese soldier in the Russian railway hospital were seized by Japanese soldiers and "summarily shot on the spot." At Harbin, the paper says, Japanese sentries stationed on a bridge threw one Russian off the bridge, breaking his collar-bone, and stabbed another in the face with a bayonet when the Russians insisted upon crossing the bridge.

The Japanese are reported by the newspaper to have taken full possession of Hailar, and arrested there 11 Russian workers and handed them over to the representative of Gen. Semenoff, and the Times adds that by this time "no doubt they have been shot by Baron Unger Steinberg."

The Japanese are declared to have brought to Hailar and armed 500 Semenoff troops, who are reported to be actively assisting the Japanese and helping to terrorize the local population. The Times predicts that similar incidents are likely to increase as the Japanese hold of the Russian Far East becomes more intense, and states that the Japanese garrison at Harbin is to be increased by 1,000 more men. This reinforcement is declared by the paper to be absolutely unnecessary, "as the Chinese troops stationed there are sufficient to maintain order."

The situation along the Chinese Eastern Railway was characterized by the Times correspondent as very critical. He stated that the Japanese military authorities had decided to place their own guards and sentries along the whole stretch of the railway which crosses Upper Manchuria, because they were about to send troop trains and military supplies along that railway and were afraid the Russian railway workers who were opposed to Japanese intervention might try to stop the Japanese from carrying out their plans.

"The Japanese seem bent upon brewing trouble among the Russian population residing inside the railway area by giving them a series of pinpricks so as to bring about open strife which will give them an excuse to take determined action even to the seizing and working of the Chinese Eastern," wrote the correspondent. The correspondent admitted that the Japanese had the right to send troops over the railway to protect the frontiers against invasion, but that this did not confer the right to occupy settlements along the line, or interfere with the rights of local populations. He declared that the purpose of the Japanese to seize control of the railway called for an immediate protest on the part of the Allies.

In Nikolsk, he reported, the railway workers having gone on strike, Japanese soldiers were rounding them up and forcing them at the point of the bayonet to do the work of laborers.

Since the foregoing situation was described, information has been made public in Moscow that Chinese and Russian military commissioners in conference at Verkhne-Udinsk, Trans-Baikalia, have reached an agreement under which "inherent rights of the Russian Government in the Eastern Manchurian Railway were recognized and the Chinese guaranteed to withdraw their troops along the railway lines." It was pointed out that China's possession of its road deprived the Japanese of one of their best excuses for keeping troops on it.

MANY "MODERN MIRACLES."

Plenty of Men and Women Defy the Laws of Nature.

Mrs. Annie Hunter, a Bournemouth medium, has been upsetting the recognized laws of nature, by carrying about in her bare hands a blazing log of wood, yet without the skin showing the slightest sign of blistering, says Answers.

This performance took place on a day in November last, in broad daylight, and before an audience including a reporter from a well-known London newspaper. The latter attempted, himself, to handle the burning log, but found it utterly impossible.

This is nothing new. Besides Western mediums Hindu mystics and Buddhist priests in Japan are able, in some way not yet scientifically explained, to render themselves proof against fire and do other things even more mysterious. These performances have been seen by Europeans time and again.

Dr. Pascal has written a very full account of one such, which he witnessed at Benares on October 26, 1898. A great trench was dug, nine yards long by two wide, and in this were laid fifteen large tree trunks. These were fired, and allowed to burn until they were a mass of glowing embers.

More than fifty Hindus, many of them children, then proceeded to walk across this miniature volcano. Now and then one would stop and plunge his hand into the bed of fire. One came out with a flaming cinder as big as a hen's egg sticking to the calf of his leg. He did not even notice it until someone mentioned it, when he pulled it off and threw it away.

None of these people were in any way damaged or burnt or blistered.

But the same thing has been done in England long before the present day. In trance state both Eglinton and Home were able to handle fire without injury.

Home could perform other miracles even more amazing. He could upset the laws of gravity. Sir William Crookes has described how, more than once, he saw Home "levitate" that is, raise himself from the ground, and hang suspended in mid-air.

The most amazing of all these cases occurred on December 16, 1868, in London, and there were present Lord Lindsay, Lord Adare, and Capt. Wynne. These people saw Home, in a state of trance, suspended in mid-air outside the window of the upper room in which they were sitting. The moon, shining brilliantly, showed his figure as plain as day. He remained in this position for several seconds, then glided in again through the open window, feet foremost, and sat down.

There are over one hundred cases on record of Home levitating himself, and many in which he caused other people or heavy objects to rise in similar fashion.

The well-known Italian medium, Eusapia Palladino, gave proof of being able to rise herself into the air in the same way that Home did. One case at Naples in 1899 was performed before reliable witnesses.

Hindu Yogis can in some cases die or expire at pleasure, reviving again after a certain period. One prepared himself by a process which, he said, temporarily annihilated the power of digestion, stopped with wax all the apertures of the body except his mouth. He then turned his tongue back, so as to close the gullet, and relapsed into a state of insensibility.

His body, stripped, was sewn in a linen bag; the bag was placed in a deal box or coffin, and buried. The earth was trodden down, and a crop of barley sown over the spot.

At the end of ten months this man was dug up, and found to be in exactly the same state as when first buried, except that his tongue was stiff, and took time to restore to its proper position.

Revived with hot water and oil, he was soon himself again. This experiment was carried out under the supervision of Europeans, among them Capt. Wade, political agent at Loodhiana.

An Englishman, Col. Townshend, who had for long studied the method of the fakirs, was eventually able to "die" and come to life again. He performed the experiment in the presence of three doctors. One held his wrist, a second kept his hand upon his heart, while a third held a looking glass before his lips.

Their report was that the heart completely ceased beating, and that all trace of respiration ceased. Col. Townshend himself declared that the whole thing was affected by an effort of will.

Without doubt, miracles have been accomplished in the way of healing disease, of turning cripples into sound men, of restoring hearing to the deaf, and sight to the blind.

Modern science will eventually tackle these seeming miracles and explain them. It must be remembered that there is no such thing as "supernatural," and that the use of such a word is foolish.

How Fast Can You Say Them?

Here are a number of amusing "tongue-twisters" discovered by an American contemporary:

A glowing gleam growing green.

The black breeze blighted the bright blossoms.

Muffins?

Dilute ½ cup Borden's with ½ cup water; 1 teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons butter substitute melted; 1 egg; 2½ tablespoons molasses; 1 cup cornmeal; 1 cup flour; 1 cup bran; 4 teaspoons baking powder. Beat egg; add other ingredients in order. Beat well; transfer to well-oiled muffin pan. Bake 35 minutes in moderate oven.

Delicate, delightful. As simple and economical as you'd ever wish for. The secret is in the recipe—and it calls for only one egg! A guaranteed success if you use.

Borden's
ST. CHARLES
EVAPORATED MILK
THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
MONTREAL 3-920

The Deacon SHIRT

For Indoor and Outdoor Life

Made of Chambrays, Pongee, Fancy White and other Suitable Shirtings.

Ask your dealer.

The Deacon Shirt Co.
Belleville - Canada 58

MOTORISTS'
R. H. KETCHES
Agent for ve Stock Insuranc
Insurance Co.; Int
Insurance Co.; Yor
Insurance Co.
ARK

The

eep Your Car Fully Under Control

These Demand Unusual Care

Street Intersections
Blind Corners
Nearby Schools
Railway Tracks
Slippery Pavements

ONTARIO SAFETY LEAGUE
ROYAL BANK BUILDING • TORONTO

IT'S UNWISE to put off to-day's duty until to-morrow. If your stomach is acid-disturbed take the new aid to digestion comfort today. A pleasant relief from the discomfort of acid-dyspepsia.

KI-MOIDS

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE
MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION 19-6A

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY

CATARRH of the BLADDER relieved in 24 HOURS

Each Capsule bears the name MIDY

Beware of counterfeits

SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS

Lantic

You will like Lantic fine!

For BAKING. For pound, tea and sponge cakes, coffee cakes, angel cake, layer cakes, fruit cakes, cocoanut cakes, pork cakes, nut cakes, short cakes, macaroons and biscuits, crullers, rolls, buns—ALL cakes—Lantic creams quicker with the butter—because it's FINE.

For PRESERVING. For peaches, pears, plums and grapes—if you use Lantic you can smile at the old caution "Let it simmer until all the sugar is dissolved." While yet the fruit retains its beautiful color and attractive form, the preserving is done!—because it's FINE.

FINE in granulation—finer than all other sweeteners in actual use—finest in results obtained. "Fine" has many meanings to the Lantic user! In snowy glistening crystals of pure cane sugar—all sugar and nothing else—Lantic brings you concentrated sweetening. And because each crystal is fine and even, Lantic dissolves at once—it instantly delivers its great sweetening power without hesitation. Of course it goes farther. Of course it costs less. Of course you will like it fine.

In PRESERVING late fruits such as pears, plums and peaches, it eliminates the danger of over-cooking, which robs fruit of its natural color and shape, and some of its flavor.

In BAKING, Lantic creams quickly with the butter—which makes the cake light and dainty. Creaming need not be tedious.

In CANDY-MAKING fine granulation gives candy a soft velvety quality. Most of the highest grade chocolates and finer candies are made with Lantic. The exquisite "velours" of the best chocolate creams comes from Lantic fineness.

In TEA or COFFEE, in fact in all beverages (hot or cold), every Lantic crystal dissolves at once, yielding readily the full sweetening of the purest cane.

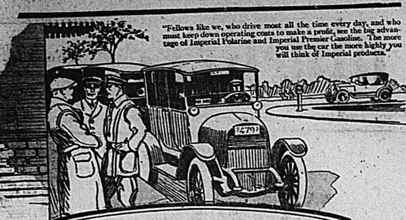
For BEVERAGES. For tea, coffee, cocoa, lemonade, root beer, orangeade, lemon pop and fruit punch—in fact for all home-made beverages—use LANTIC. There will then be no wasted spoonful left at the bottom of the cup or glass—because it's FINE.

For CANDY-MAKING. For fudge, taffy, butterscotch; caramels and fondants, walnut and maple creams, marshmallows; peppermints, peanut brittle; candied fruits, and of course all icings, Lantic has the call with the best candy makers because it's FINE.

ATLANTIC SUGAR REFINERIES, LIMITED
MONTREAL

10 lbs. 2 lbs. 5 lbs. 100 lbs. 5 lbs. 2 lbs. 20 lbs.

Sugar



"Fellows like we, who drive most all the time every day, and who must keep down operating costs to make a profit, see the big advantage of Imperial Polarine and Imperial Premier Gasoline. The more you use the car the more highly you will think of Imperial products."

Imperial Polarine Pays Because It Saves

ANY motorist, who keeps a record of his car expenses, can quickly satisfy himself that Imperial Polarine pays because it saves—because it saves not only gasoline, new piston-rings, spark plugs and other repairs, but also depreciation.

Imperial Polarine makes a good car better, keeps the motor in perfect tune, thoroughly lubricated against excessive wear and break-downs. It provides an unbreakable oil film which lubricates every friction surface—makes a perfect piston-ring seal and saves wear on moving parts.

What grade is best suited for your car? Do you know? Look for the Imperial Polarine Chart of Recommendations, on display wherever Imperial Polarine is sold, and learn the grade specified—use this grade exclusively and get the utmost service.

Four-gallon and gallon steel cans, steel half-barrels and barrels, also steel 12½-gallon kegs—for sale by dealers everywhere. Buy in large containers to save money.

IMPERIAL Polarine MAKES A GOOD CAR BETTER

IMPERIAL POLARINE (Light medium body) IMPERIAL POLARINE HEAVY (Medium heavy body) IMPERIAL POLARINE A (Extra heavy body)

A GRADE SPECIALLY SUITED TO YOUR MOTOR

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED
Power - Heat - Light - Lubrication
Branches in all Cities

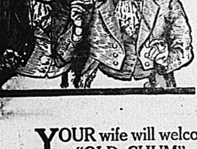
DOUKHOBORS ARE PERMANENTLY SETTLED

Edmonton, Sept. 3.—It looks now as if the Doukhobors, instead of quitting Alberta, as rumored a short time ago, are intending to settle down even more permanently than before. They have just organized, for business purposes, the "Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood of Alberta," which has been incorporated and duly entered upon the list of new commercial enterprises in this province.

Peter Veregin himself, leader and business adviser of the Doukhobors, is No. 1 on the directorate, and associated with him are J. R. Shonkin and M. W. Cayaroff. The concern opens up with an authorized capitalization of $20,000 and Cowley is its headquarters.

* * *

The Interprovincial Football Union has adopted the Intercollegiate Union rules.



The Home Smoke

YOUR wife will welcome your smoking "OLD CHUM" about the house.

When supper is over, and you settle down to read or chat, fill up your favorite pipe with "OLD CHUM" and puff away.

The mellow fragrance of this choice tobacco makes it Canada's favorite.

OLD CHUM

Canada's Favorite Pipe Tobacco.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

"Isn't that Sheila Kemble?" Daphne asked.

"Yes, that's Sheila," said Duane, and he waved to her and she to him. He turned back to Daphne. "Awfully nice girl. Like to meet her?"

"I'm crazy to."

"I'd bring you together now, but she's completely surrounded by grandes dames."

He named the women, and Mrs. Kip gaped at them as if they were a group of Valkyrs in Valhalla. It startled her to see them paying such court to an actress. She said so.

"All great successes love one another," Duane explained. "Those old ladies were geniuses at getting born in the best families, and Sheila has earned her place. She looks a bit like your daughter, don't you think?"

Mrs. Kip tilted her head and studied Miss Kemble and nodded. She made the important amendment. "She looks like she used to look like Daphne."

"That's better," said Tom Duane. "Miss Kip might be her understudy."

"How much does an understudy get?" said Daphne, abruptly.

"I haven't the faintest idea!" Duane exclaimed. "Not much, I imagine, except an opportunity."

"Is it true that Miss Kemble makes so much?"

"I'd like to trade incomes with her, that's all. Her manager, Reben, was telling me that she would clear fifty thousand dollars this year."

Mrs. Kip was aghast. Daphne was electrified. She surprised Duane with another question: "You said Miss Kemble was married?"

"Yes, and has children, and loves her husband. But she couldn't stand idleness. She's just come back to the stage after several years of rusting in a small city."

Daphne fired one more question point-blank: "Do you think I could succeed on the stage?"

"Why not?" he answered. "You have—with your mother's permission—great beauty and magnetism, a delightful voice, and intelligence. Why shouldn't you succeed? You would probably have a peck of trouble getting started, but— Do you know any managers?"

"I never met one."

"Well, if you ever decide that you want to try it, let me know, and I can probably force somebody to give you a job."

"I'll remember that," said Daphne, darkly.

She said nothing more while the luncheon ran its course.

The women got rid of Tom Duane gracefully—Leila asked him to put them in a taxicab, as they had still much shopping to do. They rode to a department store, and Leila started another account. They rode back to the apartment. There they found a day letter from Daphne's father to her mother.

"As you see by papers big Cowper firm failed today for ten million dollars this hits us hard you better come home not buy anything more situation serious but hope for best don't worry well love. WESLEY."

Mrs. Kip dropped into a chair. The shock was so great that it shook first from her a groan of sympathy for her husband.

"Your poor father! And he's worked so hard and been so careful."

Bayard came home late for dinner and in a state of grave excitement. The great Cowper wholesale establishment had fallen like a steeple, crushing many a house. Indirectly it had rattled the windows of Bayard's firm: had stopped the banks from granting an important loan. Bayard spent a bad day downtown. The news of his father's distress was a heavy blow. But he tried to dispense encouragement to the three women who could not quite realize what all the excitement was about, or why the disaster of a big chain of wholesale stores would be of any particular importance to them.

Bayard was just saying: "I tell you, Leila, honey, I was the wise boy when I grabbed you, for now I've got you, and I need you. Thank the Lord I'm not loaded up with debt. I've kept clear of that."

Leila said nothing, but thought hard. Bayard was silent. Later the door-bell rang and a young sewing girl brought two big boxes from Dutilh's. They were so big that there was no concealing them. Leila made a timid effort to escape with hers, but Bayard was full of a cheerful curiosity:

"What's all that, honey?"

"Oh, it's just a—a little thing I picked up today at Dutilh's."

"What is it, a scarf or something? Give a fellow a look at it."

He began to untie the knot. Sealed across the cord was an envelope, with a statement. Bayard tore it free. Leila snatched at it. Bayard laughed and dodged her. Leila pursued. It was a ghastly game of tag for her, and Daphne and her mother looked on in guilty dread. Bayard, whooping with laughter, dashed into his room and closed the door, held it fast while Leila pounded and pleaded with him.

His laughter was quenched sharply. There was a silence. He opened the door and walked out, a sickly pallor at his lips, the statement in his hand:

"This can't be right, honey: 'Bayard Kip to Dutilh, debtor. Peach-blow satin gown—two hundred and seventy-five dollars.' The price is ridiculous, and I have no account there."

"He—he insisted on my opening one."

"But I don't want to open any accounts. I pay my bills in thirty days or discount them for cash. I can't pay this in thirty days. Every penny I can see ahead of me is laid out."

"I—I'm sorry," Leila faltered. "You said the times were getting better."

"I thought they were. I hoped they were. But they've gone bad again. Besides, I was trying to cheer you up, to give you a happy honeymoon. And I bought you everything you saw abroad. And it wasn't enough! When will you get enough clothes!"

Leila had stared, incredulous at the calamitous result of her tender impulse to beautify herself in his eyes. Then tears came gushing and she ran to her room and locked the door.

Bayard did not follow her. He turned for comfort to his mother and Daphne. He noted the other box. Daphne had not dared to open it.

Bayard ripped the envelope from its cord and read:

"Bayard Kip to Dutilh, Dr. Parchment-toned gown, for Miss Daphne Kip, two hundred and seventy-five dollars."

He was parchment-toned himself as he shook the statement at Daphne, and whispered, huskily, "What's this?"

Daphne could not muster any courage. She explained with craven remorse, "I saw a gown that I—I needed there, and I—I— He offered to let it on your account till I could get the money."

Bayard was choked with wrath and a terror greater than hers.

"I go to my office and work like a fiend all day, and I come home to find that my wife and my sister have run me into debt for—five hundred and fifty dollars. And the firm, the big firm I work for, had to extend a note for seven hundred and fifty because we couldn't meet it!"

His mother tried to stem the tide of Bayard's rage, to turn his wrath with a soft answer:

"I guess it's all my fault, honey. The dresses looked so pretty on the girls I urged them to take them. You ought to see how beautiful they are. Go put the dress on, Daphne, and let your brother see how sweet you look in it."

"Sweet! She looks sweet in it! It's beautiful! And that justifies anything. Lord, what did you make 'em out of, these women!"

Mrs. Kip nudged Daphne and whispered, "Go on, put the dress on; let him see you in it."

She spoke with great canniness, but Daphne stared at her with derision, and edged away and spoke in a tone as biting as cold blue vitriol.

"Put it on, mother! Do you think I'd ever wear the thing? I'll send it back tomorrow morning at daybreak. And I'll never take a thing that any man pays for as long as I live."

Bayard roared at her over his shoulder: "You won't take anything that any man pays for, eh? What are you going to live on—air?"

She answered him, grimly, "There are several million women in this country earning their own living, and I'm going to be one of them."

His comment was a barking, "Hah!"

She lugged the box away to her room. Bayard flung himself into a chair and listened to the cauldron of his own hateful thoughts. Gradually they ceased to bubble and stew. He could hear now the muffled beat of Leila's sorrow. He resisted it for a while, sneered at it, raged at it, and then at the cruelty of the world.

Leila's sobs had stopped now and Bayard listened for them anxiously. Perhaps she had died of grief. A lasso seemed to have caught him about the shoulders; it was dragging him to the door.

He went there at last, and listened. He heard a low whimpering, unendurably appealing. He tapped on the door and called through it.

"Leila, honey love, forgive me. I've seen the little gown. It's beautiful. You shall have it—and a dozen like it. Please forgive me and love me again. And I'll buy you anything you want. Please. Please don't keep me standing outside your door. Honey! Leila love!"

The door opening, he slipped through to take refuge with his Leila.

A moment later the doorbell rang. Daphne checked the maid whose ears had been fascinatingly entertained, and told her that if the caller were Mr. Wimburn he was to wait outside in the hall. It was Wimburn and Daphne went out to him. He greeted her with the zest of a young lover. Daphne gave him a cold cheek to kiss, and then, pulling her engagement ring from her finger, placed it in his hand.

"What—what's this, Daphne?" he stuttered.

"It's your ring. I'm giving it back. The engagement is off—indefinitely."

"For heaven's sake, why? What have I done?"

"Nothing. Neither have I. But I'm going to do something."

"What are you going to do, Daphne?"

"I don't know—but something."

"Don't you love me any more?"

"Just as much as ever—more than ever. And I'll prove it, too."

"Prove it by putting the ring back on."

"Never! Send it back and save your money. That's what I'm going to do with what I've bought. Kiss me good night and go, please."

She left him outside and closed the door as lovingly as she could,

(To Be Continued)

* * *

The members of the former Royal family of Austria are beginning to take up occupations to make their livelihood.

MACDONALD'S BRIER SMOKING TOBACCO

The Big Plug 80 cents

"The Tobacco with a heart"

WHEAT PARTICIPATION CERTIFICATES

Bring your certificates to this Bank and we will collect for you the initial payment of 30 CENTS PER BUSHEL authorized by the Wheat Board.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

PAID-UP CAPITAL - $15,000,000
RESERVE FUND - - $15,000,000

Belleville Branch - A. Y. Snider, Mgr.

"Posing as a Martyr When He is a Fool"

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Louis, principal speaker at the camp meeting services at Ocean Grove, N.J., startled his hearers when he said:

"Trying to get well by faith healing is imposing upon God. We've got doctors and medicines and we ought to use them. We could live for a time without eating, too, but we don't, as a matter of fact. Don't sponge on God."

The Bishop referred to Lord Mayo MacSweeney of Cork, declaring, "I he doesn't eat pretty soon he'll be dead man." He further declared th world should repudiate such a man "posing as a martyr when he is fool."

The frontier negotiations betwee Lith[illegible] an[illegible] been brol en o[illegible] s are r turning

'UST GET PERMIT.

The Lea[illegible] Satu day by 9 to [illegible] Sept. 3.—The to St. Simon's [illegible]n be displayed championshi[illegible] and carried in [illegible]casions, in all [illegible] the American [illegible] Commission's [illegible]in a permit

[illegible]len has [illegible]meri- [illegible]tatus

WRIGLEY[illegible]

aids to good looks, sound teeth, eager appetite and digestion are

SEALED TIGHT—KEPT RIGHT

The Flavour LASTS

After every meal

A119

WRIGLEY'S DOUBLEMINT CHEWING GUM PEPPERMINT
WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM MINT LEAF FLAVOR THE FLAVOR LASTS
WRIGLEY'S JUICY FRUIT CHEWING GUM THE FLAVOR LASTS

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 3.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 233; House, 435.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE

Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 205.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and price right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont

The Farmer-Banker Alliance

You go to your lawyer for legal advice; to the doctor for medical advice; why not to The Merchants Bank for financial advice?

If you want a loan to buy cattle, hogs or equipment—if you want information as to how to invest money—come to those who make a business of financial matters, and are in a position to give you sound and impartial advice.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—August 23 was the fiftieth anniversary of the occupation of Fort Garry by the troops under the command of General Wolseley, afterwards Viscount Wolseley. The expedition was undertaken for the purpose of re-establishing the authorities of the crown, which had been usurped by Louis Riel, and when the army reached the fort they found it evacuated and the rebel leader and his followers fled.

In honor of the event, arrangements are being made for a dinner which will be attended by all the survivors of the party in Canada who can be communicated with, as well as the local survivors among which are numbered several of Winnipeg's now prominent citizens. The date has not yet been set, but it will be either on or before September 15 when the last of the volunteers from eastern Ontario arrived.

Of the veterans of what is known in history as the Red River Expedition, Winnipeg has now among its residents: Col. Jack Allen, Sir D. H. McMillan, Sir Hugh John Macdonald, R. I. I. Jones, Joseph F. Tennant, W. A. Shepard, John Post, Dr. Chas. Bell, W. F. Alloway, W. Peel, W. Volumn, Geo. Fulthorp, W. C. Douglass, P. C. Halliday and Robert Bullock.

WILSON'S "The National Smoke"
BACHELOR
Still the most for the money
10c.
ANDREW WILSON & Co. TORONTO AND MONTREAL

LOCATED THE MISSING SHOES

Passenger Who Had on Wrong Pair Admitted Thinking That They Felt "Pretty Tight."

Mr. D. of North Pennsylvania street tells of a near tragedy, or something akin to it, which occurred a few days ago on a morning train coming in from Chicago, relates the Indianapolis News.

He had occupied an upper berth, and when he arose found that his shoes had disappeared. A pair not his own were where his should have been, but they evidently belonged to the occupant of the lower berth.

The porter was called, but his most diligent search failed to locate the missing shoes. The train was rapidly speeding toward Indianapolis, and with visions of arriving stocking-footed, Mr. D. was in a most unenviable state of mind.

About that time a portly little man sauntered down the aisle, stopped and began to assemble his possessions perparatory to detraining. "What's the excitement?" he inquired, becoming interested in the search.

"Why, this man's lost his shoes," said the anxious porter. "You don't suppose you-all might 'a' mistook them for yours, do you?"

Then the portly party took a look at his feet and discovered that he had.

"Well," said he, considerably chagrined, "I thought that the pesky things felt pretty tight."

And then there occurred a hasty exchange of shoes just as the train pulled into the station.

MAKE SKILLFUL AUTO DRIVERS

African Natives Conduct Vehicles Along Jungle Tracks After Short Term of Apprenticeship.

It is natural that since automobiles have found their way into every part of the world, the drivers would vary in appearance, and in attire or lack of attire, according to the customs of the countries in which the motor car is called to do service. If you were to walk along the road leading from the west coast of equatorial Africa several hundred miles into the interior, for instance, you might see a motor truck, plowing through the jungle, and in the chauffeur's seat, driving with peculiar and cheerful abandon, would be a west African native. And from the appearance of his driver's uniform, it would be evident that the high cost of clothing would bother him not one whit. These natives become full-fledged chauffeurs within three or four weeks from the time they see their first motor vehicle. The trucks, of which there are about 200, maintain regular schedules as feeders to a large steamship line plying between west African ports and Europe and America. They are loaded with men and supplies on the inland trips, and with cocoa products, palm oil, hides, and rubber bound for the coast.

Parasite Spreads Disease.

A peculiar disease that is still confined chiefly to certain river valleys of Japan, but suggests possibilities of breaking loose as a widespread epidemic, has been a subject of recent investigation. It is known as "tsutsugamushi," and is transmitted by the "akamushi," an insect parasite of certain field mice. It is a fever strikingly similar to typhus and Rocky mountain spotted fevers. The investigators have learned that its chief occurrence is in the months of June to October, which is the time of development of the insect carriers, and the season when the peasant victims of the disease are brought into contact with the mice. The mortality, though very variable, sometimes exceeds 50 per cent. Under existing conditions, bites by the insects cannot be wholly avoided, and cutting out the bitten part does not prevent the spread of the virus, while such remedies as iodine, mercury, arsenic, quinine and dyes have proven ineffective. The only hope of stamping out the disease seems to rest in the extermination of the field mice.

Repairing U-Boat Damages.

If British shipbuilding has not yet reached pre-war figures the world has done wonderful things in ship production in the last twelve months. The total tonnage launched was 7,144,549, according to Lloyd's Register, and the British share was 1,620,000 tons. The feature of the returns is the expansion of shipbuilding in the United States and in Japan. The former appears at the head of the table with 57 per cent. of the world's output, and more than twice the tonnage built in the United Kingdom. Japan, with 611,800 tons launched, has built more shipping in one year than it did in the 22 years to 1913.

MONSTER PIKE A "PIRATE"

English Villagers Feasted on Fish Which Had Been Cutting Anglers' Lines for Years.

A pirate was caught and killed recently in the little old English village of Beeston St. Lawrence, Norfolkshire, and his remains were cut up and shared between the old age pensioners, who voted him very tasty, an exchange reports. The good people of Beeston St. Lawrence are not cannibals, and for the benefit of those not acquainted with the legendary lore of that part of England it must be explained that this pirate was a monster pike which terrorized the waters of the lake in Beestone for upward of thirty years.

The pike, which had the reputation of being the most artful fish in the world, earned the name of "the pirate" because of his predatory raids on fishermen's lines whenever they hooked anything. Anglers came from miles around to try and catch the freebooter, but the fish was too clever for the most expert piscator.

According to stories told over mugs of ale at the village inn the "pirate" was hooked only once, and in a vicious rage he broke the line and escaped. Yet the honor of catching him goes to a young ex-soldier who had been pike fishing only four times in his life.

The night of the capture they held a guessing contest in the village as to the actual weight of the "pirate," the prize being the fish itself. He weighed 26 pounds 1 ounce, measured five feet and had a girth of two feet.

JUST PULLED UP IN TIME

Timpkins' Abrupt Change of Subject Hardly to Be Wondered at Under the Circumstances.

The shaded lights, music in the distance, sweet perfumes from the costly flowers about them—everything was just right for a proposal, and Timpkins decided to chance his luck. She was pretty, which was good, and also, he believed, an heiress, which was better.

"Are you not afraid that some one will marry you for your money?" he asked gently.

"Oh, dear, no!" smiled the girl. "Such an idea never entered my head!"

"Ah, Miss Liscombe," he sighed, "in your sweet innocence you do not dream how coldly, cruelly mercenary some men are!"

"Perhaps I don't," replied the girl calmly.

"I would not for a moment have such a terrible fate befall you!" he said passionately. "You are too good, too beautiful. The man who wins you should love you for yourself alone."

"He'll have to," the girl remarked. "It's my cousin Jennie who has the money—not I. You seem to have got me mixed. I haven't a penny myself."

"Oh—er"—stammered the young man—"what pleasant weather we are having, aren't we?"

Gone Lower.

Several of our Hoosier school buildings are named after noted Americans of a generation or more ago. Recently at a community meeting at one of these buildings the speaker spoke of the spirit of the man, whose name the building bore, hovering over the school. The children seemed much impressed then but it took the next day to show how deeply some had been moved.

The principal sent two youngsters to the basement to see to the furnace in the absence of the janitor. They came rushing up a few minutes later saying that they had heard a "terrible noise" down there. The principal laughed at them but another boy arose in their defense. "I bet I know what it is," he said. "I bet it's that man's spirit around here again. Only this time instead of being on the roof it's down in the cellar."—Indianapolis News.

Changed His Mind.

He was well up in the sixties and always got a lot of pleasure out of walking. He would always say: "You city people don't get out enough and walk."

In his short stay in the city he stepped into his son's downtown magazine shop and said: "I just walked down from Thirty-fourth street." With pride he added: "That's not bad for a young fellow like me! And, by the way, your wife gave me this note and said for me to stop and get these things. Where is this store?"

"That's the department store just a square up the street—this street," replied his son.

"A department store! Where is that errand boy you have around here? I'm too tired to walk up there," replied the old man.

Slow to Learn.

"This newly made millionaire is an uncouth fellow."

"So he is. Yet he frequents the most fashionable restaurants."

"That's why I think it strange that he is so backward in acquiring a polish. The mere contemplation of a faultless head waiter ought to give him some ideas of deportment."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Light in the Window.

The transport had entered New York harbor. On board was one lone colored soldier among the homeward bound. As the ship passed the statue of liberty there was absolute silence, when suddenly the dusky doughboy broke the quiet by remarking: "Put your light down, honey, I'se home."—The American Legion Weekly.

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Greatest Investment Bargain in Canada

The new prices for Victory Bonds make them the greatest investment bargain in the history of Canada.

Canada's great prosperity has taxed the financial resources of our manufacturing and mercantile establishments, and the banks are engaged in financing what is probably the greatest crop in Canada's history. To procure funds for necessary industrial expansion some lots of Victory Bonds have been liquidated. To such sources the present supply is largely due.

In conformity with these conditions and with the temporary rates for money the world over, the present price adjustments have been made.

5½% BONDS—FREE FROM DOMINION INCOME TAXES

Due	Price		Yield
1922 (1 DEC.)	98	and interest	6.37%
1923 (1 NOV.)	98	and interest	6.15%
1927 (1 DEC.)	97	and interest	6.00%
1933 (1 NOV.)	96½	and interest	5.88%
1937 (1 DEC.)	98	and interest	5.68%

INCOME SUBJECT TO THE USUAL INCOME TAXES.

Due	Price		Yield
1924 (1 NOV.)	97	and interest	6.27%
1934 (1 NOV.)	93	and interest	6.24%

If you are a holder of Victory Bonds there is no question as to security any more than there would be any question as to the goodness of sugar or other staple commodity, if there were a lowering of price. A wise man would take advantage of the lower prices and buy all he could. If you own any Victory Bonds hold them.

The present prosperity of the country as indicated by the splendid crops, increasing foreign trade, increased bank clearings, the unprecedented bank deposits, and numerous other factors, prove conclusively that Canadians are well able to keep up the record of 1918-1919 when they purchased $1,200,000,000 of Victory Bonds.

The current supply is by no means unlimited. As compared with the total purchased by the public in the last two years it is infinitesimal. Immediate advantage should be taken of the present prices. If you have funds available buy to the limit. VICTORY BONDS ARE CANADA'S ONE BEST SECURITY.

We are excellently equipped to serve you and your orders will receive our best attention.

A. E. AMES & CO.
Investment Securities
UNION BANK BLDG. - - - - - - TORONTO
TRANSPORTATION BLDG. - - - MONTREAL
74 BROADWAY - - - - - - - - NEW YORK
BELMONT HOUSE - - - - - VICTORIA, B.C.
HARRIS TRUST BLDG. - - - - - - CHICAGO
Established 1889

TRADE WITH GERMANY ASSUMES VAST PROPORTIONS

Although a technical state of war still exists between the United States and Germany and Austria, trade with those countries is rapidly increasing. Reports of the Department of Commerce show that exports to Germany totalled $202,176,079 during the twelve months ended last June 30, as compared with $8,818,882 during the corresponding 12 months the year before. Imports from Germany jumped from $944,981 in 1919 to $45,085,975 during the year ending July 1.

Exports to Austria as distinguished from Austria-Hungary were valued at $11,847,127, as compared with nothing the year before. Imports from that country for the same period were valued at $587,108.

Trade with Russia in Europe also showed a substantial increase in the past year, exports being valued at $31,639,901 as compared with $11,000,000 the year before. Imports from that country, however, were valued at only $2,443,288.

GERMANS MUST GET PERMIT.

Coblenz, Germany, Sept. 3.—The German flag may again be displayed from public buildings and carried in parades, on special occasions, in all the Rhineland, except the American area. Under the High Commission's order, Germans must obtain a permit of each such display.

Major-General Henry T. Allen has not approved the order for the American area because the armistics status still exists there.

The best 15¢ Cigarette

MILLBANK

VIRGINIA CIGARETTE

Every 10c Packet of
WILSON'S
FLY PADS
WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

BUILD YOUR MOVIE

Here is the Scenario for a Real Thriller.

Being the True and Authentic History of Muggerby Biffgang, With Full Explanation of His Long Stay in Jail.

Synopsis of preceding chapters: Muggerby Biffgang is a dangerous criminal—a gambler for high stakes—a man mighty hard to catch because of his uncanny impersonal genius. The detectives follow him to a restaurant or underworld rendezvous, surround the place, put a squad on the roof and two under the cellar.

They go in, only to find a waiter and several customers. They search and research the place, arrest the whole bunch, only to find that Muggerby Biffgang had been the very cook who had generously given them each a piece of dried apple pie and whom in gratitude they had left behind. Things are getting desperate for the police force. Several times they have burst into his gambling den only to find nothing; no faro tables, no roulette wheel; not even a deck of Old Maid cards.

Dear, dear! Then one day, Chinchilla, the pretty daughter of a Spanish sombrero, rushed into headquarters and informed the police of a dangerous counterfeiting den. She has heard the clinking of coins, and curses. But the police fly on the instant and it is only when they have gone 40 miles that they remember they had forgotten to ask Chinchilla where the den was.

However, they scour and find it and break in upon the counterfeiters with wielded clubs and drawn revolvers. And Joy of Jubilations! Who should be the leader of the band but the treacherous thug, Muggerby Biffgang, the great and dangerous gambler of millions! Seizing the unlawful paraphernalia, they kick the whole gang into jail. But mystery of mysteries! The only things they find in the junk are double-headed pennies. The plot is apparent. In shooting the pennies and by taking heads, the gang always played to win. Very simple. The warden of the jail asks each prisoner the same queer question. "Do you play checkers?" Afraid that this is some sort of a trap they each say "No!" very vehemently.

But Muggerby, when his turn comes, is so deep in thought that his caution deserts him and he says: "Yes!" The next day all the prisoners are released but Muggerby, who is given a year's sentence with 11 months off for good behavior.

MDLV.

"Dear warden," asked Muggerby, 20 years later, now a white-haired man, "why, when my sentence was a year, have you kept me 20 years?"

"Because, dear prisoner, you were the only one who could beat me at checkers around here, and I've kept you here until I found out all of your pet moves," answered the warden, wondering why Muggerby had never asked him before.—Detroit Free Press.

Game Laws Working Well.

Wild duck and wild geese, since the federal migratory bird law took full effect under a special treaty with Canada and Great Britain, have been steadily increasing. They have grown more tame, too, and in places where they have found a welcome and where they have been fed and protected they now flock by the thousands. In the city limits of Oakland, Cal., there is a small lake where wild geese and ducks have been fed, and within a few years that lake, even though it be within the city, has come to be the mecca of thousands upon thousands of ducks which in previous years were unseen there.

Tree-Spraying Apparatus.

One of the developments of the fight against tree pests is a mobile power sprayer that is touring the middle west, working in certain localities only so long as its services are demanded, then moving to another field. A solution containing arsenate of lead is used in the sprayer in warm weather, and one made with lime and sulphur in cold weather.—Popular Science Monthly.

FAM-LY-ADE
Refreshing!

THE hot, sultry days are here; keep cool by drinking luscious, fruity FAM-LY-ADE. It is made in a few minutes in your own home. Five true fruit flavors. 35c. a tube at grocers and druggists: Each tube contains sufficient FAM-LY-ADE for 32 glasses. Made in Canada by Power-Kaachie, Limited, Toronto.

35c. a tube

Kipling Speaks of the English

OF all the British races, the English are the poorest advertisers. They are, too, the most generous advertisers of others. They praise the Irishman's and the Scotchman's caution and frugality. In war, they cheer the Scottish tenacity, and the Irish dash. Now and again somebody remembers to speak of their own doggedness and cheerfulness, but more often the references are to their slowness and denseness to new ideas. But, as Rudyard Kipling said, there is one time in the year when they can creep out of their hiding places and tell each other what they think about themselves. That is St. George's Day. This year, Mr. Kipling was the chief speaker at the St. George's banquet in London, and, as is always the case, he made an admirable speech, in which humor, patriotism and sentiment were deftly compounded. In speaking of the various points of contact the English race had with humanity, he observed that the Phoenecians taught the Englishman the elements of shop-keeping; the Roman taught him love of sport, by hiring him to fight beasts in the arena.

Under the Heptarchy he studied social reform, which in those days consisted of making a levy on capital to buy off the heathen of the north from taking direct action against English industries. Next he took a three-hundred-year course of colloquial and law French under eminent Norman teachers, but never learned the language, but "it left him with a profound respect based on experience for his neighbors across the Channel and a conviction, which time had deepened, that they were the only other people in the world who really mattered. For five hundred years his domestic and foreign policy was largely controlled by Italians, French and Spanish with occasional Austrian politico-ecclesiastical authorities. Later he was exposed to the rigors of the Puritan conscience, which was then largely directed from Geneva, Leyden, Amsterdam and the Low Countries. While thus employed, he was under pretext of union, finally and fatally subjugated by the Scots."

Any unmixed race would have been driven to the edge of lunacy by such experiences, but the Englishman, like a built-up gun-barrel, is all one temper though welded of different materials. Roman, Norman, Papist, Cromwellian, Stuart, Hollander, Hanoverian aristocracy, middle class and democracy, each in turn experimented on the English, and each was met with a large, silent tolerance that was mistaken for stupidity. Each was given a fair trial and then dismissed. It was thus, and not in a fit of absent-mindedness, that the Empire was born. It was, said Mr. Kipling, the outcome of the relaxations of persecuted specialists, men who for one cause or another were unfit for the rough and tumble of home life. They did it in search of rest and change, and taking their habits with them, by some mysterious rule of thumb magic they did establish and maintain a reasonable peace and security among simple folks in many parts of the world, and that without overmuch murder, oppression or torture. It was due to the large tolerance that the English had developed in their many centuries of intercourse with various masters and would-be masters that made them sympathetic to remote peoples and strange gods. They learned also this great lesson: "That men should not try to do better than good for fear that worse than bad might follow."

Referring to the war the speaker said that after ninety-nine years of peace the English were given less than ninety-six hours to choose whether they would buy a little longer peace with the heathen of the North, as their fathers had bought it, or make peace with them as King Alfred had made it. As a race they had forgotten to say "No" to anyone who said "Yes" in a sufficiently loud voice; they had quite forgotten that they had broken a church, killed one king, closed a protectorate and exiled another king sooner than be driven where they did not desire to go. But when their hour came again, they decided once again, and once again by instinct, to go their own way, for once again they had prepared nothing, they had foreseen nothing. "They had been assured that not only was there no need for preparation against war, but that the mere thought of it was absurd, where it was not criminal. Therefore, through the first two years of the war it was necessary to throw up a barricade of the dead bodies of the nation's youth behind which the most elementary preparation could be begun."

Referring to Defoe's summing up of a true-born Englishman as "the man akin to all the Universe," Kipling said: "What will this man do in the future? We are too close to the dust of the main battle to see clearly. We know that England is crippled by the loss of wastage of a whole generation. Her position from a civil point of view is that of our enemies in the worst days of the war. That is to say, all leave is stopped for every man who can stand up to his job, no matter how sick or stale he may be; and there is undreamed of promotion for untried men, who, merely because they are not dead, will have to face heavier responsibility, longer hours, and criticism that will certainly not grow milder as the years pass. But no miracles have occurred. This world, which some of us, in their zeal to do better than good, have created, and which we must all inherit, is no new world, but the old grown harder. The wheel has come full circle. The whole weight of that world at the present moment lies again, as it used to lie in the days of our fathers, upon two nation, upon England and France."

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

EVERYBODY WORKS— EVEN FATHER

New York, Sept. 6—The Wall Street Journal publishes an interesting review of present conditions in France from a U. S. banker who has just returned from that country. "The recovery of France has been simply amazing," he is quoted as saying. His name is not given.

"I never saw such abundant crops anywhere," the paper's informant said. "France is going to raise almost enough to feed herself this year. Everyone works in France now. Just as soon as the potatoes were all dug they began preparing the ground for a crop of something else. This intensive cultivation is so general in France that one cannot help being optimistic. That is the kind of spirit that conquers.

"The work of reconstruction is progressing rapidly. In the devastated area the government is assisting in the rebuilding by guaranteeing a certain proportion of the loss and taxing the whole people to pay the cost.

"Production in France—and what I say of France applies to Belgium—has been so enormous that it has been impossible to get sufficient labor. Many laborers are being imported from Bohemia to save the crops.

"It is true that the French people were disappointed in America. They expected a great deal more help in the way of reconstruction from us. Now, however, they have inaugurated a scientific system of taxation and their problems will soon be behind them. There is abegolutely no doubt the French and Belgian people are 'coming back'."

TWELVE MEN TO HANG AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 6.—All records for legal executions in Cook county, and possibly the state of Illinois, will be broken here October 14 and 15, county officials believe, when 12 men are sentenced to be hanged for murder.

Eight of the men are under sentence to die October 14 and four on the following day. In addition, two other slayers who have been convicted are awaiting sentence and it is possible that they also may hang on one or the other of the two days.

Chicago has had several wholsale executions in the past, the most notable on Nov. 11, 1887, when four of the Haymarket anarchists were hanged, but nothing in the memory of jail officials approaches a death list of 12 in two days.

Hangings in the Cook county jail take place in the corridor of one of the main cell blocks. There is just room for a double gallows, so it is probable, according to George F. Lee, the jailer, that the men will be executed in pairs. The hangings will cost the state approximately $3,000, including a $100 fee for the sheriff for each man hung.

Those to be hanged; October 14 are Sam Cardinella, leader of a black-hand gang, whose members confessed several murders; Nick Viani, Thomas Errico, Frank Campione, Sam Lopez, Joe Castanzo, Sam Ferrara and Henry Reese, the latter a negro.

The October 15 list includes Arthur Haensel, Richard Wilson, Harry Andre and Frank Zager. Haensel who killed his wife, was to have been executed last spring, but was granted a reprive five minutes before he was to have marched to the gallows. Andre was convicted of killing a watchman while robbing a factory safe. Wilson was found guilty in the same case, although he was on another floor of the building when Andre, his partner, killed the man. The jury decided that as an accomplice he was equally guilty.

PAPYRUS OF CONGO FOR PAPER SUPPLY

Brussels, Sept. 3.—The supremacy of Canada and the Scandinavian countries in the pulp and paper industry may be challenged soon by the Belgian Congo papyrus, which grows in great abundance in the Congo, and which is to exploited by a large company which has been granted a concession. It is planned to establish a large plant costing two and a half million francs, which will have an initial production of 20,000 tons of pulp.

The papyrus of the Congo has shown on analysis 37.8 per cent. of cellulose. After research and experiments, a process has been discovered for bleaching the plants. This had been vainly sought for fifty years. The papyrus grows principally along the lower Lualaba River, near the lakes of Kabuli, Sjemba, Kisali and Noaga.

◆

Yorkshire cricketers met an all-Cleveland team at Toronto, each side scoring 70 runs.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 8
Alexandria	Sept. 7-8
BELLEVILLE	Sept. 6-8
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Delta	Sept. 13-15
Forest	Oct. 5-6
Inverary	Sept. 8
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 1
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Kemptville	Sept. 7-8
Lanark	Sept. 8
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Perth	Sept. 8-9
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

◆

New York and Cincinnati won their National League games again and the latter retain the lead.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

To the People of Canada

THERE are many things which you need not buy unless you choose. But footwear is not among them. You must have shoes. From the standpoint of your health, as well as for comfort and appearance, good shoes are a necessity. And that fact alone places upon the manufacturer of shoes a responsibility which he must at all times appreciate.

That responsibility to the Canadian public is shared by the 158 manufacturers of shoes in Canada, from whom you buy nearly $50,000,000 worth of footwear every year.

The fact that we have built up an industry of such magnitude is the best evidence that we do appreciate this responsibility. One may think that our responsibility ends when we have produced footwear of honest value and sincere workmanship, and have placed it on the shelf of the retail store where it is accessible to you. That is one essential service which our industry is called upon to render.

But we cannot dismiss our responsibility quite so easily. We believe that we should do more than that.

Good shoes are of such daily importance that we ought to make public certain facts and conditions which govern the quality of the product we make, and the value which you receive for your money. We ought to point out clearly, the part which you play, and the influence which you exercise, in establishing those conditions. We should urge upon you, your own responsibility in the matter, and show you just how you can help to maintain the quality of the footwear which we offer you.

This is the first advertisement of a series which will be devoted to that purpose.

¶ Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.

1

SHOE MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

THE WEATHER

Moderate westerly winds, fine. Thursday—Easterly winds, fair; followed by showers towards evening.

The Daily Intelligencer.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business to Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 282.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1920.

Exciting Speeding Events at Belleville Fair

SUN SHINES AGAIN AND SECOND DAY OF BELLEVILLE FAIR FINDS PROGRAM IN FULL SWING—ENTRIES MANY AND INTERESTING—ATTRACTIONS VARIED.

The attendance at the Belleville Fair on Tuesday, while good, was not as large as was anticipated by the management. On Monday evening and early Tuesday morning live stock was brought in and placed in stalls, and in the various classes the exhibit was excellent, especially of horses and cattle. During the forenoon judging was the order of the day and by noon the judges had about completed their duties.

As usual the main building was the attraction and many were the expressions of admiration at the display made.

The exhibits of various industries in the city are arranged in an artistic manner and are most favorably commented upon.

During yesterday afternoon the merry-go-round and the side-show attractions were liberally patronized.

It was anticipated by many that a baseball match would be one of the attractions, but it did not materialize. The great majority of those present on the grounds were, however, well paid for attending by witnessing three speeding events, namely, a named race, a 2,18 and a 2.30 class, and all were well contested. Considering the condition of the track the time made was good. The track was heavy and sticky in spots owing to rain on Monday evening. The events were as follows:

Named Race, Half-Mile Heats.

In this event no less than nine horses were entered and it proved to be some race for green horses. Four heats were necessary before the winner could be decided, although it was apparently an easy win for Florence L., a horse owned by Mr. V. Palmer, of Port Hope. She seemed to be clearly out of her class, winning the last three heats handily. Mollie C. was the only horse drawn during the heats. The summary is as follows:

Florence L. (V. Palmer, Port Hope)	2	1	1	1
Mildred C. (P. Clark, Picton)	1	2	8	6
Leo Stewart (M. Coulter, Tweed)	3	4	2	3
Elm D. (W. Dingman, Colborne)	8	3	5	2
Cecil Maud (B. Smith, Belleville)	4	5	6	5
City Limit (W. Elmhurst, Keene)	5	7	3	4
City Patch (B, Collins, Plainfield)	7	6	7	7
Hal Patch (H. Elmhurst, Keene)	9	9	4	8
Molly C. (M. Coulter, Tweed)	6	8	dr

Time—1.15¼, 1.18, 1.08¼, 1.08.

2.18 Class, Mile Heats.

A fine exhibition of horse racing was given in the four heats of this event. There were five entries at the start, but in the fourth heat, Judge, owned by W. McDonald, was drawn. Bud, a Port Hope horse, proved to be the winner, although he was at times closely pressed by Hoosier Boy, a Colborne horse. The summary is as follows:

Bud (C. Mayes, Port Hope)	2	1	1	1
Hoosier Boy (W. Dingman Colborne)	1	2	2	2
Herman Wenger (Geo. Powell, Belleville)	3	3	3	3
Leon McKinney (M. Wright, Picton)	4	5	4	4
Judge (Wm. McDonald, Ottawa)	5	4	5	dr

Time—2.25, 2.19¼, 2.21¼, 2.21¼.

2.30 Class, Mile Heats.

In this event, as in the others, four heats were necessary to ascertain the winner, which proved to be Dolly Patch, owned by Wm. Orr, of Belleville, and driven by W. Smith. Mr. George Powell, with Billy Patch, made a race in each heat, and in the third crossed under the wire ahead of Dolly Patch. It was an interesting race in each of the heats. The summary is as follows:

Dolly Patch (Wm. Orr, Belleville)	1	1	2	1
Billy Patch (Geo. Powell, Belleville)	2	2	1	2
Lena Rivers (E. W. Jones, Peterborough)	3	3	3	4
Montel (J. Powell, Keene)	4	4	4	3

Time—2.23, 2.22¼, 2.24¼, 2.23.

Mr. George O. Tice, of this city, was the starter and he performed his duties in a manner that was most acceptable. Mr. C. McCaffrey and A. Clapp of Ottawa were the judges and Messrs. Harry Ketcheson and Dr. Wellman, time-keepers.

Soldier's Suicide Was a Mistake

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—The Board of Pensions Commissioners for Canada has issued the following statement in answer to a New York despatch that John Hoar, a former Canadian soldier, now domiciled in Chicago, who lost both legs at the front, had committed suicide because he received a letter stating that his disability allowance was to be cut off.

"This man was in receipt of a 100 per cent. pension of $71 per month. He was suffering from amputation of both legs beneath the thigh and had been fitted with artificial legs. The artificial legs are reported as having been fairly satisfactory.

"During the period of accommodation to become accustomed to artificial limbs, he was granted additional helplessness allowance of $250 per annum for six months. The period expired on June 12th last.

"The Ottawa letter referred to in the despatch from New York was one to explain to Hoar the law as regards this special allowance for helplessness during the period of accommodation such as is required in becoming accustomed to artificial limbs. His full disability pension was continued as heretofore, and no intimation was given to him that it would be cut off."

Hoar, it is stated, was born in Ireland. He enlisted in Toronto in the Princess Pats on August 29, 1917, and was discharged in Toronto on December 12, 1919. According to records here he did not receive any decorations.

PICNIC TRAIN IN COLLISION.

Denver, Col., Sept. 7.—Ten persons were killed and upward of fifty were injured near Globesville, a suburb, when a westbound special train on the Denver & Interurban Railway, carrying pleasure-seekers to Eldorado Springs, Colorado, a mountain resort, crashed into a heavily-loaded interurban train coming to Denver from Boulder, Colorado, on Monday.

Seek To Solve Fuel Problem

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—More than 3,000 chemists from all parts of the country are in Chicago attending the sixteenth annual convention of the American Chemical Society, which opened on Monday. The fuel situation will be the chief topic of discussion for the next three days. All are working on plans to manufacture a substitute for coal. It is stated that "Celloidal fuel" or liquid coal will be the next fuel for home, factory and transportation.

"There are extensive deposits of lignite in Illinois mines," said J. W. Harrington of New York. "By a certain process this coal, which is sometimes like peat, and which has been considered refuse, may be combined with petroleum. The particles are suspended in the liquid by celloid chemistry, and it is burned like oil. Its chief value lies in the fact that the petroleum is used after gasoline, kerosene, and other products are extracted from it. Both the refuse petroleum and the lignite are considered worthless now, but combined form a valuable fuel."

Many women chemists are attending the convention. The first woman to arrive was Mrs. W. C. Durfee of Boston.

BLIND, MINUS HANDS, CAN DRESS AND SHAVE

Washington, Sept. 7.—Blind, with both hands gone, Carl Bronner, a sailor, is able, after a few months' training here, to dress, feed and shave himself with a minimum of assistance. Bronner's injuries were inflicted by a hand grenade which exploded. His case became known to Louis Young, of New York, who 18 years ago lost both hands, also in an explosion.

Young came to Washington, and, removing the artificial hands that had been given Bronner, adjusted a small strap to his wrists. That evening Bronner combed his hair.

Price of Farm Implements Scored

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Declaring that prices of farm implements in the United States have been increased without warrant through "concerted action of manufacturers and dealers," the Federal Trade Commission in a report made public last night recommended the re-opening of the anti-trust proceedings against the International Harvester Company and the institution of judicial proceedings against the implement manufacturers and dealers. The commission declares that its invention, as ordered by the Senate, disclosed that in the period of the war, prices paid by farmers for implements advanced seventy-three per cent., with the greater portion of the increase coming in the last two years.

Ringleader of Blackmailers Caught in Trap

Revolver Placed in Box in Which He Expected to Find $20,000.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 8.—With the arrest of the alleged ringleader of a blackmail club and the confiscation by the police of enough dynamite to blow up a dozen of the largest factories in the city, police say they have thwarted a plot to intimidate wealthy manufacturers throughout the state. Seven young Italians are held in bonds of $15,000 each following alleged confessions obtained by the police.

They will be charged with an attempt to wreck the plant of the Acme Shear Company in this city Saturday night.

Before throwing the bomb at the plant from a speeding automobile, the members of the gang sent two blackmail letters to Dwight C. Wheeler, head of the concern. In the first letter, mailed August 11th, the club demanded $15,000. In the second letter the gang demanded $20,000.

Wheeler informed the police and the capture of the first member of the gang followed in a dramatic manner.

A trap was laid for the blackmailer. A revolver with a hair trigger was fastened inside a plain wooden box. To the trigger of the revolver was fastened a string on which was a heavy weight. In front of the muzzle of the gun was tacked a red flare similar to those used on railroads. The box was placed at the spot where the money was to be left.

At eight o'clock in the evening fourteen detectives and plainclothes men, disguised as day laborers, concealed themselves in a ring around the box, bushes effectively covering them. Twenty minutes after midnight, Luigi Papilla of Bridgeport entered the lot and stole over to the box. He lifted the box. There was a sharp explosion as the blank cartridge went off and the whole scene was lighted up with the glare of the red fire, which the revolver shot ignited, and which immediately burned through the paper top of the box.

Papilla dropped the box, blinded by the light. Fourteen revolvers were levelled at him as he stood dazed in the middle of the lot as the police sprang from the bushes. He had no chance to escape. He was brought to headquarters and grilled by the detectives. The round-up of the rest of the gang, all Italians, followed.

Coal Miners' Claims Are Endorsed

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 8.—The Trades Union Congress today adopted a resolution expressing the opinion that the coal miners claims were reasonable and just, and should be conceded forthwith. The Congress also passed a resolution urging that the Trades Union Movement concentrate its efforts on reducing the cost of living and instructing its Parliamentary Committee to take immediate steps to prepare a policy which would include nationalization and refer it to a ballot of the members of all affiliated unions."

C. P. Grier, Montreal, and W. F. Thompson, Mississauga, remain in the U. S. amateur golf championship running.

Ontario's Waterways "Most Wonderful"

Chicago Barrister Greatly Impressed After Yacht Trip.

"What you said in your letter was true—that we needed no letters of introduction. Everyone along the route was hospitable and cordial."

This is the opinion which a prominent member of the Chicago Bar now holds of Canadian people after a holiday in his yacht on the waterways of Ontario. It was written to a member of the Ontario Bench with whom he was acquainted. The Chicagoan declared that he felt that he must express to some Canadian the thrill of pleasure which he received on his communication.

"I made the entire trip from Georgian Bay to Alexandria Bay on the St. Lawrence River, passing through the North Channel, Collins Inlet, past French River, stopping at Byng Inlet, Point au Baril, going behind the islands at Point au Baril to Parry Sound; then visited Christian Islands, and examined the site of the old Jesuit mission established there about 1649, when the Jesuit Fathers removed from Saint Marie Mission on the Wye River. Then we entered the Severn River, passed by Orillia, through Lake Simcoe, and the entire waterway past Peterborough to Trenton."

"I think," says the lawyer, "that this is the most wonderful waterway trip in the country. It is certainly the most wonderful one I have ever taken. The variety and beauty of the scenery is beyond description. Some places were highly developed for summer resorts, and others were very wild. And then one always had the feeling that he was on a waterway made romantic by the journeys of the early explorers, Jesuits and fur traders."

The lawyer declared that the works of the Canadian Government from Port Severn to Trent evoked the admiration of his party. The construction work was finished and permanent, which was a contrast to the waterways of the United States, where broken-down locks and dangerous canals were not uncommon. The Canadian waterway could be described as a monument of engineering and permanence.

"I have never seen such speed and courtesy on the part of bridge-tenders and lock-keepers," said the lawyer. "Our feelings after we had gotten through was that we were in a great debt to the Canadian Government, and we felt somewhat humiliated that all we had received was given gratis by your Government—no toll charges, no charge of any kind for the use of your most wonderful waterway, and the operations of its forty-eight locks and many bridges.

16 Cars Ditched in Freight Wreck

A freight "spill" which will cause loss to the extent of several thousand dollars occurred on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, one and a half miles east of Lansdowne station through a broken wheel. Sixteen cars in all of extra eastbound freight train No. 589 were derailed and a complete tie-up of both tracks of the main line brought about.

The freight train in charge of Conductor Robert W. Bell, 23 John Street, with Alfred Calcutt, Belleville, as engineer, was proceeding east when the accident occurred. Some of the cars were ditched and others smashed up on the eastbound track. Six cars were spread over the westbound track preventing the movement of trains completely.

A call was immediately sent in for all available wrecking equipment, and the Brockville wrecking crew responded at 6.45 o'clock. At the same time the Belleville and Montreal steam cranes were started for the scene and on their arrival set to work to clear the tracks. The only passenger train immediately affected by the wreck was the local train for Toronto. This train was held at Brockville until 10.15 o'clock, when it proceeded to the scene of the spill, where the passengers were transferred to a train made up at Kingston of spare equipment.

Fifteen of the cars were loaded with grain and the remaining one with automobiles. Yard officials at Brockville forwarded 25 grain cars to Lansdowne for the purpose of trans-shipping the contents of the damaged cars.

The Bishops of Oxford and Worcester will bring $250,000 to Canada.

The three leading teams in the American League won double-headers. Cleveland leads by one game.

Hunger Strikers Growing Weaker

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—MacSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, was reported appreciably weaker this morning, but conscious and able to talk. Father Dominic, his chaplain, said the prisoner was suffering intense pain in the abdomen and heart. Regarding the statement that Premier Lloyd George would allow MacSweeney's release if guarantees were given that the killing of Irish police would be stopped, the priest said: "If the Government is satisfied that murders are taking place why doesn't it capture the murderers and execute them?"

Sunshine Fund Continues to Grow

Belleville Citizens Have Warm Hearts And Open Purses—Community Spirit of Help One Another Manifested.

Subscriptions are still coming in for The Intelligencer fund in aid of a family overtaken by misfortune through no fault of their own. Their immediate wants have been provided for through the generosity of warm-hearted citizens, but facing the long winter with its many requirements in fuel, food, clothing, etc., considerable more money can be used to advantage.

When the father's ill health incapacitated him from work, the mother took up the burden of supporting the household, which includes three little children, the oldest not five years of age. The father's condition grew steadily worse and the mother was obliged to give up her position in order to nurse him and care for the children. This cut off all revenue and the condition of the family would indeed have been desperate were it not for the generosity of citizens who gladly came to the rescue with money and food when apprized of the facts.

Subscriptions, no matter how small, are welcomed to this sunshine fund, which confers a rich blessing on the giver as well as bringing joy and gladness to the recipients in their hour of need.

Contributions.

T. W. L.	$ .50
Geo. Thompson	1.00
J. H. Hanna	1.00
T. Donohue	1.00
McLaughlin Co. and Staff	7.00
Ritchie Co. and Staff	15.00
Dr. Alex. Ray	2.00
Mrs. A. I. Bird	5.00
A Friend	5.00
A Friend	17.00
Mrs. Bert Campbell—Quart of milk per day.
Mr. Shniffer	2.00
A Friend	1.00
E. T. Austin	1.00
Chief Brown	1.00
Robert Orr	1.00
C. F. Cochrane	1.00
A Friend	2.00
A Friend	.50
M. Hatt	2.00
Sympathizer	1.00
Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn	5.00
Hiram Ibey	1.00
S. Rickett	1.00
Warren's Bakery—Bread daily.
H. W. Ackerman	10.00
Vickers' Bakery—Bread.
G. B. Jones	5.00
J. H. Fry	2.00
Miss Emma Bowen	1.00
Well Wisher	2.00
J. P. Huck	1.00
Mrs. J. C. Westley	1.00
Mrs. Wm. Mullett	2.00
Mrs. E. Dobbs	1.00
Mrs. C. J. Bowell—Groceries.
Mrs. P. E. Masters—Provisions and nursing care.
A friend	1.00
C. P. M.	2.00
John Harris	1.00
Mrs. H. Carre	1.00
Every Little Helps	1.00

Poles Are Fighting The Lithuanians

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited.

WARSAW, Sept. 8.—The situation on the Lithuaian frontier is becoming more serious daily and according to latest reports the Poles and Lithuanians are fighting spasmodically across an improvised frontier. In one action two Lithuanian officers and two hundred men were captured by the Poles. Germans and Russian Bolsheviki are aiding the Lithuanians, it is contended by Polish authorities.

Canadian Railway Rates Given a Big Boost

TEN TO TWENTY CENTS A TON ON COAL SHIPMENTS ALLOWED—AFTER DECEMBER 31 PASSENGER RATES ARE TO BE ONLY TEN PER CENT. HIGHER, WHILE AFTER JULY 1 THEY ARE TO PRESENT RATES.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—By virtue of a judgment which will be issued from the offices of the Board of Railway Commissioners, railway companies in Canada are granted an increase of forty per cent. in Eastern Canadian freight rates and thirty-five per cent. in Western freight rates, effective on Monday next, September 13, and to continue in force until December 31.

After December 31 the increase in the freight rate in Eastern Canada is reduced from forty to thirty-five per cent. and in Western Canada from thirty-five to thirty per cent.

Simultaneously with the increase in freight rates, passenger rates all over the country are advanced twenty per cent., so long as they do not exceed four cents a mile. This increase is effective only to December 31.

After that date (Dec. 31) and for the six months period from January 1, 1921, to July 1, 1921, a ten per cent. increase is authorized.

Following July 1, passenger rates return to those in force at the present time.

The judgment will authorize increases of fifty per cent. in sleeping and parlor car rates, and an increase of twenty per cent. in the rate on excess baggage.

No increase is authorized in the rates on milk.

Authorization is given for an increase in freight on coal from ten to twenty cents a ton.

Scores of Lives Lost in Destructive Italian Earthquake

DISASTER WORSE THAN AT FIRST SUPPOSED—DISTRICT NORTH FLORENCE AFFECTED—NO TIDINGS YET FROM MANY POPULOUS TOWNS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

ROME, Sept. 8.—Scores of lives are believed to have been lost in the district north of Florence, which was severely shaken by an earthquake yesterday morning. As reports from the stricken region come in over faltering telegraph and telephone lines the extent of the disaster seems to be growing, and there is a possibility that the damage done may be much more serious than was at first believed. The territory violently disturbed seems to be lozenge shaped with Florence at the southern apex and Modena at the northern end. It extends along the Etrurian coast and runs over the Appenines eastward for upwards of one hundred miles. In this district there are many populous towns and no tidings have as yet been received from many of them.

ROME, Sept. 7.—The earthquake in Northern Italy was of a violent nature. Villa Collemandina is reported to have been destroyed. Castiglione, Pieve, Fociano, Vaglia, Camporgiano, San Donnino, Piazza al Serchio, Poggio, Castegnola, Fosciendora and Canigiano have been badly damaged.

The dead and injured are numerous, though the number is not yet estimated. Assistance is being sent to the scenes of the disaster.

Villa Collamandina is a small town of about 2,000 inhabitants, in the province of Massaecarrar.

Grave reports of the damage sustained in various towns of Tuscany are being received here, and it is confirmed that Villa Collemandina has virtually been destroyed.

The director of the Florence Observatory here, Signor Alfani, says that the centre of the shock was about 50 miles from Florence, in a northerly direction.

Soldiers and firemen have been sent to the afflicted area to aid in the work of rescue and calm the people, who, terrified by the shocks, refuse to return to their homes, and are camping in the open.

The town of Fivizzano, 34 miles northwest of Lucca, has been completely demolished by an earthquake, according to a Spezia despatch to the Exchange Telegraph. The despatch adds that Solero and Monte were badly wrecked.

The earthquake shock here was preceded by deep ramblings and followed by vertical and horizontal earth tremors, which lasted for thirteen seconds.

Protest Against Increased Rates

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer

TORONTO, Sept. 8—Toronto Board of Control today, after describing the Railway Boards order for increased freight and passenger rates as outrageous, passed a resolution calling for the taking of an appeal to the Governor-General in Council and calling upon Toronto City Council to seeks the co-operation of other cities and towns in Canada in opposition to the increase. The Government was also requested to reorganize the Board of Railway Commissioners in the public interest and grant a stay of the order of the Board until an appeal is heard.

Seminoff Through.

London, Sept. 8.—General Seminoff's adventures in the far east have ended and his troops, under General Lokhvitski have gone over to the government of the Russian Far Eastern Republic, according to a wireless despatch received from Moscow. Seminoff's entire gold reserve is said to have been captured and handed over to the Vladivostok government.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Revolts Against Soviet.

London, Sept. 8.—Several serious revolts against the Russian Soviet Government have broken out in the neighborhood of Moscow, says a despatch filed in Copenhagen yesterday, which quoted telegrams received in that city from Riga.

No Action Taken

KITCHENER, Sept. 8.—The City Council last night decided to take no action on the memorial of the Toronto City Council petitioning the Dominion Railway Commissioners to defer hearing of the Bell Telephone Company's application for increased rates until such time as the Ontario Government can investigate the desirability of taking over the system as a publicly owned institution. The Council also declined to contribute towards the cost of opposing the application, the Canadian Union of Municipalities having assessed the city one hundred dollars. Waterloo Council endorsed the Toronto memorial.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

IN THE PUBLIC EYE
By Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!
BILL FOR GLASSES

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Wallbridge & Clarke's
AMERICAN BLEND COFFEE
Try it for a change
65c lb.

[illegible] Clover Extracted Honey, 5 & 8 lb. tins
Libby's Mayonnaise Salad Dressing .. 30c.
Pure Olive Oil, bottles .... 35c. & 60c.
Pure Olive Oil, pint tins $1.25
Mazola Oil, for salads or cooking
in pint, quart and gallon tins.
Royal Flavoring Extracts—all kinds.
Flavoring Extracts in Tubes—all kinds
Peppers—sweet or hot.
Two Minute Oats, pkg. .... 20c.
Welch's Grape Juice, pints .... 35c.
Junket, 2 pkgs. .... 25c.
Celery, well bleached .... 10c.
FAR EAST TEA, ½ lb. pkgs. .... 40c.
—Very flavory and refreshing.
Fine Black Teas .... 70c., 80c. and 90c. lb.
At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

AUTOS COLLIDE.

At a few minutes before eleven o'clock last night a collision occurred on Front street between two autos driven by Douglas Elliott and Mike Deboni. The result of the impact was that a front wheel of Elliott's car was broken, but fortunately no person was injured.

STOLE BUSHEL OF OATS.

William Nictuk, a Roumanian, was taken to the counties jail at Cobourg the other day to serve a fourteen-days' sentence. He is twenty-one years of age, and a married man, and was sentenced at Campbellford on a charge of stealing a bushel of oats.

RAILWAY CHANGE.

Announcement is made that the portion of the G.T.R. from Island Pond, Vt., to Richmond, Que., has been transferred to the Portland division and will hereafter be under the jurisdiction of A. B. McNaughton, superintendent, Portland, Me.

HEAVY TRAFFIC.

Railroad passenger officials fail to find a parallel in recent years for the traffic over the G.T.R. this season and still continuing. Extra heavy trains are being handled over the G.T.R. and sleeping car accommodation, unless ordered a day or more ahead, is practically unobtainable.

LT.-COL. DAWSON PROMOTED.

Lt.-Col. H. J. Dawson, C.M.G., D.S.O., who commanded the 59th Overseas Battalion while it was stationed here, has been transferred from the Reserve of Officers, Canadian Militia, to the active list as officer commanding the 7th Infantry Brigade, Military District No. 3.

SUPERINTENDENT TRANSFERRED

Unofficial announcement is made of the transfer of W. R. Kelly, superintendent of the Ottawa division of the C.N.R., under whose jurisdiction come the Brockville sub-division, to the Montreal division of the same road, as superintendent. G. R. Edgley, superintendent of the St. Maurice division, will assume charge of the Ottawa division in the stead of Mr. Kelly, who has been connected for some years with the management of that section of the road.

RAINCOATS HIS HOBBY.

Henry L. Heine, who gives his occupation as an auctioneer and claims to be a resident of the United States, was last night placed under arrest here on a charge of theft. The accused evidently has a mania for lifting raincoats as the police have five in their possession which it is alleged he took. Mr. Arthur Salisbury, R. R. No. 2 Shannonville, and Mr. W. Credicott, of this city, reported to the police yesterday afternoon that raincoats had been taken from their autos. At a late hour Heine was apprehended at the G. T. R. station and he had three coats in his possession, and later it was ascertained that he had pawned two. Upon investigation it was learned that two of the coats had been stolen from the front of the Oak Hall store. The coats have been identified by the owners.

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. 14-3t

WHEN USING
WILSON'S
FLY PADS
READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Purina Poultry Feed
Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.
Bishop's Seed Store
192 Front St. Phone 283.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

From Our Own Correspondents

FOURTH CONCESSION, SIDNEY.

Service next Sunday evening at 7.30. Rev. T. Wallace will preach.

Messrs. J. Tucker and Ed. Phillips spent a couple of days last week at Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. R. McPherson lost a valuable cow last week.

Misses J. and M. McCrae of Sarnia, spent a couple of days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris.

Mrs. W. Phillips is improving after an attack of quinsy.

Miss Maud Phillips has returned home after a week spent with relatives at Newington.

Mr. Duncan Ketcheson has purchased a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wood and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Beer of Thurlow.

Mrs. H. Langabeer and daughter Bessie, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langabeer, Mr. S. Brown, of Thurlow, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Langabeer and son Jack of Belleville, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris.

Our school has reopened and the children are seen wending their way back after their long vacation. Miss McMullen of Cannifton is teacher.

REDNERSVILLE

Women's Institute.

Another delightful afternoon was spent by this Institute on August 19 when Mr. and Mrs. Hough entertained the ladies at their summer cottage on Mr. Roy Anderson's farm.

An outdoor meeting had been arranged for and in spite of the very busy season in the farm homes there was a good attendance.

Several business questions were discussed after which Mrs. Alex. Anderson, district director, gave an excellent report of the convention in Picton.

Miss Mildred Redner gave a reading and Mr. Hough, in his usual willing way, a very interesting talk on "The Great Outdoors."

A delicious lunch of sandwiches, cakes, ice cream and lemonade was then served, and a vote of thanks tendered our host and hostess for their kindness.

Six new members were added to the list.

The next meeting will be held on Sept. 16 at the home of Mrs. Morton Weese, to which all are invited who are interested in the work "for home, for school and for country." This institute is presenting two special prizes at the school fair, open to all the schools in Ameliasburg, to be awarded as follows:

1.—A prize for the best hand-made buttonhole, made at the school fair by girls of 8, 9, 10 years of age.

2.—A prize for the best hand-made buttonhole made at the school fair by girls of 11, 12, 13, 14 years of age.

The goods ready for working will be supplied by the Institute.

GARDENVILLE.

Rev. Geo. Raney, of New York, an outgoing missionary to China, gave a gospel address in Gospel Hall, Sunday evening.

Threshing is the order of the day in this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Oral Moynes and Miss Helen Dymond are spending a week in Toronto.

Miss Mina Chase of Toronto has returned home after spending a few weeks' vacation under the parental roof.

Mrs. A. J. Chase and Miss Jessie are in Toronto for the Ex.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dymond and Miss Thelma Kemp have left for a month's motor trip through western Ontario and will visit Detroit, Mich.

Miss Ruth Kemp spent a week at Colborne, her cousin, Miss Jennie Ives returning with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, of Buffalo, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Richard, have returned home after spending their annual vacation here.

Mr. Russel Young, of this place, and Miss Oral French were quietly married at Belleville last Thursday morning, leaving shortly after for a motor trip to Montreal.

Mrs. Henry Nelson and Miss Bernice are spending a few days with her daughter in Toronto.

Mr. Frank Moynes of Rochester, N. Y., passed through the village last Friday, calling on relatives and friends.

Mr. E. R. Chase is building a new home in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young have returned after spending the summer at Presqu'ile.

WEST HUNTINGDON.

Friday evening, friends of Miss Emma Fargey gathered at her home and presented her with a miscellaneous shower in honor of her coming marriage.

Miss Jennie Murray has returned home after visiting her friend, Mrs. C. Luery, of Harold.

Miss Lottie and Mr. Clarence Ashley, of Madoc Junction spent Sunday with their cousin, Miss Effie Ashley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Luery of Harold spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Murray.

McClary's
Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

Miss Christina Wilson is visiting her sister, Mrs. Langton, at Toronto.

Miss Lulu Sarles is visiting her uncle, Mr. Frank Sarles, Oak Hills.

Miss Jennie Martin, of Thomasburg has returned home after visiting her cousin, Evelyn Wilson.

CARMEL.

Sunday school was the only service at this appointment on Sunday.

Several from this locality attended the funeral of the late Mr. C. Garrison at Gilead, on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and family, of Stirling, spent Sunday with Mrs. W. C. Reid and family.

Miss Gibson, of Belleville, is spending a few weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Patterson spent several days attending the Toronto Exhibition.

Miss Tummon has again assumed her school duties in this section.

Mr. Long, of Peterborough, is visiting friends in this district.

Mr. John Homan is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reid spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Miller Park, Mount Pleasant.

Mr. Gerald Morman spent the week-end at Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Reynolds and family visited friends in Belleville on Thursday.

THIRD LINE THURLOW.

We had a fine rain Monday night, which was very welcome as the pastures and wells were drying up.

Mrs. John Loney and daughter of South Bay, P.E. county, and Mrs. Susan Gallagher, of Syracuse, spent the week-end with their sister, Mrs. A. Ruttan.

The farmers are disposing of their wheat, barley and oats at good prices.

The land will plow better after the rain. There is already a good many acres turned over.

Milk production has fallen off over one-half as the pastures were dry and the flies bad.

Mrs. Chas. Keirl is visiting her brother, Mr. Chas. Riddell.

Mr. Wm. Phelps has sold his farm to Mr. Rupert.

Quite a number are attending the Belleville fair; others are waiting for the World's Fair at Shannonville.

SEIZE $4,900,000 EXCESS PROFITS

Washington, Sept. 7.—The biggest and most drastic seizure of money ever made by the Government under the excess profits tax law, was revealed here when it became known that Federal agents took forcible possession of $4,900,000 in the Chase National Bank, New York, immediately after it had been paid by the Harriman interests to H. Farquhar Kerr and A. E. Clegg, respectively, president and vice-president of the Kerr Navigation Corporation.

The $4,900,000 was payment in full made in bills of large denominations for 49,000 shares of stock in the Kerr Corporation at $100 per share.

It is the contention of the Government that the stock cost Kerr and Clegg $10 per share and that the profit is therefore $90 a share. As it was reported that both men had engaged passage for Europe and would sail at an early date, the Government was desirous of making sure that full payment of tax would be made.

Called by Death

SAMUEL WARD.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Samuel Ward, who resided at 34 Park Street, College Hill, passed away after being ill for some time. Deceased was in his 78th year and had resided in this locality for many years. He was a man who had numerous friends. A widow and one son survive.

GERMANS BLOW UP MUNITION TRAIN

Berlin, Sept. 7.—A train loaded with food and munitions for the inter-allied occupation troops in Upper Silesia, was stopped on Monday at Erfurt by railroad workers, who uncoupled the munition car, and blew it up. They permitted the remainder of the train to proceed. The magistrate of Frankfort discharge dthe guilty persons.

DIED

WARD—In Belleville on Tuesday, September 7th, 1920, Samuel Ward, in his 78th year.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, 34 Park street, College Hill, tomorrow (Thursday) at 1.30 p. m. Services at the house at 1 o'clock. Interment, Duffin's cemetery, Sidney Township.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"BABES IN THE WOOD"

"Babes in the Wood" will be the offering at Griffin's tomorrow night, for one night only. This is Mr. F. Stuart Whyte's fifth annual English pantomime importation in Canada and it promises to surpass in every way any of his previous presentations on this side.

The cast will be headed by Little Miss Dorothy Mackay, the dainty wee star of last season's "Red Riding Hood." She will be supported by a company which includes seven juvenile artists ranging in age from twelve to fourteen years, and a cast and chorus of twenty-five of the foremost pantomime players from England.

The story of "Babes in the Wood" is particularly adaptable for stage usage especially in pantomime form. In addition to the two orphaned children and their little friends, the famous characters of Robin Hood and Dick Turpin are introduced.

The scenes, as usual in Mr. Whyte's pantomimes, are both numerous and colorful, while the music and dancing will be up to the high standard of his previous performances.

WALLACE REID AT GRIFFIN'S

Wallace Reid and Wanda Hawley are appearing at Griffin's tonight for the last time in "You're Fired," a very entertaining five reel comedy drama from the pen of the brilliant author, O. Henry. A Burton Holmes Travelogue, "Parision Faces and Figures," a very funny Sunshine comedy, "The Roaming Bathtub," Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack," and the Canadian News Pictorial completes an excellent bill of screen entertainment.

DOLORES CASSINELLI STAR IN HIGHLY SEASONED FILM

The program at the Palace tonight offers highly seasoned drama to those who like their entertainment served with plenty of color, action and plot. "The Web of Deceit" is the film and Dolores Cassinelli—she of the limpid brown eyes and cameo-like features—is the star. Miss Cassinelli is cast in two roles, as Wanda, selfish and unscrupulous, loving luxury and not particular as to how she gets it. Miss Cassinelli holds the centre of the story for it is she who weaves the web of deceit from which the story gets its very appropriate title. Directly opposite in character is Lucille, Wanda's cousin, who is the long lost daughter of a wealthy retired army officer. When Wanda becomes the sole possessor of the secret of her cousin's identity, she passes herself off as Lucille, to whom she bears a striking resemblance. But having caught the innocent little fly in her web of deceit, the spider also finds herself trapped, and the denouement results in Lucille being identified as the missing daughter and Wanda shorn of her sting. Edwin Carew has given the picture a lavish setting and artistic direction. The action of the story flows smoothly and swiftly, and the supporting cast, while small, is entirely adequate, including Mitchell Harris, Hugh Cameron, Franklyn Hanna and Letty Ford.

A funny Snub Pollard comedy with the little pickaninny Sambo also playing a prominent part, and George Seitz and Marguerite Courtrot in a thrilling drama, "Bound and Gagged" is also being shown on the same program.

CARD OF THANKS

The 1st Belleville Troop, Boy Scouts take great pleasure in passing a vote of thanks to the boys of Bay of Quinte Lodge no 6A.A. of I.S. and T.W., Belleville, for their donation of $15 for parading Labor Day. 1td

The Sugar Saver among cereal foods
Grape-Nuts
No added sweetening needed.
You'll like the appealing flavor of this sugar-saving food.
SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE!

SINCLAIR'S
THE FALL SEASON
Has Arrived at
SINCLAIR'S
and we are now making our first display of New Fall Styles in Ladies' Fall Coats
Ladies' Fall Suits
Ladies' Silk Dresses
Ladies' Jersey Dresses
Ladies' Serge Dresses
Ask to See these New Fall Garments

Penmen's Silk Hosiery at Little More than Half Price
$3 Hose for $1.75 $2 Hose for $1.19
Every woman knows that the name "PENMAN'S" stands for the very best in Knitted Goods of all kinds, and Penman's Silk Hose are in a class by themselves.
For this special Hosiery Sale, beginning Monday, we offer about Thirty Dozen Penman's Black Silk Stockings, in sizes 8½, 9, 9½ and 10 inches, and will sell the regular
$2.00 Black Silk Hose for .... $1.19 a pair
$3.00 Black Ribbed Top Silk Hose for $1.75
$3.00 Black Glove Silk Hose for $1.75

Clearing Sale Prices
Ladies' Black & Colored Silk Dresses
We have about 50 of these Dresses in Ladies' and Misses' sizes, in Black and Colored Silks, and in order to make room for new fall goods, we clear these as follows:
Regular $19.50 to $27.50 Dresses, for .. $17.50
Regular $32.50 to $47.50 Dresses, for .. $27.50
SINCLAIR'S

The Genuine Original
Kellogg's
TOASTED CORN FLAKES
Nut-like kernels of sweetest corn, cleanly pan-cooked, ice-cooled and flaked, then touched with a flavor like honey, and toasted to a turn.
London the home of Kellogg's

Use The Intelligencer Want Col.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

LAST TIME TONIGHT
WALLACE REID
and WANDA HAWLEY
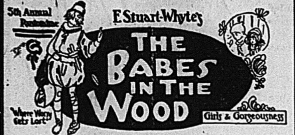
in "YOU'RE FIRED"
Scenic—Comedy—Jack Dempsey

PALACE
LAST TIME TONIGHT
Double Feature Bill.
Dolores Cassinelli
in "THE WEB OF DECEIT"
GEORGE SEITZ in
"BOUND AND GAGGED"

Griffin's Tomorrow Night



40 - PEOPLE - 40
Brimful of laughter, feminine beauty robed in dazzling costumes, real melody and surprising novelties.
Prices 50c to $2.00. - Seats now selling

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.
Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.
Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.
John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

CHILDREN'S SHELTER.

The management committee desire to acknowledge the following gifts to the Shelter during the months of July and August—Mrs. A. W. Gribble convener: Mrs. O'Flynn, four dozen buns; Mrs. Rollins, clothing and apples; Malcolm Blakely, Bruce Lattimer, Ronald Blakely, Clement Allen, sale of lemonade; Mrs. Jones, onions, apples; Mrs. Gribble, night dresses and shirts; Mrs. Eastman, pillow and case, and lettuce; a friend, clothing; Lodge Room, W.M.S., 27 dozen eggs; Mrs. Fowler, six sweaters; a friend, turnips, apples and carrots; Mrs. Lee, lettuce; a friend, 2 bags of potatoes; Ever-Ready Workers, Rawdon, 5 pairs pants, 2 aprons; a friend, baby's shoes; Mrs. Nugent, fruit; a friend, fruit; Mrs. Bogart, clothing; Mrs. Tennant, 8 pairs mitts; Mrs. A. H. Beckett, clothing; Mrs. Hinds, can syrup; Chief Newton, apples; Donald Carman, apples; Mrs. J. D. McMillan, apples; Carmel Ladies' Aid, clothing; Mrs. Graham, green beans; Mrs. (Dr.) Clinton, apples; I.O.D.E. (Madoc), 2 cases—beans, corn starch, arrowroot biscuits, tapioca, corn meal, butter, fruit, baking powder, cream of wheat, jelly tablets, sugar, rice, etc.; Mrs. Bowell, fruit; Mrs. Fowler, ice cream, cake and biscuits.

* * *

Freight rates are increased forty per cent. Passenger rates increased 20 per cent.

Premier Lloyd George arrives unexpectedly in London.

An order to the grocer for a package of

POST TOASTIES
proves a time-saver for breakfast or lunch.
Toasties are corn flakes of superior grade and distinctive flavor.
They are unusual in their goodness, and not only save cooking but are served without a bit of waste.
Made by
Canadian Postum Cereal Co. Ltd., Windsor, Ont.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

While Clay waited for the elevator to come up and take him down he stared at the ring with sheep's eyes, tossed it, and caught it awkwardly, and laughed and almost spoke his thought aloud:

"Funny thing. I haven't paid for it yet. Got an insulting letter from the jeweler, too, this very afternoon."

But Daphne was thumbing the telephone book to see if she could find Tom Duane's number.

CHAPTER VIII.

She failed to run Duane to earth in the telephone book. She was at a loss for another source of directions. She was new to New York and did not know how to set out on such a pursuit.

She went to her room, and found her mother there, dismally engaged in writing a letter to her father, breaking to him the dreadful news that the trousseau was to cost far more for far less. She was asking for extra money at once. Daphne smiled bitterly and said: "Rub it out and do it over again, mamma. There ain't goin' to be no trousseau. No wedding bells for me."

She Went to Her Room and Found Her Mother There, Dismally Engaged in Writing a Letter to Her Father.

Mrs. Kip rolled large eyes in Daphne's direction and looked deaf. Daphne held out her denuded engagement finger in proof that she and Clay were detrothed.

"Good gracious!" was Mrs. Kip's profane comment. "Why on earth did you—"

"Because I'm too expensive for him."

"What are you going to do—go back to Cleveland and tell everybody that you're not going to get married, after all this trouble?"

"No, I'm not going back to Cleveland, and I am going to get married—but later, much later."

"I hate conundrums," said Mrs. Kip. "Better tell me the answer, for I won't guess. What are you going to do?"

"I'm going to lend a hand," said Daphne. "Do my share. Get a job and earn my board and keep."

"Heaven help us! You've gone crazy!" Mrs. Kip exclaimed. "You get to bed and you'll feel better in the morning. I'll finish my letter."

She added, unbeknownst to Daphne, a postscript as long as the letter, contradicting all she had just written and urging her husband to come East at once and take charge of his unruly daughter. She dropped it in the mail chute, and it fell into a bottomless pit, along with her other hopes.

Daphne and her mother were uneasy at the prospect of the breakfast encounter with the bridal couple. There had been a sense of strain the first morning. But now a bitter quarrel had intervened—that first ugly quarrel when the wedge of finance is driven between united hearts.

Bayard and Leila, however, arrived at the table all smiles, more amorous than ever. Leila wore a triumphant smile, such as Delilah must have worn the second time she went out walking with her big beau.

It was plain to the anxious eyes of Mrs. Kip and Daphne that Leila had emerged from the quarrel with all the loot and aggravated power.

She had taken advantage of her husband's trust and abused his generosity recklessly, with no more evil motive, indeed, than the wish to beautify herself in his honor, and yet with recklessness.

It was not altogether Leila's fault if the lesson she learned, perhaps unconsciously, from the combat was something like this:

"I ran my husband into debt without consulting him. His listless love woke from its torpor and enchanted me with a first-class demonstration of its energy. He stormed. I wept thrillingly. He apologized, begged to be

(To Be Continued)

Why Be Afraid Of Good Food

Eat What You Like Best, But Follow it With a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

When the stomach sours or becomes gassy, with heartburn, it needs the alkaline effect to offset the acid condition. This you get from one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Relief is usually very prompt. The regular use of these tablets after meals gives the stomach and small intestine substantial help to digest food and you will then be bold enough to eat baked beans, fried eggs, sausage, buckwheat cakes and many other things you thought would make your stomach miserable. Get a 60-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store and you will then eat whatever you like and be fortified against the acid, sour stomach due to indigestion or dyspepsia.

* * *

ARE YOU FEELING WELL TODAY?

NO? Rather out of sorts—no ambition, listless? Nature is trying to take you into her confidence! Too busy to listen? Don't want to bother? Of course it will work off later in the day always does. Yes it will continue to until Nature handicapped in rer efforts to keep you well, will play a losing game. Disease will finally overcome resistance. When the day comes you will suffer through a siege of illness. But why let that day come? Why not start today to remove the cause and prevent the effect?

That is why Chiropractic is so successful. It removes the cause of disease. All of the vital force within your body is governed by the ability of the nerves to transmit it. These nerves emit through tiny holes of foramina on either side of the spine. The spinal segments slip out of place, they press upon these nerves and hinder the transmission of nerve energy, causing disease. Your Chiropractor will realign these segments, restoring normal transmission. Health will then result. Consultation and Spinal Analysis without cost. Drs. Redick & Redick 283½ Front street, Belleville. Phone 900.

* * *

Sports

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	97	43	.693
Toronto	96	45	.681
Buffalo	88	50	.638
Akron	83	53	.610
Reading	62	75	.453
Jersey City	54	87	.383
Rochester	42	96	.304
Syracuse	32	105	.234

Yesterday's Results.

Baltimore.......13 Syracuse . . . 4
xBaltimore.....17 Syracuse . . . 4
Reading........15 Jersey City . . 7
Toronto......... 9 Akron 2

Rochester at Buffalo—Rain.

x—8 innings.

Games today—Jersey City at Reading; Syracuse at Baltimore; Akron at Toronto; Rochester at Buffalo.

EXHIBITION GAME.

The G. T. R. team of this city went to Perth today to play an exhibition game at the fair in progress in that town.

* * *

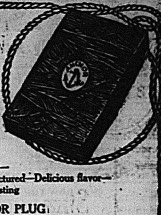
MISS CAMPBELL
Hat Shop
Phone 117 218 Front St.
Our show room is now open for a beautiful display of Fall and Winter Millinery from Paris, New York and best Canadian work rooms; also a special line of hats from ten to twelve dollars. s8-6td

* * *

DIVORCED WIFE STOPPED MERRY MARRIAGE BELLS

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Owen T. Johnson, an X-ray expert, was to have married Miss Rose Vaughan on Monday, but the bridegroom's divorced wife stepped in and stopped the proceedings. As a result, Johnson occupies a cell at the Warren avenue police station charged with wife and child abandonment. The wedding would have taken place as scheduled, but someone mailed the divorced wife, Mrs. Josephine Johnson, an invitation to the wedding. As Johnson was rehearsing the wedding at the church his divorced wife, accompanied by a policeman, appeared. "I think he should be forced to support me and our son before he takes a new wife," said Mrs. Johnson.

Two Plugs for 25¢
ANCHOR PLUG TOBACCO
The BEST Chewing Tobacco



Best selected leaf—
Skillfully manufactured—Delicious flavor—
Ever fresh and lasting
ANCHOR PLUG
It Holds its Flavor

They're All Here!
—for Your Enjoyment
FREE

Ice Cream
One Egg Cake
Eggless Mayonnaise
Muffins
and so simple and convenient to make with Borden's
ST. CHARLES
Evaporated Milk
Send for your copy to-day.
THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
MONTREAL
4-920

Ready for School!

CLAD in his "Wearbetter" suit he straightens his shoulders and flings out his chest. He knows his smart appearance will win the respect of his schoolmates.

He won't be afraid to join in the fun, either. He can climb, slide or wrestle without fear of mother's reproaches. His "Wearbetter" suit will stand a whole lot of rough usuage.

Blue's
"Wearbetter"
Clothes for Boys

Outfit your boy in "Wearbetter" for the next school term. Designed, by specialists in boys' clothing, from wear resisting fabric and reinforced at every vulnerable point to stand a maximum of wear and tear, it will outwear two cheaper suits.

Cut on lines as smart as those of the most fashionable and expensive adult clothing.

MEAGHER'S
BELLEVILLE

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, [illegible] Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING: [illegible]

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, [illegible] [illegible] Weekly edition—One year by mail, [illegible] All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

HOW THE POLES ROLLED BACK RUSSIAN HORDE.

Although the Poles had the benefit of General Weygand's advice, and of important military and moral aid from France, the French General gives the credit of victory to the Polish strategists. The New York Tribune explains the Polish victory as follows:

"In Poland the Red armies tried to envelop Warsaw from the north and west. At the same time they pushed much farther west, from Mlawa into the portion of West Prussia annexed to Poland, heading for Thorn and Graudenz, on the lower Vistula. The Reds in this region were more than one hundred miles to the northwest of Warsaw. But their right flank was protected from envelopment because it rested, in great part, on the neutral plebiscite area in East Prussia. In this area the Poles had to concentrate troops from Posen, in Thorn and Graudenz, in order to hold the invaders and push them back by frontal attacks.

"The strategical situation, however, favored Weygand, because the Soviet armies were overextended to the northwest and could retreat only through a narrow corridor along the old Prussian border. He therefore aimed at breaking the Russian centre and left centre and then driving north to intercept the retirement of the Russian right."

North and northeast of Warsaw the Polish armies carried out this operation, continues The Tribune, "pinning the invaders down by hard fighting, while east and southeast of the capital the country has been cleared for more than one hundred miles—all the way to Brest-Litovsk. The Reds were routed in this section by a converging attack, east from the Vistula by one army and north, following the Bug River, by another army based on Chelm." A further movement north caught the Red armies northwest of Warsaw in a trap. Of the host, estimated at some two hundred and fifty thousand, which swept down on Warsaw, nothing was left on August 25 but thirty thousand fugitives, wrote a press correspondent from Paris. The Poles had taken eighty thousand prisoners at this date and had captured great quantities of guns and materials. And this writer comments:

"It is considered probable that the Soviets employed all their available resources, and in their present condition Russian industries will take a long time to replace them. Consequently, if the Soviets are able to find effectives with which to seek to restore the fortunes of their arms, lack of equipment will make them without military value.

ONE-WAY STREET TRAFFIC SOLVES MOTOR CAR PROBLEM.

A mob differs from a body of workers or of soldiers chiefly because of lack of discipline and control. Uncontrolled vehicles may likewise form a mob that is even more formidable than a mob of human beings. To keep mob-law out of our streets is the object of our systems of traffic control, which are daily growing more comprehensive and effective. Ernest P, Goodrich, in a paper on "The Urban Auto Problem," read before the National Conference on City Planning and printed in The National Municipal Review (Philadelphia), reminds us that traffic control is no new thing. In ancient Rome, and probably in other large towns, it was necessary to restrict traveling in carriages to a few persons of high rank, owing to narrow and crowded streets. The transport of goods was also forbidden during the ten hours between sunrise and sunset. A restriction was placed upon coaches in London as early as 1635, forbidding their general use in London and Westminster, or the suburbs. Down almost to the present time automobiles have been excluded from certain parks and parkways, the Harlem River Speedway having been legally opened to traffic only as late as 1919. Control has from the earliest time been exercised over vehicles by means of licenses. Vehicles were early restricted as to size and load. Vehicle speed has always been limited, and parking regulations are in no sense modern.. Hackney coaches were prohibited from standing in the streets of London as early as 1660, the law requiring them "to stay in the yards until they may be wanted." He continues:

"The regulations of the Detroit Police Department include a map showing the streets upon which parking is entirely prohibited and the limits of the district within which a time limit is placed. The limit varies with the street.

"The location of the parked vehicle with reference to the curb is also generally stipulated, only parallel parking being permitted according to the Detroit ordinance, although in certain specially designated parking places diagonal parking is permitted in the centre of the street. The New York police regulations permit two lines of vehicles along the outer edge of certain streets and along the centre line of other streets, while diagonal parking is permitted in other thoroughfares. Infraction of the Detroit rules makes the automobile subject to removal to an automobile pound.

"Due to the great growth in street traffic it has been found necessary in modern times to limit it in various ways. ONE-WAY STREETS HAVE PROVED THEMSELVES EXCEEDINGLY EFFECTIVE AND ARE GROWING RAPIDLY IN USE IN AMERICAN CITIES.

"Segregation is another device to which resort has been made, the best modern example being that found in the Borough of Manhattan. During certain hours of the day commercial vehicles are not permitted to operate on certain streets except to make collections and deliveries, while pleasure vehicles are similarly excluded from other thoroughfares."

Turning to the special urban problems, Mr. Goodrich speaks of the progress that has been made in improving surface conditions and the supporting power of pavements. Marked increases in this direction will take place, he thinks, as fast as the pavements are relaid to make them conform to present ordinance limitations in weight of vehicles. The growth in street width which has already taken place points, he believes to even greater future accommodations to take care of larger and more numerous vehicles. He says:

"Experience derived from traffic counts has shown that one vehicle per foot of width of roadway per minute is the present-day maximum under normal city conditions. The creation of one-way streets, is believed from careful observation, to provide for fully double this unit quantity of travel."

CRISP COMMENT

Of course the rain was badly needed, but it would have been more acceptable before or after the Belleville Fair.

× × ×

Fair weather for Belleville Fair was the only thing lacking to make this year's local exhibition a success; but the lack of fair weather was enough to put the fair on the unfair list.

× × ×

If all those people who seem to anxious to have McSweeney live are sincere they will direct their appeals to the would-be suicide himself instead of the British Government. Let McSweeney save himself.

× × ×

It looks as if the Dempsey-Miske fistic argument at Brenton Harbor, Michigan, Labor Day, was a benefit performance for the benefit of the pugs, not the public. The champ's easy win demonstrated that Miske was not in his class.

× × ×

Rev. Mr. Spracklin, who volunteered for service as a sleuth to run down the rum-runners up Windsor way is having an exciting time. The reverend officer packs a gun and does not hesitate to shoot in the general direction of fleeing rum-runners, but thus far his bullets have not found human billets.

× × ×

Deseronto Post man professes to believe that Belleville is a quiet place. Well, it must be confessed that Belleville has not yet attained the hustle, bustle and speed of New York, London and some of the larger places, but compared to Deseronto, it is some going concern.

× × ×

Mayor Church, of Toronto, objects to his cellar being made the subject of jokes by comedians on the stage. Mayor Tommy says there is nothing of a spirituous nature in his cellar and ribald remarks made in connection therewith are detrimental to his dignity as chief executive of a great city. If his cellar is empty, as he maintains, Mayor Church has nothing to fear from the limelight of stage publicity being turned upon it. Only owners of best cellars need worry about keeping their treasures dark.

OTHER VIEWS

Progressive Quebec.

Montreal Herald.

In the meantime we would invite everyone to read the tribute paid to the province by Hon. Mr. Tolmie, the Federal Minister of Agriculture, in a visit he made the other day to the Three Rivers Exhibition. He said he had been simply astounded by the development of agriculture in the province of Quebec. He added that with such an administration as we had, farmers had certainly no reason to form a separate party. Let our friends follow Mr. Tolmie's example and come to Quebec to learn how we do it. It will do them much more good than making nice speeches around a hotel table.

Case of Emotional Insanity.

Toronto Telegram.

It is announced that Lord Mayor McSweeney of Cork, who declines to eat in Brixton prison, has only a few days to live.

This is longer than was accorded Inspector Swanzy, of Belfast, who was shot while coming out of church.

McSweeney's fanatical hunger strike has been widely advertised and he is hailed as a martyr. Any condemned murderer who was given the same publicity as McSweeney has received would have thousands of hysterical followers clamoring for his release.

It is much the same kind of emotional insanity that runs riot over the sad fate of the prisoner and completely obscures the view of the prisoner's victims.

Purpose is World Dominion.

Chicago Tribune.

The world cannot exist part proletarian and part democratic. One or the other schemes will prevail. The semi-Asiatic barbarians of proletarian Russia are exterminators. They began by exterminating intellectual life in Russia. Intellectuality meant knowledge, and knowledge meant expertness and power. It meant that the man with knowledge could control men without knowledge, and until Lenine saw that if he exterminated every man in Russia who knew how to do anything nothing would be done; the Chinese executioners were killing off the professional and expert classes. When expertness was needed it was conscripted on pain of death. Military and industrial expertness have been conscripted, but the method of the revolution is destruction! and the purpose is world dominion.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Her Best Chance.

"I intend to marry for love," said the girl with the dreamy eyes.

"You are wise, my dear," replied her dearest friend. "Men with money are often so hard to please."

The New Way.

"Where's the office boy?"

"Gone to the baseball game."

"Gone to the ball game! He didn't ask me if he could go."

"No. That custom has gone out of style. He just said he was going and would be back in the morning, and if you didn't like it he wouldn't be back at all."

Harvesting the Crop.

When the German army broke into Belgium and swept through the country one detachment was billeted in a farm-house. A private, wandering through the fields, came upon a young girl sowing seeds.

"Yah!" he sneered. "You shall sow but we shall reap."

"I shouldn't be at all surprised," she replied sweetly. "You see I'm sowing hemp."

The Real Thing.

Ex-President Taft told at a literary dinner a story about a negro.

"A negro," he said, "knocked at Mrs. Brown's back door and asked for a job.

"What's your name?" Mrs. Brown asked, for she liked the fellow's looks.

"Mah name's Poe, ma'am," he answered.

"Poe, eh?" said Mrs. Brown. "I suppose some of your family once worked for Edgar Allan Poe—did they?"

The negro's eyes bulged, and he struck himself a resounding whack on the chest.

"Why, ma'am," he said, "Ah is Edgar Allan Poe."

THE POET'S CORNER

POTTERS' FIELD.

They have laid them to rest on a little hill,
Apart from the tombs of the rich and the great,
The nameless ones who have drunk their fill
Of sorrow and pain from the cup of Fate.

They have planted no flowers for the lonely dead;
Why should a pauper's grave be fair?
Look afar where the tombs of the righteous spread
Their shafts of splendor into the air.

But the sun comes here with its brightest ray,
And the buttercups spangel the unkept grass;
And they can't take the little birds away
Who sing their sweetest as they pass.

They have placed them apart on a little hill,
Though as dear to Him as the rich and great,
The nameless dead who have drunk their fill
Of sorrow and pain from the cup of Fate.

—Kate Colquhoun.

Hamilton, Ont.

Literary Notes

WATERS OF REJOICING.

The many readers of Rod and Gun In Canada who are interested in the fiction of the magazine will be pleased to note that George Gilbert, the well known short story writer, has written an absorbing romance staged in the great outdoors entitled Waters of Rejoicing. This along with ten other stories and articles together with the various Departments make up the September number of Canada's greatest sportsman's publication. With the coming of the autumn the "gunman's" thoughts turn to ducks and deer, and this number contains several good stories telling how the other fellow got his quota of Canada's water fowl and big game. ROD AND GUN IN CANADA is published monthly at Woodstock, Ontario, by W. J. Taylor, Limited.

COMMUNIST PROGRAM FOR WRECKING TRAINS

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 7.—Connection between the plot to wreck the Illinois Central Diamond Special and Communist tendencies in this portion of the State is being established here by local State and Federal authorities, who are conducting a minute investigation into every phase of the plot.

A possible Communistic connection was first suggested when, upon the arrest of seven men directly involved in the plot, a large quantity of Red literature was taken.

According to the confession of one of the men arrested, eight men hit upon the plan of wrecking the Illinois Central fast train as a "quick method of ridding the country of capitalists."

It may be your eyes!

Lots of headaches—lots of weariness—bad temper—and "nerves" come from eye strain.

And in such cases, nothing but skilled and careful attention to your eyes will remedy these disorders.

If day after day, night after night, you are straining or overtasking your eyes—sooner or later—small disorders grow to large ones. Sooner or later your eyes will have serious, perhaps permanent, defects.

If "things don't seem to be normal,"—if your eyes "don't feel exactly right"—Why not find out definitely what is wrong—and have it corrected now?

Go to your Optometrist. Let him investigate. If it is not your eyes that are the source of trouble, he will tell you.

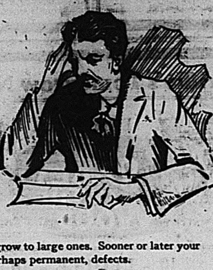
If you need glasses—or need different glasses—he will tell you.

If you consciously—or sub-consciously—feel that all is not right with your eyes, go to your Optometrist this very day—he knows!

"Save Your Eyes"

Watch for this sign BETTER VISION THROUGH SCIENTIFIC OPTOMETRY It is an emblem of service

"Write the Secretary, Box 92, Dundas, Ont., for free booklet on the care of the eyes.



"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters,
Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work
Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

LET US
DEVELOP AND PRINT YOUR FILMS

You will be more than pleased with our work. Extra high gloss finish, with no extra charge. Just send your work to us any time before 4 p.m. We will have them ready for you the following afternoon.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Any Headache
—Sick
—Nervous
—Dyspeptic
—Monthly
Relieved by Zutoo

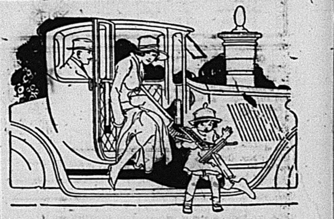
Mercer Hospital

Graduate Nurses can always obtain positions at attractive salaries in private nursing, schools, hospitals, insurance companies, industries, etc. Nurses are needed more at present than ever before.

Mercer Hospital offers a three years course of instruction with board, laundry and medical care, in case of illness, free. Monthly allowance is given sufficiently large to cover cost of text books and uniforms and enable the student nurse to take the training without other financial assistance. Classes are now being formed. For information call or address

Superintendent of Training School
MERCER HOSPITAL
Trenton, N.J.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.



LIKE the most carefully tailored suit, Mercury Seamless Fashioned Hosiery is shaped to fit. It is knitted, not stretched, into shape.

The new narrowed ankle, the shapely full-fashioned calf and the extra wide, roomy top, make Mercury a true work of art in hosiery.

Mercury Hosiery is featured in Silk and Sport Hose in all fashionable shades. The same fine quality in weave and textures that makes these lines popular is in the more durable cashmere, mercerized lisle and cotton hosiery.

In Men's Half-Hose and Children's Hose of Mercury make "Mercury" Quality is maintained to the same degree.

MERCURY MILLS, LIMITED, Hamilton, Can.

Mercury Hosiery

108

892

Painlessly remomves your corns or Ends your Bunion Torture. No appliances of metal, rubber, felt or leather. Scientific and ethical. Ask Central for above number, or call 29 Bridge St. E., Canadian Orthopedic Lab.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

For the coming season we are exceptionally well prepared to meet your requirements in the line of Curtains, Drapes, Chintzes, Rugs, Mats, Oilcloths, Linoleums and Window Shades.

CURTAINS—Our showing of curtains comprises Laces, Voiles and Marqquisettes and Nets, in excellent patterns and all new designs. By the yard can be had all styles of Nets, Voiles, Marquisettes and Madras. We have an extensive showing of all the new Nets, which will surely interest you if you are needing new curtains.

DRAPES—For Drapes you may have Madras, Repp, Chintz or Velour in colorings of green, rose, brown and blue. We specially recommend our John Brown's Madras, which we are showing in lovely color combinations as well as plain colors.

CHINTZ—We have all the new and popular cloths, suitable for coverings, hangings, etc., in all colorings, and 26 to 50 inches wide, priced from 40c. to $4.00 per yard.

RUGS AND MATS—Axminster, Brussels, Tapestry and Union Rugs and Mats in all sizes, fro mthe small door mat to the large room rug, and all moderately priced. Inspect our showing of these before you buy.

WINDOW SHADES—We can make your window shades in any size and color you may require. In stock we carry both plain and duplex blinds in white, cream and green, with or without insertion.

We make no charge for measuring and estimating on Window Shades and Linoleums.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Fashionable Furs

A neckpiece of fur gives the finishing touch to the well dressed and fashionable lady.

The choice is varied, but the furs most in demand are

Ermine and Foxaline

We have some nice pieces in these furs and would be pleased to have you call and see them.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

REMANDED TO JAIL

Henry L. Heine who was arrested last night on a charge of theft of rain coats, was remanded to jail for a week as the Crown was not prepared to proceed.

HARVESTER DROWNED

Word reached Kingston that Cyril Clarkson, aged seventeen, who left Kingston a month ago on a harvesters' excursion, had been drowned at Hadley, near Saskatchewan.

LIVE HOGS ADVANCING

Live hogs are advancing in price. Today Mr. D. Scott and son shipped from here a large number and the price paid was $20 per hundred weight an increase of 50c. a hundred over last week.

FINED $200 AND COSTS

Turp Asselstine pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor without license when he appeared before Magistrate Masson to-day. A fine of $200 and costs was imposed, which was paid.

WON PRIZES AT EXHIBITION.

Mr. Geo. Griffin, of Stirling, Ont., was successful in winning the following prizes at Toronto Exhibition: 1st prize for sheaf of oats; 1st prize field competition of oats; 1st prize for sheep and 1st prize for two bushels of seed oats.

FARM HELP

After having a few days in Toronto, Montreal and Quebec, Mr. Elliott has returned to Belleville. While in Quebec he made arrangements which will enable him to supply farmers in the Bay of Quinte district with desirable immigrants, when they are required.

WANTED FOR THEFT

Vincent Griffin, who was arrested here some days ago as a trespasser on the G. T. R. property and was sent to jail for 30 days, will not be at liberty when his sentence expires. He is wanted at Toronto on a charge of theft, and an officer from that city will arrive here to take Griffin to Toronto.

RELEASED ON BONDS

Four boys who took a trip in the country with Mr. Moses Tobe's automobile without permission, were brought before Magistrate Masson in Police Court Wednesday morning. After paying all costs and giving bonds for good behaviour for one year the boys will regain their liberty.

SPECIAL TRAINS.

Special trains handled over the G. T.R. over the week-end included one of three coaches run from Montreal to Brockville on Sunday morning carrying passengers to attend the opening of St. Mary's College, another carrying officials of the road on their return to Montreal on Sunday morning after an inspection trip, and a steamship special train Monday morning.

DROWNED IN RIDEAU

While fishing in company with his grandmother from a bridge near his home at Kilmarnock, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maitland fell into the waters of the Rideau and was drowned. Half an hour elapsed before the body was recovered, and efforts of resuscitation proved unavailink. Dr. Anderson, Coroner, of Jasper, deemed an inquest unnecessary. Besides the parents a brother and a sister survive.

PRESENTATION AT FOXBORO.

On Monday evening, Sept. 6, the Foxboro friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Eggleton and family met in their home to spend a social hour before they left on the morrow for their new home in Stirling. During the evening, Rev. S. A. Kemp, their pastor, spoke gratefully of the place they had taken in the community life, both in social and church circles. Mr. Geo. Wickett and Mr. J. Daniels presented to Mr. and Mrs. Eggleton a large deep-seated leather-upholstered chair. Miss Grace Pitpresented to Miss Florence a Waterman fountain pen, and Miss Ruth Sills presented to Miss Florence a a Waterman fountain pen. In reply, Mr. Eggleton said they were leaving true and loyal friends whom they could never forget, and that their gifts of remembrance would be as long remembered and appreciated as the kind hearts and thoughts that prompted their bestowal. After lunch was served, farewells were spoken, mingled with good wishes for their future in their Stirling home.

STILL ON FARM OF SENATOR SHEPPARD

Austin, Tex., Sept. 7.—M. C. Fray, U. S. prohibition enforcement officer, discovered an illicit still of 139 gollons daily capacity upon the farm of United States Senator Morris Sheppard, five miles north of here. He also took possession of four hundred gallons of whiskey and seven barrels of sour mash. The men operating the still escaped.

Noted Engineer Out With The Facts

Says the results He got From Tanlac Were Nothing Less Than Wonderful.

Captain Andy Ospring, engineer on the Pensylvania railroad, pulling the fast train known as the Keystone Express between Terre Haute and St. Louis declares that the results he has received from Tanlac are nothing less than wonderful.

Captain Ospring has been engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad for the past forty years and is one of the best known and most popular men in the service of this road. His home address is 629 North Tenth street, East St. Louis. Relating his experience with Tanlac to friends in Terre Haute a few days ago, Captain Ospring said:

"Tanlac will always get a good recommendation from me for the resuts I have received from it are nothing less than wonderful. Before taking this medicine, I had suffered from a weak stomach, loss of appetite, sluggish livthing ta eat, suffered with severe al years. I could never enjoy anything to eat, suffered withe sever pains in my back and chest, and was continually losing weight. The pains in my back were so severe that I comfortably in my caband invariabcomfortably in mey cab and invariably finished my runs feeling all tired out. I had gotten to where I dreaded to make my runs and had lost several trips on account of my feeling so bad.

"I had taken lots of different kinds of medicines, but all failed until I found Tanlac. A friend of mine in Terre Haute put me on to Tanlac and that was the turning point with me. Three bottles of this medicine have fixed me up in fine shape and my weight has been increased eleven depounds. I hav a fine appetite, don't have a pain of any kind, and feel all of fifteen years younger. I make my trips regularly, never losing any time and come in from my runs without feeling all tired out like I used to. A medicine that will do such things is certainly worth while and I will always say a good word for Tanlac.

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Boy Scouts at Toronto Exhibition

On Sunday last twenty-four Scouts of the First Belleville Troop assembled at the Armouries ready to leave for Toronto. At 5.30 the troop move off, headed by their splendid bugle band. They made a splendid picture, all in step, each scout with a pack on his back and a big grin a foot long on his face. The train left at six o'clock and reached Toronto at 11 o'clock, Toronto time. They boarded a street car for the west end Y.M.C.A. on College street and arrived there in good time, proceeding to the gym. before getting ready for bed. After about an hour's hard work the A.S.M. got them settled down, but not quieted down. They at last dropped off to sleep, one by one, and all woke up next morning to gaze upon Toronto.

After they had all washed they went for breakfast, afterwards proceeding to the Ex.

The big Midway was a great attraction for the boys, especially the Ex. Flyer, which took their breath away.

After spending a splendid day the boys returned to the Y. and settled down for the night.

Next day (Tuesday) the boys went sight-seeing down town. Among the places visited were the City Hall, Eaton's, Simpson's and the Central Fire Hall.

On Wednesday Scarboro Beach was visited and an interesting time was had. Hanlan's Point was also visited on Tuesday evening by a group of the boys.

Every day the boys had a swim in the Y. tank, which is a splendid place for swimming. On the gym. floor Thursday morning a game of indoor baseball was played, and the boys had a fine game..

On Wednesday ten scouts arrived home, and on Thursday night eleven scouts came home.

The trip was a success, but if it hadn't been for Bing Hayes, the assistant scoutmaster, there wouldn't have been any trip. It was organized and directed by him, and he deserves special mention, for he had twenty-four boys to look after from the time he left Belleville until he came back, and it was certainly some job. He kept his eyes on everyone and everything went along smoothly. This is the second time the boys have been to Toronto. Last year the assistant scoutmaster had charge of the boys, and he had the experience for this trip. The troops also wish to thank the generous citizens for their donations towards sending the troop to Toronto.

The First Belleville Troop was the first outside troop to arrive in Toronto for the Exhibition. The Buffalo American Scouts were second.

The Scouts present were: C. Hayes, T.L. B. Wells, P.L. R. Buskard, P.L. F. Follwell, P.L. W. Soules, P.L. C. Harris, P.L. C. Facer, Cpl. W. Carter, Cpl. B. Jordon, Cpl. H. Redfern, Cpl. R. Bird, Cpl. P. Fleming, Cpl. W. George.

Scouts—J. Redfern, M. Connors, T. Byrone, J. Baker, F. Clair, J. Muny, C. Rigby, W. Wilber, J. Fleming, R. Forrester, W. Doherty, J. Welsh, B. Ives, C. Kennedy.

SUMMER

ASTHMA— HAY FEVER

—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—

RAZ-MAH

brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.

Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

Wedding Bells

PORTER—ROBERTS.

At the Church of the Epiphany, Toronto, on Tuesday, September 7, 1920, the marriage took place of Mr. Henry Langley Spicer Porter, of Kingston, formerly of Belleville, and Miss Irene Florence Roberts, of Belleville. The wedding was o. a quiet nature, only the immediate relatives being present. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. F. J. Roberts, 307 Charles street, Belleville, and the groom is the son of Mrs. F. E. C. Porter, of Toronto. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Porter left for Chaffey's Locks, on the Rideau, where they will spend their honeymoon. Both are deservedly popular in a large circle of friends, who wish them every happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Porter will take up their residence in Kingston, where Mr. Porter is connected with the staff of the Dominion Income Tax department.

DALY—McCALL

A very quiet wedding took place on September 4 at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Geo. W. McCall, Brockville when their eldest daughter. Marion was married to Mr. Roland O. Daly, youngest son of Mrs. Daly of Toronto and the late Denis Henry Aldworth Daly of Napanee. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. H. Hunter Hills of Brockville, in the presence of only immediate relatives, the out-of-town guests being Mrs., Denis Daly, Miss Kathleen Daly and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Daly, all of Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Daly left for a trip through the New England States, and at the end of September will return to Toronto to reside at their new home, 33 Heath st. West.

BUCK—CRAWFORTH.

The marriage is announced of Miss Beatrice Crawforth, B.A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Crawforth, Base Line, Whitby, and Mr. Charles Spurgeon Buck, eldest son of the late Charles Buck and Mrs. Buck, 18 Everett Street, Belleville, Ontario. The ceremony was performed on Thursday, September 2nd, at the Metropolitan Methodist Church, Toronto, by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Trevor Davies. The bride was unattended and wore a costume of navy serge trimmed with gold braid. Her hat was of black panne velvet.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Buck left for a short trip to Niagara Falls, and on their return will go to their home at 835 Dundas street, London, Ontario. Mr. Buck has charge of the Art Department in the London Collegiate Institute.

COCKBURN—GOUDY.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goudy, 161 Foster Avenue, at noon, Sept. 8th, when their daughter Nellie Maude was united in marriage to Mr. Scott J. Cockburn, Toronto, son of Mrs. Cockburn, Ayr, Ont. Rev. D. C. Ramsay of John Street Presbyterian church officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Cockburn will reside in Toronto.

CARD OF THANKS

The sons and daughters of the late Mrs. Mary A. Barlow desire to express their sincere thanks for the sympathy and flowers sent during their bereavement.

MARRIED

COCKBURN—GOUDY — On Wednesday, Sept. 8th, at the residence of the bride's parents, 161 Foster Ave., Belleville, Ont., by Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Nellie Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goudy, to Scott J. Cockburn, Toronto, son of late Jas. Cockburn and Mrs. Cockburn, Ayr, Ont.

SAY WHITE MEN IN PLOT TO HOLD UP CHINAMEN

Montreal, Sept. 8.—That there was a conspiracy between Chinamen to rob Wing Lee Wah of $11,000, which was executed by white men when the Chinese Commercial Club, 44 Lagauchetiere street west, was held up three weeks ago, is the assertion of Chief of Detectives Lepage of the city department.

SCHOOL SHOES

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

Keep This Bottle at Home

Then when accidents happen, you have the best first aid treatment that can be applied.

"ABSORBINE JR." is more than a liniment; it is a vegetable germicide; absolutely safe to use on bruises, cuts and open wounds, to prevent infection and heal the tissues.

Absorbine Jr.
THE ANTISEPTIC LINIMENT

soothes the pain—takes soreness out of sprains, strains and bruises — reduces inflammation — helps nature to heal in nature's way.

"ABSORBINE JR." is absolutely safe—no grease or stain—pleasant odor—should be in every home medicine chest.

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists' or sent postpaid by W. F. YOUNG Inc.; Lyman Building, Montreal.

NOTICE!

Now is the time to have your furnace and pipes overhauled and cleaned by our experienced workmen.

We do plumbing also, and are Agents for Happy "Thought Ranges" famous every where.

DIAMOND & HYDE
PHONE 38

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

Select Your New Autumn Coat

AT WOTTEN'S.

Dozens of new models just in for your seeing. Some in the popular full length styles, others in the "chic" three-quarter sport effect. The models that have collars of fur are particularly attractive and the prices very moderate.

$30 to $75
at
WOTTEN'S LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose

your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.

T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

LINDSAY'S

Your Kind of Dance Music Can Surely be Played with a

Columbia Grafonola and Columbia Records

No matter what your preference in dance music—and English lancers, a Scottish sword dance or an Irish jig, a French minuet, a Spanish bolero or an American jazz, a Russian gazotski, a Polish mazurka or a Hawaiian waltz—you will find it in Lindsay's Columbia Record catalogue; moreover you'll find Columbia interpretation correct and the reproduction perfect in every detail.

Free demonstration at any time; drop in. Grafonolas from $37.50 up. Columbia Records $1 to $3. Easy terms of payment arranged if desired.

Al. Jolson singing at the Russell makes records for Columbia exclusively. Lindsay's have all his best numbers.

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED

249 Front Street Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 5 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word. If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE — HEATER, IMMEDIATELY. Apply 210 Station St. s8-2td

FOR SALE—FORD TOURING CAR IN good mechanical condition. Good tires, tire carrier, foot accelerator and speedometer. Demonstration can be arranged. 240 Dundas. s8-4td

FOR SALE—MOTOR LAUNCH, 32 FEET, equipped with 12 h.p. motor, all in good running order. Apply to Geo. Duff, Point Ann Quarries, Ont. s8-6td

MISS FARLEY, 271 JOHN ST., HAS DECIDED to sell her Millinery business. This desirable business offers a grand opportunity to any person desiring to go into this line. Will sell cheap as Miss Farley is retiring from business. s7-2td

FOR SALE—FRAME BARN, 30x50, STEEL roof on one side, and six young horses, one pair well matched, blacks, coming four years. Lot 1, 8th Con., Huntingdon. Sam Tanner, Crookston. Phone, Madoc 2r5. s8-2td

$3,600—BUNGALOW FOR SALE—122 MOIRA Street west, new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Stationary tubs in basement, furnace, plumbing and electric fixtures of best quality. Apply Bank of Montreal. s7-6td

FOR SALE—FARM OF 62 ACRES, THIRD concession of Thurlow, lot 31. Good buildings, lots of wood and water. Will exchange for city property. R.F.D. No. 6, Belleville. G. N. Phillips. s1-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1-wd

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

WANTED.

WANTED—PARTY WHO CAN FURNISH room and board for lady teacher. Kindly communicate with The Ontario School for the Deaf. s3-dtf

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. a21-dtf

WANTED—DINING ROOM GIRL. APPLY Mrs. Spear, Albert College. s7-4td

WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. Apply to Mrs. Wm. Burrowes, 243 Bridge St. E. Phone 313. s7 2td

MOTHER THREW INFANT OUT OF BURNING HOTEL

Klamath Falls, Ore., Sept. 7.—Nine charred bodies had been recovered at noon Monday from the ruins of a fire which destroyed the Houston Hotel and Opera House and burned two blocks of dwellings and business houses. Five bodies have been identified.

Many persons were burned or injured in escaping from the burning hotel. All the dead were believed to be from Oregon.

Mrs. Mary Campora, to whom a baby girl was born last Friday, threw the infant from a third-story window and then jumped. The baby was uninjured. The baby was uninjured, but injured but Mrs. Campora suffered serious hurts.

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR—MALE or female. Good wages to competent operator who has speed. Apply in person to The Intelligencer Office. s7-4td

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work, with references. Chas. S. Clapp. s4-dtf

WANTED—MAN AS JANITOR. STEADY position. Apply The Intelligencer Office.

DRIVER WANTED—WE WANT A FIRST class driver for milk route. Steady employment. Citizens' Dairy Co. s3-4td

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

TO LET.

TO LET—ROOM AND BOARD, ALL CONVENIENCES, in a private family, for two ladies or man and wife. Box "Y," Intelligencer. s7-2td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern —possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. s7-dtf

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS, use of bath and electric light. All conveniences, suitable for light housekeeping. Apply Box S., Intelligencer. s3-dtf

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS—can have light housekeeping if desired. Apply to Mrs. Sinclair, 42½ Bridge St s2-6td

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. Apply 289 Albert St. Phone 654.

WANTED—DINING ROOM GIRL. APPLY Mrs. Spear, Albert College. 1t

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—A FIRST CLASS WOMAN TO work by hour. Apply Box "B," Intelligencer.

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dim

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

CAPABLE GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. No washing; plain cooking; excellent home; wages $37; must be experienced and able to furnish good references. Address Mrs. F. H. Marsh, 69 Keewatin Ave., Toronto. s3-4td

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. s3-dtf

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

WANTED — COMPETENT MAID. APPLY Mrs. J. Williams, 233 Charles Street.

LOST

LOST—PARROT, ON SUNDAY, FROM 174 Station Street. Finder kindly phone 606. Reward. s7-4td

LOST—GOLD RIM EYE GLASSES IN CASE, and pair scissors set with pearl handles. Return 235 Bleecker Avenue. Reward. 8-2t

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference. Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d-o8

City and Vicinity

Daly's Good Tea, unequalled for quality, strength and flavour. At McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville

High School Books and Supplies, at GEEN'S. s4-3td

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. s4-3t

Mr. S. M. Anglin, teacher of singing, has returned to the city and will be at the Conservatory of Music, Front street, on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and evenings. s8 6t

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Have you 100 accounts, more or less? Is it not worth 75c to have them mailed in neatly typed envelopes each month? Send them to the Public Stenographer, Hotel Quinte, Phone 103. s1-4td

High School Books and Supplies, at GEEN'S. s4-3td

Peaches

The time for preserving good Crawford peaches has arrived. We are getting a fresh car every morning of the best quality Leno baskets. From now on is the best time for preserving. S. Domenico, phone 520. 50 Bridge Ct. Opp. P. O. s7-6td

A SUGGESTION.

When you are down town some afternoon just drop in to John Henley's and have your heels straightened WHILE YOU WAIT. s7-5t

AUCTION SALE.

Farm stock, implements and household goods, late Jos. Wickett, Lot 30 Con. 1, Township of Thurlow. Sept. 9 1920. S. J. Fisher, auctioneer. s7-2t

GOODYEAR WELTS.

If you are wearing Goodyear Welted Shoes, be sure to have them repaired on genuine Goodyear machinery at John Henley's, Footbridge gangway. s7-6td

The Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary will meet on Thursday of this week at 3.30 in the Y.M.C.A. Will all members try to be present, as there is important business to be discussed?

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110:
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

WANTED

HEAD LAUNDRESS, $50.00 per month —and HEAD COOK, $50.00 per month. Apply to Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

WANTED

A TEACHER OF FANCY WORK, part time, and SUPERVISOR, young woman of fair education. Apply Ontario School for the Deaf. s2-dtf

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE
Wednesday, Aug. 8, 1920.
Minimum 51
Maximum 74

Social And Personal

Mrs. E. A. Thomas and son, Donald, are visiting relatives in Toronto.

Mr. J. L. Tickell is in Toronto attending a meeting of the Embalmers' Association.

Mrs. Robt. Sills and family have returned to the city after spending two weeks vacation at Presqu'ile Point.

Mrs. T. G. Bell, who has been visiting her brother, Mr. George Phelps, at Wilkie, Sask., has returned home.

Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C., of this city, has been elected a member of the council of the Dominion Bar Association.

Mrs. J. Fisher and family have returned to the city after spending a few days with Mrs. Robt. Sills at their cottage, Presquile Point.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lasher (nee), Miss Mae Frechette, have returned to Toronto after spending the week-end with her mother, Mrs. P. Frechette, Church Street.

Late Telegraph Briefs

McSweeney was hanged in effigy at Belfast. Bread crusts were stuffed in the mouth of the figure.

Several cities were wiped out by an earthquake in Italy. Many were killed.

Wrangel's troops have captured five thousand Bolshevik prisoners and twelve cannon in a fortnight.

Leon Trotzky's sons reported killed in battle.

The New York health commissioner claims that the nation is in for another influenza epidemic, but nearly as widespread as last winter.

Mackenzie & Mann power employees at Toronto serve a strike ultimatum, effective tonight.

Morley Ulch of Kingsville was electrocuted at the power house of the W., E. & L. S. Radial Railway at the lake.

The correspondent of thee London Daily News on Premier Lloyd George's train states that a guarantee that assassinations shall end will be followed b ythe release of all hunger-strikers.

Three Niagara Falls visitors were killed in the Cave of the Winds. Five tons of shale dropped 180 feet from the bring of Horse Shoe Falls on to the bridge. Erosion is the explanation of the accident.

Seven Toronto people were injured when a string of trailers became stalled on the Gorge route and a train crashed into the rear.

The Labor Day crowd at the Toronto Exhibition numbered 196,000.

A band of men disguised as soldiers locked police up in an outhouse and burned down the barracks in Ireland.

Premier Meighen unveils a monument to the memory of Sir George Etienne Cartier.

Many Jewish orphans in Ukrania will be provided homes in Canada.

British Guiana wants the preferential tariff with Canada lowered.

Dr. John H. Comfort, many years a practitioner in the Niagara district, died at Port Dalhousie.

Dr. A. F. Emery, Liberal, was nominated to oppose Hon. R. W. Wigmore in the by-election in St. John.

Bishop Fallon will visit Ireland.

KINGSTON VETERANS WILL ESCHEW POLITICS

Kingston, Sept. 8.—The advisability of again taking an active part in politics, either municipal, provincial or dominion, came up for a lengthy discussion by the Kingston Great War Veterans, and from the various members who spoke on the subject the opinion gained was that, while every every member should individually take an active interest in the administration of his city and country, it was felt that the association, as such, would be far wiser to leave politics alone and devote the whole of its energy to the work it is pledged to do, that of providing for and looking after the interests of the returned soldier and of his dependents.

Public School Arithmetic, Readers, etc., large supply at GEEN'S. s4-3t

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT.

TIME WAS

when a bracelet watch was a rather useless luxury. Today it is both a necessity and an ornament, desired by every woman. It is the most acceptable gift imaginable.

The bracelet watch purchased at Blackburn's is a reliable, accurate time-piece and an exquisite ornament. We have a large display from which to choose, including products of the standard watchmakers — beautifully designed and attractively priced.

$20.00 to $65.00

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

Many People

fancy they can buy cheaper in Toronto.

We are here to state that we will duplicate any paper to be found in any departmental catalogue at the same price as quoted in that catalogue.

We do not sell at low prices. We will not be undersold. We can supply any paper made.

We know our business. Were it not so, with thirty years' specializing, we would be blockheads. Command our service and prove to the contrary if you can.

Scantlebury Service

Wanted At Once

Young man for delivery and general work--with references.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER of the Estate of William John Allen, late of the Village of Bancroft, in the County of Hastings, Laborer, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 56 of the Trustee Act, R.S.O., 1914, Chap. 121, that all creditors and others having claims or demands against the estate of the said William John Allen, who died on or about the Twenty-first day of September, A.D., 1917, are required on or before the Twenty-ninth day of September A.D. 1920 to send by post, prepaid, or deliver to the undersigned Solicitors for Sarah Ann Allen, the Administratrix of the Estate and effects of the said Deceased, their Christian names and surnames, addresses and descriptions, full particulars in writing of their claims, a statement of their accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after such last mentioned date the said Administratrix will proceed to distribute the assets of the said Deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which she shall then have notice, and that the said Administratrix will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim notice shall not have been received at the time of such distribution.

WILSON, PIKE & STEWART,
39½ Fifth St., Chatham, Ont.,
Solicitors for said Administratrix.
DATED at Chatham, this 4th day of September A. D. 1920. s8.15.22

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the partnership heretofore existing between Frederick A. Daniels, John V. Connell and Francis Kelleher as foundrymen at the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, carrying on business under the name of "Union Foundry Company," was dissolved on the 1st day of September, 1920, by mutual consent.

The business will hereafter be carried on by John V. Connell and Francis Kelleher under the same name of "Union Foundry Company."

All accounts due the said former partnership are to be paid to the said partners hereafter carrying on said business and all liabilities are to be assumed by said last named parties.

Dated this 7th day of September, 1920.
UNION FOUNDRY CO.
F. A. DANIELS,
J. V. CONNELL,
F. C. KELLEHER.
s8.15.22

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

RITCHIE'S

New Fall Goods

ARRIVING DAILY

New Serge Dresses

We have just received some smart styles in Serge Dresses, ranging in price from

$30.00 to $50.00

Braid and embroidery are used as trimming and the styles are up to the minute, and such models shown are exclusive only to the Ritchie Store, Belleville. If you are planning on a new Dress this Autumn Season see ours first at the above mentioned prices.

We have also received some dainty Georgette Dresses in Navy and Black, neatly trimmed with beads and fashioned with smock and overskirt effect, which styles reflect the very latest tendencies, direct from New York. See these first at $35.00, $37.50 and $39.50. Other Silk Dresses, $25.00 to $100.00.

Our Mantle Depart'mt

IS

Brim Full of Style and Quality

For the Autumn Season

New Suits New Coats
New Skirts
New Serge Dresses New Kimonos
New Corsets

Children's Cloth Dresses

Regular $4.50 to $5.75—to clear at $3.75

made in Serge, Corduroy and Plaid, ages 6 to 14 years. Exceptionally big value $3.75

The Millinery Parlors

The Millinery Parlors will present the most "chic" collection of Autumn Millinery ever gathered together, featuring New York styles exclusively.

Our Millinery buyer has spared no pains in gathering together a stunning array of Fashion's newest ideas, direct from the most authoritative style centres, particularly New York. Mere words cannot do justice in describing the captivating charm of the modes that Fashion has decreed to be worn this season, and we shall make no attempt at doing so. But we want every lady to accept this as a personal invitation to inspect these newest creations of the millinery art.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Moderate east and southerly winds—showery tonight.

Friday, showers at first, then fair and warmer.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business Is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 280.

Close of Belleville Fair Large Attendance Last Day

SPLENDID RACING FEATURE OF CLOSING DAY — GOOD TIME MADE ON HEAVY TRACK — BAD WEATHER CUT INTO ESTIMATED RECEIPTS OF THREE-DAY FAIR.

The Belleville Fair for 1920 is an event of the past. Wednesday was the last day and there was a good attendance of spectators who after viewing the exhibits were interested in the speeding events, of which there were three, namely a 2.15 class, a 2.25 class and a free for all. At about 4 o'clock exhibitors commenced to remove their exhibits and when the races were over the grounds presented a rather deserted place. The attendance during the three days was by no means what the management anticipated. In the live stock department the number of entries were large and in several classes competition for the prizes offered was keen. Expert judges were engaged in awarding prizes to horses, cattle, sheep and swine. In some classes judging was not completed until yesterday afternoon.

Speeding Events

Shortly before 2 o'clock Mr. Wm. Carnew, starter of the speeding events, rang the bell which called out the horses for the first event, namely the 2.15 class, and the spectators were not long in surrounding the railing about the track. The records of the events are as follows:

2.14 Class, Mile Heat

There were four entries in this event and it only required three heats to decide the winner. Hoosier Boy, owned by Mr. Thomas, of Colborne, took three straight heats, although in the last two he was closely pressed by Dolly Patch. It was in every respect a good race. The summary was as follows:

Hoosier Boy, J. Thomas, Colborne	1	1	1
Dolly Patch, W Orr, Belleville	4	2	2
Leona McKinney, G. Powell, Belleville	2	3	3
Miss Charlotte M., W. Rose, Peterboro.	3	4	4

Time—2.20¼, 2.19½, 2.18¼.

2.25 Class, Mile Heats

This was an interesting and well contested event, especially with Bub, owned by Mr. Jones of Port Hope, and Billy Patch, owned by Mr. G. Powell of this city. It required five heats to be run before the winner could be named. Billy Patch took the first two heats, but in the three following Bub went under the wire first, closely followed by Billy Patch. Considering the condition of the track good time was made. The summary is as follows:

Bub A. Jones, Port Hope.	2	2	1	1	1
Billy Patch, Geo Powell, Belleville	1	1	2	3	2
Sunny Jim, A. M. Allen, Colborne	3	3	3	2	2
Todd McGregor, J. Coveney, Cobourg, . . .	5	4	4	4	4
Steve Ayers, J. McNaught, Tweed, ...	4	5	5	dr
Cecil Maud, W. Smith, Belleville, ...	6	6	dr

Free For All, Mile Heats, 9

Considerable interest was manifest in this event in which four horses were entered. Hazel H., owned by Mr. Montgomery of Peterboro, was a favorite and won three out of the four heats run. Helen M., owned by Mr. Sutherland of Peterboro, was a horse that had a number of followers, as did also Mermon Wenger, owned by our well known local horseman, Mr. George Powell. In the first heat Helen M. finished first but in the three succeeding heats third place was the best position she could secure. The best time made, 2.17, was fast for the track. The summary is as follows:

Hazel H. Montgomery, Peterboro	3	1	1	1
Helen M., J. Sutherland, Peterboro	1	3	4	3
Herman Wenger, George Powell, Belleville	4	2	2	2
Swift Line, J. Vasseau, Trenton	2	4	3	4

Hurry Up Call

In the Hurry Up Call there was but one entry, Mr. Ernest Potter of Sidney, who drove around the track once and was awarded the prize.

Quick Hitch Up

In this event E. Potter of Sidney, and an employee of Col. Ponton were the competitors. Both proved adepts in harnessing their beasts in quick order, but Mr. Potter proved to be the winner. It proved interesting to the spectators.

Farmers' Race ½ Mile

There were four entries in this event, namely, Nellie Patch and City Patch, owned by Mr. B. Collins, Mildred C., owned by P. Clark, and Sidney, owned by Col. Ponton. In the first heat Mildred C finished first, but was disqualified as she carried hobbles, which was contrary to the rules governing the event, and City Patch was given first place, Nellie Patch, second, and Sidney, third. In the second and concluding heat the horses finished in the same order.

Baseball

A baseball match between teams from Foxboro and Shannonville attracted much attention despite the fact the score was rather one sided, namely 25 to 8 in favor of Shannonville. It was hinted that the winnnig team had some players who were not residents of the village. Mr. P. Farnham was umpire on balls and strikes and Mr. R. Dunning on bases. The former has yet considerable to learn in umpiring a game, judging by some of his decisions. Eight innings were played. The line-up of the teams was as follows:

Foxboro—L. Fahey, p.; G. Ketcheson, 1st b.; Z. Palmer, r.f.; G. Gowsell, 2nd b.; C. Massie, 3rd b.; C. Hamilton, c.f.; H. Gardner, s.s.; H. Ketcheson, l.f.; M. Rose, c.

Shannonville—H. Bennett, p.; A. McWilliams, 1st b.; E. Cole, r.f.; R. Steward, nd b.; L. McWilliams, 3rd b.; J. Kennedy, c.; R. Gulligan, l.f.; R. Fuller, c.f.; J. Huard, s.s.

Labor Men Want a Stronger Beer

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—The special committee of the Legislature appointed last session to consider the whole question of Ontario Temperance Act administration will meet on Tuesday, September 28, according to an announcement made by Premier Drury, Tuesday.

The chief interest attached to the sitings of the committee will be in the inquiries into the question of allowing a stronger alcoholic content of temperance beers when sold under proper restrictions. The committee, will, of course, spend some time in reviewing the question of penalties of prescription difficulties and other little annoyances connected with the present administration of the Act, as well as the work of the Ontario License Board, but to not a few members the chief object in view is a modification of the restriction on light beers. The idea of an O. T. A. committee originated with the labor section of the Government coalition which favored the sale of light beers under careful restrictions, and the personnel of the committee, as was pointed out last session, is not at all "prohibitionist."

G.T.R. Conductor Loses Lett Foot

John Iles Met With Accident in Run From Buffalo to Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—John Iles, 350 Crawford Street, a conductor on the G. T. R., had his left foot cut off above the ankle when run over by the Toronto-Buffalo train at the high level bridge, near Hamilton, about 10 o'clock Tuesday night. The injured man was removed to the Hamilton City Hospital. According to the hospital, Iles had alighted from the train during a stop-over at the bridge, and in attempting to board it, he slipped from the step, and fell under one of the coaches. The wheels of the train ran over his leg. As a consequence of the accident, the train was delayed for over forty-five minutes.

◆

EUNICE ROBINSON.

Miss Eunice Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Robinson, of this city, died in Toronto yesterday. Deceased was 33 years of age and had resided here, until three years ago, all her life. Miss Robinson was a member of the Methodist church. The body will arrive here tomorrow for interment in Belleville cemetery.

Will Link 500 English Towns

Motor Transport System Extending From Dover to Wick

LONDON, Sept. 8.—A scheme whereby 500 towns in Great Britain are to be linked in one commercial motor transport system soon is to be launched by the Automobile Association. The area covered will be between Dover and Penzance, on the south coast, to Wick in the north of Scotland. About 600 agents will act as clearing houses, registering requirements of local manufacturers and traders, providing return loads for vehicles and thus eliminating dead mileage and economizing in running costs.

Hitherto only large centres had clearing houses, but under the new scheme outlying districts and all existing organizations will be linked for the same purpose.

Captain Montgomery, who is responsible for the scheme, says that it will provide Great Britain with a road transport system without parallel in the world, and one that will relegate the railway to a position of secondary importance in transport services. It will not only speed up and reduce cost of transport, but will reduce railway freights and enable goods to be carried from door to door.

Reduces Freight Rates

Loss in time in sidings will be eliminated and farmers and others in remote districts will be able to get their goods collected, or delivered, by applying to the nearest agent. Although during the war some of the more important industrial centres as Leeds, Liverpool or Manchester, were linked up by motor transport and several of the services are still kept up, their efforts are mainly local and thus of benefit only to small areas.

"My intention," says Captain Montgomery, "is to have a service which shall be of national benefit, and which will, by reducing the cost of freightage, tend to lower the prices of foodstuffs, and the costs of living. The appointments of agents is essential to the success of the scheme, and it has been arranged for the Automobile Association's agents, established in more than 500 towns, to undertake the work. The association will reap no financial profits from the scheme, which will be used primarily to benefit members of the industrial vehicle section of the association.

◆

Urge Lloyd George Ignore U.S. Appeals

Pittsburg Editor and Clergyman Cable British Premier.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 9.—Two cablegrams addressed to Premier Lloyd George and asking that appeals of Irish-Americans on behalf of Lord Mayor MacSweeney be ignored, were sent from this city on Tuesday by James Stanley White, editor of the United Protestant Advocate, and Rev. E. M. McFadden, D.D., secretary of the International Protestant League.

"The great majority of American citizens desire that the British Government be allowed to manage its own affairs," said the cablegram sent by Rev. Mr. McFadden. In his message to the British Prime Minister, Mr. White said that 'International Protestant Advocate of America resent interference by hyphenated Americans with British Government regarding Cork Mayor's sentence. Be assured Americans are with you in enforcing law and order."

◆

NEGRO SHOT IN LUNG.

Cornwall, Sept. 9.—A negro named George Coakley, aged 25, lies in a critical condition in Massena as the result of a revolver wound through the left lung, sustained in a row in a poolroom and boarding house at that place on Monday night. It is stated that Coakley and another negro, John H. Stokes, aged 28, were playing pool, the stake being $1.00. Coakley alleged that before the end of the game Stokes took the money. Coakley objected, and Stokes said if he would go outside with him he would give him the cash. The two went out, and it is said, Stokes pulled a revolver and shot Coakley. Two negroes and a Spaniard witnessed the shooting. They gave the alarm, and Chief Demoe was notified. Stokes made off, but was later found hiding under a bed in a shack and was arrested. Coakley was hurried to a physician. The bullet, from a .32-calibre revolver, passed through the lung and lodged under the skin in the back. Stokes is detained in jail.

Hydro Begins to Build a New Power Station

Total of About 53,000 H.P. Will Be Developed in Central Ontario.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 8.—The Hydro-electric Power Commission has commenced the work of developing Raney's Falls near Campbellford, between the present Campbellford and Frankford plants. Raney's Falls is Dam No. 10 on the Trent Canal system, and the decision to commence to build a station there this year is owing to its being the most economical location available in regard both to construction work and to distance of transmission. This fall is situated on the Trent River, about one mile below Campbellford, being located between the Campbellford Power-house and future development at Dams Nos. 8 and 9.

The dam was built by the Dominion Government as part of the Trent Canal system. Provision was made for power development by placing five sluiceways, each 20 feet wide, in the canal wall on the river side above the locks.

Plans for New Station.

The development begins at the river side of the sluiceways. The gatehouse, power-house proper, and transformer house will be of reinforced concrete construction, it is stated. There are to be installed two 5,000-h.p. single-runner, vertical-draft turbines, operating at 47 feet head at 120 r.p.m. direct-connected in the generators. There will be two-story sluice-type head-gates for each unit. The feeder pipes and turbine casings are to be reinforced concrete. The tail race will be about 250 feet long, extending from the power house to the lower reach of the canal. Excepting for a small amount of dredging in the river at the tail-race outlet, the work is all in the dry.

The plant is expected to be in operation, it is stated, by 1922. Future developments at Dams Nos. 8 and 9 will probably feed into this station.

Seven Stations in Central System.

The Central Ontario system of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is now served from seven generating stations on the Trent Canal system. These provide power for about 75 municipalities, including practically all the territory between Whitby and Kingston. These generating systems are as follows: Dam No. 2, above Trent, 5000 h.p.; Dam No. 5, at Frankford, 4800 h.p.; Dam No. 12, above Campbellford, 5000 h.p.; Healey Falls, about one mile above the junction of the Trent and Crow Rivers, 16,800 h.p., Auburn, near Peterborough, 2750 h.p.; and Fenelon Falls, at the lower end of Cameron Lake, 1,000 h.p.

The commission also buys 1,000 k.w. from the generating station operated by the Corporation of Campbellford at Dam. No. 12. The total capacity of these plants is 37,390 h.p.

Increased Supply Provided.

The demand for power has increased in the municipalities served by this system, and in order to provide for the future it has become necessary to increase the generating capacity.

With the 10,000 h.p. which will be developed by the Raney Falls plant there will be a total of more than 46,000 h.p. developed by the Hydro-Electrict Power Commission in this division of the Trent canal. On the Severn division of the canal the Hydro-electric Power Commission operates a plant at Wasdell's Falls of 1200 h.p. capacity, and a plant of 5600 h.p. at Big Chute, or a total of 6800 h.p. in these two plants.

The total power developed by the commission after the completion of the Raney Falls plant will be, therefore, about 53000 h.p.

At Port Severn in the Severn division there is still a plant which is not developed, said to be capable of about 1400 h.p.

Notwithstanding the cessation of some war industries, there is an increasing demand for power in this section of Ontario.

◆

COOLLY APPROPRIATES FARMER'S AUTO TIRES.

Stratford, Sept. 9.—Geo. Tuffnell, railway avenue, was convicted in the Police Court this morning on two charges of theft of automobile tires from a farmer near Maplewood, in Oxford county, and was sentenced to serve six months on each count and an indeterminate period thereafter, the sentences to run concurrently. Tuffnell calmly drove his car into a farmer's barn, jacked it up, and cast off his own tires for a set of better ones that were in the barn.

an overcoat was stolen fro his auto

Called by death

Peace Delegation to go to Riga

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WARSAW, Sept. 9—Letvia has given necessary guarantees to the Russian Government and as a result the Bolsheviki peace delegation will go to Riga to meet the Polish representatives. Prince Sapieha, Polish Foreign Minister, was notified by George Tichitcherin, but the latter, however, did not mention the date when the Soviet representatives would leave Moscow.

◆

Sunshine Fund Continues to Grow

Belleville Citizens Have Warm Hearts And Open Purses—Community Spirit of Help One Another Manifested.

Subscriptions are still coming in for The Intelligencer fund in aid of a family overtaken by misfortune through no fault of their own. Their immediate wants have been provided for through the generosity of warm-hearted citizens, but facing the long winter with its many requirements in fuel, food, clothing, etc., considerable more money can be used to advantage.

When the father's ill health incapacitated him from work, the mother took up the burden of supporting the household, which includes three little children, the oldest not five years of age. The father's condition grew steadily worse and the mother was obliged to give up her position in order to nurse him and care for the children. This cut off all revenue and the condition of the family would indeed have been desperate were it not for the generosity of citizens who gladly came to the rescue with money and food when apprized of the facts.

Subscriptions, no matter how small, are welcomed to this sunshine fund, which confers a rich blessing on the giver as well as bringing joy and gladness to the recipients in their hour of need.

Contributions.

T. W. L.	$ .50
Geo. Thompson ..	1.00
J. H. Hanna	1.00
T. Donohue	1.00
McLaughlin Co. and Staff ..	7.00
Ritchie Co. and Staff	15.00
Dr. Alex. Ray	2.00
Mrs. A. I. Bird	5.00
A Friend	5.00
A Friend	17.00
Mrs. Bert Campbell—Quart of milk per day.
Mr. Shniffer	2.00
A Friend	1.00
E. T. Austin	1.00
Chief Brown	1.00
Robert Orr	1.00
C. F. Cochrane	1.00
A Friend	2.00
A Friend	.50
M. Hatt	2.00
Sympathizer	1.00
Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn	5.00
Hiram Ibey	1.00
S. Rickett	1.00
Warren's Bakery—Bread daily.
H. W. Ackerman	10.00
Vickers' Bakery—Bread.
G. B. Jones	5.00
I. H. Fry	2.00
Miss Emma Bowen	1.00
Well Wisher	2.00
J. P. Huck	1.00
Mrs. J. C. Westley	1.00
Mrs. Wm. Mullett	2.00
Mrs. E. Dobbs	1.00
Mrs. C. J. Bowell—Groceries.
Mrs. P. E. Masters—Provisions and nursing care.
A friend	1.00
C. P. M.	2.00
John Harris	1.00
Mrs. H. Carre	1.00
Every Little Helps	1.00
A Friend	2.00

◆

FIND THE CAUSE OF SLEEPING SICKNESS

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., Sept. 9.—Discovery of the cause of "sleeping sickness" was reported Wednesday by Dr. I. S. Wechler, of Columbia University, to the State conference of health officers and public health nurses, in session here. The origin he said was found to be a filtrable virus, which, in experiments, has transmitted the disease from man to monkeys.

◆

LOCAL LEGAL.

Judges' Chambers Before Middleton J.

Rex. v. Williams.—C. A. Payne Belleville) for defendant, moved to quash conviction of H. Williams by Police Magistrate at Trenton for breach of Ontario Temperance Act. F. P. Brennan for Magistrate. Motion dismissed with costs.

Hundreds of People Perished in Earthquake

ITALIAN EARTHQUAKE CAUSED MANY DEATHS — CITIES AND VILLAGES SHATTERED—FIVE HUNDRED LIVES LOST NORTH OF FLORENCE — MOUNTAIN VILLAGES ALMOST INACCESSIBLE.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

ROME, Sept. 9.—More than five hundred persons perished in earthquake disaster which shattered cities and villages north of Florence on Tuesday morning. Governmental and private relief agencies are at work aiding the survivors and searching ruins for any victims who may still be alive, but the work is seriously handicapped by the difficulty experienced in reaching many towns which are situated in the mountains and are almost inaccessible. Electric light wires have been broken and work in the ruins must stop at nightfall. Fifty dead victims were taken from the ruins of the town of Barga.

ANOTHER QUAKE.

ROME, Sept. 9.—Another violent earthquake occurred in the Emilia district at three o'clock this morning, causing loss of lives and heavy damage.

DEATH LIST GROWING.

FLORENCE, Sept. 9.—The number of dead from Tuesday's earthquake is steadily growing. Latest advices from Fivizzano bring the total dead there alone up to 432, while in Vignatta 454 are dead and a thousand injured. In near three score towns and villages serious damage was done and a total population of more than ten thousand rendered homeless.

No Solution For Mining Crisis

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The conference held this morning between Sir Robert Horne, President of the Board of Trade, and a delegation from the miners' organization, in an effort to reach a solution of the coal crisis resulted in what is generally regarded as a failure. At the conclusion of the conference Robert Smillie, acting as spokesman for the miners, informed Sir Robert Horne that the miners' executive body was of the opinion that the statement he made contained no new proposal which would lead to a satisfactory settlement of the miners' demands.

◆

Soviet Soldiers Forced To Fight

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 9.—General Wrangel, head of the south Russian anti-Bolshevik forces, is within twelve miles of Alexandrovsk, the headquarters of the field staff of the Thirteenth Soviet Army. Despatches received today report that many of the Soviet soldiers captured by General Wrangel's troops had been sent to the southern front from Siberia and outlying provinces. They are unkempt and clothed in rags and shoes made of untanned horsehide. The men have long beards, and when fed eat ravenously. When asked why they were fighting they answered "We could not help it. We were made to fight."

◆

FINED $200 FOR HAVING BEER MASH FOR LIQUOR

Blyth, Ont., Sept. 8.—The charge against James Hawthorne, of Morris township, of having in his possession beer or mash for the purpose of manufacturing spirituous liquor was heard before Magistrate Reid of Goderich, in the Industrial Hall, Blyth on Tuesday. Dudley Holmes, of Wingham, appeared for the prosecution, and H. B. Morphy, K.C., M.P., of Listowel, for the defence. The charge was laid by Inland Revenue Officer Ed. Floody of Toronto. The beer or mash was composed of blackstrap molasses, ground barley and hops, and, on analysis showed 24.38 per cent. proof spirits. Hawthorne was fined $200 and costs, or six months in jail.

PLAN COMMUNITY GROUNDS.

Renfrew, Sept. 8.—At a meeting of representative citizens in Hotel Renfrew a committee was appointed to arrange for securing community playgrounds. It is intended to utilize part of the Exhibition grounds. An expert will be engaged to prepare plans. Public subscriptions will be solicited, as $3,500 is required. There will be tennis courts, bowling rinks, baseball diamonds and swimming pools. Supervised playgrounds for children will be run in connection during the summer vacation.

Poles Continue Victorious Advance

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Russian Bolshevik forces fighting against the Poles southwest of Brest-Litovsk have evacuated the city of Hrudieszow, thirty miles west of the Bug River, under pressure from the Polish troops, says an official statement issued in Moscow yesterday. The statement admits that Soviet troops in the neighborhood have been withdrawn to the east bank of the Bug River.

◆

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Fiume Council Resigns.

Fiume, Sept. 9.—The Fiume National Council resigned today.

Skeleton Found.

Brantford, Sept. 9.—During road construction on the Hamilton highway between Brantford and Cainsville, yesterday, a skeleton, wrapped in a blanket and brown cloth, was discovered. It had evidently been buried for many years and was but one foot under ground.

Toronto's Population.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—According to assessment department returns, Toronto's population is now 512,812, which places the city twelfth in the roll of North American cities. The assessment for the year totals $61,000,000.

◆

GOVERNMENT MOVES AVOIDS COAL STRIKE

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The first move having the appearance of possible compromise in the miners' strike was taken by the Government on Tuesday night when Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, president of the Board of Trade, sent a message to Robert Smillie, the miners' leader, at Portsmouth, saying: "To avoid any misunderstanding of our respective points of view, I should be glad if you bring your executive to the Board of Trade Thursday to discuss the present situation."

As Mr. Lloyd George has returned to London, the telegram is considered insignificant. In the meantime the government is making all necessary preparations to insure the distribution of food and other accessories in the event of a strike, which might result in a partial tie-up.

It is noteworthy that the Portsmouth conference has thus far avoided any reference to the miners' strike. The largely accepted explanation of this is that the conference is divided on the advisability of the strike.

DR. TOLMIE LAID UP WORN OUT BY WORK

Victoria, Sept. 9.—Worn out by a heavy programme of work which he undertook after the strenuous days of the last session of the House of Commons, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Federal Minister of Agriculture is confined to his bed at his home here. While not seriously ill, the Minister has been forbidden to see friends by his physician.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

IN THE PUBLIC EYE
BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!
BILL FOR GLASSES

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
182 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

DO YOU SUFFER WITH Headache, Dizzy Spells?
TAKE VITAL TABLETS

If one has headaches or dizzy spells there is certainly a cause for it, and there is certainly a remedy. We guarantee Vital Tablets to remove the headaches and dizzy spells and to create a healthy action of the stomach and bowels, and you are feeling a new person in a short time. Go to your druggist and get a box of Vital Tablets. Price 50c. a box or 6 for $2.50, or by mail. The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Doyle's Drug Store, Special Agents.

City & Country

TO DRAIN LONG SWAMP

Mr. Harry Vansickle of Marmora, has been given the contract of draining the "Long Swamp" in Marmora township. A ditch will be made 2900 feet long, 8 feet wide at the top and 3 at the bottom and from 1 to 4 feet deep. It is expected it will make it much easier to keep the road in good condition and that it will also make a considerable quantity of land available for agricultural purposes which

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE

On Monday night during a severe electric storm M. Bain and C. Granlund of Crow Lake, had a thrilling experience, when the horses which they were driving lost the road in the darkness and plunged over a bridge which spans Crooked Creek. The horses, men and wagon were thrown into the water and it required quite a struggle for the men to release the horses from the wagon. It was so dark and the storm was so severe that it was impossible for the men to get the wagon out. The men rode to their homes on horseback and the wagon was recovered the next day.

The Ever Faithful
ELECTRIC SERVANT

Campaign Now On Free Trial
Easy Terms
The HYDRO SHOP

DON'T SING 'WE WON'T GET HOME TILL MORNING' OSM

Bicycle Licence says

Last week I took a little trip,
And when away I got a tip
to BUY TIRES THIS WEEK.

A lot of people have learned that my advice on bicycle troubles saves money for them. Here is a good chance to prove it.

BICYCLES OUR BUSINESS
Bicycle Licence
333 FRONT STREET.
PHONE 985.

Gov't Report on Crop Conditions

The following is a summary under date of September 7 of the weekly reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

The past week has been favorable for harvesting and threshing, more especially as threshing in the stock is becoming more common. Considerable grain,. however, is till lying in the fields awaiting time or help to get it into the barn.

Price of Wheat

Market prices for wheat range all the way from $2.20 to $2.50 a bushel.

The second growth of pasture has proven good for live stock, although there are some reports of a decided falling off in the milk flow. Many farmers are already supplementing pasture with other feeds.

Not many beef animals are going to market. Dry cows are selling in Frontenac at around 8 cents a lb.

Norfolk reports milk as selling at $3.28 a cwt. to a Toronto dairy, delivered at the shipping point, Simcoe.

Hogs appear to be scarce, and are being slowly marketed at from $19.75 to $20.60 a cwt.

Reports have been received of oats running as high as 80, 90 and even 100 bushels to the acre, but on the other hand some of the crop has been discolored by the wet weather at harvesting.

Hay Prices

Hay is being held pretty closely by owners, but what sales are made range from $22 to $28 a ton.

The second cut of alfalfa is proving very satisfactory.

Grey reports that sweet clover is an exceptionally good crop.

Kent states that farmers are finding it difficult to procure sufficient help to harvest their tobacco, beans, etc.

Fruit Pickers Scarce

Fruit pickers are still complaining of the lack of pickers, and of baskets and other containers. For this reason a number of growers in Lincoln and Wentworth are allowing a considerable quantity of early apples, and also plums, to rot on the trees.

The peach harvest is now on, and pickers are in great demand; one grower is advertising for 200 of them.

The lateness of harvest is delaying fall seeding. There is also a tendency to hold back the fall wheat in order to avoid the Hessian fly.

Considerable of the after harvest plowing has been shallow. The land has been rather too dry and hard for general plowing. It has been particularly difficult with sod.

The Peterboro' Representative says "Owing to continued dry weather most of the farm wells of the county are dry, and live stock are suffering for want of sufficient water. This is more especially true of the ranches."

◆

WOULD FORCE CULTIVATION OF ALL LAND IN BRITAIN

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 9.—The Trades Union Congress, in session here, adopted a resolution presented by the Agricultural Workers' Union Tuesday declaring that while national ownership of land could not be secured at present, cultivation of all agricultural lands should be made compulsory.

The congress also unanimously adopted a resolution favoring a levy on war wealth and capital. The resolution was moved by John Robert Clynes, former Food Controller, who maintained that this policy would ease the financial situation.

◆

TO MAKE HAIRS VANISH FROM FACE, NECK OR ARMS

(Beauty Culture)

Keep a little powdered delatone handy and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be exercised to be sure and get genuine delatone, othrwise you may be disappointed.

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn.	No. 18:	12.20 a.m.	—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn.	No. 16:	1.51 a.m.	—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn.	No. 10:	11.00 a.m.	—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn.	No. 14:	12.06 p.m.	—International Limited, daily
G. T. Stn.	No. 6:	2.50 p.m.	—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn.	No. 28:	5.20 p.m.	—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn.	No. 30:	9.35 p.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn.	No. 52:	7.50 a.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N.	No. 8:	2.45 a.m.	—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn.	No. 19:	2.10 a.m.	—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn.	No. 17:	4.27 a.m.	—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn.	No. 29:	7.50 a.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn.	No. 27:	11.35 a.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn.	No. 5:	5.32 p.m.	—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn.	No. 9:	5.50 p.m.	—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn.	No. 15:	2.56 p.m.	—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn.	No. 51:	8.40 p.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn.	No. 7:	2.45 a.m.	—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

BRITISH AIRSHIPS.

Splendid Work Done by Aviators of the Old Country.

It looks like a gigantic spider web. This was one's initial reaction gazing up at the skeleton of the R-38, the super-dreadnought now being built for America and rapidly nearing completion fifty miles northwest of London. "Yes," replied an engineer, "her frame looks almost as delicate as a spider web, but it has the strength of steel. I myself must go up in her on her trial flights which will probably be to Germany or the Mediterranean and I am especially interested in making her strong."

The R-38 stands now without her envelope or gas bags, a mighty framework of light, hollow triangular or square girders with mazes of stay wires 700 feet long and eighty-five feet in diameter. Her bow and stern are yet incomplete, her huge fins—two rudders and two elevators—await adjustment and her control car and engines have not been installed. All these are coming on rapidly, and if America had a shed for the ship she would probably sail this fall. As it is she probably will not sail before next spring.

The airship will have six Sunbeam Cossack engines of 350 horsepower each, or a total horsepower of 2,100. Her cruising speed will be forty-five miles an hour with a maximum range of 9,470 miles. Her normal full speed will be sixty-seven miles an hour with a maximum range or 5,230 miles, and a maximum endurance of seventy-eight hours. At cruising speed her maximum time endurance will be 211 hours. In an emergency she can travel at the rate of seventy-one miles an hour.

Her frame is made up of duralumin, which is aluminum with an alloy of copper giving the strength of mild steel with one-third of its weight and twenty times its cost. Her gas bags are made of cotton of a special kind lined with goldbeaters skin, which is taken from the lower colon of cattle and which is the only known material that will contain hydrogen for any considerable time. There are substitutes for this skin that work even better than it for a while, but they soon lose their efficacy. Substitutes that will hold penetrating gas for, say two years, are constantly sought, for goldbeaters skin is scarce compared with the demand. No less than 600,000 cattle had to be slaughtered to supply the skins necessary to line the gas bags of the R-38 alone.

The envelope of the huge balloon is made of the finest Egyptian cotton impregnated with a chemical to resist water. It will be stretched over the frame, which is a polygon of twenty-five sides or practically a circle. The envelope will be painted a pure silver of aluminum color so that it will glow in the air with moonlike effulgence. This treatment is not for apeparance, but for reflecting the sun's rays to keep the hydrogen comparatively cool, for otherwise it expands in the day time and the gas is lost, while at night its contracts and the lifting power is diminished.

When the Germans made their last disastrous attack on England and France, losing several ships, they came to grief because of freezing water on their radiators at 18,000 to 20,000 feet up. Incidentally, at this height the crews became so sick and de-energized that they could attempt no repairs. The radiators became fatally cold because they were fixed in a position to get as much air as possible in lower and warmer altitudes. The R-38 is fortified against such dilemma as proved the undoing of the Germans. Its radiators are moveable. They can be lifted for the warmer altitudes and lowered for the colder, thus being immune from either overheating or freezing.

British airship designers and builders owe much to the late Count Zeppelin, but they have advanced far beyond his greatest achievement. Three hundred skilled men are working on the R-38. She will cost £400,000 to build, or almost the price of an armored cruiser. It is a curious fact that the engineers of chief responsibility in the airship works got their experience in constructing submarines, for the problem of making a ship behave properly in the air is closely akin to making a boat behave properly under water. The difference is merely a difference of the weight and viscosity of the medium.

The R-38 will be equipped with the latest instruments for detecting the approach of storms. Electrical storms are a peculiar terror to the navigators of airships and maximum speeds are used to escape them. They are met with principally off the coast of Nova Scotia, which the R-38 may be expected to avoid. Though this ship is the largest of its kind at present its capacity is only 2,750,000 cubic feet of gas and the designers at the Royal Airship Works are dreaming of ships of 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 cubic feet. They hold that the future in the air belongs to vessels of a colossal size with their relatively larger carrying power. The R-38 with her cargo easily could accommodate a couple of dozen persons besides her crew. Airships are in contemplation that will be veritable "liners of the upper blue."

Pineapples.

In the Hawaiian islands the pineapple industry has, during the last few years, experienced considerable development, causing it to rank second to that of sugar. At present there are about 7,000 acres planted with pineapples.

Brave Enough.

She—Oh, Dick, I wish you'd do something brave to show your love for me.

He—Good heavens; Haven't I asked you to marry me despite the present high cost of everything?

The Whole Trouble.

"Here's a matter that ought to be investigated." "What's the use of investigating?" inquired the politician. "What's the use of finding out anything additional? We know more now than we have time to attend to."

◆

He—"Why are you crying, dearest? Did I offend you by my proposal?

She—"Oh, no, dear, it's not that. I am crying for pure joy. Mother has always told me that I was such an idiot that I wouldn't get even a donkey for a sweetheart, and now I've got one after all."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"BABES IN THE WOODS" AT GRIFFIN'S TONIGHT

(What the Press Agents Say)

"Babes in The Wood' the fifth of the series of English musical pantomimes which F. Stuart Whyte ha simported to Canada, will be the offering at Griffin's tonight, for one night only.

This is one of the biggest favorites in England and it should prove equally popular with Canadian audiences.

Wee Dorothy Mackay, the eleven year old leading lady of last year's "Red Riding Hood", has been engaged for the principal role in this latest pantomimes. She will be supported by a company of thirty-two carefully chosen English artists and a troupe of seven children ranging in age between twelve and fourteen years.

As in Mr. Whyte's former offerings, "Babes in the Wood" is essentially a scenic production, the action being divided in two acts and seventeen scenes of pictorial splendor.

The musical numbers have been written for this production by B. C. Hilliam, Pierre Bayard and Clive Hamilton, while the book and lyrics are the work of F. Stuart-Whyte.

OLIVE THOMAS IN "THE SPITE BRIDE"

"The Spite Bride", a Selznick picture starring Olive Thomas, comes to Griffin's tomorrow, and Saturday matinee and night. It's simply a knockout—one of the best things that the screen has had in some time. It has snap, dash and zest; a human picture of human people presented in a human way; and Olive Thomas was never better in her life. She is the essence of youth—youth at its finest—with its simplicity, grace, charm and wistfulness.

"The Spite Bride" is a drama of youthful impulse, with just enough thrills to make you a little bit creepy—not enough to make your spine cold—with enough suspense to keep you interested from start to finish—with enough laughs to give that nice warm feeling inside, and a few tears which gives you a pleasant, happy feeling afterward. When Millicent Lee threw over Billy Swayne for another man, Billy thought the world had come to an end. He did not do so he married Tessa Doyle, a beautiful, sweet, little dancing girl, out of spite. eII didn't love her. He hardly knew her. After a few weeks, when he had reaped his satisfaction by making the world think he had jilted Millicent for Teressa he had the mariage annulled and proceeded to forget all about the little girl who had been his wife for a few short weeks. But he reckoned without the hand of fate. The events that follow will be found most novel and unusually interesting. The latest chapter of the thrilling "Stunt" picture, "The Whirlwind", and a selected program of comedy, Travelogue and topicals will also be shown on the same program.

◆

ALKALI IN SHAMPOOS BAD FOR WASHING HAIR

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily the hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

◆

RESTOCK FRASER BY AIRPLANE

OTTAWA, eSpt. 8—Employment of airplanes to transport salon eggs to the upper reaches of the Fraser River, British Columbia, is suggested by W. A. Found, superintendent of fisheries. Hitherto it has not been possible to restock the celebrated Fraser River fishing grounds from hatcheries situated far up stream because the fertile eggs will not stand carriage by pack animals over rough mountain trails. Mr. Found believes the eggs might be safely conveyed by airplane. If they could, the number of hatcheries on the river and the number of young salmon hatched could be increased. As the adult salmon always returns to spawn to the river where it was hatched, the Fraser River catch would also in a few years be considerably augmented.

Action is not likely to be taken, however, until the treaty between Canada and the United States for the protection of the coast salmon fishery is signed. That treaty is now at Washington, but may not be signed until after the Presidential election in the United States.

◆

The threat of the street railwaymen at the London Council failed to materialize.

SINCLAIR'S

Fall Suits More Artistic Than Ever

So many original ideas have been evolved this season. The lines are so soft and graceful — sleeves and collars show so many new effects.

Perhaps you'll decide in a moment that you simply must have a certain Suit, but whether you decide at once or not, you are quite welcome to come and see the new models we are showing. But bear in mind that the early showing always contains models that will not be obtainable later on.

DAINTY DRESSES
For School Girls

No wonder the girl takes so much pride in having pretty dresses for wear to school, for at school the young girl lives the most important hours of her young life, and makes her friends. So girls will appreciate the Dresses that have been gathered for school wear. They are smart in style and prettily made and finished, and at moderate prices, too.

Handsome Sweaters

You'd never think Sweaters could be so handsome. True, they have been growing smarter in style for several seasons, and yet one could scarcely believe that such dressy garments could be kept in the Sweater family. They are leading everywhere as sport coats. Prices from $5.00 upward.

New Dress Fabrics

The new Wool Dress Fabrics are displayed for your selection, and you are bound to be interested in them when you see the fine weaves of this collection. Serges, of course, and Tricotine, Gabardine, Broadcloth, Suede Cloth, Velours and Jersey are all represented in a full variety o fthe new Fall colorings.

FALL GINGHAMS

It would be difficult to find fabrics of more all round utility than these Ginghams. They offer a wide range of plaids from which to select. The qualities provide for fine school dresses, practical frocks for house wear and even for sturdy aprons. You will want yards and yards of them for they make such practical inexpensive garments. Prices 50c. to 90c. yard.

SINCLAIR'S

Lawrence Wilson Company

87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES
RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

BOVRIL

It is packed to please and serves its mission

"SALADA"
TEA

is used in millions of teapots daily.

Send us a postal for a free sample. Please state the price you now pay and whether Black, Green or Mixed Address Salada, Toronto. B722

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.

Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

The Road to Independence

Trouble comes to all of us at one time or another.

The man with a snug bank account, is fortified against the "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune".

It is the duty of every man to lay aside something for the inevitable rainy day.

Open a Savings Account today—and take your first step along the road to Independence.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA
DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

892

Painlessly removives your corns or Ends your Bunion Torture. No appliances of metal, rubber, felt or leather. Scientific and ethical. Ask Central for above number, or call 25 Bridge St. E., Canadian Orthopedic Lab.

Sales for Friday and Saturday

Bargains for Two Days at Shniffer's
SEPT. 10 AND 11, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY ONLY

As our store is to be closed Monday and Tuesday for Stock Taking.

WE OFFER YOU A FEW LINES, ON SALE.

CHILDREN'S PRINT AND GINGHAM DRESSES from .... 98c. to $2.95

BOYS' JERSEYS, broken sizes, navy trimmed with red or white, short or long sleeves .... 25c. each

BOYS' AND GIRLS' RIBBED HOSE, 35c. pair; 3 pairs $1.00

LADIES' KNITTED UNDERWEAR, short sleeves or without sleeves .... 25c. each

LADIES' SWEATER COATS, all colors, brushed wool, knitted with sailor collar .... $4.75 and $5.50

LADIES' COTTON GLOVES, fawn, grey or white, 25c. pair

LADIES' SMOCKS, heavy material, from .... $1.75 to $2.95

Special Bargains on All Running Shoes to clear

SEE OUR COATS AND DRESSES WHICH WE HAVE FOR FALL—If you buy now you have 10 per cent. discount, and not wait till the rush comes. Our prices are marked in plain figures.

B. SHNIFFER
331 Front Street

We keep open from 8 to 10 daily.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

Matinee Saturday, 2.30.

'Most Beautiful Girl in America'

Olive Thomas
in
"The Spite Bride"

A drama of youthful impulse—enough thrills to make you a little bit creepy—not enough to make your spine run cold—enough laughs to give you that nice warm feeling inside, and a few tears which gives you a pleasant, happy feeling afterwards.

WHIRLWIND — COMEDY TRAVELOGUE

COMING MONDAY — SYLVIA BREAMER AND ROBERT GORDON in "My Husband's Other Wife."

GRIFFIN'S Tonight
F. Stuart Whyte's 5th annual Musical Pantomime

Babes in the Wood
40—People—40

Brimful of laughter, feminine beauty robed in dazzling costumes, real melody and surprising costumes.

PRICES, 50c. to $2.00.

Seats now, Griffin's.

"Flu" Makes the Hair Come Out

Specialist Offers Simple Home Recipe to Stop Loss of Hair and Make It Grow Again

People who had the "Flu" this past year and who now find their hair coming out badly, will be interested in the suggestion of a well known Hair Specialist who says: "Anyone can easily and inexpensively make at home a recipe which, in my opinion, is unequalled for stopping loss of hair and making new hair grow out again thick, glossy and luxuriant.

You get from any druggist 6 oz. of Bay Rum, 2 oz. of Lavona (de Composee) and one-half drachm of Menthol Crystals. Mix together and allow to stand over night before using. Rub thoroughly into the scalp with the finger tips or a stiff brush.

This prescription is perfectly harmless, acts quickly and neither dries out the hair nor makes it greasy. But ladies using it should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired.

* * *

Sports

BASEBALL SUMMARY.
International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	99	43	.697
Toronto	97	45	.683
Buffalo	90	50	.643
Akron	83	54	.606
Reading	62	76	.449
Jersey City	55	87	.387
Rochester	42	93	.306
Syracuse	32	107	.230

Yesterday's Results.

Buffalo	10	Rochester	0
Buffalo	2	Rochester	1
xBaltimore	3	Syracuse	2
Baltimore	4	Syracuse	1
Jersey City	14	Reading	6
Toronto	7	Akron	0

x—10 innings.

Games today—Akron at Toronto; Rochester at Buffalo; Syracuse at Baltimore; Jersey City at Reading.

Folks are finding many reasons for drinking instead of coffee, one of them being economy.

INSTANT POSTUM

Sold by grocers

CENTENARY.

The members of the Aikens Church Auxiliary of the W.M.S. were at home on Wednesday, August 25th to the auxiliaries of Sidney and Bayside circuits. About one hundred were present, Mrs. Jas. Donaldson, president of Bayside Auxiliary, in the chair, with Mrs. S. Lloyd, president of Stone Church, Mrs. Haggerty, president of Centenary, and Mrs. A. Finkle, president of Aikens, on the platform also. A duet by Mrs. Hart and Miss Francis of Centenary, also a solo by Mrs. Fred Jeffrey of Bayside were very much appreciated.

Rev. Mrs. Mutton gave an excellent account of the work in China and Japan. Rev. Mr. Wickware, returned missionary from the Congo State, Central Africa, talked for over an hour of his work there for the past sixteen years. He is a fluent speaker whose whole heart is in the work and his listeners were many times moved to tears as he pleaded earnestly that help might be sent to those millions of natives who are dying today without God in darkest Africa.

Luncheon was served by the Aikens Church ladies in the dining hall, to which ample justice was done and everyone came away feeling inspired to do better work for the Master, and to take a greater interest in the mission fields abroad as well as at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young of Winnipeg have been visiting friends here. Mrs. M. Spafford, the latter's mother, returned with them to spend the winter in Winnipeg.

Miss Marjory Thompson of Belleville has been engaged as teacher here for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Kelley spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Webster Hyde, of Trenton.

Miss Lizzie Thrasher has secured an excellent position with the Canada Steel Co. of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Keeler of Toronto have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Cummings and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Ray during the past week.

Rev. Mr. Mutton gave an excellent sermon from this pulpit on Sunday morning, making it plain that the church has a part to play in the great labor problems that are confronting the people today.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Adams of Oshawa spent a few days at the home of his brother, Mr. Edwin Adams, Mrs. Adams and two children going to Oshawa with them and also spending four days in Toronto at the Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Thrasher, Mrs. Thrasher, Miss Muriel and Master Harold, spent Sunday last at Bon Echo Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones, of Whitby spent the week end with their daughter, Mrs. Fred Aikens.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Thrasher of Stirling on Sunday last.

Miss Freda Hubble was up to Toronto for the Exhibition during last week.

Mrs. Philip Ray attended the Belshaw-Fargey wedding at West Huntingdon last week.

Mr. Jas. Radford and Mr. Burleigh White took in the Toronto Exhibition last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Halliday took in the Ex. during the week.

Mrs. Jas. Ray is visiting friends in Toronto, also the Exhibition.

Miss Cora Cummings, who spent the holidays at home has returned to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Radford spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson, at Bayside.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. Will Waterhouse, whose mother, of Belleville, was buried at Roslin on Saturday. Deceased was most highly respected by a large circle of friends, who deeply regret her sudden demise.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Houston and daughter of New York have returned home after visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. Milton Vanderwater.

* * *

EMPRESS OF BRITAIN'S DEBUT AS OIL-BURNER

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—The maiden trip of the C. P. O. S. Empress of Britain as an oil-burner, which was successfully completed on her arrival here Tuesday, marked the passage through the St. Lawrence route of the first oil-burning passenger vessel. The fact that it cost an amount equal to the original sum expended for her construction to recondition her as an oil-burner lent additional interest to her initial voyage with the new equipment.

The trip from Liverpool to Quebec carried by the Empress, including 297 first class, 284 second class and 701 third class.

* * *

DARING BURGLARS MAKE SECOND RAID

BRAMPTON, Sept. 8.—Six weeks ago the woollen mills of John McMurchy, at Huttonville, were burglarized, and some $450 worth of goods taken. Tuesday night the place was again entered and this time the safe was taken out some distance away to the bottom of a steep hill, where it was found blown open with dynamite. The contents were only $50. Chief Herks traced the wheels of a big motor truck as far as the Centre Road, Brampton, where he lost them.

Either way ends every corn

Use Blue-jay as you like best. Apply liquid Blue-jay from a bottle, or use the Blue-jay plaster.

The effects on the corn are identical.

The pain stops. And the entire corn quickly loosens and comes out.

Blue-jay now is ending some two million corns a month.

It has so reduced corn troubles that most folks never have them.

It will end them all when all folks know about it.

The Blue-jay method is easy, gentle, sure.

It is scientific—the creation of a world-famed laboratory.

For your own sake, stop paring corns. Cease the old, harsh, inefficient methods.

Learn what millions know—that corns are folly, the pain is needless. Anybody can be kept forever free from corns with Blue-jay.

Prove this tonight. Buy Blue-jay from your druggist.

B&B Blue-jay
Plaster or Liquid
The Scientific Corn Ender

BAUER & BLACK, Limited Chicago Toronto New York
Makers of Sterile Surgical Dressings and Allied Products

Kroch Bros.
LADIES' APPAREL

Kroch Bros.
LADIES' APPAREL

NOW SHOWING
EXCEEDINGLY SMART STYLES IN

Autumn Suits and Coats

They are of beautiful materials, including Duvette, Velour and Bolivia Cloth

Priced $19.50 to $100.00

We have a wonderful selection of

Serge & Tricotine DRESSES

Beaded, Embroidered and Pleated

The kind you like at first sight

We gladly realize that many already know the fact that we are able to give you the

Latest Styles, Good Quality, Reasonable Prices

Make your choice now. Save money at

KROCH BROS. 301 FRONT ST.

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, [illegible] Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 25 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.20; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

LIBERALS MAKING LOVE TO WESTERN FARMERS.

The feeling of many Liberals in the western provinces evidently is that the organized Farmers' vote is necessary to their party's success. After declaring that the Farmers' platform holds the field in the west, the Regina Leader proceeds:

"Unity is essential to victory. To appeal to the progressive elements to stand together, to make the Farmers' platform the basis of a practical policy designed to be put into instant practice as soon as the fight has been won, and to unite their political forces, is no mere attempt to 'beguile' the farmers or anybody else. It is sheer commonsense. Unless that is done the result of the election will be such as will throw the country into a morass of uncertainty, or hand it over to the protectionist party.

"In the political battle which has already begun there will be no room for the neutral. It will be one thing or the other; and if the Liberals, or any other progressive section of the voters, are not prepared to close their ranks alongside those of the Farmers they will merely play into the hands of the protectionists.

"Now is the time to compose whatever differences there may be between the various progressive sections. The Farmers' platform affords a solid basis for the composition. If the Liberals, or any other elements in the electorate, act in such a way as to deserve the description of 'the shilly-shally party' they will deserve also the fate which will inevitably overtake them in an election in which policies will outweigh and submerge personalities."

TOO MUCH MACSWEENEY.

Too much publicity has made MacSweeney a martyr and a would-be suicide. Why he has been permitted to pose as a hero instead of a common prisoner is hard to imagine. Ordinary prisoners can eat or starve just as they desire, but no bulletins are posted, nor are their relatives and pastors summoned to their bedside. Hunger strikes would soon cease if the newspapers were not fed up with all the gruesome details in hourly bulletins. Many may be willing to suffer and die for a cause in the bright glare of publicity, but few would care to starve in seclusion. Cut out the yellow publicity and the impudent clamor of hunger strikers and political mountebanks will cease.

MONSTER FLOATING DOCK MADE IN SCOTLAND.

One of the largest floating docks in the world has been towed from the east coast of Scotland to a shipyard in Holland which is under British control. It was built during the war and when completed was at once commandeered by the Admiralty for use at a naval base. Ships of ten thousand tons can be raised in this dock, which proved extremely useful in the rapid repair of vessels at the base. It is five hundred feet long and seventy-five feet wide inside, and it is built in three sections, each of which can be made a complete box dock. With this arrangement any two sections can lift the third out of the water when painting or repairing has to be carried out. The three sections can be bolted together to make a complete dock. Three powerful ocean tugs were required to take the dock across to Holland, and in spite of bad weather the voyage was safely accomplished. Within three days of its arrival the dock successfully lifted a ship, and since then it has been continuously engaged.

CRISP COMMENT

Retail price of sugar takes so long coming down as to suggest the advisability of sending some one up to cut the rope. Must be anchored to a cloud.

× × ×

On and after Wednesday, Sept. 1 the Montreal Gazette will sell at $12 per year, or 5 cents per single copy. Considering that an ice cream cone sells for 5 cents, the Gazette even at the advanced figure seems more than cheap. One of the best newspapers in Canada, the Gazette can well afford to take its chance with the cone!—Kingston Standard.

× × ×

Mr. J. J. Morrison complains that the Press is not giving him a square deal. After reading several of Mr. Morrison's recent speeches we are inclined to agree with him. If the Press did the right thing by Mr. Morrison they would ignore him entirely and thus save him from making such an egregious ass of himself in public.—Kingston Standard.

× × ×

But why should the Canadian clubs agitate for the exclusion of the Hearst publications in Canada, when there are published regularly in Canada newspapers and periodicals quite as anti-British and poisonous as any of the Hearst newspapers—Lindsay Crawford's Statesman, for instance.—Hamilton Herald.

× × ×

Up to the present there has been no protest from the President of Germany over the imprisonment of McSweeney. This is a notable omission from the list of Great Britain's avowed enemies who are backing the Sinn Feiners. Toronto Telegram.

× × ×

"Why," asks The New York World, "do we expect other countries always to view our political blackguards complacently and always take a philosophical view of their activities? Are foreigners to exercise all the forbearance and we to exercise none?"

× × ×

If, says The Calgary Albertan, the 5,000 husky young men who invaded Alberta with the harvesters' excursions could be put into the mines digging coal when the harvest is over, they would make well out of it and conditions would be much better for the country.

× × ×

The British workers insist on not fighting the Reds. The Poles would also just as soon not fight them, but there's the possibility of the Red sack of Europe to be considered.—Indianapolis News.

× × ×

If the Russians really want to be in a world-war, it's too bad they did not remain in the one they used to be in until it finished.—Turner's Weekly.

× × ×

Bolshevism will make little progress in America while the average man turns first to the sporting page.—Buffalo News.

× × ×

A London editor is to be appointed deputy Minister of Agriculture. With two publishers as candidates for the U. S. presidency it looks as if newspaper men are coming into their own.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

OTHER VIEWS

The Olympic Game.

St. John Telegraph.

If Great Britain should decide to take part in the Olympic games four years hence she may be expected to do better than she has done in the contests in Antwerp this month. Many of her athletes who under ordinary conditions might have made a fine showing this year were put out of the running by the war. And Canada, too, will no doubt do better next time. Her score at Antwerp has been less than that of South Africa. This is somewhat disappointing, although the Canadian winners did fine work.

It Is Puzzling.

Galt Reporter.

The Hon. Mackenzie King advises Canadians to stick to old parties. But with so many parties within a party some difficulty will be experienced by many in finding a political resting place for themselves.

A Good Excuse Gone.

Kingston Whig.

Formerly the people who didn't go to church used to say they went out to worship the God of Nature. Now they are down on their knees removing a punctured tire.

A Strong Inducement.

Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Since it costs more to travel today, perhaps more will want to do it.

THE POET'S CORNER

CANADIAN BORN.

We first saw light in Canada, the land beloved of God;
We are the pulse of Canada, its marrow and its blood;
And we, the men of Canada, can face the world and brag
That we were born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

Few of us have the blood of kings, few are of courtly birth,
But few are vagabonds or rogues of doubtful name and worth;
And all have one credential that entitles us to brag—
That we were born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

We've yet to make our money, we've yet to make our fame,
But we have gold and glory in our clean colonial name;
And every man's a millionaire if he can only brag
That he was born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

No title and no coronet is half so proudly worn,
As that which we inherited as men Canadian born.
We count no man so noble as the one who makes the brag
That he was born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

The Dutch may have their Holland, the Spaniard have his Spain,
The Yankee to the south of us must south of us remain;
For not a man dare lift a hand against the men who brag
That they were born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

—Pauline Johnson.

A LAUGH OR TWO

His Hopes Were Dashed Again.

A family in an Eastern city includes several children, but only one—the eldest—is a boy. The little lad longed for a brother. Recently the house was rather upset. A nurse who appeared on the scene came to the little boy.

"What do you think you've got?" she asked him.

"A baby brother!" fairly gasped the youngster.

"No, dearie, it's a baby sister," replied the nurse.

"Aw!" groaned the youngster, "am I goin' always to have to sift those ashes?"

Working Up to It.

Doris—"Is Mr. Hansen courting you?"

Alice—"Not exactly, yet. But he is approaching it step by step. When he first called he sat all the evening with a postcard album in his lap. Next time he sat with my poodle in his lap. Next time he took my little brother in his lap. So, you see, I hope it will soon be my turn!"

We've Wondered Too.

Willie—Pa.

Pa—Yes.

Willie—Teacher says we're here to help others.

Pa—Of course we are.

Willie—Well, what are the others here for?

Prejudiced.

By and by when small Edgar had finished sobbing, he said "Mamma, you told a story."

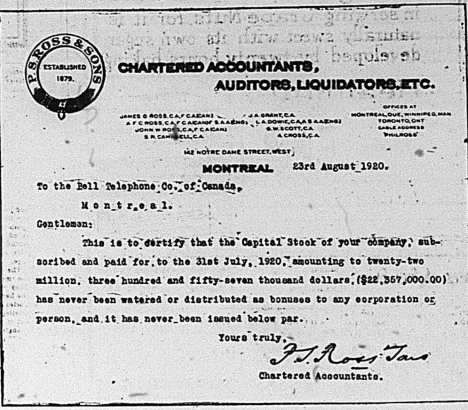
"Why, Edgar, what do you mean?" asked his mother.

"You said you was going to give me a good whipping," exclaimed Edgar, "but I didn't see any good about it."

What We Want.

Sir Ernest Shackleton found three kinds of ice near the south pole. What we really need here is a more durable kind.

No Water!



P.S. ROSS & SONS
ESTABLISHED 1879.
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS,
AUDITORS, LIQUIDATORS, ETC.

JAMES G ROSS, C.A., F.C.A.(CAN.)
A F C ROSS, C.A., F.C.A.(CAN.) F.S.A.A.(ENG.)
JOHN W ROSS, C.A., F.C.A.(CAN.)
S R CAMPBELL, C.A.
J A GRANT, C.A.
L A DOWIE, C.A., A.S.A.A.(ENG.)
G W SCOTT, C.A.
A CROSS, C.A.

OFFICES AT MONTREAL, QUE., WINNIPEG, MAN.
TORONTO, ONT.
CABLE ADDRESS
"PHILROSS"

142 NOTRE DAME STREET, WEST,
MONTREAL 23rd August 1920.

To the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada,
Montreal.

Gentlemen:

This is to certify that the Capital Stock of your company, subscribed and paid for to the 31st July, 1920, amounting to twenty-two million, three hundred and fifty-seven thousand dollars ($22,357,000.00) has never been watered or distributed as bonuses to any corporation or person, and it has never been issued below par.

Yours truly,
P. S. Ross & Sons
Chartered Accountants.

The Bell Telephone Co.
of Canada

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters,
Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work
Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

BATTERIES
Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS
REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD
BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery
Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

The "Cream and Sugar Taste"

When your favorite coffee is fresh and steaming—hot, delicious, savory—that's the time to try Borden's Eagle Brand and to experience the new, delicious and distinctive flavor which it alone will give.

Eagle Brand puts the "cream and sugar taste" into your coffee. And introduces a new economy too—costs less, lasts longer and keeps fresher.

The success of Borden's Eagle Brand in nourishing infants is shown by the great number of children who have been and are being brought up on it.

At all drug and grocery stores.

THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED MONTREAL

EAGLE BRAND
"The Milk that Saves the Sugar"

2-820

Developing and Printing
WE DO OUR OWN WORK
WE DO IT RIGHT
WE DO IT TO PLEASE YOU
TRY US!
OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

Grape-Nuts
is distinct in form and flavor among ready-to-eat cereal foods
No sugar need be added in serving Grape-Nuts, for it is naturally sweet with its own sugar developed by twenty hours' baking
Healthful
Easily digestible
Economical
Canadian Postum Cereal Co. Ltd.
Windsor, Ontario.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

permitted to bring me some more nice things. Ergo, when home life grows dull, I can always stir up the fire by buying something we can't afford. When I want anything I must get it. I shall be scolded, then kissed and treated with awe. If I hadn't bought it I wouldn't have had it, nor the bonus that goes with it. If we had not quarreled we should have missed the rapture of 'making up.'"

This is one of the first lessons that certain sorts of husbands teach to certain sorts of wives.

When the man of the house had departed for his office, and the waiter had carried off the breakfast relics, the three women were left alone in a completely feminine conclave. They faced life like three Norns: the old mother, the new wife, and the deferred wife, each from her coign of disadvantage.

The two married women turned on the maid, with common resentment. They were married and dependent and she had her independence. They were Tories and she a Whig. It was their privilege to rail at things as they were, but it was their religion to frown on changing them. Mrs. Kip senior spoke for Mrs. Kip junior.

"Now, Daphne, tell us what is this new foolishness all about?"

Daphne answered, stoutly: "It's not foolishness. It's the first glimmer of sense I've ever had. I'm sick of the idea of always living on the mercy of some man, taking his charity or his extravagance. I've always been a drag on poor daddy, and I was getting ready to shift my weight over to poor Clay's back. But I don't think a woman ought to be dependent on a man. I think she ought to bear her share of the burden."

"As if she didn't!" Mrs. Kip broke out. "As if the home weren't just as much labor as the office."

Leila attacked her from another direction. "For goodness' sake, Daphne, don't lose your head. Don't you imagine for a moment that a husband will be happier and love his wife better because she earns wages. The harder you work for men, the better they like somebody else. The harder a man works for you the better he likes you. Best of all, he loves the woman that tries to break him."

Daphne's answer was a snappy: "I don't believe it! I'd despise a man that felt that way."

The three women wrangled with wise saws and modern instances, and they were in a perilous state of dissension when the telephone rang. Leila answered it and her outcries of indignation alarmed Mrs. Kip and Daphne till they learned the cause.

Bayard had called up to say that the luncheon party must be postponed. Outrageous business had made another insidious attack on love.

Leila came from the telephone in a state of desperation mitigated by the fact that Bayard had asked her to take his mother and Daphne shopping and buy them and herself something worth while as an atonement for his abandonment.

So they set forth again on another onset against the ramparts of beauty.

To the silent horror of Daphne and her mother, Leila was persuaded to buy a new coat and a new hat and to pay for them by the convenience of opening two new accounts at the suggestion of two soapy salesmen. Bayard's surrender after his first battle had already accomplished the expectable result.

Everything was the very latest thing and yet was marked down. But Daphne priced things now with a new soul. She was thinking in the terms of wages and toil.

She was going to earn fifty thousand a year some day, but she supposed that at first she would earn very little—twenty-five dollars a week, perhaps.

For the first time in her existence she vividly understood how all these fairy tissues were the products of human labor, paid for with wages and to be sold for other wages. Pearls were drops of sweat; perfumes were the sighs of weary men; soft fabrics were the hard spinning of human silkworms.

Bayard was even now racking his brain to accumulate what three women were squandering.

So Daphne meditated as she had never meditated before and might not often meditate again. She refused to buy a thing. Her mother could only explain her mood as a symptom of an illness and advise her to get home to bed. There was something suspicious in the condition of a girl who could look with qualms of conscience or appetite on such a banquet.

At length fatigue and faintness reminded Mrs. Kip, senior, that she had not eaten and the hour was late. She called for her luncheon and they went together to a tearoom. Here Daphne had another attack of eccentricity; a stubborn determination to go home and send back to Dutilh the wicked gown that she had bought of him on credit.

She had left the house without returning it and she was afraid that there would be difficulties if she delayed. Fortunately there had been no alterations in the gown.

TO BE CONTINUED

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Delta	Sept. 13-15
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Kemptville	Sept. 7-8
Lanark	Sept. 8
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Perth	Sept. 8-9
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING.

We have all heard this expression many times, and if we only notice, it usually comes from a person with stomach trouble. There is nothing that makes life less worth living than indigestion, dyspepsia, gassy stomach. Poor digestion is one of the first causes of constipation. Many lifelong stomach sufferers have had "life made worth the living" by the use of Dr. Bell's Favorite Prescription. This preparation is not a patent medicine, but a prescription from an eminent English Stomach Specialist. It is for sale only at Doyle's Drug Store at 75c. bottle.

HAPSBURG FAMILY IN DIRE STRAITS

Geneva, Sept. 9.—Eighty members of the Hapsburg family are in great financial distress, former Empress Zita, of Austria, said to a visitor in Prangins, where she and the former Emperor Karl are living. They are chiefly archdukes, archduchesses and minor branches of the dynasty. Their incomes have stopped and they have also suffered great loss through the rate of exchange.

The exiles have been forced to accept situations in order to live. The archdukes are entering business as junior clerks.

◆

Eight women, all Republicans, voted in the State primaries in Massachusetts.

His First Shave

The first shave marks the threshold of Manhood. Proud days, these!

Many a student entering high school, college, or university within the next week or two, will carry his own razor with him—and that razor should most certainly be a Gillette!

The Gillette is the razor of Today and Tomorrow—it is right in Principle—abolishing Stropping and Honing—and it is right in Practice—as is attested by 20,000,000 users.

Fathers will spare their sons the "casualties" of the early shaves, and bestow the gift of comfortable shaving for life, by advising the investment of $5. in a Gillette Safety Razor now.

NOTICE
School
Opens
This Month

Any good dealer will gladly assist in the choice of a Gillette set.

MADE IN CANADA
TRADE Gillette MARK
KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

Gillette Safety Razor

736

Trees 5,000 Years Old.

A huge cypress tree in a churchyard near Santa Maria del Tule, in Southern Mexico, according to scientists, is the oldest living thing in the world, being between 5,000 and 6,000 years old.

This age is based on the gigantic pole of the tree and the slow growth of the species. These figures mean that when the seed from which the tree sprang fell upon the earth King Menes was holding the first reign in Egypt of which we have any historic knowledge, 3,000 years before the birth of Christ.

Humboldt discovered the tree more than 100 years ago. He nailed to the tree a wooden tablet containing his autograph and, although it is now partly hidden by the subsequent growth, the autograph is still legible.

The last scientific measurements of the tree showed it to have the astonishing girth of 136 feet at four feet from the ground. It shows no signs of decay.

Incendiary Bullets.

The incendiary bullets used during the war, mostly fired from machine guns carried by airplanes, were in effect miniature high-explosive shells. Those supplied to our armies (millions of them were made at the Frankford Arsenal) were of brass, hollowed out to hold a composition of which the principal ingredient was barium nitrate. To set this off, each bullet had a priming charge of magnesium and red lead.

An ordinary rifle bullet, of course, is solid. The incendiary bullet is of wholly different construction, though of the same calibre, being meant to carry flame. Its discharge sets fire to the explosive stuff contained in it.

The Palestine Weekly, a Zionist paper printed in Jerusalem, brings news of a project to develop the water power of the River Jordan. Since Palestine is a land without coal or fuel of any kind, industrial progress depends largely upon utilizing the power resources of the country to generate electricity. It is suggested that the Jordan, thus harnessed, would supply not only power, light and heat, but would also work pumps to irrigate extensive valley lands now barren.

In the rural districts of Germany, not so many years ago, "pay weddings" were quite common. These peculiar entertainments were arranged for the pecuniary benefit of the bridal pair, for the guests each paid an admittance fee. The receipts went toward furnishing a home for the newlyweds.

Measures and Records Vibrations.

An English scientist is the inventor of apparatus that photographically measures and records vibrations of buildings or machinery.

THE J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., LTD.
"Home of Good Music"
FRONT STREET.

Columbia Records and a Columbia Grafonola give you both the "Words and Music" as no other records and instrument can. Columbia Records always give you all the art and magnetism, every syllable and intonation of the great artist by whom they are made. A Columbia Grafonola gives you music exactly as it was made.

A Few Suggestions
A2954—My Isle of Golden Dreams.
2939—Left All Alone Again Blues.
2948—Pretty Kelley.
6157—Tripoli Medley Waltz.
2884—Swanee.
2928—Rose of Washington Square.

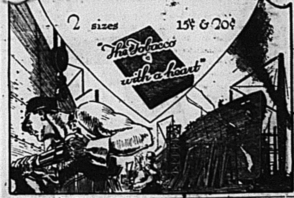
The exquisite quality of Columbia tone is due to the Grafonola's scientifically correct design.

The exclusive system of tone control of the Grafonola enables you to get exact musical shading.

Columbia Grafonola

THE J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., LTD.
"Home of Good Music"
FRONT STREET.

MACDONALD'S
PRINCE OF WALES
CHEWING TOBACCO



2 sizes 15¢ & 20¢
"The Tobacco with a heart"

STROUD'S
Real Bargains for Friday and Saturday

WASHING SODA	3 lbs. 10c.
STAR AMMONIA	5 pkgs. 25c.
GOLD DUST WASHING COMPOUND	3 pkgs. 27c.
BORAX, 10c.	3 pkgs. 25c.
LUX	2 pkgs. 28c.
PEARLINE	2 pkgs. 18c.
GILLETT'S LYE	2 pkgs. 29c.
GIPSY STOVE POLISH, 10c.	2 pkgs. 15c.
CHLORIDE OF LIME, 15c.	2 pkgs. 25c.
SEWING MACHINE OIL, large size, reg. 15c., for	10c.
OLD DUTCH CLEANSER	3 for 29c.

SOAP SPECIALS.

WONDERFUL, POLAR, P. & G. NAPTHA, SUNLIGHT,	5 cakes 50c
PALMOLIVE, INFANT'S DELIGHT, FAIRY	3 cakes 28c.
CASTILE	5 cakes 25c.

SPECIALS IN GROCERIES.

SIFTO SALT	2 for 25c.
TECO, self-rising pancake flour	15c.
CLARK'S PORK AND BEANS	2 cans 28c.
ARGO CORN STARCH	2 pkgs. 28c.
LILY WHITE CORN SYRUP	2 lb. tin 37c.
SEEDED RAISINS	a pkg. 33c.
CURRANTS	a lb. 27c.
RICE	2 lbs. 33c.
PURITY OATS, large pkg.	32c.

CEREAL SPECIALS.

CORN FLAKES	2 for 23c.
SHREDDED WHEAT	2 for 29c.
PUFFED WHEAT	2 for 27c.
POST TOASTIES	2 for 27c.
ROLLED WHEAT	2½ lbs. 25c.
GOLD DUST CORN MEAL	3 lbs. 25c.
CREAM OF WHEAT	2½ lbs. 25c.

SPECIALS.

BROOMS, Stroud's Special	55c.
MATCHES, largest box in city	2 for 35c.
MOP STICK	25c.
SOAP CHIPS	3 lbs. 48c.
GALVANIZED WASH BOILER, large size	$1.90
GALVANIZED GARBAGE CAN	$1.30
LARGE TIN DISH PAN, reg. 75c.	60c.
ENAMEL TEA KETTLE, reg. $1.50	$1.35
BUTTER OR EGG CROCK, 5 gallons	$1.50
CANNING RACK, clearing at	85c.

OUR SUGAR SPECIAL.

With every pound of tea we will sell you 3 pounds of sugar at 20c. lb.
55c., 65c., 75c., 85c. Green or Black Tea.

COCOA, special at 35c. lb.

IF IT IS A GIFT OR WEDDING PRESENT we have it. See our display of Silver, Cut Glass, China or Brass Goods.

BROWN PAPER SUIT SELLS FOR 15 CENTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Paper suits made in Austria have been received here, and are on exhibition at the Department of Commerce. Included in the exhibit are numerous other articles, such as hand-painted tablecloths, handkerchiefs, socks, twine of amazing toughness, napkins and collars, all made entirely or in large part of paper fabrics.

A man's suit contains sixty per cent paper and forty per cent cotton. It sells in Austria for 575 crowns, which at the present rate of exchange, is about $2.65. A workman's suit of brown sells for 32 crowns, or about fifteen cents. The suits are declared to be readily washable.

The department announces that paper products of German manufacture are expected to arrive here shortly.

MEASURE YOUR NECK BEFORE AND AFTER TAKING

Gu-Solvo and you will be surprised at the reduction in the size of your goitre after taking the first bottle of a monk's famous remedy.

GOITRE

Send for free booklet (or ask your druggist), which explains what this medicine has already done for other sufferers and how you can successfully treat goitre in your own home. Gu-Solvo is sold in Belleville, Ont. by

J. V. DOYLE.

The Monk Chemical Co., Limited, 45 Scott St., Toronto, Ont.

◆

THREE SUFFOCATED IN WELL SHAFT

Edmonton, Sept. 8.—Four fatalities caused through gas fumes were reported to the Provincial Police. Thomas Lewis, George Coughlan and Elbert Christie lost their lives at Mellowdale, about eighty miles north of Edmonton, in an effort to recover a portion of fresh meat which had fallen down the shaft of a dry well, forty-five feet deep. Lewis made the first attempt to recover the meat, and when he did not return his nephew went down to investigate. When he also failed to come to the surface, his wife, becoming alarmed, called in a neighbor, Christie, who also went down, and not returning, Coughlan's wife summoned further help. Neighbors lowered a lantern, which was extinguished by the gas fumes when ten feet from the surface.

The fourth fatality from gas fumes occurred at Toffield, about 40 miles from Edmonton, on Monday, when James Easton lost his life while endeavoring to free a drill in the well he was putting down. The drill stuck when forty-five feet from the surface.

◆

ESCAPED U. S. CONVICTS CAPTURED ON RAILWAY

St. Thomas, Sept. 9—Two well dressed young men were arrested on the arrival of a Wabash train from Windsor in St. Thomas for stealing a ride on the bumpers. The men were captured by the railroad detective, and when they appeared before Magistrate Maxwell the court had just received a communication to look out for escaped prisoners from the sheriff of Bay City, as no less than seven had sawed their way out on Sept. 1. One of the men answered to the name of Leo Barnell, alias Leo Norwalk, charged with a serious offence against a young girl. The identification of this prisoner was certain as his name was tattooed on his arm. The other escaped prisoner was Frank Senseback, alias Frank Staly, held on the charge of burglary. The other five prisoners who made their escape at the time had headed for different parts of the United States and are still at large. It is expected the authorities from Bay City will arrive in St. Thomas Wednesday to take back the prisoners.

◆

WILL BURN TOBACCO RATHER THAN SELL

Newbern, N.C., Sept. 9.—With five million pounds of tobacco ready for American and foreign buyers on the opening day of the world's largest loose leaf tobacco markets, several towns in eastern North Carolina closed their tobacco warehouses in protest against the low prices offered by large tobacco corporations.

Prices opened 25 to 40 per cent. lower than last season, the best grades selling from 40 to 60 cents per pound, while the poorer grades brought only eight to fifteen cents.

Farmers and business men in various sections of this State held mass meetings Tuesday night to determine what action further than temporarily closing the market shall be taken. It is pointed out that with a 25 per cent. decrease in tobacco production this year and a big increase in consumption, the market should be as high if not higher than last year.

At Wilson, N.C., the largest single loose leaf tobacco market in the world, prices averaged 20 cents per pound, against 40 cents last year. The farmers declare they will burn their tobacco before they will sell at these prices.

◆

PRINCIPAL BRUCE TAYLOR PREACHING IN NEW YORK

Kingston, Sept. 9.—Principal Bruce Taylor, of Queen's University, has been invited to take the services at the Brick Presbyterian Church on Fifth Avenue, New York City, for the next three months. While Principal Taylor's duties at the University prevent him from accepting the offer, he has consented to take the services at the New York church for the month of September and preached there last Sunday.

UNCLE SAM KNOWS HIS BOYS

System of Finger Print Identification Makes Errors in the Navy Impossible.

"King Solomon," said the navy recruiting officer, "was the original identification expert. Remember how, when two women claimed the same child, he threatened to give each of them half the child to carry away? And how the one who didn't wish the child harmed was adjudged the real mother? Well, the navy recruiting service hasn't King Solomon on its staff, but it handles similar problems every day in the week. Twins recently applied for enlistment. Their mother had never been really sure which was Tom and which Harry, and informed the recruiting officer that she never had known whether she were spanking the right one. Five minutes afterward she was assured that her boys would never get mixed again. How? Finger prints.

"Loss of memory (aphasia) and such rare causes of 'loss of identity' are easily handled in the navy. Uncle Sam knows his boys not only by their middle names, but also by the little lines engraved on the tips of their fingers. It's an absolutely up-to-date safeguard for the boys in the service and their families. For the matter of that, the whole navy system of caring for its men has been perfected to the finest point. Diet, exercise, medical and dental attention, all are arranged in accordance with the latest information on the subjects. It takes good men to man good ships."

WOMEN OF WARSAW HID PETS

Cats in Plenty Produced, However, When Red Cross Supplies Were Periled by Rats.

A picturesque story of the war comes from Warsaw, where all the cats had disappeared. One went about the city, and saw never a cat. So completely had the cats vanished that when the Red Cross warehouse, just outside of Warsaw, became overrun with rats and mice, to the serious damage of food and clothing stored in it, almost every other expedient was thought of and tried before it occurred to anybody that perhaps there might be a cat or two still left somewhere in the community. Then some official of the warehouse mentioned to a Polish workman that if a cat could be found the animal would be a great help in protecting the Red Cross property; and from here, there and everywhere came the wives of the citizens and the citizens themselves, each carefully bearing a treasured cat. As the story goes, there seemed to be as many cats offered for duty in the Red Cross warehouse as there were rats and mice at work in it. The emergency had overcome the unwillingness of the people to admit that they were guarding their pets, and after a guardian had been chosen for the warehouse the cats again disappeared from Warsaw.

End of Coal Troubles.

Campbell Sinton figures out that 4,000,000 horse power from sunlight goes to waste on every square mile.

Which means, writes "Girard" in the Philadelphia Press, that Old Sol sheds upon the surface of Pennsylvania the tidy equivalent of nearly 200,000,000,000 horse power.

Some fine day you will read in your morning paper that Prof. Long Head has found a way to catch that power that now runs loose. Then good-by coal strikes!

Anthracite will be as valueless for fuel as little shells are for money. Sun engines will replace gasoline in your auto, steamships will need no stokers, the railroads no firemen and no coal tenders, the street railways no power house and your cellars will be rid of the dusty furnace.

What high jinks the stock brokers can have when the promoters list on the exchanges 10,000,000,000 of common stock in Sunlight Consolidated.

His First Pay in 15 Years.

A man who spoke with a pronounced Swedish accent appeared at the income tax office at St. Louis and exhibited two new leather cases which contained $9,000 in travelers' checks.

He said that he had just had his only pay day in fifteen years and had heard that an income tax was due. It appears that during the fifteen years he was employed on a ranch in Washington under an agreement with his employer for wages, plus board and clothes. During the fifteen years he "went to town" only twice a year and drew no money, he said, because his employer had bought everything for him.

When last month he decided to go to South America to become a rancher in his own name, his employer accompanied him to town and bought the checks for him. He was told that no tax was due from him.

Immigrants' Literary Test.

Immigrants subject to the literary test at Ellis island now have to read thirty or forty words from the Psalms, in any language they prefer. Immigration inspectors are equipped with cards in all languages, with verses from the Psalms printed on them. All types of script are represented—German, Arabic, Hebrew, Japanese, Russian and so on, except Chinese, for that nationality is not permitted to immigrate. Lest any alien learn parrotlike the verse of the Psalm that a friend in this country had to read, the inspectors have at least forty different verses in each language, one verse to a card.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 3.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 438

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating. Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
288 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford.
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 206.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C. M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 2, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 222. Belleville, Ont.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

For the coming season we are exceptionally well prepared to meet your requirements in the line of Curtains, Drapes, Chintzes, Rugs, Mats, Oilcloths, Linoleums and Window Shades.

CURTAINS—Our showing of curtains comprises Laces, Voiles and Marquisettes and Nets, in excellent patterns and all new designs. By the yard can be had all styles of Nets, Voiles, Marquisettes and Madras. We have an extensive showing of all the new Nets, which will surely interest you if you are needing new curtains.

DRAPES—For Drapes you may have Madras, Repp, Chintz or Velour in colorings of green, rose, brown and blue. We specially recommend our John Brown's Madras, which we are showing in lovely color combinations as well as plain colors.

CHINTZ—We have all the new and popular cloths, suitable for coverings, hangings, etc., in all colorings, and 26 to 50 inches wide, priced from 40c. to $4.00 per yard.

RUGS AND MATS—Axminster, Brussels, Tapestry and Union Rugs and Mats in all sizes, from the small door mat to the large room rug, and all moderately priced. Inspect our showing of these before you buy.

WINDOW SHADES—We can make your window shades in any size and color you may require. In stock we carry both plain and duplex blinds in white, cream and green, with or without insertion.

We make no charge for measuring and estimating on Window Shades and Linoleums.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store

Phone 553

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE

CHAS. N. SULMAN

FUR OPENING

We are ready once again to supply the fur wants of the ladies of Belleville and vicinity.

We have spared no expense in bringing our stock right up to the minute in style and our choice and selection this year is better than ever.

We give everyone a cordial invitation to call and inspect our excellent line of coats which consists of the reliable Hudson Seal as well as coats cut on the latest designs, fashioned out of the popular furs and finished in superior style.

A VISIT FROM YOU WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

DELANEY

Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.

Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY

PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

TAKEN TO TORONTO

An officer from the Toronto police force came here to-day and escorted to the Queen City, Vincent Griffin, who is wanted there on a charge of theft.

ALLEGED RECKLESS DRIVING

A case of reckless driving of an auto on Front Street was reported last night. The police ascertained the number of the car, and the owner resides in the country. He has been summoned to appear before the magistrate to answer for his conduct.

LADY BOWLERS PICNIC

The annual picnic of the members of the Ladies Bowling Club was held on Wednesday with a joyous sail down the bay in the comfy yachts of Mr. J. J. B. Flint and Mr. H. W. Ackerman. The ladies tried their luck fishing for big 'uns down Big Bay way, but no exceptional catches were reported.

CLAIMED HIS RAINCOAT

Mr. R. D. Gibson, residing at Latta, Thurlow Township, reported to the police that on Tuesday he had a rain coat stolen from his auto. It was ascertained that the coat is one of the five a party named Heine stole and which were recovered by the police. The owners of the coats are now all accounted for.

CHARGED WITH VAGRANCY

Last evening the police answered a call to Doyle's Terrace, Pinnacle Street and took in custody Elizabeth Dordan, who was unable to give a good conduct of herself. A charge of vagrancy has been preferred against her and the case will be investigated in a few days. In the meantime she is being looked after at the Children's Shelter.

PUBLISHER DEAD

The death occurred at Brockville of R. Pelton, editor and proprietor of the St. Lawrence News, published at Iroquois. He was born at Innerkip, Oxford County, and started his newspaper career in the office of the Woodstock Sentinel Review. During his life he was connected with weekly newspapers in Western Ontario before settling at Iroquois. He was a prominent temperance worker.

SELL EXCISE STAMPS

Notification has been sent out from Ottawa that arrangements have been made, appointing all branches of chartered banks throughout the country agents of the Inland Revenue Department for the purpose of selling excise stamps issued under the special War Revenue Act, 115, and amendments thereto, receiving a discount of one per cent. for their services. It is considered that this regulation will be to the great convenience of the public.

JOHN B. COLLIE DEAD

John B. Collie, superintendent of the factory of the Office Furniture & Supplies Company, died at Brockville following an operation for appendicitis. He was 57 years of age, and had been a resident of Canada since 1883, when he migrated from Scotland to Toronto, where he lived up to the time of settling in Brockville this year. He was prominent in Masonic circles. His widow, formerly Christina McGill, of Toronto, survives. The body was taken to Toronto for burial.

SUDDEN DEATHS

Edward Francisco, a well-known and respected citizen of Napanee is dead in his sixty-fourth year. Deceased had been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hunter for the last thirty-three years. Death came very suddenly on Tuesday evening to Addison Scott, a well-known resident of Napanee. He was in the post office for the evening mail when he was stricken with heart failure. He leaves one daughter, Edith and two sons, Roy and Blake. His wife predeceased him just a few months ago. He retired from active work on the farm last winter and has been living in Napanee since then. Another sudden death was that of Nathan Fellows, a life long resident of Napanee. He was taken ill on Monday night, and died at nine o'clock on Tuesday morning. He was seventy-one years of age. He leaves besides his sorrowing widow, two sons, Arthur and Harold, and one sister, Mrs. Parrott, Napanee.

ST. AGNES SCHOOL

St. Agnes School will open next week after the summer holidays with a large attendance and splendid prospects for a successful term. The teaching staff is complete and competent and pupils are enrolling from all parts of Canada and the United States. Miss Carroll, Lady Principal, anticipates that this term will be the best in the history of the school.

FAREWELLED POPULAR SCOUT

Belleville Boy Scouts gathered in large numbers in the basement of Bridge Street Church Tuesday evening to bid farewell to their highly esteemed assistant Scout Master Chas. Hayes, who is leaving Belleville. Scout Master Finkle presided and a pleasant evening was spent with speech, song and story and plenty of eats.

Made in a great variety of styles to meet the needs of the man or boy at work or play.

The "oversize" man requires a large easy-fitting shirt. Don't be satisfied with the shirt that fits the average size man. Ask for the "Deacon" shirt. Made of Chambrays, Pongee, Fancy White and other Suitable Shirtings to sell at Popular Prices.

Ask your Dealer for The Deacon SHIRT

DEACON SHIRT COMPANY
BELLEVILLE - CANADA

Obsequies

ALFRED H. RIX.

The funeral of the late Alfred H. Rix, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Rix, took place Wednesday afternoon from their residence, 5 Boswell Street. For the past six weeks deceased had been a sufferer, which he bore with remarkable patience, and was conscious to the last. He leaves a father, mother, and two sisters to mourn his demise. A short service was held at the house and Belleville cemetery, conducted by Mr. Jos. Frappe of Stirling. Beautiful floral offerings covered the casket, as follows:

Cross—Father and mother.

Sheaves—Mr. and Mrs. Colden, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Worrell, Mr. and Mrs. Mills and Frances, Mr. and Mrs. J. Penny, Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Alf. McCoy, Mr. G. Marsh.

Wreaths—Mr. and Mrs. Fisher.

Anchor—Mrs. J. A. Ricketts and family.

Heart—Mrs. E. Carter and Mrs. G. Carter.

Sprays—Kenneth Clarke, Mrs. Corlham, Roy Johnson, Mrs. J. and Isabel Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jouker, Mrs. Brockhurst and family, Doris and Edna Carter, Little Playmates, Arthur Greenwood, Blanche Boulanger, Vincent Freeman, Lorne Andrews.

Flowers—Mrs. J. Grant, Mrs. Cooper.

MRS. W. J. HINCHEY.

Many relatives and friends were yesterday afternoon in attendance at the obsequies of the late Mrs. W. J. Hinchey. At the family residence, 142 Church street, Rev. A. S. Kerr, of St. Andrew's Church, conducted a service and officiated at the interment at Belleville cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. Wm. Blakely, J. W. Walker, Wm. Walker, John Fenn, W. J. Campbell and A. Johnstone. The floral tributes were beautiful, being as follows:

Pillows—Family, Mr. and Mrs. Hick.

Wreaths—Mrs. W. G. Patrick, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Avery, Mich.; G.W.V.A. Band; Letter Carriers' staff; Miss Stella Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnstone.

Star—G.W.V.A.

Cross—Sidney Hector.

Sprays—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Reid, The Misses Abrams, Mrs. Hattie Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Dobbs, Miss Amelia Lazier, Mr. and Mrs. W. Angell, Mr. and Mrs. G. Teal, Mr. and Mrs. L. Walmsley, Bert Hinchey, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Howie, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Blaind, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rathbun; Miss Mabel McCutcheon, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Givens, Mrs. Gussie Sills and Miss Nellie Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Trantor.

W. C. A. NOTES.

The monthly meeting of the W. C. A. was held in the Council Chambers on Tuesday, September 7th at 2.30 p.m. Reports from various committees were received and adopted. Lady on duty at Hospital for September, Miss Yeomans. Lady on duty at Home, Mrs. C. J. French.

Gifts to the Home.

Holloway St. Missionary Society—bread; Mrs. Aylesworth, "Christian Guardian"; Mrs. T. Dobbs, tomatoes; Mrs. Treverton, tomatoes; Mrs. Merry, blankets, vegetable marrow; Mrs. A. Duncan, cucumbers; Mrs. J. A. Goodsell, flowers; Mrs. Thrasher, beets and cucumbers; Mrs. Twiddy, two boxes of berries; Mrs. Rankin, butter beans.

SALADA BUYS HUGE WAREHOUSE

In February next the SALADA Tea COMPANY will occupy the magnificent new building at the corner of St. Lawrence, Le Royer and St. Jean Baptiste Streets, Montreal, the building at present occupied by SALADA at St. Paul and St. Sulpice Streets, and erected by them eleven years ago, having for sometime been inadequate for their business. Other SALADA warehouses are situated at Toronto and Boston.

DROPS DEAD IN OFFICE WHILE WAITING ON MAIL

NAPANEE, Ont., Sept. 8.—Addison Scott, a retired farmer about 70 years of age, dropped dead in the post office yesterday afternoon while waiting for his mail.

A Cooling Drink—Always Ready

FAM-LY-ADE is always ready—when unexpected guests drop in—when the children are thirsty—or as a cooling drink for all the family. No bother or fuss, simple directions on each package. FAM-LY-ADE comes in a tube of concentrated fruit flavor—enough for 32 glasses. 35c. a tube at grocery and drug stores. Made in Canada by Power-Keachie, Limited, Toronto.

FAM-LY-ADE

Wedding Bells

FISH—CARR

A quiet wedding took place in Vancouver, B.C., on August 21st, at the Trinity Methodist parsonage, when Miss Lyda S. Carr and Mr. William H. Fish were united in marriage by Rev. R. C. Freeman. The bride was formerly a nurse of Belleville, Ont. The contracting parties will reside in Vancouver, B.C., taking up their residence at 2266 Twelfth Ave., West.

WARBURTON—SAWDON

Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Toronto, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the 18th of August, when Miss Myrtle Sawdon, daughter of Mr. Robert Sawdon, Toronto, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Jack Warburton, son of Robert Warburton, of Aboyne, Scotland, the Rev. Father McGrath officiating. Miss Kathleen Sawdon, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, being most becomingly attired in peach colored georgette crepe, beaded, white mohair hat trimmed with blue flowers, and carried a bouquet of tea roses. The bride was charmingly gowned in white Japanese chiffon, embroidered, and white georgette hat and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. Mr. Wm. Madden performed the honors for the groom.

Mr. George Coutts officiated at the organ, while Miss F. Gringer sang during the signing of the register. After the wedding ceremony had been performed a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, the house being artistically decorated with sweet peas and sweetheart roses for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Warburton left by train for Montreal, Quebec City, and visited the celebrated shrine at St. Anne de Beaupre, Que. Returning they took up their residence at 179 Albert Street, City.

Mr. Warburton is a most successful and highly thought of business man in Belleville, and many friends join in wishing them every happiness in wedded life.

LIDDLE—FAIRMAN

The marriage was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fairman 97 Cedar Street, Belleville, on Wednesday, September 8th, at high noon, when their eldest daughter, Thelma Gladys, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Everette H. Liddle, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Liddle of Shannonville.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. H. Foster of Holloway St. Methodist Church.

The bride who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of blue charmeuse and georgette beaded in henna, and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

The wedding march was played by Miss Nora Fairman, sister of the bride, who was becomingly attired in a blue cordeon pleated skirt and pink georgette blouse with French blue trimming.

The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial cheque, and to the pianist an onyx bar pin set with pearls.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served, the dining room being prettily decorated with astors and roses, only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties being present.

The bride was the recipient of many costly and beautiful gifts, including several cheques.

The happy couple left for a short honeymoon to Buffalo, N.Y. On their return they will reside in Belleville.

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

Hay Fever

The fame of RAZ-MAH as a relief in Hay Fever is spreading like wildfire.

It can no longer be said that there is no remedy for Hay Fever.

This new discovery has been proven in dozens of cases in this city.

FOR SALE ONLY BY

Dolan, the Druggist

PHONE 138. 252 FRONT ST.

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.

Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.

194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

Arthur McGie

MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

Teas

OF SUPERIOR QUALITY

New Season's

Fragrant and Delicious

Direct Importations from Ceylon

By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS

In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

Select Your New Autumn Coat

AT WOTTEN'S.

Dozens of new models just in for your seeing. Some in the popular full length styles, others in the "chic" three-quarter sport effect. The models that have collars of fur are particularly attractive and the prices very moderate.

$30 to $75

at

WOTTEN'S LIMITED

LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose

your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.

T. Donoahue

Portrait and Commercial Photographer

232 Front Street.

LINDSAY'S

Your Kind of Dance Music Can Surely be Played with a

Columbia Grafonola and Columbia Records

No matter what your preference in dance music—and English lancers, a Scottish sword dance or an Irish jig, a French minuet, a Spanish bolero or an American jazz, a Russian gazotski, a Polish mazurka or a Hawaiian waltz—you will find it in Lindsay's Columbia Record catalogue; moreover you'll find Columbia interpretation correct and the reproduction perfect in every detail.

Free demonstration at any time; drop in. Grafonolas from $37.50 up. Columbia Records $1 to $3. Easy terms of payment arranged if desired.

Al. Jolson singing at the Russell makes records for Columbia exclusively. Lindsay's have all his best numbers.

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED
249 Front Street Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 15 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 5 marks and figures (122) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—SINGER SEWING MACHINE, good condition. Cheap. Apply 137 Charles street south. 1td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

MRS. A. HARMAN HAS A NICE SELECTION of smart Fall and Winter Millinery at reasonable prices. 42½ Bridge St. upstairs. s9-6td

FOR SALE — HEATER, IMMEDIATELY. Apply 210 Station St. s8-2td

FOR SALE—FORD TOURING CAR IN good mechanical condition. Good tires, tire carrier, foot accelerator and speedometer. Demonstration can be arranged. 240 Dundas. s8-4td

FOR SALE—MOTOR LAUNCH, 32 FEET, equipped with 12 h.p. motor, all in good running order. Apply to Geo. Duff, Point Ann Quarries, Ont. s8-6td

FOR SALE—FRAME BARN, 30x50, STEEL roof on one side, and six young horses, one pair well matched, blacks, coming four years. Lot 1, 8th Con., Huntingdon. Sam Tanner, Crookston. Phone, Madoc 2r5. s8-2td

$1,600—BUNGALOW FOR SALE—122 MOIRA Street west, new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Stationary tubs in basement, furnace, plumbing and electric fixtures of best quality. Apply Bank of Montreal. s7-4td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a18-dif

WANTED.

WANTED—PARTY WHO CAN FURNISH room and board for lady teacher. Kindly communicate with The Ontario School for the Deaf. a3-dtf

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. a21-dtf

WANTED—DINING ROOM GIRL. APPLY Mrs. Spear, Albert College. s7-4td

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR—MALE or female. Good wages to competent operator who has speed. Apply in person to The Intelligencer Office. s7-4td

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work, with references. Chas. S. Clapp. s4-dtf

DRIVER WANTED—WE WANT A FIRST class driver for milk route. Steady employment. Citizens' Dairy Co. a3-4td

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

WANTED — AT HOTEL QUINTE, BELL Boy; also girl to wash glass and silverware. s9-4td

WANTED — EXPERIENCED GROCERY clerk. Apply to Box "R." Intelligencer. s9-4td

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—LADY CLERK, EXPERIENCED. Apply B. Shaiffer, 331 Front St. s9-2td

WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEWORK. Apply 289 Albert St. Phone 656. s9-4td

WANTED—SMART GIRL TO TAKE CARE of a child. Apply 260 Front St. s9-4td

GOOD POSITION FOR TWO GIRLS. APPLY Belleville Hardware & Lock Mfg. Co., Ltd., Pinnacle St. s9-4td

WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEWORK. Wages $20. Apply to Mrs. Wm. Burrowes, 243 Bridge St. E. Phone 343. s9-2td

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—A FIRST CLASS WOMAN TO work by hour. Apply Box "B," Intelligencer.

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-d1m

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. a3-dtf

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

LOST

LOST—PARROT, ON SUNDAY, FROM 144 Station Street. Finder kindly phone 606. Reward. s7-4td

LOST—GOLD RIM EYE GLASSES IN CASE, and pair scissors set with pearl handles. Return 235 Bleecker Avenue. Reward. 8-2t

LOST—LADY'S PURSE, CONTAINING A sum of money, between factory of Toronto Hat Co. and Dundas street. Owner can ill afford to lose the money. Finder will please leave at Intelligencer Office and receive reward. s9-2td

LOST—LOCKET, K. OF C., BETWEEN 235 John Street and fair grounds, Monday. Finder kindly leave at 235 John St., or Toronto Hat Co. Reward. s9-2td

LOST—TRAVELLER'S CHEQUES, ON FAIR grounds yesterday. Finder will be rewarded by returning to 245 Front St. C. Spartas. s9-3td

TO LET.

TO LET—THREE UNFURNISHED ROOMS. Electric lights, bath and good well water. No children. Apply 181 Moira St. s9-4td

TO LET—ROOMS—THREE OR FOUR. APPLY 65 Grier St. s9-2td

TO LET—TWO FURNISHED ROOMS, WELL heated and suitable for light housekeeping. Conveniences and gas for cooking. Apply 228 George St. s9-2td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge, and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern—possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. s7-dtf

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS, use of bath and electric light. All conveniences, suitable for light housekeeping. Apply Box S., Intelligencer. a3-dtf

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS—can have light housekeeping if desired. Apply to Mrs. Sinclair, 42½ Bridge St. s2-6td

One British player, Armour, of Scotland, remains in the running for the U. S. golf title.

City and Vicinity

Daly's Good Tea, unequalled for quality, strength and flavour. At McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville

Mr. S. M. Anglin, teacher of singing, has returned to the city and will be at the Conservatory of Music, Front street, on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and evenings. s8-6t

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Emmanuel Church Harvest Festival Services, Sunday and Monday, the 12th and 13th. On Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. the Right Rev. Bishop Willard Brewing will preach thanksgiving sermons. On Monday a public tea will be provided in the school room at 6 p. m. Tickets 40c. "God our Maker doth provide, for our wants to be supplied." s9-3td

Dr. McCullough will be at his office 47 Campbell street, every Saturday for consultation on diseases on the eye, ear, nose and throat.

A SUGGESTION.

When you are down town some afternoon just drop in to John Henley's and have your heels straightened WHILE YOU WAIT. s7-5t

AUCTION SALE.

Farm stock, implements and household goods, late Jos. Wickett, Lot 30, Con. 1, Township of Thurlow. Sept. 9, 1920. S. J. Fisher, auctioneer. s7-2t

GOODYEAR WELTS.

If you are wearing Goodyear Welted Shoes, be sure to have them repaired on genuine Goodyear machinery at John Henley's, Footbridge gangway. s7-6td

MISS CAMPBELL
Hat Shop
Phone 117 218 Front St.

Our show room is now open for a beautiful display of Fall and Winter Millinery from Paris, New York and best Canadian work rooms; also a special line of hats from ten to twelve dollars. s8-6td

BIRTH

RIX—To Mr. and Mrs H. Rix, 5 Boswell street, a daughter, Aug. 30. Mabel Beatrice.

MAGUIRE—At Ottawa on Sunday, August 29th, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. James Maguire, a son, George Glenn.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rix and family wish to thank their many friends for the flowers and kind sympathy during their recent sad bereavement of their only son.

ST. AGNES SCHOOL
DAY PUPILS
Re-opening September 15th

St. Agnes' School will re-open for Day Pupils on Wednesday, September 15, 1920, at 9.30 a.m.

Classes in Music, Art, Physical Culture, in addition to regular school studies. s9-3t

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—of

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chances to make $2,500 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G., Toronto. a28-s11-6td

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE
Wednesday, Aug. 8, 1920.
Minimum 51
Maximum 74

Social And Personal

Mrs. F. W. Dawe and Mr. Walter T. Alford motored down from Toronto and will be staying at Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Alford's, Church street, for a few days.

Miss Irene Lynch of St. Joachim Hospital, Watertown, N.Y., has returned to resume her training, after spending the past two weeks with her parents.

Mr. A. S. White of Toronto, spent yesterday with relatives in Belleville.

Miss Ivy Stephens is visiting friends in Oshawa and Toronto.

Mrs. C. R. Hickin, Bleecker Ave., is visiting relatives at Schenectaby, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hickin arrived here on Sunday from England, and are visiting with their parents, Bleecker Avenue.

Miss A. B. Schofield left today for Belleville to enter upon her duties as dietitian at the Ontario School for the Deaf.—Brockville Recorder.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Brown and children have returned to their home in Schrieber, Ont.; after three months' visit with Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harker, West Bridge Street.

Mr. W. D. Cummings and Mrs. H. Foster and Miss K. Burns spent the holiday in Toronto.

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press, Limited.

Carvell defends Railway Board lifting of rates.

Hundreds are dead and thousands injured in the Italian quake.

Polish cavalry detachments succeeded in stopping advance of the Lithuanians.

No hunger strikers to be released is the final decision.

A new plan to check attacks on Government mails in Ireland is for the police to go by the air route.

At Milan, Italy, the centre of the upheaval caused by the metal workers' strike, the serious feature is that many of the important works occupied by the men contain guns, armored cars and tanks.

The world's harvest prospects show a total yield just equal to requirements.

The Poles have declined to accede to Gen. Wrangel's request for military aid.

Very Rev. Dean Moyna passed away at Toronto as the result of heart disease.

The United Farmers contemplate an appeal against the railway rate increases.

A wolf hunt is on at the gates of St. John, N.B.

Montreal will revert to standard time on Sunday, Oct. 24.

The flax crop in Canada this year is reported exceptionally large.

R. W. Craig, K.C., Winnipeg, was elected President of the Association of Canadian Clubs.

John Kerr, aged 22, was instantly kill by a C.P.R. express at Milverton.

The Union of Quebec Municipalities will ask the Government to build a second bridge across the St. Lawrence.

The longshoremen's strike in Jamaica has been amicably settled.

Sir Alfred Wheat Board estimates the country's crop at 167,000,000 bushels.

Former Premier Clemenceau of France will leave Paris on the 20th to hunt tigers in the Himalayas.

George S. Lyon, veteran golfer, made the best gross score at Ottawa.

The New York Giants are only one game behind Cincinnati, National League leaders.

ALBERT COLLEGE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Studios, 249½ Front St. Piano, Singing, Theory of Music, Violin and Expression. Teaching resumed Tuesday, Sept. 7th. Experienced teachers. examinations in a record of the past Highest results obtained in all music twenty-five years. Elementary to graduation. Children receive special attention. V. P. Hunt, A.A.G.O., Musical Director. Phone 880. a31,s2,4,7,9,11

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

SUFFERED DAY AND NIGHT

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Relieved By "Fruit-a-tives"

LITTLE BRAS D'OR, C. B.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches and did not sleep well at night. Finally, a friend told me to try "Fruit-a-tives". In a week, the Constipation was corrected and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

TIME WAS

when a bracelet watch was a rather useless luxury. Today it is both a necessity and an ornament, desired by every woman. It is the most acceptable gift imaginable.

The bracelet watch purchased at Blackburn's is a reliable, accurate time-piece and an exquisite ornament. We have a large display from which to choose, including products of the standard watchmakers — beautifully designed and attractively priced.

$20.00 to $65.00

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and
Optician

PUMPKIN PIES

MADE FROM THE FRESH RIPE PUMPKINS SOME TODAY.

Have one for your dinner. They are delicious. 35c. each.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Some Better

Better command the SCANTLEBURY SERVICE if you desire the best.
We offer it in—
House Decorating
Church Decorating
Auto Painting
Sign Writing
Picture Framing
The Best also in Wall Papers
Paints, Oils, Varnish and all Paint Supplies.

Scantlebury's
PAINT AND PAPER STORE.
Near Victoria Ave.

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

RITCHIE'S

New Fall Goods
ARRIVING DAILY

New Serge Dresses

We have just received some smart styles in Serge Dresses, ranging in price from

$30.00 to $50.00

Braid and embroidery are used as trimming and the styles are up to the minute, and such models shown are exclusive only to the Ritchie Store, Belleville. If you are planning on a new Dress this Autumn Season see ours first at the above mentioned prices.

We have also received some dainty Georgette Dresses in Navy and Black, neatly trimmed with beads and fashioned with smock and overskirt effect, which styles reflect the very latest tendencies, direct from New York. See these first at $35.00, $37.50 and $39.50. Other Silk Dresses, $25.00 to $100.00.

Our Mantle Depart'mt IS Brim Full of Style and Quality
For the Autumn Season
New Suits New Coats
New Skirts
New Serge Dresses New Kimonos
New Corsets

Children's Cloth Dresses

Regular $4.50 to $5.75—to clear at $3.75

made in Serge, Corduroy and Plaid, ages 6 to 14 years. Exceptionally big value $3.75

The Millinery Parlors

The Millinery Parlors will present the most "chic" collection of Autumn Millinery ever gathered together, featuring New York styles exclusively.

Our Millinery buyer has spared no pains in gathering together a stunning array of Fashion's newest ideas, direct from the most authoritative style centres, particularly New York. Mere words cannot do justice in describing the captivating charm of the modes that Fashion has decreed to be worn this season, and we shall make no attempt at doing so. But we want every lady to accept this as a personal invitation to inspect these newest creations of the millinery art.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Moderate winds, mostly fair and warm toda yand on Saturday.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 280.

Bolshevik Military Situation Fast Becoming Desperate

CONCENTRATION OF RUSSIAN RED FORCES IN EFFORT TO RECAPTURE KOKOVA, IMPORTANT TOWN ON DNIEPER RIVER—FALL RAINS WILL IMPEDE MILITARY OPERATIONS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 10.—Russian Bolshevik forces are being concentrated to make a desperate effort to recapture Kokova, an important town on the south side of the Dnieper River, forty-five miles above Kherson, before fall rains deepen the mud and make the campaign impossible.

British Indian troops which have formed the garrison at Ismid, but who have been relieved by Greek forces, are leaving for Mesopotamia, where Arab tribesmen are engaged in scattered outbreaks against the British.

Sunshine Fund Continues to Grow

Belleville Citizens Have Warm Hearts And Open Purses—Community Spirit of Help One Another Manifested.

Subscriptions are still coming in for The Intelligencer fund in aid of a family overtaken by misfortune through no fault of their own. Their immediate wants have been provided for through the generosity of warm-hearted citizens, but facing the long winter with its many requirements in fuel, food, clothing, etc., considerable more money can be used to advantage.

When the father's ill health incapacitated him from work, the mother took up the burden of supporting the household, which includes three little children, the oldest not five years of age. The father's condition grew steadily worse and the mother was obliged to give up her position in order to nurse him and care for the children. This cut off all revenue and the condition of the family would indeed have been desperate were it not for the generosity of citizens who gladly came to the rescue with money and food when apprized of the facts.

Subscriptions, no matter how small, are welcomed to this sunshine fund, which confers a rich blessing on the giver as well as bringing joy and gladness to the recipients in their hour of need.

Contributions.

T. W. L.	$ .50
Geo. Thompson	1.00
J. H. Hanna	1.00
T. Donohue	1.00
McLaughlin Co. and Staff ..	7.00
Ritchie Co. and Staff	15.00
Dr. Alex. Ray	2.00
Mrs. A. I. Bird	5.00
A Friend	5.00
A Friend	17.00
Mrs. Bert Campbell—Quart of milk per day.
Mr. Shniffer	2.00
A Friend	1.00
E. T. Austin	1.00
Chief Brown	1.00
Robert Orr	1.00
C. F. Cochrane	1.00
A Friend	2.00
A Friend	.50
M. Hatt	2.00
Sympathizer	1.00
Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn	5.00
Hiram Ibey	1.00
S. Rickett	1.00
Warren's Bakery—Bread daily.
H. W. Ackerman	10.00
Vickers' Bakery—Bread.
G. B. Jones	5.00
J. H. Fry	2.00
Miss Emma Bowen	1.00
Well Wisher	2.00
J. P. Huck	1.00
Mrs. J. C. Westley	1.00
Mrs. Wm. Mullett	2.00
Mrs. E. Dobbs	1.00
Mrs. C. J. Bowell—Groceries.
Mrs. P. E. Masters—Provisions and nursing care.
A friend	1.00
C. P. M.	2.00
John Harris	1.00
Mrs. H. Carre	1.00
Every Little Helps	1.00
A Friend	2.00
Tommy Patrick	1.00
E. F.	5.00

* * *

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—France needs many products such as building materials, foodstuffs, machinery and other goods which Canada has to sell, but the exchange rate and unfavorable customs regulations are keeping down the volume of trade which would otherwise spring up, in the opinion of Hon. Dr. Phillippe Roy, Canadian High Commissioner to France, who was in conference with Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce recently.

factories and mills.

Increase Reward For John Doughty

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—The reward offered by the Ambrose J. Small estate for information leading to the arrest of John Doughty, wanted in connection with Mr. Small's mysterious disappearance on December 2nd last, has been increased to $15,000, while the time limit in which the reward may be claimed has been extended for one year, or until September 1st, 1921. The original offer was of $5,000, while the time limit had been extended from September 1st, 1920, to Feb. 1st, 1921. However, it was thought desirable that a full year should be given in which to press the search for Doughty, who was formerly Mr. Small's private secretary. The time limits for the other rewards in connection with the case, that of $50,000 for information as to Mr. Small's whereabouts, if alive, and $15,000 for proof of his death, have been similarly extended until September 1st, 1921.

This action was officially authorized at Osgoode Hall yesterday by Mr. J. A. C. Cameron, official referee, as a result of representations made by Mrs. Ambrose J. Small, Dr. G. B. Connolly, manager of the Capital Trust Company, Committee of the Estate, Mr. Frank J. Hughes, Solicitor for the Committee, and Detective Austin R. Mitchell.

Complete circulars giving full descriptions of the missing men and particulars of the rewards are now being prepared in English, French, Italian, and Spanish, to be sent throughout the world. Mr. Small, who was a millionaire theatre owner, disappeared on December 2nd, while Mr. Doughty, his secretary, dropped out of sight with equal mysteriousness on December 29th, 1919. Warrants have been issued for the latter's arrest on charges of conspiracy to kidnap his former employer and of stealing $185,000 of Victory Bonds belonging to Mr. Small.

* * *

SPECIAL SESSION MASONIC GRAND LODGE

Toronto, Sept. 10.—A special meeting of the Grand Lodge of Canada, A. F. & A. M., will be held in the Masonic Temple on September 23rd, for the purpose of receiving members belonging to foreign Grand Lodges visiting here with the Chambers of Commerce. Among those present will be representatives of the Grand Lodges of England, Ireland, Scotland, Australia and probably the Maritime Provinces. Chief among the guests to be received are Lord Desborough, president of the Imperial Council of Commerce, Past Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Lodge of England, and I. Stanley Machin, J.P., Past Grand Treasurer. Lord Desborough, besides having a noteworthy parliamentary career, has been an athlete of no mean celebrity. He played in the Harrow eleven, rowed for Oxford against Cambridge, stroked an eight which rowed across the English Channel, and twice swam the Niagara River.

A special communication of Ionic Lodge will be held on September 28th when Lord Cave, Past Grand Senior Warden, Grand Lodge of England, will be the guest of honor. Masonic members of the bench and bar have been specially invited for the occasion.

* * *

100,000 COAL MINERS ARE OUT ON STRIKE

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 10.—Reports union headquarters early Wednesday indicated that more than 10,000 men, half that number employed in the bituminous coal mines in this section, had obeyed the strike call.

Union leaders predicted this figure would be increased with the receipt of news from outlying districts. Both sides admitted the situation was grave, and predicted a shut-down of

MacSweeney Case in Briefest Form

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The following written statement of the attitude of the British Government in the case of Lord Mayor MacSwiney was handed out from the executive offices of the Premier in Downing Street Wednesday night:

"The Lord Mayor of Cork was convicted by a court-martial—and he admitted specific charges—acts tantamount to treason. He was sentenced—not to death—but to two years' imprisonment without hard labor. He has refused food and is apparently determined to commit suicide by self-starvation. If he were released two consequences would in all probability follow.

"1.—Fresh attempts would be made, as happened on previous occasions when hunger strikers were released, to continue with added activity the long series of murders of policemen.

"2.—It would open, to any person imprisoned on a similar offence, the use of the case of the Lord Mayor as a precedent with a good hope of securing release and the opportunity to repeat the acts which led to the incarceration. Unless the aim of the Lord Mayor and those associated with him is to secure the secession of Ireland as a completely independent sovereign state from the Commonwealth of British Nations—in which case no compromise between them and the British Government is possible—the sufferings of the Lord Mayor, together with the whole campaign conducted by him and his associates, of violent usurpation of the machinery of Government in Ireland are entirely unnecessary.

"For not only has the Government presented to Parliament a measure conferring on Ireland a degree of self-determination in advance of any scheme proposed or accepted by the elected representatives of Ireland in the past, but the Premier, speaking in the name of the Government, declared explicitly his willingness to discuss with any body which can claim to represent Irish opinion, any proposals they put forward, so long as these proposals include separate treatment for Ulster and do not involve secession of Ireland from the United Kingdom or risk the military security of these islands in time of war."

The Cork Strikers.

The 11 hunger-strikers in Cork Jail, who are undergoing the 29th day of their self-imposed fast, are all in a serious condition. Sean Hennessy, the 19-year-old youth, of Ballingarry, Limerick, collapsed this afternoon, and remained unconscious for a time. His parents and the prison chaplain are at his side tonight.

The Deputy Lord Mayor, who made the announcement after his daily visit to the hunger strikers, said that the condition of several of the others was very bad.

In response to an urgent appeal from ex-Sheriff Blarney, of the County of Cork, counselling the immediate release of the eleven untried hunger-strikers in Cork Jail, Premier Lloyd George sent a message declaring that the hunger-strikers had all been arrested "either in the act of murderous attacks on police or soldiers, or on clear evidence implicating them in such attacks, and they are engaged in a combined effort to prevent their trial and have reduced themselves to a physical condition under which a trial is legally impossible.

"The Government," continues the Premier, "cannot allow men charged with such grave offences to escape trial by their own act. If this were permitted there would be an end to any possibility of enforcement of law and the administration of justice."

* * *

WILL TAKE THE KICK OUT OF THE EXTRACTS

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Members of the American Chemical Society which is holding its annual meeting here, heard that the "kick" is being taken from lemon and vanilla extracts. This is sad news for the parched rumhound, who no longer will be able to evade the 18th amendment by mixing a lemon extract cocktail and acquiring a perfumed jag.

Dr. M. De Grote of the University of Pittsburg told of the new "kickless' extract i na talk before the society today. "By substituting glycerine for alcohol we not only get a better flavoring extract, but a cheaper one," he said. "The high percentage of alcohol in those extracts made them a convenient if dangerous substitute for whiskey. While some will deplore this discovery, and possibly not approve of the glycerine content, they will have to yield to the advance of chemical science."

No Profiteering Will be Permitted

Make New Rates Profiteering Excuse and Carvell Promises Rapid Action.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—Hon. F. B. Carvell, Chief Commissioner Board of Railway Commissioners, with respect to a statement appearing in a local morning paper that certain coal dealers had stated that they would have to raise the price of coal 50 cents a ton on Monday, when the new freight rates became effective, stated that the greatest possible increase which could take place on coal coming into Ottawa as a result of the railway rate decision would be 15 cents per ton, and therefore, if any dealer increases his price more than that amount it was profiteering pure and simple.

Mr. Carvell stated that in consideration of the tremendous cost of coal at the present time, the board had granted the railways an increase in freight on this commodity less than one-half of what it should have been, to be fair to the railway companies, and if any person could bring him a clear case of any merchant adding to the price of coal even one cent more than the actual increase in freight rates, speaking for himself, he was willing to discipline him, even to the extent of refusing him any more coal for the remainder of the season, which he claims the board has power to do under the recent legislation.

Mr. Carvell was very emphatic that there would be no profiteering with the freight rates as an excuse, anyway.

Young Man Killed by Express

His Body Found Cut in Two Just After Train Had Pulled Out.

Milverton, Sept. 9.—John Kerr, 22, son of Mrs. William Kerr, was instantly killed here by a Canadian Pacific Railway express. The young man had been standing on the station platform a short time prior to the arrival of the train, and when it pulled out his body was discovered cut in two.

Kerr walked to the second last coach of the train and mounted the platform. As he was passing through Robert Thorndyke, a friend, asked him if he were going away.

"Yes, I am," was the answer, as he descended on the opposite side of the train and walked toward the engine. Coroner Dr. Rankin of Stratford has been summoned and a preliminary inquest will be opened shortly.

The deceased is survived by his mother and two sisters, Mrs. George Coxon and Miss Bella Kerr. He was a painter and paperhanger by trade.

* * *

DRURY'S REPLY TO THE ALLIANCE

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Drury will not call a special session of the Ontario Legislature, as requested by Rev. Ben Spence, the Premier announced on Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Spence, on behalf of the Dominion Alliance appealed to the Premier several days ago to call a special session for the purpose of considering amendments to the Sandy Bill whereby the importation of liquor into this province might be stopped immediately.

"So far as I can see there is no reason whatever for calling a special session of the Legislature," commented the Premier. "The only representations made to me," he continued, "were from Rev. Mr. Spence on behalf of the Alliance. This proposal takes us back to the old controversy as to whether the terms of the Sandy Bill can be made effective immediately. In our opinion this cannot be done without stretching the prerogatives of the provincial government."

* * *

MUST APOLOGIZE OR STAND LIBEL SUIT

Montreal Sept. 10.—The Association of Dancing Masters of Montreal, by resolution passed at a meeting held here, will enter action for $10,000 damages for libel against Rev. Dr. Stratton, of New York, for his anti-dancing sermon at Calvary Baptist Church last Sunday in New York, unless the "said Dr. Stratton publishes an apology for his undignified and undeserved sermon in the two leading papers of Montreal within two weeks."

The secretary of the association was instructed to forward a copy of the resolution to Rev. Dr. Stratton, asking for an immediate reply.

Prof. Frank Norman, who presided at the meeting, said afterwards that the action was taken on the advice of the association's counsel.

French Garrison Short of Food

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 10.—Tarsus, about twenty miles southwest of Adana, is being besieged by Turks. The French garrison and twenty-five thousand inhabitants are short of food according to a letter received here from Prof. Paul Nilson. A French column which attempted to relieve the garrison met reverse in Saro Ibrahim village, while marching from Mercina.

Motion Picture Actress is Dead

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Olive Thomas, famous American motion picture actress, and wife of Jack Pickford, died in the hospital at Nieully this morning. She was taken to the institution several days ago suffering from mercurial poisoning, having swallowed bichloride of mercury, it is said, by mistake.

Break Strike in Worst Hotbed

Anthracite Miners Back to Work in Numbers in District No. 1.

KILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 9.—The return of a large number of anthracite miners to work in District No. 1 today broke the backbone of the strike in its strongest territory. District No. 1 is the hotbed of the insurgent movement, but on a church holiday, which many foreign-speaking miners observe, all collieries in the territory between Plains and Mocanaqua and Shickshinny were working, with only a single exception. It is believed that tomorrow will see general resumption of work in this territory.

Work Train Mobbed.

The first serious disturbance of the "vacation" occurred in the Pittston section early today, when rioting started at Cork Lane. Twenty men, Pennsylvania Coal Co. strikers, had accepted work on the Delaware & Hudson Railroad and were waiting for a work train. A mob of 100 strikers assaulted them with clubs and stones.

Plane Drops Medical Supplies For Besieged

Disturbed Conditions in Mesopotamia Reported by War Office.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A War Office communication shows that disturbed conditions continue in Mesopotamia. The insurgents are attacking at various points, but order has been restored in Kifri area by the energetic action of a small column.

An airplane reconnaissance over the garrison besieged at St. Mawas was heavily fired on, but succeeded in dropping medical supplies and rations for two other isolated places.

A concentration of 5,000 of the enemy is reported in this neighborhood. Aviators report all quiet at Kut-el-Amara.

* * *

LABOR SHORTAGE IN AGRICULTURAL STATES

Shortage of labor in the agricultural states is resulting in a reduction of acreage which threatens America's food supply according to the findings of Perley F. Walker, dean of the Kansas University engineering school, made public at national headquarters of the American Society of National Engineers. The Dean is head of a research committee of the Mid-Continent Section of that Society.

Dean Walker found population at a standstill of declining in agricultural sections, pointing out that 16 of the 105 counties in Kansas prevented that state from decreasing in population in a decade, the increases all being in industrial sections. "The same thing holds good in Iowa and doubtless in other states for the same period," the Dean reported.

Many farmers cannot pay their 1919 debts because the railroads are unable to move their wheat harvest, and they are paring down production, he said.

As a remedy, Dean Walker suggested a study by engineers of the economics of transportation and production with a view to systematizing a national fitting of enterprises to localities. This, he thought, would work out better distribution of population where needed and would prevent continued inability of the transportation systems to meet the demands upon them.

Canadian Officers For Canadian War Ships

NUCLEUS OF CANADIAN NAVY TO ARRIVE IN OCTOBER WILL BE MANNED CHIEFLY BY CANADIANS—CRUISER AURORA AND DESTROYERS PATRIOT AND PATRICIAN.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

HALIFAX, Sept. 10.—The cruiser Aurora and destroyers Patriot and Patrician, which will arrive at Halifax in October, will be manned chiefly by Canadians, according to information given out this morning at the Naval Department. The Patriot will be commanded by Lieut. C. T. Beard, grandson of the late Chief Justice Taschereau of the Supreme Court, and the Patrician will have at the head Lieut. R. C. Jones, a young British Columbian who enlisted in the Canadian naval forces previous to the war. Capt. S. C. W. Adams, of the Royal Navy, commands the Aurora. All the officers on the destroyers are Canadians and a number on the cruiser. Following the arrival of the little fleet they will be taken for review at Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal.

Ponzied Finance Punctured by Facts

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—Charles Ponzi is hopelessly bankrupt, William R. Sears, Chairman of the Federal Receivers for the get-rick-quick promoter, announced at a hearing in the United States District Court.

The court appoinoed James M. Olmstead, Referee in Bankruptcy, to co-ordinate all bankruptcy proceedings now pending against Ponzi, and to determine, among other things, whether he had any partners in the Securities Exchange Company, in which from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 of investments are tied up.

Counsel for Ponzi was assured by the court that the case would go to jury trial after the Referee had finished his inquiry.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Poles Successful on N. E. Front.

Warsaw, Sept. 10.—Polish armies on the northeastern front delivered a series of successful attacks upon the Russians yesterday and took thirty-three hundred prisoners, four guns and two armored trains.

REVENUE CLIMBING

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Receipts from Inland Revenue, as a result of luxury and other special taxes imposed, have taken a big leap forward. For five months ending August, the receipts were nearly twenty one million dollars, while during the corresponding month last year they were seven and three quarter millions. For the month of August alone receipts were four times larger than in August 1919.

* * *

PRINCE OF WALES AMONG THE RANCHERS

The Prince of Wales had the time of his life among the hard-riding, straight-shooting, outspoken ranchers of New South Wales, and, by his adaptability and good fellowship, made himself extremely popular. He won their respect when he entered five races against these premier horsemen and won all the events.

The ranchers are having a quiet smile over an amusing but somewhat embarrassing incident in which the Prince was involved. With his usual "hail-fellow-well-met" bearing, the Prince on one occasion asked everyone in the house to have a drink with him.

After the drinks had been served the heir to the richest throne in the world, discovered he had no money. He called on Admiral Halsey, who is touring with him, for funds, but the only reply was: "I haven't a shilling on me, sir."

Finally another member of the royal party came to the rescue and the drinks were handed around.

MEIGHEN TO ADDRESS QUEBEC MEETINGS

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—Hon. Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister, left this morning for Kingston. He leaves for Ottawa again on the evening train.

Accompanied by Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, Mr. Meighen is to address a meeting at Sherbrooke, Que., about Sept. 21. The meeting will probably be the first of a series to be held in the Eastern Townships. It is likely that meetings will be held at Knowlton and Granby.

Mr. Meighen is also planning a speaking trip, subsequently, in the West.

More Light For Dark Streets

At a meeting of the various Civic Committees held last evening the following recommendations were adopted and passed on to a special meeting of the City Council to be held next Monday night:

Recommended that the chairman of gas obtain quotations on prices for a suitable roofing for the gas works.

Recommended that a light be placed on the corner of Olive and East Moira Streets and the Hydro Electric Power Commission be instructed to proceed with the installation of such light at once.

Recommended that the City Treasurer be instructed to advance to the Standard Paving Company the sum of $17,000 on account.

Recommended that the tender of Manley and Son for the construction of a storm sewer on Burnham Street of $14,265 be accepted and that an inspector be chosen by the Chairman of Public Works, the Chairman of Fire, Chairman of Parks, and City Engineer.

Recommended that the Chairman of Gas be instructed to purchase a suitable boiler for use of the gas department from the Goldie McCollough Co. of Galt, at $2,328 F. O. B. Belleville.

Recommended that three electric lights similar to those being installed on Campbell Street, be installed on Pinnacle Street, between Bridge and Campbell Streets.

Recommended that the engineer be instructed to take all necessary steps to proceed with the construction of sanitary sewers on Everett and East Moira Streets.

Canon Scott on Quebec Courts

QUEBEC, Sept. 10.—Decisions of Judges in the Quebec Inferior Court annulling marriages of Catholics and non-Catholics performed by Protestant ministers was becoming nothing less than a scandal and an easy way of obtaining a divorce, stated Rev. Canon Scott in the course of a statement he made today, relative to the annulment by Justice Bruneau of the marriage of John Bernard Dahlemann and Gertrude Barbeau, performed by him in September, 1914. Canon Scott says the Supreme Court of Canada has decided that such marriages are legal and he hoped that in the public interest steps would be taken to put an end to the decisions of Judges of the Inferior Court, which enabled people by mutual consent to secure nullification of the sacred marriage obligations and bring unhappiness and the sting of illegitimacy upon innocent children.

* * *

POLICEMAN MURDERED

Ridgefield Park, N.J., Sept. 10—Five men were arrested here in connection with the murder of Policeman John Ritter, jr., who was shot and killed shortly after midnight. The men arrested gave their names as George Duncan and William Gleason, New York city, and Kent Thompson, Silas Oberson and Joseph Tracy, Ridgefield Park.

According to the police, Gleason confessed to complicity in the murder and named Oberson as having fired the fatal shot.

The shooting was said by the police to have resulted from a dispute between the murdered officer and the men, when the policeman ordered them to break up a boisterous argument. After the shooting the men fled to nearby swamps, and a posse sent in pursuit found them later in the woods.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE" BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.
A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!
BILL FOR GLASSES

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
182 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

TO VISIT IRELAND.

Rev. P. J. Keaney, of the Archbishop's Palace, Kingston, will leave next Sunday for a trip to Ireland. It is some time since Father Keaney was among his relatives in Ireland and his many friends hope he will enjoy his holiday.

VALUABLE FIND.

License Inspector Edward P. Foster of Cornwall and his men made a couple of liquor hauls on Monday, one on the East Front road, and the other in a cornfield in East Cornwall. The first was made in the early hours of the morning, when a Hudson car and 25 cases of whiskey, in charge of Demian Papineau, of Montreal, coming west, were secured. Later in the morning 29 cases were found in a cornfield in East Cornwall, and Alex. Tessier was charged with its ownership. He was fined $500 and costs or three months in jail.

NO ESCAPE.

Justice Orde has dismissed the motion on behalf of George A. Johnson under the O.T.A. The summons was served on Johnson's wife, and he was not present at the trial. His lawyer was present, however, and that proved his undoing, as Justice Orde holds that the lawyer had sufficient instructions to act for him, and the prisoner was not prejudiced by not being present. He will complete his six months' term.

TESTING NEW APPLIANCE

Locomotive No. 241, equipped with the Lewis draft appliance, which has been undergoing a test in freight service between Brockville and Montreal on the G.T.R., is now being tested in passenger service between the same points, being attached to trains Nos. 25 and 26.

SCHOLARSHIP

Dr. S. A. Peake, of St. Louis, Mo., donates a medal annually to the pupils of Campbellford High School standing highest in the Middle School examinations. The teaching staff gives a medal to the pupil standing highest in the Upper School examinations. In addition to these incentives to good work, the Campbellford Board of Education gives a scholarship of $15 and one of $10 to the first and second pupils of the First Year, and one of $15 and one of $10 to the first and second pupils in the Lower School examinations. The Campbellford Chapter of the I. O. D. E. give three scholarships on the Middle School examinations and also on the Upper School examinations to pupils taking second, third and fourth standing.

TWO FINE TRAINS

Early Thursday morning two special trains carrying members of the Imperial Press Conference on their return to Montreal after a tour of Canada, passed east over the G. T. R. to Prescott, where a transfer was made to the Canada Steamship Lines rapids boat. The two special trains on which the party is travelling are known as No. 1 C. P. R. and No. 2 Canadian National respectively. They are both very fine types in railway construction and equipment. The C. P. R. special is made up of baggage car, tourist car, standard diner, standard sleeping cars and three observation compartment cars. The C. N. R. train is a solid steel train, consisting of two baggage cars, tourist car, moderdn standard diner, the latest type of steel sleepers, and one observation compartment car, of a type just being assigned to all C. N. R. through trains.

DETOUR AROUND WRECK

Because of the good work of track gangs under the direction of F. Giffin, supervisor of track on the sixth district, Grand Trunk Railway, only one passenger train was delayed through the freight wreck which occurred one mile east of Lansdowne Tuesday morning. This was the Toronto local train which transferred its passengers to another train made up at Kingston. So soon as the track gangs reached the scene they commenced the building of a track making a detour about the wreck and this was opened for traffic in time to permit the afternoon through trains to reach their destinations on time. The Montreal, Brockville and Belleville wrecking crews worked at the scene of the accident all night, the men being busy trans-shipping wheat from the wrecked cars which were scattered about both tracks in the greatest confusion. The car responsible for the accident was the third from the locomotive, a broken wheel causing the 'spill" and seventeen other cars followed it. The train was travelling at about 25 miles an hour at the time and 25 rail lengths of track were torn up by the derailed cars.

THE SPIRIT OF AVIATION

Belleville From Above, As Seen From an Airplane by Col. W. N. Ponton.

You ask me to write my impressions of my aerial experience of yesterday in Mr. Lindsay's aircraft under the skilful pilotage of Lieut. Dobbyn. I find colloquial words inadequate—a new and sublimer vocabulary—the rarefied essence of language—would be required to do the theme justice—to reproduce the sensation of power and beauty and vitality—to visualize the spiritual atmosphere. Beauty—with its chief factors of color and contour assumes a new meaning—or rather has a new attribute superadded. From aloft one realizes how picturesque and productive Belleville and her environs are—not merely like all true beauty, "a joy forever," but a satisfying sense of a perfect creation in perspective and proportion—waterscape, landscape, human habitation and activity. We realize with the vision superspective how "fair is our lot and goodly is our heritage."

Tonic Joy of Life.

The power is felt in—strange to say—the sense of security one feels after leaving mother earth—the stability, the equipoise, the buoyant resiliency, the perfect control. But also it expresses itself in the potentiality of speed—not annihilating, but accentuating space and time—covering vast areas and dimensions with almost the rapidity of thought, so that one grudges the swift passing of the varied panorama, distance lending "enchantment to the view" in successive and surprised recognition of familiar places, outlined in vivid vignette. The artistic appreciation is necessarily quickened so as to absorb eagerly all that human sense can realize and record on the tablets of photographic memory and emotion—one acquires in a few moments a species of responsive second sight. Then there is the third element—the tonic "joy of life"—the exhilaration—the almost exultation—more than physical—vital and vitalizing as we wing our way onward and upward. We literally "live, move and have our being"—we do not merely exist, and we realize that "The blue of Heaven is larger than the cloud." And if one is tempted temporarily with a semi-supercilious smile and an interrogative query, to say in one's flight towards the setting sun—bathed in the golden glory of its rays—and stimulated by the clear atmosphere of the caerulean above life's common round and beyond the dust and smoke of the competitive arena, that one is at last able to partly interpret the meaning of that mysterious personification of egotism the Superman, yet almost simultaneously there is coined in the mint of the mind and conceived in the heart the fuller truer thought that here if anywhere—in the blue empyrean—in near contact with the Globe Celestial—the creature may realize the Creator—and with a full sense of responsibility be grateful that He has given to men His ministers, dominion over water, earth and air. Noblesse oblige!

Go up and See.

Two questions I was asked as I descended from high altitudes to resume the life of the average man: "Did you feel a thrill?" No, but I added another asset to that life that is still worth living even in this chaotic world. I widened my horizon, and the fear of death is perhaps lessened. "What from aloft does Belleville look like?" To this I can only answer to my fellow citizens, go up and see when next the opportunity offers—for while I have absorbed I cannot reproduce or paint on the canvas of cold type the scenic perfection of the moving picture which gardens and trees and streets—and roads like white ribands—(the veins and arteries of the circulation of the community), presented to the ever evolving, not dissolving view—the delicate tracery and the strong deep lines. But the most lasting and vivid impress is, and must be to all who enlist here in the "cavalry of the clouds" in peace or war—the rare and radiant rippling waters—the riparian curves and coves and islands of our chief but much neglected gift of the Great Architect of Nature—the Bay of Quinte.

Men, Not Gods.

And this is a practical age—for "we are neither children nor gods, but men in a world of men." What cannot aviation do for Canada with her magnificent and fertile distances, her great unsalted seas—those Great Lakes and Rivers which sunder not but bind us! It will be another link in the golden chain of commerce—another factor in Imperial Defence—another element in Imperial unity and peaceful intercommunication with ourselves and our friendly neighbors of good will. Let us utilize to the full those well trained and gallant pilots who during the struggle, storm and stress daily kept their "rendezvous with death" and won the war. Peace, too, has her victories. Crown the work—perpetuate the contact. Make and keep Canada a power house on the line with a girdling electric circuit and many transforming stations—and let Belleville be one.

Yours,
W. N. PONTON.

FAMOUS FILM STAR IN GRAVE CONDITION

Paris, Sept. 10.—Miss Olive Thomas, famous movie star, is suffering from mercurial poisoning in the American Hospital at Neuilly. Dr. Joseph Choate of Los Angeles, who is handling Miss Thomas' case, said after a consultation with leading Paris specialists, that while her condition was extremely grave she had not abandoned hope.

Jack Pickford, film actor and husband of Miss Thomas, who has been at the hospital constantly since she was taken ill, denied they had quarreled and said they had been living amicably at the Ritz. He said his wife got hold of the wrong bottle and had taken an overdose of medicine containing mercury.

Dr. Choate said Miss Thomas was on the verge of a nervous breakdown from overwork and that as a result her system had failed to throw off the poison. Many American and French movie stars have called at the hospital and left flowers. Among them were Norma and Constance Talmadge, Lillian and Dorothy Gish and Owen Moore, former husband of Mary Pickford.

QUEBEC TRIBUNAL ANNULS MARRIAGE

Montreal, Sept. 10.—The marriage of Bernard John Dahlmann and Gertrude Idella Barbeau, which took place at Quebec on Sept. 24, 1914, was annulled today by a judgement of the Superior Court rendered by Mr. Justice Bruneau, on the wife's petition. The grounds for dissolution was that, being a "mixed" marriage, performed by a Protestant minister, it could not be legal and binding under the Quebec civil laws.

According to the petitioner the couple went to the Bishop's Palace at Quebec, on Sept. 21, 1914, and asked to be married. The request was refused both by a priest and the bishop, because she was a Protestant and Daahlmann a Catholic. Her fiancee then suggested that they be married by a Protestant minister, and they went to St. Matthew's Anglican church at Quebec and were married by Rev. Canon Scott, by license. Her husband then, she stated, repudiated the marriage as having no binding effect on him "spiritually, religiously, or civilly."

There was no contestation of the petition.

VOTES INFLUENCED WITH FACE CREME

Here are some of the campaign expenses of G. H. Foree, a defeated Missourian congressional aspirant, which he listed under oath in his expense account filed recently with W. Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives.

"August 1—Postage for 25 letters to influential men in my district, telling that I was trusting to the kindness of the people and the mercy of God to elect me (both failed)—50 cents.

"August 2—For professional services of a tonsorial artist in shaping up the sandy whiskers of an influential son of Erin—35 cents.

"August 3—One jar 'face creme' to fascinating blonde for passing out my cards—35 cents.'

"August 3—Another jar of 'face creme' to charming brunette for passing out more of my cards—35 cents.

"August 2—For her work and influence among her many friends and admirers, a pair of open-work hose for a plump widow; the less said the better, special—$1.00.

"July 27—For street car fare to summer garden where Tony Steuver and Congressional Committee held election one night a week previous to legal primary and nominated my opponent for Congress in the Tenth District—14 cents."

GRAND OPERA AT NEW YORK

Grand opera will return to the stage of the Manhattan Opera House New York, September 20, after a ten year absence, with the offering of Bizet's "Carmen" by the San Carlo company. This will give New York three grand opera organizations during the coming season, the others being the Metropolitan and the Chicago grand opera companies.

The original purpose of the Manhattan was to provide a home for grand opera, but ten years ago its owner, eliminating himself and his theatres from the opera field for a decade. His widow acquires possession of the property, September 1, marking a return of the house to its former use.

Miss Alice Gentle, who will sing the title role Carmen in the opening was to have made her New York debut in that part ten years ago, but the deal closing the Manhattan to grand opera intervened, so that her appearance in New York in that role was deferred a decade.

Every 10c Packet of
WILSON'S
FLY PADS
WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

MUSIC AND DRAMA

BEAUTIFUL OLIVE THOMAS

Would you like to be the bride of a man who had married you just to spite another woman? Billy Swayne, a scion of one of New York's oldest families, didn't love Tessa Doyle, the little dancing girl he married; in fact he hardly knew her.

When Millicent Lee had jilted him to marry another man, Billy thought the world had ended. He did not know what to do so, as is usual, in such instances, he took the first bit of advice given him. Rodney Dolson told him to get married immediately, before Millicent did, so that it would look as if he had thrown Millicent over for the other girl. It didn't make much difference who the girl was. He could marry her, give her a thousand and send her to Reno.

So when they saw Tessa Doyle at the theatre that night, they immediately decided that she was just the girl. Now Tessa wasn't the usual type of dancing girl. She was young, fresh and as yet unsmirched by the grease paint and footlights. She was innocent and good. She didn't want to marry Billy on the conditions that he named. She had a different idea of what marriage ought to be—something sacred. But her will was not strong enough to battle against those of Billy, Rodney and her dancing parner, Trixie. So she was married. This is the introduction of the thrilling story of "The Spite Bride" featuring beautiful Olive Thomas, and the events that follow will be found both novel and unusually interesting. "The Spite Bride" is being shown at Griffin's tonight, and Saturday matinee and night along with a funny 2 reel Hank Mann comedy, British Canadian news pictorial, Charlie Hutchison in "The Whirlwind" and an interesting Outing Chester Travelogue.

NEW AERIAL ROUTE NEW YORK TO ALASKA

Military and civilian aeronautical experts declare that the completion recently of the trip of four American army aviators from New York to Nome, Alaska, was as epochal in its military and commercial importance as Belriot's first flight across the English Channel, since it opens Alaska to aeronautics. Reports state that the Alaskans are determined to bring about regular communication through the air and now look to the government to foster the new project.

As the result of the flight, it is said, an aerial route has been photographed and charted diagonally across the United States, Canada and Alaska with tentative supply and air service sites.

The Air Board states that the following has been accomplished by the flight:

An effective aerial route to the Northwest corner of the American continent and Asia has been established. Inaccessible areas in Alaska which had never been mapped have been chartered and photographed.

Usefulness of the airplane as a means of transport, both for mail, passengers and freight has been demonstrated. Necessity of landing fields, and service supply stations throughout the United States and its territories has been shown.

Durability of modern airplanes and motors has been proved and it has been learned that flying is safe even over territory where transport by railroad, automobile, and wagon is considered extremely dangerous.

The report of Captain St. Claid Street, who was in command of the expedition, states that the flyers considered the route across the Eastern States as having few landing fields and not ideal in any instance. The Middle West and Canada, he said, as far as Edmonton, was ideal.

"The expedition sighted innumerable glaciers," said Captain Street, "and rain, low fog and clouds were prevalent. Yukon and Alaska are rough and partly forested, and afford no natural landing places except on river bars, but the route from Wrangell to Nome is ideal for water planes."

CANADA'S 1920 CROP BIGGEST IN HISTORY

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 9.—That the values of the 1920 crop will be the greatest in the history of Canada, was the statement of Sir Joseph Flavelle, head of the National Trust Company, Tuesday night, after a tour of the Saskatchewan and Alberta wheat fields.

SINCLAIR'S

Fall Suits More Artistic Than Ever

So many original ideas have been evolved this season. The lines are so soft and graceful — sleeves and collars show so many new effects.

Perhaps you'll decide in a moment that you simply must have a certain Suit, but whether you decide at once or not, you are quite welcome to come, and see the new models we are showing. But bear in mind that the early showing always contains models that will not be obtainable later on.

DAINTY DRESSES For School Girls

No wonder the girl takes so much pride in having pretty dresses for wear to school, for at school the young girl lives the most important hours of her young life, and makes her friends. So girls will appreciate the Dresses that have been gathered for school wear. They are smart in style and prettily made and finished, and at moderate prices, too.

Handsome Sweaters

You'd never think Sweaters could be so handsome. True, they have been growing smarter in style for several seasons, and yet one could scarcely believe that such dressy garments could be kept in the Sweater family. They are leading everywhere as sport coats. Prices from $5.00 upward.

New Dress Fabrics

The new Wool Dress Fabrics are displayed for your selection, and you are bound to be interested in them when you see the fine weaves of this collection. Serges, of course, and Tricotine, Gabardine, Broadcloth, Suede Cloth, Velours and Jersey are all represented in a full variety o fthe new Fall colorings.

FALL GINGHAMS

It would be difficult to find fabrics of more all round utility than these Ginghams. They offer a wide range of plaids from which to select. The qualities provide for fine school dresses, practical frocks for house wear and even for sturdy aprons. You will want yards and yards of them for they make such practical inexpensive garments. Prices 50c. to 90c. yard.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

DON'T SING
'WE WON'T GET HOME TILL MORNING'
OSB

Bicycle Licence says

Last week I took a little trip,
And when away I got a tip
to BUY TIRES THIS WEEK.

A lot of people have learned that my advice on bicycle troubles saves money for them. Here is a good chance to prove it.

BICYCLES OUR BUSINESS

Bicycle Licence

333 FRONT STREET.
PHONE 985.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER GRIFFIN

TONIGHT AND SATURDAY

Matinee Saturday, 2.30.

'Most Beautiful Girl in America'

Olive Thomas
in
"The Spite Bride"

A drama of youthful impulse—enough thrills to make you a little bit creepy—not enough to make your spine run cold—enough laughs to give you that nice warm feeling inside, and a few tears which gives you a pleasant, happy feeling afterwards.

WHIRLWIND — COMEDY
TRAVELOGUE

COMING MONDAY—SYLVIA BREAMER AND ROBERT GORDON in "My Husband's Other Wife."

The Fireless Cooker

Will roast, bake brown, dry, stew and boil, make your preserves, can your fruits, keep ice cream cold all day, which a refrigerator will not, freeze puddings, keep drinks cold, keep baby's bottle hot, also baby's flannel, keep your dinner hot without spoiling if you should be an hour or two late, or will cook your morning meal while you sleep. There is nothing that can burn, while all the time you are at church or out shopping the Fireless Cooker will be doing the work at home.

The Fireless Cooker will save 75% or more Fuel.
The Fireless Cooker will save 75% or more Work.
The Fireless Cooker will save 35% or more Food shrinkage.

Two Compartment Cooker, $35.00

The John Lewis Co., Limited

Sales for Friday and Saturday

Bargains for Two Days at Shniffer's

SEPT. 10 AND 11, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY ONLY
As our store is to be closed Monday and Tuesday for Stock Taking.

WE OFFER YOU A FEW LINES, ON SALE.

CHILDREN'S PRINT AND GINGHAM DRESSES from .... 98c. to $2.95

BOYS' JERSEYS, broken sizes, navy trimmed with red or white, short or long sleeves .... 25c. each

BOYS' AND GIRLS' RIBBED HOSE, 35c. pair; 3 pairs $1.00

LADIES' KNITTED UNDERWEAR, short sleeves or without sleeves .... 25c. each

LADIES' SWEATER COATS, all colors, brushed wool, knitted with sailor collar .... $4.75 and $5.50

LADIES' COTTON GLOVES, fawn, grey or white, 25c. pair

LADIES' SMOCKS, heavy material, from .... $1.75 to $2.95

Special Bargains on All Running Shoes to clear

SEE OUR COATS AND DRESSES WHICH WE HAVE FOR FALL—If you buy now you have 10 per cent. discount, and not wait till the rush comes. Our prices are marked in plain figures.

B. SHNIFFER
331 Front Street
We keep open from 8 to 10 daily.

WHEN EARS RING.

Scientist Explains an Unpleasant Sensation.

Persistent ringing or buzzing in the ears—tinnitus is the Latin name given to the affection by physicians—is by no means a mental illusion. Victims of this trouble need not fear that their minds are affected. They have really an auditory sensation; it would not be too much to say that they actually "hear something." The sensation is not, of course, due to sound vibration from without, as normal audition is, but to diseased conditions within; and although the physician is not yet prepared to state definitely just in what these conditions consists, he is well enough acquainted with them to treat them, and in some cases to remove them. This is the opinion of Dr. Ben C. Gile.

"When one experiences tinnitus of some kind, for example, a bell-like ringing," said Dr. Gile, "his brain has a concept of this particular sound in consequence of an auditory perception. This perception is not imaginary, but actual. Like other auditory perceptions, it results from sensations affecting the terminals of the auditory nerve. It is often called a delusion, but this is wholly incorrect; for the word delusion implies mental disorder, and here nothing of the sort is present. In fact, tracing the process from the psychic concept back to the sensation affecting the auditory nerve, all the steps are normal and cannot be distinguished from those taken when there is an external source for the vibrations.

"The occurence of the sensation is the break in our chain of normal sequences. The sensation is not caused, as it should be, by vibration from without, but by something else which takes the place of such vibration. Regarding this matter, our pathology is involved in doubt.

"Tinnitus aurium, as we see it in practice, is often accompanied by pain and by deafness more or less pronounced; but these are usually coexisting troubles, with little causal connection one way or the other. Whether present alone or conjoined with other disorders, tinnitus may exist in a number of types. Some of these are peculiar, but the great majority are reproductions of familiar sounds. Among the most common are bell-ringing, the rumble of wheels, the buzzing of a saw, the wind's whistle and the murmur of ocean waves.

"The pitch of these sounds may change in a marked degree and also suddenly; one moment the tone may be low and the next higher by several octaves, and vice versa; but when the affection has become chronic there is rarely any alteration in the sound's identifying characteristics—bell ringing continues as bell ringing; rumbles and murmurs continue to be perceived without notable variation. This is one of the sinister features of the affection, for in time the monotonous repetition of identical sounds becomes nearly intolerable; any sort of change would be a relief.

"Tinnitus has a wide range of intensity extending from slight and very brief attacks to those in which the noise is permanently present during waking hours and is seldom banished from consciousness, even by intense mental pre-occupation. In this respect it is worse than many chronic pains, which, although not removed, are liable to be forgotten temporarily when the mind is engrossed by intense thinking.

"Tinnitus, even in its acute forms, can nearly always be removed by judicious treatment. Even in chronic cases there is encouragement. Many persons of middle age who have had tinnitus for years despite earnest and persistent efforts to find a cure have abandoned hope, but many of these are curable. The great progress made by otology in recent years justifies a hopeful prognosis in many cases which formerly were regarded as incurable.

"To sufferers from tinnitus relief and cure are the matters of paramount interest, and they should heed the admonition that they are not proper subjects for self-medication or domestic treatment. Whatever plausible reasons laymen may have for treating some diseases, they should not meddle with the ear. It is a very sensitive and delicate organ, peculiarly liable to serious injury through the manipulations of men and women ignorant of its anatomy, functions and pathology. Judicious treatment is most important, but it is better to let ear troubles alone than to seek the aid of Aunt Samantha or take the advice of some officious neighbor."

Forbidden Arts.

A Japanese contributor to the Japan Advertiser has the following note on the forgotten arts of his country: "All are in a bad way. How many middle school boys of to-day know how to drink tea in the forms of the tea ceremony? Flower arrangement is being fast forgotten. Versification, which once was one of the commonest accquirements of youth, is a hopeless mystery to the people of Taisho. The word politeness is not to be found in their lexicon. When at home they read cheap story magazines, and when going out they put themselves at the tender mercies of jammed tram cars. So they wax ever more dwarfed and penguin-footed, both physically and mentally. And the love of nature, of art and poetry, which was such a distinguished characteristic of the Yamato race, is being quickly replaced by the love of money and accumulation."

An Old Belle.

Within the last sixteen years Mrs. Raven, of Shepherd Bush, London, England, who is now 96 years old, has had eight offers of marriage, all of which she rejected, because, she says, she has had three husbands and wants no more. Now, at the age of 96, she has cut a fine new tooth.

Right Word.

"What do you think of my daughter's execution on the piano?"

"Good name for it, that; she certainly does murder the time."

HEAR
"THE LOVE NEST"
on a Victor Record at
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

Babes in The Woods Delightful Treat

LATEST STUART WHYTE MUSICAL OFFERING A CHARMING ENTERTAINMENT

It would be hard to ocnceive of a more delightful entertainment than that of F. Stuart Whyte's pantomime, "The Babes in the Wood, presented at Griffin's Theatre Thursday evening to a crowded house. Who has not heard the story of "The Babes in the Wood," and who has not been thrilled with it? Stuart Whyte's "Little Red Riding Hood," presented here last season, scored a big success, but "Babes in the Wood," goes even one better. With scores of gorgeous scenes, good singing, dancing, and many novelties, it is a production that is well worth while, and on its initial presentation here, every member of the company did exceptionally well. That the production pleased was shown by the liberal applause.

Many of the members of the company appeared here last season in "Little Red Riding Hood," and they were warmly greeted. Little Dorothy Mackay, as Betty, one of the babes, captivated her audience from the very start, with her sweet manner, and gave a splendid portrayal of an important part. Miss May Strachan, as Bobby, shared honors with her. There were over thirty in the east and each and everyone carried out their part with high honors. It is a production that pleases both old and young.

Special mention should be made of some of the outstanding characters including Miss Harriet Fawn as the Landlady and Jewel of the East; Charles Cardle, as Montebank; Miss Mona Warren, as Prince of Utopia; George Summers, as Capt. Kidd; Reginald Hicks as Baron; Victor Dyer as Aunt; Tom Ellis, as Dick Turpin.

The company comprises very clever dancers, while the singing, both solos and choruses, are rich. The costumes are georgeous and the stage settings elaborate.

The different scenes are put on with wonderful results. They include Ye Old Port of Plymouth; The Cabbage Patch; Merryman Fair; A Glade in the Forest; The Forest of Fear; Interior of the Baron's Residence. Another scene is entitled, "Opportunity" originated by F. Stuart Whyte, and it is without doubt, the masterpiece of the entire production. Wee Dorothy Mackay takes the roll of Everykid, and it is pointed out in a most convincing manner how Opportunity knocks at the door of every person once. Included in the cast are Canada, Enterprise, Adaptability, Energy, Ambition, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and North West Territories. A Cupid's Garden is another scene.

There are many song hits throughout the production, and a heap of good wholesome fun is uncorked.

Of the song selections, those deserving of special mention are: 'Love' by Landlady and Montebank; 'I'm a Bold Bucaneer; by Captain Kidd; 'Here's to Love,' by the Prince; 'My Friend John' by the Baron, Aunt, Kidd and Turpin; 'Some Perfect Day,' by Showman, Aunt Kidd and Turpin; 'When We Go to Sleep,' by the Babes and 'Oman Khyam,' by the Showman.

The singing of "An Old Fashioned Garden" by little Dorothy Mackay was delightful. This little lady is altogether charming, but in this song with her old-fashioned costume of voluminous gown and pantalettes she made a tremendous hit, her sweet voice and lovely manner making an irresistable combination.

It was announced during the evening that San Toy would be presented by another of Mr. Whyte's companies later in the season, with Zara Clinton the well known and popular star, in the leading role.

* * *

Sports

WIN FOR PERTH

At the Perth Fair on Wednesday afternoon the G. T. R. baseball team of this city and the Perth team played a great game of ball. The result was a win for Perth by a score of 2 to 1. In the sixth innings the winning team secured their runs, and in the eighth the G. T. R, made their only score.

* * *

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED IN SYDENHAM LIQUOR CASE

While of the opinion that F. Foxton, a police magistrate of Sydenham, Ont., had been convicted at Kingston of a breach of the Ontario Temperance Act in accordance with the law, Mr. Justice Middleton, at Osgoode Hall, reserved his judgment on the appeal. Foxton had a number of High School girls boarding at his home which was visited by the police who found one empty liquor keg and another keg which contained about two gallons of liquor. Counsel for the appellant argued that the word "liquor" was not sufficiently explicit, as the keg might have contained native wine which Foxton was perfectly entitled to keep at his home. His Lordship pointed out that appellant had not filed an affidavit naming the contents of the keg.

Kroch Bros. LADIES' APPAREL

Kroch Bros. LADIES' APPAREL

NOW SHOWING
EXCEEDINGLY SMART STYLES IN
Autumn Suits and Coats

They are of beautiful materials, including Duvette, Velour and Bolivia Cloth

Priced $19.50 to $100.00

We have a wonderful selection of
Serge & Tricotine DRESSES
Beaded, Embroidered and Pleated

The kind you like at first sight

We gladly realize that many already know the fact that we are able to give you the

Latest Styles, Good Quality, Reasonable Prices

Make your choice now. Save money at

KROCH BROS. 301 FRONT ST.

FIFTY BOYS WANTED FOR CANADIAN NAVY

Advices from Ottawa received by Edward Wodson, representative of the Navy League at Toronto, state that within four days the Naval Service at Ottawa require fifty boys from the Navy League Brigade to sail to England, there to be fitted up by the English Government and placed on board the first two ships presented to the Canadian navy. About twenty boys will be required for each ship. It is estimated that only two ships will be ready for service before the winter sets in. If possible the boys will leave on the Empress of Britain on Sept. 15th.

If these boys are obtained it is hoped that the Canadian naval authorities will lend a sympathetic ear, to the proposals of the league for three training ships to be established at Esquimault, Montreal and on the Great Lakes.

It is probable that, taking advantage of Admiral Jellicoe's plan, the boys will be eligible, not only for "A. B." positions, but for petty officers and also for "upper deck" positions. When reviewing the Toronto branch of the Navy League Brigade Admiral Jellicoe said to Commodore Jarvis: "Outside of the Royal Navy training ship in England, these are the best disciplined and finest trained boys I have seen."

* * *

ESTIMATED CROP OF AUSTRALIAN WHEAT

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The Australian Wheat Board estimates the crop at 167,000,000 bushels. The record price of ten shillings a bushel is expected by the farmers.

BEWARE OF DECEPTION

Statistics show that when egg albumen is used as a constituent of baking powder, the amount so used is too small (usually 15/100 of 1%) to affect the quality or effectiveness of the baking powder containing it, and when so used, is plainly for the purpose of fraud. Intelligent buyers will not permit themselves to be deceived by the water glass test.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER
contains no alum or egg albumen and is guaranteed to be composed of the ingredients printed on the label—and none other.
Made in Canada By Canadians
For Canadians

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 267 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred positions, 25 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $6.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $1.50; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

ENVER PASHA JOINS RUSSIAN REDS.

Enver Pasha has joined forces with the Russian Reds and should feel quite at home with Trotsky, Lenine & Co. Enver has had to move fast lately to keep from being gobbled up by the British Lion and that he should make a bee line for Germany was only natural. Red Russia was the next logical step, and now the announcement is made that he is to take charge of Russian Red military operations against India. Wherever Enver Pasha places himself it will be several paces to the rear with his windows always open toward Berlin or Moscow.

DANGERS OF ARRAYING COUNTRY AGAINST CITY.

The Charlottetown Guardian, whose writers possess the faculty of thinking, has this to say of some phases of the farmers' political movement:

"Where, for instance, would a farmers' political group lead us to? Take the average farm home in Prince Edward Island for example. There are three or four sons; two or three at least of these have taken up other callings, medicine, the law, the church, a trade, etc. In the great majority of cases only one of the sons remains on the farm. Is he to become a member of a political group whose interests are antagonistic to or out of harmony with those of his brothers? Should each of the others unite himself with the group to which he belongs and form a political party? The one would be as reasonable as the other. Group government would lead us nowhere but to anarchy and lawlessness.

"To seek to array country against city and city against country in a political sense is the work of the wily politician. The majority of those living in the cities are of rural descent. Where else can they go but to the cities, since the average farm cannot support in comfort a vigorous grown-up family? The cause of the country is the cause of the city, and vice versa; the one cannot prosper without the other; what is needed is to keep the balance true between both by intelligent, honest and capable representation."

FACTS DISPEL FOG ON TARIFF QUESTION.

That advocacy of severe tariff reduction is not counted profitable everywhere in the West is again indicated in an article in the Edmonton Journal, which on August 26 said:

"In the West we have numerous newspapers and public men who profess to be strongly in favor of a low tariff and who try to make it appear that the Liberal party, if returned to power, would be more likely to carry their ideas into effect that the party now in office. No only is the whole record of the two political parties against that assumption, but a careful reading of the speeches in recent weeks of the two leaders will show that there is virtually no difference between their fiscal policies.

The comparisons which Mr. Meighen made at Truro between the Canadian tariff as it now stands and as it stood under Liberal rule, have been made before and their correctness has never been disputed. That portion dealing with agricultural implements has the greater interest to Western Canada. The Liberal administration maintained an average tariff on these of 20.2 per cent., as compared with 14.6 per cent. at present.

AUTOMATIC WIRELESS OPERATION.

The recent strike of wireless operators showed what serious results might flow from being obliged to rely upon highly skilled men for the working of apparatus now regarded as essential to the safety of ships at sea. The necessity of carrying operators is also an obstacle in the way of the adoption of wireless telegraphy on smaller vessels. Practical interest is therefore certain to be taken in any simplification of wireless operation. A British firm has recently produced what it describes as an "automatic" wireless transmitter. All that the user has to do in order to send certain signals is to pull down certain handles on the apparatus. The inner part of the device consists of a drum carrying electrical contacts which move over fingers, each one of which sends a special signal. With the aid of a small additional drum as many as 60 signals can be obtained. These signals can be coded in any desired way so that a large variety of messages can be sent. This instrument might be used by a pilot on an airplane to indicate his position, or by the skipper of a fishing vessel to signal information about his catch. The user need have no knowledge of wireless telegraphy or of the Morse alphabet. In connection with wireless progress it may be noted that wireless telephony is making such strides in Great Britain that a large news agency has agreed to experiment with it in the distribution of news from one point to a number of newspapers.

CRISP COMMENT

News that St. Lawrence River excursion steamers are laying up for the winter carries the suggestion that it is time for another look at the coal bin.

× × ×

Now that Belleville Fair is over and Toronto Fair nearly over, looks as if Old Man Winter would soon be on the job.

× × ×

Toronto has decided to turn back the hands of its clocks one hour on Sept. 12 and get in line with the more up-to-date places which did not tinker with the clocks this season.

× × ×

Congestion of motor traffic in the downtown districts should be relieved by the recent regulation declaring certain thoroughfares to be one-way streets. If anything is to be accomplished, however, the order should be strictly enforced. It is strange that an edict that is primarily in the interests of the drivers of motor cars should be flagrantly violated by the same people. Careful observance of the traffic laws means safety, speed and comfort. Motorists who complain of the lack of regulation of pedestrian traffic can do a lot of educational work by religiously observing the law themselves.—Toronto Telegram.

× × ×

Decline in sugar prices may be described as little drops of sweetness.—Philadelphia Evening Ledger.

× × ×

The essential lack of material in Poland is that there are not enough

OTHER VIEWS

The Immigrants.
Regina Post.

To get new people to come to Canada is absolutely necessary if this country is to prosper, but Canada in return owes them the duty of assuring them contentment and well-being as far as this is possible. In the attainment of this object the individual citizen must do his bit. He can do it as a neighbor in town or country. He should not hold aloof from the newcomer, but should get acquainted with him, and should show him by personal interest that Canadians are glad to welcome him to this country.

Would You?
Calgary Herald.

The toddling of the little ones off to school suggests the question to those who are not sentimentally affected by it—How many adult Calgarians would like to be starting life over again, with shining morning face starting off to school for the first time. It is a nice question as to whether our young hopefuls are to be envied or not. According as we answer in the affirmative or negative we show ourselves to be optimists or pessimists.

A LAUGH OR TWO

MAKING THINGS GO FAR.

A widder woman come to me
And thus her lips unsealed:
"Oh, mister, kin I take my geese
Back to yore stubble field?"
I says: "It's more'n a mile away
To that far field so flat."
Says she, "I could make a goose go
Good deal furder ner that!"

We oughta love our women,
To prize them we should strive—
They kin make a goose go furder
When dead than when alive.
A live goose cannot travel
No more ner a little ways;
But a woman kin make a dead one
Go for several days!

I remember a great big gander—
A splendid old antique—
Grannie, she made that feller last
Fer a good deal more'n a week!
He c'd stand more carvin' 'n scuffin',
This hero of the swim—
But oh, I remember the stuffin'
Didn't last 'long as him.

That was long, long years ago,
But I remember well,
The nicest thing about it all
Was his sufficient smell.
The rose smells sweet, the lily,
The jonquil—new-mown hay;
But nothin' beats a roast gander
As a pop'lar bowkay!

The turbull cost uv livin'
Has my vertebray bent,
'Cuz they can't make a goose go
Es fur es she usta went.
I wish I c'd wet me feet
In life's sweet mornin' doo,
When they c'd make a lil' ole hen
Go fer a day or two!

Bo—bring yer wife a hen—
A hen with juicy edges—
Youse two will eat her
In one frame—by hedges!
Grannie's hen cost fifteen cents,
Lasted three days—what follers?
Yours lasted a holy minute, an'
She cost two dollars!

"Oh, mister, kin I take my geese?"
She thus to me appealed—
"Oh mister, kin I take my geese
Back to your stubble field?"
"Sure thing!" I says, "Yer welcome
To more an' more an' more."
I don't keep store, but says she,
"May heaven bless your store!"
—The Khan.

The Wigwam, Rushdale Farm,
Rockton, Ont.

THE POET'S CORNER

Furnishing Him With a Weapon.

Mrs. Chaplin says Charlie was cruel. Was she foolish enough to make custard pies for him.

We Always Wait.

Our idea of a fore-handed man is one who will go down into the cellar on a hot August night and spend several hours cleaning the furnace in preparation for next winter's work.

The Dangers of Delay.

Mr. Just-Wed—"I've been thinking over that suggestion of yours to buy that little cottage in the country. I agree with you—"

Mrs. Just Wed—"But I've changed my mind. Your sister and I want that big place next door—you know, the one with the garage."

Easy on Conscience.

Wheedle—"I say, Jack, what is the name of the club you've joined?"

Guiffer—"The 'office'."

Wheedle—"Isn't that rather an odd name?"

Guiffer—"Not at all; you can tell the wife that you were detained at the office without any pricking of conscience."

Pulling Father Up.

"Father," said Ralph, the little son of a clergyman, "I think you told a story this morning when you were preaching."

"Why, Ralph, what do you mean?"

"Well," answered the observing little fellow, "you said, 'One more word and I have done,' and you went right on and talked for nearly ten min-

Bob Long says:

"My Overalls and Shirts are the best made, because—they are roomy and comfortable. I designed them with the idea that you might want to stretch your arms and legs occasionally."

A winner in the Bob Long line of shirts is the Hickory Dick Jr. Ask your dealer for this big shirt; it wears like a true friend.

Ask your dealer for Big 59 — the big Blue Overall — the cloth that stands the test.

Insist on "Bob Long" Brands

BOB LONG
UNION MADE
Overalls and Shirts

R. G. LONG & CO., Limited
Winnipeg TORONTO Montreal

Bob Long Brands
Known from Coast to Coast

151

Just a minute, please!

Let's get right down to cases
—Watch cases

OPEN up an Ingersoll Maple Leaf; you'll see a busy little time-keeping plant in operation, happily, smoothly, accurately functioning—every little movement with a meaning all its own.

Now look the Maple Leaf in the face—it's an honest face and a truthful face. And you can believe what you see there.

After all, the primary purpose of a watch is to keep time. The Ingersoll keeps time and does it under conditions that would send any other watch to the repairer's.

And its sturdiness, dependability, and cheapness aren't obtained at the cost of appearance. The Maple Leaf is really a good-looker.

$3.25—at the nearest dealer's. And that will be quite near.

Maple Leaf Radiolite—Tells time in the dark—75c extra or $4.00.

Maple Leaf, $3.25

Ingersoll

Models from $3.25 to $14.50

NOTICE!

Now is the time to have your furnace and pipes overhauled and cleaned by our experienced workmen.

We do plumbing also, and are Agents for Happy "Thought Ranges" famous every where.

DIAMOND & HYDE

PHONE 38

IT'S UNWISE

to put off to-day's duty until to-morrow. If your stomach is acid-disturbed take the new aid to digestion comfort today. A pleasant relief from the discomfort of acid-dyspepsia.

KI-MOIDS

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE
MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION

The Columbia machines and records listed below and many others can be had in Belleville at

The J. M. Greene Music Co. Ltd.

"The Home of Good Music" 316 Front St.

J. A. Goodsell Manager

September Mid-Month Columbia Records

Here's a happy medley of song and dance—the very newest of the new—produced as only Columbia produces:

After You Get What You Want You Don't Want It	Van and Schenck	A-2966
You Tell 'Em	Van and Schenck	$1.00
Oh Judge (He Treats Me Mean)	Marion Harris	A-2968
He Done Me Wrong	Marion Harris	$1.00
I'd Love to Fall Asleep and Wake Up in My Mammy's Arms	Harry Fox	A-2964
Rock-a-bye Lullaby Mammy	Harry Fox	$1.00
Don't Take Away Those Blues	Frank Crumit	A-2965
Good-Bye, Dixie, Good-Bye	Frank Crumit	$1.00
In Sweet September—Medley Fox-Trot	Paul Biese Trio	A-2959
Sweet Sugar Babe—Fox-Trot	Paul Biese Trio	$1.00
Manyana—Fox-Trot	Prince's Dance Orchestra	A-2963
Happy—Medley One-Step	Prince's Dance Orchestra	$1.00
Pretty Little Cinderella—Medley Waltz	Prince's Orchestra	A-6162
Pickaninny Blues—Waltz	Prince's Orchestra	$1.65

New Columbia Records out the 10th and 20th of the month.

Standard Models up to $360.

COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE COMPANY, Toronto. 160

Columbia Grafonola

COLUMBIA MACHINES AND RECORDS

WE CARRY A FULL LINE OF RECORDS INCLUDING THE ABOVE, ALSO MACHINES RANGING IN PRICE FROM $37.50 to $360. COME TO OUR SHOW ROOMS AND WE WILL BE PLEASED TO PLAY OVER ANY OF OUR LARGE SUPPLY OF RECORDS. Inquire About Our Easy Selling Plan.

C. W. LINDSAY, Limited, 249 Front St

Developing and Printing

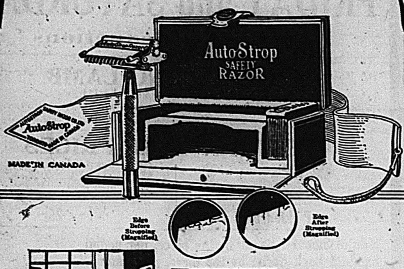
WE DO OUR OWN WORK
WE DO IT RIGHT
WE DO IT TO PLEASE YOU
TRY US!

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Bread and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS,
68 SINCLAIR STREET.



AutoStrop
SAFETY RAZOR
AutoStrop
MADE IN CANADA
Edge Before Stropping (Magnified)
Edge After Stropping (Magnified)

EXPERIENCE shows that only a sharp blade can give a perfect shave, also that a blade cannot remain sharp without stropping.

Couple these facts with the further fact that the AutoStrop Razor is the only safety razor that sharpens itself, and you will be in no doubt as to which safety razor to use.

Any dealer will demonstrate the AutoStrop Razor to you, guarantee satisfaction or refund of purchase price.

Only $5.00—complete with strop and twelve blades in an attractive assortment of cases to suit any purpose.

AutoStrop Safety Razor Co., Limited
AutoStrop Building, Toronto, Canada

263

AutoStrop Razor
—sharpens itself

FEAR FROST HAS NIPPED LATE CROPS IN ALBERTA

EDMONTON, Sept. 8.—There was some frost in the Edmonton district Monday night, and it is estimated that some of the late crops may have suffered damage, but not to any serious extent. Most of the grain in this district has passed the danger stage. This has been an excellent fall and damaging frost has not stayed off so long for many years. The bulk of the cutting in Edmonton district is completed, something over 60 per cent. Cutting is finished in the south, and in the central portion of the Province 70 to 80 per cent. has been harvested. The estimate for the north is 40 per cent. In the south and east of the Province thrashing is going on. There is little in this district, but it is not general as yet.

◆

GIRL KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—A fatal accident occurred Monday afternoon at Neuville, west of this city, when an automobile containing five Montrealers turned turtle and fatally injured a young lady named Beaudoin, 25 years. The other four escaped injury. It appears that the chauffeur was blinded by the dust and had one hand up to his eyes when the machine veered to one side of the road and turned over.

Miss Beaudoin died fifteen minutes later.

◆

MONTREAL AIRMAN IS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

WARSAW, Sept. 8.—Captain C. J. McCullum, of Montreal, a member of the Kosciuszko squadron, has been killed in an airplane fall at Lemberg, it was learned here Tuesday.

DIVORCE COURTS FOR CANADA

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—As a consequence of a resolution passed by the Canadian Bar Asosciation last week a uniform divorce law for the whole of Canada may be a feature of next session's federal legislation. At the present time Canadian divorce laws and machinery are exceedingly clumsy and varied. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and British Columbia have had their own courts for many years. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta were recently granted the right of giving divorces. Prince Edward Island has an unworkable law. Quebec from the ecclesiastical viewpoint, does not recognize divorce but grants legal separation through its courts, which however, do not permit of remarriage. Ontario has no divorce courts at all and applicants must come to Parliament and go through the complicated and expensive process there provided. Last session over 80 applications were heard and disposed of, the great majority of which were from Ontario.

Manitoba courts were based on the British law of 1870. Saskatchewan and Alberta have courts based on a later British law.

◆

Needle in a Haystack.

"A girl of about 16 who does not aspire to be a movie actress."

Every Kid Likes
Good Things
To Eat

So every kid likes

POST TOASTIES —says Bobby

WILSON'S
"The National Smoke"
BACHELOR
Still the most for the money
10c.
ANDREW WILSON & CO TORONTO

The Thirteenth Commandment

By
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

Perhaps there is no form that satan takes oftener than that of a fashionable gown. In that shape he offers women the conquest of the world. But Daphne resisted him and said to Leila: "Get thee behind me, satan! I'm going to return this gown and let Dutilh give Bayard credit for it. I won't look at another gown till I can pay for it out of my own earnings. I'll not get married till I can buy the rest of my trousseau myself. I've decided that an independent woman must buy her own trousseau."

Perhaps There Is No Form That Satan Takes Oftener Than That of a Fashionable Gown.

Even in the eyes of ambition this promised to require a fairly long period—a period so lenghty that she wondered if Clay's love would outlast it.

She did love him and the thought of losing him alarmed her more than the thought of losing the precious gown.

Leila woke from her meditation with a sudden "Come along; we must dress for the tea-fight."

Mrs. Kip, senior, amused the young Kips by thinking aloud: "I wonder if that nice Mr. Duane will be at the tea."

"Oh! shamie shame!" cried Leila. "It's a regular intrigue. No, he won't be there. Telephone him at the Racquet club and he'll come to you. He's usually there."

She did not see the start the artless hint gave Daphne, who had learned by accident what she had not known how to find out otherwise. Daphne concealed her agitation in the briskness with which she concluded the affair of the Dutilh gown. She folded it up and laid it back in the box as if it were a baby she was about to leave on a doorstep. She kissed it good-by and put the lid over it and tied it up with a crazy combination of strings of various sorts.

She refused to go to the tea party, now that the gown was lost, and she said she had letters to write.

But when her mother and Leila had left her she wrote only one letter—a note of regretful rejection to Dutilh. She pinned it to the box and sent it off by a messenger. Then she telephoned to Tom Duane.

She did not quite realize the temerity of calling a man at his club, and Tom Duane misunderstood her, imputed her innocence to its opposite. He remembered her as a pretty thing. If she were brazen—well, he liked brass in certain forms. When she said that she wanted to have a serious talk with him at his convenience, he made it the immediate moment at the cost of breaking an engagement at tennis.

He asked her if she would not meet him somewhere for tea, but she said that she preferred to see him at her brother's apartment. His invitation aroused her suspicion. Her invitation confirmed his.

Daphne's heart was beating excitedly while she waited for him and she began to feel that she had put herself in a wrong light. When Duane arrived and the maid showed him into the living room Daphne tried to redeem herself by a businesslike directness.

"Mr. Duane, you must think it very peculiar of me to drag you up here."

"I think it's mighty kind of you."

"You say that before you hear what I'm going to ask you. I'm going to ask you to do me a tremendous favor."

"That will be doing me a tremendous favor," he said.

Then she amazed him with her request: "You offered yesterday—of course I know you didn't mean it—but you offered to get me a job with a theatrical manager."

Duane's hospitable smile hardened into a grimace of anxiety. He mumbled, "Oh, yes."

"Mr. Reben—oh, yes—yes, I knew him fairly well."

"I want to go on the stage. Would you dare introduce me to Mr. Reben?"

"Indeed I will, and proud to do it."

"Do you think he'll give me a—a job?"

"I'll make him."

"How can I ever repay you?"

Her hand went out to him and he took it and squeezed it, and it squeezed back gratefully. But he did not let go. Duane seemed to be excited suddenly.

Daphne drew her hand back, but his came with it, and he followed close upon. There was a look in his eyes that made her uneasy. His voice was uncertain as he said:

"You can repay me easily enough, if you want to."

"I do. But how? How?" she asked anxiously, not quite daring to wrench her hand free.

"By—by being—by being kind to me."

"Kind? How?"

He did not answer with words, but he lifted her hand with both of his to his lips. It was an act of old-fangled gallantry that could hardly be resented. But, manlike, having made a formal surrender, he tried to take command. One hand held hers, the other swept round her shoulders and pressed her against him, without roughness yet with strength. His lips moved now, not toward her hand, but toward the sacredness of her mouth.

TO BE CONTINUED

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Fermenting Food and Acid Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

◆

PLAN AIRPLANE FLIGHT ACROSS THE DOMINION

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The first cross-Canada airplane and seaplane flight is expected to be made in the last week of September. A seaplane will fly from Halifax to Winnipeg, and from that city to Vancouver the journey will be completed by airplanes, flying in relays. The seaplane will be piloted by Col. Leckie, and the names of three of the airplane pilots who will take part in the flight have been announced. They are: Capt. G. A. Thompson of Winnipeg, Capt. J. B. Home-Hay, Capt. D. Carruthers of Kingston, Ont. All three are flyers with excellent records. They have been provisionally selected for the trip, and it is likely that three or four other names will be announced in the course of a few days. There will also be another seaplane pilot named to act as reserve pilot on the first leg of the journey.

◆

PRINCE OF WALES HONORED IN MEXICO

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—The Prince of Wales will be accorded the highest honors in Mexico, according to a telegram received Wednesday from the Mexican Government by Luis Marcing, the Mexican commercial representative in Toronto. The telegram says that the Prince wil arrive Thursday on the Renown at the Port of Ocapulco, on the Pacific Coast, where the inhabitants are preparing a monster celebration in his honor. The Mexican transport, Fortal, is being sent to meet the Renown and has on board 2,123 tons of oil for that ship.

◆

Labor at Geneva.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—E. W. Odell, Hamilton, general representative of the Boot and Shoe Workers of Canada, will represent Canadian organized labor at the coming meeting of Governors of International Labor to be held under the auspices of the League of Nations. The governing body meets in Geneva early in October. He will substitute for P. M. Draper, Secretary of the Trades and Labor Congress,

THE J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., LTD.
"Home of Good Music"
FRONT STREET.

Columbia Records and a Columbia Grafonola give you both the "Words and Music"

as no other records and instrument can. Columbia Records always give you all the art and magnetism, every syllable and intonation of the great artist by whom they are made. A Columbia Grafonola gives you music exactly as it was made.

A Few Suggestions

A2954—My Isle of Golden Dreams.
2939—Left All Alone Again Blues.
2948—Pretty Kelley.
6157—Tripoli Medley Waltz.
2884—Swanee.
2928—Rose of Washington Square.

The exquisite quality of Columbia tone is due to the Grafonola's scientifically correct design.

The exclusive system of tone control of the Grafonola enables you to get exact musical shading.

THE J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., LTD.
"Home of Good Music"
FRONT STREET.

Hay Fever

The fame of RAZ-MAH as a relief in Hay Fever is spreading like wildfire.

It can no longer be said that there is no remedy for Hay Fever.

This new discovery has been proven in dozens of cases in this city.

FOR SALE ONLY BY

Dolan, the Druggist

PHONE 138. 252 FRONT ST.

STROUD'S

Real Bargains for Friday and Saturday

WASHING SODA	3 lbs. 10c.
STAR AMMONIA	5 pkgs. 25c.
GOLD DUST WASHING COMPOUND	3 pkgs. 27c.
BORAX, 10c.	3 pkgs. 25c.
LUX	2 pkgs. 25c.
PEARLINE	2 pkgs. 18c.
GILLETT'S LYE	2 pkgs. 29c.
GIPSY STOVE POLISH, 10c.	2 pkgs. 15c.
CHLORIDE OF LIME, 15c.	2 pkgs. 25c.
SEWING MACHINE OIL, large size, reg. 15c., for	10c.
OLD DUTCH CLEANSER	3 for 29c.

SOAP SPECIALS.

WONDERFUL, POLAR, P. & G. NAPTHA, SUNLIGHT,	5 cakes 50c
PALMOLIVE, INFANT'S DELIGHT, FAIRY	3 cakes 28c.
CASTILE	5 cakes 25c.

SPECIALS IN GROCERIES.

SIFTO SALT	2 for 25c.
TECO, self-rising pancake flour	15c.
CLARK'S PORK AND BEANS	2 cans 28c.
ARGO CORN STARCH	2 pkgs. 26c.
LILY WHITE CORN SYRUP	2 lb. tin 37c.
SEEDED RAISINS	a pkg. 33c.
CURRANTS	a lb. 27c.
RICE	2 lbs. 33c.
PURITY OATS, large pkg.	32c.

CEREAL SPECIALS.

CORN FLAKES	2 for 23c.
SHREDDED WHEAT	2 for 29c.
PUFFED WHEAT	2 for 27c.
POST TOASTIES	2 for 27c.
ROLLED WHEAT	2½ lbs. 25c.
GOLD DUST CORN MEAL	3 lbs. 25c.
CREAM OF WHEAT	2½ lbs. 25c.

SPECIALS.

BROOMS, Stroud's Special	55c.
MATCHES, largest box in city	2 for 35c.
MOP STICK	25c.
SOAP CHIPS	3 lbs. 48c.
GALVANIZED WASH BOILER, large size	$1.90
GALVANIZED GARBAGE CAN	$1.30
LARGE TIN DISH PAN, reg. 75c.	60c.
ENAMEL TEA KETTLE, reg. $1.50	$1.35
BUTTER OR EGG CROCK, 5 gallons	$1.50
CANNING RACK, clearing at	85c.

OUR SUGAR SPECIAL.

With every pound of tea we will sell you 3 pounds of sugar at 20c. lb.
55c., 65c., 75c., 85c. Green or Black Tea.

COCOA, special at	35c. lb.

IF IT IS A GIFT OR WEDDING PRESENT we have it. See our display of Silver, Cut Glass, China or Brass Goods.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN. READ UP.

Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS		Train 20	Train 22	Train 38
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	———	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*9.00 a.m.	———
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	$1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	$10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.00 a.m.	4.5[illegible]
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

"Save the surface and you save all" - Paint & Varnish

Brilliant Floors

Hardwood floors and linoleum are easily polished and the shine lasts when you use

RAMSAY'S FLOOR WAX

"The right Wax to Wax right"

J. W. WALKER - - - HARDWARE.

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 3.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 438

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
288 Front Street - - - Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
81 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 208

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C.-M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get our prices before placing your order, as keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating. Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

NO MORE LIQUOR FOR UNITED STATES NAVY

Washington, Sept. 10.—Spirituous liquors received their final and complete divorce from the United States navy in an order made public Wednesday by the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery prohibiting their issue to naval vessels for medicinal purposes.

Your Physical Condition is reflected in your face.

Ruddy cheeks and a clear eye are generally indicative of health.

On the other hand, a sallow complexion may indicate that coffee is causing the indigestion, sleeplessness and upset nerves which are responsible for your condition.

INSTANT POSTUM
instead of coffee will prove
"There's a Reason"

Made by
Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Windsor, Ont.

Elwell Murder a Mystery

IS the Elwell case to be numbered among the many mysteries of New York City which never have been cleared up? We observe that it is retreating from the front pages of the New York papers, and this is ominous. So far as can be judged, the police have made little progress. They have established the fact — notorious to all Elwell's friends—that he had frequent nocturnal visitors, mostly of the deadlier sex. Several of these women have been questioned, but there appears to be no evidence connecting any of them with the murder. Of late the police have shown a disposition to examine into the dead man's financial affairs, and it is suggested that he was shot by a man whom he had defrauded in a whiskey deal. But all remains a matter of speculation, and the weeks slip by. The chances would appear to be in favor of the murderer escaping, for there has been plenty of time to cover up tracks, and from day to day the chance of discovering a fresh clue would appear to abate. Other crimes absorb the energies of the police, and the tendency to lose interest in the Elwell case increases. The dead man left nobody behind him who holds his memory in sufficient esteem to supply the driving power of the search, once the police slacken.

New York like every other city has had its murder mysteries which turn to scorn the eloquent and highly inaccurate statement of Daniel Webster to the effect that "The murderer cannot keep his secret. There is no escape from confession but suicide, and suicide is confession." Few murderers are like Eugene Aram. Not every one who takes the life of a human being is drawn as though by a magnet back to the scene of his crime. All murderers are not obliged by some inscrutinable fate to leave behind them unmistakable evidences of their guilt. Or if the traces are left behind all detectives are not capable of reading the riddle. In fact, it would appear hardly more necessary for a murderer to be apprehended than for a man to be run over and killed by a motor car. If the criminal is crafty enough; if the crime is not committed on the spur of the moment and the precautions against discovery then improvised, and above all if he refuses to incriminate himself should he be interrogated by the police, his chance of escaping would appear to be quite fifty out of one hundred.

Perhaps the most famous of New York's murder mysteries was that of Marie Cecelia Rogers in 1840. The case attracted so much interest that Poe was drawn to it and in "The Mystery of Marie Roget" embalmed it in literature. Mary Rogers was a pretty cigar girl. One Saturday evening she left the store to spend the Sunday with a man friend in Weehawken, and never again was seen alive. Her body was subsequently found in the Hudson river. Never before had the public of New York been so keenly interested in a crime. For weeks it was the feature of the newspapers, and the police worked like bloodhounds, but never could secure sufficient evidence to make an arrest. The crime remains a mystery to this day, unless we accept the "solution" that Poe offered in his story. His idea was that the girl had been murdered by a sailor who went to sea but met his fate when he returned from his voyage.

Another famous mystery which most readers perhaps will recall is that known as the Molineaux case. This crime occurred in December, 1898, the victim being Mrs. Katherine J. Adams. She had taken some bromo seltzer for headache and died in violent agony three days later. The medicine was given her by a boarder, Harry S. Cornish, who had lived in the house for several years. There was absolutely no reason disclosed why Cornish should desire her death, and indeed it was proved that the supposed medicine accompanied by a silver bottle holder had been sent him through the mail at Christmas by some unknown donor. Investigation showed that the gift had been purchased in Newark and mailed in New York.

The supposed bromo seltzer was really cyanide of mercury, and the police suspected a chemist. Further investigations led to the arrest of Roland B. Molineux, employed as a chemist in Newark. He and Cornish were members of the Knickerbocker Club, in New York, and had had an altercation. The police went on the theory that Molineux desired to murder Cornish, and that mere chance made Mrs. Adams the victim. At the trial the girl who had sold the bottle was sure that Molineaux was not the purchaser, but the other evidence was so strong that he was convicted after a trial lasting thirteen months. He was sent to Sing Sing to await the electric chair, but his aged father, Gen. Molineaux, brought influence to bear and a new trial was granted. This ended in his acquittal, but the police, of course, do not consider the murder of Mrs. Adams a real mystery. Many more cases might be mentioned in which there was no conviction, but which, after a trial, the police scratched off the blotter and took no further interest in. Still, there are enough murder mysteries occurring every year in such a city as New York, to make a detective famous if he could but solve one quarter of them. It is the rare case, which because of the position of the victim or the accused person, or other circumstances, attracts the attention of the whole nation.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

DISILLUSIONED ANARCHISTS.

Emma Goldman Does Not Like Russia.

Sympathizers with Bolshevism declare that it is the capitalistic press that is responsible for the stories emanating from Russia and describing the tyranny of the Soviet. We suppose that even the most advanced of Bolshevists would accept the statement of Emma Goldman. She can hardly be described as a friend of capitalism. She is a life-long anarchist, and her pernicious activities in behalf of the cause have led her to the penitentiary more than once. She and her "soul mate," Berkman, and a number of other anarchists were deported from the United States some months ago, and with glad hearts set out for Russia. Now comes the sad tidings that Miss Goldman is not satisfied with conditions there. In a recent interview with a newspaper correspondent Miss Goldman says that the state of affairs in Russia is "just rotten." She said: "You may be called an agent of the capitalistic class by the people in America who don't understand. If you are, tell them we have been here four months and now we know. We have investigated factories, homes and institutions as no newspaperman can be permitted to investigate them, and we have found them bad. I know from my conversation with you, you have gotten to the heart of the matter. It's up to you to tell the American people and tell them straight."

The facts she wished to be presented to the outside world are that the Soviet Government is tyranny; that the nationalization of industry and the new kind of Soviet "capitalism" have produced what she frankly calls a rotten state of affairs. When the American anarchists left for Russia they expected that they were about to arrive in a sort of paradise; but Miss Goldman asserts that she knew that the Marxian theory was impossible in practice, and that it was certain to breed tyranny. Nevertheless, she blinded herself to its faults in the hope that she and Berkman and the others might accomplish something in Russia. They realise that they can accomplish nothing as matters now stand, and we should not be astonished to hear one of these days that she and her associates have resorted to the bomb as a necessary preliminary measure to improve conditions in Russia, unless Lenine and Trotzky take the first step and deport them. The truth is that Emma Goldman and Berkman are anarchists; they are opposed to all government, having the idea that a country can do very well without it. Government by Bolshevists, therefore, attracts them hardly more than government by the capitalistic class. Probably Lenine and Trotzky were equally opposed to Governments until the task of conducting affairs in Russia was imposed on them.—J. V. McAree in Toronto Mail and Empire.

Elephants as Executioners.

The first instance of an elephant being brought to the West was in the year 807, when the Caliph Haroun al Rashir presented one to Charlemagne.

It was not until 1255, however, that this well-known and sagacious animal came to England, and it was in that year that the King of France made King Henry VIII. a gift of one 10 years of age. It arrived at Sandwich, and was then taken to the Tower of London, where, by the king's command, a house had been built for it. Ten feet high to the top of its back, England's first elephant lived to the age of 41 years. Its keeper was John Goach.

An elephant's skin is generally of a deep ash-brown, but sometimes it is white or cream-colored. The latter variety is very valuable and highly prized, being one of the attributes of royalty in Siam. One of the titles of the King of Siam, by the way, is "Lord of the White Eelephant."

Whilst on the subject, it is interesting to find that in many parts of India elephants have been appointed official executioners of justice. They will break the limbs of a criminal, trample him to death, or pierce him with their tusks, according to their master's instructions.—Answers.

Just Like Home.

The mild, bald man had settled down in the train to read, and feeling drowsy after a trying day at business, fell asleep. On the hat-rack above was a bucket containing a ferocious crab, and, reaching the edge of the rack, it fell, alighting on the man's shoulder, and grabbed his ear to steady itself.

All of the passengers waited expectantly for developments, but all they heard was:

"Let go, Sarah! I tell you I've been at the office all the evening."

A Wicked City.

"Port Said still is the wickedest place on earth," said Brig.-Gen. J. H. Bateson in an address to soldiers recently. "I know Calcutta, Bombay and Madras better than I know London," he continued. "I have had to live in the east for a quarter of a century and I know what Cairo and Ismalia are, but I have seen more sin and appearances of sin in one hour in Port Said than in all the rest of my experiences."

A Remedy.

A large plot of land at Fort Erie, owned by a Chicago plutocrat, has been held idle for years, in the expectation that a bridge will be built there. But the Fort Erie municipality has hoisted the taxes to a figure that will probably release the land for practical every-day use. That is the way to prevent the speculators blocking progress.

Costly Boys.

Educators declare that it costs much more to educate a boy than it does a girl largely because of a boy's tendency to destructiveness, as for instance, window breaking, lamp smashing, jack-knife carving on desks and other pastimes dear to the heart of a boy.

HEAR
"THE LOVE NEST"
on a Victor Record at
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

FRIDAY and SATURDAY
Marvelous Reductions

REAL SPRING LAMB
LEGS OF LAMB . . . . . . 38c.
LOINS OF LAMB . . . . . . 32c.
FRONTS OF LAMB . . . . . . 25c.
SHOULDER CHOP . . . . . . 30c.
LOIN CHOP . . . . . . 40c.
STEW LAMB . . . . . . 18c.

WESTERN BEEF PRICES
SHOULDER ROAST . . . . . . 23c.
BLADE ROAST . . . . . . 25c.
CENTRE RIB STEW . . . . . . 22c.
HAMBURG STEAK . . . . . . 22c.
SIRLOIN STEAK . . . . . . 40c.
ROUND STEAK . . . . . . 37c.
PRIME RIBS . . . . . . 30c.
THICK RIB . . . . . . 27c.
Pickled Beef Tongue - - - 25c

Side of Smoked Bacon by the piece, per pound - - 58c
Smoked Back Bacon by the piece, per pound - - - 62c
Smoked Roll Bacon, per pound - - - - - 43c
Unsmoked Roll Bacon, per pound - - - 38c
Dry Salt Bacon, per pound - - - - 39c

DAVIES' HOME-MADE SAUSAGES
HOMEMADE SAUSAGES . . . . . 25c.
NEW ENGLAND SAUSAGES . . 32c.
LITTLE PIG . . . . . . 35c.
CHOICE BOLOGNA . . . . . . 25c.
Try Our Fresh Made Weiners

SALMON SPECIALS
5000 Large Cans Red Salmon - - - - 35c
4000 Flat Cans Red Salmon - - - - 15c
3000 Large Cans Pink Salmon - - - 2 for 35c
5000 Flat Cans Salmon - - - - 2 for 25c
10,000 Cans Sardines in oil - - - - 3 for 25c

Finest Black Tea per pound - - 46c
Pure Lard per pound - - - - 33c
Peerless Shortening per pound - - 32c

THE WILLIAM DAVIES CO. LIMITED

One Egg Cake
No chance of failure or waste of expensive materials. Only one answer to its richness—
Borden's
ST. CHARLES MILK
THE RECIPE:
½ cup Borden's diluted with ½ cup cold water; ¼ cup vegetable cooking oil; ⅔ cup sugar; 1 egg; ½ teaspoon salt; 1½ teaspoons baking powder; 1 cup barley flour; ⅔ cup cornstarch; ½ teaspoon vanilla; ½ teaspoon lemon extract. Beat egg light and cream with sugar, salt, and flavorings. Combine milk diluted, with cooking oil. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately to first mixture with the milk. Beat thoroughly, turn into lined, medium-sized pan, sprinkle nut meats, chopped raisins or coconut over top. Bake in moderate oven

"Say It With Flowers"
Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias
Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty
T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Delta	Sept. 13-15
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

-- WM. McINTOSH AND COMPANY --

A Selected List of Bargains for FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

CLEARANCE SALE OF MISSES' FALL AND SPRING COATS—An astounding bargain, when you consider the price of Coats today. Friday and Saturday only $4.25 each. (See window display).

FLANNELETTE SALE. FLANNELETTE SALE.
Only 300 yards.
36-inch Colored Flannelette, in a good serviceable weight. Regular price 50c. yard; to be placed on sale Friday and Saturday only at . . . . 29c. per yard

CHILDREN'S OVERALL DRESS SALE, 98c. EACH.
Made of good quality English Galatea in a good assortment of patterns. Just the dress for school wear. Sale price, 98c. each.

LADIES! Are you thinking of a good Sweater Coat or Pullover? If so, see our display.

OUR SPECIAL—All wool Imported Blue Serge, 40 ins. wide. $2.50 yard.

MEN'S WORK SHIRTS—Khaki, Blue and White stripes, Black Sateen, plain blue and black and white stripes.

Men's Heavy Ribbed Wool Underwear. Special at $1.75 per garment.
Men's Fleece Lined Underwear . . . . . . $1.50 per garment
Good Values in Men's Natural Wool Combinations and two-piece Underwear.
Men's Lined Work Mitts and Gloves . . . . . . 75c. to $3.00 pair.
Men's Work Trousers, a good serviceable trouser at $3.00 pr.
Men's Garters, 35c. pair. Armbands . . . . . . 35c. pair
Ties, in plain and fancy patterns . . . . . . 75c. to $1.25 each

Boilers, $1.69 each. Medium Size Suitcases $2.50 each.
Infant's Delight Soap, 3 for 25c. Brooms 50c. and 69c. each.

Wm. McIntosh & Co.

892
Painlessly remomves your corns or Ends your Bunion Torture. No appliances of metal, rubber, felt or leather. Scientific and ethical. Ask Central for above number, or call 29 Bridge St. E., Canadian Orthopedic Lab.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

For the coming season we are exceptionally well prepared to meet your requirements in the line of Curtains, Drapes, Chintzes, Rugs, Mats, Oilcloths, Linoleums and Window Shades.

CURTAINS—Our showing of curtains comprises Laces, Voiles and Marquisettes and Nets, in excellent patterns and all new designs. By the yard can be had all styles of Nets, Voiles, Marquisettes and Madras. We have an extensive showing of all the new Nets, which will surely interest you if you are needing new curtains.

DRAPES—For Drapes you may have Madras, Repp, Chintz or Velour in colorings of green, rose, brown and blue. We specially recommend our John Brown's Madras, which we are showing in lovely color combinations as well as plain colors.

CHINTZ—We have all the new and popular cloths, suitable for coverings, hangings, etc., in all colorings, and 26 to 50 inches wide, priced from 40c. to $4.00 per yard.

RUGS AND MATS—Axminster, Brussels, Tapestry and Union Rugs and Mats in all sizes, from the small door mat to the large room rug, and all moderately priced. Inspect our showing of these before you buy.

WINDOW SHADES—We can make your window shades in any size and color you may require. In stock we carry both plain and duplex blinds in white, cream and green, with or without insertion.

We make no charge for measuring and estimating on Window Shades and Linoleums.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

FUR OPENING

We are ready once again to supply the fur wants of the ladies of Belleville and vicinity.

We have spared no expense in bringing our stock right up to the minute in style and our choice and selection this year is better than ever.

We give everyone a cordial invitation to call and inspect our excellent line of coats which consists of the reliable Hudson Seal as well as coats cut on the latest designs, fashioned out of the popular furs and finished in superior style.

A VISIT FROM YOU WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING

A special meeting of the City Council for general business will be held on Monday evening next.

A SERIOUS MISTAKE

Mr. James Huff, lumber king of Wilberforce, was badly burned about the face, when he mistook a can of gasoline for kerosene in starting a fire. An explosion followed, blowing the stove into atoms.

STOLE SUM OF MONEY

A young man named O'Brien, has been sent down for three months to the County Jail here by Magistrate Jarman of Bancroft, on a charge of theft. He stole $30 from a fellow workman of Findlay's and Ferguson's saw mill in the northern part of the county.

ENTERS R. M. C.

James Allen Creighton, of Winnipeg, who is among those to receive a bursary in a Canadian university granted by the I.O.D.E. to sons and daughters of deceased and totally disabled soldiers, will study at the Royal Military College at Kingston.

RECOVERED HIS COAT

Mr. W. A. Reid, a resident of Trenton, yesterday at the police station identified his raincoat amongst the collection which the police secured from the man Heine, who was arrested here. Mr. Reid's coat, like three others, was taken from an auto.

JAW BONE BROKEN

James Reeves, a resident of Turriff, North Hastings, met with a painful accident this week, while engaged in felling a tree. The tree became lodged and in getting it down Reeves was pinned beneath it, with the result that his jaw bone was broken.

PROFESSOR ARRIVES.

Rev. J. F. McFayden, who has been appointed to the chair of New Testament Language and Literature at Queen's Theological College, succeeding Prof. E. F. Scott, arrived in Kingston from Scotland on Wednesday, accompanied by his wife and two daughters. Prof. McFayden was formerly a member of the staff of Hyslop College, Nagpur, India, one of the four colleges of the United Free Church in India.

NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR

Mr. Charles Keeber has been secable to Antwerp where he was acting ville Y. M. C. A., and the directors are to be congratualted upon their success in obtaining the services of one of the best physical directors in Canada. Mr. Keeber was engaged by cable to Antwert where he was acting as assistant coach to the Canadian Olympic team. He has had a wide experience in athletics, and was five years assistant physical director of the West End Y.M.C.A., Toronto. Mr. Keeber will report for duty in a few days.

RECOVERING FROM OPERATIONS

Rev. J. S. MacKay, B.A., and Mrs. MacKay, Presbyterian Missionaries, recently returned from India, are at Hillcrest Convalescent Home, Toronto, the former recovering from an operation involving the removal of tonsils and the latter an operation to cure a defect caused by the imperfect setting of a broken ankle while in India. It was necessary to again break the bones and re-set the fracture and from every indication the operation was eminently successful, although the plaster cast has not been removed as yet. Mr. and Mrs. MacKay will return to India at the conclusion of their furlough and continue the missionary work which they have conducted in Central India with gratifying success for a number of years. Mrs. MacKay is a sister of Mr. D. V. Sinclair, of Belleville.

DIED

BARBER—In Belleville, on Friday, Sept. 10th, 1920, William James Barber, aged 47 years.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, Huff's Island, Prince Edward County, tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon. Service at the house at two o'clock. Interment, family plot, Belleville cemetery.

JONES—In Brockville on Thursday, Sept. 9th, 1920, George Bell Jones, aged 35 years.

The funeral will take place in Belleville tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, service being held at St. Thomas' Church at 2 o'clock. Interment, Belleville cemetery.

Obsequies

SAMUEL WARD

Yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late Mr. Samuel Ward took place from the family residence, Park Street, College Hill, interment being at Duffin's Cemetery, Sidney Township. Revs. Messrs. Kemp and Brown were the officiating ministers. The bearers were Messrs. W. C. Reid, Geo. A. Bennett, P. Holliday, W. Dafoe, J. Donaldson and C. Greenleaf.

TPIP TO OLD COUNTRY USELESS, SHE SAYS

Returning Home From England Siok and Miserable She Found Relief by Taking Tanlac —Gains Nine Pounds.

"After what Tanlac has done for me I feel that the very least I can do to show my gratitude is, to allow a statement of my case to be made public for it has completely restored my health," said Mrs. May Dawson, of 1031 Ponder St., East, Vancouver, B. C.

For fully two years I had been unable to eat anything without being troubled with indigestion. My food would sour and form gas, and my heart would palpitate so that I became alarmed. I suffered from terrible pains in the pit of my stomach and would feel like I was choking. At times I felt so weak and dizzy that I could not stand without holding to something.

"I also had severe pains across the small of my back that hurt terribly whenever I attempted to stoop over. I became so weak that I could scarcely do a thing, and my nerves were so unstrung that the children playing or any unusual noise would almost drive me frantic. As the treatments and medicines did me no good a little over a year ago I went back to England, hoping the change would do me good, but I failed to find any relief over there either.

"About two months ago I returned to Vancouver, still feeling very sick and miserable. A friend got me to try Tanlac, and after taking three bottles you would never think there was ever anything the matter with me.

"I now have a splendid appetite and I am never troubled with sourness or gas, nor suffer from palpitation or shortness of breath. The pain in my back is gone and I haven't an ache of any kind. My nerves are calm and steady. I sleep like a child and get up feeling rested and full of life. I have gained nine pounds and feel as strong and healthy as I ever did in my life. My daughter Gladys also suffered with indigestion, so she took Tanlac and it completely relieved her trouble."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Wedding Bells

TUMELTY—NIXON

A very pretty church wedding was solemnized in North Parkdale Methodist church, Toronto, by Rev. Balfour, pastor, when Miss Minnie Nixon was united in marriage to Mr. Roy Tumelty, of Peterboro. Mr. Clifford Gunn assisted the groom while the bride was attended by Miss Ora Wickware and the Misses Leah Nixon and Jessie Campbell with flowers. The happy couple will reside in Peterboro. Their many friends in Toronto, Peterboro and Madoc, their childhood home, join in wishing them joy in their new life.

THINK THIS OVER

If you are accustomed to using laxatives, cathartics and physics. Why do you have to change from one to another every now and then? Well, here is the reason. The cathartic does not move the bowels. The cathartic is a poison which you put into your system. The poison is repugnant to the intelligence within your body and it ejects it as soon as possible. The contents of the bowels are thrown out with the poison cathartic. Now when you continue to burden your system with this poison it generates another poison to counteract it, and after a certain length of time enough is supplied so that it does counteract the effect of the physic.

That is when you resort to another poison you compel your body to undergo the same harmful process. Sooner or later you will have your system burdened with sufficient poison to cause some chronic illness. Then you will realize the harm—after it is too late.

Start now to restore normal action by a natural method. Let Chiropractic remove the cause of your trouble and then the normal function will be restored. Analysis and Consultation gratis. Drs. Redick & Redick, 283½ Front St., Belleville. Phone 900.

Social And Personal

Misses Nina and Vina Conger of Picton, are visiting Mrs. D. W. Adams 67 Cedar street, city.

Miss M. Allen, of Ottawa and Miss J. Shetler, of Montreal are visiting their aunt, Mrs. C. J. Bell, 40 Gordon Street.

Mrs. David Meyers and daughter Evelyn of Toronto, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. N. Schryver, 94 Chatham Street.

Mr. Cleveland Redick and bride of Sault Ste. Marie, have returned home after spending their honey-moon in Belleville, the guests of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cook, Grier Street.

Mr. P. F. Brockel, Secretary Belleville Y.M.C.A., has returned from Toronto where he attended a conference of Y. M. C. A. General Secretaries of Ontario and Quebec on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook and daughters, Mary and Laura and son Frank, have returned from a trip to Portland and Old Orchard Beach.

SIX DEATHS CAUSED BY POISONED ALCOHOL

Baltimore, Sept. 10.—The list of fatalities among civilian employees of Edgewood Arsenal, resulting from drinking some form of poisoned alcohol, was increased to six by the death of Nelson Lucius, of Rochester, N.Y. The condition of the other two known victims is said to be serious.

Thus far, the military authorities at Edgewood have been unable to find out where the liquor came from. A large quantity of alcohol for chemical purposes is stored at the post, they said.

Called by Death

GEORGE B. JONES

George B. Jones, senior member of the firm of Jones & Robinson, Canadian distributors of Marathon Belts, died at Brockville Thursday morning, at the age of 36 years.

The death of Mr. Jones was learned with deep regret by his friends who were unaware until Wednesday night that his condition was serious. A week ago he underwent an operation for appendicitis and seemed to be making good progress toward recovery until yesterday when his condition assumed a serious nature. Death was due to ulceratze endocarditis.

Mr. Jones, who was formerly a resident of Belleville, served overseas for the duration of the war with the Canadian Field Artillery, and following his return to Canada a little over a year ago, took up residence at Brockville and with Fred J. Robinson entered into memrcantile life once more. Previous to his enlistment he was a traveller for 20th Century and Artcraft Clothing and as such came in contract with scores of citizens throughout Eastern Ontario by whom he was held in highest esteem. Since going to Brockville to reside by his genial and courteous disposition and honest upright business methods he made many friends to whom the news of his death came as a distinct shock.

Surviving to mourn his loss are two sisters, Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Goodfellow in Montreal, and a brother, C. W. Jones, manager of the Walkerville branch of the Dominion Bank.

In religion Mr. Jones was an Anglican.

WM. JAS. BARBER

Mr. William James Barber of Huff's Island, Prince Edward County, died at the hospital here this morning from heart trouble. Deceased was one of the prominent residents of the adjoining county, and at the last Provincial election was at the Conservative convention proposed as a candidate but was defeated by Mr. R. A. Norman. Mr. Barber was born in Prince Edward in 1873 and had resided there all his life. He was a successful farmer and had a large following of relatives and friends. A widow, three sons, Stanley, Reginald and Clifford, and one daughter, Miss Ethel, all at home, survive.

RICHARD GREATRIX

In the passing of Mr. Richard Greatrix, which occurred at an early hour Friday morning at the family residence 156 Pinnacle Street, Belleville has lost one of its oldest and much respected citizens. On the 20th of February, 1835, deceased was born at Lincolnshire, England, being thus in his 86th year. At the age of 16 years he came out to Canada and with the exception of a short period spent in Port Hope he had resided in Belleville where he was well known and had a host of friends. For a number of years Mr. Greatrix conducted successfully a bakery business, having learned the baking trade. Of late years he had lived a retired life, but was nevertheless active until recently, when he was stricken with what proved to be his fatal illness. Deceased was a member of Chirst Church and was always active in church work. He was a gentleman possessed of a kind and charitable disposition which won the esteem of all who came in contact with him. Eight years ago Mrs. Greatrix predeceased him. A family of three sons and three daughters survive. The sons are William of Toronto, Fred of Scranton, Pa., and Ernest of Belleville. The daughters are Mrs. Carl Strom and Misses Minnie and Beatrice of this city. To those called upon to mourn the loss of a beloved parent will be extended the sincere sympathy of many friends.

SCHOOL SHOES

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

Teas
OF SUPERIOR QUALITY
New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious
Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

HEAR
"THE LOVE NEST"
on a Victor Record at
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY
CATARRH of the BLADDER relieved in 24 HOURS
Each Capsule bears the name MIDY
Beware of counterfeits

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

SATURDAY SALE

Just a few remaining lines of Summer Merchandise to be cleared Saturday—each item a distinct bargain.

LADIES' AND KIDDIES'
Middies
AT A 20% REDUCTION

All our Admiral and Kiddie Middies—many of them with Flannel Collars. All sizes. Saturday only, 20% off Regular price.

Silk Hose
$1.19 pr.

"Queen" Quality Black Silk Boot Hose—a splendid quality worth much more money. Saturday, $1.19 pair.

D. & A.
Corsets
$1.75

A complete showing of these famous Corsets at this low price. Sizes 19 to 26. Saturday, $1.75 pair.

Ladies' Cotton Hose
45c pr.

A splendid heavy Cotton Hose, at this price, in Black, White, Brown, 8½ to 10, 45c. pair.

Children's Stamped Dresses and Rompers, $1.25.

WOTTENS LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose

your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.

T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

LINDSAY'S

Your Kind of Dance Music Can Surely be Played with a

Columbia Grafonola

and Columbia Records

No matter what your preference in dance music—and English lancers, a Scottish sword dance or an Irish jig, a French minuet, a Spanish bolero or an American jazz, a Russian gazotski, a Polish mazurka or a Hawaiian waltz—you will find it in Lindsay's Columbia Record catalogue; moreover you'll find Columbia interpretation correct and the reproduction perfect in every detail.

Free demonstration at any time; drop in. Grafonolas from $37.50 up. Columbia Records $1 to $3. Easy terms of payment arranged if desired.

Al. Jolson singing at the Russell makes records for Columbia exclusively. Lindsay's have all his best numbers.

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED

249 Front Street Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 6 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—JERSEY COW. APPLY 49 Grier street, evenings. s10-2td

FOR SALE—MISSES' COAT, IN GOOD CONDITION; worn last winter only. Apply 233 Charles St., or Phone 291. 1td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

MRS. A. HARMAN HAS A NICE SELECTION of smart Fall and Winter Millinery at reasonable prices. 42½ Bridge St. upstairs. s9-6td

FOR SALE—FORD TOURING CAR IN good mechanical condition. Good tires, tire carrier, foot accelerator and speedometer. Demonstration can be arranged. 240 Dundas. s8-4td

FOR SALE—MOTOR LAUNCH, 32 FEET, equipped with 12 h.p. motor, all in good running order. Apply to Geo. Duff, Point Ann Quarries, Ont. s8-6td

$3,600—BUNGALOW FOR SALE—122 MOIRA Street west, new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Stationary tubs in basement, furnace, plumbing and electric fixtures of best quality. Apply Bank of Montreal. s7-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

WANTED.

WANTED—PARTY WHO CAN FURNISH room and board for lady teacher. Kindly communicate with The Ontario School for the Deaf. s3-dtf

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

WANTED—DINING ROOM GIRL. APPLY Mrs. Spear, Albert College. s7-4td

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR—MALE or female. Good wages to competent operator who has speed. Apply in person to The Intelligencer Office. s7-4td

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work, with references. Chas. S. Clapp. s4-dtf

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

WANTED — AT HOTEL QUINTE, BELL Boy; also girl to wash glass and silverware. s9-4td

WANTED — EXPERIENCED GROCERY clerk. Apply to Box "R." Intelligencer. s9-4td

WANTED—SMALL FURNISHED HOUSE, with modern conveniences. Possession at once. Apply Box "M." Intelligencer. s10-4t

WANTED—FURNISHED ROOM WITH OR without board, within five minutes walk of Post Office. Apply Box "O," The Intelligencer. s10-2td

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSE work. Good wages. Address Box "B," Intelligencer Office. s10-1tw.4td

WANTED—LADY CLERK, EXPERIENCED. Apply B. Shniffer, 331 Front St. s9-2td

WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEWORK. Apply 229 Albert St. Phone 654. s9-4td

WANTED—SMART GIRL TO TAKE CARE of a child. Apply 260 Front St. s9-4td

GOOD POSITION FOR TWO GIRLS. APPLY Belleville Hardware & Lock Mfg Co., Ltd., Pinnacle St. s9 4td

WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSE WORK. Wages $20. Apply to Mrs. Wm. Burrowes, 243 Bridge St. E. Phone 343. s9-2td

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—A FIRST CLASS WOMAN TO work by hour. Apply Box "B," Intelligencer.

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-d1m

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. Good wages. s3-dtf

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

LOST

LOST—TUESDAY EVENING ON FRONT or Coleman streets, gold brooch, with 2 wishbones, etc. Finder kindly return to Simpson's shoe repairing store. 1td

LOST—PARROT, ON SUNDAY, FROM 144 Station Street. Finder kindly phone 606. Reward. s7-4td

LOST—LADY'S PURSE, CONTAINING A sum of money, between factory of Toronto Hat Co. and Dundas street. Owner can ill afford to lose the money. Finder will please leave at Intelligencer Office and receive reward. s9-2td

LOST—LOCKET, K. OF C., BETWEEN 295 John Street and fair grounds, Monday. Finder kindly leave at 295 John St., or Toronto Hat Co. Reward. s9-2td

LOST—TRAVELLER'S CHEQUES, ON FAIR grounds yesterday. Finder will be rewarded by returning to 245 Front St. G. Spartas. s9-3td

TO LET.

TO LET—THREE UNFURNISHED ROOMS. Electric lights, bath and good well water. No children. Apply 181 Moira St. W. s9-4td

TO LET—ROOMS—THREE OR FOUR. APPLY 65 Grier St. s9-2td

TO LET—TWO FURNISHED ROOMS, WELL heated and suitable for light housekeeping. Conveniences and gas for cooking. Apply 228 George St. s9-2td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern—possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. s7-dtf

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS, use of bath and electric light. All conveniences, suitable for light housekeeping. Apply Box S., Intelligencer. a3-dtf

TO LET—ROOM AND BOARD, ALL CONVENIENCES, in a private family, for two ladies, or man and wife. Box "T," Intelligencer. s10-2t

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 79 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

Mr. S. M. Anglin, teacher of singing, has returned to the city and will be at the Conservatory of Music, Front street, on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and evenings. s8-6t

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Emmanuel Church Harvest Festival Services, Sunday and Monday, the 12th and 13th. On Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. the Right Rev. Bishop Willard Brewing will preach thanksgiving sermons. On Monday a public tea will be provided in the school room at 6 p. m. Tickets 40c. "God our Maker doth provide, for our wants to be supplied." s9-3td

A SUGGESTION.

When you are down town some afternoon just drop in to John Henley's and have your heels straightened WHILE YOU WAIT. s7-5t

GOODYEAR WELTS.

If you are wearing Goodyear Welted Shoes, be sure to have them repaired on genuine Goodyear machinery at John Henley's, Footbridge gangway. s7-6td

MISS CAMPBELL
Hat Shop
Phone 117 218 Front St.

Our show room is now open for a beautiful display of Fall and Winter Millinery from Paris, New York and best Canadian work rooms; also a special line of hats from ten to twelve dollars. s8-6td

ST. AGNES SCHOOL
DAY PUPILS
Re-opening September 15th

St. Agnes' School will re-open for Day Pupils on Wednesday, September 15, 1920, at 9.30 a.m.

Classes in Music, Art, Physical Culture, in addition to regular school studies. s9-3t

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

INVESTIGATION IN THOROLD RIOT CASE

St. Catharines, Sept. 10.—No arrests have been made in connection with the recent attempted lynching at Thorold, Ont., of David McNeill, charged with the murder of Margaret Beaucock, four years of age, but it is expected that warrants will be issued for the arrest of a number of prominent participants in the riot. Meantime an official enquiry is proceeding and officials state that prosecutions will follow. The accused will be tried on a charge of murder at the Assizes at Welland in October.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The first aerial birth in history is now a matter of record. "Follette", the pet dog of Henri Roget, the French Air Minister gave birth to nine puppies while she was flying in her master's plane 12000 feet above Rome Tuesday. The puppies and their mother are getting along nicely. Roget is expected here Thursday, coming by air after 6,000 miles of flying that has taken him to most European capitals. He did not suffer a single mishap. His dog accompanied him all the way.

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—of

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press, Limited.

Ex-Premier Sir William Hearst says he knows nothing of crooked timber deals.

Italian royalty carries comfort to afflicted earthquake victims.

Burning barracks is now replaced by raids for arms in Ireland. In Tullow armed and masked men attacked four police officers and shot two dead.

Forty former German liners are offered for sale in London.

The United States cruiser Pittsburg is reported on the rocks in the Baltic Sea.

Trotsky orders the finish of Wrangel. Anything anti-Soviet must be destroyed, he says.

Service rifles are issued for Irish police. The constabulary is being supplied with up-to-date weapons.

Sir William Hearst denied all knowledge of timber limit steals.

Former Junior Judge Duncan J. McIntyre of Ontario county died at Whitby.

David Taylor of Montreal, 11 years old, lived a month on the remains of food left by picnickers.

Elizabethtown township residents protest against removal of the C. N. R. Station at Lyn.

Canada has a fine mineral exhibit at Michigan State Fair.

Germany has paid France 100,000 francs as reparation for Breslau damage.

Twenty-three persons were killed at Wariensel, Germany, when a munition dump exploded.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha has issued a proclamation saying the British and French are Islam's eternal enemies.

Toronto Leafs beat Akron 2 to 0, but failed to gain on Baltimore.

Brooklyn regained the lead in the National League race.

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore			gkq vb
Baltimore	100	43	.699
Toronto	98	45	.685
Buffalo	91	50	.645
Akron	83	55	.601
Reading	62	77	.446
Jersey City	56	87	.392
Rochester	42	99	.293
Syracuse	32	108	.229

Yesterday's Results.

Toronto	2	Akron	0
Buffalo	13	Rochester	2
Jersey City	14	Reading	4
Baltimore	18	Syracuse	5

Games today—Buffalo at Toronto; Jersey City at Reading; Rochester at Akron.

NEGRO BURNED BONDS.

New York, Sept. 10.—The mystery of the disappearance several weeks ago of railroad bonds valued at $200,000 and which were mailed from Milwaukee, Wis., to Payne, Webber and Company, stock brokers of 25 Broad St., was cleared up, according to post office officials and the police, by the admission of Thaddeus Joseph Vanbuckley Rainbow Starkey, negro, of 416 West Thirty-sixth street, that the bonds were stolen from a mail sack on July 29 last, and burned when it was realized that an attempt to sell them might lead to the arrest of himself and his brother-in-law, James Johnson, negro, of 232 West Twenty-third street.

A Chinese Idol Factory.

The earliest European traders with China were the Portuguese; and hence the word "joss," referring to Chinese idols, derived from "deos," which, in the Portuguese language, means a god.

Canton and Amoy supply travelers and curio dealers with quantities of hideous idols known in the trade as "josses." They are fakes pure and simple, having no relation to any Oriental religion. But the real Chinese idols, mostly representing pot-bellied old gentlemen, or ladies with superfluous arms and hands, are not exciting enough to satisfy the Occidental demand, and so, to meet the latter, ingenious designers have produced a great variety of hobgoblins—such, for example, as the "hunger god," with the face of a tiger and ferocious fangs.

One may buy these fake josses in any city of the world, and it rarely occurs to anybody that they may not be veritable. Most of them are of clay, turned out from wooden or metal molds, dipped in molten glass and allowed to cool. A fairly expert Chiese workman can make 100 in a day at a cost of three cents a piece. The European or American tourist pays $5. Sometimes they are tinted with caustic colors and glazed.

Real josses may be worth a lot of money, especially if carved out of jade. This is a material greatly prized in the Orient, and a jade idol fifteen inches high and as many centuries old has been known to sell for $10,000 in Canton.

Cedar Threatens Apples.

Cedar trees are being cut down through some parts of the southern states to save the apples. A fungus growth known as "cedar rust" is harbored by the cedars and at certain seasons of the year attacks the apple trees and seriously interferes with the fruit crop. In one county of Virginia, practically every cedar tree has been or will be cut down to save the apple orchards.

Essentially Artistic.

"What kind of woman is Mrs. Gadspur?" "Essentially artistic." "How's that?" "The family fly swatter is adorned with a bow of pink ribbon."

TIME WAS

when a bracelet watch was a rather useless luxury. Today it is both a necessity and an ornament, desired by every woman. It is the most acceptable gift imaginable.

The bracelet watch purchased at Blackburn's is a reliable, accurate time-piece and an exquisite ornament. We have a large display from which to choose, including products of the standard watchmakers — beautifully designed and attractively priced.

$20.00 to $65.00

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

Are You in a Hurry?
IF SO, COMMAND
the Scantlebury Service

House Decorating
Painting
Sign Writing
Auto Painting
Picture Framing
Church Decorating

The SCANTLEBURY
BIG PAINT AND PAPER STORE
Near Victoria Ave.

C. B. Scantlebury
Designer and Decorator.

SATURDAY SPECIAL CANDY SALE

TURKISH DELIGHT
Delicious, Delightful Delight
Fresh made, nut and plain.
Regular price 65c. and 70c. lb.
Saturday Special Price:
ONE pound . . . . . 52c.
TWO pounds . . . $1.00

CHAS. S. CLAPP

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

HEAR
"THE LOVE NEST"
on a Victor Record at
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

PEASANT REPUBLIC

HARBON, Manchuria, Sept. 10.—Advices from West Siberia announce the formation of a Peasant Republic in the Altai region with a war council composed of military chiefs and three civilians.

RITCHIE'S

SATURDAY SPECIALS

TWO EXCEPTIONAL

HOSIERY SAVINGS

FROM THE HOSIERY DEPT.

Ladies Plain Black Cashmere Hose

Ladies' Plain Black Cashmere Hose, "seconds," with slight imperfections—no holes—worth reg. $2.00. Saturday special . . . $1.19

Ladies' Black Lisle Hose

Seconds, Penman's make, with silky finish; worth reg. $1.00. Saturday special, 65c. pair.

36 in. Dress Goods

36-inch Dress Goods, Armure weave, in Copen., Navy, Brown and Cardinal, suitable for children's school dresses. Worth reg. $1.75. Saturday special . . . $1.39

Gloves, 59c pair

Odd lines of Ladies' Tan and Black, long and short Silk and Lisle; worth reg. up to $1.25 pair. On sale, 59c.

35 in. White Cotton

Canadian make, fully bleached. Worth reg. 40c. On sale Saturday only .... 29c.

18 in. Cotton Huck Toweling

Medium weight and pure white. Soft finish. Worth reg. 30c. On sale 19c. yard.

Dresden Ribbons 79c

—in light and dark shades, 5½ inches wide, suitable for Camisoles, Bags, etc., worth reg. $1.00. On sale 79c. yd.

$1.00 - PURSES - $1.00

Ladies' Hand Purses with back strap; two compartments, with flap and dome fastener. Very special at $1.00 each.

Flannelette Night Gowns $1.69

Made of good heavy White Flannelette; good full size garments. Regular $1.90. Saturday $1.69

Corsets Half Price

About 2 dozen pairs Bon Ton Corsets, regular $4.50 to $6.00 pr. Saturday to clear, Half Reg. Price

Ladies' Vests

—in white and natural; long sleeves; good fall weight.

60c garment

Apron Dress

$1.65—Reg. $2.00

Made of good quality print; short sleeves, button down side front; belt, pocket; sizes 36 to 42. Reg. value $2.00, for $1.65

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

South winds; showers tonight.

Sunday—Southwest winds, a few scattered showers, but mostly fine and warm.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 280.

Premier at Kingston Discusses National Problems

GOVERNMENT ASKS ADVICE OF PEOPLE—TAXATION PROBLEMS ARE REVIEWED—NECESSARIES MUST BE TAXED—DUTY OF ALL BUSINESS MEN TO ADVISE THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 10.—At a get-together banquet here Thursday evening given by W. R. Givens, managing director of the Standard, at the Frontenac Club, the chief guests were Premier Meighen and Sir Henry Drayton, and over one hundred citizens of all shades of political opinion gathered to listen to the addresses of the distinguished visitors. Premier Meighen devoted most of his time to discussing taxation from all its angles speaking of the methods which had been adopted during the war, and comparing the course taken by the Dominion, with what had been done by Great Britain and other countries. Dealing with the income taxation, he pointed out that, while many believed that not enough had been done in that way, there were many things to consider by those who would go farther. He dwelt on the position of Canada being so close to the United States, which, with its commanding position could offer better inducements to the investor. No investor would be attracted to a country where there was danger of being heavily taxed, when another country close by could offer better inducements, and it behooved Canada to be careful in dealing with income tax increases.

Discussing the position of the farmers of Canada, he pointed out that the taxes on implements to-day were about the same as had been in force twenty years ago. There has always been a tendency for all taxes to decrease as time went on, for the reason that people began to import lines of goods which were free, or which carried lower rates of duty. The situation, as it affected the farmers, was as good as it had been under past Governments.

Seeking People's Advice

Speaking of the policy of the Government regarding changes in taxation, he said that it was the intention of the Cabinet to get from the people the best means of making changes, if changes were necessary, and for this purpose a commission was to visit the country and seek the advice of the people. He urged that all business men give the best advice possible to that commission to the end that whatever conclusions were reached, they would be for the best interest of Canada. It was easy to talk about the high cost of living and of the steps which should be taken to reduce it, said the Premier, but could any one say that reduction of the duties on necessities of life would do it. What were necessities of life; could one tax one thing and not another?

Those who weighed that and who advocated the reduction of duties on some things and not on others would find that if the duties were taken off some things they would have to be taken off all. No one thing could stand alone. If the necessaries of life were untaxed what was left to provide the necessary revenue? From the standpoint of the commercial integrity of the country it cannot be done, said Mr. Meighen.

Rural Depopulation.

Referring to the reduction of rural population in Canada, the Premier claimed that the figures showed that even while there had been a slight decrease, the situation was not nearly so great as in other countries, and that there was no need for alarm. One of the best reasons why the condition of the farmer was better today than formerly was the increase in the value of farm property. He pointed out that the system of taxation in force could not be unfair to the farmer when increases had been as great as an average of 45 per cent. from 1910 to 1919 throughout the Dominion. In Ontario there had been an increase of 40 per cent. in the value of land actually farmed. This advance would not come if the taxation were unfair.

"It is remarkable," said the Premier, "that the Government taxes the big interest man higher than any other country in the world.

"The sales tax is a path untrodden by any other country in the world. Canada is the pioneer in this form of taxation. Then we have the luxury tax, which I am sure has curtailed extravagance. Then there is the tax on improved land which is fundamentally a local matter. "Are the general lines of the policy of the Government sound from the standpoint of argument and experience?

"If the Government goes down," said Premier Meighen, "it will be the gain of the controlling interests which had their birth in the West and which are led by T. A. Crerar and Mr. Wood, of Alberta, bringing back the principles rejected four or five times by the people. You have to decide between a destructive policy and a protective one.

'The William Ivens, the Thomas Richardsons, who misrepresent Labor in the country, that sort of representation will be found in the ranks of the opponents. I have faith in the sound thinking of the people of Canada today, on whom the Government of Canada appeals and depends. The Government to-day is composed of men whose honesty and best interests are given to the country.

"The Government is under the strong responsibility to take a strong and straight course, and not only to take the course, but to follow it. It is their duty to se that their entire energy is thrown into this, and to throw out the battle cry and get into the fight. If the Government goes down then Canada will know that she has had the greatest fight such as never was seen before."

Premier Meighen was given a wonderful ovation when he resumed his seat.

◆

Two-Edged Famine is Threatening Erin

Peat Is Running Short, and Crops Are Damaged by Rain.

London, Sept. 9.—In the political turmoil in Ireland one fact is being almost ignored, says a Connaught correspondent—the imminent danger of a two-edged famine—fuel and food.

For three months in succession there has been an incessant downpour of rain. The turf, the only source of fuel, is perishing for want of heat, and already the supply is running short. The price in towns has risen from 5s. to £1 a load.

Since 1861 no such dismal prospect has confronted the Irish.

To the same cause must be attributed the failure of the crops. Potatoes were planted a month late and were only about half grown when attacked by the blight.

The spraying with copper-sulphate, which had hitherto proved a most efficacious remedy, has had no beneficial effect this season as it was washed off as quickly as it was applied.

Hay in large quantities may be seen rotting everywhere, and the after-grass is growing rank over the decayed crop.

Corn crops stand moisture better, but the prospect of harvesting is hopeless.

With the failure of the crops the remunerative pig-breeding industry, which has developed immensely in recent years, is brought to a standstill. Poultry also ceases to be profitable.

Altogether the prospect confronting the Irish peasant in such counties as Mayo, Sligo and Leitrim has not been so menacing for many years.

◆

WOMEN OF ALL NATIONS TO MEET

Women from countries that remained neutral and from those that took opposite sides in the late war will assemble in the first meeting since 1914 at the Quinquennial Congress of the International Council of Women, at Christiania, Norway, September 8 to 17.

The object of the congress is to provide a means of communication between women's organizations in all countries on questions relating to the welfare of the commonwealth, the family and the individual. Some 400 women, including several Americans, have enrolled to attend.

Discussions will be held on such subjects as new lines in the system of education, international aspects of public health, the housing problem, the campaign against social diseases, and the League of Nations.

Delegates will be received in the Royal Palace by Queen Maud of Norway, the city of Christiania will tender a luncheon, and they will be entertained by various civic societies.

The meetings of the council are to be held in the Norwegian Parliament building.

Great Painting Depicts the War

PARIS (by mail—The idea of two well known Paris artists, Pierre Carrier-Belleuse and August-Francois Gorguet, conceived in 1914 and at once put into effect, has resulted in a gallery of battle panoramas and war portraits which, though a private enterprise, is likely to become as famous to tourists as the Eiffel Tower.

Portraits are still being added, but the present collection of six thousand in the foyer is said to fill the original plan. The gallery is called the Pantheon de la Guerre. It occupies a special building, which was begun in 1914. The building is octagonal, but looks like nothing so much as a great oil tank covered with stucco and having a square foyer in front with a classic entrance portico supported by Greek pillars. It stands near the Esplanade in the Invalides, on the rue de l'Universite.

In The Entrance

In the foyer is the great collection of war portraits, all of uniform size and a bit monotonous, although the predominance of the trench horizon blue and the splashes of khaki make a pleasing mass color effect. These portraits include all of the French generals, admirals, heroes like Guyenemer, statesmen, allied kings and queens (excepting the British, who have not yet been able to pose in Paris), the allied ambassadors and General Pershing. Most of the American portraits here are not identifiable excepting by acquaintances as the catalogue gives only the last names.

These portraits are to the right of the entrance. On the left is a group of preliminary sketches of the great panorama which one must climb dark steps to see. There is also an entrance to a little studio with a sign informing visitors to enter and make appointment for portrait painting by M. Gorguet. By the way, seventeen other French artists helped the two founders to complete the institution. It has been described by Rene Bazin of the French academy as a prodigious work of art, well composed, well painted, and destined to last.

Deceives the Eye

After stumbling up the dark steps you find yourself on a sort of pedestal in the centre of the circular building, with 375 feet of canvas, fifty feet high stretched all around. A wire fence keeps you on the pedestal and here you are the victim of an illusion. Such is the triumph in realism of the artists that every figure, every object stands out as if modeled in material.

The foreground is worked out in minute detail; this is a sort of marble platform with steps leading up to it, and all the allied leaders and their flags painted most photographically on the platform or on the steps, with a wall as a background. Then beyond this wall is the great continuous field of battle, from the Yser and Ypres to Alsace, said to be geographically correct. To an eye taking in mass color, there is an embroidery of horizon blue on every section of the front.

Quickly, at first sight, you see Rheims cathedral burning, and the wreckage of Verdun which is above the American group. You see mountains and rivers, clumsy tanks in fields, motor lorries, and long winding roads lined with ambulances—everywhere little groups of active blue—many airplanes and above all a very troubled but beautifully painted sky. The panorama is an invaluable guide to anyone starting on a tour of the battle fields; it quickly gives a vision of Northern France that topographical maps never quite suggest.

Roosevelt has a prominent place in the American group, standing on a lower step and in an attitude of aggressive appeal. Wilson stands in front of a bust of Washington with the cabinet all about, and Hoover, Pershing, Sims, Gerard, Taft, House all there—and Mrs. Vanderbilt again and other American women nursing soldiers and washing and dressing little children. Among the nondescript figures are a cowboy, an office man and a farmer.

Haig is the centre of the British group, with the king on his right giving up the Prince of Wales (in full kit) for service in France. Lloyd George occupies the same forward place, the second step, as Roosevelt in the American group.

Heroes of the War

"Heroes", in the French section, shows thousands of individual fighters which the crowd is ever studying, trying to find a friend or relative to recognize. But best of all are the spectators' comments on the national groups, the figures being generally mistaken for statues. "I wonder how they keep those steps so spotlessly white; should think dust would settle on them," declared one American woman. A few that are skeptical descend from the pedestal to a circular enclosure beneath it, where visitors are invited to study the national groups on the level. There is a great craning of necks and squinting of eyes here until the fact that every figure, every object, even the steps, are all achievements in paint laid on flat canvas is without question.

The French heroes are supposed to stand on the steps of the Temple of Glory, beside which is the Monument of the Dead, a very solemn and impressive design. Five steps lead up to it from all sides. In the front a large wreath lies on the steps to the right. The base is like a plain cenotaph, in front of which the black-robed figure of a woman kneels. Above are bronzed poilus supporting a coffin draped with a French flag, including standard. The figures hold the coffin high, at arm's length.

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN
Premier of Canada.

◆

Service Rifles For Irish Police

Irish Constabulary Being Supplied With Up-to-Date Weapons

DUBLIN, Sept. 10.—John Moriarty, the young son of a farmer at Dingle, County Kerry, was shot and killed by armed raiders Wednesday night, while he was trying to make his escape with two policemen who were visiting his father. The belief was expressed at Dublin Castle that the two policemen subsequently were kidnapped by the raiders.

The Irish Constabulary soon will be equipped with up-to-date service rifles and revolvers, quantities of which have arrived in Belfast and Dublin.

Raids for arms by Sinn Feiners have supplanted barrack burning in various parts of the country. Wednesday night raiders entered the home of Sir Lambert Ormsby, former president of the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland, and held up his daughters at the point of revolvers and secured two guns.

At Toome Bridge, Antrim, another raid on a farmer's house resulted in the death of the farmer's daughter from shock.

At Moneymore, seekers for arms met with a lively reception at a house they visited, and the police arrived and arrested two of the would-be raiders.

◆

CARDINAL DENOUNCES SINN FEIN MURDERS

Under the heading, "Not war, but Murder," the New York Times discusses Cardinal Logue's recent pronouncement regarding the killing of an Irish constable while in the performance of his duty.

"Cardinal Logue of Ireland has spoken a timely and authoritative word about the continued assassinations of Irish policemen," says the Times. "Sinn Fein has been putting about the excuse that 'war' exists between the Irish Republic and England; that the constabulary is really a part of the armed forces of the 'enemy,' and therefore that its members are liable to be shot on sight. But Cardinal Logue sternly repudiates this in the name of the Catholice church. He solemnly warns all Irishmen that the shooting down of inoffensive men who are but doing their duty is not only a wanton and ghastly crime, but an act for which the perpetrators will be held 'guilty before God.'

"This is a most needed and wholesome pronouncement. At first the Catholic Church was strongly opposed the Sinn Fein movement. Afterwards the majority of the priests and prelates joined with the mass of their countrymen in the South of Ireland in supporting it. But the line is drawn by Cardinal Logue at the cowardly murders which have been committed on the thin pretence of making war."

Anti-British Policy of Revolutionists

Speakers in Parliamentary Meeting in London Declare World Revolutionary Meeting Aims at Destruction of the British Empire.

WESTMINSTER, England, Sept. 10.—A largely attended meeting of members of both Houses of Parliament was held recently to consider the present world-wide revolutionary movement which is said to link up the International Socialists with the Sinn Feiners in Ireland, the Nationalist leaders in Egypt and India and Soviet Government of Russia. The Duke of Northumberland presided and spoke of the serious imperial danger involved and the necessity of taking steps to combat it. He traced the revolutionary movement, explaining that Sinn Fein had grown out of a semi-utopian and largely literary movement, under the guidance of James Connolly, who considered that Daniel O'Connell, Charles Stewart Parnell and other Nationalist leaders had influenced the Irish people in the wrong direction. The Irish problem was not merely an agitation for Irish independence, but was a far-reaching revolutionary movement the first aim of which was the destruction of the British Empire.

He stated that there was ample evidence of the reliance placed by Sinn Fein on a general strike of the "Triple Alliance" of miners', railwaymen's and transport workers' unions in Great Britain, and every period of Labor unrest in Great Britain had synchronized with a fresh outbreak of violence in Ireland.

Miners' Demands Considered.

The Duke lined up the fresh demand of the executive of the Miners' Federation with the present acute Irish situation, all of which was to be accompanied by support of the Bolsheviki in Russia. He asserted that there was positive proof of the alliance between these elements last year, and there was every reason to suppose that the understanding was as firm today

Continuing, the Duke said: "To sum up the situation very briefly, the two parties in Ireland, which are working, the one for national independence and the other for world revolution, are in alliance; they are also in alliance with international Socialism and have embraced the Third International. They are working in England with the London Workers' Committee and the Workers Socialist Federation, and Sinn Fein has an understanding with certain of the representatives of the great Trades Union Federation. This section of Labor is again in close touch with the Soviet Government. The secretary of the Transport Workers' Federation has been decorated by Nicholas Lenine, and the president of the Miners' Federation has been officially thanked by him. We also know that there is the closest touch between all these parties and the Nationalist movement in India and Egypt.

World-Wide Conspiracy.

Such is the world-wide conspiracy which now aims at the destruction of the British Empire. As the press abundantly showed, those conspirators realize that Ireland is the "Achilles heel" of England, that it is the weak point in the armor of a power which is the principal guardian of law and order throughout the world."

He was followed by other speakers, including Lord Salisbury and Sir Edward Carson, who, amongst other things said: "What has been said by the Duke is absolutely true. It is not a pro-Irish conspiracy, it is an anti-British conspiracy, and it is not confined to Ireland. The same emissaries that came to Ireland from America last year, when they were allowed to go there—they should not have been allowed into the country—the same men in New York have Indian and Egyptian offices in different parts of New York and their idea is to break down this Empire and get rid of the sea power of this country. It is being worked from America, and let no man be in doubt about that. You cannot exaggerate its importance."

The meeting concluded by carrying a resolution to ask the Prime Minister to receive a deputation at the earliest moment convenient to himself.

◆

THREE MEN INJURED WHEN CAR TURNS TURTLE

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 9.—Leslie McVeigh, a garage proprietor of Smith's Falls, is suffering from internal injuries, believed to be serious, as the result of being pinned under his car when it turned turtle on the Glen Tay Road, caused by the breaking of an axle. A companion named Thomas had his wrist broken, and another named Hogan, his knee hurt. The fourth occupant of the car, Halpenny, escaped injury.

Italian Queen And Princess Helping Earthquake Victims

SAD SIGHTS IN DEVASTATED VILLAGES—CHILDREN SEEK FOR MISSING PARENTS—ENTIRE FAMILIES WIPED OUT IN SOME CASES.

FIVIZZANO, Italy, Sept. 10.—Survivors of Tuesday morning's earthquake which laid the once flourishing and cheerful town of Fivizzano in ruins are, as the hours pass, coming to realize more and more the extent of the calamity that has befallen them and they seem stupefied with the horror of the disaster.

The work of rescue went on all last night and doctors, sanitary assistants, sailors from the Italian dreadnought Cavour, students, nurses and volunteers wore themselves out in their efforts to bring comfort to as many as possible. Motor lorries are beginning to arrive regularly bringing cooked food and tools for the men engaged in the work of excavation. Portable ovens are being set up, since there is hardly a house standing in the city.

As in former earthquakes, some families have been rescued almost without injury from the ruins of their homes, while in other cases every inmate of shattered dwellings was killed.

One little girl whom nobody recognizes wanders about the town with her frock torn and tears running down her begrimed face, asking piteously for "mama mia." She possibly is a child of visitors here for the summer season, and was playing in a field when the earthquake came. Her family was probably wiped out. She cannot tell where she lives and knows only that her name is "Tina" and that she came here with her father, mother and little brothers.

THINKS WORST OVER.

FLORENCE, Sept. 10.—Minor earthquake shocks which have been felt since the disastrous tremor of Tuesday morning in the devastated zone north of this city, indicate the disturbance is subsiding, according to Father Alfani, director of the observatory here. He said that small shocks succeeded each other rather frequently, showing that the seismic phenomena are wearing themselves out, while if a long pause succeeds a severe earthquake another shock occurs which may be considered as the culmination of the small shocks which should have come at intervals.

"The shocks in the present case," he declared, "are to be considered as good omens, as indicating that no serious recurrence of the earthquake may be expected."

QUEEN AND PRINCESS THERE.

ROME, Sept. 10.—The Queen and Princess Jolanda have visited a number of devastated towns in the region visited by earthquake shocks this week, distributing sums of money and in other ways seeking to alleviate the sufferings of refugees. While the Royal Party were at Fivizzano there was a recurrence at Castelnuevo. The Queen visited the homes of the wounded and cheered them by her presence.

Chemical Works Seized By Workers

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

MILAN, Sept. 11.—More than two hundred chemical works here were occupied by workmen at a given signal late yesterday and red flags were hoisted above them on orders issued by the Chamber of Labor. The plants were occupied simultaneously, the movement being carried out following a signal from a siren. Immediately afterwards red flags and banners bearing Bolshevik emblems of hammer and scythe were hoisted. The workers obeyed the order in spite of the fact that they were recently granted wage increases of from sixty to seventy cents a day. The Chamber of Labor in explaining the seizure of the chemical works, declared the move was not in the nature of a real occupation of the plants, but was simply a measure which was necessary to guarantee the metal workers materials they need to carry on industry.

◆

PRESCRIPTION WRITER IS TOO SWIFT FOR CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 9—Federal authorities today revoked the liquor license of Dr. M. A. Fash, who is termed the champion prescription writer. It developed during the hearing that the physician wrote 308 liquor prescriptions in one day. The record for four days was 710.

It was figured that with this record the doctor must have started to work at 7 in the morning and did not stop until midnight. The physician declared that he had given an examination of three and one-half minutes to each patient before deciding that their systems needed a stimulant. He admitted that he did not stop for meals, having his lunches brought to his office.

He attempted to defend himself on the ground that he did not understand the law.

◆

FORMER JUDGE McINTYRE PASSES AWAY AT WHITBY

WHITBY, Sept. 9.—Duncan John McIntyre, retired, Junior Judge of the county of Ontario, died at his home here yesterday in his 79th year. He had been at the Lake of Bays with his family for the summer, but was taken ill there and last week was brought to his home here.

Cost of Bread Has Reached Peak

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—That the cost of bread has reached the peak, and, in view of the abundance of wheat, a lower price may be expected when the new crop comes into general consumption during the present month and October, is the opinion of the economic division of the Board of Commerce in its report on the cost of the production of bread in Canada for the month of July. The report shows that the average cost of producing and delivering a twenty-four ounce loaf worked out at thirteen cents for July. The total price per average pound of bread was one-tenth of a cent over the June price.

◆

PARCEL POST FACILITIES UNITED STATES AND CHILE

It is announced that an agreement has been made between the Chilean and United States postal authorities providing for the establishment of parcel post facilities between the two countries, effective upon ratification by the Chilean congress. Parcels that would be accepted locally in either country, subject to postal regulations, and not exceeding eleven pounds in weight, would be mailable under the agreement.

DEAD, YET LIVETH.

Peculiar interest is attached to the feature picture at Griffin's for the week-end, the star Olive Thomas, having been the victim of a tragic death in Paris, France, Friday, succumbing to bichloride of mercury poisoning.

She was one of the most attractive women of the motion picture world and a talented actress with thousands of admirers.

Olive Thomas was the wife of Jack Pickford, and with a number of other leading lights of the motion picture world was in France for some weeks.

Olive Thomas is dead, and yet alive, for she will live for a long time on the screen and entertain millions of people by her talents.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

IN THE PUBLIC EYE
BY Alex Ray, Opt. D.
A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
192 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

Hot? Drink FAM-LY-ADE

WITH FAM-LY-ADE you can make a cooling, tang-filled beverage at home—five true fruit flavors to choose from. FAM-LY-ADE comes in a tube which makes 32 sparkling glasses. Simple directions on each package.

35c a tube at grocers and druggists. Made in Canada.

BATTERIES
Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS
REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

CUTS AND BURNS

Heal Healthily When You Apply "ABSORBINE JR."

Infection won't creep in, pus won't form or proud flesh cause complications, if you bathe the wound with "ABSORBINE JR."

This home liniment—so powerful in its destruction to germs yet so soothing and healing to the flesh—stops the bleeding and eases the pain.

"ABSORBINE JR." can be put into an open wound with the assurance that it will both cleanse and heal.

It is equally good for treating Boils, Abscesses, Sores, Carbuncles, Ulcers, Felons and Run-around. "ABSORBINE JR." arrests inflammation, cleanses the sore, destroys pus and starts rapid and healthy healing.

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists or sent postpaid by W. F. YOUNG, INC., Lyman Building, Montreal. 35

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Mercer Hospital

Graduate Nurses can always obtain positions at attractive salaries in private nursing, schools, hospitals, insurance companies, industries, etc. Nurses are needed more at present than ever before.

Mercer Hospital offers a three years course of instruction with board, laundry and medical care, in case of illness, free. Monthly allowance is given sufficiently large to cover cost of text books and uniforms and enable the student nurse to take the training without other financial assistance. Classes are now being formed. For information call or address

Superintendent of Training School
MERCER HOSPITAL
Trenton, N.J.

WAR PROFITS.

Japan and United States Made Money Out of War.

Who emerged from the war with the greatest accretion of national wealth? Edgar Crammond, the best-known British statistician, maintains that it is Japan. In an address before the Institute of Bankers he insisted that while Japan's war expenditure was negligible, her national wealth had actually doubled since 1914, being now $23,500,000,000.

Regarding other nations in the war, Mr. Crammond found that the United States had increased its national wealth during the same period by 30 per cent. In 1914 it amounted to $210,000,000,000; to-day it is between $350,000,000,000 and $400,000,000,000. In 1914 America owed Europe $10,000,000,000, now Europe owes America just the same amount.

He calculates Great Britain's total war losses under all heads at $26,000,000,000, less $10,000,000,000 in new equipments of manufacturing plants, loans to allies and Dominions, assets received from Germany, and the value of territories taken over under the peace treaty. Britain's national wealth is now $12,000,000,000, the final cost of the war to the country being 12.7 per cent. of the national wealth.

The wealth of the British Empire as a whole has increased by nearly 100 per cent. In 1910 the value of the Empire was $124,930,000,000 and its annual income $16,660,000,000; now the figures are, respectively, $230,400,000,000 and $38,250,000,000.

Subject to the indemnity she collects from Germany, France lost one-fourth of her national wealth. Her expenditures aggregated $31,250,000,000, less the capital value of Alsace-Lorraine, which Crammond puts at $4,000,000,000. Her national wealth to-day is $53,500,000,000.

Belgium spent $2,750,000,000. Her national wealth is now $12,000,000,000, or 10 per cent. less than it was in 1914. She also has to recover $1,050,000,000 from the general indemnity Germany is supposed to pay.

As to Germany herself, she tops all the nations with a war expenditure of $42,500,000,000. If the final indemnity figure is fixed according to French ideas—i.e., $31,250,000—her total loss through the war will be about $75,000,000,000, or one-half of her national wealth.

Britain Is "Good Pay."

Great Britain came out of the world war about thirty-six billion dollars deeper in debt than when she entered it. Only about one-sixth of this debt is owed to other countries. Her own people hold six-sevenths of it.

On her past reputation, which has been traced for more than two centuries in a study of "English Public Finance," just published by the Bankers' Trust Company, of New York, Britain's present creditors may list her as "good pay."

The Bankers' Trust Company's book shows that since 1688, when the British national debt first began to grow large, Britain has scrupulously kept her financial obligations. Prior to the present time Great Britain's debt was heaviest in 1817 at the end of the Napoleonic wars. It then amounted to about four billion dollars and the interest charge alone represented an annual payment of about $9 a head based on the total population of the country. By 1895 it had been reduced by about a billion dollars, notwithstanding that the Crimean war, costing some $350,000,000, exclusive of pensions, had intervened. The per capita carrying charge was brought down to less than $3.50 a year.

Heavy taxation, the book shows, has always been levied by Great Britain to enable her to pay her debts. Her people paid in taxes almost four billion dollars to defray part of the costs of the Napoleonic wars, and about half a billion dollars to help pay for the South African war.

They paid about 18 billion dollars in taxes to meet their expenses during the world war, or more than one-third of what the war cost Great Britain.

"A moral phase of the situation which is at the base of Britain's credit structure," says the Bankers Trust Company, "is that not once apparently was there even a thought of repudiation—even when the burden of debt pressed heaviest. Fears there were in plenty of the ability of the nation to meet its obligations, but never once a suggestion of trying to get rid of the obligations in any other way than the good old-fashioned one of paying."

Military Maud Mullers.

Wearing lonk khaki coats, khaki trousers, leather leggings and Boy Scout hats, three score girls of the British Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, nicknamed "Waacs," reached New South Wales, Australia, in June as the guests of the State Government.

These unusual settlers, in consideration of free passage from England, had agreed to remain in New South Wales at least one year; and they were prepared, they said, to do "anything"—farm work, office work, domestic work, architectural draughting mechanical engineering, etc.

Two of the girls, on their father's farm in Surrey, had been accustomed, as they explained, to milking forty cows, looking after calves and pigs, cultivating fields, mowing grass and "tossing" hay.

Eyes a Handicap.

Many capable actors and actresses are precluded from winning the success which would otherwise surely be theirs "on the films" because of the color of their eyes. Eyes of light blue, for example, are a distinct disadvantage, while gray ones are only a little less so. The darker the eyes the better the effect on the screen.

Something New.

Teacher—Name something of importance existing to-day that was not in existence one hundred years ago.

Small Pupil—Me.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

Lends Fragrance to the simplest meal

"SALADA"
TEA
8718 is pure, wholesome and delicious.

Send us a post card for a free sample, stating the price you now pay and if you use Black, Green or Mixed Tea. Address Salada, Toronto.

City & Country

HARVEST FESTIVAL SERVICES.

Bishop Brewing, of the Reformed Episcopal Church, will be in this city tomorrow and will preach harvest festival sermons at Emmanuel Church.

A PROLIFIC YIELD.

Mr. Willoughby Wilkins of 53 Octavia street, in the spring planted one potato in a hill, and when he dug the hill this week he secured 40 potatoes, the combined weight of which was 15 pounds.

LOST HIS CROP.

Lightning on Tuesday morning struck the large barn of Hiram Kotchpaw, Prince Edward, south of Deseronto ferry, and in the fire that followed Mr. Kotchapaw lost his building, season's crop, pig-pen and hen-house

TWEED RESIDENCE BURNED.

On Thursday evening the residence of Mr. Gus Thompson in the village of Tweed was destroyed by fire. The fire had gained such headway before it was noticed that only a few articles of furniture were saved. Practically everything went up in smoke. Loss partially covered by insurance.

SAY RAILWAY NEGLIGENT.

In returning a verdict that John A. St. Denis, the G.T.R. switchman, formerly of Belleville, who was fatally injured at the Rheinhart siding, Don Esplanade, Toronto, on September 1, came to his death by being killed by a freight car, a Toronto jury added a rider declaring the company negligent in having placed its cars on the siding too close to the tracks on which deceased was working. St. Denis was caught in a V-shaped point between standing cars and a moving train on diverging tracks.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Marmora nearly had another tragedy last Sunday when Mrs. Geo. Riley attempted to commit suicide by drowning. She jumped in the water near to the place where the body of her daughter, Mrs. Alex. Boyd, was found a few weeks ago. Her rash act was noticed by two or three neighbors, who immediately rescued her, but she insisted that they might as well let her go as she would carry out her purpose anyway. As a result the constable was called and she was placed under arrest. On Monday she came before Mr. B. C. Hubbell, J.P., and was committed to Belleville jail to await trial by the proper authorities.

PROHIBITION PARTY'S PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

Maintenance of the federal prohibition laws is the keynote of the Prohibition Party's presidential campaign according to W. G. Calderwood, prohibition campaign manager, in discussing the issues as viewed by his party.

"The position of the party in this campaign," Mr. Calderwood said, "is that the Prohibition Party is needed in the failure of the major parties to take any stand on the prohibition question.

"Next to prohibition, our candidates will discuss the League of Nations. I think we take the best stand of any on this question. We urge immediate ratification of the league treaty together with the covenant. We believe the quickest and best way to obtain what changes are needed is to get into the league and fix it from the inside, according as experience teaches, rather than stand around theorizing to no effect on the outside and so blocking progress."

The speaking tour of the Prohibition Party's presidential nominee, Aaron S. Watkins, of Germantown, O., began on September 6th. The vice-presidential candidate, D. Leigh Colvin, of New York, has already been on the road several weeks. He is swinging through the west and will be in San Francisco today.

Mr. Watkins' first trip will carry him through the middle west, and both he and Mr. Colvin knock off for a couple of days around September 23 to at- against Alcoholism in Washington. From there the candidates will go east and south, touring separately for the most part, but holding occasional joint meetings in important eastern cities.

Campaign headquarters are situated in Chicago, at national headquarters of the party. W. G. Calderwood, the campaign manager, is a member of the prohibition national committee and a resident of Minneapolis.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS.

Those who are fond of old-time minstrelsy, will have their innings at Griffin's next Thursday night, September 16th, where Gus Hill's Minstrels will hold forth. It is claimed that this splendid organization has surpassed all previous efforts in minstrelsy. Every angle in minstrelsy has been treated with a new and unique twist, resulting in a production radiant with brightness and freshness that is a treat to behold. The company numbers fifty sorrow-defying, gloom-dispelling, joy-inspiring purveyors of mirth and merriment. Among the well known favorites are: Emile Subers, Sam Curtis, Raze Leighton, Billy Monitor, Harry O'Brien, Fred Werner, Harry Bohne, Fred Freddy, Gene Pearson, Pat Rogers, Richard Barstow, John Cahill and fifty other burnt cork celebrities. A feature which has brought this peerless combination of extravagance and unparalleled excellence into the limelight of universal acclaim is Sam Brown's famous band and orchestra.

OLIVE THOMAS AT GRIFFIN'S

"The Spite Bride," a select picture starring Olive Thomas, is being shown at Griffin's today, matinee and night, is a drama of youthful impulse, full of thrills, tears, smiles, love and adventure. Never was this charming star so alluring, vivacious and utterly captivating; never was she cast in a better role than that of Tessa Doyle, the shy little dancing girl, who was innocent of the tricks this sordid world plays on the back-stage girl, especially if it knows that she is innocent. Miss Thomas is supported by Robert Ellis, Jack Mulhall, and a strong cast of prominent photoplays. "The Simple Life," an interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, "The Lost Detective, a 2-reel Hank Mann comedy, British Canadian news, and Charles Hutchison in "The Whirlwind" are all being screened on the same program.

SYLVIA BREAMER AND ROBERT GORDON AT GRIFFIN'S MONDAY

Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon are due at Griffin's this Monday to Wednesday, in their latest co-star vehicle, "My Husband's Other Wife." The title excites your interest and it is understood the picture cannot fail to do likewise, for it is built upon one of the most dramatic situations in either life or fiction.

"My Husband's Other Wife" answers a vital question with dramatic intensity. Supporting Miss Breamer and Mr. Gordon are Warren Chandler, May McAvoy, Fanny Rice, Gus Alexander, Eddie Dunn, Margaret Barry and others. "Ten Barrooms in a Night," a funny 2-reel Sunshine comedy, an interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, "Oriental College Boys and Co-Eds," and Jack Dempsey in his thrilling picture, 'Daredevil Jack.'

GRAIN DESTROYED BY 'HOPPERS

Not more than 8,000 acres of grain have been destroyed by grasshoppers over the entire province of Saskatchewan to date this year, despite the fact that the infested area is 16 to 18 times as great as last year, when about the same acreage was destroyed.

The above figure is the result of the compilation of estimates made by the field representatives of the field crops branch of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture.

During the campaign an enormous quantity of supplies has been shipped into the affected areas under arrangements effected by the Department of Agriculture, without cost to the farmer. A total of about 8,500 tons of poison ingredients have been used, including 130 carloads of brain, 13 cars of sawdust, 120,000 gallons of molasses, 6 carloads of arsenic, a carload of Paris green, and 7 carloads or 2,805 cases of lemons.

As many as 4,000 eggs ready to hatch were counted in a square foot of sod early in June by one field director.

After an application of poison bait near Carnduff, one field director counted 3,380 dead hoppers on a square yard of ground, and from 500 to 1,000 was quite a common quota for a patch of that size.

* * *

Bishop-Barker machine falls into tree tops at Oshawa. Occupants narrowly escape death.

Father of Sean Hennesy consents that son accept food.

SINCLAIR'S

Fashionable Fall Suits
Exclusive and New

The new Fall Suits have been gathering here, till now you may select from a group of Suits introducing all the new features for Fall. Early selection of course always gives one a certain advantage, both in respect to longer wear and variety of styles. You are sure to want one of these Suits when you see them.

Autumn Coats

—that will make you look as you want to look. Other items of apparel may be left out of your Fall wardrobe plans, but a smart new coat, never! A little later it will be an actual necessity from the standpoint of comfort. Just now it is most desirable because of the individual appearance it enables you to present. And such interesting coats you will find in this Autumn showing! Each one is much to be desired.

Your Silk Frock

—does not have to be black. Even though Black Frocks are very much in vogue we have been careful to include in our collection of afternoon frocks plenty of chic modes in Navy, Brown and other tones. Their distinctive styles and popular high quality materials are features that you will like and will make their markings seem very reasonable.

Middies for School Girls

For practical wear and smart appearance combined there is nothing better than a Middy Suit. We have a table of Middies in good qualities that will easily be kept fresh looking by a tubbing. They are obtainable in sizes 3 to 14 years and are special value at $1.00 each.

Drapery Chintzes

For Fall decorating we have gathered together a choice collection of Drapery and Upholstering Fabrics in Cretonnes, Chintzes, Shadow Cloth and Reversible Tapestry. The colorings are rich combinations in floral designs. The prices are quite reasonable.

Knitted Underwear

Whether you want a slightly heavier weight for present use or wish to fill your requirements for later wear, you will find a splendid variety of weights and qualities in this perfect fitting Knitted Underwear. The prices are below present market values.

Open All Day Wednesday

Our store will be open all day Wednesday during September and the following months.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Don't Think of Alimony!
Don't Think of Divorce!
UNTIL YOU SEE
Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon in
"My Husband's Other Wife"

A drama that goes back stage and reveals the soul of theatrical life and then its relations to a star's personal life. There's a big theme—a drama within a drama visualized with superb artistry and deft hand in this J. Stuart Blackton's master drama. A thought drama that spotlights the life, love and happiness behind the footlights. DON'T MISS IT!

Sunshine Comedy — Burton Holmes Scenic — Jack Dempsey.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

THIS MONDAY TO WEDNESDAY

NEXT FRIDAY NAD SATURDAY—REX BEACH'S "GIRL FROM OUTSIDE"—A REX BEACH TRIUMPH!

Griffin's, Thursday Sept. 16th

GUS HILL'S
WORLD FAMOUS
MINSTRELS
PRESENTING ALL THAT'S NEW AND NOVEL IN MINSTRELSEY
THE MOST TALKED OF SHOW OF THE AGE

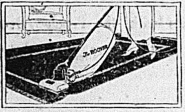
6—BIG STARS—6
EMILE SUBERS, SAM CURTIS, RAGS LEIGHTON, HARRY O'BRIEN, FRED FREDDY, JOHN CAHILL. Prices 25c—$1.50
Seats Wednesday, Griffin's, 10 a.m.

TO THE RESCUE



The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.

THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS
WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER
BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : :

The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.

THE HYDRO SHOP

The Fireless Cooker

Will roast, bake brown, dry, stew and boil, make your preserves, can your fruits, keep ice cream cold all day, which a refrigerator will not, freeze puddings, keep drinks cold, keep baby's bottle hot, also baby's flannel, keep your dinner hot without spoiling if you should be an hour or two late, or will cook your morning meal while you sleep. There is nothing that can burn, while all the time you are at church or out shopping the Fireless Cooker will be doing the work at home.

The Fireless Cooker will save 75% or more Fuel.
The Fireless Cooker will save 75% or more Work.
The Fireless Cooker will save 35% or more Food shrinkage.

Two Compartment Cooker, $35.00

The John Lewis Co., Limited

ONTARIO LADIES' COLLEGE

WHITBY, ONT.
Begins its 47th Year
Sept. 14, 1920
A SCHOOL OF IDEALS AND AN IDEAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS AND YOUNG WOMEN.
For Calendar and Booklet Apply to Courses

Academic.—
Public School to Second Year, University.
Music.—
Piano, Singing, Violin.
Domestic Science.
Commercial.
Elocution.
Art.

A Few Advantages
28 miles from Toronto. A City Country School, Gymnasium, Swimming Pool and Outdoor Play facilities unequalled.

REV. F. L. FAREWELL, B.A., PRINCIPAL.

The Deacon SHIRT

For Camp or Trail

Your choice of plain Grey, Navy Blue and Khaki Flannels—Black Nap-Back Serge—Drills—Tweeds in Checks and Stripes—in fact all the favorite fabrics for sportsmen's use—with whatever style of collar you prefer.

Perfect fitting. All seams double stitched, turned and felled. Buttons put on to stay—Ask your dealer.

DEACON SHIRT COMPANY
BELLEVILLE - CANADA 54

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

2.30—TWICE TODAY—8.30
OLIVE THOMAS
in
"THE SPITE BRIDE"
HANK MANN COMEDY
WHIRLWIND—TOPICALS

BREEDING OYSTERS A PROFITABLE BUSINESS

Propagation of young oysters all ready to "set out" guaranteed to multiply with proper care into a flourishing brood, may result from experiments just concluded by W. F. Wells, of the New York Conservation Commission, who reported on his extensive study of oyster breeding.

Mr. Wells, at his laboratory on the short of the Great South Bay, New York, has succeeded in keeping alive millions of young oysters from the larvae to the "set" stage. In his report he said that hatcheries modelled after his plant can be built wherein the oysters may be incubated until time to set them out in deep waters.

His method for developing oyster "sets" from oyster seed, or spawn, removes one of the chief obstacles in the commercial propagation of oysters, Mr. Wells said.

"The seeds are so small," he explained, "from the time they are laid by the oyster until they are mature enough to attach themselves to a surface in sets, that experimenters have had the greatest difficulty in devising a practicable commercial method of keeping the tiny shellfish supplied with a fresh supply of salt water and food without washing them all down the drain.

"When the oysters reach the set stage they can safely be put in the beds to fend for themselves. After that time the oyster grows very rapidly for a period of some weeks and gains full maturity within three or four years."

One of the chief obstacles, that of handling the larvae, or tiny eggs, while changing their water, the report says, was overcome by the use of a centrifugal machine, which concentrates the eggs in a small receptacle. The hatching apparatus was made of a series of large inverted glass carboys fitted with tubes which permitted a fresh supply of salt water and air to percolate so gradually that the development of the eggs was not retarded. Microscopic examination is necessary in following the gradual development of the eggs to the "set" stage.

Mr. Wells declared it is a well known fact that in the last ten years the production of oysters has been very much reduced. It was to determine the exact cause of this reduction he said, that his studies were undertaken. It has been suggested, he said, that pollution of the waters has injured many of the most productive beds in Connecticut and in the vicinity of New York.

◆

Children Of All Ages

Children of all ages—whether it be the new-born babe or the growing child—have to be constantly guarded as to their health. Upon the good health of the little one largely depends his strength and usefulness in after years. Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal home medicine for children of all ages. They are a gentle but thorough laxative which are absolutely guaranteed to be free from opiates or other harmful drugs and which may be given to the youngest child with perfect safety and beneficial results. Through their action on the bowels and stomach they banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers yand make teething easy. Mothers, you can make your little ones well and keep them well by just keeping a box of the Tablets at hand and by giving an occasional dose to the baby to keep his little bowels regular and his stomach sweet. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

◆

A policeman was shot in Galway. In reprisal the police raided horse an captured one of the assassins. He was tied to a lamp post and shot many times. Other civilians killed.

Beating Trains to Crossing Dangerous

A Mile-a-Minute Express Travels 88 Feet a Second—Covers a Quarter Mile in Fifteen Seconds—Beating Trains to Grade Crossings is Suicidal.

When you are motoring along a highway and come to a grade crossing, do you "Stop, look and listen?" Or do you merely slow down, glance casually in either direction and go ahead, depending solely on luck and your motor' accelerative power to get you across safely?

It pays not to be in a hurry at a crossing. One need but look up the coroner's record of grade crossing fatalities to prove this. Every year many people are killed in such accidents.

A passenger train moving at the rate of speed considered an average for limteds or expresses will, if one-fourth of a mile away, cover the distance to the crossing in eighteen seconds. If it is one-half mile away it will take just twice that time, or thirty-six seconds.

Now, then, take the above figures and drive out to some quiet railway crossing where there is little train traffic. Take someone with you to time your speed. Have the person time you from the point where you would ordinarily look for a train and start ahead. Then check up after you have reached a point of safety on the far side. See how near eighteen seconds it takes to clear the crossing, then stop and figure that trains are not always one-fourth of a mile away when you see them. Persons have been been known to try to beat a train when it was only a city block away. History does not tell us that any of them ever succeeded.

Let us consider that the city block is 330 feet long, sixteen blocks to the mile. Divide the eighteen seconds for one-fourth of a mile by four, the time it will take the train to move one block, and you have four and one-half seconds.

Don't Try It.

The safest rule is to stop, look and remain at a standstill if there is a train in sight in either direction. If the crossing is at a point where there is a curve in the rail line, be sure to listen carefully before going across. The engineer will sound the locomotive whistle if he is approaching a curve and you will have no difficulty in hearing it.

The old axiom 'Haste Makes Waste' never rang truer than in the case of the motorist who hasn't time to wait at the crossing for a train to pass. A heavy freight train, a mile or more in length, can pass a given point within five minutes. Five minutes is not much time to lose, especially if the attempt to save it means eternity for the persons making the endeavor. The figures quoted at the beginning of this article are based on a speed of fifty miles per hour for passenger trains. Many trains run sixty miles per hour and better. The train moving sixty miles an hour travels eighty-eight feet per second. It covers a quarter of a miles in fifteen seconds. Not many motors can be accelerated so rapidly to go over a grade crossing in that many seconds. So what is the use of trying to beat a train. It cannot be done. Don't try.

◆

CLOSE WATCH KEPT ON SINN FEIN ACTIVITIES

One important provision of the Irish Crimes bill, which was put into effect last month is that which gives power to try civil actions without a jury. It is intended to make short work of the activities of the Sinn Fein Courts, which have revolutionized legal business, and largely reduced the Irish Bar to idleness.

The proceedings in criminal matters of Sinn Fein courts are already being dealt with by the police. When the Sinn Feiners arrest a man on a charge of theft or burglary or anything else the police treat the Sinn Feiners' action as a breach of the liberty of the subject who should be only tryable by a lawful court. The Sinn Feiners are prosecuted for assault, tried by court-martial and sentenced to long terms of imprisonment.

The civil trials by the Sinn Feiners are more difficult to deal with, for they can be argued to be merely arbitrations by consent of the parties. But the test to be applied is whether they purport to be trials by authority of the Irish Republic and where that is apparent they may be held to be sedition and those taking part in them prosecuted.

Police have recently been attending all such Sinn Fein courts. They have not interfered with the proceedings, but have taken the names of those engaged so that they may subsequently be tried by court martial. It is generally agreed that the government has now the most complete powers against the whole machinery of Sinn Fein, but there is some doubt whether it will strenuously employ them. It will have to deal with hunger strikes on a large scale in the prisons.

◆

John Stansell of Bayham township is Government candidate in East Elgin.

No Message Rates Here

It is not the intention to apply the message rate plan to telephones here!

It is only in the larger cities (Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, and Quebec) that message rates become necessary. The intensive use of the service by many business subscribers in large centres means the creation of an operating load the cost of which, under a flat rate, bears unfairly on the small user. Hence the message rate for big cities.

Here, telephone service will continue on the flat rate basis as hitherto.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY
OF CANADA

Last week I took a little trip,
And when away I got a tip
to BUY TIRES THIS WEEK.

A lot of people have learned that my advice on bicycle troubles saves money for them. Here is a good chance to prove it.

BICYCLES OUR BUSINESS

Bicycle Licence

333 FRONT STREET.
PHONE 985.

HEAR
"THE LOVE NEST"
on a Victor Record at
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

Let us be known as
A THRIFTY PEOPLE!

Let us stop spending heedlessly and needlessly, and begin to save now and save regularly.

THERE IS A SAVINGS DEPARTMENT AT EVERY BRANCH OF THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA.

Belleville, Ont., Branch. W. A. PARKER, MANAGER

More Bread and Butter

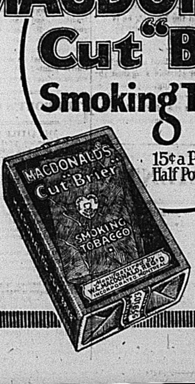
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

Advertise In The Intelligencer

MACDONALD'S
Cut "Brier"
Smoking Tobacco

15¢ a Package
Half Pound Tin 85¢



"Brier" has been Canada's Favorite Smoking Tobacco for over 60 years.
The same old original quality can now be had in Cut "Brier"

"The Tobacco with a heart"

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, [illegible] Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred positions, 25 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $4.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

PARTY LINES SHAKEN BY SPIRIT OF CANADIANISM.

That party walls were crumbling, and Canadians no longer following blindly in the footsteps of political leaders was asserted by Hon. Arthur Meighen, Premier of Canada, in his historic speech at Stirling. The truth of this statement has been substantiated in many ways and a striking example is shown in the fact that several of Premier Meighen's principal lieutenants are old-time Liberals enrolled under the banner of a composite party known as the National Liberal and Conservative party. The platform of this party, truly Canadian in character, is broad enough for any Canadian to stand upon regardless of past political affiliation.

When the life and liberty of Canada, the Empire and the entire liberty-loving world was menaced by the threat of German domination during the war partyism became a dead issue in Canada and real Canadians faced by a common danger lined up side by side, forgetting petty political squabbles—that is, all except a few noisy irreconcilables who made up in clamor what they lacked in numbers and personality. The Canadian people at the polls soundly rebuked the little-Canadians who played politics on the brink of hell and Canada's name and fame was not besmirched with the follies of opportunism triumphant.

After the war an attempt was made to reunite the Liberal party under the leadership of Hon. W. S. Fielding, a Liberal of the Liberals, with a record in peace and war of one hundred per cent Canadianism. The irreconcilables, however, dominated the situation, although the best minds in the Liberal party favored Fielding as the best possible choice for leader. Fielding had preferred patriotism to party in the war and he was sacrificed by the revengeful rump of the party who succeeded in elevating Mackenzie King, almost an outlander, to the leadership.

Mackenzie King's leadership has not developed strength and his speaking tour has slithered off into a confession of weakness and a frank appeal for a combination of the King party with the Farmer and Labor elements.

It is not surprising in view of all the developments in political circles since the war closed to find Liberal newspapers speaking favorably of Hon. Arthur Meighen, who succeeded Sir Robert Borden as Premier of Canada, and is young, aggressive, talented and truthful. The Kingston Whig, Liberal from its inception, but not enamored with the light in the back window, sneak in and be forgiven policy of the Mackenzie King little Liberal party, welcomes Premier Meighen on his visit to Kingston in kindly and appreciative terms especially worthy of notice from the fact that the Premier was the guest of the proprietor of the newspaper in opposition to The Whig. Says the Whig:

> Kingstonians generally will welcome to the city Premier Meighen, whose capacity, astuteness and integrity are beyond question. He is brilliant in his addresses, captivating in manner, eminently Canadian in thought and ideals, and conscientious in his convictions as to the needs of the Dominion. It is true he, hitherto, has been regarded as a high apostle of Conservatism, but it is equally true that the experiences of the war years have tempered and mellowed his views, and he stands today as a patriotic Canadian, with high hopes for the gathering together of the moderate elements and thus bringing about sane, safe and stable government. He is sincerely liberal in his beliefs as to the best methods to sustain Canadian institutions devoid of class consciousness and class affiliations. Canada's ship of state must be wisely piloted in these days of unrest and upheaval. Good results marked the career of the Union Government and good results, it is fondly anticipated, can be secured by maintaining the fundamentals that have so markedly characterized the work of both Conservative and Liberal governments in the past. These things Premier Meighen stands for. He possesses the qualities of a great Canadian.
>
> No one will have the hardihood to charge Prof. O. D. Skelton, dean of the Faculty of Arts, with being a pro-Conservative when he writes thus in the current Queen's Quarterly: "Arthur Meighen well deserved promotion as his (Sir Robert Borden's) successor. . . . From his first days in Parliament Arthur Meighen made it clear that he had not merely ability, but courage, ambition and industry. . . . He has already given proof of his administrative capacity. His personal integrity is beyond question. He has audacity to conceive and backbone to carry through. Canadians of all parties and of none may take pride in the fact that the man who, for years to come, whether in power or in opposition, is to have high and responsible place in Ottawa, will hold his own in character and capacity with the political leaders of any people, whether Lloyd George, Smuts or Wilson."
>
> Because of his soundness of mind and his capacity to initiate progressive and wisely devised plans for Canada's upbuilding and maintenance as a nation within the Empire, he is heartily welcomed to the loyal city of Kingston. We trust his visit will be pleasant and memorable.

It is worthy of note that the newspapers which preserved an attitude of armed neutrality during the war-time election or sulked sneeringly in their tents, are the loudest and most discordant clamorers against the present Government and all its words and works, trying, apparently to make up for the time lost when aroused public sentiment made it dangerous for Canadian newspapers to openly support the Mackenzie King-Dewart-Murphy faction. Fortunately for Canada such newspapers were rare.

CRISP COMMENT

The young man who was interrupted this week by Belleville police while making a collection of raincoats from automobiles and store fronts evidently believed in putting something away for a rainy day.

× × ×

Ponzi, who posed as a "wizard of finance" for a brief hectic period and gathered in millions from dupes dazzled by the fifty per cent. profits phantasy, has been adjudged "hopeelssly bankrupt," and another chapter is thus added to the voluminous history of the Great American Con Game.

× × ×

"Made in Canada," or better still, the name of the manufacturers should be stamped as far as possible on all goods made in the Dominion in view of the tricks which the Huns are up to.—Kingston Standard.

× × ×

It has been demonstrated that every law of the universe is against the notion that you can get something for nothing. That does not prevent the "Simp" from vainly trying to find the elusive pea under the shell. Barnum was credited with saying that a "sucker was born every minute," It would be unkind to say that 40,000 persons who entrusted their money to Ponzi came under that denomination; but Ponzi is in jail; and the people want their money. There was the South Sea Bubble, long ago; and there is Ponzi! Easy money is a great temptation, but you can no more have something for nothing, that you can have the sidereal system a hairsbreadth out of plumb, in the scheme of Cosmos.—Montreal Gazette.

× × ×

Scientists claim California's earthquakes come mostly in dry years. Wherein the "wets" have another argument against prohibition.—Non-Partizan Leader (St. Paul).

× × ×

What if the number of votes accorded each country in the League of Nations should be decided by the points each nation won at the Olympic games?—Boston Shoe Retailer.

× × ×

The Democrats might argue further that the great campaign fund they attribute to the Republicans is an example of prosperity under a Democratic administration.—Indianapolis News.

× × ×

The "no-babies" edict of apartment landlords is cutting down America's birth-rate, experts claim. Here's the one consoling thought—if there are fewer babies born there will be fewer landlords born.—Nashville Tennesseean.

× × ×

After eating cucumbers an Ottawa householder, suffering with cramps in his stomach, sent for a doctor. The physician told him that cucumbers need careful preparation. First, he said, they should be thinly sliced, sprinkled with salt and pepper, and then covered with vinegar—after which they should be left one night and then thrown in the garbage can.—Ottawa Journal.

× × ×

All Europe lacks for another big war is the price.—Bridgeport Star.

× × ×

Once the world is saved there's going to be a tremendous lot of unemployment.—Los Angeles Express.

× × ×

In Lenine's claim of ultimate world-dominion he says nothing about conquering Ireland.—New York World.

× × ×

Lots of people in this world get weary of well doing, while others just get weary of being well done.—Financial American.

× × ×

Don't be too sure of America. A country that would trade Liberty bonds for oil stock might fall for Bolshevism.—Associated Editors.

× × ×

Jess Willard wants another crack at Dempsey. Next thing we know, Bill Hohenzollern will want a return match with the Allies.—St. Louis Post.

× × ×

There appears to be another reason for the shortage of help. Automobiles are killing the population at the rate of one every thirty-five minutes.—Newark News.

× × ×

A corporal in the 339th United States Infantry has just received official notice that he is dead. Once in a great, great while, these days, a letter gets in ahead of time.—Detroit News.

× × ×

We are expecting every day to hear Senator Harding declare that the early period of the Garden of Eden was Republican, and that the fall was caused by a Democratic administration taking charge of the works.—Columbia Record.

OTHER VIEWS

A Happy Phrase.

Lethbridge Herald.

When it comes to happy phrases, "Field of the cloth of gold", used by one of the visiting British editors, to describe the western wheat fields ripening for the harvest, was a very appropriate one, conveying an intensity of meaning.

Labor's Future.

Winnipeg Free Press.

Nothing can prevent a far more rapid and steady advance in the future if Labor sticks to the road it has thus far travelled; but if it wander afield in the hope of finding a paradise by the roadside it may land itself into the morass of disappointed hopes and lost opportunities.

The French-Canadians.

Montreal Gazette

The French offer vivacity, picturesqueness, imagination. In these qualities the British-Canadians are deficient. They are practical, and, if it dared to be whispered, a trifle stolid. Only—they have a genius for doing things, whereas our French people have oratory, and the logical mind and the delicate "bon mot," which are vastly more entertaining than a civic gully trap. The one race expresses the antithesis of the other, and for that very reason you have a vivacity and complementariness which is rarely found. Our French people do not forget the things they did in the past, and they recall their early work of civilizing and Christianizing on a silent and unknown continent. That, perhaps, produces a certain resentment toward those who have no traditions, and can only remember yesterday. But there is room to grow and touch elbows and be friends. And this brotherliness is all the more important in that Canada, as Sir Arthur Currie pointed out, is now a nation with a consciousness of nationhood.

THE POET'S CORNER

THE LITTLE ROADS.

I do not love the great roads
Which steel and concrete crown;
I love the little lonely ways
That Autumn etches brown;
Soft with the scent of hickory
And shut from the talking town.

I do not love the mansions
Men make for gold and gain;
I love the country cabins, kissed
Of the gypsy wind and rain,
Where darky pickaninnies wave
At the broken window pane.

For when I walk the paths that pass
By shabby door and gate,
As sure as gypsy sun and star,
To stranger lost or late,
Behind the broken window pane
Will welcome always wait.

—Kadra Maysi,
in the N. Y. Times.

He—My dear, I've warned you before and now I must insist that we try to live within our income.

She—Oh, very well, if you want to be considered eccentric by everybody in our set.—Boston Transcript.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Puzzle—Find the Musician.

Mrs. Duff (to new maid)—"But, Mary, there are only two in the family, Mr. Duff and myself; why have you set places for three?"

The New Maid—"Sure, ma'am, it was the cook that told me you had a piano player in the house."

Nut Waiter Wanted.

An old lady, after waiting in a confectionery store for about ten minutes, grew grossly impatient at the lack of service.

Finally she rapped sharply on the counter.

"Here, young lady," she called, "who waits on the nuts?"

Supplying a Want.

"What's in that crate of stuff you are getting in?"

"Just a shipment of ouija boards," replied the hotel manager.

"Great Jupiter! What's the idea?"

"We believe in giving service here. Every now and then a guest calls for a ouija board. Hereafter when we get a request like that our clerks will answer, 'Coming up, madam, at once'."

Delay Advised.

A farmer had persuaded one of his town friends to accompany him in his dog-cart on a jaunt into the country. The horse seemed to resent the stranger aboard and, taking the bit between his teeth, bolted.

"I say, Bill," said the townsman, I'd give five quid to be out of this."

"Doan't thee be so 'andy wi' the brass," replied his friend; "tha'll be out for nowt in a minute."

Without Reservation.

According to the "Fleet Review," a man presented himself for enlistment who said that his mother was an American who had married a Frenchman in Italy. He said further that he was born on a ship flying the Spanish flag while she was lying in the English Channel, that his parents died in Sweden, when he was five, he was adopted by a German who brought him up in the United States. The man who adopted him was not a naturalized citizen.

"Would you class him as a man without a country?" someone asked the recruiting officer.

"Thunder, no" was the reply, "I'd class him as a League of Nations."

HEAR
"THE LOVE NEST"
on a Victor Record at
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Overland
TRADE MARK REG.

Gasoline Economy
Coast to Coast

In a continuous run of 3,442 miles from New York to San Francisco in July an Overland stock car averaged 32.64 miles to the Imperial gallon.

Made-in-Canada duplicates of this car are giving their Canadian owners the same kind of economy proof.

The Overland dealer at Leader, Sask., made a test on a 288 mile trip from Regina, and his car gave him 35 miles to the gallon.

While roads were still partly frozen, a Bridgewater, N.S., owner tested his Overland over 107 miles of rutted roads, and got 26.75 miles to the gallon.

A St. Hyacinthe, Que., traveller recently covered 630 miles at an average gas mileage of 30 to the gallon.

A Toronto business man drove to Kitchener and back, making 31.88 miles to the gallon.

A Mineota, Man., farmer reports getting as high as 34 miles to a gallon.

Triplex Springs contribute to Overland's economy of operation as well as to its comfort—for a demonstration see

ST. CHARLES MOTOR BUS CO. - - - BELLEVILLE
Hugh Morton, Stirling; Percy N. Naylor, Madoc;
Lennox Auto and Motor Boat Co., Napanee.

Head Office and Factories: Willys-Overland Limited, Toronto, Canada
Branches: Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Regina

The Beverage You Asked For—
O'KEEFE'S
It Complies with the Popular Demand

O'KEEFE'S is the beverage that you asked for—a popular non-intoxicating, refreshing drink containing all the goodness of Nature's generous gifts—malt and hops—carefully and exactingly selected and blended.

There is no more healthful, appetizing or better thirst-quenching beverage than

O'Keefe's Imperial Ale, Stout, Lager

Made in a sanitary up-to-date plant, under the supervision of experts, O'Keefe's products are typical of the spirit of the age—they conform to your every wish—and the most exacting can find no fault with them for home consumption.

Your grocer or dealer recommends and sells O'Keefe's. Why not ask him to send a case to the house?

O'Keefe's, Toronto
Phone Main 4202

O'Keefe's Beverages are also sold at all Restaurants, Hotels and Cafes.

W. RODBOURNE, Distributor, Uptown 2 1-2 p. c. Stor

Ask for
Genuine Original
Kellogg's
CORN FLAKES
Good and Fresh, Sweet and Sustaining
Made at London, Ontario

HERE'S HEALTH FOR ALL

PHOSPHONOL.

Don't waste your time trying to cure a chronic ailment by inferior drugs. Such complaints as lack of vigor, rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia, sciatica, and stomach trouble, are due to weakened condition of the nerves. Weak nerves lead to all sorts of functional disorders. Without a plentiful supply of Nerve Force the power of every organ to perform its function is diminished or impaired. Lacking Nerve Force, all the functions being imperfectly performed, there begins a state of anarchy in the body, even the brain becomes affected, resulting in Insomnia, Brain Fag, and other Mental and Nerve Troubles. Scientists have proclaimed Phosphonol to be the quickest and surest Remedy to stiffen the nerves, and to produce Grey Matter. Phosphonol will restore Strength, Vigor and Ambition. It goes at once to the weakened spot, and fortifies the organ, and restores it to Health. Your body needs new strength and Vitality, and that you must have to perform your duty in the world.

Phosphonol will restore Strength and Vitality and every weak and sluggish organ of your body. The blood courses through your veins with renewed Vigor. The Glow of health returns to your face, and you will feel the thrill of new life that comes with increased vitality and nerve power.

Take opportunity by the forelock, get a box of Phosphonol from your Chemist today. The whole nervous system responds quickly and sympathetically, and immediately almost all the functions of the body begin to be performed healthfully and easily, and with their natural vigor. Be a Man of Nerve. Possess the Vigor of youth, it is within your grasp. Hundreds have benefitted by taking Phosphonol. You also will be, if you are fortunate enough to use it. Phosphonol is not in its experimental stage, having been made and sold for Twenty years. If your Chemist hasn't got Phosphonol in stock, ask him to get it for you, or we will mail it to you by return of mail. Price $3.00 per box or 2 boxes for $5.00. Send postal note or registered mail. The Scobell Drug Co., 91 Youville Square, Montreal, Canada.

If your nerves are weak, your digestion poor, your liver sluggish, if you have rheumatism, if you are easily tired and depressed, if you lack confidence or will power, get Phosphonol and watch its result. Doyle's Drug Store.

Blue Serge Suit Week

Monday, September 13th, we will place on Sale for one week

50 Men's and Young Men's Blue Serge Suits

—made up in three of the latest models from an All-Wool English Worsted.

Model No. 1—Standard Type B., a conservative model for men.

Model No. 2—Touraine Type C, a three-button, two buttons to button, for young men.

Model No. 3—Westmount Type C, a two-button, double-breasted with slash pockets, one button to button,—another smart model for the young men.

These suits are from one of the largest clothing manufacturers in Canada and made up from part of their large surplus stock, and they have allotted us only fifty suits.

Today's value, $60.00. Sale price,

$45.00

NO TAX.

Trousers will be finished with or without cuffs free. All extra alterations charged at cost price.

Fall Overcoats

Plain Grey Chesterfield Overcoats for Fall Wear, made from an all wool material and lined throughout. Sizes 36 to 44. Priced at $35.00

Sweaters

We have just received a large shipment of Young Men's All Wool Pullover V-Neck Sleeveless Sweaters, in all the leading colors. Sizes 36—38 and 40.

Special $6.00

Boys' Fall Caps

Fall Caps for the boys, made from fancy suitings in the one-piece top style.

$1.50 and $2.00

BOYS' STOCKINGS, plain black, 1 and 1 rib. Sizes 8, 8½ and 9, 50c. pair.; 9½ and 10, 60c. pair; 10½, 75c. pair.

Meaghers'

262 Front Street BELLEVILLE

Advertise In The Intelligencer

There Is Plenty of Room For a Large Population In Far Off Australia

THE cry for an increase in population for Australia is in conflict at the present time with that continent's strict immigration laws coupled with the treasured "white" Australia policy. Labor circles are particularly opposed to any change which would mean an influx of "foreigners." They use the term "foreigner" even when referring to the proposed emigration from the United Kingdom. A number of Australian papers, however, see the necessity for a new deal. Says the Brisbane Courier:

"Australia has an area of 3,000,000 square miles, held by a garrison of 5,000,000 persons, of whom about 3,000,000 live in nine or ten large cities. Australia has a population of fewer than two persons to the square mile, while Japan has 300 persons to the square mile, Great Britain has 358, Germany has 324, and little Belgium has a density of 665 persons to the square mile.

"Compared with some of the densely populated and intensely cultivated nations of Europe and Asia, Australia is virgin soil, with the roughest part of the pioneering finished, the scrubs all cleared or ringbarked, and the country merely awaiting development. Other countries are neither ignorant about the resources of Australia nor indifferent about our white Australia policy, and our garrison of 5,000,000 persons is permitted to hold Australia, not because of any feelings of internationalism, and not because we prate about out intention of keeping the country white, but wholly because of the might of the British navy.

"The very people who protest against immigration are also opposed to a national defence policy. Do they imagine, like idle day dreamers, that a handful of people will be permitted to hold one of the most fertile tracts of country on earth while a very large part of the remainder of the world is scrambling, hungry and ragged, for food and clothes? The comparison of Queensland with other countries is even worse than that of the Commonwealth, because the state has an area of 670,000 square miles, mostly wonderfully fertile, while its total population is only a little more than half that of the city of Sydney. Should Australia become the ambition of another nation it is Queensland that will become the point of invasion, yet we find foolish theorists and babbling demagogues protesting against the immigration of ex-Imperial soldiers —surely, the best type of immigrants —on terms by which the British Government will practically become the financier of the scheme."

Judge Cohalan's Cousin, the Bishop.

An Irish correspondent sends us a copy of a letter written to the newspapers by Dr. Cohalan, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Cork. At the end of his letter Dr. Cohalan says:

"The question is this. Should the bishops tell the police that they are not bound in conscience to perform the many acts of coercion which are goading the people beyond restraint; that there can be lawfulness and unlawfulness in executive government; that when the mode of government has no sanction in morals its execution has no sanction under the moral law?" This is a very cunning and dangerous appeal to further lawlessness, and is but thinly disguised under a verbal appearance of moderation. It is perfectly disgraceful that the loyalty of the police, which has hitherto been wonderful and amazing, should be undermined in this way. Why should the law in Ireland respect the persons of Roman Catholic prelates who utter this sort of incitement? Everybody knows the enormous authority possessed by the priests, and naturally such a letter from Dr. Cohalan tends to make things even worse than they are.

Perhaps our readers have forgotten the circumstances in which Dr. Cohalan was appointed to his present position. We will therefore remind them. When the late Bishop of Cork died in the summer of 1916, Dr. Cohalan was the assistant bishop. Count Bernstorff, then German Ambassador at Washington, telegraphed to the German Foreign Office that Dr. Cohalan was a cousin of Judge Cohalan in the United States, and was "strongly Nationalist and pro-German." Count Bernstorff went on to explain that Dr. Cohalan had intervened between the Cork volunteers and the British military authorities, and had "publicly exposed the gross breach of faith which the English had committed against the surrendered men." Hence an effort had been made through the British Envoy at the Vatican to defeat the proposed appointment of Dr. Cohalan to the bishopric of Cork. "If Germany," telegraphed Count Bernstorff, "can exert any influence to bring about this result (the appointment of Dr. Cohalan as Bishop of Cork), it would defeat the English intrigue aimed against her interests." We do not know what influence, if any, Germany exerted at Rome, but at all events Dr. Cohalan became Bishop of Cork, and is now in a position to write the letter from which we have quoted. —The Spectator.

The Explanation.

A small boy and girl were each striving to outdo the other in an argument and, in spite of her endeavors, he was winning. Then inspiration came. "Well, anyway, my father's taller'n yours," she asserted triumphantly. He dug his toes in the sand. Undoubtedly his father was a very small man. Suddenly he straightened. A look of triumph flashed from his eyes: "Humph! My father 'u'd be twice as tall as yours, but his s-spenders hold him down."

Sterling dropped 1¼ cents to $3.52¼.

New York funds closed nominally at 10 7-16.

Toronto Railway advanced to 50, and paper stocks, showed increased strength.

HAVE THEIR OWN JOURNALS

Almost Every Industry Is Represented in List of British Periodical Publications.

Popular papers by no means constitute the bulk of periodical literature. Nearly every business and profession has its own particular "trade journal." Probably you never knew the billposters had a paper entirely their own, but they have in the Placard and Service Billposter, remarks a writer in London Answers. Then there is Brushmaking, the Hatters' Guide, the Herring Circular, the Gamekeeper, the Irish Ironmonger and the Postman's Gazette, every one of which is devoted to the interests of the particular line it names.

Some trades which you would not think could support one paper alone have their pick of several. For instance, laundry workers have four to choose from, pawnbrokers two, professional conjurers at least three, and vets quite a number. Even the barge'. was not until recently left uncatered for, there being the Bargeman to amuse him every so often. And undertakers can wax more or less merry over the Undertakers' Journal, while rag and bone collectors may watch their interests in the Waste Trades Journal. Caretakers have the Caretaker to enjoy.

Trade journalism does not stop at that. It looks after lesser known businesses and hobbies, as witnessed in the existence of the Ringing World, for bell ringers, the Bloodstock Breeders' Review, the Racing Pigeon, the British Beekeeper, Talking Machine News and the Flute Players' Journal.

When the Burglars' Budget and the Marble Player appear, we will let you know.

"MAXIM SILENCER" FOR SHIPS

It Is Claimed They Will Absolutely Do Away With Noise Made by the Motors.

Eight ships now sailing the Pacific ocean are equipped with great silencers, weighing 3,000 pounds each, the invention of Hiram Percy Maxim, famous as the inventor of the gun silencer bearing his name. If successful, this newest "Maxim silencer" may stimulate the tendency toward general substitution of the speedier, more economical, oil-burning vessels driven by the super-powerful engines of the Diesel type, for the present-day steamers.

"The motor-driven ship is the ship of the future," Mr. Maxim said recently. * * * "However, in the past there has been one great disadvantage, the terrific noise of the motors. The new silencer we expect will solve that problem."

Mr. Maxim said that, inasmuch as his patents have not been issued, he cannot disclose the construction of his new invention. However, in general principle it is not unlike other Maxim silencers, depending on accomplishing its work by absorbing the recoil and hence silencing the terrific exhaust. Mr. Maxim says it is not dissimilar in design to the smaller Maxim silencers on the market for several years for use on motor and power boats."

Spelling by Ear.

A simplified spelling society in London has developed a form of language with a one sound, one symbol notation of letters and digraphs. A sample of the system in operation is furnished as follows:

"Wuns upon a tym a rich lord and his wyf had a littl boi and a littl gerl hoom dhai luvd veri much. Wun dai dhe good mudher bekame veri ill. In a short tym dhe faadher aulso fel ill. . . . If eu doo chis I wil give each of eu a purs ov goeld."

The system looks very much like spelling by ear. It ought not to require any very complicated system of rules. In fact, many people habitually spell by ear without the authority of the society's diction. There are many people who have given up further attempts at mastering English as it is spelled today, and these would welcome a phonetic reform with great joy.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

China Looks to France.

France as a field of study of a great people in a period of reconstruction and restoration is being commended to the progressive students of China by such an authority as Wang Tsing-wei, founder of the Societe Franco-Chinoise. He advises his fellow countrymen that the present is opportune for study by Chinese in France to learn from personal observation how strenuous measures are in the changing of national conditions. China, he says, with its vast population and area must, to bring about anything worthy of the name of reconstruction, rely upon the efforts of many Chinese to introduce the new civilization and to bring China up to date. He says if China can send abroad 100,000 students, then its motto should be "Let us have more."

The Way of the World.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Jones were neighbors. Mr. Smith had a garden, and Mr. Jones kept chickens. Now can you see the possibilities? Well, they didn't come off.

Mr. Smith had an only son, and Mr. Jones had an only daughter. Can you imagine what happened? Well, it didn't.

The year was a dry one and Mr. Smith's garden did not materialize. Mr. Jones's daughter came over to sympathize, and she did it so well that Mr. Smith, who was a widower and well fixed, married her. Such is life—real life.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

A stimulating influence on N. Y. stocks was the speedy closing of subscription list for the French loan.

Toronto labor leaders resent invitati to Premier Meighen from the Dominion Trades Congress.

The Safest Investment in the World

AN Endowment Policy in a well-established Life Assurance Company such as the Mutual of Canada is without doubt the most secure of all forms of investment.

The assured cannot lose.

If he lives he receives his money back with a fair rate of interest.

If he dies his beneficiary receives the full amount of the policy.

Whether the holder survives or not, the Endowment Policy as an investment is a paying proposition for himself or for his family.

Another point: a Life Insurance Company cannot experience a "run" on its funds. The payments depend upon immutable natural laws.

In Buying Endowment Insurance you save your money: you safely invest your money, you protect your household.

These policies are made payable in 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35 or 40 years. Or at ages 50, 55, 60, 65, 70 or 75.

Let us know your age and we will quote you rates.

The Mutual Life of Canada
Waterloo, Ontario

S. BURROWS, GENERAL AGENT,
BELLEVILLE, ONT.

22

Their Glory Shall Not Fade

In the special order issued to the Canadian troops on March 27, 1918, General Sir Arthur Currie wrote:

"To those who will fall I say. 'You will not die but step into immortality —your names will be revered forever and ever by your grateful country, and God will take you unto Himself.'"

The pledge thus given is being faithfully fulfilled in relation to employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company by the placing of bronze memorial tablets at over a score of its principal offices and stations. Furthermore two imposing bronze statuary groups have been designed for the great C.P.R. Stations at Montreal and Winnipeg to stand forever as tribute to the heroism and self-sacrifice of C.P.R. men who died in the cause of freedom. Far-flung and scattered are their graves, but single was their spirit and their ideal, the service of their country.

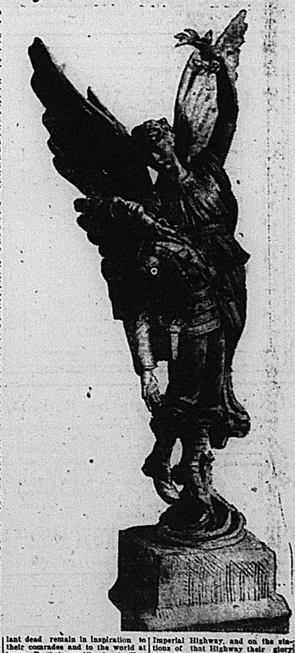
Out of 11,602 employees who were reported as joining the Forces, 1,096, or nearly ten per cent paid the supreme sacrifice. These came from every rank of the company, from every department, and they served by air, land and sea—faithful unto death.

The bronze tablet, replicas of which will be placed at the principal railway centres in each province of Canada, and also in London, Liverpool and the Orient, has been designed by Mr. Archibald Pearce, of the Chief Engineer's Department of the company, and is being engraved at Worcestershire, England, by the Bromsgrove Guild and Applied Arts. The tablet depicts an advancing army of infantry, calvalry, artillery, supplies, munitions, tanks and railway transport flanked on either side by a warship and a C.P.O.S. liner with aeroplanes flying overhead. Britannia calls with outstretched hands to the Overseas Dominions and points out the road to death and glory, while underneath is a scroll with the list of the chief battles in which the C.P.R. men fell. The inscription commemorates:

"Those in the Service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company who at the call of King and Country, left all that was dear to them, endured hardship, faced danger, and finally passed out of sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. 'Let those who come after see to it that their names be not forgotten.'"

The large bronze statuary group which will be duplicated for the C.P.R. Stations at Windsor Street, Montreal and at Winnipeg, is the work of Coeur de Lion MacCarthy, the well known Montreal sculptor. In majestic and impressive allegory, it represents the uplifting of the soul of a hero from the battle lines to 'that borne from which no traveller returns.' The armed figure of a soldier clad in khaki, battle-stained, yet tranquil in death, is borne heavenwards by a winged and laurel wreathed Angel of Victory. The figures in the group are of heroic proportions, over seven feet high, supported upon a marble pedestal.

Thus shall the memory of the gallant dead remain in inspiration to their comrades and to the world at large. By their sacrifice for the Empire, they kept clear and open the Imperial Highway, and on the stations of that Highway their glory shall forever be recorded.



Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 8.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 438.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE

Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
290 Front Street - - - Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 206

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating,
Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

Lawrence Wilson Company
87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES
RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

Do Your Banking by R. F. D.

Make the mail your messenger; and save yourself the long rides to town.
Deposits may be made—butter and cheese cheques cashed—money withdrawn—just as easily and safely by mail as in person.
Write the manager to tell you all about this convenient plan of Banking By Mail—or call in and have it explained, the next time you are in town.

14

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA
DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

892

Painlessly remomves your corns or Ends your Bunion Torture. No appliances of metal, rubber, felt or leather. Scientific and ethical. Ask Central for above number, or call 29 Bridge St. E., Canadian Orthopedic Lab.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By

RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

CHAPTER IX.

Daphne bent her head so quickly that his pressed lips touched her hair. She flung backward and thrust him away and broke from his hold.

"Agh!" she groaned. "I suppose I deserve the insult—for trusting you."

"I didn't intend it for an insult." He followed her with pleading arms.

She backed away and found herself in a corner, flushed, furious, at bay.

"How dare you?" she stormed, and thought with nausea how often the phrase had been used and with what hypocrisy.

It seemed to fall familiarly on his ear, for he laughed comfortably. "How can I help it?"

"If you touch me I'll—I'll hit you."

He paused, stared deep into her eyes. "Do you mean it?"

"Of course I mean it."

"I'm sorry," he sighed. "But won't you let me explain?"

"You don't have to. It's all my fault for inviting you here."

"Oh, no, I beg you not to think that I'm such a cad."

"Please go!"

"All right!" he murmured, and left the room.

She heard his stick rattle as he took it from the umbrella jar. She thought: "There goes my opportunity—my career! Well, let it go! It wasn't worth the price!"

Duane appeared at the door again to say: "Oh, by the way, that introduction to Mr. Reben. Do you still want it?"

"No, thank you, not from you. Good-by."

He bowed farewell, then changed his mind, entered the room and sat down, and motioned her to a seat as if it were his house.

"Miss Kip, may I say one word to you? I don't pretend to understand you women people. I'm not sure now just how sincere you are, just how much of a ninny you may think me for being rebuffed so easily. Experience is no guide. But—well—anyway—what I wanted to say is this—there is hardly any man that would even bother a woman unwilling to be bothered if he could only be certain that he was really bothering her. Do I make myself clear?"

"Not in the least."

"Well, then, I give up. But I must leave you a bit of advice. You say you want to earn money. If you do, on the stage or in any other business, you will meet a lot of men who will feel it their duty to try to kiss you at the first opportunity. It's not only because you are so pretty, for I really believe the homeliest girls get the most kisses. Perhaps it's because they're not so particular—but, anyway, it's not because men are villains that they try to kiss women, but because they're obliging. There is an old superstition—I don't know how false it is, or how true; no man can know—but there is a tradition that every woman expects every man she meets to offer her an insult—that's the technical term—as soon as they are alone.

"That feeling is what women are going to run into every time they try to force their way into business. It will die out, I suppose, to a certain extent, as you crowd into our field. It will be one of the last privileges you'll lose. You're already permitted to stand up in street cars and go out after dark alone. By and by you will have to make your advances to the men yourselves in the frankest manner, instead of subtly as now."

Daphne broke in coldly, "That will be a very welcome day to most of us."

Somehow it did not sound convincing to her. There was grave conviction, however, in his response:

"It will be a mighty welcome day to us poor men, Miss Kip. For most men haven't the faintest desire to spoon with women. It's hard enough for some of them to keep their own sweethearts and wives sufficiently caressed. Then there's another thing—if I'm not boring you—I haven't made as long a speech since I was a schoolboy and recited 'Spartacus to the Gladiators.'"

"Go on, please," said Daphne. "A woman doesn't often get the chance of hearing a man tell the truth about these things."

Her sarcasm chilled him a little, but he went on:

"I just want to say this—it's an old man's advice to a young woman going into business: when a man asks for a job he brings references, and they are investigated; or he answers a lot of questions, and he is given a trial. Or when two men meet in a club or elsewhere they shake hands. That handshake itself is a kind of investigation of character. They learn each other's politics and religion and prejudices as soon as they can.

"So when a man meets a woman he is apt to be thrown with a good deal he is apt to say, 'What sort is she?' But the thing that annoys a man most about having to do business with a woman is the fear that he will either compromise her or disappoint her. That's the first problem to get out of the way; and there's nothing easier for a woman to do than to convince a man that she doesn't want him to try to flirt with her—if she doesn't."

Daphne cried, "In heaven's name, tell me how it's done."

"The way to convince him is to be convinced yourself. If you're sincere he'll know it."

"But I was sincere with you, and you didn't know it."

"I didn't know it at first, but I soon did—I think—and now that's what I'm driving at all this long while. If you're going into business competition with men, play fair. Every now and then one of them, as soon as he finds himself alone with you, will be polite enough to insult you. But the average man will let you alone if you'll let him alone. Suppose he does make a mistaken advance, if you could be sensible enough not to get mad, not to feel besmirched, but just take it as a matter of course and say frankly: 'No, thanks, I'm not interested. I understand you perfectly, but you needn't bother,' or something like that, and say it honestly, the rest would be plain sailing.

"And now, if you'll forgive me for talking your arm off and if you'll prove it by letting me help you, I'll promise never to kiss you or try to till—till you ask me to."

"And May I Arrange for You to Meet Reben?"

Daphne laughed refreshedly at his impudence, and he laughed, as well as he might. And they shook hands with comradeship.

"And may I arrange for you to meet Reben?"

"I hate to ask you now. I've no right to trouble you. But I'm terribly anxious to get a job."

"And I'm terribly anxious to get you one."

"You're [illegible]," she said, and led him to the telephone.

She felt that it would be indelicate to listen, and went back into the living room of the apartment. There Duane joined her in a few moments with the terrifying news that Reben had said that he might have a chance to place her at once if she could come to his office without delay.

Opportunity bouncing out at her like a jack-in-the-box alarmed her. But she faced it pluckily. She put on her hat with trembling hands and went down in the elevator with Duane.

They went up in an elevator at one side of the lobby of the theater and stepped out at Reben's office door. A number of somber and despondent persons of a theatrical complexion were waiting there also, the wretched Lazaruses of art.

Duane spoke to a respectful office boy, who disappeared through a door and returned to beckon him in. With heart bounding high and bubbling at her throat Daphne entered the theatrical world by one of its most gilded portals.

The great Reben sat bulkily behind an ornate table-desk and dismissed a still more ornate stenographer with a nod as he rose to greet Duane.

Duane did the honors: "Mr. Reben, I want to present you to Miss Kip, Miss Daphne Kip."

Reben greeted her with suavity and his eyes were even more enthusiastic than his words. Daphne was at her superlative degree and anxiety gave her a wistfulness that was appealing to Reben. Women's charms and wistfulnesses made up a large part of his wares in trade.

"Have you had any experience?"

"None."

"Studied elocution?"

"Never. I never spoke a piece in my life."

"Good! Amateur theatricals?"

"Never. I never seemed to care for them."

"Better yet! What makes you think you want to act now?"

"Money. I want to earn money—get rich."

"I see," said Reben, and fell into a profound meditation, studying Daphne searchingly.

Duane seized the opportunity to rise and say: "Well, I'll leave you two together to talk terms. It would be indelicate for me to know just how rich Miss Kip is going to be."

He had no sooner gone than Reben's manner changed slightly and Daphne's courage vanished. Reben paced the floor as he talked. His path kept slowly closing in around her like the walls in Poe's story.

"You look like Miss Kemble," he said. "You have somewhat the same temperament. You like her style of play. That may be your line. I can't tell. Of course I don't know how well you can act. Perhaps you never could. Kemble is great, but she comes of an old theatrical family. Of course you have one great capital—your beauty; for you are very beautiful, Miss Kip, very. Let me see your eyes!"

TO BE CONTINUED

WILSON'S
FLY PADS
Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

Frequent Headaches

A Sure Sign That the Blood is Watery and Impure.

People with thin blood are much more subject to headaches than full blooded persons and the form of anaemia that afflicts growing girls is almost always accompanied by headaches, together with disturbance of the digestive organs.

Whenever you have constant or recurring headaches and pallor of the face, they show that the blood is thin and your efforts should be directed toward building up your blood. A fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this effectively, and the rich red blood made by these pills will remove the headache.

More disturbances to the health are caused by their blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment, and you may be troubled with insomnia neuritis, neuralgia or sciatica. Muscles subject to strain are undernourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders, try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the blood is restored to its normal condition every symptom of the trouble will disappear. There are more people who owe their present state of good health to Dr Williams' Pink Pills than to any other medicine, and most of them do not hesitate to say so.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Delta	Sept. 13-15
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

SALE OF STILLS TO BE RESTRICTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Help! the sale of stills is being restricted.

As if the rocketing prices of raisins, hops, yeast and all the other little necessities for the manufacture of home dynamite wasn't bad enough. Internal Revenue Commissioner Williams issued an order requiring that purchasers of stills file affidavits that they will be used only for the distilling of water. Unless such affidavits are filed it will be held that the stills have been sold for illicit purposes.

The order was issued as a result of reports of great traffic in stills.

SMOKES A CIGARETTE AS HE WALKS TO END

OSSINGTON, N.Y., Sept. 9.—Calmly smoking a cigarette as he entered the death chamber, Walter Bojanowski of Buffalo was put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison last night for the murder of George Weitz, a Buffalo pawnbroker.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS

IN THE ESTATE OF ANNIE LAURA MATHER, late of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Widow, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Chapter 121, that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of Annie Laura Mather, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Widow, who died on or about the 25th day of April, 1920, are required to deliver or send by post, prepaid, on or before the 30th day of September, 1920, to the Administrator of the above Estate, or to his solicitors, their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars in writing, verified by Statutory Declaration, of their claims, and accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

And take notice that after the said 30th day of September, 1920, the Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the Estate amongst those entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he or his solicitors shall then have had notice, and he will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person of whose claim notice is not then received.

Dated at Belleville this 3rd day of September, A.D., 1920.

LEWIS F. PURDY,
Administrator.
PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE,
219 Front Street, Belleville,
Ontario, Solicitors.

s4,11,18,25

To look your best, your corset must be a perfect fit.
La Diva corsets, fitted on living Canadian Models, and made in Canada's most successful and largest factory, are produced in styles to suit every figure. Materials are of the best.
Sold and recommended by leading corsetières.
La Diva
NON-RUSTABLE
CORSET
Style 790B
2-120

BEAUTY and durability, those are the combined points achieved in Mercury Fashioned Hosiery. Every Mercury Hose is form fitting, not stretched into shape. Designed with narrowed ankle, shapely full-fashioned calf, extra wide roomy top and without seams to mar comfort or appearance.

Materials and shades in the latest fashions—for all wear.

If your dealer does not handle Mercury lines, he will order for you.

MERCURY MILLS, LIMITED,
Hamilton, Canada

Makers of Underwear and Hosiery for Men, Women and Children.

Mercury
Hosiery

116

2 IN 1
BROWN AND OX-BLOOD
SHOE POLISHES
THE BIG VALUE BOX
Also for Black, Tan and White Shoes
THE F. F. DALLEY CORPORATIONS LTD., HAMILTON, CAN.

V.D.L.
TIRES
Cords of Comfort and Safety
Give miles and miles of pleasant riding, and lend dignity to the appearance of your car.
Absolutely dependable and the most durable.
Your dealer or garage will equip your car with V.D.L. tires and tubes.
Every size a Supersize.
VAN DER LINDE RUBBER CO.
Limited
TORONTO - CANADA

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

For the coming season we are exceptionally well prepared to meet your requirements in the line of Curtains, Drapes, Chintzes, Rugs, Mats, Oilcloths, Linoleums and Window Shades.

CURTAINS—Our showing of curtains comprises Laces, Voiles and Marquisettes and Nets, in excellent patterns and all new designs. By the yard can be had all styles of Nets, Voiles, Marquisettes and Madras. We have an extensive showing of all the new Nets, which will surely interest you if you are needing new curtains.

DRAPES—For Drapes you may have Madras, Repp, Chintz or Velour in colorings of green, rose, brown and blue. We specially recommend our John Brown's Madras, which we are showing in lovely color combinations as well as plain colors.

CHINTZ—We have all the new and popular cloths, suitable for coverings, hangings, etc., in all colorings, and 26 to 50 inches wide, priced from 40c. to $4.00 per yard.

RUGS AND MATS—Axminster, Brussels, Tapestry and Union Rugs and Mats in all sizes, from the small door mat to the large room rug, and all moderately priced. Inspect our showing of these before you buy.

WINDOW SHADES—We can make your window shades in any size and color you may require. In stock we carry both plain and duplex blinds in white, cream and green, with or without insertion.

We make no charge for measuring and estimating on Window Shades and Linoleums.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

FUR OPENING

We are ready once again to supply the fur wants of the ladies of Belleville and vicinity.

We have spared no expense in bringing our stock right up to the minute in style and our choice and selection this year is better than ever.

We give everyone a cordial invitation to call and inspect our excellent line of coats which consists of the reliable Hudson Seal as well as coats cut on the latest designs, fashioned out of the popular furs and finished in superior style.

A VISIT FROM YOU WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily
ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

Have You Rheumatism?
IF SO, TAKE
VITAL TABLETS

Rheumatism is one of the most distressing ailments. We guarantee Vital Tablets will purify the blood. They attack uric acid, and you will be benefitted by taking Vital Tablets, the great French Tonic. They are a wonderful tonic. They build up the entire structure. No more tired feelings. In fact Vital Tablets will put you on your feet. Just go to your druggist and get a box. Price 50c. or by mail. The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Doyle's Drug Store, special agents.

City And Country

VICTIM OF LOCKJAW

After two days' illness from lockjaw, Mrs. Jas. Ridpath, wife of the editor of the Lakefield News, passed away Thursday evening. About a week ago she stepped on a rusty nail.

CASE SETTLED

Before Magistrate Masson yesterday, Walter Houng of Rawdon township was charged with non supporthis wife being the complainant. After considerable evidence had been taken a settlement was effected. Mr. Carnew for the Crown and Mr. R.D. Ponton for the defendant.

CALL FOR POLICE

Last evening the police answered a call to apartments in the Kyle House where it was alleged children were causing annoyance to parties residing there. All was quiet when the officer arrived on the scene.

UNKNOWN DONOR

The board of directors of the Children's Aid Society wish to acknowledge with thanks the donor who sent through the mail Three Dollars toward the work.

BUSY ROTARIANS.

Vacation season over, Belleville Rotary Club is getting down to business for a pleasant and useful fall and winter season. Luncheon meetings will be held weekly at the Hotel Quinte instead of every other Monday at 1 p. m. Rotarians who miss four consecutive meetings will automatically cancel their membership. On Monday, Sept. 13 "The Possibilities of Industrial Alcohol" will be explained to the members by Rotarian George Appell, chief chemist for the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Limited. On Saturday, Sept. 18, Rotarian J. C. Atkinson, of New York, and Rotarian Taylor Statton, of Toronto, will address a special evening luncheon meeting at the Hotel Quinte beginning at 6.30 on "Boys" and man's duty and responsibility in regard to the present and future of the coming men.

THE MARKET.

The attendance at the market today was large and prices realized were good. Butter was rather scarce and sold readily at 70c. per pound. The ruling price for fresh eggs was 6[illegible]c. a dozen. Chickens sold from $2.50 to $4.00 a pair, and broilers at $1.[illegible]0 and $1.75 a pair. Garden products were plentiful and fairly reasonable in price. Potatoes sold at 35c. per peck and tomatoes at 75c. per bushel. Peaches were sold at $1.25 per basket.

SEVERELY INJURED.

A young son of Mr. Fred McDonald, Front of Thurlow, a lad about eight years of age, was last evening severely injured when he was struck by an auto. The boy, with other children, was returning home from school when the accident occurred. His right shoulder was broken and he was otherwise injured.

Artistic Picture Framing
SCANTLEBURY FRAMING
Careful Prompt and Reasonably Priced
SIGN WRITING SERVICE
Scantlebury Service Signs of All Kinds.
AUTO AND CARRIAGE PAINTING SERVICE
The Very Best is the Scantlebury Service

Wedding Bells

SLEEPER—McCRAE
APPLEBY—McCRAE

An event of unusual interest was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gunter, Weslem'coon, Cashel, on Wednesday, Sept. 8th, inst. The two daughters of Mrs. Harvey Gunter by her former marriage, the Misses Grace Irene and Cora Lee McCrae, were led to the altar by Norman D. Sleeper, Cashel, and Murney Clayton Appleby, Frankford, respectively. Rev. W. G. Clark, pastor of Wesley Church, Trenton, performed the ceremony. A large company of guests were present from many points in Hastings County, including Gunter Bancroft, Cannifton, Frankford, Trenton, etc. The sun shone down in warmth and brilliance in benediction upon the occasion. The presents were many, beautiful and useful. A bridal arch had been erected, and promptly at high noon, Mrs. Vina Sine took her place at the organ and the bridegroom took their place under the bridal arch. The brides were given away by their father, Mr. Harvey Gunter. Beautiful bouquets of flowers were borne by Marsie and Fletcher Sine. The solemn words were then spoken, uniting in happy bonds the lives of the contracting couples, amid the best wishes and prayers of the assembled guests. An elegant and bounteous repast was then served. Mr. and Mrs. Sleeper will reside in Cashel and Mr. and Mrs. Appleby will make their home in Sidney.

◆

The Latest Word From No Man's Land

WHY NOT PRESERVE IT—A SACRED MEMENTO? Have your "Great War Letters" typed and put in book form. It is the last and greatest tribute you can pay to those who took part in the cementing of our National Freedom, especially to those who "Flung the Torch" over there. Miss I. P. Davis, Belleville's First and Only Public Stenographer, will type and put them in a neat folder for you. All classes of correspondence 'STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.' She will: Compose letters, type correspondence, take dictation, address envelopes, postals, fill in agreement, order and will forms, type accounts, invitations, announcements, addresses, sermons, etc. Filling in Business and income tax papers, circulars, duplicating—a specialty. Save money, send your work to her office, Hotel Quinte. Satisfactory Service. Prices "right." Phone No. 103. sa11-5-7-8

◆

Social And Personal

Miss Innis Hearn, daughter of Hon. E. J. Hearn, Toronto, is the guest of her uncle, Mr. Jas. Copeland, Foster Avenue.

Ald. Bone, returned home today from a business trip to Anapolis Village, N.S., Yarmouth, N.S., Philadelphia, Boston and New York. Mr. [illegible]. Graham, who accompanied him, is at Anapolis Village.

Mrs. W. J. Brown, Octavia street, has returned home from an extended visit at Balsam Lake, and is much improved in health.

Miss Irene Harris and Miss Mamie Crosby left today for a visit at Pontiac, Mich.

Mrs. W. M. Whyte has returned home from Toronto after taking in the Exhibition.

◆

Called by Death

LORENZO McDONALD.

Mr. Lorenzo McDonald, a well known resident of Point Ann, died on Thursday night after a lingering illness. Deceased was 48 years of age and was by occupation a fisherman. He was a son of Mr. Thos. McDonald and was born at Point Ann, where he had resided all his life. In religion he was a Methodist. A wife, two sons—Albert of Shannonville, and Roy at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Mowberry, of Shannonville, survive.

◆

DIED

McDONALD—At Point Ann, Thursday, Sept. 9, 1920, Lorenzo McDonald, aged 48 years, 3 months, 4 days.

The funeral will leave his late residence, Point Ann, at 2.30 p.m. Sunday Sept. 12. Service at 2 o'clock. Interment at Shannonville.

◆

In Memoriam

FITZPATRICK—In memory of my dear wife, Muriel Fitzpatrick, who passed away Sept. 11th, 1919.

One year has passed but none can tell
The loss of my dear wife I loved so well.
One of the best that God could lend:
A loving mother, a faithful friend.
Though her loving voice is silent
And her true heart ceased to beat,
We miss her well known footsteps
And her face we used to greet.
—Frank Fitzpatrick.
Regina, Sask, 1t

HAY FEVER and ASTHMA

Conquered by the World's Only Two-bottle Remedy. Don't suffer a minute longer. Send today $4—32-day treatment. Trial size 25c. and guaranteed.
W. K. BUCKLEY, Mfg. Chemist
97 DUNDAS ST. E., TORONTO.

BRITAIN STILL MISTRESS OF THE SEAS

It is now definitely assured that old Father Neptune will remain a British citizen, according to an article from a London correspondent published in the Wall Street Journal. The writer, Herbert N. Casson, has made a close study of British shipping. He declares that at one time there was apprehension in Great Britain that the lead in the shipping world would go to the United States—"that Father Neptune would become a naturalized American"—but Britain, by a remarkable boom in shipbuilding, has now regained supremacy. The article is, in part, as follows:

"Every Britisher is holding his head a bit stiffer—he has heard with the deepest satisfaction the news that Great Britain has beaten America as a shipbuilding country.

"Last year America was first—easily first. But at the moment the total shipbuilding in Britain is 3,578,000 tons, as against 2,100,000 tons in the United States.

"The fear that old Father Neptune was to become a naturalized American has now disappeared. Clearly, from a comparison of shipyards, he is to remain what he has been for three centuries—a British citizen.

"In other matters no Englishman worries his head about the supremacy of the United States.

"An American may come here, as a certain Mr. Liggett did last month, and buy 637 of the best British drug stores in one lot. No one worries about it. That is merely the freedom of investment, and foreign money never hurts any country.

"A certain Mr. Tilden may come here and beat all the ablest Englishmen at tennis, which is a distinctly English game. But no one worries over it. Better luck next year. No defeat is final.

"But as to shipping, that is another matter. No other nation, not even the United States, must be allowed to endanger British supremacy at sea. Britannia may or may not rule India. She may or may not rule in industry and finance. But she must continue, as long as she is an island, to rule the waves.

"No reverse of the war made so deep an impression upon the British as the destructiveness of the German submarines. More than 3,000 British ships went down—that is the one outstanding memory of the war.

"It is the memory of her shipping losses that will prevent Britain from setting Ireland adrift. An independent Ireland would mean a base for hostile submarines. As Lloyd George said: 'I need no other evidence than the submarine sinkings outside Ireland, to say that if the British Empire surrendered control over Ireland, it would be committing suicide.'

"So, while there has been a heavy fall in the securities of shipping companies, there has also been, in recent months a boom in ship production.

"During the last six months, 324 new shipping companies have been organized, with $300,000,000 new capital.

"There is a progressive, confident spirit in shipping circles, now that State control is coming to an end, and now that the British tortoise is ahead of the American hare in the race of the shipyards. There is to be no change, after all our fears, in the nationality of Neptune."

◆

HUNTERS CAN SHOOT PRAIRIE CHICKENS

Three years' sanctuary by virtue of provincial statutes prohibiting the shooting of prairie chickens in Manitoba, will be raised this autumn, and sportsmen will have one week in which to shoot without fear of itinerant game guardians and lesser minions of the law.

By order-in-council the provincial government will declare an open season for prairie chickens from October 15 to 22, inclusive, and by so doing make it legal to shoot chickens for the first time in Manitoba since 1917, when the lid was put on as a result of the scarcity of birds in Manitoba.

SUMMER
ASTHMA—
HAY FEVER
—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—
RAZ-MAH
brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.
Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

SCHOOL SHOES

These are the days when the School Shoe question looms up again. Our School Shoes are made of real leather and are built to stand the racket of the play ground.

PRICES RIGHT.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

Teas
OF SUPERIOR QUALITY
New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious
Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

HEAR
"THE LOVE NEST"
on a Victor Record at
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

◆

THE JOHNSTONE SCHOOL OF DANCING.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnstone, professional teachers of dancing, give private lessons. Time arranged to suit pupils by appointment. Phone 750. Select Social Dances tonight and Monday. 1t

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

SATURDAY SALE

Just a few remaining lines of Summer Merchandise to be cleared Saturday—each item a distinct bargain.

LADIES' AND KIDDIES'
Middies
AT A 20% REDUCTION

All our Admiral and Kiddie Middies—many of them with Flannel Collars. All sizes. Saturday only, 20% off Regular price.

Silk Hose
$1.19 pr.
"Queen" Quality Black Silk Boot Hose—a splendid quality worth much more money. Saturday, $1.19 pair.

D. & A.
Corsets
$1.75
A complete showing of these famous Corsets at this low price. Sizes 19 to 26. Saturday, $1.75 pair.

Ladies' Cotton Hose
45c pr.
A splendid heavy Cotton Hose, at this price, in Black, White, Brown, 8½ to 10, 45c. pair.

Children's Stamped Dresses and Rompers, $1.25.

WOTTENS LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose
your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.
T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

"Train up a child in the way he should go" and he will always use a
Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen

Schools open soon now—then the colleges and universities.

Every student should have the favorite pen for the opening. It encourages better writing, and the taking of ample notes, forming habits that are invaluable throughout life.

$2.50 invested now supplies a lifelong friend—the Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen—in a style that exactly suits the individual hand.

L. E. Waterman Company, Limited
179 St. James Street, Montreal.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 15 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.25, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 5 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—WICKER BABY CARRIAGE. Would exchange for small coal heater. 9 Everett Street. 1td

FOR SALE — JERSEY COW. APPLY 49 Grier street, evenings. s10-2td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Lindsay, 333 Front St.

MRS. A. HARMAN HAS A NICE SELECTION of smart Fall and Winter Millinery at reasonable prices. 42½ Bridge St. upstairs. s9-6td

FOR SALE—FORD TOURING CAR IN good mechanical condition. Good tires, tire carrier, foot accelerator and speedometer. Demonstration can be arranged. 240 Dundas. s8-4td

FOR SALE—MOTOR LAUNCH, 32 FEET, equipped with 12 h.p. motor, all in good running order. Apply to Geo. Duff, Point Ann Quarries, Ont. s8-6td

$3,600—BUNGALOW FOR SALE—122 MOIRA Street west, new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Stationary tubs in basement, furnace, plumbing and electric fixtures of best quality. Apply Bank of Montreal. s7-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 138 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

FOR SALE—THE EXECUTORS OF THE S. S. Vandervoort Estate have the following Belleville residential property for sale —12 Catharine St., brick dwelling with modern conveniences; 18-20 Everett St., detached Cement Block Dwellings. 54 Cedar St., Frame Dwelling. For particulars apply to Chancey Ashley, Front Street, Belleville. a21,28,s4,11

FOR SALE — 100 ACRES, CONCESSION 3, Tyendinaga, half mile east of Melrose. Well drained, abundantly watered, convenient to churches, school, store and station. R. C. English, Shannonville. d-s4&11;w-s9&16

WANTED.

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. a21-dtf

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work, with references. Chas. S. Clapp. s4-dtf

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

WANTED — AT HOTEL QUINTE, BELL Boy; also girl to wash glass and silverware. s9-4td

WANTED — EXPERIENCED GROCERY clerk. Apply to Box "R," Intelligencer. s9-4td

WANTED—SMALL FURNISHED HOUSE, with modern conveniences. Possession at once. Apply Box "M," Intelligencer. a18-4t

WANTED—FURNISHED ROOM WITH OR without board, within five minutes walk of Post Office. Apply Box "O," The Intelligencer. a10 2td

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSE work. Good wages. Address Box "B," Intelligencer Office. a10-1tw,4td

WANTED—GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEWORK. Apply 280 Albert St. Phone 654. s9-4td

WANTED—SMART GIRL TO TAKE CARE of a child. Apply 260 Front St. s9-4td

GOOD POSITION FOR TWO GIRLS. APPLY Belleville Hardware & Lock Mfg Co., Ltd., Pinnacle St. s9-4td

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-d1m

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. Good wages. s3-dtf

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

LOST

LOST—TRAVELLER'S CHEQUES, ON FAIR grounds yesterday. Finder will be rewarded by returning to 265 Front St. G. Spartas. s9-3td

TO LET.

TO LET—THREE UNFURNISHED ROOMS. Electric lights, bath and good well water. No children. Apply 181 Moira St. W. s9-4td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern —possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. s7-dtf

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS, use of bath and electric light. All conveniences, suitable for light housekeeping. Apply Box S., Intelligencer. s3-dtf

TO LET—ROOM AND BOARD, ALL CONVENIENCES, in a private family, for two ladies, or man and wife. Box "Y," Intelligencer. s10-2t

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d-of

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chances to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G., Toronto. a28-stt-6td

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G, Toronto. stt—s30

FOUND

FOUND — LAST SATURDAY, ON EAST Bridge Street, lady's suit coat. Apply 166 Bleecker Ave. 1t

FUNERAL NOTICE.

GREATRIX—The funeral of the late Richard Greatrix, Esq., will be held from his late residence, 156 Pinnacle street, on Monday, Sept. 13th, 1920, at 2.30 p.m., thence to Christ Church for service at three o'clock. Interment family plot, Belleville cemetery.

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

Mr. S. M. Anglin, teacher of singing, has returned to the city and will be at the Conservatory of Music, Front street, on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and evenings. s8-6t

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Emmanuel Church Harvest Festival Services, Sunday and Monday, the 12th and 13th. On Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. the Right Rev. Bishop Willard Brewing will preach thanksgiving sermons. On Monday a public tea will be provided in the school room at 6 p. m. Tickets 40c. "God our Maker doth provide, for our wants to be supplied." s9 3td

A SUGGESTION.

When you are down town some afternoon just drop in to John Henley's and have your heels straightened WHILE YOU WAIT. s7-5t

GOODYEAR WELTS.

If you are wearing Goodyear Welted Shoes, be sure to have them repaired on genuine Goodyear machinery at John Henley's, Footbridge gangways. s7-6td

MISS CAMPBELL
Hat Shop
Phone 117 218 Front St.

Our show room is now open for a beautiful display of Fall and Winter Millinery from Paris, New York and best Canadian work rooms; also a special line of hats from ten to twelve dollars. s8-6td

ST. AGNES SCHOOL
DAY PUPILS
Re-opening September 15th

St. Agnes' School will re-open for Day Pupils on Wednesday, September 15, 1920, at 9.30 a.m.

Classes in Music, Art, Physical Culture, in addition to regular school studies. s9-3t

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

BETHEL HALL—SUNDAY—7 P.M. MR. TAYLOR (BRITISH GUIANA) WILL PREACH. SUBJECT—"THE GOOD SAMARITAN.

ALBERT COLLEGE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Studios, 249½ Front St. Piano, Singing, Theory of Music, Violin and Expression. Teaching resumed Tuesday, Sept. 7th. Experienced teachers. examinations in a record of the past Highest results obtained in all music twenty-five years. Elementary to graduation. Children receive special attention. V. P. Hunt, A.A.G.O., Musical Director. Phone 880. a31,s2,4,7,9,11

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The Y.M.C.A. Baths and Swimming Pool will be closed Saturday, September the 11th, for renovation and repairs, to reopen Saturday, September the 18th. s11-2td

HEAR
"THE LOVE NEST"
on a Victor Record at
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

Board of Commerce reserves its decision on milk prices at Toronto.

Poles protest to Allies that Germans are not disarming Russian Reds who cross frontier.

LOCAL LEGAL.

County Court, Before George E. Deroche, Judge.

Powers vs. Tudor & Cashel.—Action for $200 damages to auto, which the plaintiff alleged was caused by reason of the negligence of the defendants in not keeping in repair the township highway near Gilmour.

The defendants denied any negligence, and claimed the damages were caused by the plaintiff's own negligence, or were the result of mere accident for which the defendants were not liable.

Judgment—Action dismissed. A. Abbott, Esq., for the plaintiff; S. Masson, K.C., for the defendants.

RETURNED MEN FREE.

Returned soldiers will not be required to pay tuition fees for non-professional courses such as Arts, it is learned from President James A. McLean of Manitoba University. Soldier students in professional courses will be required to pay only half fees. These include courses such as medicine, engineering, and others. The discrimination between the professional and non-professional courses, is made owing to the greater cost of the professional courses, requiring much laboratory work. The policy of permitting special conditions to returned soldiers is one that the University of Manitoba established last year. It is a permanent policy, and returned soldiers may always benefit by it.

MARVELLOUS GROWTH.

A. L. Sawle of the Northern Trading Company, Edmonton, who has returned from a trip to the top of the map, brings back a story of wheat at Fort Simpson that headed out thirty-seven days after seeding. It was sown June 7 and by the middle of July was in head.

This is the farthest north that wheat is grown in Canada. The crop that Mr. Sawle tells about is on the Dominion Government's experimental farm, where tests of northern soil productiveness have been going on for several years. Fort Simpson is situated on the Mackenzie river near the mouth of the Liard river, in a little short of latitude 62.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

CHRIST CHURCH (Anglican)
Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, Rector.
Residence: 86 Commercial St.
8 a.m.—Holy Communion. Corporate Communion for members of the W. A.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer.
3 p.m.—S. S. and Confirmation Class.
7 p.m.—Evensong.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH.
Rector, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, M.A.
Residence: The Rectory, 73 Bridge St.
Phone 401.
8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer with sermon—"A Piece of Brass."
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes
4 p.m.—Baptismal Service.
7 p.m.—Evensong with sermon—"The Office of Preacher."
Prof. Wheatley, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., Organist and Choirmaster.

VICTORIA AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH.
Minister, Rev. Wm. Harris Wallace.
13 Queen St. Phone 401.
11 a.m.—"Rich and Becoming Poor."
3 p.m.—Bible School. Open to all.
7 p.m.—"What is the Gospel"
Acting organist—Mrs. Rathman.
Prayer Meeting, Wed., 8 p.m.
Visitors heartily welcome.

TABERNACLE.
The Church on a Hill.
The Pastor's subjects: "The Temptation of Christ." "Faith's Adventure."
2.30 p.m.—S. S. and Brotherhood.
In the evening the quartette will sing, and the choir will sing "The Sun That Ere Hath Set."
Courteous ushers always on duty. Come to the Tabernacle services.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Rev. A. S. Kerr, M.A., Pastor.
Re-Opening Services tomorrow.
The church has been re-decorated throughout durin gthe summer vacation.
11 a.m.—"The Church That Finds Life."
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—"Making the Church Great."
Special music. A cordial welcome to all.

JOHN ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Cor. Victoria Ave. and John Street.
11 a.m.—Subject, "The Poor in Spirit."
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Subject, "The Angel of the Church."

THE SALVATION ARMY.
Adjt. I. Cavender, Commanding Officer.
11 a.m.—Holiness meeting.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
3.30 p.m.—Praise Meeting.
7 p.m.—Salvation Meeting.

BRIDGE STREET CHURCH SERVICES TOMORROW
Rev. Dr. Cleaver, Pastor; Rev. Geo. Brown, Assistant Pastor.
The Pastor, Rev. Dr. Cleaver, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening. Timely themes.
11 a.m.—Morning Service.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
Mrs. G. McKinnon and Mr. R. J. F. Staples will sing morning and evening.
Mr. V. P. Hunt, Director of Music.

HOLLOWAY ST. METHODIST CHURCH
West Belleville.
Parsonage, 44 Hillside St. Phone 678.
Rev. A. H. Foster, Pastor.
Sunday, September 12th.
10 a.m.—Class Meeting.
11 a.m.—The Divine Weaver and his Loom.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—"The Supreme Aim of Life."
Miss S. Walton, choir leader and soloist.
Miss W. Pearce, organist.

EMMANUEL CHURCH.
Victoria Avenue — The City Low Church.
Rev'd George Marshall, Rector.
Phone 673.
11 a.m. and 7 p.m.—Harvest Festival. Sermons by Bishop Willard Brewing.

OWES HER LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

After Years of Suffering with Dyspepsia, this Fruit Medicine Gave Relief

MLLE ANTOINETTE BOUCHER

917 Dorion St., Montreal.

"I am writing to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives' for this remedy relieved me when I had abandoned all hope of ever recovering my health.

I suffered terribly with Dyspepsia. I had it for years and all the medicines I took did not do me any good.

I read something about 'Fruit-a-tives' being good for all Stomach Troubles and Disorders of Digestion so I tried them. After finishing a few boxes, I was entirely relieved of the Dyspepsia and my general health was restored.

I thank the great fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', for this wonderful relief."

Mlle ANTOINETTE BOUCHER.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

TIME WAS

when a bracelet watch was a rather useless luxury. Today it is both a necessity and an ornament, desired by every woman. It is the most acceptable gift imaginable.

The bracelet watch purchased at Blackburn's is a reliable, accurate time-piece and an exquisite ornament. We have a large display from which to choose, including products of the standard watchmakers — beautifully designed and attractively priced.

$20.00 to $65.00

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

SATURDAY SPECIAL CANDY SALE

TURKISH DELIGHT
Delicious, Delightful Delight
Fresh made, nut and plain.
Regular price 65c. and 70c. lb.
Saturday Special Price:
ONE pound . . . . . 52c.
TWO pounds . . . $1.00

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Developing and Printing

WE DO OUR OWN WORK
WE DO IT RIGHT
WE DO IT TO PLEASE YOU
TRY US!

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

20 MINUTES

That's all. Twenty minutes after taking a ZUTOO tablet your headache will be gone.

One of these little tablets—safe, reliable and harmless as soda—will stop any headache in 20 minutes.

Or, better still, taken when you feel the headache coming on, a ZUTOO tablet will ward it off—nip it in the bud.

No Headache

RITCHIE'S

SATURDAY SPECIALS

TWO EXCEPTIONAL

HOSIERY SAVINGS

FROM THE HOSIERY DEPT.

Ladies Plain Black Cashmere Hose

Ladies' Plain Black Cashmere Hose, "seconds," with slight imperfections—no holes—worth reg. $2.00. Saturday special . . . $1.19

Ladies' Black Lisle Hose

Seconds, Penman's make, with silky finish; worth reg. $1.00. Saturday special, 65c. pair.

36 in. Dress Goods

36-inch Dress Goods, Armure weave, in Copen., Navy, Brown and Cardinal, suitable for children's school dresses. Worth reg. $1.75. Saturday special . . . $1.39

Gloves, 59c pair

Odd lines of Ladies' Tan and Black, long and short Silk and Lisle; worth reg. up to $1.25 pair. On sale, 59c.

35 in. White Cotton

Canadian make, fully bleached. Worth reg. 40c. On sale Saturday only .... 29c.

18 in. Cotton Huck Toweling

Medium weight and pure white. Soft finish. Worth reg. 30c. On sale 19c. yard.

Dresden Ribbons 79c

—in light and dark shades, 5½ inches wide, suitable for Camisoles, Bags, etc., worth reg. $1.00. On sale 79c. yd.

$1.00 - PURSES - $1.00

Ladies' Hand Purses with back strap; two compartments, with flap and dome fastener. Very special at $1.00 each.

Flannelette Night Gowns $1.69

Made of good heavy White Flannelette; good full size garments. Regular $1.90. Saturday $1.69

Corsets Half Price

About 2 dozen pairs Bon Ton Corsets, regular $4.50 to $6.00 pr.

Saturday to clear, Half Reg. Price

Ladies' Vests

—in white and natural; long sleeves; good fall weight.

60c garment

Apron Dress

$1.65—Reg. $2.00

Made of good quality print; short sleeves, button down side front; belt, pocket; sizes 36 to 42. Reg. value $2.00, for

$1.65

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Fair and cooler.

The Daily Intelligencer.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 288.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1920.

Killed by Lightning While Milking Cow

YOUNG FARMER OF AMELIASBURG KILLED WHEN LIGHTNING STRUCK BARN—CATTLE BURNED TO DEATH AND CROP DESTROYED.

The thunder storm which passed over this section on Saturday evening was responsible for the death of a young man in Ameliasburg township, the destruction of a barn by fire, and the cremation of some cattle. The lamentable affair occurred at the farm of the late Mr. Edward Carnrite, third concession of Ameliasburg, and the victim was a son of the deceased.

It appears that young Carnrite was milking a cow when a bolt of lightning struck the barn, killing the young man and setting the structure on fire. The barn was consumed with the season's crop, while two cows were burned to death. Other stock in the barn was rescued by neighbors who arrived upon the scene shortly after the fire broke out.

The young man was well and favorably known in the locality and his untimely death is much regretted by a large circle of relatives and friends.

Farmer Chosen In East Elgin

AYLMER, Ont., Sept. 11.—John Stansell, of the township of Bayham, a well known farmer, who has made a pronounced success of the breeding of Ayrshire cattle, was chosen in convention here as the standard-bearer of the new National Liberal-Conservative party in the coming by-election in East Elgin. Though up to a few days ago, it appeared likely that there would be a contest for the nomination, the field had been narrowed down to two men, both farmers, when the delegates gathered in the Town Hall.

Half an hour after the convention opened, Michael McKnight, of Malahide, who was also nominated, withdrew in Stansell's favor, and the choice was made unanimous, amid an outburst of enthusiasm.

Stansell enters the fight with an even chance of success. In view of the sweeping success of the U. F. O. in the Provincial campaign in Elgin a year ago, there is little likelihood of undue optimism on the part of the Government forces, but there is evidence that the pendulum is winging back again. Many U. F. O. Conservatives are lining up behind the Government candidate, and the opposition in both the U. F. O. and Liberal camps, particularly in the latter, is not yet well organized.

W. G. Charlton, who claims the Liberal nomination by virtue of a choice made a year ago, is at present living in Welland, and is not a strong candidate, while many Liberals who voted U. F. O. in the provincial election, thinking they were joining forces with the farmers to oust the Conservatives, have found out their mistake. From every point of view it looks like a fight ,and a hard one.

NICK DOESN'T FEAR CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS

New York, Sept. 11.—Jules W. (Nicky) Arnstein, central figure in New York's $5,000,000 bond theft plot, today hung carelessly over the long table in special United States Commissioner Tallman's office and seemed bored while his counsel fought to have bankruptcy proceedings against him adjourned once more.

Arnstein, reputed by surety companies for financial institutions to be worth a cold million, continually has refused to answer certain questions, even after directed to do so by the Federal Court, claiming his "constitutional rights" not to testify when it "might tend to incriminate him."

Federal Judge Manton gave Arnstein's counsel one day to place papers before him on a request for a stay of the bankruptcy proceedings pending appeal from the recent Federal Court decision adjudging "Nicky" in contempt. The matter has been taken before the Judge after Special Commissioner Tallman asserted that he was without power to grant a stay, following his refusal to grant adjournment.

COBALT GOLD SHIPMEENT WAS NEARLY A RECORD

Cobalt, Ont Sept 13.—Well over a half million dollars worth of bullion has been released by Cobalt mines in the past week it is announced, the list containing 499 bars of 550,715.28 fine ounces. This is nearly a record The Nipissing mine sent out 241 bars and the Mining Corporation 158 bars. During the week eleven cars of ore were shipped out, the figures being Nipissing 581,311 pounds, Coniagas 151,000 pounds, Larose 83,902 pounds, Hudson Bay 621,640 pounds and Beaver 60,000 pounds, a total of 948,853 pounds.

Seven Farmers Aspire For Seat

Member Who Resigned is Again in the Field for Re-election.

PETERBORO', Sept. 13.—A well-attended meeting of the U.F.O. in West Peterboro' was held here to nominate a candidate to contest the by-election necessitated by J. H. Burnham's resignation. Only about one-third of the constituency is stated to be rural, but in the event of the Labor party not putting up a candidate the Farmers rely on getting support from that source.

From what one hears in Peterboro there is considerable doubt as to Mr. Burnham, who is running again, being able to come out as winner, though should several candidates take the field that will complicate calculations.

U. F. O. Expects to Win.

W. R. Shields, the president of the county U.F.O., presided over a gathering of about 250, including a number of ladies. The chairman said if they used the best efforts he thought they could win. He stated some of the leading men in the city had asked the farmers to come and help in the nomination of a city. They never had such people ask for their support before. He claimed that the farmers were more of a success in production than any other class of citizens.

In reply to a question, the President said the executive thought they should have only nomination from U. F. O. members.

Must Put Up $500 Deposit.

The secretary, T. T. Lillico, intimated that the successful nominee would deposit $500 with the executive. If he is elected this money is to go to pay expenses and if he is defeated the amount to be refunded shall be left to the discretion of the executive, and that a contribution would be asked from all local clubs. If elected the representative would be responsible for expenses up to $1,000, including the $500.

Nominations were called for and the names submitted as candidates were: James Campbell, South Monaghan; G. B. Nicholls, Smith Township, Warden of the county of Peterboro'; J. F. Collins, Ennismore Township; F. E. Wilson, North Monaghan; W. R. Shields, Smith Township; R. T. Lillico, North Monaghan; John McIntosh, North Monaghan.

James Corbett Campbell, of South Monaghan was the choice of the convention on the third ballot. J. F. Collins, of Ennismore, who figured in the final vote with Campbell, declared his intention of remaining in the field as an Independent-Labor minority U. F. O. candidate. The vote was 94-36 in favor of Campbell.

PADDLED 3,000 MILES TO PAY EACH INDIAN $5

Regina, Sask., Sept. 13.—After covering between two and three thousand miles by canoe in the northern Part of the province to pay "treaty money" to the Indians, the party of three has returned.

Altogether $11,200 was distributed among 2,214 Indians of 12 different bands. Each Indian was given $5. The round trip from Prince Albert to Big River across the northern part of the province to The Pas was completed in eighty days, constituting a record for the journey.

According to a doctor who accompanied the party the health of the Indians is fair, although they have suffered from influenza

Toronto Leafs lost to Buffalo Saturday and beat them Sunday. Baltimore won both days.

Fatal And Costly Fire at Detroit

One Man Killed, Two Firemen Seriously Hurt, One May Die.

DETROIT, Sept. 11.—One man was killed and two firemen were seriously injured, one probably fatally, and property valued at $250,000 destroyed, in a spectacular fire that gutted the Ford Body building of the Wilson Body plant at Clay avenue and Colby street.

The fire started with an explosion of naptha in the dipping-room on the second floor. John Wilson, the only man in the room at the time, rushed through the building a blazing torch, his clothing in flames. Workmen seized the screaming man and beat out the flames, but not before the victim was terribly burned.

Flames Spread Rapidly.

The spread of the flames was rapid. Fed by large stores of paint and varnish, the fire soon swept to the lower and upper floors of the three-storey structure.

Many of the 400 employees in the burning building narrowly escaped being trapped by the quick-spreading tongues of fire.

A double-six alarm, turned in fifteen minutes after the first alarm, brought much additional apparatus. The three floors of the building were then a seething furnace of flame.

Chief Callahan, on being informed that the burning structure contained large stores of naptha, issued orders that no firemen should enter it.

Four Firemen Caught by Timbers,

Every available hose line poured streams of water from outside, and when the fire had been partially controlled Chief Callahan permitted several men to enter.

They proceeded to the second floor. Against the west wall was a huge pile of timbers 25 feet high, 40 feet long, and weighing several tons.

As four of the firemen approached this pile it collapsed, trapping the quartette under a tangled mass of timbers.

Heroic Efforts to Save Man.

A score of firemen, under direction, dropped their hose lines and plunged to the rescue of their comrades. After two men had been taken out the frantically-working police and firemen could hear the cries of Peter Osweck, another fireman, as he directed their search.

His head was uncovered. Then his shoulders and trunk. A tangled mass of timbers had criss-crossed about his waist and lower limbs, holding him fast. While one fireman kept a fine spray of water playing over the pinned man, others work frantically with jacks and saws until he was finally liberated.

As the last timber gave way Osweck fainted and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital unconscious. An operation was performed in an effort to save his life, but he died five hours later.

SKELETONS DRAW TREASURE SEEKERS

Searchers after buried silver on the mainland [illegible] Pete Island eighteen miles southeast of [illegible] Texas, probably are doomed to disappointment, in the opinion of Dr. J. O. Dyer, a local writer on historical and scientific subjects. The rush of treasure seekers began with the discovery recently of 25 skeletons popularly believed to be those of members of the crew of a Spanish treasure ship which foundered off the Texas coast early in the eighteenth century. No record is available of any such wreck.

The "life" of a skeleton buried in the sands of the beaches of the coastal country, Dr. Dyer points out, is not over forty years.

He says also , treasure ships from Mexico to Spain were discontinued after 1820, partly because of the activities of Jean Laffite's fleet of buccaneers.

Even before that time the Spaniards tried to avoid excessive losses from storms and Laffite's fleet of buccaneering vessels and 50 Spaniards transported less than 20 tons of silver bullion to the vessel. Then, the current rate in Mexico was approximately $10 a troy pound. The most valuable of all Laffite's prizes, the Sevilla, carried only $150,000 in specie.

Laffite's captured treasure, according to the records extant, was buried in three caches. Two of these were located on Galveston Island, and the third on a small island to the east, which was completely washed away during a storm in 1829.

There have been many reports of the discovery on this coast of caches of coin or chests from trading ships containing from $3,000 to $15,000.

Fails to Report Big Timber Cut

Crown Loses About $20,000 in Dues by Neglect of Keewatin Firm.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—Fraudulent returns were sent to the Ontario Government by sealers of the Fort Frances Lumber Company in 1909, and one camp of the Keewatin Lumber Company, of Kenora, overlooked reporting timber cut that should have brought about $20,000 dues to the Government, according to evidence given before Justices Riddell and Latchford in the timber investigation here this afternoon by Samuel Price, Chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board. Mr. Price stated that in 1909 he was appointed by Hon. Frank Cochrane a commissioner to investigate supposed irregularities in connection with the sending in of alleged false returns to the Government, and these were two things he had discovered.

Sir Wm. Hearst on Stand.

Sir William Hearst, former Premier of Ontario, was a witness today at the Ontario timber limits enquiry and flatly denied the evidence of Samuel Marks that Sir William and Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Minister of Mines, knew of irregularities and declined to take action regarding the same. The former Premier declared that he received no information of wrong doing in connection with the disposal of timber limits from Marks or anybody else.

Thieves Rob Guests of Windsor Hotel

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.—A robbery took place at the Windsor Hotel, in this city, which, for cool and calculated daring rivals the best chronicled performances of the so-called international crooks. Thieves entered the apartments of two lady guests of the hostelry during their absence, appropriated jewelry and other valuables, including in the haul the ladies' transportation to the Pacific coast, and also the checks for their baggage. The matter was reported to the police authorities, who, on investigation, found that the miscreants had not only obtained rebates on the railway tickets, but had, in addition, redeemed the ladies' baggage and made off with the contents to the value of some two thousand dollars. Detectives this morning recovered most of the stolen property in a house in the north end of the city and took into custody a man and several women, as they were preparing for departure for unknown destinations.

Fugitive Reds Starve in Swamps

SEBASTOPOL, Sept. 13. — Many thousands of Soviet troops, it is declared here, are surrounded by the Wrangel forces. Some of them have been drowned in the swamps and others are starving in the morasses along the Dnieper, especially at the Kokova bridgehead, where after severe fighting Gen. Wrangel's troops hurriedly entrenched.

Many of the Soviet soldiers captured by Gen. Wrangel's troops had been sent to the southern front from Siberia and the outlying provinces. They are clothed in rags, with shoes made of untanned horsehide.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

100 Towns Destroyed.

Florence, Italy, Sept. 13.—More than a hundred towns and villages were destroyed or badly damaged in the district north of this city, which was shaken by the earthquake last Tuesday, according to latest reports.

Poles Repulse Bolsheviki.

Warsaw, Sept. 13.—Polish and Bolshevik forces continue the battle begun in the Lemberg sector several days ago. Bolshevik attacks against the town of Bysk have been repulsed, according to reports from the front.

British Occupy Shareband.

Bagdad, Sept. 13—Shareband, on the Diala River, sixty miles north of here, has been occupied by British forces which left Bakuba a few days ago. An expedition under Brig.-Gen. Cunningham has released some Indian prisoners and Mrs. Buchanan, wife of the British officer who was killed in that vicinity last month.

Workmen Wish to Be Managers

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

MILAN, Sept. 13.—Immediate convocation of the Italian Parliament for the purpose of passing laws under which workmen may take over the management of industrial plants has been demanded by the confederation of labor in session here. Resolutions favoring a compromise of the situation resulting from the occupation of plants by workmen throughout Italy were adopted at a stormy session of the confederation yesterday.

Socialist leaders bitterly attacked the confederation and demanded that the Socialist party assume control of the situation, which they claimed had taken a purely political aspect when the Socialist demands were rejected. An additional resolution was passed which asked the Chamber of Deputies and Premier Giolitti to call Parliament into session.

Bolshevik Bribe Halts Negotiations

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The Times this morning says the Russian Soviet Government, placing seventy-five thousand pounds of Bolshevik gold in the hands of a Social-Labor organ, temporarily has wrecked the work of the Bolsheviki commercial mission in London. Just when Kameneff and Krassin, Soviet commissioners, had hopes of immediate results, and according to newspaper representatives, had an appointment with Lloyd George on Friday to notify him of the progress of certain trade negotiations and prospects of establishing trade relations, they were told at Downing Street that in view of the gold disclosures it would be impossible to deal with any other subjects until the matter was explained.

Sunshine Fund Calls to Citizens

Winter is Approaching With Its Many Requirements.

The sunshine of kindly interest and generous hearts has illumined the darkness of a Belleville family caused by the illness of the father, suffering from an incurable ailment. Three little children, all under the age of five years, with the father and mother, constitutes the family. The father was always a good citizen and a hard worker, while health permitted. When he was laid aside by illness the wife secured a position and supported the family. The husband's illness grew worse and the wife was obliged to give up her position and nurse her husband and care for the children.

With no revenue coming in the condition of the family would have been deplorable had it not been for kindhearted citizens who have contributed to their support.

With winter coming on there are many wants to be supplied and there are many citizens who have not yet contributed to this fund. Subscriptions large or small will be gladly received and duly acknowledged in the columns of The Intelligencer.

The following additional subscriptions have been received since the last report.

Contributions.

Mrs. Cousins	1.00
F. R. W.—Groceries.
A friend	1.00
Emmanuel Church	2.00
A friend	2.00
Mrs. Frank Smith	1.00
R. Aselstine	1.00
Sympathizer	2.00
S. O. S.	1.00

BLINDING LIGHTS CAUSE BAD ACCIDENT

Bridgeburg, Sept. 11.—A serious accident on the Erie Beach road, between Fort Erie and Fort Erie Beach, was averted by a miracle late last night, when an American car, driven by J. Williams of Buffalo, toppled over a culvert into the ditch, with nine passengers, one of them a year-old child.

The car turned over, smashing its top, but none of the occupants were seriously hurt. Williams made a statement to Chief Edwards in which he declared that a large car, going at a high rate of speed, with glaring headlights, forced him off the road. Temporarily blinded, he lost control of his car, which struck the culvert and turned over. The car was badly smashed.

Terrific Wind and Hail Storm Devastates Western Ontario

NOT ONE FARM ESCAPED DAMAGE IN ONE FIVE-MILE AREA—FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ESTIMATE OF LOSS—ONE CROP VALUED AT $11,000 RUINED — TREES UPROOTED—COTTAGES WRECKED.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 13.—Reports this morning from the Lake Shore section of Louth and Grantham townships, devastated by a terrific wind and hail storm on Saturday afternoon indicate that the damage will total at least four hundred thousand dollars. In an area five miles in length and half a mile in breadth, west of Port Weller, not one farm escaped, and in numerous cases the loss is complete. One farmer estimated that he would not be able to realize more than one thousand dollars from his crop, which on Saturday was worth eleven thousand dollars. Nearly all shade trees on the main street of Port Dalhousie were uprooted, while three summer cottages were wrecked. No loss of life is reported.

Revolt Breaks Out in Triest

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited.

TRIESTE, Sept. 11.—A revolt has broken out in this city and socialist forces and government troops are engaged in heavy fighting, artillery, rifle and machine gun fire being continuous. Bombs are being used by the contending forces. Barricades have been erected and trenches dug in the streets of the city, and the socialists are armed and provided with ammunition.

Cling to Wings As Airplane Crashes

OSHAWA, Sept. 11.—With its engine dead and the members of the crew clinging to the edges of its wings in an effort to keep it in the air until a suitable landing place could be found, the Bishop-Barker hydroplane, bound from Orillia to Toronto, crashed among the tree tops of Bickles Wood, about eight miles from here. Its four occupants were all injured.

Passengers from Orillia.

The plane was in charge of Capt. Macrae. Its passengers were William Thompson and Leonard Cairn, both of Orillia. The mechanic's name was given as Baker.

The big hydro-airplane has been making regular trips between Muskoka and Toronto, and was on its return trip north when the accident happened. Near Brooklin, about eight miles northwest of here, engine trouble developed, and shortly after the engine went dead.

In an effort to keep the plane in the air the crew crawled out on the wings in endeavoring to balance it. In this fashion they flew for more than a mile, in the hope of finding a suitable landing place.

Hurled into Branches.

Steadily the momentum of the plane slackened, and the crash came when the machine was skimming the tree tops of Bickles Wood. The four flying men were hurled into the branches of the trees, from which they fell to the ground.

Farmers who had watched the efforts of the airmen to effect a landing rushed to the scene and attended the injured men until Dr. James Moore of Brooklin arrived, who had them removed to Oshawa General Hospital.

Returned Home by Motor.

"One of our planes was at Orillia and Mr. Thompson and Mr. Cairn decided to make the trip to Toronto with Captain Macrae," said Col. Bishop last night. "I have no report on the accident, but will learn the particulars from Captain Macrae when he arrives tomorrow. Both passengers spent the evening with me and returned to Orillia tonight by automobile."

All Passengers Taken oft Metagama

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—The C.P.R. liner Metagama which ran aground on Isle Bouchard, twenty miles below Montreal, on Saturday afternoon, is still unable to move despite vigorous efforts of five tugs sent to her assistance Sunday morning. All the passengers arrived here this morning on the steamer Three Rivers, none the worse for an extra night on the river.

N.Y. Gun Men Raid Grand Central

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Crowds of suburban residents, rushing for last trains at Grand Central station early today, scurried for cover during a pistol battle between Jacob Mendel, station restaurant proprietor and three men who had knocked him down and taken his day's cash of $2,500.

Two of the men, after their weapons had been emptied, were arrested, and the third calmly left the station among the scores of police who were called. When the police followed a winding stairway leading down into a bakery shop, their flashlights revealed one fugitive, stuck in a barrel of flour, clutching the bag of money.

Petrograd is Facing Famine

Conditions Throughout Russia Will Test Bolshevik Power this Winter.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Facing famine conditions that presage a terrible winter for the Russian people, suffering from military disaster and more thoroughly discredited abroad than ever before, the Lenine-Trotsky Government is destined to undergo a severe test of its power in the next six months.

Extraordinary conditions in connection with the food scarcity in Soviet Russia are reported in a telegram which the State Department received today from a Baltic source. Smuggling of food supplies is common and the food situation in Petrograd, the old Capital of Russia, is growing steadily worse.

The Petrograd Soviet has issued a decree that private individuals are forbidden to transport food, and the decree serves notice upon all concerned that a sentence of three years at hard labor will be imposed upon all persons found carrying as much as a pound of potatoes.

The Bolshevik authorities regard civilians who seek food for themselves as "food speculators" and the extraordinary commission at Petrograd, vested with absolute powers in keeping with its title, has adopted a merciless policy in handling such cases, the Department of State is informed. The markets and food shops in Petrograd continue closed by order of the Bolsheviki regime.

FORCE IRISH TENOR TO CANCEL DATES

Adelaide, South Australia, Sept. 11.—The concert given here Thursday evening by John MacCormack, the noted Irish tenor, was broken up by a demonstration part of the audience rising and singing the British National anthem and some of them shouting that MacCormack was a Sinn Feiner. Mr. MacCormack has cancelled the other concerts he was to have given in Adelaide.

The audience, it appears resented the ommission of the national anthem from the program. In explanation the tenor, who is in Australia on a tour of the world, which he started from the United States last May, says he had understood that the anthem was only sung when the governor was present.

Italian labor votes against immediate revolution. Seizure of manufactories come to an end.

Liner Metagama is on a mud bank about 25 miles from Montreal. Passengers are being taken off safely.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

McFEE'S EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

IN THE PUBLIC EYE
by Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
182 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

LEFT AT WRONG ADDRESS.

Mr. P. C. MacLaurin, residing at 114 Bridge Street, reported to the police that on Saturday a bushel of potatoes were left at his place which did not belong to him.

CALLS FOR POLICE.

During Saturday night the police answered three calls, which resulted in the arrest of three men, all of whom were intoxicated.

WHO OWNS THE MONEY?

The police have in their possession $2.00 which was paid for two bags of potatoes, the party from whom they were purchased being unable to locate the residence of the purchaser.

CHICKENS KILLED ON TRACK.

Saturday afternoon a flock of chickens wandered on the C. N. R. track on Pinnacle street just as a train was approaching the crossing. Two of the fowls were unable to escape and were killed.

HIT BY LIGHTNING.

The residence of Mr. Oliver Dafoe, of Foxboro, was struck by lightning on Sunday evening during a severe electric storm. While the house was not burned it was considerably damaged.

VEHICLE STRUCK BY CAR.

Allan Boyle, who drives a delivery wagon for Mr. George Boyle, reported to the police that on Saturday evening, at the corner of Dundas and John streets his vehicle was struck by a motor car and damaged to some extent. The owner of the car, it is alleged, refused to give his name.

TRENTON LADY HELD UP.

On Saturday evening a young lady residing at Trenton was held up and assaulted by a man, who snatched her purse, containing $10 in cash and some trinkets. The assailant was a young man dressed in dark clothes and wore a light cap. The police here were informed of the affair and asked to be on the lookout for the party, who is alleged to have left Trenton, going east.

TRENTON SLIPPING.

Trenton Advocate—Col. Bywater, ex-Councillor Jones and a large deputation of railway men were before the Council on Tuesday evening to find out why Trenton was being systematically side-tracked for the up-building of other places not so advantageously located on the line of the C. N. Railway. Sixty-one employees of the local roundhouse and yards were taken to Leaside some months ago, 18 more were spirited away to Belleville two weeks ago, and last week more were laid off from the Trenton employees. It was hinted that 18 or 20 more would be transferred or laid off shortly. The whole affair bore the ear marks of a political mess to benefit someone or some place; but Trenton was the sufferer. The Council promised to take action in the matter and endeavor to locate the trouble.

ACCIDENT ON TRENT ROAD.

At about 9.30 Sunday night Fred (Ted) Yeomans, son of Dr. Yeomans, of this city, was the victim of a severe accident. It appears that he was proceeding homeward on a motorcycle with a side car attached, and when near Mr. R. J. Graham's residence on the Trent Road, the accident took place. It is said that the motorcycle and a buggy collided, and just at the same time Mr. Thomas Thompson, of this city, was driving eastward in his auto, when he struck the motorcycle with considerable force, throwing it and the occupants into the ditch. Ted, it was ascertained, was severely injured about the head, and Mr. Thompson placed him in his car and took him to the hospital. The victim was in a semi-conscious condition and remained so for some time, but today his condition showed improvement. Upon examination it was found that Ted's injuries were chiefly about the head, one of his ears being split open. Some damage resulted to Mr. Thompson's car and the motorcycle was damaged. The victim of the accident was a member of the R.A.F. during the war and was awarded the Military Medal.

More People than ever before are drinking
INSTANT POSTUM
Popular because of its fine flavor, health value and fair price
Sold everywhere by grocers

Controversy Popular

"IT is astonishing what a great part of energy goes in our civilized and lettered society to controversy," says Hilaire Belloc, in the New Statesmen. "It always astonishes the foreign visitor and I think it usually irritates the foreign resident. It is a habit despised, disliked, not attacked, but all this opposition to it is a foreign opposition at bottom. To the native controversy is food and drink, and no one would be without it.

Belloc says this habit of controversy is not a passion for wrangling. It is dearest to those who hate wrangling. It is a sort of game, he says, and has in it much the same instinct as makes men play other games in a game-loving country.

After showing the system of polite blows and counterblows that make up the game, fairly equal chances for either side, Mr. Belloc says: "It is very difficult to define where victory in this game of controversy lies. It depends to some extent, like victory in any other game, upon fatigue, or lack of attention." He then tells whimsically of a controversy that he had years ago in the Times Literary Supplement over the Battle of Evesham with an unknown opponent who won the game. He continues:

"I wish to-day I knew who he was. To slay or to be slain by a hooded antagonist is poor fun: it ought to be part of the rules of the theatre for the man to pull off the hood at the end, either from his own glazing eyes or before those of his prostrate victim, whereupon the ladies would recognize to their amazement the features of Sir Guy de Beaurivage or Mr. Hulp, or whoever it might be, and the tourney would end with a feast to the hero after the sentimental burial of the dead.

Which reminds me of what a shame it is so much controversy is conducted for the amusement of the onlookers, as well as for, and more than for the exercise and moral health of the principals, and there is not much fun in an anonymous combat where, for all you know, the opposing parties may really be one and the same person.

"Many a case have I known in London journalism, where as a matter of fact, the opposing parties were one and the same person. There was a man who wrote years ago, during the Boer War, to a pro-Boer daily paper which he disliked, complaining of the way in which the teeth of animalculae gnawed into the copper sheathing-plates of ships in the South Seas, and ruined them. Then he wrote a letter from another place in another false name to the same paper, saying that the first letter was written by an ignoramus, and describing how the animaculae should be dealt with. There was a tremendous fight lasting for weeks, and it ended, I remember, by a beautiful description of the great ships built at Solothurn in Switzerland and there launched upon the mighty deep. Even then the editor did not smell a rat. Why should he? Editors cannot always know everything. And he thought (did this editor) that Switzerland lay upon the sea. It was necessary, therefore, for the public to break the ring and burst up the show: which they did, amidst great laughter.

"I know another case where a man, being the literary editor of a great daily paper, reviewed one of his own books with the utmost virulence—but anonymously. He showed in this review a very profound knowledge of the tricks lying behind the production of the book and of the charlatanism of it. Then did he, in his own name, write a dignified reply, and there was quite a little commotion.

"The reviewer wrote back adding further charges, which were demonstrably true. The author wrote once more saying his dignity forbade his continuing the quarrel and the next day both of them counted as one in a silly division at Westminster.

"To this day I am never quite certain that the more violent leaders I read in opposing papers are not often written by the same man; at any rate, they are often written in exactly the same style, with the notable exception of one daily paper which, as the atheist said of his unbaptized child, "shall be nameless." All the others (except this notable one) have their leaders written in precisely the same manner. That is what makes me think that they are done for the most part by one man—and what an output he must have! And what a lot of money he must earn! — even at two guineas a thousand, the price of prose in this most happy year of peace which has seen the birth of a new Europe and the dawn of The Day of Justice final and secure."

Swords of Honor.

The practice of giving swords of honor came into vogue accidentally. In 1797, when Admiral Sir John Jervis won the battle of St. Vincent, the London Corporation wished to do him honor, but he had already received three years before the freedom of the city and a gold box. It was, therefore, resolved to award him a sword valued at 200 guineas, and, writing from the Victory in the Tagus, to accept the gift, he said: "The sword they intend to honor me with I shall prize beyond expression, and be at all times ready to draw in defence of the rights and privileges of my fellow-citizens." And a sword of honor has been a regular token of the city's appreciation of warriors ever since.

Expanding His Property.

"What do you mean by saying that Rogers is on the home stretch?"

"He's trying to get a ten-room family into a five-room house."

Notices were given out in London that in the event of a strike the food controller would restrict food consumption.

New rates on Canadian railways go into effect today. No stay to board's orders.

Resists Wear and Water
Every floor needs its protective coating.
Get satisfaction with
RAMSAY'S
"Agate" Floor Varnish
"Save the surface and you save all"
J. W. WALKER - - - HARDWARE.

THE APPEAL TO WOMEN.

The Science of Chiropractic exerts a strong appeal to women on account of the convenient way it offers them of taking the adjustments.

Women possess a natural aversion to going to a doctor. The fear of jeopardizing their modesty is a constant source for procrastination. Delay, vacillation and indecision are more often due to this dread than to any other factor.

In taking Chiropractic adjustments at no time is the person exposed unduly. It has been remarked by countless women that the exposure necessary for receiving a Chiropractic analysis and adjustment is less than that afforded by the decollette gown. In fact the only part of the back which is exposed at all is that portion directly over the spine. Chiropractic Adjustments are confined exclusively to that region of the spine. By the use of the bare hands the Chiropractor locates the pressure exerted by the spinal segments upon the nerves, and with a quick, skillful movement releases that pressure. When the pressure is removed, normal transmission of the nerve energy from the brain to the different organs and tissues of the body is restored, producing health. Without cost or obligation come to our office and let us make an analysis of your case. Favorable results in nearly all cases have made Chiropractic famous. Drs. Redick & Redick, 28½ Front Street, Belleville. Phone 900.

Called by Death

SARAH M. RAMSAY.

On Sunday morning Mrs. Sarah M. Ramsay, wife of Mr. Thomas Ramsay, passed away at the family residence, College street, after some months of illness from heart trouble. Deceased was 54 years of age and was born in this locality, where she had resided all her life. She was a daughter of the late Mr. Edgar Stapley. Mrs. Ramsay was a member of the Methodist Church and a lady much respected by all who knew her. In addition to the husband two sons, Clarence and Harold and a step-daughter, Miss Helen, survive.

CHARLES CORBY.

At Los Angeles, California, on Saturday, Mr. Charles Corby, a former well known Bellevillian, passed away. Deceased was the last surviving son of the late Mr. Henry Corby and a brother of the late Hon. H. Corby, of this city. For some years Mr. Corby had made his home in the neighboring republic. His friends in the city will regret to learn of his demise. A widow and two daughters survive. At present it is not known whether the body will be brought here for interment.

ELIZA ANN CLARE.

Mrs. Eliza Ann Clare, relict of the late Mr. Harvey Clare, died on Saturday in this city, in her 85th year. Deceased was a lady who was well known in the city and adjoining township of Huntingdon, where she was born. She had resided in the city for some time.

COCAINE ORGIES AMONG HABITUES OF CINEMA WORLD.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The French police have begun a thorough investigation into the death of Olive Thomas, an American moving-picture actress, who succumbed to poison taken, it is said, by mistake several days ago. The authorities have issued a permit for the embalming of the body but as yet have not sanctioned its shipment to the United States on board the steamship Mauretania, sailing from Cherbourg on Sept. 18.

Investigation also is being made by the police of sinister rumors of cocaine orgies, intermingled with champagne dinners which lasted into the early hours of the morning, that have been afloat in the American colony and among the habitues of the French cinema world during the past week.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

GUSS HILL'S MINSTRELS.

Let those who bewail the passing of minstrelsy hie themselves to Griffin's Opera House next Thursday night, September 16th, and be convinced that if minstrelsy ever passed, Guss Hill has brought it back again, brighter and more joyous and more sparkling than it was away back in the early 40's when the black-face entertainers were supposed to be at the height of their popularity. Gus Hill's Minstrels include many old favorites, many new ones, comedians and funmakers of rib-breaking calibre, nimble-footed dancers, sweet-throated singers—forming in all the most brilliant array of burnt cork artists ever offered in minstrelsy. A big street parade will take place at high noon.

"MY HUSBAND'S OTHER WIFE"

Don't get that divorce you were contemplating until after you've seen "My Husband's Other Wife" the latest J. Stuart Blackton production starring Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon, which is being shown at Griffin's tonight to Wednesday night. Therein is shown the after effects of divorce. Divorce made possible the situation. Adelaide Hedlar had no patience with her doctor-husband who wanted a home and children; who wanted to be useful and accomplish some good in the world. And he had no patience with his actress-wife who wanted only the adulation and applause of an admiring public. She was a great actress, and the glamor of the footlights held her in a spell. So they got a divorce and each went their own way. Adelaide continued to win new triumphs in plays written for her by Wilfred Dean, who proposed periodically and was always put off. Dr. Ridgewell went among the poor in the mountains and built a hospital and school and church and was regarded as a Messiah. Finally the actress awoke to the fact that there was something missing in her life, and that was the husband she had so lightly let slip from her. She knew he had married again and a child blessed their union, but everything she had wanted had been hers, and he would be hers again, too. But was he? What happened when the willful, petted darling of the stage came face to face with the happiness another had given the man she failed to make happy? "My Husband's Other Wife" answers the question with dramatic intensity. An interesting Burton Travelogue, "Oriental College Boys and Co-eds"; Jack Dempsey in his thrill-packed serial, "Daredevil Jack," and "Ten Nights Without a Barroom," a funny 2-reel Sunshine comedy, will also be presented.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING

We have all heard this expresion many times and if we only notice, it usually comes from a person with stomach trouble. There is nothing that makes life less worth living than indigestion, dyspepsia, gassy stomach. Poor digestion is one of the causes of constipation. Many lifelong stomach sufferers have had "life made worth the living" by the use of Dr. Bell's favorite prescription. This preparation is not a patent medicine, but a prescription from an eminent English Stomach Specialist. It is for sale only at Doyle's Drug Store at 75c. a bottle.

NEW YORK FIREMEN ASK FOR $2,500 YEARLY

New York, Sept. 13.—Fourteen thousand New York firemen and policemen have asked for $2,500 a year, beginning January 1. At present they receive from $1,450 to $1,900 a year.

A petition filed with the Board of Estimate read:

"We do not believe it necessary to present any facts or figures on the cost of living or comparative wage scales."

McClary's
Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

SINCLAIR'S

Fashionable Fall Suits
Exclusive and New

The new Fall Suits have been gathering here, till now you may select from a group of Suits introducing all the new features for Fall. Early selection of course always gives one a certain advantage, both in respect to longer wear and variety of styles. You are sure to want one of these Suits when you see them.

Autumn Coats

—that will make you look as you want to look. Other items of apparel may be left out of your Fall wardrobe plans, but a smart new coat, never! A little later it will be an actual necessity from the standpoint of comfort. Just now it is most desirable because of the individual appearance it enables you to present. And such interesting coats you will find in this Autumn showing! Each one is much to be desired.

Your Silk Frock

—does not have to be black. Even though Black Frocks are very much in vogue we have been careful to include in our collection of afternoon frocks plenty of chic modes in Navy, Brown and other tones. Their distinctive styles and popular high quality materials are features that you will like and will make their markings seem very reasonable.

Middies for School Girls

For practical wear and smart appearance combined there is nothing better than a Middy Suit. We have a table of Middies in good qualities that will easily be kept fresh looking by a tubbing. They are obtainable in sizes 3 to 14 years and are special value at $1.00 each.

Drapery Chintzes

For Fall decorating we have gathered together a choice collection of Drapery and Upholstering Fabrics in Cretonnes, Chintzes, Shadow Cloth and Reversible Tapestry. The colorings are rich combinations in floral designs. The prices are quite reasonable.

Knitted Underwear

Whether you want a slightly heavier weight for present use or wish to fill your requirements for later wear, you will find a splendid variety of weights and qualities in this perfect fitting Knitted Underwear. The prices are below present market values.

Open All Day Wednesday

Our store will be open all day Wednesday during September and the following months.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18:	12.20 a.m.	—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16:	1.51 a.m.	—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10:	11.00 a.m.	—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14:	12.06 p.m.	—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6:	2.50 p.m.	—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28:	5.20 p.m.	—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30:	9.35 p.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52:	7.50 a.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8:	2.45 a.m.	—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19:	2.10 a.m.	—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17:	4.27 a.m.	—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29:	7.50 a.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27:	11.35 a.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5:	5.32 p.m.	—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9:	5.50 p.m.	—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15:	2.56 p.m.	—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51:	8.40 p.m.	—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7:	2.45 a.m.	—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Don't Think of Alimony!
Don't Think of Divorce!
Until You See
Sylvia Breamer & Robert Gordon
—IN—
"My Husband's Other Wife"

—a drama that goes back stage and reveals the soul of theatrical life and then its relations to a star's personal life. There's a big theme—a drama within a drama, visualized with superb artistry and deft hand in this J. Stuart Blackton's master drama. A thought drama that spotlights the life, love and happiness behind the footlights. DON'T MISS IT!

Sunshine Comedy — Jack Dempsey—Burton Holmes

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F GRIFFIN
TONIGHT TO WEDNESDAY–

NEXT FRIDAY and SATURDAY—REX BEACH'S
"Girl from Outside—a Rex Beach triumph!

Griffin's Thurs. Sept. 16
GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS
Gorgeous Settings! Novel Costumes!
Rainbow Accessories!
The Whole Striking a New Note in Modern Minstrel Manifestations
Watch for Parade! Wait for Concert!
Prices 25c to $1.50—Seats Wed. at Griffin's 10 A. M.

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

WRIGLEYS

The children love Wrigley's—and it's good for them.

Made under conditions of absolute cleanliness and brought to them in Wrigley's sealed sanitary package.

Satisfies the craving for sweets, aids digestion, sweetens breath, allays thirst and helps keep teeth clean.

Costs little, benefits much.

THE FLAVOUR LASTS
WRIGLEY'S JUICY FRUIT CHEWING GUM
WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM
WRIGLEY'S DOUBLEMINT CHEWING GUM
A120

The Thirteenth Commandment

By RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

He had a right to ask if he were going to hire her eyes, but she looked up cravenly, for the burly satrap was leaning over her. His left hand was on the arm of the chair, his right on the back of it. His left hand was gradually enveloping hers. It was a fat, hot hand, and his face was so close that it was blurred in her vision.

Then she remembered Duane's words. She controlled herself enough to put them to the test.

She pretended to look coldly into Reben's face, and she said, with a brave show of calm: "Mr. Reben, I didn't come here to flirt with you and I don't intend to. I came here for a job as an actress. If this sort of thing is a necessary part of the job I'll go somewhere else."

Reben backed away and stared at her. He was rendered foolish by her rebuff and he stammered, "Why, I—I meant no harm."

She went on with the Duane system of treatment: "I know you didn't. You meant to be polite, but you don't have to be so polite to me. I don't expect it and I don't like it."

"All right, all right!" Reben growled, pacing the floor again, but in a constantly receding path. He did not speak. He felt that he had made a fool of himself, and he was embarrassed.

Daphne was so frightened with her success that she got to her feet, saying: "I suppose this means that you don't want me to work for you. It's true, then, what they say about the stage."

"Nonsense! Of course not! Rot! I never see most of my people except at rehearsals or performances. I've never spoken to three-quarters of 'em. If you want a job you can have it, and no concessions are necessary. You don't have to make love to me. You make love to the audience, and if you can capture that you can slap my face every time you see me."

Daphne was astounded. She was engaged! She was exultant and thrilled with gratitude to Duane for introducing her to this marvelous opportunity and for the wisdom of his counsel.

Reben said: "The general understudy of the Kemble company has grown tired of waiting for a chance to appear in public. She's quitting me this week for a small part in a road company. You can have her place if you want it. Do you?"

"You bet—er—indeed I do. How often does an understudy play?"

"As rarely as possible."

Daphne's joy turned to lead.

Reben added: "But we don't pay by performances. I'll pay you twenty-five a week. You wanted money. There's a little of it for a start. Do you want it?"

"Will it lead to anything better?"

"It might."

"Am I to understudy Miss Kemble?"

"Yes, and all the other women roles."

"And when do you suppose I'll get a chance to play Miss Kemble's part? Soon?"

"Never, I hope."

"That's encouraging!"

"If Miss Kemble fell ill we'd ordinarily refund the money, because she's the star. But sometimes we might have to give a performance at short notice. Chances in the other parts might come any day."

"And you'll give me a better chance when you can?"

"Indeed I will. If you have the gift, the sooner I find it out and the harder I work it the more money I make. The more you earn the more I make. I'd like to pay you ten thousand a week."

"I'd like to have you. All right, I'll try."

He pressed a button on his desk once, then twice. The office boy appeared, followed by the stenographer. Reben said to the boy: "Is Mr. Batterson here? Send him to me." To the stenographer he said: "Fill out a contract for Miss Kip—Miss— What's the first name? Miss Daphne Kip. Salary, twenty-five. Make it a three-year contract."

Reben motioned her absently to her chair and said, rather for Duane's sake than for hers, she felt: "Sit down, won't you, till the contracts come? and pardon me if I—"

He finished the phrase by the deed. The office routine went on and Daphne might have been the chair she sat in, for all the attention he paid her. She felt rather ungallantly ignored. Still, she had asked to be treated on a business basis. He was taking her at her word.

Before the contracts were ready Mr. Batterson appeared. He was one of Reben's stage managers, a worried, emotional little man, worn to shreds with his task of stimulating and correcting the emotions by which others earned their wages and fame.

Reben introduced him to Daphne and explained her new office. Batterson seemed none too well pleased with the news that Daphne was ignorant of stage work to the last degree. He had found it hard enough to make the

TO BE CONTINUED

Sports

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	102	43	.703
Toronto	100	46	.685
Buffalo	92	52	.639
Akron	84	57	.596
Reading	63	79	.444
Jersey City	59	88	.401
Rochester	44	100	.306
Syracuse	32	111	.224

Saturday's Results.

Buffalo	3	Toronto	1
Baltimore	9	Reading	3
Jersey City	4	Syracuse	3
Rochester	3	Akron	2

Yesterday's Results.

Jersey City	7	Syracuse	3
Jersey City	10	Syracuse	0
xRochester	15	Akron	4
Toronto	2	Buffalo	1
Baltimore	12	Reading	2

x—Ten innings.

Games today—Reading at Baltimore, Toronto at Buffalo, Akron at Rochester.

Late Telegraph Briefs

Mrs. James Ridpath, of Peterboro', died of lockjaw after stepping on a rusty nail.

Dr. John A. Merrick, physician at Merrickville for more than half a century, is dead, aged 83.

John Clement Sylvain, a 70-year-old newspaper vendor in Quebec, was run down by a street car and fatally hurt.

Fourteen thousand New York firemen and policemen ask for salaries of $2,500 per year.

The Polish Government is protesting to the allies that the Germans are not interning Reds who cross the frontier.

The conference of allied Ambassadors has protested to Germany against ships bound for Danzig being stopped at the Kiel Canal.

Cork Sinn Feiners were warned by Loyalists that they will take reprisals for destruction of their homes.

The freight rate increase has raised the price of flour 25c. per barrel.

Major R. Douglas Galbraith died in the Toronto General Hospital.

York Pioneers gathered at Sharon to recall the country's early days.

Church leaders regard the Lambeth appeal for Church union favorably.

The storm on Saturday did vast damage to crops in the Niagara district.

Mrs. Ruth Roundy of Truax was instantly killed when an automobile overturned near Wilcox.

Rev. Edgar Watson, M.P.P. for North Victoria, has resigned his pastorate of Fenelon Falls Baptist church.

The Duchess of Marlborough is being urged to stand for Parliament as a Labor candidate.

CAR SHORTAGE DELAYS WHEAT

With wheat bins in Kansas City elevators practically empty and wheat arrivals inadequate to meet the demand for shipments to other markets, and for export, the freight car shortage is clearly reflected here.

Slightly less than 2,000,000 bushels are now stored in local elevators, which have a capacity of between 15 and 20 million bushels. A year ago the supply was nearly 9,000,000. The amount in storage here has increased only a few thousand bushels since the harvest. The shortage of cars for grain shipment in the Southwest has never been more acute, according to grain company officials here.

A critical situation in business and financial circles was predicted by local grainmen unless the car situation is improved. It will take 28 months, at the present rate, for the railroads to move wheat now in Kansas, according to Judge Clyde M. Reed, of the Kansas court of industrial relations, who is investigating the car shortage.

NOW SEEKING DIVORCE.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The list of divorce applications to be heard at the next session of Parliament is growing. This week's Canadian Gazette contains notices of an additional half dozen. Those seeking divorce are: Stella E. Jackson, Toronto, from George Edward Jackson; Elizabeth Alexander, Toronto, from John A. Alexander; Helen Greenwood of Lambton Village, from W. Fred Greenwood, of Toronto; Frederick H. Walton, of Ottawa, from Elsie Walton, now of Toronto; and Frank Emerson Lofthouse of Walpole Township, Haldimand County, from Mary Jane Lofthouse.

Poor Willie Was Hungry.

Little Willie had been told that he must always wait patiently till he was served at meals and not to cry across the table or grab for his food.

One day while dining at a neighbor's with his mother the little fellow was accidentally overlooked. He was pretty patient for a time, but at last he could bear the strain no longer of seeing everybody feeding but himself. So, leaning quietly across to his mother, he said in a loud whisper:

"Mother, do little boys who starve to death go to heaven?"

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Investors who demand security first usually have to be content with low rates of interest.

High interest rates usually imply risk.

But just now, money is "tight."

To move the grain crop, the Banks are calling loans from manufacturers and merchants.

Money usually available for investment purposes is required to "carry on" business.

Interest rates therefore are high, and bond prices are low.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

Dominion of Canada 5½% Bonds
Victory Bonds Free from Dominion Income Taxes

Due	Price		Yield
Dec., 1922	98	and interest	6.37%
Nov., 1923	98	and interest	6.14%
Dec., 1927	97	and interest	6.00%
Nov., 1933	96½	and interest	5.88%
Dec., 1937	98	and interest	5.68%

Victory Bonds Subject to the Usual Income Taxes

Nov., 1924	97	and interest	6.27%
Nov., 1934	93	and interest	6.24%

We shall welcome an opportunity to serve you in your investment matters irrespective of the amount of your funds.

DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION
LIMITED.
Established 1901

E. R. Wood - - - President
G. A. Morrow - Vice-President
J. W. Mitchell - Vice-President
W. S. Hodgens - - - Secretary
J. A. Fraser - - - Treasurer
T. H. Andison - Ass't Secretary
A. P. White - - Ass't Treasurer

HEAD OFFICE:
26 KING STREET EAST
TORONTO

MONTREAL BRANCH
Canada Life Building
R. W. Steele - - Manager

LONDON, ENG., BRANCH
No. 6 Austin Friars
A. L. Fullerton, Manager

The Government declines to grant a stay of the Railway Board's order allowing increased railway rates, which goes into effect today.

Roumania has replied to the Russian Soviet's proposal, saying it desires good relations.

Every Mouthful is a joy ride —says Bobby
POST TOASTIES

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer
Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

See! it Whips.

For every whipped cream need try this:
Set can in a saucepan full of cold water, allowing water to cover two-thirds of can. Bring to boiling point and when water begins to bubble, remove can and chill until ice cold. Then pour into a deep bowl and whip with egg-beater until it is stiff. Sweeten to taste.
Recipe Book Free.
Borden's
ST. CHARLES MILK
THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
MONTREAL 6-920

MILLBANK

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 287 Front Street; Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added.

PURPLE-ROBED CHAMPION OF "AFRICA FOR THE AFRICANS"

A Moses of the negro race ,advocating a scheme far greater than that of Moses of old, made his advent in New York City a short time ago, says the Literary Digest. His program is no less ambitious than the organization of all the Africans in the world into a nation that shall inhabit Africa. "Hon." Marcus Garvey is the name of this dusky leader, said by observers to be a combination of dreamer, orator and shrewd business man. At his call thousands of representatives of the negro race from all parts of the world recently held a convention in New York. Here this modern Moses gave evidence of his oratorical powers. Standing on an improvised platform, attired in a gorgeous robe of purple, gold, and green, he worked his followers to the fever pitch, we are told, by his dramatic recital of their wrongs and the glorious possibilities of the project he outlined to them. "The hour has come," he shouted, "for the four hundred million negroes to claim Africa as their home. Africa shall be the home of the black peoples of the earth. We pledge our sacred blood on the fields of Africa for our liberty and freedom." But it seems that the Honorable Garvey is shrewd enough to realize that in these days it takes more than impassioned oratory and a purple robe to accomplish anything really effective in the line of launching new nations. The original Moses might lead the children of Israel out of bondage by such means and the aid of a useful and versatile staff; but, except when he is making speeches, it seems that this negro Moses appears in a plain business suit and a snappy business manner, and at his New York offices he is surrounded with telephones, ledgers, publicity men, stenographers, and all the paraphernalia of a going concern. Garvey is described as rather short and fleshy, with a color indicating the pure negro strain. He is a journalist by profession. He began editing a newspaper in Jamaica when fifteen years old, and continued in the journalistic game until five years ago, when he spent a year in Europe, speaking, observing, and gradually working out his present philosophy. Some four years ago he came to the United States and has been engaged in organization work ever since. He is said to be a wonder as an organizer. In 1914 he founded the Universal Negro Improvement Association and African Communities League with a nucleus of fifteen persons. Today the association claims a membership of two million organized in six hundred branches. The organization owns two buildings in New York, has organized the Black Star Steamship Line, which owns three steamships, and it is going in for factories, co-operative laundries, and a two million dollar fund to be raised for the purpose of supporting a high potentate of the negro race in his imperial labors. To Michael Gold, representing the New York World Magazine, Garvey recently granted an interview in which he outlined his plans, in part as follows:

"I want to explain my activities and program to the white people as best I know. The idea is this: You white folk have just finished a war for democracy. You have spread the doctrine that men, nations, races are equal. We negroes fought in that war. Now we want to reap some of the advantages you promised.

"Yes, this movement is the direct result of the war. Lots of our boys came back from the trenches determined never to tolerate the things you have done to negroes in this country. Then the negroes that stayed at home for the first time got decent jobs and pay such as they had never had before. Now we won't go back to pre-war conditions. We've grown out of them.

"There are twelve million negroes in this country. Many white men have tried to uplift them, but the only way is for the negroes to have a nation of their own, like the Jews, that will command the respect of the world with its achievements. There are four hundred million negroes in the world. If they settled in Africa, don't you think they could exceed what the British people have done with only a population of sixty million?"

Garvey proposes the organization of a real modern industrial state in Africa, with all the latest inventions and devices, and Democratic-Republican in government. The question of how the negroes are to obtain possession from the several nations now claiming Africa apparently does not worry him very much. "We will get it one way or another," he told Mr. Gold. "We will buy the nations out or we will negotiate when we are strong enough." We read on:

"Do you think the white nations of the world will tolerate a negro empire?"

"We are four hundred million strong," replied Garvey, looking me in the eye. "But, of course, that is all in the future. Our first task is to unify the race consciousness of the negroes in this country. We've made a good start. We've organized this steamship line, owned and run by negroes for negroes. We hold nightly meetings here at Liberty Hall, and lay before the members new plans every night. We're going ahead building factories next where negroes can work. We're thinking of starting our banks and we're working up the negroes into a sort of independent negro political movement, that will take them out of the fold of the old parties."

Garvey can outline endlessly plans of this sort, great practical schemes that seem incongruous as yet, with this small, old-fashioned office. He is as confident as any Napoleon. The adventure is still in the first flush of success; it has gone beyond his modest dreams of a few years ago, and now there seems no flights that the wings of his imagination will not dare.

The interviewer wandered around the rest of the building and found negro ministers who handed me tracts, and quoted, "Ethiopia shall stretch forth her hands unto God and princes shall come out of Egypt." I found a most learned negro who was an authority on the ancient civilization and could make out a wonderful case for the superiorities of the negro kultur.

An editorial was read in the paper of Garvey's association, and it boasted of Bulala Gwai, a deadly natural poison used by the black medicine-men in the jungle "which can be and will be called in requisition when Africa awakes to drive the invader from her soil."

The disarmament commission of the League of Nations has been constituted by the council at San Sebastian and is reported to be ready to make "a survey of the armaments of the world as a preliminary to cutting down all armaments to the lowest possible figure." It is to be hoped the commission will see its way clear to start the cutting-down job with Soviet Russia.—Kansas City Star.

CRISP COMMENT

Strange that the "wets" have not claimed Harding on the score of his being a Baptist.—Greenville Piedmont.

× × ×

Butler says the South needs the Republican party. He is right. The South could never get the cotton picked without it.—Associated Editors.

× × ×

Ponzi is said to have political ambitions. What an ideal chairman of the finance committee of his party he would make!—New York Morning Telegraph.

× × ×

Only one item was overlooked by the railroads in securing additional revenue-producing rates. They forgot to ask for a surcharge on the tips of Pullman porters and dining-car waiters.—Labor (Washington).

× × ×

Another evidence of Boston's progressiveness is the way she has advanced in only a few years from Tom Lawson to this Mr. Ponzi, who can double your money with absolute safety in ninety days.—Columbus Ohio State Journal.

× × ×

If the man who sees more drunken men today that ever before should encounter the disgusted citizen who is going to move out of the country because he can't get a drink, what would be the point of contact?—New York Morning Telegraph.

OTHER VIEWS

Only a Habit.

Philadelphia Record.

After all, drinking is only a habit. Doctors will tell you that it is a very bad thing to take any sort of drink with your meals. Many people get along without it. Why shouldn't all? It may be that Nebuchadnezzar, in the years when he was out at pasture, occasionally dipped his feverish muzzle into some limpid stream, but there is nothing in the Bible to disprove the theory that he lived entirely upon grass. It shouldn't be hard for all of us to get back to this "normalcy." It would knock spots out of the H. C. of L. if we could just browse around nibbling the herbs we liked best.

There is one difficulty, however, which our wise guardians will have to consider. Not long ago British scientists were reported to have found in India a species of plant rich in natural alcohol. All such things would have to be extirpated, but it might be done. If nature persists in putting toxic things in the way of our fool muzzles, nature will have to be chastised and reformed, that's all.

The Undesirables.

Quebec Chronicle.

It must not be lost sight of that these Mennonites propose to segregate themselves absolutely from the life of the rest of the province. They will not take part in our political life, they will not have recourse to our laws, they will not join in our defence, even against invasion, and they will have their own administrators. Apart from the fact of their apparent peacefulness it is hard to see in what way this system differs from the Soviet or Russian Bolshevism. Even though they do not come into active conflict with our laws it cannot be said that the Mennonites will be good citizens, in the sense of co-operating for the common good, and we repeat, speaking purely from a Quebec provincial point of view that the precedent is likely to be a dangerous one.

THE POET'S CORNER

A MAID'S WAY.

Loose gowned, with hair awry,
She sits before the firelight gleaming—
Foregoes the pleasure of the dance
To spend the silent hours dreaming:
From out the flames step cavaliers,
Strong, handsome fellows, death-defying,
Who pledge a maid a knightly love,
A deep devotion never dying,
And womaplike she worships them,
She loves each lover's pledge and parley!
(But when it comes to theatres,
I notice this—she goes with Charley!)

The cavaliers give way to one,
A cowboy, handsome, young and dashing,
Who bears the banner of romance,
With silver spurs and hardware clashing—
An aimless rover, wild and free,
And truly of an humble station,
But in the subtle firelight
He quite commands her adoration!
She pledges him undying love
And asks as much of him; but will he?
(And when it comes to dances—well, Invariably she goes with Billy!)

"The fickleness of maids," you say;
Well, I admit these shifts of fancy
Are womanly in every way
And true of every May and Nancy;
But they should not be grilled for that—
It's only just their habit, bless 'em,
They'll dodge all such entanglements
If I have any mind to guess 'em!
For somewhere in the Lady Book
Is writ this gem of woman's diction
"The simplest sort of man in hand
Is worth a dozen beaux in fiction!"

—John D. Wells.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Had Never Been That Way.

The following amusing story was told by the late Sir Morell Mackenzie. During a driving tour through North Devon he somehow lost his way, but catching sight of a house on the opposite side of the vale through which he was driving, inquired of a lad he happened to meet, the distance to it.

"Foive mile," was the reply.

"Nonsense!" said Sir Morell; "it doesn't appear half that distance."

"Ah, zir, but the road do wind a terrible lot."

"Well, now, how far would you say it was by the way the crow flies?"

"Doan't know, zir; I was never fool enough to try to go that way."

Back Talk.

The profiteer was dressing the other evening for the opera, when his wife stalked into his dressing room.

"Here you are," she hissed, "a war profiteer getting 300 per cent. dividends, and I've got only one decent dress."

He turned and looked her up and down, then he said:

"Well, I wish to goodness you'd wear it!"

SOUTH AMERICAN CHAMPION TO VISIT UNITED STATES

Luis A. Firpo, South American heavyweight boxing champion, is soon to visit the United States, where he will seek the advantages to be derived from good trainers and expert management. Firpo weighs 213 pounds.

His title was gained by defeating boxers in Chile and other South American countries. In a match in Buenos Aires in June he knocked out Antonio Jirsa, who styles himself the "Czecho-Slovak champion," in the first three-minute round of a scheduled ten-round bout. Firpo has a considerable ring history and before taking up boxing was a professional Greco-Roman wrestler.

PRIEST IS 102 YEARS OLD

Winnipeg, Sept. 11.—Father Damaze Dandurand, O.M., of St. Boniface, who will be 102 years old next 23 of March, celebrated Sunday the 79th anniversary of his ordination at Montreal into the priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church Father Dandurand is not on active duty.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

Why You Should Buy Shoes Now!

WE Shoe Manufacturers of Canada—and there are 158 of us in all—feel that there are certain features relating to our industry that you should know.

One of the principal things is this—

There is little likelihood that shoe prices will be very much lower than at present, for some months to come, at least.

IN any event, any reduction that the manufacturer may be able to make to the retailer will be slight; on the other hand, there is a possibility that prices on some styles may be higher.

Your shoe retailer bases his prices to you on what he pays the manufacturer. We, in turn, are dependent on the cost of leather and other things, as well as of labor.

We buy our materials months before our shoes are on your feet, and the price of these shoes is naturally regulated by the cost of the materials of which they are made, and of the handiwork expended on them.

Therefore, our advice to you—and we give it in all sincerity—is to BUY NOW any shoes you need for your self or your family. Don't buy extravagantly or recklessly, but do so carefully and judiciously.

Your retailer will give you this same advice too, if you ask him. He knows, as we do, that if the public demand for footwear suddenly started up abnormally, scarcity of shoes and higher prices would probably result.

This is a situation that should be mutually avoided, and will be if you buy what shoes you need, as you need them.

¶ Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.

SHOE MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

892

Painlessly remomves your corns or Ends your Bunion Torture. No appliances of metal, rubber, felt or leather. Scientific and ethical. Ask Central for above number, or call 29 Bridge St. E., Canadian Orthopedic Lab.

A 40-year Record

NOT a drop of "water" in our stock! Money spent on telephone plant exceeds stock and bond issue by over 16 millions.

No "melons" nor bonus stock! All stock sold has averaged $106 per hundred-dollar share. Premiums on stock spent for telephone plant.

Dividends to shareholders have averaged less than 8 per cent. and never exceeded 8!

No distribution to shareholders of surplus earnings, but all surplus and reserves put back into telephone plant, relieving present revenues of interest and dividend charges of nearly a million a year.

And nowhere in the world was the general level of rates lower.

There is no finer record of honorable financing anywhere.

We invite investigation.

The Bell Telephone Co.
of Canada

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

For the coming season we are exceptionally well prepared to meet your requirements in the line of Curtains, Drapes, Chintzes, Rugs, Mats, Oilcloths, Linoleums and Window Shades.

CURTAINS—Our showing of curtains comprises Laces, Voiles and Marquisettes and Nets, in excellent patterns and all new designs. By the yard can be had all styles of Nets, Voiles, Marquisettes and Madras. We have an extensive showing of all the new Nets, which will surely interest you if you are needing new curtains.

DRAPES—For Drapes you may have Madras, Repp, Chintz or Velour in colorings of green, rose, brown and blue. We specially recommend our John Brown's Madras, which we are showing in lovely color combinations as well as plain colors.

CHINTZ—We have all the new and popular cloths, suitable for coverings, hangings, etc., in all colorings, and 26 to 50 inches wide, priced from 40c. to $4.00 per yard.

RUGS AND MATS—Axminster, Brussels, Tapestry and Union Rugs and Mats in all sizes, from the small door mat to the large room rug, and all moderately priced. Inspect our showing of these before you buy.

WINDOW SHADES—We can make your window shades in any size and color you may require. In stock we carry both plain and duplex blinds in white, cream and green, with or without insertion.

We make no charge for measuring and estimating on Window Shades and Linoleums.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

FUR OPENING

We are ready once again to supply the fur wants of the ladies of Belleville and vicinity.

We have spared no expense in bringing our stock right up to the minute in style and our choice and selection this year is better than ever.

We give everyone a cordial invitation to call and inspect our excellent line of coats which consists of the reliable Hudson Seal as well as coats cut on the latest designs, fashioned out of the popular furs and finished in superior style.

A VISIT FROM YOU WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.

A special meeting of the City Council will be held this evening for the transaction of special and general business.

POWER-BOAT SEIZED.

The power boat Novia has been seized at Ogdensburg by United States Marshals in libel proceedings entered by the United States Government. It is claimed that the boat was used in the illegal transportation of liquor across the border, and its seizure was a sequel to the recent arrest of the owner, John F. Callanan, on a charge of rum-running.

A UNIQUE ADVERTISEMENT.

Miss Grace Livingstone, representing Thermos Bottles, will be in the city tomorrow en route to the Ottawa Fair. She travels in a motor vehicle, the body of which is the shape of a thermos bottle, being twenty fee long and four feet high. Mr. Chas. Dolan, druggist, of this city, has succeeded in having Miss Livingstone remain here during tomorrow morning.

KIDDIE HIT BY TRAIN; GOES OVER EMBANKMENT

Toronto, Sept. 11.—As he was wandering along the G.T.R. tracks near Bastedo avenue Edward Yates, aged two and one-half years, was struck by the steps of a coach of a passenger-train and thrown down a twenty-foot embankment.

Mrs. W. Hitch, 1 Bastedo avenue, picked up the child and called Dr. Walters to attend it. The child was then removed to its home. He was unhurt.

DIES FROM HORSE'S KICK.

Haileybury, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Arthur Davis, of this place died from an injury received by a kick from a horse a month ago. The horse was in the stable, suffering from a bruised leg, and she had just fed it when the fatal kick was given. She received a bad wound below the right temple and had undergone an operation in connection with the wound shortly before her death.

NURSES ON STRIKE.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—Feeling that new temporary regulations put in force by Sister Felix de Valois, Superior at Ottawa General Hospital, Water street, curbed their freedom unduly when off duty, and savored too much of a cloistered existence, a number of probationers at that institution yesterday refused to observe the regulations and went on strike. Faced with an ultimatum of going on duty or leaving the institution, eight probationers decided to leave, and departed for their homes.

FARMER LOSES BARNS.

Seaforth, Sept. 12.—Two barns of Samuel Storey with the season's crops and farm implements were destroyed by fire yesterday. The blaze started in a barn where a separator was at work, and burning shingles carried the flames to the second barn 60 rods away. The residence of Mr. Storey was saved with great difficulty. During the fire Arthur Buck, a neighbor, was seriously injured when he fell from the roof of the house while assisting to save it from the flames.

REPUDIATE CABLE OF MAYOR MARTIN

The recent cable of Mayor Mederic Martin to Mr Lloyd George is emphatically disclaimed in a cable which has been sent today to the British Premier by President A.C. Barfield of the St. Lambert Lodge of the Sons of England. It read:—

St. Lambert, P.Q., Sept. 9 1920

To the right Hon. D. Lloyd George.

Dear Sir:—

At a meeting of Lincoln Lodge, 152, Sons of England Society, St. Lambert Province of Quebec, the following resoaltion was unanimously passed:—

"That this Lodge desires to express its entire confidence in the ability of the British government to deal with the internal affairs of the United Kingdom, and to assure that Government that Mederic Martin in no way represents the sentiments of the majority of His Majesty's subjects in Montreal and its vicinity as claimed in his recent cable.

(Signed) A.C. Barfield.
President.

WHEN USING WILSON'S
FLY PADS
READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Obsequies

GEORGE BELL JONES.

The funeral of the late Mr. George Bell Jones, who died at Brockville, took place here on Saturday afternoon, and was of a military nature, deceased having served overseas with the Canadian Field Artillery. At St. Thomas' Church the Rector, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, conducted the burial service of the Anglican Church, and also officiated at the interment at Belleville cemetery. The casket was draped with a Union Jack and at the grave "The Last Post" was sounded by Bugler G. Hillard, and a firing squad, under command of Sergt. G. Symons fired a volley. The floral tributes were many and beautiful in design. The bearers were Col. A. P. Allen, Capt. J. V. Doyle, Capt. B. L. Hyman, Messrs. S. R. Burrows, A. Gillen, and H. Turner

WILLIAM J. BARBER.

That the late Mr. William J. Barber of Ameliasburg Township had a host of friends was evidenced on Saturday afternoon when the funeral took place. Prominent citizens of Prince Edward county and adjoining municipalities were present to pay the last tribute of respect to the departed while the numerous floral tributes were mute evidences of sympathy. At the family residence, Rev. Mr. Gall conducted an impressive service. Interment took place at Belleville cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. J. Hatfield, J. Lattimer, T. Nightingale, W. Black, J and L. Wallbridge.

Harvest Festival at Emmanuel Church

Harvest festival services were held on Sunday at Emmanuel Reformed Church and the preacher of the day was Bishop Brewing, of Toronto, whose discourses were of a high order and listened to by congregations which filled the sacred edifice. The interior of the church was tastefully decorated with grain, fruit, vegetables and flowers, presenting a striking appearance.

In the evening Bishop Brewing delivered an earnest discourse on the subject of "Following Jesus." The gifted divine stated that the heart of Jesus was a human heart and the men of Galilee who followed Him were men like us. As they walked with Him they received a touch of His human nature as we can do when we surrender ourselves to Him. It was not altogether pleasing for Peter to surrender his will to Jesus—to surrender his whole life to His service and then be led out to a brutal death. Peter on one occasion said to Jesus: "What about John—why so great an inequality between his life and mine?" Jesus' answer was "Follow me." It was an admonition from Jesus to listen to Him. There is today with many a tendency to question God. We are too often prone to say Why this, and why that, why such an inequality in stations of life. Christ's admonition is to follow Him, no matter what may occur, in adversity or prosperity, in health or sickness. There is a ministry for Jesus on the bed of sickness as in the activities of life. There is even a marvellous ministry in obscurity. We should follow Him and not question, and by so doing it will make every path and task more beautiful in life. Wealth and gluttonness are worse than poverty and hunger. Follow Jesus, and as a reward a mansion in heaven will be the outcome. In referring to reconstruction, Bishop Brewing said that all should practice reconstruction in themselves. Let us remember that in our own hearts there is need of reconstruction. Let us reconstruct ourselves with a new manhood. Only one man who walked on this earth did that, and He was Jesus. The old world will not be redeemed until this is done. The best in life and nature is in Christ. If men will interest themselves in those who are below them rather than those who are above them, there will be a revolution in the affairs of life. Poor souls are crying out to those who are strong to help them. Christianity is a burning passion for the welfare of others about us. We are touching men every day who need our help. No man can separate himself from his fellow men. Follow Christ and we will realize His teachings and His purpose of life.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 20-Oct. 1

W. H. JOHNSON, of Portland, Ore., who says no one could have done him any greater kindness than the friend who advised him to try Tanlac.—Gains fifteen pounds.

"Not in a long time have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Tanlac," said W. H. Johnson, 319 East 43rd St., Portland, Ore., who holds a responsible position with the Northwest Transfer Company.

"About a year ago I began suffering from lack of appetite and stomach trouble and since that time—that is, until Tanlac set me right—I have felt so poorly that I could hardly do my work. My food seemed to do me little good, if any, as my digestion was bad, and I lost both weight and strength continually.

"After every meal there was a dull, nagging pain in the pit of my stomach that kept me feeling miserable for hours.

"The gas from my sour, undigested food would bloat me up terribly and my nerves were so upset that I would lie awake half the night unable to sleep. I was constantly having blinding dizzy spells and could not bend over and straighten up quickly but what everything seemed as dark as night to me.

"I was telling a friend one day how bad I felt and he advised me to try Tanlac and I just want to say he couldn't have done me a greater kindness.

"I have picked up all of fifteen pounds in weight, my appetite is fine, and although I am eating just anything I want my stomach never gives me a particle of trouble. My sleep is sound and restful and my strength and energy have been so renewed that my work is no longer a burden to me."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, and by leading drug stores in all other towns.

DIED

RAMSAY—In Belleville on Sunday, September 12th, 1920, Sarah M. Ramsay, wife of Mr. Thomas Ramsay, aged 54 years.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, College street, tomorrow (Tuesday) at three o'clock. Service at the house at 2.30 p.m. Interment Belleville cemetery.

CLARE—In Belleville, at 7 Alexander street, on Sat., Sept. 11th, 1920, Eliza Ann, wife of late Harvey Clare, aged 84 years.

The funeral will take place from 7 Alexander street, on Tuesday, Sept 14, at 10 a.m. Service at the house at 10 a.m. Interment, Thomasburg cemetery.

Social And Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. S. Sills and family spent Sunday at their cottage, Presqu'ile Point.

W. J. Givens and family motored to Presqu'ile Sunday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. S. Sills.

Mr. Robt. A. Gibson, 24 Hillcrest Avenue, who has been very ill, is recovering.

Miss K. Marjorie Fisher has just returned to this city after having spent a very pleasant vacation with her brother and sister at Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island, N.Y.

Mrs. Harry Bell of Montreal, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Draycott, Front street, city. ✓

Miss Templeton, who has been in the city and vicinity for several months, left for her home in Edmonton, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ketcheson, of Sidney, and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Fisher of this city, went to Oshawa today to attend the fair at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stitt (nee Miss Lillian De Young) of Ilion, N.Y., are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Puckley, 130 MacDonald Ave.

Dr. T. J. Taylor and wife, of Cleveland, and Miss Mona Howe of Toronto, are in the city the guests of Miss Minnie Fleming, John Street, city. ✓

Mr. A. E. Brown, Yeomans street, returned home yesterday from a trip to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. F. Poste left the city on Thursday for Toronto en route to their home in Winnipeg, after spending the summer with his sister, Mrs. Jas. H. Grills, 143 Pinnacle St. ✓

Regal Shoes for Men

We are selling agents for this world known shoe. The latest styles are now being shown in Black and Brown leathers. A shoe for every foot.

Priced at $10.00 and $11.00

TRUNKS AND TRAVELLING GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

Strange Enough Is It

—that many intelligent people fancy that because our decorating and our ideas in decorating are superior, that our prices must be consequently higher.

Such an idea is utter folly. The facts are quite the contrary, inasmuch as a perfected system offers economy, just as studied possibilities make for saving in time and materials and eliminates errors.

Our Work and our IDEAS are the outcome of years of study—our systematized system the outcome of careful watchfulness during the past twenty years.

You get value from our perfected system if you command our Superior Service.

C. B. Scantlebury
DESIGNER & DECORATOR

Teas

OF SUPERIOR QUALITY

New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious

Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

NEW AUTUMN

Suits
—AT WOTTEN'S

Coats
—AT WOTTEN'S

Blouses
—AT WOTTEN'S

Dresses
—AT WOTTEN'S

Come in and See our Formal Opening Displays.

WOTTENS LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Expose

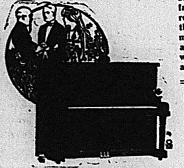
your film correctly—then bring to our studio and get the very best results in the finished pictures.

T. Donoahue
Portrait and Commercial Photographer
232 Front Street.

LINDSAY'S

THAT
ENRICO CARUSO
who gives a recital in Montreal at the Mount Royal Arena, Sept. 27th, will be accompanied on a

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO



only bears out the fact we have often repeated, namely, that the Heintzman & Co. Piano is a favorite with the world's greatest artists.

Sole agents in Belleville for Heintzman & Co. Pianos and Player-Pianos

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED
249 Front Street Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 15 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 353 Front St.

MRS. A. HARMAN HAS A NICE SELECTION of smart Fall and Winter Millinery at reasonable prices. 42½ Bridge St. upstairs. s9-4td

FOR SALE—MOTOR LAUNCH, 32 FEET, equipped with 12 h.p. motor, all in good running order. Apply to Geo. Duff, Point Ann Quarries, Ont. s8-6td

$3,600—BUNGALOW FOR SALE—122 MOIRA Street west, new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Stationary tubs in basement, furnace, plumbing and electric fixtures of best quality. Apply Bank of Montreal. s7-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a19-dtf

FARM FOR SALE — CONTAINING 134 acres, more or less, in the township of Ameliasburg, part lot 83 Concession 1, 2 miles from Rednersville. Convenient to school and cheese factory. Will sell stock and implements with farm. Apply Wesley Sager, R. R. No. 1, Rednersville, Ont., on premises. s13-3td,1tw

FOR SALE—TWO AUTOMOBILES—ONE 7-passenger Studebaker. 1 5-passenger 6-cylinder McLaughlin. Grotto's Taxi Service, 142 Front St., Belleville. s13-4td

FOR SALE — KITCHEN RANGE — HOT water front and connections. 88 Queen street. s13-2td

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work, with references. Chas. S. Clapp. s4-dtf

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

WANTED — AT HOTEL QUINTE, BELL Boy; also girl to wash glass and silverware. s9-4td

WANTED — EXPERIENCED GROCERY clerk. Apply to Box "R," Intelligencer. s9-4td

WANTED—SMALL FURNISHED HOUSE, with modern conveniences. Possession at once. Apply Box "M," Intelligencer. s10-4t

WANTED—FIREMEN FOR EIGHT-HOUR shift, seven days per week, $27 per week. Apply Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Corbyville. s13-3td

TWO SHIFT ENGINEERS, HOLDING 2ND class certificates—eight hour shifts, seven days per week. $32 per week. Steady work. Suitable house supplied at $5 per month. Apply Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Corbyville. s13-3td

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—GIRL FOR OFFICE: SHORT-hand and typewriting, with knowledge of bookkeeping. Box "A," Intelligencer. s13-2td

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSE work. Good wages. Address Box "B," Intelligencer Office. s10-1tw,4td

WANTED—SMART GIRL TO TAKE CARE of a child. Apply 260 Front St. s9-4td

GOOD POSITION FOR TWO GIRLS. APPLY Belleville Hardware & Lock Mfg. Co., Ltd., Pinnacle St. s9-4td

WANTED—SALESLADY. ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dim

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. Good wages. a3-dtf

WANTED IMMEDIATELY — COOK AND housemaid. Apply evenings between 7 and 8. Mrs. George Graham, 196 Bridge St. East. a30-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—THREE UNFURNISHED ROOMS. Electric lights, bath and good well water. No children. Apply 181 Moira St. W. s9-4td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern —possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. s7-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—of

LOST

LOST—TWO KEYS—YALE AND MORTISE lock, on string. Reward at The Intelligencer Office. 1td

LOST—GOLD WRIST WATCH, BETWEEN William Street and Hospital, on Dundas St. Name on back of watch. Return to 122 Dundas street. Phone 1296. Reward.

WANTED.

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

London, England, is threatened with a general strike next Saturday of all electrical engineers.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

City and Vicinity

Unexcelled in Canada—Daly's Good Tea—always the same. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393. We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

Mr. S. M. Anglin, teacher of singing, has returned to the city and will be at the Conservatory of Music, Front street, on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and evenings. s8 6t

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

GOODYEAR WELTS.

If you are wearing Goodyear Welted Shoes, be sure to have them repaired on genuine Goodyear machinery at John Henley's, Footbridge gangway. s7-6td

MISS CAMPBELL
Hat Shop
Phone 117 218 Front St.

Our show room is now open for a beautiful display of Fall and Winter Millinery from Paris, New York and best Canadian work rooms; also a special line of hats from ten to twelve dollars. s8-6td

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The Y.M.C.A. Baths and Swimming Pool will be closed Saturday, September the 11th, for renovation and repairs, to reopen Saturday, September the 18th. s11-2td

AUCTION SALE
(Registered)

At George Hartley's, 243 Albert St. September 16th at 1 o'clock, furniture consisting of parlor suite, rockers dining room suite, sideboard, book-case, hall rack, beds, bedroom suites, carpets, two good stoves, dishes and many other articles. No reserve bids. G.H. Kingsley Auctioneer, Crystal Hotel. 3td

STILL COMFORTABLE

Your shoes will still be comfortable after repairing if you insist on having them repaired at John Henley's, West of The Ritchie co. 6td

IN A HURRY?

Then let us repair your shoes while you wait. John Henley, foot bridge gangway. 6td

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

Miss Jessie B. Tuite will be at the Conservatory, Wednesday, Sept. 15, to resume classes in expression and public speaking.

Friday, Oct. 8, Concert in lecture room, St. Andrew's Church. Admission 25 cents. 1t

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to:C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

On tomorrow, Tuesday, the 14th day of the month, at eventide, there will be a meeting of the Royal Scarlet Chapter. All Officers and Knights are requested to attend. 1t

See the twenty-foot Thermos Bottle mounted on an auto in front of Dolan's the Druggist, Tuesday morning.

England Still Retains Her Financial Supremacy In Spite of the Great War

ENGLAND'S remarkable stamina since the armistice has rather shaken the faith of those who believed and declared that the financial centre of the world as the result of the war would shift from London to New York, and that Great Britain would have to yield her old-time supremacy to the United States. B. M. Talbot, writing in the Sun and New York Herald, goes so far as to say that England remains the centre of finance.

Mr. Talbot writes:

"There was a period of about six or seven months after the armistice during which it was openly declared here that the whole of Europe, including Great Britain, was hopelessly bankrupt. There is nothing peculiar or puzzling in the fact that America should have thought England bankrupt, for it was at least six months after hostilities ceased before England herself understood just where she stood. But all that has passed, and we now have concrete figures showing that British trade is mounting rapidly to the pre-war level.

"The financial centre of the world does not necessarily have to be the trade centre of the world. That is, it needs not be the place where the most goods are manufactured or sold to other countries.

"To be the financial centre London or New York must have the best facilities for handling the business transactions necessary in order that goods may be exchanged between one country and another. There must be smooth working banking machinery first of all. That condition is so broad as to be nearly all-inclusive. It involves properly operated money markets, stock and commodity exchanges, brokerage facilities, stable currency, broad bill market, and numerous other services, such as may be found within a narrow radius of Wall street or Lombard street. Insurance is another important factor. Ships are another. Tariff laws are another.

"Then in addition there is one more condition that perhaps has more to do with a nation's international financial supremacy than any other one thing. That is the inherent spirit of restless adventure on the part of capital seeking to push out further and further into new and unexplored fields in search of treasures yet undiscovered.

"The secret of the supremacy of every great centre of finance from the ancient days of Byzantium down to more modern Rome, Madrid and London, was the eagerness of the wealthy class to send ships to distant shores to traffic with unknown races.

"If we examine the banking facilities and other qualifications of both America and England we find that the latter has much superior machinery. But that is chiefly due to the longer experience in dealing with international problems of a financial nature. The same applies to English shipping, which has no peer in any merchant marine in the world.

"If one concludes, therefore, that America has not won the financial supremacy of the world, the conclusion must not be drawn on the premise that American bankers were throttled by outside competition or had no opportunity to establish the necessary working facilities and gain the required experience.

"The thing that was lacking was adventuresome capital.

"If Britain is the world's greatest shopkeeper, and that position, depending solely on the spirit of adventure on the part of capital, is the ambition of other nations — why does not capital of the United States develop this wonderful pluck and thus capture the financial leadership?

"Because there is not the same necessity for the spirit of adventure in the international sense. This leads again to the geographical location of England as contrasted with that of the United States.

"In a sense capital in America is just as adventuresome as capital in England. But when America needs cotton she finances it in the south-eastern states. England has to come to the United States or go to Egypt. America's oil, tin, iron ore, cereals, timber, tobacco and other products can be financed within her own borders. England must go to the ends of the earth. If her capital is to be employed at all it must seek far away fields.

"It is the geographical location that makes England great. Her emergence from the reconstruction period will find her with a more solid foundation than ever. To speak of her as bankrupt is worse than nonsense. She will never be bankrupt unless some catastrophe should overwhelm continental Europe. She is not much worse off financially as a result of the war."

Paisley Shawls.

No Paisley shawl has been woven since 1880, when the beautiful shawls went out of fashion and none is likely ever to leave the looms again. The shawl had its origin in the ambition of the Paisley weavers to produce on the loom the amazingly elaborate patterns wrought by the needle, of the Cashmere shawls that had been sent home from the East by Scottish officers and traders, and they surpassed their models.

Keeps Spark Plug Clean.

A new spark plug is kept clean by rough surfaced balls which it contains and which are moved up and down by piston pressure.

Painful, Indeed.

"Theirs was a painful courtship."
"Yes?"
"He is a dentist, and met her first as a patient."

Commodore A. C. Ross is in Toronto in connection with his plan to have Canada challenge for the America's Cup.

Young Eyes

They are not fully developed and often school work is a strain on them. In many cases children who are backward in studies are unjustly called stupid. Really they are as smart as other children, but a defect in the eye prevents them from seeing clearly. Every child's eyes should be examined by an optometrist at the beginning of each school year.

Blackburn makes a specialty of examining children's eyes.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Cadbury's Bournville Chocolate

In 15c and 25c pkgs., is an eating chocolate par excellence.

Many other lines of eating chocolate besides.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Developing and Printing

WE DO OUR OWN WORK
WE DO IT RIGHT
WE DO IT TO PLEASE YOU
TRY US!

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5.00. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

BARN BURNED

A large barn, the property of Mr. Lurney agerman, 6th Concession of Rawdon Township, was on Sunday evening struck by lightning and with its contents the season's crops destroyed. Loss partially covered by insurance.

WOMAN'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 10.—A verdict of accidental death was returned Tuesday night by the jury investigating the death of Mrs. Leland Watson, of Jackson, Mich., who was killed at "Death Curve" here a few days ago. A rider was added recommending that owing to the dangerous nature of the corner a barricade be erected there.

The principal witness was Mr. H. O. Blunden, of Detroit, who was driving the car, and who was himself seriously injured. He said the car was not travelling more than twenty miles an hour, and that he did not see the ditch till it was too late.

"Chick" Evans, Chicago, beat Francis Ouimet, Boston, 7 and 6 in the final for the U. S. amateur golf championship.

RITCHIE'S

WATCH FOR
RITCHIE'S
FALL OPENING
ANNOUNCEMENT
IN TOMORROW NIGHT'S PAPER
TO BE HELD
Wednesday and Thursday
Sept. 15th and 16th

Your presence is requested on the above mentioned days at the Ritchie Store to view the extensive

OPENING DISPLAYS OF NEW FALL

Millinery	Suits
Skirts	Dresses
Coats	Blouses
Dress Goods	Silks

Home Furnishings on 3rd Floor
Men's Apparel in Men's Store

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Moderate southerly winds; fair and warm today and on Wednesday.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 280.

Great Improvements to Streets of Belleville

REPORT OF ALD. HANNA, CHAIRMAN OF PUBLIC WORKS COMMITTEE, SHOWS EXTENSIVE PROGRAM OF ROADWORK CARRIED OUT THIS YEAR—LARGEST IN HISTORY OF BELLEVILLE IN ONE YEAR.

At a special meeting of the City Council, held last evening, business of a general nature was transacted. Ald. Hanna, chairman of Public Works, presented a report which showed work done by that department up to the present time.

Members present were: Mayor Riggs Aldermen Woodley, Hanna, Ponton, Doyle, Ostrom, Demarsh, Wensley, Bone and Adams.

On motion the Council went into committee of the whole on communications, etc., Ald. Ponton in the chair.

A number of recommendations from the various committees, as already published, were adopted.

Deep Waterway.

A communication was read from the Deep Water Navigation Commission, stating that meetings would be held at Kingston and other places in October, and asked Belleville to send representatives to the meeting.—Ordered to be filed.

Work Done by Public Works Dept.

To His Worship the Mayor and City Council:

I beg leave to report on work done by my department up to the present.

New roads have been built as follows: St. Charles Street, from Stone to College; Elm Street, from E. Moira to Baldwin; Ridley Street, from St. Charles to N. Front; Evans Street, from St. Charles to N. Front; Geddes Street, from Evans to College; Baldwin street, from St. Charles to College; Olive street, from E. Moira to St Charles; Grier Street, from Strachan to College; Wharf street, from South Front to George; Bleecker Ave., from Victoria Ave., to Pine St.; Emily St., from Station to Bleecker; South Front, from Dundas to Dock; Pinnacle street, from Wharf to Front. Many other roads have had attention from repair wagons.

The following roads were oiled: Mill street, Dundas street, Cannifton road, Charles street, Albert street, Foster Avenue, Bleecker Avenue, Pine and Commercial streets.

Grier street hill, which was very steep, has been cut down to a satisfactory grade. A retaining wall has yet to be built on this street.

Pavement walks have been built on the following streets: Centre street, from Grove to E. Moira; E. Moira street, from Strachan to Ridley; Ridley Ave., from West Bridge to Catherine; Stone street, from St. Charles to East Moira; Cedar street, from Jane to Bridge; Elm street, from E. Moira to Baldwin; South Park street, from E. Moira to Strachan; E. Moira street, from Stone to Olive; Evans street, from St. Charles to N. Front; Geddes street, from G. T. R. to College; Pope street, both sides, from Moodie to Wellington.

Chatham street sewer has been lowered at an expense of two thousand two hundred and twenty-five dollars $2,225.00). Sections of sanitary sewers have also been put in on Victoria Avenue, Queen and West Bridge Sts.

The Upper and Lower Bridges have both been replanked, and a new approach built at the north side of the Lower Bridge.

A great deal of work has been done on the West Bridge street hill, in the lowering of sewers, taking out trees, building sidewalks, grading, etc. This hill so far this year has cost the Public Works department, four thousand four hundred and forty dollars, and a great deal remains unfinished yet, though we hope to have the job completed soon.

A great deal of work has also been done on streets to be paved in the way of putting in sewers, etc.

The cleaning of streets is another important item, which takes considerable attention. I personally make frequent inspections, and must admit our streets in general are in a deplorable condition. The reason for this, I believe to be the neglect of previous Councils, in their vain attempt to cut down expenditure in the Public Works Department.

The Water Works Department should also come in for some censure, as they do not appear to make any attempt to fill an excavation properly, or to leave a road in a passable condition. A broken water pipe on Great St. James Street has been allowing water to penetrate through the road since early in the spring.

We have kept the stone crusher in operation almost continually, though several weeks were spent crushing stone for the Standard Paving Co., owing to their inability to keep up with the rest of their plant.

We have in our employment an average of ten teams and twenty-six men.

In conclusion, I wish to point to the fact that much of the work on the programme for this year is not yet commenced, though a great deal of it must be finished this year, and with the support of this council the entire programme may be completed.

CHAS. HANNA,
Chairman Public Works Department.

Ald. Bone spoke in support of the report, which he considered a good one.

Report ordered to be filed.

Walk Wanted.

A petition was presented for a granolithic walk on Brassey street.—Referred to the proper officials to see if properly signed.

Ald. Bone thought that no more work should be undertaken until some work is completed.

Mayor Riggs stated that the Standard Paving Company had informed him that they would complete this fall all the work laid out for them to do.

A Grievance.

Mr. A. Duncan addressed the Council relative to a sidewalk being built on Frank street.

Ald Hanna said the walk would possibly be built this year.

Mr. Duncan asked the Council to get a subway built under the G. T. R. track on Frank street. Residents north of the track are greatly inconvenienced by the crossing being blocked.

Ald. Woodley said he had endeavored to get relief for the residents in that locality, but the G.T.R. officials would give him no satisfaction.

Mr. Bennett asked for water service for his premises on Sinclair street.

Ald. Woodley promised to give him water.

The cammittee rose and reported. Report received and adopted.

Enquiries.

Ald. Hanna asked what was to be done with the water main on West Bridge street.

Ald. Woodley said the city engineer is going to attend to it.

Ald. Doyle asked about a walk being built on the north end of Church St.

Ald. Hanna said it would be attended to.

Ald. Ostrom—Why is the foot walk on the north side of the lower bridge kept closed so long?

Ald. Hanna—The trouble is with the Bell Telephone Co., who cannot get material.

Ald. Woodley—Will there be any more repairs to the bay bridge road?

Ald. Hanna—Not any more this year.

Ald. Hanna was asked how much longer it would take to finish Bridge St. hill and said it would be done as soon as possible.

Ald. Bone—What were the last debentures sold for?

Mr. Frederick—95½.

Ald. Bone thought citizens should be given the opportunity to purchase some at the same price.

Ald. Adams asked about some lights being placed on Lingham street.

Ald. Wensley — The Hydro claim they have no order yet to do the work.

Motions.

Moved by Ald. Hanna, seconded by Ald. Bone, that the $5,000 paid into court in November, 1914, by the Campbellford, Lake Ontario & Western Railway Co., as security under the statutes for an order for possession of lots 20, 21, 22, 23, 25, 26 and 27, north of Dundas and west of Mary streets, Murney Ward, owned by the city, and which order for possession was never acted upon by the said railway, and the city engineer having reported no damage to said lots having been occasioned, be paid out of court to the said Railway company, together with interest, if any, accrued thereon; and that His Worship the Mayor be authorized to sign the necessary consent for payment of the said amount; the railway company to remove any cloud interest or claim, if any, that may be registered against the title of said lots.—Carried.

(Continued On Page Two)

Provincial Road Fails Under Test

Middlesex County Regrets Abandonment of Hearst Government's Program.

LONDON, Sept. 14. — Middlesex County officials and London and district motorists are keenly concerned over the road situation. The claim is made that the Drury Government's policy, which involves the outlay of hundreds of thousands of dollars has been put to the test, and that proof is already furnished that the abandonment of the Hearst permanent paving program was a mistake that heavily mulcts the taxpayer.

Under the plans which were discarded after the provincial elections it was intended to pave the arteries of heaviest travel. Premier Drury and his advisers decided instead to build waterbound gravel roads. During the past few months work has been in progress on the Governor's Road or Dundas street, east of London, and about three weeks ago a stretch of a few miles near the city was finished and given a light coat of oil.

Vehicular traffic to London market as well as motor truck and tourist travel on the road is very heavy, and already the road has gone to pieces. It is now cut in numerous deep ruts, while the oiled surface has been shattered, producing a condition familiar to autoists as a spring breaker and rattle producer. The Government, it is alleged, made one certain prediction when it decided to lay stress on the maintenance phase of road work. Men have been brought back to drag the highway in an effort to fill the holes with loose gravel from the gutters, but that process on road where patches of oil have hardened is said to have proven unsuccessful. Further east where the road is unfinished and has not been oiled, it is reasonably smooth, and quite a good dirt roadway. But the roughness of the new finished highway is already driving traffic to alternative routes, and much traffic between this city and Ingersoll is choosing in favor of the Hamilton road, one of the arteries of the old county system.

Throwing Away Money.

"The Government is throwing away money in building gravel roads on these heavily travelled sections," declared County Treasurer Thomas Robson. The county proved that during the past six or seven years we could open a rebuilt road to travel and in three or four days it would go to pieces. We tried to tell the Government that, but they would not be told. They will have to learn for themselves that they are throwing money away. The Council passed a resolution last January protesting against gravel and urging that the roads be paved, but could not get a hearing. The money being spent on the work being done now is absolutely wasted. The roads will have to be torn up and paved."

Concern is also expressed over the Government's arrangements for the Wharncliffe Road, south of the city. It is more heavily travelled than any other road in the district, and recently announcement was made that the Government would pave a three-mile section as far as Glendale, this fall. A few days since a grading machine appeared and did two days' work before being set aside on a nearby concession, but wagons have since been employed hauling and spreading gravel in holes along the section that was to be paved. The extent of the repairs it is feared here, indicates that the Government authorities intend to pursue the policy which the experience of the county in the identical spot condemned.

* * *

Four Millions in French Gold

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The arrival here today of four millions more in French gold, making about twenty millions of France's half share of five hundred million of the Anglo-French loan was without a stabilizing effect upon the Foreign Exchange market which showed further weakness this morning. Demand bills on London fell to $3.48¼ while Canadian dollars were quoted at discount of ten to ten and one sixteenth per cent.

* * *

Parkhurst, Republican, elected governor of Maine.

Ferguson supporter admits he paid a woman $2 to vote, knowing she voted for U.F.O.

Labor Congress Considers Ireland

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

WINDSOR, Sept. 13.—Resolutions relating to the situation in Ireland and Russia and the policy of Trades Unions of Canada, in these directions are uppermost for discussion at the Trades and Labor Congress which opened its thirty-sixth annual convention here today.

Machinists introduced the Irish question asking that congress demand Britain's withdrawal of troops from Ireland and that English workers decline to send war materials to be used against the Irish.

Edmonton Trades and Labor Council presents motion endorsing the stand of British Labor on the Russian situation.

Congress will today be addressed by Premier Meighen.

WINDSOR, Sept. 13.—The feature of the morning session of the Labor Congress was the address of Hon. Walter Rollo, Minister of Labor who declared that the present Ontario Government had adopted many planks of the Labor platform and had made a record in placing progressive legislation in the statute books of the province. He also warned delegates that the greatest danger to organized labor lay in dissention within its ranks. He said he had no intention of making any rash promises in his capacity of minister, but told the delegates that anything he could do for wage earners, he stood ready to do, the same as when he was an ordinary delegate to the Labor Congress, he ridiculed the talk of big interests influencing members of the Government.

President Tom Moore in declaring the convention open, councilled moderation in the discussion of contentious resolutions and declared that those best able to speak of aspirations of the Trades Union movement were

* * *

Will be no Stay to Board's Orders

New Rates on Canadian Railways Go Into Effect.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—The Dominion Government in an official statement declines to grant a stay in the order of the Board of Railway Commissioners granting the Canadian railways the right of increasing their freight, passenger and sleeping car rates. The order went into effect Monday. The statement points out that the decisions of the Railway Board cannot be lightly interfered with, and that since the Board has been in operation, no judgment of the Board has been set aside by the Governor-in-Council.

The Government, however, recognizes the right of appeal and will facilitate in every way the early hearing of an appeal. The statement also sets forth "if it should appear to be a case where the appeal should be granted and the decision modified or reversed there could, if deemed proper, be provision for rebates of rates charged beyond those ultimately fixed."

* * *

Wrangel Captures Bolshevik Brigade

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

SEBASTOPOL, Sept. 14.—Troops commanded by General Baron Wrangel on Taura-da front, northwest of the Sea of Azov, have surprised and captured near Pologni in Oriek Hov region, the 124th Bolshevik brigade including its staff and trains, according to a report received in this city.

* * *

Russian Reds March on Lemburg

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Russian Soviet forces, it is reported from Moscow, have taken the offensive on both sides of the Brody, near the old Galician border and are marching on Lemburg, according to a despatch from Berlin. Polish and Ukranian troops, it is declared, have been driven back by Russian cavalry.

* * *

Bolsheviki Advancing

London, Sept. 14.—Bolshevik troops are advancing toward the Afghan frontier from Bokhara says a Calcutta despatch to The Daily Mail, quoting reports from Kabul and Simla. Afghan troops, it is said, have been hastily despatched to assist in protecting the frontiers.

Thanksgiving Day on October 18

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, Sept. 14—Thanksgiving Day will this year be held on October 18. Formal order to this effect will probably be approved to-morrow.

* * *

Money In It To Vote Right

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

PRESCOTT, Sept. 14.—Good progress in the matter of disposing of witnesses was made this morning by Gordon Waldron, counsel for G. Arthur Payne, defeated U.F.O. candidate in South Grenville in the last Provincial election. The charge regarding the granting of a bus license was disposed of, there being no evidence to support it.

Albert Roche, a lad sent by John Boyd into Wolford Township told three farmers there was money in it to vote for Ferguson, he told one man he would be remembered by John Boyd. The farmer replied he would vote Payne and be forgotten. Alex. Lee swore he was approached in a pool room by Thomas Kyle, of Merrickville, who asked if the witness would vote for Payne.

* * *

Red Leaders Drowned in Neva

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Serious anti-Bolsheviki rioting is taking place in Petrograd it is declared in a report from that city received in Berlin says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from the German capital filed yesterday. Six of the Bolsheviki commissioners, it is asserted in the advices, have been drowned in the River Neva while the others have been compelled to seek places of refuge.

* * *

South Grenville Election Trial

Witnesses So Numerous They Form Large Audience

PRESCOTT, Ont., Sept. 14.—Almon Cook, Spencerville hotelkeeper, paid Mrs. Kathleen Bellinger two dollars after she had told him she voted for G. Arthur Payne, U.F.O., defeated candidate in South Grenville, though she was a supporter of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, who was elected. John Boyd, Merrickville, paid five dollars to one, Levine Matte, on election day, 1919, but claimed that this was to liquidate a debt incurred three or four years before, and he also paid seven dollars to a young man named Roche to drive some 30 miles and ask a number of Liberal voters to vote for Ferguson, since there was no Liberal candidate in the field. These facts were brought out in the hearing here, of the election appeal against Hon. G. Howard Ferguson.

Judges Sutherland and Magee, of the Supreme Court of Ontario, are hearing the appeal and counter-charges. Counsel taking part include: W. N. Tilley, K.C., W. H. Price, M.P.P., and H. A. Stewart, for the respondent, and Gordon Waldron of Toronto, for the defeated candidate, G. Arthur Payne.

The charges are very numerous and counter-charges plentiful. Something like two hundred witnesses, including many women voters, have been subpoenaed and the witnesses in themselves provide quite a large audience to follow the proceedings. The case seems likely to last all week.

* * *

SEEKING ALUMINUM.

Representing a big New York syndicate and making a rapid survey of Canada from Ontario West in search of heavy deposits of aluminum, R. E. Barthol, a mining engineer, passed through Saskatoon recently to Northern Alberta and British Columbia to make an inspection of those territories. Mr. Barthol has been travelling in Ontario viewing some of the wilder portions of that province which give promise of bearing the mineral he is looking for in considerable quantity. The idea of Mr. Barthol's company is to mine aluminum in heavy quantities for the manufacture of automobile motors and parts.

Premier Gives Wise Counsel to Labor Congress

EXPRESSES SYMPATHY WITH EFFORTS OF WORKERS TO BETTER THEIR CONDITION, BUT URGES THEM NOT TO HANDICAP EMPLOYERS COMPETING WITH OTHER COUNTRIES BY EXCESSIVE DEMANDS, AS THEY THEMSELVES WILL BE THE FIRST TO SUFFER.

WINDSOR, Sept. 13.—A serious-minded, forceful argument which made an immediate appeal to the good judgment of the five hundred or more delegates assembled from all over Canada was the speech of Hon. Arthur Meighen, Canada's new Prime Minister, which featured the opening of the Dominion Trades Congress here today. Premier Meighen wasted no time on platitudes. Fearlessly and frankly he set before the workers' representatives his views with regard to the industrial future of this country. He pointed out that in the hard-fought battle of world competition, Canada, as a comparatively small, though ever-growing factor industrially, would unquestionably suffer if upon her manufactories and industries in general demands out of proportion with conditions in competing countries were made, and that if such happened it was inevitable that the workers would be the first to suffer. At the same time he assured the delegates of his readiness to assist them to the utmost in accomplishing their just aims and in working to the ultimate betterment of working conditions throughout the world.

The Premier's speech was plain spoken, but its evident sincerity won the approval of the delegates to "the Parliament of Labor," and when he stepped from the platform at its conclusion the unbroken attention which had been accorded him burst into generous applause.

Canadian Milk Condnesing Factories to Shut Down

SEQUEL TO REQUEST OF MILK PRODUCERS FOR HIGHER PRICES—MARKET SAID TO BE OVERSTOCKED WITH MILK PRODUCTS AND NO DEMAND — LARGE QUANTITIES OF MILK MAY NOT FIND MARKET.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—As a sequel to the recent hearing before the Board of Commerce of the milk producers' request for increased milk prices, comes the announcement that all Canadian condensing factories are to close down indefinitely at the end of the month because the market is overstocked with their products and there is no demand. Local representatives say they fear heavy losses. Shutting down means that large quantities of farmers' milk will be on the market this winter.

Labor Delegate Favors Sovietism

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

WINDSOR, Sept. 14.—Sovietism as the proper form of Government for Canada was suggested at the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at Windsor today. During the debate of the report of the executive committee regarding political action, Delegate Peter McCallum declared himself definitely in favor of a workers' republic with a board or Soviet form of Government. This brought forth an expression of approval from a spectator in the gallery, a reprimand from President Tom Moore and various interest from delegates. Discussion on direct action report was unfinished when Congress adjourned for the day.

Tariff Commission Down to Work

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

WINNIPEG Sept. 14—The principle of protection was attacked and defended in forceful statements presented this forenoon at the opening session here of the tariff commission. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in a prepared statement reaffirmed its advocacy and support of the policy of adequate protection for Canadian industry.

The Canadian Council of Agriculture took the position that the national policy based upon the principle of protection was wrong and advocated a low customs tariff and direct methods of taxation. The Council of Agriculture viewed the protective tariff as the most wasteful and costly method ever designed for raising national revenue.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE.

(Farmers' Advocate)

If we may be allowed to use an outworn political slogan, it can well be said regarding our present social conditions that "it's time for a change"; not in our laws and institutions only, but in the hearts of Canadian citizens. Nine-tenths of the people have been kicking and knocking and slamming for five years, while the other tenth have been lining their pockets and waiting for something to happen. But nothing does happen, because their is no solid, sane, reliable leadership. One must rant and "knock" to be a leader, while a booster is looked upon with suspicion or rushed away to the nearest alienist and examined as to his sanity. The cool, level-headed, conscientious servant of humanity is swallowed up in the mob, and the sound of his voice is not audible. Governments, good and bad alike, are tottering; the church is struggling against heavy odds to retain its hold upon the people who were once sober and devout. Soap-box orators with nothing at their command but a flow of invectives and indescribable verbiage will draw a crowd, while a sane lecturer would not attract twenty-five people in a small town if there happened to be a moving picture show or some other place to go. Some farmers, too, are so dissatisfied with conditions that they go about reforming the world while the thistles grow up in their fields and infest the neighboring farms whose owners are prosperous and contented. Everyone has a different tale to relate, a different desire to be gratified, a different rule for the universe. It is a time for good hard thinking. "Divine discontent" has brought about many good reforms, but discontent is carrying all classes out into the night. Agitation is all right when we agitate for something definite, something tangible. There should be some well-defined principle for which to strive. Let us construct, let us build something, rather than tear down and demolish.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

McFEE'S EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt. D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
192 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

FAM-LY-ADE
For the Children

YOUR children will love the cooling, fruity tang of FAM-LY-ADE. Give it to them often. Your grocer or druggist sells FAM-LY-ADE in a handy glass tube—enough for 32 glasses. It costs but 35c. Simple directions on every package. Made in Canada.

City & Country

Y.M.C.A. AUXILIARY

A very interesting meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. was held last Thursday afternoon, the new president, Mrs. Yeomans, presiding. It was decided to organize a junior auxiliary for young ladies. Miss Freeman will be glad to receive the name of any girl who wishes to join. The usual Y.M.C.A. concerts are to be continued this season and tickets will soon be on sale. A social half hour was then spent over a cup of tea, Mrs. Chown the new social convener being responsible.

HUNDREDS OF SUBPOENAS

Hundreds of subpoenas have been served upon residents of Grenville county to appear in the election trial which opened at Prescott on Monday afternoon before Justices Magee and Sutherland. G. Arthur Payne, defeated U.F.O. candidate in the last Provincial election, is protesting against the return of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, and the latter has issued a counter-petition against Mr. Payne.

SUIT FOR $12,595

Suing as liquidator of the Standard Reliance Corporation, G. T. Clarkson on Saturday at Osgoode Hall entered an action against Charles H. Gilmour, Emma Hopkins, Gilmour Yeates and Margaret Edward, executors of the late John Taylor Gilmour to recover $12,595 alleged to have been obtained by J. T. Gilmour from the corporation.

MONUMENT TO SOLDIERS

Prince Edward County Council has just completed the excavation and the leveling of the grounds for the soldiers' memorial monument, for which Warden Hazel and his Council voted $7,000 some months ago, for a county memorial. The monument will stand 24 feet high, the bottom concrete base being 12 feet square, while the lower granite base will be 9 feet square. The tablet, containing 160 names of dead sons of the county is supported by three bases. On the top stands a carved figure of a Canadian soldier, seven feet high. W. A. Jones, the contractor, will have the monument erected and complete for unveiling during the Fair. Warden Hazel and his committee have spared no expense to make this one of the best monuments in Eastern Canada. The military officers of the different districts, as well as prominent men from Toronto and Ottawa, have been invited to the unveiling ceremonies.

ROTARIANS MEET

Music and minerals were the high lights in the regular Rotary gathering at the Hotel Quinte Monday noon. The attendance was large, the luncheon was worthy of Rotary Jim's best efforts and the program compressed in the Rotary hour of relaxation was very entertaining and interesting. President Gus Porter was in the chair and presided in his happiest vein. Rotarian Knight MacGregor contributed some splendid songs, accompanied by Miss Wallace, his rendition of Harry Lauder's Rotary song being especially pleasing. S. B. Wright, the genial Reeve of Deloro, gave an interesting and instructive talk on the smelting operations under his charge. Sergeant-at-arms Scott collected few fines as the members seemed more than usually careful not to transgress the rules. Secretary Doyle read some interesting correspondence and outlined future programs of profitable and useful work for the Belleville Rotary. Rotarian Gordon Moffat's suggestion that each member bring a friend to the luncheon Saturday evening to be addressed by Taylor Statten and C. J. Atkinson on "Boys' Work" was endorsed and the meeting promises to be a memorable one. Rotary choruses were sung and the gathering dispersed after singing the usual ode to that little prairie flower, "Nobody Cares to Cultivate Me. For I'm As Wild As Wild Can Be."

Every 10c Packet of
WILSON'S FLY PADS
WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER
Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

GROOMING YOUR HORSE

Why and How to Give the Animal a Rub Down.

It Keeps the Skin and Coat Clean and Improves the Appearance—Bacillary White Diarrhoea of Chicks.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

HORSES are groomed for the purpose of keeping the skin and coat clean, and incidentally improving the general appearance. The skin consists of two parts, viz., the dermis or corium which forms the deep layer, which is plentifully supplied with both blood vessels and nerves, and the epidermis or cuticle which is external and has neither blood nor nerve supply; hence is nonvascular and insensitive and serves as a protective covering for the dermis. It consists of a layer of agglutinated cells which are formed on the surface of the dermis.

In the tissue immediately underneath the dermis are large numbers of sudoriferous or sweat glands, each of which is surrounded by a quantity of fat. These glands are round bodies, each of which consists of one or more small tubes coiled into a ball; the free end of the tube opens on the surface by a funnel-shaped orifice.

The skin of the horse is characterized by its great sensitiveness, which is still further promoted by good grooming. Few animals, if any, perspire as freely as the horse.

As stated, the cells of the epidermis are formed by the dermis. This formation of cells is continuous, as is also the exfoliation of the cells of the external surface of the epidemis. The hair prevents the free escape of these scales, hence there is a tendency to accumulation; the coat also gathers dust, etc., from the surroundings, and if the animal is not groomed the coat soon becomes filled with the accumulation, which becomes damp when the animal perspires. It is claimed that this has a tendency to occlude the openings of the sweat glands, hence interfere with free perspiration. Whether or not there is much force to this contention, it is an undisputed fact that the horse that is regularly and well groomed looks better, feels better and gives more satisfactory service than his mate under the same conditions less the grooming. The object of grooming is to remove the scales, dust, dried perspiration and other foreign substances regularly. In order to do this a curry comb of some nature must be used, that when being worked by the hand, both with and against the grain of the hair, will agitate the hair to its exit from the skin, thereby loosening all foreign substances. The comb should not have teeth sufficiently sharp to scarify or irritate the skin. Then a stiff brush should be used to remove all foreign matter that has not escaped during the use of the comb. When the coat is quite short the use of the comb is not necessary, the stiff brush being sufficient. A finer brush, the bearing surface of which consists of bristles should now be used to remove anything that still remains, after which the whole surface of the body should be well rubbed with a clean linen cloth. The tail and mane should be well brushed with the stiff brush and then combed with combs designed for the purpose.

It is well, under ordinary conditions, to groom a horse well twice daily. If a horse has perspired freely it is good practice to rub him well with cloths until he becomes dry. If this be neglected he should be groomed to remove the dried perspiration and other accumulations before he is fixed for the night, as under such conditions he doubtless rests better.—Dr. J. H. Reed, O. A. College, Guelph.

Bacillary White Diarrhoea of Chicks.

This disease is responsible for many deaths among young chicks. Affected birds appear stupid and remain under the hover or hen much of the time. They isolate themselves from the rest of the flock; their feathers become rough and the wings droop. They eat little or nothing although they mechanically peck at things. A thin whitish or creamy sticky discharge comes from the vent and clings to the down, frequently clogging up the vent. The birds become short backed or hunched up and mostly die in a few days,—a few, however, survive.

Post mortem examination shows loss of flesh; the alimentary canal is usually empty except for some slimy fluid. The organs are all pale. The liver may have a few dark streaks.

The trouble usually starts with chicks hatched from eggs laid by a hen whose ovary is diseased. Other chicks in the hatch soon pick up the bacteria from the droppings of the affected chicks and so the disease spreads. Those chicks that take the disease and apparently recover will usually have diseased ovaries, consequently the eggs which they lay are liable to produce the disease in the chicks hatched from them. In addition to this, however, their egg-laying powers will usually be low, and the infertile eggs among those that are laid will be a high percentage. Consequently it is bad policy to use for breeding purposes those birds that have suffered from white diarrhoea when they were young.

Healthy chicks should be removed from contact with affected ones and placed in clean, disinfected surroundings. It is a good policy to kill and burn the affected specimens and then thoroughly disinfect everything with which they have come in contact.—D. R. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

The June sown rape should be ready about now and will make a desirable change for young lambs.

◆

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Lorenzo MacDonald and family wish to thank their many friends for the sympathy extended to them during their recent bereavement.

1td-1tw

Great Improvements to Belleville Streets

(Continued From Page One)

Unfinished Business.

Mr. O. Latta, residing on North Front street near the G. T. R. overhead bridge, addressed the Council relative to the sewer being lowered so that he could use it.

Ald. Hanna said he had asked the City Engineer for a report on this matter, and expected it for this meeting, but it was not forthcoming.

Ald. Ponton, in speaking to the matter, said the report should have been presented when requested. There were some of the city officials who did not appear to prepare things when requested to do so.

The matter was referred to the chairmen of Public Works.

City Morgue.

Mayor Riggs asked if anything was going to be done in reference to a city morgue.

Ald. Doyle said it would be established if the appropriation to his committee was increased.

Council adjourned.

Are You Run-Down?
Do You Lack Ambition?

If one is not in good health life is not what it should be. We do not claim Vital Tablets will bring a dead person to life, but we do claim that if you take them for a time you will be a different person. You will live and enjoy life as you are not doing now. They are a wonderful tonic. You will be surprised at yourself. Get a box from your druggist. Price 50c a box or 6 boxes for $2.50 at all drug stores, or by mail from the Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

From Our Own Correspondents

MOIRA

We have had a heavy rain which will revive the gardens again.

Mrs. Annie Elliott and Mrs. W. A. Ketcheson have returned home after spending a week at Toronto.

Mrs. Margaret Lennox of Montreal is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Gilbert Thompson underwent a serious operation on Thursday for appendicitis. Drs. Howard and Stone, specialists of Kingston, and Dr. Kindred of Tweed were in attendance.

Among those from Moira who attended the exhibition at Toronto were Mrs. W. F. Welsh and Harold; Messrs Robbie and Stanley Beatty; Mr. and Mrs. George Hollinger; Miss Olive Ketcheson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Salisbury.

Mrs. Robert Woods of Ivanhoe is spending a few weeks the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson spent Thursday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Hollinger, Fuller.

Mrs. Annie Elliott is nursing Mrs. Gilbert Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Welsh of Windsor are the guests of Mrs. C. Welsh.

TURRIFF

Most of the farmers have their grains in the barns and some are sowing rye and fall wheat. We have had some rain lately which will help the root crop, also the corn.

Turriff lost one of its oldest residents in the death of Miss Mary McPhee, which took place last week at the home of her niece, Mrs. John Wood with whom she has lived for a number of years. She had reached the ripe old age of eighty-six years.

Mrs. Margaret Foster, a former resident of this place, spent a few days this week with her granddaughter, Mrs. Alex. McGibbon.

Mrs. John Munro is still in Toronto taking treatment for what is supposed to be cancer.

Mr. L. Appleby, Mr. and Mrs. Reed and little son, Jack, who have been camping at McPhee's for two weeks, have returned to Toronto.

Mr. George Towes accompanied by Mrs. Towes and little grandson Clarence Towes, spent a week with his daughter, Mrs. John Phillips near Gilmore. They returned home on Saturday.

◆

MAN KILLED BY TRAIN AT OAKVILLE STATION

Toronto Sept. 14—Fred Braun, aged 43, who was engaged with an extra gang of the G.T.R. employes at the Oakville station on Saturday, was killed by a passenger train which reaches the station about 3.15 p.m. Braun was working between the tracks and did not know that the train was approaching. From papers found it is believed his home was at 900 St. Catharine street west, Montreal.

Coroner Stead empanelled a jury and after the body had been viewed made an adjournment until next Thursday.

◆

Premier Meighen speaking at Labor Congress calls upon Labor men to fight radicalism.

Military search for arms in Belfast Unionists homes.

NERVES ALL GONE TO PIECES
"Fruit-a-tives" Conquered Nervous Prostration

R. R. No. 4, GILBERT PLAINS, MAN.

"In the year 1910, I had Nervous Prostration in its worst form; dropping from 170 to 115 pounds.

The doctors had no hope of my recovery, and every medicine I tried proved useless until a friend induced me to take "Fruit-a-tives".

I began to mend almost at once, and never had such good health as I have enjoyed the past eight years. I am never without "Fruit-a-tives" in the house". JAS. S. DELGATY.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS

There is a warm spot in the heart of every theatregoer for minstrelsy "The Great American Institution" which grows fonder and fonder as time rolls by. Therefore, the many lovers of burnt cork fun will be delighted to learn that Gus Hill's Minstrels, is the attraction announced at Griffin's Opera House next Thursday night, September 16th, for one night only. This splendid offering is said to be replete with dazzling scenic effects, unusual novelties, all the latest songs, coupled with old classics, picturesque surprises and a galaxy of original features. Among the well-known gloom annihilators are: Emile Subers, Sam Curtis, Rags Leighton, Billy Monitor, Harry O'Brien, Fred Werner, Harry Bohne, Fred Freddy, Gene Pearson, Pat Rogers, Richard Barstow, John Cahill and fifty other famous black-face comedians.

FINE COMEDY PICTURE

Don't send out announcements of your marriage unless you can produce the bride on demand. If young Doc Hampton had followed this advice he wouldn't have been in the merry fix he found himself when his wealthy uncle telegraphed him that he had received the marriage announcement and would be on hand to inspect the lucky lady. Of course, Doc hadn't been wedded at all and was using the subterfuge of the fake announcement in an endeavor to recoup his falling fortunes. But it resulted in a pretty girl being thrown across his path and—. But you'll have to see "Mary's Ankle" at the Palace to-night and Wednesday matinee and night. Douglas MacLean the brilliant new Ince star, has the role of Doc, and Doris May is the girl. The new picture is a jolly comedy made from May Tully's well known stage success.

DRAMATIC STORY OF TANGLED LIVES

When Stanley Olmstead sat down before his typewriter and wrote "My Husband's Other Wife," he created a fascinating story with a complicated situation. When J. Stuart Blackton took the scenario and transferred it in action to the silver sheet, he gave the story the master touch of pathos and humor, while Sylvia Breamer, Robert Gordon, Warren Chandler and Mary McAvoy, portraying the four principal characters, made the story live. "My Husband's Other Wife" takes you behind the scenes in a theatre and shows you the private life of a popular stage star who submerges her husband's personality in that of her own. After the divorce, she realizes too late her husband's worth and tries to win him back, in spite of the fact that her husband has another wife, and how the situation is cleared up to the satisfaction of all completes one of the strongest stories revealed on a local silver sheet in some time.

◆

AFTER CHURCH—CONSIDERABLY AFTER

By JAZZ SO!

It was midnight on the ocean
Not a street car was in sight.
The sun was shining brightly
And it rained all day that night.

It was a winter's day in summer
The sky was raining glass
And a barefoot boy with shoes on
Stood up sitting on the grass.

It was evening and the rising sun
Was sinking in the west;
The little fishes in the trees
Were huddled in their nests.

The rain was pouring down in drops
The moon was Oh! so bright,
While everything that could be seen
Was hidden out of sight.

While the organ peeled potatoes
Lard was rendered by the choir
While the sexton rang the dish cloth
Some one set the church on fire.

Holy smoke! the preacher shouted
In the rush he lost his hair
Now his head resembles Heaven
For there is no parting there.

SINCLAIR'S

New Autumn Suits

—have arrived. You'll be interested in seeing them, with their smart tailored lines and fur collars. Each showing forecasts authoritatively the modes of the season just beginning. Your inspection of these Suits is invited.

Separate Skirts

WITH CHARACTER AND INDIVIDUALITY.

The new Skirts are here in numbers, pleasingly varied and displaying conspicuously those features which mark them as distinctly of this Autumn. Soft Woollens in plaids or plain give expression to the styles of the moment. Colors are harmoniously blended and the workmanship is of a quality that adds to one's joy of possession. Prices from $9.50 to $37.50.

Woolen Jersey Cloth

There is an excellent range of colorings in plain tones or heather mixtures in this serviceable fabric. It is 56 inches wide and is shown in qualities suitable for either suits or frocks. Priced $6.50 to $8.50 yard.

A New Wool Frock

Will be a mighty useful addition to your wardrobe now, for there will be many days when a woollen frock will make for comfort. Here are some of the newest modes and fabrics; some much embroidered, others with braid trimming. Brown and navy blue are the favorites. The prices are quite moderate.

Pullover Sweaters

Two special clearing lines of Pullover Sweaters are being offered at unusually low prices. They are shown in plain colors or good color combinations. Two lots to clear at $2.50 and $3.50 per garment.

Velvets

—are again finding favor for Autumn wear, and as usual we show a very wide range of colors in both Silk Velvets and Velveteens. One especially good quality of Velveteen is shown in eight Autumn shades, and is 45 inches wide, is $4.50 per yard. Other qualities and widths from $1.25 per yard upward.

Plaid Skirtings

Plaid Skirts are more popular than ever before, and we are well prepared to meet the demand for Skirting Plaids. Obtainable in all wool at $5.00 to $8.00 per yard, and some excellent patterns in cotton at $1.50 per yard.

STORE REMAINS OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAYS.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

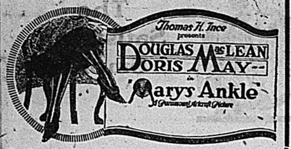
More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

One Thousand Seven Hundred and Forty-two People

Saw this picture—that is made of laughs and trimmed with chuckles yesterday.



They have done it again! Followed their great laugh hits, "23½ Hours Leave" and "What's Your Husband Doing?" with another picture so funny it will keep you laughing for days.

All about a young doctor who needed money and a pretty girl who needed love. Not QUITE all, but plenty! Also about Mary's ankle, without which there would have been no story!

Come and see it—the picture, of course—and we guarantee a pain in your side from over-laughing. SEE IT—SURE! IT'S TOWN TALK!

Palace Tonight and Wednesday

VISIT THE MATINEE VISIT THE MATINEE

Griffin's Thurs. Sept. 16

GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS

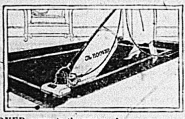
Gorgeous Settings! Novel Costumes! Rainbow Accessories!

The Whole Striking a New Note in Modern Minstrel Manifestations

Watch for Parade! Wait for Concert!

Prices 25c to $1.50—Seats Wed. at Griffin's 10 A. M.

TO THE RESCUE



The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.

THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : :

The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.

THE HYDRO SHOP

S. J. FISHER

Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

Developing and Printing

WE DO OUR OWN WORK
WE DO IT RIGHT
WE DO IT TO PLEASE YOU
TRY US!

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

There's no waste to

Grape-Nuts

and it saves sugar, for it contains its own sweetening

No cooking is necessary and the likable flavor of this wheat and malted barley food is equaled only by its economy.

Grocers everywhere sell Grape-Nuts.

Has a Husband a Right to Demand Children in His Home?

For audiences that applauded Adelaide Hedlar, stage favorite, thought she had all her heart desired—fame, home and happiness.

BUT THEY SAW ONLY THE DRAMA OF THE STAGE

For Adelaide Hedlar had an off-stage drama because she loved to bask in the footlights' glamour more than she loved her doctor husband. Besides, she trifled with her favorite playwright.

THAT WAS THE REAL DRAMA IN HER LIFE

You really should see the tremendous climax in this drama, that vibrates with the throb and thrill of life. If you believe in divorce; if you do not believe in divorce; if you are thinking of getting a divorce; if you know anyone else who is—

WAIT, and tell them to wait, until you and they see—

Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon

in

"MY HUSBAND'S OTHER WIFE"

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

Tonight and Wed.

COMING FRIDAY—REX BEACH'S "The Girl from Outside."

Brighten Your Home with

White Mazdas

—the lamp that gives more light without the glare.

TRY ONE

in your reading lamp today and you will be pleased with the beautiful soft light.

THE HYDRO SHOP

THIS LEAVES THE ARMS FREE FROM HAIRY GROWTHS

(Toilet Talks)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and after two minutes rub off, and wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get delatone.

◆

U. S. ARMORED CRUISER IS ASHORE AT LIBAU

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The United States armored cruiser Pittsburg, Rear-Admiral Harry McL. Huse, in command, is hard aground on the rocks off Libau, in the Baltic Sea, according to an intercepted wireless message. The cruiser is reported to be in a dangerous position.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The transport Frederick, now at Antwerp, has been ordered to proceed to the assistance of the Pittsburg, after transferring to another transport her passengers, according to a naval announcement here last night.

The passengers aboard the Frederick consist chiefly of the United States Navy Olympic team.

◆

FREE PASSAGES NOT IN DEMAND

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The offer of free passages to the dominions and colonies made to ex-service women by the Imperial Government will close on December 31, and it would appear that, in spite of the opportunity offered in these countries, and the fact that many ex-service women have found it difficult to settle down after their experiences oversea and at home, the number offering themselves for these passages is comparatively small.

The emigration department for New South Wales, for instance, is only shipping 30 ex-service women a month (250 in all have been sent out) whereas it could deal with 100 a month with ease. The value of the passage to Australia, taking it at its lowest figure, is £40, and those who wished to do so could nominate later suitable relatives for the Australian Government's scheme of assisted passages.

FAMOUS BRITISH BANDS.

Great Revival of Music Taking Place In England.

There is just now a great revival taking place, probably due to the demobilizing and the national desire for music and dancing everywhere, with respect to the formation of new brass bands, says London Answers.

Especially is this the case along the whole Thames Valley, where already there are certain fine bands, whose fame has become more than local during the past few years.

The fame of such southern brass bands as Ham and Petersham; Teddington, Kingston and Staines, is sufficient to show what immense strides this district has made in recent years with regard to this kind of music. The deep interest now being taken in forming similar bands at other places along the Thames, such as Richmond and Twickerham, indicates a still wider and more earnest desire on the part of southern England to take its place beside the north, which has for decades held a big supremacy with respect to its renowned brass bands.

What magic there is in the very names of some of these? How well we remember those tremendous all-Saturday contests which used to take place—annual fights for the brass band championship—each September at the Crystal Palace, when tens of thousands of enthusiasts used to come along by excursions from Yorkshire, Lancashire and Northumberland to storm London for the day.

And what roars, what applause, what enthusiasm at the Palace when the celebrated Besses o' th' Barn ("fra Lancasheer"), or Wyke Temperance ("froo Bradford way") took the platform against such wondrous rivals as Meltham Mills ("along Huddersfield way"), the popular Black Dyke, or Linthwaite for the championship.

Shall we see these contests again? Certainly; we are looking forward to them next year with renewed zest and eagerness.

For it is Yorkshire and Lancashire, together with Durham and Northumberland, which supply the bulk of these marvellously clever brass bands, with their hosts of fine executants.

One has only to recall the names of Irwell, Hebburn, Horbury and Bramley to grasp this at once. There is hardly a little village in the suburbs of the great cotton and woollen centres but owns its brass band, with anything from a dozen to two score performers; men who can play all sorts of instruments, and play them extremely well, too.

For long years the much-coveted championship has gone north, won by one or other of the bands mentioned above, and very keen has been the rivalry for it, too.

Their successes have made the names of such bands as Besses o' th' Barn, Black Dyke, Wyke and Meltham Mills known all over the British Empire. Before to-day some of these have made world tours by special requests, and delighted millions of our kinsmen in the far dominions, where the lads from Lancashire, Yorkshire or Northumberland have received an uproarious welcome from men and women who left the same counties long decades back to try fortune in other lands, but who have never forgotten the places from which they came in the Motherland.

Why, famous poems have been written about more than one of these grand northern bands. There is scarcely any dialect-poem better known throughout Yorkshire than that which tells of the lively doings of the Bramla' Band.

All over the West Riding the tremendous rivalry for supremacy between Huddersfield, Bradford and Wakefield districts for their brass bands is something remarkable and the subject of perennial disputes.

If in the future, therefore, the south of England can even draw perceptibly near to the north in this rivalry, there is in store for music-lovers a real treat. The contests for the championship are likely to prove still more exciting than of yore. But the Thames Valley bands have a long way to go before this happens.

For, be it remembered, practically every miner, every weaver, every warehouseman around Huddersfield can play some instrument well. And there are brass bands galore in Yorkshire and Lancashire, which could render the "Messiah," the "Elijah," or any of the Sullivan operas for you from memory in a way of which the Royal Artillery Band, or the Grenadiers' Band itself might well be proud.

King Edward's Wit.

A good story concerning the late King Edward was told recently by the Rt. Hon. J. I. Macpherson, Great Britain's new Minister of Pensions.

It appears that a card party was in progress at a great house in "The Dukeries," at which a certain young subaltern of the Guards and an irascible duchess were seated by their hostess at the same table as opponents, His Majesty and another lady completing the four-handed game.

After play had been in progress some little while, said Mr. Macpherson, the duchess revoked. The subaltern noticed it, and at the end of the hand claimed the penalty. The duchess glared, but submitted.

"Young fellow," said the King, leaning over and tapping the subaltern on the knee, "I have given the Victoria Cross for less than that."

Pearl Fishers.

The pearl fishermen of the orient and of the South Seas are hunting for new beds of pearl oysters. The demand for pearls is so great and the fisheries are being worked so continually that new pearls do not have time to grow.

The Reason.

Bank Client—"Halloa! What's become of the old cashier?" New Cashier—"He's gone away." Client—"For a rest?" New Cashier—"No; to avoid arrest."

◆

London Sinn Feiners extend units to Scotland where four thouand young Irishmen have organized themselves into military units.

Sinn Feiners threaten murder of prison doctor should any of Cork hunger strikers die.

ZAM-BUK

This illustrates but one of the many uses to which Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, is daily put. Accidents will happen, especially where there are children. Mothers should never be without Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk is the best "First Aid." Its strong antiseptic properties kill all germs, preventing blood-poisoning and inflammation. Its rich, herbal essences quickly ease pain and build up new healthy tissue. Zam-Buk is entirely different from all other ointments. It is purely herbal and contains no poisonous coloring matter. Take no substitute. See the name on every box before paying.

ZAM-BUK HEALED SEVERE CUT

Mrs. J. E. Bierwirth of Carnduff, Sask., writes: "My little son cut the end off his finger. As it was such a severe cut, I was going to take him to a doctor, but in the meantime to ease the pain, I applied some Zam-Buk. This stopped the bleeding and gave him such relief that he ceased crying and seemed quite at ease. I therefore decided to see if Zam-Buk would heal the wound. Next day I replaced the dressing, and continued to do so each day, using nothing but Zam-Buk. Complete cure resulted."

Zam-Buk sold by all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 50c box.

FREE
Send this coupon, name of paper and 1c stamp for free trial box. Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

YOUR HOME NEEDS IT!

Where Message Rates Apply

MESSAGE rates are proposed for business telephones only in the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, and Quebec.

All other service continues on the flat rate basis—that is residence service in the above five cities, and both business and residence service in all other places.

The Bell Telephone Company
of Canada

RECREATION FACILITIES KEEP LABOR CONTENTED

Pittsburg, Sept. 10.—More than 500,000 persons have this year attended the picnics given by industrial concerns in Pittsburg to their employees, according to the estimates of amusement park managers and a number of the most important are yet to be held.

Arrangements for these great gatherings of workmen and their families are on a colossal scale and carried out by an efficient organization of trained engineers and office men. It occasionally happens, as in the case of the Clairton plant of the Carnegie Steel company, that no picnic ground was available. So the engineers selected a nice bit of virgin forest not far from the town, built good roads in and through it, erected merry-go-rounds and other traditional amusement devices, built refreshment booths and a dancing platform and when the thousands of steel workers and their families reached the place for a day's enjoyment, they found it as complete as if it had been standing for years.

The quantity of provisions required for the entertainment for a big plant and its workers astonishes those who know little of such enterprises.

At one industrial picnic held here recently three tons of beef and four tons of boiled ham were required for the sandwiches. Five thousand loaves of bread were used, three men working fifty hours to cut it to size.

For the 45,000 persons who attended this picnic there were issued 65,000 free tickets for park amustments; 15,000 American flags and 40,000 toy balloons for children were distributed and 45,000 souvenir buttons were given to the workers and their families, while 50,000 knives, forks, spoons and plates were sent to the grounds for the picnic supper.

To provide this feast the company gave 80,000 pickles, 24,000 rolls, 8,000 pounds of baked beans, 1,800 pounds of coffee, 50,000 pounds of frankfurters and 1,500 gallons of ice cream. The food was cooked in an oven erected on the ground by the company's workmen.

While this was one of the largest picnics of the year, a number of others have equalled it and many more have come within striking distance.

Mill managers and corporation exe- were sent to the grounds for the picnic as one of their best weapons against unrest and gladly give to their employees the day for enjoyment, while bearing all the expenses, in many instances even to transportation to and from the parks.

NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

The idea that bread making is a long and difficult operation is a mistake, as bread may now be included in the list of quickly prepared foods, for with light, sweet bread can be baked and ready for use within four hours from the time the sponge is set. Full detailed instructions are contained in Royal Yeast Bake Book which will be sent free upon request.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

E. W. Gillett Company Limited, Toronto, Canada

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 25 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.00; one year by mail to rural offices, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly Edition—One year by mail, $1.50; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added.

MAY BE SOLUTION OF FARM HELP PROBLEM.

The automobile tire boom in Akron, Ohio, has collapsed, throwing some 50,000 men out of employment. "Where did they go when they quit work?" was the question put to Harry Giletley, president of the Central Labor Union. His reply was prompt: "Back where they came from, the farms. A year ago the farmers around here were crying their heads off. Now you don't hear a peep. There are no neglected farms around here now."

This carries a suggestion that industries employing a large number of unskilled men might profitably arrange to close down every harvest season and give the farmers a chance to secure help for the harvest fields.

HEROES OVER THE HILLS TO THE POORHOUSE.

Sergt. Geo. Richardson, of Lindsay, eighty-nine years of age, Canada's oldest living Victoria Cross hero, who won the coveted honor in India by outstanding bravery, was perhaps the most interesting figure in the group of Victoria Cross heroes recently gathered at Toronto. Sergt. Richardson, during his visit to Toronto, enjoyed a flight through the air with Col. Barker as well as a dash to a fire at a forty-mile an hour clip with the deputy fire chief. When the music and the shouting ceased and the cheers died out after the reception to the Victoria Cross heroes concluded, Sergt. Richardson returned to his home—the House of Refuge at Lindsay. Have we nothing better for our heroes than the Poor House?

SOME THEATRE NUISANCES WE ALL HAVE SUFFERED.

To accommodate late-comers at the local theatre the curtain seldom rises until 8.30 or later, but late as the curtain may rise there are always some who drift in after the performance has started, even until nine o'clock.

This is a great mystery.

Why pay from one dollar upward for seats and miss part of the show?

It is noticeable that the late-comers invariably have seats near the centre of a row and several people have to stand up to permit them to reach their seats. These people are disturbed and the view of the stage obscured for those immediately behind. The noise disturbs the people on the stage and distracts the attention of the audience.

If the late-comers are kept standing at the rear of the theatre until the close of the act in progress they indulge in conversation and make everybody angry in their immediate vicinity.

A plague upon such nuisances!

When you see a couple, male and female, arriving late at an entertainment you wonder which is to blame, the male or the female; but when you gaze upon the gorgeous raiment of the feminine and the evidences of careful and painstaking efforts to make a perfect picture from pretty lips to twinkling heels, one may be pardoned for exonerating the man, who always looks as if got up in a hurry and placed on the bargain counter.

There are other theatre nuisances including the people who grab their wraps and rush madly for the exits just when the last punch is being given to the play. Their example seems infectious, and people are seen rising all over the house.

Pleas remember it is good form to remain seated until the last curtain falls and the last curtain call is given and responded to.

There is also the person who talks all through a performance, the person who laughs too loud and too long, and other nuisances who should take a course in theatre manners.

Bad theatre manners is notoriously small town stuff as city theatres and patrons would not tolerate the annoyance so often manifest in the smaller places.

Let's get up to date and have some style to us.

Every patron at the theatre should be in their seats at 8.15 when the overture should start, and the performance begin not later than 8.30.

Most of the patrons wish to get home before eleven o'clock, and the company would be delighted to get in a little extra sleep before that early morning train.

Also there are many who desire to see, hear and enjoy the entire program from first to last, without any variations from the audience.

CRISP COMMENT

The peak of the automobile season is passed, and no doubt some car owners would willingly swap their flivvers for well-filled coal bins.

× × ×

Where is all that money we were going to save this summer to pay for the winter's coal?

× × ×

All this campaign about fuel famine prospects makes people more reconciled to paying high prices for coal. The scare takes away part of the sting.

× × ×

One-arm motor car spooners are declared to be a menace on the highways and campaigns are being directed against him at various places. He is declared to be all the more dangerous because he is temporarily deranged, and should be promptly arrested. Temporarily deranged is right. This is a fast age, indeed, when spooning speeds up to fifty miles an hour under the sentimental stars. Shades of the old horsehair sofa in the shuttered parlor! What is the world coming to?

× × ×

Peacefully sleeping on the stone wall flanking the fire hall park a legless cripple was observed Sunday morning. One leg was missing near the hip and the other was short and shapeless. A pair of crutches rested nearby. The cripple was an itinerant pencil vendor who wanders up and down the land making a living selling pencils, but the expression on his face as he lay sunning himself was one of peace with all the world and supreme content.. Whatever his dreams were they must have been pleasant ones in which his physical affliction had no part. All of which reminds us again that today is the tomorrow we worried about yesterday.

× × ×

The Deseronto Post says that Belleville is a quiet place. Hope the Deseronto man didn't believe he had discovered something new, says the Kingston Whig paragrapher. But you should see Kingston since the war! Shannonville cemetery is livelier.

OTHER VIEWS

Reporters and Their Duty
(Lindsay Post)

Many who are ignorant of the duties imposed upon the newspaper reporter resent the zeal and persistency displayed in asking questions and seeking information.

Recently a New York Court justice granted an injunction to prevent Mayor Hylan from barring the representative of one newspaper from the meetings of a city board. In doing so, the judge said: "The press is the lever that moves the world as no other earthly power could move it."

In commenting on this decision, the Jacksonville Metropolis says:

"The public is entitled to know the news. No other agency other than the newspapers can serve them in this respect. Reporters are not seeking facts for the satisfaction of personal curiosity. It is their duty to gather the news regardless of whom it affects, and when a stumbling block is thrown in their way it is an attempt to thwart the rights of the public."

Liquid Coal
(New York Tribune)

The American Chemical Society in session in Chicago is discussing plans for manufacturing some fuel to take the place of coal. One process mentioned is that of "combining lignite or particles of coal otherwise valueless with petroleum from which gasoline, kerosene and other products have been extracted, and thus making from refuse a fuel termed liquid coal."

While conservatives will await further information, and perhaps actual demonstration, before becoming unduly enthusiastic, yet it would not be surprising to have the discovery of a coal substitute. An ideal process would be to draw fuel from the atmosphere. Even this may come in time—who can tell?

A nation sick of exorbitant prices, tired of strikes, and weary of annual threats of a coal famine turns longingly to the chemists. Let the new fuel be liquid or solid, provided it is cheap and is warming. If any member of the American Chemical Society thinks he is on the right track, more power to his brain!

A LAUGH OR TWO

If patience is a virtue the most virtuous must be those who spend all their lives waiting for something to turn up.

Inexpensive Amusements

Watching a fat lady in a movie laughing at a comedy.

Real Handy

"How does the breakfast suit you, Jack?" inquired the young bride anxiously.

"It's just right, dearest," declared Jack, "I'm awfully fond of calves' liver for breakfast."

"So am I, dear," she responded with enthusiasm, adding: "Oh, Jack, don't you think it would pay us to keep a calf? Then we could have liver every morning for breakfast."

Then She Knew

He—When did you first realize you loved me?

She—I found myself getting angry whenever father called you an idiot.

Heard in a Restaurant

First Girl—Don't you ever eat your corn off the cob, Mayme?

Second Girl—Not this summer. It butters up one's ear puffs so.

THE POET'S CORNER

DAD 'N ME

A youngster's mighty lucky
If he's got a fishin' dad;
The fun I used to have with mine
Was the best I ever had,
When the sundown called the music
From the bullfrog's husky throat
And we were trollin' pick'rel
In an old, flat-bottom'd boat.

We always used a hand-line
With a whirlin' silver spoon
And we both took turns at rowin'
Till the risin' summer moon
Her warnin' of the nightfall
With her silver pencil wrote,
And we'd quit trollin' pick'rel
In the old, flat-bottom'd boat.

In the dusk of early ev'nin'
Fish'll strike a shinin' bait
Droppin' softly down slow water
We would lure 'em to their fate,
Pilin' up a feast for breakfast
Worth a twenty-dollar note
By just a-trollin' pick'rel
In an old, flat-bottom'd boat.

So I'm goin' back this summer
To the fun I can't forget,
And when the shadows lengthen
'Cross the old mill pond you bet
We'll be droppin' down the river—
Past the lily fronds we'll float—
Dad 'n' me a-trollin' pick'rel
In an old, flat-bottom'd boat.

—Stuart N. Lake in "The Outlook."

MAKE ULSTER ARMY GOVERNMENT FORCE

London, Sept. 13.—The British Cabinet has under consideration the making of Sir Edward Carson's Ulster army part of the Government forces, according to the Morning Post. The Ulsterites made the request that they be given an official status several days ago.

KINGS LIVE IN EXILE

FIND PLEASANT HOME IN LITTLE SWITZERLAND.

Four Former Monarchs, Rulers of Greece, Austria, Bavaria and Wurtemburg, Have Plenty of Money and Appear to be Enjoying Life More Than When They Lived In the Fierce White Light That Beats Upon a Throne.

FOUR ex-kings, the former rulers of Greece, Austria, Bavaria and Wurtemburg, are now living in Switzerland, and may remain there the rest of their lives since their own people show no intense desire to have them come home and be forgiven. They are all wealthy, though how they supplied themselves with funds is not clear, and probably are passing the most care-free days of their careers. Former Emperor Charles of Austria lives in a picturesque but secluded villa on Lake Geneva, in the same house that once was occupied by Napoleon's brother Joseph. He lives very quietly and spends much of his time in taking long walks. His neighbors are not aware of his identity; most of them, perhaps, have never heard of him, and Charles is free to come and go without being stared at. According to his secretary, who was interviewed by a correspondent of the New York Times, the former emperor takes no interest whatever in politics, and desires to lapse into the congenial role of country gentleman. Let him lapse! He was by no means the worst of the enemy emperors, and he at least is free from all responsibility of having brought on the war.

Charles is not guarded by Swiss police or soldiers. He evidently is in no fear of assassination or abduction, and the understanding between these former rulers and the Swiss authorities is that they shall have complete liberty of action so long as they do not meddle in international affairs and thus abuse Swiss neutrality. Constantine, formerly of Greece, is now at Lugano, but made his winter quarters at Lucerne, and expects to spend part of the summer at St. Moritz. Like Charles he travels about the country incognito a good deal and spends much time in fishing and automobiling. One of his favorite indoor amusements is to listen to conversations at the hotels, and thus acquiring some valuable if tardy information as to what people think of him. Constantine is perhaps the least repentant of the former enemy rulers. All he regrets is that the war was lost. He has no regard for Greece, but probably would enter into any intrigue that would promise a restoration of his power.

The former King of Bavaria lives at Locarno in a secluded villa whose exact whereabouts is known only to one or two of the local authorities. He spends his time walking through the woods and thinking bitter thoughts. At intervals he reads books sent to him from Munich. The old ex-King of Wurtemburg has several members of his family with him, and since he is advanced in senility he probably is as happy in Switzerland as he would be anywhere else. The ex-King of Saxony, formerly a member of the Swiss colony, has gone back to Dresden, and the ex-King of Saxe-Coburg has also returned to his native land. His mother, the Dowager Queen of Saxe-Coburg Gotha, is staying with the Infanta of Spain, who has a handsome villa on the lake outside Zurich. The Grand Duke Cyril of Russia and the Prince and Princess of Pless are also of the party. They will spend the rest of the summer at Lucerne. This concludes our present budget of society chatter.

The real sufferers of enforced sojourn in Switzerland are not the exiled royalty, all of whom appear to be plentifully supplied with funds, but many Russians of noble family who fled their country when Bolshevism took the helm. For the most part they were forced to escape without having time to get much money together. To sell their property was impossible, and since then their estates have been confiscated. Moreover, those who did have cash found the Russian rouble almost worthless when they tried to exchange it for Swiss money, with the result that these refugees are living in genteel poverty. They have never done any work in their lives. Most of them are too old to work now, and so they are being supported out of charity by the large hotels, each of them sheltering four or five of these hapless guests. Maybe the hotels think it a good advertisement to have some genuine grand duke or princess on view in the lobby. Maybe, gratitude for former patronage inspires them, for the Russians were notoriously lavish with their money when traveling.

A more objectionable class than either the former kings or the broken down Russians in Switzerland to-day is that of deserters from several European countries. In May, 1919, a census revealed the fact that there were nearly 26,000 of these in Switzerland. At present they number about 18,500. The disgrace of supplying the most of them belongs to Italy, no fewer than 10,000 of these "refractaries" being Italians. Germany, which had 7,000 a year ago, has now 3,000. France supplies, 2,400; Austria, 1,100; Russia, 1,000; Turkey, 182; Serbia, 137; Roumania, 130; Belgium, 86; the United States, 19; Great Britain, 16; Greece, 13; Bulgaria, 85, and Sweden, 2. One wonders what the Swedes had to fly for, since they were not openly in the war on the side of Germany. Many of these deserters, no doubt, will spend the rest of their days in Switzerland or in some other neutral country, since a general amnesty for deserters is not likely to be declared by the combatants in the war.

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Satisfying Smoke

THERE'S a world of satisfaction in a pipeful of OLD CHUM Tobacco.

It has that mellow richness that appeals to every smoker.

You are sure of a long smoke—an enjoyable smoke—and a thoroughly satisfying smoke—when you fill up your pipe with

OLD CHUM

Canada's Favorite Pipe Tobacco.

Just a minute, please!

HAVE you got $3.25?

All right, this advertisement is written to tell you how you can invest that $3.25 for five years—maybe ten—and get dividends several times a day.

For time is money and an Ingersoll Maple Leaf—price $3.25—keeps time—good time—and with any sort of care lasts five or ten years. Less than a cent a week for time-keeping service!

The dividends are in moments saved, which mean money earned.

And the Ingersoll doesn't fall down on the job just because it happens to fall out of your pocket occasionally. Such an accident is a mere incident to the Maple Leaf—it's a catastrophe to most watches.

One repair bill on an expensive time-piece would buy a Maple Leaf, with enough left over to pay for that wonderful 75c Radiolite Dial that tells time in the dark.

Maple Leaf Radiolite, $4.00

Ingersoll

Models from $3.25 to $14.50

EXCESSIVE ACIDITY is at the bottom of most digestive ills.

KI-MOIDS for indigestion afford pleasing and prompt relief from the distress of acid-dyspepsia.

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION

SINCE 1870 SHILOH 30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY

CATARRH of the BLADDER relieved in 24 HOURS

Each Capsule bears the name MIDY

Beware of counterfeits

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 8.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 435.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. · Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. · G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 205.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C.-M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

Advertise your needs in our "want" columns

In 1892

We first offered the public our

"SALADA"

TEA

B724

Millions now use it to their utmost satisfaction

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.

133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Do Your Banking by R. F. D.

Make the mail your messenger; and save yourself the long rides to town.

Deposits may be made—butter and cheese cheques cashed—money withdrawn—just as easily and safely by mail as in person.

Write the manager to tell you all about this convenient plan of Banking By Mail—or call in and have it explained, the next time you are in town.

14

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

BUILD IT NOW

Reconstruct the Old Home For Longer Usefulness

Reconstruction begins at home. If the old house isn't all you desire, and you can't build a new one, a little of the right kind of repairing and remodeling will readily restore it to present day standards.

Perhaps it's a new porch, a summer kitchen, a side entrance, a new roof, extra rooms in the attic or a renewing of old, cracked walls and ceilings that is needed.

The right kind of lumber used in the right way will make the change and we have all the material you will require including that knotless and crackless manufactured lumber Beaver Board, for better walls and ceilings.

Suppose you ask us about it?

The Belleville Sash & Door Co., Limited

41 Station Street

IN VIVID COLORS

Blouses in Bright Tints Popular This Season.

Hand Painting Is New Decorative Scheme; Fad Opens Way for Many Possibilities.

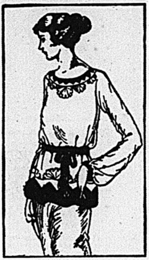
The blouse shown in the sketch is an especially smart member of the overskirt blouse family. It is also an especially serviceable type of blouse. As originally designed it was developed in white crepe de chine and trimmed with bands of appliqued navy satin. An outline design of embroidery done in silk in a shade matching the satin always gives a pretty decorative touch. The waist is held in with a satin ribbon belt finished with tassel ends. It may be a slip-over or may fasten on one shoulder, according to choice.

Blouses in vivid colors are very popular this season. One of the newest decorative schemes is hand painting. No special design is preferred, so the fad opens up all sorts of possibilities to the woman who makes her own blouses. She may take a perfectly plain blouse and paint it until it is transformed into a gorgeous thing of beauty, putting her own particular color scheme and favorite flower or design into the motif.

Bead embroideries, bead bandings and bead girdles in very bright colors add their bit to many otherwise plain-looking garments, and bead fringe is by no means out of favor.

Among the newest French blouses brought over many showing a decided vest or waistcoat effect are in evidence.

Wholesale dealers in blouses are showing models for spring, and it is interesting to note that great confidence is expressed in a demand for lingerie garments. Very dainty effects are being brought out in fine sheer batiste, voile, etc., decorated with Philippine embroideries and very fine insets of filet, Irish crochet and other laces.



White Crepe de Chine and Navy Satin.

The very smartest models have the entire sleeves, as well as the bodice properly decorated with embroidered motifs and lace. In the lingerie models the blouse that tucks in underneath the skirt hand shares honors with the one that ties about the figure. Comparatively few over-the-skirt models are shown in washable fabrics.

BEADED BAG IS ABANDONED

Fashion Tires of One-Time Favorite and Takes to More Exclusive Oriental Novelties.

Fashion has somewhat tired of the beaded bag and is now going in for more exclusive novelties, oriental in their type. Two new bags have appeared on the Rue de la Paix, writes a Paris fashion correspondent. One is in pouch form hanging from a solid silver ring and closing with a hinged cover set on to a corresponding ring, the other two being held together with a curiously carved clasp. At the top of the bag is a cap of carved silver and at the bottom a silver pendent ornament. The sack portion is of black satin ornamented with a band of old Japanese embroidery. The other bag of gold cloth, ornamented with bead and metal embroidery and metal pendent ornaments, is for evening wear. At the top of the gold ribbon drawstrings is a Chinese figure formed of carved ivory.

Smart Effects in Gloves.

Suede gloves are smartest for afternoon, glace kid gloves for evening wear. The afternoon gloves may be white old ivory, pale tan or mastic. The evening gloves will be white—unless black gloves are worn with a black frock. Most of the formal afternoon costumes now have flowing three-quarter sleeves, and these demand gloves in at least sixteen button length. A tightly pulled-up glove is very bad style, the more generously the wrist part wrinkles on the arm in mousquetaire fashion, the smarter and more elegant will be the effect.

Cotton Blouses Are Smart.

Cotton blouses of voile or batiste made by hand and trimmed with hand-drawn work and embroidery are very dainty and smart.

SALE OF ORGANS.

Organs valued at from $130.00 to $150.00 to be sold for $50.00 and $60.00. Don't miss this great opportunity at Warburton's Music Store, 299 Front Street, Belleville. s14-3t

CHINA'S PREMIER.

New Figurehead Is Same Ship of State.

Does the appointment of a new Premier for China mean an era of change and progress? The news that Admiral Sah Chen Ping, Minister of the Navy, has been appointed Acting Premier and will probably succeed Gen. Chin Yun Peng as permanent head of the Cabinet at Peking cannot be received in any such encouraging light.

Admiral Sah Chen Ping is something of a dark horse—and therefore a candidate pleasing to the members of the Cabinet and of Parliament who as the real powers behind the Government in China want a leader, so-called, whom they can lead by the nose. Like Gen. Chin Yun Peng, whom he replaces, Sah is a member of the Chi-li branch of the Peiyang party, which simply means that he is a more or less progressive member of the North China clique in the particular branch of that clique which grew up in Chi-li Province. He has held the portfolio of the navy in a former Cabinet, and has always worked on good terms with the Anfu party, which is the group of militaristic officials at present influential at Peking.

The Anfu men have not dared since the vehement popular demonstrations of May, 1919, when three of their leaders in office were hounded from the city by the mob, to put one of their own notorious members at the head of the Government. President Hsu Shih Chang has successfully acted as a buffer between them and public denunciation, being a mild and impotent scholar. They have tried to find a man for Premier who would fit the post as well. Chin Yun Peng has failed to measure up, because he refused to nominate Anfu leaders to positions in his Cabinet. More than that, one of his first acts after coming to office, October 28, 1919, was to withdraw the allowance of $300 apiece to Anfu members of Parliament, which had been the accepted portion of Government funds allotted in the two former Cabinets to men who would vote with the Government party. This act was partly excused by the extreme pressure for funds then existing in Peking.

Premier Chin was allowed to live six months in office, constantly opposed and thwarted by the Anfu party. Then having failed to bring about peace throughout China, or to hoodwink the foreign powers into loaning money to his Government on any pretext, he gradually lost prestige, took a leave of absence, and, in the usual Chinese way which saves everybody's "face," is being gently shoved out of the way to make place for a new candidate.

Sah Chen Ping, his successor, is not a leading figure in politics. He is a native of Kukien, and has led a career mostly restricted to the navy, in which branch he has risen to great heights. Under the old empire he held a position as an official both of land and sea affairs, and in 1908 was a member of the Commission of Naval Reorganization. In 1909 and 1910 he visited Great Britain, the United States and Japan, to study naval affairs in these countries. During the revolution he held a land office, and under the republic was appointed to various positions of responsibility in the naval posts at Shanghai and Tientsin.

Admiral Sah is generally considered as a progressive and well-educated man, with modern ideas, and sympathetic to foreigners. It is perhaps this last characteristic that makes him a promising candidate for the Premiership just at this time, when China is in such pressing need of foreign assistance in the shape of loans. The Government is reported to be practically bankrupt.

The Free Masons.

The society of Free Masons antedates all other societies by centuries. Its origin is so ancient that the place and time of its birth are unknown. Its legends say that it was organized at the building of the temple of Solomon, but this is not accepted with much credence. By some writers its origin has been ascribed to the Druids, by others to the Knights Templars and to Pythagoras, and it has not escaped the fad which in modern times has attributed so many of the uncertain productions to the nimble brain of Sir Francis Bacon. Within recent years traces of the organization are said to have been discovered in Palestine or the Egyptian obelisks and in the pyramids. In fact, it has been asserted that investigators have become satisfied that the society grew directly from an organization engaged in the construction of the pyramids.

Czechs Erect Mint.

The mint of the Czecho-Slovak republic, located at Kromnice, which was partly destroyed by the Hungarians, is being reconstructed, remodeled and re-equipped. New coining machines are expected soon, and after being installed the first Czecho-Slovak coins will be mined. A recent product of the mint is a plakuette with a portrait of President Masaryk, in honor of his seventieth birthday anniversary.

A Terrible Villain.

A six-year-old girl had been breathlessly watching the terrible villain of the film play. When he reached the railway bridge she turned to her mother and asked: "Oh, muvver, what's he going to do now?" "He's going to blow up that bridge." "But, muvver," came back the small, inquiring voice, "how can be get enough breff?"

Dignity!

The mayor of the smallest town in Peru feels that it is incumbent on him, in order to make the proper display of official dignity, to be accompanied by a band of pipers whenever he appears on any state occasion. These musicians have instruments which consist of a series of reeds strung together and make weird music.

STILL COMFORTABLE

Your shoes will still be comfortable after repairing if you insist on having them repaired at John Henley's, West of The Ritchie co. 6td

City and Vicinity

Unexcelled in Canada—Daly's Good Tea—always the same. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393 E. C. Sprague. m16-dt

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

Mr. S. M. Anglin, teacher of singing, has returned to the city and will be at the Conservatory of Music, Front street, on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and evenings. s8 6t

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

GOODYEAR WELTS.

If you are wearing Goodyear Welted Shoes, be sure to have them repaired on genuine Goodyear machinery at John Henley's, Footbridge gangway. s7-6td

MISS CAMPBELL
Hat Shop
Phone 117 218 Front St.

Our show room is now open for a beautiful display of Fall and Winter Millinery from Paris, New York and best Canadian work rooms; also a special line of hats from ten to twelve dollars. s8-6td

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

AUCTION SALE (Registered)

At George Hartley's, 243 Albert St. September 16th at 1 o'clock, furniture consisting of parlor suite, rockers dining room suite, sideboard, book-case, hall rack, beds, bedroom suites, carpets, two good stoves, dishes and many other articles. No reserve bids. G.H. Kingsley Auctioneer, Crystal Hotel. 3td

IN A HURRY?

Then let us repair your shoes while you wait. John Henley, foot bridge gangway. 6td

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

Miss Jessie B. Tuite will be at the Conservatory, Wednesday, Sept. 15, to resume classes in expression and public speaking.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

RITCHIE'S OPENING

On Wednesday and Thursday of this week, The Ritchie Co., will make a special exhibit of new goods in all departments to which everyone is invited. Special attention is directed to the attractive display in the Home Furnishing section. It will be an education to every lady to visit that department. 1td

G. W. V. A. NOTICE.

The regular meeting of the local G. W. V. A. will be held in the Association Rooms, Front Street, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 15th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested. Come and enjoy a good musical program and interesting debates.

SALE OF SQUARE PIANOS

Square pianos valued at $400.00 to $450.00 to be sold for $50.00 and $60.00. Don't miss this opportunity at Warburton's Music Store, 299 Front St., Belleville. s14-3td

McCrodan and Sills

McCrodan & Sills—12 pt.
Beg to announce their Autumn Millinery Openings on Wednesday, Thursday, September 15th and 16th and following days. 1td

Peaches

The time for preserving good Crawford peaches has arrived. We are getting a fresh car every morning of the best quality Leno baskets. From now on is the best time for preserving. S. Domenico, phone 520. 50 Bridge St. Opposite P. O. s14-dtf

WINTER IS RIGHT AT HAND. WHY BE COLD,

—when a DeMarsh heat generator will increase your hot water heating 30 per cent. It will make your radiators hotter than they ever were and pay for itself in the fuel you save. Every one guaranteed or your money back. Try one now. J. H. DeMarsh, 140 Front Street. Phone 351. 314-5td

Watch for announcements re the Hallowe'en Big Cafeteria Tea, November 2nd, at Y.M.C.A. 1td

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

Fathers and Sons.

The Hon. Frank Russell, K.C., who has been appointed to the vacancy on the Chancery Bench caused by the promotion of Mr. Justice Younger to the Court of Appeal, is the fourth son of the late Lord Chief Justice, Lord Russell of Killowen. He is 52 years of age, was called to the Bar in 1893, and took silk in 1908. The appointment gives us two sons of Lord Chief Justices who have followed so far in their fathers' footsteps as to reach judgeships. Lord Coleridge is the other. His father was succeeded in the Chief Justiceship by his new colleague's father, Lord Russell of Killowen. The sons of politicians follow their fathers more often. Lord Gladstone and Lord Salisbury are Cabinet Ministers whose fathers were Premiers. But Pitt and his father, the Earl of Chatham, are the only father and son who have both been Premiers.

Queer Flower of the Autumn.

The extensive list of varieties of the chrysanthemum grown to-day is due to the most minute attention given to the cultivation of this plant, since first introduced into England, said to be in 1790, by a French gardener (Mon. Sels), and grown at Kew, the original being a poor thing indeed when compared with the exquisite and varied flowers produced at the present time. The small flowered pompoms and the grotesque flowered Japanese sorts are of a comparatively recent date, the former having originated from the Chusan daisy, a variety introduced by Mr. Robert Fortune in 1846, and the latter in 1862 by the same gentleman, who journeyed to China and Japan on voyages of discovery in connection with the plant, under the auspices of the Royal Horticultural Society.

Here's the Place to Live.

There are no doctors lawyers, clergymen or police on the island of Tristan de Cunha, in the South Atlantic 1,200 miles from land. Disease is almost unknown, except an occasional case of rheumatism, asthma, lumbago or failure of eyesight. After the visit of a ship most of the islanders suffer from "colds," but never at other times.

A Siberian Bride.

When a Siberian bride enters her husband's house for the first time she must be prepared to show her skill in cooking. She is expected to give a dinner prepared with her own hands as a test of her education in the culinary art.

A Paris Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair

In Paris the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing rates, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that certain herbs contain ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long looked for article is proven every day.

The French are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from herbs and leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called "DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC" and is being sold with a gaurantee to remove dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC" makes a most pleasant dressing, and is sold by your druggist. Price $1.00 a bottle. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

BATTERIES
Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS
REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

Alarm Clocks Days Are Here

The sun's a laggard on September morns. It is easy to oversleep when the light is not bright, the air is chilly and the blankets warm. But a good breakfast leisurely eaten, and the day's work begun on time, are better.

An alarm clock bought at Blackburn's will get you out in the morning at the time you ought to get up. More than that, it is a handy, portable clock to have about the house. You can depend on the time it keeps.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Cadbury's Bournville Chocolate

In 15c and 25c pkgs., is an eating chocolate par excellence. Many other lines of eating chocolate besides.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

FIT-REFORM

Pioneers of Highclass
Tailored Garments
in Canada.

As Fine and Accurate As a Beautiful Watch

In the fineness of the work—in the perfection of every detail of designing, and shaping, and putting together of the individual parts—a Fit-Reform garment closely resembles an expensive watch.

The accuracy of the watch depends on the perfection of the hidden parts. So with a Fit-Reform garment.

The intricate hand tailoring of the parts you do not see, makes possible the perfection of fit, the long wear, the elegant appearance of Fit-Reform Suits and Overcoats. 397

Fit-Reform

Chas. J. Symons

Belleville

The Thirteenth Commandment

By

RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

experienced actors read their lines as they must be read and keep on reading them so. To teach this dramatic infant how to walk and talk was an unwelcome labor.

He took Daphne into his office and pulled out a set of parts. When she stumbled over them he cast his eyes heavenward in his swift impatience. He explained them with a vinegary gentleness. He talked to her of the canons of interpretation. He walked through her scenes and spoke her lines for her again and again and yet again. But somehow he could not teach her.

He tried everything but beating her. He flattered her, wheedled her, parodied, satirized, rebuked her, and occasionally he cursed her. She did not rebel even against his profanity, because she had no confidence in herself to support her resistance. She felt that she was far worse than he said she was when he said she was worst. She used all her funds of resolution in keeping from throwing down the part and running away in tears. She had none left for asserting her right to politeness.

Once Daphne was out in the street again and released from the ordeal of pleasing Batterson, youth and ambition brought hope back again. Broadway at twilight was athrob with enthusiasm and she caught zest from the crowds. She was going home to study, carrying her little set of textbooks like a schoolgirl. But she felt the wings of conquest fledging at her ankles or the wheel of fortune spinning under her toes.

Her very first effort had succeeded. She was a woman with a salary. She would be no longer a parasite on any man. She had a career and a business as well as the best of them.

Her mother was at home alone. Leila had gone from that tea party to another to which Mrs. Kip was not invited. Daphne's mother greeted her with relief. She told her news with a gush of enthusiasm. It left Mrs. Kip cold, very cold.

She was a pious, church-going woman, Mrs. Kip. She had always looked upon the theater as a training school for the still lower regions. She went to plays occasionally, but usually with a feeling of dissipation and worldliness. Besides it was one thing to see plays and another to act them.

Daphne tried to reason her mother out of her backwoods prejudices, but she only frightened her the more. Mrs. Kip retired to her room to write an urgent telegram to her husband demanding that he come on at once and rescue his child. She always called on him in an emergency and he always responded.

Leila came home eventually full of gossip and triumph. Her Dutilh gown had made a tremendous success; the other women wanted to murder her.

Mrs. Kip broke in on her chronicles with the dismal announcement of Daphne's new insanity. Leila was almost as bitter in opposition as Mrs. Kip had been, but from quite another motive. Leila had aristocratic impulses and looked forward to social splendors. She would gain no help from the fact that her husband's sister was a theatrical struggler.

Daphne escaped an odious battle with her by referring to the need of close study, and retreated into her own room, locking her mother out.

She stayed there, repeating her lines over and over and trying to remember the action that went with them as Miss Kemble had played it. She had a quick memory, but the intonation of the lines gave her extraordinary difficulty.

She remembered one of Miss Kemble's most delicious effects. She came on the stage unannounced and, pausing in the doorway, smiled whimsically and said, "How do you do?" That was all—just "How do you do?" But she uttered it so deliciously that a ripple of joy ran through the audience. Daphne tried to master the trick of it, but with no success. She said "How do you do?" in dozens of ways, with no result except to render the phrases meaningless gibberish.

Daphne flung down the part she was studying and flung away ambition, and went out to tell the family that she agreed with them.

She was confronted by Leila in a role of despair. Bayard had telephoned that he could not get home for dinner. He would not be home in time to take Leila to the theater as he had promised.

Leila was in a frenzy. She had nothing to do but wait for her man to come and take her somewhere. Daphne understood the tragedy of the modern wife: dowered with freedom, pampered with amusements, deprived of the blessing of toil, unaccustomed to seraglian torpor, she must yet wait on the whims or necessities of her husband.

Daphne reconsidered her decisions. Better all the difficulties and heartaches of the actress-trade than this prison loafing of wifely existence. She had something to do.

CHAPTER X.

The next day Batterson telephoned her that he had called a rehearsal with the company. Daphne went to the theater in terror. The stage looked utterly forlorn with the actors and actresses standing about in their street clothes. Under the bright lights with the people made up and the audience in full bloom, like a vast garden, there would be impersonality and stimulation; but the present scene was as doleful as the funeral of an unpopular man.

Courage was largely a matter of her superself forcing her reluctant feet forward. A soldier ordered to leave a bombproof shelter for an advance, a playground of shrapnel, has just the struggle with his vaso-motor system that Daphne had with hers.

With the kindliest smile an amiable wolf ever wore Batterson invited the fluttering lamb to come to the stream and drink. Daphne came forward in a trance and heard Batterson say:

The Next Day Batterson Telephoned Her That He Had Called a Rehearsal With the Company.

"Ladies and gentlemen—Miss Kip, our new understudy. Give her all the help you can."

Miss Kemble had graciously chosen to be present for that purpose, though the result was only to increase Daphne's embarrassment. An imitation in the presence of the living model was a double load to carry.

Miss Kemble went forward to Daphne and took her hand and petted it and said: "I'm so glad to see you. You must meet my aunt, Mrs. Vining. She won't object to your playing her parts, I'm sure."

Mrs. Vining, who had played all manner of roles for half a century, and was now established as a famous player of hateful old grandes dames, spared Daphne her ready vinegar and chose to mother her.

TO BE CONTINUED

GERMAN CHILDREN.

Fewer Juvenile Suicides Since End of War.

An interesting development of the first after-the-war year in Germany is the almost total elimination of the amazing tendency toward juvenile suicide which for many years previously had been growing throughout Germany.

In the five years prior to the opening of the war, thousands of German school children had killed themselves, and of these twenty-five per cent. were under thirteen years of age.

For this juvenile tendency toward suicide a hundred explanations were offered by sociologists and German thinkers generally. The most popular of these was the theory that the German tendency to discipline was carried too far in the school; the second most popular explanation, and probably one which had no proper foundation in fact, was the theory that the school children were pushed too hard and that the mental effort of keeping up with their allotted program was so great that it took all joy out of their lives.

The condition of German youth is not any better to-day than it was before the war. Certainly, however, discipline has been relaxed.

Various explanations have been advanced and among these a British observer seems most to favor the thought that the decrease in the alcoholic content of beer may have been important. There is no prohibition in Germany, nor is there even an agitation for temperance in drinking, but conditions of manufacture, particularly shortage of raw materials, has weakened the average German brew by probably fifty per cent.

This weakening of the brew unquestionably has decreased the consumption of alcohol, whether or not it has decreased the consumption of beer, and it is highly probable, in consequence, that the German brain as a whole to-day is nearer normal than it has been for a long while.

Among German school children an observer recently had evidence of that curious resentment which seems to be growing between Germany and Austria. When an appeal was made to German school children to help their starving little allies it was received with anger, contempt, and skepticism.

An interesting detail of the effort made to arouse sympathy in England and France for Teutonic children, particularly Austrians, who were said to be suffering through lack of food, is the fact that the large number of Belgian children who were scattered throughout Germany at the time of the deportation have not had particularly ideal treatment.

Hundreds of these little ones have been entirely lost by their Belgian families, and having been at the ag of first language-learning at the time of deportation, now scarcely could be distinguished from German children and therefore are likely to join the thousands of war orphans of unknown parentage who, during the next ten years will fill the German asylums or be "bound out" as part-time workers in German families.

Sports

PITCHERS BATTLE WON BY PONIES

'Teddy Saunders' home run in the second inning, with Del Cherry hugging second, sent over what proved to be the winning run on Saturday when Ponies won the last game of the season by the score of 3 to 0, taking Fred Goyer and the rest of the Belleville team into camp.

Fred Goyer's lapse in the second inning, and another let-up in the fifth were the only marks on a magnificent pitchers' battle. Teddy Gallagher pitched brilliantly, holding Belleville to four scattered hits. He was rather wild, however, issuing four passes, though fortunately, none of them resulted disastrously. Goyer, while he allowed six hits, struck out twelve men and except for the second and fifth innings, he had the edge on Gallagher. Altogether only twenty-nine men faced Goyer, and only one walk was handed out, Spoor getting a free ticket in the eighth. Gallagher had thirty-four men to pitch to, and was strong in the pinches all through.—Kingston Standard.

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	104	43	.707
Toronto	101	46	.687
Buffalo	92	53	.634
Akron	85	57	.599
Reading	63	81	.437
Jersey City	59	88	.401
Rochester	41	101	.303
Syracuse	32	111	.224

Yesterday's Results.

Toronto	6	Buffalo	4
Akron	4	Rochester	2
Baltimore	3	Reading	1
xBaltimore	11	Reading	8

x—Called in eighth on account of darkness.

Games today—Syracuse at Reading, Baltimore at Jersey City, Akron at Rochester, Toronto at Buffalo.

BABE'S 49TH.

Detroit, Sept. 14.—Babe Ruth's home run in the sixth inning, his 49th of the season, won today's game for New York from Detroit 4 to 2. Ruth hit into the centre field bleachers, scoring Pipp ahead of him and overcoming a one-run lead held by Detroit.

Beds From the Beginning.

You like a soft bed better than a hard one because it is "comfy." But how many of us realize that Dame Nature, for her own ends, purposely gave us all this leaning towards a sleeping place that will yield to the body?

Edwin F. Bowers, M.D., in a most interesting little volume entitled "Sleeping for Health," explains how a soft bed, by "giving" to the body, admits of complete relaxation, and at the same time does not impede the circulation of the blood.

The Romans used rough framework beds, interlaced with thongs, although, of course, the idea was much improved upon and "glorified" to such an extent that, in the beds of some of the emperors, the framework was of fine gold or silver, ornamented with jewels.

After the thong-and-framework bed came the first idea of a mattress, in the shape of the "chest bed." This was a kind of shallow box stuffed with dry moss or feathers, and although it must be been comfortable, it must, at the same time, have been extremely insanitary.

Later on came the big four-poster canopy bedsteads. These pieces of "sleeping furniture" were hung with curtains, which did little else but collect dust and keep away fresh air.

One had to be wealthy to sleep at all comfortably in those days, for although there were plenty of vermin about, there was no patent insect-killer. So when the bed of a rich man became infested, he moved to another of his houses, and left the vermin to die of starvation.

The poor man, with only one house, merely grinned and bore it—or, rather, them.

Iron beds were first made about a couple of hundred years ago, and gradually people saw the advantages of this metal bed, until nowadays they are almost universally in use.—Pearson's.

Graceful, light and most alluring are the silken skirts for later wear. The jersey and novelty silks are so pretty and the simplest models are most beautiful. Individual notes may be introduced in the pockets and buttons. These skirts in white, rose and blue are so attractive when worn with a pretty blouse or sweater.

The Force Behind Our National Progress

Is the Consolidated forethought and ambition of the Canadian people to become a—

National and Imperial Influence in World Civilization and Trade

The ultimate possibilities of our Great Land Heritage will be realized through the development of our Great Sea Heritage.

And prevent us from becoming merely a Continental people—hewers of wood and drawers of water for other nations.

The Navy League of Canada

MACDONALD'S
PRINCE OF WALES
"The Tobacco with a heart"
The Workman's favorite chew—everywhere
2 sizes 15¢ & 20¢

Lawrence Wilson Company

87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES
RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

"The National Smoke"

WILSON'S

BACHELOR

Still the most for the money

10c.

ANDREW WILSON & CO. TORONTO MONTREAL

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

For the coming season we are exceptionally well prepared to meet your requirements in the line of Curtains, Drapes, Chintzes, Rugs, Mats, Oilcloths, Linoleums and Window Shades.

CURTAINS—Our showing of curtains comprises Laces, Voiles and Marquisettes and Nets, in excellent patterns and all new designs. By the yard can be had all styles of Nets, Voiles, Marquisettes and Madras. We have an extensive showing of all the new Nets, which will surely interest you if you are needing new curtains.

DRAPES—For Drapes you may have Madras, Repp, Chintz or Velour in colorings of green, rose, brown and blue. We specially recommend our John Brown's Madras, which we are showing in lovely color combinations as well as plain colors.

CHINTZ—We have all the new and popular cloths, suitable for coverings, hangings, etc., in all colorings, and 26 to 50 inches wide, priced from 40c. to $4.00 per yard.

RUGS AND MATS—Axminster, Brussels, Tapestry and Union Rugs and Mats in all sizes, from the small door mat to the large room rug, and all moderately priced. Inspect our showing of these before you buy.

WINDOW SHADES—We can make your window shades in any size and color you may require. In stock we carry both plain and duplex blinds in white, cream and green, with or without insertion.

We make no charge for measuring and estimating on Window Shades and Linoleums.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody

'Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

FUR OPENING

We are ready once again to supply the fur wants of the ladies of Belleville and vicinity.

We have spared no expense in bringing our stock right up to the minute in style and our choice and selection this year is better than ever.

We give everyone a cordial invitation to call and inspect our excellent line of coats which consists of the reliable Hudson Seal as well as coats cut on the latest designs, fashioned out of the popular furs and finished in superior style.

A VISIT FROM YOU WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

BOTTLED UP

As the result of a call last evening, Patrick Mullen was arrested in an intoxicated condition and a bottle containing liquor was found upon his person.

ARRIVAL OF CHILDREN

A fine lot of girls and boys arrived here on Sunday and were taken to the Marchmont home on Moira street west. A number of the children are in their teens and presented a healthy appearance. The majority of them have already foster homes awaiting them.

INCREASE ANNOUNCED

Operators and agents of the Grand Trunk in this locality have been advised of the extent of the award to them of increased wages, recently granted. The award which is retroactive to May 1 last increases the wages $20.40 per month or at the rate of ten cents per hour. The same conditions for overtime and holidays prevail as under the old schedule.

WANDERED ON TRACK

The dead body of Alex. McDonald, aged about 40, Lancaster, was found lying on the eastbound track of the G.T.R. near River Beaudette station by the crew of extra freight train No. 663. McDonald is supposed to have been struck during the night by a train and killed. McDonald and a companion named John Trotter, of Lancaster, were at River Beaudette on Friday, the two being noticed on the station platform that night waiting for the arrival of train No. 19 to take them home. McDonald is said to have been intoxicated. He wandered on the tracks and met death by being struck by some unknown train. The remains were picked up by the crew of the freight train mentioned and were taken to the Montreal morgue on train No. 10. McDonald had no relatives or friends at Lancaster, it is stated.

RAILWAY FATALITY

Two miles west of Pembroke on the C.P.R. an Italian, foreman of a bridge and building gang on the road was killed by a light engine running from Chalk River to Pembroke. Although warned by the operator at Pembroke not to start out until the arrival of the light engine, the Italian and his men proceeded on a handcar towards the scene of their work. When two miles from Pembroke the engine which was to be attached to the Pembroke local for the run to Ottawa, suddenly came in sight. All the men except the foreman jumped in time, but he was thrown with the handcar into the ditch, meeting instant death. His head was severed from the torso. A brother resides in Smith's Falls, but his family remains in Italy. The man had been employed as a small contractor along the C.P.R., having been engaged in the construction of culverts at the time of his death.

FLORAL TRIBUTES.

The following were the floral tributes for the late Mr. William J. Barber, of Ameliasburg township, whose funeral took place on Saturday last: Pillow, wife; Star, children; Anchor, Mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wallbridge; Wreaths, S. S. Potter, Mr. D. H. Sprung, Miss McLean and school; President and directors of Mountain View Cheese Factory; Women's Institute; Directors of the Ameliasburg Agricultural Society; Sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barber; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barber, Phyllis, Frank and Ridley Wallbridge, Mrs. Eva and Miss Elizabeth Potter, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wallbridge, Mr. Ed. Hubbs, Mr. and Mrs. Ridley Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John Walker, A. G. Roblin, W. M. Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Willet Black.

DECORATION DAY

The local branch of the G.W.V.A. contemplate holding a Decoration Day in the near future. Arrangements are now being completed and every effort is being made to secure a complete list of all soldiers buried in Belleville cemeterys.

FINED $2,000 AND COSTS

Giva Gorich a foreigner, whose home is in the city was arraigned before Magistrate Masson today on two charges of selling liquor, one preferred by the city police and the other by Inspector Arnott. He was found guilty and a fine of $1,000 and costs was imposed in each case and in default three months in jail. Gorich was unable to pay the fine and went to jail.

AN EXPENSIVE DRUNK

James Larbey pleaded guilty to two charges under the Ontario Temperance Act, namely of being intoxicated and partaking of liquor in a place where it cannot lawfully be kept upon the street. A fine of $100 and costs or two months was imposed for the latter offence and $10 and costs for intoxication. The accused stated he was unable to pay his fine and would serve the time. Mr. Carnew for Inspector Arnott and Mr. Mikel, K.C., for the accused.

DOING WELL

Ted Yeomans who was severely injured on Sunday night in an auto mixup is doing as well as could be expected. It required a number of stitches to close the wounds he received about the head.

RECKLESS DRIVING

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed upon George H. Wheeler against whom a charge of reckless driving of an auto was preferred. The fine was paid.

A WEE BIT O' HEATHER

A sprig of beautiful heather from the Land o' the Leal reposes on the editor's desk through the kindness of Col. W. N. Ponton, who has received his annual memento of the braes of broom and heather.

FESTIVAL TEA

Many were last evening present at a tea provided by the ladies in connection with Emmanuel Reformed church. Tea was served in the school room and the spread was all that could have been desired. During the evening Bishop Breying gave an address which was of an inspiring nature and much appreciated by the large number present.

Wedding Bells

NICOLSON—FOX.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Snell, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Fox, Belleville R. R. No. 2, at 11 o'clock Wednesday, Sept. 8, when their youngest daughter, Myrtle Irene, became the bride of Mr. Ezra Nicolson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nicolson, of Frankford. The wedding march was rendered by the bride's sister, Mrs. Melvin King, Madoc. The ceremony was performed under a tree on the lawn, with a background of evergreens and asters.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an accordeon pleated white satin gown, trimmed with white pearls, and an embroidered tulle veil held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and ferns. The duties of bridesmaid were gracefully performed by Miss Eula Terry, of Frankford, who wore a pretty dress of white organdie and carried deep pink carnations. Little Miss Dorothy Fox, cousin of the bride, acted as flower girl, wearing a dainty frilled frock of white crepe de chine and carried a large crocheted basket of deep pink gladiolas. Mr. Ross Nicolson, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman.

After the signing of the register the guests, about one hundred and twenty-five in number, partook of a sumptuous repast, served in the driving shed, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with evergreens and streamers. Girl friends of the bride acted as waitresses.

The bride's presents were costly and numerous, showing the esteem in which she was held. The groom's gifts to the bridesmaid and pianist were gold brooches, to the flower girl a dainty necklace, and to the groomsman, gold cuff links.

Later, about twenty-five young friends of the happy couple accompanied them to Trenton, where they left amid showers of rice and confetti for a short honeymoon in Toronto and Niagara. The bride travelled in a French blue crepe de chine dress with velour coat and veiled hat to match. She wore the groom's gift, a beautiful marabou stole.

All join in wishing them a long and prosperous wedded life.

On Wednesday evening previous to the wedding, Sept. 1, a large number of friends and neighbors came to the home of the bride's parents and presented her with a miscellaneous shower. She was the recipient of many useful and beautiful presents.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bruner, of Rochester, N.Y., spent the week-end with their cousin, Mr. E. P. Frederick, West Bridge Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, 8 Geddes street have returned to Belleville after spending a very pleasant holiday with their sister in New York City.

Mrs. T. Cope, Sr., Cemetery street has returned home after spending a very pleasant holiday with relatives in Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dutton of this city are making an eastern automobile trip through the New England States by way of the Adirondack and White Mountains to Old Town, Me. They will visit Boston, Mass., and will return through the Berkshires and by way of the Hudson River and Champlain Valley Trail.

Wanted!

Expert Mechanics wanted at

RIGGS' GARAGE

al44td

Lightens Work and Heightens Pleasure

It costs no more to get a really good Working or Outing Shirt—one that fits right, feels good, and wears splendidly. All you have to do is ask for, and see that you get, a "Deacon" Shirt. Sold at all good stores.

DEACON SHIRT COMPANY
BELLEVILLE - CANADA 55

Called By Death

MRS. H. W. LIDSTER.

On Sunday Mrs. Robert W. Lidster of Sidney Township passed away at the family residence. Deceased was 67 years of age and had lived in Sidney all her life. She was a daughter of the late Mr. Farewell. Mrs. Lidster was a member of the Methodist church. In addition to the husband two sons, Manley, of Stirling, and Robert W., at home, and two daughters, Mrs. R. J. Reid and Mrs. H. Greaves of Oshawa, survive. Three brothers and three sisters are living. The brothers are James, Jeffard and John Farewell, all of Medina, N.Y., and the sisters are Mrs. Wm. Jackson, Belleville, Mrs. Geo. Pool, Lockport, N.Y., and Mrs. Jas. Raymond, Middleport, N.Y.

LORENZO MACDONALD.

On Thursday, September 9th, 1920, Point Ann lost one of its prominent and respected residents in the death of the late Lorenzo MacDonald, who passed away after a brief illness. Deceased was 48 years of age and had been a life long resident of Point Ann, where he was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. The immediate relatives who are left to mourn the loss of the late Mr. MacDonald are: his widow, two sons and one daughter; also his father, four brothers and four sisters. The funeral took place at the family residence at Point Ann on Sunday, Sept. 12th, at 2 p.m., proceeding to Shannonville cemetery, where the remains were laid for the long rest after a life of toil, awaiting the resurrection call to join the departed spirit in a happier world. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Beck of the Methodist Church. The pall bearers were Messrs. C. H. VanOrder, Stewart Long, John Bell, H. R. Wagar, John Harb and Robert Howard. A very large number of friends were present at the funeral to offer their last respects, and the floral tributes at the funeral, as well as those received during the illness of the deceased, were many and beautiful.

MRS. JOHN MARTIN

Mrs. John Martin, an aged lady, well known in the city, passed away last evening at the family residence, 75 North Front street. Deceased was 75 years of age and had lived in this vicinity all her life. She was a member of the Methodist church. Her husband predeceased her some years ago. Four daughters survive, namely, Mrs. Albert Morton, Carleton Place; Mrs. Thos. McElrath, Penville, Minn.; Misses Elizabeth and Anna at home.

JOHN LEVERTON

At the family residence, 2nd Concession of Tyendinaga Township, Mr. John Leverton passed away last night. Deceased was in his 76th year and had resided in this locality all his life. He was a member of the Anglican church. One daughter, Mrs. Ed. Sherry at home survives. Four years ago his wife predeceased him.

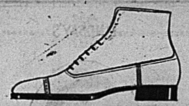
Obsequies

RICHARD GREATRIX.

Many citizens were yesterday afternoon in attendance at the obsequies of the late Mr. Richard Greatrix, of this city. At Christ Church the Rector, Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, conducted the burial service of the Anglican Church. Interment took place at Belleville cemetery. Upon the casket were placed a number of floral tributes. The bearers were Messrs. F. O. Diamond, B. Quincey, E. F. Dickens, J. W. Walker, A. S. Large and W. S. McGregor.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.



Regal Shoes for Men

We are selling agents for this world known shoe. The latest styles are now being shown in Black and Brown leathers. A shoe for every foot.

Priced at $10.00 and $11.00

TRUNKS AND TRAVELLING GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

NEW. AUTUMN

Suits —AT WOTTEN'S

Coats —AT WOTTEN'S

Blouses —AT WOTTEN'S

Dresses —AT WOTTEN'S

Come in and See our Formal Opening Displays.

WOTTENS LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

To Please Our Customers Means to Please You

—if you command our service.

We do not know much about the Hardware business; even less about Dry Goods, little about Drugs. We would be clumsy at Blacksmithing or at Watchmaking; still worse at Dressmaking.

But we do understand

DECORATING

Wallpapers, Paints and Decorative goods, Because that is our business, and we know our business well, having made a study of this particular business for now twenty-five years.

If you fear we do not know just put us to the test; ask a few questions, and if you can tangle us in our own business then we do not know.

Just start the tangle and watch results.

C. B. Scantlebury
DESIGNER & DECORATOR

Teas

OF SUPERIOR QUALITY

New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious

Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

We Would Be Delighted

—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.

T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

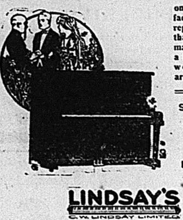
LINDSAY'S

THAT

ENRICO CARUSO

who gives a recital in Montreal at the Mount Royal Arena, Sept. 27th, will be accompanied on a

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO



only bears out the fact we have often repeated, namely, that the Heintzman & Co. Piano is a favorite with the world's greatest artists.

Sole agents in Belleville for Heintzman & Co. Pianos and Player-Pianos

LINDSAY'S

C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED

249 Front Street Bellevil

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 8 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each.

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE — RADIANT HOME HEATER, large size, in good condition. 74½ Alexander street. 1t

FOR SALE—BABY'S IRON BED. APPLY 56½ W. Moira Street. 1td

FOR SALE—AN ART GARLAND HEATER in good condition. Apply 77 Queen St. s15-2td

FOR SALE—THE BEST LOCATED YARD and stables on Front street. Apply 279 Front street. s14-4td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

MRS. A. HARMAN HAS A NICE SELECTION of smart Fall and Winter Millinery at reasonable prices. 42½ Bridge St. upstairs. s9-6td

FOR SALE—MOTOR LAUNCH, 32 FEET, equipped with 12 h.p. motor, all in good running order. Apply to Geo. Duff, Point Ann Quarries, Ont. s8-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

FARM FOR SALE — CONTAINING 134 acres, more or less, in the township of Ameliasburg, part lot 83 Concession 1, 2 miles from Rednersville. Convenient to school and cheese factory. Will sell stock and implements with farm. Apply Wesley Sager, R. R. No. 1, Rednersville, Ont., on premises. s13 3td,1tw

FOR SALE—TWO AUTOMOBILES—ONE 7-passenger Studebaker, 1 5-passenger 6-cylinder McLaughlin. Grotto's Taxi Service, 142 Front St., Belleville. s13-4td

FOR SALE — KITCHEN RANGE — HOT water front and connections. 18 Queen street. s13-2td

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work, with references. Chas. S. Clapp. s1-dtf

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

WANTED—SMALL FURNISHED HOUSE, with modern conveniences. Possession at once. Apply Box "M," Intelligencer. s10-6t

WANTED—FIREMEN FOR EIGHT-HOUR shift, seven days per week, $27 per week. Apply Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Corbyville. s13-3td

TWO SHIFT ENGINEERS, HOLDING 2ND class certificates—eight hour shifts, seven days per week. $32 per week. Steady work. Suitable house supplied at $5 per month. Apply Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Corbyville. s13 3td

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

GIRLS WANTED, MUST BE OVER 17 years of age. Also young men. Apply The Springer Lock Mfg. Co., Limited. 14-4t

WANTED—TWO GIRLS TO WORK IN ICE Cream Parlor. Apply Beacon Cafe. 1t

WANTED—GIRL FOR OFFICE; SHORThand and typewriting, with knowledge of bookkeeping. Box "A," Intelligencer. s13-4td

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSE work. Good wages. Address Box "B," Intelligencer Office. s10-1tw,4td

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Beacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dlm

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. Good wages. s3 dtf

LOST

LOST—PAIR OF BOYS' GLASSES, GOLD rimmed. Reward. Apply H. M. S., Metropolitan Life Insurance Comp., 267½ Front street, Belleville. s14-2td

TO LET.

TO RENT—BARN—CAN ACCOMMODATE 2 horses or 2 cars for winter. Apply H. B. Lockwood, 149 Charles St. s14-4td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 889. s14-dtf

TO RENT — BEAUTIFUL COMPLETELY furnished housekeeping rooms, kitchen range, all conveniences, rent reasonable, also furnished rooms by day or week. Apply Mrs. C. Richardson, 299½ Front St., or phone 1218. s14-6td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern —possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. s7-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—s5

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G, Toronto. ett—s30

THE LATEST WORD FROM NO MAN'S LAND.

WHY NOT PRESERVE IT—A SACRED MEMENTO? Have your "Great War Letters" typed and put in book form. It is the last and greatest tribute you can pay to those who took part in the cementing of our National Freedom, especially to those who "Flung the Torch" Over There. Miss L. P. Davis, Belleville's First and Only Public Stenographer, will type and put them in a neat folder for you. All classes of Correspondence "STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL." She will: Compose letters, type correspondence, take dictation, address envelopes, postals, fill in agreement, order and will forms, type accounts, invitations, announcements, Addresses, Sermons, etc. Filling in Business and income tax papers, Circulars, Duplicating a specialty. Save money, send your work to her office, Hotel Quinte. Satisfactory Service. Prices right. Phone No. 103.

Fashions Copied from Egyptians

FASHION news from Paris to the effect that the latest styles in costume are copied from ancient Egyptian mummies.

This is a rather striking way to put it, but the fact seems to be that some of the very newest designs from the dressmakers' ateliers are taken from statuettes in the Louvre, which date back from 3,000 to 4,000 years. Mummies in ancient Egypt were not preserved with their clothes on; but valuable hints are also obtainable from mummy coffins, the lids of which are in many instances carved and painted to represent the occupant as in life, fully attired.

In the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York, the visitor may behold a coffin that once contained the mummy of the Princess Iounofirte, who, judging from the full-length carven portrait of her on the lid, must have been a very beautiful woman.

One statuette, now on exhibition in the Louvre, represents a young queen of the twenty-second dynasty. It is wonderful how modern she looks. Her short sleeves are of the latest twentieth century style; her sheath skirt is of the brevity which fashion now demands and so tight as to suggest difficulty in walking. The corsage, cut low in front, is distinctly up-to-date.

It is to be presumed that she wore no underclothing. Absence of the latter is declared by the Parisian fashion reporters to be necessary when a lady wears the newest pattern of sheath gown, which, of the softest silk, is meant to "emphasize the sinuosity of the figure."

The only thing not modern about the ancient lady of the statuette is her remarkable headdress, which seems to be a sort of helmet of fluffy wool.

Women's headdresses in the days of the Pharaohs were exceedingly elaborate and often very beautiful. Sometimes they took the form of a cap which covered the head, falling at the rear upon the shoulders. Sometimes they were lofty structures of linen or cotton fabric, embroidered. Sometimes they were light and dainty, adorned with artificial flowers and perhaps with a butterfly bow and streamers of silk ribbon at the back.

Usually the ears were covered by the headdress or (somewhat after the fashion of to-day) by the hair.

The Egyptian ladies of old took great pains with their hair, devoting hours every day to its arrangement. Sometimes they divided it into many small locks, which were separately curled or formed into little plaits. The latter were commonly built up into a series of terraces, regular and compact.

Wigs were extensively worn by women of all classes. For the poor they were of wool; for the rich of human hair. Some of these wigs, thousands of years old, are even now preserved in museums.

A favorite decoration was a fillet-band worn around the head, with an ornament in front—an asp of gold or perhaps a flower imitated in metal. The only authentic portrait of Cleopatra (who lived, however, at a much later period than the age here spoken of) shows her with an asp fastened above her forehead. It is a very striking and beautiful item of personal decoration.

The fashion report from Paris states that a fad newly introduced is the wearing of gold bands on the legs. Sometimes these take the form of snakelike coils extending from ankle to knee.

This again is reminiscent of ancient Egypt, where legs were commonly unclad and adorned with gold hoops, sometimes set with jewels. Always, and even to the present day, there has been in the Orient a marked taste for such ornaments.

The dresses worn at that early epoch in the land of the Pharaohs were of all colors, some of the dyes being exceedingly brilliant, and the fabrics were not surpassed in delicacy and beauty by any that we know today. Most of them, however, were white, the climate being hot. Ladies when indoors frequently disguised their charms with nothing more substantial than a veil-like gown of transparent muslin (a material probably imported from India), which fell to the feet, though liberal in its revelation of neck and bosom.

Ancient sculptures and frescoes show them wearing kimono sleeves, exactly like those now in style; also frocks made perfectly straight from neck to hem, corresponding to a present fashion, and loose, dangling belts, which are the newest things in the way of belts to-day.

The ladies of ancient Egypt wore necklaces of pearls, of gold, of coral and of steel curiously inlaid with gold. They pursued the arts of the toilet with as eager a zest as any modern woman of fashion, improving their complexions with white and red and touching up their lips with carmine.

They stained their eyelids to make their eyes look bigger, using for the purpose two shades of "kohl," green and black. With a pointed instrument of ebony or ivory they outlined their eyes with black. Their finger tips and nails they stained with henna to a reddish orange color, as do ladies of the Orient even in these modern times. In short, they were as thoroughly acquainted with the business of "make-up" as any woman of to-day.

Tea In Solid Lumps.

China exports tea in solid lumps, like bricks, for consumption in Tibet and Siberia. The tea leaves are pulverized, mixed with water, and moulded into hard cakes. The bricks weigh about 5 lb. each. In this form tea can be carried overland more easily, as it occupies much less space.

WANTED.

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

WANTED, IN A PRIVATE HOME, A couple of roomers. Apply Box "D," Intelligencer. 1td

RITCHIE'S RITCHIE'S

Announcing a Preliminary Display of the Season's New and Authentic Modes at Our

AUTUMN OPENING

To be held Wednesday and Thursday

Sept. 15 and 16th

THE MILLINERY PARLORS

will present the most 'chic' collection of Autumn Millinery we ever gathered together, featuring New York styles exclusively

For weeks past our large staff of Milliners have been preparing for this important event, and that the Autumn 1920 Opening Days will surpass all former occasions is a fact we are already assured of. Our millinery buyer has spared no pains in gathering together a stunning array of Fashion's newest ideas direct from the most authoritative style centres, particularly New York.

The exhibit of Fall Modes which opens in the show rooms Wednesday and Thursday offers headwear to suit every tilt and turn of feature. It is a season in which swinging line and soft make-up are triumphant qualities. Panne Velvet, duvetyn, silk, beaver and hatters' plush add to their own softness and silkiness, feathers of every known, and many unknown varieties, chiefly the informal, uncurled kinds that lend themselves to all-day wear.

French, English and American originations—creations of our own milliners—reproductions of imported models—it is a showing of immense variety and distinction, offering tailored and dress hats for all needs and occasions.

—Second Floor.

Opening Days in the Front Store

An abundance of the newest Silks and Novelty Dress Goods will be seen at the Dress Goods Counter on opening days. Stop at this department on your way through the store and price the new materials to be worn this season.

New Neckwear, pretty Georgette and Crepe de Chine Collars, Feather Boas, etc. See them as you come in the door. Hosiery, Gloves, Wash Goods, Linens, etcetc., in a strictly new showing worthy of your inspection. Don't fail to visit all these departments.

—Main Floor.

In the Ladies' Ready-to-wear Department

A STYLE SHOW

of unusual attractiveness, presenting the very latest in ready-to-wear garments

Never was this department in such complete readiness for the formal opening of any season as for Autumn, 1920. During Opening Days hundreds of women will stroll through the Ritchie Store viewing the new things for Fall, and we don't want one of them to leave the store without first seeing the Fashion display in the Mantle Room. Many new Wax Mannikins will illustrate just how the charming New York Suits, Coats, Dresses, and Skirts would look if on yourself. These will be changed quite frequently and there will always be something new to greet you, so come often.

Suits in Gabardine, Tricotine and Serge are shown in shades of Navy, Black, Brown and Beaver. The coats are tailored quite long with high waists, which give a really longer appearance, and are trimmed, some with fur, others embroidered and braid trimmed. The high button-up collar is a new feature for this season.

The predominating coats for Fall are made of Velour, Silvertone, Duvetyn, Polo Cloth and Broadcloth, neatly tailored and trimmed with fur, Coon, Dyed Opossum and Beaver being the approved trimming for this season.

—Mantle Dept.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS FOR THE HOME BEAUTIFUL --- in a brilliant Display ---

THIRD FLOOR—"TAKE THE ELEVATOR"

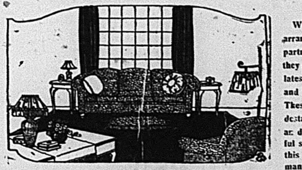
A bigger and more varied collection of new things than ever before awaits you this season in our Home Furnishings Department. Here you will find our attractive merchandise displayed to widespread advantage in the way of Chesterfields, Table Lamps, Floor Lamps, Wicker Furniture, Drapery Fabrics, Floor Rugs, New Window Curtains, etc.

Large Showing of High Grade Chesterfields

This is another special department on the second and third floors, featuring some very elaborate and high grade Chesterfields that have spring seats, hair and moss filling and Marshall spring cushions. They are upholstered in shadow cloths and tapestries and have large roomy Chester Chairs to match. Chairs priced $75.00 to $175.00.

Chesterfields priced $185.00 to $3.50.00.

In our Furniture Department, (second floor) you will find many lines of Wicker Furniture, also living room furniture of quartered oak, fumed and dull finished, walnut, English brown finish, in a host of artistic and novel pieces.



Floor and Table Lamps

When in New York our buyers arranged to establish this new department on the third floor, and they purchased scores of the very latest novelties in Table Lamps and high grade Floor Lamps. These handsome shades and pedestals are now arriving daily, an da very extensive and beautiful showing is no wto be seen in this department. They offer many novel suggestions as to how you can beautify your home at a small expense.

NEW RUGS TAPESTRY, WILTON, AXMISTER and BRUSSELS, specially arranged and displayed for your approval

Pretty Drapery Fabrics

If you have a Drapery Problem, don't fail to see our extensive new range of the following materials for Fall: Sash Madras and Nets, Filet Lace Nets, Art Chintz and Cretonnes, Moire Silks, Plain Edge Madras, English Curtain Nets, Shadow Cloths, Silk Velvets and Velours, Tapestry Furniture Covering, Silk Tapestries, etc.

Mr. Poste, our drapery designer, has recently returned from New York, where he gathered a host of the very latest ideas in modern draping and home decorating. His knowledge and ideas are at your command free of charge, and he will be pleased to go to your home, make suggestions, give estimates, submit samples, without obligating you to buy.

New Window Curtains

Our Curtain Department has the special advantage this fall season of displaying the most distinctive and beautiful collection of Window Curtains that has been our privilege to show. Many new assortments have recently arrived from other original sources—an elaborate display of Nottingham Lace Curtains, Swiss Curtains, Marquisette, Voile Curtains, Madras Curtains. We have also on display dozens of Model Drapes in our Home-furnishing section. All new—all different—in the latest New York styles. While in our store, ask our Drapery Designer, —Mr. Poste—to submit sketches of your needs, which will be done without obligating you to buy.

WHILE IN OUR STORE VISIT THE MEN'S STORE

THE RITCHIE COMPANY LIMITED

WHILE IN OUR STORE VISIT THE MEN'S STORE

THE WEATHER

Southwest winds, fine and warm. Thursday strong southwest to west winds—local thunderstorms; becoming cooler.

The Daily Intelligencer.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business in Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 99.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1920.

Stop Tilting at Windmills and Build up Canada

TORONTO VETERANS' BODY SPRINGS TO DEFENCE OF PREMIER MEIGHEN — SAYS GOVERNMENT WHICH STOOD FIRM "IN 1914-15-16-17 AND '18" CAN CONTINUE TO DO SO—VOICES OPPOSITION TO CRY FOR ELECTION.

TORONTO, Sept. 15.—While protests are being raised from certain soldiers' organizations against the continuance of the present Federal Government in office and calling for a general election at once, there are others who counsel delay. The Toronto unit of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada has taken issue with "the seemingly organized attempts to discredit the British Empire," and demands that Canada "should be ready and steady against all disturbing elements whether at home or abroad."

The views of Toronto Unit No. 15 have been incorporated in a resolution representing "the considered and definite political policy of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Toronto Unit No. 15," which is signed by A. M. Hunter, acting President, and Edward A. L'Estrange, Secretary.

Don't Want Election

The following is the text of the resolution:

"Recognizing that during the transition period from war to peace; and paying due attention to the unsettled economic condition of this and other countries, this general meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Toronto Unit No. 15, places itself on record as being strongly opposed to a Dominion general election at the present time, believing that it would effect no good purpose for the common weal, but would, on the contrary, unsettle the public mind at a time when harmony is requisite to establish our industries and encourage development of our agriculture resources.

"It is believed by the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada that, inter alia—

"(1) The condition of Europe and the seemingly organized attempts being made to discredit the British Empire and all it stands for demand that Canada as the nearest and greatest Dominion to the Mother Country should be ready and steady against all disturbing elements, whether at home or abroad and, therefore, relies with full assurance on the men who made Canada a nation to make certain of a stable and experienced Executive during the trying days to come.

"(2) It is observed that efforts are being made to force a general election on the peoples of the Dominion on various pretexts; among others on the ground that the present Government has outlived the period of its mandate and usefulness."

Don't Recognize Change

"The Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Toronto Unit No. 15, suggests that the Government which had the vision and courage to stand firm in 1914-15-16-17 and '18, when vision and courage were most needed, is quite capable of carrying on the government of the Dominion, being assured by all who value safe and sound administration that no question to mandate or time allowance will weigh for one second in their loyal and unswerving support to those who, in Canada's darkest days, supported the Canadian Corps overseas without measure and without stint.

"These things are not forgotten.

"(3) It is conceded that many men have suffered irreparable physical and material loss through war services and more, much more, must yet be done for these men and their dependents. The Army and Navy Veterans in Canada have complete confidence that satisfactory allowances and increased pensions will be forthcoming in all such cases; they are emboldened to express this opinion largely because it has been shown that the Canadian gratuities and pensions are, on the whole, the most generous of any, and double that of most countries; so that by a parity of reasoning the incapacitated soldier and his dependents have reason to prey on those who were staunch in adversity rather than accept leadership from those whose working hours seem to be largely absorbed in chasing rainbows.

"The men of the Army and Navy Veterans will not need to appeal in vain to the average Canadian man and woman for support in their view that a strong and national Executive is the one present need in the life of the Dominion. We have to stabilize our economic fabric, develop our export trade through our National Railways and Mercantile Marine; be a buttress and support to ordered progress and liberty within the capacious folds of the Union Jack, and we take the position that the present or any other Government should give its whole-hearted support to those who would conserve our public utilities for public service.

"Knowing these things and knowing that the returned soldier and sailor is first, last and all the time a lover of his country, the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada unreservedly assert that, notwithstanding the blatant and somewhat noisy demands made by quite irresponsible and impossible 'leaders,' the mass of the men who served their country are still the steadfast, true and reliable force that made Canada's name immostal, and will always stand firm for all things British for all things where service counts far more than riches and whose practical loyalty can be relied on in fair weather and foul.

"Help This Government"

"The Army and Navy Veterans in Canada therefore counsel our comrades not to be sidetracked by specious pleas from interested parties. We counsel our comrades to reject with scorn the suggestion that their vote and influence should be offered to the highest bidder. We counsel them to help this Government to so readjust Canada's new position among the nations, that the efforts made by her sons in war may not be frittered away by useless tilting at windmills and diffusion of effort.

To The Intelligencer Readers

On and after Monday, September 20th, 1920, The Intelligencer will be sold at the following prices:

Street sales by newsboys, per copy	.02
Delivered by carrier in City, a week	.15

The price of The Intelligencer has been only slightly increased in the last two years, while in the last six years the cost of production has increased enormously.

The following table shows some of the increased costs since 1914, taking 100 as a unit.

	1914	1920	Increase
Wages	100	180	80%
Paper	100	300	200%
Other Supplies	100	200	100%

The new price to subscribers represents an advance of about one-third of the increased cost of publication. A proportion of the new rates will apply to all subscriptions due and not paid before the 20th September, 1920.

The only alternative to a higher subscription price would be to lower the standard of The Intelligencer, and the publishers believe they correctly interpret the wishes of their subscribers by maintaining the present standard of

BELLEVILLE'S FAMILY NEWSPAPER

Young Crime Master Neatly Caught

$250,000 a Month Netted by Raising Bills of Lading.

New York, Sept 14.—George Pteriostis who although he is only 26 years old and looks younger is said by the agents of the Department of Justice to have been a "master mind" in a bill of lading forgery scheme that netted at least $250,000 a month, was arrested on the White Star Line pier shortly after the liner Adriatic docked.

The warrant on which the agents Dunn and Navarre arrested him was under a secret indictment handed down by a federal grand jury on September 6. It was charged that he wilfully, fraudulantly and unlawfully forged and raised bills of lading.

As soon as he was in custody special agents Kennedy, Fogarty and Weissman arrested three other men on similar charges. The three men are Geo. Brouzos, 34, of 20 Clinton street Brooklyn N.Y.; A. J. Dritsas, 20, of 86 Wadsworth avenue, and Thos. Thomas, 28, of 529 West 111 street.

The local bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice made public tonight the amazing fact of how as it is charged Pteriosis rose from poverty to affluence in a few days and the equally interesting method by which he was induced to return to the United States. Agents were looking tonight for three other men.

Banking institutions that advanced mony to Pteriosis according to the agents, are the Gauranty Trust Co., The Irving National Bank, the Mechanics and Metal National Bank, the American Express Co. and the National City Bank. He took them the forged bills of lading according to the charge and they lent him money on them as is customary in bonafide rommercial transactions of the sort on the strength of letters of credit from banks in Greece. The banks here will lose nothing by the transactions. The loss will be upon the Greek banks that sent the letters of credit. Five banks in Greece are said to be involved. Among them were said to be the Bank of Industry, the Bank of Athens, and the Iona Bank.

Assistant United States attorney Kelley said he did not know of more than $217,000 in cash that had been obtained by the alleged conspirators. Representatives of the banks said they knew of at least $225,000 as having gone out through their institutions, and were sure of at least $25,000 more. They thought that many more banks might be heard of as victims.

Agents said that Pteriosis was the "smoothest" individual they had ever had dealings with. He left this country last June 5 and had been in England and France ever since. He went with a hand bag, he returned with a fine wardrobe, a diamond ring worth $2,000 and a fur overcoat valued at a like amount.

Sinn Feiners Make 637 Raids in Week

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Sinn Feiners conducted 637 raids for arms in Ireland during the week ending September 4, according to Irish Office reports, which officials say is most significant, in view of the fact that such raids numbered about 100 monthly up to August 28.

The military has been kept busy raiding to get back these arms, a series of raids by soldiers being carried out at Queenstown today. Precautions against violence have been extended to London, where chains have been placed inside the Irish Office doors, with orders to keep them secured, except when admitting visitors. "You can't tell what might happen these days," was the only explanation.

Millerand May Succeed Deschanel

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Alexander Millerand, French Premier and Foreign Minister, is prominently mentioned as the President of the French Republic, should President Deschanel resign because of ill health, says Figarro. Some of his friends declare he will refuse to become candidate but nevertheless there is a tendency to believe he may be induced to accept if the office is offered to him unanimeusly.

Belgium has notified France of her acceptance of the Franco-Belgian military agreement.

Republican Sweep a Great Surprise

Majority Surprises Even State and National Leaders.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The sweeping Republican victory in the Maine State election was as astounding to Republican National leaders as it was to the Democrats today.

That the state should go Republican by a majority of approximately 25,000 over the high water mark of 1896 of 48,000, was unexpected, even by the most optimistic party leaders, either state or national.

The New York World, the only Democratic morning paper commenting editorially on the election, under the caption, "A Bad Beating," frankly admits the severity of the blow. "The Democrats have suffered a severe beating," it says. "There is no comfort in the result for them. They went into the contest feebly organized, and gather from its conclusion a correspondingly feeble satisfaction. It appears that about half of the potential woman vote has been polled, which should increase the total vote over 1916 by fifty per cent. Yet the total Democrat vote is running even with or behind that of 1916, when expectedly it would be running fifty per cent. ahead, as is the case with the Republicans. Either, then, the newly enfranchised women have been voting the Republican ticket rather exclusively, or there has been a great defection in the old-time Democratic vote, which is not probable."

The Republicans swept the entire state, hardly a Democrat getting in.

The G. O. P. congressmen, three of whom were seeking re-election, were victorious by big majorities.

Frederick H. Parkhurst, Republican candidate for governor, had 133,817 votes, while Bertrand G. McIntyre, Democrat, polled 69,568 on the basis of the latest returns. The gubernatorial vote in the last presidential year gave Milliken, the Republican candidate 80,014, as against 66,652 for the Democratic candidate.

In the congressional fight Congressman Wallace H. White, junior, was elected by a majority of more than 5,000. Congressmen John A. Peters and Ira G. Hersey were easy winners in the third and fourth districts, while Carroll L. Beedy won over Frank H. Haskell by a majority of nearly ten thousand.

Sunshine Fund Calls to Citizens

Winter is Approaching With Its Many Requirements.

The sunshine of kindly interest and generous hearts has illumined the darkness of a Belleville family caused by the illness of the father, suffering from an incurable ailment. Three little children, all under the age of five years, with the father and mother, constitutes the family. The father was always a good citizen and a hard worker, while health permitted. When he was laid aside by illness the wife secured a position and supported the family. The husband's illness grew worse and the wife was obliged to give up her position and nurse her husband and care for the children.

With no revenue coming in the condition of the family would have been deplorable had it not been for kindhearted citizens who have contributed to their support.

With winter coming on there are many wants to be supplied and there are many citizens who have not yet contributed to this fund. Subscriptions large or small will be gladly received and duly acknowledged in the columns of The Intelligencer.

The following additional subscriptions have been received since the last report.

Contributions.

Mrs. Cousins	1.00
F. R. W.—Groceries.
A friend	1.00
Emmanuel Church	2.00
A friend	2.00
Mrs. Frank Smith	1.00
B. Aselstine	1.00
Sympathizer	2.00
S. O. S.	1.00
Well Wisher	.50
Mrs. F. E. Johnson	1.00
Blue Apron Chapter, No. 4, L. T. B.	3.25
Mrs. Tuite	1.00

JACK JOHNSON SENTENCED

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Jack Johnson, world's former heavyweight champion, was sentenced to one year and a day in Leavenworth Penitentiary and fined $1,000 by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter for violation of the Mann Act.

Saw no Daylight for Sixteen Years

Eighteen-Year-Old Joliet Girl Kept in Dark Basement 16 Years.

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 14.—Because she was the "ugly duckling" of the family, Marie Kolwiszki was placed in the basement of her parents' "humble home" sixteen years ago and did not see the daylight until today, when she was rescued by Robert Martin, State's Attorney, and the health authorities.

Her mother, who has five normal children, decided when Marie was two years old, that she could not develop into a normal child. So she was placed in the basement "where she would not be in the way." There she has remained ever since. A single window admitted a slender shaft of light, the only illumination that she ever saw.

She has the physical proportions of a child of six and the mentality of a baby of two. In her lonesome existence she has never learned to talk. Because of the lack of exercise and poor food her muscles are practically useless.

The state's attorney is making an investigation to place the responsibility for the alleged criminal negligence.

Thought She Was Acting for a Film

After Night in Paris Dance Hall Entirely Lost Her Sense of Reality.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—"Olive Thomas certainly believed she was acting for a film on the fateful morning she mistakenly partook of the poison for a sleeping potion."

While the body of the beautiful American movie star rests in the Paris morgue for to-morrow's autopsy which the judicial authorities ordered yesterday in order to ascertain exactly under what circumstances she swallowed mercurial tablets, all Paris continues to discuss the untimely death of Jack Pickford's wife, and the above statement was made by Princess Avaresco, cousin of the King of Roumania, in an exclusive interview with Universal Service. The princess is a famous authority on feminine psychology. She is also a historian, and was an official lecturer on "contemporary history" with the American troops during the war.

Meanwhile no one was allowed to view or touch the remains of the beautiful movie star with the exception of sworn doctors and poison experts.

"The case of Olive Thomas," said Princess Avaresco, "is the most interesting of its kind in many years. After a careful study of the known circumstances I do not hesitate to state my belief that, under the hyper-excitement incident to a night's sojourn amidst Parisian dancing scenes, Olive entirely lost her sense of reality on that fatal morning.

"The barrier between her real personality and her theatrical one had completely disappeared. She certainly believed she was acting a film.

"It was only the unbearable burning of the poisoning drug which startled her back to real life and caused her to call for help."

Germany Trying to Cheat Allies

PARIS, Sept. 14.—Andre Tardieu, writing in L'Homme Libre, declares "Germany has failed to carry out her promises in three important instances. She failed to send, immediately after Jan. 1, 1920, twenty billion marks in gold bonds, payable May 1, 1921. She failed at the same time to send forty billion marks in gold, and she failed to send, in conformance with the decision of the Reparations' Commission, a third series of fifty billion marks in gold bonds, payable to bearer."

Tardieu says that the French Government has tried vainly to get an explanation from Germany, and that there is every indication that Germany is trying again to cheat the Allies. Tardieu's statement is being used as proof that the Allies must deal with Germany more firmly than ever.

MAD ELEPHANT IN CIRCUS THREW FOUR LIONS 30 FEET

Salina, Kans., Sept. 15.—It required three rounds from five army rifles on Monday to kill "Snyder," a trained elephant belonging to a circus showing here. The animal had gone mad and started to wreck the menagerie. He threw one cage, containing four lions, a distance of thirty feet and upset a score of others.

Signs Indicate High Price Tide Has Turned at Last

LABOR DEPARTMENT REPORTS DROP IN AVERAGE FAMILY BUDGET—WHOLESALE QUOTATIONS DROP FIVE POINTS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—There are some signs that the crest has been reached and the cost of living has taken a downward turn. This is indicated in the latest figures of the Labor Department, which also observes living costs throughout the world, and reports that internationally the ebb has started.

It began in Japan last winter, when prices went crashing. The index figure there was 425, and now it is 350. Simultaneously in other countries, though not quite to such a marked degree, is the tendency noticeable. There have been some recoveries, but in most instances the decline has been maintained.

In Canada in August the index of wholesale prices fell five points, the biggest fall yet. This is equivalent to a five per cent. decline in wholesale figures, while in the retail it was three per cent. The index number for August was 339.2, as compared with 346.6 in July, 349.3 in June, 301.1 in August, 119, and 136.3 in August, 1914.

The decrease was due chiefly to lower levels in fruit and vegetables, but also in grain, cattle, sheep, textiles, hides and leather, in some metals and in raw furs. Increases occurred in the dairy group, in iron products, coal, coke and petroleum products. In building materials some lines were up and some down, but there were considerable decreases in linseed oil, shellac and turpentine.

In retail prices the average cost of a weekly family budget of staple foods in some 60 cities was $16.42 at the middle of August, compared with $16.84 in July, $14.43 in August a year ago and $7.63 in August, 1914. The decrease for the month was due chiefly to a drop in potatoes, but there were also slight increases in meats, and increases in eggs, butter and sugar, also in wood and coal oil.

Prominent Citizens of Thorold Arrested For Rioting

ACTION AT LAST TAKEN TO PUNISH MEN GUILTY OF PARTICIPATING IN ATTEMPTED LYNCHING AND BURNING OF COURT HOUSE AT THOROLD.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 15.—Provincial police officers Day and Kelly left here for Thorold this morning to arrest twenty men concerned in the Thorold riots which occurred last month at the trial of David McNeil. They will be taken to Welland jail. Many prominent Thorold men are in the first batch to be arrested. Although it has been said that the trials would be held at Niagara Falls, nothing definite is known.

FIFTEEN ARRESTED,

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 15.—At least fifteen persons were taken into custody at Thorold this morning in connection with the Thorold riots last month. Motor cars were being procured to rush the first instalment of prisoners to Welland jail. It is understood that forty warrants are to be served, and as fast as the arrest are made the prisoners will be removed to jail. It was impossible to obtain the names of those arrested this morning, officers stating that they were powerless to give information.

Election Charges Have Collapsed

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

PRESCOTT, Sept. 15.—G. Arthur Payne's claim to South Grenville seat in the Ontario Legislature, now held by Hon. G. H. Ferguson, has been abandoned by his counsel, Gordon Waldron, for lack of proof. Justice Magee and Sutherland, hearing election appeal, now turn their attention to the cross petition of Hon. Mr. Ferguson, who, through his counsel has filed new particulars, charging Mr. Payne or his agents with having bribed or attempted to corupt persons and influence them by promises of money or positions to vote for Payne. W. N. Tilley, K.C., for Mr. Ferguson announced his intention of proceeding with the cross petition and asked that three new charges be added. Counsel for Payne objected to the first sixteen charges but announced he was ready to try the balance of the cross petition when the court resumed this afternoon.

No Politics For Labor Congress

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer,
Canadian Press, Limited.

WINDSOR, Sept. 15.—Discussion on political action by delegates to the Dominion Trades and Labor congress, which was carried over from yesterday's session, proved of short duration today, and a report favoring the maintaining of the congress as a non-political body was carried with but few dissenting voices.

Matters which it was thought would prove contentious, were quickly disposed of in the particular section of the report dealing with the Winnipeg strikers' trial and defence. This was passed over practically without discussion. The recommendation of the executive that efforts be put forth to have the British North America Act amended so as to make it legal for the Dominion Government to enact an eight-hour day law, was concurred in.

Irish Volunteers Are Called For

Not Only Ulster, But Other Counties Have Been Appealed To

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Sinn Fein Intelligence Department claims that it has learned that the British Military Government, acting in conjunction with certain members of the Cabinet has decided to break the 'Republican' movement in Ireland before Parliament reassembles on October 19, according to the Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent.

"Certainly a pronounced change has occurred in the councils of the high military officers in Dublin," the despatch adds. "Two months ago they were inclined to look kindly upon peace proposals based on dominion Home Rule and opposed the arming of the Ulster Volunteers. They now approve the latter scheme."

The Daily Mail also reports that it is the intention of the Government to appeal for volunteers to assist in the maintenance of order in Ireland, the call for volunteers not being confined to Ulster.

Lithuanians Battle With Poles

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

WARSAW, Sept. 15.—Lithuanians and Poles are again engaged in hostilities, it is announced, in last night's official Polish statement. Fighting has been resumed between two forces in the Suwalki sector near the German border.

HERALD REFUSES BOLSHEVIK GOLD

London, Sept. 14.—The Board of Directors of the Daily Herald will not accept the Russian Soviet Government's offer of £75,000. A resolution declares that the directors had no knowledge that the money had been offered.

Mr. Meynell, through whom the offer of the money came, resigned from the Board.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

IN THE PUBLIC EYE
by Alex. Ray, Opt. D.
A GREAT BLESSING AT LITTLE COST!
BILL FOR GLASSES

OPTOMETRY and the benefits accrued from its practice is the greatest small-cost blessing in the world. When any other part of our nature-apparatus fails to perform its especial functions it costs considerable money to get any relief. When you no longer enjoy clear-sightedness our optometrist can locate your eye weakness and furnish you with the glasses that will bring back your sight. Satisfactory moderately priced service.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
192 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

HAY FEVER and ASTHMA
Conquered by the World's Only Two-bottle Remedy. Don't suffer a minute longer. Send today $4—32-day treatment. Trial size 25c. and guaranteed.
W. K. BUCKLEY, Mfg. Chemist
97 DUNDAS ST. E., TORONTO.

City & Country

APPOINTED STAFF OFFICER

Major Neilson, of Ottawa, has been appointed general staff officer for military district No. 3. He has a splendid record overseas, serving for some time in France as staff captain. He takes the position which has been vacant since General Maunsell retired.

BUMPER CROP

Mr. R. F. S. Holdaway, who resides at Quay's crossing cut his ten acres of buckwheat the other day and his crop was a record one. Seven balls of twine a total of 22,750 feet were used and during the entire operation there was not a break in the twine or a single sheaf missed.—Port Hope Guide.

GAME LAWS REVISED

Partridge may be shot between the 5th and 20th of November only, and no person shall take, kill or have in his possession more than five birds for the season. No muskrat shall be shot or speared at any time nor shall any muskrat or beaver house or beaver dam be cut, speared, broken or destroyed at any time. No trap must be set closer than five feet from a muskrat or beaver house. Another important change affects chiefly those who hunt, kill, take or molest any deer or moose while in the water.

DOGS A PEST

It may cost Clarke Township Council $1,000.00 this year to meet the claims for sheep killed and worried by worse than useless dogs. For the next meeting, October 5th, claims have already been received by the Clerk totalling $300, making a total of $600 to date. The inevitable result is that the dog tax will have to be doubled or trebled or such an amount levied as would cause owners to get rid of useless dogs.

APPLES PLENTIFUL

Thirty-four thousand dollars for the apples of one orchard is the record price which will be paid a Durham farmer. Mr. Gibson, who resides near Newcastle, has one hundred acres of orchard and the apple crop will total eight thousand barrels. Mr. Gibson has disposed of the entire lot to a Toronto firm at $4.25 per barrel, or a total of $34,000.

FORD TURNS SOMERSAULT

A Ford runabout with two young men passengers turned a complete somersault near Welcomo on Saturday evenig. The car was badly smashed and one of the young men had a finger cut off as clean as if it had been done by a razor.—Port Hope Guide.

WATER VERY LOW

For the first time in fifty years the marsh at the lake at Oshawa has been cut with a mower and horses. Mr. W. Robinson did the trick last week. The water in Lake Ontario has reached a very low level; the lowest in twenty-five years. The lake is three feet lower than last year.

FINED $110 AND COSTS

Patrick Mullen yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Masson was convicted of being intoxicated, also of partaking of liquor in a place other than where it can be legally kept, namely on the street. He was fined $100 for the latter offence and $10 for intoxication. He went to jail in default of payment of fines.

ANNUAL THANKSGIVING

The annual Thanksgiving services were held at Trinity (Anglican) Church, Shannonville on Sunday the 12th inst. The church was very tastefully decorated with grain corn, flowers, plants and vegetables of all kinds. The services were very hearty and well attended. The special preacher for the day was the Rev. A. L. McTear rector of Bath. The Harvest Thanksgiving services will be continued in Shannonville next Sunday at 3 p.m., when the Lord Bishop of Ontario is expected to be present.

The Sugar Saver among cereal foods
Grape-Nuts
No added sweetening needed.
You'll like the appealing flavor of this sugar-saving food.
SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE!

From Our Own Correspondents

8TH CONCESSION SIDNEY

Mr. Royal Herman is able to be up around again.

Mr. George Bush, Smith Falls spent last week under the parental roof.

A number from here attended Belleville Fair last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Utman visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Utman, Stirling.

The rain on Sunday was badly needed for ploughing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bush and family attended the Nicholson—Fox wedding last Wednesday.

Cutting corn is the order of the day.

GILEAD

A number attended Belleville Fair last week.

School reopened on Monday with Mrs. Everett Yorke as school teacher.

Rumors are abroad that Mr. Walter Snider has purchased the farm lately owned by Mr. Delbert Livingstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Huffman and Verna spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Treverton, Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hall, Latta, spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Yorke.

Mr. Harry Wallace, Belleville spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. Harvey Wallace is working on his farm near Port Hope.

Mr. Wilfred Clare attended Toronto Exhibition.

S. S. NO. 11 THURLOW

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hubble, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hubble, Mr. and Mrs. Westover and Mr. and Mrs. D. Phillips spent Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ritz.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Way spent Sunday with the former's brother, Mr. Horace Way, Prince Edward.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hess of Johnstown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Yateman recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Beer visited at Mr. Treverton's recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bush, Glen Miller, and Mr. George Bush of Smith Falls visited at Mr. J. Hanna's on Monday.

Mr. Munns is visiting Mr. Clare Sills.

Mr. and Mrs. George Garrison of Shannonville spent the week end at Mr. Frank Garrison's.

TUFTSVILLE

Mrs. Bird and Miss Bessie spent a week at the Camp Meeting at Ivanhoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Annsley and two children of Kingston were guests of her brother while her mother was at the Camp Meeting.

A heavy electric storm passed this way on Sunday evening and again in the night. No damage was done.

Mr. Edward Bennett visited his sister, Mrs. Dugan of Corbyville, recently.

Mr. B. A. Clarke of Corbyville visited his aunt, Mrs. E. Bennett lately.

Mrs. Bennett attended the funeral of the late Mr. Samuel Ward of Belleville.

Mrs. Werden has returned from visiting her daughter and brother in Michigan.

Mrs. S. Juby is the guest of her brother in Crookston, Mr. Wm. Burrites.

Mrs. H. Clarke has returned from visiting her son Fred, near Toronto.

Mr. William Fitchette attended the Toronto Exhibition.

VICTORIA

Gospel Band next Sunday at .30.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sager and Mrs. M. Sager of Belleville and Mr. and Miss Broad of Massassauga visited at the home of Mrs. P. Cothers.

Miss Ruth Pymer visited at her sister's Mrs. H. Pulber recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Miss Flossie Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. J. Stacey of Trenton visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Weese.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Lowney returned home on Thursday after a short visit with Mrs. Lowney's sister at Manooth.

Mr. Amos Wannamaker had a Bee, putting in his cement silo on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brickman and children motored to Brighton on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Brickman attended Belleville Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lamb attended the wedding of Mrs. Lamb's neice, Miss Emerson, on Wednesday at Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fox and children returned home on Wednesday from Toronto Exhibition. Mrs. G. Persoll accompanied them and is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. Fox.

Mr. G. Persoll and Miss Nellie Cluff Mr. G. Persoll of Collingwood motored down to Mr. S. Fox's on Sunday Rev. T. Wallace and son George accompany them home.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Wannamaker and family attended Belleville Fair.

4TH LINE OF SIDNEY

Service next Sunday evening at 7.30 p.m. Rev. T. Wallace, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Phillips and family spent the week end with the latter's sister, Mrs. Snider of West Huntingdon.

Mrs. George Barragar is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. S. Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Simpkins of Melrose and Mr. J. Tucker and daughter, Pearl, spent Sunday with Mrs. W. Phillips.

Rev. T. Wallace and son eGorge accompanied by Mr. Nobbs of Wallbridge motored to Peterboro on Monday where Mr. George Wallace is starting to Normal School.

A severe eelctric storm passed through this vicinity on Sunday afternoon with torrents of rain and hail. Slight damage was inflicted.

Mrs. (Rev.) Wallace had the misfortune to fall in such a manner as to sprain her ankle on Sunday morning.

Quite a number from around here attended Belleville Fair last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Detlor and son spent a few days last week at the Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Rikley attended the Bonisteel-Rose wedding on Wednesday last.

REDNERVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Hall and Harold, of Roblin Mills, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. E. Rose.

Mrs. J. W. Brickman is spending a few days with her brother in Foxboro.

Miss Ridley of Belleville returned home on Tuesday after spending a week the guest of Mrs. Thos. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Delong of Foxboro were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brickman recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Russell were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bryd Bush, Consecon, recently.

CARMEL

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson attended the Toronto Exhibition several days last week.

Mrs. Smith, Foxboro, and Miss Kirby, Picton, have been spending a few days the guests of Mrs. Jno. Vanderwater.

Mrs. Hollinger, Fuller, and sister visited the former's daughter, Mrs. H. Dafoe, recently.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bamber is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Garrison, Betheny, spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates also Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Frankford, spent Sunday with friends in our neighborhood.

Mr. Dafoe, Foxboro, spent the week end with his son Mr. H. Dafoe.

A severe electric storm accompanied by heavy rain and hail passed over our district on Sunday afternoon.

YOU CAN'T GET WELL WITH ONE ADJUSTMENT

Unless a disease is the immediate result of an accident, you can rest assured that many contributing factors of that disease were dormant in your body for a number of years. Nature is a great worker and strives day after day to stave off conditions in the system that are forerunners of disease. She may be successful in her efforts for years, but finally be overcome in the battle.

In investigating the dis-eases of our patients the history in most cases reveals a fall, jolt, wrench or other accident which throws a severe strain upon the spine at the time. The muscles and ligaments are not of sufficient resistance under such severe conditions and the little spinal segments are forced out of their natural positions. Thus a pressure is produced upon the nerves emitting from that region of the spine. The effect may not be apparent at that time or perhaps for years. But, unless your resistance is excellent, due to the normal condition of your spine, otherwise dis-ease will in time appear. The progressive course which this disease follows over a long period of time is called "momentum." Before the Chiropractic adjustment can accomplish results this mometnum must be overcome; given time the Chiropractor does overcome this handicap and results are noticeable, increasing with the number of adjustments taken. Arrange for a spinal analysis of your case. Consultation and Spinal Analysis gratis. Drs. Redick & Redick, Chiropractors, 283½ Front St., Belleville. Phone 900.

TRAPPED IN BURNING BARN CHILD PERISHES IN FLAMES

Montreal, Sept. 14.—Trapped in the shed of their home this afternoon, to which they had set fire while playing, one child was burned to death, while another managed to escape. The dead child is Yvonne Beaulieu, two years old, of Ville St. Pierre, and her brother, Wilfrid, aged 3, escaped with a fright.

IN BELLIGERENT MOOD.

Brantford, Ont., Sept. 15.—Announcement was made, following a meeting of the Brant U.F.O., that support would be given to A. W. Burt, late principal and at present on the staff of the Brantford Collegiate Institute, and also vice-president of the I. L. P., if he were nominated for the Federal riding of Brantford by the I. L. P.

The I. L. P. had previously nominated Mayor MacBride, M.P.P.

Mayor MacBride, commenting on this, declared: "The more the merrier. There must soon come a showdown over the Soviet-U. F. O. dictatorship of Drury and Jimmie Simpson. The U. F. O. is opposing Labor in St. Catharines, Peterborough and Brantford. I stand for a true Canadianism, not for a Soviet or a dictatorship of central directory.

Lost a Husband For Lure of Stage

Strong Situations Grip Attention and Win Sympathy in "My Husband's Other Wife"

A Broadway star, her physician-husband and a young playwright go to make, "My Husband's Other Wife," the J. Stuart Blackton feature that opened an engagement at Griffin's last night, a drama of complications and situations of an unusual variety. It is straight drama, presenting the story of a famous actress who loves the glamour of the footlights and will not give them up for her husband who has sacrificed his ambitions and become merely the "husband of Adelaide Hedlar." Complications bring about a divorce, but the actress hesitates about marrying the playwright until she is sure that her husband has married again. The first husband; a really brilliant physician, takes another name and goes to a small town, where he carries out his ambitions and builds a hospital, a school and a church and becomes the guardian angel of the community. When the actress learns of her husband's marriage to another she realizes that his was a love worth having and she decides to attempt to win him back. Up to this point the story moves steadily and surely and swiftly. While the remainder of the photoplay has tensity that is gripping and absorbing. The final moments in which comes the supreme sacrifice are beautiful and human. Sylvia Breamer makes Adelaide Hedlar a sympathetic and bewitching character. Her emotional ability are taxed to their utmost and she comes through with colors flying. Her gowns will win the admiration of the women. Robert Gordon, as the young playwright, does one of the best pieces in his short but brilliant career. The husband portrayed by Warren Chandler is a fine character of strength and virility. It is the husband who wins most of your sympathy. May McAvoy a newcomer is charming as the "other wife" of the title. "My Husband's Other Wife" is beautifully staged and lighted and the deft touches of J. Stuart Blackton's genius are everywhere manifest.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS

The one big sensation of the current season is Gus Hill's Minstrels, which appears at Griffin's to-morrow night, September 16th, for one night only. Gus Hill's Minstrels number fifty persons, with Emile Subers, Sam Curtis, Rags Leighton and Billy Monitor, James Gorman Jr., as principal comedians. Gus Hill has gathered together a score of splendid singers, whose voices blend harmoniously in the concerted numbers and the soloists were selected, for tone and quality of their voices, from hundreds of applicants. It is said that Gus Hill has the greatest and sweetest singers that ever graced the minstrel stage. Sam Browns famous band and orchestra will be one of the features of this mammoth organization. There will be a big parade at high noon and a band concert in front of Griffin's tomorrow night at 7.30 p.m.

'MARY'S ANKLE' IS RICH COMEDY

Belleville screen lovers who recall with delight the auspicious debut of Doris May and Douglas MacLean as a Thomas H. Ince comedy starring team in the Mary Robert Rinehart story, "Twenty-Three and a Half Hour's Leave," will be glad to know that this talented young couple are appearing at the Palace to-night in their new photoplay, "Mary's Ankle." This is from May Tully's well known stage play and is rich comedy from start to finish. The central figures are a young doctor, poor and struggling, who has been promised a fortune when he marries by a rich uncle, and the pretty girl with the sprained ankle who providentially came his way at the critical moment. It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture. A funny Snub Pollard comedy, George Seitz and Marguerite Courtot in the thrilling continued picture, "Bound and Gagged," and a beautiful travelogue, "The Flowing Road" are also being screened on the same program.

Lightens Work and Heightens Pleasure
It costs no more to get a really good Working or Outing Shirt—one that fits right, feels good, and wears splendidly. All you have to do is ask for, and see that you get, a "Deacon" Shirt. Sold at all good stores.
DEACON SHIRT COMPANY
BELLEVILLE - CANADA

SINCLAIR'S

New Autumn Suits
—have arrived. You'll be interested in seeing them, with their smart tailored lines and fur collars. Each showing forecasts authoritatively the modes of the season just beginning. Your inspection of these Suits is invited.

Separate Skirts
WITH CHARACTER AND INDIVIDUALITY.
The new Skirts are here in numbers, pleasingly varied and displaying conspicuously those features which mark them as distinctly of this Autumn. Soft Woollens in plaids or plain give expression to the styles of the moment. Colors are harmoniously blended and the workmanship is of a quality that adds to one's joy of possession. Prices from $9.50 to $37.50.

Woolen Jersey Cloth
There is an excellent range of colorings in plain tones or heather mixtures in this serviceable fabric. It is 56 inches wide and is shown in qualities suitable for either suits or frocks. Priced $6.50 to $8.50 yard.

A New Wool Frock
Will be a mighty useful addition to your wardrobe now, for there will be many days when a woollen frock will make for comfort. Here are some of the newest modes and fabrics; some much embroidered, others with braid trimming. Brown and navy blue are the favorites. The prices are quite moderate.

Pullover Sweaters
Two special clearing lines of Pullover Sweaters are being offered at unusually low prices. They are shown in plain colors or good color combinations. Two lots to clear at $2.50 and $3.50 per garment.

Velvets
—are again finding favor for Autumn wear, and as usual we show a very wide range of colors in both Silk Velvets and Velveteens. One especially good quality of Velveteen is shown in eight Autumn shades, and is 45 inches wide, is $4.50 per yard. Other qualities and widths from $1.25 per yard upward.

Plaid Skirtings
Plaid Skirts are more popular than ever before, and we are well prepared to meet the demand for Skirting Plaids. Obtainable in all wool at $3.00 to $8.00 per yard, and some excellent patterns in cotton at $1.50 per yard.

STORE REMAINS OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAYS.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

Griffin's, To-morrow Night

GUS HILL'S
WORLD FAMOUS
MINSTRELS
PRESENTING ALL THAT'S NEW AND NOVEL IN MINSTRELSEY
THE MOST TALKED OF SHOW OF THE AGE

6—BIG STARS—6
EMILE SUBERS, SAM CURTIS, RAGS LEIGHTON, HARRY O'BRIEN, FRED FREDDY, JOHN CAHILL. Prices 25c—$1.50
SEATS NOW SELLING

FALL FOOTWEAR

A new pair of shoes will add considerable to the appearance of your new costume and the styles we have in stock will be sure to please. Colored shoes will be quite popular again this fall and we have a good variety. Here are two popular sellers:

Black Calf Brogue Oxfords, Goodyear welt soles, a real smart shoe - - - $9.00

Brown Brogue Oxfords, extra heavy soles - - - $12.00

We have high shoes in black, brown and grey calf or kid leathers and with French or military heels, prices ranging from $5.00 to $12.00.

Holmes & Murdoff
BELLEVILLE TRENTON

PALACE
LAST TIME TONIGHT
DOUG. MACLEAN and DORIS MAY in
Mary's Ankle
Pollard Comedy — "Bound and Gagged' — OTHERS.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN
LAST TIME TONIGHT.
SYLVIA BREAMER and ROBERT GORDON
in "MY HUSBAND'S OTHER WIFE" other Comedy and Topicals

DON'T DO THIS

Leonard EAR OIL

Relieves Deafness, Stops Head Noises

It is not put in the ears, but is Rubbed in Back of the Ears and inserted in the Nostrils. Has had a successful sale since 1907.

For sale in Belleville by J. V. Doyle, druggist. Proof of success will be given by the above druggist.

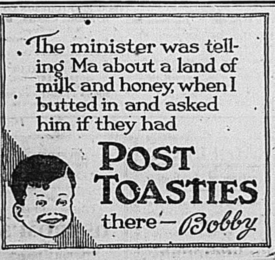
ARTHUR SALES COMPANY - - - - - - - - TORONTO, ONT.

This Signature on Yellow Box and on Bottle.

A O Leonard

Manufacturer
70 Fifth Ave., New York City.

Work on a skeleton of the Ceratopsian or Horned Quadruped Dinosaur, provisionally named Eo-ceratops, is being proceeded with by W. E. Cutler, at Steveville, Alta. One side of the skeleton is almost intact, and part of the other side, but Mr. Cutler states that the laboratories of large establishments would have no difficulty in restoring such parts by plaster casts, tinted to show restoration. The Dinosaur is a finely preserved specimen, and Mr. Cutler was obliged to remove rock amounting to 100 cubic yards during the winter, the covering being over 12 feet in thickness. The skeleton is one of the Red Deer River fossils.



"The minister was telling Ma about a land of milk and honey, when I butted in and asked him if they had POST TOASTIES there—Bobby

Sports

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	105	43	.709
Toronto	102	46	.691
Buffalo	92	55	.626
Akron	86	57	.601
Reading	64	81	.441
Jersey City	59	89	.398
Rochester	44	102	.301
Syracuse	32	112	.222

Yesterday's Results.

xToronto	7	Buffalo	6
Toronto.........	8	Buffalo	2
Baltimore	12	Jersey City ...	8
Akron	6	Rochester ...	0
Reading........	7	Syracuse	4

x—Eleven innings.

Games today—Baltimore at Jersey City; Syracuse at Akron. No other games scheduled.

LAWN BOWLING.

Two rinks of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club went to Deseronto this afternoon to play a friendly game with two rinks of that town. The Belleville players were Rev. A. S. Kerr, Mayor Riggs, Judge Deroche, R. W. Ackerman, A. R. Symons, W. R. Gilbert, A. McGie and Don Bleecker.

◆

Canada's Trade With West Indies

Interesting Publication on British West Indies and British Guiana.

A booklet on "The British West Indies and British Guiana" just issued by the Bank of Montreal, is a most timely publication in view of the new trade agreement between Canada and the West Indies now awaiting the ratification of the respective governments. The booklet gives a concise and interesting description of the salient features of the various colonies which are party to the agreement, including the physical characteristics, area, population and principal exports and imports. It shows that there are most promising markets awaiting development by enterprising Canadian merchants and industrial firms.

At the present time, it is stated, the British West Indies, British Guiana and British Honduras have a total population of over 2,000,000, with natural resources that have really only just begun to be developed. For instance, it is officially estimated that there are at least 20,000,000 acres of fertile land in the British West Indies not yet beneficially occupied, whereas the area under cultivation is only one and a half million acres.

The opinion is expressed that under the system of preferences granted by Canada and the United Kingdom, and with the growing world-demand for such commodities as the West Indies produce, the development of these colonies will proceed apace. There is every prospect of considerable and progressive increase of the population. If all the fertile land there were brought under cultivation the colonies which are in the new agreement could easily support a population of between 30,000,000 and 50,000,000. Even at the present time the interchange of natural products between Canada and the British West Indies is only a tithe of what it well might be, and probably will be, with the larger preference now advocated and the much-improved steamship services provided for.

The booklet gives Canadians an excellent idea of the directions in which trade may be extended. It is replete with detailed and authoritative information of the imports and exports of the various colonies, and gives most useful information as to the best methods to be pursued in getting into touch with the local business houses and building up trade relations with the various colonies.

The booklet has a map showing the relative positions of Canada and the colonies which are parties to the agreement. Copies may be obtained free from any branch of the Bank of Montreal.

◆

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press, Limited.

Queenstown, Ireland, has been closed to eastbound liners.

Irish volunteers are called for, and will break the rebellion. Dilly-dallying with the Sinn Feiners is to be finally ended.

The French President is to resign at once, says Figaro.

The Labor Congress at Windsor voted to keep out of politics.

Toronto police are on the trail of the murderer of the Goldberg boy. Striking developments are expected.

A campaign to raise $1,000,000 for the Labrador missions was launched at Toronto.

Dr. E. A. Smith, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, in New Brunswick, has resigned.

Thomas Grey, a well-digger, of Manilla, was instantly killed on a farm near that village.

George Elliott, a farmer, was shot dead at his home in East Korah, near Sault Ste. Marie, by Dougal Moore, as a result of a misunderstanding.

A WESTERN LEGEND.

Monster Reptile With Horns Said to Live In Lake Winnipegosis.

Many strange reptiles and animals live on the earth and under the sea, and if we can believe what we hear, one of the strangest of them all has its habitat in Lake Winnipegosis.

For some years tales of a weird monster which inhabits this lake have come to the ears of residents of The Pas, and have usually been taken with a grain of salt, but many residents believe in the existence of this monster, and the Indians living in the locality where it is said to have been seen take the matter very seriously.

Mr. J. C. Murray, formerly editor of the Canadian Mining Journal, and Mr. B. A. C. Craig, of Toronto, recently returned to The Pas after a trip in the vicinity of Lake Winnipegosis, and both gentlemen seemed profoundly impressed by the tales they had heard of this denizen of the deep. I secured from Messrs. Murray and Craig a copy of the notes which they had taken of conversations regarding this matter with eye witnesses, and the stories they tell are as follows:

Valentine McKay of Grand Rapids informed these gentlemen that in September, 1910, he was traveling in a canoe off Graves Point, in Dawson Bay, Lake Winnipegosis, towards High Portage into Cedar Lake, when, on rounding a bend, he heard a strange rumbling sound in the water, and observed, some two hundred yards from the shore, a huge body, about sixteen feet of which was exposed, and around which the gulls were hovering. When he came opposite, and about 250 yards distant from it, it was creating a great disturbance. It shot out a great flipper on the left side of its body, and traveled, not submerged, towards the shallow waters of the bay, the water being disturbed as though by the propeller of a large boat. McKay watched it for half an hour. He did not see the monster's head. He had not a gun with him at that time, and would not travel on that lake again without a gun.

The chief haunt of this monster seems to be around Steep Rock Portage, on Dawson Bay. John McLeod, an Indian from Red Deer Lake, was camping near this portage when he noticed the creature above water, apparently resting. He paddled out with his wife to within 300 yards of it with the intention of shooting, but his wife became alarmed and prevented him from doing so. After watching it for a time, he paddled back to shore. He watched it until dark, but in the morning it had disappeared. A wind had risen, and the creature is only seen in calm weather. McLeod, like McKay, said the skin glistened like that of a sturgeon. The head, he said, was like that of a pig, with two projections resembling horns.

The Indian chief Kemach was shooting duck off Gray's Point when he saw what he thought was a moose out some distance in the water. He paddled out, but when he got closer found that it was an animal unknown to him, of enormous size, and retreated.

Many other Indians claim to have seen this reptilian monster, and rather than cross Dawson Bay will take a circuitous route around the shore.

Mr. Simpson, who was for many years manager at Shoal River, on Lake Winnipegosis, for the Armstrong Trading Company, and is the local postmaster, strongly believes in the existence of this monster, and considers that the Government should send out an expedition to solve the mystery. He says that frequently new nets have been found torn to such an extent, and in such a manner, that it could not possibly have been done by fish.

Mr. B. M. Stitt, chief fire ranger for Northern Manitoba and Mayor of The Pas, reports that in 1915 Bert Russell, a prospector from Nelson, B.C., and later of the R.A.F., was prospecting around Island Lake. Having heard of the presence of a monster in those waters, he was on the lookout, and one day observed something swimming across the lake. He paddled out towards it and found it resembled a tremendous reptile, his description of which, even down to the horns, coincided with that given by McLeod of the monster he had seen in Lake Winnipegosis.

The Hibernating Bear.

Dr. William T. Hornaday gives some very interesting facts about bears and their curious custom of hibernating. In the Rocky Mountains, he says, a bear gets ready to go into winter quarters when the first snow falls. He cut his rations down, eats a little less from day to day, and spends a large part of his time preparing his winter den. He drags in pine boughs and fallen leaves to make himself a soft and comfortable bed, chinks up all the crevices to keep out the draughts, and blocks up the entrance until there is only room for him to get in. By the time the big snow comes, from a fortnight to a month later, his intestines are entirely empty, and he crawls into his den and curls up for his long sleep. The bear is omnivorous, but his food is largely vegetable. If he had to stay in the open and hunt for a living in the winter snows he would die of starvation. So he crawls into a den and sleeps until a new supply of food is ready for him in the spring—a period that varies according to the latitude and altitude from six weeks to four and sometimes nearly five months. When the bear comes out, his intestines are absolutely flat. But although probably he is ravenously hungry, he does not proceed to gulp down food in enormous quantities. He selects carefully and eats but little so as not to strain his weakened intestines, and at night he returns to his winter den. Only after ten days or two weeks does he display the full measure of an appetite acquired by several months of fast and forsake his den for a bed in the open.

◆

The U. S. Department is preparing data for defining the boundaries of Armenia.

The New York Kilties lead the American League.

For Fall cleaning

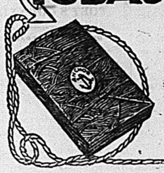
The strongest cleanser known

COMFORT 100% PURE LYE
POWDERED PERFUMED
TRADE MARK
COMFORT SOAP CO TORONTO

Splendid for sinks and drains

All grocers

Ask for it to-day



ANCHOR PLUG TOBACCO

Two Plugs for 25¢

THE freshness, and flavor, of ANCHOR PLUG is not equalled, nor approached by any other chewing tobacco. That is why ANCHOR PLUG is supreme.

It Holds its Flavor

Not Just Good—The Best Roof

The tendency to-day is to use the best roofing material as a covering for all roof surfaces. This is not due to people having more money to spend, but to the realization that the first cost of a good roof is practically its only cost.

NEPONSET PAROID

provides a roof that is serviceable and long-lived. Lay a Paroid Roof today and forget it for the next twenty years or more. Before the roof needs repairs you will have spent far more than its original cost in repairs to other parts of the building. Hundreds of buildings throughout the Dominion of Canada conclusively bear out this statement.

The base of Neponset Paroid is a high-grade rag felt thoroughly impregnated with asphalt, making it positively waterproof, and fire-resisting.

It is further reinforced with a talc surface, grey in color; or with a permanent slate surface, red or green in color.

Roofed with Neponset Paroid you may rest assured that your buildings are perfectly weather-proof and sound.

Easy to lay—With every roll of Neponset Paroid is supplied sufficient nails and cement with full directions.

There is a Neponset dealer in your district. Write us for his name and a copy of our illustrated booklet "Roofing Canada."

Made in Canada by
BIRD & SON LIMITED - Hamilton, Ontario
"Canadian money, Canadian made, should be spent in Canada for Canadian trade."

NEPONSET ROOFS

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 327 Front Street. Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.20; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added.

DRIVE THE WILD-CATTER OUT OF BUSINESS.

English capital for the development of Canadian resources is available in large quantities, but there should be some means of protecting overseas investors against wild-cat flotations using the magic name of Canada to entrap the unway and injure the good name of Canada. Lord Burnham, who has been touring Canada with the Imperial pressmen, is very much impressed with Canadian opportunities for investment, but speaking at the directors' luncheon at Toronto Fair, warned Canadians against flotations of an improper character, as follows:

> "I hope your officials, your high commissioners, when there, will put before our investors at home a proper plan for soliciting our resources, so that they will not be offered that which is founded on bad material. It is not unreasonable for those who pay their money to exepect a fair and adequate return. If they find rotten flotations in London, whether they are made here or in our city, I hope they will speak out. If your authorities will thoroughly establish the soundness of the security you have to offer, there is not a man in England who will not, as soon as anywhere in the Empire, invest his money in this great Dominion."

HOUSEHOLD WORK USEFUL AND HONORABLE.

One of the most profitable and pleasant avenues of employment open to girls is in housework, yet the demand is far greater than the supply. There are over 1,500,000 girls and women in excess of males in England, it is said, and many of these could find profitable employment in household work in Canada.

The prejudice against accepting employment in the homes keeps many girls from taking up this line of work and the fault is largely that of the employer. Household workers have been labelled domestic servants and placed low down on the social scale, while girls working in a store or office for a few dollars a week are regarded as being in "genteel employment."

In some households the assistants with the housework are treated as members of the family, and from these householders come no complaints of the difficulty of securing and retaining competent help, nor are the girls easily enticed from such positions by offers of higher salaries. Money is not everything in life, and the household help problem will never be solved satisfactorily until conditions are remedied.

Household work is just as honorable as any other avenue of making a living and should be recognized as such. The trouble is we are all a little uppity and prone to regard ourselves as a little better than our neighbor or a little higher in the social scale than somebody else, and this is what causes much of the heartburnings and jealousies in this little world. The social scale is a delusion and a snare any way it is viewed, and under a post mortem falls to pieces because it has no solid foundation of fact to rest upon—it is all airy-fairy supposition, wheels within wheels, and circles circulating nowhere.

MOTOR ALCOHOL TO SUCCEED GASOLINE.

The constantly increasing cost of gasoline and the diminishing supply are turning the attention of chemists to substitutes, and it is predicted that the time is not far distant when motor alcohol will come into universal use for transportation. Millions of gallons were used in Germany during the war, and the cost of producing is stated to be about thirty cents a gallon. On the islands of Hawaii motor alcohol is already being made from ordinary molasses by J. P. Foster, a chemist of one of the big sugar plantations on the island of Maui, and it is estimated that within the next three months there will be sufficient to furnish fuel to all cars in the islands should a shortage of gasoline occur.

According to reports of the new fuel brought to San Francisco, motor alcohol gives more power, greater mileage, easier starting and more freedom from carbon than gasoline. It can be used without an adjustment of the carburator. This new fuel is performing in automobile, marine, stationary, truck and tractor engines. "In a thirty-six hour test," says the Scientific American, "made with a seventy-five horse-power tractor, the consumption of motor alcohol was four gallons per hour compared to four and a half gallons of gasoline in the same engine on the same work. Examination of the cylinders showed most of the old carbon deposit removed with the fingers."

At present there is said to be enough molasses available to produce 9,000,000 gallons of alcohol for motor purposes. Development of this industry will release shipping space formerly used for transporting gasoline from the United States.

In Canada alcohol for this purpose can be profitably produced from pulpwood at low cost, and it is likely that farmers in the future will be seen growing corn on all land suitable with the idea that it will be used entirely in the production of alcohol.

CRISP COMMENT

Can the women make it a secret ballot?—Boston Transcript.

× × ×

One way to get ahead of the restaurant is to jump one meal a day.—Hamilton Times.

× × ×

A Galt man fell through a skylight into a hospital. Some service!—Kitchener Record.

× × ×

A taste for minding one's own business is often hard to acquire.—Hamilton Herald.

× × ×

In political matters much may be said on both sides. And, to our sorrow, it always is.—New York Post.

× × ×

"Should a woman be hung?" asks the St. Thomas Times-Journal. No, if a woman is to be done to death, under process of law, she should be hanged.—Orillia Packet.

× × ×

The disappointment of manhood succeeds to the delusion of youth. Let us hope that the heritage of old age is not despair.—Disraeli.

× × ×

The trouble with most marriages is that a man always makes the mistake of marrying the woman who carries him off his feet—instead of trying to find one who will keep him on them.—Los Angeles Express.

OTHER VIEWS

Who Pays the Extra Cost?

New York Times

Why should prices come down while people can and will pay them? The small trader does not ask that question out loud, but he thinks it, and his answer is plainly written in everybody's monthly bills.

"Once More We Rise to Remark"

Chicago Tribune

The American Legion has revealed conditions. The American Legionnaires won the war. Theirs was the great task. They lived up to it. Having accomplished this task, must they also take up the burden of providing for their shattered comrades?

Washington's Advice

Los Angeles Times

European conditions recall very forcibly George Washington's admonitions to his country in his farewell address, in which he so earnestly implored his country to avoid particular antipathies and passionate attachments for individual countries and their internal woes. The rights and wrongs of national sentimentalists are so difficult of reasoned judgment by half-informed outsiders, and sentimental partisanship can so easily create more trouble than it assuages.

Should Fight For Peace

London Daily Mail

Within limits, Russian bad faith has given the Poles a free hand. They are entitled to define "freedom" and "independence" as free peoples understand such terms. They can rely on the Allies ensuring their road to the sea through Danzig in terms of the Treaty of Versailles. Their limit lies in the reinforced agreement of the Allies—a free and independent Poland within her true frontier. Beyond that Poland has no mandate. While an hour of destiny strikes it is Poland's opportunity not to prolong war, but to make peace.

POET'S CORNER

BEWARE! PREPARE!

You have driven the German Panther back,
You have swept his ships off the Main,
Yet sullen the Beast lies nursing his wounds,
Defiant—still eager to reign!

Remember!
The Beast will spring from his lair,
His cohorts will help him—
Beware! Prepare!

In the Jungle of Hate the Panther lies
Sharpening his war-broken claws—
When his wounds are healed he will sally forth,
And break all your treaties and laws.

With cunning the Panther closes his eyes,
In a mocking pretense of sleep;
Yet watchfully waits to renew his strength,
And pounce on the World with a leap.

List not to Traitors who stand in your midst,
And with honeyed words call out "Peace!"
The Beast and his minions have pledged an oath,
Their hatred of you shall not cease.

You have eyes to see, you can hear each sound,
Be found not asleep at your post,
The German Panther is whetting his claws—
To conquer the World is his boast!

Remember!
The Beast will spring from his lair,
His cohorts will help him—
Beware! Prepare!
—Edythe DeLauzon.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Its Friendly Way

"How are we to meet the high cost of living?"

"You don't have to meet it," answered the irritating person. "It overtakes you."

The Reason

Grandfather—Johnny, why do you spell 'bank' with such a large "B"?

Johnny—Because pa said a bank was no good unless it had a large capital.

Getting His Value

A visitor at a country fair noticed one melancholy individual, who despite the fact that he was apparently suffering greatly, persisted in remaining on one of the merry-go-rounds.

Eventually the looker-on spoke to him, and asked him if he liked it.

"No; I don't like it a bit," the man replied. "The beastly thing makes me ill."

"Then why do you persist in going on it?"

"I can't help it. The man who owns this merrygo-round owes me money, and the only way I can get even is by taking it out in rides."

More Convenient

Little Betty was staying with her grandmother in the country. Just before dinner time one day she discovered that chicken was to be the principal attraction.

"Oh, wher'd you get the chicken, grandma?" Betty asked, very excitedly.

"In the poultry-yard," the old lady replied. "You remember the chickens you saw this morning, don't you?"

"Do you mean the ones I fed?"

"Certainly. Well, we killed one of them."

"Oh, did you?" exclaimed Betty in surprise. "We buy our chickens ready made."

WILSON'S FLY PADS

Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

"MACBETH" CASTLE.

Two of the Last Five Earls Met Violent Deaths.

All hail, Macbeth; Hail to thee, Thane of Glamis.
All hail, Macbeth! Hail to thee, Thane of Cawdor.
All hail, Macbeth, who shall be king hereafter.

So chanted the three witches who lured Macbeth, by promises of power, on to the black deeds that have made the name a synonym for treachery justly rewarded. And the castle of Cawdor has come down to us, thanks to Shakespeare's great drama, as a scene of dark crimes and unearthly visitations, says the Kansas City Star.

Whatever may have been the historical accuracy of Shakespeare's story, Cawdor ever since has had an evil repute. In the play Macbeth was made Thane of Cawdor, the second honor promised by the witches, in payment for his early loyalty to King Duncan in a war against the Norwegians. But Macbeth, inspired by the witches and driven on by the ambitions of his cold-blooded wife, slew Duncan when the king paid a visit to Cawdor and followed this murder with numerous others.

Now the estates of the Earl of Cawdor—earl is but a changed version of thane—are to be sold. Hard times have come upon the Cawdors, as well as upon many other titled landowners in England and Scotland. So the old castle of Cawdor and the finely wooded lands surrounding it are on the market.

Whether the old castle now standing on the estate is the one Shakespeare had in mind is uncertain. There was a castle there in the morning of a Scottish history. The one there now must date back 500 years or more, and it has been changed little in the centuries since it was built. There is a story that Thane William of Cawdor was granted permission to build a castle by the Scottish king whom he served. He was sorely perplexed as to a site, but in a dream he was told to put all the treasure he had collected in a coffer, then to bind it on a donkey's back and build his castle wherever the donkey should stop. The donkey stopped beside a hawthorn tree and lay down to rest. The castle is said to have been built about this tree. Certain it is that a hawthorn tree stood for many years in the lowest vault of the tower.

The Cawdors have a grim history, one filled with tragedy and no small amount of misfortune. The recent career of the family serves to illustrate this phase of the Cawdor history. There have been five earls of Cawdor in twenty years, and two of the five met violent deaths. The present earl is only 20 years old.

Muriel of Cawdor perhaps is the most famous in the line. At least she serves as a figure in one of the old Scottish folk romances. She was sought after by the Earl of Argyll for his son, Sir John Campbell, and was kidnapped when only 12 years old. Her uncles, the Cawdors, heard of the kidnapping and set out to recover her. They came upon her captors and slew eight of them, all sons of Campbell of Inverliver, and obtained what they believed was the girl. But it turned out to be only a sheaf of straw dressed in Muriel's clothes. The Campbells had escaped with Muriel herself and she became the bride of the heir of Argyll.

It was only nine miles from the castle that the Battle of Culloden was fought and the hopes of the Pretender dashed. And Lord Lovat, the Scottish Jacobite, sought refuge in the garret of the castle after the failure of the Stuart rebellion.

The drawbridge still hangs in front of the castle, as it has hung for centuries, and the castle towers, gray and grim, above the birches and oaks about it. There is something at once solemn and impressive about the ancient place, full in keeping with its history and its romantic place in literature. The thought of it passing into irreverent hands, to be changed and modernized, cannot be other than unpleasant.

That the age of bride and bridegroom need no longer be inscribed on the marriage certificate is a new rule in regard to French marriages. It is sufficient if they are declared of age, or over thirty, a statement of specific age being unnecessary.

Hitherto it has been necessary to have the banns posted up on the door of the town hall for ten days, including two Sundays. The latter clause in the rule has been abolished, while, if desired, the civic authorities can celebrate the marriage at the house of either the bride or bridegroom, says London Tit-Bits. Two witnesses instead of four will also in future be sufficient.

The names of the respective parents will no longer appear in the official publications. The mother of one of the contracting parties will in future have the right to oppose the marriage, a right which before was only attributed to the father.

The Need for Cash Capital—
The Investor's Opportunity

In 1919 it was necessary to finance a 193,000,000 bushel wheat crop, worth $333,000,000. This year, it is conservatively estimated that a crop of 300,000,000 bushels, worth at least $600,000,000 will require to be financed.

Owing to this heavy strain upon credit,—the fabric upon which modern business is built,—a number of large concerns, which required capital to provide for increased costs and extensions, found it difficult to do so by means of borrowing.

As a result, they are reluctantly compelled to convert their surpluses, some of which are naturally invested in Victory Bonds, into cash.

This condition,—supply temporarily exceeding demand,—favors the purchaser who buys Victory Bonds for investment. This is the "investor's opportunity." It has made it possible for him to buy these bonds to yield an interest return unparalleled in the history of Canada.

The 1934 maturity, at 93 and interest, which we recommend to those not materially affected by the Income Tax, will yield you 6¼% for fourteen years.

The 1933 maturity (tax free) at 96½ and interest, which we recommend to those with incomes exceeding $6,000 a year, yields a net return of 5.87%

Write for our pamphlet showing the advantages to be derived from purchasing these securities at existing prices.

Wood, Gundy & Company
Canadian Pacific Railway Building
Toronto

NOTICE !

Now is the time to have your furnace and pipes overhauled and cleaned by our experienced workmen.

We do plumbing also, and are Agents for Happy "Thought Ranges" famous everywhere.

DIAMOND & HYDE
PHONE 38

Brighten Your Home with White Mazdas

—the lamp that gives more light without the glare.

TRY ONE

in your reading lamp today and you will be pleased with the beautiful soft light.

THE HYDRO SHOP

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

THANKSGIVING DAY MAY BE OCT. 18.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—An order in Council fixing the date for Thanksgiving Day will be passed at the next sitting of the Cabinet, to be held on Tuesday next, it is understood. Monday, October 18, is practically certain to be the date, although there is a possibility that it might be October 11, one week earlier. Last year the holiday fell on Monday, October 13.

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.40
Leaves Belleville at 8.10
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 435.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
298 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 206.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 2, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 163; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

DEVELOPING
PRINTING
ENLARGING

ANSCO
Cameras and Films.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Truest Economy

FRY'S
THE BEST FOOD
AT THE LOWEST COST

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

BUILD IT NOW

Reconstruct the Old Home For Longer Usefulness

Reconstruction begins at home. If the old house isn't all you desire, and you can't build a new one, a little of the right kind of repairing and remodeling will readily restore it to present day standards.

Perhaps it's a new porch, a summer kitchen, a side entrance, a new roof, extra rooms in the attic or a renewing of old, cracked walls and ceilings that is needed.

The right kind of lumber used in the right way will make the change and we have all the material you will require including that knotless and crackless manufactured lumber Beaver Board, for better walls and ceilings.

Suppose you ask us about it?

The Belleville Sash & Door Co., Limited
41 Station Street

TO REVIVE SWISS

Dotted Fabric, Popular Years Ago, for Summer Wear.

New Material Will Be Different From That of Grandmother's Day; Wider Color Range.

The simple old times of our grandmothers are going to be revived this summer in the use of the dotted swiss that fashioned the summer gown of 50 years ago.

Of course, the new dotted swiss will be somewhat different from the simple white material of other days, as the dotted material of this year is infinite in its color range. However, there will be considerable plain white swiss used, as well as the more fanciful materials in this designation.

Organdie will also be a prime favorite, and a very lovely new organdie gown seen recently featured a combination of this material with a heavy torchon lace that was applied in a deep band to the skirt.

In the dotted swisses one of the most striking models was shown recently in a cherry-colored dotted swiss cut on very simple lines and decorated with a deep sash of self-material. This costume was completed by a hat of dotted swiss with a drooping brim laden with cherries.

A quaint and charming gown of shell-pink dotted swiss seen recently showed a skirt with a plain front and back panel and three side tunics made of ruffles of the dotted swiss set together with organdie eyelet beading. The bodice was cut on bolero lines and showed a vest of tucked white organdie and white organdie beading outlining the edge of the bolero. Two tiny plaited ruffles of the organdie completed the round neck and short sleeves, while a tiny bow of black velvet ribbon nestled at the throat, with long ends that dropped to the waist line.

Another charming summer frock done in the admired dotted swiss and white voile is being shown in dawn blue. The skirt is formed of three deep scalloped flounces of the dotted swiss, bound with white organdie, that are set on a yoke of the white voile.

The voile forms the bloused bodice that has a row of pin tucking down the front elaborated with white crocheted buttons. The round neck and short sleeves are decorated with plain bands of the blue dotted swiss.

CHARMING PARASOL IN SILK

This parasol is fashioned in white silk and marked in gay contrast by clusters of roses. The ivory handle adds much to the beauty of the parasol.

HIGH COLLAR PARIS VOGUE

All French Garments Do Not Have Choker Neck Adornment, but Collar Is Favored.

Persistent are rumors that come from Paris that the high collar is a commanding note of the current vogue—a story that is borne out by a page in the French magazine "Femina," devoted to new blouses. Though they do not all have a choker collar, all the blouses in the group have collars of generous proportions, an unusual contrast with the flat oval that has been long included in French blouse styles. There is, however, a good proportion of collars boned to stand up to the ears, reminiscent of the days when embroidered strips were in great demand to make separate choker collars.

Two of the prettiest French waists have this high collar growing out of a yoke that capes the shoulders, one of self material set into the model, the other of lingerie against a silk blouse, the yoke falling over softly in bertha fashion. Both collars flare out under the ears, one with a bow of ribbon set high to accentuate the ruffle finish.

Sharpen Scissors.

By accident one day a certain housewife discovered that cutting sandpaper sharpened her scissors. Now she does not have to wait for the scissors grinder to come around, for she always keeps a sheet of sandpaper in her machine drawer to sharpen her scissors with.

The Flying Dress.

A short back shoulder cape and a similar shaping to the overskirt tunic gives the effect of wings to a frock of crepe and satin that is fittingly described as the flying dress.

PRESTON NOMINATED.

Orono, Sept. 14.—W. T. R. Preston of Port Hope was nominated here today by a Liberal convention to contest the constituency of Durham in the next Federal election.

HERE'S A NEW THEORY.

Climate Blamed For Fall in the Birth Rate.

Amazing revelations as to the influence of the weather on the birth rate have been made in Paris by Dr. A. Magelssen, noted physician and biologist. His conclusions are stirring up much controversy as they are in direct opposition to theories hitherto accepted.

"The decrease in the birthrate is not due to immorality or love of luxury, but to changes in the weather," says Dr. Magelssen. "For the last thirty years or so the temperature of Western Europe has been steadily falling and one of the consquences has been the diminution in births which is troubling both legislators and moralists.

"While everything must be done to provide better housing facilities, better maternity hospitals, etc., to encourage large families, scientists must study the relationship between atmospheric factors and the human body, so as to be able to draw conclusions applicable to social conditions.

"Variations in temperature may have immediate effects — as in the case of colds, sunstrokes, etc. — but their influence is generally far more subtle, though no less intense. The chemical changes produced in cells and glands by extremes of heat and cold, for instance, are frequently of a permanent nature and may even affect an entire generation, decreasing or increasing fertility.

"Of course the temperature is only one of the atmospherical factors that influence the body, but it has been recorded longer than any other and more statistics are, therefore, available for research. But numerous other elements in the weather, such as rainfall, dryness, etc., have an equally great influence.

"It is perfectly possible by means of new scientific methods to study the cumulative effect of the temperature on the human organism. For such purposes the temperature is registered according to its extremes of heat or cold, these being more active biologically than average temperatures.

Researches conducted for more than twenty years show that a high temperature, as compared to the normal for the locality studied produces a high birth rate, a low temperature a low birth rate. From meteorological and vital statistics from Paris, Berlin and Vienna—the only cities having adequate data for such investigations—it appears that a cold winter produces a decrease in the birth rate, while if the cold of the winter months is counteracted by a particularly warm summer or by an unusually warm July or August, the birth rate is improved.

"Aside from the loss of men due to the war, the birth rate in France to-day shows the effect of the persistent coolness of recent years. Statistics now indicate that the temperature is rising, and the result will soon be found in an increase in the population's fertility.

Instead of blaming women or morals in general for the lack of children, legislators and economists would do well in asking science to turn its attention to the climate for an explanation of biological phenomena."

Deadly Perils.

Allied soldiers parading the streets of Constantinople may meet with deadlier perils than the obvious military ones. These may be concealed under the impenetrable mask of Turkish superstition. As thus: It is considered dangerous by the lower classes to put your foot on a printed piece of paper which may be lying in the street. The name of Allah may be insulted. Some years ago this belief very nearly cost the Government a large sum of money. On the cigarette papers issued by the tobacco Regie the symbol of the Sultan appeared. His majesty was told by a spy that a smoker had thrown his cigarette on the ground and stamped on it. Orders were issued that the papers should be withdrawn. But so immense was the quantity in stock that the officials used the argument of defaced postage stamps in other countries to persuade the Sultan to rescind the order.—London Chronicle.

Markiing Babies.

Aluminium tags are now placed about the necks of babies born in maternity hospitals, with the view of preventing any possibility of a mixup on such occasions as it is necessary to take the infant away from its mother for a time. The tag is secured by a cord of some material which will not scratch the tender flesh and is tied in a triple knot to insure of its permanency when once it has been placed on the child.

Skirted Bachelors.

It was once the custom in Korea that a man was not permitted to attain to the dignity of trousers until he married. A bachelor was forced to wear skirts as one who possessed no definite position in society. Moreover, the law prohibited marriage unless the man was able to support a wife in the station to which she was accustomed, so that the skirt also served as an index to income.

Korean Sages.

No Korean couple would think of marrying without consulting the sage, who fixes the happy day for them. This he does simply by adding the bride's age to the bridegroom's, and, after determining which star rules the destiny of their united ages, he decrees that the wedding shall take place upon the day sacred to that star.

Shipping Facts.

The Canadian Government is building 60 vessels for her national marine service, of 360,000 tons, to cost about $70,000,000; 23 in commission January, 1920; built in fourteen different shipyards.

Eighty-eight vessels were built in Canada for the Imperial Government—46 wooden, 42 steel.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

City and Vicinity

Unexcelled in Canada—Daly's Good Tea—always the same. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

GOODYEAR WELTS.

If you are wearing Goodyear Welted Shoes, be sure to have them repaired on genuine Goodyear machinery at John Henley's, Footbridge gangway. s7-6td

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

AUCTION SALE
(Registered)

At George Hartley's, 243 Albert St. September 16th at 1 o'clock, furniture consisting of parlor suite, rockers dining room suite, sideboard, book-case, hall rack, beds, bedroom suites, carpets, two good stoves, dishes and many other articles. No reserve bids. G.H. Kingsley Auctioneer, Crystal Hotel. 3td

IN A HURRY?

Then let us repair your shoes while you wait. John Henley, foot bridge gangway. 6td

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

G. W. V. A. NOTICE.

The regular meeting of the local G. W. V. A. will be held in the Association Rooms, Front Street, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 15th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested. Come and enjoy a good musical program and interesting debates.

SALE OF SQUARE PIANOS

Square pianos valued at $400.00 to $450.00 to be sold for $50.00 and $60.00. Don't miss this opportunity at Warburton's Music Store, 299 Front St., Belleville. s14-3td

Peaches

The time for preserving good Crawford peaches has arrived. We are getting a fresh car every morning of the best quality Leno baskets. From now on is the best time for preserving. S. Domenico, phone 520. 50 Bridge St. Opposite P. O. s14-dtf

WINTER IS RIGHT AT HAND. WHY BE COLD,

—when a DeMarsh heat generator will increase your hot water heating 30 per cent. It will make your radiators hotter than they ever were and pay for itself in the fuel you save. Every one guaranteed or your money back. Try one now. J. H. DeMarsh, 140 Front Street. Phone 351. 314-5td

SALE OF ORGANS.

Organs valued at from $130.00 to $150.00 to be sold for $50.00 and $60.00. Don't miss this great opportunity at Warburton's Music Store, 299 Front Street, Belleville. s14-3t

STILL COMFORTABLE

Your shoes will still be comfortable after repairing if you insist on having them repaired at John Henley's, West of The Ritchie co. 6td

New And Newest

in looks and serviceability, yet comfortable as old slippers. That's what our shoe repairing does. It gives new life to them without disturbing their old shoe comfort. Don't throw away any shoes, no matter how old or worn. Bring them here and see if we cannot make them wearable again at a fraction of the cost of new ones. Belleville Shoe Hospital, opposite Crystal Hotel. s15 6td

DO IT NOW

How much thought do you give to your child's eyes? One out of every four children has defective vision. Such children cannot do justice to their studies. The eyes of your children to be strong in later years must be taken care of NOW. Consult Alexander Ray, Exclusive Eye Sight Specialist.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

CALLED BY DEATH

JOHN D. POTTER

After being asufferer for a considerable period, Mr. John D. Potter passed away this morning at his late home 12 Harriett street, city. Deceased was 46 years of age and was born in England. For over twenty years he had lived in Canada and for a greater portion of that time in this city where he was favorably known to many. By occupation Mr. Potter was an upholsterer, and had worked at his trade in different concerns in the city. He was a member of the Anglican church. In addition to the widow five children survive, three at home and William of Detroit and Harvey of Toledo.

FINED FOR SUNDAY HUNTING

William Jewell of Peterboro. who whilst hunting on Sunday accidentally shot Mr. William Mellon, a farmer, in the ankle, was summoned before the police magistrate and fined $40 on a charge of hunting on Sunday.

Lithuania has accepted Poland's proposal to send peace delegates to Kalwarya.

The Paris Figaro says the resignation of President Deschanel is only a question of a few days.

Toronto Lea's beat Buffalo in both games of a double-header.

The University of Toronto senior football squad opened their training season.

Miss American won the Gld Challenge Cup by winning at Detroit. She averaged 71.43 miles an hour.

St. Simon's and Ottawa will play a home-and-home series to decide the lacrosse championship of Eastern Canada.

New York funds were irregular, closing at 11 3-16.

Sterling exchange in New York was stronger at $3.47½.

The Prince of Wales while at Panama, will gon on a tarpan fishing trip.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the partnership heretofore existing between Frederick A. Daniels, John V. Connell and Francis Kelleher as foundrymen at the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, carrying on business under the name of "Union Foundry Company," was dissolved on the 1st day of September, 1920, by mutual consent.

The business will hereafter be carried on by John V. Connell and Francis Kelleher under the same name of "Union Foundry Company."

All accounts due the said former partnership are to be paid to the said partners hereafter carrying on said business and all liabilities are to be assumed by said last named parties.

Dated this 7th day of September, 1920.

UNION FOUNDRY CO.,
F. A. DANIELS,
J. V. CONNELL,
F. C. KELLEHER.

s8,15,22

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER of the Estate of William John Allen, late of the Village of Bancroft, in the County of Hastings, Laborer, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 56 of the Trustee Act, R.S.O., 1914, Chap. 121, that all creditors and others having claims or demands against the estate of the said William John Allen, who died on or about the Twenty-first day of September, A.D., 1917, are required on or before the Twenty-ninth day of September A.D. 1920 to send by post, prepaid, or deliver to the undersigned Solicitors for Sarah Ann Allen, the Administratrix of the Estate and effects of the said Deceased, their Christian names and surnames, addresses and descriptions, full particulars in writing of their claims, a statement of their accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after such last mentioned date the said Administratrix will proceed to distribute the assets of the said Deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which she shall then have notice, and that the said Administratrix will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim notice shall not have been received at the time of such distribution.

WILSON, PIKE & STEWART.
39½ Fifth St., Chatham, Ont.,
Solicitors for said Administratrix

DATED at Chatham, this 4th day of September A. D. 1920. s8,15,22

RUB AWAY THE PAIN with "ABSORBINE JR." The pain may come from strained, torn ligaments or muscles—from dislocated or broken bones—from bruise, cut, boil, bone felon—from burns or feet swollen from rheumatism—from all [illegible]

Absorbine J

will heal and soothe. It penetrates deeply yet is harmless to the most delicate tissues. It is a vegetable germicide that destroys germs; is pleasant to use; contains no grease and does not stain.

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists' or sent postpaid by

W. F. YOUNG, Inc., Lymans Bldg., Montreal.

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets
At Any Cost

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Boston, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends. In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing:

"My family use them when ever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

25 cents per box—at all dealers.

Glasses That are Best Suited to You

First, the lenses must be right, or nothing else can be right. Having determined by careful examination and test exactly the lenses needed, Blackburn seeks the style of frames that will be most comfortable and convenient.

One style will suit the person who must wear glasses constantly. Another style may be better for the person who will use the glasses only for close work.

Blackburn's service slights no detail that will be advantageous for the individual who is being fitted.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and
Optician

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Cadbury's Bournville Chocolate

In 15c and 25c pkgs., is an eating chocolate par excellence. Many other lines of eating chocolate besides.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, 3 for $2.50 Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Canadian stocks were firmer, and trading at Toronto was more active.

New York stocks were strong and advanced on the political news from Maine.

McClary's

Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

SINN FEINERS WARNED BY CORK LOYALISTS

Cork, Sept. 14.—The following warning has been posted on lamp posts, signboards and dead walls in this city:

"In some districts loyalists and members of his Majesty's forces have read notices threatening the destruction of their houses in certain eventualities. Under these circumstances it has been decided that for every loyalist house so destroyed the house of a republican leader will be similarly dealt with. It is naturally to be hoped that the necessity for such reprisals will not arise and therefore this warning of punishment, which will follow any destruction of loyalist houses, is being widely circulated."

A PERFECT END OF A DAY.

Cool, comfortable feet, no burning, itching or aching.

That's what Mercury Socks have made possible.

Designed for foot comfort as well as durability! Carefully knit, plenty of foot room, no skimping anywhere to save material—all factors of the Mercury quality.

Tested threads and yarns and permanent dyes are our assurance of durability.

Mercury socks are made in a wide range of materials from the finest silk for dress wear to heavy wool for rough outdoor use.

If your dealer does not carry Mercury hose, send us his name.

MERCURY MILLS, LIMITED, Hamilton, Canada

Makers of Mercury Underwear and Hosiery for Men, Women and Children.

Mercury

Hosiery

The Thirteenth Commandment

By

RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

Mr. Reben had come down from his office to make up his own mind. He smiled with a kind of challenging cordiality and murmured: "So our little business woman is going to open the shop. Well, all you've got to do is to deliver the goods and I'll buy 'em at your own price."

Batterson rapped on the kitchen table that stood on the apron of the stage under a naked bunch of light of glaring brilliance.

"Places, please, for the entrance. Ready? All right, Eldon!"

The noble matinee idol put his hat on the table, walked on, sat down on a divan composed of two broken chairs and read an imaginary newspaper.

Batterson said: "Doorbell! Buzz-z."

A well-dressed young man, whom Daphne recognized as the elderly butler, walked across and opened an imaginary door between two chairs. This was the cue for Miss Kemble's famous "How do you do?"

Everybody waited and watched for the newcomer to make her debut in the new world. Then was a silence. Daphne stood with heels screwed to the floor and tongue glued to the roof of her mouth.

"All right, Miss Kip," said Batterson with ominous patience. "Come on, come on, please!"

Another silence, then Daphne laughed and choked. "I'm awfully stupid. I've forgotten the line."

Batterson gnashed his unlighted cigar and growled: "Howjado! Howjado!"

"Oh, yes! Thank you. I'm so sorry!" said Daphne, and walked on at the wrong side of the chairs.

Everybody shuddered to realize that she had entered through a solid wall. This miracle was ignored, but there was no ignoring the peculiarly ineloquent note she struck when she bowed to the butler and stammered:

"How are you?"

A sigh went through the vast profound and void of the empty theater. Instinct told even the echoes that Daphne did not belong and never could belong. Batterson groaned, tragically.

"Not to the butler, please! Don't say 'How are you?' to the butler. Don't say 'How are you?' to anybody, please. Script says 'Howjado?' Say 'Howjado?' to Mr. Eldon there. Say 'Howjado' to Mr. Eldon there."

"How do you do?" said Daphne, bowing to Eldon and speaking with a soullessness of a squeezed doll.

Eldon rose, folded up his imaginary paper, and came forward with a pitying desire to help her. He hoped that the scared little Kip woman would win through the same bitter trials to the same perilous and always endangered success. But he had a fear.

He delivered her his line with benevolent gentleness. He waited, then gave her her line with exquisite tact. She did not repeat it after him. He said to her:

"Don't be afraid; you're all right."

He gave her the line again and she parroted it after him. She leaped then to a speech several minutes farther on. He drew her back to the cue:

"Pardon me, but I think I have a line before that."

The rehearsal blundered on. It was not Daphne's fright that disturbed the rest. It was her complete failure to suggest the character, or any character.

But Batterson found nothing to amuse him, and Reben tasted that dust and ashes of disappointment with which theatrical managers are so familiar when they bite on the Dead sea fruit of beauty without dramatic talent.

Miss Kemble tried to help. She asked Daphne to step aside and watch while she went through the scene. But she was so unnerved that she forgot her own lines and had to refer to the manuscript, while Eldon waited in acute distress and Daphne, looking on, said: "Oh, I see. I think I understand it now." Then she forgot it all again at the repetition. Somehow the rehearsal was worried through to the end and Batterson dismissed the company with sarcastic thanks. Then he went to Reben to demand a substitute.

Daphne went home, dreading her fate but not knowing what the verdict was. She felt sure that it would be, not guilty of dramatic ability. She was worn out with the exposure of her own faults and uncertain which she feared the more—to be dismissed or to be accepted. The latter meant unending trials.

At the elevator she found Tom Duane. He had just telephoned up to the apartment to ask if she were in. There was a welcome flattery in his frank delight. She asked him up. Tom Duane was electric with cheer. He praised Daphne with inoffensive heartiness and insisted on hearing the history of her progress. She gave the worst possible account of her stupidity. He would have none of her self-depreciation.

"Everything's got to begin," he said. "Some of the greatest actors are bad at rehearsal, and never get over it. Some of the greatest actresses always are at their worst on the first performance. You're bound to succeed. You have beauty and charm and grace and magnetism no end. Don't worry. I'll speak to Reben and make him restrain Batterson. We'll make a star of you yet."

There was a fine reassurance in that word "we" in spite of its pleasant tang of impudence. It gave her strength to go to the telephone and call up Reben. She came back in despair and collapsed on the divan.

Tom Duane was at her side instantly. "You're ill! In heaven's name, what can I do?"

His solicitude pleased her. She smiled palely: "Mr. Reben told me he was afraid I'd better give up the job. He was very polite and awfully sorry, but he said he didn't think I was quite suited to the work. He said that later, perhaps, there might be another chance, but—oh—oh—oh!"

She was crying with all her might. Gradually she realized that Duane's hands were on her shoulders. He was squeezing them as if to keep her from sobbing herself to pieces. His face was close to hers, and he was murmuring:

"You poor little thing. You mustn't grieve. You've to fine and too beautiful for such work."

She flung herself free. "No, no; I'm an imbecile—I'm no good—that's all."

Those big hands were at her shoulders again. That soothing voice was ministering courage and praise:

"You are not no good. You shall succeed! I'll make Reben take you back. I've helped Reben out when he was in trouble. I've lent him money and I'll make him give you your chance. I promise that, on my word!"

She stared at him through her tears. They blurred him in dancing flashes of light as if he were a sun god. She caught his hands from her shoulders, but she had to hold them in hers. She was drowning, and she must cling to whatever arms stretched down to her. She must not question whose they were till she was safe again on the solid earth.

Duane was laughing now and patting her on the back as if she were a frightened child. She felt no right to rebuke his caresses. They were such as a brother might give a sister. His arm about her was that of a comrade, sustaining another in a battle.

He Gave Her a Hand-Grip of Perfect Good Fellowship.

He was the only one in the world who offered her courage and praise and help in her need.

Duane said, with a matter-of-fact briskness: "I'll call Reben up at once. No, I'll go see him."

"But you put me under such obligations. I'm afraid—"

"Never be afraid of an obligation."

"I'm afraid I can never repay it."

"Then you're one ahead. But you can repay me and you will."

TO BE CONTINUED

Two Young Authors.

Two young Canadian authors — a man and a girl — have found the spotlight turned on them of late.

Arthur Beverley Baxter, formerly of Toronto, has been chosen by Lord Beaverbrook, the Canadian peer, as literary editor in charge of the editorial page of Beaverbrook's paper, the London Daily Express.

In order to accept a year's contract with the peer, Mr. Baxter turned down the offer of Sir Charles Greenway, head of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, as manager of the oil firm's publicity department at $10,000 a year. The British Government is the principal shareholder in the oil company.

Mr. Baxter was well-known in Canada several years ago as a singer. When the war broke out he got into khaki, and his talent as a soloist soon swung him into the work of entertaining the British and Canadian troops on the western front. He has recently published his first book, "The Blower of Bubbles."

The other Canadian author is Miss May Wilson, known by her pen name of "Anison North." She is on the staff of the Farmers' Advocate, London, Ont., and has just turned out a novel called "The Forging of the Pikes"—a tale of love, romance and adventure based on Upper Canada Rebellion of 1837, with William Lyon Mackenzie and his men as the lively background. The book has drawn cordial praise from the critics.

Another Canadian, Norman Price, now one of the leading illustrators in New York, designed the cover for the book. It was largely a labor of love, for he is a cousin of Miss Wilson.

Where Janet Excelled.

Rupert and Frank were much smitten with the two little girls who were camping in the cabin next to them. Helen was Rupert's favorite and Janet was Frank's. Unobserved I heard them discussing the merits of each sweetheart.

A Few Weeks Ago We Said: "Hear Miss Sybil S. Fagan!"
DID YOU?

If you did, you were treated to a surprising spectacle. First you heard a great whistling artist perform. Then, if you were very, very, attentive, you may have noticed that the artist suddenly ceased whistling. But the music continued!

The New Edison by the artist's side was playing the same selection—and playing it so perfectly that few if any of you knew the difference. A demonstration of real music magic, wasn't it?

The point we are making is that what the New Edison did to Miss Sybil S. Fagan's whistling it should do in your own home—morning, noon and night. You are entitled to music's RE-CREATIONS of the world's best music by the world's greatest artists.

Why deny yourself longer? Each day you put off securing the New Edison you are running up a bill to Good Music Not Received—and this is the kind of bill you never can pay.

Call us up—now! We'll bring to your home a New Edison and after demonstrating it we'll leave it for you to examine at your leisure. Convince yourself before you purchase—without obligation.

THE NEW EDISON, "The Phonograph with a Soul."

WHISTLING RE-CREATIONS—"Little Whistler"—"Sundown in Birdland."
HEAR AGAIN ON THE NEW EDISON—"Melody in F," rendered so artistically by Miss Fagan

The J. M. Greene Music Co.

The Home of Good Music Front Street

MARRIAGE ANNULLED, THEY TIE THE KNOT AGAIN

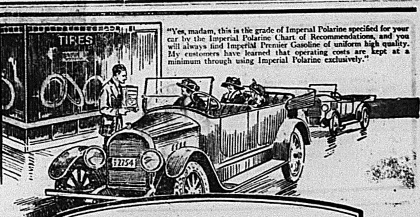
Montreal, Sept. 14.—Word comes from St. Victoire, Quebec, that Napoleon Tremblay and Melvina Despatie, the two principals to the marriage annulment case, which has been before local courts and the Privy Council for years, had been remarried there.

Napoleon Tremblay and Melvina Despatie were cousins, though their common ancestors lived over a century ago.

They were married by a priest without a dispensation as required by the Roman Catholic Church. Upon the petition of the husband in 1912 first the church authorities and then the civil courts annulled the marriage on the ground that as the church law had been ignored it was void. The wife, on the strength of a fund subscribed by sympathizers in Montreal and Toronto, appealed against the annulment from the Superior Court here to the Privy Council. The decision of the latter body is expected any time. Recently Tremblay intimated to the parish priest at St. Ours, where his wife was born, that he was anxious to get a dispensation so that he could be regularly married to her.

For the first time since America entered the war German immigrants are allowed to enter the United States.

Many of the flimsy charges in the Grenville election trial have been dropped.



"Yes, madam, this is the grade of Imperial Polarine specified for your car by the Imperial Polarine Chart of Recommendations, and you will always find Imperial Premier Gasoline of uniform high quality. My customers have learned that operating costs are kept at a minimum through using Imperial Polarine exclusively."

Reduced Operating Costs

IMPERIAL Polarine reduces automobile operating costs in many ways. By providing a piston-to-cylinder seal which assures maximum power. It helps to save friction waste in every moving part, keeps the engine running smoothly and out of the repair shop and minimizes depreciation.

Imperial Polarine prevents friction by coating every wearing surface with a heat and wear-resisting oil film. It seals all the power in the piston chamber. Imperial Polarine gives correct lubrication to every part of your car.

One of the three grades described below is specially suited to your motor. Look for the Imperial Polarine Chart of Recommendations when you buy oil and learn which grade to use.

Imperial Polarine is sold in sealed gallon and four-gallon cans, 12½-gallon steel kegs, steel half-barrels and barrels, by dealers everywhere. There is an appreciable saving in buying half-barrels and barrels.

IMPERIAL Polarine
MAKES A GOOD CAR BETTER

IMRERIAL POLARINE (Light medium body)
IMPERIAL POLARINE HEAVY (Medium heavy body)
IMPERIAL POLARINE A (Extra heavy body)

A GRADE SPECIALLY SUITED TO YOUR MOTOR

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED
Power - Heat - Light - Lubrication
Branches in all Cities

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

For the coming season we are exceptionally well prepared to meet your requirements in the line of Curtains, Drapes, Chintzes, Rugs, Mats, Oilcloths, Linoleums and Window Shades.

CURTAINS—Our showing of curtains comprises Laces, Voiles and Marquisettes and Nets, in excellent patterns and all new designs. By the yard can be had all styles of Nets, Voiles, Marquisettes and Madras. We have an extensive showing of all the new Nets, which will surely interest you if you are needing new curtains.

DRAPES—For Drapes you may have Madras, Repp, Chintz or Velour in colorings of green, rose, brown and blue. We specially recommend our John Brown's Madras, which we are showing in lovely color combinations as well as plain colors.

CHINTZ—We have all the new and popular cloths, suitable for coverings, hangings, etc., in all colorings, and 26 to 50 inches wide, priced from 40c. to $4.00 per yard.

RUGS AND MATS—Axminster, Brussels, Tapestry and Union Rugs and Mats in all sizes, from the small door mat to the large room rug, and all moderately priced. Inspect our showing of these before you buy.

WINDOW SHADES—We can make your window shades in any size and color you may require. In stock we carry both plain and duplex blinds in white, cream and green, with or without insertion.

We make no charge for measuring and estimating on Window Shades and Linoleums.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store

Phone 553

ALASKA SABLE

This is one of the most practical furs on the market, for, besides being of rich appearance and giving good service, it is most reasonably priced.

It is a fur that lends itself readily to the fashioning of neck pieces cut on the most up-to-date designs.

We are showing some beautiful pieces in STOLES, SHAWL THROWS and SILHOUETTE COATEE styles made up of strictly No. 1 New York State Sable at prices ranging from $60.00 per set up.

Come in and have a look around. A visit will be appreciated.

DELANEY

Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.

Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE

CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY

PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

HARVEST THANKSGIVING

Harvest Thanksgiving service was held on Monday evening the 13th inst. in St. John's Anglican Church, Point Anne. The church was very prettily decorated and the musical part of the service was splendid. The Rev. J. Cantrell (rector), preached an appropriate sermon.

FOUR ARRESTS BY POLICE

Belleville police placed under arrest last night four young French Canadians on suspicion of being connected with a robbery which occurred at the C.N.R. station at Springbrook some nights ago. The baggage room was broken into and some tobacco and other articles were taken. The parties apprehended were Aime Clarke, Raney Labrock, Paul Gerieby and Arthur Martin. The two former are also charged with the theft of a coat the property of Elliott Collins, whose coat was taken whilst he was at work on the Provincial highway west of the city limits. The coat was recovered by Sergt. Naphin and Constable Vanmeer. The accused were remanded to jail by Magistrate Masson for a few days as the case was not in readiness to be proceeded with.

HANDSOME TROPHY.

There is on exhibition in the window of Symons' Ladies' Store, Front street, a handsome silver cup, presented for annual competition in rifle shooting to the Public School Cadet Corps by the merchants of the city. The cup, which is suitably engraved, should be an incentive to the members of the various corps to try and excel in this branch of their cadet training. In the competition for the year 1919-20 the trophy was won by the corps of Queen Victoria School.

CHEESEMAKER DIES.

Pitt William Strong, aged eighty-three, who died at his home in Brockville after a long illness, established the factory system of cheese manufacturing in Leeds county in 1864 and was one of the pioneer cheese manufacturers of Canada. Born at Even's Mills, New York, he came to Brockville when a young man, and later owned cheese factories at Delta, Soperton, Roseville, and elsewhere. Many patents of important types of cheese factory equipment still in use were held by him. His wife alone survives him.

PLAN TO CHECK SPEEDERS.

At its meeting Monday night the Brockville Town Council decided to hire a motorcycle plainclothesman to augment the police force in a fight to reduce speeding, reckless driving, and the accident risk on the streets. Police Magistrate J. A. Page has issued a warning that convicted speeders will be fined the maximum on appearing before him, and drastic action is promised by the Police Department.

BOYS' SKULL FRACTURED.

Wm. McKan, aged 10, of Kingston, is in the General Hospital with a fractured skull and may not recover. He had ridden on horse-back after the cows as was his custom, and had been thrown off. When he did not return search was made and he was found unconscious by the roadside.

MILK RULING SCORED.

The Board of Commerce order regarding the price of milk in Toronto was scored by E. H. Stonehouse of Weston, speaking at a meeting of the Brockville District Milk and Cream Producers' Association. He said that members of the board, not being practical dairymen, had no knowledge of the cost of production of milk or of the conditions facing the dairying industry. He gave credit to the National Dairy Council for its work in having milk excluded from the recent increases in express rates, which would, he said, save the dairymen $240,000. A resolution alleging injustice to the cheese producers of eastern Ontario in the new freight rates was passed. The resolution pointed out that the rate for cheese was increased and the rate for milk was not increased. A resolution approving of the efforts of the Ontario Milk and Cream Producers' Association to establish the principle of collective bargaining was also passed.

DESTRUCTION BY LIGHTNING.

Lightning caused almost the total wreck of the spire on the Gananoque Anglican church, and the destruction of the barns and other buildings of Bruce Shaw, a farmer of Leeds township, six miles northeast of this town, near Marble Rock, in the terrific thunderstorm which visited that section recently. Mr. Shaw lost his season's crop and farm implements in the fire.

SUMMER

ASTHMA—HAY FEVER

—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—

RAZ-MAH

brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.

Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE

William Rickwood, Harry Moyes and Harold Ryan, three strangers in this part of the country were this morning placed on trial before Judge Deroche. The charge was that on the 27th of August between York and Brighton village they broke into a G. T. R. box car with the intent to steal. As a result of the investigation the trio were acquitted. They will, however, have to remain in jail for a few days as they were by the magistrate committed for 30 days as vagrants. Mr. Carnew for Crown, Mr. C. A. Payne for the accused.

LIQUOR THE CAUSE?

A long list of previous convictions spoiled any chance Vincent Griffin might otherwise have had of Magistrate Denison giving a favorable answer to his appeal for another chance to redeem himself, and Griffin, who had grabbed a man's tiepin on a Toronto street and bolted, was sent to Portsmouth Penitentiary for two years. To escape part of a sentence Griffin enlisted, but in England he continued his criminal habits and was arrested there. He attributed all his troubles to liquor. Griffin was recently arrested in Belleville and taken back to Toronto.

Fall Assizes Open Here Next Week

The fall assizes open here on Monday next before the Honorable R. M. Meredith, Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas. The civil cases entered for trial are as follows:

Jury Cases.

Roe vs. O'Connor—Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff; I. A. Humphries for defendant.

Roe vs. Leonard—Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff; I. A. Humphries for defendant.

Roe vs. Riendeau—Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff; I. A. Humphries for defendant.

Akey vs. Hydro-Electric Power Commission—Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff; W. C. Mikel, K.C., for defendants.

Larkin vs. Goodfellow—Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff; Ponton & Ponton for defendant.

Fuller vs. Peterson—Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff; Harrington, Warner & Grange for defendant.

Fuller vs. Scott—Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff; Harrington, Warner & Grange, for defendant.

Adams vs. Farrell (Assessment)—W. C. Mikel, K.C., for plaintiff.

Tobe vs. Moldaver—O'Flynn, Diamond & O'Flynn for plaintiff; Johnston, McKay, Dods & Grant, for defendant.

Non-Jury Cases.

Ketcheson vs. Gartley—Wm. Carnew for plaintiff; Porter, Butler & Payne for defendant.

Wedding Bells

BONISTEEL—ROSE

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, September 8th at 10.30 o'clock, 6 Line of Sidney at the home of Mr. William Rose, when his adopted niece, Miss May Rose became the bride of Mr. Colin Bonisteele of the 3rd Concession of Sidney.

The bride entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her uncle to the accompaniment of the wedding march, played by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Wilmott Rose, the bride looking very dainty in her gown of pale blue Duchess satin and georgette, trimmed with crystal trimmings, as she took her place beneath the bridal arch.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. Wallace. Miss Ada Bonisteel, sister of the groom acted as maid of honor while little Elsie Rose acted as flower girl.

After the marriage ceremony and congratulations the wedding party sat down to a sumptuous dinner. The gifts to the bride were many and costly showing the esteem in which the young couple are held.

The groom's gifts to the bride and maid of honor were pearl necklaces, to the flower girl a ring and to the pianist a brooch.

The happy couple left amid a shower of confetti and good wishes for Toronto, Buffalo and Rochester, N.Y.

They will be at home to their friends after the 15th of October on the 3rd Line of Sidney.

POPULAR IN DENMARK

A letter just received by the Salada Tea Company from their agent in Denmark conveys the news that the Royal Households of His Majesty the King of Denmark, Her Majesty the Queen Dowager Louise, Prince Harold and Prince Valdemar are using "Salada" Tea. This, of course is exactly the same kind of tea that is used throughout Canada and the United States.

Former Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria is living at Mergentheim.

Quebec Man And Wife Give Facts

Feel It Their Duty To Tell Others About Tanlac, States Cote

"Both my wife and I have derived so much benefit from Tanlac that we feel it our duty to tell others about it" said Gaudias Cote, 137 Broiseau street Quebec.

"For a good many years I was in a run-down condition with stomach trouble. Everything I ate upset me, I had the worst kinds of headaches and got so weak that I could hardly work.

"Tanlac gave me a splendid appetite and I can eat a good square meal and not have any trouble with my stomach afterwards. I quickly picked up strength and am now feeling so much better that I can do my work without getting tired.

"My wife was in a badly run-down condition, too. She had indigestion and could eat very little, and had become so weak she had to lie down much of the time. Her nerves, too, were in a bad state.

"When she saw what Tanlac was doing for me she tried it, too, and is not troubled with indigestion now and is so much stronger that she can do her housework without any difficulty. Her nerves are quiet and she says she feels better than she ever did before in her life."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Dickson, Campbellford, Ont., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Helen, to Dr. Fred de F. Free, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Free, Campbellford, Ont. The marriage will take place quietly early in October.

Mr. E. H. Tickell is in Toronto on a business trip.

Veteran Ted Yeomans, who was injured in the motorcycle accident, is showing a slight improvement, as he is recognizing some of his friends.

Miss Howden, of Detroit, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Chas. Wilmott, Avondale.

Mr. Hugh Stevenson, Provincial factory inspector, a former resident of Belleville, is in the city on business.

Mrs. Wilmott and her house party motored on Saturday, to Newcastle to attend the Wheeler-Galbraith wedding.

Mrs. James W. Hall, 40 Catharine street, city, announces the marriage of her daughter Anna M. Gawley of Hartford, Conn., to Mr. W. F. Hornsby of Boston, Mass. The marriage is to take place on October 2 at 2 p.m. at Bridge Street Methodist Church.

1td-1tw

Mrs. P. McGinnis of this city is visiting relatives and friends in the country.

Mr. Leo McGinnis is spending the week at Ottawa Fair.

Called By Death

MRS. JOHN MORTON

Mrs. John Morton, an aged lady, well known in the city, passed away Monday evening at the family residence, 75 North Front street. Deceased was 75 years of age and lived in this vicinity all her life. She was a member of the Methodist church. Her husband predeceased her some years ago. Four daughters survive, namely Mrs. Albert Morton, Carleton Place; Mrs. Thos. McElrath, Penville, Minn.; Misses Elizabeth and Anna at home. Obsequies

MRS. HARVEY CLARE

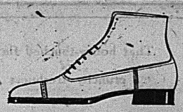
The funeral of the late Mrs. Harvey Clare of this city took place yesterday and many relatives and friends were in attendance. Rev. Dr. Cleaver of Bridge Street Methodist Church conducted the services assisted by Rev. Mr. Brown. Interment took place at Thomasburg cemetery. Many floral tributes were evidences of sympathy. The bearers were relatives of deceased.

MRS. THOS. RAMSAY

Rev. Dr. Cleaver yesterday afternoon conducted the funeral services of the late Mrs. Thomas Ramsay at the family residence, College street. Interment took place at Belleville cemetery. Upon the casket were placed a number of floral tributes. The bearers were Messrs. F. A. Thomas, E. G. Fleming, P. S. Robinson, J. Whiffon, W. and H. Dougherty.

DRIVER TOOK WRONG ROAD; SEVEN KILLED

Tarrytown, N.Y., Sept. 14.—Seven persons were killed and one seriously injured early Sunday, when an automobile in which they were riding crashed through a railing in a thunderstorm, and fell 20 feet to the New York Central railroad tracks at Dobbs Ferry.



Regal Shoes for Men

We are selling agents for this world known shoe. The latest styles are now being shown in Black and Brown leathers. A shoe for every foot.

Priced at $10.00 and $11.00

TRUNKS AND TRAVELLING GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.

Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.

194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

To Please Our Customers Means to Please You

—if you command our service.

We do not know much about the Hardware business; even less about Dry Goods, little about Drugs. We would be clumsy at Blacksmithing or at Watchmaking; still worse at Dressmaking.

But we do understand

DECORATING

Wallpapers, Paints and Decorative goods, Because that is our business, and we know our business well, having made a study of this particular business for now twenty-five years.

If you fear we do not know just put us to the test; ask a few questions, and if you can tangle us in our own business then we do not know.

Just start the tangle and watch results.

C. B. Scantlebury

DESIGNER & DECORATOR

Teas

OF SUPERIOR QUALITY

New Season's

Fragrant and Delicious

Direct Importations from Ceylon

By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS

In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.

Autumn Opening Days

You are particularly requested to view our New Autumn display of

Dresses

Suits

Coats

Blouses

Skirts

Etc., Etc.

AT

WOTTENS LIMITED

LADIES' WEAR STORE

We Would Be Delighted

—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.

T. Donoahue

232 Front Street.

That honey-touched flavor
and crunchy freshness
of
The Genuine Original

Kellogg's

TOASTED CORN FLAKES

is produced by our special process of flaking, sweetening and toasting the tender hearts of choicest corn.

London the home of Kellogg's

36

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES
REPAIRED
at the
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.,
353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR QUICK SALE — NINETY-FIVE DOLLARS will buy a firstclass registered Jersey Bull, 2 years in spring. Large size. Papers included. Apply Box 92, Trenton, Ont. a15-2td,1tw

FOR SALE—TWO LARGE RUGS; PHONOGRAPH and records, leather chairs, etc. 58 Queen street. 1td

FOR SALE—BABY'S IRON BED. APPLY 58½ W. Moira Street. 1td

FOR SALE — IVORY WILLOW BABY carriage. Also white go-cart. Apply 9, Chatham Street. 1td

FOR SALE—AN ART GARLAND HEATER in good condition. Apply 77 Queen St. a14-2td

FOR SALE—THE BEST LOCATED YARD and stables on Front street. Apply 279 Front street. a14-4td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

MRS. A. HARMAN HAS A NICE SELECTION of smart Fall and Winter Millinery at reasonable prices. 43½ Bridge St. upstairs. a9-6td

FOR SALE—MOTOR LAUNCH, 32 FEET, equipped with 12 h.p. motor, all in good running order. Apply to Geo. Duff, Point Ann Quarries, Ont. a8-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

FARM FOR SALE — CONTAINING 134 acres, more or less, in the township of Ameliasburg, part lot 83 Concession 1, 2 miles from Rednersville. Convenient to school and cheese factory. Will sell stock and implements with farm. Apply Wesley Hager, R. R. No. 1, Rednersville, Ont., on premises. a13 3td,1tw

FOR SALE—TWO AUTOMOBILES—ONE 7-passenger Studebaker. 1 5-passenger 6-cylinder McLaughlin. Grotto's Taxi Service, 142 Front St., Belleville. a13-4td

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—LINOTYPE OPERATOR; ALSO two-thirder to learn linotype operating. Apply to The Intelligencer. d&wtf

WANTED—SMALL FURNISHED HOUSE, with modern conveniences. Possession at once. Apply Box "M," Intelligencer. a10-4t

WANTED—FIREMEN FOR EIGHT-HOUR shift, seven days per week, $27 per week. Apply Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Corbyville. a13-3td

TWO SHIFT ENGINEERS, HOLDING 2ND class certificates—eight hour shifts, seven days per week., $32 per week. Steady work. Suitable house supplied at $5 per month. Apply Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Corbyville. a13-3td

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day or evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o5

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work. References. Chas. S. Clapp. a15-dtf

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1109-10 C. P. R. Building, Toronto. a15-10td

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and lowest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o5

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

GIRLS WANTED, MUST BE OVER 17 years of age. Also young men. Apply The Springer Lock Mfg. Co., Limited. 14-4t

WANTED—GIRL FOR OFFICE: SHORTHAND and typewriting, with knowledge of bookkeeping. Box "A," Intelligencer. a13-2td

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. a8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. a4-d1m

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. P. Robinson, Windsor House. a4-dtf

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. Good wages. a3-dtf

LOST

LOST—PAIR OF BOYS' GLASSES, GOLD rimmed. Reward. Apply H. M. S., Metropolitan Life Insurance Comp., 267½ Front street, Belleville. a14-2td

LOST—GOLD WRIST WATCH, BETWEEN William street and Hospital, on Dundas street. Name on back of watch. Return to 122 Dundas. Phone 1236. Reward. 1t

LOST — AUTO CRANK, BETWEEN COMMERCIAL and Bridge Streets. Finder please return to 56 Catherine St. 1t

TO LET.

TO RENT—BARN—CAN ACCOMMODATE 2 horses or 2 cars for winter. Apply H. B. Lockwood, 149 Charles St. a14-4td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 829. a14-dtf

TO RENT — BEAUTIFUL COMPLETELY furnished housekeeping rooms, kitchen range, all conveniences, rent reasonable, also furnished rooms by day or week. Apply Mrs. C. Richardson, 299½ Front St., or phone 1218. a14-6td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern—possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. a7-dtf

WANTED.

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. a21-dtf

WANTED, IN A PRIVATE HOME A couple of roomers. Apply Box "D," Intelligencer. 1td

WANTED—IN A PRIVATE HOME — A couple of roomers. Apply Box "D," Intelligencer. a15-3td

WANTED—BY A LADY—COMFORTABLE room with board in private family, good locality, from October for the winter. References. Address Box "B," Intelligencer. a15-4t

Wanted!

Expert Mechanics wanted at

RIGGS' GARAGE

a14-4td

Auction Sale.

On the market square 10.30 Saturday—Lister Ensilage cutter complete with distributor pipes—13 inch filler, almost new, only filled 15 silos. No reserve bid.

G. H. Kingsley, Auctioneer,
a15-2td Crystal Hotel

QUEENSTOWN CLOSED TO EASTBOUND LINERS

London, Sept. 15.—Until further notice, "No ship or vessel carrying passengers eastern bound is to enter the port or harbor of Queenstown," says a notice by the British Admiralty printed in the Official Gazette.

The order, which takes effect forthwith, was issued under the Restoration of Order in Ireland regulations.

Emigration Plans Are Now Being Considered For the Indian Empire

THE Calcutta correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor writes: The committee appointed by the Imperial Legislative Council to discuss the colonization scheme with the British Guiana and Fiji deputations met at Delhi recently. Hon. Dr. J. J. Nunan, Attorney-General of British Guiana, and Fiji deputations, a barrister and Indian resident of the colony, were present to outline their scheme and give evidence with regard to it. Mr. Banergee was elected president.

Dr. Nunan said that he represented the Agricultural and Commercial Society of British Guiana. The Legislative Council of that colony had accepted his scheme of colonization and the whole colony supported it, as well as the local Legislature and executive.

The first question to be inquired into was the status of Indians in British Guiana. The deputies said that there were absolutely no racial distinctions whatever, and the Indians had held this equal status ever since they started to emigrate into the colony in 1838. There were also no social distinctions and the Indians and Europeans pulled well together. The caste system prevailed but there was great unity between the Hindus and the Mohammedans. Out of a total population of 150,000 Indians only 1,800 got enfranchisement and the rest were represented by official members; but the reason was that the Indians had not worried themselves about politics, but had confined their activities chiefly to economics. They were, however, the deputies said, a most influential community on account of their thrift and industry.

Dr. Nunan stated that the indenture system had been largely abolished and only a few cases now remained. Seventy-five per cent. of the cultivated land was held by Indians and two per cent. by Europeans, excluding the sugar cane area, 39,000 acres of which were held by Indians and which was largely cultivated by unindentured labor. Local syndicates and companies did not employ indentured labor. It was the sugar planters who employed it and it was they who had most felt its abolition. Of the capital of ten millions sunk in sugar factories and plantations, more than half was British owned and the rest by indigenous people, while the state owned the land. Compulsory education was in force and the younger part of the emigrating population would not suffer for lack of educational facilities, while the teaching was carried on in their own vernaculars and the caste system was kept up.

The object of the Government was to make it into practically an Indian colony and the Government would pass into their hands and they were prepared to face their responsibilities. The deputies said that they were quite willing to accept an arrangement by which, after a year's trial of the scheme, the Government of India should send a deputation to investigate the matter and see how it had worked; and also that there should be resident in the colony a representative of the Government of India to watch over the interest of emigrants.

As regarded the scheme itself they said that £600,000 should be set aside to encourage emigration. The colony had arranged for a regular passenger and cargo steamer service to and from India for the first three years. Not more than 5,000 adults a year would be given free passages. On arrival they could obtain land on easy terms in small or large holdings, or if they preferred government employment they were guaranteed the local rates of pay. This for piece work in the sugar plantations came to three rupees a day, and as the cost of living was 40 per cent. cheaper than the ordinary wage, the earner could save at least one rupee a day, and he would also be provided with housing accommodation. Wages would be controlled by official arbitration boards and rewards of five acres of coast or river land, protected from floods, would be given to families after three years' agricultural work in the colony.

With regard to repatriation the scheme provided that at the request of the representative of the Indian Government any family or individual would be repatriated free of cost, while a proportion would be paid if the request came from the individual himself. Cheap return tickets would be provided and a limited number of professional men, including engineers and schoolmasters, would be given free passages or at very low rates. Guarantees of the continuance of existing privileges could be furnished by the colony and the Colonial Office stating that their policy was a continuance of the political and commercial equality of all races.

Seen In Piccadilly.

A rough little pony in a coster's cart stood near a mansion in Piccadilly on a chilly morning. A pile of logs for firewood was being unloaded and the pony was enjoying the warmth of a somewhat unusual loincloth flung over his back. It consisted of a handsome edging of fur attached to a musquash coat, which was seen to belong to a woman who was shifting the wood, who was coatless while she worked. So the little rough pony was sharing what was known a year ago as "munition overalls"—because these handsome fur coats were the sign and signature of the girl munition workers, whose sudden enormously increased incomes enabled them to realize the ambitions of their life—a fur coat as good as you please. And very handsome they were, and very well they became the owners—and very contented the pony looked.

Nailed at Last.

"Aren't you a bit of a profiteer on these eggs?"

"No," protested Farmer Corntossel. "It's the hen. She insists on the most expensive food in unlimited quantities."

RITCHIE'S RITCHIE'S

Announcing a Preliminary Display of the Season's New and Authentic Modes at Our

AUTUMN OPENING

To be held Wednesday and Thursday

Sept: 15 and 16th

THE MILLINERY PARLORS

will present the most 'chic' collection of Autumn Millinery we ever gathered together, featuring New York styles exclusively

For weeks past our large staff of Milliners have been preparing for this important event, and that the Autumn 1920 Opening Days will surpass all former occasions is a fact we are already assured of. Our millinery buyer has spared no pains in gathering together a stunning array of Fashion's newest ideas direct from the most authoritative style centres, particularly New York.

The exhibit of Fall Modes which opens in the show rooms Wednesday and Thursday offers headwear to suit every tilt and turn of feature. It is a season in which swinging line and soft make-up are triumphant qualities. Panne Velvet, duvetyn, silk, beaver and hatters' plush add to their own softness and silkiness, feathers of every known, and many unknown varieties, chiefly the informal, uncurled kinds that lend themselves to allday wear.

French, English and American originations—creations of our own milliners—reproductions of imported models—it is a showing of immense variety and distinction, offering tailored and dress hats for all needs and occasions.

—Second Floor.

Opening Days in the Front Store

An abundance of the newest Silks and Novelty Dress Goods will be seen at the Dress Goods Counter on opening days. Stop at this department on your way through the store and price the new materials to be worn this season.

New Neckwear, pretty Georgette and Crepe de Chine Collars, Feather Boas, etc. See them as you come in the door. Hosiery, Gloves, Wash Goods, Linens, etcetc., in a strictly new showing worthy of your inspection. Don't fail to visit all these departments.

—Main Floor.

In the Ladies' Ready-to-wear Department A STYLE SHOW

of unusual attractiveness, presenting the very latest in ready-to-wear garments

Never was this department in such complete readiness for the formal opening of any season as for Autumn, 1920. During Opening Days hundreds of women will stroll through the Ritchie Store viewing the new things for Fall, and we don't want one of them to leave the store without first seeing the Fashion display in the Mantle Room. Many new Wax Mannikins will illustrate just how the charming New York Suits, Coats, Dresses, and Skirts would look if on yourself. These will be changed quite frequently and there will always be something new to greet you, so come often.

Suits in Gabardine, Tricotine and Serge are shown in shades of Navy, Black, Brown and Beaver. The coats are tailored quite long with high waists, which give a really longer appearance, and are trimmed, some with fur, others embroidered and braid trimmed. The high button-up collar is a new feature for this season.

The predominating coats for Fall are made of Velour, Silvertone, Duvetyn, Polo Cloth and Broadcloth, neatly tailored and trimmed with fur, Coon, Dyed Opossum and Beaver being the approved trimming for this season.

—Mantle Dept.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS FOR THE HOME BEAUTIFUL --- in a brilliant Display ---

THIRD FLOOR—"TAKE THE ELEVATOR"

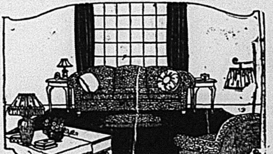
A bigger and more varied collection of new things than ever before awaits you this season in our Home Furnishings Department. Here you will find our attractive merchandise displayed to widespread advantage in the way of Chesterfields, Table Lamps, Floor Lamps, Wicker Furniture, Drapery Fabrics, Floor Rugs, New Window Curtains, etc.

Large Showing of High Grade Chesterfields

This is another special department on the second and third floors, featuring some very elaborate and high grade Chesterfields that have spring seats, hair and moss filling and Marshall spring cushions. They are upholstered in shadow cloths and tapestries and have large roomy Chester Chairs to match. Chairs priced $75.00 to $175.00.

Chesterfields priced $185.00 to $3.50.00.

In our Furniture Department, (second floor) you will find many lines of Wicker Furniture, also living room furniture of quartered oak, fumed and dull finished, walnut, English brown finish, in a host of artistic and novel pieces.



Floor and Table Lamps

When in New York our buyers arranged to establish this new department on the third floor, and they purchased scores of the very latest novelties in Table Lamps and high grade Floor Lamps. These handsome shades and pedestals are now arriving daily, an da very extensive and beautiful showing is no wto be seen in this department. They offer many novel suggestions as to how you can beautify your home at a small expense.

NEW RUGS TAPESTRY, WILTON, AXMISTER and BRUSSELS, specially arranged and displayed for your approval

Pretty Drapery Fabrics

If you have a Drapery Problem, don't fail to see our extensive new range of the following materials for Fall: Sash Madras and Nets, Filet Lace Nets, Art Chintz and Cretonnes, Moire Silks, Plain Edge Madras, English Curtain Nets, Shadow Cloths, Silk Velvets and Velours, Tapestry Furniture Covering, Silk Tapestries, etc.

Mr. Poste, our drapery designer, has recently returned from New York, where he gathered a host of the very latest ideas in modern draping and home decorating. His knowledge and ideas are at your command free of charge, and he will be pleased to go to your home, make suggestions, give estimates, submit samples, without obligating you to buy.

New Window Curtains

Our Curtain Department has the special advantage this fall season of displaying the most distinctive and beautiful collection of Window Curtains that has been our privilege to show. Many new assortments have recently arrived from other original sources—an elaborate display of Nottingham Lace Curtains, Swiss Curtains, Marquisette, Voile Curtains, Madras Curtains. We have also on display dozens of Model Drapes in our Homefurnishing section. All new—all different—in the latest New York styles. While in our store, ask our Drapery Designer, —Mr. Poste—to submit sketches of your needs, which will be done without obligating you to buy.

WHILE IN OUR STORE
VISIT THE MEN'S STORE

THE RITCHIE COMPANY LIMITED

WHILE IN OUR STORE
VISIT THE MEN'S STORE

THE WEATHER
Fresh northwest winds, fine today and on Friday a little cooler.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business [illegible]
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, [illegible]

Help to Chase the Clouds Away The Sunshine Fund Call

GENEROUS CITIZENS CAN DISPEL THE GLOOM CAUSED BY SORROW, SICKNESS AND DEATH — LITTLE CHILDREN CALLING—MANY WANTS TO BE RELIEVED, AND MORE SUNBEAMS NEEDED TO DISPEL THE CLOUDS AND MAKE PROVISION FOR THE TIME TO COME—REMEMBER —BUT FOR THE GRACE OF GOD IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN OURSELVES.

Since the last of August subscriptions have been solicited by The Intelligencer for a fund to provide for a family in urgent need of assistance.

Their need dated back much farther, although the women's organization charged with looking after such cases had been giving them a small weekly allowance, the limit permitted by the regulations and means available.

Mayor Riggs and Alderman Hanna, from the time the position of the family was first made known, have taken a personal and helpful interest in their welfare, and others have helped.

For a long time this little home has been darkened by illness and now the shadow of death hovers over it.

There has been no revenue coming in other than that supplied by generous citizens while expenses have multiplied. There are three little children to provide for and the mother has already accomplished wonders in her hard fight against adversity, working for others in the daytime and doing her household work at night, until the illness of the husband rendered it necessary for her to spend her entire time at home.

Subscriptions received thus far have helped wonderfully, but the many months of adversity behind and the months ahead to provide for require a great deal more money than has been secured up to date. Belleville is rich and prosperous and few there be who can not spare a dollar or two for such a worthy cause. If "he who giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord", there are still a lot of people who have missed the blessed privilege of lending to the Lord, and the rich blessings which accompany charitable acts.

In the Book of all Books is this significant definition of a Christian's duty: "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction."

Many people say that Christianity is not practical—We prefer to think it is practical but somewhat sluggish.

Contributions received thus far to the Sunshine Fund are given below—quite a number of additional sunbeams can be used to advantage:

Contributions.
T. W. L.	$ .50
Geo. Thompson	1.00
J. H. Hanna	1.00
T. Donohue	1.00
McLaughlin Co. and Staff	7.00
Ritchie Co. and Staff	15.00
Dr. Alex. Ray	2.00
Mrs. A. I. Bird	5.00
A Friend	5.00
A Friend	17.00
Mrs. Bert Campbell—Quart of milk daily.
Mr. Shniffer	2.00
A Friend	1.00
E. T. Austin	1.00
Chief Brown	1.00
Robert Orr	1.00
C. F. Cochrane	1.00
A Friend	2.00
A Friend	.50
M. Hatt	2.00
Sympathizer	1.00
Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn	5.00
Hiram Ibey	1.00
S. Rickett	1.00
Warren's Bakery—Bread daily.
H. W. Ackerman	10.00
Vickers' Bakery—Bread.
G. B. Jones	5.00
J. H. Fry	2.00
Miss Emma Bowen	1.00
Well Wisher	2.00
J. P. Huck	1.00
Mrs. J. C. Westley	1.00
Mrs. Wm. Mullett	2.00
Mrs. E. Dobbs	1.00
Mrs. C. J. Bowell—Groceries.
Mrs. P. E. Masters — Provisions and nursing care.
A friend	1.00
C. P. M.	2.00
John Harris	1.00
Mrs. H. Carre	1.00
Every Little Helps	1.00
A Friend	2.00
Tommy Patrick	1.00
E. F.	5.00
Mrs. Cousins	1.00
F. R. W.—Groceries.
A friend	1.00
Emmanuel Church	2.00
A friend	2.00
B. Aselstine	1.00
Sympathizer	2.00
S. O. S.	1.00
Well Wisher	.50
Mrs. F. E. Johnson	1.00
Blue Apron Chapter, No. 4, L. T. B.	3.25
Mrs. Tuite	1.00
Jas. Mather	1.00
Henry Alford	.50
A. T. Cole	1.00

To The Intelligencer Readers

On and after Monday, September 20th, 1920, The Intelligencer will be sold at the following prices:

Street sales by newsboys, per copy	.02
Delivered by carrier in City, a week	.15

The price of The Intelligencer has been only slightly increased in the last two years, while in the last six years the cost of production has increased enormously.

The following table shows some of the increased costs since 1914, taking 100 as a unit.

	1914	1920	Increase
Wages	100	180	80%
Paper	100	300	200%
Other Supplies	100	200	100%

The new price to subscribers represents an advance of about one-third of the increased cost of publication. A proportion of the new rates will apply to all subscriptions due and not paid before the 20th September, 1920.

The only alternative to a higher subscription price would be to lower the standard of The Intelligencer, and the publishers believe they correctly interpret the wishes of their subscribers by maintaining the present standard of

BELLEVILLE'S FAMILY NEWSPAPER

All subscriptions paid before Sept. 20 are payable at the old rate

Wheat Crop Will Yield $700,000,000

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—The present year's wheat crop alone will net the Dominion a sum in excess of $700,000,000 and the exportable surplus to be applied to a readjustment of the exchange situation will approximate in value nearly half a billion dollars. This does not take into consideration the immense crop of oats, barley and flax and the abundance of fruit and vegetables which the present season has given and whose value is great but problematical.

According to Government statistics just compiled, wheat in Canada will this year total 289,000,000 bushels as against 193,260,000 for last season. The oat crop will total 556,000,000 bushels as against 394,000,000 last year. Barley will total 64,257,000 bushels as against 56,000,000 last year and flax will total 11,000,000 bushels.

The first carload of wheat sold on the Chicago exchange netted the owner $2.77 per bushel. The greater portion of the new crop will average round No. 3 and will be of high grade. But, even estimating the average price at $2.50, the amount which the new wheat crop will bring will be in the neighborhood of $700,000,000.

Congress Debates Political Action

Majority of Speakers Are Against Fathering Any One "Ism."

WINDSOR, Sept. 16.—The attitude of the Executive Council of the Dominion Trades Congress against the active participation of the congress, as such, in political activity provoked considerable discussion at Tuesday morning's session. While some of the speakers appeared of the opinion that the congress should go further than merely giving moral support to the political movement, yet the majority supported the view of the Executive Council. The debate on the question was adjourned until Wednesday. The matter was brought before the meeting by Chairman J. W. Wilkinson of the committee on officers' reports, in presenting a recommendation of concurrence. Speaking for the committee, Mr. Wilkinson said: "I cannot see how this congress could launch out on a program of political action without being false to the principles under which the various members came into the trades unions. The policy of the congress has been that any political action should be taken independently and outside of congress."

He pointed out that freedom of thought in political matters was one of the underlying principles of trades unionism. Within the congress there were represented many variant brands of political views. If the congress launched out as a definite political organization, supporters of Socialism, Marxianism, the I.L.P., Liberalism and Conservatism and all the other "isms" would be entitled to demand that their own particular line of political endeavor should be adopted as the official policy of the congress. This would lead to a continual stream of dissension.

It was deemed best that the congress should give every support to the building up of the labor political movement, short of voting funds from the treasury of any group. These funds had been given by trades unionists for trades union purposes.

Anti-Bolshevik Revolution Gains

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—The anti-Bolshevik revolution in the Baku region of the Caucasus is reported to be gaining strength. The Russians, who recently admitted the evacuation of Baku, are said to be still in retreat.

The proposed Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalists, appears to have been definitely held up in order that the Sultan's Government may seek to arrange a compromise with the Nationalists.

CANADA SALMON PACK WORTH $12,000,000

Montreal, Sept. 15.—It is estimated that this year's salmon pack will bring the canners about $12,000,000, the largest sum ever realized for any salmon pack in the history of the industry. The sixty-two canneries operating on the coast are now planning to close down for the season. It is stated that they have already sold the estimated pack of 450,000 cases of sockeye at a total price of $7,000,000, and that the cheaper grades will bring another $5,000,000.

Enforce Policy of Driving out Rabid Extremists

The Labor Congress Is Urged to Do So by a Delegate—Campaign Going On

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 16.—At the conclusion of the Wednesday morning session of the Trades and Labor session it was decided, on the motion of Fred Bancroft, to suspend the ordinary business program Thursday morning at 10 o'clock to listen to the fraternal addresses of J. W. Davidson, representative of British Labor and to the American representatives, the National Women's Trade League and the International Women's League.

The recommendation of the Officers Committee that the sections of the constitutions of the labor unions which provided for the expulsion of "revolutionaries," should be more rigidly enforced, was stressed by J. W. Wilkinson. "We found that this strengthened our scrap with the O.B.U. in the West," he said. It was the only policy to combat the policy of "boring from within," adopted by the O.B.U., I.W.W., and others. "Cleansing the floor of secessionists had resulted in better discipline," he declared.

Government Loans to Settle Soldiers

Amount to End of August Was $76,530,675—19,181 Men Placed on the Land.

Up to the end of August the Soldier Settlement Board of Canada granted loans to 19,181 settlers actually on the land. The amount of loans approved by the board is $76,530,675, for the following purposes:

To purchase land, $41,638,827.

To remove encumbrances, $2,151,275.

For permanent improvements, $8,705,462.

For stock and equipment, $24,035,111.

Alberta has 5,554 settlers actually established; Saskatchewan 4,628; Manitoba 3,170; British Columbia 2,867; Ontario 1,359; Quebec 418; New Brunswick 456; Nova Scotia 387; Prince Edward Island 282.

Applications for qualification certificates have been received from 56,352 returned soldiers, and 40,820 have been qualified.

The total amount saved to soldier settlers on the purchase of equipment is $390,607. This represents the difference between ordinary price lists and special prices granted to soldier settlers

Up to sixth of September, 7,760 returned men have received free Dominion lands through the Soldier Settlement Board.

A statement by the Soldier Settlement Board also shows that 268 soldiers have purchased school lands of an area of 62,672 acres. The board secured an arrangement with the Governments of the three Prairie Provinces by which these lands become available for soldier settlement.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

To Choose a Successor.

Paris, Sept. 16.—The National Assembly will convene at Versailles on Sept. 25 to consider the election of a successor to President Paul Deschanel, according to an official announcement today.

More C. P. R. Steamers.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—Canadian Pacific Ocean Service liners will be increased by approximately seventy-five thousand tons next year, it was announced at headquarters of the company this morning. Three large liners built after the plan of the Melita, and Minnedosa, will be added to the Montreal service next spring. They are the Montcalm, Montmorency and Matapedia.

Railway Rate Appeal

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Appeals against the recent ruling of the Board of Railway Commissioners increasing railway passenger and freight rates will be heard by Cabinet Council on September 29.

WOMAN'S FRANCHISE HAS REAL CATCH

Indiana women must give their age if they want to vote. The Board of Election Commissioners have ruled that voters who registered as being "21 years old plus" must either register again, giving their specific age, or lose their vote.

World Brotherhoods Will hold Congress

Programme of the Congress at Washington Outlined—Gathering of Leaders From Many Lands—By Harry Whitehorn, Special Representative in North America of the "Westminster Gazette."

Canada will be well represented at the Second World Brotherhood Congress, which opens at Washington early on Saturday the 9th of October, and will occupy five days in the consideration of matters vitally affecting the affairs of the people in many lands; but the wide-spread interest that has been aroused in this movement has made it quite certain that Canada generally and the Mother Country will find it hard to exceed the representation that is being sent forward by the United States, the outlying sections of the British Empire, and each widely differing countries as Egypt, France, Turkey and Japan.

Last year at the City Temple, in London, England, over twenty-two countries were represented at the First World Brotherhood Congress; and the quality of the discussion on that occasion has established a record which the leaders at Washington will find it hard to beat. Particularly striking was the address of Dr. John Clifford, the World President, whose work on behalf of the movement in England during the two years that he occupied the National President's chair has endeared him to a circle of friends and co-workers numbering many thousands.

Among the thirty delegates already listed to come from England will be Dr. Clifford's successor at Westbourne Park Baptist Church, the Rev S. W. Hughes. He will address the Congress on the last day of the gatherings, sharing with Dr. John Timothy Stone, of Chicago, the main speaking on the subject of the objectives of the World Brotherhood Movement.

William Ward, the World Commissioner, who is responsible for the centralization of the movement on national lines in the Old Country, has been tireless in his work on behalf of its international activities during the last ten years, and particularly while the war was interfering seriously with religious work throughout the work. The conflict had scarcely begun before the first consignment of Brotherhood relief was sent to Rouen and Lille, and as the devastation of the struggle spread, the helpful arm of the Brotherhood was extended in turn to Belgium, France and Serbia. Mr. Ward will reach Canada within the next fortnight, accompanied by Mrs. Ward, and his address on "The Brotherhood Idea," on Sunday morning, October 10th, should prove a valuable contribution to that discussion.

Brigadier-General Davey, C. M.G. Principal Chaplain to His Majesty's Forces, is another outstanding personality of the Brotherhood Movement in England who will visit Washington next month. He has just been elected National President, and will enrich the Congress debates from the rare fund of experience which he has collected during his work with the Allied Armies in the field. The Rev. R. Moffat Gautrey, who is with the English party, is in charge of the Methodist Mission at East Ham, where a Brotherhood of considerably more than 2,000 men has been long established.

The Rev. W. Hodson Smith, Principal of the English National Children's homes and orphanages, will have an interesting story to tell at Washington concerning the party of eighty refugee Serbian boys and girls who have been the guests of the Brotherhood movement of England under his supervision at Faversham, in Kent, for the past eighteen months. The full period of the stay of these youngsters is three years; they will then return home well grounded in the elements of some useful trade or occupation.

The European delegation will also include the Rev. Herbert Dunnico, General Secretary of the Peace Society; Pasteur Henri Nick, founder of the Lille Brotherhood; Mr. W. G. Thonger, member of the French Brotherhood National Council; Mr. Ben. C. Spoor, Labor M. P., in the British Parliament; Mr. W. F. Toynbee, President of the London Brotherhood Federation, and the companion of Mr William Ward in many of his visits to Belgium, France and Serbia.

Every day brings additions to the Canadian delegation, which included Dr. T. Albert Moore, Canadian Brotherhood President; Mr. Thos. Howell, Associate Secretary for North America; Ex-Controller J. O. McCarthy, Canadian Brotherhood Treasurer, and many other well-known workers in the movement.

The delegation from the United States will include Dr. Relvix Harlan, of New York, Dr. Frank Shelby, of Philadelphia; Mr. Frank Morrison, American Federation of Labor; Bishop McConnell, D. D., of Pittsburg; Dr. W. F. Weir, of Wooster, Ohio; Dr. S. Z. Batten, Philadelphia; Mr. Raymond Robbins, Chicago; and the Chaplain-in-Chief of the United States Army.

In Canada the Congress arrangements are in charge of Mr. Thos. Howell, at 405 Kent Building, Toronto, and, with the help of Mr. Williamson who is representing Mr. Howell in Washington, there is little doubt that the Second World Brotherhood Congress will be a great success from every point of view.

Miners Living Conditions Absolutely Wretched

STARTLING REPORT OF FEDERAL ROYAL COMMISSION ON CONDITIONS AFFECTING NOVA SCOTIA MINERS—RECOMMEND IMPROVED HOUSING AND INCREASED WAGES.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited.

HALIFAX, Sept. 16.—Living conditions of Nova Scotia miners, with few exceptions, are described as absolutely wretched and a menace to themselves and to their families, in the report of the Federal Royal Commission which recently considered them and the demands of twelve thousand miners in eastern Canada for salary increases, which is published today. The report recommends a number of improvements in the housing of miners and also wage increases of one dollar a day for day men and twenty cents per ton on all tonnage rates. The increases are practically the amounts demanded by the men. Both mine owners and men are urged to co-operate for the purpose of increasing the output of the mines.

Thirty Killed in New York Explosion

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A terrific explosion which rocked all of lower Manhattan occurred at noon outside the office of J. P. Morgan & Company on Wall street. Several persons were killed and many others injured. Officials of the company denied the first reports that bombs had exploded in the Morgan building.

Thirty Dead

New York, Sept. 16.—At 1.30, an unofficial estimate of the dead was thirty with the number of injured estimated at two hundred. Broad street hospital reported that two hundred persons had been treated for injuries. Doctors were summoned from all over the city. Various opinions are given as to the cause of the explosion, the police inclining to the theory that it was caused by a collision of a T.N.T. truck and automobile on Wall street while Police Commissioner Enright was informed by members of the Morgan firm that the cause was dynamite on the street. Members of the police bomb squad on the other hand doubt the accident theory expressing the opinion that a bomb exploded. They said that fragments of metal picked up were being examined in the belief that they have been pieces of infernal machine.

Trading on both stock and curb exchanges was ordered suspended for the day.

The financial district this afternoon presented a scene of greatest demolition. Great patches of blood appeared on the walls of several Wall street offices. Almost every pane of glass in the vicinity was shattered and the streets were covered with glass and fragments of brick and stone blasted from the base walls of skyscrapers. Several persons were hurt in these buildings when missils were hurled through the windows. The front of the Morgan building was demolished and the sub-treasury was badly damaged.

SENDS EXACT TIME TO ALL THE WORLD

Paris, Sept. 16.—The French Observatory has announced a new contact between the Eiffel Tower wireless and the time-finding apparatus, whereby the wireless will be enabled to send the exact time to all the world mechanically. The time will be sent twice a day.

TRAPPERS ARE LEAVING FOR NORTH COUNTRY

Many trappers who have spent a few idle months in Edmonton have departed for the north country and are now in the woods preparing for the opening of the trapping season in November.

Since trap lines are from 75 to 200 miles long, a trapper must have several cabins, sometimes as many as six or eight. He builds these cabins of logs and stuffs the chinks with moss and mud. Working up and down his trap lines in the season when fur is "ripe," he sleeps in the domicile nearest when night comes. Summer is the time when he carries in his provisions and distributes them among his cabins. He usually freights in his supplies by pack-horses and returns the horses to fur post or settlement.

He buys his supplies at Hudson Bay fur post, either paying cash or taking the goods on credit and paying for them when he brings back his winter's catch of furs. Though the Hudson Bay Company is closing out all its remaining lands to settlers, it still maintains 153 fur posts throughout Canada. In the wilderness country about these posts, trappers are now busy preparing for their winter's campaign.

THE MAD WHIRL OF UNREST

(Toronto World)

Tragic end of Mrs. Pickford the movie actress, in Paris, like many other things, give the world a momentary jolt in a period of unrest, and social joltings of all kinds. It's a pretty mad whirl, and sane people have to sit as far back from it as they can. It will take a greater earthquake than that in Italy to pull the mad world back to moderation.

The way young people throw up situations in the mad condition of unrest after the war is another symptom of the times. Let the job go if it interferes with their pleasure! But there may be a sudden awakening when they discover that the idle will be hunting for work instead of work hunting for people to do it. And yet there are quite a lot of persons now looking for something to do, and Europe, England included, is filling up with men and women seeking work and wages. There's a lot on this side still willing to take wages only.

And there's going to be some kind of a jolt to the women, and the way they are dressing and the way they bear themselves. They are fifty years from 1914—six years back only. Half the girls of the day have broken into womanhood in the war unrest, and most of them absolutely different from the preceding lot. There's a jolt for them!

One of the signs of the time is showing itself in some of the extravagant people having to step down their motor cars—trade for a cheaper, and drive and groom it themselves—or sell out for the winter. And yet there will be more automobiles sold than ever, but they will be more for business and travel and less in the mad whirl. How long this mad whirl is to last no one can tell, but the tire is bound to burst and the car to stop. Nearly all of us need a new set of tires and less speed. The day of slowing down is at hand.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams The Shoeman

McFEE'S EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE" BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

"Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
192 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work

Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City and Vicinity

Unexcelled in Canada—Daly's Good Tea—always the same. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

$450 buys Evens Piano, regular price $650.00. Walnut case; only used a short time. Easy terms. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

$75.00 buys Practice Piano. Terms $7.00 cash, $5.00 per month. C. W. Lindsay, Ltd.

IN A HURRY?

Then let us repair your shoes while you wait. John Henley, foot bridge gangway. 6td

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information may obtain same by applying to: C. A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

SALE OF SQUARE PIANOS

Square pianos valued at $400.00 to $450.00 to be sold for $50.00 and $60.00. Don't miss this opportunity at Warburton's Music Store, 299 Front St., Belleville. s14-3td

Peaches

The time for preserving good Crawford peaches has arrived. We are getting a fresh car every morning of the best quality Leno baskets. From now on is the best time for preserving. S. Domenico, phone 520. 50 Bridge St. Opposite P. O. s14-dtf

WINTER IS RIGHT AT HAND. WHY BE COLD,

—when a DeMarsh heat generator will increase your hot water heating 30 per cent. It will make your radiators hotter than they ever were and pay for itself in the fuel you save. Every one guaranteed or your money back. Try one now. J. H. DeMarsh, 140 Front Street. Phone 351. 314-5td

SALE OF ORGANS.

Organs valued at from $130.00 to $150.00 to be sold for $50.00 and $60.00. Don't miss this great opportunity at Warburton's Music Store, 299 Front Street, Belleville. s14-3t

STILL COMFORTABLE

Your shoes will still be comfortable after repairing if you insist on having them repaired at John Henley's, West of The Ritchie co. 6td

New As The Newest

in looks and serviceability, yet comfortable as old slippers. That's what our shoe repairing does. It gives new life to them without disturbing their old shoe comfort. Don't throw away any shoes, no matter how old or worn. Bring them here and see if we cannot make them wearable again at a fraction of the cost of new ones. Belleville Shoe Hospital, opposite Crystal Hotel. s15 6td

DO IT NOW

How much thought do you give to your child's eyes? One out of every four children has defective vision. Such children cannot do justice to their studies. The eyes of your children to be strong in later years must be taken care of NOW. Consult Alexander Ray, Exclusive Eye Sight Specialist.

All members of the W. C. T. U. are urgently requested to attend a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Friday at 3 p.m. Important business. 1t

BARTLETT PEARS

Fresh carload of Bartlett pears, large Leno baskets about 14 quarts. Will sell while they last at $1.10. Come early and have your choice, these will be the last we have coming. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge St., Opp. P. O. Phone 520. s16-dtf

The Deacon SHIRT

Cut roomy, yet trim—of flannels, drills, tweeds and serges that are soft, yet substantial—made with turned, felled and double-stitched seams, collars in all the popular styles. DEACON Shirts look well, feel good, and wear better.

Every shirt guaranteed—your money back for any defect in material or workmanship. Ask your dealer.

Deacon Shirt Company
Belleville - Canada 38

City & Country

DIVIDEND ON OIL STOCK

Attention is called to the Montreal Oil Company's advertisement in this issue announcing the monthly 2% dividend which will be paid to shareholders of record of September 17th on the 24th inst. This dividend will be paid in New York funds thus giving the shareholders the benefit of the exchange. The Montreal Oil Company paid its shareholders a stock dividend of one hundred per cent. on June 30th last.

TEARING DOWN BIG MILL

Workmen are engaged tearing down the big mill that put Deseronto on the map.

TO HAVE CHARGE OF ATHLETICS

Harvard Bamforth left Deseronto for Belleville where he will have charge of athletics at Albert College.

REWARD OFFERED

Warden J. C. Ponsford, of the Kingston Penitentiary received notification from the Department of Justice to the effect that a reward of $100 each has been officially offered by the department for the capture of Griggs and Hilton the escaped convicts who made their getaway from the "pen" three weeks ago.

DAVID IN TROUBLE

Poor old Thomas David, who has been keeping the roads warm between Picton and Kingston for the past thirty years or more, is in trouble again. His home is in Picton, but he is a rambler. He was taken in at the General hospital, Kingston, and given treatment, after which he was discharged. Friday night he created such a disturbance at the hospital that the authorities had to call police constable Beaupre to round him up.—Kingston Whig.

AWARDED $300 DAMAGES

Judge Ward, Cobourg, has handed out judgment in the Oliver v. McCormick legal suit awarding Mr. and Mrs. Oliver $300 damages and costs against Mr. McCormick, Kingston, whose car it is alleged, ran into Mrs. Oliver's vehicle at a Kingston crossing two years ago. Kerr & Kerr were counsel for plaintiff, and Nickle, Farrel & Day, Kingston, for defendants. F. M. Field K.C., Cobourg, presented the brief for defendants. A stay of twenty days is directed, to enable defendant to appeal if he desires.

REREDOS DEDICATED

In Trinity Church, Brockville, a black walnut reredos, the gift of Mrs. E. P. Crawford, Halifax, was dedicated as well as other new church furnishings. The reredos is in memory of the late Very Rev. E. P. Crawford, Dean of Nova Scotia, who was the first rector of the church. Very Rev. Dean Starr, Kingston, was the preacher of the day.

SOCIAL EVENING

Under the auspices of Belleville Chapter No. 55, Order of the Eastern Star, a social evening was given at Johnstone's Academy last night which proved to be an enjoyable affair. A large number were in attendance. The program was varied and interesting, being as follows: Song—Mr. H. Wrightmyer; Social Circle; Waltz; One Step; Fox Trot; Song—Bro. H. C. McKay; Waltz; One Step; Rye Waltz; Lancers; Piano Solo — Miss Valiera Wrightmyer; Waltz; Fox Trot; One Step; Waltz; Bagpipe Solo—"Bonnie Ann"—This selection played by Prof. Albert Johnstone when he won the World's Championship; Song—Bro. John McIntosh, P. P.; One Step; Waltz.

A Tonic Worth While

Do you need a Tonic? Are you out of sorts Have you indigestion, liver troubles, or are your nerves out of tune? If so just try Vital Tablets. They are a wonderful Tonic. They clear the complexion, purify the blood and tune up the whole system. Get a box from your druggist, or by mail from The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Price 50c. a box or 6 for $2.50. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

Dr. McCullough will be at his office 47 Campbell street, every Saturday for consultation on diseases on the eye, ear, nose and throat.

The Thirteenth Commandment

by
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

"How?"

"Let's wait and see. Goodby. Don't worry."

He gave her a hand-grip of perfect good fellowship and went into the hall. She followed him to tell him again how kind he was. As she was clasping his hand again Leila opened the door with her latchkey.

Now there was triple embarrassment. Tom Duane had paid ardent court to Leila before she married Bayard. Here he was in Bayard's wife's home, apparently flirting with Bayard's young sister.

Leila felt all the outraged sentiments of jealousy and all the indignation of a chaperon who has been circumvented. Duane retreated in poor order, Daphne stammered an explanation too brief and muddled to suffice. Then she went to her room.

There her mother found her when she came in later. Daphne had only a faint hope that Duane could work his miracle twice, so she told her mother that she had failed as an actress. She told her bluntly:

"Mamma, I've been fired."

To her comfort her mother caught her to her ample bosom and said: "I'm glad of it. I'm much obliged to whoever is to blame. Not but what you could have succeeded if you had kept at it. But you're too good for such a wicked life. A person couldn't be an actor without being insincere and a pretender, and my little girl is too honest. So now you come along home with me."

"No, thank you, mamma."

Mrs. Kip gathered herself together for a vigorous assault when the telephone rang and the maid brought word that a gent'man wished to speak with Miss Daphne.

It was Duane, and she braced herself for another blow. But his voice was clarion with success.

"I've seen Reben. It's all right. He's promised to keep you on and give you a chance. He says for you to report at the theater at seven-thirty tonight."

And now again Daphne was more afraid of her success, such as it was, than of her failure. But it was pleasant to carry the news to her mother and Leila.

It disgusted them both. They were still trying to dissuade her from continuing on the downward path when a telegram from her father came for her mother:

"Taking beaver arrive Grand Central tomorrow don't meet me love.
"WES."

Bayard was late, as usual, and Leila's temper had just begun to simmer when the door was opened stealthily and a hand was thrust in. It proffered a small box of jeweler's size and waved it like a flag of truce.

Leila rushed forward with a cry of delight, seized the packet and then the hand, and drew Bayard into the room and into her arms.

"This is your apology, I suppose," she said.

"Yes, the apology for being late, and that's what made me late."

Leila was enraptured. She adored gifts and she had the knack of inspiring them. The little square parcel provoked her curiosity. She opened it so excitedly that the contents fell to the floor. She swooped for them and brought up a platinum chain with a delicate plaque of tiny diamonds and pearls on a device of platinum.

Leila ran to Mrs. Kip and Daphne, exclaiming: "Aren't they beautiful? Aren't they wonderful? Aren't they glorious?"

Mrs. Kip and Daphne tried to keep the pace, but once more they could not forget who it was that was raining down gold on this greedy stranger. Their alarm was not diminished when Bayard said to Leila:

"You're not the only one who can open accounts. I started one for those."

He took from his pocket a pale brochure and said to Leila: "That allowance we agreed on, you know?"

"Yes, I know."

"Well, instead of paying it to you week by week I decided to open a bank account for you; so I ran over to this bank at the lunch hour and made a deposit to your credit—five hundred dollars!"

Leila forgot her jewelry for a moment in this new pride. She strutted about with mock hauteur, waving Mrs. Kip and Daphne aside and saying: "Don't speak to me. I am a lady with a bank account."

Mrs. Kip sighed in dreary earnest, "That's more than I ever was."

Leila was poring over her bank book, the blank pages in which so many dramas, tragedies and life histories could be codified in bald numerals.

Her first question was ominous: "Do I have to go all the way down to Broad street every time I want to draw out some money?"

Her first thought was already to attack the integrity of her store.

"No, dearest," said Bayard, "there is an uptown branch, right around the corner. But I hope your visits there will be more for a put-in than take-out. Every time I give you anything I want you to put some of it aside. Maybe some day I'll want to borrow

TO BE CONTINUED

THE TORTURES OF RHEUMATISM

Happily Stopped When He Began To Take "Fruit-a-tives"

3 OTTAWA ST., HULL, P. Q.

"For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism, being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief and thought I would never be able to walk again.

One day while lying in bed, I read about "Fruit-a-tives" the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me."

LORENZO LEDUC.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

GUSS HILL'S MINSTRELS

An event of more than ordinary importance in the theatrical world is the announcement of the coming of Guss Hill's Minstrels at Griffin's tonight, for one night only.

Theatregoers are promised the most pretentious production ever offered in the history of minstrelsy. A sumptuous scenic investiture, a gorgeously costumed first part, a performance teeming with novelties and countless surprises, a score of sweet-throated singers and a regiment of skillful dancers, in addition to a brilliant array of famous black-face comedians. Minstrelsy is the one and only genuine American form of entertainment. A typical minstrel show, such as Mr. Hill has conceived, blends the charm and glamor of the bygone era with that of the more advanced ideas of minstrelsy, in which the old "King Jazz" plays an important part. There are fifty people in this mammoth organization.

REX BEACH'S GIRL FROM OUTSIDE"

"The Girl from Outside," a Goldwyn picture by Rex Beach which comes to Griffin's tomorrow night and Saturday matinee and night, is a real tale of that northwest which its author knows so well. It deals with the adventures of a young girl whose father dies on the trip to Nome, Alaska, where he is going to recuperate, he hopes, his shattered fortunes. June, his daughter, lands an orphan in a land which "knows only one type of woman"—hard-living, hard-fighting—an orphan in a land in which innocence and honesty is an exotic flower. From the outset of her entrance into the town her destiny is shaped by the friendship of "The Curly Kid," a young crook, and four scalawag friends, and the enmity of Denton, a gambler. Later she meets Harry Pope, a local capitalist, and her romance begins. Her friend "the kid" lends her the money to open a hotel, which Pope also helps to finance. June is utterly ignorant of the real character of one of her partners, but eventually he confesses and she sets him and his four chums (all of whom have fallen in love with her) on the path called straight. Meanwhile Pope's happiness is seriously threatened by Denton's possession of an option to which the gambler has forged a codicil lengthening its term. June's lover has foolishly gambled away money which he honestly believed he would be able to restore but which Denton's chicanery prevents his doing. How "the Curly Kid" sacrificed himself to the interests of June and the man she had given her heart to, and how Chow avenges the death of his master by killing Denton, and how the scalawags go straight is the engrossing theme and climax of a surprising picture.

Charles Hutchison in "The Whirlwind," a 2-reel comedy, an Outing Chester Travelogue, and other interesting plays will also be shown on the same program.

DIED

POTTER—In Belleville on Wednesday, September 15th, 1920, John D. Potter, aged 46 years.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, 12 Harriet street, tomorrow, Friday, at three o'clock. Service at the house at 2.30 p.m. Interment Belleville cemetery.

Don't be surprised when you find POSTUM fully as delicious and satisfying as coffee. Thousands before you have found it so.

"There's a Reason"

SINCLAIR'S

"Extremely Smart" Describes the New Fall Suits

To mention the smart lines of these modes is merely to hint at their full beauty. They just seem to fit in to the days of Autumn. Here are Suits of Serge and Tricotine, while duvetyn repeats itself in many of the models. No need to attempt to describe them all—one could not do justice to their originality and the many charming ways in which rich embroidery and fur trimming have been brought into play. We invite your inspection.

Autumn Blouses

When Suits are more than ordinarily important, is it any wonder that the new Blouses are of absorbing interest. And they merit your interest, for we are sure a more representative assortment of the smartest modes is hard to find. Modes of Georgette Crepe, Taffeta, and Satin are tailored or elaborately adorned with beading or embroidery, as the fancy wills.

Prices from $2.50 to $15.00.

Silk Petticoats
IN SUIT TONES.

Silk Petticoats, comfortable and of the proper width are shown in what you will find most interesting assortments. The ruffles or bands of contrasting fabrics are effectively applied in their flounces. They are made of messaline, taffeta, and jersey silk. Priced $5.00 to $16.50.

A Raincoat

—may be classed among the necessities of the Autumn wardrobe. These Raincoats will keep out all the rain and at the same time have a very smart appearance. Don't put off your purchase. Have one in readiness for the next rainy day. You will find the prices to be very moderate.

Marabou Ruffs

A light weight Marabou Ruff will prove a very comfortable wrap for the coming cool days and when it is as stylish as these are it is sure to find a place in the well dressed woman's wardrobe.

Priced from $8.50 to $27.50.

Save the Apron Spoil the Frock

—many women might be heard to exclaim, and a truer warning never was spoken. It is but a matter of a moment to slip one of these handy affairs over your new frock, and its all-covering expanse will prevent any portion of the garment it covers from being spotted. In neatly patterned percales at $1.00 up.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train; flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

FALL FOOTWEAR

A new pair of shoes will add considerable to the appearance of your new costume and the styles we have in stock will be sure to please. Colored shoes will be quite popular again this fall and we have a good variety. Here are two popular sellers:

Black Calf Brogue Oxfords, Goodyear welt soles, a real smart shoe - - - $9.00

Brown Brogue Oxfords, extra heavy soles - - - $12.00

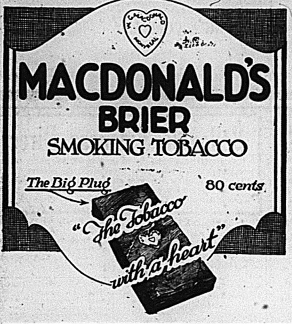
We have high shoes in black, brown and grey calf or kid leathers and with French or military heels, prices ranging from $5.00 to $12.00.

Holmes & Murdoff

BELLEVILLE TRENTON



MACDONALD'S BRIER SMOKING TOBACCO

The Big Plug 80 cents

"The Tobacco with a heart"

Five Crooks Loved a Girl!

When alone and friendless she came into frozen Alaska to mould her destiny among men who knew no law save that of their own making. The "Wag Boys," crooks all, had befriended and protected her.

Then they all fell in love with her.

And then followed one of the most powerful and absorbing train of events that the screen has ever seen.

Goldwyn presents

REX BEACH'S

GREAT DRAMA OF THE NORTH

"The Girl from Outside"

Whirlwind—2-Reel Comedy—Outing Chester—Others.

GRIFFIN PICTURES

DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F GRIFFIN

TOMORROW & SATURDAY

COMING MONDAY—TOM MIX in his greatest play—"THE TERROR."

☛ GRIFFIN'S TO-NIGHT

GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS

6—BIG STARS—6 50—PEOPLE—50

Three Hours of Solid Fun, Sweet Singing, Skillful Dancing, Unsurpassed Black-Face Comedians and a Wealth of original features.

PRICES—25c. to $1.50. SEATS NOW SELLING.

LEADER OF GAY SET KILLED IN PARIS

Paris, Sept. 16.—Jean Guitry, son of the famous actor, Lucien Guitry, was killed in an automobile accident on the Deauville-Paris road while riding in a car driven by Letellier, proprietor of Le Journal, the great Paris newspaper.

For the first time on record hundreds of habitues of the Paris dance halls are refraining from their customary pleasures in mourning for Guitry, who was the leader of the gay set.

He was twice arrested for the maintenance of an opium den, the finest in Europe. His den was decorated with the most beautiful carpets and bronzes in the world. It was frequented by the aristocracy of Europe and America. Men and women intrigued and laid the most elaborate plans to gain invitations to his night parties, where no one was admitted unless he or she was garbed in sumptuous Chinese robes.

DON'T SPOIL YOUR HAIR BY WASHING IT.

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

◆

BEST HOME TREATMENT FOR ALL HAIRY GROWTHS

(The Modern Beauty)

Every woman should have a small package of delatone handy, for its timely use will keep the skin free from beauty-marring hairy growths. To remove hair or fuzz from arms or neck, make a thick paste with some of the powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be sure you get real delatone.

◆

Sports

RECRUIT'S WILDNESS COSTS HIM AN AUTO

Detroit, Sept. 16.—Lack of control cost Baumgarten, the young righthand Detroit pitcher from the independent Delta League, an automobile yesterday. When he went into the game a member of a prominent motor car company promised him a brand new automobile if he could get Ruth on strikes.

The kid tried with might and main, pitching to what he believed to be the Babe's weakness. He got Ruth down to a three and two count, but there he lost control and the fourth ball sped wide of the plate. The entire Detroit team not in the game stood on the dugout steps and rooted for the young star to put the ball across. He made a plucky effort.

WIN FOR BELLEVILLE

At Deseronto yesterday afternoon a friendly game of lawn bowling took place between two rinks from Belleville and two rinks from Deseronto. In the afternoon the Belleville players won both games and in the evening a win was recorded for each side. A return game will be played here next week.

BASEBALL SUMMARY.

International League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Baltimore	106	43	.711
Toronto	103	46	.691
Buffalo	92	55	.626
Akron	87	57	.604
Reading	64	82	.438
Jersey City	59	90	.396
Rochester	44	103	.299
Syracuse	33	112	.228

Yesterday's Results.

Baltimore......	4	Jersey City . . .	0
*Akron..........	8	Rochester . . .	5
Syracuse........	10	Reading	5

*—12 innings.

Games today—Syracuse at Reading; Baltimore at Jersey City.

◆

TWO GIRLS KILLED BY DEMENTED MAN

New York, Sept. 15.—Miss Sadie and Miss Susie Felter, sisters, who were school teachers in New Brunswick, N. J., died as the result of bullet wounds inflicted by Mike Mazurich, an ex-soldier, known in the neighborhood of Stelton, N.J., where the shooting occurred, as "Crazy Mike."

Seven members comprised the automobile party, which was proceeding through a lonely stretch of road, when the assailant, wearing a British officer's uniform and with an Enfield rifle slung over his shoulder, stood in front of the car and levelled his gun at the group. "You've got something in that car that's mine," said the intruder. The driver protested goodnaturedly. A short controversy followed, Mazurich firing at the group and mortally wounding the two sisters. He was captured later by a posse of soldiers.

Mazurich had stolen the rifle and uniform from the home of Captain Alexander Monroe, of Stelton, late of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. Captain Monroe reported the robbery and identified the rifle.

Mazurich has been known as an eccentric.

Gov't Report On Farm Conditions

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the Agriculture Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

Many farmers are now supplementing pasture with green corn and other feeds.

While some representatives speak of slowness in the marketing of live stock, Hastings reports the shipment of five carloads last week by U.F.O. clubs. Leeds states that a number of bulls and dry cows have been marketed lately, and also some sheep and lambs.

About 1,500 head of cattle were bought last week in the vicinity of Ailsa Craig at prices ranging from $150 to $175 for shipment to Toronto and Buffalo markets.

Norfolk reports that 125 cans of milk are being shipped daily from Simcoe to the new condensery at Courtland at $3.38 a cwt., f.o.b., to the farmer.

Lanark reports that cheese sold on the Perth board on Friday at 26c a lb.

Hogs are selling in fewer numbers than formerly at from $19 to $20 a cwt. Peel, however, remarks that "Millers report an abnormal amount of feed grinding, which indicates heavy hog feeding."

The marketing of grain is comparatively slow, although Essex reports a considerable quantity of wheat and oats being brought to the elevators. Oats are threshing out surprisingly large yields in many parts of the Province.

On the other hand, owing to wet weather and shortness of help, a good deal of grain is still lying out in shocks, which is not improving its quality.

Hay is selling at from $25 to $30 a ton.

Neither red clover or alfalfa are as promising for seed as was expected.

Essex reports that wet weather has been greatly delaying the maturing and harvesting of tobacco.

Some farmers in Eastern Ontario are cutting their corn early to avoid frost.

Lincoln reports that St. John peaches are finished and that the Crawfords are coming in. While peaches have found a ready sale, plums, pears and melons are slow.

Apple pickers are in greater demand in various parts of the Province than for many years.

Middlesex remarks that threshing by the bushel has been paying this season, and cites a case where 400 bushels of oats were threshed in an hour.

So far a great deal of fall plowing has not been done, and most of it has been shallow. Wentworth reports a considerable discing of stubble ground. Middlesex states that a number of tractors are being used.

◆

DANDRUFF IS DANGEROUS

Dandruff is so common that many people disregard its warning and rely on shampoos to keep their scalp clean. This is not sufficient. The dandruff soon returns and shows the presence of the dandruff "germ" which cannot be washed away. The dandruff germ is dangerous because it destroys the life and vitality of the hair root and relaxes the muscular tissues which hold and protect the hair sac. Then the hair gets thin, brittle and dead looking, falls out badly and in time baldness results. To save your hair, the dandruff germ must be destroyed. Here is a simple prescription which you can easily make at home. It is perfectly harmless and will not stain the scalp.

Get from any druggist 6 oz. Bay Rum, 2 oz. Lavona (de composee) and one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix together and allow to stand over night before using. It is not enough to merely put this on the hair. It should be rubbed right into the scalp with the finger tips or a stiff brush. It doesn't take over ten minutes a day and I know of nothing so effective and certain in its results. E. W.

◆

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING

We have all heard this expresion many times and if we only notice, it usually comes from a person with stomach trouble. There is nothing that makes life less worth living than indigestion, dyspepsia, gassy stomach. Poor digestion is one of the causes of constipation. Many lifelong stomach sufferers have had "life made worth the living" by the use of Dr. Bell's favorite prescription. This preparation is not a patent medicine, but a prescription from an eminent English Stomach Specialist. It is for sale only at Doyle's Drug Store at 75c. a bottle.

FREE OF SMALLPOX AFTER 2,976 CASES

Toronto, Sept. 15.—Toronto is free of smallpox for the first time since November 1st, 1919. The last patient was discharged on Tuesday. There have been 2,976 cases, with only 12 deaths, most of these being due to complications.

A Few Weeks Ago We Said: "Hear Miss Sybil S. Fagan!"

DID YOU?

If you did, you were treated to a surprising spectacle. First you heard a great whistling artist perform. Then, if you were very, very, attentive, you may have noticed that the artist suddenly ceased whistling. But the music continued!

The New Edison by the artist's side was playing the same selection—and playing it so perfectly that few if any of you knew the difference. A demonstration of real music magic, wasn't it?

The point we are making is that what the New Edison did to Miss Sybil S. Fagan's whistling it should do in your own home—morning, noon and night. You are entitled to music's RE-CREATIONS of the world's best music by the world's greatest artists.

Why deny yourself longer? Each day you put off securing the New Edison you are running up a bill to Good Music Not Received—and this is the kind of bill you never can pay.

Call us up—now! We'll bring to your home a New Edison and after demonstrating it we'll leave it for you to examine at your leisure. Convince yourself before you purchase—without obligation.

THE NEW EDISON, "The Phonograph with a Soul."

WHISTLING RE-CREATIONS—"Little Whistler"—"Sundown in Birdland."

HEAR AGAIN ON THE NEW EDISON—"Melody in F," rendered so artistically by Miss Fagan

The J. M. Greene Music Co.

The Home of Good Music Front Street

GIVE EVERY VETERAN CHANCE TO OWN HOME

Washington, Sept. 15.—Governor James M. Cox in a statement given to The Stars and Stripes, expresses himself as favorable to such substantial aid to the former service men, as will enable every man who was under the colors to establish himself in a home. He did not see the necessity for a cash bonus, and insisted that the real need was for a home and land. Governor Cox's statement follows:

"It has long been part of my philosophy that every citizen should own his own home. When a man becomes a home owner there ends forever any question of his loyalty, his interest in good government, his sincere participation in the affairs of his country. The men who entered the army, the navy and the marine corps proved their devotion in an hour of need. Now, therefore, it is no gratuity for the country to aid them in becoming home-owning citizens to whom the future of the nation may well be trusted."

◆

JURY OF WOMEN FINDS VERDICT AGAINST SPANKER

Chicago, Sept. 16—A verdict of guilty was returned by the first jury of women ever to sit in the Municipal Court at Indiana Harbor, Ind. Mrs. Anne Mirmak, who appeared in court with her friends, was found guilty on a charge of spanking she administered to Mrs. Anna Maicha and was fined $10 and costs.

All of the jurors reported on time, and the verdict was reached after only ten minutes' deliberation.

Mrs. Mirmak testified she had found Mrs. Maicha in a drug store talking to her husband, but denied having struck her. Mrs. Maicha denied she had any interest in Mrs. Mirmak's husband, and declared the spanking was unprovoked. The jurors sided with her.

ESTABLISHED 1870 S. A. HYMAN & CO. MAKERS OF FINE FURS

50th Anniversary

Hyman's Furs Lower Prices

You will effect quite a saving in buying your fur requirements here

The purchase of selected skins at considerably lower prices than those asked earlier enables us to offer our furs at exceptionally low prices.

You'll find the PRICES of ALL OUR FURS LOWER THAN THOSE ASKED ELSEWHERE, and we can demonstrate that it will pay you to BUY YOUR FURS HERE.

Now is the time to select your furs. We enjoy showing them. Come early and select the furs to please you. They're here

FURS SELECTED NOW will be held for later delivery on payment of a small deposit

S. A. HYMAN & CO.

N. B.—Repairing and Remodeling of Furs receive our careful attention at lowest prices.

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 237 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $5.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added.

FARMERS FAIL TO RESPOND TO MURPHY'S BLANDISHMENTS.

Hon. Charlie Murphy, the Irish representative for a French-Canadian constituency and a Grit of the old school, unforgiving, unrelenting, politics first, last and all the time, was the principal speaker at a meeting in Grenville county called to select a candidate to try and wrest the constituency from Hon. J. D. Reid at the next election. Hon. Charlie talked long and earnestly and boasted that there had never been a farmers' party while the Liberals ruled the roost, because there was no need of it as the Liberals fought for the farmers and the farmers fought for the Liberals and should continue to do so. All of Hon. Charlie's eloquence, however, failed to bring forth a farmer candidate, or any other candidate willing to wear the Murphy little-Liberal colors in Grenville, which should be a warning to the Mackenzie King-Murphy light-in-the-cellar window combination that the farmers have found them out.

PREMIER MEIGHEN PLEASES KINGSTONIANS.

Hon. Mr. Meighen made as good an impression on his recent visit to Kingston as he did at other places in Canada since he assumed the Prime Minister's office. The Kingston Standard, referring to the dinner given to him at the Frontenac Club, says:

"This is the third time for the people of Kingston to have Mr. Meighen as a guest and visitor. Flattering comments have followed his previous speeches, but last night the Prime Minister of Canada made an impression that will live in the memories of his listeners as long as the vital spark lives to sustain recollection. . . . Kingstonians had a chance to hear direct from the lips of the leader of the Government the policy and principle which will prompt him in his administration of Canadian affairs, for in the words of Principal Bruce Taylor, 'there are no loose ends to anything he has to say.' They will have a chance now to decide where their lot and influence shall be cast, and judging from the feeling of all who listened last night The Standard has no hesitation in saying that it is convinced the city of Kingston will decide to support a man like Meighen who in the conduct of the public and political affairs of the great Dominion of Canada is guided only by conscience and principle."

SELF-STARTERS FOR NEW-BORN BABES.

Perhaps it is not generally known, says the Brockville Recorder, but Hastings county possesses one of the richest talcum deposits in the world. Considerable cash has been expended in development and the enterprise must eventually succeed. In fact that old county of Hastings, besides having the best county roads in Ontario, has treated more stir, or the same stir more frequently than any other Ontario county, over its mineral deposits. Besides wonderful stone quarries, it has gold, cobalt, arsenic, iron, etc., and talcum, too!

But something went wrong with the financial works of talcum's selling agents, which has affected the original company somewhat. However, looks as if there was to be a real come-back, for the management are right out to secure a big U. S. trade for the Canadian soothing, smoothing powder. Throughout the entire republic packages of Madoc's talcum is being sent accompanied by this notice:

> "Attention, Postmaster! This package contains a sample of finest natural talcum powder, of no monetary value, mined and milled at Madoc, Ontario, for use in powdering the self-starters and steering gears of new-born babes. This package is intended to reach a family where the stork has arrived or is about to arrive, and anything that can be done to facilitate its prompt delivery will be a benefit and comfort to humanity and will be duly appreciated by the recipient as well as by the sender."

CRISP COMMENT

Potatoes they grow small in Kansas, and they eat them skins and all in Kansas; but in the Bay of Quinte district they grow large and many to the hill. Watch daily papers for further particulars.

× × ×

With all Mackenzie King's babbling about low tariff it is a matter of record that the tariff was higher under the Laurier Government than it is now. And Laurier drove in on a free-trade bus!

× × ×

Rev. David Kidd-Byrne again announces that he is soon to enter into possession of the ten million dollar estate of the late W. G. Byrne, whose daughter Kidd-Byrne claims to have rescued from a Chicago den of vice thirteen years ago. Quit your kidding, Kidd!

× × ×

Free traders and low tariff faddists howl loud and long when bitten by direct taxation in luxury taxes, etc. If their theories were carried out, all of the taxes would come out of their pockets direct, and then there would be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth.

× × ×

Windsor has attained a reputation as being the city of the midnight sun, especially for thirsty joy-seekers from Detroit. It was distinguished for the brilliancy of its Evening Star and now it has added to its journalistic illumination the Morning Sun, published under the same management as the Windsor Evening Star. May the Star and Sun shine in long continued usefulness and prosperity.

× × ×

The statement presented to the tariff commission by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association first points out that, according to the Dominion census 700,000 people are employed in Canadian factorie; that including families and dependents, the factories support 2,000,000 Canadians; that 80 per cent. of the total annual produce of Canadian farms is consumed in Canada; that business and professional men receive part of the benefits of industrial production, and that consequently there is scarcely a family in Canada, directly or indirectly, which is not affected by industrial conditions.

× × ×

The Hamilton Herald says: "It is highly creditable to Premier Meighen that his newspaper enemies, unable to find anything to criticize in what he says, must needs fabricate statements, attribute them to him, and then view them with indignation and alarm. At present they are belaboring him for his imaginary statement that all those who are opposed to his government are nation-wreckers. Of course Mr. Meighen never said anything so silly. It is an invention of the Toronto Globe.

× × ×

There are going to be a lot of divorces in the future based on the plea, "We just can't agree on politics."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

OTHER VIEWS

Evidence of Progress
Washington Post

What a wonderful country is ours! Eighteen thousand schools failed to reopen last year, but just think of the record we made in opening new garages.

If It Were War
Hamilton Herald

Those Sinn Fein extremists who insist that Ireland is at war with Britain would be very badly scared if Britain were suddenly to take Sinn Fein Ireland at its word and go in for real war.

Boo-Hoo
Cincinnati Enquirer

Charles Ponzi, ere we part,
Ere for durance vile you start,
Ere your wizard's robe you doff,
Tell me—where do I get off?
I thought I would get rich quick,
Now I find I am a Hick.
In my wad you've put a dent,
Where's my 65 per cent.?

A Timber Probe Witness
Hamilton Herald

Samuel Marks may be a patriotic and public-spirited citizen, but his testimony against the late Hearst government in connection with alleged timber-limits irregularities would have more weight if it were not known that he has been sore against the Hearst government because certain waterpower privileges of his on the Sturgeon river were cancelled and his brother had applied for a government job and had been turned down.

POET'S CORNER

THE ARBUTUS IN A SOUL

(Dr. Byron Stauffer)

Up in a northern wild I found
A long arbutus trailing o'er a rock;
Its velvet stems held tiny buds of pink,
As fragrant as the rose.
And yet no gardener's hand had guided it,
Nor stirred with spade the solitary spot
Whereon that sweet flower grows.

How seed of such a precious thing
Could ever reach that unfrequented glade,
And twine its roots in such a barren soil,
None but the angels know.
Perchance they gathered from celestial fields
The germs of fairest blossoms which they cast
With lavish hand and unremitting zeal
Wherever breezes blow.

Out in a human wild I found
A deed of kindness done by one whose mind
Had ne'er been touched by church or written creed;
Rough and uncouth was he
And yet in spite of lack in Bible lore
He seemed the Master's Golden Rule to know,
And Christian proved to be.

How love had touched this heathen heart;
How he in his dark haunts had found his Lord,
Whose name had never sounded in his ear,
None but the angels know.
Perchance they fly to cribs in every land,
And sow in hearts of babes the heavenly seed,
That in Earth's most benighted we may find
The sweet arbutus grow.

A LAUGH OR TWO

A Roll-Call Was Necessary

They had many children and father was very absent-minded. The whole family went for a picnic on the river.

Suddenly a small boy ran up and cried out, "Papa, papa! Archibald has fallen into the water!"

"Archibald, Archibald!" repeated the father. Then he turned to his wife "Alice," he inquired anxiously, "have we an Archibald?"

Old Stuff

About the only thing we blame a woman for is that she laughs at the old-fashioned furniture owned by her husband's folks and raves over the antiques in a catalogue.

Too Easy

Hub (in excuse)—Snoring, my dear is the sign of an easy conscience.

Wife—There are times, Richard, when I really wish you weren't so complacent about your past life.

The Life Way

The life way, the strife way, and but one way to go;
The old way, the true way, of bearing each his blow;
The long way, the song way, and after all we've done,
The twilight and the singing stars, the shadows of the sun.

The mad way, the glad way, the way that all feet tread;
The fine way, the high way, and never a "No" be said;
The rough way, the gruff way, and in our time and place
The hope that sends along our path the light of one sweet face.

The strong way, the wrong way, and then to turn and see
The right way, the light way, the bright way glimmering free;
The sweet way, the fleet way, true toil and song and rest
And in the gleam of stars the dream of some one's waiting breast.

IN NEW TAFFETAS

Individual Styles Are the Rule This Season.

Frocks Constructed on Lines to Suit One's Figure, Resulting in Greater Satisfaction.

With captivating crispness do the newest taffetas swish their way to fame, and indeed one needs but little inspiration to create lovely frocks, so simple are the modes and so lovely the materials. Individual styles with lines to suit one's figure are the rule this season.

One frock that was especially designed for the girl with rather plump proportions was really a masterpiece for clever lines. Navy blue with smart touches of brick red and overdrapes of georgette crepe form a pleasing alliance, but it was the model selected that was so appropriate.

This stout figure frock was a long-waisted affair, semi-fitted to the hips, and there completed by a scant two-piece skirt, also of the taffeta. And there was a bit of a frill with a dash of brick red trimming at the square neck.

Over the skirt was a full tunic of the embroidered crepe looped under at the bottom, zouave effect, and finished with an elastic band. As a final note she added a narrow sash to the taffeta and tied it back and allowed the ends to float quite gayly at the bottom of the skirt.

The slimness of the jeunne fille would be improved by a smartly draped frock of taupe taffeta and French blue ribbon. The front of the bodice crosses itself at the breast with religious fervor, but is quite frivolous when it comes to the skirt. It begins demurely with an underskirt of narrow proportions, not too long, and then hangs a looped tunic over it.

The skirt, hip design, and sleeves of this model all have peculiarities which make the dress distinctive. It is made of dark green taffeta with lighter bindings.

TURBAN TRIMMED WITH TULLE

Headgear of Gray Hemp Embellished With Jet Band Forming Veil-like Trimming.

Lewis, of Paris, notes a fashion writer, makes a fascinating little turban, from which tulle floats. It is of gray hemp trimmed with a jet embroidered band of black tulle, forming a veil-like trimming across the front and sides and continuing across the back where it is tied in a wide Alsatian bow.

Another close-fitting hat is of shiny white straw, with a brim turned up in the back and front and extending into Continental points at either side. Just above the points are bright pink roses. Over the crown of the hat is draped a large square veil of black net with an applique of lace. The drapery is gathered to the left side to be swathed about the neck and chin of the wearer.

Not all of the lace trimmed hats are small. One model, which is very large and turned up sharply in the front, has a flowing veil held to the crown with a narrow ribbon.

Some Colors You See.

Egyptian designs and Egyptian colors are leaders for spring, and the dressmakers have gone back to real Egyptian prints and paintings for their inspiration, and the colors that seem to take precedence are chaudron, which is copper color, a peculiar opaque blue, citron color and green. Then there is a second blue that suggests the turquoise. The green is sometimes confused with jade, but as a matter of fact it is lighter and possibly yellower than the color actually seen in Chinese jade.

Tulle Is Popular.

Much tulle is the order of the minute and this is beaded and embroidered in the most intricate fashion, even though the heaviness of the handwork is applied to almost invisible fabric.

Newfoundland Railway Commission instruct conductors to refuse to accept passes. No deadheads to be carried.

Physicians say Deschanel's malady is incurable. It is certain he will resign.

MONTREAL OIL COMPANY
INCORPORATED.
(INCORPORATED UNDER THE LAWS OF TEXAS)
CAPITAL - - - - $1,200,000
Par Value $1.00 All Common Stock, Fully Paid and Non-Assessable.
Offices:—Montreal and Eastland, Texas.
Transfer Agents - - - - - Montreal Trust Company

DIRECTORS
C. L. CAMPBELL, President, Contractor and Mine Operator, Montreal.
J. GILL GARDNER, Vice-President, President The Lang Produce & Storage Company, Limited, Brockville.
JOHN IRVING, Secretary, Sales Manager, Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Company, Montreal.
G. O. JONES, Managing Director, Montreal Oil Co., Texas.
W. A. MANION, Vice-President Windsor Petroleum & Refining Co., Windsor, Ont.
H. F. McLEAN, General Manager, Cook Construction Company, Montreal.
LT.-COL. CLARENCE F. SMITH, President Windsor Petroleum & Refining Co., Montreal.
C. WARFIELD, Gentleman, Prescott.
I. P. WISER, J. P. Wiser & Sons, Limited, Prescott.

SALIENT FEATURES.
(1) The Leases are all in proven oil fields, surrounded by producing wells.
(2) The Company's wells started producing in February, 1920, and up to June 30th had produced approximately 76,000 barrels of oil.
(3) The Company has 2 producing wells, 2 nearing completion and 1 more drilling, with room for 17 additional wells on present acreage.
(4) Net oil receipts, February 22nd, 1920, to June 30th, $97,206.46 (after deduction of all royalties and balances due on producing leases.
Net receipts now averaging about $1,000 per day. This should be increased within the next few weeks, as 2 of the 3 wells now drilling are expected to be completed by then.
(5) The management is in the hands of experienced business men of the highest standing. This insures the stockholders of efficient conduct of the Company's affairs.
(6) The capitalization of the Company is conservative, and its earning power almost unlimited.
(7) The Second monthly dividend of 2% is payable in New York funds Sept. 24th to shareholders of record Sept. 17th.
(8) Application will be made to list the shares in Montreal and Toronto, and an active market is anticipated.

The Montreal Oil Company filed its Statutory Prospectus with the Provincial Secretary of Ontario on March 4th, 1920.

PRICE $1.50 PER SHARE.
We recommend the purchase of this stock as an attractive speculative investment.
Circular mailed on request.

DINNING & COMPANY
Investment Brokers.
MARCIL TRUST BUILDING, MONTREAL.
BELLEVILLE REPRESENTATIVES
S. D. LAZIER, 186 John St. Telephone 180. R. E. LAZIER, 271 Pinnacle St. Telephone 23.

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer
Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

"Say It With Flowers"
Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias
Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty
T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Young Eyes
They are not fully developed and often school work is a strain on them. In many cases children who are backward in studies are unjustly called stupid. Really they are as smart as other children, but a defect in the eye prevents them from seeing clearly. Every child's eyes should be examined by an optometrist at the beginning of each school year.
Blackburn makes a specialty of examining children's eyes.
T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Strong plea for protective tariff by big Winnipeg industries.

Brown House, popular commercial hotel at Aylmer destroyed by fire. Twenty-five guests all escape to safety.

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.40
Leaves Belleville at 8.15
Phone 229 . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 436.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating
Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
81 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 205.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St. Belleville, Ont

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.
UNDERTAKERS
14 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment

EARLE & COOK'S SPECIALS
FOR
Friday and Saturday

10 dozen Grey Turkish Towels, special value ...... 69c. pair
5 dozen White Turkish Towels, regular $1.00 pair .. 89c. pair
6 only White Bedspreads, special $2.69
One piece of White Cotton Huck Towelling, reg. 35c. yard, for .... 29c.
2 pieces of Grey Towelling, good for kitchen wear .. 34c. yard
2 pieces English Oxford Shirting, reg. 45c. yard, for .... 37c.
Noblesse Satin, in black suitable for Underskirts, special, 69c. yard.

McCALL'S MAGAZINE FOR OCTOBER on sale at the Pattern Counter.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody
Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

ALASKA SABLE

This is one of the most practical furs on the market, for, besides being of rich appearance and giving good service, it is most reasonably priced.

It is a fur that lends itself readily to the fashioning of neck pieces cut on the most up-to-date designs.

We are showing some beautiful pieces in STOLES, SHAWL THROWS and SILHOUETTE COATEE styles made up of strictly No. 1 New York State Sable at prices ranging from $60.00 per set up.

Come in and have a look around. A visit will be appreciated.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily
ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

A FREAK POTATO

Mr. Thomas Gillespie residing at 58 Catherine street, is the possessor of a freak potato which he dug from a patch in the rear of his place. It has a close resemblance to a seal having three fins with the necessary claws attached. The freak vegetable was a curiosity to all who saw it.

PRICE OF PORK DECLINES

Mr. R. Empson and son today shipped from here a large number of live hogs. The price paid was $19.50 per hundred weight, a decline of 50 cents over the price paid a week ago.

CRIMINAL CASE AT ASSIZE

At the assize which open here on Monday next before the Hon. Justice R. M. Meredith there is but one criminal case entered. A man named Woodcock of Bancroft is charged with a serious offence. Mr. Wm. Carnew, County Attorney has been requested by the Justice Department to act as Crown prosecutor.

LARGE POTATOES

Mr. E. G. Brown residing on Sinclair street yesterday in digging his potatoes unearthed two whose combined weight was three pounds. One weighed 1 pound 10 ounces and the other 1 pound 6 ounces. They were of the Irish Cobbler variety.

POPULAR APPOINTMENT

Dr. W. Gibson of Kingston has been appointed to the District Deputyship of the Knights of Columbus, and the announcement meets with the hearty approval of all classes of citizens. Dr. Gibson's jurisdiction extends over district No. 2, which includes the Councils of Kingston, Brockville, Belleville Alexandria and Cornwall.

LAMBETH CONFERENCE

Bishop Bidwell who returned to Kingston from England Tuesday afternoon, spent over a day on board the S. S. Metagama after she ran ashore below Montreal. The accident happened about three o'clock on Sunday morning, and the Bishop did not get ashore till seven o'clock on Monday, when taken off the stranded ship by a tender. Several other delegates to the Lambeth Conference found themselves in the same predicament. Speaking of the Lambeth Conference Bishop Bidwell said it was very successful on the whole. Its recommendations had been very well received on every side, especially those in connection with the reunion question.

FLORAL TRIBUTES.

The following were the floral tributes for the late Mrs. Thomas Ramsay, of this city, whose funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon: Gates Ajar—G.T.R. Shop Employees. Cross—Mrs. W. Clark. Wreaths—Miss M. Stapley, Mr. and Mrs. Meldrum, Hart sisters, Mrs. G. Bowler and C. Gardiner. Cross—Husband and children.

Sprays—Mr. and Mrs. A. Gray, Mrs. Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burt, Mrs. T. Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fratt, Mary Way, Mr. and Mrs. R. Stapley, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bowles, Mrs. Binney, Mr. and Mrs. W. Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. D. Stapley, Helen Collins, Mrs. Jas. Thompson.

GRANARY BURST.

Mr. Bert Jewell, a farmer at Linden Valley, near Lindsay, met with a peculiar mishap on Tuesday when his granary burst, allowing 350 bushels of grain to spill into the barnyard. Neighbors assisted in gathering up the grain.

BAND CONCERT

Band concert in the park on Sunday afternoon, weather permitting.

GRAND Z. TO VISIT WEST

Grand Z. W. N. Ponton of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons has arranged to visit the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Manitoba next month, leaving Toronto on October 2 and returning on October 31. The Grand Z. will hold special meetings at the principal points in the two Provinces There will be a meeting at Winnipeg on October 7; Regina, October 14; Saskatoon, October 16; Edmonton, October 20; Calgary, October 22.

TODAY'S MARKET

Quite a number from the country were upon the market today and the chief product offered for sale was garden produce. The ruling price for potatoes was $1 per bushel, tomatoes 90c a bushel and corn 15c a dozen.

BLEW BODY TO ATOMS.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—A special to the Ottawa Journal from L'Orignal says: "While dynamiting for fish in the Ottawa river, near here, Henri Coumette, a returned soldier, aged 24, was instantly killed when in some unknown manner a powerful charge of dynamite exploded in his fishing boat. Though Coumette was alone in the boat, many of the villagers, who were watching to see what luck he might have, saw the terrific explosion which blew his body to atoms. Searching parties have succeeded in finding only a few buttons which belonged to the unfortunate man's coat.

TURKS LACK FRIENDS

NO ONE WILL SAY A GOOD WORD FOR THEM.

Yet the Nation Which Is Now a Hated Outcast Was Once Great and the Men of the Race Have Proved Themselves In the Past to Be Brave and Adventurous.

WHEN there is no publicist to say "a good word" for a country, it must either be very bad or have no friends. Such is the case with Turkey. Nearly every non-Turkish journalist denounces Turkey. She is pictured as a barbarous nation in a state of hopeless decrepitude and utter political chaos. Her association with Germany in the war has created additional prejudice against her. The Armenian massacres have been looked upon as a proof of the murderousness of the Turkish character. And yet much can be said for the Turks, writes Lucion in the Rochester Post-Express. They certainly are a brave people, and if valor could make a race great, they should be viewed as one of the greatest of races. The founders of the Ottoman Empire were only a section of a wandering Turanian tribe. They had for a long time to face bitter opposition from races akin to them in blood or in creed. The Turks believed in the sword, with which the Arabian prophet sought to propagate his religion, but in order to consolidate their empire they had to resort to iron discipline and political organization. The capture of Constantinople by Mohammed II. in the fifteenth century was a remarkable military achievement.

One element in Turkey's Governmental system was the creation of a privileged hereditary class consisting of Christian converts to Mohammedanism. From this class the officers of the army and the members of the administration were selected. The Turkish-speaking Moslems had to be content with the modest career of a farmer, a merchant or a teacher. This state of affairs naturally led to discontent among persons of pure Turkish blood. Selim II. and Murad III. Solyman's successors, were weak rulers. They allowed Turks without education to obtain official positions, and palace intrigues helped to demoralize the Government. The ablest men now ceased to guide the destinies of Turkey. One result of this was that the country's progress was retarded. There was no mechanism for bringing about beneficial changes. Moreover, Vasco de Gama's voyage around the Cape of Good Hope, by causing the world's trade to shift from the Mediterranean to Western Europe financially injured Turkey.

The burden imposed upon the Turks of fighting all Christendom was a severe one, and, as we know, militarism is a two-edged sword. Even if the Polish king, John Sobieski, had not defeated the Turkish army in a terrible battle, it is more than doubtful whether Turkey could have achieved hegemony in Europe in the closing years of the seventeenth century. The leading minds in Turkey saw the need of adopting Western methods. In 1728 a printing press was established in Constantinople, with the help of the Government. Since that time there has been a fierce struggle in Turkey between the old and the new. The reign of the Sultan, Mahmoud II., was one of strenuous effort and reconstruction. He came to the throne when the empire was almost disintegrated. The Janissaires, a powerful military corps, resisted all reforms. Owing to their aggresiveness, the provinces were disloyal to the Sultan. Mahmoud put the axe to the root. He destroyed the Janissaires — a harsh measure, but in Turkey nothing can be done "by halves."

He founded a newspaper. There had already been several newspapers and periodicals in the Turkish language. Sultan Mahmoud in his order for the establishment of a newspaper said that it had long been for him an ideal. He gave it the name of "The Calendar of Events," and the first number appeared on May 14, 1832. An article in this issue stated that it was necessary to make daily events public to avoid misinterpretation of them, and that it would be useful to the people to become acquainted through such a medium with facts about science, the fine arts and trade. A Turkish weekly with the title of the "Register of News" was established in 1843 by an Englishman named Churchill. The Crimean war gave an impetus to the Turkish press. In 1858 a group of intelligent young men, headed by a Turkish general named Husni Pasha, joined together in a demand for a Parliamentary system of Government The attempt failed at the time, but the spirit of progress had taken root in Turkey.

The Young Turk party arose in 1862. Kemal Bey became the leading spirit of the movement. As Turkish newspapers now displayed a tendency to express revolutionary views, a law censoring the press was passed in 1865. As this law had little effect, liberal newspapers were arbitrarily suppressed. The Young Turkish propaganda stimulated a national consciousness which French sympathy sustained. The defeat of France by Germany in 1871 was a blow to Turkish progress. Ali Pasha, a great Turkish statesman of the old school, died in 1871. Russia interfered in Turkish affairs with unfortunate results. Reaction set in. However, Turkish Nationalists were not daunted. Kemal Bey, after a visit to England, established in Constantinople a newspaper called "Admonition." In 1876 there were 47 newspapers in Constantinople, 13 of them being in the Turkish language. It was then that Abdul Hamid's regime, a period of intrigue, tyranny and dark palace games, commenced, since when the Turkish record has been such as to forfeit the respect of the civilized world.

Birth

EMERSON—In Belleville, September 15th, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Emerson, a son. 1td

FAM-LY-ADE
Refreshing!

THE hot, sultry days are here; keep cool by drinking luscious, fruity FAM-LY-ADE. It is made in a few minutes in your own home. Five true fruit flavors. 35c. a tube at grocers and druggists. Each tube contains sufficient FAM-LY-ADE for 32 glasses. Made in Canada by Power-Keachie, Limited, Toronto.

35c. a tube

Ladies May Now Have Beautiful Hair--Doyle Your Druggist Now Sells DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC. and Gaurantees it to Grow Hair, or refund Your Money.

Your druggist is backed up by the manufacturers of "DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC," the Great Hair Grower. It is guaranteed to grow hair.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC destroys dandruff in ten days.

The roots of the hair are so nourished and fed that a new crop of hair springs up, to the amazement and delight of the user. The hair is made soft and fluffy. Like all French preparations DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC is daintily perfumed. It is hard to find an actress who does not use DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC continually.

Ladies of society and influence use no other.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC is a non-sticky preparation, and is the ladies' favorite. Price $1.00. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

Obsequies

MRS. S. V. LIDSTER

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Victoria Lidster took place from her late residence, 4 Concession of Sidney Wednesday afternoon at 1 p.m to Wallbridge Methodist Church, where services were held at 1.30 conducted by Rev. Mr. Wallace of Sidney. Interment took place at Belleville cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful in effect. The bearers were Messrs. Sanford, Reddick, Lewis Bell, Howard, Powers, J. Bowers, Geo. Westover and Peter Graham.

Called By Death

MRS. SAMUEL A. THOMSON

The remains of Mrs. Charlotte Ann Fraleigh Thomson, who departed this life August 26, 1920, at Los Angeles, California, were interred at the Front of Sidney Burying Ground on the afternoon of Wednesday, the eighth instant.

Mrs. Thomson was the wife of Reverend Samuel A. Thomson, D.D., of Los Angeles, who was formerly a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Canada and for many years has been a prominent member of the Southern California Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Thomson left a daughter, Frances, the wife of Dr. Albert J. Fraleigh of Toronto; a son, Archibald Percival Thomson, an attorney of Los Angeles, California, and two brothers, Joseph C. Fraleigh of Uhrichsville, Ohio, and Percival M. White, Esq., of Buffalo, N.Y.

She was born near Picton, Prince Edward County, and was the daughter of George W. and Rachael Fraleigh, and after the death of her father removed to the Front of Sidney with her mother who resided there for many years and will be remembered as Mrs. Rachel Lake, formerly Mrs. Franklin White.

In addition to her son, who accompanied the remains from Los Angeles her brothers and many other relatives and friends attended the services which were held at the cemetery, the Reverend Dr. Mutton officiating.

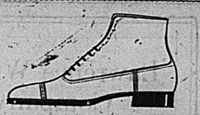
The bearers were S. A. Lockwood, Wilbur Sharpe, Harry Boyce, P. M. White and J. C. Fraleigh.

Social and Personal

Mr. Walter Fanning of Cranbrook, B.C., is spending a few days in the city renewing acquaintances.

Mr. Arthur Blackburn has returned to Philadelphia to take up his studies in the Philadelphia Dental College.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Little of McDonald's Corners, and daughter have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Reid, 76 Queen street. Rev. Mr. Little was in Belleville attending the Presbytery.



Regal Shoes for Men
We are selling agents for this world known shoe. The latest styles are now being shown in Black and Brown leathers. A shoe for every foot.
Priced at $10.00 and $11.00
TRUNKS AND TRAVELLING GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY
The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.
Phone DAY 531

To Please Our Customers Means to Please You

—if you command our service.
We do not know much about the Hardware business; even less about Dry Goods, little about Drugs. We would be clumsy at Blacksmithing or at Watchmaking; still worse at Dressmaking.
But we do understand,
DECORATING
Wallpapers, Paints and Decorative goods, Because that is our business, and we know our business well, having made a study of this particular business for now twenty-five years.
If you fear we do not know just put us to the test; ask a few questions, and if you can tangle us in our own business then we do not know.
Just start the tangle and watch results.

C. B. Scantlebury
DESIGNER & DECORATOR

Teas
OF SUPERIOR QUALITY
New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious
Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke
FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.
Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

WOTTEN'S, Limited.
Autumn Opening Days

You are particularly requested to view our New Autumn display of Dresses
Suits
Coats
Blouses
Skirts
Etc., Etc.
AT
WOTTENS LIMITED
LADIES' WEAR STORE

We Would Be Delighted
—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.
T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

Lawrence Wilson Company

87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES
RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 15 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 8 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 5 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—ONE LARGE COAL HEATER, with oven, in good condition. A White wicker Baby Carriage. 27 Alexander St.

FOR SALE OR RENT, BRICK HOUSE, ALL conveniences, hot air heating, garage, also range, piano and other household articles. Possession at once. Apply 285 John Street. s16-4td

FOR SALE—A RANGE, IN GOOD CONDITION. Apply No. 6 Forin Street, City.

FOR SALE—LARGE McCLARY "FAMOUS" coal heater, with oven, in good condition. A bargain. 18 Green street, off Howard. s16-2td

FOR SALE—TWO LARGE RUGS; PHONOGRAPH and records, leather chairs, etc. 88 Queen street. 1td

FOR SALE—BABY'S IRON BED. APPLY 58½ W. Moira Street. 1td

FOR SALE — IVORY WILLOW BABY carriage. Also white go-cart. Apply 95 Chatham Street. 1td

FOR SALE—AN ART GARLAND HEATER in good condition. Apply 77 Queen St. s14-2td

FOR SALE—THE BEST LOCATED YARD and stables on Front street. Apply 279 Front street. s14-4td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

MRS. A. HARMAN HAS A NICE SELECTION of smart Fall and Winter Millinery at reasonable prices. 42½ Bridge St. upstairs. s9-6td

FOR SALE—MOTOR LAUNCH, 32 FEET, equipped with 12 h.p. motor, all in good running order. Apply to Geo. Duff, Point Ann Quarries, Ont. s8-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE fifth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a16-dtf

FOR SALE—TWO AUTOMOBILES—ONE 7-passenger Studebaker, 1 5-passenger 6-cylinder McLaughlin. Grotto's Taxi Service, 142 Front St., Belleville. s13-4td

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—SMALL FURNISHED HOUSE, with modern conveniences. Possession at once. Apply Box "M," Intelligencer. s10-4t

WANTED—FIREMEN FOR EIGHT-HOUR shift, seven days per week, $27 per week. Apply Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Corbyville. s13-3td

TWO SHIFT ENGINEERS, HOLDING 2ND class certificates—eight hour shifts, seven days per week. $32 per week. Steady work. Suitable house supplied at $5 per month. Apply Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Corbyville. s13-3td

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day or evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—of

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work. References. Chas. S. Clapp. s15-dtf

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1109-10 C. P. R. Building, Toronto. s15-10td

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference. Modern Art Company 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—of

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,400 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G. Toronto. stt—s30

Canadian stocks were firmer, and trading at Toronto was more active.

New York stocks were strong and advanced on the political news from Maine.

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

GIRLS WANTED, MUST BE OVER 17 years of age. Also young men. Apply The Springer Lock Mfg. Co., Limited. 14-4t

WANTED—GIRL FOR OFFICE: SHORThand and typewriting, with knowledge of bookkeeping. Box "A," Intelligencer. s13-2td

WANTED—SALESLADY. ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-d1m

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

WANTED AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. Good wages. s3-dtf

LOST

LOST—PAIR OF BOYS' GLASSES, GOLD rimmed. Reward. Apply H. M. S., Metropolitan Life Insurance Comp., 267½ Front street, Belleville. s14-2td

LOST—GOLD WRIST WATCH, BETWEEN William street and Hospital, on Dundas street. Name on back of watch. Return to 122 Dundas. Phone 1286. Reward. 1t

LOST — AUTO CRANK, BETWEEN COMMERCIAL and Bridge Streets. Finder please return to 56 Catherine St. 1t

TO LET.

TO RENT—BARN—CAN ACCOMMODATE 2 horses or 2 cars for winter. Apply H. B. Lockwood, 149 Charles St. s14-4td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 879. s14-dtf

TO RENT — BEAUTIFUL COMPLETELY furnished housekeeping rooms, kitchen range, all conveniences, rent reasonable, also furnished rooms by day or week. Apply Mrs. C. Richardson, 299½ Front St., or phone 1218. s14-6td

TO LET—MOST DESIRABLE AND COMFORTABLE residence, West Bridge and Commercial Streets. Thoroughly modern—possession November 1st. Apply C. B. Scantlebury. s7-dtf

TO LET—SIX ROOM HOUSE, ALL CONVENIENCES, on Dufferin Ave. Also flats to let. Apply Dr. Caldwell. s16-6td

WANTED.

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

WANTED, IN A PRIVATE HOME, A couple of roomers. Apply Box "D," Intelligencer. 1td

WANTED—IN A PRIVATE HOME — A couple of roomers. Apply Box "D," Intelligencer. s15-3td

WANTED—BY A LADY—COMFORTABLE room with board in private family, good locality, from October for the winter. References. Address Box "B," Intelligencer. s15-4t

Wanted!

Expert Mechanics wanted at

RIGGS' GARAGE

s14-4td

FELT SUPERSEDES HIGH SILK HAT

Paris, Sept. 15.—The "Clemenceau Hat," destined to replace the silk and opera hats for evening wear by men, is the latest rage of Paris. The hat, which is modeled after that regularly worn by the "Tiger", is a large black felt creation with narrow brim and a triangular crown. It can be crushed into the pocket of an overcoat. Since the war, silk hats have been less and less in evidence in Paris, many well-known men preferring the derby or a simple straw.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. T. Ramsay and family wish to thank their friends for sympathy shown them in their recent bereavement, the loss of a loving wife and mother. 1td

Auction Sale

On the market square 10.30 Saturday—Lister Ensilage cutter complete with distributor pipes—13 inch filler, almost new, only filled 15 silos. No reserve bid.

G. H. Kingsley, Auctioneer,
Crystal Hotel

s15-2td

Two Wounded Soldiers in Gaol

Had No Money to Pay Fine for Infraction of O. T. A.

> "In vain doth valour bleed
> While avarice and rapine > share the land."—Milton.

Confined in the Belleville jail are two heretofore respectable returned soldiers, both having been gassed and both seriously wounded overseas. One carries a silver plate in his head where he was wounded, which renders him less able at times to control himself. Three of his brothers loved honor more than they feared death and gave up their lives on the battlefield. He is a widower and has two children to support. The other soldier enlisted at the beginning of the war, August 10th, 1914, was wounded twice and gassed and has a wife and two children to support.

Each was sent to jail because he did not have $121.50—so that it really is a crime to be poor. The two soldiers met, got some whiskey, drank it on the street the night of Sept. 13, became intoxicated, were fined, didn't have the money to pay the fine, so heroes all that they were, they had to go to jail. They were not sent to jail for being intoxicated or drinking the liquor, but for not having the money.

Mr. Mikel, their counsel, intends to apply to the Attorney-General of the province and ask him to advise the Lieut.-Governor to exercise executive clemency and pardon them. Unless this can be done or some kind citizens pay their fines they will stay in jail for two months and come to face the approaching winter in a destitute condition. Mr. Mikel hopes to get the G. W. V. A. and the various labor organizations of the city to assist by getting petitions signed and in other ways.

No fault is found with the police, license inspector, crown attorney or police magistrate. They were simply carrying out the law on the rigid lines recently urged by the Attorney-General.

Anyone who desires to help can do so by getting in touch with Mr. Mikel.

One soldier turned to his lawyer as he was leaving for his cell and said: "Do the best you can for me, but if you can't get me out I can do my duty as I did on the battlefield."

KILLED AT TORONTO

While attempting to couple two freight cars in the railway yards at the foot of John street, Toronto, yesterday afternoon, Robert Kerr, aged 30, of 771 Tecumseh street, a Grand Trunk brakeman, had his head crushed between the cars and instantly killed. Several of Kerr's fellow-workmen witnessed the accident. The victim was a son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kerr of Uxbridge and was known here. His wife was formerly Miss Sadie Taylor of Belleville, a young lady, who was well and favorably known in this city.

NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR

Mr. C. A. Keeber, the new physical director of the Belleville Y.M.C.A. has arrived in the city and arrangements are now under way preparing class schedules for the fall and winter season. Mr. Keeber has just returned from Antwerp where he acted as trainer for the Canadian Olympic team. He is an athlete with an excellent record and as a teacher of athletics is unsurpassed. He has been in Y.M.C.A. work for some time, being one year in Oshawa and five years with the West End Y.M.C.A. Toronto as physical director. Mr. Keeber has all the certificates and medals for proficiency of the Royal Life Saving Society and will specialize on the teaching of life saving in addition to general athletic training.

NAPANEE FAIR

A number from this city were yesterday in attendance at the Napanee Fair which was largely attended. The programme presented for the entertainment of the visitors was all that could have been desired. The exhibits are extensive and of a high order. Many were much interested in the speeding events which were well contested.

Mr. F. H. Deacon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Deacon of this city, left yesterday to attend St. Andrew's College at Toronto.

Cadbury's Bournville Chocolate

In 15c and 25c pkgs., is an eating chocolate par excellence. Many other lines of eating chocolate besides.

CHAS.S.CLAPP

RITCHIE'S RITCHIE'S

Announcing a Preliminary Display of the Season's New and Authentic Modes at Our

AUTUMN OPENING

To be held Wednesday and Thursday

Sept. 15 and 16th

THE MILLINERY PARLORS

will present the most 'chic' collection of Autumn Millinery we ever gathered together, featuring New York styles exclusively

For weeks past our large staff of Milliners have been preparing for this important event, and that the Autumn 1920 Opening Days will surpass all former occasions is a fact we are already assured of. Our millinery buyer has spared no pains in gathering together a stunning array of Fashion's newest ideas direct from the most authoritative style centres, particularly New York.

The exhibit of Fall Modes which opens in the show rooms Wednesday and Thursday offers headwear to suit every tilt and turn of feature. It is a season in which swinging line and soft make-up are triumphant qualities. Panne Velvet, duvetyn, silk, beaver and hatters' plush add to their own softness and silkiness, feathers o fevery known, and many unknown varieties, chiefly the informal, uncurled kinds that lend themselves to all-day wear.

French, English and American originations—creations of our own milliners—reproductions of imported models—it is a showing of immense variety and distinction, offering tailored and dress hats for all needs and occasions.

—Second Floor.

Opening Days in the Front Store

An abundance of the newest Silks and Novelty Dress Goods will be seen at the Dress Goods Counter on opening days. Stop at this department on your way through the store and price the new materials to be worn this season.

New Neckwear, pretty Georgette and Crepe de Chine Collars, Feather Boas, etc. See them as you come in the door. Hosiery, Gloves, Wash Goods, Linens, etcetc., in a strictly new showing worthy of your inspection. Don't fail to visit all these departments.

—Main Floor.

In the Ladies' Ready-to-wear Department A STYLE SHOW

of unusual attractiveness, presenting the very latest in ready-to-wear garments

Never was this department in such complete readiness for the formal opening of any season as for Autumn, 1920. During Opening Days hundreds of women will stroll through the Ritchie Store viewing the new things for Fall, and we don't want one of them to leave the store without first seeing the Fashion display in the Mantle Room. Many new Wax Mannikins will illustrate just how the charming New York Suits, Coats, Dresses, and Skirts would look if on yourself. These will be changed quite frequently and there will always be something new to greet you, so come often.

Suits in Gabardine, Tricotine and Serge are shown in shades of Navy, Black, Brown and Beaver. The coats are tailored quite long with high waists, which give a really longer appearance, and are trimmed, some with fur, others embroidered and braid trimmed. The high button-up collar is a new feature for this season.

The predominating coats for Fall are made of Velour, Silvertone, Duvetyn, Polo Cloth and Broadcloth, neatly tailored and trimmed with fur. Coon, Dyed Opossum and Beaver being the approved trimming for this season.

—Mantle Dept.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS FOR THE HOME BEAUTIFUL --- in a brilliant Display ---

THIRD FLOOR—"TAKE THE ELEVATOR"

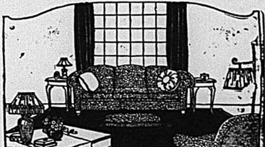
A bigger and more varied collection of new things than ever before awaits you this season in our Home Furnishings Department. Here you will find our attractive merchandise displayed to widespread advantage in the way of Chesterfields, Table Lamps, Floor Lamps, Wicker Furniture, Drapery Fabrics, Floor Rugs, New Window Curtains, etc.

Large Showing of High Grade Chesterfields

This is another special department on the second and third floors, featuring some very elaborate and high grade Chesterfields that have spring seats, hair and moss filling and Marshall spring cushions. They are upholstered in shadow cloths and tapestries and have large roomy Chester Chairs to match. Chairs priced $75.00 to $175.00.

Chesterfields priced $185.00 to $3.50.00.

In our Furniture Department, (second floor) you will find many lines of Wicker Furniture, also living room furniture of quartered oak, fumed and dull finished, walnut, English brown finish, in a host of artistic and novel pieces.



Floor and Table Lamps

When in New York our buyers arranged to establish this new department on the third floor, and they purchased scores of the very latest novelties in Table Lamps and high grade Floor Lamps. These handsome shades and pedestals are now arriving daily, an da very extensive and beautiful showing is no wto be seen in this department. They offer many novel suggestions as to how you can beautify your home at a small expense.

NEW RUGS TAPESTRY, WILTON, AXMISTER and BRUSSELS, specially arranged and displayed for your approval

Pretty Drapery Fabrics

If you have a Drapery Problem, don't fail to see our extensive new range of the following materia's for Fall: Sash Madras and Nets, Filet Lace Nets, Art Chintz and Cretonnes, Moire Silks, Plain Edge Madras, English Curtain Nets, Shadow Cloths, Silk Velvets and Velours, Tapestry Furniture Covering, Silk Tapestries, etc.

Mr. Poste, our drapery designer, has recently returned from New York, where he gathered a host of the very latest ideas in modern draping and home decorating. His knowledge and ideas are at your command free of charge, and he will be pleased to go to your home, make suggestions, give estimates, submit samples, without obligating you to buy.

New Window Curtains

Our Curtain Department has the special advantage this fall season of displaying the most distinctive and beautiful collection of Window Curtains that has been our privilege to show. Many new assortments have recently arrived from other original sources—an elaborate display of Nottingham Lace Curtains, Swiss Curtains, Marquisette, Voile Curtains, Madras Curtains. We have also on display dozens of Model Drapes in our Home-furnishing section. All new—all different—in the latest New York styles. While in our store, ask our Drapery Designer, —Mr. Poste—to submit sketches of your needs, which will be done without obligating you to buy.

WHILE IN OUR STORE VISIT THE MEN'S STORE

THE RITCHIE COMPANY LIMITED

WHILE IN OUR STORE VISIT THE MEN'S STORE

PAGES 7 TO 10

The Daily Intelligencer.

PAGES 7 TO 10

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITYIN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1920.

Overseas Trade Made Us Prosperous

Overseas Trade Will Keep Us Prosperous

To maintain our overseas trade Canada must have sea-conscious spirit

—In the People
—In the Government
—In the Schools

Canadians must not be hewers of wood, drawers of water for other nations.

Canadian Ships Must Carry Canadian Products to World Markets

The Navy League of Canada

MUFFINS —always tasty

Muffins cold and muffins hot—Eagle Brand gives them a distinctive, pleasing flavor.

Eagle Brand is excellent for cake and confections of all kinds—for breads—and wherever milk and sugar are used.

THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED

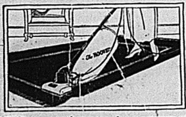
"The milk that saves the sugar"

Our recipe booklet free

Borden's EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK

8-820

TO THE RESCUE



The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.

THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : : .

The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.

THE HYDRO SHOP

AN HISTORIC BLUNDER

NOVA SCOTIA HAS ANCIENT COAT OF ARMS.

Charles I. Granted Original Design to Little Scottish Colony, But by Some Mistake It Was Not Adopted at the Time of Confederation, and Nova Scotians Are Now Agitating For Its Restoration.

THE Nova Scotia historical societies are interesting themselves in a movement for the restoration of the original armorial bearings of that province in place of those adopted at Confederation. Most Canadians are unaware that in 1621 King James I. of England, and VI. of Scotland, as King of Scotland, and purely as a Scottish measure, granted to Sir William Alexander (afterwards Earl of Stirling) the territory now forming the whole of the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island, and parts of Quebec and of the present State of Maine, on the sole condition of paying "annually "one penny of Scottish money, if so much be demanded," the purpose of the grant being that Sir William might carry out a project he had in mind of making of this vast territory a New Scotland in America, as there was already a New England and a New France.

The story of Sir William Alexander and his efforts to carry out his great project is beside our present purpose. It all came to little enough at the time, but bore fruit as we know long after. Royal encouragement to the scheme given by King James was continued and amplified by his son and successor, Charles I., and among other marks of favor the last named sovereign made a grant of arms to Nova Scotia in these terms: Silver, a cross of St. Andrew blue with an inescutcheon of the Royal Arms of Scotland. Crest, on a wreath a bunch of laurel and a thistle issuing from two hands, the one hand being in armor and the other naked. Supporters, on the dexter side the royal unicorn silver, horned, maned, and hoofed gold, imperially crowned, gorged with an open crown and chain affixed thereto and reflexed over the back fold. On the sinister side a savage man proper. Motto (over the crest) "Munit haec et altera vincit." The shield of Scotland, blue, with a white cross of St. Andrew, was thus, counter-changed to white with a blue cross for New Scotland.

Later, as a separate act, the baronets of Nova Scotia were given the privilege of using this same shield, with its inescutcheon as their badge or coat of arms. An idea got abroad somehow that the shield was theirs primarily, and only "borrowed" by the province for its sea, etc., when in later times "Nova Scotia" became a reality. The shield, however, belongs primarily and by royal authority to the country and not to the Knights Baronet of Nova Scotia. Its use by their Order was a different matter altogether, and with quite different concomitants.

But the mistake referred to accounts no doubt in some measure for what took place in relation to the provincial coat of arms at the time of Canadian Confederation. The ancient arms were then found "in possession" in this province. They were displayed in the doors of the Provincial Building, and are to be seen there still, and in the old Great Seal of the province. But at the time of Confederation the origin and authority of these arms had been forgotten. It was thought that the province had little ground for using armorial bearings which (as was supposed) belonged in reality to an order of baronets. The record was not looked for in the right place, namely, in the Lyon Office in Edinburgh, were it might have been found, and so the College of Heralds in London, supposing no doubt that the field was clear, proceeded to prepare arms and a new seal for Nova Scotia as a province of the Dominion of Canada, not moved thereto by the provincial authorities of the day, but in opposition to their wishes. The new Great Seal was received in December, 1869, but was neither welcomed nor adopted nor proclaimed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, but pigeon-holed, and left unused for years afterwards.

If the provincial authorities had known the strength of the case for the old arms it is reasonable to suppose that they would have held out stoutly against any change, but they gave way at length and allowed the matter to go by default in favor of the new order.

But even then the ancient arms did not go wholly out of memory. The shield is still to be seen, not only on the old office doors in the Provincial Building, but on odd pieces of jewelry of much later date, and the full achievement appears on the Bank of Nova Scotia $10 notes, of the issue of January 2, 1919! In this last case the Indian sinister supporter is shown in a sitting posture and the unicorn charging around the dexter side of the shield—the shield itself is of a shape characteristic of the period of debased heraldry and is wrongly marked red! All these details are wrong, but the interesting fact remains that in casting about for a suitable design for its notes the Bank of Nova Scotia selected the ancient rather than the modern arms of the province. The historical societies of Nova Scotia now ask the rectification of the blunder committed when the ancient and lawful arms of Nova Scotia were supplanted by a new and commonplace design of a salmon and thistles.—L. M. Fortier, in Toronto Saturday Night.

Columbus received a salary of $300 a year as commander of the expedition which discovered America.

Light on the Matter.

"This paper says that the human body containing sulphur."

"In what amounts?"

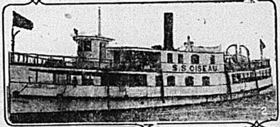
"Oh, in varying quantities."

"Well, that probably accounts for some girls making better matches than others."

A Strange Fire.

A pile of blankets for a hospital left for several hours on the back porch of the home of Mrs. Cecil Clay, Belfast, was set on fire by the sun's rays passing through a large carboy of spring water, behind which they were placed.

Some Beauties of the Ottawa River



(1) The Hotel Pontiac, Fort William, Province of Quebec. In front is a sandy beach and behind the pine trees.
(2) The Steamer Oiseau, plying the Ottawa River from Pembroke, Ontario, to Fort William, P.Q., and other points.
(3) On a natural seat on Fort William Beach.

Fort William, Pontiac County, Province of Quebec, is a lovely spot along the Ottawa river, and yet it is not so well known as it should be.

On one side of the Ottawa river is Petewawa training camp, and just across the water Fort William lies by the side of a forest of magnificent pine trees. Since the war Fort William has become better known, for thousands of Canadian soldiers who prepared for fighting at Petewawa were there, and they did not forget to tell their friends of its loveliness and the happy hours they spent around it.

You may reach Fort William, Quebec, by a variety of ways: You may get off the C.P.R. train on the main line at Petewawa railway station, then go for two miles across Petewawa Camp grounds to Petewawa village. At the village you may take a boat to the opposite side of the river and you are in Fort William.

Or you may go to Fort William, Quebec, from Pembroke, Ontario, by a more direct route. The Pembroke Transportation Company runs the SS. Oiseau from Pembroke to Des Joachims at regular intervals, a distance of about 20 miles, calling at Petewawa village, Fort William and other points. The fare for this trip is small, and the trip itself is most enjoyable, the scenery being beautiful, and on a hot summer day the breezes blowing along the wide lake-like Ottawa river are refreshing as sea winds.

It would indeed be difficult to find a prettier spot than Fort William, Quebec. The place looks like an inland seaside, for here there is a beach miles in length, and sandy as a sea strand. The crystal waters of the Ottawa river gently lave the golden fringes of their bed. In summertime children play in the sand and dig holes just as they do at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea. Age and youth walk together by many flowery paths. The bathing beach is safe, shallow at the shore, but you can go out into any depth you wish, for the Ottawa has a deep heart.

The river is dotted with islands. Motor boats, rowing boats and canoes ply its waters. Sometimes you may see a barge tugging a floating mass of logs to some distant mill.

The Hotel Pontiac, owned by the genial Chris. McCool, is the soul of Fort William. The hotel stands beneath towering pines; in front is the golden strand, then the river, and beyond the river the gentle Petewawa hills, which often resound to the firing of the big guns used by the soldiers training in the open country. There is a most distinct echo in this district. If you laugh or talk in a loud voice the hills will surely laugh and talk back to you.

From the Hotel Pontiac shady walks radiate in many directions. It is a nice walk from the hotel to the Beaver Dam. In the fruit season you may gather thousands of blueberries and wild raspberries on the way.

"Slow sinks, more lovely ere his race is run,
Along Fort William hills the setting sun."

Thus Lord Byron, who wrote an immortal poem on the sunset in Greece, might have written about a Fort William sunset had he seen one. The sunset at Fort William is beautiful as the sunset in Greece or anywhere. It is a marvel of beauty. Those who look on it never forget the scene. Sol goes down beyond the Petewawa hills in a robe of deep crimson, lighting up the waters of the Ottawa with its hue. The beams dart their silver among the islands. The landscape is all solemn. At that time it seems as if Nature, in worship of her Creator, is taking a great heavenly Host into her breast. Many watch the sunsets at Fort William from the log seats on the beach. Many logs that escape from the lumbermen find a resting place at the river side and make comfortable natural seats for the tourists.

Fort William, Quebec, is a romantic spot. It is the ideal place for those who are newly wed, or for those who are wooing. Everything here is peaceful and beautiful—the logs on the beach may have been cast there by nature so as to afford seats on which lovers may rest while telling their tales. Squirrels and chipmonks in hundreds in the woods play on the trees above your head, and the voices of the birds are seldom silent.

Fort William, too, is a place endeared by sweet memories. Thousands of soldiers who trod its paths, bathed on its beach and danced in the dance hall at the Hotel Pontiac now sleep in foreign fields.

There are frequent steamer excursions from Pembroke to Des Joachims and return. The steamer always takes some of the Fort William folks aboard. Not far from Fort William is the Oiseau Rock, famous amongst the Indians and local people. The Rock is 400 feet high. Beneath it the Ottawa river is 400 feet deep. There is a little lake on top of the rock. The story is still told of how in the long ago the Indians were assembled on this rock when an eagle came and bore away a papoose to the consternation of all assembled.

Fraser's Landing is a place where the Indians used to sell their goods to the fur dealers. It is a setting out point for lumbermen, trappers and hunters.

Des Joachims is the last post of call for the steamer. Here there is a half hour allowed for any who wish to visit picturesque waterfalls in the vicinity before starting their return journey.

Fort William is historic, for it was a trading post before railways were built, and when the early French explorers were going towards Western Canada they left their footprints here.

The Ottawa river affords good trout fishing. Deer and moose roam in the woods. Beaver and other fur bearing animals are plentiful. There is also good partridge shooting.

M. A. H.

Constant Headaches

EVERY headache has a meaning—and you should heed this warning of nature, if you would avoid more serious complaints. A headache frequently points to the failure of the kidneys to perform their natural functions.

Gin Pills remove both headaches and cause, by restoring the kidney action to normal. If you let the cause go unchecked, you may incur years of suffering, with frequent attacks of backache, bladder trouble, lumbago, swollen joints, and other evidences of deranged kidneys.

Give Gin Pills a trial. At all druggists—50c a box. Write for a free sample to National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ont. U. S. residents should address Na-Dru-Co., Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y.

229

Without undue Compression they add to the Grace of the figure
Sincerely yours
Anita Stewart
Goddess
Style A636

The patented underclasp of the "Goddess" prevents pinching, a disagreable feature of many front-lacing corsets. Moreover this flap allows much more play in adjusting the corset.

"Goddess" corsets have special boning, giving greatest pliancy, wonderful ease, yet holding the figure snug and in good lines.

"Goddess" corsets are now worn by many of the best-dressed women in Canada.

DOMINION CORSET CO., Quebec, Montreal, Toronto.
Makers also of "D & A" and "LA DIVA" Corsets.

3-120

Borrow to Buy Cattle

"Mixed Farming" is the big money-maker today. Of course, grain and fruit and vegetables pay well—but beef and bacon, butter and cheese, are piling up the profits for the farmer.

Milk more cows—fatten more cattle—raise more hogs. If you need money to do it, come to The Merchants Bank. We are glad to assist all up-to-date farmers.

12

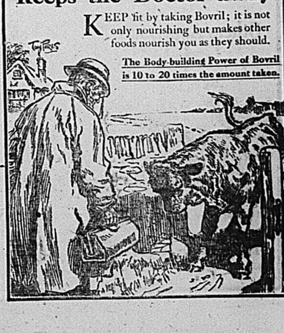
THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

A "little BOVRIL" Keeps the Doctor away

KEEP fit by taking Bovril; it is not only nourishing but makes other foods nourish you as they should.

The Body-building Power of Bovril is 10 to 20 times the amount taken.



With sugar scarce and costly, more and more interest is naturally being shown in that self-sweetened food—

Grape-Nuts

This ready-to-eat cereal food is abundantly supplied with sugar, developed in the process of making from the choicest parts of wheat and malted barley.

Flavor tells—

Made by
Canadian Postum Cereal Co. Ltd.
Windsor, Ontario.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

BUILD IT NOW

Reconstruct the Old Home For Longer Usefulness

Reconstruction begins at home. If the old house isn't all you desire, and you can't build a new one, a little of the right kind of repairing and remodeling will readily restore it to present day standards.

Perhaps it's a new porch, a summer kitchen, a side entrance, a new roof, extra rooms in the attic or a renewing of old, cracked walls and ceilings that is needed.

The right kind of lumber used in the right way will make the change and we have all the material you will require including that knotless and crackless manufactured lumber Beaver Board, for better walls and ceilings.

Suppose you ask us about it?

The Belleville Sash & Door Co., Limited
41 Station Street

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE HUMBLE CORNCOB.

Used To Be Wasted, Now Found to Be Valuable.

Twenty million tons of corncobs will be produced on this continent this year. The amount raised in Canada is a very large proportion of that gigantic pile. They are a waste product, utilized hitherto for scarce any purpose save fuel and tobacco pipes.

But soon it is going to be different, because the researches of the Government scientists have proved that there is wealth in corncobs. Put them through a few simple processes and they will yield various products of high commercial value.

One of these is "furfural," a substance which now sells at $17 a pound. It is a colorless liquid, with a strong but not disagreeable smell which can be utilized for the making of a whole series of dyes, as well as for paints and lacquers.

Corncobs will yield 1½ per cent. of furfural. Thus a plant handling 100 tons a day could produce about a ton and a half of the stuff, the manufacturing cost of which would not exceed twenty cents a pound.

The furfural, however, will be only a by-product of the corncob factory. About one-third of the weight of corncobs is the woody stuff called "cellulose." This, as experiments have proved, can be mixed with wood pulp for making paper—40 per cent. of it for a good quality of letter paper, 60 to 70 per cent. for newsprint and 50 per cent. for blotting paper.

The corncob cellulose can be used also for making dynamite in place of infusorial earth or other "dope." It will serve for electrical insulations and may suitably enter into the composition of plastic materials, for phonograph records and ever so many other purposes.

The same corncobs will yield 45 per per cent. of a heavy solution of gums, utilizable as an adhesive. There is no better glue, and it is expected to prove a highly satisfactory substitute for silicate of soda in the manufacture of strawboard, wallboard and fibre containers. Indeed, it has already been tested for such use under practical mill conditions and found in every way suitable. As a sizing for walls and as mucilage for labels it is unsurpassed.

This wonderful corncob glue can be manufactured at one-fourth the cost of the silicate of soda adhesive. It is not yet on the market, but soon will be. Likewise corncob actetic acid. Of this staple chemical the cobs yield 3 per cent.

It is reckoned that under present conditions 10 per cent. of the annual output of 20,000,000 tons of corncobs could be saved and utilized for the production of furfural, cellulose, adhesive and acetic acid, this being about the quantity shelled on farms. When the market for these products has developed sufficiently more cobs will be made available.

A Remarkable Fall.

Not all falls are so interesting as the one that the Arctic explorer, Vilhjalmur Stefansson describes in Harper's Magazine, which resulted from a misstep on the ice.

"I had just put my field glasses into their proper place," he says, "and was starting to walk down an ice hummock when I suddenly began to fall.

"Curiously enough, the first thing that occurred to me as I fell was the saying that people review their whole life while they are falling from precipices. The next was that evidently I was falling into a crevasse and that it did not seem right that an Arctic explorer should fall into a crevasse, which is the special prerogative of Antarctic explorers. The next thing I thought of was that my crevasse was evidently the result of ice cracking under stress. It probably occurred in a gale, and we had had several, one of them about two days before. If this crevasse was a week old, I should fall on hard ice. If it was two days old, I might fall into water, for it was springtime and ice was forming slowly. My rifle, which was strapped on my back, added to my momentum, would make me go down rapidly should I strike water.

"All this cogitating was done while I was dropping fifteen feet; then I landed on glare ice. I remained motionless at first lest I break through the ice, but after thirty seconds or so I decided that, if my impact after the fall had not broken the ice, then doubtless I could move without danger of breaking it now.

"After getting on all fours and disengaging the broken snowshoes from my feet, I stood up, although I was sore in several places. No bones were broken. Looking up, I could see the hole through which I had dropped. Since the hummock that I had climbed was oval, it was obvious that a short walk along the bottom of my crevasse would bring me out. When I had gone about forty-five yards, the crevasse was some nine feet deep and I was able to climb out."

"Cunning as a Fox."

In the opinion of trappers the fox is the most cunning and resourceful of all the wild animals. He often fools the most expert trapper and the truest and fastest of dogs. The fox lives on small game, birds, eggs and poultry. He makes his den in sandy hillsides, and in it the female rears from three to seven puppies, which are born in the early spring. February is the season Reynard goes wooing; and he travels far and wide in search of sweethearts, faithful to none, for his love is more fleeting than the footprints he leaves in the drifting snow. The fox's sense of smell is highly developed, and by it he detects the danger of the trap. The scent left by human hands and the scent left on the trap by other animals caught in it are quickly detected.

"A successful fox trapper must be a keen observer of details," writes C. A. Holmes, a special game protector. "He must realize that he is pitting his wits against one of the most cunning of animals that roam the 'silent places' of the hills and valleys."

◆

Napoleon Tremblay and Melvina Despatie, whose marriage, being of remote cousins, without a dispensation, was annulled by both Church and civil courts in 1912, have been remarried at Ste. Victoire, Que., a dispensation having been obtained.

OLD EGYPT'S GIFT

Cleopatra Lives in Fashions as Well as in History.

Clothes of Present Day Inspired by Styles That Date Back Into Shadowy Past.

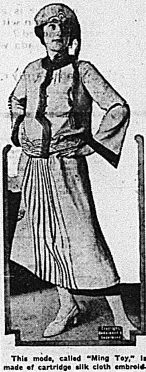
Indeed Cleopatra lives in fashions as well as in history, Ancient Egypt inspires some of the best of our new models. Egyptian effects, observes a fashion writer, supply the new and dominant note in many of our clothes. On thee Egyptian type of evening dresses the embroideries are marvelous. Many of them are absolutely true to the design of the period of the Ptolemys, from the tombs of whom archeologists have wrested some of the most beautiful examples of needlework known to the ages.

Nothing is lacking in these Egyptian-style frocks to make them true to their period and origin. The skirts are long and wrap closely the figure. The wonderful embroidered panels rest flat. There are the long, looped bands which pass over the shoulders, seemingly suspending the tightly drawn draperies of the frock. There are also the closely drawn hip girdles, but always with the up-to-date touch which ties the historic period style to modern usage and makes it practical as well as acceptable.

One of these modern touches is the use of mantlelike trains which adorn many of the most extreme Egyptian styles. These mantles, flowing out to form long trains, make a modest covering for the almost nude back given through the Egyptian cut of the dress. They are, however, weighted with embroideries in metal, spangles and mock jewels. The mantle is often in brilliant contrast to the robe itself. Many of these startling dresses, which are in dull metallic tones as if darkened by the mold of ages from resting in tombs, have mantles of geranium, flame red or vivid green.

From the Egyptian girdle to the modern sash some of the models pass abruptly with nothing in between to link the two, and yet after all they are not so far apart in the final effect, especially when the broad ribbon sash is tied at a low waistline with a perky butterfly or oblong bow at the left side.

COSTUME OF CARTRIDGE SILK



This mode, called "Ming Toy," is made of cartridge silk cloth embroidered with straw with satin paulettes.

GLOVE KID FOR BABY SHOES

Discarded Long White Handcoverings Make Splendid Bootees for Chubby Little Feet.

An old pair of long white kid gloves will make two pairs of most attractive baby shoes. Have the gloves perfectly clean, directs Modern Priscilla, and press on the wrong side with a hot iron to smooth out any wrinkles. Cut soles and sides in one piece, making the soles large enough in front to come up over the little toes. Put a seam up the back and gather the fullness where the sides do not meet. Line the inside of the shoes with soft messaline ribbon, letting it extend like a binding a half inch over the right side of the top of the shoe. Trim with a shirring of narrow ribbon, matching the lining, and work two or three eyelets on each side, which may be laced with narrow ribbon or silk cord to fasten.

"Parasol Skirt."

Scarlet taffeta with a tight undertunic reaching merely to the calf, and a flaring parasol-like overskirt that comes to the knee and is made sure of itself with crinoline, topped off by a crushed bodice of scarlet gauze and all of it banded and striped by purple and orchid embroideries makes a wonderfully fetching dance frock. One of the few black fans seen was carried with this costume when it was shown recently at Nice.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

CANADA'S TILLABLE LAND.

Cultivated Area Is Only One-Sixth of What Is Available.

Of the entire portion of the earth's surface that is considered possible of being brought under cultivation, only one-third is as yet being tilled, and this is taken by statisticians as an indication that it will be a long time before the population of this world will run short of food, for want of land on which to grow it. There are countries, however, that have come near to the limit of their possibilities as regards their ability to provide food for their people from the tillable area they contain, and for this reason they are forced to look to other countries for their future food supply. Grain supply, more especially wheat, may be taken as an indication of how the nations of the world stand with regard to their food supply, and since the reports of the International Institute of Agriculture show Europe as a whole, to be a grain-importing continent, it may be reckoned that most of the countries of Europe are at any time over-populated in proportion to their food producing capacity. This season, the prospect in Western Europe is of a good grain harvest, and an appreciably smaller importation of grain than has been necessary in any of the past six years. Notwithstanding this increase in home production, the European countries that have been importers of grain in the past will continue to import to a considerable extent for all time and, for years to come, the farmers of the continent of North America will benefit largely by this situation, the losers under the circumstances being the Russians, who will be a long time in bringing their production up to the level of pre-war years when they were of importance as a wheat-exporting nation.

Judging by reports of estimated supply and demand for wheat in the various countries of the world this year, Canada will be in a good position to realize on this season's crop of wheat and other grains. The United States acreage of wheat is far below that of last year, as is her acreage of all other grains than corn. Canada's grain acreage is also reduced, but not to so great an extent as that of the United States, while latest estimates of the yield of grain crops in Canada shows that it will be normal or better. Grain crop prospects in the Canadian West have improved greatly since early spring, while the only trouble with eastern grain is the relatively small amount of damage done to wheat by Hessian fly in Western Ontario.

Taking one year with another, Canada's success in wheat-growing and in the growing of barley, oats and rye, is most heartening, as compared with that of other countries, and as Canada has but one-sixth of her possible agricultural land under cultivation, as compared with the average of one-third for the world as a whole, her chances of advancement through her grain production is perhaps the most important item to the credit of the country. Closely following her wheat production in importance is Canada's opportunity to increase and improve her live stock holdings, while numerous other farming enterprises that might easily be carried on successfully, are well worth considering. It is no wonder then, that the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch, in announcing the publication of lists of farm lands for sale, declares that among the natural resources of Canada agricultural land is by far the most important.

Far and away the largest of all the salmons is the "chinook," which is otherwise known as the Columbia river salmon. It sometimes attains a weight of 100 pounds. In food quality it is unsurpassed and its flesh is usually of a rich red color.

In recent years the annual catch of salmon on the Pacific coast, including British Columbia and Alaska, has averaged 585,000,000 pounds, with a market value of nearly $40,000,000. In 1918 the quantity of salmon canned was 7,829,212 cases of forty-eight one-pound cans.

Into a Crockery Teapot,
Put a teaspoonful of the genuine
"SALADA"
for every TWO cups. Pour on freshly BOILING water and let it stand for five minutes. THE RESULT will be the most perfect flavoured tea you ever tasted.
B725

Are Your Funds Waiting Investment?

Close to $1,000,000,000 is now being distributed from coast to coast in connection with our crops. This will shortly result in a freer circulation of funds throughout Canada's industrial, mercantile and financial world.

Our foreign trade is running 25% over the previous year. Our domestic trade, as shown by bank clearings, is over 28% above the previous year, and bank deposits are over $150,000,000 higher than the record year ending June, 1919.

At this time, during the past few years, Canadians have had an opportunity, through great public loans, of purchasing Victory Bonds, and over one million Canadians evidenced their approval of Canada's Premier Security by purchasing in the aggregate over $2,000,000,000 worth.

Beyond doubt Canadians are financially able to make further substantial investment records. We cannot conceive of any better form of investment for the large funds now accumulated than Victory Bonds, which undoubtedly will be bought up freely.

NOW IS NO TIME FOR IDLE FUNDS

The new prices for Victory Bonds make them the greatest investment bargain in Canada. There will be no public loan this year. The present supply is not large. Do not let your funds lie idle and "rust." If you have funds available we cannot too strongly recommend that you purchase Victory Bonds to the limit.

Your orders will receive our best attention.

A. E. AMES & CO.
Investment Securities
UNION BANK BLDG. - - TORONTO
TRANSPORTATION BLDG. MONTREAL
74 BROADWAY - - - NEW YORK
BELMONT HOUSE - VICTORIA, B.C.
HARRIS TRUST BLDG. - - CHICAGO
Established 1889

THERE is yet time to preserve the autumn fruit for winter enjoyment. LANTIC "Fine" retains all the bouquet of sun-ripened Pears and Peaches. How your folks will enjoy the clear, white delicately-flavoured pears, the rich peaches whole and luscious! LANTIC goodness is more melting, it dissolves at once in the hot syrup without over-cooking.

ATLANTIC SUGAR REFINERIES, LIMITED, MONTREAL

you will like it fine!

Ten years without a corn

Countless people boast that record now.

Years ago they started using Blue-jay. Never since has a corn pained twice. And never has a corn stayed a week.

You can quickly prove that corns are needless. Millions have already done it.

Think what it means.

No more paring, no more pain, no more unsightly pads. Dainty shoes without unhappy hours.

Apply a touch of liquid Blue-jay or a Blue-jay plaster.

The corn pain will end. And soon the whole corn will loosen and come out.

The action is gentle but sure. Blue-jay is the scientific method, created by this world-famed laboratory.

It is not like the methods which are harsh and crude.

Try Blue-jay on one corn. Buy it tonight from your druggist. Live the rest of your life without corns.

B&B Blue-jay
Plaster or Liquid
The Scientific Corn Ender

BAUER & BLACK, Limited Chicago Toronto New York
Makers of Sterile Surgical Dressings and Allied Products

Why Canada Needs A Protective Tariff

A FEW REASONS

Why Canada should retain the present fiscal policy of adequate protection for Canadian agriculture, industry, labor and business.

1. Canada has shown wonderful growth in agriculture, manufacturing, forest production, mineral production, transportation, banking, insurance, and other business since the adoption in 1878 of the National Policy of adequate protection for all classes.

2. Because Canada was strong in all departments of national activity, she made a great record in the war.

3. Since the war practically all civilized countries have retained or increased their protective tariffs.

4. Over 2,000,000 Canadians are supported by wages paid by Canadian factories.

5. Over 80 per cent. of all the produce of Canadian farms is consumed in Canada.

6. The tariff has caused over 600 branches of United States factories to locate in Canada.

7. The tariff provides a great portion of the revenue of the Dominion Government.

8. The present tariff of Canada is very moderate; the average rate of duty on all duitable importations is 22½ per cent; the average rate of duty on all importations, free and duitable, is only 14 2-3 per cent.

9. Canadian products should not be exported in the raw state but should be manufactured in Canada in order to create business, provide employment and add to the national wealth.

10. Canada has maintained a protective tariff for 42 years. The United States, our greatest competitor, has maintained a protective tariff for 131 years. Their manufacturers have a home market of 105 million people. Our manufacturers have a home market of about 8 million people. Last year each inhabitant of the United States bought, on the average, $4.41 worth of Canadian goods, while each Canadian, on the average, bought $100.26 worth of United States goods. United States purchases from Canada were largely raw materials. Canadian purchases from the United States were largely manufactured goods. Is it surprising that the rate of exchange is against Canada and that our dollar is at a heavy discount in the United States? This is the situation with a Canadian tariff. What would it be if the tariff were removed? Remove the tariff, and in the words of ex-President Taft, Canada will become "an adjunct of the United States."

11. The destiny of Canada is a fully developed nation within the British Empire.

Summary of Statement Submitted to the Committee of Cabinet Ministers at Winnipeg, on September 14th, by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

ACCORDING to the Dominion Census, about 700,000 people are employed in the factories of Canada. Including their families, the number of persons who depend for their living on the wage rolls of Canadian factories number 2,000,000. In addition there are probably half as many more wholesale and retail traders, professional and business men and others who derive the chief part of their incomes directly from industrial establishments. Moreover, as about 80 per cent. of the total annual produce of Canadian farms is consumed in Canada, chiefly by the people living in towns and cities, farmers are also vitally concerned with industrial conditions.

Any civilized country that aspires to greatness must be strong in the following departments of national activity: agriculture, manufacturing, transportation and finance. Purely agrarian countries have never reached any degree of greatness; purely industrial countries cannot exist; both manufacturing and agriculture are helpless without the machinery of finance and transportation systems to carry produce.

What part does the factory play? Remove the factories and imagine the effect on the wholesale and retail trade, on the banks, on the financial and brokerage houses, on real estate, on the professional men, on the tax-collecting departments? In the majority of Canadian cities and towns the factories are the direct or indirect cause of a very considerable part of business transacted, because the welfare of many allied activities depends on the ebb and flow of the factory output, the buying capacity of the factory purchasing department and the spending of the factory payroll. Strike at the factory and you strike at nearly every one in the city or town. Strike at the city or town and you strike at the agricultural population surrounding the city or town, for cities and towns use the produce of the farms, while the cities and towns in their turn supply the farms with most of those luxuries, comforts and necessities which are part of civilized existence.

Nearly every family in Canada, directly or indirectly, is benefited by industrial prosperity and injured by industrial depression.

The Principle of Protection.

As the Canadian Customs Tariff has not been revised since 1907, revision is now overdue. After careful investigation it may be found that the rates of duty on some articles are too high and will consequently be lowered; or, in certain other cases, that the rates of duty are too low and will consequently be raised; or, in other cases that the rates of duty will be considered fair and remain unchanged. But all tariff revisions are governed by a guiding principle, and this guiding principle must either be the policy of protection or the policy of free trade. The term "tariff for revenue" is misleading because a tariff of even 10 per cent. on an article produced in Canada yields revenue and also affords a small degree of incidental protection.

In presenting this statement, therefore, The Canadian Manufacturers' Association respectfully begs to reaffirm its advocacy and support of the policy of adequate protection for Canadian industry (the policy which has been maintained since 1878 in Canada by all political parties that have held power).

Moreover, the Association pledges its support to any measures which will hasten the adoption throughout the British Empire of substantial customs preferences for Empire products, corresponding to the preferences now provided in the Customs tariff in Canada.

Definition of Protection.

The objects of the protective system in Canada have been and should continue to be,—

(1) To diminish, as far as possible, the importation of goods from foreign countries which can be produced at home.
(2) To facilitate the importation of raw materials for manufacturing processes, which cannot be produced at home.
(3) To encourage the exportation of Canadian goods as finished products.
(4) To make Canada self-contained by developing and encouraging within her boundaries all legitimate activities that will give occupation to Canadian citizens.

The protective system is, above all things, a national system. The country is a unit. It aims to make the individual country strong in all vital departments of activity. If it were founded on any other basis it could not survive, and the only reason that the protective system has been in operation in practically all civilized countries for several centuries, with a few intermittent exceptions, is that the system safeguards and develops the resources and prosperity of the great majority of the citizens of each country.

The Tariff.

The tariff protects domestic industry by increasing the difficulty of importing competing products; in the second place, it secures revenue for the Government; and in the third place it can be used as a weapon against any foreign country that is using discriminatory methods, or to bargain with a foreign country for tariff concessions that will open desirable markets for Canadian products. Consequently, the tariff, being the chief instrument which maintains the protective system in operation, cannot be suddenly changed or abolished without at the same time changing or abolishing the protective system.

Support of the protective principle should not be confused with advocacy of a high tariff. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has never advocated a high tariff; and does not advocate a high tariff now; but it is a conservative statement of fact to say that the Canadian customs tariff as it stands today is not a high tariff and that in comparison with tariffs of other countries it is very moderate.

During the year ending March 31st, 1920, the average rate of duty on all dutiable importations, less the customs war tariff collections, was 22½ per cent.

The average rate of duty on all importations, free and dutiable, after deducting the customs war tariff collections, was 14 per cent.

On the 18th day of May, 1920, the customs war tariff rates were completely removed by Parliament. Surely it is reasonable to say that the average rate of duty of 22½ per cent. on all dutiable importations and the average rate of duty of 14⅔ per cent. on all importations, dutiable and free, now imposed by the Canadian Customs Tariff, constitute a moderate tariff.

The World Tendency Towards Protection.

Fiscal policies of countries are interrelated and swing together like a pendulum towards protection at one period and towards free trade at another period. This fact is significant because the present swing of the world pendulum is strongly towards protection.

Following the armistice, industrial countries, especially those that had been engaged in the war, took precautions to safeguard their home markets against a deluge of foreign goods, in order that their demobilized soldiers and war workers could secure employment in their own countries. The United Kingdom, notwithstanding statements to the contrary, is not a free trade country. She now applies various protective duties, and has a measure before Parliament designed to prevent dumping, arising from exchange depreciation or other causes. During his budget speech in the House of Commons on April 19th last, the Honorable Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated that the United Kingdom had raised during the year ending March 31st, 1920, the sum of £149,360,000 from customs duties imposed on goods imported into the United Kingdom. That is, every resident of the United Kingdom paid a customs tariff tax on the average of about $16 last year. In Canada last year the average per capita tariff tax, including the war tariff, now removed, was about $23, or without the war tariff, about $19.50. Yet, some people describe Great Britain as a free trade country and Canada as a high tariff country.

The business men of Great Britain realized early in the war that steps must be taken upon the cessation of hostilities, to protect British industries and various committees have reported to the British Parliament recommending a measure of protection for British industries.

France increased her tariff rates during the past year, on most goods, by amounts varying from ten to three hundred per cent.; and as late as April 28th, 1920, she announced a new and extensive list of prohibited imports. Italy, Switherland, Austria, Spain, Roumania and the Balkan States have made general increases in their tariffs. Recent despatches show that still higher protection is being provided in most of these countries, and especially in France, Italy and Spain. Japan has now in operation a high protective tariff.

In South America, all countries have tariffs designed not only for the purpose of producing revenue, but also to provide for a reasonable measure of protection for home industry. The average rate of duty on all importations, both free and dutiable, for these countries, for 1913, the latest year for which statistics are obtainable, follow:—

Countries	Average ad valorem duty on Imports per cent.
Argentina	20.8
Brazil	35.9
Bolivia	17.1
Chile	19.9
Eucador	36.6
Paraguay	31.1
Peru	21.9
Uruguay (1912)	36.2
Venezuela	46.7

The following clause was adopted by the National Republican Convention of the Republican Party of the United States, at Chicago, June 10th, 1920:—

> "The uncertain and unsettled conditions of international balances, the abnormal economic and trade situation of the world, and the impossibility of forecasting accurately even the near future, preclude the formulation of a definite programme to meet conditions a year hence. But the Republican party reaffirms its belief in the protective principle and pledges itself to a revision of the tariff as soon as conditions shall make it necessary for the preservation of the home market for American Labor, agriculture and industry."

A tariff was introduced in Australia on March 24th, 1920, which is highly protective in character. All British countries outside the United Kingdom, have tariffs that are protective in character, with the exception of certain Eastern countries, such as India and the Straits Settlements, which impose duties on certain imports for revenue.

Officials records show that there is not in the world today one country making any pretensions to industrial development that is without a protective tariff.

This Dominion's tariff legislation, designed for national development, must be affected by the fact that every great industrial nation today throughout the world has erected protective tariff barriers against the exploitation of its markets by other nations. Were our customs tariff removed whilst other countries maintain and strengthen theirs, our markets would be filled with the overflow goods from protected foreign countries, while our goods would be largely shut out of foreign markets. This would so reduce the markets of our factories as to raise Canadian productive costs above a competitive basis: and many of them would be compelled to cease operations.

Growth of Canada Under Protection.

The best way to determine whether or not Canada has flourished under the policy of adequate protection for Canadian industry is to study the statistics, not for one industry, but for all the great basic industries, and see how they have developed since 1878. Consider first the total trade of Canada. The following table that since the introduction of the National Policy, our total trade has multiplied by sixteen times:

Fiscal Year.	Total Trade.
1879	$ 149,489,188
1920	2,351,174,886

Agricultural production in Canada has flourished, as the following statistics indicate:—

Year.	Field Crops.	Other Farm Produce.	Total Production.
1900	$ 194,953,420	$169,953,446	$ 364,906,866
1919	1,452,437,000	523,404,000	1,975,841,000

The national output of wheat has grown as follows:—

Year	Bushels.
1870	16,732,873
1919	193,260,400

Manufacturing has shown a similar extraordinary advance.

MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES.

Year.	Capital Invested.	Employees.	Value of Products.
1881	$ 165,302,623	254,935	$ 309,676,068
1917	2,786,649,727	692,067	3,015,577,940

The products of the forests, of the mines and of the fisheries and the volume of banking and insurance business have shown the following great increase in values under the National Policy:

FOREST PRODUCTION.

Year	Log Products and Wood Pulp
1881	$39,540,570
1919	140,381,584

MINERAL PRODUCTION.

Year.
1889	$14,013,113
1919	173,075,913

FISHERY PRODUCTION.

Fiscal Year.
1879	$13,529,254
1918	60,243,429

CHARTERED BANKS.

Year	Paid-up Capital and Reserve
1888	$79,218,565
1919	243,912,111

Year	Total Bank Deposits by the Public in Canada
1878	71,900,195
1919	1,841,478,895

AMOUNT OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES IN FORCE.

Year, Dec. 31st.	Amount.
1878	$ 84,751,937
1919	2,187,833,396

AMOUNT OF FIRE INSURANCE POLICIES IN FORCE.

Year, Dec. 31st.	Amount.
1878	$ 409,899,701
1919	4,904,396,461

Since 1878 the composition of our population has changed. Then the great majority of the people were engaged in farming, lumbering and fishing. There was comparatively little business activity and those who could not be employed in the above industries were forced to emigrate, with the result that some millions of Canadians are living in the United States today who would never have left Canada if opportunities for employment had been available. After 1878 the industrial system of Canada began to develop until today it directly supports 2,000,000 Canadians, and in addition, yields indirect opportunities to several millions more.

Transportation.

In 1879, the year after the adoption of the National Policy, there were only 6,484 miles of steam railways in Canada. A glance at the following table will show a great increase in the mileage, in the amount of freight carried, and gross earnings:—

	1879	1889	1899	1909	1919
Miles in operation	6,484	12,628	17,141	24,104	38,876
Tons of freight	8,348,310	17,928,626	31,211,753	66,842,258	116,699,572
Gross earnings	$19,925,066	$42,149,615	$62,243,784	$145,056,336	$382,976,901

The railways opposed the reciprocity agreement in 1911 with the United States on the ground that such an agreement would build up north and south traffic at the expense of east and west traffic, and would depreciate the value of the huge investments in our transportation systems.

This is even a more important question than it was in 1911, because the Government now owns two out of the three transcontinental railways, and will have to pay deficits out of general taxation.

The organization of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine marks a new period in the history of the country's development. The first vessel was commenced in May, 1919, and by the end of the year, twenty-two ships ordered by the Government were completed. It is expected that by the end of 1920, sixty ships will be in commission. These ships were built in Canadian shipyards, and largely from Canadian material, and by Canadian workmen. The outfitting of these vessels is done in Canadian ports and with Canadian goods. They are manned chiefly by Canadian seamen, and are now carrying Canadian goods abroad.

British and Foreign Capital Invested in Canada.

One of the most remarkable developments attributable directly to the adoption of the protective system in Canada, is the investment of British and foreign capital in this country. At the present time there are over 600 branches of United States' factories in Canada, employing about 87,000 people and representing invested capital of about $400,000,000. While a few of these concerns might have come to Canada if there had been free trade, it is an absolute fact that the great majority came to Canada because the Canadian Customs Tariff stood as a partial barrier to the importation of products manufactured by the parent concerns in the United States. Although the number of branches of British factories established in Canada is small in comparison with the number of United States branches, as against this, according to Sir George Paish's estimate in 1911, the sum of $1,860,000,000 of British capital was invested in Canada at that time, a considerable proportion of which was invested in manufacturing enterprises.

Growth of Canadian Agriculture.

The Canada Year Book of 1918, published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Trade and Commerce Department, gives interesting statistics in regard to Canadian agriculture. On page 219 of this volume, the following extract appears:—

> "If to the estimated value of agricultural production in 1917, viz. $1,621,028,000 be added for land $2,792,229,000, for buildings $927,548,000, for implements $387,079,000 and for live stock $1,102,261,000, the total estimated agricultural wealth of the Dominion of Canada for 1917 amounts to $6,830,145,000."

That was Canada's agricultural capital in 1917.

Realizing the importance of agriculture, the Dominion and Provincial Governments have given special attention and substantial financial assistance to this basic industry.

Of recent years the money appropriated for railway extension has been spent almost entirely with the intention of providing better facilities for the agricultural communities, and possibly no commodity carried by the railways of Canada enjoys a better rate than farm grains.

All these measures are sound, and consistent with the doctrine of protection, because they are designed to stimulate and safeguard the great basic industry of agriculture.

Replies to Free Trade Arguments.

Free trade arguments are being used today as the spear head of the attack against the protective system of Canada. It may be that many who use the free trade arguments do not believe in them, and are merely trying to create a diversion from which they may profit. But, since these free trade arguments are being used to attack the National Policy, it is necessary to show why they cannot be applied profitably to Canada.

One of the chief free trade arguments is to belittle the value of the home market, especially to farmers. It is stated that Canadian farmers sell their products in an open mraket where the prices are fixed by international competition, and that they buy what they need in Canada which is described as a closed market. For 1919 the gross value of the agricultural production of Canada has been officially estimated at $1,975,841,000. During the same year, exports of unmanufactured farm produce were valued at approximately $315,000,000, or if butter and cheese be included, at a little over $361,000,000. In other words, only between 16 and 18.5 per cent. of all the produce of Canadian farms was exported in the unmanufactured state, while between 81.5 and 84 per cent. was marketed in Canada.

The home market under normal conditions is a constant market. In a country where the population is steadily increasing it is a growing market. The foreign market or open market is an uncertain market. It may be lost entirely through war. It may be restricted through legislation or economic causes.

It is natural that the argument about selling in foreign markets and buying in protected markets should be most strongly urged in Western Canada, where grain is grown for export. But the conditions of agriculture are changing very rapidly in Western Canada. Not so many years ago wheat was the principal source of farm revenue in Ontario. What is the case now? Figures for the year 1917 show that wheat constituted 5 per cent. of the total value of the farm produce of Ontario.

Roughly speaking, a new country starts growing wheat and gradually develops into mixed farming, and the progress of the Prairie Provinces away from the wheat growing stage to the mixed farming stage has already reached extensive proportions.

The increase in farm live stock between 1911 and 1916 in the Prairie Provinces is set forth in Table 18, page 195 of the Canada Year Book, 1918.

Prairie Provinces:	Increase per cent.
Horses	54
Milch Cows	69
Other Cattle	47
Total Cattle	53
Sheep	73
Swine	91
Poultry	25

The growth of industry in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta is also extraordinary. In 1900 the value of goods manufactured in these three provinces was a negligible quantity. For the present year a very conservative estimate would place the value of the goods manufactured in the three Prairie Provinces at $500,000,000. In 1900 there was not a single member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association located West of the Great Lakes. At the present time there are seven hundred,—five hundred of these in the Province of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. In fact Western Canada is becoming rapidly industrialized,—the industries which have made the greatest strides being milling, packing, steel and iron, clothing, textiles, building and paper.

The Canadian home market that absorbs farm produce is the population of the cities, towns and villages. Analyze city, town and village, and it will be found that a considerable part of the activities of their inhabitants has its origin and existence in the factories. Manufacturing is the life blood of wholesale and retail trade, transportation, professional practice, and commercial enterprises. Business clusters around the factory. Close or restrict the factory and business dwindles and the home market declines.

Another free trade argument is that under the protective system industry is developed at the expense of agriculture.

Taking the Canada Year Book's estimate of the agricultural capital of Canada in 1917 of $6,830,145,000, and dividing this sum by the number of farms in Canada, given by Government statistics as 730,000, we find that the average capital per farm was $9,356. Moreover, our industrial development has not caused any undue depopulation of the rural areas. In 1911 the rural population of Canada was 54.47 per cent. of the total population. This is a marked contrast to Great Britain, where the rural population was 49.8 per cent. of the whole when free trade was adopted in 1846 and had fallen to 21.9 per cent. in 1915.

It is also argued that, as Canadian manufacturers during the war produced munitions which compared favorably with those produced by other countries, they do not need protection now. This argument ignores the extraordinary conditions governing the munition industry. There was no competition. The price of munitions was fixed and calculated to yield a reasonable margin of profit where the business was efficiently conducted. The work was done to standard specifications. No selling force was required, because the market took all the supply. More important still, Canadian manufacturers secured the opportunity to manufacture in large quantities. That is the pressing need today, and the home market is necessary to supply it.

It is also argued that protection causes combines.

Proper trade organizations produce greater efficiency, better quality and lower prices. Improper organizations can be prosecuted under existing laws. In any case, industrial combination has not reached undue proportion to date in Canada. The census places the number of manufacturing establishments at about 35,000, although this includes concerns which can scarcely be called factories. As the number of factory employees is estimated at about 700,000, the average number of employees per industrial establishment in Canada is about twenty.

A more serious charge is that Canadian manufacturers take undue advantage of the tariff, for example, by adding freight and duty to selling price of competing products in fixing their own selling prices. We do not defend such practice, but we submit that specific charges should be made against the offenders rather than general statements against all manufacturers, or against the protective system.

We beg to draw attention to an unfair method of attacking manufacturers, and through them, the protective system. A few manufacturers who have enjoyed marked prosperity are singled out. They are attacked in sensational manner in the press and on the platform. Their profits for particularly successful years are advertised. Their financial statements are analyzed unfairly. No attempt is made to average the lean years with the good years. No tribute is admitted to efficiency, economical management, or unusual business ability. These outstanding examples of prosperity are held up to the public as a general condition of entire industries.

This method of argument is as unfair as it would be to hold up some phenomenal case of profitable farming, or a lucky strike in mining as an example of how agriculture or mining pays generally.

A recent survey of the shoe manufacturing industry shows, first, that a very considerable number of firms have tried to succeed in this industry but have become bankrupt, and second, that the average return on capital invested in the shoe industry was 5.29 per cent. per annum. Dun's estimate of failures of Canadian manufacturing firms for the years indicated are as follows:—

Year.	No. of Failures of Mfg. Firms.
1918	232
1915	655
1908	426

This is the other side of the story.

For the year ending March 31st, 1921, the Minister of Finance, in his budget speech, estimated that Canada's balance sheet will be:—

Estimated expenditure (including capital outlays)	$549,649,428
Estimated revenue	381,000,000
Estimated deficit	$168,649,428

Adopt free trade, lose the customs revenue, which he estimated at $167,000,000, and the deficit will be $335,649,428.

Those who would abolish the Canadian customs tariff and thus lose the revenue which it produces, suggest that this revenue should be replaced by the imposition of the following taxes—a direct tax on unimproved land values and natural resources, increased taxation on personal incomes, increased inheritance taxes, and increased taxation on corporations. As to taxing unearned increment as such, no objection is offered, but it must be remembered that vacant land now pays taxes to the municipalities and in some provinces additional taxes to the provincial government. In fact, much vacant land has been given up by the owners in preference to paying the taxes now imposed. Income taxes are now paid by individuals to the municipalities and also the Dominion Government. Inheritance taxes are now imposed by all the provinces. Corporations are taxed as persons by municipal governments, provincial governments and the Dominion Government, and also pay special taxes to every province for the privilege of being corporations. It is submitted that the suggested forms of direct taxation, while capable of some extension, cannot produce in one year the huge sum of $335,000,000 (or almost the present entire revenue of Canada).

The fact that the per capita amount of revenue raised by the tariff is greater in Canada than in the United States is often used as an argument that the Canadian tariff is too high. The explanation of the fact is simple. The United States imposes a high tariff on imports which compete with domestic products. But, because the United States has built up home industry by constantly adhering to the protective principle for 131 years, comparatively little is imported. Consequently the amount of duty collected is smaller per capita than in Canada, not because the United States duties are lower, but because the volume of imports is comparatively much smaller.

United States Competition.

The United States, with a population of 105,000,000 buys from this country of 8,000,000 people only about one-half the value of the goods which it sells us. Our exports to the United States and imports from the United States for various years since 1907 follow:

VALUE OF IMPORTS FROM UNITED STATES.

Fiscal Year.	Amount.
1907 (9 mos.)	$155,943,029
1912	356,354,478
1917	677,631,616
1920	802,096,817

VALUE OF EXPORTS TO UNITED STATES.

Fiscal Year.	Amount.
1907 (9 mos.)	$ 79,021,480
1912	120,534,634
1917	486,870,690
1920	464,029,273

Last year each inhabitant of the United States bought $4.41 worth of Canadian goods, while each Canadian bought $100.26 worth of United States goods. Significant also is the fact that our purchases from the United States were largely in manufactured goods while their purchases from Canada were chiefly raw material. It is not surprising that the rate of exchange is against Canada and that our money is at a heavy discount in the United States. This is the situation with a Canadian tariff. What would it be if the tariff were abolished? Canada, in competing with the United States, operates at present under certain disadvantages which may be summarised as follows:

1. The United States has maintained a protective tariff for 131 years; Canada for 42 years.

2. The United States has a more highly organized industrial system, supported by immense wealth.

3. The United States manufacturers are guaranteed their home market of 105,000,000 people, guaranteeing a large output and specialization. The Canadian home market of 8,000,000 has already been seriously invaded.

4. The United States has comparatively a greater labor supply.

5. The Customs regulations of the United States discourage Canadian imports while the customs regulations of Canada encourage United States imports.

Briefly, we cannot manufacture extensively in Canada at the present age and stage of our industries, unless these industries are given protection against the industries of the United States. We have two choices. We can abolish our tariff and allow the United States to manufacture for us, while we produce raw materials for them, or we can persevere in our determination that Canada shall continue to develop as a mnufctauring country as well as an agricultural country.

In Europe there is a well known phrase "peaceful penetration." Translated, this means the domination of a small country by a big country. The small country, it is true, often keeps the forms of national independence after freedom has departed, and remains bound in fetters of financial and commercial subservience.

During the reciprocity campaign of 1911, Ex-President Taft and the late Ex-President Roosevelt were agreed that reciprocity would be a good thing for the United States. They wrote confidential letters to each other on the subject; then came the quarrel over the nomination for the Presidency and the correspondence was published by Ex-President Taft on the 25th of April, 1912, at Boston, Mass.

In a letter from Ex-President Taft to the late Ex-President Roosevelt, the following extract occurs:—

> "The amount of Canadian products we would take would produce a current of business between Western Canada and the United States that would make Canada only an adjunct of the United States. It would transfer all their important business to Chicago and New York, with their bank credits and everything else, and it would increase greatly the demand of Canada for our manufactures. I see this is the argument made against reciprocity in Canada, and I think it is a good one."

In his reply, the late Ex-President Roosevelt stated:—

> "It seems to me what you purpose to do with Canada is admirable from every standpoint. I firmly believe in free trade with Canada for both economic and political reasons."

Those who do not believe Canadians when they point out the dangers that free trade or a lowering of the tariff would bring to Canada, will perhaps believe such men as Ex-President Taft and the late Ex-President Roosevelt.

The above references to the United States are made in a friendly spirit. A certain amount of trade between the two countries is necessary and most desirable. But the people of the United States will appreciate the natural desire of Canadians to promote their own national development, while maintaining with the United States the most cordial relations.

Conservation.

There are two courses we can pursue in regard to our natural recources. We can plunder these resources and ship the raw or partly finished products out of the country to other countries, which will take these materials, manufacture them and sell them back to us in the shape of finished articles at greatly enhanced prices. The other course is to conserve, to manufacture in Canada not only the preliminary processes, but also the succeeding processes and export the products in a finished state. Under the first plan, for example, we would export our timber, ores and pulpwood. Under the second plan we would manufacture them into highly finished products for domestic and foreign consumption. Under the first plan only a limited amount of rough labor would be necessary. Most of the business connected with the processes of further manufacture, affecting banking, transportation and insurance, would go to enrich other countries, and part of our own population would be forced to emigrate in search of employment. Under the second plan we could carry these processes of manufacturing to the highest stage here, providing employment and creating business. The first plan is free trade. The second plan is protection.

Preferential Tariffs Within the British Empire.

On the whole, prospects seem bright for the general extension of British preferential tariff systems throughout British countries. Such an arrangement amongst British Overseas Dominions would correspond with the policy followed between the United States overseas countries, including Cuba. A similar policy is followed toward their respective possessions by France and Italy, and was followed by Germany.

Canadian Factories in the War.

Shortly after the beginning of the war the Canadian factory system was practically put on a war basis, and munition making was organized. How Canadian factories succeeded in war manufacturing is illustrated by the following statement from the report issued by the War Cabinet and presented to the Imperial Government: "The manufacturing resources in Canada have been mobilized for war production almost as completely as those of the British Isles." Munition work was done chiefly under the control of the Imperial Munitions Board—which placed orders in Canada amounting to $1,200,000,000. At the peak of operations between 250,000 and 275,000 workers were employed in making munitions including shells, parts, 64 wooden ships, 44 steel ships and 3,000 aeroplanes. At the same time Canadian factories largely supplied the Canadian people at home and the Canadian army abroad. About half the Canadian army came from the factories and half returned to the factories on demobilization. If we had not built up a factory system and allied business, if our manufacturing and business had been done for us largely by other countries, then Canada could not have sent as many men to the war, could not have supplied shells, ships and aeroplanes, could not have given large financial aid, and could not have absorbed her demobilized soldiers.

Conclusion.

In the course of this statement an effort has been made to show that manufacturing in Canada is inseparably connected with other industries; that two million wage earners and dependents secure their living through manufacturing, and that the most of the remainder of the population derive indirect benefits; that this country as a whole has made remarkable progress under the National Policy of protection; that, with the entire world swinging towards protection, Canada cannot relinquish it; that the revision of the tariff should be scientific and take into consideration the requirements of all classes, that a stable fiscal policy of protection with some assurance of permanence is a vital need; and, finally, that the aim of the fiscal policy determined as a result of this enquiry should be to advance Canada towards her destiny as a fully developed nation within the British Empire.

Issued by The Canadian Manufacturers Association, Inc.

---

*A full copy of the statement may be had on application to any office of the Manufacturers' Association.

MEASURE YOUR NECK
BEFORE AND AFTER TAKING
Gu-Solvo and you will be surprised at the reduction in the size of your goitre after taking the first bottle of a monk's famous remedy.

GOITRE

Send for free booklet (or ask your druggist), which explains what this medicine has already done for other sufferers and how you can successfully treat goitre in your own home. Gu-Solvo is sold in Belleville, Ont. by

J. V. DOYLE.
The Monk Chemical Co., Limited,
41 Scott St., Toronto, Ont.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

BATTERIES
Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS
REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD
BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery
Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

MOTORISTS' BOOK MARK

Keep Your Car
Fully
Under Control

These
Demand Unusual Care

Street Intersections
Blind Corners
Nearby Schools
Railway Tracks
Slippery Pavements

ONTARIO SAFETY LEAGUE
ROYAL BANK BUILDING — TORONTO

DEVELOPING PRINTING
ENLARGING

ANSCO
Cameras and Films.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Canada In the League

POPULAR interest in the League of Nations will likely increase with the definite making of arrangements for the first meeting of the assembly, called for Geneva in November.

Until now, the Council of the League alone has met, consisting of the four permanent members, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, and the four provisional members, Spain, Brazil, Belgium and Greece.

The assembly, however, will have a long list of attendants, including the complete membership of the League.

There is an advantage in giving this complete list, not as a dry catalogue, but as helping to visualize the extent of the League. The states who have been notified to send delegates are:

Argentine Republic.
Belgium.
Bolivia.
Brazil.
British Empire—
  Canada.
  Australia.
  India.
  New Zealand.
  South Africa.
Chili.
Colombia.
Cuba.
Czecho-Slovakia.
Denmark.
France.
Greece.
Guatemala.
Hedjaz.
Italy.
Japan.
Liberia.
Netherlands.
Norway.
Panama.
Paraguay.
Persia.
Peru.
Poland.
Portugal.
Roumania.
Salvador.
Serb-Croat-Slovene State.
Siam.
Spain.
Sweden.
Switzerland.
Uruguay.
Venezuela.

In this list, it is generally interpreted that the British Empire includes Great Britain and Ireland, Newfoundland and those portions not included in the self-governing dominions, while Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa as well as India are mentioned independently and specifically.

Several additional states have asked to be admitted to the assembly and the League, including Iceland, Finland, Esthonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxemburg, Monaco, San Marino, Liechtenstein, Georgia, the Ukraine and Armenia.

The assembly will decide as to the admittance of these states.

It is not likely that there will be any serious discussions as regards their accession. There remains the question of the admittance to the League of the ex-enemy states, and in particular of Germany, should they apply for entry.

One of the most important questions will be the relation of the council and the assembly. The covenant of the League of Nations does not determine in detail this relation. In practice, the council is as powerful as a cabinet. Whether this power will rest on the ultimate acquiescence and support of the assembly is doubtful.

Canada has a seat in the assembly, but except through Great Britain is not represented on the council.

The co-existence of these two bodies in the organism of the League represents, it is declared, a sort of compromise between the two principles of theoretical legal equality of all states, large and small, and the actual predominance of the Great Powers. The former principle is manifested in the council; the latter in the assembly.

The assembly at least provides a forum for the "smaller states." They will be able to raise many questions which affect them, especially those concerning the political or economic predominance of some Great Power or group of powers, by whom they consider their own interests are injured. Whatever may be the immediate practical effect of protests of this kind, they cannot fail, it is expected by the League's sponsors, to have a moral effect which, in the long run, may also have practical efficacy. Thirty-nine states will meet on a footing of equality, and be free at least to discuss any argument which they choose. It will permit the states not represented on the council to make known their aspirations and to develop their activity in the sphere of the League of Nations.

Canadians do not look with unconditional pleasure at being designated a "smaller" state, although recognizing that size isn't virtue. In our case, however, "younger" would be a more accurate word.

Newfoundland May Come In.

According to Sir John Aird, general manager of the Bank of Commerce, Newfoundland is very favorably disposed towards a union with the Maritime Provinces, and ultimately into the Canadian Confederation, although the inhabitants of the oldest colony were much more favorably disposed towards the Maritime than to Upper Canada. Sir John states that the Maritime Provinces are in need of an aggressive colonization policy to develop their latent resources. He states that the provinces are prosperous and that their standing in the bond market is quite as good as that of Ontario or Quebec.

* * *

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22tf

Korah Township Farmer Slain

Shot by Companion of Girl He Mistook For Chicken Thief—Police Scouring Country

SAULT STE. MARIE, Sept. 15.—Somewhere in the woods north of the city, or on the St. Mary's River, Douglas Moore, aged 30, alleged slayer of George Elliott, aged 45, a prominent farmer of Korah Township, just outside the city, is in hiding, and the entire police and detective forces of the district are scouring the country in an endeavor to bring him to justice. With Moore, it is believed are two girls, Maggie Bock, 15, and Pearl Mouer, who were with Moore when the shooting took place. Elliott, who with several brothers operates a large farm and the brick yard of James Elliott & Sons, on the western boundary of the city, was going out to his barn on Monday night about dark to do some chores when he noticed two figures standing in the shadow of the building. As he had been experiencing trouble from chicken thieves of late, he immediately gave chase and caught one of the fugitives, who turned out to be the Bock girl. She immediately started to scream, as did her companion, the Mouer girl.

A brother of George Elliott, who was milking in the barn, rushed out as four revolver shots were heard a short distance west of the barn, and Moore was seen rushing up to the assistance of the captured girl, evidently thinking that she was being maltreated. According to Mr. Elliott's brother, Moore deliberately placed the revolver against his brother's side and fired the fatal shot. Elliott dropped, and Moore and the Bock girl made good their escape. Inquiry at the Peters farm adjoining that of the Elliott's and at which Moore and the girl were staying revealed the fact that they have not been at their stopping-place since the shooting although Peters is being held by the police as an accomplice.

Died in Hospital

The wounded man was helped to his feet and collapsed as he reached the house. He died in the General Hospital early Tuesday morning. He is survived by his wife and three children. A preliminary hearing of all witnesses that can be secured is being held on Friday night.

Little is known of Douglas Moore except that he came to this city a short time ago from Spragge, one hundred miles east of the Soo on the C.P.R. Since his arrival he has been staying at the Peters farm.

* * *

MANY CHARGES DROPPED IN ELECTION CASE

Prescott, Sept. 14—A wholesale dropping of charges against Hon. G. H. Ferguson on lack of support in the evidence adduced, and a motion for non-suit by W. N. Tilley, K.C., chief counsel for Mr. Ferguson, featured to-day's hearing of the appeal against the election of Hon. G. H. Ferguson in South Grenville last October. When the court met this evening, Gordon Waldron, counsel for G. Arthur Payne, defeated U. F. O. candidate, outlined some 45 charges which he was dropping for lack of evidence to support them.

OVER 1,000 PERISHED IN THE WILDERNESS

Constantinople, Sept. 14.—Fifteen hundred refugees have arrived in Ismid, Asia Minor, from the Village of Kirazli, after having wandered for 40 days in the wilderness and the uncharted mountains at the mercy of the bandits. They report having lost 1,000 persons by starvation and other privations.

* * *

The Laurentide Company shows a very satisfactory statement for the period ending June 30.

The Empire Chamber of Commerce will discuss an all-red commercial air fleet.

Four M.P.P.'s were interested in a timber license which the U.F.O. Government cancelled.

Montreal is having difficulty in obtaining sufficient men for its police force.

Albert Peters, aged 8, was fatally hurt by falling under the wheels of a motor truck.

An earthquake shock has been felt in County Perth, Scotland.

NUMEROUS DWELLINGS ERECTED ON P. H. SCHEME

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—More than three thousand dwellings have been erected in Canada this year under the Dominion and Provincial Housing schemes. This total will be increased by the end of the year by the continuance of building in sections of the country where climatic conditions permit. More homes have been built under the Canadian housing scheme, it is said, than under that in operation in Great Britain. The Canadian Parliament, it will be recalled, appropriated $25,000,000 for housing. This money was to be loaned to the provinces at 5 per cent. per annum. The Provincial Legislature voted sums to supplement those borrowed from the Dominion and made provision for loans to persons desiring to build dwelling houses.

* * *

Two steamers reached St. John with more than 11,000 tons of raw sugar from Cuba.

* * *

$550.00 buys Beautiful Steinway Piano, ebony case. C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

THE WEATHER

Fresh west to northwest winds; fine.
Saturday—Southwest winds; fair.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business In
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 2??.

Help to Chase the Clouds Away The Sunshine Fund Call

GENEROUS CITIZENS CAN DISPEL THE GLOOM CAUSED BY SORROW, SICKNESS AND DEATH — LITTLE CHILDREN CALLING—MANY WANTS TO BE RELIEVED, AND MORE SUNBEAMS NEEDED TO DISPEL THE CLOUDS AND MAKE PROVISION FOR THE TIME TO COME—REMEMBER —BUT FOR THE GRACE OF GOD IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN OURSELVES.

Since the last of August subscriptions have been solicited by The Intelligencer for a fund to provide for a family in urgent need of assistance.

Their need dated back much farther, although the women's organization charged with looking after such cases had been giving them a small weekly allowance, the limit permitted by the regulations and means available.

Mayor Riggs and Alderman Hanna, from the time the position of the family was first made known, have taken a personal and helpful interest in their welfare, and others have helped.

For a long time this little home has been darkened by illness and now the shadow of death hovers over it.

There has been no revenue coming in other than that supplied by generous citizens while expenses have multiplied. There are three little children to provide for and the mother has already accomplished wonders in her hard fight against adversity, working for others in the daytime and doing her household work at night, until the illness of the husband rendered it necessary for her to spend her entire time at home.

Subscriptions received thus far have helped wonderfully, but the many months of adversity behind and the months ahead to provide for require a great deal more money than has been secured up to date. Belleville is rich and prosperous and few there be who can not spare a dollar or two for such a worthy cause. If "he who giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord", there are still a lot of people who have missed the blessed privilege of lending to the Lord, and the rich blessings which accompany charitable acts.

In the Book of all Books is this significant definition of a Christian's duty: "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction."

Many people say that Christianity is not practical—We prefer to think it is practical but somewhat sluggish.

Contributions received thus far to the Sunshine Fund are given below—quite a number of additional sunbeams can be used to advantage:

Contributions.
T. W. L.	$ .50
Geo. Thompson	1.00
J. H. Hanna	1.00
T. Donohue	1.00
McLaughlin Co. and Staff	7.00
Ritchie Co. and Staff	15.00
Dr. Alex. Ray	2.00
Mrs. A. I. Bird	5.00
A Friend	5.00
A Friend	17.00
Mrs. Bert Campbell—Quart of milk daily.
Mr. Shniffer	2.00
A Friend	1.00
E. T. Austin	1.00
Chief Brown	1.00
Robert Orr	1.00
C. F. Cochrane	1.00
A Friend	2.00
A Friend	.50
M. Hatt	2.00
Sympathizer	1.00
Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn	5.00
Hiram Ibey	1.00
S. Rickett	1.00
Warren's Bakery—Bread daily.
H. W. Ackerman	10.00
Vickers' Bakery—Bread.
G. B. Jones	5.00
J. H. Fry	2,00
Miss Emma Bowen	1.00
Mrs. Tuite	1.00
Jas. Mather	1.00
Henry Alford	.50
Well Wisher	2.00
J. P. Huck	1.00
Mrs. J. C. Westley	1.00
Mrs. Wm. Mullett	2.00
Mrs. E. Dobbs	1.00
Mrs. C. J. Bowell—Groceries.
Mrs. P. E. Masters — Provisions and nursing care.
A friend	1.00
C. P. M.	2.00
John Harris	1.00
Mrs. H. Carre	1.00
Every Little Helps	1.00
A Friend	2.00
Tommy Patrick	1.00
E. F.	5.00
Mrs. Cousins	1.00
F. R. W.—Groceries.
A friend	1.00
Emmanuel Church	2.00
A friend	2.00
B. Aselstine	1.00
Sympathizer	2.00
S. O. S.	1.00
Well Wisher	.50
Mrs. F. E. Johnson	1.00
Blue Apron Chapter, No. 4, L. T. B.	3.25
A Friend	1.00
Mrs. J. A. McFee	2.00
A Friend	1.00
C. J. B.	5.00
McBride's Grocery, goods	2.00
A. T. Cole	1.00

To The Intelligencer Readers

On and after Monday, September 20th, 1920, The Intelligencer will be sold at the following prices:

Street sales by newsboys, per copy	.02
Delivered by carrier in City, a week	.15

The price of The Intelligencer has been only slightly increased in the last two years, while in the last six years the cost of production has increased enormously.

The following table shows some of the increased costs since 1914, taking 100 as a unit.

	1914	1920	Increase
Wages	100	180	80%
Paper	100	300	200%
Other Supplies	100	200	100%

The new price to subscribers represents an advance of about one-third of the increased cost of publication. A proportion of the new rates will apply to all subscriptions due and not paid before the 20th September, 1920.

The only alternative to a higher subscription price would be to lower the standard of The Intelligencer, and the publishers believe they correctly interpret the wishes of their subscribers by maintaining the present standard of

BELLEVILLE'S FAMILY NEWSPAPER

All subscriptions paid before Sept. 20 are payable at the old rate

Urges Dominion 8-Hour Day Law

WINDSOR, Sept. 17.—The Dominion Trades Congress decided to press the Dominion Government for the enactment of an eight-hour day law at the earliest possible date. In order that such legislation might not be subject to question or constitutional grounds, the delegates coupled with their decision a request that the Federal authorities take immediate steps to have the British North America Act amended to legalize this procedure. This action was taken in view of the ruling of the Department of Justice legal advisers that under the constitution as it now stands the eight-hour day law could be dealt with only by the various provinces. There was a considerable divergence of opinion among the delegates, but the majority favored the course adopted.

This, with the adoption of the recommendations of the executive council with regard to political action, which were much discussed at yesterday's session, furnished the features of the day. These recommendations favored a continuance of the present policy of strong moral support to the labor political movement, but were opposed to making the congress a political body.

◆

Collapse of German Exchange

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—The collapse of German exchange occasioned some misgivings Wednesday in financial circles, and some alarm to the general public. The dollar brought 60 marks Wednesday afternoon. There is loose talk, not to be taken seriously, about a possible declaration of national bankruptcy. In contradistinction to it a report, compiled by Germany's leading financiers and published Wednesday by the Government clearly indicates the folly of such a course.

"A declaration of bankruptcy by the German Government," says the report would mean a collapse of the entire social system. Millions of small holders of war loan stock, who are now on the side of law and order, would go over to the extremist camp if their savings were wiped out."

The report, however, describes Germany's financial situation as dangerous in the extreme. It is mentioned that the loss of the state railways during 1920 cannot, at the present rate of exchange, be less than $250,000,000. The Post-office will have a deficit of nearly $30,000,000.

The evasion of taxation and the fight of capital continues in spite of all precautions. The experts declare that Germany can pay her indemnities only if the Entente helps her to get on her feet financially and industrially.

◆

Italian Workers Claim A Victory

MILAN, Sept. 17.—Leaders of the Confederation of Labor and workers generally seem to believe they have won a great victory in the decision of Premier Giolitti to appoint a commission to submit a concrete proposal respecting participation by workmen in the technical, financial and disciplinary management of factories which was announced in Turin, yesterday. This commission's report will be made the basis for a bill which will embody many of the demands made by the metal workers since they have occupied industrial plants throughout the country. Representatives of workmen declare the Premier took matters in his own hands when he found the employers determined to resist, despite his counsel for moderation.

◆

Moore and Draper Again Elected

WINDSOR, Sept. 17.—Tom Moore was again re-elected President of the Dominion Trades and Labor congress this morning. P. M. Draper was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Both were elected by acclamation and in speeches regarded the action of the congress as a complete vindication of charges made against them by certain members.

Arthur Martell, Montreal; Alec McAndrew, Moosejaw; and S. A. Halford were elected Vice-Presidents; W. F. Bush, Toronto, was elected Fraternal Delegate to A. F. of L. Ontario Executive; J. Ralph, Chairman, D. A. Dear, A. Carroll and W. J. Jeffery, J. G. Foster, Montreal, will be the Fraternal Delegate to British Trades Union Congress.

Police Chase Liquor Thieves

Gun Battle Fought Around Home of F. Belleperche, Near Windsor

WINDSOR, Sept. 17.—In a gun battle fought around the home of Frank Belleperche at the intersection of Tecumseh and Lauzon roads, four miles east of Windsor, the Provincial police and Ford officers drove off a band of nine robbers, wounding one, and saved 200 cases of liquor owned by Mr. Belleperche, which was stored in the house.

The bold attack was the second within a week, Mr. Belleperche having driven off the first assault, single handed. In the morning's battle his house was riddled with bullets, blood spattered in his door-yard, and the three automobiles of the raiders, which were captured, were struck by many shots.

Farmer Held by Police

One man, a Petite Cote farmer, wounded in the hand, was arrested later and is held at Ford as a suspect. The police are temporarily withholding his name.

About 2 o'clock in the morning, neighbors noticed nine men in three cars approaching the Belleperche farm, and because of the previous attacks became suspicious and notified both police departments. Belleperche also saw them in time, barred them out and himself attempted to call the police, only to find that his wires had been cut.

When the officers, James Smith and J. P. Hanna of the Provincial Police and the Ford men under Chief Maisonville, arrived the thieves gave battle. Dozens of shots were exchanged and the robbers finally gave up, fleeing in their cars before a fusilade of bullets to which they replied in kind.

Disappear in Bush

Reaching a patch of woods they abandoned the cars and took to cover. Trace was lost of them in the woods, but when daylight broke the spot was searched.

Blood in the dooryard of the Belleperche house in considerable quantities, a trail of blood leading to the cars and still more blood in the autos was evidence that at least one of the raiders had been hit.

According to Chief Maisonville at laest two more men will be arrested within a few hours.

◆

Samples Worth $9,000 Lost in Hotel Fire

Invalid Woman Removed on Stretcher —Travellers Flee In Night Clothes

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 15—The Brown House otel at Aylmer and an adjoining building were badly damaged by fire early this morning, the blaze being noticed about 5.15 a.m. The fire is believed to have originated in the elevator shaft and had gained considerable headway before the fire brigade arrived. Samples to the value of $9,000 in the sample rooms of the hotel, belonging to Gault Bros., Ltd., and McIntyre & Son Ltd., Montreal, were lost. A barber shop operated by Walter Snyder; A. E. Synes' law office, and P. Zaff's shoe shop, which are in the same block were damaged by fire and water.

Commercial travellers in the hotel were forced to leave in their night garments, and Mrs. Wilson, wife of the chemist at the Carnation Milk Co. factory, who has been ill for some time was removed on a stretcher. The loss to the hotel, which is one of the best known in the district will amount to several thousand dollars.

◆

C.P.R. Conductors Placed on Trial

TORONTO, Sept. 17.—Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train conductors D. J. Carson, C. Simpson and J. Troyer, running between Toronto and Hamilton, who were arrested some time ago charged with the theft of tickets from the railway company, appeared before Magistrate Cohen today in Toronto for preliminary hearing.

They were all committed for trial at the present assizes.

S. Shiffman, a resident of Hamilton, who is engaged in the millinery business in that city, also appeared before the same magistrate charged with receiving railway tickets and theft, and was also committed for trial at the present assizes. The eight Canadian Pacific Railway conductors running between Montreal and Quebec who were arrested in April last come up for trial on Monday next in the court of King's Bench now in session in the city of Montreal

Labor Does not Want Soveit for Canada

Denunciation of the 'destructionists' the revolutionaries, who would set up a Soviet form of Government in Canada, is the main feature of the 86 page report of the Executive Council of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, to that body, in session at Windsor.

The "safe and sane" policy of the executive is summed up in the final paragraph of its long report.

"So long as human beings are created with different temperaments, differences of opinion will exist; but our work can only achieve the measure of success in proportion as it received the support of the majority of the toilers we represent, and as the demands we make give due consideration to other sections of the people of Canada. To do this it is necessary to exercise the greatest toleration of the opinions of others and while guarding zealously our established organizations and conditions, yet allowing others the same freedom of expression that we ourselves demand."

That is a fairly broad basis on which to place Labor's case. The Executive Council, however, is not leaving it at that. It takes five pages to show up the dangers of the destructive policy, and to point out some of the bitterest of the destructionist propaganda. It says:

"Last year your executive drew attention to the propaganda being carried on in Canada by the One Big Union and other groups who classed themselves "revolutionary," etc., and who had the object in view of destroying the Trade Union movement in Canada. Though the more extreme propaganda has somewhat subsided there is still a persistent and insidious campaign being carried on with the same object in view.

"In order that our membership may more fully understand the danger which faces the Trade Union movement at this time, we bring to your attention a few of the many public declarations which have been, and are still being made in this direction.

"Whatever result the Soviet form of Government may have on the social life of the people of Russia, it is difficult to know because of the many apparently authentic and yet very conflicting reports that are issued by those who have visited that country. The influences attempted to be exercised by the Russian Soviet Government and its spokesmen, on the Trade Union organization and social life in Canada and other countries is something, however, that should not be ignored.

"Perhaps the most important official declaration in this regard is the proclamation signed "Zinovieff" (associate of Lenine) and addressed to the proletariat of the whole world and is a declaration from the meeting of the Third International which met in Moscow during the present year which contains instructions to their agents to form revolutionary groups in every Trade Union branch and to endeavor to attract to their party the most advanced and class conscious workers, so as to have a small nucleus dominating each Trade Union and moulding the opinions of its members. Their instructions contain the following:

"To strive to alter the rules and structures of their unions to serve revolutionary ends. They should always endeavor to weaken the power of the permanent Trade Union officials, and strengthen the rank and file of the movement, so as to make the power to decide strikes rest with the workers themselves and not with the official elements. It cannot be too strongly impressed by Communists upon all workers that Trade Union officials both by their secure position and their enhanced salaries serve the maintenance of capitalism much more than they serve the cause of the emancipation of the workers."

"Much agitation has been carried on in Canada along the lines of those instructions, and, though we are not in a position to state that those doing so should be classed as the official agents of the Third International or the Soviet Government, yet their methods are undoubtedly carrying out the work outlined by the Third International as effectively as if they were their official agents.

"Leon Jouhaux, President of the French Federation of Labor and a member of the executive of the International Federation of Trades Unions and himself a very advanced Socialist is reported as issuing the following statement:

"Up to the present we have neither in the General Federation of Labor, nor in the International Federation desired to take a position with regard to the Third International, but proclamation signed by Zinovieff is a declaration of war against our organizations as clearly shown by the statement made at the recent Congress of the Third International. We can no longer keep silence notwithstanding all the sympathy we feel for the Russian revolution."

New York Explosion Caused Thirty-six Deaths

TWO HUNDRED PEOPLE INJURED IN MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSION—ALL INDICATIONS POINT TO BOMB EXPLOSION RESULT OF ANARCHISTIC PLOT—150 POUNDS OF METAL FRAGMENTS COLLECTED—THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS IN SECURITIES MISSING.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The mysterious explosion in New York's financial district yesterday, causing the death of thirty-three persons, according to partially revised lists at eleven this morning, and injuring approximately two hundred others, was probably caused by an infernal machine, possibly a time bomb. This is the almost unanimous opinion of expert investigators of the Department of Justice and police today.

Search of the wreckage near the scene revealed, according to a high official, fragments of clock-works such as is commonly used in making bombs. Three pieces of curved metal were also found beneath the surface of the pavement in a hole caused by the explosion, while a similar piece was taken from the body of a messenger who was killed.

Financial centres of big United States cities from coast to coast were armed camps today while several New York detectives and secret service men left his city this morning on out-of-town ends of investigation by the Justice Department.

The stock market opened promptly at ten, and after a hesitant opening the stocks resumed the upward movement in progress yesterday when the explosion occurred. Financial offices resumed business and the district was crowded with sight-seers.

Fire Commissioner Brennan reported today to Mayor Hylan that the explosion in Wall Street yesterday evidently was caused by a bomb. More than 150 pounds of broken sash weights and other metal fragments have been collected by the fire department at the scene of the disaster, the commissioner said.

BUILDINGS SHOT THROUGH WITH IRON.

A couple of million dollars' worth of damage was done to the uildings in the financial district. The Assay and Treasury buildings, near the scene, were wrecked and shot through with hurtling iron fragments from the giant bomb. Showers of broken plate glass fell to the streets and to the floors in the interior of buildings. Fortunately the horror of a great fire was not added to the other fearsome occurrences.

Twelve hours later, investigating authorities were almost certain the disaster was due to an infernal machine left on an uncovered one-horse truck in Wall street directly in front of the new United States Assay Office, next door to the Sub-Treasury, and directly across the street from the J. P. Morgan building.

SIGNAL TO LOOSING OF THREATENED FURIES.

At midnight no arrest had been made, but Federal, State and city investigators as a unit were almost sure the devastating blast signalled the loosing of the long-threatened fury of radical fiends against organized society in America.

Throughout the nation—horror-struck at tidings of the catastrophe —the same interpretation was placed upon it, and public buildings and great storehouses of wealth, as well as conspicuous men, were placed under vigilant guard.

MANY THOUSANDS IN SECURITIES GONE.

As a result of the explosion in the financial district many thousands of securities have been lost. Brokerage houses reported that some messengers sent out with securities dropped them and ran as soon as they heard the explosion. Other messengers disappeared in the confusion and have not been heard of since.

A messenger employed by Block, Maloney & Co. found near the scene of the explosion $42,000 in negotiatble bonds and three one-dollar bills. The latter were scorched.

AN ARREST AT HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 17.—Edward P. Fischer, suspected of having knowledge of the bomb outrage in Wall Street yesterday, was arrested in the Bank of Hamilton here this morning on a charge of insanity. Fischer is alleged to have sent out postcards from Toronto to friends in New York warning themof the explosion. His arrest came as a result of information laid with the local police by his brother-in-law, Robert Pope, of New York. The two men have been at the Royal Connaught hotel here for the past couple of days.

Came From the Air

Hamilton, Sept. 17.—Pope insists that ischer has been in Canada for the past two weeks attending tennis championships. Fischer talked freely to Magistrate Jelfs in the detention room. He admitted sending a post card to his chief in the French Mission in New York and also sending word of impending disaster to a friend in Wall Street Brokerage Office. Asked where he received the information he said "It came from the air." He stated that he believed in a religion of love but hated Morgans and that he had information that the next bomb attack will be against President Wilson. ischer, however, did not talk like an anarchist.

◆

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press Limited

S. J. [illegible], Chief of the Mining Division reports the Canadian coal situation as not alarming.

It is reported that a new trade agreement between France and Switzerland has been completed.

Brooklyn leads the National League race by six full games.

"Pop" Geers veteran harness driver was seriously injured at Syracuse.

The Baltimore International League team needs one more game to win the pennant.

Canadian stocks were extremely quiet, a few papers recording most of the day's trading.

Wholesale Price of Sugar Drops

TORONTO, Sept. 17.—The long-expected drop in the price of sugar has occurred at last. Wholesale prices dropped yesterday almost a dollar a bag—91 cents per 100 pounds, to be correct. One cent per pound is the decline, the difference of nine cents on the quotation being the difference per day that the new freight rates which came into effect last Monday have made.

Whether there will be any further drop in the price or not neither the refiners nor the wholesale grocers were prepared to forecast.

Anticipating just such a drop as has occurred, most of the wholesale grocers have been carrying very light stocks for the past few weeks, and have been buying only such amounts of sugar as could be disposed of immediately. It was hinted that this poor demand on the part of the wholesale houses helped to force the speedy drop in price.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

McFEE'S EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG OPTICIAN

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
192 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

There's a Bob Long Glove for Every Job

Engineers
Brakemen
Firemen
Freight Handlers
Bridgemen
Riveters
Linemen
Smelters
Moulders
Miners
Riggers
Lumbermen
Electricians
Stone Masons
Plumbers
Bricklayers
Carpenters
Farmers
Ranchers
Truck Drivers
Chauffeurs

If your Glove is not listed here, ask your dealer
BOB LONG
UNION MADE GLOVES
Made by skilled workmen from strongest leather obtainable—soft and pliable.
R. G. LONG & Co., Limited
Winnipeg TORONTO Montreal
Bob Long Brands
Known from Coast to Coast 152

City & Country

SCHOOL BOARD

A regular meeting of the Board of Education for general business will be held in the Council Chamber this evening.

DESERONTO BOY PROMOTED

J. P. Watters, locomotive foreman at the Grand Trunk shops, Prince Albert, Sask., is being transferred to a similar position at Mirror, Alta., and left for that point last Monday. This new position means promotion. Mr. Watters was a former Deseronto boy and his friends are pleased to learn of his promotion.

OPERATION

A. R. Laprairie, general car foreman of the G.T.R. at Brockville underwent a serious operation at St. Vincent de Paul hospital and his condition is reported as favorable.

RAILWAYMEN'S WAGES

Because of disagreement between various classes of shop and clerical labor and the Grand Trunk management regarding the application of the recent wage award, representatives of all branches of railway labor not covered by wage agreement No. 4 are in conference at Toronto with officers of the company. It is understood that the cause of disagreement is the desire of the employes to have the wage increase apply on the schedule subsequent to May 1 last, while the company is said to be desirous of having it apply to the schedule as before May 1. It is expected that some agreement will be reached. In the meantime, the new wage scale is not being applied to these classes of labor. The award is retroactive to May 1 last. The temporary trackmen employed on the road are also said to be dissatisfied with the award. The permanent men on the different section gangs are entitled to the award, but the temporary men taken on for the press of summer track work are said not to profit by it with the result that many are leaving the company's service. It is thought by some that in order to complete its track programme this year, the company may be required to take the temporary trackmen under the jurisdiction of the wage award.

THURLOW APPEAL

At a special meeting of the County Council held here in July, the equalization of assessment of the Township of Thurlow was raised a considerable extent. The Township authorities entered an appeal to set aside the bylaw and the appeal is being heard at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, today. Mr. F. E. O'Flynn is representing the Township and Mr. S. Masson., K.C., for the County.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE

The practice of boys riding bicycles on the sidewalks in certain sections of West Belleville is becoming dangerous to pedestrians. Last night a citizen walking on Halloway street had a narrow escape from being knocked down, the handles of the bike striking him on the ribs.

WHEN USING WILSON'S
FLY PADS
READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Rotarians to Hear Leader in Boys Work

J. T. Atkinson of New York and Taylor Statton of Toronto to Address Luncheon at Hotel Quinte

On Saturday evening at 6.30, Belleville Rotarians are holding a special luncheon at which J. T. Atkinson head of the Boys' Work of America and Taylor Statton of Toronto, will address the Belleville Club and guests. Each Rotarian is bringing one or more friends who are interested in this most useful work to the luncheon and it is expected a great many of the ladies will also be there.

J. T. Atkinson at very great personal sacrifice has undertaken to tour Canada in the interests of Boys Work. Mr. Atkinson, while head of the Boys Work in America, is a Canadian and his work has had wonderful results throughout the United States. He is called the friend of the poor boy. His work is not in favor of any particular organization, church or society, but he aims to co-ordinate all the forces in the interests of the boy, who is the man of to-morrow.

Rotary Clubs of America have undertaken as their most important work the betterment of the boy. Campaigns have been undertaken to systematically urge upon boys the necessity of continuing their education, to understand their possibilities in the future life of our country, to impress upon them the fact that being better boys will make them better men.

Rotarians from Belleville who were fortunate enough to hear J. T. Atkinson and Taylor Statton address a Rotary Club of Toronto are enthusiastic over the work they have outlined and it is indeed a great favor that the City of Belleville should have an opportunity of hearing these men.

The Programme Committee of the Rotary Club have also provided some choice morsels for entertainment for Saturday evening and it is expected that there will be a 100% meeting of Belleville Rotary Club.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Merrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept 28
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

Was Explosion Result of Plot?

Conflicting Theories Advanced as to the Cause of Explosion

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The finding of fragments of window weights, smelling of powder, has led police officers to believe that the explosion was caused by a large bomb, but conflicting theories are still being advanced by the various officials who are investigating the disaster.

Result of Plot?

Washington, Sept. 17.—Department of Justice officials said that all their reports so far indicate that the New York explosion was the result of a plot. They were unable to believe that it was due to a wagon load of explosives colliding with an automobile, the theory of New York police.

The military intelligence is co-operating in the investigation, it was said, indicating that there may be an international angle to it.

William J. Flynn, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, was expected to leave for New York during the day.

5,000 Detectives

A checking of all known radicals was started at New York Thursday after the explosion in the New York financial district, according to Government officials. Although nothing has yet been discovered to show the explosion was the work of radicals, the investigation forces of several branches of Government began co-operating in the checking up process on the theory that a possible clue might be uncovered. Approximately 5,000 Government detectives connected with the Department of Justice, Treasury Department Post-office and Bureau of Immigration were working on the explosion.

HARBOR IMPROVED.

Extensive additions to the wharfage construction and under water tunnels of the harbor are planned by the Sydney (Australia) Harbor Trust in order to facilitate the transportation of grain and other products. About $10,000,000 has been spent on harbor improvements during the last eighteen years.

Thirteen Thorold residents were arrested and lodged in Welland Jail as the result of the riots over David McNeil last month.

McClary's
Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

BEAUTY'S AMBITION

To Rid the Face of Pimples and Such Blemishes is a Step Toward Life's Chief Accomplishment

One of the most aggravating conditions to any woman is the presence of pimples and such blemishes. Her ambitions are first a home, then children and then her appearance.

One of the greatest blessings she can have is a fine, fair skin on face, neck and arms. The use of Stuart's Calcium Wafers now and then for the blood condition makes this possible. Women are great sufferers from skin disorders and hence their complexions are marred because of this fact.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers give you a complexion that rivals the ideals of an artist to produce. By acting upon the skin and blood they thus contribute to a more beautiful complexion.

Get a 60-cent box of these wonderful wafers from any druggist anywhere.

UNION VALE

The farmers are busy drawing away their peas and wheat and preparing the land for fall wheat.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Pearsall have returned home after spending several days at Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Oak of Toronto visited the latter's sister, Mrs. A. Tripp, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pearsall entertained the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sullivan of Corbyville, also her sister, Mrs. C. Garrison of Toronto and Mrs. J. Sullivan and daughter of East Tawas, Mich., recently.

Mr. Hiram Vincent is spending a few weeks with his daughter, Mrs. S. Tripp, Picton.

Miss Marion Fargey of Stirling visited at Mr. F. Vincent's recently.

Miss Grace Edwards has resumed her school duties here for the ensuing year.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pearsall and daughter Reta, visited the former's parents of Picton on Sunday.

CANADIAN ANIMALS SHIPPED TO GREECE

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—The humble Canadian hen is doing her best to lay the foundation of a poultry population in Greece, and incidentally the noble Clydesdale and Canadian horse is enhancing the value of the Greek livestock, as the result of experiments being carried out at the present time by the Greek Government.

Some time ago there was purchased for the government of that country a shipment of prize poultry. These included Plymouth Rocks, Orpingtons, and White Wyandottes, all of famous Canadian strains. At the same time a number of Canadian Clydesdale sires and Canadian-bred Clydesdale grade horses were purchased and shipped to Greece. The poultry and animals will be the subject of tests to see how the Canadian stock will prosper in the Greek climate and under conditions as they obtain in that country.

If the first shipments do well in Greece after they have become acclimatized, it is expected that this will be the beginning of an important export trade in livestock for Canada.

SOME MERMAIDS.

Unencumbered by even a one-piece bathing suit a Winnipeg girl jumped into the Assiniboine river the other day and announced that she had undertaken a long-distance swim with Montreal as her destination. When she had gone a mile and a half the police boat caught up. She refused to be picked up, so the officers hauled her aboard in a fish net.

Nineteen Montreal ladies have entered the women's golf championship at Hamilton.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"THE GIRL FROM OUTSIDE"

A remarkable cast is seen in "The Girl From Outside" a Goldwyn picture which is being shown at Griffin's tonight and Saturday, matinee and night, and which Rex Beach, famous adventurer and author, wrote. While the level of the acting is far superior as a whole to the average run of pictures in which a star is featured, the really unusual work of Clara Horton as the girl from outside and Cullen Landis as "the curly kid" stands out above the high average work of the unusual cast.

Rex Beach took a hand himself in the production of the picture with the result that the realism is true in gross and in detail. The town of Nome as it was in 1900 was built under the eye of Mr. Beach and an old Alaskan miner and friend of his who visited him in the studios was astonished while out walking suddenly to come upon a scene once very familiar to him but now long gone. Particularly realistic is the scene of the landing of the big ship which brings June, the girl from outside, to the scene of her adventure and destiny. A Rex Beach picture is first of all full of action. In "The Girl From Outside" you get to know characters you will not soon forget. That is what makes a photodrama worth while, worth seeing twice.

Charles Hutchison in "The Whirlwind," a funny 2-reel comedy, an Outing Chester Travelogue, and other attractions of interest have also been arranged for presentation.

"KATZENJAMMER KIDS" NEXT WEDNESDAY

John P. Mulgrew wrote the book and lyrics and Donald H. Bestor composed the jingly music of "Katzenjammer Kids" the newest song, dance fun and girl show made from the famous comic supplement cartoons which will be presented at the Griffin Opera House for one night only next Wednesday, September 22.

"Katzenjammer Kids," is the most massively and magnificently mounted and costumed cartoon play ever produced. It comes here with a big company of well known musical comedy players and a fashion plate chorus that contains the most beautiful girls ever seen in a musical show. The chorus of "Katzenjammer Kids" is called a brigade of bewitching Broadway blondes and brunettes and is said to be a real Broadway chorus.

One of the features of "Katzenjammer Kids" is the big fashion parade. The beauties of the chorus in the ensemble number are gowned in the latest feminine fashions that are up to the minute as to style, which will surely prove an interesting feature for the ladies.

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY
CATARRH of the BLADDER relieved in 24 HOURS
Each Capsule bears the name MIDY
Beware of counterfeits

NOTICE !

Now is the time to have your furnace and pipes overhauled and cleaned by our experienced workmen.

We do plumbing also, and are Agents for Happy "Thought Ranges" famous everywhere.

DIAMOND & HYDE
PHONE 38

SINCLAIR'S

"Extremely Smart"
Describes the New Fall Suits

To mention the smart lines of these modes is merely to hint at their full beauty. They just seem to fit in to the days of Autumn. Here are Suits of Serge and Tricotine, while duvetyn repeats itself in many of the models. No need to attempt to describe them all—one could not do justice to their originality and the many charming ways in which rich embroidery and fur trimming have been brought into play. We invite your inspection.

Autumn Blouses

When Suits are more than ordinarily important, is it any wonder that the new Blouses are of absorbing interest. And they merit your interest, for we are sure a more representative assortment of the smartest modes is hard to find. Modes of Georgette Crepe, Taffeta, and Satin are tailored or elaborately adorned with beading or embroidery, as the fancy wills.

Prices from $2.50 to $15.00.

Silk Petticoats
IN SUIT TONES.

Silk Petticoats, comfortable and of the proper width are shown in what you will find most interesting assortments. The ruffles or bands of contrasting fabrics are effectively applied in their flounces. They are made of messaline, taffeta, and jersey silk. Priced $5.00 to $16.50.

A Raincoat

—may be classed among the necessities of the Autumn wardrobe. These Raincoats will keep out all the rain and at the same time have a very smart appearance. Don't put off your purchase. Have one in readiness for the next rainy day. You will find the prices to be very moderate.

Marabou Rufs

A light weight Marabou Ruff will prove a very comfortable wrap for the coming cool days and when it is as stylish as these are it is sure to find a place in the well dressed woman's wardrobe.

Priced from $8.50 to $27.50.

Save the Apron
Spoil the Frock

—many women might be heard to exclaim, and a truer warning never was spoken. It is but a matter of a moment to slip one of these handy affairs over your new frock, and its all-covering expanse will prevent any portion of the garment it covers from being spotted. In neatly patterned percales at $1.00 up.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.
Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

The Frozen Trail

Out there on the frozen trail of Alaska, "The Girl," alone and friendless, struggles among strong, ruthless men who recognize no code of honor—

And when the struggle seems hopeless and poverty and despair are slowly grinding her to earth—into her life come five men, each one a master crook. Then something happened, and what follows reveals one of the most powerful and absorbing train of events that the screen has ever seen.

Goldwyn presents
REX BEACH'S
GREAT DRAMA OF THE NORTH
"The Girl from Outside"
Whirlwind—2-Reel Comedy—Outing Chester—Others.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN
TONIGHT AND SATURDAY

COMING MONDAY—TOM MIX in his greatest play—"THE TERROR."

GRIFFIN OPERA HOUSE
One Night, Wednesday, September 22
BEAUTIFUL GIRLS—MAGNIFICENTLY GOWNED—23 SONG NUMBERS — SIX GORGEOUS SCENES.

THE SEASON'S MUSICAL COMEDY HIT
The ORIGINAL
KATZENJAMMER KIDS
WITH A CHORUS OF 25 UNDER 20
A GREAT BIG FUN SHOW WITH A MULTITUDE OF PRETTY GIRLS, GOWNS, SONGS & DANCERS

Newspaper Writers in Halifax Said This is the Best Musical Cartoon Show Ever Seen in Canada.

PRICES—$1.50, $1.00, 75c., 50c. Seats Tuesday, 10 a.m.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

NEW YORK PREACHER CHALLENGES DANCING MASTERS

New York, Sept. 16.—The Rev. Dr. John Roach Stratton wants to go to Montreal and tell the dancing masters of that city to their faces what he thinks of the "Wesleyan" edition of the waltz. The "vice crusader," replying to the threat of the Dancing Masters' Association of Montreal to sue him for $10,000 unless he retracts his denunciation of dancing, says that if the "Christian forces of Montreal will give him an invitation to speak there he will denounce the terpsichorean art in still more vigorous terms.

When the stomach is "Off," sometimes a good way to find the trouble is to quit coffee and use

INSTANT POSTUM

Ten days' trial proves and there's a lot of satisfaction in knowing.

Why not order a tin of Instant Postum from the grocer next time—and watch yourself and your own feelings?

"There's a Reason"

Made by
Canadian Postum Cereal Co. Ltd.
Windsor, Ontario.

Sports

TOO MANY COOKS SPOILED SHAMROCK BROTH

When Mr. Nicholson, the designer of Shamrock IV., arrived in England, he placed the superior seamanship of the Resolutes' captain and crew among the reasons for the challenger's failure to lift the America Cup.

Members of the Shamrock's crew who have returned to England, resent the slur which they consider Mr. Nicholson has thrown upon their efficiency as yachtsmen and declare that the Shamrock's faulty handling was largely due to the interference of Mr. Nicholson.

Arthur Diaper, one of the crew, said in an interview with The Associated Press correspondent it was a case of too many cooks and he pointed to the fact that on the only occasion Captain Burton was free from interruption and advice the Shamrock won Diaper said all the crew felt convinced that had a professional skipper been in full command Shamrock would have won the first three races. He claimed that she could point as close into the wind as the Resolute but the latter was superior in reaching.

He declared that Shamrock was very awkward to handle and her canvas was about three times as heavy as that of the resolute. The halliards were arranged in such a manner that the work of the men was made extremely difficult. What could be done by ten men on the 23-meter Shamrock required thirty to do on Shamrock IV. On one occasion in setting the mainsail they had thirty-six men on the halliards and could not move the sail.

"In fact," said Diaper, "I have never before seen such heavy canvas on a racing yacht." And then, on the return of the yacht to City Island, after the races, they found a complete set

He declared that the Shamrock was IV., stored in Jacob's yard.

"Another fault," continued Mr. Diaper, "is the constant changing of gear which was in progress throughout the period of the races. The topmast was changed no less than seven times in the course of three weeks and eventually they finished with the original one."

BELLEVILLE BALL TOSSERS OUT TO BEAT PONIES

Everybody who is able to get away to see the game of ball on Saturday afternoon at the fair grounds between our own G.T.R. team and the fast Kingston Ponies ought to be there. The Ponies are the best outfit Belleville has played this season, a very classy fielding team, with a very speedy left-hander to bend them over the plate. The game at Kingston last week was a "hum-dinger" from start to finish, and while the G.T.R. boys lost the game, they, nevertheless, were not outclassed at all. There is a big chance that they will turn the tables; so turn out, boys, and root. The G.T.R. line-up will probably be: "Peeney" Mills, c.; Fred Goyer, p.; Harry Mills, 1b.; Frank Goyer, 2b.; Weir, s.s.; Meagher or Kelleher, 3b.; with Symons, Ross and Parker in the outfield.

The management beg to announce, also, that if the fans show by their attendance at this game that they want more baseball, they will carry on the season for another month, arranging games with fast outside teams, and ending the season with a big game on Thanksgiving Day.

EXHIBITION GAME

At the Agricultural Park here tomorrow afternoon, the Ponies baseball team of Kingston and the G.T.R. team of this city will play an exhibition game. This will, no doubt, be one of the best ball games of the season.

Social and Personal

Mr. Laurie Wrightmeyer left this week for an extended visit in California intending to spend some time in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Mr. Hugh Anderson of Detroit, Mich., returned home after spending the past week with his uncle, Mr. Shelley Anderson, Dundas street. Mr. Anderson is an Old Belleville Boy who has not visited Belleville for the past ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Warham, (nee Iva Morey of this city) will spend a couple of weeks visiting friends in Hamilton before taking up their future residence in Chicago, Illinois.

Mr. T. F. Harrison who has made a world tour in the interests of Sunday school work and who is now giving his services to Ontario S. S. work will be in the city on Sunday. He will speak in the Baptist, Tabernacle and Bridge Street churches.

BIRTH

BOWLER—Belleville, September 16th to Mr. and Mrs. C. Bowler, 44 Murney street, a daughter. 1td

Merry Minstrels Mirth and Melody

Plenty of Fun, Music and Surprises Featured Program of Gus Hill's Minstrels.

Old time minstrelsy will never die, judging from the large audience which greeted Gus Hill's Minstrels on their annual visit to Griffin's Thursday evening. The house was filled to capacity, and from the laughter and applause the program was evidently thoroughly enjoyed.

It was an old-time minstrel program with singing, dancing, jokes and monologues. Some of the jokes were old, some of them were new, but all were good and laugh provoking.

Bob Tenny, as "The Cuckoo Sailor," was very funny and a whole show in himself, while "a few minutes with Emile Subers, the Boy from Georgia," was rich in laugh-provoking quips.

"A Session at School," the closing number, was very funny and kept the audience in continuous laughter.

The time-honored semi-circle opened the show and the ensemble embraced a number of pleasing vocalists who received nice support from the large company of male voices in the chorus. Chief among the song hits introduced were "See That Shimmy Moon" by Lew Moniger; "Apple Blossom Time," by Sid Marvin; "Let the Rest of the World Go By" by Fred Warner; "Early to Bed and Early to Rise," by Rags Leighton; "Jinga Boola," by the original Sam Curtis; "When I Found the Lost Chord to Your Heart," by Henry Bohn, and "He Raised Everybody's Rent but Katie's" by Emile Subers.

42,200 Soldier Patients Treated

WINDSOR, Sept. 16.—Facts and figures which summarize the work of the Department of Soldiers Civil Re-establishment in Canada are concisely stated in the report of T. A. Stevenson, of Toronto, representative of the Trades and Labor Congress, with the D. S. C. R., as made to the Labor Congress now in session at Windsor.

The branch operates some thirty-five hospitals and sanatoria throughout the country, which require a staff of over 2,000, including medical men, nursing sisters, attendants, etc. Up until March 15, 1920, the medical branch had treated over 42200 patients and the greatest number of men under their care at one time was early in March of the present year, when some 26,783 men were on the strength for treatment.

The Orthopaedic and Surgical Appliances branch under the direction of Major R. W. Coulthard is responsible for the manufacture and supply of all artificial limbs, arms and appliances along with Orthopaedic boots The central factory is located in Toronto with branches in every unit throughout the country. All appliances are supplied ex-soldiers free, including repairs and renewals whenever required. The following is a list of appliances and repairs supplied up to July 8, 1920:

		Repairs
Arms	1,365	690
Boots	5,579	2,054
Legs	3,610	5,243
Minor appl.	4,591	1,046
Pegs	975
Parts	1,091
New sockets	1,414

ARE UNDERBID BY KRUPPS

New York, Sept. 16.—Locomotive builders of this country were recently underbid by the Krupp Works of Germany on an order of eighty-three locomotives for the Java State Railways, it was learned today. This, it is believed, is the first time that the Krupp works, formerly devoted to war munitions, have been an important factor in the railway equipment field. It was announced some time ago that the Krupp Works were being remodeled for this purpose and the taking of this order, it is believed, indicates that the transformation of the big plants to the new work is complete. It could not be learned how much the Krupp Works underbid the American quotations, but it is believed that the depreciated German money afforded the foundation for the underbidding. Holland was the actual bidder for the engines, and with a gold payment to make, could obtain better terms under the German currency situation than in dealing with the United States.

While Germany was successful in underbidding in this instance, it is not believed that for the time being, at any rate, she will be an important factor in the foreign equipment field. Lack of raw materials will prevent this.

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Wm. McIntosh and Company

Big Clearance Sale of Smallwares

Positively the Greatest Bargains of the Season

TO MAKE ROOM FOR THE NEW GOODS ARRIVING WE ARE CLEARING OUT OUR STOCK OF SMALLWARES REGARDLESS OF COST.

It will pay you to investigate these prices

ALL GOODS ARE ARRAYED ON TABLES AND COUNTERS ON OUR SECOND FLOOR WITH PRICE TICKETS ON EACH TABLE.

HERE IS A REMARKABLE LIST OF VALUES WHICH CANNOT FAIL TO INTEREST:

5c Table
Tea Strainers
Coffee Strainers
Lamp Burners
Pie Plates
Strawberry Hullers
Nutmeg Grinders
Teapot Stands
Cake Cutters
Fruit Jar Rubbers
Trays
Picture Cord
Shoe Polish
Dusters

10c Table
Salt & Pepper Shakers
Lemon Squeezers
Lamp Chimneys
Egg Baskets
Soap Racks
Enamel Pie Plates
Vegetable Choppers
Egg Beaters
Potato Mashers
Tea & Coffee Strainers
Fruit Jar Rings
Butter Ladles
China Plates
Comfort Soap
Borax Soap

15c Table
Lamps
Fancy Vases
China Salt Shakers
China Pepper Shakers
China Plates
Bon-Bon Dishes
Jardinieres
Strainers
Soap Dishes
Scrubbing Brushes
Boot Brushes
Paint Brushes
Butter Moulds

25c Table
AGATE COFFEE POTS
CUSPIDORS
MIRRORS
LAMPS
DAISY TEA KETTLES
CHINA MILK PITCHERS
STRAINERS
Combination Sets for Peeling and Cutting Potatoes and Apples.

This week thrifty women can take advantage of this remarkable offering and profit immensely thereby.

10 Qt. Pails, 35c. each. Strainer Pails, 98c. each. Iron Bottom Pails, $1.10 each. Boilers, $1.69 each. 4-String Brooms, 50c. and 69c. each.

SEE THE VALUES WE ARE OFFERING IN SCRIBBLERS, PENCILS, PENS AND BOOKS FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Fancy Work Baskets, Manicure Sets, Shaving Sets, Sewing Boxes, Hair Brushes, Express Wagons, Dolls, Toys and numerous other articles to be cleared out regardless of cost.

THE BEST TIME TO CHOOSE IS WHEN THERE IS A GOOD ASSORTMENT. DO NOT DELAY!

Wm. McIntosh and Company

BOYS NOT IN IT.

The female of the species appears to be living up to poetic specifications in Calgary, according to the report of A. D. McDonald, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society. Desertion of families is more prevalent among wives than husbands in Calgary these days and for the past month or so the number of girls before the juvenile court trebled the total of the boy offenders.

BROTHERHOOD—THE SUPREME PASSION OF THE HOUR
WORLD BROTHERHOOD CONGRESS
WASHINGTON, D.C., OCTOBER 9th to 13th, 1920.

Delegates from 30 Nations. Eminent Speakers from all parts of the world. Will be the most remarkable religious gathering ever held in America.

Railway rates a fare and a third fro mthe American border, or make the trip by Auto. Washington return, $38.00.

A most delightful journey at a most delightful time.
Send your Minister, Leader of Men's Work, Sunday School Superintendent to Catch the Vision of World Brotherhood behind the League of Nations.

Full particulars from T. Howell, Director and General Secretary Canadian Brotherhood Federation, 405 Kent Building, Toronto.

ESTABLISHED 1870 S. A. HYMAN & CO. MAKERS OF FINE FURS

50th Anniversary

Hyman's Furs
Lower Prices

You will effect quite a saving in buying your fur requirements here

The purchase of selected skins at considerably lower prices than those asked earlier enables us to offer our furs at exceptionally low prices.

You'll find the PRICES of ALL OUR FURS LOWER THAN THOSE ASKED ELSEWHERE, and we can demonstrate that it will pay you to BUY YOUR FURS HERE.

Now is the time to select your furs. We enjoy showing them. Come early and select the furs to please you. They're here

FURS SELECTED NOW will be held for later delivery on payment of a small deposit

S. A. HYMAN & CO.

N.B.—Repairing and Remodeling of Furs receive our careful attention at lowest prices.

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street. Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 15c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 12c. per line first insertion, 6c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 25 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $5.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

JAILS NOT MEANT FOR SOLDIER HEROES.

Two returned soldiers are confined in the Belleville gaol because they do not possess the money to pay fines imposed in accordance with the Ontario Temperance Act.

Both men have splendid war records and carry honorable wounds, received in fighting Canada's battles against the Hun.

Two old pals of the blood-stained fields of France are they, and when they met recently a joyous reunion was unfortunately marred by a bottle of whiskey shared in an unlawful place.

These men are not criminals. They are of the nation's heroes who helped to bring such glory to Canada.

That they should be kept in prison is unthinkable.

If ever a case warranted executive clemency, this one does, and there will be no adverse criticism, but rather general rejoicing, when they are set at liberty.

W. C. Mikel, K.C., has taken up the case of the unfortunate soldier heroes and should receive the hearty support of all real Canadians in his fight for their release.

BOYS STILL ARE BOYS AS IN THE LONG AGO.

That the love of adventure is not dead in the boys of the present generation, and that they are not milk and water softies, afraid of their shadows is evidenced by the response to the call for boys to man the ships of the Canadian navy. That response was quick and hearty, and a fine bunch of husky lads will leave this week for England to take their places as officers and midshipmites on the battleships which are to form the nucleus of Canada's navy that is to be.

This is refreshing to us old codgers who were beginning to think that the boys of the present generation took little interest in athletics, while adventure was only a thing to be read about and shivered over.

Recalling how many times we ran away to sea (in fancy) with Martin Rattler and other boyhood heroes visualized by Marryatt, Mayne Reid, Ballantyne and other vigorous writers, and served in fancy as middies on many seas, we are glad that the real British boy is still alive and masterful as ever.

FREE TRADE FADDISTS WOULD WRECK INDUSTRIES.

Industrial Canada was built up under the National Policy of Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's far-seeing Premier, who saw Canadian mechanics forced to leave home to find employment in the United States. The National Policy changed all this and Canadian workmen can now earn good wages at home and enjoy life with their families and in their own homes.

Mackenzie King's tariff tinkerers are bidding for votes among the western free traders who would destroy Canadian factories for their own selfish benefit, but there is a spirit of Canadianism animated by unselfishness which desires to build up Canada on the principle of the greatest good for the greatest number, all for each and each for all, which will defeat the tricks of the political mountebanks who are again using the age-old wormy chestnut, the tariff, as a bridge to the sweets of office so much desired.

Mackenzie King's tariff tinkerers will have to be contortionists of high degree to win support in the east, which fears free trade, and even in portions of the west where the tariff is supposed to be a thing of evil.

Even with the present tariff Canada is flooded with foreign-made goods, as the record of importations shows. Japan alone is shipping all classes of goods to Canada, paying the duty and then underselling Canadian manufacturers.

Canadian workmen can easily understand that tariff tinkering as proposed by Mackenzie King, the Globe, et al, is a direct threat at their pay envelopes and the homes they own and are so proud of.

Canada must not be handed over to theorists. We must walk carefully and act sanely.

Canada's tariff policy has attracted hundreds of factories from the United States, and many more are coming when they are assured that there will be no free trade foolishness.

Is it better for Canadian workmen to live at home with their families and earn good wages in Canadian factories, under a sane protective tariff, or be obliged to go to the United States to find employment because of the insane blundering of tariff tinkerers of the Mackenzie King type?

CRISP COMMENT

The Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King does not possess the confidence of his party. That is a recognized fact. Officially, the Liberals beat the drums loudly round the name of their chieftain, but outside the official circles the enthusiasm is not so apparent. Not having the confidence of his party, how can Mr. King hope to win the confidence of the country?—La Minerve.

× × ×

Criticism is being directed with good reason against certain special attractions which have been remarked as features of agricultural exhibitions. It is true that people who visit those places are glad to have some form of distraction. But why, in place of buffooneries, not provide something really amusing?—La Presse.

× × ×

Some men would rather spout from soap boxes than earn their own living at honest labor, and they all sing the same song—to hell with everything, especially the Government.

× × ×

The United States has never made peace with Germany and is still technically at war with that country, yet the bars are taken down and German immigrants permitted to enter at will. Anything is liable to happen in Uncle Sam's land Presidential year.

× × ×

Editorially the Toronto Globe would have its readers believe that there are no red agitators in Canada and charges Premier Meighen with waving a danger signal when there is no danger apparent. If the editorial Globe would read the Globe news columns it would find plenty of red signs and indications of Bolshevik camps not far from the Globe office.

× × ×

The London Free Press appreciates Canadian Labor's stand against Bolshevism by saying: "If British Labor is the 'despair' of Bolshevism, as Lenine has said, Canadian Labor should be the death of the movement on this side of the water. All Canada must be reinforced and reassured by the sentiments recently expressed by the authorized leaders of Labor in this country."

× × ×

Evidently the Reds of the Toronto Trades and Labor council thought better of their determination to prevent Premier Meighen from addressing the Dominion Trades and Labor congress at Windsor. The Premier delivered his address, and it does not appear that any of the rosy-tinted delegates from Toronto proposed to have him thrown out or even made any attempt to howl him down or interrupt him. It must have required a heroic exercise of self-restraint on the part of Jimmy Simpson and his comrades to listen in silence while the Premier held the floor. More galling still to them must have been the reception accorded the head of the national government. The reports say that Mr. Meighen was greeted with an "ovation." It is pleasant to be able to note this evidence that the representatives of organized labor in Canada are sufficiently self-respecting, and have enough respect for constituted authority, to grant a cordial reception and courteous hearing to the responsible head of the government of the country of which they are responsible citizens. It is an assurance that the Reds will not succeed in their efforts to gain control.—Hamilton Herald.

× × ×

It must be quite pleasing to the Republican party in the States to learn that Lenine and Trotsky are at one with them in denouncing the League of Nations.—Hamilton Herald.

× × ×

We understand that one of the New Poor who recently found a burglar in his house searching for money immediately offered the intruder ten per cent. if he proved successful.—Punch.

× × ×

Two Toronto men escaped from the Portsmouth prison in the warden's motor car. The only thing they overlooked was to take the warden along as chauffeur.—Montreal Star.

× × ×

Ottawa has increased the postage rate on newspapers from ¼c. to 1¼c. a pound, but insists upon the same rate for carrying papers a mile as it imposes for carrying them clear across the continent. Such a rule is manifestly unfair to every publication except the big fellows.—Kingston Whig.

× × ×

New York World: Now that Mayor Hylan has told Lloyd George what to do in the MacSwiney case, perhaps the British prime minister will reciprocate and tell Mayor Hylan how to settle the traction question, what to do about the housing problem and how a police force can be used to protect life and property.

OTHER VIEWS

Fun At Home

Guelph Daily Herald

Let Guelphites keep up the idea of celebrating every statutory holiday with some sort of a demonstration in order that the people may have something to stay home for and not be tempted to look elsewhere for fun on the holiday.

The Late Mr. Parent

Toronto Globe

Hon. S. N. Parent, whose death is announced in Quebec, was a man of remarkable industry and executive ability having been for a number of years simultaneously a practising lawyer, Mayor of Quebec, Premier of the Province and President of the Quebec Bridge Co. "One of the most industrious administrators of modern times," was the tribute of the late Hon. F. G. Marchand.

The Bountiful Harvest

Stouffville Tribune

We have yet to hear of our older residents who remember a more favorable harvest than the one almost past. Early in the season when the grain was but a few inches high a continued dry spell made it look serious for a time in this district, but rain which came in time worked wonders. Since then the weather has been ideal and the whole crop has been garnered in about two weeks, with not enough rain in that time to cause any damage, and but little delay. Reports from all parts of Canada and the United States indicat that the grain crops are good. The indications are that we are to have a year of plenty and the abnormally high prices should start to climb down.

A LAUGH OR TWO

A man is never so easily deceived as when he is trying to deceive others.

A woman doesn't make up her mind to go any place any more. She makes up her face.

Watching a fat woman laced up in an attempt to look like a perfect 36.

Had Experience

Elderleigh—Ah, my boy, it is the little things of life that tell.

Youngleigh (savagely) —Yes, I know. My girl has a little brother.

Both Needed Attention

Emily—Did you notice how dreadfully that piano needed tuning?

Selina—Why, no dear, I thought it harmonized perfectly with your voice.

Wound Too Tight

Bore: "Yes, I don't know how it is, but I feel thoroughly wound up tonight."

Hostess: "How very strange! And yet you don't seem to go."

Up to Date

Rough Customer—I want me picture took.

Photographer—Certainly sir. Would you like a carte or a cabinet?

Rough Customer—Cart or cab in it? Nayther. Oi'll have an auttymobile in it or nawthin'.

Identification Mark

"So you had trouble locating me," said the stranger to the old darkey as he alighted at the country station. "Didn't your master give you a description of me?"

"Yes, marsa, but thar's so many gemmen wif red noses coming on that dar train."

POET'S CORNER

LA COLETTE IN SUMMER

No star shell glimmers o'er the waste of grass,
No more the limbers on the white road pass;
No longer guns, their voices, hard and deep,
Speak from the ruins of La Colette asleep.

Through tumbled brick the sagging trenches run,
Zig-zagging in the burning summer sun;
Just honey-laden bees, a vigil keep,
About the ruins of La Colette asleep.

'Midst tangled wire the blood-red poppies gleam,
Above the lark sings all the world a-dream,
Yet quite unheard beneath each white crossed heap,
Where they of La Colette lie fast asleep.

J. R. OLIVER.

Chatham, Ont.

La Colette, on the Lens-Arras road between Vimy Ridge and Lens.

Catarrh Of The Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How to Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucous from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the bisurated magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucous and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover the Bisurated Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bisurated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bisurated form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT.

MONTREAL OIL COMPANY

INCORPORATED.

(INCORPORATED UNDER THE LAWS OF TEXAS)

CAPITAL - - - $1,200,000

Par Value $1.00 All Common Stock, Fully Paid and Non-Assessable.

Offices:—Montreal and Eastland, Texas.

Transfer Agents - - - - Montreal Trust Company

DIRECTORS

C. L. CAMPBELL, President, Contracter and Mine Operater, Montreal.

J. GILL GARDNER, Vice-President
President The Lang Produce & Storage Company, Limited, Brockville.

JOHN IRVING, Secretary
Sales Manager, Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Company, Montreal.

G. G. JONES
Managing Director, Montreal Oil Co., Texas.

W. A. MANION
Vice-President Windsor Petroleum & Refining Co., Windsor, Ont.

H. F. McLEAN
General Manager, Cook Construction Company, Montreal.

LT.-COL. CLARENCE F. SMITH
President Windsor Petroleum & Refining Co., Montreal.

C. WARFIELD
Gentleman, Prescott.

I. P. WISER,
J. P. Wiser & Sons, Limited, Prescott.

SALIENT FEATURES.

(1) The Leases are all in proven oil fields, surrounded by producing wells.

(2) The Company's wells started producing in February, 1920, and up to June 30th had produced approximately 76,000 barrels of oil.

(3) The Company has 2 producing wells, 2 nearing completion and 1 more drilling, with room for 17 additional wells on present acreage.

(4) Net oil receipts, February 22nd, 1920, to June 30th, $97,806.46 (after deduction of all royalties and balances due on producing leases.

Net receipts now averaging about $1,000 per day. This should be increased within the next few weeks, as 2 of the 3 wells now drilling are expected to be completed by theg.

(5) The management is in the hands of experienced business men of the highest standing. This insures the stockholders of efficient conduct of the Company's affairs.

(6) The capitalization of the Company is conservative, and its earning power almost unlimited.

(7) The Second monthly dividend of 2% is payable in New York funds Sept. 24th to shareholders of record Sept. 17th.

(8) Application will be made to list the shares in Montreal and Toronto, and an active market is anticipated.

The Montreal Oil Company filed its Statutory Prospectus with the Provincial Secretary of Ontario on March 4th, 1920.

PRICE $1.50 PER SHARE.

We recommend the purchase of this stock as an attractive speculative investment.
Circular mailed on request.

DINNING & COMPANY

Investment Brokers.

MARCIL TRUST BUILDING, MONTREAL.

BELLEVILLE REPRESENTATIVES

S. D. LAZIER, 186 John St. Telephone 158. R. E. LAZIER, 271 Pinnacle St. Telephone 23.

S. J. FISHER

Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Office, 19 Campbell Street.

Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.

Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON

Florist

Forin St. Phone 189

DEVELOPING PRINTING
ENLARGING

ANSCO

Cameras and Films.

OSTROM'S

DRUG STORE.

"The Best in Drugs"

Perhaps you didn't realize the delightful ice creams and dainties you can make economically with

Borden's

ST. CHARLES MILK

Recipe Book Free.

THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED MONTREAL

8-920

JOYFUL EATING

Unless your food is digested without the aftermath of painful acidity, the joy is taken out of both eating and living.

KI-MOIDS

are wonderful in their help to the stomach troubled with over-acidity. Pleasant to take—relief prompt and definite.

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE
MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S

MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE

Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45

Leaves Belleville at 8.15

Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW

Barrister, etc.

County Crown Attorney.

Office: Court House Building.

Phones: Office, 238; House, 435.

C. J. HALLIDAY

ARCHITECT AND BUILDER

Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.

212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.

Insurance—Life and Fire.

Estates Managed.

Debentures Bought and Sold.

J. C. McCARTHY

278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE

Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.

Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.

Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?

Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.

CHANCEY ASHLEY

298 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD

Barristers, etc.

Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.

W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford

Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP

FLORIST

CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON

Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.

Night Phone 175. Day Phone 205.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.

E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.

Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.

Solicitors for Union Bank.

Offices: 219 Front St. Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON

Agent for

Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS

When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.

ARTHUR A. SILLS

Telephone: 72; r31

R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS

ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER

OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.

Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury

ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS

Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.

Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.

Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON

W. N. PONTON, K.C.

R. D. PONTON

Offices: Belleville and Stirling.

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.

Offices: North Bridge St.

Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT

Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.

Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.

Insure with

The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.

H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,

28 Bridge Street,

Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID

GREAT-WEST LIFE

District Agent.

BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD

Office: 8 Campbell St.

Imlah & Armstrong

MANAGERS

BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.

UNDERTAKERS

14 Campbell St. Phone 774

Motor Equipment

NEWS OF THE WORLD—TRIBUTE TO SOLDIER RAILWAYMEN

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

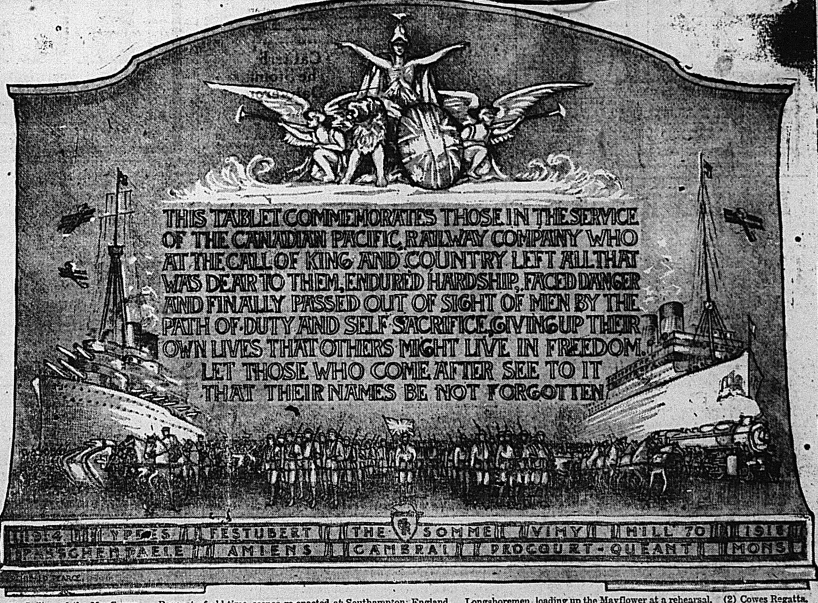
BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.



THIS TABLET COMMEMORATES THOSE IN THE SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY WHO AT THE CALL OF KING AND COUNTRY LEFT ALL THAT WAS DEAR TO THEM, ENDURED HARDSHIP, FACED DANGER AND FINALLY PASSED OUT OF SIGHT OF MEN BY THE PATH OF DUTY AND SELF SACRIFICE, GIVING UP THEIR OWN LIVES THAT OTHERS MIGHT LIVE IN FREEDOM.
LET THOSE WHO COME AFTER SEE TO IT THAT THEIR NAMES BE NOT FORGOTTEN
1914
YPRES
FESTUBERT
THE SOMME
VIMY
HILL 70
1918
PASSCHENDAELE
AMIENS
CAMBRAI
DROCOURT-QUEANT
MONS
COUTHARD PEARCE

(1) Sailing of the Mayflower. — Pageant of old-time scenes re-enacted at Southampton, England. Longshoremen loading up the Mayflower at a rehearsal. (2) Cowes Regatta. —The Committee. (3) The King, the Duke of York, and the Duke of Connaught aboard the Royal Yacht Britannia, watching the Cowes Regatta. (4) The Prince of Wales being received by the Governor-General on his arrival at Port Melbourne, Australia. (5) Sir R. Baden-Powell, the Chief Scout, inspecting the Wolf Cubs at the Boy Scouts' jamboree at Olympia, London, England. (6) Miss Anna Q. Nilsson, the movie star, went down to Hell's Kitchen, New York, in her bathing suit, and had her shower bath with the children of the district, in the street shower provided by the city, to the amusement of thousands.

(7) This bronze tablet will be placed at over a score of the principal offices and stations of the C. P. R., and two imposing bronze statuary groups have been designed for the great C. P. R. Stations at Montreal and Winnipeg, to stand forever as a tribute to the heroism and self-sacrifice of C. P. R. men who died in the cause of freedom.. . Out of 11,602 employees who were reported as joining the forces, 1,096, or nearly ten per cent., paid the supreme sacrifice.

"Save the surface and you save all"

Floor Scrubbing is easy and takes but half the time when the surface is

RAMSAY'S
FLOOR PAINT

"The right Paint to Paint right"

J. W. WALKER - - - HARDWARE.

Canada's Overseas Trade is $2,351,000,000

Sea-borne $1,046,000,000
Land-borne $1,305,000,000

More than half this land-borne trade is ultimately sea-borne—but in Foreign Ships.

Every pound of Canadian products shipped from a port outside Canadian territory retards our maritime growth, weakens our national prosperity and places control of a part of our sea-borne commerce in the hands of a competitive nation.

The Navy League of Canada.

A splendid wash—EARLY!
Purity—complete cleanliness—garments that are unworn and unfaded—with the wash-board rub-and-scrub done away with so the clothes are out early—that's a Sunlight Soap wash day. Good news!
LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, Toronto.

BUILD IT NOW

Reconstruct the Old Home For Longer Usefulness

Reconstruction begins at home. If the old house isn't all you desire, and you can't build a new one, a little of the right kind of repairing and remodeling will readily restore it to present day standards.

Perhaps it's a new porch, a summer kitchen, a side entrance, a new roof, extra rooms in the attic or a renewing of old, cracked walls and ceilings that is needed.

The right kind of lumber used in the right way will make the change and we have all the material you will require including that knotless and crackless manufactured lumber Beaver Board, for better walls and ceilings.

Suppose you ask us about it?

The Belleville Sash & Door Co., Limited
41 Station Street

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
* Daily   §Daily except Sunday   [illegible] City Passenger Agent
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN — READ UP.

Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS.		Train [illegible]	Train 22	Train 36
*9.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	——	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*1.00 a.m.	——
9.50 a.m.	10.31 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.18 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
5.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.20 p.m.
7.00 a.m.	9.00 p.m.	8.00 p.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	6.40 p.m.	——	——

The Thirteenth Commandment

By
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

some of it for a while. Maybe you can save me from a crash some day. Anyhow, it will be a great help to me to feel that I have a thrifty little wife at home. A man has to plunge a good deal in business. It's his wife that usually makes him or breaks him."

Bayard spoke with unusual solemnity: "Old Ben Franklin said, 'A shilling earned and sixpence spent, a fortune. Sixpence earned and a shilling spent, bankruptcy'—or something like that. But Moses got ahead of him. When he handed down the Ten Commandments he whispered an extra one to be the private secret of the chosen people."

"What was it?" said Leila with a minimum of interest.

"Thou shalt not spend all thou earnest," said Bayard. "It was—well, it was the Thirteenth Commandment, I guess—a mighty unlucky one to break. The Jews have kept it pretty well. They've been the bankers of the world even while they were persecuted."

Leila shrugged her handsome shoulders and studied the gems.

"Let's not talk about it tonight. Let's dine somewhere and go to the theater. I want to show off my new splendor."

"Fine!" said Bayard, trying to cast away his forebodings and lift himself by his own boot straps. "Get on your duds mother, you and Daphne."

"I can't go," said Daphne. "I've got to be at the fun-factory at half past seven and I've hardly time to eat anything."

While Leila and Bayard and Mrs. Kip were putting on their festal robes Daphne was eating alone a hasty meal brought up tardily from the restaurant.

Before they were dressed she had to march out in what she called her working clothes. The hallman ran to call her a taxicab, but she shook her head. Her humble twenty-five dollars a week would not justify a chariot to and from the shop.

She walked rapidly along Fifty-ninth street, but not rapidly enough to escape one or two murmurous gallants.

She found Batterson quarreling with a property man over the responsibility for a broken vase. He ignored her till at length she ventured to stammer:

"Here I am, Mr. Batterson."

"So I see. Well, sit down somewhere."

Finding a seat was no easy task. Every piece of furniture she selected became at once the object of the scene shifter's attack and she had to take flight.

She Found Batterson Quarreling With a Property Man Over the Responsibility for a Broken Vase.

Members of the company strolled in, paused at the mailbox and went to their various cells.

Eventually Batterson found that all the company was on hand and in good health. He said to Daphne, "Everybody is here and nobody sick, so you needn't stay after the curtain goes up."

But she wanted to learn her trade, so she loitered about, feeling like an uninvited poor relation. The members of the company came from their lairs, looking odd and unreal in their paint. They seemed to be surprised that Daphne was still in existence. Eldon gave her a curious smile of greeting.

She heard the call boy crying "Overture" about the corridors. She heard the orchestra playing "the king's piece." Then it struck up a march that sounded remote and irrelevant. There was a loud swish which she supposed to be the curtain going up. An actor and an actress in white flannels with tennis rackets under their arms linked hands and skipped into the well of light. They bandied repartee for a time.

Eldon, speaking earnestly to Mrs. Vining, suddenly began to laugh softly. He laughed louder and louder and then plunged into the light.

A little later Eldon came off the stage laughing. He dropped his laughter as he crossed the border and resumed his anecdote. "As I was saying—"

"But Mrs. Vining interrupted: "There comes my cue. How are They tonight?"

"Rather cold," said Eldon; "it's so hot."

"The swine!" said Mrs. Vining. Then she shook out her skirts, straightened up and swept through the door like a dowager swan.

One of the box lights began to sputter, and Batterson dashed round from the other wing to curse the man in charge. He ran into Daphne, glared, and spoke harshly: "You needn't wait any longer."

Daphne swallowed her pride and slunk out.

TO BE CONTINUED

SOME LUCKY FINDS

Priceless Art Treasures Dug Up in Odd Places.

Recovery of Long-Lost Old Masters Have Not Infrequently Made the Fortunes of Their Fortunate Discoverers.

The recent discovery of a long-lost Raphael in an old curiosity shop in a Paris slum recalls many a story, no less dramatic, of treasure trove in art, says a London Tit-Bits writer.

It is not long since a stolen canvas by Raphael of the "Holy Family" was found in the cottage of an Italian peasant, where it was serving the sordid purpose of stopping a broken window; a Corregio which had vanished from the walls of the Dresden gallery and been lost to sight for generations was recovered from the recesses of a Saxon hayloft, and priceless tapestries, designed by Raphael for Pope Leo X., were rescued from the hands of a Paris Jew after he had burnt two of the pieces in order to extract the gold and silver contained in their texture.

Raphael's pictures, indeed, seem to be peculiarly ill fated. Only a few years ago his "La Belle Jardiniere" was picked up at a second hand shop in Paris for 44 francs. His Vatican "Adam and Eve" was found—flung aside in the corner of a picture dealer's shop in the Rue St. Lazare, by an artist who paid a hundred francs for it, and sold it a few days later for 80,000, and for a modest 50 centimes a Parisian art amateur purchased Raphael's original design for his great picture, "La Disputa Sacramento," for which he would willingly have paid 20,000 times as much.

More romantic still is the story of the great master's famous picture, "The Massacre of the Innocents," which was recently discovered in the cottage of a poor widow at Como. Originally owned by Cardinal Luigi d'Este, it had somehow come into the possession of a priest, who had paid the equivalent of a sovereign for it, and who gave it to the Duke Alfonso d'Este more than three centuries ago. After the duke's death the canvas vanished utterly until it came so dramatically to light again in the Como cottage.

Rubens' famous masterpiece, "The Visitation," was, a few years ago, exchanged by a Paris curiosity dealer for two Louis XV. arm chairs and a sixteenth century coffer, and a fortunate collector discovered among a number of canvases exhibited for sale by a second hand dealer at Montmartre one of Teniers' finest canvases, which he was able to purchase for 30 francs.

A portrait of Nell Gwynn by Sir Peter Lely was discovered in singular circumstances at Birmingham by a medical man. While attending a patient in a small tenement he noticed on the wall of the living room a tattered picture of the head and bust of a woman. The frame was worm-eaten with age; but, despite its torn condition, the picture seemed a good one and it was purchased by the doctor for a trifle. He took it away and ultimately sent it to be cleaned.

There was nothing on the canvas to indicate the artist's name, but the eyes of the subject bore that peculiar expression of tender languishment, blinded sweetness and drowsiness attempted by no other painter than Lely.

Birth Rate Decreases.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—France is again intensely alarmed over its rapidly-decreasing birth rate. The Journal Official has just announced that during 1919 the deaths exceeded the births by 292,000. If this continues, the French race will cease to exist in a few generations. It was a better showing, however, than in 1918, when the deaths exceeded the births by nearly 390,000. This exceptionally low birth rate was caused by the high cost of living and the loss of young men in the war. In the same period England showed an excess of births over deaths of 277,000, and Germany had an excess of 69,000. This proves that England is now increasing in population at a faster rate than Germany, whose population is practically stationary. France finds some comfort in this. Brittany, Alsace-Lorraine, and one of the provinces in the Pyrenees shows that the loss has been especially heavy in those provinces.

Bolshevik Brigade Captured.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A Constantinople despatch says that Gen. Wrangel, leader of the anti-Bolshevik forces in Southern Russia, reports severe fighting near Pologhi, in the province of Ekaterinoslav, where an entire Bolshevik brigade, including staff, has been captured.

A Herring's Family.

The prolificacy of the procreation of sea creatures may be surprising to many. A herring, for example, delivers an average yield of 30,000 eggs with a maximum of 55,000.

A Few Weeks Ago We Said: "Hear Miss Sybil S. Fagan!"
DID YOU?

If you did, you were treated to a surprising spectacle. First you heard a great whistling artist perform. Then, if you were very, very, attentive, you may have noticed that the artist suddenly ceased whistling. But the music continued!

The New Edison by the artist's side was playing the same selection—and playing it so perfectly that few if any of you knew the difference. A demonstration of real music magic, wasn't it?

The point we are making is that what the New Edison did to Miss Sybil S. Fagan's whistling it should do in your own home—morning, noon and night. You are entitled to music's RE-CREATIONS of the world's best music by the world's greatest artists.

Why deny yourself longer? Each day you put off securing the New Edison you are running up a bill to Good Music Not Received—and this is the kind of bill you never can pay.

Call us up—now! We'll bring to your home a New Edison and after demonstrating it we'll leave it for you to examine at your leisure. Convince yourself before you purchase—without obligation.

THE NEW EDISON, "The Phonograph with a Soul."

WHISTLING RE-CREATIONS—"Little Whistler"—"Sundown in Birdland."
HEAR AGAIN ON THE NEW EDISON—"Melody in F," rendered so artistically by Miss Fagan

The J. M. Greene Music Co.
The Home of Good Music   Front Street

"The National Smoke"
WILSON'S
BACHELOR
Still the most for the money
10c.
ANDREW WILSON & CO. TORONTO AND MONTREAL

WE'RE COMING, CANADA, FULLY 100,000 STRONG

Winnipeg, Sept. 15.—One hundred thousand Americans will settle in Western Canada during the next year, according to opinions expressed by American business men, bankers and farmers, upon their return to Winnipeg after a 3,000-mile excursion through the prairie provinces. The excursion was the first of a series of sight-seeing tours to be conducted by the industrial and resources department of the Canadian National Railway.

"The trip has been a revelation to us," said Stephen T. Lincoln, farmer and business man of Jackson, Mich. "We have agreed among ourselves that the estimate of 100,000 expected to come from the United States during the next year is conservative. Some of us believe the number of settlers will be nearer twice that figure."

"I backed my faith in Canada with my money," said J. J. Morris, of Emporia, Kansas, one of the leading bankers of that state. He purchased considerable land in Alberta and Saskatchewan, although he had not intended buying when he started on the excursion, and even though none of the party were solicited even once to buy land.

V. W. Johnston, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, said:

"The remarkable opportunities of Western Canada are apparent to any-one who sees the great farming region. We are carrying back home the message of the West, a message of welcome to a land of opportunity. A great wave of immigration is inevitable."

Mr. Johnston, it is understood, represents many farmers and business men in his state. He purchased several thousand acres of land in Alberta, both improved and unimproved.

"The excursion has been highly successful and will prove of value in the" Dewitt Foster, superintendent of the industrial and resources department of the railway, with headquarters in Chicago. "Practically every man on the train represented from ten to twenty fellow farmers or business associates."

The excursion was all made in daylight, the train stopping at night, so the party would miss nothing in the West. In practically every district visited harvesting was under way.

THE REAL TEST
of home baked food comes when the second helping is offered. The appearance, texture and taste of food raised with is bound to be pleasing and satisfactory in every sense. Magic is an economical and healthful leavener, and because of its uniformity in strength and results, has justly earned its reputation of being Canada's Perfect Baking Powder.
MAGIC BAKING POWDER
Send name and address for free copy of "The Magic Way" containing selected recipes, many of which are illustrated in colors.
E. W. Gillett Company Limited, Toronto, Canada

EARLE & COOK'S SPECIALS
FOR
Friday and Saturday

10 dozen Grey Turkish Towels, special value ...... 69c. pair
5 dozen White Turkish Towels, regular $1.00 pair .. 89c. pair
6 only White Bedspreads, special $2.69
One piece of White Cotton Huck Towelling, reg. 35c. yard, for .... 29c.
2 pieces of Grey Towelling, good for kitchen wear .. 34c. yard
2 pieces English Oxford Shirting, reg. 45c. yard, for .... 37c.
Noblesse Satin, in black suitable for Underskirts, special, 69c. yard.

McCALL'S MAGAZINE FOR OCTOBER on sale at the Pattern Counter.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody
Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

ALASKA SABLE

This is one of the most practical furs on the market, for, besides being of rich appearance and giving good service, it is most reasonably priced.

It is a fur that lends itself readily to the fashioning of neck pieces cut on the most up-to-date designs.

We are showing some beautiful pieces. in STOLES, SHAWL THROWS and SILHOUETTE COATEE styles made up of strictly No. 1 New York State Sable at prices ranging from $60.00 per set up.

Come in and have a look around. A visit will be appreciated.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE.
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

Post Toasties
sell faster and eat better than any corn flakes made
—says Bobby

City And Country

MASONIC SPECIAL

A Masonic special train which passed east over the Grand Trunk yesterday morning has as its crew members of the Masonic order. The train which ran as the third section of No. 16 carried from Toronto to Kingston railwaymen who are Masons returning to New England from a journey west. At Kingston the party boarded the Canada Steamships liner which took them through the Thousand Islands to Prescott, where the train was again taken for Montreal, thence to New England. The conductor on the train was James Garrett, Toronto and the engineer from Belleville to Brockville was C. Delisle with T. Parsons as fireman. Leaving Brockville, locomotive 227, which hauled the train was decorated with a large Masonic emblem between the pilot and the smokebox with Engineer Frank W. Logan at the throttle and W. G. Watson as fireman. The train consisted of seven sleeping cars and a baggage car.

SHANNONVILLE FAIR

The "World's" Fair will be held at Shannonville to-morrow and with fair weather will, no doubt, attract many visitors.

AUTO MARKERS TAKEN

Mr. George Sarley, who resides at R. R. No. 3 Sidney Township reported to the police that yesterday his two auto markers 124,842 were removed from his car.

NAPANEE CADETS WON.

Napanee Cadets captured the silver cup with 24 points, in the drill competition at Napanee Fair. Picton came second with 15 points. Kingston cadets had 14 points, followed by Belleville with 13 points. Over 4,000 watched the cadets at drill. The gamness of one of the young cadets was shown when George Bedell, a member of the Kingston cadet corps, accepted a challenge of the owner of a wild west show on the grounds to ride a bucking broncho for two minutes, for which five dollars was offered. Young Bedell needed no second invitation and was well on the way to winning the prize when the horse cut across the tract and headed for the side of the tent. When a couple of feet from the tent the horse reared, and threw young Bedell. The plucky young cadet was given hearty applause by all who saw the feat.

BREAKING WINDOWS.

A foreigner residing on Lime street reported to the police that some windows were broken in the house he is living in by boys throwing stones. The officers of the law will endeavor to locate the culprits.

ANGLICAN CHURCH BURNED

The burning of St. Phillip's Anglican Church at Milford, Prince Edward County, on Tuesday, means the loss of one of the old landmarks of that village. It was a frame structure erected many years ago, and had long been the church home of the Anglicans of this vicinity. The fire started in the belfry immediately after being struck by lightning. Owing to the lack of water and fire fighting appliances, it spread to the main building which was soon in flames. The memorial tablets, altar and ornaments were saved, but everything in the vestry was lost, including the register, Bible hymn and prayer book, altar linen, vessels, font, etc.

GIANT SPUDS.

As remarked before in these columns, potatoes they grow large in Quinte district, the latest ocular evidence being from the farm of George Gray at Rednersville, where one hill produced a nice mess of spuds, four of them weighing five and one-half pounds, the largest weighing one and one-half pounds. From one peck of potatoes planted by Mr. Gray three bushels comprised the yield. Irish Cobbler was the variety.

SUCCESSFUL FISHING TOUR

Messrs. Edward Naylor of the City Hotel and Robert Foy have returned home from a successful fishing expedition at West McCoon Lake North Hastings. They succeeded in landing a number of fine specimens of black bass in addition to other members of the finny tribe.

BELLEVILLE VETERANS WIN

At a recent meeting of the Belleville G.W.V.A. it was decided to enter a Tug-of-War team in the competition at Napanee Fair between G.W.V.A. teams for a magnificent trophy donated by J. L. Boyes & Son of Napanee. Major R. D. Ponton was appointed a Committee of one to select the team and make the arrangements, his efforts were not futile. The team went to Napanee yesterday and for four minutes gave the 6,000 spectators in front of the Grand Stand one of the finest exhibitions of tug of war competition that has been seen for many a day finally wearing out the Napanee team and won the pull. Pat Boland was the Captain of the Belleville team and has worked hard in organizing the team. The team brought back to Belleville the magnificent trophy which is on exhibition in E. D. Finkles electric window on Bridge street. The Belleville Veterans will hold the cup for one year and if successful in defending it next year the Cup becomes the property of the local branch. The Napanee team was an excellent team and fought hard to the end. The following are the members of the Belleville G.W.V.A. team and who deserve great credit for their victory: Wm. Pye, Charles Thompson, Joe Connolly W. Peoples, C. Murphy, Pat Boland, M. Weir, G. Tilley and W. McKenna. L. G. Madden, Acting Secretary of the local G.W.V.A. was coach.

ALLEGED THEFT OF WATCH

Police officer Vanmeer this morning apprehended a lad who it is alleged is guilty of the theft of a watch. Owing to the boys' age he was not locked up but given in charge of the Children's Aid Society officer until to-morrow when he will be tried in children's court.

FRANKFORD FAIR

A number of citizens from the city were today in attendance at the Frankford Fair, which is one of the best the Society has ever held. The exhibits are numerous and of a high order.

Rev.A.J. Wilson Elected Moderator

The Rev. A. J. Wilson, Napanee, was elected moderator of Kingston Presbytery at its meeting in Belleville on the 14th inst. Arrangements were made into the charge of Stirling and West Huntingdon on Sept. 21st. The induction of the Rev. Prof. McFadyen into the chair of Homiletics and New Testament Criticism, in Queen's University, was also arranged for. It will take place on Nov. 1st, and it is expected that Prof. Ballantyne, Moderator of the General Assembly, will be present and give an address. At the conference on the Forward Movement Rev. Dr. R. P. MacKay, of Toronto, gave an admirable address, for which he was cordially addressed.

It was felt that owing to the heavy docket of business sufficient time could not be given to a discussion of the Forward Movement, therefore it was decided to hold a special meeting in Kingston on October 4th. To this meeting all the ministers, one elder from each charge and one representative from the W. M. Society, and also Dr. MacKay will be especially invited. A most profitable time is anticipated.

Sunday October 3rd will be observed as a day of special prayer throughout the Presbytery.

Rev. Mr. Tannahill was received from the Congregational Church, and the clerk was instructed to add his name to the appendix of the roll.

A call from Melrose and associated congregations to Rev. T. J. Caswell was presented, but was returned to the congregation for additional signatures. The call will probably be ready for the meeting on Oct. 4th.

Rev. Dr. R. J. Wilson, Kingston, was nominated for the vacant chair in Knox College; Rev. Dr. R. Haddow, Toronto, for the position of editor of the Presbyterian and Westminster; Rev. G. A. Little, Guelph, as business manager of Presbyterian publications, and Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Belleville, for the chair in Westminster Hall.

Rev. James Cumberland, after almost 39 years of active service in Stella, resigned. The Presbytery expressed sympathy with him in his illness, regretfully accepted his resignation, and appointed Rev. R. J. Craig and the clerk to place a suitable record on the minutes.

Prof. John Matheson resigned his position as Treasurer. This resignation, too, was accepted with regret, and the honored professor was thanked for his long and efficient services.

Mr. D. A. Mitchell, Gananoque, was chosen to fill the vacancy,

Rev. Dr. MacTavish was authorized to plan for a series of meetings to be addressed by Rev. William Scott, returned missionary from Korea.

Much time was spent in discussing co-operation with the Methodist church. Newburgh and Camden East, two congregations which have had a long and honorable history, will pass under the care of the Methodist Church, as will Thanet and The Ridge, two of the oldest mission stations in North Hastings; but St. Ola and associated stations will soon be placed under the care of the Presbyterian church, and Dr. Gracey was instructed to secure supply for them from the first of October.

Masse can Handle Double Work now

Says His Old Time Strength and Energy Have Returned Since Taking Tanlac

"Tanlac has built me up so that I can now handle about double the work I used to," declared Oswald Masse, expressman for the J. B. Baillargeon Express Co., and living at 45 Elizabeth street, Montreal.

"I could not eat meat or vegetables without being bloated up as tight as a drum with gas afterwards. I had to live on cereals most of the time. My appetite was gone and I was growing weaker every day. My nerves were all on edge, I could not sleep well and often had night-sweats. I had a pain in the small of my back and grew so weak I could hardly get through with my work.

"A druggist suggested my trying Tanlac, and very soon my appetite returned and I can now eat meat, vegetables or anything else and never have indigestion or gas afterwards. My nerves are steady and I enjoy good rest without being troubled with night-sweats. The pain in my back has disappeared and I am stronger and better in every way."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Wedding Bells

THOMPSON—BATTISBY

The marriage took place at Campbellford on Wednesday, September 15, 1920, of Cpt. A. Glenn Thompson and Nellie M., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Battisby, of Campbellford. The groom is accountant in the Standard Bank branch at Campbellford and the bride is one of the most popular young ladies of that place. Both have many friends who wish them every happiness. After the ceremony and wedding festivities the young couple motored to Belleville on the first stage of their honeymoon trip.

Called by Death

MRS. P. KINGSTON

On Tuesday morning, September 14, Harriet Hagerman, beloved wife of Paul Kingston, passed away while sitting in the chair at her home in Stirling. Deceased had for some time suffered from rheumatism, but her general health was considered good. She was alone at the time of her death.

The late Mrs. Kingston was a daughter of the late Murchison Hagerman, having been born on the homestead now owned by her brother, Mr. Murney Hagerman, seventy-three years ago. About fifty-six years ago she married her now bereaved husband, who with three sons, Wilmot, George and Albert, all of Rawdon, and two daughters, Mrs. E. Reid, Rawdon and Mrs. Peters, of Saskatchewan, survives. Three brothers, Albert, of Sidney, Paul of Peterboro and Murney of Rawdon, also survive.

Obsequies

MRS. JOHN MORTON

Yesterday at her late home, 75 North Front street, services were conducted over the body of Mrs. John Morton by Rev. D Cleaver, pastor of Bridge Street Church, after which the remains were transferred to Carleton Place for interment. Upon the casket were placed a number of floral emblems. The bearers were intimate friends of the family.

JOHN LEVERTON

The funeral of the late John Leverton of Tyendinaga Township took place yesterday from the family residence and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Jones conducted prayers at the house after which the body was conveyed to the Anglican Church at Shannonville where Rev. Mr. Winters, a former rector conducted services, assisted by the rector Rev. Mr. Cantrell. Interment took place at Shannonville cemetery. The floral tributes were many and delicate in design. Bearers were Messrs. G. Lazier, W. Mayell, R. Pringle, J. Topping, G. Talor and T. Blatherwick.

CARD OF THANKS

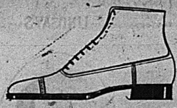
I wish to thank friends and neighbors who have been so kind to me and mine during the illness and death of my husband. The last days of my husband were made brighter by the kindness of the citizens, and when dying he said that it made it easier for him when he knew how good the people were to his wife and children. Words cannot express the gratitude I feel for the kindly sympathy and material assistance given us in our time of sorrow and affliction.

MRS. JOHN D. POTTER.

Inland Revenue officials claim merchants are evading tax provisions.

Canadian Press Limited

Kovel captured by Poles. Three thousand Reds captured and thirty-six guns taken.



Regal Shoes for Men
We are selling agents for this world known shoe. The latest styles are now being shown in Black and Brown leathers. A shoe for every foot.
Priced at $10.00 and $11.00
TRUNKS AND TRAVELLING GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.

GOOD NEWS FOR
Saturday Shoppers

Some Splendid Values For You Here Saturday on New Autumn Wearables—Shop at Wotten's and Save.

Georgette Blouses $8.75
The latest novelties in Over-Blouses, in the new shades, or in two-tone effects. Special $8.75

Serge Dresses $25.00
Real stylish and dependable all-wool Serge Dresses, nicely made and trimmed, at $25.00

Ladies' Fall Suits $37.50
New Autumn Garments just in—made of all-wool Navy Serges, latest styles—priced low at $37.50

Silk Boot Hose $1.19
Black only, Silk Boot Hose—"Queen Quality"—a very special Saturday value at $1.19

WOTTENS, Limited
LADIES' WEAR STORE

We Would Be Delighted
—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.

T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.

Phone DAY 531

MOTHERS!
Watch your children's skins. As soon as you see the slightest trace of a rash or sore, apply Zam-Buk. This antiseptic balm will protect the sore place from infection, prevent it from spreading and healing soon follows.

Careful mothers always keep Zam-Buk on hand for their children's injuries—it ends pain so quickly and prevents any possibility of festering. Best for cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, ringworm, scalp sores, eczema and teething rash. All dealers 50c box.

Zam-Buk

Teas
OF SUPERIOR QUALITY
New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious
Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS

LINDSAY'S

THAT ENRICO CARUSO

who gives a recital in Montreal at the Mount Royal Arena, Sept. 27th, will be accompanied on a

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO

only bears out the fact we have often repeated, namely, that the Heintzman & Co. Piano is a favorite with the world's greatest artists.

Sole agents in Belleville for Heintzman & Co. Pianos and Player-Pianos

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED
249 Front Street Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 6 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE — MEDIUM SIZED FRAME house with conveniences situated at 83 West Bridge Street. Price reasonable. Apply to Mrs. P. C. VanAllen, 323 Front St., Belleville. s17-6td

FOR SALE—BED ROOM RUG, SIZE 15x15; large extension dining room table. 48 Everett St. Phone 730. s17 2td

FOR SALE—BLACKSMITH SHOP—AN OLD established business, no opposition. Apply to Box "G," Intelligencer. s17 4td

FOR SALE—FIRE PLACE SET SCREEN, basket, tongs, shovel and poker in wrought iron finish. Apply 3 Moira St. East. s17-2td

FOR SALE OR RENT, BRICK HOUSE, ALL conveniences, hot air heating, garage, also range, piano and other household articles. Possession at once. Apply 285 John Street. s16 4td

FOR SALE—LARGE McCLARY "FAMOUS" coal heater, with oven, in good condition. A bargain. 13 Green street, off Howard. s16-2td

FOR SALE—THE BEST LOCATED YARD and stables on Front street. Apply 279 Front street. s14-4td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. s10-dtf

HELP WANTED—MALE

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day or evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o2

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work. References. Chas. S. Clapp. s15-dtf

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1109-10 C. P. R. Building, Toronto. s15-10td

LOST

BOSTON TERRIER STRAYED FROM home Thursday morning. Finder kindly phone 1152. Reward. 1td

WILL THE PERSON WHO TOOK A mechanical drawing of a wood lathe in mistake for a blind from 243 Albert St. at sale on Thursday, kindly return it to 307 Foster Avenue, and oblige G. W. Hartley s17-2td

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

GIRLS WANTED, MUST BE OVER 17 years of age, also young men. Apply The Springer Lock Mfg. Co., Limited. 14-4t

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-tfc

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

WANTED AT ST. AGNES SCHOOL—strong girl or woman for kitchen. Good wages. s3 dtf

TO LET.

TO RENT—BARN—CAN ACCOMMODATE 2 horses or 2 cars for winter. Apply H. B. Lockwood, 149 Charles St. s14 4td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 829. s14-4t

TO RENT — BEAUTIFUL COMPLETELY furnished housekeeping rooms, kitchen range, all conveniences, rent reasonable, also furnished rooms by day or week. Apply Mrs. C. Richardson, 299½ Front St., or phone 1213. s14-6td

TO LET—SIX ROOM HOUSE. ALL CONVENIENCES, on Dufferin Ave. Also flats to let. Apply Dr. Caldwell. s16-6td

WANTED.

WANTED—BOARDERS — IN A PRIVATE home. Comfortable rooms, central locality, terms reasonable. Apply Box "C," Intelligencer. 1td

WANTED—TWO OR THREE FURNISHED or unfurnished rooms for light housekeeping, or small furnished house for winter months. Apply Box "E," Intelligencer. s17-4td

WANTED. — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

WANTED—IN A PRIVATE HOME — A couple of roomers. Apply Box "T," Intelligencer. s15-3td

WANTED—BY A LADY—COMFORTABLE room with board in private family, good locality, from October, for the winter. References. Address Box "B," Intelligencer. s15-4t

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o2

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G. Toronto. s11—o30

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

No trace yet of Douglas Moore, alleged slayer of Soo farmer.

The corn borolis is causing alarm among the farmers of Elgin and Middlesex.

City and Vicinity

Unexcelled in Canada—Daly's Good Tea—always the same. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

IN A HURRY?

Then let us repair your shoes while you wait. John Henley, foot bridge gangway. 6td

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

Peaches

The time for preserving good Crawford peaches has arrived. We are getting a fresh car every morning of the best quality Leno baskets. From now on is the best time for preserving. S. Domenico, phone 520. 50 Bridge St. Opposite P. O. s14-dtf

WINTER IS RIGHT AT HAND.
WHY BE COLD,

—when a DeMarsh heat generator will increase your hot water heating 30 per cent. It will make your radiators hotter than they ever were and pay for itself in the fuel you save. Every one guaranteed or your money back. Try one now. J. H. DeMarsh, 140 Front Street. Phone 351. s14-5td

STILL COMFORTABLE

—Your shoes will still be comfortable after repairing if you insist on having them repaired at John Henley's, West of The Ritchie co. 6td

New As The Newest

In looks and serviceability, yet comfortable as old slippers. That's what our shoe repairing does. It gives new life to them without disturbing their old shoe comfort. Don't throw away any shoes, no matter how old or worn. Bring them here and see if we cannot make them wearable again at a fraction of the cost of new ones. Belleville Shoe Hospital, opposite Crystal Hotel. s15 6td

BARTLETT PEARS

Fresh carload of Bartlett pears, large Leno baskets about 14 quarts. Will sell while they last at $1.10. Come early and have your choice, these will be the last we have coming. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge St., Opp. P. O. Phone 520. s16-dtf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

MONTREAL OIL COMPANY BRINGING IN NEW WELL

Montreal, Sept. 17.—Montreal Oil Company's well Henderson No. 1, in Stevens County, Texas, is expected to be brought in this week and a good flow of oil is predicted.

It is pointed out that this well offsets the Sinclair Oil Company's well and that it is surrounded by five wells having a daily flow of from 150 to 1,000 barrels per day.

In addition to the Henderson well, they expect two other wells shortly, well No. 2, on the Niver lease.

The Niver well would have been shot this week, but for a defect in the casing necessitating some new pieces being obtained, this has been done and the well will be shot in two places in a few days.

At present the casing contains over two thousand feet of oil.

Wanted!

Expert Mechanics wanted at RIGGS' GARAGE
s14-4td

CANADA TO CHALLENGE.

A. C. Ross, of Nova Scotia, Has a Plan to Capture the Cup.

To capture the America's Cup by a Canadian yacht, designed by a Britisher, built by Canadians, skipped by Commodore Aemilius Jarvis of Toronto, and manned by Nova Scotia fishermen, is the ambitious plan of Mr. A. C. Ross, former M.P. for Sydney, who has sent a challenge to the New York Yacht Club in view of Sir Thomas Lipton's decision not to challenge in 1922.

The wire Mr. Ross sent reads as follows:

"Commodore, New York Yacht Club.

"Understanding that Sir Thomas Lipton does not intend competing for the America's Cup in 1922, I, as a life member of the Royal Cape Breton Yacht Club and a member of the Nova Scotia Yacht Squadron, and on their behalf, respectfully challenge to compete for the cup in the summer of 1922. We will abide by your fair rules as to measurement and course, and will submit our bona fides by letter after receiving an answer from you."

The estimated cost for the new challenger, which will be christened "The Maple Leaf," will be over one million dollars, and the cost of building is to be made the object of a popular subscription. Several British Columbia skippers expressed their willingness to finance the project, but Mr. Ross intends to make the challenging a matter of national interest, and subscriptions will be received from a dollar upward.

"There are enough sportsmen in this country to carry this thing through," said Mr. Ross. "And I have the utmost confidence in our Nova Scotia fishermen," he continued. "They are familiar with the kind of yacht that is to be sailed, for the fisherboats out on the Cape Breton coast are similar in design to the Resolute and Shamrock."

Better Fish for Markets.

Amendments to the Fish Inspection Act of 1914, which were adopted at the last session of Parliament must have an important influence upon the future of the fishing industry. The new law, which applies to pickled herring, alewives, mackerel and salmon, other than mild cured, provides that fish must be packed and graded accordingly to regulations laid down and must be put up in standard containers, the specific dimension of which are also set forth by regulation. This fish is liable to inspection and infringement of the law means liability to a penalty. On the west coast the act becomes operative November 1 and on the east coast on April 1 next.

The provisions of the old act made standard packing and grading, and inspection, optional, and as is common in such instances, optional legislation has not proved effective. Heretofore Canada has not had reason to be proud of her pickled fish, but present legislation, which is heartily welcomed by the thinking men in the industry, should speedily correct the situation.

The indiscriminate prodding of fish with forks is another feature which has militated to some extent against a better class of finished product. The Fisheries Branch has had prepared a large poster drawing attention in a vivid way to the folly of such carelessness and negligence, which have been posted every place where it has been the custom to handle fish in this way. There is no law against the use of the fork, but it would be to the interest of producers to abolish it.

Might Get a Mouthful.

Since her husband had become a Government contractor, Mrs. Newton has put on no end of style. Recently she gave an "at home" and thought to impress her guests by having the gardener in to hand round the food.

He managed fairly well, except for spilling tea on the frock of the doctor's lady and treading on the vicar's pet corn.

But he got tired of offering the thin bread and thinner butter to one old lady who seemed like making a meal of it. At the seventh trip he bent down and advised her in husky tones, which rang through the room:

"If ye was to slap two or three pieces together, ma'am, mebbe you'd get a mouthful!"

More Schoolboy "Howlers."

Here are some of the definitions given by the pupils at a school examination: Stability is taking care of a stable. A mosquito is the child of black and white parents. Monastery is the place for monsters. Toscin is something to do with getting drunk. Expostulation is to have the smallpox. Cannibal is two brothers who killed each other in the Bible. Anatomy is the human body, which consists of three parts, the head, the chest, and the stummick; the head contains the eye and brains, if any; the chest contains the lungs and a piece of liver.

Wheat Is Wanted.

Greece and Egypt are in the market for wheat and flour. The former wants 180,000 tons, and Egypt a maximum of 300,000 tons. Greece seeks a Canadian credit to finance her purchase. Egypt has also asked quotations from Australia, and has been advised that one will be given only in a couple of months. As there is no longer wheat control, the inquiries have been referred to the grain dealers. There is no longer provision for financial credits, which expired automatically last December.

The Phonograph In Politics.

Everything seemed to be going smoothly, but still the candidate was worried. "If they put my campaign speeches on the phonograph," he remarked, "what's to prevent some of my constituents from saving them up and comparing them with my performances after election?" The justice of this position was admitted by his campaign manager, who then went out and shot himself.

Robert Baird was beaten in the Ontario tennis championship tourney.

The Baltimore International League team won its twenty-first consecutive victory.

Alarm Clocks Days Are Here

The sun's a laggard on September morns. It is easy to oversleep when the light is not bright, the air is chilly and the blankets warm. But a good breakfast leisurely eaten, and the day's work begun on time, are better.

An alarm clock bought at Blackburn's will get you out in the morning at the time you ought to get up. More than that, it is a handy, portable clock to have about the house. You can depend on the time it keeps.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

Special Candy Sale SATURDAY

ODDS AND ENDS.

Consisting of Marshmallows, Creams Chocolates, Maraschino Cherries, Cocoanut Balls, etc., etc.

These goods regularly range in price from 75c. to $1.25 a lb.

Saturday special, mixed:—
ONE pound ...... 52c.
TWO pounds $1.00

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Lantic Sugar for Sweetening Baking Preserving Candy-making

fine!

Just a minute, please!

THEY say Ford got the idea for his car from an Ingersoll Watch.

Quite likely; both the Ingersoll and the Ford keep running in all kinds of weather and with all sorts of hard usage; and they both are noted for getting you there on time.

It was quantity production which made the Ingersoll possible, and quantity production keeps down the price of the Ingersoll—and the Ford.

Both are better, handsomer, more efficient than they used to be—and they never were anything but good.

And you'll notice that all the jokes about either are good-humored boosts—affectionate, friendly banter.

Make all the fun of the Ingersoll you like; you know it's truthful, good looking, durable and quietly efficient. Like the Ford, the best value of its kind in the world.

Maple Leaf, $3.25

Ingersoll

Models from $3.25 to $14.50

Arthur McGie

MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

RITCHIE'S

Saturday Specials

Special! Women's Black Cashmere Hose for Saturday only, 75c pair

Odd lot of ten dozen Ladies' Black Cashmere Hose, in sizes 8½ and 9 only.

Worth Reg. $1.25. On Sale 75c pair

Georgette Crepe $1.59

A clearing lot of Georgette in all the most fashionable shades of Navy, Brown, Pink, White, Maize, etc. Worth regular $3.00. On sale—
$1.59

Black Pailette Silk $2.00 yard

36-Inch Black Pailette Silk, medium weight—pure silk, without filling. Worth reg. 3.00. On sale—
$2.00 yd.

Nurse Cloth 85c yd.

38-Inch English Nurse Cloth, blue and white stripe, fast colors, suitable for House Dresses and Children's wear. Worth reg. $1.25; on sale—
85c yd.

Ladies' Tan Cape Gloves $3.75

Three-quarter length, with cuff and strap fastener, in tan only, size 6 to 7½. Worth reg. $5.75 —on sale—
$3.75 pr.

Bath Towels 65c

Dark Striped Bath Towels, extra good quality, medium weight, size 17x35. Special value—
65c each

Extra! Extra! Extra!

Women's Flannelette Night Gowns

Women's Flannelette Nightgowns. Another lot to sell at $1.49 each. Neatly and well made with tucked yoke and good quality flannelette. Regular $1.75.

Extra Special Saturday $1.49

Children's & Misses' Cloth Dresses

Children's and Misses' Cloth Dresses — serge, plaid and corduroy effects, for ages 8 to 14 years. Regular $4.50, $5.00, $6.00. Saturday special—
$3.75

Ladies Silk Skirts $3.75

Made of Silk Poplin and Taffeta. Only about one dozen in the lot. Regular $5.00 to $7.50; to clear at—$3.75

Women's Rain Coats

Women's Raincoats in plain grey, fawn, and English Tweeds. Made with belt and pockets. Reg. $13.75 —Saturday special—continues Saturday and next week as new goods are arriving daily, which, much to our regret were unable to be delivered in time for our first showing. Come in and see this new range, featuring all that is novel and approved for this season.
$10.75

THE FORMAL DISPLAY OF FALL MILLINERY

Ladies' Serge Skirts

Ladies' Serge Skirts in shades of Navy and Black. Made in a nice fine twill serge; regular $5.75—$6.50. Saturday special—$4.75

Men's Ribbed Underwear

Made of Wool and Cotton mixture, Shirts and Drawers, sizes 36 to 42, a nice weight for the cool weather coming on. Saturday special—$1.38

Tweed Caps $1.49

Men's Tweed Caps in all sizes; good weight for present and Fall wear. Worth reg. $2.00. Saturday special—$1.49

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us, whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER

Fresh to strong west winds, shifting to northerly winds, light scattered showers, but generally fair.

Sunday—Fresh northerly winds, fair and cool.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business Is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 298.

Airmen Burn in Junker Planes

Type of Machine Favored by U. S. Postoffice Department Seems Dangerous

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—The burning to death of two mail aviators in a Postoffice Department airplane was the second catastrophe in the operation of the new Junker all-metal planes imported from Germany.

The department purchased five of the Junker planes from John M. Larsen, for whom they had been constructed by the Junker Company in Germany. The plane in which the two aviators were burned to death was wholly destroyed and the experts have been unable to determine the cause of the accident. Another Junker plane was destroyed with attendant fatality, under somewhat similar circumstances, lealvng no clew to the origin of the trouble. A third Junker was disabled by the breaking of the gasoline supply pipe, but the aviator landed without injury.

Postoffice Department officials said that they had not lost faith in the Junker planes but were overhauling the remaining three in an effort to determine whether faulty construction is responsible for the accidents.

Drag Net Out For Red Murderers

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Convinced that the explosion which snuffed out the lives of thirty-five persons and injured nearly three hundred others in Wall street Thursday was deliberately planned by the Reds, officials of the Department of Justice, headed by Attorney-General Palmer himself, today spread a dragnet over the country in an effort to trap its originators. There were still about 150 injured being cared for in the hospitals today, many of whom are still in a serious condition. Scores of those who will recover will be maimed for life, it was said. Officials attach relatively little importance to the detention of Edward P. Fischer at Hamilton, Ont., but he will be thoroughly examined.

FILM COMPANY CARRIES $400,000 ON ACTRESS' LIFE

New York, Sept. 16.—The life of Olive Thomas, the motion picture star, who died in Paris from mercurial poisoning, was insured by the Film Company for whom she acted for $400,000, it has been revealed.

Under the long-term contract with the popular actress, the corporation expended large sums of money in advance for elaborate picture productions and to protect the cutlay, took out four $100,000 policies, each one of which was written by the New York Life Insurance Company.

The policies were said to cover every possible contingency, including accident, suicide or death from natural causes. An official of the New York Life is said to have cabled for full particulars respecting Miss Thomas' death.

WHY IMPORT ANY COAL? ASKS WINNIPEG PAPER

Winnipeg, Sept. 15.—Importation of coal into Canada from the United States is unnecessary if Canadian citizens display a little "pep" and develop their own resources, according to a bulletin just issued by the Winnipeg City Health Department.

"There can be no reason adduced which can justify the importation of an article such as coal into Canada which can be produced in such prodigality, when no substantial claim can be accepted that the imported article is in the slightest degree superior to the article found within our own borders," the bulletin says.

The bulletin objects to the heavy smoke which hangs like a "pall over the city" when American soft coal is used.

N. B. POTATO CROP DAMAGED BY ROT

Fredericton, N.B., Sept. 18.—The shrinkage in New Brunswick's potato crop as a result of rot caused by the recent rains will be about 25 per cent, according to estimates made by Hon. J. F. Tweedale, Minister of Agriculture on reports which have been sent to the Department of Agriculture.

There will also be a heavy and serious shrinkage in the grain crop as a result of the destruction that has been caused by rain, but no information of a sufficiently definite character has been received so far to indicate the extent of the loss thus caused.

Doctors Urged to Co-Operate

District No. 69 Medical Association Held Convention at Cobourg

COBOURG, Sept. 18.—District No. 6 of the Ontario Medical Association, representing the Counties of Peterboro, Victoria, Durham, Northumberland, Hastings and Prince Edward, presided over by Dr. T. S. Farncomb, of Trenton held a very successful meeting at the Arlington Hotel. The afternoon session was devoted to interesting and instructive papers, the program being as follows: Appendicitis, Dr. H. B. Longmore of Campbellford Surgical Treatment of Tonsils and Adenolds, Dr. A. C. Publow, of Picton; Gastropsosis, Dr. James Third, of Kingston; Chronic Gall Bladder, its Diagnosis and Treatment, Dr. E. V. Frederick, Peterboro; Diagnosis and Treatment of Septic Endocarditis, Dr. H. Crawford, Marmora; Relation of Hospitals for feeble-minded to the General Practitioner, Dr. McNaughton Cobourg.

Between 50 and 60 practitioners were present, most of whom participated in the discussions, which proved to be very interesting features of the programme.

Dr. T. C. Routley, of Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Medical Association, outlined the organization of the provincial association, presenting many arguments favoring thorough and complete organization of the medical profession in the province.

The president of the association, Dr. J. Heurner Mullin, of Hamilton, addressed the gathering after dinner, strongly urging the need of closer cooperation of the entire medical profession.

Dr. N. A. Powell of Toronto, presented an illustrated address on "Fractures" during the evening session, particularly dwelling upon the commoner fractures, with their diagnoses and treatment.

The convention was voted by all present to be of practical value and interest. Resolutions were adopted strongly urging upon the provincial association the advisability of constantly maintaining efforts for organization and memorializing the association to increase the annual membership fee from $2 to $5.

G. T. ARBITRATION BOARD LEAVES MONDAY

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The preliminaries of the Grand Trunk arbitration will begin next Monday when the Arbitration Commission will start on a physical inspection of the company's system and terminals.

Sir Walter Cassels, ex-President W. H. Taft and Sir Thomas White, who compose the board, will go from Montreal to Chicago first, and afterwards it is intimated, over the G. T. P. to the coast.

The date for commencing the court proceedings in the arbitration has not been decided, but it will probably be early in November. The arbitration will take several months. It will determine the alue of the common stock of the company, and much evidence on the subject will be introduced.

Just as the Arbitration Board is starting out from Montreal westward the directors of the Canadian National will leave Montreal Monday to inspect the Eastern lines of the system.

BRITISH EX-OFFICERS CANNOT GET WORK

London, Sept. 18.—The amount of unemployment in England in the face of labor unrest has just been indicated in a statement issued by London District of the Appointment's Department showing that 5,862 one-time British army officers, or men of similar attainments are registered there for work. Employers are asked to consult the list when filling vacancies. Many of the applicants who were formerly in the military service have applied for clerical or secretarial work. A partial list of occupations follows:

Agricultural workers, 242; trades, including cotton, woollen, hosiery, lace, silk, linen, 304; engineering, including civil, electrical, mechanical and marine, 662; medicine, including analytical and pharmaceutical chemists, physicians, dentists and veterinary surgeons, 85; law, including practised solicitors and barristers, chartered or incorporated accountants and solicitors who have qualified but never practised, 83; land and houses, including architects and surveyors, both land and ship, sanitary inspectors and land and estate agents, 108; bookkeeping, including bookkeepers, cashiers, ledger clerks and auditors, bank clerks and lawyers' clerks, general clerks and storekeepers, 2,662; shipping agents, including stock brokers and manufacturers' agents, 433; arts and letters, including schoolmasters and tutors, 101; and insurance, including systems experts, 663.

Canadian Labor Against Radicalism

President Tom Moore is Likely to Have Sweeping Majority

WINDSOR, Sept. 18.—On the surface and in undercurrents only one thing can be perceived at the Labor Congress at Windsor. It has met for the one purpose of quashing radicalism in any shape or form. Especially has the congress been waiting for James Simpson and the Toronto group responsible for the famous Toronto resolutions.

The great show-down came Thursday afternoon immediately after congress resumed business. Charging unfair methods against Tom Moore which prevented his carrying out the mandates of the congress, J. C. Watters, former president disposed of two years ago at Quebec sprang the bolt he has been threatening demanding, on a question of privilege that he be granted leave to state his charges at once. These referred to Mr. Moore's part in Labor's selection of the treaty of peace.

Labor Congress Nears Finish

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WINDSOR, Sept. 18.—With the deck cleared of practically all resolutions of a contentious nature, the trades and labor congress started in this morning with the determination to finnish the balance of business in sight and give the delegates an opportunity of returning home this afternoon. There are several resolutions bearing on the Industrial Disputes Act report which it was expected would come up for discussion yesterday, but were superseded by a discussion on the resolutions of self-determination for Ireland and sovietism. They will be considered this afternoon.

Arab Leaders Want Armistice

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

PARIS, Sept. 18.—Arab forces have been defeated near Damascus by French column under Colonel Follett, according to a Beirut despatch. Arabs lost two hundred killed, and, French captured a number of cannon and machine guns. Since this fight, General Gouraud, French High Commissioner in Syria, he received a number of requests for armistice from the Arab leaders.

BRAKEMAN IS KILLED IN REAR-END COLLISION

Cobalt, Sept. 18.—George Gurtin, brakeman, of North Bay, was killed, and F. Thomas, engineer of the same place, was badly scalded when two T. & N. O. trains met in a rear-end crash at Redwater. One freight had stopped for water, and the other coming, behind, crashed into it, and the engine of the second turned over. Both men were married and have families.

GO ON "RENT" STRIKE

The movement to organize a rent strike as a protest against high prices arranged by the National Union of Ex-Soldiers is stated to be making progress says The London Times. The union is at present engaged in getting people to sign pledge forms that they will cease to pay rent on the issue of the strike proclamation until prices are down by four shillings in the pound. The number of pledges required has been provisionally fixed at

A LETTER TO FRANCE IN 1667.

In 1667 the Jesuits wrote to Old France that, as a country could not be formed entirely without the assistance of manufacturers, an industry was already in operation making shoes and hats, and that another industry was contemplated for the making of linen and leather. In that year, 253 years ago, there were twenty shoemakers in the territory now comprising the Dominion of Canada, against the 158 shoe factories that today maintain in prosperity some 22,000 workers.

Canadian shoe manufacturers claim that for many years fully 20% of the finer lines of boots and shoes sold in Canada, although made in this country, are sold as imported goods in deference to the popular prejudice for the foreign products. Canada will never reach her highest development while Made in Canada products are discriminated against by her own people.

Want E. Fischer To Tell His Story In New York City

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The arrest of Edward Fischer at Hamilton was at the request of the United States Department of Justice officials according to advices received at police head quarters here today.

Edward P. Fischer, a former employe of the French High Commission in New York, who was detained by the police in Hamilton, Ont., today after he is alleged to have sent two postcards to friends here from Toronto, warning them not to be in Wall street at three o'clock Wednesday the 15th, will be brought to New York to testify before the Steptember grand jury. This body today was ordered to enquire into the disaster.

Shortly before word of Fischer's detention received here, a representative of the District Attorney's office left for Toronto with a subpoena for him.

Another Warning

Hamilton, Sept. 17.—The police are in possession of a postal card taken from Fischer which they say corresponds as to handwriting with other cards sent to people in New York just before the explosion in Wall street. The card is an ordinary picture postal on the reverse side of which is written in ink:

"Monday 8.07 p.m. Greeting—at present I have seven cents. As I write Mr. Moody is returning $400. If I had money this afternoon I would not be incurring expenses here. Harry is being slowly killed in Detroit. I am going to bring him back." And across the end, after the card was filled up, is written: "Rob. Be away from Wall street this Wednesday afternoon."

The card which was posted in Toronto on Monday, was addressed to Miss Maud Fischer, 33 West 92nd street, New York, and was signed "Ed Fischer."

Warned by Stranger

Nutley, N. J., Sept. 17.—Joseph T. O'Neill, who stated that he had been warned by a stranger to "keep away from Wall street until after September 16th," in giving further details of how the warning was given him, said that he was on a tube train from Newark to Jersey City and got into conversation with a man next to him. The stranger said he was a secret service agent, attached to the French High Commission and was on his way to Buffalo where some anarchists were under arrest.

After he learned that O'Neill was employed in a lower Broadway office, he warned O'Neill to keep away from the Wall street district.

The man said a close watch was being kept of known anarchists, but the plot might develop successfully in spite of precautions.

O'Neill added that he was in communication with the French High Commission and was told the description of the stranger coincided with that of Edward Fischer, a "former employe of the commission."

ACTORS IN FILM BATTLE BRING CLAIMS FOR INJURY

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 17.—One hundred and sixty accident and injury claims were filed here with the Workmen's State Industrial Commission by motion picture actors and actresses who took part in a battle scene that was filmed here last week. The larger number of the claimants were women.

BRITAIN IN EGYPT.

Louisville Courier-Journal

If Great Britain has anywhere a wholly clean record as a ruling Power it is in Egypt. The most unfair critic of the "square mile fever" of the British cannot contend that symptoms of that fever have been observable in the Nile Valley. The British came into Egypt to restore order when the building of the Suez Canal had virtually bankrupted the country and when the European bondholders were entitled to strong representation. About all that can be charged justly against the British is that they have been promising for thirty years to withdraw. The promise was to be carried out upon the condition that order should the first restored. It is arguable that the disorder that culminated in the Arabi Pasha rebellion soon after the British and French Governments assumed control never has wholly subsided.

Corn Borer Cause Of Serious Alarm

Found in Great Numbers in Elgin and Middlesex Counties

ST. THOMAS, eSpt. 18.—The Dominion and Provincial Agricultural Departments have a problem on their hands demanding immediate and careful attention in the European corn borer, which has been found in this district in alarming numbers, according to Mr. Keenan, head of a party of Dominion entomologists who have been investigating conditions here for several days.

In consequence of their findings a special conference of United States and Ottawa experts was held here to discuss the situation and devise ways and means for combatting the infection and preventing its spread and propagation to other parts.

Comparatively the whole of Elgin county is affected by the borer this year, Mr. Keenan states, and the greater part of the Middlesex county. The borer is also found in the western townships of Oxford county. One corn field visited near this city was found to be more than 95 per cent. affected. The quarantining of the district and restricting the export of the corn and corn stalks is being seriously considered, it is stated.

The borer which first made its appearance on this continent in the State of Massachusetts in 1917 and appeared in western New York last year it is particularly hard to fight through the fact that it works up through the heart of the stalk; one of the symptoms is the breaking off of the tassel and another is borings on the under side of the leaves at the base of the stalk. The American authorities are recommending the extensive use of the silo to combat the insect, the larvae lying in the stalk all winter. To destroy these larvae they are also recommending cutting the corn very close to the ground, as experts have found the larvae to lie from four to eight inches from the ground.

Soviets Win Victory On Sea

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

LONDON Sept. 18—Victory for Soviet flotilla in the Sea of Azov over General Wrangels naval forces is announced in Friday's official statement from Moscow received today. In land fighting, Soviets concede set back and retirement in the neighborhood of Orlakhoff.

Chamber of Commerce Of Empire Opens

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—Following many preliminary meetings and mass meetings of welcome in Massey Hall last night, the ninth congress of the Chamber of Commerce of the Empire opened its business sessions this morning in Conocation Hall of Toronto University. Lord Desborough presided. There are before the Congress a large number of resolutions along the line of development of trade within and without the Empire, but particularly with a view to the binding of imperial ties and relationships by fostering of trade between component parts.

HUGE PROFITS OF RUM RUNNERS

Profits running into millions of dollars will be taken by rum runners operating between Canada and the Detroit district during 1920, according to estimates based upon figures by American and Canadian revenue officers. In some quarters the estimates of profit from illicit liquor sales run as high as $100,000,000 for the present year.

Stories of fortunes made over night and of scores of liquor rings ranging in size and operations from groups of Canadian farmer boys who buy and sell whiskey by the quart to "liquor brokers" whose sales are measured in terms of boat loads, are being heard along both sides of the international boundary between Michigan and Ontario.

Prohibition enforcement agents are greatly hampered by lack of motor boats. It is said to be practically impossible to catch whiskey smuggling without fast craft.

Mothers' Pensions Come in Force

Mothers' pensions will soon be an actuality in Ontario and this worthy but long delayed legislation initiated by the Hearst Government and enacted by the Drury Government will bring gladness to many homes. The Mothers' Allowances Commission has issued the following bulletin explaining the provisions of the Act:

Toronto, Sept. 1, 1920.

The Mothers' Allowances Act under certain conditions, provides for the payment of a monthly allowance toward the support of dependent children in the care of their mothers.

Applications

1. Applications are considered only when the mother of the children is a widow or the wife of an inmate of a hospital for the insane in Ontario, or of a man who is permanently disabled and incapable of contributing to the support of his family.

2. The mother must have been resident in Canada at the time of the death or total disability of the father of the children on whose behalf the allowance is to be made, and for a period of three years immediately prior to the application for an allowance.

4. The mother must continue to live Ontario at the time of the application for an allowance and must have been living in Ontario for the two years immediately prior to this date.

.. The mother must continue to live in Ontario with her dependent children so long as they are receiving an allowance. Any change of residence must be reported at once.

5. The mother must be a British subject by birth or naturalization or the wife or widow of a British subject.

6. The mother must be a fit and proper person to have the care and custody of her children.

7. The mother must have two or more of her own children under fourteen years of age living with her, and must show that she cannot care properly for them without the assistance of an allowance under the Act. Where a mother has two or more children, even if they are now being cared for in institutional homes, it is quite legitimate for her to make application for an allowance in order that she may make a home for them.

Administration

The Mothers' Allowances Act is administered for the Province by a Commission with offices located at 604 Jarvis Street, Toronto. Every city, separated town and county, however, will soon have a local board, and application for an allowance should be made in the first instance to this board. Where there is no local board in the district, applications may be sent directly to the Provincial Commission, Toronto.

Investigations

The members of the Commission do not wish applicants to be considered as applying for charity; rather, the mother, when in receipt of an allowance, is to be regarded as an employe of the Ontario Government receiving remuneration for services rendered in the proper care of her children.

It is the duty, therefore, of the Commission and of the local boards to investigate carefully the fitness of the applicant for her position.

Certificates of marriage and the birth certificates of the children may be required for examination, and where the mother is a widow, the death certificate of her husband.

Supervision of Beneficiaries

The mother, as an employe of the Government, must not only satisfy the Commission of her fitness to receive an allowance at the time of her application, but she must satisfy them that she is fulfilling the trust which is being placed in her, and co-operation with the official visitors of the Commission and local boards is necessary toward this end. Satisfactory reports of the health and general welfare of the children must be received if the allowance is to be continued.

Amount of Allowance

The Act does not state any fixed sum or schedule according to which the payment of allowances will be made. The Commission, however, will fix the maximum and minimum allowances which will be granted, and each family will receive individual consideration within these limits. Allowances will be granted in accordance with a cost-of-living budget prepared after due study of the present assets and resources of the family and its needs. No allowances will be paid before October 1st, 1920, and time will be required for the investigation of each particular case before payment can be expected. As far as possible, applications are considered in the order in which they are received.

Mothers' Allowances Commission—Rev. Peter Bryce, Chairman; Mrs. Adam Shortt, Vice-Chairman; Mrs. Wm. F. Singer; Major T. J. Murphy; A. J. Reynolds.

Bandit Shot Merchant as Crowd Watch

When Thug Was Powerless More Venturesome Spectators Beat Him

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Harry van Reed, 26 years old, a corporal in the United States army turned hold-up man and in an attempt to obtain $3000 in money and $27,000 worth of Liberty Bonds, shot and killed Max Rabinowitz, 60 years old, furrier and bond dealer in his office at 233 West Thirty fourth street, opposite the entrance to the Pennsylania terminal, and sent three bullets into the body of Mrs. Anna Rabinowitz, 53 years old, wife of the furrier, which it is believed will prove fatal.

Van Reed, who was attached to the army recruiting headquarters in the Printing Crafts building at the southwest corner of Thirty-fourth street and Eighth avenue, less than two hundred feet of the scene of the hold-up, was captured in the furrier's little establishment by Patrick J. Mooney, a printer and stationer, of West Thirty-fourth street, after Rabinowitz had struggled with him despite the fact that the bandit had sent three bullets into his body, which caused his death in the New York Hospital less than thirty minutes later.

The reports of the bullets from the hold-up man's pistol were heard by several thousand passersby, among them many visitors to the city, who had just emerged from the West Thirty-fourth street entrance to the Pennsylvania terminal, but it was not until Mr. Mooney went to the aid of Radinowitz and his wife that the capture of the bandit was effected. Then two score men ran into the furrier's shop and when they saw him dying on the floor of the place with his head resting in the lap of his wife, who was fast losing consciousness from three bullet wounds in her breast, the men attacked the bandit, firmly held in the grasp of Mr. Mooney, who had clutched him by the throat and disarmed him. They attacked him with canes and other weapons hastily grabbed up in the establishment and gave van Reed a severe beating before the arrival of several policemen regulating traffic on adjacent corners.

Wonderful Successes By Poles

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WARSAW, Sept. 18.—Lutsk, an important fortified city forty miles east of Vladimir-Volhynsk, has been captured by the Poles, who have won successes along a front of approximately 240 miles, according to an official announcement issued yesterday. Porezkov, Chorostov, Kamien and Kaspirzki have also been taken. The Soviet armies lost a thousand prisoners.

MARRIAGE BASIS OF FIFTY-FIFTY

New York, Sept. 17.—The married life of Medeleine Z Doty, magazine writer and reformer, and Roger N. Baldwin, sociologist, is run on a fifty-fifty basis without discord.

"We wrote our own marriage creed," says Miss Doty, "in addition to the civil ceremony. We tried to make a plain statement of the meaning and obligations of marriage as we saw it, and now we are trying to live up to it on the partnership basis."

But how about this fifty-fifty angle? Is the dew still on the rose when one applies a partnership to the bills? Evidently it is.

Miss Doty still supports herself by her writing and her home is as beautiful as conscientious care can make it.

"At present I devote four hours of my writing day to housework," says Miss Doty, "for, even as everybody else, I am maidless. But I charge my husband 50 cents an hour for the work.."

Who wouldn't run the vacuum cleaner for 50 cents an hour? But there is more to this partnership thing than would seem at first glance.

"Since we are on the fifty-fifty basis I must give him back 25 cents."

"Every home should be run as systematically as an office. My husband pays a stenographer to attend to the details of his work. So every self-supporting woman should be paid for the drudgery she does which breaks

The Jugo-Slav Parliament has ratified the Treaty of Peace with Bulgaria.

Miss America attained a speed of 78.49 miles an hour in trials at Detroit.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
by Alex. Ray, Opt. D.
YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Purina Poultry Feed

Sold with a guarantee—more eggs or money back. Try a small sack of each and convince yourself.

Bishop's Seed Store
182 Front St. Phone 283.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work

Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

Every 10c Packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

City & Country

NO QUORUM

A regular meeting of the Board of Education should have been held last evening but only seven members put in an appearance which was not enough to constitute a quorum. Those present were Messrs. A. McGie, H. W. Ackerman, J. A. Higgs, B. Mallory, N. D. MacFadyen, H. McGinnis and C. F. Wallbridge.

HEAVY TAX RATE

At a meeting of Marmora village council this week, the tax rate for the year was fixed at 53 mills. The council also decided to appoint Messrs. H. R. Pearce, and H. A. Connors, Hydro-Electric Commissioners for the village for the balance of the year. They will act with the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario in the reconstruction of Marmora distributing system and also handle the wiring of new premises in the village and perform the other duties set out in the Hydro-Electric Power Act.

AUTOS COLLIDE

At the junction of Front and Bridge streets at 8.30 last night, a collision occurred between two autos, but fortunately no person was injured and but little damage was sustained to the autos.

AUSTRIAN AMBASSADOR ARRIVES IN LONDON

Baron Frankenstein, a former attache of the Austrian Embassy in London, has arrived there as the first representative of the republican Austrian government after the war, and has taken up his quarters at the beautiful Belgrave Square where successive Austrian ambassadors entertained sumptuously before the war.

The requirements of the Austrian diplomatic representation are on a much more modest scale now, and as the former embassy is extremely expensive to maintain, the new minister is looking for smaller quarters. The German Legation is also anxious to find less expensive premises than the palatial mansion in Carlton House Terrace which it now occupies.

One of the things that struck Baron Frankenstein most on his arrival was, so he said, that for a penny he could have quite a long bus ride, which in Vienna would cost 30 times as much, at the normal rate of exchange.

BRANCHTON TWINS WED GALT BROTHERS

Galt, Sept. 17.—The village of Branchton, to the south of Galt, was the scene of an unique double wedding, when twin sisters, Misses Isabel and Bessie Blain, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Blain of that village, were married to two Galt brothers, Peter and Andrew Kidd. The two couples left on the same train on the same honeymoon trip through the Thousand Islands; and when they return to this city they will take up their residence in the same house on

FLAT LIFE IN DETROIT FLATS

No wonder there are daily to be found more and more empty flats in Detroit apartment houses. Landlords lately have been complaining that former tenants are moving into the suburbs.

Here are the conditions contained in one lease:

No children, no dogs, no cats, no parrots or birds.

Visitors allowed only up to 10 o'clock.

No music or noise after 10 p.m.

No visitors allowed to stay longer than two weeks in any one year.

Only two visitors allowed at a time.

Not even a handkerchief allowed to hang on a clothesline on Sunday.

Reading of Sunday newspapers on the front porch barred.

For all these numerous advantages the owner plans to raise the rent from $75 to $100.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the Estate of Elizabeth Beatrice Haight late of the Village of Foxboro, Married Woman, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given, pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Chapter 121, that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of Elizabeth Beatrice Haight, late of the Village of Foxboro, in the County of Hastings, Married Woman, who died on or about the ninth day of April, 1920, are required to deliver or send by post, prepaid, on or before the 20th day of October, 1920, to the Executor of the said estate, or to his solicitors, their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars in writing, verified by Statutory Declaration, of their claims and accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after the said 20th day of October, 1920, the Executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the estate amongst those entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have had notice, and he will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to person of whose claim notice is not then received.

Dated at Belleville this 15th day of September, A. D. 1920.

GIDEON S. WAY, Executor.
PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE,
Belleville, Ont.,
Solicitors for Executor.

s18,25;o2.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

KATZENJAMMER KIDS AT GRIFFIN'S WEDNESDAY

For real hilarity, catchy music and real dancing, all presented in pictorial surroundings that will surely delight the eye, the Katzenjammer Kids, the newest cartoon musical comedy is recommended as the one best bet of the season. This latest cartoon music play will be the attraction at the Griffin Opera House for one night only, Wednesday next. A real fashion plate chorus with some of the fairest flowers from the world's beauty market, Broadway, is one of the attractive features of the big show. These girls are dressed in costumes exquisite and backed by beautiful scenic pictures, are a delight to the eye. And they can sing and dance.

From the rise of the curtain novelty follows novelty in the Katzenjammer Kids. Virgil Bennett, who is responsible for the staging of the piece, has keyed the action of this musical comedy up to the highest pitch, and as a result he has a show that defies the speed limit when it comes to singing, dancing and comedy.

Katzenjammer Kids is the joint work of John P. Mulgrew, who wrote the book and lyrics, and Donald H. Bester, who wrote the music. The piece is based on the famous comic supplement characters, and besides the Katzenjammer Kids, Hans and Fritz, there are Mr Katzenjammer, Der Captain and all the other characters that have made the cartoon famous.

"EXPERIENCE" COMING.

"Experience," aptly described as the most wonderful play in America, now in its seventh season of remarkable prosperity, will again be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at Griffin's Opera House, Wednesday, September 29th, for one night only.

The career of "Experience," in the past few years has been little less than remarkable and the announcement of the return of this big dramatic and comedy success is sure to result in a capacity house. Seven years ago Messrs. Comstock and Gest produced this play for the first time and since then it has played in most of the big cities of the United States from Coast to Coast and has enjoyed remarkable endorsement from press and clergy everywhere it has been presented. Now for its seventh season the managers have provided a complete new scenic production and new costumes for the ladies in the company. The cast has been selected with great care and will be one of the strongest that has ever presented this wonderful morality play.

"THE TERROR", MIX'S LATEST

"The Terror," is the title of the latest Tom Mix thriller, which William Fox is to present the daredevil star in at Griffin's this Monday and Tuesday only. This will prove one of the most stirring pictures, with the rugged West as its background, in which Tom Mix has yet appeared, if advance reports count for anything.

Briefly, the story concerns the efforts of "No limit" Carson, a United States deputy marshal, to run down leakages of gold from the Sonora Gold and Copper Mining company. Following an investigation Carson suspects Sheriff Canby and Con Norton, owner of the Odean dance hall, who are using as their tools Fay Lacrosse, a dance hall girl, and Phil Harland, her lover, who is confidential secretary to the president of the mining company. It is only after a series of thrilling escapades that Carson brings the culprits to justice and wins the love of the sister of Harland, one of the suspects, who is found to be innocent.

The cast contains several prominent screen favorites, including the attractive Francelia Billington.

"The Fly Cop," a funny 2-reel Larry Semon comedy, Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack," and a beautiful Burton Holmes Travelogue are also being screened on the same program.

VIRTUE BRINGS ITS OWN REWARD

That a hardened criminal, a crook, a hold-up man, and a dope fiend each have a heart and the spark of human kindness when it comes to a showdown, is proved with clarity in "The Girl from Outside," a Rex Beach novel picturized by Goldwyn, which is being shown at Griffin's today, matinee and night.

One of the gang of wags, "The Kid" played intelligently and with conviction by Cullen Landis, saves the girl from a scheming gambler when he learns that she is a good girl. His attitude is one of honesty to her, and he even gives his life in order that she may marry his rival, when he destroys a paper in the hands of the scoundrel gambler. This Rex Beach story is so full of thrills, excitement, heart throbs and genuine interest that it should not be missed by any person in Belleville. A beautiful Outing Chester Travelogue, Baby Marie Osborne, and the little pickaninny "Sambo" in a funny 2-reel comedy, "Little Miss Gingersnap," British Canadian News, and Charles Hutchison in a thrilling chapter of "The Whirlwind" are also being shown on the same program.

Into a Crockery Teapot
Put a teaspoonful of the genuine
"SALADA"
for every TWO cups. Pour on freshly BOILING water and let it stand for five minutes. THE RESULT will be the most perfect flavoured tea you ever tasted.
B725

TURKISH FEZ MAY DISAPPEAR

With the crumbling of Turkish authority and influence, the fez, the badge which all Turkish subjects, Christians, Jews and Turks alike, are supposed to wear, is rapidly disappearing. Although the Moslems still wear their fezzes in the streets, they no longer cling to them slavishly indoors. Soon the Turks may be wearing hats with brims in Constantinople. Moslems in other parts of Turkey insist the Mohammedans in the capital lost their religion long ago through their desire to imitate the infidels.

As all heads must remain covered in the mosques and it is quite impossible to touch one's forehead to a prayer rug while wearing a hat with a brim, the fez is indispensable to the faithful Moslem who prays daily to Mecca. Even military and naval officers must wear visorless caps.

The fez still prevails in Anatolian cities. In fact it is unsafe for foreigners to wear a hat in many of them unless he desires to attract a crowd of hooting small boys and run the risk of starting a riot. Osman Agha, the terrorist governor of Kerrasunde, recently checked the tendency of non-Moslems in that city to get away from old customs.

An Armenian who had just returned from Russia walked along the main street of the little city wearing a stiff-brimmed straw hat. It was worse than wearing a straw hat on the New York Stock Exchange after the season has passed. Osman Agha grabbed the hat from the Armenian's head, slashed the crown from the rim with his sabre, jammed the crown down on the Armenian's head, hitting it a heavy blow with the sabre, and warning the unfortunate chap never again to appear in Kerrasunde in such unholy headgear unless he wanted to go to jail.

WORK A MONTH FOR A PAIR OF SHOES

"No work and high prices are making Hungary a trouble centre," said Count Etienne Crouy Chanel, who claims to be the most legitimate candidate for the throne of Hungary.

"We have here upwards of 100,000 workmen who are either without work or else have to work for 1,000 crowns a month, the price of a pair of shoes," he continued. "Besides them, we have 150,000 government employees left over from old Hungary whose pay is about that of the workmen. Then we have 50,000 army officers who insist that they be paid. Then there is a large number of landowners from the provinces given to Serbia, the Czechs and the Rumanians, who have no means of livelihood, having been driven from their lands.

"When these people begin considering their troubles, they turn to the wealthy Jews as the cause, or else to the Communists, and therein lies the origin of the so-called 'White Terror.'

"The immediate solution for these people is to emigrate, but for that they have not the money or else can not secure passports. They cannot become farmers overnight. Even if the government divided the land they would need to learn to farm and would need capital to build houses and buy machinery. The factories cannot start because of lack of coal and raw materials."

"Hungary has lost more than any nation in Europe by the peace treaty. In addition she has had two costly revolutions. It is no wonder our minds are deranged.

"It would be a charity if our surplus educated population was helped to emigrate to South America or some country where it could start life anew."

The Treasure of Good Health

Easily Maintained Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is not a nook or corner in Canada, in the cities, the towns, the villages, on the farms and in the mines and lumber camps, where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not been used, and from one end of the country to the other they have brought back to bread-winners, their wives and families the splendid treasure of new health and strength.

You have only to ask your neighbors, and they can tell you of some rheumatic or nerve-shattered man, some suffering woman, ailing youth or anaemic girl who owes present health and strength to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For more than a quarter of a century these pills have been known not only in Canada, but throughout the world, as a reliable tonic, blood-making medicine.

The wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they go right to the root of the disease in the blood, and by making the vital fluid rich and red strengthen every organ and every nerve, thus driving out disease and pain, and making weak, despondent people bright, active and strong. Mr. W. T. Johnson, one of the best known and most highly esteemed men in Lunenburg county, N.S., says: "I am a Provincial Land Surveyor, and am exposed for the greater part of the year to very hard work travelling through the forests by day and camping out by night, and I find the only thing that will keep me up to the mark is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I leave home for a trip in the woods I am as interested in having my supply of pills as provisions, and on such occasions, I take them regularly. The result is I am always fit. I never take cold, and can digest all kinds of food such as we have to put up with hastily cooked in the woods. Having proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as a tonic and health builder, I am never without them, and I lose no opportunity in recommending them to weak people whom I meet."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in every home, and their occasional use will keep the blood pure and ward off illness. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FARMERS LOSE HEAVILY IN THUNDERSTORM

Stratford, Sept. 17.—Though the city escaped storm damage Wednesday night the countryside was not so fortunate. During a terrific electrical storm about midnight a fine barn on the farm of Messrs. Michael and John Goerling, a few miles north of Stratford, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed by the ensuing fire.

With the barn were destroyed the season's crops, a calf and some chickens. Other live stock was rescued from the burning building. The loss is a very severe blow to Messrs. Goerling (who purchased the farm, which is the Culliton homestead, on the fifth concession of Ellice, some four years ago.

In the same township, but farther north, the roof of Mr. Barnard McDonnell's residence was struck by lightning, but fortunately did not take fire. Mr. McDonnell, it is said, got up out of bed when the storm broke, and was lighting a lamp when the bolt struck.

Let us be known as
A THRIFTY PEOPLE!

Let us stop spending heedlessly and needlessly, and begin to save now and save regularly.

THERE IS A SAVINGS DEPARTMENT AT EVERY BRANCH OF THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA.

Belleville, Ont., Branch, W. A. PARKER, MANAGER

SINCLAIR'S

Distinctive Wraps That Welcome Chilly Days

They are interesting to see, but you will long for the moment when you can wrap yourself in one of these Coats. Being made of soft fabrics, they drape remarkably well. Large collars are the rule, and in very many instances they are of fur. The designs have not only originated new style line, but have evolved many new ways of using embroidery to lend smartness and distinction to the most important garment which a woman is to wear this Fall.

Accessories of Dress for Autumn

It may be depended upon that no small detail is overlooked by the well groomed woman. Our collection of smart neckwear—tailored and elaborate—is typical of the completeness and up-to-dateness of other dress accessories, as, for instance, new umbrellas, handkerchiefs, hosiery, veiling, ribbons, feather fans and an extensive range of gloves.

Smart Separate Skirts

—belong in every wardrobe. In this day every woman simply must have several separate Skirts for wear with sweaters, sport coats and blouses of all sorts. There are handsome plaid, checked, or plain models, pleated in a surprising variety of ways. You will find them just the thing for Autumn. An Autumn wardrobe is incomplete without its smart Skirts. Prices range from $9.50 to $37.50.

Fabrics for Fall Sewing

This showing predicts a lively sewing season, for here are materials that have anticipated everything which women want to make. Beautiful Satins, Taffetas and Crepe de Chines suggest one silk frock, blouse or skirt after another. Woollens of rich colorings and durable textures are here for that modish suit frock or wrap. You will find fabrics here to help plan your home sewing program.

Bed Spreads

These White Bed Spreads will help the careful housekeeper to preserve the neat appearance of all her beds. They are shown in good full sizes, in either crochet, marsale or dimity weaves, at prices from $4.50 to $13.50.

NOTIONS

It's a good plan to buy Notions when you buy fabrics. Then everything will be ready when you want to start sewing. So you won't overlook anything here's a list: Buttons, hooks and eyes, domes, tape measure, thread, needles, pins, braid, tape and darning cotton.

TOWELS

Do you need new Towels for the kitchen? Here are roller towels or glass towels ready for use, and a wide choice of linen towellings by the yard. Prices for Pure Linen start at 35c. yard.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.
GOING SOUTH.	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.
GOING EAST.	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food forwhich little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

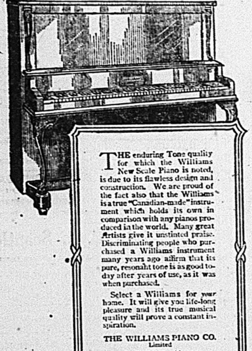
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN
THIS MONDAY AND TUESDAY
TOM MIX
In his latest Western thriller—"THE TERROR"
A Drama of Daredeviltry and Romance".
Jack Dempsey — Larry Semon Comedy — Burton Holmes Scenic
COMING THURSDAY—CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG in "EYES OF YOUTH"—We guarantee this picture to you.

A SURE RELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS
10 DAYS' TREATMENT FREE.
Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened; and the circulation is rendered normal. As this treatment is based strictly on scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease it cannot help but do good in all forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A free Trial Treatment, enough for 10 days, worth 75c., will be sent Free to any suffering woman who will send me her address. Enclose 3 stamps and address Mrs. Lydia W. Ladd, Windsor, Ont. Sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Do Your Banking by R. F. D.
Make the mail your messenger; and save yourself the long rides to town.
Deposits may be made—butter and cheese cheques cashed—money withdrawn—just as easily and safely by mail as in person.
Write the manager to tell you all about this convenient plan of Banking By Mail—or call in and have it explained, the next time you are in town.
14
THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA
DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

WILLIAMS
NEW SCALE



THE enduring Tone quality for which the Williams New Scale Piano is noted, is due to its flawless design and construction. We are proud of the fact also that the Williams is a true "Canadian-made" instrument which holds its own in comparison with any pianos produced in the world. Many great Artists give it unstinted praise. Discriminating people who purchased a Williams instrument many years ago affirm that its pure, resonant tone is as good today after years of use, as it was when purchased.
Select a Williams for your home. It will give you life-long pleasure and its true musical quality will prove a constant inspiration.
THE WILLIAMS PIANO CO.
Limited
Canada's Oldest and Largest Piano Makers
OSHAWA - - ONTARIO
We are District Representatives
The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited
THE HOME OF GOOD MUSIC

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.
Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.
Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.
John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Sports

CORNELL FOOTBALL TEAM IN SMASH-UP

Ithaca, N.Y., Sept. 18.—One member of the Cornell football squad, A. G. Nosek of Cleveland, Ohio, received perhaps fatal injuries and several others received minor injuries when a trolley car they were riding on to practise ran away down a steep grade and crashed into a tree, killing one man and injuring 20. Nosek's injuries consisted of a fractured leg and internal injuries.

RUTH-WAGNER-COBB

In his day fans considered the mighty Hans Wagner, the Pirate short stop, the greatest swatter that ever swung a bat. Even today many hold to the theory that Wagner was greater than Babe Ruth. But figures prove otherwise. They show that in his seven years as a big league star George Herman Ruth has run his home-run record up to 98 for league games only. It took Hans Wagner just 21 years to pole 100 four-bag clouts.

On Wednesday Babe Ruth scored his 147th run for the season. This equalled the great record made by Ty Cobb in 1912. The wonderful Georgian scored his 147 runs in 143 games while Ruth put his over in 129 games.

THREE HORSES RUN IN $50,000 MATCH

Montreal, Sept. 18.—Commander J. K. L. Ross, owner of the great race horse, Sir Barton, has accepted an offer of A. M. Orpen, general manager of the Kenilworth Jockey Club, for a race between his horse, Man o' War and Exterminator for a purse of $50,000 and a gold cup, the race to be run at the Kenilworth Club course at its October meeting.

The race, if it takes place, would be over a route of one mile and a quarter. It is not known whether the owner of Man o' War is agreeable to the race.

◆

SOUTH AFRICA RETAINS GERMAN PROPERTY

Property of Germans to the value of £9,000,000 is to be retained by the South African Government as a loan repayable in thirty years. This intention of government was announced in the South African House of Assembly by the Premier, General Smuts.

He explained that enemy assets held by the Custodian of Enemy Property in South Africa totalled £13,000,000 of which £3,000,000 had already been paid out to Germans domiciled in South Africa. Of the remaining £10,000,000, one million pounds would be temporarily employed applied in satisfaction of South African claims on Germans for debts or for property in Germany sequestrated by that government.

On the balance of £9,000,000, the government of South Africa has decided to pay interest at 4 per cent., raising the total to £10,000,000 which will then be held by South Africa as a loan from the German owners for a term of thirty years the government paying owners 4 per cent. interest.

Premier Smuts added that the government did not propose to pay this money to the Reparation Commission which would practically mean confiscation. As there was no guarantee that if the money was sent to Germany it would ever reach the proper owners, he said, it had been decided to take it over as stated, namely, as a loan.

◆

ARTILLERY TRAIN BOMBARDS FLOATING TARGETS

The bombardment of moving targets at sea from an artillery train on the Rockport branch of the Boston and Maine railroad furnished the summer colony of the Massachusetts North Shore with a novel spectacle and plenty of noise during the first days of this month.

Military experts were especially interested in the demonstration as it was designed to show the feasibility of repelling an attack of war vessels by means of railroad artillery. At a distance of 13 miles from shore targets towed by a tug were a mark for the heavy guns of the Forty-Second United States Coast Artillery. The line towing the target was a mile or more in length and the batteries consisted of eight-inch guns, four to a battery mounted on specially constructed railroad cars. The guns, which weigh 87 tons, each carried projectiles weighing 200 pounds.

The entire artillery train consisted of 24 cars. It was moved from Camp Devens in two sections and included cars for tools and ammunition, a machine shop, a hospital, fire control, a kitchen, an office, mess, wireless and cars for the personnel.

The Forty-Second Regiment, which is a part of the Thirtieth Artillery Brigade (Railroad) has had a long and honorable record, dating back to Revolutionary times and the Florida and Mexican wars.

◆

WINDSOR'S GAIN GREATEST IN HISTORY OF THE CITY

Windsor, Sept. 18.—Windsor's gain in population since the last assessment was made, a year ago, will amount to approximately 5,000, the greatest increase in the history of the city, according to Assistant Assessment Commissioner Webster.

IN A LAND OF PLENTY.

Children Suffer From Malnutrition In Canada.

A grave indictment of the mismanagement of children in Canada is shortly to be published by the authorities. Though Canada is brimming with good food, malnutrition is terribly prevalent in this country. Some of the worst cases come from farms, too.

No less than 58 per cent. of Canadian school children suffer from malnutrition and they are by no means all children of poor homes. The offspring of well-to-do families show a large percentage, the trouble arising from food which, though it may be good, is unsuitable.

Neglected disease; physical and mental defects, are taking a heavy toll of young Canadians, not only in lives, but in the reduced efficiency of the survivors. Children with adenoids, deafness, etc., which weaken their powers of learning, are permitted to struggle along with these handicaps, when proper medical attention would put them on an equality with their healthy classmates. Enormous waste of time and effort ensues from keeping mentally defective children in the same classes as normal boys and girls, instead of giving the weak ones the special attention they demand.

Figures from Canada are not available, but statistics have been compiled by the American Federal Department of Health.

The Canadian ratio will be about the same as in the United States, where the survey embraces 20,000,000 school children. Think of it! Out of this 20,000,000:

200,000 are mentally defective.

250,000 have organic heart disease.

1,000,000 have defective hearing which often gives them the undeserved reputation of being mentally defective.

5,000,000 have defective eyes. A majority of them have received no attention whatever.

5,000,000 are suffering from under nourishment, a great barrier to mental and physical fitness.

From these five million have adenoids, diseased tonsils, or other glandular defects.

From two to four million have weak foot arches, spines, defective joints.

From 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 have defective teeth which are more or less injurious to health.

15,000,000 have physical defects which are detrimental to health and most of which defects can be remedied.

"The business of keeping the children of our country in good physical repair is a disgrace to the Dominion," declared a very prominent Toronto children's doctor in an address given some time ago in London, Ontario." The great majority of people, even the intelligent people, fail to appreciate the significance of these defects. But their ignorance does not prevent the penalty of injury from falling relentlessly upon the young lives."

Another Peerage Extinct.

News has been received of the death at Bath, England, of William, sixth Baron de Blaquiere, well known throughout all portions of the Dominion. The late baron was born at Woodstock, Ontario, on September 5, 1854, and at the time of his succession in 1890 was in the service of the Bank of Montreal in Montreal, having previously been connected with the branches of the bank at Toronto, Brockville, Simcoe, St. Mary's, Stratford, London and Cornwall. He had been in failing health for some years and the loss of his two sons during the war accentuated his illness. The late baron was married to Miss Lucienne, daughter of the late Geo. E. Desbarats, of Montreal, who, with her daughter, the Hon. Mrs. Dudley Carleton, survives him.

The title now becomes extinct, being one of six peerages which have died out as a result of war casualties.

Motion Pictures Herds.

During the last few weeks motion pictures have been taken of a great many Ontario herds. These herds are representative of the various breeds of cattle throughout the province.

The pictures will be available early in the fall, for use in all the counties of the Province of Ontario. They are specially designed to assist in the Better Bull campaign which is being carried on at the present time.

Lantern slides are also being prepared for use in short courses and lecture work.

The Ontario Motion Picture Bureau is co-operating with the Provincial Live Stock Branch in securing these films and slides.

The Chauffeur's Meal.

After a frugal little lunch in a country hotel the millionaire, who was touring the country in his sixty-horse-power car, called for his bill. "Yes, sir," replied the waiter promptly. "Four sandwiches and a glass of cider, you had, sir. That will be—"

"Wait a minute!" interrupted the motorist. "There's my chauffeur somewhere. What has he had?"

"Oh, I know about him, sir," replied the waiter. "He says he's just had a snack — an omelette, grilled trout, lamb cutlets and peas, iced coffee, a half-dollar cigar, and a bottle of claret, sir."

Put Peter to Sleep.

A Winnipeg man after losing a case in the civil court challenged the judge to a public debate on the merits of the suit. Reminds one of the man who, when refused passage through the heavenly gates by St. Peter, argued about it to such length that the guardian of the portals fell asleep, allowing a great many people to get in who never should have been permitted to enter.

All Wrong!

Some people's idea of sympathy is to back a poor invalid into a corner and tell him how miserable he is looking.

◆

"A careless man is shortsighted," says the Safety League.

"The man who had his arm broken in two places should stay away from those places," says the Safety League.

GRIFFIN'S OPERA HOUSE Wednesday, Sept. 22 SEATS TUESDAY $1.50, $1, 75c., 50c.
TWENTY-THREE SONG NUMBERS—FEMININE LOVELINESS GALORE—FULL OF SPEED

World's Greatest Fun Show
THE ORIGINAL
KATZENJAMMER KIDS
HANS AND FRITZ
AND ALL THE FUNNY PEOPLE IN THIS FAMOUS CARTOON
A BIG HILARIOUS, HAPPY, SNAPPY, MUSICAL COMEDY.
BOOK & LYRICS BY DAVID H. WOLFF.
MUSIC BY DONALD H. HESTOR.
STAGED BY VIRGIL BENNETT.
GAZZOLO, GATTS and CLIFFORD INC.

NEW HOTEL IN WINDSOR MAY COST TWO MILLION

Windsor, Ont., Sept 18.—Instead of costing a million dollars the ten storey hotel planned for Windsor a year ago, will cost nearly twice that sum if original plans are adhered to. Increased cost of materials and labor the hotel directors were told at a meeting makes necessary an increase in capitalization to $2,000,000. The shareholders will be asked to authorize the increase.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN
2.30—TWICE TODAY—8
REX BEACH'S
Great Drama of the North
"THE GIRL FROM OUTSIDE"
"WHIRLWIND" — BABY OSBORNE COMEDY — OTHERS

Lantic Sugar
when baking—melts instantly
you will like it fine!

DRINK O'KEEFE'S BEERS
And Know What You Are Drinking
PURITY, cleanliness and sanitary surroundings in a modern up-to-date plant are responsible for the popularity enjoyed by O'Keefe's Beers. From the selection of the choicest malt and hops, from which these delicious beverages are prepared, to the shipping of the finished product, the greatest care is exercised. The whole process of brewing is under the direct supervision of experts, fully qualified to produce the best—and only the best.

O'Keefe's
Imperial Ale, Stout and Lager
Stand supreme as products of the brewers' skill. They combine to a nicety the goodness extracted from nature's gifts to man. The tonic and food properties of malt and hops in O'Keefe's Beverages make them the most delightful, refreshing and healthful brews procurable.
Drink O'Keefe's and enjoy beverages that are O.K. Your grocer or dealer sells O'Keefe's. Order a case.
O'Keefe's, Toronto
Phone Main 4202
754
O'Keefe's Beverages are Procurable at Restaurants, Hotels and Cafes.
W. RODBOURNE. Distributor, Uptown 2 1-2 per cent. Store

MACDONALD'S
Cut "Brier"
Smoking Tobacco

MACDONALD'S
Cut Brier
SMOKING TOBACCO
Manufactured by W. C. MACDONALD, REG'D INCORPORATED MONTREAL

15¢ a Package
Half Pound Tin 85¢
"Brier" has been Canada's Favorite Smoking Tobacco for over 40 years.
The same old original quality can now be had in Cut "Brier"
"The Tobacco with a heart"

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $1.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

UNCLE SAM CHAMPION BUTTERINSKI

A Committee of One Hundred has been formed in the United States to enquire into "the atrocities in Ireland charged against the British and the Sinn Feiners by each other."

A Committee of One Hundred could be formed in Canada, or England or Ireland to enquire into the atrocities committed in the United States against the negroes, or other things which are none of our business, but have too much sense to butt in where we do not belong.

The Yankee may have been slow getting into the war, but he is never slow in minding someone else's business.

The excuse for the Committee of One Hundred is that the good feeling between Britain and the United States may be so frazzled by the Irish incident as to create the menace of possible war between the two nations.

Don't worry, brother Jonathan! Keep your eye on your professional agitators who keep stirring up trouble for other nations. Quarantine them and there will be no danger of ill feeling leading to any war-like situations.

ORGANIZED LABOR AGAINST RED RADICALISM.

The Trades and Labor congress challenged red radicalism and Bolshevism from the very beginning of the annual convention in Windsor. The annual report pointed out plainly the danger from socialistic wreckers within the unions and the hollow mockery of Bolshevism in operation. In the face of this an effort is made to swing the convention to the reds with a resolution favoring a soviet form of government for Canada.

Soviet government crushes all forms of unionism and replaces it with the worst autocracy the world ever was cursed with. The worst enemy of organized labor and all that organized labor stands for is the red menace within its own ranks, steeped in ignorance, fanaticism and laziness.

CHEAPEST THING IS HUMAN LIFE.

The newspaper reader of today must pick up his Monday journal with something of apprehension, says a timely editorial in the Montreal Star. During the war the casualty list fixed our attention in pity and horror. The casualties of peace are less numerous, perhaps, but in most cases they are far less easy to understand. The cheapest thing upon this continent is apparently human life. Each week-end sees a wholesale expenditure of it which is growing more and more appalling. Week-end tragedies are becoming a permanent features of our Monday newspapers.

The pitiful thing about all these fatal accidents is that ninety-nine per cent. of them could be avoided by the exercise of rudimentary care and common sense. The steady increase in the number of motor cars and motorcycles that use our highways naturally means a greater number of accidents arising from their use. When ten thousand people boat and swim in our adjacent waters on hot Saturdays and Sundays there will of course, be more drownings than there would be if only one thousand persons indulged in water sports. When the woods are full of deer hunters there is more danger of being shot than when there are not.

But mere numbers will not account for the steadily increasing casualty lists of Monday. We are becoming more and more careless with every passing day, more ready to take a chance on getting over a level crossing before the engine arrives, more anxious to see how many miles we can run in a given number of hours, more ambitious to sail and paddle before we know how to swim.

"Safety First" is a fine motto. Big corporations have adopted it and by consistent study of its principles have cut accidents among their employees to a remarkable extent. But the great mass of us go blithely ahead running risks and taking the consequences, never apparently getting much wiser and reading the Monday casualty lists in much the same spirit that we read the weather reports. Human life is cheap and there is plenty of it.

CRISP COMMENT

The plight of the fat lady who so filled the bath tub that there was no room for water, as told by the minstrel monologist, was sad enough to make a horse laugh.

× × ×

Witness swore he paid a woman two dollars to vote for Howard Ferguson in Grenville, but she voted for the U. F. O. candidate. Perhaps she was playing both ends against the middle.

× × ×

Front street parking by-law seems to be a dead letter as regards Saturday night congestion, and it is getting to be a serious question how to cross the street without getting a swift transfer to the hospital or Kingdom Come. Saturday night is essentially shoppers' night, but when the curb in the business section is lined with parked autos and the centre of the street is used as a speedway, discretion is often the better part of valor and shoppers play safety first. The innovation might be tried of closing the business section to vehicles from six to ten o'clock Saturday night. If the experiment was a success it could be made permanent. It's worth trying out, anyway.

× × ×

Lindsay Crawford, editor of The Statesman, which claims to be the only Simon-pure representative of the Mackenzie King Liberal party, and is the organ of Sinn Feinism in Canada, is sending out circulars calling for a national convention of the Self-Determination for Ireland League of Canada to be held in Toronto on October 11, 12 and 13. Canada is getting fed up on this Crawford wind-bag, who persistently misrepresents this nation in his speeches in the United States. Time he was shown the door and told to vamoose. Canada has no time for agitations or agitators.

× × ×

The Kingston Whig describes Windsor people as "quite puffed up to learn that in that city no drunks were arrested on Sunday last for the first time in several months." But The Montreal Star essays to take the crimp out of the border city folk by explaining: "They are learning how to hold their liquor."

× × ×

The horrible news comes from Arkansas, says an exchange, that a boy climbed a corn stalk to see how the corn was getting along, and now the stalk is growing up faster than the boy can climb. The boy is plumb out of sight. Three men have undertaken to cut down the stalk with axes and save the boy from starvation. It grows so fast they can't hit twice in the same place. The poor boy is living on nthing but raw corn and already has thrown down four bushels of cobs. Next!

× × ×

That section of the British Press which is clamoring for the release of Mayor MacSwiney, on humane grounds, is no friend either of justice or of Ireland, says the Brantford Expositor. The Sinn Fein showed no mercy to the 80 policemen they murdered in cold blood, and the agitation for release comes with bad grace from them. Anyone associated with these dastardly murders has no claim to exemption from punishment.

× × ×

Mackenzie King is making it hard for Liberals who supported the Union Government during the war to support him now. At Brockville the Liberal leader said that the Liberals who entered the Coalition Cabinet were of "the type of Liberalism that would forsake all its privileges for the sake of power." That is an unjust reflection not only upon the Liberals who entered the Coalition Cabinet but upon the many thousands of Liberals who gave the Coalition Cabinet their support.—Guelph Herald.

OTHER VIEWS

Safety In The Air

Toronto Globe

One swallow does not make a summer, nor does one mishap condemn a hydro-aeroplane system which in four months carried 2,450 passengers 30,500 miles without trouble of any sort.

A Good Excuse

Calgary Herald

With a fifty per cent. increase in sleeper rates on the railways just watch for a rapid increase in the number of passengers who occupy the day coaches because "they never can sleep on a train anyway."

Not For Themselves

Toronto Globe

Emma Goldman and her "Red" associates who were banished from the United States were informed on arriving in Russia that their status was no different from that of other residents under the Soviet regime and they were classified as toilers. Those who consented to manual labor were put to work repairing railway roadbeds. Others were arrested and some went into hiding. The reason our loquacious admirers of Bolshevism do not go to Russia is obvious.

The Poor Middle Classes

London Daily Telegraph

Pity the poor middle classes! They lie between the upper and the nether millstones. Whatever may happen to others in every social and economic upheaval, they are sure to suffer, at least for a time, until things become stabilized. It is their fate to bear burdens, and they do so with a fine pride which forbids them seeking publicity. So far as the "black coat brigade" is concerned—those who were receiving moderate incomes before the war—everything has gone against them. For it is their ambition, if it be not their necessity, to study appearances and appearances are now very expensive, apart from the higher cost of all the necessaries and little luxuries of life to which they were accustomed in the piping times of peace.

POET'S CORNER

GOD'S COUNTRY

I've a yearning, I've a longing
For the place where I was born
For the cool and quiet meadows
And the golden glint of corn
For a sheep-bell's drowsy tinkle
O'er a stretch of dusky lea,
And the night wind's ghostly whisper
In the tresses of a tree.

I've a yearning, I've a longing
For the polished kitchen range,
That we sat around at even
Swapping stories that were strange,
How our blood it used to curdle
With the telling of a tale,
Of a ghastly ghost that haunted
Some lone shanty down the vale.

I've a yearning, I've a longing
For the good old fashioned dance
For a coy and country maiden's
Somewhat shy and simple glance,
For a good old basket social
And a jolly auctioneer
For a dashing dish of ice cream,
And a jug of ginger beer.

I've a yearning, I've a longing
For those dreamy summer nights,
As I picture in the gloaming
All those cozy spooning sights,
I can see a lad that's bashful
Trying to tell a pretty girl,
That her eye has such a twinkle
And her hair a certain curl.

I've a yearning, I've a longing
For those quiet country scenes,
For the crimson Autumn sunsets
And the music of the streams,
For those simple country customs,
Hospitality and cheer
God—I'm city-sick and tired
Of the varnish and veneer.

H. M. K.

Y.M.C.A., Ottawa, Sept. 13, 1920.

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS OF SETTLING STRIKE

London, Sept. 17.—Prospects for a settlement of the miners' dispute with the Government without a strike in the coal industry appeared brighter Thursday. The miners' executive resumed its conference with Sir Robert Horne, president of the Board of Trade for the purpose of making new proposals, and according to newspaper reports the miners definitely dropped their demand for a reduction in the price of coal.

The miners are now said to be seeking assurances from the Government that the price of coal shall not be increased to the consumer to make up for any increase in wages which the men may obtain.

A LAUGH OR TWO

A Jazzy Pulse

"I contend that music is the language of the heart."

"Well, in that event, jazz must cause a terrible beating of the pulse."

The Brave Freeman Today

A renter who breaks away from his landlord and buys a house of his own has a home of the free, and also, at present prices, a home of the brave.

Brains Always Score

Three Kentuckians were killed in a fight over a dog. The dog is alive because he ran away and hid. All of which proves that brains will triumph in the end.

These Days, Yes

"The clothes do not make the man," remarked the ready-made philosopher.

"No," answered the friend who was studying a tailor's bill. "They don't make him. They break him."

In The Tornado Belt

"Taking your piano lesson, are you dear?" said the farmer's wife to her daughter.

"Yes, mother."

"Where is your father?"

"In the cyclone-cellar, mother!"

Mother's Ologies

Daughter—Yes, I've graduated, but now I must inform myself in psychology, philology, bibli—"

Practical Mother—Stop! I have arranged for you a thorough course in roastology, bakeology, stitchology, darnology, patchology and general domestic hustleology.

FRENCH BLUEBEARD JOKES TRIAL JUDGE

Henri Landru, who the police call the Gambais Bluebeard and hold responsible for the disappearance of eleven women to whom he had promised marriage, shows no sign of weakening under the continual and gruelling 18 months' examination and preliminary investigation which Judge Bonin has conducted at Paris.

"You seem wan and tired today," he said to Judge Bonin solicitously when he appeared before the judge. "Don't you think you will be able to take a vacation this year?"

It was as fine a bit of irony as ever delivered by Landru, as last summer Judge Bonin after six months' examination of the alleged bluebeard, gave up in despair and went to the country for four weeks.

In the lobbies of the courthouse the other day Landru accompanied by his lawyers, met Madame Bessarabo who is being examined by Judge Bonin, concerning the disappearance of her husband and the subsequent finding of his body in a trunk at the Nancy railroad station. The lawyers introduced them. Saluting with a flourish of his weather beaten hat and bending low, Landru said simply, "My homages, Madame."

PONZI'S CUPBOARD WAS BARE.

Boston, Sept. 17.—Two safety deposit boxes in the Lexington Trust Company were the object of the attention of the Ponzi receivers yesterday. The boxes were rented by Ponzi. The receivers have had their eye on these two receptacles ever since the general examination of the bank vaults was made by them, but have deferred taking action hitherto, because they could find no keys. Ponzi himself denied knowing where the keys were. Late yesterday afternoon the boxes were forced open by Ponzi following an ultimatum by the receivers, and were found to be empty. Ponzi gave the receivers and witnesses "the laugh."

BOLSHEVIK MONEY TO BRIBE ENGLISH PAPER

London, Sept. 15.—The London press mercilessly attacks the Daily Herald for the alleged subsidy of $375,000 offered by Russian sympathizers.

The Mail alleged that most of the money was obtained in London by Trade Commissioner Kameneff, of the Russian Government, through the sale of stolen jewelry.

The Post characterized it as "the most disgraceful episode in British journalism."

"A revolutionary journal subsidized by a foreign government should be immediately prosecuted," the Times said.

The Deacon SHIRT

For Your Husband

"My wife always buys me Deacon Shirts," said a farmer the other day. They are both well satisfied. The farmer is sure of a good fit, with plenty of room for arm freedom. The wife is proud of the neat appearance and the freedom from mending and patching, and the eternal sewing on of buttons. The wear is there.

Ask your dealer.

Deacon Shirt Company
BELLEVILLE, CANADA
57

ADVERTISING FOR ADVERTISING

We will devote this space regularly to a series of advertisements to stimulate interest in our Classified Want Ads.

We are publicly advocates and practice our own precepts because we appreciate their value.

This series will be pregnant with pertinent points of general interest, whether you wish to buy or sell, to employ or be employed, to borrow or to lend, to find a finder or an owner.

It will pay us to run these advertisements. That is the best proof we have to offer that it will be profitable to you to use our Classified Want Ad. Columns.

MOTORISTS' BOOKMARK

Keep Your Car Fully Under Control

These Demand Unusual Care

Street Intersections
Blind Corners
Nearby Schools
Railway Tracks
Slippery Pavements

ONTARIO SAFETY LEAGUE
ROYAL BANK BUILDING - TORONTO

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS IN THE ESTATE OF ANNIE LAURA MATHER, late of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Widow, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Chapter 121, that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of Annie Laura Mather, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Widow, who died on or about the 25th day of April, 1920, are required to deliver or send by post, prepaid, on or before the 30th day of September, 1920, to the Administrator of the above Estate, or to his solicitors, their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars in writing, verified by Statutory Declaration, of their claims, and accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

And take notice that after the said 30th day of September, 1920, the Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the Estate amongst those entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he or his solicitors shall then have had notice, and he will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person of whose claim notice is not then received.

Dated at Belleville this 3rd day of September, A.D., 1920.

LEWIS F. PURDY,
Administrator.
PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE,
219 Front Street, Belleville,
Ontario, Solicitors.

s4,11,18,25

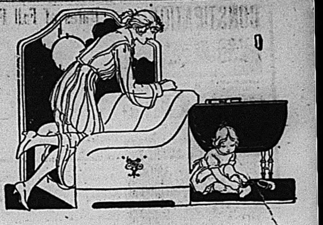
"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters,
Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work
Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.



NO fear of wrinkling or ripping. Every woman knows what that fear means when she is wearing uncertain hosiery.

Mercury Seamless Fashioned Hosiery is knitted, not stretched, into shape. Like a carefully designed gown, it is form fitting, and it remains form fitting as long as the hose last.

The yarns used in Mercury Hosiery are soft and lustrous, adding the desired tone of quality. Shades to meet the dictates of fashion.

Obtainable in the leading stores. If your dealer does not sell "Mercury" send us his name.

MERCURY MILLS, LIMITED, Hamilton, Can.

Also makers of Men's Half Hose and Children's Hosiery.

Mercury Hosiery

110

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 8.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 438.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street - - - Belleville

MEDICAL.
DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 206.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C.-M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.
BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners,
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

Have the Intelligencer sent to your home address

CONSTIPATION AND HEADACHES

Completely Relieved by this Grand Fruit Medicine, "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. ALFRED DUBOISSEAU

482 St. Catherine St. E., Montreal.

"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from Indigestion, constant Headaches and Constipation. I took various medicines for the trouble but nothing seemed to do me any good.

Then, a friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Now I am free of Indigestion and Headaches, the Constipation is cured, and I have gained considerable weight; and my general health is fine.

'Fruit-a-tives' is a grand medicine and I cannot say enough in its favor."

ALFRED DUBOISSEAU.

'Fruit-a-tives' are made from fruit juices and valuable tonics—and are pleasant to take, their action being gentle and mild, yet always most effective.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

THE "LIFTUP"

(Patented)

ALL BIAS FILLED CORSETS are designed in conformity with the science of Anatomy.

The "Liftup" a patented invention with non-slip elastic inside belt, gently supports the abdomen, and is very beneficial for use after an operation involving an abdominal incision. Most effective in relieving those physical allments from which many women suffer.

Write us NOW, for useful hints on fitting and self-measurement. Free upon request.

BIAS CORSETS LIMITED
41 BRITTAIN STREET
TORONTO

BATTERIES
Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS
REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery
Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

Zutoo

Stops headache in 20 minutes by the clock. 25c per box.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Lansdowne	Sept. 16-17
Marrickville	Sept. 16-17
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Napanee	Sept. 14-16
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 22
Shannonville	Sept. 18
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

BOOTLEGGING PLENTIFUL IN CROW'S NEST

"Conditions in the Crow's Nest Pass are becoming rapidly intolerable, and even dangerous, with respect to lawlessness resulting from wholesale disregard of the law, and they boast about about it. Many of them carry guns, and I fear that even life itself is becoming cheap where the big profits of bootlegging are in the balance.

"Liquor of any kind can be bought openly in the little bars and Chinese joints up and down the pass. The foreign element, this open disregard of the law, is becoming lawless itself. They are all armed, and a very serious situation may arise suddenly some day, if something is not done at once to check this lawlessnees. You will not believe me, perhaps, if I told you that it would almost be as much as my life was worth to attach my name to this interview."

It was in this manner that a prominent resident of the Pass conversed recently with a reporter while discussing the conditions in the Pass and the revelations which had been made in connection with the chase and capture of the train bandits which recently held up a C.P.R. train at Sentinel. Bootlegging is stated to be the root of the whole trouble in the Pass.

HOMES FOR WORKERS.

The Detroit Board of Commerce will stand back of the Detroit Housing Corporation's proposal to float a bond issue of $600,000 for building additional homes for workers in that city. This was made clear when 95 per cent. of the board's membership endorsed the idea. Virtual pledges on the part of the entire membership of the board were made to subscribe most of the fund.

The commercial organization has just completed a survey tending to show that the growth of Detroit, both in population and industry, is being retarded by the house shortage. It was revealed that workers are paying from $70 to $100 per month for places in which to live and that many workmen either are leaving Detroit for other cities or are threatening to do so.

The bonds that the members of the board are asked to buy are in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000, maturing semi-annually. They are to be secured by mortgages.

William Stocking statistician of the board, reports a big reduction in house construction during July. The number of permits was 561 fewer than in July, 1919.

* * *

Trades Congress at Windsor to ask an investigation of Federal Penitentiaries, also to investigate the conduct of all prisons, jails, and asylums including the disposal of product of prison labor.

When Baby Is Cross

Mothers, when your baby is cross—when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting cheers him—something is the matter. It is not the nature of little ones to be cross and peevish—the well child is a happy child. Give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be well again. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and stomach; banish constipation; break up colds and simple fevers and relieve the other minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Oscar Bedard Ste. Sophie, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent remedy for constipation. They relieved my little one when nothing else would and I can strongly recommend them to all mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A BAD CASE OF PREJUDICE.

To show what prejudice will do, a Canadian manufacturer tells the following incident. His factory makes a particularly high grade of both men's and women's shoes. For the women's shoes he adopted a name that clearly indicated that they were made in Canada. The name "killed the line," he said. But he was able to develop a splendid demand for the same shoes when he changed its name to one which suggested that his shoes were made in the States. This shows that Canadians must learn to judge articles on their merits, and not buy things just because they are "imported." Imagine what would happen to Canada if the idea spread, and people commenced to demand that the things they eat, their fruit, fish, vegetables, flour, meats, also be "imported."

THEY WEAR 'EM KNEE-LENGTH IN PARIS NOW

The new "double panel frock which the leading Paris dressmakers intend to launch this autumn, finishes above the knees. The rest of it is fringe—at the mercy of a puff of wind and liable to be swung distractingly to one side by any vigorous stride.

The skirt consists of two panels, one above the other, made usually of brocade, which fit somewhat closely to the upper part of the leg, while giving full freedom to the limbs below the knee.

With regard to the upper part of the new style of dress, the only change is that the neck is covered—not however the chest, which is as exposed as in the prevailing modes. A closely-fitting "dog-collar" will encircle the throat above a generous decolletage.

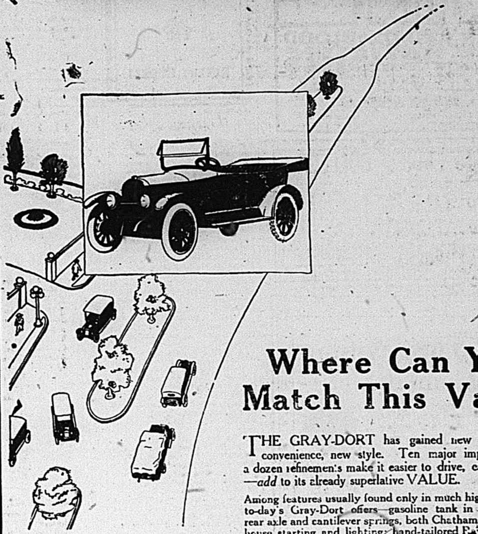
Dressmakers have let their invention play with the design of this decolletage in all sorts of ways. One model that will be shown shortly has a comparatively high corsage in front, but is cut with a very low V in the back.

NAVAL CADET DIED FROM BLOOD POISONING

London, Ont., Sept. 17.—The death occurred at the family residence, 89 Chesley avenue, Thursday, of Donald Earl Glinz, aged 15, who was one of the party of Naval Cadets which sailed recently on the training ship Pinta for a cruise up the lakes. Young Glinz, who was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glinz, was returned to his home here by the training ship authorities a week ago Tuesday, he having taken ill with blood-poisoning. It is stated that the boy developed a sore foot, and the poisoning resulted from the dye in his stocking. The stockings were not an issue to the Naval Cadets, but were supplied by the lad's parents.

Built in Canada by Skilled Canadian Workers and Canadian Capital

GRAY-DORT



Where Can You Match This Value?

THE GRAY-DORT has gained new comfort, new convenience, new style. Ten major improvements and a dozen refinements make it easier to drive, easier to ride in —add to its already superlative VALUE.

Among features usually found only in much higher-priced cars, to-day's Gray-Dort offers—gasoline tank in the rear; husky rear axle and cantilever springs, both Chatham built; Westinghouse starting and lighting; hand-tailored Fayntite top; side-curtains which open with the doors.

In spite of doubled production, dealers report that the demand for Gray-Dorts far exceeds the supply. It would be wise to see your Gray-Dort dealer at once.

				ALL TAXES INCLUDED
Model	15	Regular	$1575.00	"
"	15M	Special	$1746.00	"
"	15D	Ace	$1862.00	"
"	10	Roadster	$1575.00	"

All f.o.b. Factory—Freight Only Extra

GRAY-DORT MOTORS, LIMITED - - - - - Chatham, Ont.

F. C. LEE
Dealer
Belleville Ont

London the Home of Kellogg's
TOASTED CORN FLAKES

If you would be sure of the sweetest, freshest, most toothsomely toasted corn flakes, always identify our big corn flakes factory at London, Ontario, with the package your are purchasing.

The package is plainly marked "Made in Canada" and "London, Ontario," and you will never be disappointed if you ask your grocer to give you the London-made Kellogg's.

Our constantly mounting production of corn flakes, first offered 14 years ago, and eaten every year with increasing appreciation, shows that no deception, no imitating of package, no "cheaper" no "try 'em," no "just as good" variety can overcome the consistent reputation of the original corn flakes.

Our duty to the consumer is to provide a constant reminder of the marks on the package that identify the original—"Made in Canada" and "London, Ontario" (printed in red across the face of the package).

2 IN 1

BROWN AND OX-BLOOD
SHOE POLISHES
THE BIG VALUE BOX
Also for Black, Tan and White Shoes
THE F. F. DALLEY CORPORATIONS LTD., HAMILTON, CAN.

ONTARIO LADIES' COLLEGE
WHITBY, ONT.
Begins its 47th Year
Sept. 14, 1920
A SCHOOL OF IDEALS AND AN IDEAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS AND YOUNG WOMEN.
For Calendar and Booklet Apply to
REV. F. L. FAREWELL, B.A., PRINCIPAL.

Courses
Academic.—Public School to Second Year, University.
Music.—Piano, Singing, Violin.
Domestic Science.
Commercial.
Elocution.
Art.

A Few Advantages
28 miles from Toronto. A City Country School, Gymnasium, Swimming Pool and Outdoor Play facilities unequalled.

Lawrence Wilson Company
87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

BROTHERHOOD—THE SUPREME PASSION OF THE HOUR
WORLD BROTHERHOOD CONGRESS
WASHINGTON, D.C., OCTOBER 9th to 13th, 1920.

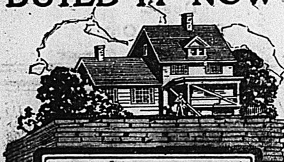
Delegates from 30 Nations. Eminent Speakers from all parts of the world. Will be the most remarkable religious gathering ever held in America.

Railway rates a fare and a third from the American border, or make the trip by Auto. Washington return, $30.00.

A most delightful journey at a most delightful time.
Send your Minister, Leader of Men's Work, Sunday School Superintendent to Catch the Vision of World Brotherhood behind the League of Nations.

Full particulars from T. Howell, Director and General Secretary Canadian Brotherhood Federation, 405 Kent Building, Toronto.

BUILD IT NOW



Reconstruct the Old Home For Longer Usefulness

Reconstruction begins at home. If the old house isn't all you desire, and you can't build a new one, a little of the right kind of repairing and remodeling will readily restore it to present day standards.

Perhaps it's a new porch, a summer kitchen, a side entrance, a new roof, extra rooms in the attic or a renewing of old, cracked walls and ceilings that is needed.

The right kind of lumber used in the right way will make the change and we have all the material you will require including that knotless and crackless manufactured lumber Beaver Board, for better walls and ceilings.

Suppose you ask us about it?

The Belleville Sash & Door Co., Limited
41 Station Street

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
* Daily †Daily except Sunday [illegible] City Passenger Agent
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.						READ UP
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS		Train [illegible]	Train 22	Train [illegible]
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	—	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*7.00 a.m.	—
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	†1.0[illegible] a.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	†10.00 p.m.
[illegible] p.m.	3.52 a.m.	6.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.20 p.m.	*
7.05 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	8.00 p.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	6.40 p.m.	—	—

The Thirteenth Commandment

By
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

CHAPTER XI.

She woke early next morning. It was just six o'clock. She remembered that her father would be arriving in two hours. She decided that it would be a pleasant duty to surprise the poor, old, neglected codger by meeting him.

At the Grand Central station Daphne found that she was nearly an hour too early for the train. It amused her to take her breakfast at the lunch counter, to clamber on the high stool and eat the dishes of haste—a cup of coffee and a ham sandwich. It was pleasant to wander about alone in this atmosphere of speed, the suburban trains, like feed pipes, spouting streams of workers, the out-bound trains drawing their passengers to far-off destinies as if by suction.

At length it was time for the train. Daphne went to the rope barrier opposite the door of entry and waited in ambush for her father.

At length she made out a rather shabby man carrying his own luggage. It was her father. He looked older and seedier than she remembered. He did not expect to be met. He was looking idly at the new station. He had not been to New York since it had been thrown open.

She ran to him. He dropped his old suitcase on the toes of the man following him and embraced Daphne with fervor. He devoured her with his eyes and kissed her again and told her that she was prettier than ever. All about them there were little groups embracing and kissing. There was a wonderful business in reunions.

When her father said, "I haven't had my breakfast; have you?" she lied affectionately, "No."

"Let's have some breakfast together."

"Fine," said Daphne. "We'll go to the Biltmore."

"Kind of expensive, isn't it?" he asked anxiously.

"It's my treat," she said.

This amused him enormously. "So you're going to treat, eh?"

"Yep," she said.

"Where did you get all the money?"

"I'm a working lady now."

He laughed again and shook his head over her.

"What did you mean by saying you were a working lady?" said Wesley when they were seated at the table and breakfast was ordered. "Your mother wrote me something about having a little disagreement with you. She seemed to be right worried, so I thought I'd better run on to see if I couldn't sort of smooth things over. I'm glad you came to meet me. We can talk without interruption for once. Tell me all about it."

She told him the whole story of her decision to join the great social revolution that is freeing women from the slavery of enslaving the men. Her peroration was her new watchword: "I don't want to take any more money from you."

"Why, honey," he protested, "I love to give it to you. I only wish I had ten times as much. I couldn't dream of letting you work. You're too pirty. What's that young Wimburn cub mean by letting you work?"

"Oh, he's bitterly opposed to it, so I gave him his ring."

"Well, I never!" he gasped. "And all this trip of your mother's and yours and all the expenses gone for nothing?" was his first doleful thought. He remembered the second mortgage he had placed on one of his properties to get the money for the vitally important wedding festival. And now there was to be no wedding. The son-in-law who was to have assumed the burden of Daphne's bills was banished. Daphne was again her father's own child.

He was glad to have her back, but he could have wished that she had not gone away, since he paid the freight in both directions. And now here was himself in New York and nothing to show for all the spilt milk of time, money and emotions.

At the critical moment Daphne mentioned that the star whose understudy she was would earn fifty thousand dollars that year in spite of the hard times. "Fifty thousand dollars" had a musical sound to Wesley's ears. If Daphne could earn a tenth of that he would believe in miracles.

"Where were you planning to live, honey, while you're acting? With Bayard, I suppose."

"Oh, no," said Daphne; "we've ruined his honeymoon enough already."

"Who with, then?"

"Oh, by myself, I suppose."

"Good Lord! you couldn't do that very well—a young girl like you."

"Why not?" she said.

He turned pale. This was like being asked why babies were found under cabbage leaves. He was an old-fashioned father, and he had never been able to rise to the new school of discussing vitally important topics with the children vitally interested.

"Why, why," he stammered, "why, because nobody does it, honey. Nice girls don't live alone."

Daphne studied him with a tender amusement. He was so innocent in his way, in spite of all he must know. She understood what he was thinking of. She was sophisticated in the manner of the nice girl of her time and she liked to treat submerged themes with clean candor. She thought that prudery was a form of slavery.

"If you've just got to stay in New York and just got to work your mother could stay with you, I suppose."

"But what becomes of you and your home?"

"Oh, I'll get along somehow. I don't matter."

This broke her heart. She cried out: "But you do matter, daddy; you matter terribly. Can't you understand, daddy, that I'm trying to relieve you and make myself useful instead of a parasite? Thousands of women live alone—professional women, art students, music students, college girls, normal-school women, besides the women in shops and factories. It's coming more and more."

"But you're not brought up to a trade."

"I wish I had been."

"Well, that's a new complaint, anyway, but — well — of course you wouldn't do anything wrong; but if you lived alone you'd be misjudged, and men would keep throwing temptation in your way."

"I had plenty of that when I was living at home."

"Daphne!" He cried out in pain at the very thought.

She went on, educating him with a vengeance: "Plenty of temptation and plenty of opportunity, daddy. It wasn't your fault. You gave me all the protection that anybody could, daddy. But you can't protect people all the time. And it was when you trusted me most that you protected me most. People are just beginning to realize that even in penitentiaries the higher the walls and the stricter the guards the more prisoners try to escape. They're sending convicts out to work on roads now with no guards at all. And they do their work and come back. Don't you think women can be trusted as far as convicts?"

"I suppose so," he sighed. But he was convinced of the security of neither the convicts nor of the women under these new anarchies. He was convinced of only one thing, and that was his helplessness.

Daphne took him home in a taxicab. At the apartment they caught Bayard just rushing for his office. He greeted his father with whirlwind affection, but he knew that he would please Wesley better by hurrying on to his office than by neglecting his business for the purpose of entertainment.

Wesley took Leila by storm with his lavish and whole-hearted praise. He had not seen her before. He gathered her to his breast, then held her out at arm's length to praise her and to praise Bayard for bringing her into the family.

Mrs. Kip did not delay long the assault on Daphne's position. But Wesley said:

"We've had a long talk and I guess she's pretty set in her way. She's a good girl, though, mamma. And she knows her own mind better than we do. Anyways, it's her own mind. Let her have her way and if anything goes wrong she can always come back home."

His wife boiled over. It made her feel as much at home as an old kettle on a stove to have her husband there to boil over on: "Wesley Kip, are you going to set there and encourage that girl to ruin her life and her reputation without doing anything to protect her?"

"Oh, I guess she's not going to ruin anything. After all, the best way to protect folks is to trust 'em."

It was bald plagiarism, but Daphne made no complaint. Wesley got into trouble at once, however, by making the suggestion that his wife remain as a companion for her child. Mrs. Kip took it as a sign that he wanted to get rid of her, and Daphne refused to take it at all.

Wesley sat pondering in silence for a while; then he rose and, mumbling, "Be back in a little while," took his hat and went out.

They wondered what mischief he was up to and what folly he would commit. He came back in half an hour with a smile of success.

"I guess it's all right. I been thinking about all the different things been said. We don't want Daphne living by herself and she don't feel like she ought to trespass on Leila's home; so I got an idea and went down and saw the janitor or superintendent or whatever he is, and I asked him mightn't it be there was somebody in this building wanted to rent a room to a nice girl. And he said there was a young couple felt the rent was a little high and had an extra room. So we went up and took a look at it. Right nice young woman, name of Chivvis or something like that; said she'd be glad to take my daughter in. I was thinking that if Daphne was up there she could see Bayard and Leila when she was lonesome or anything; and she'd be handy where they could keep an eye on her if she got sick or anything."

The three women looked at him in amazement. He had solved the riddle that baffled them all and had compromised the irreconcilables.

"I'll bet the place is a sight and the woman a freak," said Mrs. Kip. "Let's go have a look at her."

So all four went up in the elevator to the top floor. They were about to ring the bell of one of the big front apartments like Bayard's but Wesley checked them.

"It's in the back."

The women exchanged glances and smiles behind the important shoulder blades of Wesley, the manager. He rang a bell and a young woman opened the door. As Leila said afterward:

(Continued from page 1)

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

"Tight Money"
—the Investor's Opportunity

The big problem facing the Canadian Banks to-day is that of providing sufficient money to enable this year's crops to be speedily marketed.

That's why manufacturers are finding it difficult to obtain money to buy raw materials and to make extensions.

That's why store-keepers are finding it difficult to get extended credits to enable them to increase their stocks.

That's the meaning of the expression "money is tight."

That's why interest rates are high now; in other words, that's why bond prices are lower.

You can buy a $100 1934 Victory Bond today for $93.

On the date of maturity—the date printed on the bond—the government will pay it off for $100.

Meantime the government will pay you interest on the full $100.

If you have any surplus funds take advantage of this "money shortage" and make your money work. It's your big opportunity.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

Dominion of Canada 5½% Bonds
Victory Bonds Free from Dominion Income Taxes

Due	Price		Yield
Dec., 1922	98	and interest	6.37%
Nov., 1923	98	and interest	6.14%
Dec., 1927	97	and interest	6.00%
Nov., 1933	96½	and interest	5.88%
Dec., 1937	98	and interest	5.68%

Victory Bonds Subject to the Usual Income Taxes

Due	Price		Yield
Nov., 1924	97	and interest	6.27%
Nov., 1934	93	and interest	6.24%

We shall welcome an opportunity to serve you in your investment matters irrespective of the amount of your funds.

Write for copy of our circular giving full information about these investments

DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION
LIMITED.
Established 1901

E. R. Wood - - - - President
G. A. Morrow - Vice-President
J. W. Mitchell - Vice-President
W. S. Hodgens - - - Secretary
J. A. Fraser - - - Treasurer
T. H. Andison - Ass't Secretary
A. F. White - - Ass't Treasurer

HEAD OFFICE:
26 KING STREET EAST
TORONTO

MONTREAL BRANCH
Canada Life Building
R. W. Steele - - Manager

LONDON, ENG., BRANCH
No. 6 Austin Friars
A. L. Fullerton, Manager

TOOTHACHE STOPS
When "ABSORBINE JR." Is Placed in the Cavity.

The same reliable home liniment that takes the soreness and stiffness out of sprained, strained arms and legs—and reduces swellings and soft, inflamed bunches on any part of the body—will give quick relief in Toothache, Headache, Neuralgia and sharp attacks of Rheumatism and Sciatica.

For Toothache, saturate a little cotton with "ABSORBINE JR." and place in the cavity—rub "ABSORBINE JR." on gums and face. It is a vegetable germicide that is safe.

For Headache, Neuralgia and other pain and inflammation, rub the affected parts with a few drops of "ABSORBINE JR."

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists or sent postpaid by W. F. YOUNG, INC., Lyman Building, Montreal. 36

NON RUSTABLE
D&A
CORSETS

Forget the price, when you examine a D & A Corset, think only of what you want—see the material and workmanship—the style and the fit.

Then ask the price and you will wonder how it can be sold so cheap, when other makes seemingly no better sell much dearer—you will buy the D & A.

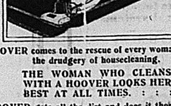
There is a D & A in every style to suit your figure. Get your Corsetière to show you the right one.

DOMINION CORSET CO.,
Quebec, Montreal, Toronto.
Makers of "LA DIVA" & "GODDESS" Corsets.

S-4020

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

TO THE RESCUE



The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.

THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : :

The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.

THE HYDRO SHOP

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer
Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

DEVELOPING
PRINTING
ENLARGING
ANSCO
Cameras and Films.
OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.
UNDERTAKERS
14 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment

PILES
Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

EARLE & COOK'S SPECIALS
FOR
Friday and Saturday

10 dozen Grey Turkish Towels, special value ...... 69c. pair
5 dozen White Turkish Towels, regular $1.00 pair .. 89c. pair
6 only White Bedspreads, special $2.69
One piece of White Cotton Huck Towelling, reg. 35c. yard, for .... 29c.
2 pieces of Grey Towelling, good for kitchen wear .. 34c. yard
2 pieces English Oxford Shirting, reg. 45c. yard, for .... 37c.
Noblesse Satin, in black suitable for Underskirts, special, 69c. yard.

McCALL'S MAGAZINE FOR OCTOBER on sale at the Pattern Counter.

EARLE & COOK CO.

Shoes for Everybody
Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

ALASKA SABLE

This is one of the most practical furs on the market, for, besides being of rich appearance and giving good service, it is most reasonably priced.

It is a fur that lends itself readily to the fashioning of neck pieces cut on the most up-to-date designs.

We are showing some beautiful pieces in STOLES, SHAWL THROWS and SILHOUETTE COATEE styles made up of strictly No. 1 New York State Sable at prices ranging from $60.00 per set up.

Come in and have a look around. A visit will be appreciated.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily
ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

HAY FEVER
and ASTHMA
Conquered by the World's Only Two-bottle Remedy. Don't suffer a minute longer. Send today 14—21-day treatment. Trial size 25c. and guaranteed.
W. K. BUCKLEY, Mfg. Chemist
97 DUNDAS ST. E., TORONTO.

City And Country

PERFECT PICTURE.

Mr. George Martyn's orchard at Welcome is a real picture and every one of the trees is loaded down with the choice fruit. It is estimated that there will be eight hundred barrels and Mr. Martyn has disposed of the orchard to Mr. Stephen Dudley of Colborne for four thousand dollars.

"SUNNY JIM"

Just previous to the race meet here last month Mr. George E. Caldwell purchased the race horse Sunny Jim from Mr. Allen, of Colborne. The horse won here in the 2.30 class and so delighted was Mr. Allen with the showing of the horse that he bought it back paying Mr. Caldwell one hundred dollars in advance of the price be received. Now Mr. Caldwell is again in possession of Sunny Jim, having purchased him this week and won first money at the Brighton races and second at the Napanee. Our corner friend says that the next time George disposes of Sunny Jim he will likely make a profit of two hundred dollars. These auctioneers always have a tendency of travelling upwards.—Port Hope Guide.

TRACK GANGS BUSY.

Track gangs on adjoining sections of the Grand Trunk are busy putting the right of way in shape for the inspection of the Board of Arbitration of the road, which commences on September 20. Hon. W. G. Cassels, Rt. Hon. Sir Thomas White and Hon. W. H. Taft, ex-president of the United States, will form the party of inspection, with railroad officials accompanying them.

CUT YARKER OUT.

The Picton-Kingston train will run Canadian National to Napanee and G. T. R. to Kingston, instead of going by way of Yarker as at present. The new schedule will come into effect September 19th.

NEW TELEGRAPH MANAGER.

H. E. Whittenberger, general manager Grand Trunk lines west of the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, announces the appointment of H. Hulatt as consulting manager of telegraphs. Mr. Hulatt is manager of telegraphs, Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and Grand Trunk Pacific Telegraph Company.

G. T. R. MEN LEAVA.

The last few days have witnessed the exodus of four members of the Brockville yard crew of the G. T. R. to the United States, where they have secured positions on American roads. Yard Conductor Richard F. Goldthorpe and Yard Helper William Slack have gone to Carthage, N. Y., where they are employed on the New York Central lines, while Yard Conductor R. R. Graham and Yard Conductor Chester Morris have gone to Buffalo, N.Y.

WIFE KEPT FARM.

Justice Logie in Court at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, made it very clear that he had no sympathy with W. J. Boyd, of Kemptville. Boyd is alleged to have gone to western Canada and left his wife on a farm with two small children and, as she says, "to battle with an army of creditors." Mr. Justice Logie awarded the custody of the farm to the wife.

CLAIMS THE COAT

Mr. Robert Gibson, whose home is in Thurlow Township has laid claim to one of the raincoats which, with others was stolen in the city recently by a man named Heine. The coat in question was taken from a car.

SHANNONVILLE FAIR

Many citizens were today in attendance at the "world's" fair, being held at Shannonville. The attendance was large and the exhibits above the usual standard. Speeding events were the chief attraction.

SUMMER
ASTHMA—
HAY FEVER
—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—
RAZ-MAH
brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.
Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

NERVES SHAKEN.

Miss Anne McCann, prominent worker in the New York financial district, passed through Brockville on Friday en route to her former home at Westport, where she will remain for at least six weeks to recover from the effects of the explosion on Wall street, New York. Miss McCann stated that the disaster was the most terrifying ever experienced in the U. S. metropolis. She was within a block of the explosion when it occurred and stated that the scene beggars description. Newspaper reports of the disaster fail to convey but an impression of the terrible sight enacted. The explosion resulted from a bomb, in her opinion, and many of the injured were hurt in their mad rush for safety.

A BAD BREAK.

The breaking of a bottle of liquor in a trunk as it was being removed from the baggage car of the International Limited at the Union Station, Brockville, led to the seizure of the trunk by Provincial Officer J. Warren, who was standing on the platform. Provincial Officer F. Stick was about to seize the trunk when Officer Warren claimed it.

THROWN FROM BUGGY.

When her horse became unmanageable on the outskirts of Merrickville, Mrs. William Boyle, a resident of the township of Oxford, was thrown out of her buggy when rounding a corner and was badly bruised on different parts of her body. First aid was rendered by Dr. S. F. Leavine, who afterwards drove the injured woman to the hospital at Smith's Falls.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Jackson, of Maitland, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Wednesday. Their golden wedding was attended by their children, there being ten in the family, 31 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. The evening was spent in amusements and a dainty supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson received many beautiful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are in good health and received the congratulations of numerous friends. They were married on September 15, 1870.

ACCIDENT ENQUIRY.

An enquiry will begin at Kingston on September 27 into an accident which happened at Cataraqui crossing on the G. T. R. some weeks ago, when an automobile was struck by a G. T. R. train and the motor car driver's hip broken. A number of witnesses from Belleville will attend the enquiry.

APPLE TREE IN BLOSSOM.

An apple tree in blossom in September is a rare sight, yet such is the case in the orchard of Mr. W. J. Hunter, near Kingston Mills. The tree is of the Red Astrachan variety and this year produced fine fruit.

GOOD PRICE FOR APPLES.

A visitor in Port Hope enquired of Mr. W. J. Oke of that town the cost of three barrels of No. 1 Spies delivered to his address in England. Mr Oke fixed the price at forty dollars and a check for this amount was at once handed over by the stranger. If sold in England by the pound at the usual prices as quoted by Mr. Preston at Orono on Tuesday, the buyer will still be a good winner.

DROPPED DEAD ON TRACK.

An event not scheduled on the programme took place at Frankford Fair yesterday afternoon. In the third heat of the named race Louise M., owned by Mr. Garrison, of that place, while entering the home stretch, staggered and fell. The animal expired immediately, heart trouble being the cause. The horse was highly prized by the owner.

CLAIRE WINSTON
—a real beauty, with the Bathing Girls in the musical comedy success, "The Katzenjammer Kids," at the Griffin Opera House for one night only this Wednesday, Sept. 22.

ORDINATION SERVICE

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Bidwell, Lord Bishop of Ontario, who has just returned from the Lambert Conference, recently held in London, England, will visit Christ Church here to-morrow. At 11 o'clock two deacons, the Rev. A. Redding, Maynooth, and the Rev. N. Stout of Kitlee, will be ordained to the priesthood. At 7 p.m. the Apostolic Rite of Holy Confirmation will be received by a class of candidates. The Bishop will preach at both services. Special music by the choir at the services.

TOWNSHIP VS. COUNTY

Mr. F. E. O'Flynn yesterday before Hon. Mr. Justice Logie at Osgoode Hall on behalf of the Township of Thurlow asked for an order quashing by-law No. 828 of the County Council of the County of Hastings passed August 5th, 1920, to equalize the assessment. S. Masson, K.C., acting for the County of Hastings and W.C. Mikel K.C., acting for the Township of Sidney opposed the application, and Mr. Masson raised the preliminary objection that there was no applicant before the court, as the applicant was described as the Township of Thurlow whereas there was no such party as a matter of law, and a new applicant could not be added without the consent in writing, and in the case of a Municipality by a by-law. The hearing was adjourned to September 30th to enable the proper applicants to be added.

BAY BRIDGE PURCHASE

A ballot has been distributed amongst the members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, relative to the proposition to purchase the bay bridge and make it free, at a cost of $85,000. From the votes so far recorded the proportion is about 3 to 1 in favor of the purchase. It is proposed that the city pay 40 per cent., the Provincial Government 40 per cent. and Prince Edward County 20 per cent. of the amount. It is also proposed that the Provincial Government take over the structure as a part of the Provincial Highway scheme and Mr. E. P. Fredericks, City Industrial Commissioner states that this will be done as soon as the bridge passes out of private hands. Mr. Fredericks went to Toronto today to see Hon. Mr. Biggs, Minister of Public Works and Highways in reference to the matter and also to consult with Mr. George Hogarth, the Chief Provincial Engineer.

TODAY'S MARKET.

Owing to the fair at Shannonville today it had the effect of reducing the attendance upon the market. Good prices were realized for all produce offered for sale. Dairy butter was readily disposed of at 70 cents per pound, and the ruling price for eggs was 60 cents per dozen. Dressed chickens sold from $2.00 to $3.50 per pair, according to size and quality; broilers $1.25 per pair. Ducks brought from $3.50 to $4.00 a pair. Garden produce was plentiful and much was disposed of. Potatoes sold at 30c. per peck and from $1.40 to $1.50 per bag. Tomatoes were 90c a bushel and corn 15c. a dozen.

BAND CONCERT.

The G.W.V.A. band will give a concert on Victoria Park tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 5.30; weather permitting.

SUNSHINE FUND.

Additional subscriptions to the Sunshine Fund are as follows:

Mrs. McFee	$5.00

FAREWELL PARTY

A happy time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kinkade Friday evening when Miss Irma Kinkade was presented with a fountain pen by a number of her boy and girl schoolmates prior to her removal from the city in the near future. After a number of amusing games were played, a dainty luncheon was served and the party ended with "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

CARD OF THANKS.

The family of the late R. Greatrix wish to thank their many friends for the kindness and sympathy extended to them in their recent bereavement.

Y.M.C.A. GYMNASIUM OPENING SEPT. 27TH—JOIN NOW.
Junior Fees, $3.00 to $5.00; Seniors, $8.00 and $10.00; Girls, $3.00 per year.
s18 2td

DIED

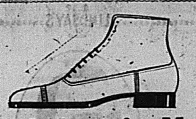
KENNEDY—Entered into rest at the family residence, 181 Frank Street, Ottawa, on Sept. 17, 1920, Mary Cooper-Humphrey, relict of the late Samuel Kennedy, C.E., in her 92nd year.

The funeral will be held on Monday, Sept. 20 from the C. P. R. depot, Belleville at 2.25 p.m. Interment, family plot, Belleville cemetery.

CALLED BY DEATH

MRS. SAMUEL KENNEDY.

The death occurred in Ottawa yesterday of Mrs. Samuel Kennedy in her 92nd year. The deceased was a resident of Belleville for many years and in religion was an Anglican. She is survived by one son, William, and two daughters, Misses Mary and Maggie, who reside in Ottawa. The remains will arrive in the city on Monday for interment.



Regal Shoes for Men
We are selling agents for this world known shoe. The latest styles are now being shown in Black and Brown leathers. A shoe for every foot.
Priced at $10.00 and $11.00
TRUNKS AND TRAVELLING GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY
The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.
GOOD NEWS FOR
Saturday Shoppers
Some Splendid Values For You Here Saturday on New Autumn Wearables—Shop at Wotten's and Save.
Georgette Blouses $8.75
The latest novelties in Over-Blouses, in the new shades, or in two-tone effects. Special $8.75
Serge Dresses $25.00
Real stylish and dependable all-wool Serge Dresses, nicely made and trimmed, at $25.00
Ladies' Fall Suits $37.50
New Autumn Garments just in—made of all-wool Navy Serges, latest styles—priced low at $37.50
Silk Boot Hose $1.19
Black only, Silk Boot Hose—"Queen Quality"—a very special Saturday value at $1.19
WOTTENS, Limited
LADIES' WEAR STORE

We Would Be Delighted
—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.
T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott left for Toronto yesterday, where they will spend a few days. Mr. Elliott is one of the delegates representing the Associated Boards of Trade of the Province of Ontario at meetings of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, now being held in that city.

Mr. J. B. Archibald of this city, is the expert judge of poultry at the Frankford Fair.

Mrs. Fred Burley, 25 Olive street, city, on Wednesday evening entertained a number of her young lady friends and a most enjoyable time was spent by those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Glover and Miss Nancy of Madoc and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Sharpe of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Philip Glover of Sidney—3rd line.

Miss Alma Sanders, of Vancouver, B.C., formerly of Belleville, is the guest of Miss Aileen Scantlebury, College Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lockwood, Charles Street, left today for a vacation to Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit.

You'll surely relish our sweet pickles, cooked ham and other dainty things to eat to be had here. They make a sandwich or a "bite" enjoyable as nothing else can. They add zest to the regular meal, too. Give them a trial. They require no preparation and are perfectly delicious. Just open and ready to serve.
Phone DAY 531

Teas
OF SUPERIOR QUALITY
New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious
Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke
FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.
Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

LINDSAY'S

THAT

ENRICO CARUSO

who gives a recital in Montreal at the Mount Royal Arena, Sept. 27th, will be accompanied on a

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO

only bears out the fact we have often repeated, namely, that the Heintzman & Co. Piano is a favorite with the world's greatest artists.

Sole agents in Belleville for Heintzman & Co. Pianos and Player-Pianos

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED

249 Front Street Bellevil le

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 15 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 6 marks and figures (120) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—TWO NEW BUILDINGS—ONE nine room bungalow, all modern conveniences, hardwood floors and trim, fireplace, bookcase, colonade, large basement, large lot and garage. One two-storey, seven rooms, full size basement, hardwood floors, etc. Prices right. Apply J. Kiser, Builder and Contractor, 120 Moira Street West, Belleville. a15-4td

FOR SALE—THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. a16-12td

FOR SALE—WASHING MACHINE, IN good condition; gentleman's bicycle, also baby carriage. Apply 32 Grove street. 1td

FOR SALE—MEDIUM SIZED FRAME house with conveniences, situated at 83 West Bridge Street. Price reasonable. Apply to Mrs. P. C. VanAllen, 323 Front St., Belleville. a17-6td

FOR SALE—BED ROOM RUG, SIZE 15x12; large extension dining room table. 48 Everett St. Phone 730. a17-2td

FOR SALE—BLACKSMITH SHOP—AN OLD established business, no opposition. Apply to Box "G," Intelligencer. a17-4td

FOR SALE—FIRE PLACE SET—SCREEN, basket, tongs, shovel and poker in wrought iron finish. Apply 3 Moira St. East. a17-2td

FOR SALE OR RENT, BRICK HOUSE, ALL conveniences, hot air heating, garage, also range, piano and other household articles. Possession at once. Apply 285 John Street. a16 4td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

HELP WANTED—MALE

$30 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day or evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—of

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work. References. Chas. S. Clapp. a15-dtf

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1109-10 C. P. R. Building, Toronto. a15-10td

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

LADIES WANTED—TO DO PLAIN AND light sewing at home, whole or spare time. Good pay. Work sent any distance. Charges paid. Send stamp for particulars. National Manufacturing Company, Montreal. a18-6sd;6tw

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. a8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dim

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

TO LET.

ED rooms, cheap. Apply 61 N. Front street. 1td

TO RENT—BARN—CAN ACCOMMODATE 2 horses or 2 cars for winter. Apply H. B. Lockwood, 149 Charles St. a14-4td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 869. a14-dtf

TO RENT—BEAUTIFUL COMPLETELY furnished housekeeping rooms, kitchen range, all conveniences, rent reasonable, also furnished rooms by day or week. Apply Mrs. C. Richardson, 299½ Front St., or phone 1118. a14-6td

TO LET—SIX ROOM HOUSE. ALL CONVENIENCES, on Dufferin Ave. Also flats to let. Apply Dr. Caldwell. a16-6td

WANTED.

WANTED—TWO OR THREE FURNISHED or unfurnished rooms for light housekeeping, or small furnished house for winter months. Apply Box "E," Intelligencer. a17-4td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. a21-dtf

WANTED—IN A PRIVATE HOME — A couple of roomers. Apply Box "D," Intelligencer. a15-3td

WANTED—BY A LADY—COMFORTABLE room with board in private family, good locality, from October, for the winter. References. Address Box "B," Intelligencer. s5-4t

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference. Modern Art Company 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—of

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. a17-20td

MAKE $30 NEXT SATURDAY. BRAND new proposition. Patented chemical auto windshield wiper—one rub over glass gives clear vision in rain, snow or fog—stays clear 24 hours. Can't blur. One man sold two thousand already. Write quick for details and exclusive territory. Auto Accessories Co., 500 Echo Drive, Ottawa, Ont. 1t

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G, Toronto. s11-a30

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 78 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393. We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

IN A HURRY?

Then let us repair your shoes while you wait. John Henley, foot bridge gangway. 6td

NOTICE

The Intelligencer will be issued at noon on Saturdays all the year. The business office will close at 5 p. m. on Saturdays.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

Peaches

The time for preserving good Crawford peaches has arrived. We are getting a fresh car every morning of the best quality Leno baskets. From now on is the best time for preserving. S. Domenico, phone 520, 50 Bridge St. Opposite P. O. s14-dtf

WINTER IS RIGHT AT HAND. WHY BE COLD,

—when a DeMarsh heat generator will increase your hot water heating 30 per cent. It will make your radiators hotter than they ever were and pay for itself in the fuel you save. Every one guaranteed or your money back. Try one now. J. H. DeMarsh, 140 Front Street. Phone 351. 314-5td

STILL COMFORTABLE

Your shoes will still be comfortable after repairing if you insist on having them repaired at John Henley's, West of The Ritchie co. 6td

New As The Newest

in looks and serviceability, yet comfortable as old slippers. That's what our shoe repairing does. It gives new life to them without disturbing their old shoe comfort. Don't throw away any shoes, no matter how old or worn. Bring them here and see if we cannot make them wearable again at a fraction of the cost of new ones. Belleville Shoe Hospital, opposite Crystal Hotel. s15 6td

BARTLETT PEARS

Fresh carload of Bartlett pears, large Leno baskets about 14 quarts. Will sell while they last at $1.10. Come early and have your choice, these will be the last we have coming. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge St., Opp. P. O. Phone 520. s16-dtf

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

BETHEL HALL—SUNDAY, 7 P.M. —MR. THOS. RICH. SUBJECT: "THE WORLD THAT WAS; THE WORLD THAT IS; THE WORLD TO COME."

THE JOHNSTONE SCHOOL OF DANCING
Select Social Dances
To-night and Monday

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnston, professional teachers of dancing give private lessons at hours to suit pupils. Phone 750.

LOST

WILL THE PERSON WHO TOOK A mechanical drawing of a wood lathe in mistake for a blind from 243 Albert St. at sale on Thursday, kindly return it to 307 Foster Avenue, and oblige G. W. Hartley a17-2td

THE LATEST WORD FROM NO MAN'S LAND.

WHY NOT PRESERVE IT—A SACRED MEMENTO? Have your "Great War Letters" typed and put in book form. It is the last and greatest tribute you can pay to those who took part in the cementing of our National Freedom, especially to those who "Flung the Torch" Over There. Miss I. P. Davis, Belleville's First and Only Public Stenographer, will type and put them in a neat folder for you. All classes of Correspondence "STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL." She will: Compose letters, type correspondence, take dictation, address envelopes, postals, fill in agreement, order and will forms, type accounts, invitations, announcements, Addresses, Sermons, etc. Filling in Business and income tax papers, Circulars, Duplicating a specialty. Save money, send your work to her office, Hotel Quinte. Satisfactory Service. Prices right. Phone No. 103. a11,4,7-8

BEAUTY IS BREEDER OF ALL GOOD THINGS

Paris, Sept. 17.—Ugliness is the breeder of all evil, writes Maurice Maeterlinck.

Who can measure the relationship between a beautiful landscape and our thoughts and actions? The connections between an act of heroism or duty faithfully done and things of beauty seen long before may be much more direct than our memory would have us believe.

The best within us, all that is pure, all that is clear and limpid in our mental makeup springs, at bottom from the sight of something beautiful. If our life is to be rich and noble we must have a generous background of admirable visions. If we had never seen anything beautiful we would have only tawdry and cheap pictures with which to clothe our ideas and emotions thus making them perish from cold and misery.

The great road which goes from the low plains of existence to the summits of human consciousness would, without beauty, be so dreary, so naked and deserted that our thoughts would soon be unable to follow it; and where thoughts no longer come, the weeds and horrors of barbarism soon crop up.

As our thoughts and actions gather force and form in all that we have seen, let us not lose a particle of beauty, but enjoy to the full the peace of a Summer's morning and the glory of a Winter sunset.

NO TRACE YET FOUND OF ALLEGED SLAYER

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 17.—Although the country has been scoured and a police dragnet placed over the city, river and northern Michigan, no trace has yet been found of Dougal Moore, who it is alleged, on Monday night killed George Elliott, prominent farmer and brick manufacturer of East Korah. A Sault jitney driver is believed to have encountered Moore three hours after the fatal shot was fired on the Gros Cap road. A man, thought to be the slayer, jumped on the running board of his auto, but the driver put on speed and the man was hurled into the roadway, later firing five shots after the machine. No trace has yet been found of Pearl Mouer or Maggie Bock, the young girls who, it is alleged, are in Moore's company. James Mouer, father of one of the girls, is being held as an accessory to the escape of Moore.

WANTS CUSTODY OF HIS CHILDREN

Montreal, Sept. 17—Further fight by Murray Day Baldwin, formerly an active minister of the Anglican Church, and son of the late Bishop of Huron, to obtain possession of his two young sons, was made by his attorneys in the court of King's Bench. Baldwin's counsel represented that Mrs. Baldwin's suit for separation had been dismissed and custody of the children rested with the father. Mrs. Baldwin's lawyers maintained that the judgment had been appealed and custody therefore rested with the mother.

Judgment was reserved on the application.

JOHN M'CORMACK CANCELS ENGAGEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA

London, Sept. 18.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Melbourne says John MacCormack, the singer, has cancelled all his Australian engagements, and is leaving immediately for London, in order to escape the disagreeable situation which has arisen as the result of the demonstration by part of the audience at a recent concert rising and singing the British National Anthem and some of them shouting that Mr. MacCormack was a Sinn Feiner.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST "SHARKS"

The new Italian Premier Giolitti, has initiated a campaign against the many "sharks" as profiteers in food and clothing are called as a result of which they have been heavily fined or committed to prison whenever detected. Large fortunes have been accumulated by many of these extortioners by selling foodstuffs secretly at exorbitant prices.

Nevertheless, the cost of living still is mounting in Italy. Statistics issued by the municipality of Turin for the first six months of this year show that there has been an increase of at least 20 per cent. in the cost of food and of 25 per cent. for many articles of clothing.

In Rome, the result of abolishing the fixed price for vegetables and some other foodstuffs has been to send the price upward sharply.

MAN HELD FOR DEATH OF WOMAN GETS BAIL

Milton, Sept. 18.—W. H. Jones, a returned soldier of Toronto, who has been held here in jail pending the verdict of Coroner Page's jury on Mrs. Louisa Stefani, who was killed on the Toronto-Hamilton Highway when Jones' car collided with another car in which the dead woman was seated has been released on $2,000 bail, after being committed for trial by Police Magistrate Shields of Oakville charged with criminal negligence.

Glasses That are Best Suited You

First, the lenses must be right, or nothing else can be right. Having determined by careful examination and test exactly the lenses needed, Blackburn seeks the style of frames that will be most comfortable and convenient.

One style will suit the person who must wear glasses constantly. Another style may be better for the person who will use the glasses only for close work.

Blackburn's service slights no detail that will be advantageous for the individual who is being fitted.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

Special Candy Sale SATURDAY

ODDS AND ENDS.

Consisting of Marshmallows, Creams Chocolates, Maraschino Cherries, Cocoanut Balls, etc., etc.

These goods regularly range in price from 75c. to $1.25 a lb.

Saturday special, mixed:—
ONE pound .... 52c.
TWO pounds $1.00

CHAS. S. CLAPP

CHURCH DIRECTORY

CHRIST CHURCH (Anglican)
Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, Rector.
Residence: 80 Commercial St.

10 a.m.—Morning prayer.
11 a.m.—Ordination Services.
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Confirmation services. The Lord Bishop of Ontario will preach at both services.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH.
Rector, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, M.A.
Residence: The Rectory, 79 Bridge St.
Phone 401.

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer with sermon—
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
4 p.m.—Baptismal Service.
7 p.m.—Evensong with sermon
Prof. Wheatley, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., Organist and Choirmaster.

VICTORIA AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH.
Minister, Rev. Wm. Harris Wallace.
13 Queen St. Phone 401.
11 a.m.—Mr. Harrison on Bible School.
3 p.m.—Bible School. Classes for all.
7 p.m.—"I know Whom I Have Believed."
Special music by the choir.
Acting organist—Mrs. Rathman.
Prayer Meeting, Wed., 8 p.m.
Visitors heartily welcome.

TABERNACLE.
The Church on a Hill.

Pastor's morning theme—"Christ's Temptation." Mr. Harrison of Cobourg will speak in the evening on his recent world tour.
2.30 p.m.—S. S. and Brotherhood.
In the evening the choir will render an anthem, "Rejoice in the Lord," and Mrs. Grant a solo, "Forever With the Lord."
The Tabernacle desires your presence.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Rev. A. S. Kerr, M.A., Pastor.

11 a.m.—"The Spirit and the Truth."
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Address by Mrs. D. A. Walker, Toronto.
A cordial welcome to all.

JOHN ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Cor. Victoria Ave. and John Street.
11 a.m.—Special Women's Missionary Society service. Mrs. Walker, of Toronto, vice-president for Ontario, will give the address.
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Subject, "The Body We Sow."

THE SALVATION ARMY.
Adjt. I. Cavender, Commanding Officer.
11 a.m.—Holiness meeting.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
3.30 p.m.—Praise Meeting.
7 p.m.—Salvation Meeting.

BRIDGE STREET CHURCH SERVICES TOMORROW

Rev. Dr. Cleaver, Pastor; Rev. Geo. Brown, Assistant Pastor.
The Rev. Dr. Cleaver, D.D., will preach both morning and evening.
11 a.m.—Morning Service.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
V. P. Hunt, Director of Music.
Young People's Meeting, reopens Monday evening at 8 p.m. Social evening.

HOLLOWAY ST. METHODIST CHURCH
West Belleville.
Parsonage, 44 Hillside St. Phone 578.
Rev. A. H. Foster, Pastor.
Sunday, Sept. 19, 1920.
10 a.m.—Class Meeting.
11 a.m.—Subject, "How Isaiah Became a Prophet."
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Subject—"The Greatest Bargain."
Miss S. Walton violinist and soloist; Miss W. Pearce, organist.

EMMANUEL CHURCH.
Victoria Avenue — The City Low Church.
Rev'd George Marshall, Rector.
Phone 873.

11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Sermon—"Leaves or Fruit."
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and Sermon—"Following the Crowd."
3 p.m.—Sunday School.

RITCHIE'S

Saturday Specials

Special! Women's Black Cashmere Hose for Saturday only, 75c pair

Odd lot of ten dozen Ladies' Black Cashmere Hose, in sizes 8½ and 9 only.

Worth Reg. $1.25. On Sale 75c pair

Georgette Crepe $1.59

A clearing lot of Georgette in all the most fashionable shades of Navy, Brown, Pink, White, Maize, etc. Worth regular $3.00. On sale—

$1.59

Black Pailette Silk $2.00 yard

36-Inch Black Pailette Silk, medium weight—pure silk, without filling. Worth reg. 3.00. On sale—

$2.00 yd.

Nurse Cloth 85c yd.

38-Inch English Nurse Cloth, blue and white stripe, fast colors, suitable for House Dresses and Children's wear. Worth reg. $1.25; on sale—

85c yd.

Ladies' Tan Cape Gloves $3.75

Three-quarter length, with cuff and strap fastener, in tan only, size 6 to 7½. Worth reg. $5.75 —on sale—

$3.75 pr.

Bath Towels 65c

Dark Striped Bath Towels, extra good quality, medium weight, size 17x35. Special value—

65c each

Extra! Extra! Extra!

Women's Flannelette Night Gowns

Women's Flannelette Nightgowns. Another lot to sell at $1.49 each. Neatly and well made with tucked yoke and good quality flannelette. Regular $1.75.

Extra Special Saturday $1.49

Children's & Misses' Cloth Dresses

Children's and Misses' Cloth Dresses — serge, plaid and corduroy effects, for ages 8 to 14 years. Regular $4.50, $5.00, $6.00. Saturday special—

$3.75

Ladies Silk Skirts $3.75

Made of Silk Poplin and Taffeta. Only about one dozen in the lot. Regular $5.00 to $7.50; to clear at—

$3.75

Women's Rain Coats

Women's Raincoats in plain grey, fawn, and English Tweeds. Made with belt and pockets. Reg. $13.75 —Saturday special—

$10.75

Men's Ribbed Underwear

Made of Wool and Cotton mixture, Shirts and Drawers, sizes 36 to 42, a nice weight for the cool weather coming on. Saturday special—continues Saturday and next week as new goods are arriving daily, which, much to our regret were unable to be delivered in time for our first showing. Come in and see this new range, featuring all that is novel and approved for this season.

$1.38

THE FORMAL DISPLAY OF FALL MILLINERY

Ladies' Serge Skirts

Ladies' Serge Skirts in shades of Navy and Black. Made in a nice fine twill serge; regular $5.75—$6.50. Saturday special—

$4.75

Tweed Caps $1.49

Men's Tweed Caps in all sizes; good weight for present and Fall wear. Worth reg. $2.00. Saturday special—

$1.49

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Others Appreciate It. Do You?

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

The producers of Belleville and vicinity realize and are complimenting us on the fact that wheat has been raised 15c to 20c per bushel throughout Central Ontario as a direct result of our efforts to give the producers the highest prices for his products.

If we have no buyer in your vicinity send your wheat and other grains direct to us whether it be in car loads or less than car loads. We will pay spot cash and highest market prices.

We will be pleased to furnish you bags for shipping or drawing. Write or call for them.

Ask your dealer for Judge's Best Flour. If he can't supply, write us direct.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station St.; 50 Albion St. - - - - Belleville, Ont.

THE WEATHER
Fair followed by a few scattered showers.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 298.

Value of Belleville Boys In Dollars and Cents

BELLEVILLE BOYS WORTH MORE THAN BELLEVILLE BUILDINGS, BUT MUCH MONEY IS SPENT TO PROTECT THE BUILDINGS, WHILE LITTLE IS APPROPRIATED TO MAKE BETTER BOYS AND BETTER MEN—FORESTS PROTECTED, HOGS INSPECTED, BOYS NEGLECTED.

If a building burns down an asset is lost, but if a boy "goes to the bad" not only is an asset lost but the boy becomes a liability, said Mr. J. C. Atkinson who illustrated his appeal for conservation of boy life by comparing the large amount of money spent on protecting buildings to the small amount of money and energy expended on protecting the growing boy from evil influences. Insurance, fire protection, etc., covers loss from fire as regards buildings, but very little thought, energy and money is devoted to preventing the boy, the greatest asset the nation possesses from becoming a liability.

A Notable Gathering

The gathering at the Hotel Quinte Saturday evening under the auspices of the Belleville Rotary Club was a notable one in many respects and evidenced the growing interest being taken in the welfare of the boy. In addition to the many Rotarians present were the Lord Bishop of Ontario, E. J. Bidwell, D.D., D.C.L., Rural Dean Swayne, Rev. Dr. Baker, Principal of Albert College; Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Rev. A. S. Kerr.

E. Guss Porter K.C., M.P., President of the Belleville Rotary Club, occupied the chair in his customary capable manner.

The principal speakers of the evening were Mr. Taylor Statten, Y.M.C.A. National Boys' Work Secretary and Mr. J. C. Atkinson, of New York City, a Canadian, prominent in Boys' Work in the United States.

Rotarian Knight MacGregor was present and contributed materially to the pleasure of the occasion with a number of appropriate vocal solos, accompanied on the piano by Miss Wallace.

Brief addresses were also given by Bishop Bidwell and Rev. Dr. Baker.

A number of ladies were present as guests of the Rotary Club.

Stirring Rotary choruses punctuated the program, the singing being led by Rotarians Sandy Burrows and Billy Doyle. Burrows, senior, also favored the gathering with his favorite solo, Rule Brittania, the entire gathering joining heartily in the chorus.

Sergt.-at-Arms Oswald Scott collected the usual fines with pleasure and promptness, among the sentences imposed being one on Rotarian Billy Deacon who was obliged to stand upon his chair and sing a song. Genial Billy got away with this in fine style, adding to the general gaiety of the occasion.

An excellent luncheon was served by Rotarian Jim Jenkins in the Hotel Quinte best style, and the spread was very much enjoyed.

60 Meetings In 60 Days

Getting down to brass tacks after the season of jollity was over President Porter briefly outlined the reasons for the gathering and introduced Rotarian Taylor Statten, of Toronto Rotary, as the first speaker.

Rotarian Statten explained that this was one of sixty meetings to be addressed by himself and Mr. Atkinson in sixty days in behalf of Boys' Work in an effort to arouse greater interest in this important problem. International Rotary has adopted Boy Life as one of the chief objects of useful endeavor and consequently their tour would consist mainly in addressing Rotary Clubs all over the Dominion from coast to coast. In a forceful address Mr. Statten pointed out the needs of the boy in the formative period and the various influences which helped to shape his character and assist in the development of a useful citizen. These influences he grouped under the headings of the home, the school and the church, explaining in detail the various forces which entered into each. The danger period for the growing boy was in his play time and this should be surrounded with influences for good under competent supervision, the various boys work organizations should be co-ordinated and over-lapping eliminated in an effort to raise the standard of boys life and create a newer and greater Canada worthy, if possible, of the awful sacrifice, the price of war.

Worth of a Boy

Mr. C. J. Atkinson's address was pointed and eloquent and he painted such a vivid word picture of the value of the boy to the community that no one present could fail to be impressed with the duty imposed upon every individual of doing his utmost to provide helpful influences for the growing boy to ensure his development into useful citizenship. Belleville with a population of 14,000 had 1,400 boys from eight to eighteen years of age, the period when character was formed which would determine the boy's usefulness or otherwise as a member of the community and nation in after life. Based upon estimates made by experts the 1,400 boys of Belleville were worth in dollars and cents the sum of five million six hundred thousand dollars. The buildings of Belleville were of a value less than that of the boys, yet there were two fire halls fourteen firemen and much apparatus to protect the buildings from fire with an annual civic appropriation of from eighteen to twenty thousand dollars for maintenance, while insurance premiums of approximately another twenty thousand dollars were paid annually as a protection against fire loss on the buildings of the city. There was one building devoted to the conservation and protection of the boy and perhaps only one man to give his entire time to boys work.

It might well be said that forests were protected, hogs inspected, but boys neglected.

Three Classes

Boys could be divided into three classes, the Over-Privileged Boy with wealthy parents, pampered and protected and isolated, comprising four per cent of the boy population; the Privileged Boy who had the advantage of a good home and higher education, comprising thirty per cent. of the boy population; then there was the Underprivileged Boy of the large family and small house, handicapped perhaps by the prejudice of race, religion or color. These boys comprised sixty-six per cent. of the boy population and their playtime was spent on the streets because of community neglect to provide proper supervised places to play in. Juvenile court records were made up of the under privileged boys.

Belleville court records showed that too many boys were sent from here to reform schools—prevention is better than reform.

All of the agencies working for the betterment of boy character should be co-ordinated to prevent over-lapping and make the work effective in every way. Rotary, being non-sectarian, should direct this work and select a competent man as director, co-operating with all boys organizations and churches.

The outline of the new movement to conserve boys life and render more effective the various agencies working for boy welfare was given plainly and pointedly by Messrs. Atkinson and Statten and won the close attention and deep interest of all present. There is little doubt but that the visit of these leaders in Boys' Work will be productive of greater and more effective efforts to provide the boys of Belleville with helpful, character-forming influences, places to play where the evil influences of the street cannot penetrate and encourage manly sport and community spirit in every way.

The program closed with brief addresses on boy life by His Lordship Bishop Bidwell and Rev. Dr. Baker.

To The Intelligencer Readers

On and after Monday, September 20th, 1920, The Intelligencer will be sold at the following prices:

Street sales by newsboys, per copy	.02
Delivered by carrier in City, a week	.15

The price of The Intelligencer has been only slightly increased in the last two years, while in the last six years the cost of production has increased enormously.

The following table shows some of the increased costs since 1914, taking 100 as a unit.

	1914	1920	Increase
Wages	100	180	80%
Paper	100	300	200%
Other Supplies	100	200	100%

The new price to subscribers represents an advance of about one-third of the increased cost of publication. A proportion of the new rates will apply to all subscriptions due and not paid before the 20th September, 1920.

The only alternative to a higher subscription price would be to lower the standard of The Intelligencer, and the publishers believe they correctly interpret the wishes of their subscribers by maintaining the present standard of

BELLEVILLE'S FAMILY NEWSPAPER

All subscriptions paid before Sept. 20 are payable at the old rate

Hundred Thousand Dollar Fire in Barriefield Huts

EIGHT MILITARY HUTS DESTROYED—FIRE CHIEF INJURED—GASOLINE TANK EXPLODED—R. M. C. CADET INJURED FIGHTING THE FLAMES.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 19.—Eight out of the seventeen huts erected at Barriefield about two years ago were destroyed Saturday afternoon by fire which broke out in the married non-commissioned officers' quarters. The loss is said to be about $100,000, with some insurance on the men's effects. During the fire a gasoline tank exploded, but fortunately no one was hurt. Chief Armstrong was injured, however, and had to be removed to the hospital. One of the R. M. C. Cadets who did valiant work in fighting the flames was slightly hurt. As yet the cause of the fire is unknown. The huts have been the headquarters of the Canadian Machine Gun Brigade.

MILLIONS SCATTERED WITHOUT RETURN

British papers are printing almost daily examples of what they term the waste of public funds. A report just issued by the Committee of Public Accounts sheds fresh light on the subject. Nearly $8,500,000 was involved, it appears, in the government's plan to finance the Russian General Alexieff just before the Bolshevik revolution brought about his collapse. Part of the plan was to set up a Cossack State Bank in Siberia, and for that purpose $2,500,000 was loaned to a Russian financier. But the bank was never set up and the committee wants to know what became of the money.

The Ministry of Munitions paid $12,250,000 for a plant begun in 1917 and which, when the war ended, was only half finished. For this outlay, the committee points out, the country received no benefit whatever except through the "stimulus to the steel trade."

Waste of nearly $500,000 is charged by the committee to the Admiralty on a scheme for establishing schools to train boys in pneumatic riveting.

Cases are referred to by the committee where government officers holding responsible positions allotted contracts either to themselves or to firms in which they were interested. Such cases, the committee asserts, "are especially liable to become an occasion for scandals."

BANK BURGLARS FOILED.

Woodstock, Sept. 18.—Two men tried to break into the Merchants Bank at Beachville at three o'clock in the morning, but were heard by John Bremner, a clerk, who lives over the institution, and when he fired a couple of shots from an upper window the men fled, leaving behind an acetylene burner and quantities of acid with which they had intended blowing the safe open.

Bishop Bidwell on Church Union

As Result of the Decision at Lambeth Conference

KINGSTON, Sept. 20.—"The Anglican church is definitely committed to church union," said Bishop Bidwell, when interviewed after his arrival home from England where he attended the Lambeth conference. He was a member of the reunion committee and helped to draft the resolution which resulted in the encyclial on the subject that has been sent to churches throughout the world and has made such a profound impression.

When asked whether definite steps would be taken in Canada toward the achievement of union in accordance with the declaration of the conference he said that a meeting of the bishops of the Canadian church had already been called, to take place in Winnipeg beginning Sunday, October 10th. At this meeting the matter will be dealt with specifically with the object of opening the way for the realization of the ideals so earnestly expressed in the appeal of the Archbishop of Canterbury. But much liberty of action is left in the hands of the bishops themselves and Bishop Bidwell purposes issuing a letter to the clergy of the Diocese of Ontario on the subject at once.

Bishop Bidwell took a very active part in the deliberations of the conference, being a member of several very important committees and his time was fully occupied during the session.

When questioned regarding affairs, social and otherwise, in the Old Land Bishop Bidwell said that the high tension observable following the armistice had entirely disappeared, but he reserved a fuller account of his general observations and impressions for the meeting of the Canadian Club on Friday, when he will be the principal speaker.

The bishop is looking exceedingly well after his trip, which was free from any untoward incident until the S. S. Metagama, upon which he made the return passage, grounded twenty miles below Montreal.

Kidnapped Child Found in Shack

Kidnapper, Man of 35, Arrested—Little Girl of Six Victim

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—Six-year-old Irene McKinnon, who had been missing from her home, 398A Queen street east, since last Thursday morning, was found about 8 o'clock Sunday morning in the bush on the Humber River bank, about two miles northwest of Weston. In an improvised shack built of fence rails a posse of twenty detectives and plainclothesmen found Albert Peters, aged about 35, who disappeared with the child. Peters offered no resistance to arrest on a charge of kidnapping.

Medical examination of the little girl disclosed that she had suffered no other injuries than those resulting from exposure to the chill night air while but lightly clad, hunger and practically total exhaustion from crying. She was taken to the Children's Shelter and given proper food and rest.

CHLOROFORM INMATES, THEN RANSACK HOUSE

Sandwich, Sept. 18.—Entering four homes here thieves stole more than $400 in cash. All the houses entered are in the neighborhood of Peter and Mill streets. At the home of Charles Duchene, 627 Peter street, thieves ransacked the house after chloroforming the inmates. Detroit men are suspected.

Major Barnett Appointed Chairman

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—Major John Barnett, of Calgary, has been appointed Chairman of the Soldiers Settlement Board in succession to W. J. Black. Major Barnett was born in Carleton County, New Brunswick, on a farm and attended Dalhousie College, Halifax. In 1906 he commenced the practice of law in Innisfail, Alberta, succeeding to the practice of Judge Carpenter.

Sensational Rumor of Mine Seizure

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Extraordinary rumors are in circulation throughout Lanarkshire to the effect that leaders of the Scottish Communist Movement have planned sensational coup to be sprung at Blantyre, just southeast of Glasgow, says a despatch to the Westminster Gazette. It is asserted that the chief and officials have been bluntly told that seizure of the coal pits is imminent and that it is proposed to establish a system of minimum controls. The despatch adds that authorities are not skeptical of the rumors for they are not unmindful of the undercurrent at work.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Suspend Hostilities.

Paris, Sept. 20.—Poland and Lithuania have agreed to suspend all hostilities pending an inquiry and the decision of the issues at stake by the council of the League of Nations, it was announced here this morning.

Reds Running.

Warsaw, Sept. 20.—Russian Bolshevik forces have been driven out of eastern Galicia by a general Polish advance along the south front.

Millerand a Candidate

Paris, Sept. 20.—Premier Alexander Millerand today agreed to be a candidate for the Presidency of the Republic to succeed President Deschanel who has tendered his resignation.

Poles Advancing

Warsaw, Sept. 20.—An advance was begun four days ago and the Poles are fighting their way eastward and have reached the line of the lower Zbruch, capturing Trembovla, Tarmopol and Brody. Further north they have taken the fortress of Dubnoi after heavy fighting and are advancing in the direction of Rovno fortress, the capture of which is expected shortly.

Agitating Coal Strike

Calgary, Sept. 20.—Efforts to bring about a strike in Alberta mines in October to force the abolition of U. M. W. check-off and opening negotiations for a new agreement of wages and working conditions is being made by the one big union here. Circulars have been mailed to the miners locals here whether O.B.U. or U.M.W. it discloses that the O.B.U. hopes to take advantage of the shortage of coal at the threshold of winter to force their demands. They call upon the miners to demand that employers abolish check-off of U.M.W. and negotiate for a new agreement, refusal to do so being the signal for a strike.

Colchester Election.

Truro, Sept. 20.—With ideal weather conditions Colchester electors are turning out in large numbers. Reports coming in from the county state that a very heavy vote is being polled and in some booths in this city four times as many votes have been polled up to noon as during the same period in any provincial election. The consensus of opinion is that the Minister will poll a heavy vote in this city, while his opponent will receive strong support in the country districts.

Warning a Hoax.

New York, Sept. 20.—A postcard warning that an attempt would be made tomorrow to blow up the customs house was received in the mail today by the collector of customs for this district. The postcard, signed by a citizen, stated that the customs house would be blown up at 2 p.m. A preliminary investigation has shown no evidence of a plot and officials are inclined to regard the warning as a hoax. Edwin P. Fischer, ex-tennis player, arrived here from Hamilton this morning and declared on his arrival that more will happen in future.

Prince Edward Farmer Killed in Runaway Accident

FOOT CAUGHT IN WHIFFLETREE — DRAGGED ALONG THE GROUND—RUSHED TO THE HOSPITAL AT PICTON, BUT DEATH RESULTED—LEAVES WIFE AND FAMILY.

PICTON, Sept. 19.—Hebert Rodney, a farmer, of Sophiasburg, was fatally injured by his team running away. He had just finished unloading a load of corn at The Old Homestead Canning Factory, and stepped on the tongue of the wagon to reach for the lines, which frightened a colt of his team. They started to run, Rodney's foot catching in the whiffletrees and dragging him under the wagon, his head pounding along the ground, terribly lacerating and bruising him. One eye was knocked out and one ear torn off. He was rushed to the hospital, but lived only a short time. He was 35 years of age, and leaves a wife and family.

Two Boys Drown Father Dies

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—Two Mimico lads, Percy Edward Launchberry, age 18, Symens street and James Leigh, age 20, Burlington road, of Toronto were victims in a double drowning tragedy in Lake Vernon, two miles from Huntsville, Saturday morning. Within a few hours of the arrival of the news at the Leigh home in Mimico the death occurred of James Leigh, sr. father of the Leigh boys.

Allied Troops Capture Ada-Basar

Basar, 23 miles east of Ismid, has been captured by Greco-British troops after sharp skirmishing. Major General Croker has arrived at Ismid, making the fourth British General engaged in operations agains the Turks. It is reported that Lieut.-Gen. Milne and Major-Gen. Ironsides have been relieved because they have not been in favor of aggressive warfare.

Sunshine Fund

That the citizens of Belleville are generous and warm-hearted is evidenced by the response to the appeal in The Intelligencer for contributions to aid a family in urgent need, owing to sickness and death. The generosity of the citizens is deeply appreciated by the family in question. Additional subscriptions since the last report are as follows:

W. J. B.	$ 2.00
J. Patterson	2.00
Mrs. John Robinson	2.00
A Friend	2.00
Gilbert's Bakery Staff	18.50
Mrs. C. A. Bonisteel	1.00
Leslie Shoe Store	Boots
Mrs. J. R. Reid	1.00
Mrs. G. F. Adams	1.00
F. Marner	1.00
Geo. I. Thomas	3.00
Mrs. Col. Campbell	1.00

Seamen's Strike Comes to an End

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

SAULT STE. MARIE, Onc., Sept. 20—As a result of the acceptance by seamen of a ten dollar monthly increase offered them, vessels of the Northern Navigation Co., which have been tied up here for the past few days were all moving again today.

Development of Empire Resources

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—At the session of the Chambers of Commerce today, Lt.-Col. Ponton, of Belleville, introduced a resolution of development of the Empire's natural resources through greater production with the assistance of British capital, ingenuity and shipping, with a view to making the Empire self-dependent. He recommended subsidizing such a movement backed by publishing a periodical summary of British resources and activities. The resolution was well supported and passed the congress.

Time bomb explodes Italian Exchange. Heavy property damage but no casualties.

Foch and Castlenau still in running for French Presidency.

Mounties Capture Alleged Slayer

Two Girls Dressed As Boys Were Hiding in Woods With Hunted Man

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Sept. 19—After roaming in the woods for almost one week, Wm. D. Mower, alias Douglas Moore, alleged slayer of George Elliott, the East Korah farmer was arrested today six miles inland from Mile 60, on the Algoma Central Railway, while trying to purchase food for himself and his two alleged accomplices, Maggie Bock and Pearl Mouer, two girls only about fifteen.

Provincial Constable Clem Jordan and two members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police made the arrest having received a clue that Moore was in the vicinity of Mile 60. The officers made the trip on a gasoline speeder over the railway and effected the capture about 1.15 this afternoon, arriving back in the Sault at 6 o'clock this evening and landing their prisoners safely in the District Jail.

Wilts at Sight of Rifles

Moore completely wilted when he turned and saw the two rifles of the Mounted Police trained on him at a distance of about one hundred feet and when taken into custody by Provincial Constable Jordan willingly consented to take them to the place where the two girls were awaiting his arrival with the food he was to purchase for them.

Girls Still Dressed Like Boys

When arrested the two girls were still dressed as boys, and this accounts for the slain man mistaking them for boys when he caught one of them crossing in front of his barn last Monday night when the tragedy occurred. During the interval in which they have been at large they travelled to Mile 60 at night and slept in the bush through the day time. Consequently they were able to keep warm and did not need a tent or any cover for sleeping.

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press Limited

Thieves ransacked the home of Chas. Duchene, Sandwich, after chloroforming the inmates.

The Mexican Government has ordered 37 ships, mostly oil tankers, from the Prince Rupert Dry Docks Co.

Thieves stole from a contractor's storehouse at Brockville 120 sticks of dynamite, 90 detonators and 100 feet of fuse.

The Ontario Municipal Electric Association, meeting in Hamilton, adopted a resolution favoring the Government's taking over of telephones.

President Deschanel of France will resign office owing to illness.

The Council of the League of Nations will meet in Paris on September 18.

John K. Bell, Toronto, died while talking to his doctor.

Unscrupulous motorist left victim in dying condition on Hamilton Highway.

Charles Northcote, New Toronto was fatally hurt cleaning his rifle.

Aged man may die as result of being hit by a motor truck on Hamilton Highway.

Premier Meighen leaving for Quebec tour.

Trades Union Congress at Windsor is ended.

Hon. Robt. Beaven, former B.C. Premier, is dead, aged 84.

A new trade route between Canada and India is announced.

Margaret Hogarth, Ft. William nurse is drowned when auto overturns.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

McFEE'S EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IN THE PUBLIC EYE
by Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus. 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each
—Also
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
192 Front St. Phone 283

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

FAM-LY-ADE
Made at Home!
A DELICIOUS, tang-filled thirst-quencher. Comes in a tube of concentrated fruit flavor. Always ready to serve. Simple directions on every package. Begin to-day to make this delicious beverage. 35c. a tube at grocery and drug stores. Made in Canada by Power-Koechle, Limited, Toronto.

City & Country

FARMER KILLED.

Struck by C. P. R. train No. 556 (the Pembroke local), at the level crossing just west of the station at Sand Point, Friday morning, a farmer named Chrisling was instantly killed, his body being hurled to the fence by the locomotive. Chrisling is said to have failed to hear the approach of the train by reason of an adverse wind. An inquest was opened.

BIG BLAST.

A level piece of rock, 400 feet long and 200 feet wide, was lifted into the air by the explosion of a great quantity of dynamite at the C. P. R. quarry near Merrickville last week. Eighty-five holes were drilled, each thirty-five feet deep, and by means of a battery all of the charges were set off simultaneously. As a prelude there was a blowing of whistles and the sending of flagmen up and down the C. P. R. track. When the shot went off the earth trembled as from an earthquake. The rock is being crushed for ballast on the C. P. R. Montreal-Toronto line.

T. I. RAILWAY OFFICIALS.

J. E. Dalrymple, fourth vice-president of the G.T.R. and general traffic and passenger manager of the same system, spent one day recently in Gananoque on his private car "Canada," and was the guest of H. W. Cooper and other officials of the Thousand Islands Railway on a motor boat trip on the river. Officers of the Thousand Islands Railway were elected last week as follows: President, J. E. Dalrymple; manager, H. W. Cooper; secretary-treasurer, J. H. Valleau; general auditor, J. M. Roseveat.

RAN AWAY FROM HOME.

At an early hour Sunday morning the police answered a call to the east yard of the G. T. R., where they took in charge a boy, Richard Grindley, aged 12 years, who was endeavoring to catch a freight train. The youthful pilgrim is a resident of Toronto and ran away from home. He was placed in charge of Mr. Ruston, at the Children's Shelter, and his parents were notified of his detention here.

WHO OWNS THE HAT?

A lady's straw hat, trimmed to wear, was on Saturday picked up on Catherine street by Albert Adams, who gave it to the police for safe keeping.

CAR STOLEN AT KINGSTON.

Belleville police were notified Sunday evening by the police at Kingston that a McLaughlin car, 1917 model, had been stolen in that city. The body of the car is green and the marker number is 130,061.

AUTO MARKER FOUND.

Mr. Scantlebury, of this city, reported to the police that he has in his possession an auto marker No. 121,760, which he found on the street.

TRUCK AND BASKETS BURNED.

A large auto truck, which was owned at Hamilton, on Saturday left Port Hope laden with 4,000 baskets to be used for delivery of fruit. When near Hamilton the truck caught fire and with its cargo was destroyed. The vehicle and baskets were insured.

NO PLACE TO GO

With a small baby in her arms and no place to go for the night, a young woman, who arrived in Kingston on Thursday from Montreal, found herself in a very sad plight. She went to the police station and there she and her baby were cared for. Another woman who was acquainted with this unfortunate woman called to see her at the police station on Friday morning and it is understood that she will be given assistance. The sad part of it all is that the woman has parted from her husband.—Kingston Whig.

ENLARGED SCHOOL

Dufferin Avenue Public School at Trenton has undergone extensive enlargement and improvements during the past year. The formal ceremony of reopening on Friday took the form of a reception to the public from 3.15 to 5 p.m. There are eleven rooms. The school is situated on the slope of the mountain, and commands a beautiful prospect of the town and the Bay of Quinte. P. W. Fairman is entering upon his twenty-fourth year as Principal.

More constables have been slain and wounded in Ireland.

HUNTING FOR BONES.

Expedition Seeks Alberta Monsters of Old Days.

Another expedition to look for the bones of great prehistoric reptiles in the Red River valley, of Alberta, has begun work under the direction of Dr. W. A. Parks, of the University of Toronto and the Royal Ontario Museum.

For a number of years these expeditions have been an annual summer journey for three months. Two years ago the almost perfect specimen of the kritosaurus incurvimanus, which has just been finally chipped free from the rock and presented to the museum, was found, making a distinct addition to the records of science and giving to Toronto the only specimen of the species yet discovered.

Three incomplete skeletons of the kritosaurus and a great horned head of a brontosaurus, four feet six inches in length, were found by the professor, but have not yet been craved out from the rock. It is the hope of Prof. Parks to collect ultimately for the Royal Ontario Museum one of the finest exhibits of dinoraurs in existence.

The locality and the method of finding the specimens are described by Prof. Parks. "The river cuts right through the flat prairie to a depth of 400 feet, forming a whole lot of broken buttes, and it is among these that the bones are discovered. One of the difficulties in obtaining complete specimens is that the bones cannot be obtained until they are partly exposed by the action of natural deroding sauses. Sometimes you are disappointed then, for after exploring you may find only a single bone. You dig down as close as you can and pack the rock in plaster paris for shipment."

The Red River valley 3,000,000 years ago was near the coast of a great inland sea that stretched from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Ocean. "The sand along the shallow, brackish shores of this great body of water formed a splendid preservative for those huge reptiles which inhabited the world at that time. Our kritosaurus was found in what we call the Belly river formation of the Upper Cretacean system," explains Prof. Parks.

How It Was Done.

Private Sparks, on guard, probably wasn't looking when the general passed nearby; anyway, he failed to salute! Something terrible was due to happen to Private Sparks. "Colonel," the general said, "the man on No. 7 failed to salute me. See that he is severely reprimanded!" "Yes, sir!" replied the colonel, and then he chanced upon the captain and said: "The man on No. 7 failed to salute the general this morning. See that he is severely reprimanded." "Lieutenant," the captain said, some time later, "Private Sparks failed to salute the general to-day. See that he is severely reprimanded!" "Yes, sir!" responded the lieutenant, and when he encountered the first sergeant that evening told him: "Private Sparks failed to salute the general this morning. You will severely reprimand him;" "Yes, sir!" responded the sergeant, and when he came across Private Sparks he said: "Look here, you pie-faced mutt, you let Old Ironback go by without throwing him a kiss, and it near broke his little heart. Let me catch you doing anything like that again and I'll make you wash back of your ears and take away your chewing gum!"

Of Course, He Was a Major.

He was as unpopular with the other officers of the regiment as he was with the men. Some of the former and many of the latter remarked that he was the original "hard-boiled egg." Consequently, when after a particularly hard bit of shelling—this was during the war over in France, you know — he staggered back of the lines almost into the arms of one of the lieutenants, the latter found a cruel delight in his condition. "I—I—I'm sh-shell sh-sh-shocked," he stuttered tremblingly, but he seemed to be sound in wind and limb. "T-take me to the hospital." "Oh-oh, ah-ah-are you?" mimicked the other. "W-wait a moment while I go up to the front line and get shocked myself. Then I'll go up with you."

Right of Ownership.

"Biddy," remarked the newly-married Irishman, "go down and feed the pigs."

"Faith and I will not," replied the bride.

"Don't be after contradicting me, Biddy," said the husband. "Haven't I just endowed you with all my worldly goods, and if you cannot feed your own property, then it's ashamed of you I am."

This was a new point of view, so off Biddy went. Presently she returned. "Have you fed the pigs, Biddy?" demanded her husband.

"Faith, and I have not," she answered, "I have done a great deal better. As they were my property, I've sold them, and shall not be bothered with them again."

New Bank Branches.

During the first half of the year, the chartered banks of Canada opened 296 new branches and closed 34, making a net increase in the six months of 262.

Only three of the branches opened in June were situated outside of Canada, these being the branches established by the Bank of Nova Scotia at Brown's Town, Jamaica, at Clarke's Beach, Newfoundland, and at Linhead, Jamaica.

A Poser.

Just after Peary returned from the North Pole, a lesson on the subject was being given in a public school. A tiny voice was heard from the kindergarten side. "If you please, did people always know where the North Pole was?"

"Yes, my boy," was the teacher's reply.

"Then how could any one discover it?" asked the pupil.

New oYrk funds closed at 11 1-6.

Canadian stocks were firm and ome important advances were made, principally in papers.

Factions in the Republican party in Illinois are hurting its chances in the elections.

New Cars for Old
For appearance and long-wearing qualities you'll find it best to use
RAMSAY'S
Automobile Enamels
"Save the surface and you save all"—Ramsay's
J. W. WALKER - - - HARDWARE.

Ordination Service At Christ Church

Two Clergymen Ordained by The Bishop of Ontario.

At Christ Church on Sunday morning ordination services were conducted by Rt. Rev. Dr. E. J. Bidwell, of Kingston, Bishop of Ontario. Rev. A. Redding, of Maynooth, and Rev. A. Stout, of Kitley, were ordained to the Priesthood. The impressive service was largely attended, a large number of clergymen being present.

The two candidates were presented to His Lordship by Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, Rector of the church, who assisted in the service. At the conclusion of the singing of the first hymn Bishop Bidwell delivered an appropriate discourse, basing his remarks on a portion of the 13th and 14th verses of the fifth chapter of Matthew: "Ye are the salt of the earth"; "Ye are the light of the world."

In his opening remarks the Bishop said the words of the text were remarkable words, and were more remarkable when we remember who spoke them. Christ was addressing a small body of men who were chosen as His disciples. They had made a great sacrifice. They had given up everything to follow Christ. Salt is a great element against corruption and decay, and so is light. Darkness was identified with evil, light with good. The words of the text may justly be applied to the Christian ministry. The Christian ministry has to keep before men the idea of God. It is for them to show men what the service of God means. This is what is expected of those who minister. It is a divine calling. There are disappointments and discouragements to be encountered in the ministry, but there are also joys untold. There is in men a longing to know more of God and they look to the ministers to help them. If the ministers fail, how can it be expected that God's will will be done. As the little band of disciples heard the call of Jesus and gave up everything to follow Him, so should the minister. How shall we do these things? Our sufficiency is with God. The church today considers the ordination service is a call from God to those who are to be ordained. The commission of a ministry is a holy calling for this divine work comes from God. Let us all remember that whatever we think of the minister, he is only human, but his office should receive the highest respect. Do all we can to uphold the minister and his work. Much depends for the success of the minister on the layity assisting him in prayer. Pray to God to strengthen the minister's hand. What a force prayer is! Always remember him in prayer.

In concluding his remarks His Lordship spoke words of admonition to those who were to be ordained, telling them never to lose sight of their high calling and endeavor to make their ministry a useful and blessed one.

The litany was then sung by the Rector and choir, after which the candidates were solemnly ordained. This was followed by the celebration of the Holy Communion, in which a large number participated.

Confirmation Service.

In the evening at 7 o'clock there was the Confirmation Service, when some seventeen candidates received the Apostolic Rite of laying on of hands. The service throughout was most impressively and reverently rendered by a full well trained choir under the leadership of Miss Eva Lavoie, and Mrs. (Col.) Campbell, organist. During the offertory Prof. Staples sang with perfect expression "If Ye Truly Seek Him," from the oratorio of "Elijah," by Mendelssohn.

The exhortation of the service was read by the Rector and the scripture lessons by the Rev. Mr. Davies and Rev. A. L. Geen.

The Bishop, in his characteristic clear and earnest style preached a powerful sermon from Heb. 5:12 and 6:1, emphasizing the necessity of striving towards the perfect life.

The Rector is to be congratulated on the success of his efforts, as represented by these two impressive and well ordered services.

LADY WINS SCHOLARSHIP.

The I.O.D.E. War Memorial scholarship for Saskatchewan has been awarded to Miss May Gartside of Moosejaw. Miss Gartside is a daughter of Lieut. J. A. Gartside, who died of wounds in France. He was a member of the 78th Battalion (Winnipeg Grenadiers). Miss Gartside will attend the University of Saskatchewan. Her scholastic course so far has been a brilliant one.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

TUNEFUL MUSICAL COMEDY

"Katzenjammer Kids," the latest cartoon musical comedy to be produced under the direction of George M. Gatts, comes to the Griffin Opera House for one night only this Wednesday evening September 22 transposing the pictures to the stage John P. Mulgrew, who wrote the book and lyrics, preserved all the funny characters whose antics have delighted thousands, young and old, and they are just as funny behind the footlights as in the colored supplements, with the added advantage of appearing in the flesh. Donald H. Bestor has provided a musical score that is said to contain many tuneful song hits, and the new musical play is said to be a delightful entertainment from start to finish. The producers have been lavish to the point of extravagance in making their production of "Katzenjammer Kids," tho the three acts being marvels of beauty and picturesqueness. And in the matter of the company they have spared no expense the players being well known to the musical comedy stage. But it is in the chorus they point with particular pride, the girls being the prettiest galaxy to decorate a musical play in several seasons.

"THE TERROR SHOWS TOM MIX AT HIS BEST

Tom Mix, known throughout the motion picture world as the 'daredevil of the screen' by virtue of his remarkable skill in hazardous stunts has added to his great popularity by his fine work in "The Terror," his latest William Fox production, which is being shown at Griffin's to-night and Tuesday night.

Despite his past achievements as an impersonator of Western characters in the portrayal of which he has caused audiences throughout the land to gasp at his death defying stunts on the screen it can safely be said that in his latest "thriller" he eclipses anything he has previously done.

The story is one of the most interesting in which Mix has been seen. Mix appears as Bat Carson, a deputy United States Marshal who is commissioned to investigate leakages in shipments of gold from the Sonora mines. In executing this commission Carson is called upon to display all the skill and daring at his command. He succeeds in locating the gold thieves after several terrific pistol battles and then a romantic touch comes in his winning the beautiful sister of one of the bandit's tools—a young man who has been exonerated of all complicity in the crimes.

The supporting cast headed by Francelia Billington, is an exceptionally fine one, including Lester Cuneo, Charles K. French, Lucille Younge, Joseph Bennett and Wilbur Higby.

A beautiful Burton Holmes Travelogue, Larry Semon in a two reel scream, "The Fly Cop," and Jack Dempsey in 'Daredevil Jack' will also be shown on the same program.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

IMPERSONATES OFFICER OF THE LICENSE DEPT.

Brantford, Sept. 17.—The stories of men impersonating officers to make liquor raids on private houses have spread wide, and George Hill, an Indian, has been arrested here charged with the offense. It is alleged that on Sunday last Hill, with two others, called at the home of William Vandusen, Scotland, and stated that they were inspectors of the License Department. They asked to be shown what liquor was in stock and then, it is charged, they loaded up $875 worth of liquor and got away with it. County Constable Fred Kerr was called in, and Hill's arrest followed. Hill was arraigned, but was allowed a week's remand, as there are two men in connection with the case still wanted. The liquor has not been recovered.

SINCLAIR'S

Distinctive Wraps That Welcome Chilly Days

They are interesting to see, but you will long for the moment when you can wrap yourself in one of these Coats. Being made of soft fabrics, they drape remarkably well. Large collars are the rule, and in very many instances they are of fur. The designs have not only originated new style line, but have evolved many new ways of using embroidery to lend smartness and distinction to the most important garment which a woman is to wear this Fall.

Accessories of Dress for Autumn

It may be depended upon that no small detail is overlooked by the well groomed woman. Our collection of smart neckwear—tailored and elaborate—is typical of the completeness and up-to-dateness of other dress accessories, as, for instance, new umbrellas, handkerchiefs, hosiery, veiling, ribbons, feather fans and an extensive range of gloves.

Smart Separate Skirts

—belong in every wardrobe. In this day every woman simply must have several separate Skirts for wear with sweaters, sport coats and blouses of all sorts. There are handsome plaid, checked, or plain models, pleated in a surprising variety of ways. You will find them just the thing for Autumn. An Autumn wardrobe is incomplete without its smart Skirts. Prices range from $9.50 to $37.50.

Fabrics for Fall Sewing

This showing predicts a lively sewing season, for here are materials that have anticipated everything which women want to make. Beautiful Satins, Taffetas and Crepe de Chines suggest one silk frock, blouse or skirt after another. Woollens of rich colorings and durable textures are here for that modish suit frock or wrap. You will find fabrics here to help plan your home sewing program.

Bed Spreads

These White Bed Spreads will help the careful housekeeper to preserve the neat appearance of all her beds. They are shown in good full sizes, in either crochet, marsale or dimity weaves, at prices from $4.50 to $13.50.

NOTIONS

It's a good plan to buy Notions when you buy fabrics. Then everything will be ready when you want to start sewing. So you won't overlook anything here's a list: Buttons, hooks and eyes, domes, tape measure, thread, needles, pins, braid, tape and darning cotton.

TOWELS

Do you need new Towels for the kitchen? Here are roller towels or glass towels ready for use, and a wide choice of linen towellings by the yard. Prices for Pure Linen start at 35c. yard.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food forwhich little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN
TONIGHT AND TUESDAY.
TOM MIX
In his latest Western thriller—"THE TERROR"
"A Drama of Daredeviltry and Romance"
Jack Dempsey — Larry Semon Comedy — Burton Holmes Scenic
COMING THURSDAY—CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG in "EYES OF YOUTH"—We guarantee this picture to you.

GRIFFIN OPERA HOUSE
One Night, Wed., Sept. 22nd
THIS ATTRACTION PLAYS TORONTO NEXT WEEK
BEAUTIFUL GIRLS — MAGNIFICENTLY GOWNED

the GREAT SENSATIONAL SUCCESS of the SEASON
the FAMOUS CARTOON MUSICAL COMEDY
SNAP, PEP, VIGOR, VIM AND BEAUTY SERVED IN THE WORLD'S GREATEST FUN SHOW the ORIGINAL KATZENJAMMER KIDS
A BIG HIT
WITH A NOTABLE CAST OF PLAYERS AND A CHORUS of 25 UNDER 20
A HAPPY-SNAPPY-UP-TO-THE-MINUTE MUSICAL SHOW
CATCHY MUSIC BEAUTIFUL GIRLS GORGEOUS GOWNS AND EVERYTHING THAT MAKES IT THE SEASON'S BIG SUCCESS

WHAT THE HALIFAX HERALD SAID OF THIS ATTRACTION
"The Katzenjammer Kids" is commendable in the eradication of much that merely succeeds in making a noise without adding to the enjoyment of the evening. As a cool and welcome breeze bringing laughter and merriment in its train it is worthy of patronage.
PRICES—$1.50, $1.00, 75c., 50c. SEATS TOMORROW.

BUILD IT NOW

Reconstruct the Old Home For Longer Usefulness

Reconstruction begins at home. If the old house isn't all you desire, and you can't build a new one, a little of the right kind of repairing and remodeling will readily restore it to present day standards.

Perhaps it's a new porch, a summer kitchen, a side entrance, a new roof, extra rooms in the attic or a renewing of old, cracked walls and ceilings that is needed.

The right kind of lumber used in the right way will make the change and we have all the material you will require including that knotless and crackless manufactured lumber Beaver Board, for better walls and ceilings.

Suppose you ask us about it?

The Belleville Sash & Door Co., Limited
41 Station Street

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.
UNDERTAKERS
14 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.				READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37	STATIONS.	Train [illegible]	Train 22	Train 38
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	———	Lv. Montreal Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*3.00 a.m.	———
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv. Ottawa Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv. Belleville Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr. Toronto Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr. Detroit Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.20 p.m.
7.55 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	3.00 p.m.	Arr. Chicago Lv.	5.40 p.m.	———	———

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday. S. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent

Sports

G.T.R. TEAM DEFEAT KINGSTON PONIES

At the Agricultural Park here on Saturday afternoon, the G.T.R. baseball team of this city again demonstrated that they are able to play ball. A week ago, the Ponies of Kingston beat them at Kingston, but the tables were turned here. It was a good game and was witnessed by a fair gathering of fans. The result was a win for the G.T.R. team by a score of 5 to 3. Freddie Goyer pitched well for the winning team and was ably supported by the other players. Cherry and Saunders did the twirling for the visitors. Mr. Ed. Thomas was umpire on strikes and balls and Mr. Claude Tice on bases. Both did well in their respective positions. The details of the game are as follows:

1st Innings

Ponies—Nicholson flew to Weir. Twigg flew to Kelleher. Daley out at 1st. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Weir flew to Stewart. Frank Goyer out at 1st. Parker flew to Cherry. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

2nd Innings

Ponies—Saunders out at 1st. Stewart out at 1st. Coyne made a hit to left field reaching 1st. Walsh made a hit and Coyne scored on an overthrow to 3rd. McNeil struck out. One run, 2 hits, 1 error.

G.T.R.—W. Mills made a hit to centre field. Cap Smith hit by pitched ball. Kelleher made two base hit scoring Mills. Symons flew to Twigg Smith scoring. Hagerman struck out. Kelleher scored on a wild pitched ball Fred Goyer walked. Weir out at 1st. Three runs, 3 hits, 1 error.

3rd Innings

Ponies—Cherry flew to Symons. Nicholson hit to centre field. Twigg reached 1st on bunt. Daley bunted the ball reaching 1st. Nicholson out at 3rd. Saunders flew to Kelleher. No runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Frank Goyer out at 1st. Parker out at 1st. Mills flew to Nicholson. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

4th Innings

Ponies—Stewart out at 1st. Coyne flew to Hagerman. Walsh flew to Parker. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Smith flew to Saunders. Kelleher flew to Daley. Symons out at 1st. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

5th Innings

Ponies—McNeil out at 1st. Cherry made a two bagger to left field. Nicholson flew to Weir. Twigg reached 1st on infield hit. Cherry out trying to reach home. No runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Hagerman out at 1st. Fred Goyer flew to Twigg. Weir flew to Twigg. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

6th Innings

Ponies—Daley struck out. Saunders out at 1st. Stewart flew to Parker. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Frank Goyer out at 1st. Parker out at 1st. Mills made a hit to right field. Smith walked. Kelleher walked. Symons made a hit scoring Mills and Smith. Hagerman flew to Walsh. Two runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

7th Innings

Ponies—Coyne flew to Fred Goyer. Walsh flew to Parker. McNeil reached 1st on infield hit. Cherry reached 1st on hit. Nicholson made a hit scoring McNeil and Cherry. Twigg struck out. Two runs, 2 hits, 2 errors.

G.T.R.—Fred Goyer flew to McNeil. Weir flew to Coyne. Frank Goyer flew to Daley. No runs, 0 hits, no errors.

8th Innings

Ponies—Daley hit by pitched ball and reached 3rd on a throw. Out at home. Stewart flew to Parker. Saunders struck out. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Parker out at 1st. Mills walked. Smith struck out. Kelleher struck out. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

9th Innings

Ponies—Stewart reached 1st on hit to right field. Coyne flew to Weir and Stewart out at 2nd. Walsh flew to Fred Goyer. No runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

The line up of the teams was as follows:

G.T.R.—Weir, s.s.; Frank Goyer, 1st b.; Cap Smith, 2nd b.; Parker, c.f.; W. Mills, c.; Kelleher, 3rd b.; Symons l.f.; Hagerman, r.f.; Fred Goyer, p.

Ponies—Nicholson, c.f.; Twigg, 2nd b.; Daley, 1st b.; Saunders s.s.; Stewart, l.f.; Coyne, 3rd b.; Walsh c.; McNeil, r.f.; Cherry, p.

Score by innings:
G. T. R.—0 3 0 0 0 2 0 0 X—5.
Ponies—0 1 0 0 0 0 2 0 0—3.

BRITISH LABOR AND BOLSHEVISM

Bolshevism is eating its way into the co-operative movement in Great Britain and labor has become the enemy of real co-operation, declares R. G. Naish, formerly a member of the Central Board of the Co-operative Union of Britain. Mr. Naish made his accusation in explaining his withdrawal from the labor movement. He added that the whole co-operative movement is in danger.

Mr. Naish said that some months ago the English Co-operative Wholesale Society sent a cargo of goods to Russia, but it had not yet been paid for.

ABOUT DIVINING RODS

ODD BELIEF WAS ONCE POPULAR IN CANADA.

Hazel Twig Is Not Used Any More to Find Water Springs, But French Academy of Sciences Will Endeavor to Find What Scientific Basis the Superstition May Have Possessed.

Do the wiser youngsters of to-day ever hold in their hands the forked Y-shaped hazel stick, one fork in each hand, the straight part up? Do they suddenly feel or think they feel a nervous motion in it till the perpendicular bar, turning downward, points to the water underneath? There used to be, and probably are now, in Canada, as in Great Britain, persons commonly called "dowsers," supposed to have a special gift for finding water sources by means of this forked twig. Learned professors have said that the successes of these dowsers have been too great and to common, in cases where underground water is mighty hard to find, to be accounted for by luck or local observation. Anybody who has seen or made this seeming magical operation must remember how the twig seems "bewitched," how it moves itself out of equilibrium with apparently powerful and surprisingly instant motion.

The old doctrine of sympathy between the water and the rod has been given up, we believe. "Motor-automatism," the reflex of subconscious suggestion, or a real impression hard to explain from somebody else or some other object on the dowser's mind, is another common explanation. Or, if you like, you may say that the dowser is a "sensitive"—"exceptionally sensitive to hygrometric influences." We cull that expression from the encyclopedia; likewise the theory that a dowser discovers water by means of "mechanical vibration, set up by the friction of moving water acting upon the sensitive ventral diaphragm of certain exceptionally delicately framed persons"—which is as clear as mud to the unfortunate layman. Now the French Academy of Sciences has appointed a commission "to determine whether the 'rod' is a scientific instrument or a relic of superstition." Since the "superstition" of one age is sometimes the science of another, and science itself is venerated superstitiously by some, we leave the matter with the Academy and take a look or two at the dowsers.

It is a curious fact that Lady Milbanke, Byron's mother-in-law, was an excellent well-finder. In Africa and in many other parts of the world the divining twig is used, or has been used, not only to find or search for water and precious minerals, but as an oracle of advice and a detective of criminals. In 1692 a Dauphine peasant discovered by means of the rod the murderers of a Lyons vintner and his wife. Andrew Lang summarizes the story from Mr. Chevreul's book on "The Divining Rod":

The rod did not move till Aymer reached the very spot where the crime had been committed. His pulse then rose and the wand twisted rapidly. Guided by the wand, Aymer now pursued the track of the assassins, entered the court of the archbishop's palace, left the town by the bridge over the Rhone, and followed the right bank of the river. He reached the gardener's house, which he declared the men had entered, and some children confessed that three men (whom they described) had come into the house one Sunday morning. Aymer followed the track up the river, pointed out all the places where the men had landed, and stopped at last at the door of the prison of Beaucaire. He was admitted, looked at the prisoners and picked out the murderer, who had just been brought in for a small theft.

This man confessed that he had been an accomplice, and was broken on the wheel. Aymer chased the other assassins "to the coast, followed them by sea, landed where they had landed, and only desisted from his search when they crossed the country." Such a detective is the divining rod in the right hands; but, alas! Aymer was no better than detectives who follow the approved process of "ratiocination." Instead of retiring after his memorable achievement, or lucky hit, he made all sorts of blunders and lost his reputation for sagacity. He couldn't find the guilty. Again and again the veracious wand pointed at the innocent. In vain did Aymer plead that it was a peculiarity of his rod not to "indicate a murderer who had confessed, or who was drunk when he committed his crime." His gifted rod turned into a poor stick. If we have to abandon faith in the divining rod as a detective, we may at least console ourselves with the reflection that the magic rod is ancient and classical. Virgil's fame as a great magician, told with such charm and learning by Comparetti in "Virgil in the Middle Ages," is said to have originated in the confusion between his name and the word virgula, the wand of magical dark mysteries.

His Share.

Gerald had bought a house. It had been such a bargain that he could not risk waiting til his fiancee saw it. She was delighted to hear the news, and questioned him eagerly about it. "How many clothes cupboards are there, Gerald?" she asked.

"There are six," replied the man proudly.

"But that is scarcely enough, Gerald."

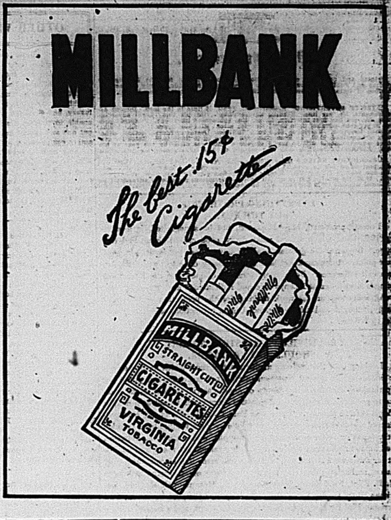
"What do you want with more than six cupboards? That's enough to hang your clothes in, is it not?"

"Yes, dear," replied the maiden firmly. "But you'll want part of one for your clothes, won't you, Gerald?"

Mrs. Bickle beat Miss Best in the Ontario Tennis championship final.

New York stocks were active and prices were higher Saturday.

Sterling Exchange in New York continued strong and closed at $3.53¼.



AN AMBITIOUS GERMAN.

Hugo Stinnes Is Attracting Much Attention.

All Germany is asking to-day what Hugo Stinnes is aiming at. This amazing personality is incomparably the most powerful force in Germany to-day, says the Berlin correspondent of the London Mail. Still under fifty, gifted with unbounded ambition and inexhaustible energy, hard, lucid, titanic in conception, utterly fearless in execution, Hugo Stinnes, Germany's richest man and leading industrial figure, is counterpart and direct descendant of the cold, shrewd business men, such as Ballin, who, with the ex-Kaiser as their flamboyant figurehead, gyrating to their pulling of the wires, made Germany a big commercial factor in the world. In 1913 Hugo Stinnes, although well into his millions, was but their disciple. To-day he stands alone.

A few weeks ago he quietly bought up the printing firm which owns the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeintung, the German Government organ, and thus whipped it away from Government use. He proceeded to engage Gen. von Ludendorff as his military expert.

A little while ago he acquired a South German paper, the Munich-Augsburg Gazette, a steady-going, reactionary organ. He has a paper in Dortmund, in that Ruhr area where he is the inflexibility dominating personality. He has just bought the big Buxenstein printing business by quietly putting into it twenty million marks (nominally five million dollars). That means control of a dozen other papers. He controls at this moment all Government printing in Germany.

Note that this widespread and rapidly increasing newspaper hold on Germany is reactionary—not Republican. Significant in view of imminent and critical events — Spa, the Reichstag elections, the choice of a new President, the German Republic in the balance.

Enormous industrial force lies behind Hugo Stinne's newspaper and political ambitions. He controls no fewer than fifteen groups of coal mines extending into France. He has immense ore and metal interests in Germany and Luxembourg; he runs a score of large inland shopping concerns; he owns at least six big wholesale coal distribution enterprises. He has dwarfed Krupp.

The versatility of this man's interests is astonishing. For reasons of his own he has recently bought a huge cellulose concern, an hotel, a textile factory, and an automobile business in Berlin!

Out of the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung it is common knowledge that he proposes to make a world-newspaper such as the London Times. "Already he is lavishing money upon his new project, which comes into existence on July 1. His agents are hunting Germany for new young journalistic talent. Through innumerable trade journals, complacent to his authority, he is establishing widespread foreign connections.

His paper are to be self-supporting. He has bought paper and pulp mills and forest areas. Existing interests will supply him with metal. Everywhere — though, I think, with apprehension and dismay—he is hailed in Germany as the "Newspaper King."

This man will have to be reckoned with by Europe. At 20 he was held capable of partnership in the family firm of Matthias Etinnes. He broke away, "went on his own," and, well before the war, had swung with devastating energy into high finance. He is the business genius of Germany at a moment when business genius is what Germany most sorely needs. It is said of him that "no price for a sound thing, and no salary to a good man is too high for Hugo Stinnes."

What does he want?

For four hundred years the freedom of the Empire has been maintained by the sacrifice of countless gallant lives on land and sea.

"He that Commands the Sea is at Great Liberty"
—Bacon

Liberty to Live
Liberty to Trade

Trade Means Prosperity—
Liberty to Trade
Lies Upon the Sea!

The congregated wealth of the Nation must stand behind the forward movement to the sea.

Every pound of Canadian products shipped from a port outside Canadian territory retards our maritime growth, weakens our National prosperity, and places control of part of our sea-borne commerce in the hands of a competitive nation.

The Navy League of Canada.

BROTHERHOOD—THE SUPREME PASSION OF THE HOUR
WORLD BROTHERHOOD CONGRESS
WASHINGTON, D.C., OCTOBER 9th to 13th, 1920.
Delegates from 30 Nations. Eminent Speakers from all parts of the world. Will be the most remarkable religious gathering ever held in America.
Railway rates a fare and a third from the American border, or make the trip by Auto. Washington return, $30.00.
A most delightful journey at a most delightful time.
Send your Minister, Leader of Men's Work, Sunday School Superintendent to Catch the Vision of World Brotherhood behind the League of Nations.
Full particulars from T. Howell, Director and General Secretary Canadian Brotherhood Federation, 405 Kent Building, Toronto.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.
Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.
Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.
John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Advertise your needs in our "want" columns

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street. Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred positions, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added.

EVERYTHING PROTECTED BUT THE BOYS.

Forests protected, hogs inspected, but boys neglected, is a startling indictment which should make every good citizen sit up and take notice. Boys are the greatest asset of any nation, yet leaders in boys' work point out unmistakably how little is being done to protect the boy from evil influences. Fortunately societies of men like the Rotary are taking a deep interest in boys' life and indications are growing that strong influences are at work making for the protection of boys with energy, thought and money expended upon protection, which is preferable to reform.

BELLEVILLE'S MINSTREL TALENT SHOULD GET TOGETHER.

Looking over the audience at the minstrel show which flashed across the boards on its annual visitation to Griffin's last week one could not help thinking that there was plenty of good material present in the audience to present a first-class local minstrel show which would be a delight to local theatre patrons. There was Paul Lalonde, one of the best professional minstrel men who ever put a joke over the footlights or doubled in the brass or reeds now retired. Near him was seated Ab. Wheeler, noted amateur minstrel, whose entertaining talents are many and varied. Not far away were seated two first-class end men, Bob Gorman and Billy Deacon, and among the other talent present was noted George Dulmage, J. J. B. Flint, Fred Smith, Teddy Austin, H. Moorman, C. M. Reid, Ed. Dickens, Billy Doyle, Ernie Mouck, Sandy Burrows, Lorne Green, Phil Harrison, Phil Brockel, Jack Mackie, W. C. Mikel, and a host of others.

Let's go to it!

ADVICE TO MOTORISTS.

These few words to automobilists by E. J. Nelson in the New York Globe are so good that they should be given the widest possible circulation:—

When you are driving an automobile, always have some respect for the pedestrians. Don't cause the public to be belligerent. There are signs that the public is losing patience. Any one can find out by taking notice of popular comment in regard to reckless driving.

Always drive in such a manner that the people on the sidewalk can notice that you are driving carefully; don't rush up to a crowd of people and blow your horn as if to say, "Get out of my way, this is my street," but slow down gradually and give them a chance and they will get out of your way much quicker.

Don't try to beat the car ahead of you. You are not in any great hurry as a rule.

Don't think it is a disgrace if you stop and give people a chance to cross the street.

Pedestrians should not relax their vigilance when crossing the streets. Don't put all the responsibility on the automobilists. When you live in a city you cannot expect to roam about half asleep, even if the streets were void of all vehicles.

UNCLE SAM HUSTLING FOR CANADIAN BUSINESS.

At a dinner given in London recently Mr. F. C. Wade, Agent-General for British Columbia, talked plainly to British exporters. He told them that in trade, commerce and immigration the Mother Country has lost ground in Canada to the United States during the last four years at an alarming rate. Imports from Britain, which in 1914, formed 21 per cent. of the Canadian total, had dropped in 1919 to eight per cent; while those from the United States were ten-fold greater. British emigrants, who in 1914 formed 30 per cent., in 1918 were only 18 per cent. of the total, as compared with 71 per cent. from the United States. Americans had established 520 branch factories, while British concerns had not established half a dozen. There were a thousand United States commercial travellers in the Dominion to each British representative; one American consular agent in each city and only two British trade commissioners all told. If ever there was need for trade propaganda and publicity, concluded Mr. Wade, it existed in Canada and in British interests today.

There are not substantial reasons why British exporters should yield ground in this country to Americans. The newcomer from Britain should be a propagandist for his native land and ties of sentiment and a common interest should constitute a forceful factor in creating customers for British goods in Canada. The British way, as it now appears, is not the conquering way in trade circles in Canada.

CRISP COMMENT

Gasoline will soon qualify as a high explosive if it keeps going up.

× × ×

Making both ends meet often means using both ends as well as the middle of the meat portion.

× × ×

Edison's condensed concentrated food pills must have been cornered by the meat packers for they haven't reached the consumers yet. The jolt which was to have been administered to old High Costa Living by Edison's Food Pills seems to have missed fire.

× × ×

He profits most who serves best, the Rotary motto, is one which could be adopted by all citizens with personal and community profit.

× × ×

Taylor Statten, the noted leader in Y. M. C. A. boys' work, is no stranger to Belleville. He is a force for good in the nation and his appreciation that better boys make better men, and good men make good citizens, has provided him with a life work of great usefulness. That he is working for the welfare of the growing boy through the Rotary Clubs shows that his perception of values is keen.

× × ×

The wholesale price of sugar is shrinking with such consistency that there is hope for the retail price taking the toboggan before many days.

× × ×

The bomb which wrought death and destruction on Wall street, New York city, shook the civilized world out of a sense of false security against the red menace. It is significant that the explosion came just a few hours after the detective organization known as the "Bomb Squad" had been withdrawn from active service. The red terror is not confined to Russia but the poison is spreading over the entire civilized world and demands close watching and vigorous measures to combat its evil influences.

OTHER VIEWS

Quite So
London Daily Express

The reason why the telephone business is held up is that all the silk used for insulation purposes goes into stockings. After all, a telephone is a luxury, and any man who says he is unable to conduct his business without one and cannot get it should be amply compensated by the amount of flashing limb he sees in every street. If he is still unappeased there is no hope for him. He is a surly hound, and any silkworm would bite him on sight. It is not even as if a telephone would be of any use to him if he had one.

H. C. L.—God Bless It
Sydney Bulletin

The world wants many things just as desperately now, and is prepared to pay prices to correspond. That furnishes Australia with an opportunity such as it never had before and is never at all likely to get again. This is the moment when a country with heavy debts ought to work harder than it ever worked before, when it ought to export more, when it ought to import less. That is to say, when it ought to sell all it can and buy as little as it must. It can pay off more debt with a ton of copper or wheat or wool than it ever could before or is likely to do again; and it can get less for anything it borrows abroad just as for anything it buys. H.C.L.—it is the chance of a century! It is only our own stupidity, short-sightedness and selfishness which makes it a curse instead of a blessing.

Ontario Roads
Kitchener Record

It is good news, too long delayed, that a real start is to be made on road improvement. Ease of communication and of transportation are today absolute requirements in any country that hopes to hold its own in competition with others.

Hon. Mr. Biggs, provincial Minister of Highways, has just completed a motoring tour of 8,000 miles in the province of Ontario. We feel sorry for him, for it must have been a bone-racking experience. Ontario people pride themselves upon their superiority over the Province of Quebec. But the French province is far in advance of us in the construction of good roads. There has been tremendous improvement down there in recent years. Ontario will have to move for Quebec was never more wide-awake industrially and educationally than she is right now.

When the Drury Government took office, there was reason to fear that its road-building policy was inefficient—that construction would not be of a permanent nature. Mr. Biggs in his speeches, now indicates that he appreciates that new highways must have proper foundation and that the ordinary macadam or gravel road covered with tarvia is largely a waste of money so far as important highways are concerned.

If that 8,000 mile trip jarred that conviction into him it served a mighty good purpose. On his next trip, Mr. Biggs might take Mr. Drury and the other members of the cabinet for a ride from Hamilton to Kitchener. It would enlarge their knowledge if it wouldn't improve their temper.

POET'S CORNER

HOW GOSSIP GROWS

Somebody started a little tale,
  Faint with a suggestion of wrong;
Others retold it in rising scale,
  It grew as it passed along.

Somebody thought that she saw a slip
  Made by a young neighbor's wife,
Fast flew the story from lip to lip
  A home was ruined for life.

"I heard from a friend of friends of friends
  Of friends of a friend who knows"
That is the manner that gossip lends
  Hue to the yarn as it grows.

Don't tell a story in whisper soft
  That you do not know is true—
The tale you repeat of others oft
  Is one they repeat of you.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Quite Clear

"Can you cook?"

"Oh, yes, everything."

"And wash?"

"Sure."

"How many nights off do you want?"

"None."

"Not even Sunday evenings?"

"No."

"How often will you scrub the kitchen?"

"Twice a week."

"And clean the windows?"

"Every Friday."

"Do you dislike children?"

"Oh, no."

"And how long were you in your last place?"

"Four years."

"Why did you leave?"

"The family went to the coast."

"How much wages do you want?"

"Twenty-five dollars a month."

"When can you come?"

"Tomorrow."

Just then two keepers from the Ponoka lunatic asylum rushed in, shouting, "Oh, here you are!" bound her hand and foot and carried her off bodily.

An Inheritance

Miss Capron, the school teacher had punished little Sammy so often for talking during school and the punishments had been so ineffective that as a last resort, she decided to notify Sammy's father.

Beneath the deportment mark of the next report she sent to the father Miss Capron wrote:

"Sammy talks a great deal."

The report was duly returned with the father's signature, followed by these words:

"You ought to hear his mother!"

MILITARY NEWS

A staff tour will be held under the directorship of Brig. General W. M. B. King, C.M.G., D.S.O., General Officer Commanding the Third Military District, who will be ably assisted by Colonel F. W. Hill, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., A.A. & Q.M.G. 3 M.D.

Officers from all units throughout the district will be chosen to attend. Instruction gained in this way from men who have so ably distinguished themselves in the Great War should prove of the utmost value to those who will be selected to attend.

The tour will commence on Sept. 21st and end on Sept. 25th, and will cover a large area of defensive country in Eastern Ontario.

The following officers from The Argyll Light Infantry will attend and act in the capacity as stated: Lieut.-Col. R. Vanderwater, D.S.O., Brig. General G.O.C., Brigade; Capt. D. T. McManus, staff officer to Brigadier; Majors S. E. Carman, E. O. Keeler, M.C., A. L. Johnson, M.M., J. Downey, S. E. Vermilyea and Capt. P. H. Wills will act as general staff officers.

HALIFAX SUGAR DEALERS EXPECT DROP TO 15 CENTS

Halifax, Sept. 17.—Sugar dealers here today said they would not jump at the offer of a Montreal firm which offered to deliver here brown sugar at 15 cents a pound, the regular wholesale price of best granulated sugar being still 22 cents, and of yellow refined about 21 cents. The reason, they said, was that they believed granulated would be down to 15 cents next week. Dealers here have for some time bought no sugar except that for which they have a sale guaranteed in advance. Brokers have been offering sugar by the 100 bags for 20 cents and 19.10 by the carload, charges paid, while the refinery sugar still sells at 22 cents.

Much sugar has been shipped from Halifax to central Canada points within the past few days. The steamer Winona has loaded about 20,000 bags at the Acadia Refinery, clearing for Montreal, but it is said her destination is an American port on Lake Michigan. Of the large quantity stored at Government Warehouse No. 24, which at one time consisted of 112,000 bags, and lately 65,000, some 5,000 have been sold to one concern, 1,200 to another, and it is stated that the Dominion Sugar Company of Wallaceburg, Ont., is buying 20,000 bags. The price was said to be $19.75 per 100 pounds.

Wholesale price of sugar dropped one dollar on the hundred in Montreal

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

Canada—Why?

Is it really worth while to develop institutions and industries which are distinctively Canadian, and which promote the welfare and prosperity of the Canadian people? Of course it is!

Are we wasting our time and energy in training Canadian ability and encouraging Canadian enterprise? Of course not!

CANADA is more than an accident of geography. The magnificent record of effort made by Canadians in the great European struggle bears witness that the peaceful and unhindered development of the Canadian ideal should be maintained.

The future of Canada depends upon the sincere and earnest self-expression of Canada's millions of workers—at the plough, the loom, the forge—in the factory, the office and the home. And loyalty to Canada is best expressed, not in bursts of patriotic emotion on state occasions, but in supporting and sustaining Canadian enterprise and Canadian industry.

¶ Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. Buy Made in Canada Footwear and you are then assured of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Fit and Style.

2

SHOE MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 8.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 435.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 208.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

WRIGLEY'S
Make the next cigar taste better and after smoking cleanse your mouth moisten your throat sweeten your breath with
WRIGLEY'S
The Flavour LASTS
WRIGLEY'S DOUBLEMINT CHEWING GUM PEPPERMINT
WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM MINT LEAF FLAVOR
WRIGLEY'S JUICY FRUIT CHEWING GUM THE FLAVOR LASTS
Sealed Tight Kept Right
A121

WILSON'S FLY PADS

Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

For Fry Days

Fish with cream sauce made the Borden way is a treat for appetites that have become indifferent to ordinary dishes.

The improvement is no secret - - -

Borden's
ST. CHARLES MILK

Recipe Book Free.

THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
MONTREAL 9-920

for preserving late Fruits

Lantic Sugar

because it is fine!

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

S. J. FISHER
Experienced Auctioneer

Prepared to conduct all kinds of Auction Sales. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Office, 19 Campbell Street.
Phones: Office, 168; Resid., 1110.
Residence—171 Bridge St. East.

DEVELOPING
PRINTING
ENLARGING

ANSCO
Cameras and Films.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

"She had the whole map of New England in her face, and her middle name was Boston."

But she was young, in a placid, Puritanical way, and she looked exceedingly clean and correct. Her very smile was neat, exactly adjusted between those of the gracious hostess and of the landlady.

Mrs. Chivvis led the way to the room that was for rent. It took Daphne at once. Spotlessness is the first luxury in a rented room and Puritan beauty has a grace all its own. The mahogany bed with its twisted posts, the excellent linen and the honesty of everything won her completely.

She felt a sense of relief from the rather gaudy beauty of Leila's apartment. She felt that Mrs. Chivvis, who showed such fine restraint in her furniture, would be equally discreet in minding her own affairs.

"I'll take it," she said; "that is, if you'll take me."

Mrs. Chivvis said she would. She said it with a New Englandish parsimony of enthusiasm, but her eyes were kindly and Daphne decided that she thought nice things but lacked the courage to say them.

Daphne moved at once into the Chivvis apartment what belongings she had brought on from Cleveland, and her mother promised to dispatch the rest of them as soon as she reached home.

Wesley could not be persuaded to stay over an unnecessary night. His business was in a perilous condition. The mammoth Cowper firm had gone into bankruptcy owing him a handsome sum of money which he was not likely to recover. The failure also closed an important and profitable market for his calculating machines. It frightened his banks as well, and he had wrestled like another Jacob with an almost invisible cashier for money enough to meet his pay roll.

Yet he slipped a large bill into Daphne's hand when he bade her goodby at the station late in the afternoon, and he whispered to her she should have other re-enforcements whenever she called on him.

Daphne reached the theater at seven o'clock and sat in the dark on a canvas rock, watching the stage hands gather and listening to their repartee.

Batterson arrived at length. He was in one of his humane moods. He asked Daphne if she had memorized her lines and she said she had. He told her that he would give her another rehearsal the next day after breakfast. "After breakfast," he explained, was one o'clock p. m.

She Reached the Theater at Seven o'Clock and Sat in the Dark on a Canvas Rock Watching the Stage Hands Gather, and Listening to Their Repartee.

Next morning Daphne presented herself to Batterson and endured one of his rehearsals, with his assistant reading all the cues in a lifeless voice. Batterson was more discouraged than she was. He showed it for a time by a patience that was of the sort one shows to a shy imbecile.

He was so restrained that Daphne broke out for him, "Do you think I am a complete idiot, Mr. Batterson?"

"Far from it, my dear," said Batterson. "You are a very intelligent young woman. The trouble is that you are too intelligent for the child's play of the stage. It's all a kind of big nursery and you can't forget that facts are not facts in this toy game. If you could let yourself go and be foolish and play doll house you might succeed. It's hard even when you know how. But it's impossible as long as you try to reason it out. It's like music and fiction and all the arts. You've got to pretend or you can't feel and you can't make anybody else feel."

And that, indeed, was Daphne's agony. She could not release her imagination or command her clear vision to see what was not there.

Night after night she reported at the theater and left it when the curtain rose. On one of these evenings Tom Duane met her outside the stage door. His apology was that he felt it his duty to look after his client.

He invited Daphne to ride home in his car, which was waiting at the curb. She declined with thanks. He urged that she take a little spin in the park. She declined without thanks. He sighed that it was a pity to lose the moonlight.

She said she would get enough when she walked home. He asked if he might "toddle along." She could hardly refuse without crassly insulting him.

They loitered slowly up the quiet reach of Seventh avenue. He questioned her about her work with all the grateful flattery there is in an appetite for another's autobiography. She found it easy to tell him of her difficulties. He extracted encouragement or indirect compliment out of all of them.

When they arrived at her apartment house she said, "Sorry I can't ask you up, but I have no reception room, and I'm tired out."

"You have wasted enough of your time on me," he said. "I'll see you to the elevator."

As Daphne stepped into the hallway she found Clay Wimburn there, waiting grimly. He sprang to his feet with a gasp of relief. He caught sight of Duane and his joy died instantly.

Wimburn loved Daphne and wanted her for his own. He had counted her his own, and still had neither refunded the engagement ring nor paid for it. Daphne was more pleased with Wimburn's misery than with Duane's felicity.

"Won't you come up, Clay?" she asked.

He murmured, "Can we be alone for a little talk?"

"I'm afraid not. The Chivvises, you know."

"Will you take a little walk with me in the park?"

"All right," she said as she led the way out into the street. "I'm pretty tired, though. I walked home from the theater."

"With Duane!" Clay snarled. "You weren't too tired for that."

Daphne thought of the motor ride and the supper she had declined. She said, "Are you dragging me out here for the sake of a fight?"

"There'll be no fight if you'll cut out that man Duane."

"Am I to have no friends at all?"

"You can have all you want, provided—"

"Let me give you one little hint, Clay, for your own information. Every time this Mr. Duane that you're so afraid of meets me he does his best to help me get my chance and he tells me only pleasant things. Every time you've come to see me lately you've been either a sick cat or a roaring tiger."

(To Be Continued)

A FISHERY NOT WORKED.

Great Possibilities In Capture of White Porpoise.

The capture of the white porpoise or the white whale or Beluga, which is said to abound in the lower Gulf of St. Lawrence, is a department of the fishing industry which presents possibilities and is particularly attractive to investors of a speculative turn of mind. In years gone by this fishery was carried on at odd times, most extensively by the Hudson Bay Company, but never on any systematic basis. It is not known that anyone is now prosecuting the industry and therefore, there is no standard to assure one that it could be carried on with success under prevailing conditions.

Some years ago the late Mr. Campbell McNab, associated with another gentleman, engaged in the industry. Their method of capturing the porpoise was quite novel, but most effective. A long lead was erected—a wall of stocks driven into the mud or sand—and so arranged that the schools when ascending the river with the tide were lead into shallow water and stranded by the receding tide. Then they were cut up, the skin and blubber removed and the flesh and bones used for fertilizer.

About thirty years ago it was reported that the most extensive fishery of the Hudson Bay Company was that of the white porpoise. At one tide as many as 200 would be caught by the inshore trap described above, and as each porpoise was worth about $100 a small fortune was frequently left stranded by a single tide. From 200 to 400 pounds of blubber is yielded by each porpoise and oil of the very finest quality averages about ten dollars. No other porpoise or whale produces a hide from which leather of such fine, flexible texture and such durability can be made.

Although the law does not prohibit the shooting of these creatures, or place any restrictions on their capture, the inshore trap seems to be the only practical method. The white porpoise is an active and wily customer, and may elude other devices.

Accuracy.

A party of visitors, sight-seeing in Toronto, enter a conservatory. While showing them round, the curator was called away on business, and left the visitors in charge of one of the attendants. They came to a beautiful statue, which was of translucent marble. The assistant pointed out the excellencies of the statue, told the name of the sculptor, and showed it from every view-point. "Alabaster, isn't it?" asked a visitor. "No," answered the assistant, "Venus!"

Penalize Brave Men.

Men who, when citizens of Massachusetts, enlisted in the Canadian and other allied forces prior to the entry of the United States into the war, have lost their citizenship and cannot vote, according to an opinion handed down by Attorney-General J. W. Allen at the request of Secretary of State Lantrey.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Build a Foundation Now for Your Financial Future

Never before has such an opportunity been offered to Canadian investors to build up an investment reserve on a bed rock foundation as at the present time.

Crop-moving demands have called into action every available dollar.

From the banks, the suggestion has been passed all along the line in commerce and industry to curtail borrowing and buying to immediate needs only.

Surplus assets are being turned into money—in many cases through the reluctant sale of readily-convertible bonds.

From these conditions springs the present opportunity for investors who wish to adopt the wise policy of providing for themselves a strong and sound financial buttress against the future.

Long-term securities are to-day selling at unusually low prices.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

Dominion of Canada 5½% Bonds

Due	Price		Yield
Victory Bonds Free from Dominion Income Taxes
Dec., 1922	98	and interest	6.37%
Nov., 1923	98	and interest	6.14%
Dec., 1927	97	and interest	6.00%
Nov., 1933	96½	and interest	5.88%
Dec., 1937	98	and interest	5.68%
Victory Bonds Subject to the Usual Income Taxes
Nov., 1924	97	and interest	6.27%
Nov., 1934	93	and interest	6.24%

We shall welcome an opportunity to serve you in your investment matters irrespective of the amount of your funds.

DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION
LIMITED.
Established 1901

E. R. Wood - - - - President
G. A. Morrow - Vice-President
J. W. Mitchell - Vice-President
W. S. Hodgens - - - Secretary
J. A. Fraser - - - - Treasurer
T. H. Andison - Ass't Secretary
A. F. White - - Ass't Treasurer

HEAD OFFICE:
26 KING STREET EAST
TORONTO

MONTREAL BRANCH
Canada Life Building
R. W. Steele - - Manager

LONDON, ENG., BRANCH
No. 6 Austin Friars
A. L. Fullerton, Manager

STANFIELD'S Unshrinkable UNDERWEAR

STANFIELD'S Unshrinkable Underwear gives you everything that any other underwear can give you. Stanfield's gives you some things that no other underwear can give you. And you pay only what absolutely unshrinkable underwear—made of the finest material in the world — is worth. All good dealers sell Stanfield's.

Made in Combinations and Two-Piece Suits in full length, knee and elbow length, and sleeveless, for Men and Women.

Stanfield's Adjustable Combinations and Sleepers for growing Children. (Patented).

Sample Book, showing different weights and textures—Write!

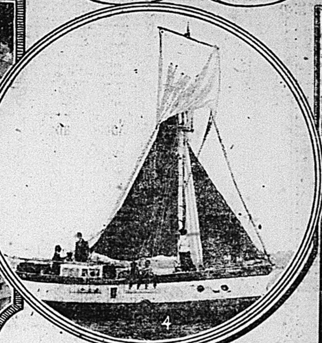
Stanfield's Limited,
Truro, N.S.

28

"Stands Strenuous Wear"

PICTORIAL NEWS OF THE DAY -- WINNIPEG BEACH

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.



(1) The Indian contingent of the American Boy Scouts, who were received at the Y.M.C.A. Club rooms, St. James Square, London.

(2) The Prince of Wales receiving an address from the Mayor of Perth, Australia.

(3) Hampton Court and Dittons Regatta, England.

(4) The Barge yacht in the race to the Alps. A novel race between two humourously different yachts from Rochester. The entries is a barge yacht and a new motor yacht. The barge to get 10 days' time allowance.

(5) The Danish cruiser Heimdal, is on a cruise to Scotland. Among the midshipmen are the two sons of King Christian. Prince Knud can be seen in the background behind the two officers.

(6) Governor Smith, of New York, chatting with Mrs. J. Blair, president of Suffragettes, and society women.

(7) Opening of Olympic games. English athletes marching past.

(8) Belgian soldiers releasing pigeons to Allied countries, announcing the opening of the Olympic games.

WINNIPEG BEACH

(1) Winnipeg Beach. (2) Day trippers enjoying mid-day meal at Winnipeg Beach.

Few resorts in Canada have been more popular this year during the hot summer months than Winnipeg Beach, a journey of seventy minutes over the Canadian Pacific Railway from Winnipeg. Nature has provided this popular resort a beauty spot of unusual attractiveness, and situated as it is amongst the beautifully treed grounds which sweep down to a beach of golden sand, provides for the people of Winnipeg an ideal vacation resort.

There is also a veritable Coney Island, and if a further "thriller" is desired one may go to the water's edge and take a spin in the new hydro planes, which are being operated by the Canadian Aircraft Company. A well equipped and up-to-date bathing pavilion provides a service such as can be found only at a high class watering resort. Winnipeg Beach is increasing in popularity yearly, and it is this popularity which will eventually number this resort among the finest in Canada.

Fall Suits and Coats
of Superb Style and Excellent Quality

A WONDERFUL SHOWING OF NEW FALL STYLES IN THE LATEST MODELS.

NEW SUITS—in Velour, specially priced at $55.00 and $58.50

NEW COATS in Velour, Silvertone, Tweeds, Plush, etc., specially priced at .... $35.00 to $110.00

KIDDIE SWEATERS.—We have just placed in stock a big shipment of Children's Pullover Sweaters. Just the garment for cool weather. Priced at $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50

ENGLISH FLANNELETTES.—A big assortment of English Striped Flannelette. Special values at 45c., 50c. and 60c.

EARLE & COOK CO.
WE SELL McCALL PATTERNS.
McCALL'S FASHIONS ARE HERE

Shoes for Everybody
Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553

ALASKA SABLE

This is one of the most practical furs on the market, for, besides being of rich appearance and giving good service, it is most reasonably priced.

It is a fur that lends itself readily to the fashioning of neck pieces cut on the most up-to-date designs.

We are showing some beautiful pieces in STOLES, SHAWL THROWS and SILHOUETTE COATEE styles made up of strictly No. 1 New York State Sable at prices ranging from $60.00 per set up.

Come in and have a look around. A visit will be appreciated.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily
ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

SHOT SUFFERING HORSE.

A band of gypsies passed through Port Hope on Saturday, having six horses with their wagons. One poor old horse had a real hard time to navigate and fortunately Mr. R. C. Smith, Inspector of the Humane Society, happened along. Mr. Smith had Dr. Zealand examine the horse, and he pronounced it unfit for work; in fact, all in, down and out. Mr. Smith took the horse in charge and in the afternoon relieved its sufferings by a dose of lead. The owner pleaded hard to be allowed to take the horse to Toronto where he would dispose of it to one of the abattoirs, but Mr. Smith very wisely refused to have the poor beast further tortured on that sixty mile trip.

THUMB CUT OFF.

Mr. John Beatty, of Centreton, had the thumb of his right hand severed while working about a threshing machine. He was oiling the engine, and it being hot, he pulled his hand back quickly, the thumb being caught between the driving belt and the driving pulley, cutting the thumb off.

SHANNONVILLE FAIR.

Notwithstanding the fact that the exhibition building of the Shannonville Fair burned a week before the Fair, the spirit that has made Shannonville Fair a success was not depressed. The management, Saturday night, put on the best concert ever held in the village and was rewarded with an overflowing audience. Every available space in the A. O. U. W. hall was filled with happy, joyous humanity and many were unable to get admittance. W. C. Mikel, K.C., occupied the chair. The leading vocal numbers on the programme were rendered by Mrs. Duff, of Belleville, whose sweet rich voice and pleasing manner completely captivated the audience. Miss Newton, of Toronto, Canada's leading elocutionist, displayed her rare powers of control of an audience in a marvellous manner, and her description of a horse race held the audience spellbound. Mr. F. Perrin, of Toronto, humorist, kept everyone roaring with laughter while he was on the stage. Miss Botter, of Belleville, the accompanist, displayed that rare but often needed capacity in an accompaniment of making both the time and the music fit the singer. The pleasure of the evening will linger in the memories of the people who had the privilege of attending this concert. The management of the Belleville Fair might well take pattern after the splendid spirit of Shannonville, which made their fair such a great success even though their buildings were burned on the eve of the fair.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE DEATH OF DANTE

Preparations are being made to celebrate in 1921 the 600th anniversary of the death of Dante Alighieri in Rome, Florence and Ravenna, but a disagreement already has developed as to the expense of the proposed celebration.

Sem Benelli, poet, dramatist and deputy, has introduced in the Chamber of Deputies, a bill appropriating 2,000,000 lire to cover the cost of lectures, commorations, illuminations and other forms of tribute.

This proposed expenditure, however, is opposed by Benedetto Croce, the newly appointed Minister of Instruction, himself a distinguished poet, critic and author, who declared that in these hard and serious times he disapproved on the principle of this form of honoring the memory of Italy's supremely great writer.

Instead Signor Croce invited his fellow countrymen to celebrate the sixth centenary of Dante's death by re-reading the works of the great poet. Some approved of this suggestion while others were indignant.

The poems of Dante, even in Italy, are more talked about than studied, and it is to be feared that few will do more than take down and handle with reverence the much-thumbed copies of the poet who gave the first great impulse to modern European literature.

Dante was born in Florence, in May, 1265 and died September 14, 1321 at Ravenna, where he lies buried.

ACROSS THE CHANNEL ON A WATER CYCLE

An attempt to cross the English Channel on a so-called "water cycle" has just been made by Miss Zetta Hills, a young Englishwoman. She started at 7 a.m. from Calais for Folkestone, about 30 miles. The currents prevented a direct course being followed, and at first Miss Hills was taken down Channel along the French coast until a few miles from Boulogne. Then the tide turned and she was swept up the Channel until east of the Goodwin Lightship. Once more the tide changed and the cycle made a westerly course.

After covering about 48 miles in 12 hours, the machine broke down, owing, it is supposed, to the backwash of a passing steamer, and Miss Hills was taken off by a rowing boat, only three and one-half miles from the English coast.

Her food and drink were milk, fruit and boiled ham. She intends to try the trip again.

Called by Death

WILLIAM KENNEY

Mr. William Kenney, an aged resident of the city passed away on Saturday at the family residence, Canifton Road. Deceased was 87 years of age and was born in Tyendinaga Township. He had been in ill health for several years. Mr. Kenney was a member of St. Michael's Church and a widower. One son, Joseph N. survives.

MARY REEVES

Mrs. Mary Reeves, widow of the late Mr. George Reeves of this city, passed away on Saturday at the home of her niece, Mrs. Wesley Morton of Thomasburg, whom she was visiting. Deceased was 82 years of age and was born in Belleville, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson. Nearly all her life was spent in this city where she had many friends. Mrs. Reeves was a devoted member of Bridge Street Church. Two sons, Dr. Reeve of Tweed, and J. D. of Toronto and two daughters, Misses Minnie and Maud survive. The body was brought here for interment.

Obsequies

WILLIAM KENNEY

The funeral of the late Mr. William Kenney, took place this morning from the family residence, Canifton Road to St. Michael's Church where Rev. Father Whalen celebrated Mass. The body was taken to Marysville for interment. A number of Mass cards were tokens of sympathy. The bearers were Messrs. T. Vanmeer, J. Hill, Robt. Milne, Geo. A. O'Neil, Wm. McCarthy and James Cavanagh.

Social and Personal

Miss Ivy Stephens of Belleville who has been visiting friends in Oshawa and Toronto, has returned home.

Miss Ethel Matthews of Newport, Isle of Wight, England, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harvey, 351 Bleecker Ave.

Mr. A. McClatchie, who was taken to the hospital quite seriously ill several days ago is improving very satisfactorily.

Dr. O. A. Marshall is in Lannigan, Sask.

J. A. Marshall left last week to resume his studies at St. Andrew's College, Toronto.

One Criminal Case Before Fall Assizes

Before the Hon. Justice Meredith the fall assize opened here this afternoon. There is but one criminal case to be considered and that is of a serious nature. The civil docket comprise a number of cases. Mr. Carnew County Attorney will conduct the criminal business. The Grand jurors selected for the court are as follows:

John A. Brown, Tweed; M. W. Chatterton, Mayo; David Cotton, Rawdon; Robt. Gunter, Wolloston; W. J. Hill, Madoc; James Kelly, Faraday; Albert King, Limerick; Thos. Matthews, Stirling; J. G. Moffatt, Belleville; N. J. McNair, Trenton; Robt. A. Rollins, Madoc Township; James Rose, Madoc Township; Peter Stringer, Carlow.

The Grand Jury selected Mr. W. J. Hill as the foreman. After being sworn in the Grand Jurors were addressed by His Lordship who explained the duties of the Grand Jury. There was only one offence for them to consider and it was a serious charge preferred against a young man the nature of which was explained. It would be the duty of the Grand Jurors to visit the County Jail and other institutions receiving Government aid.

The first case taken was Adams vs. Farrell, an action for damages for alienating the plaintiff's wife's affection. The defendant was called but did not answer. Mr. Mikel, K.C., for plaintiff The defendant was not represented by counsel. The parties in the case are residents of the city.

SKIDDING AUTO CAUSE OF FATALITY

Montreal, Sept. 17.—Victor Depatie, a waiter, of 5756 Laval avenue, this city, was instantly killed, and Muriel Petitjean, aged twenty, is lying in the Montreal General Hospital with a fractured skull and is in a critical condition, while seven others, of whom five are women, were slightly injured when the automobile in which they were driving overturned at Bordeaux, opposite the prison gates.

The overturned machine pinned Depatie to the ground, killing him instantly.

Rosario Degonzo, of 11 Charlotte street, Plattsburg, N.Y., had hired the machine and had taken a party of girls for a drive, picking up Depatie at a Bordeaux Hotel, where they had stayed. The accident was caused by the car skidding over the road, which was slippery after a rain.

"Don't climb over or crawl under railway cars, play safe," says the Safety League.

THE CHIC BLOUSE

Garment Essential to Complete Spring Wardrobe.

Short Sleeves Preferred and Mode Is Collarless With Neckline Deeper at Shoulders.

Your task of buying your spring suit is not really completed until you have invested in at least one blouse to go with it, observes a fashion correspondent. And, although there is no further doubt concerning the return of the lingerie blouse to favor, still you know that this type of blouse is not the one to select to be worn under your suit jacket. It is sure to show creases when you take off the jacket. Moreover, if you do take off the jacket you want a blouse that gives an unbroken line with the suit skirt, and this cannot be accomplished if you are wearing a white blouse.

It really is wise to have one blouse that almost exactly matches the suit, and the new material selected for such a blouse is tricolette or some other sort of knitted silk fabric, which seems proof against wrinkles. This season the short sleeve, elbow or shorter, will be the preference for these blouses and usually the mode is collarless with a neckline open at the neck, sometimes deeper at the shoulders than from front to back.

However, the handmade batiste, linen or voile blouse is in high favor and will be worn for summer and resort wear. It reminds one of a decade ago, for now as then the well-dressed women are ordering these handmade blouses in numbers, many women having laid in as large a supply as a dozen, all hand made, for the spring and summer season. They will be worn with the separate sport skirt. Then there are colored wash blouses, flame and green and toast, and these are to be worn often with the separate skirt of white.

The blouse that extends far below the waistline is little in evidence. However, most of the blouses, save the conventional sort of lingerie blouses that have made their appearance and, of course, the regulation skirt which is still worn for sport wear—most of the blouses have something below the waistline. Sometimes they terminate in a wide girdle that extends to the hips.

Satin Blouse, Flowers in Applique.

CLOTHING FOR YOUNGER SET

Materials Include Cotton Poplin for Dresses for Girls and Suits for Boys.

The time is certainly past when children's clothes can be purchased ready to wear for a mere song. Making them at home is a great saving this season, especially if the stores are carefully "shopped" for bargains in materials. Fortunately no one style dominates the style field for children (for the matter of that, great leeway is admitted in fashions for grown-ups as well) and variety is really the important point to achieve.

Cotton poplin is in high favor for sturdy service dresses for little girls and for suits for small boys. Cotton crepe is another fabric that is a favorite when clothes for everyday wear are under consideration. The small girl will be becomingly outfitted in voile, organdie, swiss and similar transparent fabrics when really warm weather arrives—that is, for somewhat dressy occasions—but the sturdy percales, poplins, chambrays and cotton crepes will be selected for play hours.

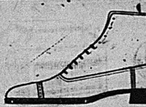
Vivid, rather dark, or at least medium shades are in great favor for service clothes for members of the younger set. Jade green is liked and is very smart when becoming. Marigold yellow and a medium blue are also much used.

Coiffure Favors Oriental.

The Spanish influence and the oriental is noted in hair-dressing as in gowns; the Spanish in the coif that piles the hair high on the head; the oriental in the coronet effects which have returned. Though shops are showing many lovely hair ornaments, it is only with most formal evening dress that these are being worn.

"Careless habits," says the Safety League, are like porous plasters—easy to acquire and hard to shake off."

"The Safety Habit is contagious. Be sure to catch it," says the Safety League.



Regal Shoes for Men
We are selling agents for this world known shoe. The latest styles are now being shown in Black and Brown leathers. A shoe for every foot.
Priced at $10.00 and $11.00
TRUNKS AND TRAVELLING GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY
The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.
Now's The Time to Select
Your Coat
—and you'll find at "Wotten's" a very complete assortment of the very latest models in all the wanted fabrics. Come in now and choose yours while the styles and sizes are fresh and complete.
Priced $30.00 to $95.00
SUITS—In the favored fabrics and styles at .... $37.50 to $95.00
Wottens Limited
LADIES' WEAR STORE.

We Would Be Delighted
—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.
T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

PEDDLING OF MARRIAGE LICENSES A JOKE

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 16.—"With women in politics you have as much chance of civil marriages as a marriage in heaven," declared Chairman W. D. Gregory, of the Ontario Public Service Commission during a discussion introduced by Magistrate Pallinger, of Fort William, at the hearing here recently.

The magistrate, during examination, introduced the subject of marriage by magistrates of Ontario and followed with the statement that "the peddling of marriage licenses in the city of Fort William was a joke."

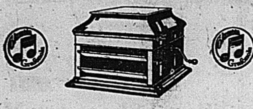
"You can buy a marriage license in any place from a grocery store to a junk shop," said the magistrate.

OVER 800 APPLICATIONS FOR MOTHERS' PENSIONS IN B.C.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 17.—Over 800 applications for pensions under the Mothers' Pensions Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature, have been made by claimants. The number is almost double the amount anticipated, Attorney-General states.

WE WILL TELL YOU
—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.
Phone DAY 531

Teas
OF SUPERIOR QUALITY
New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious
Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke
FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.
Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.



Prolongs the Pleasure

The moment of all moments to enjoy beautiful music to the full comes between the last strains of a selection and the outburst of applause.

The Non-Set Automatic Stop, found exclusively in the Grafonola, gives you that measureless moment of pleasure. Without setting, it automatically stops the motor when the music is finished, regardless of the record's length.

Come in and hear how you can use that exquisite moment to fully savor all the sweetness of the Grafonola's music.

LINDSAY'S 249 Front
C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word: 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 5 cents per word. Count 5 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—EDISON DIAMOND CYLINDER Phonograph and records. Apply 11 Harvey Street. 1td

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE—TWO NEW BUILDINGS—ONE nine room bungalow, all modern conveniences, hardwood floors and trim, fireplace, bookcase, colonade, large basement, large lot and garage. One two-storey, seven rooms, full size basement, hardwood floors, etc. Prices right. Apply J. Kizer, Builder and Contractor, 120 Moira Street West, Belleville. s18 4td

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. s18-12td

FOR SALE — MEDIUM SIZED FRAME house with conveniences, situated at 83 West Bridge Street. Price reasonable. Apply to Mrs. P. C. VanAllen, 323 Front St., Belleville. s17-6td

FOR SALE—BLACKSMITH SHOP—AN OLD established business, no opposition. Apply to Box "G," Intelligencer. s17 4td

FOR SALE OR RENT, BRICK HOUSE, ALL conveniences, hot air heating, garage, also range, piano and other household articles. Possession at once. Apply 285 John Street. s16 4td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

HELP WANTED—MALE

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day of evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o5

WANTED AT ONCE—YOUNG MAN FOR delivery and general work. References. Chas. S. Clapp. s15-dtf

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1109-10 C. P. R. Building, Toronto. s15-10td

WANTED — A BOY TO LEARN THE printing trade. Apply The Intelligencer Office. s10-dtf

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR Shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge— s20-3tf

AGENTS WANTED

OUR AGENTS, MEN AND WOMEN, WITHOUT experience are making $20 weekly in spare time, daytime or evenings, without interfering with regular work, selling Personal Greeting Christmas Cards. Best and largest Canadian selection. No outlay. Write for particulars, or if for agency appointment, send one reference Modern Art Company 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o5

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,000 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G, Toronto. s11 s30

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSE- [illegible] Good wages. Apply [illegible] Intelligencer. s20-4td,1tw

GIRL WANTED FOR VETERANS' LUNCH [illegible] Apply 164 Front St. s20-4td

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dltr

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

TO LET.

FOR RENT — FURNISHED ROOMS, ALL conveniences, centrally located, 238 Albert street. s23-4td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s23-12td

TO LET—THREE OR FOUR UNFURNISHED rooms, cheap. Apply 61 N. Front street. 1td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 819. s14-d-1

TO RENT — BEAUTIFUL COMPLETELY furnished housekeeping rooms, kitchen range, all conveniences, rent reasonable, also furnished rooms by day or week. Apply Mrs. C. Richardson, 299½ Front St., or phone 1218. s14-6td

TO LET—SIX ROOM HOUSE, ALL CONVENIENCES, on Dufferin Ave. Also flats to let. Apply Dr. Caldwell. s16-6td

WANTED.

WANTED—TWO OR THREE FURNISHED or unfurnished rooms for light housekeeping, or small furnished house for winter months. Apply Box "E," Intelligencer. s17-4td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

STATIONARY ENGINEER, 2ND CLASS certificate, seeks situation. Best references. Box "S," Intelligencer, Belleville.

WANTED—SMALL HOUSE OR FLAT BY October 1. No family. Apply with particulars to Box "12", Intelligencer. s20-4td

LOST

LOST—ON OR NEAR MARKET, SATURDAY, pocket book, containing bill and change. Please leave at this office. Receive reward. s20-2td

FOR SALE BY TENDER.

The electrical supplies, stock and fixtures of the estate of Charles J. Peppin, located at 189 Front St., Belleville, is offered for sale by tender up until 6 p.m. of the 23rd inst. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Stock list can be signed and premises inspected by making application to

WM. CARNEW,
Court House Bldg., Belleville,
Solicitor for W. R. MORRIS,
375 Water St., Peterboro, Ont.,
Authorized Trustee.
Dated 20th Sept., 1920. s20-3td

IMPERIALS LIKE CHANCES IN WEST

The Soldier Settlement Board of Canada has received many letters from prospective Imperial soldier settlers giving an account of their experience while training with farmers preparatory to taking up land of their own.

F. H. Woods brought his wife to Canada and secured employment on a farm near Qu'Appelle, Sask. "We are both very happy here and have struck the very best people. Mr. Booth seems very satisfied with me and says I am doing fine." This settler expects to qualify to go on the land next Spring. He has a very good chance to buy a quarter-section. The land, he says, is of the best quality and he thinks the proposition is an excellent opportunity for him.

There are many soldiers similarly located throughout the West. Their year working on a farm has given them an opportunity not only of gaining the necessary experience but of selecting a farm of their own.

◆

Wrangel's cavalry drives back the Reds.

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

New As The Newest

in looks and serviceability, yet comfortable as old slippers. That's what our shoe repairing does. It gives new life to them without disturbing their old shoe comfort. Don't throw away any shoes, no matter how old or worn. Bring them here and see if we cannot make them wearable again at a fraction of the cost of new ones. Belleville Shoe Hospital, opposite Crystal Hotel. s15 6td

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

Y.M.C.A. GYMNASIUM OPENING SEPT. 27TH—JOIN NOW.
Junior Fees, $3.00 to $5.00; Seniors, $8.00 and $10.00; Girls, $3.00 per year. s18 2td

SPECIAL PRICES

Of good Crawford peaches. On account of the enormous large crop, peaches are running smaller than usual. Fresh car in every day. Get our prices before buying. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge Street, opp. P.O. Phone 520. s20-6td

◆

U. S. REVENUE CUTTER ARRIVES AT OGDENSBURG

Brockville, Sept. 17.—The United States cruiser, Chillicothe, recently ordered to this vicinity by the Washington custom authorities to aid in stopping liquor smuggling activities across the border, arrived at Ogdensburg yesterday and wharfed at the city dock. The vessel will begin patrolling the St. Lawrence and the Thousand Islands immediately. The cruiser is heavily armed.

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

THE GOOD JUDGE

—offers an apology for not giving you something new, but business has been so pressing there has not been time to write a change of advertisement.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station Street
50 Albion Street
Belleville, - Ont.

Tend to Your Children's Eyes

At the beginning of the school year, bring your child to Blackburn's and have the eyes examined. This is really a duty, for only by a scientific examination can the exact condition of the eyes be found out.
If a condition which causes strain is present, your child is under a handicap in school work, and neglect is apt to cause permanent impairment of vision.
We make a specialty of examining children's eyes.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

A big raid for arms in Ireland was made by Sinn Feiners in seized motor cars. Hundreds of masked men compelled motorists to drive the raiders through the country.

A tragedy is reported at the village of Hemford, N.S. After killing four the murderer suicided.

S. A. HYMAN & CO.
Established 1870. Makers of Fine Furs

Traveller's Samples
LADIES' CLOTH COATS
At Less Than Cost Price

Having obtained the entire range of sample Ladies' Cloth Coats from one of the largest manufacturers in Canada, we are offering these coats while they last at less than cost.

IT'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE FULLEST ADVANTAGE OF THE LIBERAL SAVINGS ON ALL THESE COATS.

--- SEE OUR WINDOW ---

S. A. Hyman & Co.

SPRACKLIN A FIGHTER.

The Methodist Minister Who Went After the Bootleggers.

Bootleggers, liquor runners, and those of the underground methods in the border cities are having a merry war with Rev. J. O. Leslie Spracklin the provincial license inspector. This Methodist minister got appointed to his present position in order to fight the bootleggers in the vicinity of Windsor.

"Shorty" Spracklin, as he was known for years around Windsor, where he attended the Public school, is a "fighting parson" in more ways than one. His friends were much amused when, several weeks ago, he was backed to the wall in the Sandwich town hall, and, for a time, it looked as if he were to have had a pugilistic encounter. Spracklin could have taken care of himself.

The Methodist minister comes from a fighting family, and a family who know the conditions in Windsor and Sandwich from away back. There were three boys in the family, William, Leslie and Arthur. In their young days they resided on the Detroit river front, half way between Windsor and Sandwich. Under the careful guidance of Noah Brusso (Tommy Burns, champion heavyweight prize fighter), who had a gymnasium on Michigan avenue, Detroit, "Bill" became a well known and successful pugilist. Arthur and Leslie also became handy with their fists. They used a room in their house, established a ring, and the boys of Windsor saw some good bouts.

Whilst duck hunting down the Detroit river, Bill was accidentally shot through the head from a shotgun in the hands of a companion. Following this misfortune, both Leslie and Arthur turned to the ministry, studied, passed their matriculation, and attended college.

Leslie was graduated from Victoria College, and was ordained in 1911.

Rev. Leslie Spracklin knows the local conditions well, and is a fearless man. An interesting time is, no doubt, scheduled for the undergrounders of the border cities.

Chief License Inspector Ayearst, it may be noted, is a former minister.

Lake on a Hill.

Ontario has a lake that is situated literally upon a mountain (or a hill) within five miles of Picton, Prince Edward County, on the north or bay shore, and separated from the bay by a ledge of solid limestone, terminating in a rocky precipice 200 feet in height. It was formerly supposed that this lake, which is over three miles in circumference, derived its supply of water through an underground passage connecting it with Lake Erie, but it is now believed that the supply comes from local springs that burst into the lake from points below its surface and that are fed by the rains that fall within a radius of several miles. The layers of rock, being of a sloping character, bring the water gradually downward towards the lake, into whose depths it finally bursts. The lake depth is about 100 feet below the mean water level. There is a similar lake in the same county, about 20 miles west, known as Roblin Lake. It is not near the bay. Another such lake is on Beloeil Mountain, situated south of Montreal. Its size is about 300 feet by 400 feet.

Not Our First Attempt.

Canada has twice before raced for the America's sup. In 1876 the Countess of Dufferin, representing the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto, was beaten in two races by the defending yacht Madeleine. Again in 1881, the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club, a Lake Ontario yacht club, challenged with the yacht Atlanta. And once again, the United States won with Mischief in two races. There is, therefore, ample precedent for the sending by Canada of a challenge for the coveted trophy which for sixty-nine years has stayed continuously in American hands. The fact that the challenge has been received so soon after the failure of Sir Thomas Lipton's fourth attempt to bring back the cup to England provides assurance that interest in international yacht racing will continue. And if victory should in 1921 again be won by the defender, Sir Thomas Lipton will be free to despatch Shamrock V, across the Atlantic in 1922.

Dog Is Honored.

Last December when the steamer Ethele ran ashore on the coast of Newfoundland with ninety-two passengers, including a new-born infant, in immediate danger of death in the heavy sea, Reuben Decker, of Bonne Bay, called his dog and, putting the end of a rope in his mouth, started him to swim to the wrecked ship. The dog, holding the rope fast, plunged into the heavy sea, and after struggling for more than an hour reached the steamer. With the line aboard, the passengers were sent ashore in a breeches buoy, the baby being carried in a mailbag. Now the dog has a silver collar, the gift of a number of humane societies of Philadelphia.

Sorely Tempted.

The proprietor of a furniture shop chanced to glance out of the window and saw a small boy lingering around a barrel of apples which were exhibited on the footpath. "Hey, there, boy!" exclaimed he, going to the door. "What are you doing?"

"Nothing," laconically answered the boy, with his gaze still fixed on the barrel.

"Nothing, eh?" doubtfully said the man. "Aren't you trying to steal some of those apples?"

"No, sir," responded the youngster. "I'm trying not to."

Wore an Elastic Band.

A mackerel was recently caught in a trap at West Head, Shelburne County, Nova Scotia, with an elastic band round it. The fish measured about eighteen inches and the band had embedded itself about a quarter of an inch in the flesh.

◆

"Misfortunes come unexpectedly to the careless man," says the Safety League.

"If you think you won't have an accident, ask the man who had one, then think safety," says the Safety League.

RITCHIE'S

New Millinery
ARRIVING DAILY
Featuring All that is Novel and Approved for This Season

Large shipments of new style hats are arriving daily, entirely different from that show at our formal presentation of the authentic new style creations in our Millinery shown rooms on Opening Days. One after another these charming hats will be a source of wonder and delighted surprise, for great is the variety and the artistry of these new modes wrought by clever, deft fingers. A softly crowned, softly draped hat of Blackw ill add piquancy to an interesting face. Ostrich, flattering dear to every feminine heart, graces many a saucy brim with soft swirls, or fine strands. And there are dashing little street hats that will be perfect with the trig new Autumn tailleur or street frock.
The Millinery Parlors will weclome your inspection of these many new modes, priced from
$5.00 to $35.00

NEW COATINGS
New Coating in the much wanted cloths and materials for Fall are to be found in our Dress Goods section. Never have we been so well prepared as this season with this special showing of Fall Coatings, in Bolivia, Cord, Tinseltone, Silvertone Blanket Cloth, Whitney Cloth, Tweeds and Polo Cloth, at prices ranging from $3.50 to $12 yard

New DressGoods
Velour, Suede Cloth, Gabardine, Broadcloth, Worsteds and Tweeds in the approved shades for Fall in a truly wonderful showing at from
$2.50 to $8.00 yd.

Plaid Skirtings
Plaid Skirtings for Skirts and Fancy Dresses at from $1.50 to $8.00 yd.

VEILINGS
MONA LISA, the new snug fitting veils, are in great demand because of their unusual distinctiveness. We have them in a full range of shades, large meshes and fine scrolls, made of a delicate mesh so that they do not hurt the eyes, 75c.

Sweater Yarn
A new stock of Sweater Yarns, completing a full range of shades, in Monarch Floss, Monarch Down and Comfort Yarn.

New Velvets
All wanted colors, plain and cord; have a rich soft pile of exceptional depth. This unique feature in Cotton Velvet is obtained by a special process of manufacture. Priced from $1.00 to $3.50 per yard.

PLUSH
This lustrous fabric drapes most beautifully and is supplied in a wide range of fashionable colors at from $7.50 to $20.00 per yard.

Ritchie's Men's Store
In our Men's Department we have prepared lavishly for you men this Fall with a range of Suits and Overcoats which in our way of thinking surpasses anything we have shown for years. These clothes are as different from ordinary clothing as gold is from iron. They are not expensive, however. In fact, we believe our clothes will give you dollar for dollar, more worth than any clothing of their quality standard you can select.

New Tweed Hats
New Tweed Hats, Hard Hats and Fur Felts—in fact, everything from a Necktie to a Fall Suit or Overcoat—all of the most deserving quality, all economically priced, and all backed by our guarantee of satisfaction.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

ADVERTISING FOR ADVERTISING

We will devote this space regularly to a series of advertisements to stimulate interest in our Classified Want Ads.

We are publicity advocates and practice our own precepts because we appreciate their value.

This series will be pregnant with pertinent points of general interest, whether you wish to buy or sell, to employ or be employed, to borrow or to lend, to find a finder or an owner.

It will pay us to run these advertisements. That is the best proof we have to offer that it will be profitable to you to use our Classified Want Ad. Columns.

OUR PUMPKIN PIES ARE POPULAR

They are well made, and made from the fine, fresh, ripe pumpkins. Some fresh today.
35c each
CHAS. S. CLAPP

The alleged killer of George Elliott near Sault Ste. Marie, was taken in the woods, together with two girls.

General Herrero, accused of the murder of President Carranza, is in revolt against the central administration. Troops have been sent to capture him.

THE WEATHER
Moderate east to south winds, fair with higher temperature.
Wednesday, moderate to fresh southwest winds, fair and moderately warm.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business Is Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 290.

Tremendous Majorities for Cabinet Ministers

HON. E. W. WIGMORE ELECTED IN ST. JOHN, NEW BRUNSWICK, BY 4,190 MAJORITY, AND HON. F. B. McCURDY IN COLCHESTER, NOVA SCOTIA, BY 1,750 MAJORITY.

HALIFAX, Sept. 20.—Bye-elections which were held today in Colchester County, Nova Scotia, and St. John and Albert Counties, New Brunswick, resulted in the return of Hon. F. B. McCurdy, Minister of Public Works, in the former constituency, and Hon. E. W. Wigmore, Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, in the latter. Both Ministers had sought endorsement at the hands of the constituencies after assuming Cabinet positions in the Federal Government of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Mr. Wigmore was opposed by Dr. A. E. Emory, Liberal, of St. John, whom he defeated by 4,190 majority, the vote standing Wigmore 8,028, Emory 3,838.

Hon. F. B. McCurdy is elected in Colchester by a majority of 1,750 over his Farmer-Labor opponent, Capt. Hugh Dickson, M.C. This is a larger majority than friends of the Minister of Public Works anticipated. They expected to have at least one thousand, but are not altogether surprised that this figure is surpassed, though that it should be seventy-five per cent. greater than the advance estimates was quite beyond expectation. At the provincial elections in June Conservative farming districts throughout the county went over almost wholesale to the Farmers' side, and it was a matter of some doubt whether this attitude on the part of the rural voters could be overcome in this Federal bye-election. In the early stages of the campaign there seemed to be reason for thinking that the Farmers would hold to the same position in this election as before, but in the later days of the contest it had become apparent that Mr. McCurdy was making inroads on the Farmers' ranks that would hold good till polling day.

Murdered Four Then Killed Himself

HALIFAX, Sept. 21.—In a fit of demented rage, resulting from a long-standing dispute as to the location of a milldam on or near his father's property at Hemford, Lunenburg county, Havelock Veinott this morning at that place shot and killed three men, including his father, and one woman, and then committed suicide. The victims are Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Ritchie, Abner Snyder, William Veinott, father of the murderer, and the murderer himself.

The father was the first attacked, but was not then mortally wounded, and tried to give warning to the others. He failed to get warning or protection to them in time, and the son, having killed the Ritchies at their home and Snyder at his, returned to his father's house, shot the latter dead and then went out to the barn and put a bullet through his own head.

Fuel Control May Return

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—Following a conference with representatives of various provinces throughout the Dominion it is quite probable that the next few days will see the restoration of the fuel control system which was in vogue during the critical period of the war. The Railway Board, under whose jurisdiction fuel control is placed, has not definitely decided to restore the regulations as yet, but will again consider the matter today or tomorrow, it was officially stated today. Meanwhile every available source of information on the coal supply is being carefully watched.

* * *

Hon. Wigmore elected in St. John by 4, 190 and Hon. McCurdy in Colchester by 1750 majority. Victory for Meighen Government.

SAYS MACKENZIE KING HAS GOT HIS ANSWER

St. John, N.B., Sept. 20.—"Mackenzie King, who forced this election, has got his answer," shouted Hon. R. W. Wigmore in a speech he made this evening in the Seamen's Institute when his majority reached 4,000 and his election was conceded. Complete returns in the St. John-Albert by-election today gave the following results; St. John City—Wigmore, 5,148, Emery 2,064; St. John county — Wigmore, 1,466, Emery 744; Albert County—Wigmore 1,414, Emery 1,030; total for Wigmore 8,028, Emery 3,838. Wigmore's majority, 4,190.

Money for Soviet Raised in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20.—At a meeting of the local Labor men Sunday afternoon for the purpose of opening a campaign for the collecting of funds for the purchase of medical supplies for Soviet Russia, a resolution was passed expressing sympathy with the people in Russia in dire distress, condemning in the most emphatic way the continued blockade against Soviet Russia, and pledging support of the campaign until the enemies who seek to turn Russia into a vast cemetery are defeated in their purpose. There were about 500 present, and the collection amounted to $287.

Bell Telephone Hearing Begins

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—Heavy and steadily growing increases in wages and cost of materials, besides depreciation in plant, which must be overcome if the business interests of the country are to be met, and greater cost of financing, were the chief reasons given by C. F. Sise, General Manager of the Bell Telephone Company, for an increase in rates when the hearing was commenced before the Board of Railway Commissioners this morning. At the present sitting of the Board the company will be given an opportunity to establish its case, and adjournment will be taken to allow representatives of various public bodies opposing the application to study the statements submitted by the company. In the course of his evidence General Manager Sise emphasized the fact that thousands of applicants cannot be served and that if the necessary plant is to be provided to meet requirements it will be necessary to borrow ten million dollars per annum for some years to come.

GRAIN ELEVATOR DESTROYED BY FIRE—G.T.R. SHEDS BURN

Brampton, Sept. 19.—Fire totally destroyed the Elliot elevator and granary at Cheltenham, about eight miles from here, early this morning. The buildings are close to the G. T. R. tracks, and a spark from an engine is supposed to have caused the blaze. Two thousand bushels of grain were stored in the granary, and, together with weigh scales, gasoline and other contents, the loss to Deputy Reeve Elliot is only partly covered by insurance. The village is without fire-fighting apparatus, but a volunteer bucket brigade prevented the fire from spreading to buildings nearby. Grand Trunk outbuildings were destroyed by the flames, and for a time the station was in danger.

* * *

League of Nations smooths out difficulties between four bellicose nations, first instance in which League of Nations mediation has been accepted by countries virtually at war.

Dispute Act May be Opened to all Bodies

Trades and Labor Congress Splits on Subject of Extension.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 20.—Resolutions recommending state insurance in connection with the workmen's compensation act, and that all accidents, minor or otherwise, be reported, were adopted by the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress.

The following resolution dealing with the industrial disputes act, submitted by the Ontario provincial council, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, was then taken up, concurrence being recommended by committee: "Be it resolved, that the industrial disputes act be extended to all industries upon the application of either an organization involved, an employer or a municipality; providing that the compulsory clauses restraining the right to strike pending decision of such board be eliminated, and the act so amended as to preserve full liberty of workers and employers during sitting of the board."

Review Operations.

Coupled with this was the recommendation of the executive council that the convention again review the operations of the act and reach a position that would enable the congress executive to act clearly in the interests of the majority of the organized wage earners, and that the executive be instructed to draft suggested amendments for submission to the government.

Robert Levitt, of Calgary, took exception to the committee's recommendation and advocated the repeal of the act unless the features of compulsory arbitration and forbidding of strikes until after an attempt had been made to the settle the difficulties were removed.

Fred Morgan, of Toronto, favored the recommendation of the committee, as did Archie Burton of Hamilton.

See Benefits.

President Tom Moore explained that while the congress had in the past been against the act, the extensions of its operations to war time industries as a result of the order-in-council had led to a knowledge of its benefits as well as disadvantages to so large a circle of workers that the congress found itself in a position of receiving resolutions requesting its extension to other bodies and demanding its repeal. Therefore, it had been thought advisable to ask that the committee's resolution be concurred in.

There was a pretty general opinion expressed by delegates that the act as it stands permitted the employers to fortify themselves and nullify any efforts on the part of the workers should a strike be found necessary.

The recommendation of the committee was then adopted.

Adjourn to Winnipeg.

The congress endorsed the recommendation of the resolutions committee and executive council that the latter draft suggested amendments to the industrial disputes act seeking to remove clauses prohibiting strikes until investigation and the extension of its application to workers to whom it does not already apply and endeavor to have the act so amended. It was also decided to ask that the embargo on coal be removed.

A resolution submitted by the Hamilton District Trades Council, that the government be requested to refuse to license any detective agencies engaged in strike-breaking activities, was heartily endorsed, some of the delegates speaking on it declaring that in many instances the detectives were guilty of atrocities committed with a view to turning public opinion against the strikers.

The convention adjourned at 1.30 to meet in Winnipeg next year.

SISTER OF GEORGE HAM OF THE C. P. R. DEAD.

Woodstock, Sept. 19.—Following a lingering illness, the death took place last evening of Agnes Ham, wife of George W. Shibley, of this city. Mrs. Shibley was seventy-two years of age and was born in Napanee. A little over two years ago she came to this city to live, and last December she and her husband celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. Surviving are two sons, M. H. Shibley, proprietor of the Oxford Hotel here, and J. A. Shibley, of Toronto. George Ham of the C. P. R. Passenger Department is a brother. There is also a granddaughter, Miss Irene Cowan, who made her home with her grandmother. She will be buried at Napanee.

Fischer Grilled Gives New Leads

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—After grilling Fischer at police headquarters in regard to the Wall street explosion, it was announced that several "new leads" in investigation of the explosion had been received from him. Fischer emerged from the conference room sweating and mopping his brow.

Robert A. Pope, his brother-in-law, who had turned him over to the authorities at Hamilton, was waiting for Fischer, and the two men embraced. Fischer was then taken to the Bertillon room, where he was "finger-printed." From there he was accompanied to the District Attorney's office.

At headquarters Pope said he believed both Fischer and Fischer's mother had psychic powers.

The police still are holding Fischer. Chief Inspector Lahey, Acting inspector Coughlin, Capt. Carey of the homicide squad, and finally Police Commissioner Enright questioned Fischer. All agreed that Fischer "is a man well versed in all matters brought up in the enquiry," conversing intelligently.

Fischer told the police that the Wall street blast made no appeal to his sympathy, as he was once a victim of Wall street himself, and could not feel sorry for anyone who suffered through the disaster."

Fischer was examined in the District Attorney's office at some length, following which Assistant District Attorney Talley announced that he had arrived at the definite conclusion that Fischer "is crazy."

Assistant District Attorney Carlino announced that it had been learned that Mrs. Pope, Fischer's sister, had petitioned the West Side Court two days before the explosion to have her brother committed to an asylum or entered at Bellevue Hospital for observation. Her request was refused, Carlino said, adding that Mrs. Pope explained that her brother was laboring under the delusion that he could transmute brass to gold and glass to diamonds, and that he believed he possessed power to communicate at long distances without the aid of scientific instruments.

Boy Scout Training Saves His Life

RENFREW, Sept. 21.—Fred, second son of Dr. A. S. Wade, Chairman of the School Board, met with a serious accident while duck hunting in Reid's Lake on Saturday.

The youth, who is 18 years old, was alone in a canoe when he saw some ducks. He reached for his gun, drawing the weapon toward him by the barrel. The trigger caught and the gun was discharged, completely shattering the young man's right forearm. He paddled the canoe to land with his left arm and saved his own life by applying a tourniquet to his wound and stopping the flow of blood. He was a prominent member of the Boy Scouts and the training received in that organization as to methods to be adopted in case of injury stood him in good stead when the occasion arose in his own case.

He was removed to the hospital at Ottawa, where his arm was amputated but he is doing well. He visited the Toronto Exhibition with the Boy Scouts last year, and had just returned from a two-hundred-mile canoe trip to Algonquin Park.

Engine Carries Truck on Pilot 75 Yards

Isaac Levine Rattled When Crossing Track; Satisfied He's Alive

WHITBY, Sept. 21.—Spectators at the Whitby Grand Trunk Station witnessed the unusual spectacle of a truck riding on the cowcatcher of an engine Saturday evening when 5.15 Whitby-Lindsay local picked up Isaac Levine's truck at the crossing and carried it down 75 yards to the station. Isaac got rattled when crossing and started right on the track. The engine hit the truck head on and carried it down without even upsetting the machine. The driver jumped immediately after the engine hit the truck and was unhurt. Fifty dollars will repair the truck. When a friend sympathized with him for the damage done the truck, Isaac replied, "The truck be darned. I am alive."

* * *

Armed civilians ambush Lorry in Ireland. Four persons wounded.

Spreads, ranging all the way up to 1400 per cent. reported by Toronto Department of Health in connection with food prices in restaurants.

Newspaper Price Less Than Cost of Raw Material

Declares Public Let Down Very Lightly and Urges Increase

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—Stanley Clague, managing director of the audit bureau of circulation, which concluded a two-day session here on Saturday dealing with matters affecting the Canadian situation, made some comment on newspaper problems in an interview. The audit bureau is a co-operative association of advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers.

Mr. Clague said the newspaper publishing business was the worst example of merchandising in the whole realm of business, as it was the only business where the finished product was sold for less than the cost of the raw material. "With but few exceptions," Mr. Clague said, "the subscribers of the daily newspapers of Canada pay less for them than the publisher pays at the mill for his newsprint."

Mr. Clague repeated a compliment he paid the Canadian daily newspapers in Montreal a year ago: "Taken as a whole, I believe the Canadian newspapers represent the highest type of journalism in the North American Continent."

Nova Scotia Miners Refuse to Accept

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

GLACE BAY, Sept. 21.—Following an all-day discussion of Royal Commission report on wages and mining conditions, the executive of the United Mine Workers last night unanimously decided against acceptance. They also decided to ask locals to pass resolutions authorizing executive to reopen negotiations with all Nova Scotia operators.

Sunshine Fund

That the citizens of Belleville are generous and warm-hearted is evidenced by the response to the appeal in The Intelligencer for contributions to aid a family in urgent need, owing to sickness and death. The generosity of the citizens is deeply appreciated by the family in question. Additional subscriptions since the last report are as follows:

W. J. B.	$ 2.00
J. Patterson	2.00
Mrs. John Robinson	2.00
A Friend	2.00
Gilbert's Bakery Staff	18.50
Mrs. C. A. Bonisteel	1.00
Leslie Shoe Store	Boots
Mrs. J. R. Reid	1.00
Mrs. G. F. Adams	1.00
F. Marner	1.00
Geo. I. Thomas	2.00
Mrs. Col. Campbell	1.00

J. J. Haines—Goods to the value of $5

Staff Tour to Start on 22nd.

The staff tour of officers, which starts on Wednesday, will be one of the most important military matters held in the local district. Fully seventy senior officers of the district will take part in the tour.

There will be two distinct forces in the tour, the Red force and the Blue force. The Red force will operate from Kingston to the west, while the Blue force will work from the west into Kingston. Everything will be carried out under war conditions, and will prove one of the most valuable tours for the officers of the district.

The tour will open with a conference of officers at three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, and preparations will be made for the real work on Thursday and Friday. The entire party will be billeted in Kingston. After the tour is over, a dinner of all officers taking part will be held, followed by a conference, at which the work done in the tour will be reviewed and matters pertaining to the district will be discussed.

Brig.-Gen. W. B. M. King, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., will be director-in-chief of the tour, with Col. F. W. Hill, D.S.O., director of the Red force and Col. K. N. Perry, D.S.O., of the staff of the Royal Military College, will be director of the Blue force.

Among the officers expected here for the tour are Col. L. T. McLaughlin, D.S.O., Lt.-Col. H. K. Dawson, C.M.G., D.S.O., Lt.-Col. Edwards, D.S.O., Lt.-Col. Vandewater, Lt.-Col. Andrew Grey, and many others from all parts of the district.

Police Wreck Irish Town Where Comrades Were Killed

MANY HOUSES WERE SET ON FIRE IN FACTORY TOWN OF BALBRIGGAN — TWO CIVILIANS SHOT DEAD AND SEVERAL WOUNDED — ENGLISH HOSIERY FACTORY DESTROYED—PEOPLE FLEE FROM TOWN IN TERROR.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

DUBLIN, Sept. 21.—Auxiliary police forces last night wrecked the town of Balbriggan in retaliation for the shooting of two police officers there on Monday night when District Inspector Burke was killed and his brother seriously wounded. Two civilians were shot dead and several persons wounded. Many houses were set on fire and the largest hosiery factory in Ireland, belonging to an English firm, was destroyed.

This morning the town was in terror and streams of refugees in all sorts of vehicles were making for neighboring villages.

Dragged Woman About by Hair

Fatal Shooting in Windsor Result of Extraordinary Attack

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 21.—Following a drunken brawl at the home of Mrs. Lena Cosak, in Ford, early yesterday morning, Andrew Villaume, 20 years old, living at 64 Staubin Road, Ford, was shot in the breast close to the heart, and died two hours later in Hotel Dieu. Mrs. Cosak, who is said to have fired the shot, was arrested several hours later charged with the crime. The woman is a Russian, only 23 years old, and has an 18 months old baby, who was taken to the jail with her. She neither speaks or understands English.

Villaume with five companions called at Mrs. Cosak's home about one o'clock Monday morning and demanded liquor. Witnesses declare all were intoxicated. When they were refused admittance to the place, it is alleged they forced the doors and knocked Mrs. Cosak down. Then one of the men seized her by the hair and attempted to drag her about the room, but she escaped the grip of the drunken man, seized a small revolver from a dresser and began to fire. The first shot went wild, but the second found the mark and Villaume dropped with a bullet hole in his left breast.

News of the row had been telephoned to Ford headquarters and two officers arrived and arrested everybody in sight, including Steve Gefanao, Christian Molica, Andy Morris and Jeffrey Kitsan.

The men were arraigned before Magistrate Miers Monday afternoon, and will be held as witnesses. Mrs. Cosak, through an interpreter attempted to talk, but was in such a nervous condition that the magistrate ordered her remanded for a week.

Last Miunte Telegraph Briefs

Illicit Drug Traffic.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Evidence that certain porters and news agents on Canadian railways are implicated in carrying drugs across Canada has reached Federal health officials here and it is stated immediate action will be taken.

Strike Still Threatens.

London, Sept. 21.—The executive committee of the Miners' Federation informed representatives of the men today that in the opinion of the committee nothing had taken place during its negotiations with the Government to justify a prevention of the strike of the miners at the expiration, next Saturday, of the strike notices previously handed in.

Voted For Preference

Toronto, Sept. 21.—After a spirited discussion on the question of free trade versus protection, the Congress of the Chamber of Commerce of the Empire today passed a resolution in favor of Imperial preference by a vote of 82 to 21.

Pre-War Prices

Detroit, Sept. 21.—Re-establishment of pre-war prices on all products of the Ford Motor Company, effective immediately was announced today by Henry Ford. Price reductions range from fourteen per cent. on motor trucks to thirty-one per cent. on small automobiles. The announcement said that the reductions were made despite unfilled orders for 146,000 vehicles.

* * *

Race riots in Chicago, negro kills trolley conductor, mob had negro hemmed in when police arrived.

Important Motion From Belleville

Brought Before Empire Chambers of Commerce by Belleville Delegate.

Monday's session of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, held in Toronto, was featured by a resolution from Belleville which won hearty support and was adopted.

Col. Ponton moved a resolution dealing with the development of the resources of the Empire, to the effect "that the work of reconstruction which now occupies the place of first importance among the great tasks confronting the Empire, every colony develop to the utmost the resources within its boundaries, to the end that the Empire as a whole and the Dominions and colonies individually, may increase home production and be less dependent upon other countries for the commodities which the Empire is well able to provide, backed by British capital, developed by British ingenuity, produced by British workmen, and shipped in British bottoms; and that a comprehensive summary of the industries, natural resources and advantages of all parts of the Empire, with authoritative reports from time to time upon current conditions and development be prepared so as to be available to all desirous of trade with or travelling through the sister nations of the seven seas, and the emigration of British citizens between Great Britain and her overseas Dominions be facilitated and encouraged and if necessary subsidized so that British commerce and British men and women, the greatest assets of the Empire, may be retained under the flag, to the end that the Empire may become as far as possible self-contained with special reference to defence and food supply."

"We need a vision retrospective, circumspective and prospective, but we must remember that without production the people perish," said Col. Ponton, "and that is the note which ought to be struck." The object of the Chambers of Commerce should be to replenish the world's storehouse and satisfy the people. "Work and produce," he urged. "Let the Empire be made an Empire of homes, because no man ever raises the red flag on his own hearthstone."

Oliver E. Bodington, vice-president of the British Chamber of Commerce, Paris, who seconded the resolution, said: "Imperial preference is not enough, it is only one of the many ways of consolidating the Empire. We must have Imperial telegraph service, imperial propaganda, an imperial press service—clean, wholesome and active, imperial statistics, and a thorough system of imperial transportation.

"Don't let us pin our faith solely to the League of Nations, however advisable it may be," he urged. "In Heaven's name let us keep our powder dry, as the French are doing. I cannot disguise from myself that the Hun is again abroad and that he is endeavoring to slink into the League of Nations like a wolf into the fold with more than half of his treaty obligations unfulfilled, and individually the Hun influence is creeping among us in the lowly garb of the traveller of commerce and in the sleeker and more imposing lineaments of the international banker. He has not altered. He is exactly the same individual today as those who ravaged and devastated France and Flanders. Against this influence we must be prepared. Eternal vigilance is the price of Empire; as it is of liberty."

H. L. Symonds, of the London (Eng.) Chambers of Commerce and others supported. The resolution was adopted.

Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG OPTICIAN

FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus, 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each —Also—
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
192 Front St. Phone 283

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
By Alex Ray, Opt. D.
YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

THE WONDERFUL FRUIT MEDICINE

Every Home In Canada Needs "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

To those suffering with Indigestion, Torpid Liver, Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headaches, Neuralgia, Kidney Trouble, Rheumatism, Pain in the Back, Eczema and other skin affections, "Fruit-a-tives" gives prompt relief and assures a speedy recovery when the treatment is faithfully followed.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine made from Fruit—containing the medicinal principles of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, combined with valuable tonics and antiseptics.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

City & Country

POLICE SEIZE WHISKEY

Last night the police paid a visit to Mike Deboni's place of business on the west side of Front street near the market and discovered nine bottles of Gooderham and Worts whiskey. The liquor was taken to the police station for safe keeping, as was also Deboni. A charge of having liquor in an unlawful place has been preferred against him.

AUTO RAFFLE ILLEGAL

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, of Peterboro received a telegram from the Attorney-General's Department calling attention to the section of the Criminal Code covering gambling devices at Fall Fairs, etc. According to Crown Attorney Hatton the Act included the local G.W.V.A., drawing for an automobile and he has advised H. S. Watley, secretary of the local branch, that the money already taken in will have to be returned. Eight hundred tickets have been sold at one dollar each. The car was to have been drawn on the last day of the Peterboro Exhibition.

ASHES INTERRED

The body of Mrs. J. R. Lane of Los Angeles, formerly of Port Hope was cremated and the ashes sent to Port Hope for interment in Union cemetery.

OVERLOOKED COMMANDMENT

Fearing that the frost might injure his tomato crop, a farmer in Hope township overlooked the third commandment and he and his good wife picked over one hundred and twenty bushels of tomatoes on Sunday.

◆

SUGAR COMPANIES DECLARE DIVIDENDS

Dividends declared by the South Porto Rico Sugar Company and the Fajardo Sgar Company, which it was announced recently in New York, would reach 100 per cent, are not the only large sugar dividends that are being declared this year.

The Santa Isabel Sugar Company has declared a cash dividend of 100 percent, which is probably the highest dividend that will be paid by any sugar company in Porto Rico this year. Other sugar properties may yield a return equal to or in excess of the Santa Isabel dividend but so far they have not been reported as having been declared in the form of dividends.

The Santa Isabel dividend is all in cash, while the dividend of South Porto Rico Sugar Company has been declared in the form of a stock dividend, new common stock being issued for each share of common stock now outstanding. The 100 percent dividend of the Fajardo Sugar Company amounts to 30 percent in cash and 70 percent in stock.

Most of the sugar companies in the island, it is believed, will declare dividends that will probably reach 50 percent.

◆

KILLED BY FALLING BUCKET

Lindsay, Sept. 17.—A sad fatality occurred at Manila, 16 miles from here. Mr. William Wright had a man named Thomas Gray engaged in cleaning out a well, and in some unaccountable way the hook became unfastened, allowing the bucket, heavily laden, to fall some 35 feet back into the well, crashing on the head of the unfortunate Gray. His skull was fractured and he was killed instantly. He is survived by a wife and family.

◆

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

THE MAN ON SMOKY TOP

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Think you'll manage all right?" asked the old warden as he shook hands with young Maynard.

"Sure thing," replied the latter. "Good-by and thanks." Shouldering his pack he turned away up the pine-scented trail.

The old man looked after him doubtfully. During his long career as warden in this little corner of the Adirondacks many men of many types had he sent up that winding path to stay from May until October, but never before so well-set-up, so well bred, so handsome a youth, and one so obviously capable of holding down a far harder job than that of ranger on old Smoky Top.

Some time later, arrived at the summit, Sperry Maynard threw down his pack at the door of a small shanty set in a cleared space a few hundred feet square. Adjacent to it was a sort of platform on the top of four poles, evidently a lookout. On one of the poles was fastened a telephone box, an incongruous object in the wilderness, but necessary in the performance of his duties.

So this was to be his home for five months! Sperry sat down upon his duffle and gave himself up to eating the last of his sandwiches and reviewing the circumstances which had brought him here.

Briefly—it was ennui and disillusionment. With more money to spend than he had known what to do with and with a generosity which made him an easy victim of his associates, he had led a spectacular career at college. Then his father had died, increasing his already absurd income.

But he was riding for a fall from the quarter in which he least expected it. He believed his two best friends to be his roommate and the girl he was as good as engaged to. Coming to his rooms suddenly during the prom festivities he had surprised them in unequivocal love-making, while ostensibly having tea.

Sperry had left the room, the campus, the town. In sudden revulsion he had hunted up an old friend of his father's and asked for a job, only stipulating that it be out of doors and away from the world.

As a result, here he was, the Smoky Top ranger, whose one duty was to sweep the horizon with high-powered glasses and by means of the telephone to report any fires to the fire wardens below.

As May melted into June, and June into July, Sperry grew accustomed to his monotonous solitude. At times, however, intense longings for the pleasures and companionships of civilization seized him.

It was just after such a period that a gay party of men and women from the hotel on the lake below climbed to his shanty. First came a portly, middle-aged man, puffing considerably; then a younger man, followed by three ladies, two of whom were unmistakably past the bloom of youth. The third brought up the rear, and at first Sperry did not notice her. Then, as he caught a glimpse of the beautiful face beneath the soft sport hat, he paled beneath his tan. But on the girl's part there was no trace of recognition.

"I say," said the elderly gentleman, "do you have many fires?"

Sperry managed a reply. "Sometimes one a day. Again, not a sign of one for weeks."

"What would you do if you were surrounded here?" This question was from the older woman. Perpetual asking of it from other touritsts had given Sperry a ready answer. "Probably be killed," he said cheerfully. He always gave the proper touch of romance to his situation which they demanded.

"Oh," said the girl softly, her brown eyes wide with horror. Sperry could see now that the resemblance to another, at first so striking, was really only intermittent as her expressions changed.

Long after their departure Sperry thought of his visitors, particularly of the girl and the young man. Were they engaged or, possibly, married?

A week later they came again, with variations in the personnel of the party, but still the same couple. This time Sperry deliberately, yet unostentatiously, made conversation with her.

Just before they left the girl said suddenly, "I am coming up again." That was all, but the knowledge was a bright gleam in the dull monotony of his lonely days.

Many times she came and always with the personable youth, who seemed to have established himself as the girl's bodyguard. Little by little Sperry learned that she was staying with friends; that she was not married; that her name was Barbara. And Sperry, who had thought he was done with love at twenty-three, presently reached the stage where his first waking thought was, "Will she come today?"

Then came the long dry spell of late August. Sperry was kept busy reporting fires. The very air became yellow with smoke haze, and for days at a time the lake below was not visible.

One morning Sperry paused in the act of chopping down a dead tree to sniff the air. Certainly the atmosphere was unusually acrid. A glance through the glasses reported nothing yet Sperry had a feeling that the fire was not far away.

Running down the trail, he observed that the density of the smoke was increasing. Coming out on a little knoll he saw an opaque cloud of smoke settled on an adjacent shoulder of the mountain. Here and there it was shot with flame.

His trained eye, however, saw that the wind was taking it away from the summit, and that it would probably burn itself out when it reached the edge of the cliff. Returning, he reported the fire to the warden.

Late that afternoon Sperry sat smoking an old pipe. Suddenly he heard a rustle on the trail behind him. Turning, he waited. Was it a deer or had some one been foolish enough to climb the mountain, menaced as it was by fire?

Thunderstruck, he gazed at the girl who stumbled toward him. Her wealth of hair tumbling about her shoulders, her expression one of relief tinged with embarrassment, Barbara advanced, a most intriguing figure in boyish knickerbockers and gray flannel blouse.

"I was riding," she explained, "and I saw the summit was all smoky, and I wondered—" she broke off in confusion.

"You came up here to see if—if everything was all right?"

She nodded.

"Why, that was—well, awfully good of you," said Sperry gratefully.

She turned to go. She was beginning to feel, as well as he, the unusualness of the situation. "I left my horse at the foot of the trail," she volunteered. "I am going home tomorrow."

His heart sank. "I am sorry to hear that. Your visits up here have meant—well, more than I could make you understand. I had gotten out of touch with the world, and came up here to forget many things."

"Was one of them my sister Evelyn?" she asked calmly.

Sperry turned in amazement. So that was where the resemblance came from. "How did you know?" he demanded.

"Oh, I always used to examine the pictures of good-looking men she kept on her dresser. And I picked up stray bits here and there which led me to think she hadn't used you quite right. But tell me, do you still think of her?" she asked wistfully. "You know, she's married."

"Quite the contrary," said Sperry slowly. "The mountain winds have swept away her memory along with many other things. In their place they have brought me a wonderful dream girl. When they rustle in the grass, I imagine it is the stir of her dress, and when they whisper in the pines I play I am listening to her dear voice." The man waited, telling her with his eyes what he did not dare put into words.

Shyly Barbara laid a slim young hand on his arm. "Sperry Maynard," she said softly, "years ago I fell in love with your picture, and when I saw you for the first time up here and recognized you, I knew you were much nicer even than your photograph!"

"Do you mean—Barbara!" and on the word his arms were about her.

A little later, when he had taken her down to her horse, he gave her the last kiss before the temporary separation. "I hoped to find myself on old Smoky Top," he whispered; "I little dreamed I would find you!"

Albania's First Treaty.

The first treaty ever written among the tribes of Albania has recently been signed. The only foreign nation named is America. The people of Albania are of the oldest race in Europe, the race that peopled Athens. Since the time of Alexander the Great, who chose always Albanians for his bodyguard, they have been invaded and harassed by Dorians, Greeks, Latins and Slavs. They have retained their primitive tribal form through self-defense, and the tribes have also warred among themselves. Now this is to cease. Five powerful tribes on the north have met and formed an agreement, or bessa, to work for peace, for Albania autonomy and the defense of Albania against invaders.

Man and His Demands.

One great trouble with the world is man has taken himself too seriously. By no possibility can he be an angel, yet he is demanding that reward for his poor services here on earth. He is not entitled to prosperity and idleness at the same time; no arrangement can be made whereby this is possible. Yet he demands it.

Man is an animal, living in a material world and must cut his cloth accordingly. To demand more than he is entitled to is a waste of time; he might make himself reasonably prosperous and content with the time he wastes in blubbering for the moon. —E. W. Howe's Monthly.

War Library.

The war library at Princeton university is taking on tremendous proportions. There are more than 1,000,000 titles. By a co-operative plan Yale, Harvard and Princeton each have access to the other's collections. Duplications will be avoided. There are many German titles that have come through courtesy of the state department.

Life Seen as a Poem.

The most beautiful poem there is is life—life which discerns its own story in the making, in which inspiration and self-consciousness go together and help each other; life which knows itself to be the world in little, a repetition in miniature of the divine universal poem.—Amiel.

◆

New French president to be elected September 21st.

"A careful man does not need to tell you he is sorry," says the Safety League.

SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

BIG SONG, DANCE AND FUN SHOW

All of the comical cut-ups from the "Katzenjammer Kids" cartoons appear in the big musical comedy version of the comic supplement pictures that will be presented at the Griffin Opera House for one night only tomorrow night. Hans and Fritz, Ma Katzenjammer, Der Captain, and all the rest of the funny characters of the cartoons take part in the swift moving action of the play.

Those who have watched the "Katzenjammer Kids" cartoons will realize the wonderful opportunity for comedy in a play made from the cartoons and all their expectations will be realized for "Katzenjammer Kids" has been called the world's greatest fun show.

"Katzenjammer Kids" has been given a magnificent and massive scenic production has been costumed in right up-to-the-minute feminine style creations and with a big company of musical comedy favorites and a chorus of delightful, dainty, darling, dimpled dresden doll divinities, is a show that will prove one of the sensations of the season.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG IN "EYES OF YOUTH"

To quote a recently published editorial, "What would you give to be absolutely certain today of what would happen to-morrow," there is probably no person, man, woman or child, in the world who would not risk possibly their lives for one little peep into the future. Advance information has been the basis of over fifty per cent. of all the great fortunes in the world. It is a historical fact that the fortune of the Rothchilds, the greatest individual fortune in great Britain, was founded upon information secured by a member of that famous family of the defeat of Napoleon at Waterloo. Probably one-half the world today is in some sense interested in the communicating with spirits or by some other method, and the other half of the world is sitting eagerly back, awaiting the result of these experiments before they, too, become actively interested. Clara Kimball Young is appearing at Griffin's this Thursday to Saturday in "Eyes of Youth" one of the most gripping productions in years, because, in addition to being one of the most famous plays of the year, as well as one of the best and most elaborate productions of Miss Young's entire screen career, the development of the story will show in a new and startling way the possibilities of reading the future through the process of crystal gazing.

◆

DON'T SPOIL YOUR HAIR BY WASHING IT.

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

◆

Sports

THREE CHAMPIONS MATCHED FOR RACE

A. M. Orpen, of Toronto, principal stockholder in the Kenilworth track at Windsor received a wire from Willis Sharpe Kilmer owner of the horse Exterminator, saying that he was willing to start his champion against Samuel Riddles Man o' War and Commander J. K. L. Ross' Sir Barton in a special match race for $50,000 and a $5,000 gold cup, winner takes all. This race should settle the question of supremacy over a distance of ground. The ditsance has not yet been decided but it will be at least a mile and a quarter. Exterminator is the best 5-year-old at a distance in America. Sir Barton is king of the 4-year-old division while Man o' War is unquestionably the best 3-year-old in America if not in the world. Exterminator has been shipped to Toronto for the Autumn Cup race at the Woodbine Saturday.

ABANDON KEYSTORM.

Brockville, Sept. 17.—Work has been abandoned for this season on the efforts to raise the steel freighter Keystorm which sank in 1913 off the foot of Grenadier Island. Captain Wm. Leslie of Kingston has been endeavoring to salvage the craft this season, but has now removed his outfit to Kingston. Last year the cargo of coal which the boat carried was removed.

SINCLAIR'S

Autumn is Here!

The Calendar says so. The cooler days say so, and the new stocks of merchandise in our store say so.

Complete assortments of Autumn apparel are ready—Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Gloves, Neckwear and Stockings—everything that gives comfort and beauty for the new season. There is such a pleasure in having the first choice of the new things and now is the time to most fully enjoy this privilege.

The Suits For Autumn

ELEGANTLY BRAIDED AND RICH WITH FUR

One encounters so much that is new in Suit Showing that to linger and inspect each new feature and to try on every suit becomes a real temptation. Embroideries, tasteful fur trimmings, gay linings, are style departures that catch the eye, but we are sure when you inspect their faultless tailoring and their individuality of style, you will be greatly impressed with them.

A Frock

—of Serge or Tricotine is every woman's first concern in Autumn. It fills a dozen distinct and different needs. She may don it for informal social wear, or just as appropriately for the shopping trip. The favored Autumn tones are all shown. Moderately priced from $19.50 to $65.00.

Sweaters for Chilly Days

Two special clearing lines of Sweaters have been set apart for quick selling. The one lot consists of Pullover Sweaters with V-neck and Sailor Collar in contrasting colors. They are specially priced at $3.50.

The second lot are Pullover styles with round or V neck in a good variety of colors. Priced to clear at $2.50 each.

You will picture the children wearing cunning little frocks when you see these Ginghams. And we won't be a bit surprised if you select a good many yards to make up into dresses for yourself. Prices begin at 50c. yard.

New Autumn Woolens

LOVELY IN TONE AND FINISH.

The new Woollen Fabrics of Autumn have warmth and body, yet they are inexpressively soft to the touch. Only after they are made up into fashionable frocks, coats, suits and skirts can one fully appreciate the beauty of their textures. There is great variety from which to choose.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

GRIFFIN'S—LAST TIME TONIGHT.
TOM MIX
In his latest drama of daredeviltry and romance,
"THE TERROR"
Jack Dempsey—Larry Semon Comedy—Burton Holmes Scenic

Griffin's Opera House
TOMORROW NIGHT
BEAUTIFUL GIRLS — MAGNIFICENTLY GOWNED
23 SONG NUMBERS. 6 GORGEOUS SCENES

A BIG SNAPPY MUSICAL COMEDY BASED ON THE FAMOUS FUNNY CARTOON
A TREAT FOR YOUNG & OLD-BIG & LITTLE
THE ORIGINAL THE KATZENJAMMER KIDS
HANS
FRITZ
A SHOW FULL OF NOVELTIES AND SURPRISES
WITH A REAL FASHION PLATE CHORUS
A SHOW FOR YOUNGSTERS FROM 6 TO 60
EXQUISITE GOWNS & BEAUTIFUL GIRLS

SAME CAST AND PRODUCTION THAT PLAYS TORONTO NEXT WEEK.
PRICES—$1.50, $1.00, $75c., 50c. SEATS NOW SELLING.

The Strange and Fascinating Visualization of a Young Girl's Experiences on the Threshold of Life!
The screen's most vital personality
Clara Kimball Young
in the entrancing dramatic document
"Eyes of Youth"
The tale of a soul's turmoil midst the Height of Happiness, the Depths of Misery, the extremes of Joy and Gloom.
The most lavishly staged picture in the history of the screen.
WE GUARANTEE IT TO YOU—REGULAR PRICES.
"The Whirlwind"—3 Other Comedy and Travelogues.
GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F GRIFFIN
THIS THURSDAY TO SATURDAY
Bargain Matinee, Saturday, 2.30.

BROTHERHOOD—THE SUPREME PASSION OF THE HOUR
WORLD BROTHERHOOD CONGRESS
WASHINGTON, D.C., OCTOBER 9th to 13th, 1920.
Delegates from 30 Nations. Eminent Speakers from all parts of the world. Will be the most remarkable religious gathering ever held in America.
Railway rates a fare and a third from the American border, or make the trip by Auto. Washington return, $30.00.
A most delightful journey at a most delightful time.
Send your Minister, Leader of Men's Work, Sunday School Superintendent to Catch the Vision of World Brotherhood behind the League of Nations.
Full particulars from T. Howell, Director and General Secretary Canadian Brotherhood Federation, 405 Kent Building, Toronto.

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.
UNDERTAKERS
14 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment

PALACE
VISIT THE DAILY MATINEE
THIS THURS. TO SATURDAY
A Star of Beauty and Daring
Ruth Roland
in
The Adventures of Ruth
—An action serial of romantic risks and breathless thrills.
—Each episode a rousing adventure.
—Each episode building a dramatic romance.
—Each episode crammed with mystery.
—The entire serial one of high heart interest, plus beauty and daring.
also
H. B. Warner
in
"A FUGITIVE FROM MATRIMONY"
2—Other Quality Plays—2

ARE YOU NERVOUS?
Do You Jump at the Least Noise?
Take VITAL TABLETS
One whose nerves are unstrung, becomes irritable and cross and no one can sympathize with you. Why don't you try Vital Tablets,you will be surprised at the results. They make the nerves strong and healthy. You will be a different person in a few weeks. Vital Tablets are a wonderful tonic. They build up the entire system. Indigestion and all of its horrors will eventually leave you if you persist using Vital Tablets. Go to your druggist and get a box today. Price 50c or 6 boxes for $2.50, or by mail. The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

Letters to the Editor

NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS

TO S. A. CITADEL

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Permit me to lay before the public the work we purpose doing in the renovation of our citadel on Pinnacle street and to make an appeal to them for a liberal financial help. We find after many years that the building is in many ways deteriorating, for some time past we have had a new building under consideration, but the cost of material and etc., would make our financial obligations rather heavy to carry. The idea of a new building has been abandoned and we are now going to repair the old one. The foundation, walls, and roof of our present building is in very good condition and with some money spent on the same would do us good service for many years to come. The following is an outline of some of the work we plan on doing: Floor, walls and ceiling to be painted and decorated, new front doors and windows, the two end doors in front to be taken out and the space bricked in, the building to be reseated with new opera chairs, the building re-wired with new electrical fixtures as present system is condemned. Re-arranging of heating and renovation of officers quarters upstairs, all brick work to be repaired and painted with a new chimney built, and building painted on the outside.

The above is only a portion of the work that has to be done.

The renovation necessary will cost approximately four thousand dollars, and we sincerely hope to raise this amount. We have in the past at this season conducted a Harvest Festival Campaign, the proceeds of which have been sent to Toronto for general home mission work, but this year we are combining that effort with this present appeal and no money collected will be sent away but will be used in meeting the cost of the above work, the contracts for which have already been let and work will proceed immediately.

We purpose making a systematic canvas of the city in the next few days and we hope to meet with a generous response, but any who wish to make contributions, Adjutant I. Cavender, the corps officer, 90 Mill street or W. B. Brown corps treasurer, 4 Bridge street east, will be pleased to receive the same. Thanking you for the above space, I am

Yours sincerely,
I. CAVENDER, Adjt.

Callaux has asked permission to go to Brussels where he proposes organizing a bank.

The health of President Deschanel of France has grown better since he resigned office.

Toronto Leafs made a clean sweep of the series of Akron.

FLOUR BAGS AND ABIGAIL

By JANE OSBORN

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When old Grandpa Bradshaw died he had no fault to find with the way his house had been kept during his lifetime. For within the sixty years that had elapsed since he married and acquired a home of his own, he had three of the best housekeepers that Newton had ever known—his wife, who had presided over his hearth for some twenty odd years; his maiden daughter, Eliza, who had lived to carry on the Bradshaw housewifely traditions another double decade, and then his granddaughter, Abigail, who for nearly a score of years had never missed a Monday washday, a Friday cleaning day or a spring house-cleaning. She was even more methodical, more systematic, more economical than her other predecessors had been.

Grandpa Bradshaw's affairs had not been difficult to settle. Gradually he had withdrawn from the small bakery business which he had built up, and which had been as gradually absorbed by the large baking company of Newton, so that all that was left to tell of his industrious life was a very small annuity for Abigail, the result of deposits in the savings bank. This, with the house that the Bradshaws had lived in for a century, constituted Abigail's worldly wealth. Obviously, it was necessary for Abigail to "do something."

And though Abigail was known to be immensely capable, better educated than the average woman of Newton, friends and neighbors were not a little concerned for her, for she was a notorious home body. Everyone knew that she would never be willing to leave the old place, and she would never be willing to give up keeping house. It was whispered that Abigail might have married—it was known that at least two eligible males had proposed for the rather comely, capable hand that belonged to Miss Abigail Bradshaw. That she had not accepted marriage as a solution to her problem was evidenced by the neat shingle that was tacked to the Bradshaw front door bearing the words, "Table Board." Others in Newton had tried it and had failed—the high cost of food commodities was against them. But if anyone could manage to make money, then it was Abigail, for she was immensely capable and economical. She was what was known in Newton as a "good manager," but no one had any doubts as to the bounty of the table that she would set. So she gathered around her old oak board a little household of "mealers." There was Miss Heck, who went around shampooing the feminine inhabitants of Newton, and the school teacher, Miss Brown; the young bachelor who was the new minister at the Methodist church; Joe Bennet, an old widower who busied himself managing his collection of well-selected real estate, homeless since Mrs. Bennet had died a year before; the foreman from the factory, and perhaps one or two more. It meant a good deal of work for Abigail, for Abigail was not one to give up her thorough methods just because of the increased quantity of cooking or dishes she had to wash. Then remember, Abigail had nursed old Grandpa Bradshaw during those months after he was too feeble to go to the bakery, as had been his custom. She had been under a terrific strain which was made even more trying because when old Grandpa Bradshaw had died she was confronted with the first change since as a girl in her teens she had gone to keep house for her grandfather.

No wonder, then, that as the warm June days arrived she became worn and wan under the toil of providing three meals a day for her hungry family. Abigail had always looked remarkably young—you might not have thought her over thirty, but the color began to fade from her cheeks and the circles deepened under her soft brown eyes, eyes that could express so much tenderness and sympathy, or unlimited stores of capability.

Then one day when the young minister arrived for supper he was met by Miss Heck, of shampooing fame, and Miss Heck's face was long.

"Miss Abigail's ailing," she announced with importance. "Such supper as you people have tonight will be what I get for you, and I won't have time to do much cooking along with looking after Abigail. She's in her room now, crying—all tired out and—"

"I suppose she misses her grandfather," commented the young minister, helplessly.

"Doubtless; but that isn't just what's the matter with her."

The other mealers arrived, and to them all Miss Heck gave the same explanation, making each and every one feel that he or she was doubtless entirely responsible for the condition that Miss Bradshaw had come to.

Miss Brown, the school teacher, lingered after supper to help with the dishes that Miss Heck had taken upon her own capable shoulders to "do up."

"It isn't just missing her grandfather," commented Miss Heck in a stage whisper. "It's the flour bags that seem to bother her."

"Flour bags?" echoed Miss Brown. "Flour bags couldn't harm her, could they?"

"I didn't want to explain," went on Miss Heck. "They mightn't understand. But when you have been doing a thing the same way for twenty years you get mighty sot in your way. And she has never done housework without flour bags, and plenty of 'em. So when I came in she just burst out and cried."

"But can't she get any flour bags? What does she want of flour bags?" queried Miss Brown.

"Grandpa Bradshaw always had the empty flour bags from the bakery, and Abigail used to have 'em to make into dish towels and scrub cloths, and she even used to sew them neatly together and use them for common hand towels. I think she even made some of her ordinary underclothes out of them. Any rate, she used 'em for all sorts of housework and thought she was economizing. Lately the dealers have been selling them. Get so much a hundred for them back at the flour mills, but old Mr. Bradshaw put so much stock by having them that they used to go on giving them to him rather than sell them. But now he's gone, of course they sell them, and Abigail can't have them any more. I saw her downtown buying a dishcloth the other day, and my, but she looked sad. She told me she handn't used anything but flour bags for twenty years, and today she's all broke up about it."

"I'm real sorry for her," mused Miss Smith. "It's too bad when a woman gets so sot in her way. It makes it hard, though, taking in mealers without having the bags. Too bad she didn't marry."

"My sakes," commented Miss Heck, who was known to have a serious admirer of her own in another town, "no one would want to marry Abigail. She's so sot in her ways."

"Maybe so," rejoined Miss Brown.

Meantime Abigail, all tired out, discouraged and disappointed and at odds with herself, sobbed on in her low-cellinged bedroom above stairs and some one who had overheard most of the conversation just quoted stole silently out of the living room of the Bradshaw homestead and down in the direction of the new bakery, where the process of baking bread for the following morning was just getting under way.

The next morning Abigail was at her post, but her eyes showed the effect of her tears and there were signs that she was feeling the effects of her long strain and anxiety.

When the rest had started off on their several duties Mr. Joe Bennett, who, by the way, was the eavesdropper, lingered awkwardly in the dining room. Miss Abigail came back into the dining room from the kitchen and was surprised to see him, a large package under one arm, standing there, first on one foot and then on the other like an awkward schoolboy.

"I know you told me not to ask you again, Abigail," began the bachelor, suddenly gaining control of himself and looking into Miss Bradshaw's brown eyes, "but I thought I'd take another chance. You're all tuckered out. You need some one to look after you, a strong shoulder to lean on. Let me look out for you, let me—"

"Oh, Joe." Miss Abigail's voice was almost peevish. This declaration on the part of the faithful Joe Bennet seemed just like an added trouble. "If I was to marry you, I'd have to go on housekeeping just the same, and it just seems as if I couldn't keep the house the way I used to." Joe tried to interrupt, but Miss Abigail perceived it and went on. "I know you are going to say you'd be willing to board in the city, but, Joe, I couldn't leave this place, and if I stay here I'll have to keep house, and it just seems now as if I couldn't keep house without—without grandpa."

There was a pause, during which Joe Bennet fumbled with his package. "Goodby," he said eventually, then he started to turn and came back facing Abigail, who was fumbling a corner of her apron nervously. "I almost forgot to leave this bundle," he said, and you might have detected a twinkle in his gray eyes. "I've got a little stock in the new baking concern, and when I was down there I happened to see a bunch of the flour bags. Seemed too bad to throw them away." Far from it in reality, for Joe Bennet had paid two dollars for the generous supply that he now held in his hand. "So I just took them along with me. I'm like that way; hate to see anything go to waste. Perhaps you could use them for dusters or something." Then Joe Bennet turned in earnest to go.

"Seem's as if you were very good to me," said Abigail, and those brown eyes of hers wore an expression of indescribable tenderness. In fact, her voice, her gesture, everything about her bespoke irresistible tenderness. "Things seem different now," she said. "I can't just explain, but—but maybe."

"You don't have to explain," said Joe Bennet groping toward the little brown figure in the gloaming. He put two strong arms out and Abigail crept into their shelter. "All I want is just you," he said.

A Fish with a Lantern.

Down in the ocean two or three miles below the surface the water is full of strange fish. It is as cold as ice, and the pressure of the water is more than twenty-five tons per square inch of surface. Since no daylight penetrates to that depth, many of the curious fish that live there carry their own lights. Some have phosphorescent spots on them that flash like the light of a fire fly, and one odd type has a long tentacle with a phosphorescent ball at the end like a lantern to guide him on his way. This lantern also serves as a lure for other fish, which are promptly gobbled up by their capter.—American Boy.

A Poser.

Just after Peary returned from the North Pole, a lesson on the subject was being given in a public school. A tiny voice was heard from the kindergarten side, "If you please, did people always know where the North Pole was?"

"Yes, my boy," was the teacher's reply.

"Then how could any one discover it?" asked the pupil.

Always First
Fit-Reform was the original maker of hand tailored garments in quantities in Canada.
Fit-Reform Suits and Overcoats are still the leaders in the perfection of every detail of fine tailoring, as well as in the quality of the cloth and the elegance of the finished garment. 401
Fit-Reform
Chas. J. Symons
Belleville

MACDONALD'S
PRINCE OF WALES
"The Tobacco with a heart"
The Workman's favorite chew— everywhere
2 sizes 15¢ & 20¢

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.
Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.
Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.
John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $5.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added

CONDUCT CITY BUSINESS ON MODERN BUSINESS LINES.

Municipal government is cumbersome, inefficient and expensive under the system of elective councils. The members of municipal councils are often unjustly criticized—it is not the men but the system which is at fault. Various remedies have been proposed and experimented with, but the city manager system seems to be the best evolved thus far. Port Huron is taking up the city manager plan of civic administration and the Port Huron Times-Herald discusses the question editorially as follows:

> The city manager idea is beginning to take hold in Port Huron. That is pretty well shown by the discussion at the Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday night last, which brought forth favorable expressions from a number of citizens and finally resulted in the adoption of a resolution calling for a referendum vote of the members of that organization. This is the first move in the direction of securing a new charter for this city and it is a matter in which every citizen who has at heart Port Huron's welfare should be deeply interested.
>
> The Times-Herald has for several years been an advocate of the city manager plan for the reason that this newspaper regards it as the most modern and most efficient form of government. Naturally, we are gratified with the attitude taken by business and professional men, as indicated by expressions of opinion at Tuesday night's meeting. This will lead to something definite and, with proper presentation should finally result in the adoption of the commission-manager plan for Port Huron.
>
> But let us not be deceived. It is not going to be an easy matter to bring about such a change. It will take EDUCATION, and EDUCATION, and still MORE EDUCATION. Men who are students of city government will be for the city-manager plan because it represents as near the ideal form of municipal government as it is possible to secure. They don't need to be converted. Business men need only to understand the underlying principles in order to be lined up on the side of the commission-manager plan.
>
> It is to the rank and file of the people, the great mass of voters, that commission-manager government must be sold. This is always the greatest obstacle. The reason for this is that the public fears what opponents of the commission-manager plan call "one-man" rule. As a matter of fact there can be no more democratic plan of government than that represented by the commission-manager. Its proponents understand this and it will be their business to make the voters understand it, too.
>
> After all, it is a very simple proposition. The City of Port Huron is a big corporation. The voters are the stockholders. They would elect the commissioners, just as they do now. The commissioners, in turn, would choose an experienced man to do the executive work. They could hire him or fire him at will. He would simply be a business manager. The commissioners would serve at nominal pay—probably $5 a meeting, and would be a legislative body. That, in a nutshell, is commission-manager government, such as has been advocated by this newspaper with the sole idea of securing a dollar's worth of work for a dollar's worth of pay for the City of Port Huron.
>
> It is not a new idea. It is in no way experimental. Pontiac has it. Kalamazoo has it. Grand Rapids has it. Jackson has it. Many other progressive cities in this and other states have it. The plan is working out well, wherever it has been tried. It isn't perfect, by any means, but it is as near perfection as we can hope to attain and it does away with many partisan political influences in city affairs. There is no better time than the present to get started.

LABOR WANTS TARIFF TAKEN OUT OF POLITICS

The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, meeting in Windsor, have approved a clause in the report of the executive committee favoring the removal of the question of customs duties from politics, and suggesting that tariff decisions should be reached only after exhaustive inquiry, "and with a view to enabling the worker to be paid proper wage standards."

"During the past year," says the report, "there has been carried on a very active campaign by certain interests for the adoption of a free trade policy in Canada. To the numbers of workers engaged by Canadian branches of United States industries and other industries claiming tariff protection as necessary for their existence this question is a vital one."

HYPHENATED DANIELS.

(Mail and Empire)

No more insulting proposal has been bred of American hyphenism than the suggestion put forward by Oswald Villard, of New York, that a committee of one hundred Americans should investigate the Irish question. He hypocritically professes to be animated by a desire to remove ill feeling between Great Britain and the United States when he named one hundred of his fellow citizens, including William Randolph Hearst ,to make "a thorough and impartial report" on Irish affairs. It is not the whole Irish question that is to be examined but the charges of atrocities. The British Government will be invited to produce any proof it has of Sinn Fein crimes—crimes for which Sinn Feiners are now undergoing prison sentences—and Sinn Fein, on the other hand, will be asked to prove the charges of reprisals made against the British troops in Ireland and against the Irish constabulary. That is to say, British courts and courts-martial which have examined evidence and convicted Sinn Feiners are now to defend themselves before this precious "Committee of One Hundred" against the implied charge of being perjurers, while Sinn Fein is to be given an opportunity of presenting more propaganda before a body that will be packed with haters of Great Britain.

Only the names of a few judges are published, but among these are several who have been noted either as pacifists in the war, or as enemies and critics of the British Empire. The British Government might properly refuse to have its actions passed upon by any body of aliens, no matter how distinguished, and it might as well resign its functions in favor of the Sinn Feiners as consent to recognize the motley group that has consented to serve on the Villard tribunal. Mr. Villard, himself, was well and unfavorably known in the early days of the war because of his German descent and his pacifist utterances. The lessons taught by the war must have somewhat shaken Mr. Villard's assurances or he would have nominated W. R. Hearst, Jane Addams, Maurice Egan and himself as a sufficiently qualified board to pass judgment on the British Government, instead of adding the names of several other persons unheard of before, who are willing to pronounce on Ireland in exchange for the privilege of seeing their names in the columns of Mr. Villard's magazine.

CRISP COMMENT

Corbyville's new hotel will probably be known as Alco Hall.

× × ×

The High Cost of Living has graduated from the joke column to the sad songs of the sob sisters.

× × ×

Toronto Exhibition visitors have departed, but the jingle of the coin they left keeps Toronto from being lonesome.

× × ×

Hold-ups have been resumed in Toronto, says a newspaper headline. Visitors to the Exhibition wonder when they were suspended.

× × ×

According to a correspondent of the Toronto Globe there is a man in the township of Dungannon who spent several evenings filling out his income tax papers and found that he had a net income of eighteen dollars upon which "to feed twelve children and two million grasshoppers." He should worry. Supposing he had two million children and only twelve grasshoppers!

× × ×

The German-American support of the Republican presidential candidate because he is opposed to the League of Nations and, of the two candidates, less friendly to Great Britain, and because Democratic President Wilson did not keep the United States out of the war, may yet prove an embarrassment to the Republican party. Similarly in Canada, the opposition of the radical and hyphenated element to Premier Meighen will win him support from one hundred per cent. Canadians whose political inclinations may not coincide entirely with those of Canada's Premier.

× × ×

The wages of sin have not lessened in recent years; rather it takes a very fast person to make enough to keep pace with the game he is playing.—Kingston Whig.

× × ×

E. W. How says that girls hesitate to marry men with wooden legs, but jump at the chance to form an alliance with a person with a wooden head.

× × ×

The Syracuse Herald man has been in a restaurant during recent weather, for he soliloquizes: "If it were as difficult to get liquor out of a cellar as it is to get salt out of a salt cellar, prohibition would indeed prohibit."

× × ×

Durham Grits must be hard pressed for candidate material when they had to fall upon such an old campaigner as W. T. R. Preston. But probably Durham Liberals are not the only ones who find difficulty in securing a suitable man to back up Mackenzie King.—Guelph Herald.

× × ×

Lindsay Crawford's Statesman has very bitter things to say about President Tom Moore and Secretary Paddy Draper of the Dominion Trade congress and of Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor. Which fact is to the credit of those three labor leaders, indicating, as it does, that they are sound, loyal Canadians.—Hamilton Herald.

× × ×

Apples, under the scheme fostered by Mayor Gray to reduce the cost of living, will be available to citizens of Winnipeg at a cost of $1.50 per 60-lb. bag, in comparison to the present cost of $4.50 per 40-lb. crate. The first shipment of these apples is expected to reach the city on Sept. 25, and will consist of a carload of Greenings. One carload per day will be shipped. The mayor stated that he hoped to flood Winnipeg this fall with enough apples for every man, woman and child at practically cost. This would enable the poor as well as the rich to enjoy this fruit. He said apples will come from orchards in the vicinity of Hamilton and Toronto.

OTHER VIEWS

Wants to Know

Kingston Whig

In the olden days it was the pride of men to boast of how much work they could do in a day. Do you ever hear men talk of it today?

The Matter With "Isms."

Saskatoon Star

Mr. Balfour's satire on the Soviet—he had no doubt it would be successful in making the rich poorer, but he doubted greatly its efficacy in making the poor richer—will be a classic for succeeding generations. That is precisely what is the matter with the Soviet, with communism and other isms of the kind.

Where the Paper Goes

London Chronicle.

Some exciting figures appear in an article on American periodicals in the current Publishers' Circular. One issue alone of a certain popular journal it is stated, would supply enough paper for all the books bought by all the United States public libraries in a year, two or three times over. Three of the periodicals combined use enough paper in a year to girdle the earth with a page-wide strip 148 times and the ink used amounts to 3,600,000 pounds. The mere details of 13,000 miles of rope used annually in tying up the parcels for delivery is thrown in by way of parenthesis. Hence it was not surprising to hear a paper merchant declare that America is using more "newsprint" than her mills can produce and prices are still rising.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Another peak of high prices has been passed, but this does not tell us anything about how high the next one will be.

Famous Words of Famous Women

"They say she can't keep a maid for two weeks at a time."

Not a Bit

Medical Officer: "Have you any organic trouble?"

Recruit: "No, sir. I ain't a bit musical."

Probably

Bobbles: "What does this author mean by saying that the hero had well carved features?"

Dobbles: "Perhaps he shaved himself."

Heard at the Movies

She (viewing film)—Isn't that dog the cleverest thing? Wonder what pay he gets?

He—Oh, a couple of bones a day, I guess.

None Whatever

Binks—I read a curious article the other day advocating a tax on beauty.

Jinks—Good idea! They won't have much trouble in collecting it!

The Housing Problem Again

Burglar (owing to good conduct released after serving two years of a three years' sentence)—What on earth shall I do? I let my 'ouse for three years afore I went to quod!

One-Sided Conversation

"I don't like Mrs. Wombat. Wants to talk about her poodle all the time."

"Is that so?"

"Yes; never cares to hear about my canary."

POET'S CORNER

YOUR PLACE IN LIFE'S PLAN

Have you ever considered your place in life's plan
Should be larger than that which you fill,
Or have you unwittingly just settled down
In the grip of your grind and your grill?

Perhaps you have thought that you had no great show,
That the "plums" to the other men fell,
Nor reckoned that greatness of spirit and pluck
And energy always will tell.

If you are ambitious to win in life's race,
Think not of your ease or your rest;
The things that count most will come only to those Who enter the contest with zest.

'Tis not just the hours for which you draw pay
In which your best work will be done;
The uses you make of the leisure you have
Count most in the race which you run.

Then tighten your belt and take on a new stride—
He loses who falters and shirks;
Make much of the hours, as they come to your hand—
He wins who both willeth and works.

—Fred Scott Shepard.

JUST APPLY THIS PASTE AND THE HAIRS WILL VANISH

(Boudoir Secrets)

The judicious use of a delatone paste insures any woman a clear, hair less skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone, with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for two or three minutes. When the paste is removed and the skin washed, every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of the delatone and it will not mar the most sensitive skin, but to insure results, see that you get real delatone.

Wall street explosion probe points to deep laid plot.

Toronto coroners' jury names Fred Davis as suspected slayer of Goldberg boy.

The Deacon SHIRT

For Indoor and Outdoor Life

Made of Chambrays, Pongee, Fancy White and other Suitable Shirtings.

Ask your dealer.

The Deacon Shirt Co.
Belleville - Canada

DEVELOPING PRINTING
ENLARGING

ANSCO
Cameras and Films.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

We Would Be Delighted

—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.

T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

ADVERTISING FOR ADVERTISING

We will devote this space regularly to a series of advertisements to stimulate interest in our Classified Want Ads.

We are publicity advocates and practice our own precepts because we appreciate their value.

This series will be pregnant with pertinent points of general interest, whether you wish to buy or sell, to employ or be employed, to borrow or to lend, to find a finder or an owner.

It will pay us to run these advertisements. That is the best proof we have to offer that it will be profitable to you to use our Classified Want Ad. Columns.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

S. J. Fisher, Auctioneer
WILL SELL AS FOLLOWS:

Wm. Maine, farm stock, implements and household effects, Sept. 23, on Lot 27, Con. 2, Thurlow Twp.

Miss Minnie Adams, household effects, Sept. 28, at No. 12 Cedar Street, Belleville.

P. L. Shorey, farm stock, Oct. 13th, Lot 13, Con. 3, Thurlow Twp. For particulars see posters, or phone 168, S. J. Fisher, 19 Campbell St.

WE WILL TELL YOU

—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.

Phone DAY 531

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Lawrence Wilson Company

87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES
RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

THAT'S WHAT YOU NEED

for that cut, burn, sore or eczema. Ends pain, prevents blood-poisoning and grows new skin.

All dealers 50c box.

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 5.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 435.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 208

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C. M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 2, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.						READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS.		Train [illegible]	Train 22	Train [illegible]
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	——	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*1.00 a.m.	——
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	8.20 p.m.
7.55 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	3.00 a.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	5.40 p.m.	——	——

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday. S. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

Just a minute, please!

PEOPLE have pride, of course. Pride in their appearance, their work, or their homes.

And that's healthy. But the sort of pride that sneers at an Ingersoll watch because it's low priced is the pride that leads to extravagance and waste.

Thomas A. Edison isn't too proud to carry a Maple Leaf Ingersoll. Plenty of other men whose foot prints are on the sands of time keep time with an Ingersoll.

As a matter of fact an Ingersoll is a watch to be proud of. If you had a servant or an employee who gave the sort of accurate, trustworthy, faithful service in all weathers and conditions that an Ingersoll Maple Leaf gives, you'd be justly proud. You'd think you were a good picker.

And when you can pick out an Ingersoll Maple Leaf for $3.25—or $4.00 if you want the Radiolite that tells time in the dark—you ought to be proud of the chance.

Maple Leaf Radiolite $4.00

Ingersoll

Models from $3.25 to $14.50

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Willard STORAGE BATTERY SERVICE STATION

BATTERIES Charged & Repaired

ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS REPAIRED

A NEW WILLARD BATTERY FOR ALL CARS

Complete Stock of Parts for all electrical systems.

Quinte Battery Service Station
133 Front Street.
Phone 731

OVER-EATING is the root of nearly all digestive evils. If your digestion is weak or out of kilter, better eat less and use the new aid to better digestion. Pleasant to take—effective. Let Ki-moids help straighten out your digestive troubles.

KI-MOIDS

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION 19-1A

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY

CATARRH of the BLADDER relieved in 24 HOURS

Each Capsule bears the name MIDY

Beware of counterfeits

The Thirteenth Commandment

By RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

She was planning to urge him to help her and make their meetings rosier. But, lover-like, he took umbrage and pain and despair from her advice, and since they were again at the vestibule he sighed, "Good night, Mrs. Duane," and flung out into the dark.

Daphne sighed, and the poor elevator man who saw so much of this sort of thing sighed with her and for her.

CHAPTER XII.

All this while Daphne was kept in readiness to take Miss Kemble's part in case the illness of her child should result in death and in the further case that she should be unable to finish her performances. With the theatrical season in such bad estate and most of Reben's companies and theaters losing money heavily, Sheila Kemble was his one certain dependence. He called her his breadwinner.

Miss Kemble's baby passed the crisis and recovered. And then the mother, worn out with the double strain, caught a little chill that became a blinding, choking cold. She went through the Saturday matinee in a whisper, but the night performance was beyond her.

And now at last Daphne's chance arrived. The Saturday night house was enormous in spite of the heat. There were enough people there to make fourteen hundred dollars—twenty-five hundred for the day.

Daphne, trudging to the theater for her usual stupid rebuff, walked into this crisis of her life.

Reben himself knocked at her dressing room door where Miss Winsor was helping her with her make-up. He implored her to be calm, and he was so tremulous that he stuttered. He told her that if she made good he would let her play the part till Miss Kemble got well. He would pay her a handsome bonus. He would put her out at the head of a number two company next season.

Batterson came at last and ordered him off the stage. Reben obeyed him. Then Batterson talked to her. He told her that there was no reason to fear the house. A Saturday night audience was always easy. It wanted its money's worth! It would help to get it.

"I see," said Daphne. "I'm not afraid of the audience."

"Then what on earth are you afraid of?"

"I'm afraid of me!"

Batterson laughed scornfully. "Oh, you! You're going to score a knockout. You're going to make a big hit!"

"Yes," said Daphne, "so you've always told me."

The curtain rose. Miss Winsor and the young man skipped onto their job; the butler stalked; Eldon entered and made his exit. Mrs. Vining spread her skirts and sailed on, then Eldon went back. Finally Daphne's cue came.

She was startled a little as Batterson nudged her forward. She went to the door and opened it on her new career to make her public debut with the all-important "How d' you do?"

She saw before her the drawing room in a weird light. Beyond it was a fiercely radiant fog and beyond that an agglomeration of faces—the mass of tomato cans that she was not going to be afraid of.

And she was not afraid. She was curious to study them. She was eager to remember her lines. And she remembered them. Then cues came more or less far apart and each evoked from her mind the appropriate answer. She made never a slip, and yet she began to realize that Mr. Eldon seemed unhappy.

At length she realized that the audience was strangely quiet. A sense of vaulty emptiness oppressed her. She went on with her lines. She understood at last that she was getting no laughs. She was not provoking those punctuating roars that Sheila Kemble brought forth. The audience had evidently had a hard week.

She decided that she must be playing too quietly; she quickened her tempo and threw more vivacity into her manner. She moved briskly about the scene, to Eldon's bewilderment. He seemed unable to find her.

She went through to the bitter end and spoke every line. But the audience was not with her for a moment. She used all her intellect to find the secret of its pleasure, but she could not surprise it. She tried harder and harder, acted with the intense devotion of a wrestling bout, but she could not score a point.

The company looked worried and fagged. The audience would not rise to anything—humor, pathos, thrill. When the play was over everyone seemed to avoid her.

She rubbed off her make-up and resumed her mufti. As she walked out on the darkened stage she saw Batterson. He tried to escape, but she checked him.

"Tell me frankly, Mr. Batterson, what was the matter with my performance tonight."

"Come to the office Monday and we'll have a little talk."

"And I'll get my notice."

"I didn't say that."

"What would you honestly advise me to do?"

"I understand that you don't have to act. Go home and get married."

"I won't."

"Then go home and don't get married."

"I won't go home."

"There's one other place to go. Good night."

He walked off and she was left alone. She had the stage to herself.

"Go Home and Get Married."

She stood in the big void and felt alien—forever alien. She shook her head. This place was not for her. She had been tried in the balance and found wanting. She wondered if there were anywhere a balance that she could bring down.

She dreaded the forlorn journey home to her dreary room. As she stepped out of the door someone moved forward with uplifted hat. It was Tom Duane. He looked very spick and span. His smile illumined the dull street and his hand clasped hers with a saving strength. It lifted her from the depths like a rope let down from the sky.

Daphne would have been more content if Duane had been Clay Wimburn. It was Clay's duty to be there at such a time, of all times.

Of course he did not know that this night was to be crucial for her, but he should have known. Mr. Duane knew. It never occurred to Daphne that Reben had warned Duane of the debut of his protegee and had invited him—in fact, had dared him—to watch the test of her abilities.

All she knew was that Duane was proffering homage and smiles and the prefaces of courtship. Daphne might have failed to gain the hearts of her audience, for all her toil, but here was a heart that was hers without effort.

Perhaps Duane was her career. He was at least an audience that she could sway. And she was miserably in need of some one that would pay her the tribute of submission.

So now when he said, "Won't you let me take you home in my car?" she could hardly snub a heaven-sent messenger.

She said, "Thank you—you're very kind—but—" Oh, all right!" And she bounded in.

When Duane said: "You must be hungry after all that hard work. Aren't you?" she said, "Yes, I guess I am—a little."

When he said, "Where shall we eat?" she answered, "Anywhere."

"Claremont?" he suggested.

This startled her, gave her pause. Yet there was something piquant about the proposal.

Satan or Raphael had whispered to her an invitation to revisit the scene of her late humiliation with Clay. With Duane's magic purse there would be no danger of a snub from the waiters; with his own car there would be no risk of footing it home.

Then an imp of mischief spoke for her and said, "All right!"

Duane told the chauffeur and the car shot like a javelin from the lighted street into the deep forest-night of Central park.

(To Be Continued)

GIOLITTI THE FOX.

He Has Been a Troublemaker In Italy.

That old fox of Italian politics, Giovanni Giolitti, is the strong man of Italy at the present moment, so it is said. And yet throughout the war, Giolitti was leader of the anti-war party, a stirrer-up of strife, almost looked upon as a traitor. Nevertheless Rome has asked this old man of 76, premier in 1893, to save the country. Revolution is seething in northern Italy, where Giolitti is a power. The Bolshevists rejoice, claiming to see in Giolitti another Lenine, though the former denies it.

A Canadian newspaper correspondent tells his impressions of Giolitti, whom he saw in January, 1918. The newspaperman reached Turin one morning, where he saw Pietro Mascagni, composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," conducting a superb orchestra of eighty pieces, playing at a movie show, whose trashy pictures would have been hooted off the stage of even the most suburban theatre in Toronto. At Turin he also came across Giolitti.

"Our General Headquarters will not like me to send you to this hotel, but what can I do, everything else is filled?" quoth an Italian officer, directing two British pressmen and the Canadian to a lodging while they waited for their passports to Padua. "This place is a hot-bed of intrigue against our Government. All manner of disaffected politicians gather here, and the proprietor is a particular chum of Giolitti—of Giolitti that old mischief-maker. But (with a smile) I don't think you will be contaminated—you English."

A sly-looking, fat old man, the padrone or proprietor, greeted us suavely as we entered his hostelry, eyeing us suspiciously nevertheless as he found rooms. During the lunch of omelette and red wine he plied us with questions, what we thought of the war and when it would end. Noncommittal shrugs were his sole replies to our interrogations. Just as we rose to leave he approached mysteriously, and remarked sotto voce: "Ah, Giolitti come to-night. Perhaps you see him; perhaps you speak with him."

At dusk a commotion suddenly arose in the little rotunda. The fat padrone snapped orders; the sleepy porter bustled out to a cab, while waiters and maids appeared all a tip-toe to do some service. Out of the wet, chilly winter's evening stepped a striking-looking old man whose black eyes and eyebrows of jet contrasted with the snowy patches in his once raven locks. It was Giolitti. Greeting the padrone like a brother, he spoke a few words with that worthy, and he nodded to the assemblage. Then they vanished into a tiny private dining room, wherein Giolitti remained closeted, receiving visits from the faithful, who popped in and out all evening.

Strange that this man should now be called upon to form another Cabinet, to save Italy. A very great British statesman in the summer of 1917 told some newspapermen in confidence that Italy was by no means heart and soul in the war, and that Baron Sonnino, her Foreign Minister, son of an English mother, had been directly responsible for Italy's participation, forcing a wavering Cabinet to take the perilous step. Giolitti strenuously opposed the war from the start and carried his opposition almost to the point of treason during its progress. But though he was still a thorn in Rome's side and still reckoned a danger to the state, after the terrible defeat at Caporetto in October, 1917, Giolitti showed the patriot spirit, proclaiming that henceforth Italians must bury their political differences, stand together, and repel the foe.

Far-Seeing Woman Reformer.

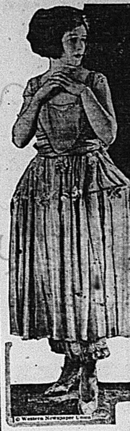
In noting the fact that Susan B. Anthony was born a hundred years ago, it is interesting also to remember that every considerable reform of which she was an advocate has come to pass, says the New York Sun. She fought for the abolition of slavery, for total abstinence and for equal suffrage. Slavery disappeared when she was still in her most active years. When she died, in 1906, many of the states had agreed with her views on prohibition and votes for women.

A Last Resort.

His Wife—Mercy me, Hank! You shavin'? I thought you was goin' to wear them whiskers for always.

Mr. Longbrush—I was goin' to, but we've lost two good table knives an' I've looked every place else for 'em.

JADE GREEN CHIFFON GOWN



© Western Newspaper Union

This evening creation of jade green chiffon will be "just the thing" for stunning evening wear. Violets, orchids and crystal beads make this lovely gown one that appeals.

One Way to Wash Bedding.

An easy way to wash bed quilts or comfortables is to take a small scrub brush and a pail of suds and scrub well the most soiled parts. Place the article over a table to do this. Second, place article on clothesline and rinse with the garden hose. Let the full force of water soak the quilt or comfortable well. This may need be done several times, but the result is a good, clean comfortable without pulling apart the lining.

For Little Folks' Frocks.

One of the latest and really most sensible things for the children's frocks is unbleached muslin. It lends itself admirably to decoration, too, especially when made into "Peter Thompson" suits.

SHOULD RINSE CLOTHES WELL

Neglect in Laundering Causes Delicate White Fabrics to Acquire Yellowish Tinge.

If clothes are not rinsed carefully after washing, white fabrics soon will acquire a faint yellowish tinge. This yellow cast is brought out when heat is applied in the form of an iron. The discolor is much like a scorch in appearance, but not in habit. A slight scorch is easily removed, but clothes yellowed by soap never regain snowy whiteness.

The mission of laundry soap is to remove dirt by a process of disintegration. When the dirt is dissolved the action continues on the threads of the material. The life of cotton or linen is shortened by allowing soap to stay in the meshes of cloth.

Big Handbag Still Allowed.

The big silk bag hasn't been chased out of service by the multitude of small reticules, box-handbags and leather bags, and nifty little purses strewn over counters. The staid big silk bag with its stanch draw-cords still is with us. One in black twill silk has a big monogram done in scarlet silk embroidery. The draw-cords are of silk and red.

Surpassing all others in Delicacy and Fragrance

"SALADA" TEA

Send us a post card for a free sample, stating the price you now pay and if you use Black, Green or Mixed Tea. Address Salada, Toronto. B717

Truest Economy

FRY'S
THE BEST FOOD
AT THE LOWEST COST

113

"SEE? There isn't even a tiny bit of Lantic left at the bottom of the cup! Every crystal dissolved immediately—So OF COURSE it takes less!"

Lantic "Fine" Sugar brings concentrated sweetness to all beverages (hot or cold)— because it's fine!

buy Lantic in original packages-2&5lb cartons-10,20&100lb. bags

10A

Everybody Smokes

OLD CHUM

Canada's Favorite Pipe Tobacco.

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

STUDENT GETS 15 YEARS FOR KILLING ANOTHER

Woodsville, N.H., Sept. 17.—Robert T. Meade, of Lagrange, Ill., the Dartmouth College junior who shot and killed Henry E. Maroney of Medford Mass., a fellow-student, after a drinking bout in a college dormitory last June, pleaded guilty to manslaughter. He was sentenced to serve 15 to 20 years at hard labor in the State prison.

Meade showed entire self-control, hearing the sentence without any show of feeling. His father spoke with him and after a few minutes he was returned to the jail, where he has been since June.

KILL MINE MANAGER IN ALABAMA COAL AREA

Jasper, Ala., Sept. 18.—L. M. Adler, General Manager of the Corona Coal Company was shot and instantly killed and Deputy Sheriffs Edgel and Brown, travelling with him in an auto mobile, were wounded so seriously that both died later. Adler and his party were all shot from ambush, the authorities said. Feeling has been growing bitter between mine guards and miners since the institution of the strike though no conflicts had taken place prior to the shooting.

The Columbia machines and records listed below and many others can be had in Belleville at

The J. M. Greene Music Co. Ltd.
"The Home of Good Music" 316 Front St.,
J. A. Goodsell Manager

Complete October List Now on Sale

Columbia Records

Vocal

The Love Nest, from Mary	Frank Crumit	A-2973	$1.00
Down the Trail to Home Sweet Home	Henry Burr
After You Get What You Want You Don't Want It	Van and Schenck	A-2966	$1.00
YouTell 'Em	Van and Schenck
Oh Judge (He Treats Me Mean)	Marion Harris	A-2963	$1.00
He Done Me Wrong	Marion Harris
I'd Love to Fall Asleep and Wake Up in My Mammy's Arms	Harry Fox	A-2964	$1.00
Rock-a-bye Lullaby Mammy	Harry Fox
Don't Take Away Those Blues	Frank Crumit	A-2965	$1.00
Good-Bye, Dixie, Good-Bye	Frank Crumit
I'll Be With You in Apple Blossom Time	Campbell and Burr	A-2967	$1.00
If I Wait Till the End of the World	Campbell and Burr
Mother-Heart	Louis Graveure	A-6160	$1.65
Forgotten	Louis Graveure

Instrumental Music

Navarraise from Le Cid	Cincinnati Sym. Orchestra	A-6159	$1.65
Le Dragon de Villars—Overture	Cincinnati Sym. Orch.
Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12. Part I. Piano Solo.	Percy Grainger	A-6161	$1.65
Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12. Part II. Piano Solo.	Percy Grainger
Medley of Jigs and Reels Pt. I. Violin Solo	George Stell	A-2956	$1.00
Medley of Jigs and Reels—Pt. II. Violin Solo	George Stell

Dance Music

In Sweet September—Medley Fox-Trot	Paul Biese Trio	A-2959	$1.00
Sweet Sugar Babe—Fox Trot	Paul Biese Trio
Tell Me, Little Gypsy—Medley Fox-trot	Art Hickman's Orchestra	A-2972	$1.00
La Veeda—Fox-trot	Art Hickman's Orchestra
A Young Man's Fancy Fox-trot	Art Hickman's Orchestra	A-2970	$1.00
In the Gloaming—Waltz	Art Hickman's Orchestra
Manyana—Fox-trot	Prince's Dance Orchestra	A-2963	$1.00
Happy—Medley One-step	Prince's Dance Orchestra
Silver Water—Medley Fox-trot	Yerkes' Happy Six	A-2971	$1.00
Good-Bye Sunshine, Hello Moon—Medley Fox-trot	Yerkes' Happy Six
Pretty Little Cinderella—Medley Waltz	Prince's Orch.	A-6162	$1.65
Pickaninny Blues—Waltz	Prince's Orchestra
Blue Diamonds—Fox-trot—Accordion Solo	Guido Deiro	A-2969	$1.00
Zampa Rag—Accordion Solo	Guido Deiro
Midnight Fire Alarm—Descriptive Galop	Prince's Orch.	A-2960	$1.00
The Burning of Rome—Descriptive March and Two-step	Columbia Band

Opera Music

Samson and Delilah—Mon coeur s'ouvre à ta voix	Jeanne Gordon	49752	$1.50
Madrigal of May, from The Jest	Jeanne Gordon	78977	$1.00

British Records

Eternal Father Strong to Save (Dykes)	Temple Quartette	R4024	$1.00
Now the Day Is Over (Baring Gould)	Temple Quartette
Welsh Guards on Parade	Band of H.M. Welsh Guards	R4025	$1.00
Land of My Fathers	Band of H.M. Welsh Guards
When Irish Eyes Are Smiling (Ball) Cornet Solo with Band Accompaniment	Sergeant Leggett	R4026	$1.00
A Little Bit of Heaven (Ball) Cornet Solo with Band Accompaniment	Sergeant Leggett
Selection of Irish Dances (Accordion Solo)	Peter Wyper	R4027	$1.00
Selection of Irish Airs (Accordion Solo)	Peter Wyper

New Process Columbia Records

Individually inspected. Durable, delightful, dependable, accurate in every detail.

New Columbia Records on Sale at all Columbia Dealers the 10th and 20th of Every Month.

COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE COMPANY, Toronto. 161

Standard Models up to $360.

COLUMBIA MACHINES AND RECORDS

WE CARRY A FULL LINE OF RECORDS INCLUDING THE ABOVE, ALSO MACHINES RANGING IN PRICE FROM $37.50 to $360. COME TO OUR SHOW ROOMS AND WE WILL BE PLEASED TO PLAY OVER ANY OF OUR LARGE SUPPLY OF RECORDS. Inquire About Our Easy Selling Plan.

C. W. LINDSAY, Limited, 249 Front St

FARM BUTTER AT FAIRS

Hints for Farmers' Wives With Dairy Exhibits.

Flavor In Butter of First Importance—Firmness Also a Strong Point—How to Cure and Pack In Best Condition for Showing.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

"TO show or not to show," that is the question many a woman thinks over as the time draws near for the holding of the annual fall fair.

There are some who would not miss the event, and make entries in many classes; while others are rather timid about exhibiting, especially if they are doing it for the first time.

Let us take the exhibiting of butter. Sometimes a woman goes home from the fair feeling rather hurt because some neighbor took more and higher prizes than she did. She thought that her butter was good, but the other must have been considered better by the one who was acting as judge.

There are times when a judge has to mark very closely to place the prizes.

Score cards are not used at all of our fairs, nor do all judges use the same score card, but the one proposed by the National Dairy Council reads as follows, as regards points awarded:

Flavor	45
Texture	15
Incorporation of moisture	10
Color	10
Salting	10
Packing	10
Total	100

The flavor of the butter is a very important point to consider. It should be clean and sweet without taint of any kind.

An objectionable flavor, no matter how slight, would prevent one receiving a full score. Some defects in flavor are more serious than others, but many of these could be avoided by taking a little more care.

The care in the stable and in the separator room is just as important as the churning or the holding of the butter afterwards.

If a judge should find two lots of butter with the same total score he would give the higher place to the lot with the better flavor.

The texture of the butter is another point that is taken into consideration. Butter should have good body—firm and waxy.

You have cut butter that looked good and remained firm on the plate, but you have also seen just the opposite to this—butter that had a greasy appearance, the drops of moisture large and milky, and it became soft when left in the plate for a short time.

The judge comes across just as great contrasts when going through the exhibits and he scores accordingly.

To secure good texture it is necessary to make use of suitable temperatures and to work the butter in the right way. Cool the cream immediately after separating and churn it at a temperature that will bring the butter in nice firm granules in 20 to 30 minutes. (Too high temperature means soft butter and greater loss in the buttermilk).

The temperature of the wash water should be such that it will not make the butter too hard or too soft for working. Work the butter by pressing it carefully and evenly. A sliding or cutting motion will tend to make the butter greasy. Overworking should also be avoided. Butter is worked to make it compact and to distribute the salt and moisture evenly. When butter is cut the surface should be close and the drops of moisture should be clear and very minute.

The color of the butter should be even and bright. If the butter is not worked enough the color will be uneven, although this is not noticeable at the time of working.

If the butter is too soft, the salt should be mixed through it, and the butter placed where it will come to a proper firmness before working. By doing this it will score higher for both texture and color than it would if worked in the soft state. The salt in the butter should be evenly distributed and thoroughly dissolved. It is better to have the butter salted very lightly than to have it oversalted. The popular butter at the present time has mild clean flavor, close body and light salting.

The finish or packing should also be considered. In fact, the judge will notice the appearance of the exhibit before he has had time to draw out a plug of butter on his trier. Let the prints be well made — solid, even, with clear-cut corners and the papers wrapped neatly.

Butter tubs and boxes require a lining of parchment paper, and crocks should be in good condition, free from cracks or breaks in the glazing. The top of a large package should be smoothly finished and covered neatly with parchment paper.

Butter for exhibition should be made two days or more before the fair to give it time to become set. It should be kept in a clean cool place on the farm, and be brought to the fair in the best possible condition.

Butter made and cared for in this way will score higher than it would if made the morning of the fair, as is sometimes the case.

Do not feel discouraged if you do not secure the prizes that you hoped to win. Try again, remembering the little rhyme which says,

"Good, better, best, never let it rest,
Till your good is better, and your better, best."

—Miss Belle Millar, O. A. College, Guelph.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

HOUSEHOLD NECESSITY

Gillett's Lye has long been regarded as a household necessity because of the fact that it is useful in so many ways, and so satisfactory in every respect that no woman feels that she can keep house without it. Makes the finest kind of soap for washing and cleansing. One can of Gillett's Lye will make ten pounds of good soap in twenty minutes. Many of its uses are shown in booklet under the label.

"GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT"

Made in Canada.

Much Nonsense Is Talked About the National Debt Of the United Kingdom

A GREAT deal of nonsense is being talked to-day about the National Debt. We frequently hear people speak about the gravity of our financial position, writes Rowland Walker in Pearson's Weekly.

Some nervous folk declare that the country is staggering under an "impossible load. Even a respectable newspaper recently asserted that we were "heading for national bankruptcy."

What, then, is the truth about our national liabilities? Is the country really in debt? And if so, to whom is the money owing? Is there any danger that the creditors will put the brokers in and sell up the Old Country?

By the National Debt, of course, we mean the sum of money borrowed by the Government.

Now, life is worth more than money, whether it be the life of an individual or a nation. And during those dark days of 1914-1918 we rightly staked everything we possessed in order to secure victory.

Money had to be spent like water, and so we piled up a National Debt which now approximates to £8,000,000,000. Every year, therefore, we must raise nearly £400,000,000 in taxation from our people in order to provide interest and sinking fund upon this colossal sum.

If we had been compelled to borrow this large sum of money abroad, I admit that there would have been cause for alarm.

In buying liberty for ourselves and our children, we should have sold ourselves into financial bondage to foreign creditors. And every year we should have had to pay our creditors in gold or its equivalent, the vast amount of £400,000,000. That would really have meant placing the whole of the British Isles in pawn to the foreigner for an indefinite number of years.

Fortunately, nothing of this kind happened. When the call for money came, and the Government had to borrow so enormously, the people within these islands put their hands into their own pockets and supplied the cash.

Nine-tenths of the Public Debt is held by men and women in this country. The rest, it is true, had to be borrowed abroad, chiefly from America, who lent it, not in money, but in food supplies and in raw materials for munitions of war. But even the loan from America is more than counterbalanced by the money which we lent to the colonies, and to the Allies in order to hasten victory.

To put it plainly, then, the National Debt is owing to ourselves. Britain is the debtor, it is true, but the British people are the creditors. It is merely a matter of national bookkeeping. We tax ourselves on one hand to find the £400,000,000, and then we distribute the same in the shape of interest to our own people.

It is sheer nonsense for people to talk about our being ruined by the National Debt. As a matter of fact, the city and the banks are going on just as usual. If prices have risen, so have wages, and money appears to be more plentiful than ever. Trade is booming, and there isn't the slightest evidence of impending national bankruptcy.

The National Debt is merely a family affair, then, and, as a man does not usually put the brokers into his own house, neither shall we break up the British Empire to pay back the loan, which we have only borrowed from ourselves.

And I firmly believe that, as a result of the nation's patriotism, and the Government's thrift and economy campaign, hundreds of millions which might have been flung away in doubtful foreign investments, bogus companies, useless luxuries and so on, have been wisely invested in the National Debt.

REDNERVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haight of Wellington visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Thompson on Sunday.

Mr. Bart Russell also Mr. C. Russell are spending a few days in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Weese.

Mr. and Mrs. G. McMurter attended Shannonville Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sills spent Sunday the guests of Mrs. A. Aston.

Mr. S. Delong and Mr. B. Gamble spent one day recently the guests of E. Brickman.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brickman were guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brickman.

Miss Etta May Brickman spent the week end with Mrs. L. G. Thompson.

Mrs. Allison is on the sick list.

THREE CIVILIANS KILLED IN ROSCOMMON FIGHT

Dublin, Sept. 17.—Two men were killed during a fight with a military patrol at Ballinlough, County Roscommon. Another man succumbed to his wounds during the day. It is alleged that the military came upon the scene after they had recently vacated a police barracks near Ballinlough.

$29,000 LIQUOR CARGO BROKEN AT CARDINAL

Prescott, Sept. 17.—The adjourned case dealing with the seizure of 1,000 cases of liquor by Inspector Adams on August 7 was tried before Magistrate P. K. Halpin. The evidence proved that the steamer Marshall, which transported the liquor, had broken cargo at Cardinal Canal, unloading part of the same at that point for transportation to Ogdensburg, N.Y. This liquor was later seized in Ogdensburg. The shipment, which is valued at $28,000, will be sent by local authorities to Toronto. The owners of the shipment did not appear at the trial nor offer any defence.

IVENS AND IRELAND.

William Ivens, convicted strike leader at present serving two years in Stony Mountain penitentiary, has announced his intentions of championing the cause of the "Irish Republic" as soon as he is free from prison. In a letter read before a meeting called by the Self-Determination League for Ireland, Ivens said that as soon as he was a free man "nothing could stay his tongue in speaking for the Republic of Ireland."

Folks who want the best must insist upon getting what they ask for.

To be sure of the best in corn flakes, order

POST TOASTIES

No corn flakes compare with them in flavor, fullness, goodness.

Try a package and make your own decision.

That's fair; isn't it?

All grocers sell Post Toasties

Made by
Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Ltd.
Windsor, Ontario.

Do Your Banking by R. F. D.

Make the mail your messenger; and save yourself the long rides to town.

Deposits may be made—butter and cheese cheques cashed—money withdrawn—just as easily and safely by mail as in person.

Write the manager to tell you all about this convenient plan of Banking By Mail—or call in and have it explained, the next time you are in town.

14

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

"The National Smoke"

WILSON'S BACHELOR

Still the most for the money

10c.

ANDREW WILSON & Co TORONTO AND MONTREAL

Fall Suits and Coats
of Superb Style and Excellent Quality

A WONDERFUL SHOWING OF NEW FALL STYLES IN THE LATEST MODELS.

NEW SUITS—in Velour, specially priced at $55.00 and $58.50

NEW COATS in Velour, Silvertone, Tweeds, Plush, etc., specially priced at .... $35.00 to $110.00

KIDDIE SWEATERS.—We have just placed in stock a big shipment of Children's Pullover Sweaters. Just the garment for cool weather. Priced at $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50

ENGLISH FLANNELETTES.—A big assortment of English Striped Flannelette. Special va'ues at 45c., 50c. and 60c.

EARLE & COOK CO.
WE SELL McCALL PATTERNS.
McCALL'S FASHIONS ARE HERE

Shoes for Everybody
Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store
Phone 553.

ALASKA SABLE

This is one of the most practical furs on the market, for, besides being of rich appearance and giving good service, it is most reasonably priced.

It is a fur that lends itself readily to the fashioning of neck pieces cut on the most up-to-date designs.

We are showing some beautiful pieces in STOLES, SHAWL THROWS and SILHOUETTE COATEE styles made up of strictly No. 1 New York State Sable at prices ranging from $60.00 per set up.

Come in and have a look around. A visit will be appreciated.

DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
Phone 797. 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

NOW A MINSTREL

Prof. A. A. Meredith of Gananoque who has successfully led the Citizens band for some time past, completed his engagement during the past week and joined Gus Hill's minstrels as violinist.

300 BARRELS DAILY

Mr. S. D. Lazier has received a telegram from Montreal stating that the Henderson well of the Montreal Oil Co., is estimated to flow three hundred barrels daily, equal to about $25-000 additional net monthly income.

SUDDEN DEATH

George D. Roe, veteran clerk of the Revere House, Brockville, died suddenly while at work in the hotel office Monday morning. He had been a resident of Brockville sixteen years and was sixty-four years of age.

CASE ENLARGED

Before Magistrate Masson this morning Michael Deboni, of this city, was arraigned on a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence, namely in his place of business on Front street. Mr. E. J. Butler who appeared for the accused asked for a week's enlargement of the case as he was not prepared to proceed. The request was granted and bail was fixed at $2,000 in the accused and one surety of $1,000. An effort will be made to secure bail.

INSPECTING TOUR

The members of the Board of Arbitration appointed to decide the amount the Government will be called upon to pay for the Grand Trunk Railway passed through Belleville at 5.10 last evening but did not spend any time here. The special train conveying the party is composed of seven coaches. The members of the board are Sir Walter Cassels, Sir Thomas White and Mr. W. H. Taft, ex-President of the United States.

PICTON FAIR

Picton Fair opened today under most favorable auspices. An extensive programme of events has been arranged including the unveiling of a monument to the brave boys of Prince Edward County who made the supreme sacrifice during the great war. A large number from the city and vicinity were today in attendance.

AGAIN IN TROUBLE

At Stirling village last night McGees gents furnishings store was broken into and goods stolen. It is alleged that four young men were implicated in the affair and one James Naylor was apprehended, charged with the offence. Naylor a few days ago was allowed his liberty on suspended sentence for an infraction of the law.

AUTO ACCIDENT

At the foot of Church street, near the C.N.R. station, an auto accident occurred last night, resulting in the driver, a Mr. Moore being severely cut about the head by glass from the wind shield which was broken. From some cause the car went into a pole on the street which caused the trouble. The car was otherwise damaged.

LOCAL LEGAL

Appelate Division—Before Mullock, C. J., Riddell, J., Sutherland, J., Masten, J.

Mikel v. Bovay—M. Wright (Belleville) for defendant. G. Grant for plaintiff. Appeal by defendant from judgment of County Court of Prince Edward of 6th April, 1920. Action to recover possession of lands for damages, and for an injunction. At trial judgment was given plaintiff for possession, for an injunction and for $54 damages. Appeal partially argued, but not concluded.

DELMAY'S HAIR TONIC is a Preparation that will grow hair abundantly

This is an age of new discoveries. To grow hair after it has fallen out today is a reality.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC the Great Hair Tonic and Dressing will positively create a new growth of hair.

If you want to have a beautiful head of hair, free from dandruff use DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC once a day and watch the results.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC is guaranteed to stop falling hair and restore the hair to its natural color. The greatest Hair Vigor known.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC is compounded by expert chemists.

Watch your hair if it is falling out. If you don't you will sooner or later be bald.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC prevents baldness by fastening the hair to the roots.

Ladies will find DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC just the hair dressing they are looking for. It makes the hair soft and fluffy and is not sticky. $1.00 a bottle. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

Wedding Bells

KEIRL—VIVIAN

A very pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Vivian, Thurlow at twelve o'clock Wednesday, September 15th, when their only daughter Keitha M. became the bride of Charles F. Keirl, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Keirl of Thurlow. The drawing room was tastefully decorated with asters and ferns. Mrs. W. W. Jones rendered the wedding march. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white Duchess satin dress trimmed with georgette and seed pearls and wore a bouquet of American Beauty roses. After the ceremony was performed a dainty lunch was served. The bride received many beautiful presents. The happy couple left by motor for Toronto, Niagara, Buffalo, Rochester and Cleveland. The bride wore a navy blue tricotine suit with hat to match. After their return they will reside in Thurlow. All join in wishing them a happy and prosperous wedded life. On Monday evening previous to the wedding, September 13th, a large number of friends and neighbors came to the home of the bride's parents and presented her with a miscellaneous shower. She received many useful and beautiful presents.

ROE—BIRD

St. Michael's Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding Monday morning when Miss Lillian, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bird of Foxboro, was united in matrimony to Mr. Joseph J. Roe of this city. Rev. Father Killeen performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Fred Bird, looked very dainty and charming in her travelling suit of navy tricotine, trimmed with Hudson seal and hat of French blue and seal. Miss Agnes Brown, assisted the bride while Mr. Chas. Bird performed the honors for the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Roe left for Western Canada on their honeymoon and will take up their residence in Moose Jaw, where the groom has procured a lucrative position.

Obsequies

MRS. SAMUEL KENNEDY

The body of Mrs. Samuel Kennedy who died at Ottawa arrived here yesterday afternoon by C.P.R. and was taken to Belleville cemetery for interment. Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, rector of Christ church officiated at the interment. The body was accompanied by a son, two daughters and a grandson of deceased.

MRS. MARY REEVES

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Reeves, widow of the late Mr. George Reeves took place yesterday afternoon and many relatives and friends were in attendance. At the family residence, Charles street, Rev. Dr. Cleaver of Bridge Street Church conducted a service and officiated at the interment at Belleville cemetery. Many beautiful floral tributes were mute expressions of sympathy. The bearers were Messrs. J. J. B. Flint, J. H. P. Young, S. C. Clapp, W. S. Cook, F. E. O'Flynn and E. F. Milburn.

* * *

The engagement is announced of Ivy Norma, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Penecost, to Mr. F. Ernest Rathbun, son of the late F. S. Rathbun and Mrs. Rathbun, Pine Hill road, formerly of Deseronto, the marriage to take place quietly early in October.

Clearing Docket At Fall Assizes

Of the ten civil cases entered for trial at the Fall Assize which opened Monday afternoon before the Hon. R. M. Meredith, Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, four were settled and two laid over until another court.

True Bill

The Grand Jury brought in a true bill against Sampson Woodcock, a young man from Bancroft on a charge of indecent assault. This morning the accused was arraigned and through his counsel, Mr. E. J. Butler, entered a plea of guilty. His Lordship after commenting upon the case said he desired to give the accused an opportunity of reforming and would deal lightly with him. A sentence of not less than six months and not more than two years less one day in the Provincial Reformatory was imposed. Mr. Carnew, County Attorney, represented the Crown.

Civil Cases

Roe vs. O'Connor and Roe vs. Rindeau were two cases settled before trial. The defendants were charged with alienating the affection of the plaintiff's wife. The parties are residents of Campbellford. Messrs. Porter, Butler and Payne for plaintiff, Mr. A. J. Humphries for the defendant.

Fuller vs. Peterson and Fuller vs. Scott were settled. The defendants were charged with assault on the plaintiff's wife and damages claimed Messrs. Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff, Messrs. Herrington, Warner & Grange for defendants.

$500 Damages

Roe vs. Leonard—An action to recover damages for alienating wife's affection. Parties reside at Campbellford. Verdict for plaintiff for $500. Messrs. Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff. Mr. A. J. Humphries for the defendant.

$3,000 Damages

Akey vs. Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario. An action brought by father to recover damages for the death of his son who was electrocuted at Tweed whilst in the employ of the Hydro, negligence being claimed. Verdict for plaintiff for $3,000. Messrs. Porter, Butler & Payne for plaintiff and Mr. Mikel, K. C., for defendants.

Serious Accident At Corbyville

Belleville Man Caught in Shafting and Severely Injured—Arm and Leg Broken

An accident occurred at the plant of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company at Corbyville on Saturday in which Henry W. Gould, of Belleville, sustained injuries of a serious nature. Mr Gould, who has been an employe of the company for some time, was standing on a ladder adjusting a belt when his glove was drawn into the pulley and he was whirled around the shafting. He was speedily extricated from his perilous position and rushed to Belleville Hospital where it was found that his right arm and left leg were fractured besides other injuries to the body.

Latest reports from the hospital state that Mr. Gould is doing as well as can be expected and unless complications set in has excellent chances for recovery. He lives with his wife and daughter in a flat over Jennings & Sherry's book store, corner of Front street and Victoria avenue.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Walker of Boston, Mass., who have been the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Thompson, left for their home today. ✓

POWER FARMING
Demonstration
AT STIRLING FAIR

We have arranged with the Ford Motor Company to give a demonstration of

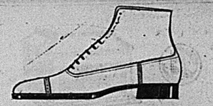
THE FORDSON TRACTOR

along with the Oliver Plow, Disc and Pulverizer, on Mr. Arthur Sheridan's farm, just west and immediately adjoining the Fair grounds, on the afternoon of

Thursday, September 23rd

This exhibit and demonstration should be of the utmost importance to all concerned in up-to-date farming.

RIGGS' GARAGE
Belleville



Regal Shoes for Men
We are selling agents for this world known shoe. The latest styles are now being shown in Black and Brown leathers. A shoe for every foot.
Priced at $10.00 and $11.00
TRUNKS AND TRAVELLING GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY
The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.

Now's The Time to Select
Your Coat

—and you'll find at "Wotten's" a very complete assortment of the very latest models in all the wanted fabrics. Come in now and choose yours while the styles and sizes are fresh and complete.
Priced $30.00 to $95.00

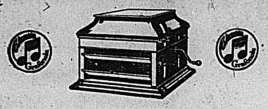
SUITS—In the favored fabrics and styles at .... $37.50 to $95.00

Wottens Limited
LADIES' WEAR STORE.

TO THE RESCUE

The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.
THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES.
The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.
THE HYDRO SHOP

Cream Puff Opening
Our Cream Puff season opens today. We will have these along with our other whipped cream goods fresh every morning. Price the same as last season.
60c per dozen
ED. F. DICKENS & SON



Prolongs the Pleasure

The moment of all moments to enjoy beautiful music to the full comes between the last strains of a selection and the outburst of applause.

The Non-Set Automatic Stop, found exclusively in the Grafonola, gives you that measureless moment of pleasure. Without setting, it automatically stops the motor when the music is finished, regardless of the record's length.

Come in and hear how you can use that exquisite moment to fully savor all the sweetness of the Grafonola's music.

LINDSAY'S C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED 249 Front Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 8 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 5 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (122) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—SMALL FARM, NINE ACRES, mostly in apples and small fruit, just outside city limits, 9 roomed house, with hot air furnace, good well and cistern. Will sell house separate. If not sold by October 1st will rent. Apply G. D. Gratton, R.R. 3, Belleville. s21-6td

FOR SALE — KITCHEN RANGE, McCLARY'S Pandora, with reservoir and warming closet. Apply G. D. Gratton, Trent Road. s21-2td

FOR SALE—ONE LARGE COAL HEATER with oven, in good condition. A White Wicker Baby Carriage. 27 Alexander St. GOOD WORK MARE FOR SALE, CHEAP. A. Bales, 17 Bridge St. West. 1td

FOR SALE—DOHERTY PLAYER PIANO and 40 rolls. Apply N. Curlett, N. Park St., Belleville. s21-4td

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE—TWO NEW BUILDINGS—ONE nine room bungalow, all modern conveniences, hardwood floors and trim, fire place, bookcase, colonade, large basement, large lot and garage. One two storey, seven rooms, full size basement, hardwood floors, etc. Prices right. Apply J. Kiser, Builder and Contractor, 120 Moira Street West, Belleville. s18 4td

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Fidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. s18-12td

FOR SALE — MEDIUM SIZED FRAME house with conveniences, situated at 87 West Bridge Street. Price reasonable. Apply to Mrs. P. C. VanAllen, 325 Front St., Belleville. s17-6td

FOR SALE—BLACKSMITH SHOP—AN OLD established business, no opposition. Apply to Box "G." Intelligencer. s17-4td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front St.

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

HELP WANTED—MALE

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time day or evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o2

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1109-10 C. P. R. Building, Toronto. s15-10td

WANTED — A BOY TO LEARN THE printing trade. Apply The Intelligencer Office. s20-dtf

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR Shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge. s23-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G, Toronto. s11—s30

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED AT HOTEL QUINTE, A LAUNDRESS; also a bell boy. s21-4t

LADY BOOKKEEPER WANTED. APPLY BOX 14, INTELLIGENCER. 21-2td

TWO EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES wanted by The Ritchie Co., Limited. s21-4td

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. Good wages. Apply Box "X," Intelligencer. s20-4td,1tw

GIRL WANTED FOR VETERANS' LUNCH. Apply 164 Front St. s20-4td

WANTED—SALESLADY, ONE CAPABLE of selling furs and millinery. Also fur apprentices. Woodley's Fur Store. s8-dtf

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-d1m

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—HOUSE; MODERN BRICK, 7 rooms; 81 W. Bridge St. Apply 75 W Bridge St. Possession Oct. 1st. s21 4td

FOR RENT — FURNISHED ROOMS, ALL conveniences, centrally located, 238 Albert street. s20-4td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s20 12td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 839. s14-1tl

TO LET—SIX ROOM HOUSE. ALL CONVENIENCES, on Dufferin Ave. Also flats to let. Apply Dr. Caldwell. s16-6td

WANTED.

WANTED, FOR LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING, by young couple, 3 or 4 unfurnished rooms with all conveniences. Apply Box "5," Intelligencer. s21-4td

WANTED BY YOUNG BUSINESS MAN—one or two furnished or unfurnished rooms in private home. Box "G." Intelligencer. s21-4td

WANTED—TWO OR THREE FURNISHED or unfurnished rooms for light housekeeping, or small furnished house for winter months. Apply Box "E." Intelligencer. s17-4td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

STATIONARY ENGINEER, 2ND CLASS certificate, seeks situation. Best references. Box "S." Intelligencer, Belleville.

WANTED—SMALL HOUSE OR FLAT BY October 1. No family. Apply with particulars to Box "12", Intelligencer. s23-4td

LOST

LOST—ON OR NEAR MARKET, SATURDAY, pocket book containing bill and change. Please leave at this office. Receive reward. s20-2td

LOST—IN VICINITY OF Y. M. C. A.—parcel containing pair of overalls and handkerchief. Finder please leave at Oak Hall Clothing Store. 1td

FOUND

FOUND—AN AUTOMOBILE TIRE. CALL at 28 Pine Street. Phone 628. 1td

FOR SALE BY TENDER.

The electrical supplies, stock and fixtures of the estate of Charles J. Peppin, located at 189 Front St., Belleville, is offered for sale by tender up until 6 p.m. of the 23rd inst. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Stock list can be signed and premises inspected by making application to

WM. CARNEW,
Court House Bldg., Belleville,
Solicitor for W. R. MORRIS,
375 Water St., Peterboro, Ont.,
Authorized Trustee.
Dated 20th Sept., 1920. s20-3td

HERE'S THE KEY DROP IN ANY TIME

The home of an old man named Walsh of Dungarvan, Waterford, Ireland, whose son is evading capture by the authorities has been raided at night so many times by the military and police that he has sent them the key of the door in order to save himself the trouble in future of getting up to let them in.

To brighten your furniture use Slay-Brite Polish. Sold only at C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393. We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

Now As The Newest

in looks and serviceability, yet comfortable as old slippers. That's what our shoe repairing does. It gives new life to them without disturbing their old shoe comfort. Don't throw away any shoes, no matter how old or worn. Bring them here and see if we cannot make them wearable again at a fraction of the cost of new ones. Belleville Shoe Hospital, opposite Crystal Hotel. s15 6td

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

SPECIAL PRICES

Of good Crawford peaches. On account of the enormous large crop, peaches are running smaller than usual. Fresh car in every day. Get our prices before buying. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge Street, opp. P.O. Phone 520. s20-6td

NOTICE

The G.W.V.A. desires the names of all soldiers buried in Belleville. Send names, on or before Friday, September 24th, 1920, to Secretary, 224 Front street. 1td

You will enjoy the cool evenings of September with a few new dance records. Ask to hear these:

In Sweet September (fox trot) A2959.
Happy (one step) A2963.
Frog Legs (fox trot) A2925.
Tell Me Little Gipsy (fox trot) A2972.
In the Gloaming (waltz) A2970.
C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Hear Henry Burr's latest song, "Down the Trail to Home Sweet Home," coupled with the tenor solo "The Love Nest," by Frank Crumit. A2973.—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

THE GOOD JUDGE

—offers an apology for not giving you something new, but business has been so pressing there has not been time to write a change of advertisement.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.
133-135 Station Street
50 Albion Street
Belleville, - Ont.

School Days are Alarm Clock Days

To get family dressed, fed and off to work and school on time means getting out of bed early, and there is only one sure way of waking up at the desired hour every morning. It is the trusty alarm clock.

It is the greatest little regulator, organizer, time, trouble and worry saver you can put in the house. Buy one today at Blackburn's. We've the style you like, and the make that you can depend on as an alarm, and as a timekeeper.

$2.75 to $6.00.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

You are invited to hear the following Player Rolls at C. W. Lindsay, Limited:

Fifth Nocturn Story Roll.
One Fleeting Hour (song).
Paderewski Menuet.
Let the Rest of the World Go By (waltz).
—C. W. Lindsay, Limited

S. A. HYMAN & CO.
Established 1870. Makers of Fine Furs

Traveller's Samples
LADIES' CLOTH COATS
At Less Than Cost Price

Having obtained the entire range of sample Ladies' Cloth Coats from one of the largest manufacturers in Canada, we are offering these coats while they last at less than cost.

IT'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE FULLEST ADVANTAGE OF THE LIBERAL SAVINGS ON ALL THESE COATS.

--- SEE OUR WINDOW ---

S. A. Hyman & Co.

Dare-Devil Stunts in Tom Mix Picture

"The Terror" a Romantic Western Drama of Bandits and Man-Hunters

One of the most pleasing features, outside of Tom Mix's great stunts of daring, in "The Terror," which William Fox presented at Griffin's theatre last night before a capacity audience is the beautiful scenic effects achieved by the director, Jacques Jaccard. "The Terror" reveals Mix at his best. From the opening scene until the final fadeout this daring star holds the attention uninterruptedly by his remarkable feats of horsemanship and sheer dare-deviltry. As Bat Carson, a deputy United States Marshal sent to run down a gang of gold thieves in the Sierras, he is in his glory. The story is rich in romance and in that kind of adventure which every red-blooded Canadian likes to see. Beautiful Francelia Billington, as leading woman, makes a very fascinating heroine. Others of importance in the cast are Charles K. French, Lester Cuneo, Lucille Younge, Joseph Bennett and William Higby.

A Canadian News Pictorial, Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack" this episode showing the famous heavyweight champion in action in the ring. Larry Semon in a very funny 2-reel comedy, "The Fly Cop," and an interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, complete a splendid varied bill of screen entertainment all of which will be shown to-night for the last time.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

Mrs. Thos. Rankin, aged 32 of Montreal, committed suicide on Saturday by cutting her throat. On August 19 Mrs. Rankin attempted suicide by jumping from the deck of the steamer Brittanic into the St. Lawrence river a short distance east of Prescott. She was rescued on that occasion by the crew. She leaves a husband and a three-year old daughter and was no doubt suffering from dementia.

Wedding Bells

HULL—SANDELL

A very pretty wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Archdeacon Beamish on September 6, 1920 at St. Thomas' Church, when Miss Florence Sandell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sandell, Mill street was united in marriage to Mr. William Hull of Point Anne. Mr. and Mrs. Hull visited Toronto and Detroit, Mich., on their honeymoon after which they will take up their residence in Belleville.

MARRIED

HULL—SANDELL—At St. Thomas' Church, by Rev. Archdeacon Beamish, on Sept. 6, 1920, Miss Florence Sandell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sandell, Mill Street, to William Hull, of Point Ann.

ALL RIGHT TO BLEACH HAIR

New York Magistrate Settles Question Which Has Long Been More or Less in Controversy.

If thy right eye offend thee pluck it out. If your hair is not the shade you dote on bleach it, color it or cut it off if you wish. Whose business is it? A mother-in-law recently accused her daughter-in-law, a handsome young blond, of bleaching her hair—using peroxide on it. A magistrate had to settle this matter; and the newspapers made much of it, and one would think from perusing what they had to say there is some law, statutory or unwritten, that makes it almost a felony to discolor the hair.

Nothing of the kind, declares the New York Telegraph. Many women bleach their hair, and it is quite all right if they wish to do so. Dark-haired girls and women and those with black hair frequently turn the color of their locks to that of a brick-bat, with henna. And red-haired ladies sometimes change their color to that of yellow field corn. That is their affair and no one has a right to complain. Many folk twit those who have thus improved on nature, but they will do so no more—the magistrate has settled that.

A Good Instance.

Teacher—Can you give me an instance of the economy of nature?

Pupil—She used sheets of water to cover the beds of rivers.

Britain's Need of Houses.

It has been estimated that 800,000 new houses are needed in the United Kingdom properly to house the population. All building was at a standstill throughout the war. Because of the greatly increased cost of building materials and the increased cost of labor these houses cannot be built for less than twice the amount they would have cost in 1914. Thousands of big houses in London are for sale, but these are of no use to newlyweds, who in most instances cannot afford to maintain them, nor can they get the servants necessary to keep up such establishments. It has been found too costly to try to convert many of these houses into apartments. They now are monuments to pre-war and opulent family life in London, when servants were employed by the dozen.

If you like comic records don't miss hearing "Oh Mother, I'm Wild" A2865, sung by Jack Kaufman.—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

RITCHIE'S

New Millinery
ARRIVING DAILY
Featuring All that is Novel and Approved for This Season

Large shipments of new style hats are arriving daily, entirely different from that show at our formal presentation of the authentic new style creations in our Millinery shown rooms on Opening Days. One after another these charming hats will be a source of wonder and delighted surprise, for great is the variety and the artistry of these new modes wrought by clever, deft fingers. A softly crowned, softly draped hat of Black will add piquancy to an interesting face. Ostrich, flattering dear to every feminine heart, graces many a saucy brim with soft swirls, or fine strands. And there are dashing little street hats that will be perfect with the trig new Autumn tailleur or street frock.

The Millinery Parlors will weclome your inspection of these many new modes, priced from

$5.00 to $35.00

NEW COATINGS

New Coating in the much wanted cloths and materials for Fall are to be found in our Dress Goods section. Never have we been so well prepared as this season with this special showing of Fall Coatings, in Bolivia, Cord, Tinseltone, Silvertone Blanket Cloth, Whitney Cloth, Tweeds and Polo Cloth, at prices ranging from

$3.50 to $12 yard

New DressGoods

Velour, Suede Cloth, Gabardine, Broadcloth, Worsteds and Tweeds in the approved shades for Fall in a truly wonderful showing at from

$2.50 to $8.00 yd.

Plaid Skirtings

Plaid Skirtings for Skirts and Fancy Dresses at from

$1.50 to $8.00 yd.

VEILINGS

MONA LISA, the new snug fitting veils, are in great demand because of their unusual distinctiveness. We have them in a full range of shades, large meshes and fine scrolls, made of a delicate mesh so that they do not hurt the eyes, 75c.

Sweater Yarn

A new stock of Sweater Yarns, completing a full rangeof shades, in Monarch Floss, Monarch Down and Comfort Yarn.

New Velvets

All wanted colors, plain and cord; have a rich soft pile of exceptional depth. This unique feature in Cotton Velvet is obtained by a special process of manufacture. Priced from $1.00 to $3.50 per yard.

PLUSH

This lustrous fabric drapes most beautifully and is supplied in a wide range of fashionable colors at from

$7.50 to $20.00 per yard.

Ritchie's Men's Store

In our Men's Department we have prepared lavishly for you men this Fall with a range of Suits and Overcoats which in our way of thinking surpasses anything we have shown for years. These clothes are as different from ordinary clothing as gold is from iron. They are not expensive, however. In fact, we believe our clothes will give you dollar for dollar, more worth than any clothing of their quality standard you can select.

New Tweed Hats

New Tweed Hats, Hard Hats and Fur Felts—in fact, everything from a Necktie to a Fall Suit or Overcoat—all of the most deserving quality, all economically priced, and all backed by our guarantee of satisfaction.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Teas
OF SUPERIOR QUALITY
New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious
Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

OUR
PUMPKIN PIES ARE POPULAR

They are well made, and made from the fine, fresh, ripe pumpkins. Some fresh today.

35c each

CHAS. S. CLAPP

BELIEVES FISCHER AN ENEMY ALIEN

Toronto, Sept. 20.—Lieut. J. H. Sproule, 256 Jarvis street, has given information to the police that he believes Edward P. Fischer, held in Hamilton as a result of the Wall street explosion, is the same person as Paul Fischer, who was held in Nova Scotia internment camps as an enemy alien.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS

THE WEATHER

Moderate southwest winds, fair and warm.

Thursday, easterly and southerly winds, fair, followed by rain at night, not much change in temperature.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 290.

League Smooths Difficulties Between Bellicose Nations

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The ninth session of the Council of the League of Nations, adjourned after having smoothed out difficulties between four nations in controversies which at one time threatened to result in war. Through its action in the Polish-Lithuanian crisis the Council succeeded in getting the two countries to agree to an immediate suspension of hostilities pending a settlement of their dispute which both sides agreed to accept.

The Polish-Lithuanian accord came after the Council had passed a resolution calling on the countries to cease hostilities immediately. The resolution asked Lithuania to adopt the provisional line of the frontier fixed by the Supreme Council in December last and withdraw her troops from the territory to the west of the line with Soviet Russia, to respect the neutrality of the territory occupied by Lithuania east of the line of Demarkation fixed by the Supreme Council.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, Polish delegate to the League, made a stirring speech in which he said Poland desired to be in complete peace with Lithuania and had full confidence that Lithuania also desired peace.

Delegates from both countries shook hands amid cheering by the spectators and delegates, making the first instance in which the League's mediation has been accepted by countries virtually in a state of war. M. Woldemar, Lithuanian Foreign Minister, said he had full confidence in the spirit of fairness of the Council of the League and would abide by its decision.

Chillicothe Carries no Armament

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The United States coast guard cutter Chillicothe, which is cruising on the St. Lawrence River, carries no armament which would violate the provisions of the treaty with Great Britain concerning armed vessels on the waters between the United States and Canada, it was stated today by Commodore W. E. Reynolds, commandant of coast guard service.

The Kingston Ontario branch of the Army and Navy Veterans protested yesterday to the Canadian Government that the Chillicothe carried mounted guns in direct violation of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain.

* * *

Provincial Conservative convention called for December first and second.

IN THE WAKE OF THE STORM

(Toronto World)

A violent outbreak like the Wall street explosion brings a lot of people to their senses. Children play with matches and no amount of scolding will stop them, but when some little tot is thus accidentally burned to death, the children for miles around quit playing with matches. Many a person whose mind has been more or less unstrung by trouble, or imaginary persecution, has suddenly recovered his senses after attempting some act of violence. The alienist calls this the "explosion," which often clears up the poisoned brain.

A lot of people have been playing with matches in this country as well as in the United States. They have had no fear of the Bolsheviki with nothing between them and harm but the ocean. They have talked a good deal about the suffering and injustice which may be found under our present economic system, without ever a word of commendation for any improvement it has effected in the conditions of human life. The Wall street explosion, like a sudden flash of lightning on a dark night, has shown many innocent people where loose thinking and loud talking were leading them. Capital may get a shock, and perhaps it needs a little reminder; Labor will steady itself. In Canada organized Labor has shown the door to the Reds, and the Wall street explosion will, perhaps, lead to that door being slammed and locked. This continent is not going to be ruled by black-hand or black-leg methods. Neither are innocent people to be at the mercy of the torch and the explosive. But Capital will have to recognize its obligations and Labor must hold its giant power well in hand. The profiteer should in some way be eliminated. If the law proves unable or unwilling to reach him, we open the door to appeals for violence and lawlessness.

Public School Athletic League

Field Day Will Be Held for Boys and Girls.

On Tuesday afternoon a meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. parlor for the purpose of forming a Public School Athletic League.

Mr. Charles Keeler, Physical Director of the Y, was elected chairman of the league, with Mr. W. G. Anderson of the Ann Street school as secretary-treasurer. The committee consists of the principals and the vice-principals. It was decided that the League promote an athletic meet for the Public Schools of Belleville, also that each school conduct preliminary tests and that the first two contestants in each event from each school compete in the finals, and that the preliminaries be held before October 5th. It was decided that the pupils shall compete on the weight basis; that is, all pupils will be weighed and placed in the following classes: Class 1, 60-80 lbs.; Class 2, 81-95 lbs.; Class 3, 96-110 lbs.; Class 4, 111-125 lbs.

The following is the list of events for the boys:

Class 1.—50 yards dash, standing broad jump, potato race, throwing ball for distance.

Class 2.—75 yards dash, standing broad jump, potato race, throwing ball for distance.

Class 3.—100 yards dash, running high jump, hop-step-jump, 220 yards dash, throwing ball for distance.

Class 4.—100 yards dash, running high jump, 440 yards dash, throwing ball for distance.

Open events—Half mile relay race—four men—each man run 220 yards; tug-o'-war, team to consist of six men.

A committee will be selected from the lady teachers to arrange the girls' events, which will be published later.

It was suggested that pennants be given to the school winning the greatest number of points. Also a pennant be given for the relay race and the tug-o'-war events. Ribbons will be given for first, second and third places.

The secretary was instructed to communicate with the Board of Trustees asking that Wednesday afternoon, October 13th, be set aside for the Public Schools' first field day.

FIRST TRANS-CANADA AIR TRIP STARTS MONDAY

Halifax, Sept. 22.—The first trans-Canada air voyage will start from Halifax Monday, according to present plans. Col. Robert Leckie, with a reserve pilot and a mechanic, flying from here to Winnipeg in one Fairey seaplane, which is coming from the Vickers Yard in Montreal. It is proposed to make five stops, at or near Ottawa, North Bay or Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Fort William and Kenora. The first lap, from Halifax to Ottawa, is about 800 miles, and the total distance about 2,100. The seaplane, which can land only on water, is capable of flying 80 miles per hour. The start is being made Monday so that full advantage may be taken of moonlight, and part of the flight may be at night. From Winnipeg to the coast the trip will be made in three airplanes.

* * *

John D. Rockefeller's estate at Tarrytown is once more under heavy guard.

Another installment of $10,000,000 in gold has reached New York from France.

Drug Addicts Will Be Rounded Up

Government Will Take Measures to Stop Drug Traffic.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—By an order printed in a special issue of the Canada Gazette Tuesday some very far-reaching regulations affecting the drug traffic in Canada go into force immediately. Every doctor and druggist in the Dominion is to be circularized with a view to rounding up drug addicts, and measures are to be adopted which will make the carrying on of illicit drug traffic practically impossible.

That the Government health officials are sincere in their effort to clean up the drug evil and also that they are enjoying nothing short of wonderful success is shown by some figures given out yesterday. Compared with the three months ending June 30 last year, the amount of cocaine imported into Canada for the same period this year has dropped from 2,373 ounces to 605 ounces. Cocaine has dwindled from $12,384 worth to $5,816 worth. Morphine has dropped from 11,098 ounces to 3,978 ounces, and opium from 7,931 pounds to 992 pounds.

The round-up of drug addicts will have to be carried out according to policy which will have to be decided by the Government. It may be that the Government will keep the matter entirely within Federal limits or seek the co-operation of the Provinces. At any rate the department is circularizing every doctor and will tabulate a list of names when all replies have been received.

Letters received by the department from other countries show that Canada's method of overcoming the drug evil is being copied in several instances and some experts have gone so far as to declare that the Canadian system is the most comprehensive, more practical, and indeed more successful than any other system yet devised.

Unveil Memorial And Open Fair

Great Gathering at Picton Honors Prince Edward County's Dead

PICTON, Ont., Sept. 21.—The unveiling of the monument erected in memory of one hundred and fifty Prince Edward County men who gave their lives in the Great War, took place at Picton today, Brig.-Gen. W. B. King, C.M.G., commanding military district No. 3 performed the ceremony. The monument is a white granite shaft surmounted by the figure of a soldier, it bears the names of those who fell, engraved on three sides. On the fourth are the engagements in which the Canadians took part.

The R.C.H.A. band of Kingston was in attendance and will remain during the four days of the fair which opens today. A detachment of sixteen of the R.C.H.A. mounted troops furnished a guard of honor. A company of R.M.C. Cadets, the Picton Collegiate Cadets, members of the G.W.V.A. local militia officers and veterans with hundreds of school children and thousands of spectators made the event a memorable one.

The program included addresses by Major-General Sir Archibald Cameron Macdonald, commandant of the Royal Military College, Kingston, formerly in command of the first Canadian Division Overseas and Brigadier-General A. E. Ross, C.M.C., Kingston. Warden Hazel occupied the chair.

A luncheon was given in honor of the distinguished guests present and at 2 p.m. the new memorial gates and entrance at the Fair Grounds were opened, General King making a short address and the Fair being officially declared open by Major-General Macdonald. The attendance at the opening day was a record one, many hundreds coming from Belleville, Napanee, Kingston and other places. A new horse barn gives increased accommodation to exhibitors. The entries are in excess of former years.

THREE MEN IN THE FIELD FOR EAST ELGIN SEAT

St. Thomas, Ont., Sept. 22.—The East Elgin by-election will be a three-cornered fight. Mr. W. G. Charlton, the Liberal candidate, having definitely announced his intention of remaining in the field at a meeting of his supporters in Aylmer on Saturday night. Mr. S. S. McDermid, of Lakeview, the U. F. O. candidate, is already working hard and planning a series of meetings. John L. Stansell, the Conservative candidate, held his organization meeting in Aylmer Saturday afternoon. There seems little likelihood now of Warden W. H. Mills running as an independent candidate

Distinct Triumph For Government

First Appeals to Country Under Leadership of Premier Meighen

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—Hon. F. B. McCurdy, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. R. W. Wigmore, Minister of Customs, have been endorsed in their acceptance of office in the Meighen Government by substantial majorities of their constituents in Colchester, N.S., and St. John City and County, N.B., respectively. The Dominion Government and the National Liberal and Conservative Party also at the by-elections held in the two Maritime Province ridings today have been successful in their first appeals for support in polls since their organization under the leadership of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen.

The result in St. John City and Counties of St. John and Albert, as Mr. Wigmore's constituency is called, was a surprise. The new Minister of Public Works entered Parliament with a huge majority in 1917, when one of his opponents was Dr. A. F. Emery, the Liberal candidate at Monday's election. Mr. Wigmore is popular in St. John. Of fifty electors who signed his nomination paper twenty-two were prominent Liberals.

Triumph for Government

Mr. McCurdy's election, however, is regarded as a triumph for the Government and the National Liberal and Conservative Party. The Minister of Public Works was opposed by Capt. Hugh Dickson, who was the nominee of the organized farmers. The riding is some 70 per cent. rural in character. It seemed therefore a favorable fighting ground for the agrarian organization which made strenuous efforts to defeat Mr. McCurdy. Capt. Dickson's friends, it was reported were hoping for considerable support for him from organized labor. Mr. McCurdy's majority of 2,000 in Truro, the chief industrial centre of the riding, would seem to indicate that no great labor support was accorded the farmers' candidate and the fiscal policy he advocated. At the same time news paper despatches published today suggest that President Burnaby, of the United Farmers of Ontario, explained his party's views on the tariff question very differently from Norman Lambert, who spoke for the National Progressive Party before the Tariff Committee of the Dominion Cabinet at Winnipeg a week ago. Mr. Lambert declared specifically that the farmers' party stood for the elimination of the protective principle from the tariff and for imposition of customs duties solely for revenue purposes. Mr. Burnaby on the other hand was reported to have told an audience in Colchester that the farmers were not calling for a complete abandonment of protection but merely asked that protection be accorded only to industries shown by public enquiry by a Parliamentary committee to need protection. In the light of the campaign which was waged in Colchester Mr. McCurdy's election by a safe majority today is regarded as a blow to the agrarian movement in the Maritime Provinces.

East Elgin Next

The next by-election to be fought will be in East Elgin, Ont., also largely rural in character. There the Government candidate will be opposed by a nominee of the United Farmers' Party. Polling is to take place there on November 29, and already the campaign is under way. West Peterboro is also vacant, and another Ontario seat, Leeds, will shortly become so by the resignation of Sir Thomas White, who has been appointed to the Grand Trunk Railway Board of Arbitration. Yale, B.C., is also without a member since the retirement of Hon. Martin Burrell, and must soon be the theatre of a by-election fight.

U. S. CATTLE BUYER MUST PAY $7,000

Watertown, N.Y., Sept. 22.—William Webber, a widely known cattle buyer of Cape Vincent, who purchases many cattle on the other side of the St. Lawrence, will quit the cattle business for six months unless he gives a bond for the payment of $7,000, which unpaid resulted in his incarceration, his address now being the county jail. Today Webber sought to be liberated, claiming that he had many cattle coming into Cape Vincent and must be there to look after them.

It was claimed that Webber bought many cattle in Canada a year or so ago off William F. Barker and gave a worthless check. In the May term of the Supreme Court a judgment for about $7,000 was recovered, which has not been paid.

Webber must stay in jail six months unless he pays the judgment or furnishes a bond to pay it.

Whitby District Raided by Thieves

Smash Safe Lock in Mill Opposite the Police Station

WHITBY, Sept. 22.—An orgy of crime seems to have broken out in Whitby and district during the past week and the citizens are in a state that borders on panic. About $5,000 worth of cloth and suitings were stolen from Mr. Doubt, Port Perry, tailor on Tuesday morning, after 2 o'clock, by parties yet unapprehended. Presumably the cloth was taken away in a truck.

On Monday night five places of business in Whitby were raided. The thieves broke into J. Beach's blacksmith shop and stole a sledge hammer and carried it over to the mill owned by S. Castle Smith and breaking in through a cellar window, attacked the safe. They hammered the combination lock to pieces but of course were not able to get into it. The telephone wires were cut so that the noise would not penetrate to Central. The sledge hammer was left in the mill.

One of the ludicrous parts of the affair was that this mill is right across from the Police Station, where the night watchman is supposed to make his headquarters, but even the hammering failed to rouse any one.

Pringle's grocery store was entered from the rear and the till rifled of about $8, but here also no damage was done and very little disturbance was made. Deverell's grocery also received a call, and something in the neighborhood of $10 was taken. Disney's hardware store was also visited.

The police are also on the trail of thieves who have been demobilizing the Bishop-Barker plane, which fell near Brooklin some time ago. The speedometer coils and most of the fittings of the machine which are easily detached have been taken away.

Gang of Burglars Busy in Country

Dry Goods Store Entered and $1,000 of Merchandise Carried Away

AURORA, Sept. 22.—The most daring of a series of burglaries committed in towns of North York and South Simcoe within the past week was carried out successfully at Bradford on Friday night, when the Bemrose dry-goods store on Main street was entered and robbed of over $1,000 worth of merchandise. So far the burglars are at large. It is believed that the same gang is responsible for burglaries committed at King City, Richmond Hill, Bradford and yesterday at Alliston.

The method of operation in each case has been for two or three men to drive up in an automobile to the store selected and stage a fake breakdown. While one of the gang stays at the wheel of the car, the others busy themselves in pretending to seek for tools and in making imaginary repairs to the car. In each case, so far, this behaviour has lulled the suspicions of residents in the immediate vicinity and the burglaries have not been discovered until the following morning. The police of the various towns victimized having compared notes, a warning has been sent broadcast to look out for motorists who appear to be having trouble with a car anytime after nightfall.

Wrangel's Cavalry Capture 2,000

Latest Coup Against Bolsheviki Gains Anti-Soviet Leader Important Positions

CONSTANTINOPLE Sept. 22—General Wrangel's latest cavalry drive against the Bolsheviki in South Russia has won him valuable strategic positions on the railroad and resulted in the capture of more than 2,000 prisoners and quantities of supplies, it is reported in advices from the Crimea.

The South Russian cavalry by a sudden dash, surprised the Bolsheviki, and captured the railway junction of Petropavlovsk, with sections of the line in either direction, as well as the town of Oriakhoff. The Wrangel forces are now menacing Alexandrovsk on the Dnieper about 90 miles inland from the Sea of Azov.

The Japanese Government now has an observer at Sebastopol, General Wrangel's headquarters.

* * *

Negotiations betwen Poland and Lithunia broken off.

Railwaymen to intervene in effort to avert miners' strike in England.

Hearing in Other Cities On Proposed Telephone Rates

COMMISSIONER CARVELL HOLDS THAT SITTINGS OF RAILWAY BOARD ON BELL TELEPHONE RATE APPLICATION OUTSIDE OF OTTAWA WILL BE WASTE OF TIME, BUT BOWS TO DEMAND.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

TORONTO, Sept. 22.—During the course of the resumed hearing of the Bell Telephone Company's application for increased rates by the Railway Board this morning, Chief Commissioner Carvell made the promise that the Board will hold sittings in Montreal and Toronto for the hearing of local evidence. City Solicitor Waddell of Hamilton put in a plea for that city, but did not get any definite promise from the chairman. Mr. Carvell stated that he was of the opinion that the sittings held outside of the Capital were only wasted time, but he knew the feeling prevailing and would bow to it.

Nine Wounded in Gunfight

Police Posse Fights With Bandits in Saskatchewan.

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 22.—Nine members of a Provincial Police posse organized a Roscoe, Sask., about 250 miles northeast of here on the C. N. Ry. line, are injured following a running gun fight with five bandits who raided the Red Deer Lumber camp at Barrows, Man., Sunday and robbed the workmen in broad daylight.

Barrows, the scene of the robbery, is on the shore of Red Deer lake, only a few miles from the Saskatchewan boundary. The highwaymen, according to a wire to Provincial Police officers here, crossed into Saskatchewan. Constable Ives, of the Saskatchewan Police, immediately organized the posse from among civilians and gave chase.

They met the robbers a short distance outside of Roscoe, and exchanged shots. The extent of the injuries of the wounded men is not known.

Poles Advance on Three-Mile Front

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Polish forces have commenced an offensive in the region of Grodno, on the northeast Polish front, according to an official statement issued yesterday in Moscow. It declares the Poles have advanced along a line three miles long, employing large numbers of troops. Fierce fighting is proceeding, it is said.

No Safe Conduct For Russian Gold

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—Agents of Soviet Governments of Russia have made requests that Russian gold, shipped to Canada to pay for goods, will be guaranteed from other claims against Russian Government. They wish to secure guarantee of Dominion Government that gold will be used only for payment of goods bought for Soviet Russia. It is understood that the Government is declining to give any such guarantee or to be involved in any way with the shipment of Russian gold. Opening up of trade relations between the two countries are therefore at an impasse.

Last Min

Ship Building Should Be Encouraged

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, Sept. 22.—Shipping problems were discussed by the Congress of Imperial Chambers of Commerce at this morning's session here. Ernest P. Fredericks of Belleville moved that the British Merchant Marine be maintained at its commanding position and that every colony possessing facilities be encouraged to maintain shipyards and contribute all ships possible thus retaining for the Empire skilled mechanics who are being sought by other countries. He said that he was not an alarmist but he thought British supremacy on the seas was not as secure as it might be. Two years ago, 7,500 British ships cleared from Canadian ports, last year only six thousand cleared. Records of clearance through the Panama Canal also showed that thousands of British ship builders had been going to the United States.

Brockville Fire Causes $150,000 Loss

Former Resident of Belleville Loses Business and Household Effects.

Fire in the business section of Brockville Monday night occasioned a loss estimated at $150,000. The R. H. Smart block on the north side of King street, was gutted and several business concerns sustained serious loss, including the printing establishment of Farrow Bros., who estimate their loss at $10,000. Several families occupying flats were also burned out. The fire broke out about midnight and an explosion occurred which caused the flames to spread rapidly.

Mr. H. W. Farrow and little son Leonard, formerly of Belleville, occupied a flat in the building and the explosion almost shook them from their beds. They were forced to leave hurriedly in their night clothes, so fast did the flames spread. The little Farrow child was lifted by the father from its cot and wrapped in a comforter, the little lad's hair being singed by the flames. Some of the occupants of the building had to be rescued by the firemen by means of ladders.

Cold Blooded Murder in Dublin

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A uniformed man entered the Royal Exchange Hotel in Dublin at three o'clock this morning, and going straight to the room of County Councillor Lynch, a prominent Limerick manufacturer, shot him dead, according to a Dublin despatch.

Numerous Clashes in Irish Cities

Policemen Are Shot Down From Ambush at Newcastle.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Numerous clashes, resulting in deaths and serious injuries, continue in various parts of the country. Latest reports received this morning recorded the shooting of Sergeant McGuire at Ferbane, 11½ miles southeast of Athlone, while making an arrest.

Constable Donoghue was wounded from ambush at Newcastle and died. A publican at Balinglass was fired upon and wounded at the same time. Two civilians, while passing the barracks at Abbeyfeale, County Limerick, failed to halt when challenged. The police fired, wounding both men.

Following a display by Ulster volunteers today, armed and disguised men in uniform attacked several premises in Carrickon-Shannon, county Leitrim, and caused considerable damage with rifle fire and bombs.

Reports from Scariff, County Clare, state that reprisals have been taken on that village for the wounding of two constables. Similar scenes occurred in Abbeyfeale, County Limerick, where the local temperance hall was burned, a pharmacy damaged, and the windows of houses smashed in reprisal for the death of a constable on Saturday.

In consequence of an attack on a military lorry in the streets of Dublin last night, all permits for the possession of arms in the district have been withdrawn, and those holding arms have been ordered to surrender them.

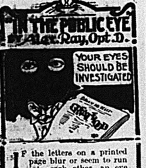
Special Values on all Summer Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus. 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each
—Also
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
192 Front St. Phone 283



IN THE PUBLIC EYE
by Alex. Ray, Opt. D.
YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

LOST A FINGER

Mr. Ambrose Robinson, of Osaca, near Port Hope, while engaged drawing in buckwheat on Monday suffered a very painful accident. Mr. Robinson was unloading the buckwheat by means of sling ropes and the horses started off unexpectedly. Mr. Robinson's hand was caught in the rope and before he could release it, a portion of one finger was completely torn off.

STOLEN PROPERTY RECOVERED

On Friday last a suit case containing clothing and other articles the property of Joseph Brodeau, a French Canadian, was stolen from a C.P.R working car here. A young man who had been working with the gang and left was suspected and yesterday he was apprehended at Wellington, P. E County. The valise was also recovered. The accused gave his name as Harry Smith, of St. Johns, Quebec and a seaman by occupation. When arraigned before the magistrate on a charge of theft he pleaded guilty. He was remanded for a week for sentence.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was held in honor of Miss Anna Gauley, at the home of Miss Leila Ross, Moira street on Tuesday evening, September 21st. A very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent at the conclusion of which a dainty and appetising luncheon was served, Miss Ross proving a most capable and delightful hostess. Miss Gauley who is being married the early part of October, received a number of very pretty and useful gifts.

Changed Conditions Bring Greater Opportunities

Even before the law required them to make correct returns of their affairs annually to the Income Tax Department of the Dominion Government, most business men knew the value of correct bookkeeping. They realized that to be without the assistance of thoroughly trained and skilful bookkeepers was like navigation with cut pilot and chart and compass. But there were some who launched out without keeping any business records, or employed rough rule-of-thumb methods that are now found entirely inadequate to provide the information that must be given in the Income Tax returns.

Good bookkeeping has saved many men from insolvency and bad bookkeeping has caused many overconfident, injudicious acts leading to bankruptcy.

The new Dominion Insolvency law that went into effect on July 1st, this year, is an incentive to better bookkeeping; it compels all persons carrying on business to keep books showing the record of all their transactions.

This year the Principal of Ontario Business College has received requests for bookkeepers far beyond the available supply, especially during June, July and August, when there was an unprecedented demand. There never was so opportune a time as the present to prepare for good positions by getting the thorough O.B.C. training.

Full information regarding the service that O.B.C. provides will be given on request.

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE
Limited
I. L. MOORE,
Principal.

1td-1tw

Husky Men are Eating Salads

They Are Also Eating Rich Pastry and Highly Seasoned Foods That Call for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

In the big palatial restaurants of the large cities their principal patronage comes from the out-of-town visitors. No lunch counter sandwiches for them. They like the entrees, salads, rich pastry and a cup of black coffee with rich cream. This combination is likely to overcrowd the stomach, to cause acidity with sour risings, gassiness, a feeling of fulness and other such distresses due to indigestion or dyspepsia. Wherever you go in any city in the U. S. or Canada you will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale at 60 cents a box. Take one or two after eating as they relieve the acid stomach and at the same time help digest the food.

Numerous clashes in Irish cities. Policemen shot down from ambush in Athlone. Sergeant slain.

A HAUNTED ISLAND.

Beauty Spot In Muskoka Lakes Has Odd History.

The only name that the rock about half an acre in area, just one-third of a mile off the eastern side of the lake, is known by, is the Haunted Island.

Several years back, a young newly married American couple took up their summer home on the island, looking forward to all the pleasures, at a Muskoka Lake. Just as suddenly as they came was the rocky home abandoned. The young husband was drowned while enjoying a morning swim in the cool waters, and the heartbroken girl was left alone. Year after year, through all sorts of Canadian weather, the cottage has remained uninhabited.

Trespassers who have dared to make a landing on the Haunted Island have been forcibly struck by its beauty. Not a thing was wanting in an ideal summer home. A shady verandah, now falling in decay, runs around three sides of the house. The windows and doors are barred, but occasionally prying hands have forced an opening. The sight that greets one is pathetic.

A huge American flag covers the whole ceiling of the living-room, while college colors and pennants are tastefully nailed about the walls. Cutouts and pictures are also in evidence. Straight back wicker chairs sit silently around the table on which is a dish that at one time contained butter, the contents having not yet wholly disappeared. Cutlery, chinaware, together with bottled and canned food are dust-covered on shelves. A shaky stairway leads to a single room above that evidently was intended by the "newly weds" to be their store-room.

Two bedrooms adjoin the living-room and here is found the striking surprise of one's stolen visit. Clothes are found scattered about, and on the small dressers are found more personal belongings. Expensive bedsteads stand in silent testimony of the deep tragedy. The mattresses are hung from the ceiling and give the only impression that any care was taken in the hurried departure of the bride. The very finest of linen, and other bedclothes, are hoisted up over the beds in the same manner.

Just outside the front porch stands a thick pole on which is an elegant birdhouse erected between the two trees that find space to grow on the diminutive island. The whole rock, for that is all it is, has become weedy and untidy. A few paces further away is what remains of the laundry shed. Washtubs, boilers, and everything a housewife needs in that line are neatly arranged.

And then one invariably takes a peep into the inside of another wooden structure nearly as large as the house. A motor launch, sail-boat, canoe, and two rowboats are neatly racked. All the water craft are covered with dusty sheets and it is doubtful if they were ever used. And that isn't all. Fishing lines, nets, weather coats, accessories, and everything imaginable are in the assortment. What was once a solid landing place in front of the boathouse has been washed away, giving the island the appearance of being cut completely off from connections. Not a thing has been taken from the island by visitors, who regard the house and contents as almost sacred.

Different parties have endeavored to either rent or purchase the island but without avail. The wife, who spent only a short period in our Canadian beauty spot in Muskoka, cannot be personally located. And thus the Haunted Island remains, intact in every detail, to be devoured by the weather of Muskoka district. Visitors, whether they land from a rowboat or canoe, journey back to the hotel deep in thought as to where the girl is whose life was cut in twain.—Norman Albert in Toronto Star Weekly.

Familiarity to the Rescue.

A clergyman who at times has a rather defective memory was one Sunday making the announcements for the coming week. He wanted to intimate that he would not be the preacher on the following Sunday, and that the pulpit would be occupied by his son-in-law, the Rev. Thomas ——, but at the last moment his memory went astray. "In addition to the notices just read," he said, "I desire to say that I shall not be preaching here next Sabbath, and the pulpit will be occupied by—by—the pulpit will be occupied by—by—" He faltered for a few seconds, then tried again. "The preacher will be——" breaking off in exasperation. "Why, I know him quite well. You all know him. He married my daughter." Then a smile broke over his face. "Oh, I remember," he said, then went on gravely, "Tom will preach here next Sabbath."

Cattails for Food.

Possibly cattails may yet be cultivated for food. Their rootstocks, which are rich in starch, are eaten by some tribes of Indians.

These cattail roots contain four times as much starch as potatoes, weight for weight, with more than three per cent. of fat, and they yield a flour that makes a "pleasing and palatable" bread. Under cultivation, the plant would yield, it is thought, valuable crops.

A Canadian Statistician.

Mr. R. H. Coates, Dominion statistician, who will attend the conference on statistical matters, called under the auspices of the League of Nations, will act also as the authorized delegate of the Dominion Government in place of the Minister of Labor at the meeting to be held in October at Geneva, of the governing body of the international labor office.

An Alarming Action.

"What's the matter, old man. You look worried." "Well, to be honest with you, I am. You know, I took out a life insurance policy last Thursday." "Yes," replied the sympathetic friend, "but what has that to do with the woe-begone expression on your face?" "Well, the very next day after I had it written my wife bought a new cookery book."

Fifty delegates of the One Big Union are in convention at Port Arthur.

Mrs. John Simpson, aged over 100, has sold her 60-acre farm in Sandwich for $63,000.

Premier Meighen addressed meetings in the Eastern Townships.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—Quotations on the Board of Trade yesterday were as follows:

Manitoba Wheat (In Store Ft. William)
No. 1 northern, $2.78¼.
No. 2 northern, $2.75¼.
No. 3 northern, $2.71¼.
No. 4 wheat, $2.55¼.

Manitoba Oats (In Store Ft. William)
No. 2 C.W., 79c.
No. 3 C.W., 76c.
Extra No. 1 feed, 76c.
No. 1 feed, 75c.
No. 2 feed, 71c.

Manitoba Barley (In Store Ft. William)
No. 3 C.W., $1.16¼.
No. 4 C.W., $1.07¼.

American Corn (Track, Toronto, Prompt Shipment).
No. 3 yellow, $2, nominal.

Ontario Oats (According to Freights Outside).
No. 3 white, 70c to 75c.

Ontario Wheat (F.o.b. Shipping Points, According to Freights).
No. 2 winter, per car lot, $2.30 to $2.40.

Peas (According to Freights Outside)
No. 2 nominal.

Barley (According to Freights Outside)
Malting, $1.30 to $1.35.

Buckwheat (According to Freights Outside).
No. 2, nominal.

Rye (According to Freights Outside)
No. 3, $1.75, nominal.

Manitoba Flour.
Government standard, $12.25, new crop, Toronto.

Ontario Flour (Prompt Shipment).
Government standard, nominal, in jute bags, Montreal; nominal, in jute bags, Toronto; $10.40 to $10.50 bulk, seaboard.

Millfeed (Car Lots, Delivered Montreal Freights, Bags Included).
Bran, per ton, $52.
Shorts, per ton, $61.
Good feed flour, per bag, $2.75.

Farmers' Market.
Fall wheat—No. 2, nominal.
Spring wheat—No. 2, nominal.
Goose wheat—No. 3, nominal.
Barley—Malting and feed, nominal.
Oats—Nominal.
Buckwheat—Nominal.
Rye—According to sample, nominal.
Peas—According to sample, nominal.

CATTLE MARKETS

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—With 3,500 cattle on sale yesterday, the general opinion on the opening among the salesmen was that cattle would run a little higher than last week, but this opinion did not materialize. The market might be quoted just about steady, in keeping with the light supply.

The quality of the cattle was generally inferior. There was a fair demand for choice and good butchers, but for all other grades trade was slow.

The offerings were pretty well cleaned up at the close. Breedy feeders will sell at steady prices. For good milch cows and springers the better classes are wanted. The bull market shows no change.

The prospects, as far as can be judged, are for steady prices for good cattle, but for the common class (and there are a lot of them coming), it looks as though the prices will be lower.

BUFFALO LIVE STOCK.

EAST BUFFALO, Sept. 21.—Cattle—Receipts, 4,200; slow, 25c lower. Shipping steers, $14.50 to $17; butchers, $9 to $14.50; yearlings, $15.50 to $16.50; heifers, $6 to $12; cows, $3 to $10; bulls, $6 to $9.50; stockers and feeders, $6 to $9.50; fresh cows and springers, $65 to $140.

Calves—Receipts, 1,500; $1 lower; $6 to $19.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,000; pigs, 50c lower; others 25c lower. Heavy, $18.25 to $18.60; mixed and yorkers, $18.75; light do., $18 to $18.75; pigs, $18; roughs, $14.50 to $14.75; stags, $9 to $11.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 10,000; sheep slow; lambs and yearlings, 50c lower. Lambs, $7 to $14.50; yearlings, $6 to $9.50; wethers, $7.50 to $8; ewes, $3 to $7; mixed sheep, $7 to $7.50.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Cattle, 35,000; good and choice steers, steady; several loads, $18.25; bulk choice, $17.25 to $18.15; good steers, $15.50 to $16.75; grassy steers, $9.50 to $14.50; cows, $6.50 to $12.25, 25c to 50c lower; choice vealers, 50c lower, mostly $6.50 to $11; bologna bulls, $6 to $7; canners, $4.25 to $4.75, steady; best western, $12.75, down, slow. Plain kinds, 25c to 50c lower; stockers and feeders, 25c to 50c lower.

Hogs, 22,000; mostly 25c to 35c higher, closing weak and 10c to 20c lower than early, top $18.25; practical top, late, $18.15; bulk packing sows, $15.25 to $16.75; pigs, 25c to 50c higher; bulk desirable kinds, $16.50 to $17.25.

Sheep, 30,000; fat classes, slow to 25c lower than Saturday; top western lambs, $13.95; top natives, $13.75; bulk native lambs, $12.25 to $13; fat ewes, mostly $5.50 to $6; feeding lambs, steady to lower; best feeding lambs, $13.65.

"Vacation" Miners Back at Work.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 21.—General resumption of operations in the anthracite coal fields, with the exception of the Schuylkill district, is predicted here by officials of the United Mine Workers. The majority of the "vacation" strikers, they declared, have voted to return to work pending efforts of the policy committee to re-open the wage negotiation.

League Gets Down to Work.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The Council of the League of Nations has requested the allied Premiers to furnish the conditions upon which mandates have been granted the various powers and the exact boundaries established for mandatory territories.

Cobalt Has Fur Coat Weather.

COBALT, Sept. 21. — Fur coats made their first appearance of the year on the streets on Saturday. They were needed. A cold, bitter wind was blowing, and in most blocks the steam made its initial appearance. It was a typical fall day.

Wrangel Drives Back Reds.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 21.—Cavalry forces of Gen. Wrangel, the South Russian anti-Bolshevik leader, have driven back the Reds on the Oriekhov front, it was announced here Saturday. The Bolsheviki have retreated beyond Takmak.

More Constables Slain and Wounded.

LIMERICK, Ireland, Sept. 21.—A constabulary patrol was ambushed near Abbeyfeale Sunday. Constable Mahonye was killed and the chief constable and another constable were wounded.

Miss America won the Gold Challenge Cup by winning Tuesday's race at Detroit. She averaged 71.43 miles an hour.

The drug evil in Canada is being very greatly reduced by the Federal Department of Health.

Car shortage in West affects grain prices paid farmers.

Buffalo city officials order Childs restaurant back to 1919 prices.

Every 10c Packet of
WILSON'S
FLY PADS
WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

KATZENJAMMER KIDS TONIGHT

George M. Gatts will present this season's edition of the great musical comedy, "The Katzenjammer Kids," at Griffin's Opera House tonight only. "The Katzenjammer Kids" are known to everyone, and the young and old derive keen enjoyment from the famous cartoon characters who are also known as "The Shenanigan Kids" and "The Katzies." The company is composed of thirty selected comedians, singers and dancers with Olivia Mynfanwyn as the prima donna. Haunting melodies and tuneful airs are features of the musical program that includes twenty-three song numbers. Attractive girls, the choicest specimens from the garden of beauty, lend enchantment to the chorus numbers, the most noted of which are the Bathing Girls and the Fashion Plate choruses.

Hans and Fritz, their Ma and the Captain are constantly in evidence during the action of the comedy, and the spectator will be treated to a laugh a minute by the jokes these famous little rascals play on their Ma and the Captain.

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL AT PALACE TONIGHT

An excellent varied double feature bill of screen entertainment has been arranged for presentation at the Palace tonight only, consisting of Tom Mix in his latest drama of daredevil'try and romance, "The Terror"; Frank Keenan in a gripping drama of the hour, "The World Aflame"; Larry Semon in a two-reel scream, "The Fly Cop"; Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack," this picture showing the champion in action in the ring, and George Seitz in "Bound and Gagged." Owing to the length of the performance it will commence at 7.30 sharp.

SEVEN LEADING MEN IN "EYES OF YOUTH"

Seven leading men in one picture should prove a distinct novelty. As a rule, one matinee hero is enough to satisfy the demands of an interested public, but in the case of "Eyes of Youth," in which Clara Kimball Young is starred, it was found necessary, because of the numerous angles of the big dramatic story, to provide seven leading men to carry out the big roles of the production.

They came from the east, the west, the north and the south. Harry Garson, the producer of "Eyes of Youth," combed the American market for eligible leading men and prominent names will mark every role of the play. From New York Garson secured Edmund S. Lowe, who plays the romantic male lead of "Eyes of Youth," opposite Miss Young. Last season Mr. Lowe was leading man for Florence Reed, and is one of Broadway's biggest favorites. From New York also came William Courtleigh, who has played a leading role in many of the big productions of Broadway for the last ten years. Mr. Courtleigh will have the great character role of Paolo Salvo, the impressario in "Eyes of Youth." From the north came Ralph Lewis, and Gareth Hughes, both famous on stage and screen alike. Gareth Hughes is regarded as one of the screen's most famous young actors and has been starred on both the stage and in motion pictures. Vincent Serrano and Milton Sills, both too well known to the screen to require any further introduction, will appear in "Eyes of Youth," one as the Yogi, or Hindu teacher, and the other in a leading character part. The seventh leading man of this aggregation is Rudolfo Valentino, who will have the role of the dancing master in "Eyes of Youth." In "Eyes of Youth" Clara Kimball Young has a vehicle that will prove the most lavishly staged film in the history of the screen.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfrew	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

SINCLAIR'S

Autumn is Here!

The Calendar says so. The cooler days say so, and the new stocks of merchandise in our store say so.

Complete assortments of Autumn apparel are ready—Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Gloves, Neckwear and Stockings—everything that gives comfort and beauty for the new season. There is such a pleasure in having the first choice of the new things and now is the time to most fully enjoy this privilege.

The Suits For Autumn

ELEGANTLY BRAIDED AND RICH WITH FUR

One encounters so much that is new in Suit Showing that to linger and inspect each new feature and to try on every suit becomes a real temptation. Embroideries, tasteful fur trimmings, gay linings, are style departures that catch the eye, but we are sure when you inspect their faultless tailoring and their individuality of style, you will be greatly impressed with them.

A Frock

—of Serge or Tricotine is every woman's first concern in Autumn. It fills a dozen distinct and different needs. She may don it for informal social wear, or just as appropriately for the shopping trip. The favored Autumn tones are all shown. Moderately priced from $19.50 to $65.00.

Sweaters for Chilly Days

Two special clearing lines of Sweaters have been set apart for quick selling. The one lot consists of Pullover Sweaters with V-neck and Sailor Collar in contrasting colors. They are specially priced at $3.50.

The second lot are Pullover styles with round or V neck in a good variety of colors. Priced to clear at $2.50 each.

You will picture the children wearing cunning little frocks when you see these Ginghams. And we won't be a bit surprised if you select a good many yards to make up into dresses for yourself. Prices begin at 50c. yard.

New Autumn Woolens

LOVELY IN TONE AND FINISH.

The new Woollen Fabrics of Autumn have warmth and body, yet they are inexpressively soft to the touch. Only after they are made up into fashionable frocks, coats, suits and skirts can one fully appreciate the beauty of their textures. There is great variety from which to choose.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food forwhich little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

Listen to Me!

THE DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAM AT THE

☞ PALACE TO-NIGHT

Contains the best varied bill of screen entertainment presented in Belleville in some time, and consists of:

TOM MIX in "THE TERROR"	FRANK KEENAN in 'THE WORLD AFLAME'

JACK DEMPSEY in "DAREDEVIL JACK," Showing the Champ. in action.

LARRY SEMON in THE FLY COP	GEORGE SEITZ in 'BOUND AND GAGGED'

PRICES—Children 16c.; Adults 27c.

Come Early—Performance starts 7.30—Come Early.

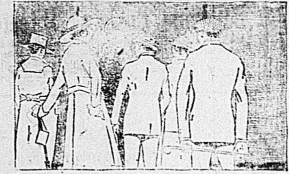
GRIFFIN'S OPERA HOUSE Tonight Only

BEAUTIFUL GIRLS — MAGNIFICENTLY GOWNED

23 SONG NUMBERS. 6 GORGEOUS SCENES

SAME CAST AND PRODUCTION THAT PLAYS TORONTO NEXT WEEK.

PRICES—50c., 75c., $1.00, $1.50. SECURE SEATS NOW.



Your Teeth

Insure them against decay. Wash them regularly twice a day with a reliable tooth paste, powder or liquid and your dentist bills will be small indeed. Remember, a clean tooth never decays.

Teach your children the need of clean teeth. Cultivate in them the habit of a twice daily brush while they are young. Then as they grow up, the habit will grow with them.

We have on hand a good stock of well known Tooth Pastes, Powders, Mouth Washes, Tooth Brushes, etc. Give us an opportunity to serve you.

DOYLES DRUG STORE

Every Tea and Coffee Drinker finds a new and delightful flavor the first time he tries

INSTANT POSTUM

A health drink for meal-times

"There's a Reason"

—at grocers!

Advertise your needs in our "want" columns

PALACE

VISIT THE DAILY MATINEE

TOMORROW TO SATURDAY

A Star of Beauty and Daring

Ruth Roland

in

The Adventures of Ruth

—An action serial of romantic risks and breathless thrills.

—Each episode a rousing adventure.

—Each episode building a dramatic romance.

—Each episode crammed with mystery.

—The entire serial one of high heart interest, plus beauty and daring.

also

H. B. Warner

in

"A FUGITIVE FROM MATRIMONY"

2—Other Quality Plays—2

Suppose

you were sitting with your loved ones. The time was May. All nature smiled. You were content that Fate had shaped a happy life for you. Suddenly, and without warning, as though borne on the wind, a figure draped in weird oriental costume entered your life. This figure, a Yogi from far-off India, and bearing with him a crystal sphere into which he bade you look and therein was shewn your future life.

ALL THE MYSTERIES OF AN AGE

ALL THE MAD RAGE OF POVERTY

ALL THE ANGER OF AN OUTRAGED FAITH

ALL THE ECSTACY OF SUCCESS

AND ALL THE FEAR OF BETRAYAL.

And in all this you saw yourself pictured in kaleidoscopic vividness.

WOULD YOU WANT TO LIVE THAT LIFE?

THIS IS THE THEME of the Great, new, intense, dramatic document,

"EYES OF YOUTH"

In which is seen

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG

GRIFFIN PICTURES

DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F GRIFFIN

Tomorrow to Sat.

Matinee Saturday, 2.30.

fine!

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

THAT HUDSON BAY PORT

ANCIENT DISPUTE STILL REMAINS UNSETTLED.

Some Westerners Declare That Fort Churchill Is Much Better Adapted to an Harbor Than Port Nelson—It Is Asserted by Critics That Millions Have Been Thrown Into the Mud Uselessly at the Latter Point.

THE ancient tragedy of Henry Hudson and his son, having been set afloat in an open boat and abandoned in Hudson Bay, by mutinous seamen, is not the only tragedy connected with this historic inland sea of our Canadian north, says Bert Huffman in the Grain Growers' Guide.

If you could ride over the Hudson Bay Railway line with me to Milepost 214, then on a gasoline speeder to Kettle Rapids, milepost 333, then by canoe and "hiking" on a good trail for 92 miles to the mouth of Nelson River, I could show you a more monstrous tragedy than the first.

In the original tragedy only half-a dozen or so of men suffered. In the modern tragedy, being enacted in the clay-mud at Nelson "harbor," the entire people of Canada are to suffer untold burdens of taxation, because of the wanton and criminal waste of money going on there in a weak and futile attempt to make a harbor in the mud flats, while a perfectly good rock-bottom harbor exists at Fort Churchill, 180 miles north by water, 100 miles north by land, so declares Mr. Huffman.

There you have the opinion of Mr. Huffman, who has been one of the champions of the claims of Fort Churchill against those of Port Nelson. Never has there been a more bitter debate than is going on regarding the rival rights of these two ports. People in Eastern Canada may not hear a great deal about it, but occasionally an echo like Mr. Huffman's article reaches us. Some engineers have recommended Fort Churchill and others prefer Port Nelson. Which shall it be? Is either as good as its friends claim? Is either as bad as its enemies assert? We cannot tell at this distance. Still it is interesting to hear what Mr. Huffman in his bitter attack has to say on the subject.

Aside from the cost of the railway line, almost, if not quite, $10,000,000 has been expended in the harbor mud, and it will require twenty years to build a harbor there, if it is at all possible, and will require constant and heavy dredging to keep it clear of the millions of cubic yards of clay carried down by the river annually. That is another charge launched by Mr. Huffman.

Of course, the C.P.R. will lose some traffic in the diversion of western grain by this short-cut to market, he continues. And, of course, the Hudson Bay Company, with its 250-year record of spotless virtue in the northern fastnesses, will lose its strangle-hold on trade and transportation in the out-of-the-way places, when once this line is completed. So, if the western farmer can stop and put two and two together, he will begin to understand the temptation to delay the Hudson Bay Railway line and harbor.

At Fort Churchill the granite rock blasted out for elevator sites could have been used in breakwaters, cribbing, retaining walls and other necessary features of the harbor, thus shortening and cheapening the construction. At Nelson the Government is attempting to build an artificial island on a mud foundation, the island to be itself constructed of mud dredged out of the river. One attempt failed and another site for the "island" was established 4,000 feet further out in the mud, and there the jumbled, bungling, unscientific job has stopped. A steel bridge was to connect the island with the mainland, and the entire immense and spectacular terminal site was to sit on a mud foundation. It will be noted that the enemies of Nelson talk a lot about the mud.

Nelson is unsheltered, open, flat and bleak — when the tide is out nothing more than a wide, shallow delta of mud. The wind whips it from every quarter, and when the tide is out an ordinary vessel must anchor miles out at sea.

Churchill is not perfect, but it is sheltered, ribbed by solid granite, there is 60 to 70 feet of water in the harbor, with no wide delta to fill with mud, and with everlasting solid foundations for elevators, and only a narrow neck of channel to dredge.

By diverting the present line, or by building a new line from somewhere near Split Lakes, Churchill can yet be utilized and made ready to load the prairie wheat within two years. By energetic direction is could be ready for the 1922 crop—but Nelson? Well, if a cargo of wheat is shipped out of that port within seven or eight years, the judgment of hundreds of honest and competent men is far, far amiss.

Here is Mr. Huffman's final verdict, with which the engineers who support Port Nelson will doubtless disagree:

The sentiment in the north is almost unanimously in favor of Fort Churchill. Ask any honest-minded business man in The Pas what he thinks of Port Nelson, and he throws up his hands in utter disgust and replies: "It is such a pity, such a pity—it can never be a harbor. They are simply casting the people's treasure into the mud, never to be recovered."

I hear it everywhere—on railroads, on boats, in hotels, on canoe routes, on portages, in mining-shafts, in sawmill bunk houses. I have visited and sounded every possible source of public sentiment in the north, and it is all one loud, vehement cry in favor of Churchill.

◆

Provincial oCnservative convention called for December 1 and 2.

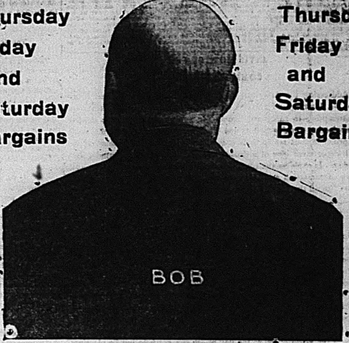
Thirty thousand baskets of fruit reached Toronto from Niagara by boat.

BOYS BOOT BARGAINS

Gorman's Boot Shop.

Thursday Friday and Saturday Bargains

Thursday Friday and Saturday Bargains



MEET ME FACE TO FACE

BOYS' BOX CALF LACE BOOTS--Sizes 1 to 5, regular price $4.75 and $5.00. Three Days Special - - -	$3.95
YOUTHS' BOX CALF LACE BOOTS--Sizes 11 to 13½, regular price $4.00. Three Days Special - - -	$2.95
LITTLE GENTS' BOX CALF LACE BOOTS--Sizes 8 to 10½, regular price $3.50. Three Days Special - - -	$2.65

Hurry Boys! Hurry!

Letters to the Editor

EYES THAT SEE.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—Talking with an enthusiastic Scotch friend just returned from the "bonnie land of the heather," I was delighted as he told me of the wonderfully beautiful scenery of his native land. His eyes were filled with tears as he spoke of the mountains, the lochs and the trossachs. Many of these scenes were familiar to me.

I wonder if in our schools much is taught of the wonders of the scenery of this world. Are the eyes of the children directed to look at the blue sky, the fleecy clouds, the myriads of stars, the sunrise and sunset; the blue, green and grey colors of the waters of our bay; the many tints of the bow of promise, the rainbow; to examine the minute crystals of the snow, the butterfly's wings, the plumage of the birds; to listen and understand the different notes of the songsters of the woods. Contemplating the wonders of nature, look from nature to nature's God. How evanescent is man!

Generations pass, but the mountains still stand unchanged. During the changes of the season how much there is to admire! One thing I have observed with intense pleasure—the flowers in the school grounds, myriads of them, of all colors. They fill the soul with delight and help to mould the minds of the children into a love of the Beautiful. Too many of us are blind to the feast which nature provides.

Immersed in business, amusements and cares, we pass (many of us) through life, missing its manifold beauties and wonders. To many a primrose growing upon a river's bank is merely a yellow, modest little flower; to others, one of nature's gems, exquisite in form and color. Let us pray that our eyes may be opened, and that we may thoroughly enjoy the great feasts which nature provides for us upon the command of nature's God.

J. J. B. FLINT.

◆

IMPERIALS' TRAINING TO BE FARM OWNERS

Charles Tombs, an ex-Imperial soldier who has come to Canada to learn farming preparatory to taking up land of his own under the Soldier Settlement Board, writes the Board expressing his appreciation of the opportunity that he has in Canada. He says: "I arrived in Canada on April 6, 1920, and commenced training under the Soldier Settlement Board on June 1. I am pleased to be able to say that I find the life, work and the opportunities reach far beyond my expectations. Although a great change from my former life in the Old Country, I find the work most interesting and the prospects most encouraging."

Another prospective Imperial settler is Henry Gifford, who is on a farm near Listowel, Ont. He writes the Board that he was found work by the Field Supervisor at Listowel. "Everything is to my great satisfaction," says he; "I am progressing favorably and enjoying the life very much.

◆

BIG YIELDS FOR SOLDIER FARMERS

In southern Saskatchewan generally the situation with regard to soldier farmers is excellent. Only in one small corner has there been a crop failure.

The Soldier Settlement Board office at Regina writes:

"Collections will be fair with the exception of the extreme southwest corner of the province, where the crop has been a complete failure owing to drought. There is an excellent crop in the Swift Current district, and I am informed by the Field Supervisor that some of the settlers will net about $5,000 from their crops after paying their liabilities. Reports of this nature are very encouraging."

STANDS FOR EVERYTHING PURE AND RIGHT IN MILLING

Your Interests Are Our Interests

Few mills other than ours protected the interests of their customers by keeping a large supply of Old Crop Manitoba Wheat when new crop came on the market.

It now happens, fortunately for both our customers and ourselves, that New Crop wheat makes an inferior grade of Flour. We can still supply you with the best Flour obtainable.

If you have not tried it, do so and be convinced. Others are praising it, so will you. If it pleases you tell others —if not, tell us.

The Judge-Jones Milling Co., Ltd.

FLOUR, FEED AND CEREAL MILLERS

133-135 Station St. and 50 Albion St. Belleville, Ont.

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 30 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

CIVIC MOTHER FOR COMMUNITY ILLS.

Addressing the American Public Health Association at San Francisco, Dr. Hastings, of Toronto, declared, "I cannot see the justification for attempting to safeguard human life against communicable disease and neglecting to safeguard human life against any preventable disease." The principle thus set forth is one which bridges the gap between the health department idea of a decade ago and the health department idea of today. It explains the transition from a department functioning as a bureau of sanitation and quarantine to one which has become a "civic mother" to all the physical ills of the community.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN MEIGHEN GOVERNMENT

In the short time Hon. Arthur Meighen has occupied the important position of Premier of Canada he has more than demonstrated his fitness for the position. In his platform utterances he has been frank and candid, truthful and honest, making no rash promises, but calling a spade a spade no matter where he was speaking. The new Premier has won hosts of admirers in all sections of Canada even among those of opposite political beliefs. It is a matter of gratification, therefore, that two of his chosen Ministers who went back to their constituencies for endorsation have been returned by substantial majorities, an indication of confidence in the government of the day which can not help but be pleasing to Premier Meighen and all right-thinking Canadians. The defeat of Messrs. McCurdy and Wigmore might have forced a general election at an early date and thus thrown the country into a turmoil of bitterness and uncertainty which would be neither advisable or profitable to the best interests of Canada as a whole.

Premier Meighen is winning more friends every day and there is every indication that his government will be ruled by wise counsels and legislate for the best interests of the citizens of Canada as a whole besides contributing materially to the up-building of a new and greater Canada which is the desire of all true Canadians regardless of politics.

WASTING OF COAL DURING SCARCITY.

Eastern Canada is facing a serious coal shortage. Due to labor troubles, the output is below the average, while railway companies are handicapped by shortage of cars. Hon. Frank Carvell, Chairman of the Railway Commission, which is now in control of the fuel situation, has stated that we will be fortunate to get coal, regardless of price. Every effort must be made to reduce the consumption, and to secure the greatest heat efficiency possible from the supply available.

Much coal is wasted by the too early starting of furnaces. The first chilly weather brings the furnace into use. This fall in temperature is almost invariably followed by a warm period. If, by the use of other heating appliances, such as kerosene or electric heaters, or by burning wood in the furnace, the period for consumption of coal could be shortened, and a considerable saving of coal could be effected. During 1919 Canada imported 4,758,419 tons of anthracite coal in chestnut, stove and egg sizes. Our heating season is approximately seven months, a portion of which at the beginning and end is comparatively mild. By an average lessening of the coal-burning period of 20 days say, five per cent. of this anthracite would be saved, or 238,000 tons. With coal selling at an average price of $15 per ton, this saving would represent upwards of $3,500,000. All of this coal has to be hauled by rail. To move this 238,000 tons requires 4,760 cars of 50 tons each.

Economy in furnace operation would also considerably reduce the coal consumption. Much unconsumed carbon is discarded with the ashes, and much of the heating efficiency of the coal is also wasted through carelessness in firing or in defective installation.

The Mines Branch of the Federal Department of Mines has issued a bulletin, No. 28, "The Economic Use of Coal for Steam Raising and House Heating," by John Blizzard, B.Sc., which gives valuable information regarding the economic and efficient operation of steam boilers and heating furnaces.

Every care should be exercised in the use of coal. With the limited supply available, the extravagance of some means that others will suffer.
—Conservation.

CRISP COMMENT

William of Hohenzollern, who resigned his job as Emperor of Germany, by request, has made his will, which he declares to be his last testament. Looks as if he has at last found out that he is not immortal.

× × ×

Moonshine whisky made in a Kentucky prison is the latest indication of the growing popularity of "home brew." Every Yankee you meet these days talks of "home brew" as if there was oceans of it. From all reports, however, while there may be oceans of the stuff it is not in the least Pacific.

× × ×

The Kingston Whig says that, "Gossip is just a boat full of lies with some fool rocking it." To this the Toronto Star replies, "But why not encourage him to upset it and drown all on board?" We doubt if the lies would sink, being without form and void, having no foundation in fact, and being lighter than air—all there is to gossip is the poison sting.

× × ×

The Globe says the expected happened in the ministerial bye-elections. Quite so, but it is suspected that the Globe may have expected or would have accepted with prayer and praise a reverse for the Government in the ministerial bye-elections. And of course their majorities being less than in the war-time election when ballots meant bullets, leads the Globe to conclude that it wasn't much of a victory for the Government after all. However, Premier Meighen wears the smile that means "carry on!"

× × ×

Five Parisian dressmakers have entered suit against Jack Pickford, the movie star, for $30,000, which they allege is due them for gowns ordered by Olive Thomas, Jack Pickford's wife, who died recently from poisoning. Fifty dresses, two fur coats, one of ermine and seal and one of mink, are included in the bills rendered. The dressmakers threaten to seize the Pickford trunks unless he comes across with the mazuma. The fact that Jack flew to London in an airplane special may have some connection with the presentation of the bills. Put him up in the air, as it were; but then London is a better

OTHER VIEWS

No Patched-Up Settlement

London Daily News

The great question of production and prices are at the root of the present unrest not only in the coal trade but in almost all others today. Until they are dealt with in a broad spirit any patched-up agreement that may be reached will be merely a postponement of trouble.

The Gambling Menace

Detroit News

There is a cancer eating into the heart of baseball, and unless those who are guiding the destinies of the national pastime have vision to perceive this, baseball will decline in popularity as did walking matches, wrestling, racing and boxing. No sport can live with the taint of suspected crookedness and professional gamblers can not enter into any sport without bringing with them that taint.

Political Movies

New Orleans Times-Picayune

Once the politcal photoplay is introduced, we may expect a deluge thereof. The folk who won't attend political rallies may prepare in that case to "get theirs" in the form of moving pictures. The film-dose should be pleasanter and easier to take, but, nevertheless, a lot of the good folk who have been dodging their "quotas" of political disage will refuse to rejoice in the prospect of its being forcibly fed to them via the "movies."

Sanctity of Contracts

Washington Post

It is apparent to everybody who gives close study to the relations between capital and labor that wage contracts must be honored at face value by both sides. Employer and employe must conform in good faith to their agreements, whether they be required by law to do so or whether they make it a matter of honor. If this is not done, no satisfactory mutual understanding is possible and harmonious relations in industry will never be permanently attainable.

POET'S CORNER

OLD HANDS

Old hands are not for kisses
Nor the girls of long ago;
But the old hands in a garden
Can make the flowers grow.

We look at them in wonder
One day and, sighing, see
Them changed and old and withered,
Surprised that this should be.

Such smooth, soft hands they once were,
Pink tipped, pink palmed, and now
So thin—or plump—and wrinkled,
But useful anyhow!

The flowers don't see the difference
They only feel a touch
Of tender understanding
And blossom twice as much.

Old hands can hold a baby
And smooth a pillow too;
Old hands can write a letter
Signed: "Grandma's love to you."

Old hands return the pressure
Of strong, big hands of sons,
Of grandsons and granddaughters—
The loving little ones.

So old hands do God's bidding
In gardens and highways
And at evening in contentment
Old hands are clasped in praise.
—Caroline Russell Bispham.

A LAUGH OR TWO

As It Read

A policeman whose evidence was being taken on commission, declared: "The prisoner sat upon me, calling me an ass, a scarecrow, a ragamuffin and an idiot," and this being the conclusion of his depositions, his signature was preceded by the formal ending: "All of which I swear is true."

Another Twain Story

"When Mark Twain was a reporter, he inserted this paragraph into a report of a wedding:

"Conspicuous among the wedding presents was a ton of coal that had been in the bride's family for five generations. This was much admired by reason of its quaint, old-world massive ness, it being much heavier than the tons of coal of today."

What He Thought

The interviewer at the bedside of the aviator who fell 3,000 feet and hit the earth asked gently:

"Tell me, what was your dominating thought as you fell through all that space?"

And the aviator, true to form, lit a cigarette, smiled and said:

"Why, I guess the thought that impressed me most was that I was about the only thing that wasn't going up!"

The Fading Honeymoon

The June groom had returned to work.

About the middle of the second week the telephone rang as usual and the stenographer said:

"Your wife wishes to talk with you, Mr. Green."

"Tell her I'm very busy now," he replied, "and cannot leave to come to

What Prominent Ontario Women Say

Tillsonburg, Ont.:—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very beneficial during expectancy. I felt quite poorly, was nauseated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took 'Favorite Prescription' and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, also my strength and I was soon feeling fine and strong. My baby was strong and healthy and has always been so. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a great help to the expectant mother and am glad to recommend it."—MRS. AMOS MILLS, Box 238.

A HAMILTON WITNESS

Hamilton, Ont.:—"A few months ago I was stricken down and was confined to bed about ten days. My strength all left me. It was my first illness since a child. I lost five pounds and felt awfully weak afterward. I could hardly do my work. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in tablet form. I tried a couple of bottles and before I knew it, I was well and strong and had gained 9½ pounds. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build one up."—MRS. E. MARTIN, 397 Dundurn St.

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

Yours to Enjoy!

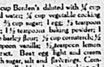
Mayonnaise

3 tablespoonfuls Borden's Evaporated Milk, undiluted; ½ teaspoonful salt; ¼ teaspoonful pepper; ¼ teaspoonful mustard; 2 tablespoonfuls sharp vinegar; ¾ cupful salad oil—any kind. Combine the seasonings, add the milk, and gradually beat in the oil with an egg beater. Then whip in the vinegar. Use as any Mayonnaise. Transfer to covered jar, keeps well in a cool place.

Orange Cream Sherbet

1 cupful Borden's Evaporated Milk; 3 cupfuls water; 1½ cupfuls sugar; ½ cupful lemon juice; ½ cupful orange juice. Boil the sugar and water together for five minutes. Chill and add the fruit juices. Freeze slightly in three parts ice to one part salt, then add the evaporated milk and finish freezing.

One Egg Cake



¼ cup Borden's diluted with ¼ cup cold water; ¼ cup vegetable cooking oil; ⅔ cup sugar; 1 egg; ½ teaspoon salt; 1½ teaspoons baking powder; 1 cup barley flour; ½ cup cornstarch; ½ teaspoon vanilla; ½ teaspoon lemon extract. Beat egg light and cream with sugar, salt and flavorings. Combine milk diluted, with cooking oil. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately to first mixture with the milk. Beat thoroughly, turn into lined, medium-sized pan, sprinkle nut meats, chopped raisins or coconut over top. Bake in moderate oven.

Many other equally good recipes are in the Borden Recipe Book, all simple and economical to make. You'll be delighted with the convenience of cooking and baking the Borden way.

Your recipe book is waiting for you.

THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED MONTREAL

10-920

A Bruise or a Bump feels lots better after being bathed with "ABSORBINE JR."

This antiseptic liniment goes deep into the tissues—makes the afflicted parts thoroughly aseptic—destroys disease germs—takes out the soreness and heals.

Absorbine Jr.
THE ANTISEPTIC LINIMENT

should be in every home in case of accidents; to heal cuts, bruises, lacerations; reduce swellings and soft bunches; relieve pain and inflammation.

It is a vegetable germicide; absolutely safe; pleasant odor; free of grease; does not stain.

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists' or sent postpaid by W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 50 Lyman Building, Montreal.

DEVELOPING PRINTING
ENLARGING

ANSCO
Cameras and Films.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

We Would Be Delighted

—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.

T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

ADVERTISING FOR ADVERTISING

We will devote this space regularly to a series of advertisements to stimulate interest in our Classified Want Ads.

We are publicity advocates and practice our own precepts because we appreciate their value.

This series will be pregnant with pertinent points of general interest, whether you wish to buy or sell, to employ or be employed, to borrow or to lend, to find a finder or an owner.

It will pay us to run these advertisements. That is the best proof we have to offer that it will be profitable to you to use our Classified Want Ad. Columns.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

S. J. Fisher, Auctioneer
WILL SELL AS FOLLOWS:

Wm. Maine, farm stock, implements and household effects, Sept. 23, on Lot 27, Con. 2, Thurlow Twp.

Miss Minnie Adams, household effects, Sept. 28, at No. 12 Cedar Street, Belleville.

P. L. Shorey, farm stock, Oct. 13th, Lot 13, Con. 3, Thurlow Twp. For particulars see posters, or phone 168, S. J. Fisher, 19 Campbell St.

WE WILL TELL YOU

—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.

Phone DAY 531

Zutoo Tablets Do Three Things
—stop Headache in 20 minutes
—break up a Cold over night
—stop Monthly pains of women.

You can buy cheaper "Corn Flakes"
Why not buy the Best?
Ask for
Genuine Original
Kellogg's
TOASTED CORN FLAKES

toasted to a turn, always crunchy and fresh, full of the sustaining nutrition of selected corn kernels—the kind most people have eaten for 14 years—better to-day than ever before.

London the home of Kellogg's

33

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.
UNDERTAKERS
14 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 8.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 438.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE,
Insurance—Life and Fire,
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 206.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.
26 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.				STATIONS.		READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37				Train [illegible]	Train 22	Train [illegible]
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.		Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*7.00 a.m.
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	†1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	†10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.53 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	6.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.

Save Your Eyes

Nature's signal

A HEADACHE is not a disease. It is a danger signal thrown out by Nature to warn you that something is wrong.

Many headaches and nervous troubles comes from eye-strain. Have you ever thought of your eyes as a possible cause of your trouble? It may be your eyes. You may see quite well, but if your eyes are slightly imperfect, severe strain is caused by this imperfection, which shows itself in headaches and nervousness.

Would it not be wise to find out and make sure that your eyes are right?

Consult your Optometrist and he will tell you.

"Have your eyes examined"

Watch for this sign

BETTER VISION THROUGH SCIENTIFIC OPTOMETRY

It is an emblem of service

Write the Secretary, Box 92, Dundas, Ont., for free booklet on the care of the eyes.

When Lillian Claire Peteler Sang for Us---

Do You Remember What Happened?

Something very remarkable happened when Lillian Claire Peteler sang in Belleville.

Lillian Claire Peteler stood by the New Edison and sang. Suddenly her lips stopped moving. She was no longer singing. But the song continued!

The New Edison had taken up the song. Remember how you who listened COULD NOT TELL THE DIFFERENCE? Remember how surprised you were?

Can there be any more convincing way of demonstrating the clean-cut superiority of the New Edison? When music meets music in such a way—both must be real music. No other phonograph dares the Direct Comparison Test.

THE NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

A pleasant and thorough way to discover the wonder of RE-CREATED music is to call us up. We'll bring the instrument to your own home. There we'll demonstrate it to you and then leave it, so you can make up your mind at leisure. Satisfy yourself in this way. 'Phone us now.

Dance every evening! New Edison dance RE-CREATIONS just out!

Hear Miss Peteler sing again on the New Edison the songs you heard that evening.

The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited

HOME OF GOOD MUSIC - - - - FRONT ST.

The Thirteenth Commandment

by

RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

What would Clay say? But, after all, he had failed her in a crisis. Perhaps he had turned his heart elsewhere. Men were impatient, vindictive, fickle.

When Claremont was reached and Duane handed Miss Kip out he noted that her hand was hotter than his own and a little quick to escape, her face was flushed and her lips parted as if with excitement. He assumed that the speed of the ride and the tang of adventure were to blame.

While the waiters were serving the supper and while he was attacking it with the frank appetite of honest hunger she recounted the evening's disaster as calmly as if it were the story of somebody else. In fact, she was standing off and regarding herself with the eyes of an alien. We change so fast that the persons we were yesterday are already strangers, and their acts the acts of distant relatives. Her calm was really the numbness of shock. The anguish would come tomorrow.

"I can't understand myself at all," Daphne said. "I went through every one of the motions, but I couldn't reach the audience once. I was like a singer with a bad cold singing in a foreign language—you don't know what the song is all about, but you know that it never quite gets on the key."

"You mustn't be discouraged."

"Oh, yes, I must! I couldn't be an actress in a thousand years. Mr. Batterson told me so himself."

Duane felt the truth of this, but it hurt him to have her feel it. It offended his chivalry to realize how impolite fate could be to so pretty a girl. He hated to see her reduced to the necessity of proving how plucky she could be. He tried to find an escape for her. He said:

"You're far too good for the stage."

"I don't believe that for a minute," she protested. "But I've got to find something I can do."

"May I help you to decide?"

"If you only would! But I'm getting to be a nuisance."

"You are a—a—to me you are a—well, you're not a nuisance."

He dared not tell her what she was, especially as the waiter had set the bill at his elbow and was standing off in an attitude of ill-concealed impatience for the tip, which he knew would be large. Mr. Duane always gave the normal ten per cent and a bit extra. He tipped wisely but not too well, knowing that an extravagant tip wins a waiter's contempt almost more than none at all. The head waiter fairly cooed "Good night" and almost gave them a blessing.

The starter had Mr. Duane's car waiting for him at the curb and lifted his hat with one hand as he smuggled a quarter away with the other. He stepped in to lay the linen laprobe over their knees with reverence, closed the door exquisitely and murmured, "Good night!"

The car was an aristocrat; it floated from the curb with a swanlike sweep.

Daphne thought of Clay and herself plodding homeward. She seemed to see them or their wraiths staggering disconsolately along. She felt very sorry for them. Here was a chance to save one of them—both of them, in fact; for in taking her financial burden from Clay's shoulders she would be twice strengthening him. If she were to accept Duane as her husband then her problems would be solved—and Clay would be free of her.

To be Mrs. Tom Duane; to step into the society of society; to lift her father and mother from a position of meekness in Cleveland to a post of distinction in New York; to solve at once all the hateful, loathsome, belittling riddles of money; to be the bejeweled and feted and idolized wife and mistress of this young American grand duke; to buy that impossible trousseau, or better; to live in a New York palace instead of a flat; to go about in her own limousine instead of an occasional taxicab; to be fortune's darling instead of a member of the working classes, struggling along with bent neck under a yoke beside a discouraged laboring man!

When the car reached her building she was resolved to see Duane no more. She could not tell him so. After all, he had been everything that was courtesy and charity. It would hardly have been polite to treat him with absolute indifference. Duane got down and helped her out and took her to the door, which was locked at this late hour. While they waited for the doorman to answer the bell she was paying him his wages:

"You are wonderfully kind. I had a gorgeous evening. You saved my life."

She had said more than she intended—if not more than he had earned.

"Then may I call soon?"

"Of course."

"Tomorrow?"

"I—well, I'll let you know."

"Fine! Telephone me at— I'll write it out for you. I'm not often at the club where you found me, and my number isn't in the book." He wrote on his card his telephone address and gave it to her as the doorman appeared.

He murmured, "Don't forget." She murmured, "I won't." Both said "Good night." Then the doorman gathered her in and hoisted her to her lowly eyrie. It was very different from where she would have gone as Mrs. Duane.

She Stared at Her Image in the Mirror.

But when she was in her room she tore his card to pieces—after she had looked at it. She stared at her image in the mirror. She hated what she saw there.

She vowed to break her promise to Tom Duane. She vowed to forget his telephone number. But it danced about in the dark long after she had closed her eyes.

The next morning she overslept even beyond the extra hour the Chivvises permitted themselves and the stranger within their gates on Sundays.

When Daphne appeared at breakfast, trying not to yawn, Mrs. Chivvis greeted her with a voice as cold and dry as the toast, and as brittle:

"You were rather late getting in last night—or this morning, rather."

Daphne's answer was not an explanation, but it was better:

"Oh, I know it, Mrs. Chivvis, but I lost my position last night. Yes! I played the principal part and killed it, and now I'm not going on the stage any more."

Mrs. Chivvis was touched. "You poor child! It really is—just too bad!" She pondered, then she brightened: "I'm sorry you're disappointed, but I'm glad you're not to be in the theater. It must be very wicked."

"It's mighty difficult," said Daphne.

Mrs. Chivvis thought a moment more, then she said:

"Did I tell you?— No, I don't believe I did—you were away—but Mr. Chivvis gets his vacation next week. He's got to take it when his turn comes. The man who was going now couldn't be spared, so we have to leave Tuesday. I'm going, of course, so I can't give you your meals. You can get your breakfasts in the kitchenette. Of course I'll allow off whatever is right."

"Oh," Daphne said. "I'll be all right, I guess."

Daphne had not realized how much she depended on Mrs. Chivvis till now. She was to be left alone at the very time when she was most in need of society. The whole world was forsaking her.

CHAPTER XIII.

When the Chivvises had gone Daphne assailed the task of composing her letter of resignation from Reben's employ. It was not easy to resign with dignity and the necessary haste.

She sent it off by messenger. It was none too prompt, for Reben had already dictated a very polite request for Daphne's head. When he received her letter he recalled his stenographer and dictated a substitute for his first letter. In this he expressed his regret at learning Daphne's decision to resign; the former understudy had come back from the road, he said, and would resume her work. He begged Daphne to accept the inclosed check for two weeks' salary in lieu of the usual notice, and hoped that she would believe him faithfully hers.

Daphne felt a proud impulse to return the fifty dollars. She wrote a letter to go with it. She looked again, and saw it was the first money she had ever earned. She hated to let it go. She decided to frame it and keep it to point to in after years as the beginning of her great fortune.

Late in the afternoon, when the western sky was turning into a loom for crimson tapestries almost as rich as her own dreams, she went to her brother's apartment.

There the New Girl found the Old Woman in the throes of finance. Leila had brought her check book and her bank book to her husband. Her affairs were in a knot.

He laughingly offered to help her. She was hurt by his laughter, but not half so deeply as he was by his discovery of her monetary condition. He had established her bank account in a mood of adoration, a precious sacrifice on the altar of love. She had not cherished it, but scattered it heedlessly. And money was peculiarly precious now in the final agonies of the hard times, when only the fittest of the fittest could survive the last tests. Credit was the water cask, and dollars were the hard biscuits of a boatload of survivors from a wreck. Land might be reached if they held out, but self-denial was vital.

(To Be Continued)

Police in running fight with bandits who had robbed the Red Deer Lumber Co. at Barrows Man. Nine members of police wounded.

FALL EQUINOX NIGH; BUT GALES A MYTH

Toronto, Sept. 22.—Today is the autumnal equinox, when, by sundial time, day and night are of equal length all over the world. But clocks cannot be constructed to follow the sun exactly. At Toronto the sun, by clock time, rises at 6.04 and sets at 6.16. Next Sunday it will rise at 6.09 and set at 6.09, making equal day and night according to the clocks.

The equinoctial gales, which are supposed to be prevalent at this date, have nothing to do with the equinox. Investigation has shown that even prevalence is doubtful. There are just as many storms at other periods.

ANCHOR PLUG TOBACCO

Two Plugs for 25¢

ANCHOR PLUG is the chewing tobacco of superlative excellence.

Try a plug today.

It Holds its Flavor

For Fall cleaning

The strongest cleanser known

Splendid for sinks and drains

All grocers

Ask for it to-day

VICTORIA

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bedell of Belle-

Old Jack Frost has made his first appearance, making things look sad indeed.

ville spent the week end at E. Brickman's.

Mrs. M. Hubbs is very ill. The doctor is attending her every day and friends and neighbors hope to hear of Mrs. G. French of Belleville is staying at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Hubbs, at her son's Mr. Will Hubb's Rednerville,

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weese and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brickman motored to Norwood on Saturday returning Sunday evening to visit Mrs. Weese's brother, Mr. W. Tucker.

Master Harman Montgomery under went an operation for adinoids at Belleville Hospital on Tuesday. He is progressing favorably.

Mrs. Annie Brickman is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. F. Bedell for a few weeks.

Mr. Amos Wannamaker and Mr. H. Lambe have their silos completed ready for filling.

What Ready To Eat Cereal Should You Buy?

If it's flavor you want; if it's moderate cost, or full nourishment without waste; if it's quickness of service —

By all means try a package of that Sugar-Saving Cereal

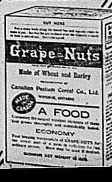
Grape-Nuts

This famous wheat and malted barley food has every good feature a prepared cereal food should have, and more than most foods.

Grocers Everywhere Sell Grape-Nuts

"There's a Reason"

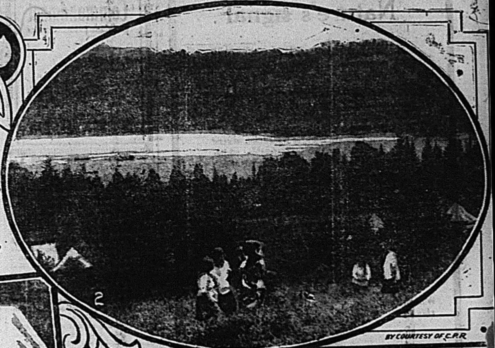
Made by Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Ltd. Windsor, Ontario.



Grape-Nuts
Made of Wheat and Barley
Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Ltd.
A FOOD
ECONOMY

Y. W. C. A. CAMPERS IN LAURENTIAN MOUNTAINS

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.



BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

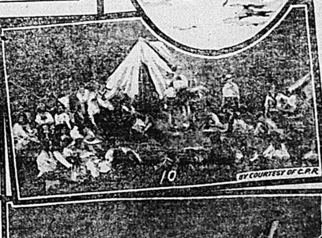
BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

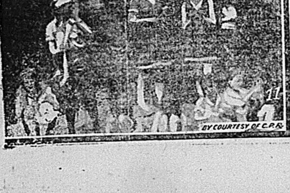
BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.



BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.



BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

(1) Y. W. C. A. Camp Oolahawan. Playing basket ball. The camp kitchen and dining-room in background.

(2) A corner of the lake with part of Senior Camp in foreground.

(3) Miss Holiday tells a story around the camp fire at Oolahawan.

(4) How to spend a hot summer afternoon in the shady part of the lake.

(5) All in for a swim.

(6) How they row out to the float for diving instruction.

(7) There is always a rush when the dinner bell sounds.

(8) Y. W. C. A. Camp bathers in the water.

(9) Scene in the Senior Camp.

(10) Part of the Junior Camp.

(11) Washing clothes, and other fun, on the lakeshore near Junior Camp.

(12) Diving instruction.

Won't You Come to Camp at Oolahwan!

Oh, won't you come to camp at Oolahwan,
And if you don't you'll wish that you had gone, had gone,
There's boating, bathing, picnics too,
Strawberry ice-cream, dandy stew,
Gee! but don't we like it, we like it!
We go to see the sun rise in the morning,
And watch the ghosts go prowling round at night,
Still that's the place for a bunch of girls,
Ducked in the lake if they show curls,
Oolahwan! It's alright!

Camp Oolahwan, the Montreal Young Women's Christian Association Camp for girls, is located in Laurentian Mountains near St. Margaret's on the shores of Lake Masson. The property which is over three hundred acres in extent is ideal for camping and takes in a beautiful lake with a splendid bathing beach. There are also shady woods, streams and springs, open spaces and rocky hills. "Baldy" the highest point on the property commands a wonderful view of the valley of Le Bras Est and one can count from its summit half a dozen mountain lakes nestling among the hills. No more delightful place could be found for a holiday camp. Each summer six or seven hundred girls visit Oolahwan and revel in the beauty, the fresh air and the fun of camping out.

It is a real camp. The girls live in tents and dress in camp outfit, most of them wearin middies and bloomers. Th juniors have a tent circle o their own, a separate leaders corps and a campers' counc made up of outstanding campers. The councillors meet regularly and discuss not only th daily programme of activitie but also such varied questio as "Is there enough salt in th porridge" and "How to kee talkative campers quiet a night". It is considered a honor to be a councillor. Th senior camp has also its ow separate organization and officers.

There are many fascinatin things to do at camp—all kind of out-of-door activities, including boating, bathing, picnics, bonfire parties, stor hours, etc.

Campers who are intereste in birds, flowers, camp craf life-saving, etc., find leader who can help them with thes things. Informal Bible stud courses are also given.

Friday is regatta and sport day, and regular competition are held each week in swimming, diving and rowing, tw swimming directors being employed for this work. Basket ball and baseball matches ar also held.

Attractive shields with ho ors are given each week t campers winning sufficien points in water sports, natur study, etc.

Great interest also centre around three silver cups whic may be won each week. Tw are awarded—one to junior and one to seniors for thos tents winning highest honor and one is given to the best a round camper, the latter bein chosen by ballot.

Fall Suits and Coats

of Superb Style and Excellent Quality

A WONDERFUL SHOWING OF NEW FALL STYLES IN THE LATEST MODELS.

NEW SUITS—in Velour, specially priced at $55.00 and $58.50

NEW COATS in Velour, Silvertone, Tweeds, Plush, etc., specially priced at .... $35.00 to $110.00

KIDDIE SWEATERS.—We have just placed in stock a big shipment of Children's Pullover Sweaters. Just the garment for cool weather. Priced at $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50

ENGLISH FLANNELETTES.—A big assortment of English Striped Flannelette. Special values at 45c., 50c. and 60c.

EARLE & COOK CO.

WE SELL McCALL PATTERNS.

McCALL'S FASHIONS ARE HERE

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store

Phone 553

Misses & Young Ladies Fur Sets

If you are needing a Fur for the chilly evenings, call in and take a look around our stock. We have a nice assortment of MISSES' and YOUNG LADIES' sets cut from the choicest skins and fashioned on the very latest designs.

We would especially recommend you to see our sets in

JAPANESE CROSS FOX, BADGER
AUSTRALIAN AND AMERICAN OPOSSUM, GREY SQUIRREL.

The price you will find reasonable, being from $35.00 per set up

DELANEY

Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
17 Campbell Street.

PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE

CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY

PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

PASTOR RESIGNS.

After forty years in the ministry, 32 of which were spent in Morrisburg, Rev. Hugh Cameron has resigned from the Presbyterian Church.

AWARDED $400 DAMAGES

The fall assize presided over by Hon. Justice R. M. Meredith was brought to a close yesterday afternoon. The last case on the docket was Ketcheson vs. Gartley. The plaintiff, Miss Edna Ketcheson of Roslin was on the 29th day of November last delivering mail for her father who is a mail carrier, when the buggy in which she was riding was struck by an auto driven by the defendant Gartley. The horse shied into the ditch and Miss Ketcheson was thrown out sustaining injuries to her left leg. An overture for settlement was made some time ago by Gartley who offered the plaintiff $55 and to make the repairs to the vehicle. As a result of the trial the plaintiff was awarded $400 and County Court costs. Mr. Carnew for plaintiff and Messrs. Porter, Butler and Payne for defendant.

REMAND GRANTED

James Naylor, a young man, was brought before Magistrate Masson charged with having broken into the store of T. McKee at Stirling with intent to steal therefrom. As the Crown was not prepared to proceed, a remand until the 28th was granted. In the meantime Naylor will remain in jail. It is alleged that three other parties were implicated with the accused but escaped. The place of business was broken into about 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

TO BE DEPORTED

Henry L. Heine, an American, who was arrested here a few days ago on a charge of the theft of five raincoats was today by Magistrate Masson sentenced to a month in jail. When he has served his time he will be deported as the necessary papers have been secured.

ALLOWED THEIR LIBERTY

Nova Reinard, Ramie Le Brock, Geo Lavalle, Arthur Martin and Paul Gavlipy, five young French Canadian boys who were apprehended on a charge of breaking into the C.N.R. station at Springbrook and stealing some tobacco were today allowed their liberty as it could not be proven they committed the offence. Amie Clarke, who was a member of the party was given a week in jail, it being proven that he was guilty of theft.

FRENCH-CANADIANS HONOR MEIGHEN

Montreal, Sept. 22.—The Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister of Canada, has been elected honorary president of the Club Canadien, an exclusive French-Canadian social club of this city. Premier Meighen has written a letter in French, expressing his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him. Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec, has been elected an honorary member of the Club Canadien.

SUMMER

ASTHMA— HAY FEVER

—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—

RAZ-MAH

brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.

Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

NOTICE !

Now is the time to have your furnace and pipes overhauled and cleaned by our experienced workmen.

We do plumbing also, and are Agents for Happy "Thought Ranges" famous every where.

DIAMOND & HYDE

PHONE 38

McClary's

Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

WINNER OF SIX WAR MEDALS PRAISES TANLAC

Lieut. Wm. Draper Won Commission by Bravery on Field, but Was Knocked Out by Rheumatism — Says Tanlac Completly Restored Him.

Lieutenant William Draper of Glen Falls, N.B., popular officer in the Canadian Army, is still another returned war veteran who comes forward with his unqualified endorsement of Tanlac. Lieut. Draper served throughout the entire war, two years and a half of the time being spent in France with the Second Division Ammunition Column.

He was a Sergeant-Major when the war broke out and won his commission for conspicuous service on the field. Lieut. Draper is also a veteran of the South African War, in which he fought with the Canadian and British forces. He is a possessor of six medals, his last one a "Meritorious Service Medal," being awarded for gallant service in the late World War. In an interview recently, Lieut. Draper told his experience with Tanlac.

"For about three years I was troubled with rheumatism in my arms and back. My muscles were sore and stiff my back was weak and lame and hurt day and night. I could not lie in any comfortable position and was almost helpless when I lay down in bed, being hardly able to move.

"I got so I could not move about or walk without effort. My appetite left me and when I sat down to the table two or three bites being all I could eat. I couldn't sleep much, for I was often in such pain that I lay awake for hours.

"I took five bottles of Tanlac and since then I have not felt a sign of rheumatism. I can use my arms as well as I ever could and my back never troubles me at all and is strong as it ever was. I have a fine appetite and everything I eat digests properly. I sleep like a child now every night now and I am a well man enjoying the very best of health."

Tanalc is sold in Belleville by Caström's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Called By Death

JOSEPH J. REDMOND

Joseph J. Redmond passed away at Picton on Monday following a stroke with which he was afflicted Friday. Mr. Redmond was in his garden digging potatoes when he was stricken and he never rallied. The deceased had lived for many years in Picton and took a very prominent part in public affairs. He was born in Ireland eighty-two years ago and when he came to Canada he lived for a time on Amherst Island, where he married Miss Gibson, who predeceased him about a year. Forty years ago he was a business manager for Irving & Downs when their saw mill and planing mill flourished on the site now occupied by Hepburn & Williamson's canning factory. He afterward spent a few years on a farm in Sophiasburgh. Retiring from the farm about thirteen years ago he returned to Picton. He has been a member of the town in the country council. He was a devout Presbyterian and an Orangeman of long Standing. He leaves a family of five, one son and four daughters, all of whom have taught school and two are still in the teaching profession.

SAMUEL FERGUSON

The death occurred yesterday morning after an illness of several months of Mr. Samuel Ferguson, turnkey at the Counties jail at Cobourg. Mr. Ferguson was one of the best known men in this section and by his genial disposition made many friends who will learn with profound regret of his passing away. Mr. Ferguson has held the position at the jail for a number of years and his kindly treatment of all the prisoners won for him the respect of all who were obliged to spend a time within the grey stone walls.

Social And Personal

Montreal are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reid, cor. Bridge and George streets.

Mr. George E. Reid and wife of Mrs. Walter Dolan, Winthrop, Mass. and Miss Winnifred Sinnott of Boston are the guests of their aunts, Miss Margaret Sinnott and Mrs. Harry Geary, 318 Coleman street.

Mr. Wm. McIntosh, who was taken ill on Sunday is recovering and expects to be out in a few days.

Mr. William Edge, of Chicago is in the city visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Warren of this city attended the funeral on Sunday of Mr. Warren's brother, the late Mr. W. B. Warren of Lansdowne.

Mrs. Witherspoone and Mrs. Davis have returned to Toronto after visiting Mrs. Miller, McDonald Ave.

A German syndicate is being formed to loan money at long terms to the Baltic States.

THIRD LINE THURLOW

Mr. and Mrs. P. Carey of Belleville visited recently at Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Easton's.

Mr. and Mrs. Doxtator of Shannonville spent a day recently with Mrs. A. Wilcox.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Esmond of Belleville were the guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cooley.

Miss Edith Brown of Toronto is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Hamilton.

Mr. W. H. Nobes also Mr. and Mrs. Scannell of Wallbridge visited last week at Mr. J. E. Cooley's.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swain went to Colborne last week to visit his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Casey spent a day this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Way.

Miss Annie Brown is attending Belleville High School.

Mrs. McCutcheon of Belleville is visiting her brother, Mr. A. H. Easton.

Mrs. H. Brown had the misfortune to lacerate her wrist very badly but is now doing nicely.

Mrs. Fletcher McKenzie of Winnipeg is visiting her brother, Mr. Chas. Liddell.

Miss Mary O'Brien has been spending several weeks with her sister Mrs. McAvoy of Ivanhoe.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Foster and family, also Miss B. Beatty and Miss M. Badgley, all of Tweed, called at Mr. J. E. Cooley's one day this week on their way to Picton.

CARMEL

Sunday school was the only service at this appointment on Sunday.

The School Fair at Canifton was well represented from this section and all enjoyed it very much.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Treverton attended Shannonville Fair.

Mr. Shaw is able to be around again.

Mrs. N. Brintnell has returned home after spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. O. Dafoe.

Mr. Sheldon Homan attended the Ottawa Exhibition several days last week.

Several of the farmers in this vicinity shipped their wheat on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Pitman spent Thursday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Pitman, Foxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Vanderwater spent the week end the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Faulkner, Turner's Settlement.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Sullivan and Mrs. C. Garrison spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Vermilyea, Foxboro.

Mrs. W. C. Reid spent a few days with her daughter, Miss Wanda Reid, Wicklow, this week.

WEST HUNTINGDON

Mr. Milton and Miss Annie Sills, of Niagara Falls, visited their mother, Mrs. Sills, recently.

Mrs. Paul Kingston of Stirling died suddenly Tuesday morning and was buried here on Thursday.

Miss Margaret Post of Niagara Falls is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Post.

Master Jack Pitman underwent an operation in Belleville Hospital on Saturday.

A number from this locality attended the Rural School Fair held at Ivanhoe on Saturday.

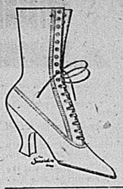
Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welch of Moira were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sarles recently.

Miss Ella Tanner of Ivanhoe is visiting at Mr. R. Haggerty's.

POLICE COURT AT DESERONTO

Mr. Carnew, Crown Attorney, went to Deseronto today to appear in two cases brought before Police Magistrate Bedford of that town. Frank Airhart was charged with an indecent assault and Clarence Brant with neglecting to support his wife. In both cases Mr. Carnew represented the Crown.

Footwear of Special Merit



The more particular a woman is in regard to the sort of shoes she wears, the more she will enjoy seeing the new styles we are showing for Fall.

EVERY WOMAN'S SHOE is a masterpiece of expert Shoemaker's Skill.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.

Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.

194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.

MILADY'S NEW SUIT

Just to let you know that we are now showing many new and stunning arrivals in our Suit Section. Several clever models in the new shades of Brown, Taupe, as well as the ever new Navy Tricotines, Serges. Duvettes are the fabrics. Many fur trimmed.

Priced $37.50 to $90.00
Coats, $30.00 to $75.00

Wottens Limit'd

LADIES' WEAR STORE

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

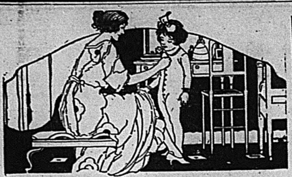
John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Cream Puff Opening

Our Cream Puff season opens today. We will have these along with our other whipped cream goods fresh every morning. Price the same as last season.

60c per dozen

ED. F. DICKENS & SON



DRESSING the little daughter in the snuggest and most comfortably fitting Mercury Underwear brings a thrill of pride and satisfaction to the mother.

Mother selects Mercury Hosiery for herself and the children, and knows the warmth of soft texture and the smoothness of fit will give a sense of physical well-being to her boys and girls.

Thousands of families are upholders of the merits of Mercury Underwear because they have found every Mercury claim to be an honest claim.

Your dealer has Mercury Underwear or will be glad to order it for you.

MERCURY MILLS HAMILTON, CANADA

Makers of Mercury Underwear and Hosiery for Men and Women.

Mercury Underwear 119

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 15 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 1 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word. If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 353 Front Street. a6-dtf

FOR SALE—225 STATION STREET, EIGHT roomed house, electric light, water inside. Large barn and garden. Price reasonable. Apply W. Parry, 225 Station St. s22-3td

FOR SALE—ROUND OAK HEATER, GOOD condition. 18 Howard street. 1td

FOR SALE—SMALL FARM, NINE ACRES, mostly in apples and small fruit, just outside city limits, 9 roomed house, with hot air furnace, good well and cistern. Will sell house separate. If not sold by October 1st will rent. Apply G. D. Gratton, R.R. 3, Belleville. s21-6td

FOR SALE — KITCHEN RANGE, McCLARY'S Pandora, with reservoir and warming closet. Apply G. D. Gratton, Trent Road. s21-2td

FOR SALE—DOHERTY PLAYER PIANO and 40 rolls. Apply N. Curtis, N. Park St., Belleville. s21-6td

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE—TWO NEW BUILDINGS—ONE nine room bungalow, all modern conveniences, hardwood floors and trim, fireplace, bookcase, colonade, large basement, large lot and garage. One two-storey, seven rooms, full size basement, hardwood floors, etc. Prices right. Apply J. Kiser, Builder and Contractor, 120 Moira Street West, Belleville. s18-4td

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. s18 12td

FOR SALE — MEDIUM SIZED FRAME house with conveniences, situated at 81 West Bridge Street. Price reasonable. Apply to Mrs. P. C. VanAllen, 323 Front St., Belleville. s17-6td

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 353 Front St.

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 183 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a19-dtf

HELP WANTED—MALE

$30 AND UP—MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day or evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o2

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1129-10 C. P. R. Building, Toronto. s15-10td

WANTED — A BOY TO LEARN THE printing trade. Apply The Intelligencer Office. s20-dtf

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR Shop. Apply John Henley, Fowbridge. s20-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—A GOOD PLAIN COOK, GENERAL. No laundry work. Highest wages to capable person with references. Apply 161 S. Albert Street. s22-2tw.std

WANTED — CAPABLE COOK-GENERAL, for family of three. No washing. Wages $— per month. References required. Address Box "V," Intelligencer Office, Belleville, stating characteristics, age and references. All replies will be considered confidential. s22 2tw,5td

WANTED AT HOTEL QUINTE, A LAUNDRESS; also a bell boy. s21-6t

LADY BOOKKEEPER WANTED. APPLY BOX 14, INTELLIGENCER. 21-2td

TWO EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES wanted by The Ritchie Co., Limited. s21-4td

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. Good wages. Apply Box "X," Intelligencer. s20-4td,1tw

GIRL WANTED FOR VETERANS' LUNCH. Apply 164 Front St. s20-4td

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dlrr

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—HOUSE; MODERN BRICK, 7 rooms; 81 W. Bridge St. Apply 75 W. Bridge St. Possession Oct. 1st. s21-4td

FOR RENT — FURNISHED ROOMS, ALL conveniences, centrally located, 238 Albert street. s23-4td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s20-12td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 852. s14-dtf

TO LET—SIX ROOM HOUSE. ALL CONVENIENCES, on Dufferin Ave. Also flats to let. Apply Dr. Caldwell. s16-6td

WANTED.

WANTED, FOR LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING, by young couple, 3 or 4 unfurnished rooms with all conveniences. Apply Box "5," Intelligencer. s21-4td

WANTED BY YOUNG BUSINESS MAN—one or two furnished or unfurnished rooms in private home. Box "G," Intelligencer. s21-4td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

STATIONARY ENGINEER, 2ND CLASS certificate, seeks situation. Best references. Box "S," Intelligencer, Belleville.

WANTED—SMALL HOUSE OR FLAT BY October 1. No family. Apply with particulars to Box "12", Intelligencer. s20-4td

FOR SALE BY TENDER.

The electrical supplies, stock and fixtures of the estate of Charles J. Peppin, located at 189 Front St., Belleville, is offered for sale by tender up until 6 p.m. of the 23rd inst. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Stock list can be signed and premises inspected by making application to

WM. CARNEW,
Court House Bldg., Belleville,
Solicitor for W. R. MORRIS,
375 Water St., Peterboro, Ont.,
Authorized Trustee.

Dated 20th Sept., 1920. s20-3td

AGENTS WANTED

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

The fire inquest into the Thorold riots has begun.

Nurses in Hamilton and Brantford have raised their fees.

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393. We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

SPECIAL PRICE ;

Of good Crawford peaches. On account of the enormous large crop, peaches are running smaller than usual. Fresh car in every day. Get our prices before buying. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge Street, opp. P.O. Phone 520. s20-6td

You will enjoy the cool evenings of September with a few new dance records. Ask to hear these:

In Sweet September (fox trot) A2959.
Happy (one step) A2963.
Frogs Legs (fox trot) A2925.
Tell Me Little Gipsy (fox trot) A2972.
In the Gloaming (waltz) A2970.
C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Hear Henry Burr's latest song, "Down the Trail to Home Sweet Home," coupled with the tenor solo "The Love Nest," by Frank Crumit. A2973.—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

You are invited to hear the following Player Rolls at C. W. Lindsay, Limited:

Fifth Nocturn Story Roll.
One Fleeting Hour (song).
Paderewski Menuet.
Let the Rest of the World Go By (waltz).
—C. W. Lindsay, Limited

To brighten your furniture use Stay-Brite Polish. Sold only at C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Warm Your Room or Office With a PORTABLE MAJESTIC HEATER
Special Price, $11.00
See Them at
THE HYDRO SHOP

Starting September 22, Wednesday will be girls' and women's day at Y. M. C. A. for the Fall and Winter. s22-2td

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the partnership heretofore existing between Frederick A. Daniels, John V. Connell and Francis Kelleher as foundrymen at the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, carrying on business under the name of "Union Foundry Company," was dissolved on the 1st day of September, 1920, by mutual consent.

The business will hereafter be carried on by John V. Connell and Francis Kelleher under the same name of "Union Foundry Company."

All accounts due the said former partnership are to be paid to the said partners hereafter carrying on said business and all liabilities are to be assumed by said last named parties.

Dated this 7th day of September, 1920.

UNION FOUNDRY CO.,
F. A. DANIELS,
J. V. CONNELL,
F. C. KELLEHER.

s8,15,22

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER of the Estate of William John Allen, late of the Village of Bancroft, in the County of Hastings, Laborer, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 56 of the Trustee Act, R.S.O., 1914, Chap. 121, that all creditors and others having claims or demands against the estate of the said William John Allen, who died on or about the Twenty-first day of September, A.D., 1917, are required on or before the Twenty-ninth day of September A.D. 1920 to send by post, prepaid, or deliver to the undersigned Solicitors for Sarah Ann Allen, the Administratrix of the Estate and effects of the said Deceased, their Christian names and surnames, addresses and descriptions, full particulars in writing of their claims, a statement of their accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after such last mentioned date the said Administratrix will proceed to distribute the assets of the said Deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which she shall then have notice, and that the said Administratrix will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim notice shall not have been received at the time of such distribution.

WILSON, PIKE & STEWART,
39½ Fifth St., Chatham, Ont.,
Solicitors for said Administratrix.

DATED at Chatham, this 4th day of September A. D. 1920. s8,15,22

SIXTY BELOW ZERO.

What It Means to Be In the Far North.

At 60 degrees below every stovepipe throws out a great white cloud of smoke and vapor, resembling a steamboat in its whiteness, and this cloud streams away for from 50 to 100 feet, mingling with the other white-gray mist or haze that remains permanent in the atmosphere of the town like a great fog when it is 40 degrees or more below zero.

This white-gray fog is not fog as we know it, but is frozen fog, and every man, woman, child, animal and even the fire that burns is throwing out moisture into the air, which is immediately turned into a cloud of frozen vapor that floats away and remains visibly suspended in the air.

Very slowly this settles to earth, and in the morning, about the steps and any protected place, one can see a very fine film of flourlike dust deposited, which is composed of frozen vapor.

Exposed ears, hands and noses freeze at this temperature in going the distance of about one city square. The breath roars like a mild jet of steam, while a dipper of boiling water thrown out into the air emits a peculiar whistling as its drops circle through the frosty atmosphere

Prospectors, attempting to boil a dish of rice or beans upon a camp fire unprotected from the weather, find that the side of the dish that is in the fire will boil, while the part of the dish exposed to the weather has frozen. To remedy this the dish is set completely into the fire.

Edged tools subjected to this temperature become as hard and brittle as glass and will break readily under strain. All vegetables, potatoes, apples, fruit, eggs and the like can be allowed to freeze until they become like bullets. To make ready for use place them in cold water half a day before using, and the frost will slowly withdraw without injury to the food. To attempt to thaw them out by the more rapid process of fire or hot water spoils them for use.

In such temperatures one must be very careful about touching things with unprotected hands. It is dangerous to take hold of a doorknob when it is 60 degrees below zero or thereabouts, unless one is careful instantly to release his hold, for if he does show this carelessness the inner palm of his hand will be frozen in five seconds. The result is the same as though he had touched a red-hot stove.

Kerosene begins to thicken at 40 degrees below, and at 60 and 70 degrees below becomes as thick as lard and looks very much like that substance only a little darker. It can then be cut out of the can with a knife in the same way that one cuts lard or butter.

Lore of Blazed Trees.

In earlier days, when large portions of the country were covered with forests and there were few roads, travel was often possible only by way of paths "blazed" through the woods. To blaze, as every woodsman knows, is to strike off a chip from the sides of trees, so that the line of marks shall indicate the direction of the trail.

In blazing for a path small trees were marked, but in blazing for the bounds of a lot or town or for a farm line larger trees were usually selected, the blaze being made about breast high. When, however, as was often the case, the blazing was done in winter on deep snow by men traveling on snowshoes, the mark was necessarily higher up. When such a line is traveled in the summer, especially after some years, during which the trees have grown, the marks are sometimes found high up on the trunks and are likely to escape the eye of the inexperienced. As many of them will also be partially overgrown the task of the surveyor who goes over one of these old lines is not always easy.

If the boundary line passes to the left of a tree selected for blazing the cut is made upon the right side. If the line goes to the left the tree is blazed upon the left side.

In running a boundary line at a corner, where two lines come together, either a "monument" is erected—a stake supported by four boulders—or a tree is blazed on all four sides to indicate as clearly as possible the turning point of the line.

The permanency of the record made by blazing trees is quite remarkable. It is a matter of fact that in many case of disputed lines or boundaries of lots in forest lands the courts have held the records of the blazes as sufficient and reliable, where carefully drawn plans and formally attested title deeds have been set aside. The wound of a blazed tree heals over, but never so completely that the scar may not be readily recognized by the experienced woodsman, hence it follows that so long as the blazed tree escapes fire and the axe of the lumberman so long it remains a faithful record of the line as surveyed.

Blazed trees also fix dates almost as accurately as they preserve boundaries. The outer shell which has grown over scar is cut away, and the rings in the wood beneath the bark testify to the number of years which have elapsed since the blaze was made.

Desire for Disguise.

The millionaire was dining alone, and had much time to puzzle over an unusual phenomenon he had noted. "Why is it," he said, addressing the waiter, "that poor men usually give larger tips than rich men?" "Well, sir," was the reply, "looks to me that the poor man don't want nobody to find out that he's poor, and the rich man don't want nobody to find out that he's rich."

Deceptive Visions.

It was Wilderby's first acquaintance with mountain scenery in Wales, and one fact strruck him forcibly. "I think it so wonderful," he said, "that wherever you see a lot of mountains the smallest are always in front."

One dead and two injured in a motor accident near St. Thomas.

Triplets, all girls, were born to a Brampton woman in the Guelph hospital.

Glasses That Enrich Life

Some folks have an idea that glasses are a nuisance to wear. They put off wearing them because they think glasses will be a bother.

That impression is wholly wrong, for glasses which are properly made and fitted are wonderfully welcome to wear.

Being made with extreme care, personal attention given to each detail, Blackburn glasses enrich life. They refresh and strengthen the eyes, protect and preserve sight, and end the physical and nervous distress caused by eye strain.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

New Rubber Factory Ready for Business

General Manager Hastings states that all the equipment necessary for the building of tires and tubes is now installed in the Tiger Tire & Rubber Company's new factory and that the factory will be in operation turning out tires and tubes next week.

Mr. Hastings says that the principal reason why the factory has not been started sooner is due to the fact that through the labor troubles, shipping facilities, and general manufacturing conditions throughout the United States and Canada, making it almost impossible to obtain certain machinery and equipment, also raw materials. The Company has had several disappointing delays on this account, which was unavoidable. Every effort has been exercised to have the Company's plant in operation at the earliest possible date. Only those that have had actual experience along these lines, and are in the manufacturing business can appreciate the difficulties there are to contend with in getting together a modern equipment and materials necessary for the successful operation of a rubber factory.

The men connected with the Company are practical rubber tire manufacturers and are capable of turning out the best that can be built and the one ambition of the management of this company is to manufacture nothing but strictly high grade tires and tubes which will always meet with ready sale. The Tiger Tire will be the most attractive and the best built in Canada. The company has a special equipment for building cord tires and intend putting on the market one of the best cord tires ever offered to automobilists.

Mr. Davis, the factory superintendent, has had several years of experience in the tire business and is very enthusiastic over the modern equipment installed in the Tiger Factory, and states emphatically the Tiger Cord and fabric tires will be the best that can be built. The future prospects for this company are very bright. The company owns a complete set of formulus enabling them to manufacture most anything that can be made of rubber.

An invitation will be extended to the citizens of Belleville and vicinity at a later date to visit the factory and inspect the entire equipment and see how the Tiger Tires and Tubes are made.

CLAIM TREATY IS VIOLATED.

Kingston, Sept. 22.—The Army and Navy Veterans Association passed a resolution condemning the presence of the United States armed cruiser Chillicothe, at Ogdensburg, N.Y., for the purpose of guarding the New York State border against whiskey runners. The veterans claim that the presence of the cruiser with machine and naval guns is a violation of the treaty between Great Britain and the United States.

RITCHIE'S

New Millinery

ARRIVING DAILY

Featuring All that is Novel and Approved for This Season

Large shipments of new style hats are arriving daily, entirely different from that show at our formal presentation of the authentic new style creations in our Millinery shown rooms on Opening Days. One after another these charming hats will be a source of wonder and delighted surprise, for great is the variety and the artistry of these new modes wrought by clever, deft fingers. A softly crowned, softly draped hat of Blackw ill add piquancy to an interesting face. Ostrich, flattering dear to every feminine heart, graces many a saucy brim with soft swirls, or fine strands. And there are dashing little street hats that will be perfect with the trig new Autumn tailleur or street frock.

The Millinery Parlors will weclome your inspection of these many new modes, priced from

$5.00 to $35.00

NEW COATINGS

New Coating in the much wanted cloths and materials for Fall are to be found in our Dress Goods section. Never have we been so well prepared as this season with this special showing of Fall Coatings, in Bolivia, Cord, Tinseltone, Silvertone Blanket Cloth, Whitney Cloth, Tweeds and Polo Cloth, at prices ranging from

$3.50 to $12 yard

New DressGoods

Veleur, Suede Cloth, Gabardine, Broadcloth, Worsteds and Tweeds in the approved shades for Fall in a truly wonderful showing at from

$2.50 to $8.00 yd.

Plaid Skirtings

Plaid Skirtings for Skirts and Fancy Dresses at from

$1.50 to $8.00 yd.

VEILINGS

MONA LISA, the new snug fitting veils, are in great demand because of their unusual distinctiveness. We have them in a full range of shades, large meshes and fine scrolls, made of a delicate mesh so that they do not hurt the eyes, 75c.

Sweater Yarn

A new stock of Sweater Yarns, completing a full rangeof shades, in Monarch Floss, Monarch Down and Comfort Yarn.

New Velvets

All wanted colors, plain and cord; have a rich soft pile of exceptional depth. This unique feature in Cotton Velvet is obtained by a special process of manufacture. Priced from $1.00 to $3.50 per yard.

PLUSH

This lustrous fabric drapes most beautifully and is supplied in a wide range of fashionable colors at from

$7.50 to $20.00 per yard.

Ritchie's Men's Store

In our Men's Department we have prepared lavishly for you men this Fall with a range of Suits and Overcoats which in our way of thinking surpasses anything we have shown for years. These clothes are as different from ordinary clothing as gold is from iron. They are not expensive, however. In fact, we believe our clothes will give you dollar for dollar, more worth than any clothing of their quality standard you can select.

New Tweed Hats

New Tweed Hats, Hard Hats and Fur Felts—in fact, everything from a Necktie to a Fall Suit or Overcoat—all of the most deserving quality, all economically priced, and all backed by our guarantee of satisfaction.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Teas

OF SUPERIOR QUALITY
New Season's
Fragrant and Delicious
Direct Importations from Ceylon
By Wallbridge & Clarke

FINE BLACK TEAS
In bulk or sealed packets
at close prices.

Buy Wallbridge & Clarke's Teas. They taste better, go farther, and cost no more than ordinary kinds.

OUR PUMPKIN PIES ARE POPULAR

They are well made, and made from the fine, fresh, ripe pumpkins. Some fresh today.

35c each

CHAS.S.CLAP

Candidate For Presidency

Paris, Sept. 22.—Premier Millerand was chosen as candidate for Presidency to succeed former President Deschanel who resigned as Chief Ex tive of the Republic because of ill health by joint caucus of member Senate and Chamber of Deputies Senate Chamber this afternoon.

THE WEATHER

Moderate east to south winds; fine and warm.

Friday, moderate fresh southeast to south winds, fair and warm, followed by local showers.

The Daily Intelligencer.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business in
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE, and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 298.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS

Prince Edward County's Tribute to Fallen Heroes

DIED FOR LIBERTY ACROSS THE SEAS BUT EVER HELD IN LOVING MEMORY BY THE LIVING WHOSE LIBERTY THEY PROTECTED WITH THEIR LIVES — SOLDIERS' MONUMENT AND MEMORIAL GATES DEDICATED AT PICTON.

In memory of the young men of Prince Edward County who served in the late war, a handsome monument, erected in Picton by Prince Edward County, was unveiled and memorial gates at the entrance to Picton Fair Grounds, erected by the Picton Agricultural Society, were dedicated at Picton on Tuesday.

The ceremonies of unveiling and dedication were performed by Brig.-Gen. King, G.O.C.M.D. 3. Addresses were given by Major Gen. Sir A. C. Macdonell, the Commandant of the R.M.C. and Brig.-Gen. A. E. Ross. The devotional exercises were performed by Lt.-Col. Alex. Gordon and Rev. Major A. H. Creegan, of Deseronto, both military chaplains overseas. The R. C. H. A. Band, under Capt. Light, was in attendance and accompanied the school children and massed choirs of Picton in the singing. The service at the monument concluded with the playing of "Lochaber No More" by a Highland Piper of the R.C.H.A. and the sounding of the "Last Post" by R. C.H.A. trumpeters.

The monument is a white granite shaft, surmounted by the figure of a soldier, it bears the names of those who fell, engraved on three sides. On the fourth are the engagements in which the Canadians took part. A company of R.M.C. Cadets, the Picton Collegiate Cadets, members of the G. W.V.A., local militia officers and veterans with hundreds of school children, and thousands of spectators made the event a memorable one.

A luncheon was given in honor of the distinguished guests present, and at 2 p.m. the new memorial gates and entrance at the Fair Grounds were opened, General King making a short address and the Fair being officially declared open by Major-General Macdonell. The attendance at the opening day was a record one, many hundreds coming from Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, and other places. A new horse barn gives increased accommodation to exhibitors. The entries are in excess of former years.

The young men, 154 in number, whose deeds the memorial commemorates are:

Picton—A. C. Abbott; Fred Allen; S. Baldwin; Percy L. Barber; David Jellet Barker; H. H. Barnum; Wm. A. Beasley; Willet V. Bedell; H. Beson; W. Buchanan; G. W. S. Cann; Raymond S. Carter; Harry E. Cottrell; E. Bruce Dainard; Joseph W. Day; Fred Dayton; Anselm Claude Denike; Wallace Earle; Charles A. Edwards; Colin Farrington; O. Fulford; Malcolm L. French; John Alton Grooms; Wm. E. Head; G. W. Hicks; C. Hineman; Walter Hogg; Stuart Hough; C. Howard; Frank Huff; Earl Irwin; Carter Irwin; Geo. L. Johnson; Chas. Jones; H. E. Jones; E. T. S. Kelly; Jack Laney; Ralph Leavitt; Arthur Ledgworth; Donald Young Leslie; Donald Lighthall; Arthur W. Lucas; Sidney A. Martin; Ralph Masset; Fred G. Moore; J. J. Murphy; John R. McCold; John Donald McLean; Ralph E. Ranger; Aaron Ruben; Lou Sedgwick; Walter C. Scott; John A. Smith, Sherman J. Snyder; Robert Marr Stirling; J. E. Storms; Thomas Thompson; James Twaddle; M. Wannamaker; Stanley Wannamaker; Ernest Weaver; Edward Wilkins; Ross Wright; John M. Young.

Wellington—B. F. Bamsay; Geo. Covert; Geo. H. Gibson; Grant Haight; Percival M. Rorke; Fred V. Spafford; Alex. G. Stuart; Albert Turner; Henry Edgar Walker.

Bloomfield—A. A. Brant; Stanley Campbell; A. Goodwin; David Green; Moses John; Henry Parkins; Harold McGrayne; Joseph Tuck.

Ameliasburg—G. Clinton Adams; W. J. Anderson; Chas. Ayrhart; Chas. Bawden; Clayton Belnap; Edward Boyce; Adelbert R. Bush; W. B. Ferguson, M.C.; L. M. Frederick; T. G. Hall; Ben Juby; Howard E. Parliament; P. Clifford Reddick; W. W. Weller; Leslie Young; Ernest M. Young.

Athol—John Dodds; Hubert Dulmage; Harry D. Eames; Arthur Young.

Hallowell—Earle Ames; Bruce H. Cole; W. Frank Hill; Thos. Hook; Albert Lineker; Chris. R. Lockyer; Bela C. Markland; Benjamin Merry; Esli Merry; Sidney J. Taylor; Ernest G. Tuttle; W. Frederick Yardley; Robt. Geo. Yardley; Clifford Wilson; Wm. Woodrow.

Hillier—A. Bishop; John H. Campbell; Thos. Reremo; Sanniff Ross Foster; C. H. Harvey; J. H. Harvey; Burwell Hicks; Thos. H. Parks; Geo. T. Raynor; Joseph Simonds; Lorne Spencer; Herbert St. Peter; Wilson Terwilligar; T. Vance; Percy Way; Harry Winters; Russell J. Young.

North Marysburgh—Albert Guay; Joseph Hendry; Charles W. Scott; Willard N. Storms; Mac VanVlack; Harold Wright.

South Marysburgh—Earl Brown; Frank Brown; Harold Farrington; E. Hume Love; Rexford Reid; Frank Striker.

Sophiasburgh—H. Besonday; John Holmes; James Jackson; Sidney J. Kent; James Edward Pollard; W. Percy Mansfield.

Vacation Strike of Miners at an End

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 23.—Preparations were made today for full resumption of operations in the anthracite coal fields, where for nearly a month the industry has been virtually at a standstill owing to a "vacation" strike of the mine workers. Practically all of the mines in the Wyoming-Lackawanna district, with the exception of the Pennsylvania Coal Company's collieries at Pittston, resumed work several days ago. These men, and those in the Shamokin district, were expected by union officials to return to their places within a few days.

WHERE MEIGHEN STANDS ON THE TARIFF

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 23.—In the course of his speech here Premier Meighen said: "This whole free trade movement was born in Western Canada, the prairies, from which I come in which I have fought the movement from my earliest days in politics, and I will fight it to the last day of my political life." (Cheers). He knew where those who supported that movement stood, said Mr. Meighen, but he had no respect for those who sought to confuse and deceive and who did not care to say definitely where they stood. "The measure of protection this Government stands for," he affirmed, "is such a measure as will make it pay industries of this Dominion to stay in this Dominion instead of going somewhere else to stay and expand."

Find Lynch Killed Resisting Arrest

Official Report of Dublin Incident When Councillor Slain.

DUBLIN, Sept. 23.—An official report issued concerning the shooting of Councillor Lynch, a prominent Limerick manufacturer, in his hotel room in Dublin was issued this evening.

It says that twelve soldiers, accompanied by two members of the Royal Irish Constabulary, went to the Royal Exchange Hotel to arrest Mr. Lynch. As they opened the door to Mr. Lynch's room a shot was fired at them, and the military replied to the fire, Lynch falling dead. He was shot through the mouth.

The report adds that Lynch was violently resisting arrest when he was killed.

Mr. Lynch's home in Killmalloch frequently had been raided.

The city coroner announced an inquest on the body of Councillor Lynch, and has received official notification from the Castle not to hold it as arranged.

First reports were to the effect that Lynch had been the victim of a murder plot by the "Black and Tan" police.

HOLD UP PASSENGERS.

Mobridge, S. D., Sept. 23.—Two unmasked bandits boarded a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway train at Montevideo, Minn., took possession for thirty-five minutes and held up every man on board, obtaining $250 in money and about a dozen watches. The passengers robbed were mostly workingmen on their way west. The robbers escaped.

Insult Britishers At New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Several titled members of the Sulgrave Institute of England, here to celebrate the landing of the Pilgrims, were shocked and the Reception Committee at the Cunard Line docks to meet them was embarrassed today when upon landing from the liner, Carmania the British party was met by the most effective line-up of "silent" pickets ever assembled.

Although not a word was said by the pickets, who claimed they were picketing for the United States Women Pickets for the Enforcement of United States War Aims, banners bearing slurring slogans were flaunted in the faces of the distinguished visitors all the time they were on the dock.

Among the English "Pilgrims" were Lord and Lady Rathcreedan, Admiral Sir William L. Grant, Prof. Frederick J. Jackson, Mr. H. S. Perris, Mr. G. W. McKinley, Sir Arthur E. Shipley and Col. H. W. E. Edwards. No sooner had the party stepped from the gangplank of the liner than fifteen women, all well dressed, stepped forward and stood directly in the path of the party.

The women each bore banners. Among the slogans flaunted in the faces of the Britishers were.

"England Uses the Pilgrims to Help Her Friendly Commercial Invasion of America!"

"Anglo-American Friendship—Bah!"

"In 1620 Our Pilgrim Fathers Fled the Same Tyrant the Irish are Fleeing in 1920!"

"Pilgrims, England Hired Savages to Murder Your Ancestors."

Protest Against Sinn Fein

Toronto Citizens Demand Prohibition of Meetings of the "League"

TORONTO Sept. 23—The Sinn Fein element in the city will not be permitted to indulge in treasonable oratory at their meeting in the Labor Temple. These individuals have been abusing the privileges of free speech and free assembly to such an extent recently as to arouse strong resentment in law abiding citizens. This resentment was voiced at the Board of Control meeting yesterday, in a communication from the Army and Navy Veterans Association. The Veterans requested that action be taken to prohibit the holding of further meetings of disloyalists. In particular it was asked that the proposed meeting at the Labor Temple of the Irish Self-Determination League should be prohibited. As there was no official knowledge of the proposed meeting, Police Chief Dickson was directed to find out the time, place and objects of the meeting and report back to the Board on Thursday.

CUSTOMS RULES FOR CANADIAN TRAVELLERS

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—Customs rulings of interest to Canadians have been received by the Trade Commissioner in London from the British Customs Department in reply to several questions raised. The reply as to travellers' luggage follows:

"Any quantity of a dutiable article is liable to duty on importation into the United Kingdom, and must be declared and produced, but the undermentioned quantities of certain goods may be passed by the officers free of duty provided (1) they are the bona fide unconsumed stores of the passenger who brings them for personal consumption, and (2) they are fully declared and produced: manufactured tobacco, including cigars and cigarettes, ½ pound weight; spirits (other than cordials and perfumed spirits) half pint; cordials and perfumed spirits, ½ pint. Other dutiables—if the duty does not exceed one shilling.

"But maple syrup and maple sugar are chargeable with duty on importation, maple syrup being rated for duty as 'molasses and invert sugar,' etc., and maple sugar as 'sugar' at its polarization value.

FIVE INJURED IN MOTOR CAR ACCIDENT

St. Thomas, Ont., Sept. 22.—As a result of a large motor car driven by Theodore Knowler of London, leaving the road and turning turtle in the ditch just west of this city, Fred Smith and Miss Lucy Coulter, two local young people, are in a serious condition in Amasa Wood Hospital, while H. Clark and Misses Irene Logan and Edna Coulter, St. Thomas, the other occupants, are badly bruised and shaken up. Smith is not expected to live.

Empire Delegates Will Tour Canada

Railways Issue Excellent Book For Information of Chambers of Commerce Delegates

The delegates to the Ninth Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire will start on their tour of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec on Friday next, travelling over the lines of the Canadian National, Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific and Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railways. Their trip will occupy seventeen days and they will be given an opportunity of inspecting the agricultural, industrial and mining regions of the two provinces.

For the information of the delegates the four railways interested in the movement have prepared an exceptionally handsome book descriptive of the route traversed on the tour. On the cover in black and gold are coats of arms of the various commonwealths and dependencies of the British Empire represented at the congress. The book is profusely illustrated, the scenic beauties and industrial enterprises of the provinces being features. The foreword of the books gives a resume of the two provinces and each centre of importance on the twenty-five hundred miles of railway over which the delegates will pass is described. Accompanying the book is a large map showing the natural resources, transportation and trade routes of the whole of the Dominion of Canada.

The delegates will be able to take away with them in this brochure a very complete and accurate synopsis of what the provinces of Ontario and Quebec offer to the investor, manufacturer and the settler.

Dairymen of B.C. Knock Free Trade

Tell Tariff Commissioners They Need Protection For Their Products

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept., 23.—Among the farming organizations of British Columbia the Milk Producers' Co-operative Association occupy one of the strongholds and the fact that they have come out strongly in favor of a protective tariff, in their own interests, as well as in the interests of the consuming public, would seem to indicate that free trade is not to gain much support in this province, even from the one section of the community which might be expected to have free trade leanings. In presenting their case before the Tariff Commission today, the milk producers went into the question in a careful manner and showed that the only possible result of cutting off the present 17½ per cent. protection on milk, butter and cheese to the consuming public. At the same time it would handicap the condensed milk industry of the province. As an agricultural co-operative association the milk producers of this province represent one of the highest form of business applied to farming, as their representative admitted quite frankly to Sir Henry Drayton that they control fully 90 per cent. of the milk produced in the Fraser River Valley, which is the centre of the industry. They added that they practically control the milk supply which finds its way to the city of Vancouver and that their power is so great that they can dictate the price of their surplus milk which goes to the condenser factories. That is the type of agricultural co-operation which the farming communities of other provinces are apparently trying to attain, but, in spite of the fact that one has heard so much about the United Farmers of Canada being banded together for a common purpose to boost for free trade, the admission was freely made that free trade in milk would tend to tear down the structure which the milk producers of British Columbia have succeeded in raising. At the same time, it was contended that the breaking of the co-operative control of the milk producers would not bring any permanent benefits to the consuming public.

WANT CANADIAN DOCTORS

Canadian doctors are being sought for service in East and West Africa. A letter addressed to his Excellency, the Governor General, by Lord Milner, Secretary of State for the Colonies, asks as to the number of young Canadians who would be likely to accept service under the Colonial Office, and for particulars concerning them. If sufficient candidates were available, the letter states, a senior medical officer of the colonial service would be sent to Canada to interview candidates and report as to their suitability.

Liquor Looting in Northern Ontario

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Startling disclosures in which a woeful want of numbers in the Provincial Police force administering justice along the northern route of the Canadian National Railways are contained in documentary evidence which has been placed before Attorney-General Raney by W. D. Gregory, chairman of a special Government commission which has just returned from a tour of the north country. According to the statements of the only police magistrate with jurisdiction along the 610 miles between those two points, looting of goods on the Canadian National lines in the vicinity of Hornepayne, a town of 300 population, forty miles east of Port Arthur, has gone on continuously since the road was opened. In spite of this, the evidence which was taken stated that the robberies have been hushed up. He blamed the management of the railroad for the slackness in administration of the law. Seen by a newspaper representative following his statement to Mr. Raney, Chairman Gregory stated that the evidence was not connected with the commission's work, but it was of such a nature that he considered it warranted immediate action. What the nature of the Government's action in the matter will be has not been divulged. Attorney-General Raney would make no statement.

Act is Violated.

The document contains the complete evidence of J. J. O'Connor, the police magistrate, as given to the commission during its session at Port Arthur on September 11. Briefly, it is as follows: Having jurisdiction along the Canadian National Railway in the districts of Thunder Bay, Algoma and Sudbury, the witness knew of conditions at Jellicoe, 148 miles east, Hornepayne, 300 miles east, Peterbell and Foleyet, 450 miles east, Capreol, 150 miles east, and Sudbury, 810 miles east of Port Arthur. "There are no magistrates in these places, only justices of the peace. The Ontario Temperance Act is violated very frequently because the territory is not sufficiently policed. There are only two provincial constables here, an inspector and a constable stationed at Port Arthur. These men have to cover from Hornepayne, 300 miles east of here, as far as Kenora, 300 miles west of here. The result is a great deal of the territory is not policed nine-tenths of the time and a great deal of crime of various kinds goes unpunished."

The foregoing and what follows are excerpts from the typewritten evidence which was shown the Attorney General.

"The Railway Company keep what they call policemen at some of these places; there is one at Hornepayne and one at Foleyet, but during the whole of their time there they have never had a single case. They are not interested in the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act or any other kind of case. There are all kinds of depredations going on at Hornepayne. In my opinion Hornepayne is a disgrace to the Province of Ontario.

"Whisky and drunkenness is the main cause," continues Mr. O'Connor's evidence. "One of the engineers in the maintenance down there, Morrison told me the last time I was there, that more stuff was being stolen there from the company, and stuff shipped to private individuals than would pay for building a warehouse three times over.

"He told me of a theft that occurred there three days before that, the company's boarding car having been broken into and forty pairs of blankets stolen, and dishes, groceries and canned goods. I was there a day and a night and there was a provincial policeman there, and there was not a word said about this robbery. They hush things up; they are very clanish in these places, and they stand by each other.

Whiskey Was Stolen.

"Whiskey is brought in there in various ways. There was a car of whiskey looted about forty miles east of here about three years ago, and after that the whole place was drunk for twelve days, and two of the very best machinists on the road were burnt to death, when they were drunk, and there was not even an inquest held. Hornepayne has a population of about 300."

Questioned regarding the state of affairs in other places, the witness is quoted as follows: "Hornepayne is decidedly the worst; Jellicoe is a very decent little place, and Foleyet is a better behaved place than Hornepayne."

"A good deal of lumbering is carried on there and there are a great many French-Canadians there. And although they get in considerable whiskey they do not use the gun or knife as readily as the foreigners." At Hornepayne, the witness said, the people are "mainly English-speaking, and quite a number of Austrians working on track work."

"Have you had any cases at Hornepayne?" the witness is said to have been asked.

Many Cases There.

"Yes. I have had quite a number of cases there, brought mainly by the Provincial Police under the Ontario Temperance Act. Prior to the Act coming into force that road from here to Sudbury was under Part 3 of the Criminal Code, under the Public Works Act, and all liquor was debarred from there for five years, and when the road was completed that was not lifted."

"Do you think the appointment of a provincial policeman at that point would stiffen the discipline?"

"Yes, I think it would."

Bomb With Lighted Fuse On Railway Platform

ELEVATED RAILWAY STATION PLATFORM IN BROOKLYN SCENE OF ATTEMPTED BOMB OUTRAGE—POLICEMAN EXTINGUISHED BURNING FUSE.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—While investigators were still seeking to solve the mystery of the Wall Street explosion a week ago, police headquarters announced that a package containing dynamite had been found today on the platform of Reed Avenue elevated station in Brooklyn. The Bureau of Combustibles announced that it was a bomb with fuse attached and burning when a patrolman found it and put it out. It was taken to Manhattan police headquarters.

Tries Nose Dive; Engine Stalls; Man Killed

Stunting Airplane Crashes While Visitors to Shawville Fair Watch

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—G. Amy, prominent jeweler of Shawville, Que., was killed and Lieut. Jack Drummond of Ottawa painfully injured yesterday afternoon when in full view of hundreds of spectators the airplane in which they were flying crashed to earth. Mr. Amy sustained terrible injuries and died at the home of his brother-in-law in Pontiac this evening. Drummond's injuries, while extremely painful are not considered serious.

Lieut. Drummond was engaged in taking up Fair visitors for ten-minute trips. Lieut. Drummond made a successful take-off just outside the Fair grounds and had reached quite an altitude when he attempted to do a "spiral nose dive."

Panhandle Captain's Bluff Called

British Destroyers Will Prevent U. S. Steamer Landing At Queenstown

LONDON, Sept. 23.—It is learned from the Admiralty and Irish offices that if the American liner Panhandle, which is stated to be enroute to Ireland, attempts to defy the British Government order by calling at Queenstown, British destroyers will forcibly prevent it. "We have closed Queenstown for all eastbound vessels because of the smuggling of arms from the United States to the Sinn Feiners and we do not propose to stand idly by while the order is defied," a high British authority declared. The British officials expressed themselves privately as concerned for fear that a disagreeable international incident may result from the anti-British utterances of Admiral Benson.

No Help From Washington

Washington, Sept. 23—Captain Clarence M. Stone, master of the United States passenger freight liner Panhandle State, who sailed from New York declaring he would land at Queenstown, Ireland despite orders of the British Government that ships from the United States must not stop there on the eastward passage, will get no help from the United States State Department if he comes to grief in an attempt to carry out his threats.

It is generally recognized that any government has the right to close one of its ports against ships of all nations in time of stress.

For example, the United States could, in an emergency, close the port of New York if some local condition developed which might be rendered worse by the arrival of ships.

This matter is largely governed by municipal law.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Determined to Strike.

London, Sept. 23.—Representatives of the Miners' Federation, meeting separately here this afternoon, rejected the motion by Robert Smillie, their leader, to take a second ballot on the question of striking and submitting the miners' demand for two shillings increase in wages to arbitration.

Murray Resigned.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 23.—Hon. J. A. Murray retired as leader of the Opposition in the New Brunswick Legislature today. The resignation is preliminary to a reorganization of the Conservative party for the provincial election fight now on, and has been hinted at for some weeks.

Millerand Elected.

Versailles, Sept. 23.—Alexandre Millerand was today elected President of France by the National Assembly in session here. He succeeds Paul Deschanel, who resigned because of ill-health. Millerand received 695 votes out of a total of 892.

Strong Fight Against Rates

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—A thorough discussion of the railway situation may be expected when the appeal is heard before the Cabinet on Sept. 29 against the ruling of the Railway Commission increasing freight and passenger rates. The provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan have both filed formal petitions of appeal and from various authorities and organizations throughout the country have come intimations that they wish to be heard.

The Grounds of appeal filed by the Government of Manitoba are typical. Manitoba claims that the application for the increase in rates was made to the Railway Board by the Railway Association on behalf of the railway companies and that the order was wrongly issued and ineffective in that the Railway Act provides for applications by incorporated railway companies and not by any association.

Germany Surrenders Much Shipping

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—Germany has surrendered nearly two million gross tonnage of steamers and sailing vessels by September 16, according to the Reparations Commission. She has thus delivered virtually all the tonnage unquestionably due under the treaty except some vessels under construction or repair and vessels in Schleswig district held pending the plebiscite decision. The commission is proceeding to the execution of other shipping clauses of the treaty.

KENTUCKY MOONSHINE MADE IN PRISON

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 23.—Rodney David county jailer at Henderson, Ky. was convinced that enforcement of prohibition in Kentucky is a difficult matter when he discovered that seven of his prisoners had formed a distilling company right within the walls of his prison. Their still was constructed out of an old coal oil can with a smaller can below to hold fire. For a siphon they had torn up a new disinfectant spray and inserted it in the top of the oil can to allow the juice to run into a tin can that had once contained tomatoes. Fire was made for the still by burning torn up blankets. The men had distilled more than a pint of pure "white mule" from sour corn bread which they had saved from their rations.

Special
Values on all
Summer
Shoes

Adams
The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus. 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each
—Also
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
192 Front St. Phone 283

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.
YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

BIG LIQUOR SHIPMENT

Nine hundred and ninety-five cases of liquor, comprising the seizure made from the steamer Samuel Marshall at Prescott in August were brought to Brockville by freight train under guard of G.T.R. Detective Haslam. In the local yard the car containing the liquor was handed over to License Department inspectors who took it to Toronto. The shipment was valued in excess of $30,000.

COURT OF INQUIRY

Lt.-Col. G. H. Gillespie is presiding over a court of inquiry which is inquiring into the loss of Government stores at the Barriefield Hutments, which were burned on Saturday. The court of inquiry into the cause of the fire has been completed, but it was stated at Military Headquarters that there was nothing to give out regarding the finding of the court.

CASES AT DESERONTO

At Deseronto yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Bedford two cases were disposed of. One case of alleged non-support was settled between the parties and a charge of alleged indecent assault was dismissed. Mr. Carnew, County Attorney represented the Crown.

TODAY'S MARKET

There was a fair attendance upon the market this morning and considerable garden produce was offered for sale. There were no changes to note over the prices realized on Saturday.

NEW DIVISION CLERK

Mr. Eli A. Houle has been appointed clerk of the Seventh Division Court of Hastings at Deseronto to take the place of R. M. Jack, deceased.

CHANGE IN GAME LAWS

Partridge may be shot between the 5th and 20th of November only and no person shall take, kill or have in possession more than five birds on any one day, nor more than ten for the season. No muskrat shall be shot or speared at any time, nor shall any muskrat or beaver house or dam be cut, speared, broken or destroyed at any time. No trap must be set closer than five feet from a muskrat or beaver house. Another important change is that deer or moose cannot be shot or molested while in the water.

APPOINTED BAILIFF

Mr. T. A. Wilkens, former chief of police at Deseronto has been appointed bailiff of the Seventh Division Court. He also holds the position of county constable.

INSPECT PASSENGERS AND PLANES

Custom Officer A. S. Valleau and Landing Walter P. C. Maloney of Deseronto have been notified by the Customs Department that Mohawk Aerdrome is now a public customs air harbour and that it will be their duty to meet and inspect planes, passengers and baggage across the border as well as to clear Canadian machines going into the United States.

INDUCTION SERVICES

Rev. R. Simpson, formerly of Columbus and Brooklin, who recently accepted a call from the Stirling congregation in the Kingston Presbytery and who has been transferred from the Whitby Presbytery, was inducted into Stirling congregation Tuesday evening. Rev. A. J. Wilson, of Napanee, presided while Rev. J. J. Black, of Burnbrae, and Rev. A. O. McDonald of Roslin, assisted.

◆

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing beome easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

◆

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfraw	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

HAND-MADE UNDY

Sheer Garments, Tucked and Embroidered, Are Costly.

Factory Work, When Hundreds Are Cut at One Time, Results in Great Saving.

If it is a hand-made affair of sheer pink linen, with a few tiny tucks and perhaps a simple edge of hand crochet you pay a good price for it because one person has made it—by hand. If it is an elaborate affair of pink batiste or voile trimmed with lace insertion and edging and made by machine, perhaps a dozen people have worked on it—yet you pay considerably less for it. That seems queer, does it not? But the distinction of the linen chemise lies in its hand-made quality and in its material—fine, soft linen which is a bit of a luxury but the smartest fabric now for lingerie garments.

Have you ever been in one of the factories where machine made undergarments are turned out? Big, bright and — nowadays — beautifully clean places are these factories, and despite the hundreds of people at work and the whir of the busy machines, there is a wonderful order. Your pink batiste and lace chemise was first fashioned by a special worker. She produced it on a special machine from a sketch made by a high-salaried designer. The garment thus produced was called a sample. It went into a glass case where it was displayed to buyers who came to select models for the season's business. Before the sample went to the glass case a working pattern was made from it. This working pattern was a chemise cut out of heavy paper and on the paper was sketched the pattern of the lace trimming, with carefully written memorandum of the number of yards of lace required.

The working pattern, or dummy, as it is called, then went to the factory. In a room 200 feet long and half as many feet wide the material for the chemise is piled in layers and layers, and sometimes a hundred or more chemises are cut out at one time with an electric cutter. In another room the yards of lace for the trimming are being cut. Along go the material and trimmings to another department with the dummy sample, and the pink chemise moves along from machine to machine, where busy girls do various kinds of work; Hemming, felling seams, hemstitching, joining lace, ruffling, and even sewing on buttons. The final process is the pressing and then the pink chemise is ready to go on its journey to you. Yet all its peregrinations from designer to cutter, to stitching machines, to pressing room have taken less time than it took one worker to make the pink linen chemise by hand!

DAINTY SILK POPLIN DRESS

This tan silk poplin dress is charming for the young woman, especially when it is piped with old rose and softened by a dainty white collar.

"Peach Rose" Color.

A color which has created quite a furor in Paris recently is of a yellowish pink in tone and called "peach rose." It is equally becoming to blond and brunet, and this reason alone will tend to make it a popular shade for summer gowns.

Fragrance.

The one who likes a faint suggestion of perfume about her clothes may achieve it by pouring a few drops of toilet water in the rinse water or the starch or by sprinkling orris root or sachet powder under the ironing sheet.

◆

Brantford, Sept. 23.—Geo. Jones, convicted yesterday afternoon of the brutal murder of Elizabeth Giles here last October, was sentenced to be hanged by Justice Kelly on December 2. The prisoner took the sentence with a "thank you."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"EXPERIENCE"

The announcement of the return of "Experience" the play that is being talked of more than any dramatic offering of the last decade at Griffin's next Wednesday night, September 29, is one that will probably be regarded as the most important of the season. This play which has been written by George V. Hobart, and is being presented by Messrs. Comstock & Gest, has broken all records during the past season in the large cities where it has so far appeared, and has been generally acclaimed as the most wonderful play in America. It has to its credit a run of nine months in New York, seven months in Chicago and five months in Boston. The scenic production promises to be both massive and magnificent, consisting of ten scenes and the presenting company comprises eighty-two characters.

DONATES EYES TO SCIENCE

Clara Kimball Young, whose sloe-eyed beauty has added much to her dramatic art in the world of stage and screen, has dedicated those eyes to the cause of science. Miss Young believes that the eyes are literally the windows of the soul. She has given written instructions that when life leaves her body the eyes shall be taken at once to a dark room and developed as though they were photographic negatives. "Then in the positive taken from the negative I am sure my life's dream in all its sublime beauty and vividness will be found," exclaims the star, who takes no thought whatever of the mere physical mutilation of her classic featuers if by so scratching herself she can in any way contribute to the progress of science. Miss Young is appearing at Griffin's tonight to Saturday in "Eyes of Youth," and it is unnecessary to say her eyes play a very important part in this document.

"THE ADVENTURES OF RUTH"

For some time now it seems to have become the fashion for screen stars to organize their own producing companies and most of the prominent feature stars have taken to themselves the right to plant an "Inc." after their names. Ruth Roland, however, is the first serial star to become her own producer. She is head of Ruth Roland Serials, Inc.; a new concern which will make two serials a year. Her first is "The Adventures of Ruth," which will be shown at the Palace to-night to Saturday, matinee daily. Miss Roland shines very brightly in the firmament of serial stars and exhibitors and screen fans alike welcomed the news that she was to branch out into the producing business. She has won her popularity and prestige through a long series of successful serials prominent among which is "The Red Circle," still claimed by many Belleville screen fans as the best serial ever shown on a Belleville silver sheer. For feats of sheer prowess Miss Roland has no equal in the serial game. There is no feat too dangerous for her to attempt and she has risked her life on many occasions to give the fans a thrill. Incidentally when "The Adventures of Ruth" flits upon the screen Miss Roland will answer to the "Author," as it will be written from an idea of her own. H. B. Warner appears on the same program in a 5-act comedy drama of engrossing interest, "Fugitives From Matrimony," a selected program of comedy and varied plays will also be shown on the same program.

◆

CARELESS SHAMPOOING SPOILS THE HAIR

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

◆

GRAIN NOTES.

Those who have followed the markets will have noticed the sensational advances and declines in grain during the last few weeks. In fact the changes have been as much as 10c. per bushel in a day. The Judge Jones Milling Company get direct markets many times a day from Chicago and Winnipeg exchanges and although the declines have been many they have been able to pay on an average of $2.45 per bushel for good wheat according to quality. The last few days they have been paying $2.45 to $2.50 for some grades. Future prices will, of course, be based on market conditions and may be higher or lower.

They always have latest and highest market prices and it will pay you to get their quotations before buying or selling. They stand for service and your co-operation will mutually benefit both buyer and seller. If you do not care to sell your grain now you can sell to them at any time that is convenient to you.

23-2td

◆

Town of Alexanderovski on Dnieper River, captured by Gen. Wrangel's troops. Ten thousand prisoners and many guns taken.

LADIES MUST HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR TO BE ATTRACTIVE

Delmay's French Hair Tonic
THE DAINTILY PERFUMED HAIR TONIC

Creates a Magnificent Head of Fluffy, Luxuriant Hair—Men and Women of Culture Use Delmay's French Hair Tonic, the Latest Paris Hair Dressing and Tonic—It Will Make Your Hair Grow or Your Money Back.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC—The Pride of Hair Dressing and Tonic—at once goes to the roots of the hair and turns harsh characterless hair into beautiful wavy hair, full of character and life—hair that changes the whole appearance.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC destroys the dandruff and will positively make hair grow.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC is not a sticky sulphur preparation, but a pleasant non-sticky and daintily perfumed. Ladies of taste and refinement wouldn't think of using any other. All actresses in every country now use DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC continually.

We claim and absolutely guarantee that DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC will create a new growth of hair. If your hair is getting thin, commence using DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC at once. It will soon stop your hair from falling out and make the hair grow.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC is compounded by expert chemists, who have made the hair and its diseases a life-long study.

If your druggist doesn't happen to have DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC in stock, insist on his getting it for you; don't allow him to sell you "something just as good," because there isn't anything "just as good" as DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC. Refuse substitutes in concentrated form.

A large generous bottle, price $1.00; worth $100.00. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store only.

BOVRIL
Canada Food Board License No. 13-442

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.
UNDERTAKERS
14 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment

SINCLAIR'S

The Tailored Suit

—as usual, finds a high place in the Autumn styles. It will not be severe, but dignified by simplicity. For practical wear the Tailored Suit is bound to give satisfaction. Other styles are in many cases trimmed with fur on collar and cuffs, or are richly embroidered. Prices commence at $35.00

Coats for Wee Tots

Children, of course, must be kept warmly clothed during the chilly days. Here are some well made Coats of White Corduroy and Bearskin, and lined throughout. They will be found warm and serviceable. Priced .... $4.00 and $5.00

BLOUSES
NEW, DIFFERENT AND CHARMING.

Fashion will have her own sweet way when it comes to Blouses. Refusin gto be held to one style, one sleeve length or one particular color, she insists on great variety; and accordingly presents hosts of Blouses in Georgette, Satins, Crepe de Chine and Taffeta. Navy, brown and beaver are given prominence. In Silk from $2.65 to $12. In Georgette and Crepe de Chine from .... $4.50 up

Time for Knitted Underwear

The first chill usually brings the early cold that stays around all winter. "An ounce of prevention"—is merely the buying of the proper Knit Underwear, to have it ready when the first chilly morning suggests it. Here are nice new, comfortably made, perfect kinds, and at surprisingly reasonable prices.

NEW GLOVES

Don't let the effect of your new Autumn Outfit be spoiled by a pair of old Gloves. Here are Silk and Chamoisette Gloves in the very newest styles, and in colors to harmonize with every costume. Priced from $1.00 pair up.

Velveteens for Autumn Wear

Fashion again names Velvets for fashionable Fall Dresses, and here you can find them lovely in tone and finish. They are all stamped "Worrall's"—a name that means perfection of color and fabric. Two specially good ranges are 45 inches wide at $6.00 and 27 inches wide at $2.50. Others as low as $1.25 yard.

CORD GIRDLES
One of these new Cord Girdles will smarten up your Frock, more than any other touch you can add. Shown in black and colors from $1.50 up.

NEW NECKWEAR
A bit of fresh Neckwear on a Frock or Suit will keep it looking smart and new. Here are Collars and Vestees in great variety.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.
GOING SOUTH.	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.
GOING EAST.	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

I Am The Eyes Of Youth

He said: I am the dream of life reaching out from the cloud-land to earthly mortals. You are happy now; but see into your hence-land. Herein lies for you,

THE GREATEST OF AGONIES
THE DEPTHS OF POVERTY
THE HEIGHT OF WEALTH
THE ABYSS OF MISERY
THE LOWEST OF BETRAYALS

—and—

Though I show it to you here-in you cannot avoid it for you are being guided by a destiny greater than the very earth before you.

Such is the vision

Clara Kimball Young

in the character of "Gina" sees in Max Marcin's poignant dramatic document,

'Eyes of Youth'

"YEAR'S WONDER PICTURE"

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

Tonight to Saturday

COMING MONDAY—WILLIAM S. HART and ANNA LITTLE in "SQUARE DEAL SANDERSON"

PALACE
Now to Saturday

VISIT THE DAILY MATINEE

RUTH ROLAND

in

The Adventures of Ruth

has the key that opens the door to romantic adventure;

That unlocks the treasure vault of thrilling interest;

That discloses mystery to hold you breathless, interest that enthralls, mystifies and carries you along with its mile-a-minute, speedy action.

Just Imagine

—a peacock fan of rare value and beauty, which the mysterious band would give millions to possess—which would rob a girl of her birthright—and would—

But Ruth Roland, in her latest serial, tells it in pictures, full of those moments that hold you spellbound with pep and whirl-wind suspense.

BETTER COME!

also

H. B. Warner

in

"A FUGITIVE FROM MATRIMONY"

2—Other Quality Plays—2

Danunzio selects his cabinet for Provincial Government of regency of Quarnero.

Griffin's Theatre, Wednesday, Sept. 29th

SEAT SALE OPENS TUESDAY, SEPT. 28.

F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest present
THE MOST WONDERFUL PLAY IN AMERICA

EXPERIENCE

By GEORGE V. HOBART

9 Months in New York—7 Months in Chicago—5 Months in Boston
GET YOUR SEATS EARLY! PRICES—50c., 75c., $1.00, $1.50, $2.00

Sports

MAXIMILIAN IS FIRST IN CONSECUTIVE HEATS

Brockville, Sept. 22.—The race program was the chief attraction at the Brockville Fair, which opened today. The summary:

2.25 Trot—Stake purse $1,000—

Maximilian; Payette, Penetang	1	1	1
Lady Wexford; Eredenburg, Westport	3	2	2
Baroness Kenny; Laing, Brockville	2	3	3
Slippery Pat, Woods, Brockville	4	4	4
Harry Ros; Parker, Toronto	5	5	dr

Time—2.17¼, 2.17½, 2.17¼.

2.14 Trot and Pace—Purse $400—

Billy Sunday; Royal City Stables, Guelph	3	1	1	1
Babe; Perrin & Sherman, Brockville	1	2	2	2
Fred Hal; Finlay, Braeside	2	3	3	dr

Time—2.16¼, 2.13¼, 2.15½, 2.18.

8.40 Classified Trot—Purse $400—

Burness Hal; Spero, Domville	1	1	1
Lloyd George; Wilson, Merrickville	2	2	2
Hal Wilkes; Cross, Athens	3	3	3
Don Pero; Davison, Phillipsville	4	4	4
Mollie M.; Pepper, Toledo	5	6	5
Fred Todd; Senator Webster, Brockville	6	5	6

◆

RED BOMBS CANNOT SCARE ANGLO-SAXON

Toronto, Sept. 22.—There was a round of applause at the Chambers of Commerce Congress Tuesday when Lord Desborough read a telegram from New York in answer to the message sent by the Congress of New York, after the explosion on Wall street. It ran as follows:

"Thanks for your message. Hatred of ordered liberty knows no country and the Red is now everywhere. The answer of New York business men to the challenge of the 16th was the complete resumption of business on the morning of the 17th, with rising prices on the stock exchange. The Anglo-Saxon sometimes blunders but he has never yet been intimidated."

"(Signed) D. P. Kingsley,
"Pres. Chamber of Commerce,
New York."

◆

RIORDON INTERESTS GET LARGE TIMBER LIMIT

Cobalt, Ont., Sept. 23.—Advices received here from Montreal are to the effect that the Riordon Pulp and Paper Company has purchased the M. J. O'Brien timber limit at North Temiskaming. This is located on the Quebec side of the line, and is the largest held by any individual in Canada, being eleven hundred square miles in extent. It includes the ownership of the famous Desquinze waterpower at Desquinze, Quebec. This is described as Canada's second Niagara and is capable of producing 250,000 horsepower. It is understood that the purchasers have also made a deal with James B. Klock for his timber holdings in the district. The extent is not not known.

The sale of these limits is a sad blow to this section of Northern Ontario. It was announced some time ago that the O'Brien interests would erect a large pulp plant at North Temiskaming and immediately Premier Drury was asked to extend the Nipissing Central Railway from New Liskeard, a distance of eighteen miles, so that the trade for the pulp mills could be secured for Ontario. The Riordon Company has a plant at Kipawa at South Temiskaming and will undoubtedly float its logs down the lake to Kipawa or haul them on the C. P. R. proposed extension up the east side of Lake Temiskaming. It is understood that the extension of the C. P. R. from Kipawa north figured in the purchase of the limit.

◆

HOW SUGAR PRICES VARIED THIS YEAR

Since January, 1920, sugar to consumers has varied between a low price of 16 cents and a high of 26 cents and from 14.55 cents to 24.36 cents per pound to wholesalers. Here is how the refiners' and retailers' prices changed during the year:

	Refiners' Price	Retail Price
Jan. 1, 1920	14.55	16 cents
February 28	16.71	20 cents
April 16	19.00	23 cents
June 19	21.00	24 cents
July 20	24.36	26 cents
August 21	24.30	24 cents
August 27	22.21	22 cents
September 7	22.21	21 cents to 22 cents
September 17	21.30	22 cents

NEW AERIAL COMPANY FORMED AT TORONTO

Toronto, Sept. 22.—An aerial transportation company has been formed by a combination of English, Canadian and United States business men, the new company being capitalized at $10,000,000. Operations will be begun with twenty machines of the type of the Handley Page bombing machines, with a carrying capacity of from 16 to 25 passengers, including baggage. Toronto is on the route of the chain of large cities on the American continent that will be included in the aerial stations where the machines will call. It is expected that the trip from coast to coast over the Canadian prairies will be negotiated in about sixty hours flying time.

◆

A Better Bit

Jones made a foolish bet when he guaranteed to eat a pint of peas with a hatpin if his pet horse failed to win a certain race.

But having done so, he had to make good.

"There's only one thing I ask," he said to the winner.

"What's that?" inquired the winner.

"If you're going to stand by and see that I eat all these peas with a hatpin I want you to admit that you won a bet and are insisting on its payment. Don't you pretend that you are my keeper!"

INGERSOLL EVAPORATOR DESTROYED BY FIRE

Ingersoll, Sept. 19.—The main building of the Ingersoll Evaporator, operated by O. E. Robinson & Co., was seriously damaged by fire which broke out shortly before 12 o'clock last night. The loss will likely be between $4,000 and $5,000, and is partially covered by insurance. Operations had been in progress only a few days and every preparation had been made for an unusually busy season owing to the heavy crop of apples throughout the adjoining district. The work of the firemen prevented the flames spreading to adjoining buildings. It has been announced that work of rebuilding will be commenced immediately and it is hoped to resume operations in the course of two or three weeks. In 1914 the plant was completely destroyed by fire.

◆

Windsor, Sept. 19.—On a charge of having "I. W. W." literature in their possession, J. H. Currie and Aaron Weber of Detroit were apprehended by the immigration authorities on Friday night. They were distributing papers among the Labor delegates at the Trades and Labor Congress in session here, but many of the Labor men so resented this that they made a bonfire and burned the literature. Arraigned before Magistrate Miers, Currie and Weber were remanded for eight days.

Made in a great variety of styles to meet the needs of the man or boy at work or play.

The "oversize" man requires a large easy-fitting shirt. Don't be satisfied with the shirt that fits the average size man. Ask for the "Deacon" shirt. Made of Chambrays, Pongee, Fancy White and other Suitable Shirtings to sell at Popular Prices.

Ask your Dealer for The Deacon SHIRT

DEACON SHIRT COMPANY
BELLEVILLE - CANADA 89

LEAPS FROM ENGINE GOING AT 50-MILE RATE

Saskatoon, Sask., Sept. 23.—Leaping from the side of a G. T. P. locomotive that was travelling at 50 miles an hour, an unidentified man, apparently a foreigner, committed suicide near Arrow River, Man., according to the report of members of the train crew on arrival here. At a water tank he climbed aboard the pilot of the engine, and when the train had gathered top speed he crawled along the footboard and jumped. He was instantly killed.

Lawrence Wilson Company

87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government Since Thirty Years

18¢ per package
Two for 35¢

Real Satisfaction!

Enjoy them to-day

PLAYER'S
NAVY CUT
CIGARETTES

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, [illegible] Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 15c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred positions, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9.

The Governor General has, by proclamation, set aside Saturday, October 9, as a day on which to specially emphasize the great loss which Canadians, individually and collectively, are sustaining through destruction by fire of both natural and created resources.

At a time of high building costs and acute scarcity of material, we are burning buildings at a criminal rate. Our fire loss of last year, viz., $23,500,000, or approximately $2.90 per capita, was the highest per capita in the world.

Not only is this a complete loss of national wealth, but its replacement creates increased competition for available building supplies, thus enhancing prices for new building. How can we hope to overcome the housing shortage when, in Ontario alone, last year, 5,804 dwellings were damaged or destroyed, causing a loss of $1,753,333? There were also 744 farm barns destroyed, at a loss of $1,189,906, of which $557,736 was uninsured.

Lightning damaged or destroyed 1,102 buildings in Ontario, involving a loss of $506,885, of which $212,778 was not covered by insurance. None of these farm buildings was equipped with lightning rods, whereas but two buildings protected by lightning rods were damaged and these to the amount of $22 only.

Matches were again responsible for the largest number of known fires, 1,148 in Ontario originating therefrom. Practically every fire due to matches is the result of carelessness.

Public education and a recognition of personal responsibility are essential to a reduction of the fire waste. It is particularly essential to interest the younger generation, through the Canadian teachers, in the efforts being made towards a reduction of the fire loss.

Fire Prevention Day will give a splendid opportunity for bringing this subject to the attention of pupils and should produce good results. —Conservation.

HOME BRANCH COMFORTS UNFORTUNATE SETTLERS

A sheaf of reports from the Home Branch of the Soldier Settlement Board gives very interesting accounts of what the directors and home counsellors of that branch are doing to assist the women settlers in improving the conditions surrounding them in their new homes. Unfortunately, there are numerous cases where, owing to ill health, the settler's wife is handicapped. The Home Branch, however, endeavors to meet such unfavorable conditions and bring comfort to stricken families.

In one family, in one of the eastern provinces, there is a little girl, six years old, deaf and dumb from spinal meningitis. The Home Branch has secured the active interest of the Patriotic Fund and the unfortunate child is to secure the benefits of a training in an institution.

At another home the wife of a settler was found to be suffering from tuberculosis. She is receiving the kindly help of neighbors and societies through the intervention of the Home Branch.

In another family a little child playing in the field was run into by a mower and her foot cut off. The Home Branch arranged the necessary medical service and hospital treatment.

While there are sad features in connection with this home visitation work, there are many reports which show how well the wives of the settlers—many of them from the Old Country—are adapting themselves to their new conditions. One of these is described by the home counsellor as a lady of unusual intelligence. She know nothing of housework when she got married, but just worked along doing her best and the result is she is now described as a splendid homemaker and housekeeper. She wished bulletins on canning, poultry and butter making, which were furnished through the Home Branch.

This Branch is doing a very fine work in lightening the burdens of the soldiers' dependents. They are welcome in the home and their efforts go far to improve the morale of the household and to bring about final success.

A SHOCK ABSORBED.

The safety valve came hopping off at an international convention of engineers in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, when a big British flag was seen flaunting itself over the platform. No American flag of the same size was available, but the convention broke up until the Union Jack was removed to a less conspicuous place and the Stars and Stripes was located where the offending emblem had shone.

Those who have attended international gatherings across the border will be somewhat surprised that the engineers walked out of the hotel when they saw the conspicuous place accorded to the British flag. From pure surprise they should have fainted; but then, engineers are a hardy lot. They know something about shock-absorbing. They marched back in good order to pass resolutions interfering in British politics, showing that although their nerves might have been temporarily upset their nerve remained unshaken.—Montreal Star.

CRISP COMMENT

A run of suckers in the Moira River this week has led to big catches. The fishermen say the fish seem dazed and are easily caught by hand. Perhaps they are asphyxiated by the smell.

× × ×

On two occasions the Mayor of Rainy River was fined two thousand dollars for prescribing a quart of whisky at six dollars per quart and supplying the whiskey. Looks as if there might be a dry spell in Rainy River—fine and dry.

× × ×

Now that the Toronto Exhibition is over Mayor Church starts an investigation into the prices charged in Toronto restaurants. The revelations thus far have shown gross profits of great proportions. Now they are figuring the "overhead," but this seems needless as the sky apparently was the limit.

× × ×

Electricity will solve the domestic help problem, according to an American inventor who claims that all the work about the house can be accomplished quickly by the use of electrical contrivances. Just touch a button and the juice does the rest. Being from Missouri, we are a bit curious as to the kind of beds made by the electric maid and the quality of the grub cooked by the electric cook, besides the various stunts performed by the electric butler, the electric housekeeper, and the rest of the staff. By touching a button now you get a housemaid, but under the proposed electric system you might get a shock.

OTHER VIEWS

Unenlightened Selfishness
(New York Tribune).

Those real estate owners who are asking the Lockwood joint legislative committee to recommend a repeal of the rent laws take an exceedingly narrow view of the situation. They want to be allowed to reap the full fruits of the housing shortage—to drive the hardest possible bargain with the harassed tenant. They are incited to do this by selfish interest, and unenlightened selfish interest at that.

As Mr. Stewart Browne, representing the more progressive owners, said bluntly at Friday's hearing: "The housing question of the community at large." It ought to be settled in a way to benefit the community; for if the community benefits, both landlords and tenants will inevitably benefit in the long run.

Ontario View On Ireland
(Hamilton Times)

Let the Irishmen come to terms among themselves and Britain would be glad to give them whatever measures of self Government that they might desire. In fact, were Ulster agreeable, we would be inclined to let Ireland go. We do not think that an independent Ireland would be a menace to Britain. Why should an independent Ireland be any more a menace than an independent France? Ireland herself would be the chief sufferer.

One Marriage Law
(Guelph Herald)

There ought to be but one marriage law for the whole Dominion and the legality of the marriage ceremony should be placed on such a basis that no common court judge in Quebec or any other province should dare usurp the right to pronounce a marriage invalid that has been performed by a properly ordained minister of the gospel.

POET'S CORNER

A DREAM

All yesterday I was spinning,
  Sitting alone in the sun;
And the dream that I spun was so lengthy,
  It lasted till day was done.

I heeded not cloud or shadow
  That flitted over the hill,
Or the humming-bees, or the swallows
  Or the trickling of the rill.

I took the threads for my spinning,
  All of blue summer air,
And a flickering ray of sunlight
  Was woven in here and there.

The shadows grew longer and longer
  The evening wind passed by,
And the purple splendor of sunset
  Was flooding the western sky.

But I could not leave my spinning,
  For so fair my dream had grown,
I heeded not, hour by hour,
  How the silent day had flown.

At last the grey shadows fell around me,
  And the night came dark and chill,
And I rose and ran down the valley,
  And left it all on the hill.

I went up the hill this morning
  To the place where my spinning lay
There was nothing but glistening dew-drops
  Remained of my dream today.

—Adelaide Anne Procter.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Silk shirts don't tell the amount of a man's pile, but they tell you how long it will last.

Few people will listen to advice that they don't have to pay for as professional opinion.

Little Dignity Chasers

To have your kid drink out of the finger bowl in a swell hotel.

Deep Silence

"Did you ever see a company of women perfectly silent?"

"Yes, once. Someone had asked which of these present was the eldest."

Bright Boy

Teacher—A nomad is a person who moves about a great deal—never remains long in one place. Johnny, name some tribe of nomads.

Johnny—Servants.

Willing, But—

Debtor—I want to pay that little bill of yours.

Creditor—Thank you, sir; thank, you.

Debtor—But I can't.

His Travelling Suit

She—Don't tell me that you're going to ask papa's consent to our marriage in those terrible looking clothes.

He—Sure. What's the use of spoiling a good suit?

Named

"Do you suppose there ever was a human being who didn't talk about his neighbors?" asked the cynical man.

"Yes," said the genial citizen.

"Name him."

"Robinson Crusoe!"

Town of Malbay, County Claire, Ireland, reported in flames. Civilians fire on police, killing five, bloody battle follows.

ABOUT WEANING FOALS

They Should be Nursed at Least Four Months.

A Sudden Change of Diet Not Good for the Young Colt—Wean Him Gradually—General Hints on Rationing and Handling.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE age at which foals should be weaned is to a great degree governed by circumstances. Under ordinary conditions it is well to allow the mare to nurse her foal for four months or longer. If, when the foal is this age, the mare is required to do regular work, both will do better if the foal be weaned. On the other hand, if the mare be in fair condition, not required for regular work, and still yielding a reasonable quantity of milk, the foal will do better if not weaned for a month or two longer, and the dam, having no labor to perform, will not suffer.

The ordinary process of weaning, which consists in separating mare and foal, and allowing no further intercourse for several weeks, or until the mare has ceased to secrete milk, and the foal to look for it, is in our opinion, irrational, wasteful and uncalled for.

It is probably unnecessary to state that the colt should be taught to eat chopped or rolled oats, bran, etc.; before the process of weaning commences, otherwise he will surely suffer and grow thin. Experience has taught all breeders and feeders of stock that sudden or violent changes of diet or usage with any class of stock is dangerous, and often expensive. When this is the case with adult animals, it is reasonable to expect it to be more marked in the young. Hence, in order to avoid danger of digestive diseases in the young, and trouble with the mammary glands, and possibly digestive trouble also, in the dam, we should exercise good judgement, and be satisfied to take considerable trouble when weaning the colt.

In most cases the mammary apparatus is still quite active, and a considerable quantity of milk is being secreted when the owner decides that it is time to "wean the colt." The colt, in addition to the grass and grain that it has been consuming, has thus far been accustomed to milk also. In fact, milk has been his principal diet, and, if suddenly deprived of it he cannot avoid fretting, and failing in condition. Then again, the secretion of milk in the mare will not cease all at once, and, unless the glands be relieved of it, mammitis will be the result. Instead of milking the mare by hand, and, of course, making no use of it, as is usually done, the colt should get the benefit. Our idea of the proper method of weaning is as follows: When it is decided that the colt shall be weaned, he should be placed in a comfortable box stall, by himself, or with other colts that are being weaned. There should be no mangers or boxes into which he can rear or jump, and probably injure himself, and the door and walls should be so high that he cannot jump over them or get his fore feet over. The dam should be tied, in a stall, or better, if convenient, kept in a box stall, not necessarily far removed from her foal. In fact, the writer has made a practice of having the stalls adjoining, so that the dam and foal can see and hear each other, but cannot get together. Whether or not the mare be required for work, she should be taken to the colt's stall, or better, the colt lead to the dam's stall, and allowed to remain for 15 to 20 minutes three times daily for a week or longer. Leading the colt to the dam's stall, is a good system of giving him his first lessons in training for future usefulness. During the second week, twice daily will be sufficient to leave them together, and after this once daily, gradually shortening the length of the visit until the mammal becomes practically inactive. In this way each gradually becomes accustomed to be separated from the other. The change of diet for the colt is gradual, and he receives the benefit of the milk that otherwise would be wasted. It also largely obviates danger of mammitis in the mare, and the glands gradually become inactive. In the meantime the colt should be allowed about all the well-saved clover, hay and chopped or rolled oats, that he will consume. A satisfactory and palatable mixture is made by putting a little cut hay and the ration of oats in a pail in the evening, pouring some boiling water on it, covering with a rubber sheet and allowing it to stand until morning, then preparing another feed for the evening. This, with a ration of whole oats, with a carrot or two at noon, in addition to the amount of whole hay he will require, usually gives excellent results. Of course, this requires some time and trouble, and when this is not convenient the colt will do very well without the preparation of food noted. When practicable, the addition of cow's milk gives excellent results, but this is often not easily obtainable.

After the colt has ceased looking for his dam, he should be allowed to take daily exercise in a yard or paddock, and his feet should be trimmed at least monthly. Usually under these conditions, the wear is not equal to the growth, and if not attended to, the feet will become abnormal in size and shape, which may permanently injure him. Hence they should be trimmed to the natural size and shape, as conditions demand.—Prof. J. H. Reed, V.S., O. A. College, Guelph.

When sows are to farrow in pen, taking them in a week before they farrow enables them to become accustomed to their new quarters.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Overland
TRADE MARK REG.

When Gas Is High
Buy This Car and Use Less

SEVERAL years ago our engineers designed, our workmen built, this car for conditions today.

—And today, Overland owners in Canada are reaping the benefits of increased service at decreased cost.

Witness these owner-records, which are writing a new chapter in Canadian automobile history.

Over roads still partly frozen, a Bridgewater, N. S., owner drove his Overland 107 miles—got 26.75 miles to the gallon.

A St. Hyacinthe, Que., traveller covered 630 miles—average gas mileage 30 miles per gallon.

A Toronto business man drove to Kitchener and back, making an average of 31.88 miles to the gallon.

A Mineota, Man., farmer reports the high average of 34 miles to the gallon.

Just now we offer immediate deliveries on this Canadian car of comfort and economy. See it today at our sales rooms.

DEALERS: St. Charles Motor Co., Belleville, Ont.; Percy H. Nayler, Madoc; Hugh Morton, Stirling; Lennox Auto and Motor Boat, Napanee.

Head Office and Factories: Willys-Overland Limited, Toronto, Canada
Branches: Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Regina

We Would Be Delighted
—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.
T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR
We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

S. J. Fisher, Auctioneer
WILL SELL AS FOLLOWS:

Wm. Maine, farm stock, implements and household effects, Sept. 23, on Lot 27, Con. 2, Thurlow Twp.

Miss Minnie Adams, household effects, Sept. 28, at No. 12 Cedar Street, Belleville.

P. L. Shorey, farm stock, Oct. 13th, Lot 13, Con. 3, Thurlow Twp. For particulars see posters, or phone 168, S. J. Fisher, 19 Campbell St.

WE WILL TELL YOU
—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.
Phone DAY 531

ECZEMA
You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.00
Leaves Belleville at 8.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 438.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
288 Front Street . . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 176. Day Phone 205.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C.-M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r61
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.
28 Bridge Street.
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

Advertise your needs in our "want" columns

The Finest and Purest Tea Sold

"SALADA"

There is genuine and unmistakeable pleasure in its daily use.

Black - Green or Mixed } Try a packet from your grocer, but be sure it's "Salada" 8818

The Farmer-Banker Alliance

You go to your lawyer for legal advice; to the doctor for medical advice; why not to The Merchants Bank for financial advice?

If you want a loan to buy cattle, hogs or equipment—if you want information as to how to invest money—come to those who make a business of financial matters, and are in a position to give you sound and impartial advice.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

Three Million New Customers

For Canada's Grain —Produce
—Manufactures

Secured by the West India Trade Agreement and Canadian Ships.

By willingness and ability to provide ships, Canada this year has drawn the West Indies closer to herself and to the Empire. She can make preferential trade agreements with other peoples under the British Flag, without arousing international complications.

Canada possesses men with brains who will make these preferential trade agreements. But to make good these trade agreements we must have Canadian Ships.

The Navy League of Canada

Won approbation

"Goddess" Lace in Front corsets were first made only a few years ago, and won instant approval. The patented underclasp prevents pinching. The special French "Goddess" boning gives absolute ease and freedom, yet holds the figure to its most perfect form.

Excellent in workmanship—and materials. These qualities appealed to the charming screen Artiste—Anita Stewart who wrote: "Without undue compression the "Goddess" adds to the grace of the figure".

Have dealer show you a "Goddess" —there is a model for every figure.

Made in Canada by DOMINION CORSET CO., Makers of "D & A" and "La Diva" corsets.

3-220

The Thirteenth Commandment

By RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

Bayard gazed at Leila with wondering love and terror. She was both divinity and devil in his eyes. He groaned:

"Are you trying to wreck me? You know how hard I'm working and how much I need money in my business and how much it means to your future, but you won't stop buying and charging and burning my poor little earnings. We discharged a stenographer yesterday because we wanted to save her salary of fifteen dollars—and here's a check for a pair of shoes for you that cost sixteen.

"But tell me one thing more before I'm carted off to Bloomingdale in a straitjacket. Why, in heaven's name, why—admitting you just had to have that pitiful little pair of shoes—why, when you wrote the check, didn't you subtract it from your balance instead of adding it? I ask you!"

"Oh, did I do that?" she asked, looking over his shoulder. "So I did!" and she put her cheek close to his and giggled.

He shook his head in imbecile infatuation, and drew her around into his arms.

That was what Daphne overheard when the maid let her in. She found Leila resting in Bayard's lap.

Bayard did not tell Daphne what his conference with Leila had been. He simply closed the check book and the bank book and said to Leila: "I'll send the bank my check for thirty-eight cents and ask 'em to close their account. They'll be mighty glad to do it."

"And so will I," said Leila. "It was awfully hard work keeping track of every little penny. I'd much rather have a regular allowance in cash every week."

"Oh, Did I Do That?" She Asked, Looking Over His Shoulder.

"All right!" said Bayard. "We'll try that—next week."

Daphne was not told what all this talk was about, but she made a fair guess, though she pretended not to.

She told about her failure and her future and Leila praised her courage and her optimism. They dined cheerfully and Bayard decided that the best preparation for the hard work ahead of him would be an evening of gayety. He invited his wife and his sister to go with him to the Winter Garden, where the typical "Sunday concert" of New York was given.

CHAPTER XIV.

Then the Chivvises came back from their vacation unexpectedly early. They had found the hotels expensive and Mr. Chivvis was afraid that his job would be snatched from him if he were not there to hold it down.

Clay called on Daphne that evening and the Chivvises retreated to their own room. But as they could be overheard it was evident that they could overhear, and the lovers found no chance to say any of the things that frightened their souls.

One evening Daphne said to Clay in as low a voice as he could hear: "Mrs. Chivvis is growing uneasy, honey, about our being together every evening. I told her we were engaged, but she didn't seem convinced. Perhaps you would let me wear that beautiful engagement ring again. I was a fool to give it back to you. May I have it or—"

Clay blenched in misery. "I—I'm afraid I— You see, I hadn't paid much on it; and last week I had an insulting letter from the jeweler. He threatened to sue me and notify my firm, and I—well, I had to send it back."

He was so downcast that she answered with mock cheer: "Oh, that's all right, honey; it doesn't matter. After all, it's only a ring. And we have each other."

"But we haven't each other. This way of living is driving me crazy. I'll be all right as soon as these hard times are over and I can make some commissions. But it's so dismal to wait. Couldn't we get married and live on my salary?"

"I could if you could."

He caught her in his arms so violently that she squealed.

The next day Clay telephoned to her his firm had just offered him the choice of accepting half his salary or turning in his resignation. It was really impossible for two to live on half of what was hardly enough for one.

Daphne cried a long while in her room. She got out her list of ways to earn fifty thousand dollars again and cried over that.

There is much foolish and futile protest against the nowadays woman who goes into business outside her home. But the fact is that it is her business that began it. Her business left the home first and she is merely following it to the places where new conditions and inventions have centralized and mechanized it.

New conditions have taken her distaff and her washtub and her cookery and gossip into the woolen mills and steam laundries and restaurants and telephone exchanges. She has had to go thither to do her necessary work. Even the entertainers, the singers, dancers, tellers of stories, who used to stir the seraglios and the castle halls have been gathered into opera houses and theaters and into vaudeville and moving picture palaces.

Daphne, having no gifts for spinning, cooking, or laundry, tried the theater. Her old-fashioned lover protested, and she went, anyway. But she was not suited to the theater, and she retreated with nothing to show for her expedition except her shattered pride and the fifty-dollar check for two weeks' salary.

Daphne began anew to hunt for work; work, the thrice blessing that kills time and makes money and tames passion. But the world seemed to be full of every other trouble except work. Even had she been skilled, as she was not, it would have availed her little, since skilled laborers were be-

(To Be Continued)

HYPNOTISM.

It May Some Day Take the Place of Ether.

Will hypnotism take the place of anaesthetics?

Great specialists in every branch of surgery are beginning to feel that the application of the power of the mind to the weaknesses of the body can be directed in such a way as to solve medical and surgical problems in a manner which our forefathers would have denounced as magic.

Quietly and unobtrusively, on account of the grave danger of proceeding with such work on a grand scale until continued and repeated experiments have justified its claims, doctors and dentists, too, are beginning to replace chloroform and other anaesthetics with magnetism and auto-suggestion.

They will not, as a rule, discuss the matter with laymen unless they are sure of a sympathetic hearing, which shall not lead to a mischievous and ill-considered, if not scandalous, criticism, for to the lay and unsympathetic mind the idea that difficult operations may be conducted without any other anaesthetic than the personal magnetism of the operator, and yet leave neither pain nor the memory of pain in the mind of the patient, is one which might well be rejected as incredible and denounced as something little better than charlatanism.

And yet the men who are experimenting in this way are the last men in the world to be charlatans.

If the names of the specialists who are to-day studying auto-suggestion, with the idea of incorporating it into the practice or surgery, could be published, the lay world would be astounded, for they include men whose reputation in the medical profession and in scientific circles is far too high to be affected by the breath of suspicion.

In their heart of hearts these men hope that it will not be long before a patient who is wheeled into the operating room will not require chloroform or methyl-ether-alcohol, but will be "put to sleep" by the influence of a stronger mind acting upon his own.

Nor will the dentist's chair, to compare small things with great, maintain its former terrors. The dentist of the future, instead of terrifying his patient with the grisly array of technical instruments reminiscent of the torture chamber of Torquemada, will smile with a sympathetic knowledge, which is able to reduce his patient to a condition in which not even the most sensative nerve will pain him when it is touched.

"But, this is to joke upon a serious matter," said an authority upon medical hypnotism. "We want to go on with our experiments quietly and systematically, and we do not want to let anyone know our results until they are so complete that they will stagger the world and demand public confidence in us. Already, as scientific men, we are satisfied that we can do what we claim.

"On the continent, in the United States, everywhere, our work is being carried on by men of genius and learning, men of science and men of character, who are all contributing their bit toward the development of what will be the greatest scientific discovery of the future, and a development of possibilities of which we cannot yet foresee."

1,000 Perished In the Wilderness.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—Fifteen hundred refugees have arrived in Ismid, Asia Minor, from the Village of Kirazli, after having wandered for forty days in the wilderness and the uncharted mountains at the mercy of the bandits. They report having lost 1,000 persons by starvation and other privations.

Spring Blouse Whims.

Some of the new townblouses which are being shown for spring have no regulation peplum, but blouse so emphatically over the belt that the same purpose is served.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Build an Estate

by Steady Accumulation of Sound Securities

For the building up of an estate, securities of possible appreciative value are, naturally, to be preferred.

Many good bonds, which are just now selling at low prices, may show a substantial appreciation before maturity.

Just now bond prices are unusually low.

$930 used now in the purchase of 1934 Victory Bonds will, at maturity, amount to $2,207.20 providing the interest is saved and invested at the rate of 5½% as the coupons are paid off.

Good judgment recommends the purchase of good long-term bonds at times like the present, when, owing to the scarcity of money, interest rates are high and bond prices low.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

Dominion of Canada 5½% Bonds

Victory Bonds Free from Dominion Income Taxes

Due	Price		Yield
Dec., 1922	98	and interest	6.37%
Nov., 1923	98	and interest	6.14%
Dec., 1927	97	and interest	6.00%
Nov., 1933	96½	and interest	5.88%
Dec., 1937	98	and interest	5.68%

Victory Bonds Subject to the Usual Income Taxes

Nov., 1924	97	and interest	6.27%
Nov., 1934	93	and interest	6.24%

We shall welcome an opportunity to serve you in your investment matters irrespective of the amount of your funds.

DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION
LIMITED.
Established 1901

E. R. Wood - - - - President
G. A. Morrow - Vice-President
J. W. Mitchell - Vice-President
W. S. Hodgens - - - Secretary
J. A. Fraser - - - - Treasurer
T. H. Andison - Ass't Secretary
A. F. White - - Ass't Treasurer

HEAD OFFICE:
26 KING STREET EAST
TORONTO

MONTREAL BRANCH
Canada Life Building
R. W. Steele - - Manager

LONDON, ENG., BRANCH
No. 6 Austin Friars
A. L. Fullerton, Manager

TRIPLETS, GIRLS, ARE BORN TO BRAMPTON COUPLE

Guelph Sept. 23—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holt, former well known Guelphites, now of Brampton are receiving hearty congratulations from friends on being the parents of triplets which were born at St. Joseph's Hospital, here. The new arrivals are all girls. All three are doing well. This is the first time in the history of the hospital that triplets have been born there although according to one of Guelph's oldest medical practitioners it is not the first time in this city.

CROWN LIFE

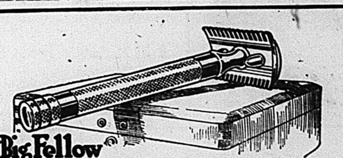
THE BEST BEQUEST

A regular monthly income to meet running expenses is the best of all bequests. This kind of insurance cannot be frittered away or unwisely invested.

Our Monthly Income Policy adds to each monthly instalment a dividend out of the Company's earnings.

Crown Life Insurance Co., Toronto

T. J. OLIVER, Belleville Representative.



Evolution—
The Survival of the Fittest

Until the introduction of the Gillette Safety Razor, no man dared to shave without stropping his razor. Now mark the tremendous progress that has been made in shaving methods within a generation!

20,000,000 Men Use the Gillette Today

Today, twenty million men never think of stropping or honing, because they find, with the keener edges of the Gillette Blade, the necessity has vanished.

It is evolution—the survival of the fittest. Away with all unnecessary parts, strops, hones, etc. They are becoming as obsolete as the starting crank on an automobile.

The "Big Fellow" Gillette Safety Razor, shown above, is the latest evolution. It was created to meet the needs of men who want a sturdier, heavier handle than that of the Standard Gillette.

But you had better see the whole Gillette line at your nearest dealers', and make your choice. The price is $5. per set.

MADE IN CANADA
No Stropping — TRADE Gillette MARK — No Honing
KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

734

"COWAN'S MAPLE BUDS I Just love them!"
Maple Buds are widely known
By a flavor all their own.
G 34

DEVELOPING PRINTING
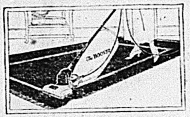
ENLARGING

ANSCO
Cameras and Films.
OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

TO THE RESCUE



The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.

☞ THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : : ☜

The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.

THE HYDRO SHOP
Contractors in all kinds of
Electric Wiring
32 BRIDGE STREET

Lantic
Sugar
for Cake-making
-creams quicker with butter.
fine!

Never a corn
on millions of feet nowadays

Do you know that millions of people who use Blue-jay keep entirely free from corns?

If a corn appears it is ended by a touch. A Blue-jay plaster or a drop of liquid Blue-jay is applied.

The corn pain stops. Soon the whole corn loosens and comes out.

The method is scientific. It is gentle, easy, sure. Old-time harsh treatments are supplanted by it with everyone who knows it.

It is made by a world-famed laboratory, which every physician respects.

It is now applied to some 20 million corns a year. You can see that corn troubles are fast disappearing.

Then why pare corns and keep them? Why use methods which are out-of-date?

Try this new-day method. See what it does to one corn. You will never forget its quick and gentle action. Your druggist sells Blue-jay.

B&B Blue=jay
Plaster or Liquid
The Scientific Corn Ender
BAUER & BLACK, Limited Chicago Toronto New York
Makers of Sterile Surgical Dressings and Allied Products

THE PREMIER'S WIFE.

Mrs. Arthur Meighen is a Lover of Home.

Writing in the Ottawa Journal, "A. B. H." has this to say of Mrs. Arthur Meighen, wife of the new Premier of Canada:

Probably the least perturbed of those who heard the news last evening that Hon. Arthur Meighen had been made Premier of Canada was the Prime Minister's wife. Mrs. Meighen, whose three great passions in life are her husband, her children, and her home—spent her first evening as the first lady of the land playing with her children and visiting quietly with some guests who have been staying at her home.

"There isn't anything to say about me," she said to the Journal. "I'm very much as I was yesterday. I don't think I realize it yet, though I do know it is a very high honor that has come to us."

Mrs. Meighen's greatest interest is her children, whom she would much rather talk about than their new and exalted position.

They are three, and all products of Ottawa Public Schools. Teddie, the oldest, is farming on Senator Sharp's ranch in Manitoba, where he has gone for two summers, although he is now only 15 years old. He has just been promoted to the third form of the Collegiate. Max, who was working out a game of solitaire, is next, and with Lillian attends Cartier street Public School.

Devotion for her children has led Mrs. Meighen to forego the doubtful pleasures of the semi-public life which other Cabinet Ministers' wives have chosen. During the war, forsaking her usual custom, she was an active Red Cross worker in Ottawa Women's Canadian Club, but even then she said that she could not do much, for she wanted to be at home when the children came from school. They were always calling for "mother" and she liked to be there to answer.

Outside of the Ottawa Women's Club she has no active connection with other societies. If she allows her name to go on the directorate of many institutions, an "honor" often conferred on the wife of the Prime Minister, it will not be of her own inclination.

The Meighens have been married for fifteen years. Mrs. Meighen was Miss Jessie Isobel Cox, and was born at Granby, Que. Her mother is Mrs. Wood, of Winnipeg, at whose home the family usually spends part of the summer.

Mrs. Meighen taught in the Public School of Portage la Prairie for two years, and it was then that she met the Premier, who was a collegiate teacher. They were married on the first day of June—before the school year was finished, whereby hangs a romance, it is said. Mrs. Meighen's brother served in the Air Force during the war. Her father died many years ago.

On Sunday they all attend Chalmers' Church, and, being Presbyterians with principles, their pew is seldom vacant.

Times Have Changed.

Fifty years ago a boy was "fired" because he joined in a strike for shorter hours. Thirteen of his companions were jailed on a charge of conspiracy against the crown. The final result of the strike was that the "conspirators" were released and workers in Toronto were for the first time introduced to the nine-hour day, long since superseded by the eight-hour day. The "disloyal" boy was Harry Lovelock, an apprentice in the printing establishment of Dudley and Burns, and his companions were members of the Typographical Union. Mr. Lovelock is now the assistant King's Printer at the Ontario Parliament Buildings, and looks back with none too pleasant recollections to the day when he found himself without work and facing disgrace in the eyes of his employers.

"I never received a cent of wages for the first week I worked as a printer," said Mr. Lovelock, who, in an interview, told how, rather than face his former employers, he had gone to a little printing shop where the Confederation Life Building now stands, and asked for work. After putting in the first week he asked for his pay and was refused. He decided to leave and again sought the streets. By this time Dudley and Burns, who had heard of his plight, sent for and re-employed him. Here he became a prominent member of the printing staff, passing through all the stages until he became foreman. He has now been assistant King's Printer for eleven years.

Job for the Major.

A young recruit who was put on sentry-go, was new to his duty. A good-natured comrade brought him a sandwich from the canteen and the recruit was about to eat it when the major appeared. As the officer was in mufti the sentry did not recognize him and did not salute. The major took in the situation and asked:

"What's that?"

"A sandwich," replied the recruit; "have a bite?"

"Do you know who I am?" asked the major.

"Don't know you from a crow; perhaps you are the major's coachy."

"No, I'm not."

"His groom, perhaps?"

"No; try again."

"Perhaps the old chap himself?"

"Right this time," said the major.

"Oh, good Lord!" exclaimed the frightened recruit, "hold the sandwich while I present arms!"—Spare Moments.

Aerial Taxicabs.

Seventeen aerial taxicab companies are being formed in Western Canada, and a number of these have already been licensed by the air board. Four commercial flying companies have been formed at Winnipeg, and there are companies at Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Hanna (Alberta), Calgary, Lethbridge, Banff and in Vancouver. Airdromes are to be built at Virden and Vancouver. Passenger flying is the first object of these companies, and mail carrying and distribution for large shops are expected to follow.

HELD UP BANK IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

Detroit, Sept. 23.—Four armed men held up the branch of the First State Bank of Detroit, at Mack and Mt. Elliott avenues, this morning and

WM. McINTOSH AND COMPANY

6 Days Sensational Sale of Seasonable Merchandise!

Starting Friday Morning, Sept. 24th, at Nine o'Clock, Continuing Until Following Thursday

Our Entire Stock Marked Down For Quick, Decisive Clearance!

IN ORDER TO MAKE THE NECESSARY ALTERATIONS IN OUR STORE WE ARE FORCED TO PLACE OUR IMMENSE STOCK OF MERCHANDISE ON SALE AT REDUCTIONS THAT WILL ASTONISH THE BUYING PUBLIC.

Men and Women, Think!
End of the season prices before the season begins! Worth coming for, is it not?

Dress Goods Section
40-inch Black Serge, reg. $1.75. Sale price $1.19 yard.
40-inch Impt. Blue Serge. Sale price $2.19 yd.
40-inch Tweeds in Brown, Grey and Purple mixtures. Sale price .... $1.89 yard
40-inch Diagonal Stripes in Grey and Black only, to clear .... 98c. yard
45-inch Melton Cloths—Grey, Navy and Royal. Sale price .... $1.49 yard
37-inch Corded Velveteens—Green, Old Rose, Grey and Black; to clear .... 79c.

Staples Section
Bleached Cotton, 36 ins. wide. On sale at 32c. yard.
Unbleached Cotton, 36 ins. wide. On sale at .... 29c. yard
Prints in light and dark grounds. Sale price .... 35c. yard
Wrapperettes, splendid assortment. Sale price .... 59c. yard
Bleached Table Damask, 60 ins. wide, to clear .... $1.59 yard
Linen Crash Towelling. Sale price 42c. yard
Turkish Towelling. Sale price .... 38c. yard
Flannelette in colored and plain. Sale price .... 35c. yard

A Decided and Decisive Drive in Merchandise
NOTTINGHAM LACE CURTAINS, 2½ yards long. Sale price .... $2.39 pair
CURTAIN MATERIALS, SCRIMS, NETS, etc. .... 20% off

Ready-to-wear Section
Ladies' and Misses' Winter Coats .. 20% off
Blue and Black Serge Skirts, reg. $10.00. Sale price $7.98
Ladies' Pullovers and Sweater Coats, 20% off
All Blouses and Waists .... 20% off

Hosiery Section
Ladies' Black Cotton Hose—full fashioned, combed yarn, spliced heels and toes, double soles. Sale price .... 69c.
Ladies' Cashmere Finish Hose, sale price 65c. pair.
Boys' All Wool Black Worsted Hose. Sale price .... 59c.

A SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE
Positively Only 6 Days
A BETTER BUYING CHANCE WILL NOT OCCUR AGAIN THIS SEASON.

Men's and Youths' Section
Men's Grey Wool Sweater Coats. Sale price $2.89
Men's and Youths' Sweater Coats. Sale price $2.38
Boys' Pullovers, red trimmings, to clear 98c. each.
Boys' Navy Pullovers, button shoulder, to clear .... 89c. each
Men's Heavy Wool Socks. Sale price 69c. pr.
All Wool Pullovers, reg. $4.50. Sale price, $3.69 each.
All Wool Pullovers, reg. $3.50. Sale price $2.69 each.
Boys' Pullovers, to clear $1.98
Boys' Juvenile Suits; values up to $6.50. Sale price $3.98
Fine Shirts, values up to $2.75. On sale $1.89
Flannelette Work Shirts—Grey, Khaki, Tweed mixture, reg. $2.25. Sale price .... $1.89 each Night Robes to clear, $2.19 each. Ribbed Wool Undershirts and Drawers, sale price $1.50 gar.
Natural Wool Undershirts and Drawers specially priced for this sale at ...... $1.69 per garment
Boys' Wash Suits, to clear $1.79. Boys' Romper Suits, sale price $1.38
Boys' Shirts, collars attached, to clear .... 98c. each 19 only Youth's Suits to clear, ... 25% off. Overcoats to clear at .... 20% off.

The Goods are Here to Select from at Prices You Can Afford
SPACE DOES NOT PERMIT US TO DESCRIBE ALL THE WONDERFUL BARGAINS WE ARE OFFERING, SO WE ASK YOU TO VERIFY THESE STATEMENTS BY A PERSONAL INSPECTION.

Wm. McIntosh & Company

Trenton Horticultural Society Exhibition
Trenton Arena, Tuesday, September 28, Afternoon and Evening
Flowers, Fruit, Vegetables, Fancy Work, Cooking, Poultry, etc.

NEW RECRUITS FOR CANADIAN NAVY

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—A party of forty-three men and boys, recently recruited in the cities of Ontario sailed aboard the SS. Empress of Britain to join the new Canadian naval vessels, the cruiser Aurora and the destroyers Patrician and Patriot. The party, which sailed on September 15 was in charge of Lieut. Nelles, R.C.N., and the men and boys will return to Ca ada on the vessels early in Octobe Another party of naval recruits is e pected to be ready for sailing on th SS. Empress of France on Septembe 29.

Fall Suits and Coats

of Superb Style and Excellent Quality

A WONDERFUL SHOWING OF NEW FALL STYLES IN THE LATEST MODELS.

NEW SUITS—in Velour, specially priced at $55.00 and $58.50

NEW COATS in Velour, Silvertone, Tweeds, Plush, etc., specially priced at .... $35.00 to $110.00

KIDDIE SWEATERS.—We have just placed in stock a big shipment of Children's Pullover Sweaters. Just the garment for cool weather. Priced at $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50

ENGLISH FLANNELETTES.—A big assortment of English Striped Flannelette. Special values at 45c., 50c. and 60c.

EARLE & COOK CO.

WE SELL McCALL PATTERNS.

McCALL'S FASHIONS ARE HERE

Shoes for Everybody

Ladies', Men's, Boys' and Girls'

If you are looking for reliable and up-to-date Footwear, either for dress or everyday wear, why not have a look at our lines, as it is a pleasure to show them, and you will see our prices are reasonable.

SEE OUR SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Leslie Shoe Store

Phone 553

Misses & Young Ladies Fur Sets

If you are needing a Fur for the chilly evenings, call in and take a look around our stock. We have a nice assortment of MISSES' and YOUNG LADIES' sets cut from the choicest skins and fashioned on the very latest designs.

We would especially recommend you to see our sets in

JAPANESE CROSS FOX, BADGER
AUSTRALIAN AND AMERICAN OPOSSUM, GREY SQUIRREL.

The price you will find reasonable, being from $35.00 per set up

DELANEY

Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
17 Campbell Street.

PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE

CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY

PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

Are You Run-Down? Have You Ambitions?

The French are introducing a most wonderful tonic called Vital Tablets. You at once feel the new strength and health coming back to you. If you are not feeling well, why not try Vital Tablets. They will build you up. Get a box today. Price 50c a box, at all drug stores or by mail. The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

City And Country

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Mrs. George Riley of Marmora village was this morning before Judge Deroche charged with attempting to commit suicide by throwing herself into the Crow river. The accused pleaded guilty but owing to circumstances she was allowed her liberty on a suspended sentence of one year. Mr. Carnew for Crown, Mr. E. J. Butler for the accused.

DRIVER TOO YOUNG

An Ops farmer sent his car to Lindsay Saturday morning driven by a 13-year-old boy. The matter coming to the notice of the police, a court case followed and the owner was fined $10.45. For the information of the public the following paragraph is quoted: Section 13 of the Motor Vehicle Act says:—"No person under the age of 16 years shall drive a motor vehicle and no person over the age of 16 years and under the age of 18 years shall drive a motor vehicle on the highway unless, and until such person has passed an examination and obtained a chauffeur's license. The owner of a car is responsible no matter who the driver is unless the car is stolen."

PAINFULLY INJURED

Earl Wilson, the six-year-old son of Mr. Melville Wilson, who resides two miles east of Bewdley, Northumberland County, met with a very unfortunate accident Monday afternoon. The manure spreader was in operation, and in playing around the little fellow went too close to the machine and was caught in the cylinder. He was badly cut about the face and chest, and his injuries are very painful.

LOOKING FOR EVIDENCE

License Inspector Gooderich has been in Brighton looking up evidence in a case that is soon to come to court It is stated that on August 19th, Keith Cumming took delivery of three cases of whiskey, having it come to Colborne. On September 2nd a search of his premises failed to reveal any liquor and a member of the family is alleged to have stated that it never came there.

BONNIE SCOTLAND

At a regular meeting of Moira Lodge A. F. & A. M. held last evening there was a large attendance of members and visitors. After lodge meeting a banquet was held at which Bro. J. McIntosh gave an interesting address relative to his recent visit to Scotland. Solos rendered in fine voice were given by Bro. Knight McGregor, the accompaniments being played by Bro. Prof. Hunt.

TWO YEARS IN THE PEN

George Hart, a laborer, who is well known about the city was today, by Magistrate Masson sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on a charge of attempting to commit an act of gross indecency. The accused pleaded his own defence, but was found guilty.

NEW CHIEF OF POLICE

The Police Commissioners of the City of Belleville, composed of Judge Deroche, Police Magistrate Masson and Mayor Riggs have after due consideration of a number of applicants for the position of Chief of Police for the city, selected Capt. Alexander Kidd, at present of Port Perry. He will enter upon his new duties in the near future. Capt. Kidd was for some time a member of the Peterboro police force and is highly recommended. He was overseas and saw service on the firing line. He is a comparative young man, 31 years of age, 6 feet in height and has a fine physique.

FELL UPON THIRSTY SOIL

It is said that the truck load of whiskey en route from Montreal to Hamilton seized by Belleville police was two hundred cases strong leaving Montreal but upon being checked up at Belleville it was found that there had been a leakage of ten cases en route. Considering the fact that the wet goods passed through such thirsty towns as Brockville and Kingston, the small amount of leakage is remarkable.

GOITRE

Send for free booklet (or ask your druggist) about Gu-Solvo for the successful treatment of goitre in your own home. This medicine is taken internally; softens the goitre; gradually dissolves it and eases it entirely out of the system.. You owe it to yourself and your friends to get rid of this unsightly disease.. Gu-Solvo is sold in Belleville by J. V. DOYLE.

The Monk Chemical Co., Limited,
43 Scott St., Toronto, Ont.

ON CANADIAN CITIES.

English Newspaperman Writes About Toronto.

Douglas Newton is another writer who has been telling Britishers and others what Toronto is like. Mr. Newton was one of the newspapermen who accompanied the Prince of Wales.

He says Toronto doesn't lack names, and lists "The Boston of Canada," "the second city of Canada," and the "Queen City." He mentions the smiling, exclusive residential districts of Rosedale and the Hill, and Yonge street stretching for forty miles. He refers to Rosedale streets as "capricious." Surprisingly, he refers to the streets of the commercial districts as not only sober and practical, but "wide." He was evidently comparing them with the Strand and Fleet street, not with Kingsway.

He wonders why Torontonians, as well as others here, always use the longer instead of the shorter word—"automobile" for "car"; "elevator" for "lift."

Referring to the location of the Parliament Buildings and the University of Toronto, Newton says Canadians always show artistic sense in the grouping of their public buildings. Toronto University and more especially McGill, have indeed splendid sites. Oxford is one of the most charming places in the whole world, but it is the quadrangles and gardens of the colleges that are spacious, not the location of the buildings themselves, usually built to the street line as they are.

Newton gives a new name to the architecture of the Ontario Parliament Buildings, a problem that has baffled all local critics. Renaissance—"Railway Station Style" is his appellation. And he is an Englishman, with the dismal Euston and Waterloo in his mind, not the glories of the Grand Central and Pennsylvania terminals. He also had before him the example of the old Toronto Union Station.

The City Hall he describes as "a vast edifice of raw stone from which bursts a campanile."

The new General Hospital aroused his enthusiasm. "Canadians have certainly the sense of architecture, when they constructed it. They refused to give it the appearance of a morgue, as is done so often elsewhere with hospitals and schools.

He calls the Exhibition the "rendezvous for the whole of Ontario, perhaps also for the whole of Eastern Canada." The Midway he nicknames "The Joy City," and, to use the French translation of his story, appearing in "La Canadienne" (Montreal), he refers to ice cream soda (practically unknown in England) as "congealed cream in charged water."

From still another viewpoint are we permitted to see ourselves — this time from Los Angeles. A special writer of the Times in that city has been in Toronto recently. "Toronto's greatest aim," he says, "is to be a big seaport." He outlines the harbor developments.

Compared with Montreal, Toronto is described as "far more American." Montreal "is more sedate, more pompous, given to dignified trade."

Metal Replaces Wood.

Criticism has often been made that it is a Canadian habit to put up a thoroughly fireproof building, and then to fill it with great quantities of combustibles in the shape of wooden furniture. Thus, in such a building there might be, and often has been, a very destructive fire.

This is by no means so much the case nowadays as formerly. Mainly as a precaution against fire metal furniture has been largely substituted for wood in office buildings, in spite of its higher cost. Filing cases, lockers, and even tables and chairs are of metal. It is the same way in many shops.

The same tendency to substitute metal for wood is shown even in the home. Few beds nowadays are made of wood, though of late fashion has favored highpost wooden bedsteads of the old-time style—a mere passing fad, presumably. The housewife's kitchen cabinet is preferably of metal, painted white.

More than $2,000,000 worth of metal furniture, it is estimated, was sold in this country during the last year.

A Case for Control.

Elsie, aged six, had a very bad time with measles. As a matter of precaution her little friends, Bob and Joan, who had been with her when she was in the infectious stage, were kept isolated for a time. "Have Bob and Joan had measles yet?" Elsie asked her mother every day. She seemed quite disappointed that invariably the answer was "No." At last, when she was told that they were out of quarantine altogether and allowed to play with their friends, she burst into tears. "It isn't fair," she sobbed. "I think measles ought to be rationed like butter and sugar, then everybody could have a share."

Domestic Finance.

They had not been married very long, and, strange to relate, both their birthdays fell on the same date. But already he had learned a thing or two about the shopping propensities of the fair sex. So he tackled the subject of presents manfully: "Darling," he said, lovingly, "we must not have any secrets from each other, now, must we?" "No, sweetheart!" she cooed, gladly. "Well, dear," he went on, "if you will tell me exactly how much you intend to spend on a present for me, I shall be able to work out how much I shall have left to buy one for you."

Company Promoting.

"Why not marry," said Bindlington to a woman-hater, "and have a wife to share your lot for better or for worse?" And the disgruntled one growled: "It sounds all right; but some of these shareholders blossom into directors!"

Gentle Kindness.

He: "I wish you'd drop the 'Mister' and call me plain John."

She: "Oh, but it would be very unkind to twit you about your looks."

Hans and Fritz In the Flesh

Katzenjammer Kids Attract Capacity Audience at Griffin's Theatre.

The popularity of newspaper cartoon comedies transferred to the stage was again demonstrated Wednesday evening by the large audience which assembled at Griffin's Theatre to witness the annual production of the Katzenjammer Kids in a musical comedy setting. The line-up for rush seats in the gallery began at half-past six and by half-past seven a line three deep was stretched from the gallery entrance nearly to Pinnacle street.

The program was the usual melange of songs, dances and devilment of the precocious kids whose sole purpose in life is to play tricks on the Captain.

In addition to the Kids, the Captain and Mrs. Katzenjammer, there are a bunch of girls who dance around in all kinds of attractive costumes more or less skimpy. Olivia Minfanwyn, as Valeska Granger, leading lady in a motion picture company, sang and acted in a pleasing manner. A novelty was introduced in a little sketch entitled "It Pays to Advertise," introducing some well known trade marks featured in daily newspaper advertising.

The program opened with a ragtime chorus and after dancing through many scenes representing sea and land, closed with a shimmy wedding.

Drive Out Dandruff So It Won't Return

By a Specialist

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is well recognized. We appreciate, therefore, the importance of any agent that can destroy its power. For this reason it is a pleasure to give herewith a prescription which a specialist states he has found after repeated tests, will completely destroy the dandruff germs with a few applications. In many cases it will almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair-growth after years of partial baldness. This prescription can be made up at home or any druggist will put it up for you —6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly and after standing an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing it in with the finger tips. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume.

Truck Load of Whisky Seized

At a few minutes after 11 o'clock last night police officer Charles Thompson saw a large truck laden with boxes, covering which was a large tarpaulin tied down with ropes. The truck was on McAnnany street in front of a garage and was in charge of two men who were making the purchase of some gasoline. Officer Thompson asked one of the men what was upon the truck and the reply was "groceries." The officer suspected that the cargo might not be dry groceries and sent a call into the police station for Sergt. Naphin. Upon the arrival of the sergeant, the load was inspected and found to be a cargo of liquor. There were 150 cases of Imperial whiskey and 50 cases of Canadian Club whiskey. The truck was run over in front of the police station and the two men in charge, Stanley L. Cruickshank, a drayman, and John Treacher, occupation a fitter, were held in custody. It was later ascertained that the consignment was for a man named Donohue of Hamilton and had been brought this far from Montreal. The value of it is in the vicinity of $6,000 and the truck is a five-ton Packard.

This morning, License Inspector Arnott of this city, got into communication with the department at Toronto in reference to the seizure and asked for advice as to what course to pursue. A message was received from the department ordering that the cargo be allowed to proceed to Hamilton accompanied by a police officer, and upon its arrival there action will be taken by the License Board.

Whilst the truck was left standing in front of the police station hundreds of citzens viewed it and the remarks made in reference to it were of a general jocular nature.

This is the greatest seizure of liquor ever made in this vicinity.

Police Officer Trulasch accompanied Cruickshank and Treacher on their trip to Hamilton.

TICKET OFFICE BURGLARIZED

The G.T.R. ticket office at the depot was broken into some time late last night. A sum of money about $25 was taken, but that appears to be the only thing taken, which was evidence that money was the only thing sought for. The affair was reported to the police who are working upon the case.

Footwear of Special Merit

The more particular a woman is in regard to the sort of shoes she wears, the more she will enjoy seeing the new styles we are showing for Fall.

EVERY WOMAN'S SHOE is a masterpiece of expert Shoemaker's Skill.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.

Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.

194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.

MILADY'S NEW SUIT

Just to let you know that we are now showing many new and stunning arrivals in our Suit Section. Several clever models in the new shades of Brown, Taupe, as well as the ever new Navy Tricotines, Serges. Duvettes are the fabrics. Many fur trimmed.

Priced $37.50 to $90.00
Coats, $30.00 to $75.00

Wottens Limit'd

LADIES' WEAR STORE

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.

Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

"The Tobacco with a heart"

MACDONALD'S BRIER SMOKING TOBACCO

The Big Plug 80 cents

THAT FINE FLAVOR
—so deliciously different

Ice-cream made with Eagle Brand has that rich flavor found in French creams. It has body—is creamy and delicious. It is also more economical tham cream.

Eagle Brand is simply rich, pure milk and refined sugar—its distinctive flavor is the result of the Borden process which unites them.

THE BORDEN COMPANY
LIMITED

THE LEADER
SINCE 1857

Our recipe booklet free.

Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

9-420

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 2 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES
REPAIRED
at the
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.,
353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE, CHEAP — GURNEY OXFORD Heater with oven; portable mangle (two foot rollers); office desk, revolving chair dressmaker's dummy. 71 Cedar street. 1td

FOR SALE—LADY'S BLACK ASTRACHAN Fur Coat, with sable collar, size 36. Fifteen dollars. 18 Green Street. 1td

FOR SALE—ONE FOUR ROOM COTTAGE with large lot; also one seven room house with large summer kitchen on one and three-quarters acres of land, on MacDonald Ave., north of Victoria Ave. Apply on premises. Township taxes. s23 6

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 355 Front Street. a6-d:f

FOR SALE—210 STATION STREET, EIGHT roomed house, electric light, water inside. Large barn and garden. Price reasonable. Apply W. Parry, 225 Station St. s22-4td

FOR SALE—SMALL FARM, NINE ACRES mostly in apples and small fruit, just outside city limits, 9 roomed house, with hot air furnace, good well and cistern. Will sell house separate. If not sold by October 1st will rent. Apply G. D. Gratton, R.R. 3, Belleville. s21-4td

FOR SALE—DOHERTY PLAYER PIANO and 40 rolls. Apply N. Curlett, N. Park St., Belleville. s21-6td

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. s18-12td

FOR SALE — MEDIUM SIZED FRAME house with conveniences, situated at 83 West Bridge Street. Price reasonable. Apply to Mrs. P. C. VanAllen, 323 Front St., Belleville. s17-6td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

GIRL WANTED FOR GENERAL HOUSE work. Wages $30 per month. Apply Mrs. Wm. Burrowes, 245 East Bridge St. Phone 345. s25-2td

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSE work. Good wages. Apply Box "X," Intelligencer. s20-4td,1tw

WANTED—A GOOD PLAIN COOK, GENERAL. No laundry work. Highest wages to capable person with references. Apply 161 S. Albert Street. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED — CAPABLE COOK-GENERAL for family of three. No washing. Wages $36 per month. References required. Address Box "Y," Intelligencer Office, Belleville, stating capabilities, age and references. All replies will be considered confidential. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED AT HOTEL QUINTE, A LAUNDRESS; also a bell boy. s21-4t

TWO EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES wanted by The Ritchie Co., Limited. s21-4td

GIRL WANTED FOR VETERANS' LUNCH. Apply 164 Front St. s20-4td

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s1-d1m

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

LOST

LOST—GOLD LOCKET, INITIALS R.H.W., Saturday night, between City Hall and No. 2 Fire Hall. Liberal reward. Finder please leave at this office. 1td

TO LET.

TO LET—THREE UNFURNISHED ROOMS Apply 31 Mill Street. 1td

TO LET—HOUSE; MODERN BRICK, rooms; 81 W. Bridge St. Apply 75 W. Bridge St. Possession Oct. 1st. s21-4td

FOR RENT — FURNISHED ROOMS, ALL conveniences, centrally located, 238 Albert street. s20-4td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s23-12td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 869. s14-dtf

WANTED.

WANTED—TWO FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED rooms, with or without board. Apply to Mrs. J. W. Johnson, 259 Charles St. Phone 859. s23-tfd

WANTED, FOR LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING, by young couple, 3 or 4 unfurnished rooms with all conveniences. Apply Box "5," Intelligencer. s21-4td

WANTED BY YOUNG BUSINESS MAN—one or two furnished or unfurnished rooms in private home. Box "G," Intelligencer. s21-4td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

STATIONARY ENGINEER, 2ND CLASS certificate, seeks situation. Best references. Box "S," Intelligencer, Belleville.

WANTED—SMALL HOUSE OR FLAT BY October 1. No family. Apply with particulars to Box "12", Intelligencer. s23-4td

AGENTS WANTED

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10-$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 329 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,000 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G, Toronto. stt—s30

HELP WANTED—MALE

Wanted

Ledgerkeeper wanted must be quick and accurate at figures and have experience in collecting. Apply stating age, experience and salary expected. Pedlar People, Limited, Oshawa, Ont. 1td

WANTED — PORTER TO ATTEND FURNACES, clean snow and work in printing office, on presses and mail deliveries. Apply in person at Intelligencer office. s23-3td

WANTED—PRESSMAN — DUPLEX PRESS and jobbers; also linotype operator. Apply immediately. Intelligencer Office, Belleville. s23-3td

WANTED — GOOD SMART BOY WITH plenty of snap, to learn the barber business. Good opportunity for good wages. Apply E. George, Front Street, Belleville. s23-2td

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day of evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o5

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1109-10 C. P. R Building, Toronto. s15-10td

WANTED — A BOY TO LEARN THE printing trade. Apply The Intelligencer Office. s20-dtf

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR Shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge. s20-dtf

FOUND.

FOUND—ON SEPT. 9TH ON 5TH CON. SIDNEY, a lady's gold watch. Owner may have same by proving property and paying for advt. John Hinchliffe, R. R. 2, Belleville. s23-2td,1tw

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393, E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

SPECIAL PRICES

Of good Crawford peaches. On account of the enormous large crop, peaches are running smaller than usual. Fresh car in every day. Get our prices before buying. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge Street, opp. P.O. Phone 520. s20-6td

You will enjoy the cool evenings of September with a few new dance records. Ask to hear these:

In Sweet September (fox trot) A2959.
Happy (one step) A2963.
Frogs Legs (fox trot) A2925.
Tell Me Little Gipsy (fox trot) A2972.
In the Gleaming (waltz) A2970.
C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Hear Henry Burr's latest song, "Down the Trail to Home Sweet Home," coupled with the tenor solo "The Love Nest," by Frank Crumit. A2973.—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

You are invited to hear the following Player Rolls at C. W. Lindsay, Limited:

Fifth Nocturn Story Roll.
One Fleeting Hour (song).
Paderewski Menuet.
Let the Rest of the World Go By (waltz).
—C. W. Lindsay, Limited

To brighten your furniture use Stay-Brite Polish. Sold only at C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Warm Your Room or Office With a PORTABLE MAJESTIC HEATER
Special Price, $11.00
See Them at
THE HYDRO SHOP

Starting September 22, Wednesday will be girls' and women's day at Y. M. C. A. for the Fall and Winter. s22-2td

City Baseball Championship—G.T.R. vs. Marsh Engineering Works—Saturday, September 25th—Fair Grounds 2.30 p.m. s23-2td

See the bargains in boys' boots at Gorman's Boot Shop. 1td

Wonderful bargains in boys boots at Gorman's. 1td

The bargain poles are loaded with boys' boots at Gorman's. 1td

Just think of it, Youths' absolutely solid boots,. sizes 11, 12, 13, and 13½ only $2.95 at Gorman's. 1td

Boys' solid leather boots, sizes 1 to 5 only $3.95 at Gorman's. 1td

Little Gents' Solid Boots, sizes 8, 9, 10 and 10½ only $2.65 at Gorman's. . .

The Salvation Army will occupy the Palace Theatre on Sundays while the citadel is under renovation. Dr. A. Oaten of Toronto will preach on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Special music and song. 23-2td

Dr. McCullough will be at his office 47 Campbell street, every Saturday for consultation on diseases on the eye, ear, nose and throat.

Damaging evidence has been secured in the baseball probe being conducted by the U. S. Grand Jury.

Miss E. C. Nesbitt turned in a card of 84, the best score in the women's national golf tournament.

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press Limited

Milk is to be 17 cents a quart in Montreal from the first of the month.

A stray rifle shot killed a brood mare valued at $1,200 by the river at Galt.

A baby clinic was opened at Woodstock by the Local Council of Women.

Pauline Fontaine, two years old, was fatally scalded by gravy near Montreal.

An unknown man, apparently a foreigner, committed suicide by leaping from an engine on the G. T. P.

Ex-Kaiser William will present a hospital to Amerongen as a memento of his stay there.

The Dutch Foreign Minister has proposed that Holland maintain a legation at the Vatican.

D'Annunzio has selected his Cabinet for the Provisional Government of the Regency of Quarnero.

A despatch from Helsingfors says conflagrations are raging all over the Northern Russian Governments.

Pittsburg put Cincinnati out of the National League running.

Cleveland and Chicago open a series which may decide the American League race.

G. Amy, prominent jeweler, Shawville, Que. killed, and Lieut. Jack Drummond badly injured when engine stalls on airplane at Ottawa Fair.

Balbriggan, Irish town, is the scene of utter desolation, estimated damage a million dollars.

Lithuanians guns open on Poles. Little time lost in re-opening of hostilities.

DESERONTO

Much damaeg was done by the frost on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Covert have returned after spending a short honey moon at western points.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sharpe and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sharpe spent the week end with the former's parents at Murray.

Mrs. Taylor spent the week end with her cousin at Lansdowne.

Miss Olive Cole is visiting relatives at Toronto and Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson left on Monday last for China. We all wish them a safe journey.

The Johnson show was largely attended on Saturday night.

A number of our local sports attended Napanee Fair and report a good time.

Mr. A. E. Sharpe, jeweller, is out of town a few days on business.

Mrs. Jack Coleman of Trenton spent Sunday visiting her brother, Mr. H. Covert.

Mrs. N. Bradshaw spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Lockwood.

WANT TO LEAP THE FALLS IN "MOVIE" STEAMER

Bridgeburg, Ont., Sept. 23.—If present negotiations can be completed, the old Franklin, long used in the ferry service here between Fort Erie and Buffalo, will be sent over the falls in a few days for a "movie" stunt. Promoter James Stevens, a Boston, Mass. man, is now arranging with the International Ferry Company covering the purchase of the old ferry, providing the price wanted is not too high.

The necessary arrangements have been completed with the Canadian and American customs covering regulations in case the ship goes over the falls, instead of becoming stranded, and dummy figures are being prepared. Arrangements will be made for several actors to be removed by means of a line just before the ship goes over the Falls.

Promoter Stevens declares that he has already received several applications from misguided persons for permission to ride in the ship, which, of course he has refused.

Owners of the Franklin admitted that negotiations are proceeding and declared that they wanted merely a fair price for the ship.

Social And Personal

Mr. T. W. Abrahams, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Roy McMullen, Victoria Avenue, has returned to Toronto.

Mr. James Mitchell, of Goderich, Ont., representing the Public Archives of Canada, has been in Belleville for a few days collecting historic data for the public archives.

Mr. George E. Reid and wife of Montreal are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reid, cor. Bridge and George streets.

2,200 HOUSES ARE UP UNDER HOUSING ACT

The end of the year will have seen about 2,200 houses erected in Ontario under the Ontario Housing Act, 1919. During last year 1,184 houses were erected and 1,000 have been erected or are in course of erection in 1920. The total costs of these houses and the land on which they were built is approximately $8,800,000. The persons who have received loans have contributed toward the cost of the houses over one million dollars. About two-thirds of the houses have been erected on lots already owned by the persons building. Ontario leads the Dominion in the matter of municipally and provincially assisted housing.

OPERATION WAS NOT NECESSARY

"Fruit-a-tives" Restored Her To Perfect Health

153 PAPINEAU AVE., MONTREAL.

"For three years, I suffered great pain in the lower part of my body, with swelling or bloating. I saw a specialist who said I must undergo an operation. I refused.

I heard about "Fruit-a-tives" so decided to try it.

The first box gave great relief; and I continued the treament. Now my health is excellent—I am free of pain—and I give "Fruit-a-tives" my warmest thanks".

Mme. F. GAREAU.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

NEW GOODS
At Wallbridge & Clarke's

at WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

Robertson's Scotch Marmalade
Clover Leaf Salmon
Bird's Custard Powder
New Gulf Lobster
Strained Honey—5 & 10 lb. tins.
Asparagus Tips
Canadian Peas
Buckwheat Flour
Candied Ginger—½ lb. tins
Domolco Molasses
Cinnamon Sticks (fine quality) pkgs 5c
Gusto
Force
H—O—Oats
Chloride Lime—10 & 15c. boxes
New Fancy Biscuits—
Oatcakes, Shortbreads
Chocolate Biscuits, etc.
Crosse & Blackwell's Pickles—
Walnuts, Chow-Chow, etc.
Lea & Perrins' Sauce
Libby's Baked Beans, tins, 20c.

OUR PUMPKIN PIES ARE POPULAR

They are well made, and made from the fine, fresh, ripe pumpkins. Some fresh today.

35c each

CHAS. S. CLAPP

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Tend
to Your Children's Eyes

At the beginning of the school year, bring your child to Blackburn's and have the eyes examined. This is really a duty, for only by a scientific examination can the exact condition of the eyes be found out.

If a condition which causes strain is present, your child is under a handicap in school work, and neglect is apt to cause permanent impairment of vision.

We make a specialty of examining children's eyes.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

RITCHIE'S

New Millinery
ARRIVING DAILY

Featuring All that is Novel and Approved for This Season

Large shipments of new style hats are arriving daily, entirely different from that show at our formal presentation of the authentic new style creations in our Millinery shown rooms on Opening Days. One after another these charming hats will be a source of wonder and delighted surprise, for great is the variety and the artistry of these new modes wrought by clever, deft fingers. A softly crowned, softly draped hat of Black will add piquancy to an interesting face. Ostrich, flattering dear to every feminine heart, graces many a saucy brim with soft swirls, or fine strands. And there are dashing little street hats that will be perfect with the trig new Autumn tailleur or street frock.

The Millinery Parlors will weclome your inspection of these many new modes, priced from

$5.00 to $35.00

NEW COATINGS

New Coating in the much wanted cloths and materials for Fall are to be found in our Dress Goods section. Never have we been so well prepared as this season with this special showing of Fall Coatings, in Bolivia, Cord, Tinseltone, Silvertone Blanket Cloth, Whitney Cloth, Tweeds and Polo Cloth, at prices ranging from

$3.50 to $12 yard

New DressGoods

Velour, Suede Cloth, Gabardine, Broadcloth, Worsteds and Tweeds in the approved shades for Fall in a truly wonderful showing at from

$2.50 to $8.00 yd.

Plaid Skirtings

Plaid Skirtings for Skirts and Fancy Dresses at from

$1.50 to $8.00 yd.

VEILINGS

MONA LISA, the new snug fitting veils, are in great demand because of their unusual distinctiveness. We have them in a full range of shades, large meshes and fine scrolls, made of a delicate mesh so that they do not hurt the eyes, 75c.

Sweater Yarn

A new stock of Sweater Yarns, completing a full rangeof shades, in Monarch Floss, Monarch Down and Comfort Yarn.

New Velvets

All wanted colors, plain and cord; have a rich soft pile of exceptional depth. This unique feature in Cotton Velvet is obtained by a special process of manufacture. Priced from $1.00 to $3.50 per yard.

PLUSH

This lustrous fabric drapes most beautifully and is supplied in a wide range of fash ionable colors at from $7.50 to $20.00 per yard.

Ritchie's
Men's Store

In our Men's Departme we have prepared lavishly f you men this Fall with a rang of Suits and Overcoats whic in our way of thinking su passes anything we hav shown for years. These cloth are as different from ordina clothing as gold is from iro They are not expensive, how ever. In fact, we believe o clothes will give you dollar f dollar, more worth than a clothing of their quality stan ard you can select.

New Tweed Hat

New Tweed Hats, Har Hats and Fur Felts— fact, everything from Necktie to a Fall Suit Overcoat—all of the mo deserving quality, all eco omically priced, and a backed by our guarantee satisfaction.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMIT

PRIME MINISTER RAPS THE SOAP-BOX ORATORS

Magog, Que., Sept. 23.—Premier left Sherbrooke on a continued visit to the Eastern Townships. The first stop was at Magog, where 400 people gathered to hear the Prime Minister. Hon. Mr. Meighen said he found exemplified in the old English townships, now more than half French-Canadian, a spirit of amity and concord, an example the following of which all over the Dominion would complete reconstruction.

Referring to the 'Canadian Hyde Park soap box orators" the Prime Minister said they heard a lot of noise from men who liked to raise a row, but after all there was a great proportion of the Canadian people whose principal concern was minding their own business.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, in the course of his speech at Premier Meighen's Sherbrooke meeting, said Liberals were often asked why after the war they did not return to their former political allegiance. The reason was the remnant of the Liberal party under Hon. Mackenzie King was an entirely different party than th Wilfrid Laurier and particul affected the fiscal policy. T ter of Marine and Naval Affa there would not be an elect the life of Parliament had pired.

LORD DESBOROUGH SWAM NIAGAR

Toronto, Sept. 23.—Lord De president of the Ninth Congr Chamber of Commerce of t Empire, is credited with h ceeded in swimming across ara River, a short distance Falls, on two occasions, t which was in 1884, when he as W. H. Grenfell. The se four years later, he was c strong eddy which drew hi the falls, and his friends watching him were very a til, straining every nerve, out for the middle of the safely reached the other si

Captain Webb, the note swimmer, lost his life tryi the Niagara River.

THE WEATHER

Moderate to fresh southwest to south winds, fair and warm.

Saturday, moderate to fresh southeast to south winds, a few scattered showers but generally fair and warm.

The Daily Intelligencer.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business Is
Guarantee for Square Deal,
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 398.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS

Citizens want to Know

Patience is a great thing; but it can be overdone!

Charity suffereth long and is kind; but charity is frequently overworked!

Belleville citizens have been patient with the vagrant moods of the Moira from the rampaging riot of the spring floods to the stagnant, smelly days of autumn when the altogether lovely and healthful smells of harvest time are smothered in the rank and robust odor arising from the bed of the Moira.

Belleville citizens have had a world of charity in patiently waiting for the health authorities, local and provincial, to get busy and provide a remedy for this nuisance, disagreeable and not at all productive of healthful conditions.

Last year the nuisance was endured, knowing that the local and provincial health authorities were moving in the matter.

This year the nuisance is as bad as ever, and the public would be pleased to know just what has been done in the last twelve months. Experts from the Provincial Health Department have been here to enquire into the situation, an analyst from Queen's University has taken samples of the water, and the local health officials have spent considerable time on the question, but so far no reports have been published for the benefit of the public.

If the conditions which produce the awful odor are healthful the public should be made aware of it and their anxiety relieved, for every gulp of the nauseous foul-smelling air conjures up visions of malaria, typhoid fever, and other frightful ills. There is one thing certain—the fishes do not thrive on the waters of the Moira, the many dead bodies floating showing that the water is not healthy for them.

Again we are reminded of the necessity of a controlling dam to prevent spring floods and provide a head of water for all seasons of the year so that the water would never become stagnant, and a flow of water could be turned on at any time to flush out any impurities.

However, the question of the hour is: "WHAT HAVE THE HEALTH AUTHORITIES DONE, AND WHAT DO THEY PROPOSE TO DO?"

Sunshine Fund

That the citizens of Belleville are generous and warm-hearted is evidenced by the response to the appeal in The Intelligencer for contributions to aid a family in urgent need, owing to sickness and death. The generosity of the citizens is deeply appreciated by the family in question. Additional subscriptions since the last report are as follows:

Mrs. McKenna	1.00
F. P. R.	1.00
Gorman's Boot Shop—Shoes.
A friend	1.00
A friend	1.00

BRANCH BANK MANAGER SAVED FARMER MONEY

Mr. R. C. MacPherson, manager of the Dundas, Ontario, branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was instrumental in saving a farmer-client of the bank a considerable sum of money, which carelessness had nearly lost him, says the current issue of "The Caduceus." The farmer in question was burning up some rubbish, which he had heaped up in a corner of his field. He carried a large bank notebook in his pocket at the time.

Next day he returned to the corner and observed in the smouldering ashes what he took to be the remnant of a glove. On picking up the object he discovered that it was the remains of his bank note book. On the previous day it had dropped from his pocket into the fire, and the contents had been burnt to ashes. The note book had contained registered Victory Bonds, large bank notes and a cheque, representing interest on his bonds.

The farmer appealed to Mr. McPherson for assistance, and the latter undertook to recover the value of the securities. An affidavit was made and the matter taken up with Ottawa. In a remarkably short time duplicate bonds were issued and the bank notes and cheques were replaced.

The incident serves to illustrate, not only what good service on the part of a banker means, but also the fact that bonds, notes and cheques, etc., destroyed by fire may be replaced.

FORTY SLAIN IN TEN DAYS SINN FEIN'S GHASTLY TOLL

London, Sept. 24.—The death list of the last ten days in Ireland was announced officially as twenty-two soldiers and police and 18 Sinn Feiners and civilians. Many were wounded on both sides.

The Irish Office, in a statement today, admitted that police had attempted reprisals for attacks on them, but declared reports of torture and mutilation were exaggerated. Severe punishment has been inflicted on the few police detected in reprisals, the statement said. Reports of women and children being driven from their homes were without foundation, it was added.

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press, Limited.

Maccready says if guerilla warfare goes on in Ireland reprisals may be necessary.

Signs are everywhere manifest of lowering prices in the United States.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson is expected to quit politics. Gen. Ross, M.P.P. for Kingston, is mentioned as probable Conservative head.

British coal miners reject the last appeal of the Premier for a settlement.

Premier Drury says he is still waiting for the Hydro to answer his questions on the radial subject.

It is believed the Government plans a central depot at Windsor to serve all lines.

Quebec will use animated photography to teach scientific agriculture.

Jacob Clancy, near Kingston, obtained 40 bushels of potatoes from one bushel of seed.

The Hydro Commission and the Cataract Power Co. in Hamilton can accept no more contracts.

Herbert Hoover says Washington Departments are woefully inefficient.

A conspiracy against the German Government, with the former crown prince as the head, has been discovered.

The adverse foreign trade balance of France during the last eight months shows a decrease of over 5,845,000,000 francs, compared with the same period of 1919.

MURDER JURY DISAGREES

Barrie, Sept. 23.—At nine o'clock this morning the jury sitting in the Ragged Rapids murder trial case, after considering the evidence all night, reported that they were unable to agree on a verdict. Judge Logie then decided that the case would be deferred until the Fall Assizes.

Frederick Gilbert was charged with fatally shooting Robert Ironsides, in the Orillia power house at Ragged Rapids, on March 5th last. His alibi was that he was not there at the time of the shooting. The only evidence against him was a statement made by Ironsides before he died.

FIGHT FOR WOMAN'S LIFE

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 23.—The fight for the life of Madame Gagnon, sentenced to hang at Quebec next month for the murder of her stepdaughter, continues. The latest suggestion is a four months' reprieve that she may nourish her twin babies, which were born since sentence was imposed.

The Justice Department, it is stated takes the ground that it is for the courts and not for the department to deal with such a request.

From present indications, however, commutation of sentence to life imprisonment would not be unlikely.

Public Utilities Self Supporting

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—That in the operation of public utilities throughout the Empire such utilities should be conducted on a self-supporting basis, and that charges for such services should be sufficient to pay for the actual cost of the service rendered, was the subject of aresolution introduced by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the session of the Empire Chambers of Commerce in Convocation Hall, and responsible for the subject of a resolution introduced resolution, Mr. Ernest P. Fredericks, of an element of local interest in the form of the Toronto Street Railway.

"This system is to be taken over shortly by the city," the speaker said, "and it will be at least two or three years before you will be able to see any improvement in the system, and I think that I can safely prophesy that the lowest fare that they will enjoy in Toronto will be four tickets for a quarter." Every business should be self-supporting, Mr. Fredericks stated and not seek Government support. There seemed to be a growing tendency on this side of the Atlantic, he said to foist a broken-down public utility on the Government to run. Seconded by William Taylor of Owen Sound the resolution was carried.

Codify Commercial Law

The desirability of codifying and assimilating Commercial Law throughout the Empire as far as possible and the enactment of uniform laws in relation to trade marks and designs was the subject of a resolution moved by Mr. A. Barton Kent of London, Eng., and seconded by Lt.-Col. Ponton of Belleville and passed by the Congress.

It was an utter impossibility for anyone to know all the laws that existed in the British Empire, Mr. Kent stated and a unifying of them would facilitate and encourage international trade.

Such a step as the resolution advocated had already been taken by Canada, Col. Ponton stated, as a commission had met in the Dominion seeking to assimilate and to unify all the laws of the Province. As we had a standard of trade, he said, so we should have a standard of law.

Mayor Takes Action To Remedy Nuisance

Many Complaints From Citizens As To Unsanitary Condition of River

The warm weather of the past few days with the refuse that is deposited in the River Moira at Corbyville has caused much discomfort to residents along the river bank and even stores by the stench emanating from the river. A large number of dead fish are also again floating down stream and are becoming lodged at the mouth of the river near the railway bridges.

This morning Mayor Riggs, owing to the numerous complaints lodged with him communicated with Mr. Hume at the Canadian Alcohol plant at Corbyville with the result that Mr. Hume stated that the company would shut down for a few days with a view to assist in remedying the nuisance that exists.

It is also alleged that the water beyond Corbyville is being dammed back for milling purposes which cause the exceedingly low water in the river at the outlet. Could this water be let off for a day it would prove a great blessing as it would have a tendency to carry off the material that is causing the trouble.

IT DIDN'T HAPPEN IN BELLEVILLE

Boston Transcript.

The usual crowd of loungers was standing around watching the process of excavation for the new building. As the great steam shovel bit into the bank and then rose with its half-cartload of earth, one of the onlookers remarked: "It makes me wild, looking at that thing taking the bread out of good men's mouths. Why, it's filling up those wagons faster than a hundred men with picks and shovels could do it."

"Shucks!" exclaimed another onlooker. "What kind of a fool argument is that? If it would be better to employ a hundred men with picks and shovels, by your way of thinking, why wouldn't it be better still to employ a thousand men with forks and teaspoons?"

Constables Killed; Dum Dum Bullets

DUBLIN, Sept. 24.—An official report issued at Dublin Castle last evening shows that the attack Wednesday on a motor lorry containing six policemen near Lahinch was more serious than previously announced. Six constables were killed while soldiers who fired on their assailants assert they saw four of them drop. The police allege that their assailants used dum-dum bullets, and that the wounded were fired upon and killed.

Reprisals By Police

London, Sept. 24.—As a reprisal for the shooting of policemen near Lahinch, says a despatch to the Central News from Lahinch, a party of uniformed men during the night set fire to eighteen houses in Milltown, Malbay, Lahinch and Ennistown. Three civilians were shot dead.

Castle Mary, the seat of Col. Longfield, dating from the reign of King John, was set on fire and destroyed by raiders last night. The raiders gave the occupants of the castle ten minutes in which to leave the building.

Chum's Loss Cause Of Girl's Suicide

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—A touching story of an overwhelming grief culminating in the news of the tragic death of her childhood friend and play mate, Olive Thomas, was revealed when Detective Jacob Feudner, of the missing persons bureau identified the body of "Elizabeth Anderson" in Bellevue Hospital as Miss Anna Daly of Chicago, a beautiful junior model, who had been employed by a Fifth Avenue modiste until a week ago.

"Elizabeth Anderson" registered at the Seville Hotel, Madison avenue and Twenty-ninth street, last Thursday night. On Saturday evening, the sign, "Do not disturb" tacked on the door of her room aroused the curiosity of a chambermaid. Inside she found the girl dying from veronal poisoning She was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where, after stubbornly refusing to tell who she was, she died on Monday morning.

Anna Daly was born in McKees Rock, Pa., home of Olive Thomas. She was petite, and had a mass of goldenred hair, large blue eyes and a clear skin.

Until last Thursday she lived with Betty Martin, of the Ziegfield Follies, at the Monterey Hotel. When Miss Martin returned to the hotel after the performance she found a tearful note from her chum, enclosing a package of letters written by a Chicago man. Miss Daly's note read:

"He doesn't love me any more; Olive is gone; I can't stand it any longer."

Miss Martin searched for her friend and on Monday called the police department before starting for Chicago. Detective Feudner answered the call.

On the centre table of the drawing room was a newspaper describing the mysterious "Elizabeth Anderson," and Miss Martin described her chum as being blue-eyed and titian-haired, five feet, two inches in height and weighing 115 pounds. The detective checked the newspaper description.

Without telling Miss Martin of his fears he went to Bellevue Hospital and found Anna L. Daly dead.

YOUNG SCHOOL GIRL SHOT AND KILLED

Sydney, N.S., Sept. 23.—Cape Breton Crown authorities have a mystery on their hands tonight in the death of Katherine Campbell, aged twelve, of New Waterford, who was shot and killed while on her way home from school yesterday afternoon. Two youths, Alex. Kopeck, 16, and Russell Clark, 14, are being held by the police, but stoutly deny any knowledge of the shooting. The Campbell girl felt ill and left school for home early, taking a short-cut through a wooded ravine along the Barrachois Brook. Half an hour later a chum found her lying dead with a bullet wound through her chest. Kopeck and Clark, who had been target-shooting in the ravine with a .22 rifle, were arrested.

AGED FARMER DROPS DEAD

Kitchener, Sept. 24.—David M. Shoemaker, a native resident of Waterloo township, dropped dead on the lawn of his home near this city yesterday. He was in his 81st year and had resided in the vicinity during his entire lifetime. He was well known in agricultural circles, and was secretary of the North Waterloo Agricultural Society for many years. He was a former member of the Municipal Councils of Waterloo township and of this city. He is survived by three sons and two daughters.

Steamer Cleared By Cutting Hawsers

Only Way Hamonic Could Get Clear of the Striking Seamen

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 24.—Forced by striking seamen to cut her hawsers at the deck winches, the big lake navigation steamer Hamonic cleared for the East at 5.10 yesterday afternoon with a full non-union crew on board, but not until nearly one hundred of the striking lake seamen for upwards of an hour hurled threats against what they termed "a scrub crew."

Lively scenes were enacted on the Canadian National Railways wharf during the afternoon. The steamer Cadillac renamed the Maplehurst was also a target for attacks, but the strikers marched to the head of the dock with the idea of forcing the strike-breaking crew of that steamer to vacate. The attempt was frustrated by the arrival of a squad of local police officials. It looked for a time as if a battle would take palce between the strikers and the police, but as the police formed a line across the dock approach the strikers hesitated. Some called out "rush 'em by," "take 'em off their feet," but only a few broke away from the mob when they saw their comrades decline to follow their steps.

Some trouble occurred when the Home Smith of the Algoma Central lines cleared from the same wharf as the other two. Four of the strikers who had taken part in the demonstration of the Cadillac and the Hamonic boarded the Home Smith in view of their comrades and signed for the trip. This raised the anger of the remaining strikers, and after many taunting remarks one of the deserters returned to the ranks.

The Home Smith cleared late last night and there was apparently no change in the strike situation. At the headquarters of the Seamens' Union no word of settlement had been received. Five boats cleared the harbor today.

British Coal Strike Has Been Deferred

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Coal miners of Great Britain will not go on strike next Monday as threatened, it developed today. As a result of the meeting between Lloyd George and the miners executive body, coal strike notices previously handed in, have been suspended for one week.

PROMOTE UNITY AMONG CANADIANS

Montreal, Sept. 23.—A definite program for stimulating the growth and promoting bonne entente between the French and English races will be drawn up at a meeting of the Canadian Unity League to be held in Montreal on Sept. 28. The meeting, at which not more than twenty-five or thirty representatives are expected, has been called at the request of the Canadian Fraternal Societies which met in Ottawa, Sept. 2 last and wished to ally themselves with some movement for a better understanding among Canadians. They appealed to the Canadian Unity League as best embodying their aims, and that society agreed to call a conference which would include representatives from the Canadian Clubs, Bonne Entente and the Fraternal Societies and reorganize the league to include these in its membership.

The president of the association, H. Gagne, K.C., has received telegrams from all over the Dominion endorsing the work of the league and a representation from Alberta and British Columbia is expected at the conference. M. Gagne himself will suggest as the first step in developing Canadian sentiment that newspapermen from every journal in the Dominion make a coast to coast tour of the country.

He states that he has the greatest faith in the press as an educator of the people and he considers that first hand information on local conditions gathered on such a tour, as well as the personal contact of the representatives of the various newspapers, would prove of inestimable value in overcoming local prejudice. The Canadian Unity League which was formed in 1917 in Ottawa particularly to foster good feeling among Canadians during the war period, is now expected to enter upon a new lease of life owing to the renewed interest in its object all over the Dominion.

Sweeping Reductions in Prices By Large Merchandise House

CHICAGO FIRMS ANNOUNCE THAT IMMEDIATE CUTS WILL BE MADE—OTHER LARGE INDUSTRIES EXPECT TO FOLLOW SUIT IN NEAR FUTURE—MAY MEAN FINAL BREAK IN HIGH COST OF LIVING.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Price reductions of from 10 to 20 per cent. in several lines of merchandise were announced here by Sears-Roebuck & Co., and Montgomery Ward & Co., two large mail order houses. "Cotton staples such as muslins, cambrics, sheetings and poplins led the list in amount of reductions. Cuts also were made in men's and women's ready-to-wear clothing and shoes.

FROM 20 TO 25 PER CENT.

Recent price reductions of from 20 to 25 per cent. announced by textile manufacturers will be reflected in the prices of men's clothing next spring. Eli Strouse, president of the National Clothing Manufacturers' Association, declared at the Association's convention.

Mr. Strouse added that "men's clothing prices cannot go down more quickly than the high cost of labor and materials," and that people must remember that "the cost of textiles is not the only factor entering into clothing prices."

Cuban Sugar Planter Wins $9,000,000 at Baccarat

HIS GAINS HAVE EARNED FOR HIM IN EUROPE THE REPUTATION OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST GAMBLER—DECLARES "OPEN BANK" AND PLUNGES FOR BIG STAKES—LADY LUCK WITH HIM.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The heaviest baccarat winnings of the century, totalling nearly $9,000,000, have been gained by Hannibal De Masa, a Cuban sugar planter. His gains have earned for him in Europe the reputation of being the world's greatest gambler.

His extraordinary run of luck started at Deauville, early in August. His gains there were $700,000. At Aix les Bains, where he gambled with increased stakes and daring out of his Deauville winnings, he increased his winnings by $2,000,000. At Biarritz he added $6,000,000 by a phenomenal string of luck.

At each table Masa adopts the unparalleled procedure of declaring "open bank," which ussually is declared for one or two special coups. He says that his brain is most clear and that he thinks fastest when gaming for big stakes.

German Finances in Bad Shape

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—Under a threat of resigning his post and thereby precipitating a crisis, Herr Wirth, Minister of Finance, yesterday not only succeeded in forcing the Cabinet to tackle the problem of the nation's tangled finances, but also obtained for himself an ascendant influence in governmental affairs. At an extraordinary session of the Cabinet, Herr Wirth presented an unvarnished analysis of Germany's financial condition, hurling billions of marks of deficits at his colleagues and charging that the wretched finances are but an expression of maladministration. Germany's total debt amounted to 242,700,000,000 marks Herr Wirth declared.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Suspend Strike Notice

London, Sept. 24.—Action was taken by Miners' Executive Body following a further conference with Lloyd George, who proposed that the basic line be fixed for coal output at a sufficiently low level to insure the wage increase if any reasonable rate of production is maintained. Miners delegates this afternoon decided to suspend strike notice one week as requested by Premier.

Soviet Want Armistice

Riga, Sept. 24.—Adolph Joffe, head of the Soviet Peace Delegation at today's session of the Russo-Polish Peace Conference proposed an armistice which he said must be accepted by the Poles within ten days or the Russian winter campaign would be inaugurated which Joffe declared the Soviet Government desired to avoid. Joffe preceeded his proposal by offering to withdraw virtually all fifteen peace points submitted at Minsk to which Poles objected. Terms eliminate practically all conditions to Sovietize Poland and make prospect of peace much brighter than hitherto.

Presidential Candidate Cox's special train leaves rails, party, badly shaken up.

Leygues is New French Premier

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—Georges Leygues, Minister of Marine in the Clemenceau Cabinet, has accepted a call to the first premiership under President Millerand's administration, it was announced today. He will likewise act as Foreign Minister.

Georges Leygues became Minister of Marine when Clemenceau formed his Cabinet in November, 1917, and served in that capacity throughout the remainder of the world conflict, contributing notably to the success of the Allies in curbing the German submarine warfare. He resigned from the ministerial office last January with the resignation of Clemenceau.

Unions Withdraw From International

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—Secession from International Trades Union organization which has been brewing in some local unions came to head last night when the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers with a membership of eleven hundred and the amalgamated meat cutters and butcher workers with a membership of fifteen hundred in local packing plants, severed their connections with the International to set up National organizations. Reasons given are alleged to include a flag incident at New Orleans Convention when it is stated, the Canadian flag was draped on the platform with stars and stripes only after a protest by Canadian delegates and the fact that several thousand dollars are annually sent over the border.

CANADIAN DEMAND FOR SHOES IS SATISFIED

Montreal, Sept. 24.—The Canadian demand for shoes has been satisfied, and the warehouses are filled up with all styles and grades which will not sell at present prices, an authority declared here today. He said there was no prospect for finding a market overseas.

Just a minute, please!

ARE you chummy with your watch?

Will it go—and keep going—where you go; will it stand jolting and banging and heat and cold and rain and dust and fog—will it be cheerful and dependable if it gets mixed up with the tools on your auto, or the fishing tackle, or the hunting outfit?

The Ingersoll Maple Leaf is a good chum, a bully pal. Usually a more expensive watch is temperamental and a bit delicate, unhappy under unusual conditions, peevish if it isn't treated tenderly.

The Maple Leaf is a hard-boiled sportsman, built for rough going, a trusty, lusty comrade you can take where you choose and know he'll keep up his end. That's the kind of a little guy he is!

And you can buy this sturdy chum for $3.25—or for $4.00—if you want his face to light up in the dark for you.

Maple Leaf, $3.25

Ingersoll

Models from $3.25 to $14.50

McFEE'S EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus. 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each
—Also
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
192 Front St. Phone 283

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

FINE CROP OF POTATOES

Farmers have started to dig their late potatoes and report that the crop is excellent. Potatoes are expected to sell this fall at $1.00 or $1.25 a bag.

CAMPBELLFORD CHEESE BOARD

At the Campbellford Cheese Board on Thursday there were 615 boxes boarded. Owing to the adverse exchange the bidding was not very brisk 25 7-16 cents being the highest bid. The salesmen refused this price on the board, but we understand several factories sold after adjournment. Mr. Cook's motion to reduce the number of boxes which buyers are compelled to select when less than 500 are boarded, from 200 to 150 was carried.

MADE BIG HAUL

On Wednesday night burglars entered the store of William Doubt, a merchant tailor, of Port Perry, and carried off $4,000 worth of goods. Entrance was made at the rear of the store, and the goods carried off in an auto. There is no clue to the burglars.

ANSWERED A CALL

At an early hour this morning the police answered a call to a residence on William street, where it was thought something was wrong but an inspection of the premises dispelled all misgivings.

VISIT FRANKFORD

On Monday evening last, a number of the Knights of the Royal Scarlet Order visited the village of Frankford and exemplified the beautiful and instructive work of the highest degree of Orangeism. Nine members were admitted into the Chapter. At the close of the meeting the Rev. W. C. in C. gave an illustrated lecture on the Scriptural foundation of the order, his address was full of definite Christian teaching and was much appreciated.

TOO MUCH WORRY OVER COAL SUPPLY

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—Much of the worrying which is being done with regard to Canada's fuel supply for the coming Winter is needless. That is the view of Hon. F. B. Carvell, Chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, under whose control coal imports and exports were placed by the Dominion Government during last session. During teh period from April 1, to September 15, 1920, Eastern Canada imported 114,658 fewer tons of anthracite, but 1,852,065 more tons of bituminous coal than in the same period of last year, and as conditions on the other side of the International boundary are improving so the imports of coal are increasing. Since the oBard of Railway Commissioners took charge of the fuel situation the imports daily have been more than arebled.

WAS HEAD-ON COLLISION

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—An investigation by C.P.R. officials into the cause of the wreck of the Imperial Limited at Alfred, shortly after midnight this morning is proceeding. It is now definitely stated that the cause of the wreck was not a derailment, but a head-on collision between a C.P.R. flyer and a freight train which had over-run a siding and got on the main track again, just before the flyer came along.

"JOKED" ABOUT POLICE WISHED HE HADN'T

Brantford, Sept. 24.—Joseph Dutton, accused of making false statements about the police in saying they were being bribed to overlook breaches of the Temperance Act, was acquitted by the jury on pleading that he was joking and that his auditors knew he wasn't talking seriously. Judge Kelly let him go after a reprimand.

The prosecution was the first case of the kind in Ontario and the second in the Dominion.

Examine

our stock of Aluminum ware, Pyrex and Nickel Plated ware; also plumbing goods. They will please you.

DIAMOND & HYDE
Agents for the famous
HAPPY THOUGHT RANGES
Phone 38.

GREEDY WHITE GRUBS

Larvae of the Big May Beetle or "June Bug."

Wireworms Come From the Click Beetle—Rotation of Crops Best Remedies for These Insect Pests—Cider Making.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

WHITE grubs are the larvae of the large dark brown May beetles, or "June Bugs," as they are commonly called, which are familiar to everyone. The grubs breed for the most part in old pastures where the sod has not been broken up for some years. When fully grown they are thick, fat creatures, white in color, with the body partially curled up and the last segments of a darker hue from the food showing through the skin. They feed on the roots of the grass, and when this has been ploughed up they attack whatever plant may be grown. Three years are spent underground, then the beetles appear, often in great swarms, in the early summer and devour the tender foliage of trees and shrubs. After buzzing about in the early evening they settle down to feed and when daylight comes they hide away underground where the soil is loose and under grass or rubbish about fences and buildings.

The grubs, being underground feeders, are very difficult to control. A great variety of experiments have been made with chemicals of many sorts, but none has proved successful. The only method of control is the adoption of a system of rotation of crops. No field should be left in grass for more than three years. An old pasture, when broken up, is often found to be full of these grubs and they will attack the roots of any plants that are sown in place of their ordinary food which has been removed. Corn and potatoes will suffer severely, but clover is least affected by them and may be seeded down with rye. After the second year any crop will usually be safe. Deep ploughing in October before the weather becomes cold will expose the grubs and destroy many. Pigs and poultry, crows and other birds and skunks greedily devour them. Where an old field is large it would be well to confine them with hurdles to a small portion at a time, and when that is cleared move them on to a fresh feeding ground.

Wireworms are the larvae of Click beetles, so called from their curious habit of springing up in the air with a "click" when laid upon their backs. The beetles are long and narrow, rounded above, with very short legs, and usually dull gray or black in color. The grubs are long and round, with a very hard skin, from which they get their name of Wireworms, and yellow or whitish in color. Their life history is very similar to that of the White Grubs, as they thrive in old pastures and take two or three years to mature. They feed upon the roots of any plants that may be grown where they are, and are especially injurious to corn and potatoes, in the latter of which they often burrow great holes. As in the case of the White Grubs, no treatment of the soil with poisons of any kind has been found effective. There is a prevalent idea that salt will kill them, but this is an entire mistake. The only remedy is a short rotation of crops, as in the case of White Grubs. Ploughing in August and cross-ploughing in September will destroy great numbers. Clean cultivation, leaving no weeds or other shelter for the beetles, in fence corners and elsewhere is also of importance.

Break up the old pastures is the advice all farmers should follow.—Dr. C. J. S. Bethune, O. A. College, Guelph.

Cider Making.

Sweet cider is unfermented apple juice and hard cider is fermented apple juice. To get the juice the apples are either crushed or ground in a cider mill and the juice expressed from the pulp.

The fermentation of apple juice, or any other fruit juice, is brought about by the development in it of yeast. Yeast cells are microscopic plants invisible to the naked eye and are always present on the surface of fruit. When the fruit is crushed to get the juice many of these cells get into the juice, and if these are not destroyed they will induce fermentation.

Consequently, in the manufacture of sweet cider we must destroy the yeast cells that are present and prevent others from getting in. The surest way of doing this is to pasteurize the juice immediately after it is obtained from the fruit and store away in well-sealed containers. In the case of cider the pasteurization process means heating the juice to 170 degrees F. for ten minutes and then filling into containers that have been scalded and can be tightly corked. Care should be taken not to let the temperature get above 170 degrees F. during pasteurization or the character of the juice will be injured. The juice is then stored away at a low temperature to allow it to clear.

Hard cider is produced by allowing the fresh apple juice to fement in the cask. The fermentation is naturally induced by the activities of the yeast cells that get into the juice from the surface of the apples. As, however, there are various kinds of yeast cells and also many mold spores liable to be on the fruit which may injure the quality of the cider, spoiling the flavor, it is a good plan to control the the fermentation either by first pasteurizing the juice and then adding a good yeast to the raw juice as soon as obtained from the apples. The addition of this good yeast will hasten the desired fermentation and check the mold development.

The best temperature for fermentation is 75 degrees F.—Prof. D. H. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

* * *

Weston juniors won the O.A.L.A. district title by beating Shelburne 5 to 4.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Drama

(What the Press Agents Say)

"EXPERIENCE"

The most popular play in America, "Experience" will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest.

"Experience" is now in its seventh sensationally successful season both bigger and better than ever. The managers have provided sumptuous new scenery, costumes of the latest styles —the ladies' gowns in particular being imported Paris and London models that have not yet been seen even in New York. The company includes many of the old favorites and a number of en-coming youngsters. There is no "chorus" in "Experience," but every one of the forty-eight female parts is played by a girl of youth, beauty and talent that would win a place in the front row of any Broadway exposition of feminine pulchritude. In fact, most of them have graduated from F. Ray Comstock's pretty Little Princess Theatre or Morris Gest's gorgeous Century Grove.

Nobody who has not seen "Experience" should miss seeing it and those who have will be glad of this opportunity to revive pleasant memories and refresh in their minds the wonderful lessons this play teaches through spectacular and dramatic scenes and vivid characters.

"Experience" returns to Griffin's Opera House next Wednesday night, September 29th for one night only.

PRICES COMING DOWN BUT DECLINE GRADUAL

Toronto, Sept. 24.—"There is every evidence of a decline in prices," said one of Canada's leading bankers, "but in my opinion it will be gradual. I think every Government is making an effort to have any decline come in a gradual way without any considerable shock to a nation's activities.

Asked what effect Ford's action in returning to pre-war priced for automobiles would have, he replied: "It is an advertising scheme as much as anything. I don't think his action will have any effect on the general market. The Ford automobile is something apart from anything else.

"There is no doubt about the general trend of prices downward. Wheat, woollens, cottons, hides and other commodities are all on the downward trend. Many people have cut down their buying. You find men who are having their suits turned instead of buying new clothes. We have more goods in stock than a year ago. In another year it will be better still. Despite the unrest in Europe, the countries are producing some, and all production helps. I venture to say that in another year from now the cost of living will be much lower than it is at this moment.

"The people of the world will have to turn seriously to work. We have not been serious enough about the situation since the war was over. If the Russian situation ever gets straightened out, it will help by production in that country."

Eyes of Youth Fascinating Play

Clara Kimball Young and Notable Cast in Gripping Mystery Play

One of the most interesting casts assembled for a picture this season surround Clara Kimball Young in her big production, "Eyes of Youth" shown at Griffin's last night. The cast has been selected from the very highest ranks of both stage and screen and there is hardly a bit in the production that is not being played by an artist of star qualities.

Miss Young is playing the role of Gina Ashling, which was created in the New York production, one of the most sensational successes of the season, by Marjorie Rambeau.

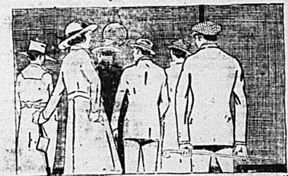
One of the really big parts of the picture is that of Paolo Salvo, the Italian impressario, who inveigles Gina into accompanying him to Europe for an operatic career. The distinguished actor, William Courtleigh, has been secured for this role, while Gareth Hughes plays the role of Kenneth Ashling, the brother, and Edmund Lowe, a favorite of both the stage and screen in New York and throughout the country, is playing the part of Peter, the successful suitor. The mysterious and particularly colorful character of the Hindu Yogi that weaves itself through the play, giving an air of the mysterious of the orient, is taken by Frank Serrano, while Pauline Starke, recently appearing with Norman Kerry in "Soldiers of Fortune" plays the role of Rita Ashling, Gina's younger sister. Sam Sothern, Ralph Lewis and Milton Sills have the other featured characters of this production.

"Pilgrims," an interesting Outing Chester Travelogue, John Cumberland in a 2-reel comedy and Charles Hutchison in "The Whirlwind" serial are also being shown on the same program.

GRAIN NOTES.

Those who have followed the markets will have noticed the sensational advances and declines in grain during the last few weeks. In fact the changes have been as much as 10c. per bushel in a day. The Judge Jones Milling Company get direct markets many times a day from Chicago and Winnipeg exchanges and although the declines have been many they have been able to pay on an average of $2.45 per bushel for good wheat according to quality. The last few days they have been paying $2.45 to $2.50 for some grades. Future prices will, of course, be based on market conditions and may be higher or lower.

They always have latest and highest market prices and it will pay you to get their quotations before buying or selling. They stand for service and your co-operation will mutually benefit both buyer and seller. If you do not care to sell your grain now you can sell to them at any time that is convenient to you. 23-2td



Watch Our Windows

They will interest you.

Make a practice of inspecting the merchandise which we display in our windows from time to time. Very often you will find articles which you need. In fact, by "window shopping" here, you will be given many opportunities to secure articles which are necessities in every home.

Come in to see us at any time and go through our store at your leisure. Carefully examine our goods. Notice the exceptional high quality of every article and the care with which each has been selected for your approval.

DOYLES DRUG STORE

SINCLAIR'S

The Tailored Suit

—as usual, finds a high place in the Autumn styles. It will not be severe, but dignified by simplicity. For practical wear the Tailored Suit is bound to give satisfaction. Other styles are in many cases trimmed with fur on collar and cuffs, or are richly embroidered. Prices commence at $35.00

Coats for Wee Tots

Children, of course, must be kept warmly clothed during the chilly days. Here are some well made Coats of White Corduroy and Bearskin, and lined throughout. They will be found warm and serviceable. Priced .... $4.00 and $5.00

BLOUSES

NEW, DIFFERENT AND CHARMING.

Fashion will have her own sweet way when it comes to Blouses. Refusin gto be held to one style, one sleeve length or one particular color, she insists on great variety; and accordingly presents hosts of Blouses in Georgette, Satins, Crepe de Chine and Taffeta. Navy, brown and beaver are given prominence. In Silk from $2.65 to $12. In Georgette and Crepe de Chine from .... $4.50 up

Time for Knitted Underwear

The first chill usually brings the early cold that stays around all winter. "An ounce of prevention"—is merely the buying of the proper Knit Underwear, to have it ready when the first chilly morning suggests it. Here are nice new, comfortably made, perfect kinds, and at surprisingly reasonable prices.

NEW GLOVES.

Don't let the effect of your new Autumn Outfit be spoiled by a pair of old Gloves. Here are Silk and Chamoisette Gloves in the very newest styles, and in colors to harmonize with every costume. Priced from $1.00 pair up.

Velveteens for Autumn Wear

Fashion again names Velvets for fashionable Fall Dresses, and here you can find them lovely in tone and finish. They are all stamped "Worrall's"—a name that means perfection of color and fabric. Two specially good ranges are 45 inches wide at $5.00 and 27 inches wide at $2.50. Others as low as $1.25 yard.

CORD GIRDLES
One of these new Cord Girdles will smarten up your Frock, more than any other touch you can add. Shown in black and colors from $1.50 up.

NEW NECKWEAR
A bit of fresh Neckwear on a Frock or Suit will keep it looking smart and new. Here are Collars and Vestees in great variety.

SINCLAIR'S

S.A. CITADEL
ON PINNACLE STREET

Salvation Army Campaign Opens Monday Sept. 27
$4,000 is Needed to Complete Repairs

Work is now in progress, a thorough renovation.

The building will look like new inside and out.

Everybody give when the canvasser calls, please be liberal.

Adjt. I. CAVENDER, Commanding Officer, 90 Mill Street.
B. W. BROWN, Treasurer, 4 Bridge St. E.

DR. BELL'S PRESCRIPTIONS FOR THE STOMACH. For Sale at DOYLE'S DRUG STOR

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 237 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 18 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.80; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.80; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $5.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added

DEMOCRATS DON'T GROW ON CASTLE HILL.

Castle Hill is a village in Maine containing one hundred and one voters. At the recent State election one hundred voted Republican and one Democratic, which leads the Chairman of the Republican National Committee to exclaim that "the postmaster seems to have stood firm."

A similar incident occurred in a French-Canadian village in New Ontario at a provincial election when Regulation 17 was seemingly the chief and only issue in the contest as far as the French-Canadian voters were concerned. The Government in power was Conservative and supposedly Conservative election officials were sent to take the vote in a remote French-Canadian settlement.

When the ballots were counted not a single, solitary Conservative vote was recorded ,and the deputy returning officer and poll clerk have been suspected ever since of having been asleep at the switch or asphyxiated by the antagonistic atmosphere to Regulation 17.

FIRE DANGERS OF ELECTRIC IRONS

An electric iron left turned on . . Two stores and a cottage completely destroyed.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Electrical appliances in the home are of great convenience, but they are, at the same time, a fire danger. Familiarity with their use breeds carelessness, which has resulted in heavy fire losses. From reports received by fire marshals, these are rapidly increasing.

From tests it has been found that fire will break out in from 15 to 90 minutes when the electric iron is left in circuit on a table or ironing board, the time interval depending upon the surface material.

Many devices have been invented to make electric irons fire-safe. Unfortunately, however, price has been a ruling factor in the sale of this convenience, with the result that cheapness necessarily eliminates the safety attachments. In the absence of public regulation requiring their use, there is little hope of their general adoption. Until the enforcement of legislation requiring fire-safe attachments on all electrically-heated appliances, freedom from fires due to this cause must, therefore, depend upon educating the public to a recognition of the danger.—Conservation.

AGITATORS WORK FOR ANGLO-AMERICAN WAR

In an editorial utterance in the London Observer, J. L. Garvin says:

"The Irish question is the pivot of the world's politics in its effect on Anglo-American relations and consequent evil reaction on nearly all ther relations. It disturbs Canada. It has become quite the ugliest actor of Australian affairs. It inflames India. The Bolshevists flaunt , while Germany exploits it. The American press is poisoned with alse news, which is grossly one-sided exaggeration. Green anarchy, nd especially the senselessly prolonged drama in Brixton jail, feeds nti-British propaganda everywhere.

"Let us speak plainly to all Irish parties, and to American interrers whose good intentions and promises pave Satan's palace with the sual material. These well meaning meddlers are doing nothing but uddle every effort for Irish peace and are unconsciously but directly romoting crime, total ruin, and internal rupture within Ireland. They olate the ordinary courtesies reserved for international intercourse in manner, which if imitated in other countries, would smash the world.

Their Ultimate Aim.

"No sane human doubts that an Anglo-American war, toward which ese sinister instigators in the United States are deliberately driving, ould let loose twenty parallel wars on Europe and Asia with a complete nashing of the world. England is now loaded with trouble, largely inrred like the American debt in the interest of other people, and she may t be perfect in American eyes. She is not perfect in her own, but still it the nearest thing to a staunch friend the United States possesses."

CRISP COMMENT

Travelling by truck seems to be a precarious mode of transportation for hn Barleycorn these days, judging from seizures made. John may be dead, t his funeral seems to be unduly prolonged.

× × ×

The smell from the river Moira in its present state of low water is aner argument in favor of controlling dams to prevent the spring floods and rmit an even flow of water all the year. The Moira at this season of the ar is a pestilential open sewer of stagnant disease-breeding pools.

× × ×

The verdict of Colchester and St. John's seems to be distinctly against free trade faddists, who would rather see Canadian factories going to the ited States than United States factories coming to Canada.

× × ×

Those engineers at Pittsburg who objected to the British flag having minence in their convention hall must be a queer lot. In Canada the rs and Stripes are displayed on all possible occasions without any demontions of lack of affection for our brothers across the line. Do the engins forget that the British flag in the North Sea backed by Britain's might t the German battle fleet bottled up and protected the United States st cities from attack? Do they so soon forget that one million soldier s bearing U.S.A. on their uniforms crossed the sea safely in British ships ler the Union Jack? Do they forget that the world over the Union Jack nds for liberty and justice?

× × ×

The Brockville Recorder rejoices in the fact that "we were able to change clocks the other day without having to pay the income or any other tax."

× × ×

The directors of the Kingston exhibition will insure the fair against rain. ensburg collected rain insurance this year, thus overcoming a potential cit.—Kingston Whig.

× × ×

Here is the way the Baltimore Sun explains it: The reason an article s $10 more is because the material in it now costs thirteen cents more and labor nine cents more.

× × ×

According to the New York World, Senator Harding's substitute for the gue of Nations has been sunk without warning by Elihu Root, who not torpedoed it, but shelled the survivors. Root, Taft and many another blican support President Wilson's policy.

× × ×

A Red Cross worker, just returned from Europe, says that 11,000,000 orns are crying for food. These little ones are the helpless sufferers in the e of the war. The United States by joining the League of Nations might to avert wars that always impose such burdens of suffering on innocent children.

OTHER VIEWS

Those Brave Leaders
Kitchener Record

The elections in the Maritime provinces were fought without the assistance of either Mr. King or Mr. Crerar.

Fine Business
Hamilton Herald (Ind.)

Board of Commerce is denounced by the Farmers' Sun for arising freight rates and also for questioning the right of milk-producers to boost the price of milk. What the Sun should do is to start an agitation in favor of a law providing that none but farmers shall be allowed to demand more for things that people want to buy.

Ugly Villages
Toronto Globe

A discussion of the ugliness of Canadian village and small-town buildings may do a lot of good. There is plenty of room for improvement. But to pretend that there is beauty in British village building as a general rule is ridiculous. There is nothing uglier anywhere than the mining villages of the North of England and the South of Scotland.

A Sound Position
Guelph Herald

No fault can be found with the position adopted by Hon. Arthur Meighen on the tariff question, when he declares he is in favor of such a degree of protection as will enable the country's industries to be successful, but that would not unduly enrich them at the expense of the Canadian people.

If the opponents of the Ottawa government have any better proposal with regard to the tariff than that proposed by Premier Meighen they should come out with it. Canadians generally cannot see where anything more reasonable can be suggested.

The Individualists.
New York Globe

If revolution ever comes in this country it will be over some tangible grievance, like the tax on tea or the slavery traffic, not for a general and comprehensive scheme to make the world better. We are not a revoluting people. We care a lot about what hurts us, but we do not really care much about theories and institutions except as they affect us particularly. We may tak for or against the constitution or the single tax, but what we really care about is whether or not the world treats us right according to the rules of the game that actually prevail.

POET'S CORNER

IN THE COOL OF THE EVENING

In the cool of the evening when the low sweet whispers waken,
When the laborers turn them home ward, and the weary have their will,
When the censers of the roses o'er the forest aisles are shaken,
Is it but the wind that cometh o'er
the far green hill?

For they say 'tis but the sunset winds that wander through the heather,
Rustle all the meadow grass and bend the dewy fern;
They say 'tis but the winds that bow
the reeds in prayer together,
And fill the shaken pods with fire
along the shadowy burn.

In the beauty of the twilight, in the Garden that He loveth,
They have veiled His lovely vesture with the darkness of a name!
Through His Garden, through His garden, it is but the wind that moveth,
No more! But O the miracle, the miracle is the same.

In the cool of the evening, when the sky is an old story,
Slowly dying, but, remembered, aye and loved with passion still
Hush! .. .. .. the fringes of His garment in the fading golden glory
Softly rustling as He cometh o'er
the far green hill.

—Alfred Noyes.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Well Known

"He knows all the best people is town."

"Then why doesn't he associate with them?"

"They know him."

His Wouldn't Do

"What views of the hotel would you advise me to have published?"

"Not mine," murmured the disgruntled guest. "My views wouldn't be fit for publication."

Glad She Does

"How you can stand your wife's spending her time at club and suffrage meetings beats me. If I were you I'd tell her she should be home doing the cooking."

"I'll be hanged if you would, if you knew what kind of a cook she is."

One Consolation

An Irishman had squeezed himself into a seat in the car between two fat women and presently began wriggling about.

"I'm afraid you are not very comfortable?" commented one of the passengers.

"Well," responded the man. "I haven't much room to grumble."

Women of Canada Testify

Dacre, Ont.:—"I am more than pleased with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was run-down and so nervous that I could not even stay in the house alone in the day-time and tried every kind of medicine I heard of but got no result. One of my friends advised me to take 'Favorite Prescription,' said that it would cure me, and it did. After taking four bottles I felt like a new woman and it is also the very best medicine for a woman bringing up a family. I will recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to any one suffering like I did."—MRS. JOSEPH BEAUDRY, R. R. 2.

WEAK AND NERVOUS

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription an excellent medicine for the ailments of women. I had become very weak and nervous. I was just miserable when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and it proved most beneficial. It so completely restored me to health that I have never had any return of this ailment. I do advise the use of 'Favorite Prescription' by women who suffer with womanly trouble."—MRS. GEO. WALKER, P. O. Box 400.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root and Oregon grape root. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine were injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it, in liquid or tablet form.

WE WILL TELL YOU

—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.

Phone DAY 531

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

All Should Know It!

BOYS BOOT BARGAINS

Follow the Crowd Saturday

Gorman's BOOT SHOP

Shop with the Crowd Saturday

WONDERFUL! WONDERFUL BARGAINS!

Mothers Bring the Boys In Fathers Br!ng ths Boys In

M—— M—— F— T— F—

GREAT BARGAINS

Boys Youths Little Gents

High Grade Boots

Let Nothing Keep You Away Saturday

Money Refunded Goods Exchanged

S. J. Fisher, Auctioneer

WILL SELL AS FOLLOWS:

Wm. Maine, farm stock, implements and household effects, Sept. 23, on Lot 27, Con. 2, Thurlow Twp.

Miss Minnie Adams, household effects, Sept. 28, at No. 12 Cedar Street, Belleville.

P. L. Shorey, farm stock, Oct. 13th, Lot 13, Con. 3, Thurlow Twp. For particulars see posters, or phone 168, S. J. Fisher, 19 Campbell St.

Arthur McGie

MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

DEVELOPING PRINTING
ENLARGING

ANSCO
Cameras and Films.

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

HENRY FORD SAYS: "DOWN GO CARS"

HOLMES & MURDOFF SAY: "DOWN GO SHOES!"

Yes, DOWN --- DOWN --- DOWN Goes

SHOES

Greatest buy of the season
Men's HIGH CLASS SHOES at $6.00 pr

Having been in a position to secure 400 pairs of Men's High Grade Goodyear Welt Shoes, in Black and Mahogany Leather, new recede toes, at a very remarkable price, we are offering the complete lot, all sizes, at the ridiculous price of $6.00. It is actually $1.00 below the cost to manufacture these goods and means a

Saving of $3.00 to $4.00 pair

Women's Black Kid Oxfords, wing tip, heavy double soles. All sizes $5.95

Boys' School Boots of black durable leather. Sizes 11, 12, 13. Only $2.45

Just 39 pairs Women's High Cut Black Kid Walking Boots, all sizes, wing tip, recede toe $6.95
(We Can Fit You Correctly)

CLASSIC FOOTWEAR for INFANTS $2.35 & $3.00

HOLMES & MURDOFF
SHOE SPECIALISTS
BELLEVILLE TRENTON

KORKER SHOES for all the KIDDIES $3.00 to $6.00

Canada's Overseas Trade is $2,351,000,000

Sea-borne $1,046,000,000
Land-borne $1,305,000,000

More than half this land-borne trade is ultimately sea-borne—but in Foreign Ships.

Every pound of Canadian products shipped from a port outside Canadian territory retards our maritime growth, weakens our national prosperity and places control of a part of our sea-borne commerce in the hands of a competitive nation.

The Navy League of Canada.

Sports

HOME AND HOME GAMES WITH PETERBORO

The management of the G. T. R. baseball club have just completed arrangements with the Peterborough club for a home and home series of games to determine the long-standing argument as to which team is playing the better ball this season.

G. T. R. players are to journey to Peterborough to play the first game on Saturday, and Peterborough comes here on Wednesday next to play the return game. Everyone who turns up at the Fair Grounds next Wednesday will see what will probably be the best game of the season. Peterborough will have their strongest team on because they have still to play off with western Ontario for the Ontario championship. Belleville will certainly see that they have their best line-up, because they want to beat their old rivals.

All G. T. R. players are requested to be at the C. N. R. station to take the 7.50 a.m. train to Peterborough Saturday morning.

BASEBALL SCANDAL.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Bancroft Johnson, President of the American League admitted last night that he had heard statements that the White Sox would not dare to win the 1920 pennant because the managers of a gambling syndicate, alleged to have certain players in their power, had forbidden it." Coming at a time when Chicago and Cleveland are locked in a struggle for the flag, the statement caused a sensation.

Announcement was made at the State Attorney's office, following adjournment for the day of the Grand Jury investigating the baseball scandal, that Mr. Johnson will be recalled to the jury room to tell what he knows of such a plot, if one exists. If the reports can be corroborated a new and dangerous kind of blackmail will have been exposed, it was declared.

Players' Pay Held Up.

President Johnson also admitted knowledge of the holding up of the salary checks of eight Sox players following the 1919 World Series. He said three, Gandil, Cicotte and McMullin, had asked his assistance in obtaining their money from Charles A. Comiskey, President of the Sox.

BROCKVILLE RACE RESULTS.

Brockville, Sept. 23.—The following are the results of the races at Brockville Fair today.

2.25 pace; stake $1,000.

Justo the Great, P. Giffin, Brockville	1	1	1
Robert C., Payette, Penetang	2	2	3
Eileen F., Sheppard, Pembroke	3	3	2

Time—2.16¼, 2.16½, 2.20.

2.17 Trott and Pace; purse $400.

Fred Hall, J. H. Findlay, Braeside	1	1	1
Steve Ayers, W. McDonald, Ottawa	2	3	3
Ripple Audubon, S. Athens, Hollingsworth	3	2	4
Tropic Dawn, John Kincaid, Russell	4	4	2

Time—2.16½, 2.17¼, 2.17½.

Classified Trot and Pace, purse $300.

Lloyd George, Wilson, Merrickville	1	1	1
Queen Forester, George Caldwell, Cardinal	2	2	3
Dell Pointer, B. Hutton, Smith's Falls	3	3	2
Mollie M., George Pepper, Toledo	4	4	4

Time—2.19¾, 2.20, 2.22.

School Girl in Athletic Sports

Public School Athletic League Will Have Girls Branch

When the Public School Athletic League was organized on Tuesday afternoon, it was decided that a committee be selected from the lady teachers of the various schools to arrange events suitable for the girls. This was speedily done and on Thursday afternoon the ladies met in the Y.M.C.A. parlor to arrange for the coming Field Day.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and Mr. Keeber lead in a discussion for the arranging of the affair.

It was thought that the weights selected for the boys were too high for the girls and as a result new classes were drafted as follows:

Class I—40-60 lbs.; Class II—61-80 lbs.; Class III—81-100 lbs.; Class IV—over 100 lbs.

The following is the list of events for the girls:

Class I—35 yds. dash, Potato Race (3 potatoes); Egg and Spoon race.

Class II—50 yds. dash, Potato Race, (4 potatoes); Egg and Spoon race.

Class III—75 yds. dash, Potato Race Throwing the base ball; Three-legged race.

Class IV—100 yds. dash; Potato Race; Throwing the base ball; Three-legged race.

Open events—Relay race.

The points obtained by the different winners of prizes in each class will be as follows:

Five points considered for 1st prize; three points for 2nd prize; and one point for 3rd prize. The points obtained by both girls and boys are to be taken together in estimating the winning school.

The following officials were appointed for the girls' events for field day:

Referee—Miss Lounsberry of Grier Street School.

ar1ADtvba-.fl 7f z50ye , 13 a

Judges—1st prize—Miss Mills of Queen Mary School; 2nd prize—Miss Roberts of Queen Victoria School; 3rd prize—Miss Jones of Queen Alexandria School.

Clerk of the Course—Miss Gastrell of Grier Street School.

Assistant Clerks of the Course—Miss Minns, Queen Mary School; Miss Ross, Queen Alexandra; Miss Feck, Queen Victoria; Miss Fleming, Grier Street School.

The amount of enthusiasm shown at the meeting speaks well for the lady teachers who have the work of training the girls during the preliminary tests and certainly ensures a good day of sports for them on the Field Day.

Have Beauty Without Effort

Let Stuart's Calcium Wafers Do the Work to Rid Your Face of Pimples and Such Blemishes

Instead of those futile efforts of steaming the face massage, creams, lotions, etc., that have brought only disappointment, suppose you leave it to the wonderful action of calcium.

There is but one way to remove pimples, blackheads, and such blemishes—through the blood and skin. In Stuart's Calcium Wafers, taken at meals, the wonderful calcium serves to supply the blood with one of the most remarkable actions known to science. This is its activity in keeping firm the tiny fibres that compose even such minute muscles as those which control the slightest change of expression. It is this substance which acts upon the skin, keeps it healthy and drives away impurities. Get a 60-cent box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers at any drug store.

CONFER 33RD DEGREE RANK ON BIG MASONIC CLASS

Chicago Sept. 23—One hundred and eighty Masons, the largest class in history last night received the 33rd degree rank in an elaborate ceremony at Oriental Conservatory. Among the men who were thus elevated to the peak of Masonry are a number of men of national prominence including Gen. Charles King, U.S.A., retired; William Cameron Sproul, Governor of Pennsylvania; J. M. Leaman, Adjutant-General U.S.A., Pennsylvania; Admiral Reynolds, Thomas Hall, U.S.N.; Chas. Summer Burch, Bishop of New York and Bishop Welch of India.

Griffin's Theatre, Wed., Sept. 29

F. RAY COMSTOCK AND MORRIS GEST PRESENT
The One Big Dramatic Sensation of This Day and Generation

EXPERIENCE

Bigger and Better this year than ever before
Elaborate Scenic Effects—New Costumes
Endorsed by the Clergy—from Coast to Coast

Seat Sale Opens at Theatre Box Office 10 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 28th.
PRICES—50c., 75c., $1.00, $1.50, $2.00.

BROGUES for Men and Women

Men's Brogues
selected stock
$12.00

Women's Brogues
Oxfords Black and Brown
$9, $10, $11

Special Clearing

40 pairs Women's Kid Boots - $4.85
48 pr. Women's Grey Boots, Louis Heels regular $12.00, clearing - - $7.95

ADAMS The Shoeman

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER GRIFFIN

Tonight and Sat.
Matinee Saturday, 2.30

Clara Kimball Young
in "EYES OF YOUTH"

3—Other Quality Plays—3

COMING MONDAY—WILLIAM S. HART and ANNA LITTLE in "SQUARE DEAL SANDERSON"

PALACE

TONIGHT AND SATURDAY
VISIT THE DAILY MATINEE

RUTH ROLAND
in
The Adventures of Ruth

H. B. Warner
in
"A FUGITIVE FROM MATRIMONY"

TOM MIX COMEDY
PATHE NEWS

Buy at Davies' This Week.
And Count the Money You Save

Finest Quality TEA 46c per pound
Get Your Winter Supply

Sweet Pickled Hocks - - - - -	per lb. 12 1-2c
Breakfast Bacon (Greatly reduced) by the piece, per lb. -	58c
Smoked Back Bacon by the piece, per pound - -	63c
Smoked Roll Bacon, per pound - - - - -	43c
Pure Lard, very choice, per pound - - - -	33c
Peerless Shortning, per pound - - - - -	32c
Finest Creamery Butter, per pound - - - -	68c

Try Our Home-Made Sausages
Fresh Daily 25c, 32c and 35c per lb.

BEEF REDUCTIONS

SHOULDER ROAST	22c.	PRIME RIBS	30c.
BLADE ROAST	25c.	ROUND STEAK	35c.
THICK RIBS	27c.	BONELESS POT ROASTS	23c.
CHOICE RIB STEW	20c.	FRESH HAMBURG STEAK	25c.

SPRING LAMB

LEGS LAMB	42c.	FRONTS LAMB	32c.
LOINS LAMB	40c.	STEW LAMB	28c.

Fresh Pork Now in Season

5000 Large Cans Salmon - - -	2 for 35c
5000 Flat Cans Salmon - - -	2 for 25c
3000 Large Cans Red Salmon - - -	35c each
3000 Flat Cans Red Salmon - - -	15c each
5,000 Cans Sardines in oil - - -	3 for 25c

THE WILLIAM DAVIES CO. LIMITED
225 FRONT STREET
PHONE 286

KROCH BROS. LADIES' APPAREL KROCH BROS

NEW ARRIVALS OF
Autumn Suits, Coats and Dresse
FOR LADIES AND MISSES

Duvetyn and Bolivia Cloth Coats in beautiful shades. With and without fur collars
$45 to $125

Other Coats in beautiful materials ranging from $19.50 up.

See our complete stock for autumn and winter wear

'Quality Styles

Reasonable Prices

Satisfactio

Dainty Serg and Tricotin Dresses at very reasonab
prices

Wool Pullovers
Latest in mod
$3.50 to $8.5

KROCH BROS. 301 Fron

Fall Suits and Coats

of Superb Style and Excellent Quality

A WONDERFUL SHOWING OF NEW FALL STYLES IN THE LATEST MODELS.

NEW SUITS—in Velour, specially priced at $55.00 and $58.50

NEW COATS in Velour, Silvertone, Tweeds, Plush, etc., specially priced at .... $35.00 to $110.00

KIDDIE SWEATERS.—We have just placed in stock a big shipment of Children's Pullover Sweaters. Just the garment for cool weather. Priced at $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50

ENGLISH FLANNELETTES.—A big assortment of English Striped Flannelette. Special values at 45c., 50c. and 60c.

EARLE & COOK CO.

WE SELL McCALL PATTERNS.
McCALL'S FASHIONS ARE HERE

Autumn Footwear

Ladies and Men, we invite your inspection of our

New Fall Shoes

as our lines are complete in every detail, and the greatest variety of styles and different kinds of leather can be seen at the

Leslie Shoe Store

PHONE 553.
SEE SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Misses & Young Ladies Fur Sets

If you are needing a Fur for the chilly evenings, call in and take a look around our stock. We have a nice assortment of MISSES' and YOUNG LADIES' sets cut from the choicest skins and fashioned on the very latest designs.

We would especially recommend you to see our sets in
JAPANESE CROSS FOX, BADGER
AUSTRALIAN AND AMERICAN OPOSSUM, GREY SQUIRREL.

The price you will find reasonable, being from $35.00 per set up

DELANEY

Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
17 Campbell Street.
PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE

CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY

PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

REPAIRING CITADEL

The Salvation Army renovation campaign is now on and will be in full swing on Monday, September 27th, when canvassers will call for your donation. The condition of the S. A. Citadel on Pinnacle street is an eye sore to those who pass it by as well as to those who come inside, what can be expected after thirty years without very much repairs. The Citadel is having a thorough renovation at a cost of $4,000.00 and when complete will look like new. While the Salvation Army people are willing to give what they can, they can't put the scheme over without the assistance of the general public. They are therefore making an appeal and hope to meet with a generous response. The renovation is now in progress and the money is needed.

STIRLING FAIR

A number from the city and vicinity were today in attendance at Stirling Fair. The G.W.V.A. band of this city was present and furnished an excellent programme of music.

LOST AN EYE

Mr. David Keith of this city, a machinist in the employ of the Marsh Engineering Works here on Tuesday met with an accident which resulted in the loss of his left eye. He was engaged in hammering a piece of steel when a small particle of the metal broke off and imbedded itself in his eye. Every effort was made to save the optic but without success and today it was removed.

HIT BY STRAY BULLET

While in the war trophy tent at the Toronto Exhibition, Mr. Gerald Marth of Picton received a stray bullet from next tent, entering his leg and breaking a small bone about two inches above the ankle. Last account received he was doing nicely but will be obliged to go on crutches for several weeks yet.

PAINFULLY INJURED

Whilst threshing at his barn near Colborne on Tuesday, Mr. Edward Farrow met with a painful accident After shifting the blower, he jumped to the floor of the straw shed, the floor giving away with him and letting him fall a distance of about seventeen feet, breaking his hip and otherwise injuring him.

THAT WHISKY CARGO.

The Hamilton hotelman mentioned in connection with the seizure of a motor truck and 200 cases of whiskey at Belleville, denied positively that he knew anything about the shipment. Stanley L. Cruickshank and John Teacher, the men in charge of the truck, are unknown to the Hamilton police.

STRUCK BY STEAM SHOVEL.

While working at the plant of the Edwardsburg Starch Co., Cardinal, Raymond Walters sustained serious injuries when he was struck by a swinging steam shovel. When taken to Brockville for treatment an examination showed that he was badly crushed in the chest and abdomen. Five ribs were broken by the blow.

SAILOR SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Peter Derochie, an employee of the steamer Vinemount, in drydock at the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co.'s plant, at Kingston, was the victim of a serious accident yesterday. He fell from the deck into the hold and landed on a concrete floor, sustaining internal in addition to bruises and shock.

CHIEF ELECTION OFFICER

A M. Dymond, Law Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, formerly of Belleville has been oppointed Chief Election Officer for the Province under the legislation passed by the House last session. In that capacity Mr. Dymond will have wide responsibilities in connection with the holding of elections, practically the whole election machinery being under his direction. His first task will be the by-election in Northeast Toronto.

LARGE POTATOES

Mr. M. J. Callaghan, (residing on south Albert street, whilst digging his potatoes uncovered one which weighed 2 pounds, 10 ounces. He also had another which weighed 2 lbs., 6 ozs.

Social And Personal

Major and Mrs. Coates and family sailed for Scotland on the Aquatania on September 21st.

Miss Howden, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Wilmot, left yesterday for Detroit.

Mrs. G. W. Bauder left yesterday for her home in Marinette, Wis., after spending some time with relatives in the city.

BIRTH

BISHOF—In Belleville, September 23, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Bishop, a son. 1td

Popular Little Girl Well Again

Alice Bouchard is Wonderfully Benefited by Tanlac, States Mother

A statement which will be read with interest throughout the Province of Quebec was made recently by Mrs. Joseph Bouchard, of 1131 Ethel, Verdun, a suburb of Montreal, concerning the benefit her daughter Alice had derived from the use of Tanlac.

Alice Bouchard was the young lady, who, at the big Pageant on June 24, impersonated Marguerite Bourgeois in the tableaux representing the founder of the Ladies of the Congregation of Montreal teaching Indian girls and the children of the early settlers.

"Alice had been in poor health for a long time and had indigestion so bad there was little that she could eat without suffering great distress," said Mrs. Bouchard. "After eating she complained as though she had swallowed a stone and so much gas would form on her stomach she could hardly breathe. She often lay awake for hours at night feeling like she was going to choke. She was constipated and had frightful headaches. She had little or no appetite, became very thin and her complexion was bad. She complained of feeling weak all the time and we thought she would have to take to her bed altogether.

"A neighbor told us about Tanlac and we got some for Alice. She now has an excellent appetite and can eat anything without having indigestion afterwards. She sleeps well at night, has gained in weight and feels better in every way.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nauseau, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Wedding Bells

DOYLE—AHEARN

At the Roman Catholic Church at Smith's Falls, a wedding of local interest took place yesterday morning when Mr. William J. Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Doyle of this city and Miss Mary Irene Ahearn of Smith's Falls was united in marriage by Rev. Father Kelley. Mr. C. C. St. Charles of Belleville was groomsman and Miss M. Ryan of Renfrew, was bridesmaid. Little Miss Gene Dickens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dickens of this city was flower girl. High Mass was celebrated after the marriage ceremony, the singing being superb. At the conclusion of the church service, the wedding party repaired to the residence of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of. The bride was a former teacher in the Ontario School for the Deaf here, whilst the groom is a popular young business man of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle left for a trip to New York Atlantic City and Washington, and upon their return will reside here. The gifts to the bride were many and beautiful. The guests from Belleville were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Doyle and three daughters, Misses Annie, Alice and Babe, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dickens Mr. Terry and Chas. F. Dolan, Misses K. Diamond, F. Curry, S. Bonisteel, R. Jordon, H. McDonald, Mrs. Boylis and Mr. C. C. St. Charles. The numerous friends of the contracting partis will wish for them every happiness and prosperity.

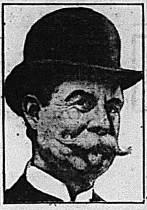
◆

The Physical Department of the local Y.M.C.A. is doingk all it can to foster Athletics. Saturday, commencing at 1.30 p.m. the physical director will be at the Fair Grounds to coach in the various events scheduled for the first Public School Athletic Championships to be held on the 13th of October. Also the High School boys will be out in full force, as there is more interest taken in the Local High School meet this year than ever before. The events to-morrow afternoon for coaching will be the Starts for Sprints, Shot-put, Relay racing, etc.

Sir Thomas Lipton Has His Yacht in Readiness For Great Racing Event

THERE has been an interval of seventeen years (elapsed time) since the last race for the America's Cup, but this summer Sir Thomas Lipton is to make another effort to win what is probably the most cherished sporting trophy in the world. He was all set to take a fly at it in 1914, when the war broke out, and ever since then his yacht, Shamrock IV., has been docked in New York. She is now said to be in first-class condition, having been overhauled. In one important respect she was amended, for her old bow was removed and another bow built in England was grafted on. So accurately was the new bow built that a coat of paint would conceal the joint. Captain William P. Burton, her skipper, and Charles E. Nicholson, her designer, have confidence that this time the Shamrock will win, but they say that if she doesn't Sir Thomas Lipton will build another boat and take another whirl at what has become the chief aim of his career. The cup will be defended by either the Vanitie or the Resolute.

Of recent years yacht racing has somewhat declined in popularity, but the international rivalry for the America's Cup has not waned. This is due chiefly to the indomitable pluck of the sporting Irish baronet.



SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

He has made three efforts to do what it is claimed is virtually impossible. In no other sporting event is the legal adage about possession being nine points out of ten so marked as with regard to the cup. For instance, the provision that the challenger has to cross the ocean under her own sail has been considered almost an insuperable obstacle, for to face the rough Atlantic she had to be so stoutly built that she could hardly hope to match the frail racing machines that she faced on this side of the water. In recent years the fight has been between Lipton and all the United States. No other person was building challengers, but there have always been two or three defenders from which the New York Yacht Club could make a selection. If in face of these and other obstacles Sir Thomas Lipton should succeed, even good sporting Americans will give him a hearty cheer.

The idea back of the handicapping, of course, is to determine which vessel has the smartest crew. If the yachts are made practically equal through a system of time allowances, the yacht that wins will be the yacht that has been the best handled. The idea of the yacht designers is to beat the handicappers. That is to say, they try to get a huge spread of sail upon a boat of a small water line, or moderate sail spread upon a boat of great power. This has resulted in the creation of freak vessels, and applies to practically all the yachts that have competed for the America's Cup in the past thirty years. They are virtually useless for anything but racing. They could not stand up for a long cruise. They are as devoid of luxuries and comforts as a racing motor car. They cost a fortune to build and after they are raced they are often scrapped and sold for junk. Moreover, when the cup is won, it must be defended. Should Sir Thomas Lipton win it, he must be prepared next year or the year after to build another yach to defend it or keep the winner in racing condition. If he chooses not to do so, the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, which he represents, will have to build a defender or else tamely permit the New York Yacht Club to claim the trophy.

A race itself is usually not spectacular, nor vastly exciting, except to the enthusiasts and experts who follow the racers over their course. This course may consist of two stretches of fifteen miles, or three legs of ten miles each, in which case it is obvious that those on the shore will not see very much. Unless one craft outclasses the other, or unless they are racing side by side, it is almost impossible to say which is in the lead. Then sometimes a calm falls and neither yacht is able to complete the course within the allotted time, in which case the race is called off for the day. Perhaps the most exciting moment is at the start with each skipper trying to cross the line at exactly the second that the starting gun is fired. Should he get across a second too soon, he must turn back, and since the start must be made definitely by a certain time, it is possible that extra eagerness may cost a couple of minutes. There is also the jockeying for position in which each skipper may try to blanket his rival, getting the advantage of the breeze himself and depriving his competitor of it.

◆

Miss Sterling, United States champion, and Miss Ada MacKenzie, Canadian champion survived the second round in the women's national championships yesterday. The semi-finals will be played today.

A Silver-like Finish—

There is a silver-like finish for radiators, stove and water pipes in

RAMSAY'S ALUMINUM PAINT

"Save the surface and you save all"

J. W. WALKER - - - HARDWARE.

Footwear of Special Merit

The more particular a woman is in regard to the sort of shoes she wears, the more she will enjoy seeing the new styles we are showing for Fall.

EVERY WOMAN'S SHOE is a masterpiece of expert Shoemaker's Skill.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.

Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.

SATURDAY BARGAINS

Ladies' Vests and Drawers 89c

Just the proper weight for Fall and early Winter, in white or natural. All shades. Special .... 89c. garment

Children's Vests and Drawers 65c

An exceptional value in heavy weight vests and drawers. Priced as follows:
Size 18—65c. Size 20—65c. Size 22—70c. Size 24—75c.
Size 26—80c. Sizes 28 to 32—$1.00.

Ladies' Heavy Black Hose 75c pr.

Black only and a splendid Fall weight in heavy cotton with cashmere finish. All sizes. Saturday .... 75c. pair

LADIES SUITS $37.50 to $90.00

LADIES SUITS $30.00 to $95.00

Wottens Limit'd

LADIES' WEAR STORE

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

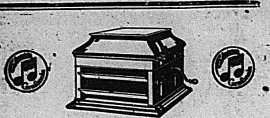
Imlah & Armstrong

MANAGERS

BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.

UNDERTAKERS

14 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment



Prolongs the Pleasure

The moment of all moments to enjoy beautiful music to the full comes between the last strains of a selection and the outburst of applause.

The Non-Set Automatic Stop, found exclusively in the Grafonola, gives you that measureless moment of pleasure. Without setting, it automatically stops the motor when the music is finished, regardless of the record's length.

Come in and hear how you can use that exquisite moment to fully savor all the sweetness of the Grafonola's music.

LINDSAY'S 249 Front Belleville

C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 5 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—2,000 ACRE RANCH AT EGAN Creek Siding, 15 miles south of Bancroft, along railway. 100 acres of work land, 75 acres now sown to rye. Wire fenced. Good buildings, machinery. Apply to N. A. R. Green, Coe Hill. s24-4td

FOR SALE—WHITE SILK AND SILVER evening dress, size 36, never been worn, also embroidered scarf, at a reasonable price. Call at 143 West Bridge St. 24-2td

FOR SALE—FIRE-PLACE SET — SCREEN, basket, tongs, shovel and poker, in wrought iron finish. Apply 3 Moira Street east. s24-2td

FOR SALE—NEW SEVEN ROOM HOUSE —cellar, cistern, electric wired. Three minutes walk from Front St. Apply 402 Front Street. Price right. s24-6td

FOR SALE—THREE HOUSES IN GOOD localities—Fifteen hundred, Thirty-five hundred, and Forty-five hundred. Apply 271 Albert St., or Phone 900. s24-6td

FOR SALE—ONE FOUR ROOM COTTAGE with large lot; also one seven room house with large summer kitchen on one and three-quarters acres of land, on MacDonald Ave., north of Victoria Ave. Apply on premises. Township taxes. s23 6t

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 353 Front Street. a6-dtf

FOR SALE—210 STATION STREET, EIGHT roomed house, electric light, water inside. Large barn and garden. Price reasonable. Apply W. Parry, 225 Station St. s22-4td

FOR SALE—SMALL FARM, NINE ACRES, mostly in apples and small fruit, just outside city limits, 9 roomed house, with hot air furnace, good well and cistern. Will sell house separate. If not sold by October 1st will rent. Apply G. D. Gratton, R.R. 3, Belleville. s21-6td

FOR SALE—DOHERTY PLAYER PIANO and 40 rolls. Apply N. Carlett, N. Park St., Belleville. s21-6td

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. s18-12td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—GIRL FOR KITCHEN WORK; also girl for ice cream parlor. Apply Boston Cafe, 245 Front Street. 1td

WANTED—EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHER, capable of keeping set of books. Address replies to Box "H," The Intelligencer. s24-4td

GIRL WANTED FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. Wages $20 per month. Apply Mrs. Wm. Burrowes, 243 East Bridge St. Phone 343. s23-2td

WANTED—A GOOD PLAIN COOK, GENERAL. No laundry work. Highest wages to capable person with references. Apply 161 S. Albert Street. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED — CAPABLE COOK-GENERAL, for family of three. No washing. Wages $36 per month. References required. Address Box "V," Intelligencer Office, Belleville, stating capabilities, age and references. All replies will be considered confidential. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED AT HOTEL QUINTE, A LAUNDRESS; also a bell boy. s21-4t

TWO EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES wanted by The Ritchie Co., Limited. s21-4td

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dtf

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

TO LET.

TO LET—HOUSE: MODERN BRICK, 7 rooms; 81 W. Bridge St. Apply 75 W. Bridge St. Possession Oct. 1st. s21-4td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s20-12td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 869. a14-dtf

WANTED.

WANTED—TWO FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED rooms, with or without board. Apply to Mrs. J. W. Johnson, 259 Charles St. Phone 859. s23-tfd

WANTED, FOR LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING, by young couple, 3 or 4 unfurnished rooms with all conveniences. Apply Box "5," Intelligencer. s21-4td

WANTED BY YOUNG BUSINESS MAN—one or two furnished or unfurnished rooms in private home. Box "G," Intelligencer. s21-4td

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G, Toronto. stt—s30

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—YOUNG MAN AS APPRENTICE. Apply by letter in own handwriting, to Ostrom's Drug Store—"The Best in Drugs."

WANTED—PRESSMAN — DUPLEX PRESS and jobbers; also linotype operator. Apply immediately. Intelligencer Office, Belleville. s23-3td

WANTED — GOOD SMART BOY WITH plenty of snap, to learn the barber business. Good opportunity for good wages. Apply E. George, Front Street, Belleville. s23-2td

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day of evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o2

MEN OF EXCEPTIONAL RELIABILITY, whole or part time, to sell the greatest industrial sickness and accident Insurance policy in Canada. Also to make Monthly collections. Highest commissions paid. Apply THE PROVIDENT, 1109-10 C. P. R. Building, Toronto. s15-10td

WANTED — A BOY TO LEARN THE printing trade. Apply The Intelligencer Office. s20-dtf

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR Shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge. s20-dtf

FOUND

FOUND—ON SEPT. 9TH ON 5TH CON. SIDney, a lady's gold watch. Owner may have same by proving property and paying for advt. John Hinchliffe, R. R. 2, Belleville. s23-2td,1tw

FOUND—BRINDLE BULL DOG, FEMALE. Owner may obtain same at 84 Gordon St., or phone 922, by identifying and paying for advertisement. s24-2td

LOST

LOST—BOSTON BULL PUP, A WEEK AGO yesterday. Finder please phone 1255. Reward. 1td

TELEGRAPH LINES UNDER ONE HEAD

The jurisdiction of Geo. D. Perry, general manager of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company has been extended over the telegraph lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway with headquarters at Toronto, according to an announcement made by D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railways.

The announcement follows the decision of the government to place the management of the Grand Trunk Pacific under the control of the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways.

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

SPECIAL PRICES

Of good Crawford peaches. On account of the enormous large crop, peaches are running smaller than usual. Fresh car in every day. Get our prices before buying. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge Street, opp. P.O. Phone 520. s20-6td

You will enjoy the cool evenings of September with a few new dance records. Ask to hear these:

In Sweet September (fox trot) A2959.
Happy (one step) A2963.
Frogs Legs (fox trot) A2925.
Tell Me Little Gipsy (fox trot) A2972.
In the Gloaming (waltz) A2970.

C. W. Lindsay, Limited

Hear Henry Burr's latest song, "Down the Trail to Home Sweet Home," coupled with the tenor solo "The Love Nest," by Frank Crumit. A2973.—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

You are invited to hear the following Player Rolls at C. W. Lindsay, Limited:

Fifth Nocturn Story Roll.
One Fleeting Hour (song).
Paderewski Menuet.
Let the Rest of the World Go By (waltz).

—C. W. Lindsay, Limited

If you like comic records don't miss hearing "Oh Mother, I'm Wild" A2865 sung by Jack Kaufan.—C. W. Lindsay Limited.

The Salvation Army will occupy the Palace Theatre on Sundays while the citadel is under renovation. Dr. A. Oaten of Toronto will preach on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Special music and song. 23-2td

SATURDAY IS RECORD DAY — AND ALL THE LATEST RECORDS WILL BE PLAYED AT C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED. Bring your friends and come and hear the latest popular songs, dance pieces, comic, jigs and reels, sacred, overtures and songs by Columbia's best artists. C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED.

Hear the "Love Nest," from Mary—A2973, sung by Frank Crumit.—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Night School Classes will begin for the Fall term on Tuesday Evening, October 5th, 1920, in the Belleville High School. Enrolment will begin on Monday evening, October 4th, at 8 o'clock. s24-2td

SHIPYARDS ARE OPEN TO ALL BUT TRAITORS

Belfast, Sept. 24.—A decision which the Lord Mayor of Belfast describes as most important to the future of the city was made when, after a conference between the directors and every trade employed on Queen's Island, the shipyard men announced:

"We will work with any workers, irrespective of religion, putting them on their honr that they are not associated with the Sinn eFin or any other disloyal organization.

School Girls

Edmonton Has Freak Railway

IT'S a railway that just simply wouldn't seem to behave. What would you do with a railway like that?

One day quiet and steady as a frozen river, the next, rocky and groggy as the ice in spring—one day drowsily asleep in the sunshine, the next, up-ending itself in some mad prank.

With "The Road That Wouldn't Behave" it is the unexpected that happens. When some months ago it rolled over upon its side and went to sleep, keeping a distinguished judicial party, hastening home for a court appointment, stalled for days with nothing to do but admire the scenery, everybody—but the party—laughed. They started with one engine, they ended the trip hauled by four, which says something for the weight of the law.

Its trains run so far behind schedule that the Man in the Street says the trainmen are supplied with calendars instead of watches. Its rolling stock is so erratic that there is a story told of one train that went off the rails nine times in seventeen miles. Its employes get the highest wages paid by any road, because only so can they be tempted to remain.

For months its management has been "fed up" with its responsibility and has been seeking someone courageous enough to shoulder the mischievous burden. One after another proved cautious and untempted, but now success has crowned its efforts, and a new era has begun.

For, with all this, the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway is a good road. It has not been kept to the point of highest efficiency, its rolling stock is woefully in need of additions and repairs, and its roadbed needs attention. Yet it is a road with tremendous possibilities. At its birth its roadway was well chosen and well built, but it is a colonizing road, and like most such have done, it is now passing through its time of stress and trial.

It was started in 1913, and continued under various conditions during the war. It runs northwest from Edmonton to the B.C. boundary, 411 miles, and is designed to serve the great Peace River country. At this date 357 miles of the main line are under operation, with a branch, fifty miles long, from Spirit River to Grand Prairie, and another fifty-mile branch, known as the Central of Canada railway, north from McLennan to Peace River. The line is planned to run northerly to Fort Vermilion, and westerly to near Dunvegan.

The present mileage, while still inadequate, makes possible the transportation of crops from the Peace River country, as the service is augmented by boat transportation of the Peace River, which is navigable for 650 miles.

The principal towns along the line are Peace River, Spirit River, Sexsmith, Clairmont, Grand Prairie, and Westlock, 52 miles from Edmonton. These towns have shown quite remarkable progress since the inception of the road, and the trend of emigration has been very heavy. Last year's crop was about five million bushels of mixed cereals, and there are about 60,000 head of cattle in the Peace River country, with a population of thirty-five or forty thousand people.

The climate is surprising. The favorable conditions for the growth of all mixed cereals is due partially to the frequent chinook winds during the winter; a very reliable rainfall during summer; and also to the particularly long hours of daylight. The sun shines sixteen or seventeen hours during the long days, and daylight last for twenty-one hours.

The Peace River country is essentially fitted for mixed farming, and will raise anything from radishes to No. 1 hard wheat. The country is well watered, although in some places far away from rivers, deep wells are needed. The soil is particularly heavy, and will stand many years of working before artificial fertilizing becomes necessary.

Near the British Columbia boundary is a large deposit of high-grade semi-anthracite coal; the large lakes abound in delicious fish; large tracts are covered with marketable timber, and everywhere the natural beauty of the country is unsurpassed.

Just now there is much activity in the search for oil, and developments already completed point to its undoubted existence in large quantities. Gas, too, occurs in a variety of places, and the natural outlet for fur from this part of the north country—the figures of which run to a very substantial sum—is along this line.

When a railroad, working under the great handicap of last year's conditions, carried into Edmonton, 797 carloads of lumber, 154 cars of slabs, 496 of ties, 417 of wheat, 1,278 of hay, 227 of cattle, 30 of horses, 134 of hogs, 30 of sheep, 482 of oats, 213 of coal, and many carloads of other things, besides large quantities of supplies into the north country, some idea is revealed of its future, when its rolling stock and equipment are adequate to its requirements, and the country becomes settled and over its pioneering days. What its future may be if oil, etc., are found as expected, cannot be imagined.

Ontario benefits through this railway, far away though it be, as in 1919 of the 90 carloads of fish shipped from Lesser Slave Lake, part were shipped to Ontario's capital city.

There is no doubt whatever, that now the C.P.R. has taken it over, the E. D. & B. C. Ry. ere long will become one of the biggest business-getters in that coterie of "near-railways" already taken over and absorbed by the great transcontinental systems.

The Chicago White Sox narrowed Cleveland's lead to half a game by winning yesterday.

"Babe" Burkhart, under suspension by the Interprovincial Football Union will play for the Parkdale O.R.F.U. senior team.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

NEW GOODS At Wallbridge & Clarke's

at WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S
Robertson's Scotch Marmalade
Clover Leaf Salmon
Bird's Custard Powder
New Gulf Lobster
Strained Honey—5 & 10 lb. tins.
Asparagus Tips
Canadian Peas
Buckwheat Flour
Candied Ginger—½ lb. tins
Demolco Molasses
Cinnamon Sticks (fine quality) pkgs 5c
Gusto
Force
H—O—Oats
Chloride Lime—10 & 15c. boxes
New Fancy Biscuits—
Oatcakes, Shortbreads
Chocolate Biscuits, etc.
Crosse & Blackwell's Pickles—
Walnuts, Chow-Chow, etc.
Lea & Perrins' Sauce
Libby's Baked Beans, tins, 20c.

Fried Cakes

We are again making these ever popular old fashioned cakes.

30c. a dozen.

GET SOME TODAY!

CHAS. S. CLAPP

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Glasses That Enrich Life

Some folks have an idea that glasses are a nuisance to wear. They put off wearing them because they think glasses will be a bother.

That impression is wholly wrong, for glasses which are properly made and fitted are wonderfully welcome to wear.

Being made with extreme care, personal attention given to each detail, Blackburn glasses enrich life. They refresh and strengthen the eyes, protect and preserve sight, and end the physical and nervous distress caused by eye strain.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

SINCE 1870 SHILOH 30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS

RITCHIE'S

Saturday Specials

EXTRA! SPECIAL! EXTRA!

For Saturday only we will offer you your choice of our complete stock of $1.25 Silk Gloves—"Kayser Make" — in shades of BLACK WHITE
GREY
CHAMPAGNE
The approved Glove for Fall wear. Full range of sizes. Reg. price $1.25.
FOR SATURDAY ONLY
95c. pair.

Flannels and Delaines 79c yard

Seven pieces striped Flannels and Delaines, 30 inches wide, English make. Worth regular $1.25. On sale .... 79c. yard

$4.50 Gabardines $3.00 yard

48-Inch All Wool Gabardine in Navy, Copen, Brown and Black. Regular $4.50. Saturday special .... $3.00 yard

White Wool Blankets

A very special offer:—White Wool Blankets, size 66x80—Blue and Pink borders. On sale .... $10.00 pair
See these Blankets!

Children's White Flannelette Gowns

FLANNELETTE NIGHT GOWNS for ages 2 and 4 years. Made of good heavy flannelette; well made and perfect fitting garments. Regular $1.00. Saturday only .... 79c.

CHILDREN'S SWEATERS

For 6, 8, 10 years, in shades of Grey, Cardinal, Corn, Saxe, etc. Reg. value $2.00. Saturday special . . $1.59

Men's Hats

Men's Soft Hats, genuine fur felts, manufactured by Christy's of London, Eng., in shades of Reseda, Green, Olive, Steel and Brown. Regular value $8.00. Saturday special $5.00

Men's Underweor

Men's Wool Underwear, suitable for cool weather coming on — Shirts and Drawers, in sizes 36 to 42. Reg. value $2.00. Saturday special $1.38

LADIES' FALL SUITS

We are showing a splendid suit at $60.00 in Navy and Black Gabardine. Coat finger-tip length, convertible collar, narrow belt, tastefully embroidered, well lined.
Other suits ranging to $190.00.

Ladies' and Misses' Coats

A plain range to choose from, plain and fur trimmed, in Velour, Silvertone, Jersey, Bolivia, Duvetyn, in Brown, Beaver, Fawn, Navy and Black.

$25.00 to $189.00

Special range for Misses, in 14 and 16 years, stylish and well made, $27.50 to $55.00.

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa,

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa ronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed . . .	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed . . .	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed . . .	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed . . .	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERB

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Pet
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.0
Passenger .	5.40 p.m.	8.1

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Pet
Mixed . . .	11.00 a.m.	8.2
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.0

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

THE WEATHER

Light winds, fair and warm.
Sunday—Moderate to fresh southeast to south winds, fair and warm.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, [illegible].

Startling Charges Made in Baseball Probe

INDICTMENTS BASED ON CHARGES TO DEFRAUD—SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO BACK THE CHARGES — MANY PROMINENT MEN INVOLVED — CHARGE OF ATTEMPTING TO FIX WORLD SERIES.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Indictments based on charges of conspiracy to defraud may be the rule of Cook County grand jury's investigation of alleged crookedness by ball players in last year's World's Series, it was indicated today by H. Brigam, foreman of the jury.

There seems to be more than sufficient evidence to support the charges, Brigam declared.

In connection with Brigam's announcement that Arnold Rothstein, turfman, had been subpoenaed, it was learned today that President B. B. Johnson, of the American League, has been in New York for two days investigating reports involving New York men in the alleged plan to "fix" last year's series so that Cincinnati would win and enable gamblers "on the inside" to win large sums.

Masons Welcome Notable Visitors

All Parts of the Empire Represented at the Gathering

TORONTO, Sept. 25—What was probably the largest gathering of exalted members of the Masonic Craft ever seen in Toronto assembled at the special convocation of Grand Lodge at the Masonic Temple, Yonge Street, Thursday night, to welcome and honor the distinguished brethren from Great Britain and the overseas Dominions who have been attending the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire. Including Lord Desborough, P.G.J.W. of the Grand Lodge of England, there were a score of Grand Officers of the Craft guests of the Grand Lodge of Canada Thursday night. They came from all parts of the Empire and were accorded the honors due their exalted rank.

Grand Lodge was formally opened by M.W. Bro. F. W. Harcourt, K.C., Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, who was assisted by the officers. After the visitors had been received and felicitations exchanged, R. W. Bros. Lord Desborough, Stanley Machin and A. Cecil Powell, of the Grand Lodge of England, and R.W. Bro. J. H. Sterling, of Antrim, P.G.L., were made honorary members of the Grand Lodge of Canada with the rank of G.J.W.

The fourth degree which followed was on a most elaborate scale. The big auditorium which was converted into a dining hall was profusely decorated with palms, ferns, flowers and Autumnal foliage. The toast list was commendably short. Bro. Sir Allen Aylesworth, K.C., in his address warmly advocated the cultivation of more cordial relations with the people of Quebec. After honors had been accorded "the King," M.W. Bro. W. R. White, of Pembroke proposed "The Visiting Grand Lodges of the Empire" which were responded to by R. W. Bros. Lord Desborough and Jas. H. Stirling in a very humorous manner. Sir Allan Aylesworth proposed the toast of "The Empire and the Craft," and gave an historical review of the growth of the Empire. V. M. Bro. Stanley Machin P.G.T. of England, W. Bro. Bernard Sudgen, G.J.W., of West Yorkshire, and V. M. Bro. Col. Ponton K.C., of Belleville, Ont., responded.

A splendid musical program was rendered by a quartette and visiting artists under the direction of Bros. Chas. Leslie.

In addition to the present Grand Lodge officers and the majority of the I.P.G.O.'s, the following members of the craft were noticed:—Sir William Hearst, H. H. Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., Hon. W. D. McPherson, Mr. Justice Hodgins, Mr. Justice Sutherland, Mr. Justice Masten, V. W. Bro. J. O'Connor, Kenneth J. Dunstan, F. W. Inwood, E. T. Malone, K.C., A. J. Young, Henry T. Smith, R. W. Clewlo and the presiding officers of the majority of the City Lodges and R. A. Chapters.

* * *

FLOATING HOTEL FOR WINDSOR

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 24.—To relieve the acute lack of hotel accommodation in the border cities, a movement is under way to maintain a floating hotel, which will open immediately the navigation season ceases. President Bourke, of the Great Lakes Transportation Company, who has been approached by members of the Border Chamber of Commerce, declares his willingness to moor one of the company's vessels where it would be easily accessible to travellers.

Murder Mystery in Los Angeles

Wealthy Man's Body Found Buried In Cellar of His Home

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 25.—Bringing to light another murder mystery, the body of Jacob Charles Denton, a wealthy retired mining man was found buried in a subterranean room of the cellar of his palatial residence in South Catalina Street. The body, which was badly decomposed, was bound with ropes and wrapped in a bedroom comforter and a sheet of canvas. The skull had been crushed.

Denton had been mysteriously missing since June 2 last. His body was found by Attorney R. M. Blodgett and Private Detective A. J. Cody, who have been searching for Denton at the insistence of relatives.

Robbery apparently was the motive for the crime.

Doctor Shot Himself And May Die

Was being sued, it is said on note, and to face O.T.A. Charge.

LONDON, ONT., Sept. 23.—Dr. Roy J. Farmer, of 41 Princess avenue, who shot himself early before midnight last night, is in a very critical condition in St. Joseph's hospital, and it is impossible at the present time to say whether he will recover or not.

Dr. Farmer, it is stated, was being sued for $2,500 and $661.96 interest, with costs the amount of a promissory note said to have been made out in favor of Dorothy Dooley Cardiff South Wales. A writ had been filed in the Supreme court by Ivy Elliot and Ivy, solicitors for Miss Dooley.

The plaintiff claims that Dr. Farmer drew up a note in her favor more than five years ago for $2,500 and interest at 4 per cent. The note, which was to have run for a period of five years, is now overdue. As the money, seemingly was not forthcoming, action was entered in the Supreme Court. It is understood that the writ was served on the defendant on Wednesday.

Dr. Farmer has two bullet wounds near the heart. An X-ray picture was taken during the night with a view to locating the bullets but is was unsatisfactory and another will be made shortly.

Dr. Farmer is said to have told Dr. Tew that he was cleaning a revolver and the weapon accidently discharged He was to have appeared in Police Court this morning to answer three of violating the Ontario Temperance Act, which provides that a physician must not supply a patient with a greater quantity of liquor than the law allows. Dr. Farmer is a veteran of the great war.

* * *

W. G. FRISBY SECRETARY MOTHERS' PENSION BOARD

Capt. W. G. Frisby, school teacher, of Toronto, has been appointed Secretary of the Mothers' Pension Board of Ontario at a salary of $3,000 a year. The Board had 106 applications, according to Rev. Peter Bryce, the chairman. He said yesterday that he thought they had secured the right man for the post. Capt. Frisby is 31 years of age. He went overseas with the 198th Battalion and was on the staff of the Khaki University. His work at York street School has been

* * *

There were sensational developments in the inquiry at Chicago into alleged betting on major league baseball games.

Germans Have no Love For Allies

Demonstration Of Joy When Allied Commission Left

Flags of the old German Empire, not those of the German Republic, were raised over Allenstein, East Prussia, when the Inter-Allied Control Commission, which for six months had been the high government of East Prussia, packed up and left recently on special trains for Paris.

The authority of the commission ceased at eight o'clock at night and on the minute the German flags were raised.

Up at the high school, across the street from the building where the commission was quartered the schoolmaster gathered his pupils and made a speech, in which he said this was a great moment for Prussia, which at last was out from under the yoke of the conqueror. Above his head as he spoke, the black, white and red colors of the old empire fluttered, but nowhere was there a flag of the German republic. At the conclusion of his speech the master ordered three "hochs" which were given lustily and then the children, with their eyes steadily upon the teacher, sang 'Deutschland Uber Allies.' A few Germans who had listened to the schoolmaster joined in the song.

Fly Old Flag

Some prominent citizens were asked why there were no flags of the German republic.

"We are Prussians and conservatives," they said, "and have not accommodated ourselves to the new regime. The flag of the republic is the flag of a sect. We will fly the old flag."

While evidently bitter toward the Berlin government they felt their duty lay in ignoring it as far as possible officially and to have little to do with it personally.

On the eve of the departure of the commission, crowds stood for hours in the streets and the station square in a silence so ominous that some inter-Allied officers interpreted it as the prelude to a serious demonstration.

Slammed the Mayor

The only violence, however, occurred on the steps of the station where Mayor Vladimir Zejgert, who had been ordered out of Allenstein by the commission, was received upon his return from Konigsburg, where he had spent his exile. A reception committee of the more conservative citizens with whom the Mayor was very popular was receiving him with great formality when a young German communist stepped up and knocked the Mayor down. It was a knock-out blow and the reception committee ordered a stretcher upon which the Mayor was carried to his home. The assailant was not arrested and the incident caused no comment among the crowds.

On the outskirts of the town a few communists attacked a reichwehr officer and badly used him. In another section a few shots were exchanged between communists and security police but the communists dispersed and there were no casualties.

When the blue automobiles carrying the personnel and property of the commission went roaring toward the station the crowds gave way, sometimes sullenly, but hardly a word was spoken. Here and there a German hat was raised to an officer in an automobile and the acknowledgement returned.

In the hotels there were many hand shakings between the British and the Germans and the personal servants of the British said their dejected goodbyes, some of them weeping. Many of the officers declared they really were sorry to leave for their work had been pleasant and the people friendly. The French against whom the sentiment was frankly hostile, held few leave-takings.

A number of German girls kissed some of the officers goodbye at the station and waved them a long farewell.

Major Schoenberg, head of the East Prussian security police, did not take the communists efforts seriously. He said there were only four hundred communists in Allenstein and while all of them possessed guns their names were known and they could always be controlled by the police. His office had the names of virtually all radicals in East Prussia, he said, except in some of the border towns where there is considerable commerce with the Bolsheviki. In his opinion the police could handle any situation brought about by the East Prussian radicals.

Utopian Lunch Room Described

Lunch Room at Montreal High School Went Through Scholastic Year With $9.84 Surplus.

MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—A story of eating room, where prices have practically not gone up since the war is told in a report to H. J. Silver, secretary-superintendent of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners. The report is by Mona T. Watson Brown, manager of the Montreal High School Lunch Rooms, and tells the story of what economy and co-operation can do towards filling the inner boy at small prices and then having a surplus at the end of the year's operations.

The average price of meals is 14.2 cents, and the meals are apparently good, judging by the statement of ingredients which go to make them up.

For the year of 1919-1920, the receipts were $13,520.17, of which the scholars spent $12,834.36 at lunch time, $355.37 in emergency feeding at recess and $330.44 for special suppers, evidently gala nights when the hockey teams win matches. There were 89,890 paid lunches in all.

Surplus of $9.84.

The expenditure was kept within the limit of receipts, the net surplus being $9.84. This is the first time in the six years of its operation that the lunch room has shown a surplus, and the report expresses rejoicings thereat, but it is noted that the favorable balance was obtained entirely before the end of March, when it was $500, since which time the lunch room operations have been conducted at a loss, bringing the surplus down to $9.84, indicating that the winter months are the best feeding time for High School boys. The high cost of living, however is also blamed, the manager remarking that the drop is due to the highly increased cost of foodstuffs, and the issue before the board is whether the selling prices should be increased. The report reminds the trustees that, with the exception of an additional sum of one cent per helping on the price of butter, salads, desserts, cake and tea, the lunch room charges are those of pre-war days. The attention of the trustees to the problem is solicited, and the matter is being considered.

Labor unrest has affected the lunch room, the report notes. It is not a question of working hours, wages, or treatment, but simply the restless spirit and general discontent which seems prevalent in all domestic and semi-domestic work, says the manager.

In addition to feeding the pupils of the school, the lunch room serves other purposes, as for example, it is noted that during the year the usual instruction has been given to the Macdonald College graduating class in household administration, and a lengthy and detailed description of equipment and methods in use in the lunch room was sent to the Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Stamps to be Used After November 1

OTTAWA, Sept. 25—Stamps will be used from Nov. 1 in the collection of the excise taxes imposed on sales of luxuries by the budget legislation of the past session of the Dominion Parliament. Arrangements for the introduction of the new method of collection are being completed by the Customs and Inland Revenue Department. Stamps are being printed and perforating machines for their cancellation are being prepared for distribution free of charge to merchants dealing in taxable commodities.

From the luxury taxes the Dominion derived a revenue of $6,000,000 last month. Still larger returns are expected in months to come. Investigations by Inland Revenue officers have disclosed cases of deliberate evasion of the tax law and cases of non-compliance due to ignorance of the provisions of the statute. In a score of cases of deliberate evasion, it is understood, prosecutions are being initiated. Thirty auditors were recently appointed to check returns of tax collections in various sections of the country.

* * *

MONEY-RAISING RECORD

Montreal, Sept. 25.—The Kiwanis Club gave a demonstration of speed in securing money for philanthropic purposes yesterday when at their weekly luncheon they raised the sum of $20,000 at the rate of $1,000 a minute, to be used for the installation of proper hospital equipment at the Boys' Farm and Industrial School, Shawbridge.

British Capitalists To Invest In Canada

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, Sept. 25—There are hundreds of thousands of pounds of British capital being held awaiting favorable opportunities for investment in Canada and these funds will be sent across the Atlantic as soon as the exchange problem has righted itself sufficiently to appeal to British investors according to J. A. Robb, M.P., for Huntingdon, Que., who has recently returned from a trip to Great Britain. High taxes being placed on idle capital in Britain are responsible for desire to invest in Canada, Mr. Robb stated, saying that it would be necessary for Canada to exercise caution and refrain from penalizing investors too heavily by way of taxes which could be avoided. Otherwise, he thought investors would be driven to seek other fields for the employment of their capital.

Won't Meddle in Irish Issue

Senator Harding Says Question is a Domestic One.

MARION, O., Sept. 24.—Setting forth his views on the Irish problem for the first time since his nomination, Senator Harding, Republican candidate, declared in a public statement that it was not a question for official America and would be classed as "internal and domestic" under the League of Nations Covenant.

Two Phases to Question.

The statement in which the Senator discussed the Irish question directly for the first time since his nomination follows:

"There are two phases of the so-called Irish question in America. Individual sentiment is one thing, and it is recognized that there is a widespread sympathy here for the cause of Irish autonomy. We voted an expression of that sympathy in the Senate at the time the peace delegates were conferring in Paris.

"Official consideration is quite another thing. It is not a question for official America. America has already meddled abroad excessively without invitation.

A Domestic Issue.

"I have said, as I truly believe, that under the provisions of the League of Nations, the Irish question is in the nature of a domestic issue, and I recall distinctly that at the hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the American advocates of Irish independence bitterly opposed the League as proposed because it not only closed the door to Ireland, but committed us to the use of force to maintain territorial integrity as it exists today."

* * *

LINDSAY METHODISTS START NEW EDIFICE

Lindsay, Sept. 24.—When the ceremony of laying the corner-stone of the new Queen Street Methodist Church took place, the platform was occupied by Lieut.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, Rev. C. H. Coon, pastor of the church, and president of the Bay of Quinte Conference; Rev. E. V. Tilton, Canon Marsh, Rev. Messrs. Maconachie, Balfour, McIntosh, Stillman of Omemee, Wilson of Cambray, and Capt. Pace of the Salvation Army. Addresses were delivered by Rev. D. Balfour, a former pastor of the church, and Rev. Canon Marsh.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes said when he first came to Victoria county he found the spirit of Protestantism not so strong as it should be, and he consulted with the Rev. Marmaduke Pearson, then president of the Methodist Conference, the result being an Orange Hall and a joint meeting-house established in Raeboro'. The first Queen street church was built in Lindsay and another small church was founded at Salem. He paid a fine tribute to Rev. C. H. Coon, pastor of the church.

Huge Drop in Wheat on Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Big breaks in the price of wheat took place yesterday largely as a result of agitation for a general cut in food cost. The smash of values in wheat amounted to as much as 12 3-4 cents a bushel, and the market closed in a semi-demoralized condition. December delivery at 2.25 to 2.25½ and March 2.15 to 2.16. Heretofore, wheat has been advancing despite setbacks in the price of other grain.

Nature of Cancer Treatment to be Made Public by Doctor

DR. GLOVER HAS CONSENTED, AT REQUEST OF THE DOMINION DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, TO ADDRESS THE ACADEMY OF MEDICINE IN TORONTO.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—Dr. Glover has been asked by the Dominion Department of Public Health and has consented to demonstrate his serum for cancer before the Academy of Medicine in Toronto. He will appear, it is stated, before the whole academy, will disclose the nature of his discovery and tell of the results attained from it. A committee of the Academy will then likely be appointed to study the information given by the young physician. The Public Health Department, for weeks past, has been receiving numerous letters asking information about the Glover method of treatment. Many sufferers from the disease, too, have gone to Toronto in the hope of obtaining relief. Dr. Glover, in the meantime, has been carrying out his investigations, but has not yet revealed the nature of his specific to the medical profession. Under the circumstances, the Public Health Department, without any desire to cast any reflection upon Dr. Glover or his work, thought it desirable to invite him to demonstrate his method of treatment. This he has agreed to do in the course of three weeks. He will be given any assistance in the preparation of his explanation which he may desire. Dr. J. A. Amyot, Deputy-Minister of Public Health, has just returned from Toronto, where he has been engaged for several days making arrangements for the demonstration.

Michigan Peaches Fed to Hogs

Disgraceful Conditions Existing in Michigan Fruit Belt Area

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—A half million dollars' worth of the greatest fruit crop Berrien county, Michigan, has grown in five years lies rotting on the ground, four hours from Chicago by boat or rail.

This estimate was made by expert growers to an investigator for the Chicago Daily News. Men interviewed declared the crop of peaches, pears apples, plums and canteloupes to be worth from $8,000,000 to $10,000,099.

Thousands of bushels of fine peaches are being fed to the hogs or dumped on the ground to rot, it was said.

Farmers, commission men and farm organization experts gave various reasons for the situation. Some of these were car shortage inability of boats to handle the huge crop, a sudden general ripening due to the late warm weather and "welshing" by commission men through "jokers" in contracts made last spring with the growers.

Peaches which sell in Chicago for $2.50 to $3.50 a bushel in the Benton Harbor market bring 75 cents to $1.25—and the farmers declare the cheapest peaches they have raised have cost them $1.70.

* * *

ACCIDENT THEORY IS DISCOUNTED

New York, Sept. 24.—The cause of the Wall Street explosion is today as unknown to the police and Federal authorities as it was when it occurred nine days ago.

The theory that an accident—probably a collision—caused the explosion, was reported today to have been cast aside by the September Grand Jury. Hereafter the jurors will concentrate their attention on the bomb-plot theory,, it was said.

In this they follow the lead of William J. Flynn, chief of the Bureau of vInestigation, of the Department of Justice, who, from the start, has thought the blast of sinister cause.

Late this afternoon, Edwin P. Fischer, tennis player, who sent warnings of the explosion from Toronto, was recommitted to Bellevue Hospital for further psychopathic examination after the legal period for detaining him there had expired. He was recommitted on the complaint of his sister. Fischer protested.

* * *

COMPETITION FOR JOBS; OUTPUT IS INCREASING

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Labor is now competing for work, reversing the condition of a year ago when industries were bidding against each other for workers. Output "per man hour" is increasing which is always the case when there are more men looking for jobs than jobs looking for men.

High wage scales for organized labor have been untouched, but increased production by the individual has reduced the labor cost in many commodities.

Also, there is closer adherence to the eight-hour day. This means less overtime at pay and a half or at double wages.

All of which is having an effect in cutting the cost of living.

Military Officers On Staff Tour

Blue and Red Forces in Military Manoeuvres—Complete List of Officers Taking Part in the Tour

KINGSTON, Sept. 25.—The military staff tour of the officers of the district started at the Armouries, following a conference of all the officers.

The officers were divided into two sections, the Red Force working from Kingston to the west, and the Blue force working from the west to Kingston. Col. F. W. Hill is director of the Red Forces with Col. L. T. McLaughlin, director of the Blues.

Military manoeuvres are being carried out, and the officers will hold another conference in the Armouries.

The complete list of the officers taking part in the staff tour, is as follows:

Brig.-Gen. W. B. M. King, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., Col. F. W. Hill, C.M.G., D.S.O., Col. A. McPhail, C.M.G., D.S.O., Lt.-Col. B. Brown, Lt.-Col. J. Dunbar, Lt.-Col. Gillespie, Lt.-Col. P. G. C. Campbell, Col. G. L. Stone, Lt.-Col. W. H. P. Elkins, Lt.-Col. W. J. Beeman, Major H. Cappey, R.C.H.A., Major H. Lawson, Major T. Partridge, Capt. M. R. Clarke, Capt. J. E. Murchie, Capt. J. L. Morrison, Lieut. M. Lemmon, Capt. F. Anderson, CSM. A. C. Price, Kingston.

Col. L. T. McLaughlin C.M.G., D.S.O. Bowmanville; Lt.-Col. C. N. Edwards, D.S.O., Lieut. F. A. Campbell, A.S.C., Capt. M. E. Sharpe, A.S.C., Capt. G. McFarlane, 38th battalion, Lieut. W. Beaumont, C.A.G.C., Ottawa; Lt.-Col. R. V. Vandewater, Major S. E. Carman, Major A. J. Johnson, Major E. O. Keele, Capt. D. T. McManus, Belleville Belleville; Major C. A. Hope, Perth; Lt.-Col. Walker Bell, Toronto; Lt.-Col. A. W. Gray, Westport; Lt.-Col. W. Bywater, Trenton; Lt.-Col. F. H. Boggs, Cobourg; Major H. Reid, Port Hope; Major E. N. Cherham, London; Major C. H. Anderson, Bowmanville; Major R. M. Bearce, Cobourg; Major A. P. Miller, Peterboro; Major F. J. Mooney Lieut. W. R. Gordon, Gananoque; Major Snelgrove, Cobourg; Major R. Hill, Bowmanville; Major A. E. Hooper, Cobourg; Capt. A. Gates, Deloro; Capt. H. Reymes, Grafton; Capt. C. McKim, Smith's Falls.

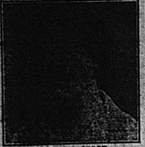
Fifth Boston Bank Closes Doors

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—The Cosmopolitan Trust Company, of this city, with savings and banking agencies abroad, was closed by Bank Commissioner Allen at nine this morning. The Cosmopolitan is the fifth bank here to be closed in the past five weeks. The first of these was the Hanover Trust Company, which went to the wall with the collapse of the get-rich-quick scheme of Charles Ponzi, its largest individual depositor. The Prudential Trust Company was closed later, as were two smaller private banks.

* * *

Federal Government asks Glover to tell of his cancer treatment.



SAVED FROM LIFELONG MISERY

And a Dangerous Operation, by Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. M. J. GORSE
[illegible] Union St., Vancouver, B.C.

"I suffered with all the symptoms of Female Trouble, with chronic Constipation and constant Headaches. I had pains low down in the back and sides of the body. I tried various remedies without relief, and then put myself under a doctor's care and he advised me to have an operation. I refused.

Then, I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives'; and from the outset, I felt better, and this medicine has completely relieved me of all my misery and suffering. My weight was only 143 pounds and now it is 168 pounds. I am free of pain and headaches and the terrible Constipation; and what saved me from misery is the splendid fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives'."

MRS. M. J. GORSE.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

McFEE'S EYE TALKS

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus. 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each
—Also
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
192 Front St. Phone 283

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

TOMATOES PLENTIFUL

There are more tomatoes offered on the Kingston market than can be used. Good tomatoes are sold at 75 cents a bushel, the lowest figure since the war began. Late potatoes are reported of good quality and plentiful. They are selling at $1 a bushel.

LEG BROKEN

Mr. Hedley Card, son of Mr. W. H. Card, Monk Road, met with a painful accident last week at the feldspar mine on Chas. Lake's farm, Faraday. Mr. Card jumped over a fence and in doing so landed on the opposite side in such a manner that his leg was broken between the knee and the ankle. Both bones were fractured and it will be some time before Mr. Card will have the use of the fractured limb.—Bancroft Times.

THREE MONTHS FOR BIGAMY

Chas. Spence of Hybla, North Hastings, took it into his head that because he hadn't lived with his first wife for a period of eleven years he was entitled to take unto himself a second one, which he did about a month ago and for which he will now serve a term of three months in the county jail. Before Police Magistrate Jarman on Thursday last he pleaded guilty to teh charge and was sent down to jail.

KILLED BY FALLING TREE

Mr. Fred Wildman, an employe of the Canada Produce Limited at Kennaway, North Hastings, was instantly killed this week whilst felling a tree. A limb struck him on the head inflicting such injuries as to cause almost instant death. Mr. Wildman was a native of Norwood and was forty years of age, unmarried. The remains were shipped to that point for burial.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Watson residing in Thurlow Township commemorate the 50th anniversary of their wedding. The couple are well known and their many friends will offer to them congratulations.

CHILD DROWNED

A sad fatality occurred at Wilberforce on Tuesday afternoon, when little Marvin Leonard Succee, two year-old son of Mr. Wilbert Succee lost his life by drowning in the millpond, a short distance from his home. The little fellow has been living with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Huston, his mother having died a year ago with the flu. The father is in the West.

McFarlane, 38th battalion, Lieut. W.

PREMIER ALARMED ABOUT LIBERTIES

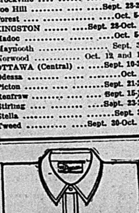
Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 23.—"We find in this country growing strength of organizations who do not love the institutions under which we live. We find organizations who have made more than one attempt to overthrow them. We find them gathering their strength. It behooves us not to divide ourselves but rally around the standard which alone can save the liberties we possess." Extract from Premier Meighen's speech here last night.

ANSWERS ACCIDENT CALL AND FINDS FATHER DYING

New York, Sept. 23.—When Chas. R. Robbins a young Newark, N.J., policeman answered an automobile accident call on his beat early today he found his father dying and his mother seriously hurt. The father died in his son's arms en route to the hospital. His parents were struck by an automobile while crossing the street to their home.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Brockville	Sept. 21-24
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Picton	Sept. 21-24
Renfraw	Sept. 15-17
Stirling	Sept. 23-24
Stella	Sept. 28
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1



The Deacon SHIRT
For Camp or Trail
Your choice of plain Grey, Navy Blue and Khaki Flannels—Black Nap-Back Serge—Drills—Tweeds in Checks and Stripes—in fact all the favorite fabrics for sportsmen's use—with whatever style of collar you prefer.
Perfect fitting. All seams double stitched, turned and felled. Buttons put on to stay—Ask your dealer.
DEACON SHIRT COMPANY
BELLEVILLE - CANADA 84

CHURCH DIRECTORY

CHRIST CHURCH (Anglican)
Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, Rector.
Rectory: 44 Everett Street.

Thanksgiving Service.
8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Sermon.
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Evensong and sermon.

Special music and anthems at both services.

The Rev. Rural Dean Byers of Stirling will preach. Thanksgiving offering at all services. Visitors welcome.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH.
Rector, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, M.A.
Residence: The Rectory, 79 Bridge St.
Phone 481.

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer with Sermon—"A True Man."
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
4 p.m.—Baptismal Service.
7 p.m.—Evensong with sermon. Preacher, Rev. Dr. Newbold.

Prof. Wheatley, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., Organist and Choirmaster.

VICTORIA AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH.
Minister, Rev. Wm. Harris Wallace.
242 William Street. Phone 481.

"Rally Day" for Church and S. S.
11 a.m.—Seeing the Unseen.
3 p.m.—Special Music.
All are requested to come to Sunday School on Rally Day.
7 p.m.—"Second Coming"—What is it?
B.Y.P.U. Monday, 8 p.m.
Prayer Meeting Wednesday, 8 p.m.

TABERNACLE.
The Church on a Hill.

The Pastor's morning theme: "With Him, Therefore Like Him."

In the afternoon a Joyful Rally Service will be held. Singing, reciting, orchestral music. Rev. D. C. Ramsay, M.A., will speak.

Pastor's evening theme 'The Foundation.' The choir will sing: "Blessed is He"; "Now God be with us for the night is closing." Come! Come!

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Rev. A. S. Kerr, M.A., Pastor.

11 a.m.—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed.
3 p.m.—Rally-Day in Sunday School. Address by W. J. Campbell.
7 p.m.—"The Friend of Sinners."
A cordial welcome to all.

JOHN ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Cor. Victoria Ave. and John Street.

11 a.m.—Subject "God is Love."
3 p.m.—Sunday School. Special Rally Day Service.
7 p.m.—"Meekness."

THE SALVATION ARMY.
Adjt. I. Cavender, Commanding Officer.

The Salvation Army will occupy the Palace Theatre on Sundays while the citadel is under renovation. Dr. A. Oaten of Toronto will preach on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Special music and song.

BRIDGE STREET CHURCH SERVICES TOMORROW
Rev. Dr. Cleaver, Pastor; Rev. Geo. Brown, Assistant Pastor.

11 a.m.—Morning Service. Rev. Dr. Cleaver will preach.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School Rally.
7 p.m.—Evening Service. Rev. Dr. Cleaver will preach.
Good music. Everybody welcome. Mr. V. P. Hunt, director of music.
Young People's Meeting Monday evening.

HOLLOWAY ST. METHODIST CHURCH
West Belleville.
Parsonage, 44 Hillside St. Phone 578.
Rev. A. H. Foster, Pastor.

Sunday, Sept. 26.
10 a.m.—Class Meeting.
11 a.m.—Subject—"The Power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ."
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Special song service by the choir.
Miss S. Walton, choir leader and soloist.
Miss W. Pearce, organist.

EMMANUEL CHURCH.
Victoria Avenue — The City Low Church.
Rev'd George Marshall, Rector.
Phone 872.

11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Sermon—"The Noble Searchers."
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and Sermon—"Ethiopean Skin and Leopard Spots."
3 p.m.—Sunday School.

Pallid Cheeks Means Anaemia

New Health Can Be Obtained By Enriching the Blood Supply

When a girl in her teens becomes peevish, listless and dull, when nothing seems to interest her and dainties do not tempt her appetite you may be certain that she needs more good blood than her system is provided with. Before long her pallid cheeks, frequent headaches and breathlessness and heart palpitation will confirm that she is anaemic. Many mothers as the result of their own girlhood experience can promptly detect the early signs of anaemia and the wise mother does not wait for the trouble to develop further, but at once gives her daughter a course with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which renew the blood supply and banish anaemia before it has obtained a hold on the system.

Out of their experience thousands of mothers know that anaemia is the sure road to worse ills. They know the difference that good red blood makes in the development of womanly health. Every headache, every gasp for breath that follows the slightest exertion by the anaemic girl, every pain she suffers in her back and limbs are reproaches if you have not taken the best steps to give your weak girl new blood, and the only sure way to do so is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

New, rich, red blood is infused into the system by every dose of these pills. From this new rich blood springs good health, an increased appetite, new energy, high spirits and perfect womanly development. Give your daughter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and take them yourself and note how promptly their influence is felt in better health.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail post-paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Willams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

New method of collection of excise tax on sales of luxuries. After November 1st, stamps are to be used.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG

Some idea of how a great motion picture cast is selected is seen in Harry Garson's effort to gather together the types and players of importance which characterizes "Eyes of Youth" in which Clara Kimball Young has the stellar role. Vincent Serrano was at Cape Cod for the summer, Edmund Lowe was in New York, Pauline Starke was enjoying the summer months at Seattle, Washington, Ralph Lewis was sojourning at Atlantic City, Milton Sills was touring the middle West in an auto, Gareth Hughes was staying in New York, while Clara Kimball Young was yachting on Lake Michigan. Mr. Garson wired these players on June 21st, from Edendale, California and only July 6th everyone reported in Los Angeles ready to work. The picture being finished now, the players have again scattered to the four winds. "Eyes of Youth" with its remarkable cast is being screened at Griffin's to-day, matinee and night, along with "Pilgrims," an interesting Outing Chester Travelogue, John Cumberland in a 2-reel comedy, "Unconventional Maida Green," and Charles Hutchison in his thrilling picture, "The Whirlwind."

"THE ADVENTURES OF RUTH"

No doubt the many admirers of the peerless serial star, Ruth Roland will be in evidence at the Palace today to see her in the opening chapter of 'The Adventures of Ruth,' conceded by exhibitors and fans everywhere as one of the finest serials of the year. H. B. Warner is appearing on the same program in a 5-act drama of engrossing interest, 'Fugitives From Matrimony,' Tom Mix in a new Western comedy and British Canadian Pathe through a picture that is full to the same program.

BILL HART IN "SQUARE DEAL SANDERSON"

The real Bill Hart—hero of every small boy from Maine to California and from Canada to the Gulf—beloved by all who care for red-blooded action on the screen, will be seen in the Artcraft picture, "Square Deal Sanderson" which will be shown at Griffin's this Monday and Tuesday only. In several of his recent films, Mr. Hart has doffed chaps and six shooters, appearing as a convict in one and in another leaving the western plains for the asphalt of the city streets. But now he's back in harness, astride a trusty horse and with his wide-brimmed Stetson atop his head. He riots through apicture that is full to the brim of action excitement and heroic deeds. There are lively scraps, quick shooting, all the characteristic incidents of life as it was lived in the yesterday of the Southwest. A new Burton Holmes Travelogue, a funny 2-reel Sunshine comedy and Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack" are also being shown on the same program.

'EXPERIENCE' HERE WEDNESDAY

The spectacular morality play, "Experience" which has been aptly called "America's Pilgrim's Progress, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at Griffin's Opera House next Wednesday night, September 29. Certainly George V. Hobart achieved a new classic when he adapted the framework of the ancient morality play to the modern stage, but instead of imitating the old bogies of Bunyans day,—The Giant Despair and "Death on a pale horse," he peopled his play with modern types who talk up-to-date "wise chatter" instead of the doleful stilted blank verse dialogue of the old times.

Youth, instead of "Christian," starts out on the pilgrimage of life but instead of being besieged by doctrinal doubts and seeking salvation, he is frankly in "pursuit of happiness," a right guaranteed to everybody by the American Declaration of Independence. He meets such real perils and temptations as beset the average Youth of any small town who goes to "the big city" to seek his fortune. These influences are named after their leading traits for instance: Pleasure, Slander, Fashion, Beauty, Deceit, Excitement, Frivolity, Passion, Intoxication, Poverty,—but if they were labelled with conventional patronymics the play would be a regular drama instead of a spectacular allegory in true dramatic form.

HAY FEVER and ASTHMA
Conquered by the World's Only Two-bottle Remedy. Don't suffer a minute longer. Send today $4—32-day treatment. Trial size 25c. and guaranteed.
W. K. BUCKLEY, Mfg. Chemist
97 DUNDAS ST. E., TORONTO.

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

The most talked of musical show of the entire season is "My Soldier Girl" coming to Griffin's Theatre, Monday night, October 4th. The gorgeous costumes are fashion plates of the latest design, the novel numbers are staged under the careful direction of one of our best ballet masters, and the feature novelties are many. "Flirtation Walk," an illuminated runboard extending from the stage nearly half way to the rear wall of the theatre and the many numbers introduced on the "walk" offer new and amusing entertainment, while a moon dance at the lawn fete a grand illumination of New York City and bewitching "pony" ballet in the Follies, are a few of the feature novelties. An elaborate production with gorgeous costumes form a background for a brilliant case and big "pony" ballet, who present the big spectacle in all its merry-making.

When Baby is Sick

When the baby is sick—when he is cross and peevish; cries a great deal and is a constant worry to the mother—he needs Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are an ideal medicine for little ones. They are a gentle but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Philippe Payen, St. Flavien, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have been a wonderful help to me in the case of my baby and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

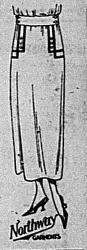
THIEVES SECURED VALUABLE PLATE

Toronto, Sept. 24.—Several pieces of valuable silverware were stolen from "Benvenuto," the home of Sir William Mackenzie, Avenue Road Hill, a few nights ago. On receipt of the news Inspector of Detectives Guthrie detailed Crowson and McIntosh to investigate, and after a careful examination of the doors and windows of the house they arrived at the conclusion that the theft could not have been perpetrated by burglars, as there were were no marks of burglarious instruments on the wordwork. The police could give no estimate as to the worth of the missing ware, but said it was very valuable.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Managers of one large hotel and three chain restaurant systems were summoned to the City Hall to explain their restaurant prices to the council committee on living costs.

Simultaneously Russel Poole, secretary of the city food bureau urged all downtown workers and office employes to carry their own lunches until prices come down, and announced that milk would be delivered to the City Hall and sold direct to employes for ten cents a pint.

FLIRTATION WALK, an illuminated runway extending from the stage out over the heads of the audience on which bewitching "ponies" trip gaily in novel drills and dances—Coming with the new edition of "My Soldier Girl" at Griffin's Theatre, Monday Night, October 4th.



SINCLAIR'S

WOOL FROCKS
More Artistic Than Ever

Each season the styles show more of that refined taste that you formerly thought obtainable in custom-made gowns. The fabrics are so well chosen, the styles so graceful and varied, and the trimmings in such good taste and so artistic. That's why we are selling more Dresses than ever this season. Prices range from $19.50 upward.

A Marabou Ruff

—will prove a very useful wrap for Autumn Days. Light in weight, yet warm and comfortable, these stylish wraps will add much smartness to your costume. Prices from $8.50 to $27.50.

Motoring Rugs

Do you enjoy motoring these cool Autumn days? One of these Scotch Plaid Rugs will make your trips more comfortable.
Priced $15.00 to $17.50.

Heather Cashmere Hose

Of course, with low shoes so stylish for Autumn wear, you will need these Heather Cashmere Hose. All sizes at $1.75 pair.

Colorful Silk Petticoats

Brilliant colors are the season's new note, and here are radiant effects in Silk Petticoats to harmonize perfectly with your new Fall gown. Cut correctly; flounced effectively—the perfect finish for suit or gown. Priced from $5.00 to $16.50.

AN EXTRA SKIRT

—will make your wardrobe more complete. With an extra blouse it may be worn mornings or shopping. We have just received some stunning models which we would like you to see. They are very becoming and are reasonably priced from $9.50 up.

Flannelette Blankets

Have you felt the need of Flannelette Blankets yet? You will want them very soon, and here is an opportunity to fill your requirements. Shown in grey or white with pink or blue borders. Ibex and Kingcot makes.

12-4 size....$4.50 and $4.00 pair
11-4 size .... $4.00 pair

GREY SHIRTING FLANNELS

We have a very complete range of Grey Flannels, either plain or twilled, in pure wool or wool and cotton, at 40c. to $1.00 yard.

VERY CHEAP SUITS.

Here are about eight suits, all old stock, in broadcloth and tweed. Your size may be here, if you want a cheap suit, or they could be cut up and made into children's dresses, at the price of one yard of goods. Your choice, $7.50.

CREPE
FOR KIMONOS AND UNDERWEAR.

There is a full range of good designs in Serpentine and Delmona Crepe for Kimonos. Also in plain blue or mauve for underwear, at 85c. yard. White Crepe at 65c. and 90c. yard.

SINCLAIR'S

S.A. CITADEL
ON PINNACLE STREET

Salvation Army Campaign Opens Monday Sept. 27
$4,000 is Needed to Complete Repairs

Work is now in progress, a thorough renovation.

The building will look like new inside and out.

Everybody give when the canvasser calls, please be liberal.

Adjt. I. CAVENDER, Commanding Officer, 90 Mill Street.
B. W. BROWN, Treasurer, 4 Bridge St. E.

Business Grows when it is Well Advertised

GRIFFIN'S OPERA HOUSE ONE NIGHT Wed. Sept. 29

F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest again present
THE ONE BIG SENSATION OF THIS DAY AND GENERATION
SEAT SALE OPENS TUESDAY, GRIFFIN'S, 10 A. M.

DRAMA, MUSIC, SPECTACLE, LAUGHTER, PATHOS, PAGEANTRY
Endorsed by the clergy from coastto coast as a great moral lesson.
PRICES—50c., 75c., $1.00, $1.50, $2.00. (NO FREE LIST)

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

THIS MONDAY AND TUESDAY ONLY
William S. Hart & Anna Little
in
"SQUARE DEAL SANDERSON"
A PARAMOUNT ARTCRAFT PICTURE.

He's a wonderful mixture in "Square Deal Sanderson"—Wild, Woolly and inflexible in his fight for the right; but tender and almost cowed by the presence of the woman he loves.
No man ever shielded a woman the way Bill Hart shields this one. He goes the limit—and over!—for her. But he always lives up to his name for the "square deal."

Jack Dempsey—Sunshine Comedy—Burton Holmes Scenic.

COMING THURSDAY—MABEL NORMAND in a 5-reel comedy—"UPSTAIRS". CHARLIE CHAPLIN in his latest 2-reel funny bone tickler ——A DAY'S PLEASURE"—You'll Say So!

BROGUES for Men and Women

Men's Brogues
selected stock
$12.00

Women's Brogues
Oxfords Black and Brown
$9, $10, $11

Special Clearing
40 pairs Women's Kid Boots - $4.85
48 pr. Women's Grey Boots, Louis Heels regular $12.00, clearing - - $7.95

ADAMS The Shoeman

Advertise your needs in our "want" columns

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN
2.30—TWICE TODAY—8.00
CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG
in "EYES OF YOUTH"
"Whirlwind" — Comedy
Travelogue

PALACE
2.30—TWICE TODAY—7.45
RUTH ROLAND in
'ADVENTURES OF RUTH'
H. B. WARNER in
"Fugitive from Matrimony"
7.45—Feature Shown—9.15

We Would Be Delighted
—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.
T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

SYSTEMATIC THEFT FROM FREIGHT CARS

Toronto, Sept. 24.—James Martin was convicted in the Sessions yesterday on a charge of receiving seven cases of shoes which had been stolen while in transit over the Grand Trunk System, and remanded until Monday for sentence. Martin's prosecution was the sequel to the theft of several thousand dollars' worth of goods from freight cars on the company's line near Scarboro, over a lengthy period. On account of the grade, the trains traveled slowly and thieves opened the cars and threw out the goods. In the vicinity the detectives located a shack, and inside found innumerable cartons and a card which was associated with $700 worth of whiskey that had disappeared. It was alleged that Martin obeyed the request of a man to remove some goods in his auto and was arrested with the shoes in his possession.

7,000 BARRELS OF RYE BURNED IN KENTUCKY

Lawrenceburg, Ky., Sept 24.—Seven thousand—count 'em—barrels of whiskey, real Kentucky rye, went up in flames on Wednesday.

The whiskey, which is valued at $4,000,000, was destroyed when fire wiped out the Cedarbrook warehouse near here.

The origin of the fire is unknown. All efforts to get it under control were unavailing.

TUBERCULOUS CHICKS

Pullets Having Tuberculosis Are Common in Ontario.

The Disease Chronic Rather Than Acute — Symptoms Described — The Birds Should Be Killed Off and Destroyed.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

TUBERCULOSIS in chickens is very common in Ontario. There is not a county in the Province from which we have not received for examination hens either dead of, or suffering from this disease. Almost invariably a letter accompanies such birds stating that deaths are occurring in the flock at irregular intervals, the birds usually getting thin and lame before death. The following is a sample letter received:

"Jan. 12, 1920.

"Dear Sir,—Will you kindly investigate this fowl and let me know what is the matter and how to treat them. Out of 150 birds I have lately lost over a dozen. Some of them went lame on the start, some in right foot and some in left, and some just moped around without being lame. I have sold all my old hens and have now 120 pullets and thirty last year's pullets. They started this in early fall. Thanking you in advance,

Yours respectfully,
.................."

Examination of this pullet showed it to have been suffering from advanced tuberculosis. The liver, spleen and intestines were all badly tubercular. The immediate cause of death had been the rupture of a large blood vessel in the liver due to the development of tubercles.

Tuberculosis results in considerable financial losses to the poultryman, due to decrease in egg production and heavy mortality in the flocks where it is present.

The disease is chronic rather than acute. That is, it does not cause death suddenly, but takes time to develop, usually causing the bird to gradually lose flesh, turn pale around head, become listless, mopy, and frequently lame, while egg-laying is reduced to a minimum.

To be sure, however, that such a condition of birds in a flock is due to tuberculosis it is necessary to hold a post-mortem examination on one of them. The bird should be killed and opened up. If tuberculosis is present, the liver and spleen will be spotted with white or cream-colored spots varying in size from a small pin head to a pea or bean, and in number from a few to thousands. These are the so-called tubercles, each one a mass of dead tissue that has been killed by the action of the poison secreted by the tuberculosis bacteria which have developed there. These tubercles are frequently found on the intestines and in the lungs and bones as well as in the liver and spleen. A microscopic examination of a portion of one of these tubercles will show large numbers of tubercle bacteria present.

These tubercle bacteria are the cause of the disease. They are so small as to be altogether invisible without the use of a high power microscope. They are not the same variety as those which cause tuberculosis in human beings.

Birds suffering from the disease give off large numbers of the bacteria in their droppings. Other birds in the flock scratching around and feeding with such birds pick up the bacteria with their feed and grit and so get infected. The bacteria are absorbed into the system with the food and get circulated in the blood and lymph streams until they get located in the tissues, more particularly the liver and spleen, where they rapidly multiply and secrete their poison. This acts on the tissue immediately around them, causing it to die and turn white and thus become a characteristic tubercle.

When this disease is found in a flock it is advisable to kill off all the birds. Then those birds which on examination do not show evidence of the disease may be used as food. Those that show the disease should be destroyed by burning or by burying deeply in quicklime.

The entire premises in which the birds have been kept should then be well scraped, cleaned and thoroughly disinfected by the application of a disinfectant wash or spray, as quicklime, zenoleum, cresol, etc. The runs should be well covered with quicklime and then ploughed in deeply. Even after such treatment it would be preferable to establish new runs on fresh ground and then re-stock from flocks that are known to be healthy.

Anyone suspecting the disease in a flock and wishing to have the case determined, should send a suspected bird, either alive or dead, express prepaid, to the Bacteriological Department, O. A. C., Guelph, when an examination and report will be made at once. An illustrated bulletin dealing with this disease may be had on application to the Department of Agriculture, Toronto.—Prof. D. H. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

Wallop the Weeds.

Do not neglect to cut weeds on roadsides, in fence corners and waste places. And do not allow weeds to go to seed in hoed crops. A well-cared-for hoed crop will rid the field of many weeds, but a neglected hoed crop is a nursery for weeds and a source of contamination for every field on the farm.

Early after harvest cultivation will destroy many annual and winter annual weeds, such as False Flax, Corn Cockle and Wormseed Mustard. Plough shallow immediately after harvest and harrow and cultivate frequently. By shallow ploughing the weed seeds are kept near the surface and by the frequent stirring of the soil they are made to sprout, and having sprouted they are easily destroyed by further cultivation.

* * *

Young Husband (to wife)—Didn't I tell you not to bring your mother with you?

Young Wife—I Know. That's what she wants to see you about. She read the telegram.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Sound Investment

—the Wise Principle of Life Insurance

Life insurance is based on the principle of consistent investment of the amounts received in premiums each year.

This same wise policy, adopted by a private individual is the safest and surest method of building up a financial reserve either as life-protection, or for the foundation of an estate.

Consistent investment of annual amounts, be they $50., $100., or $1,000., in long-term bonds will quickly accumulate a high "cash surrender value."

For instance, $930 invested in 1934 Victory Bonds, provided the interest is re-invested at 5½% rather than spent, will amount to $2,207.20 at the end of fourteen years, when these bonds are paid off.

Insure your future by considering now the investment of a fixed amount each year.

The low prices at which good bonds are now selling makes the present a most opportune time to make a start.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

Dominion of Canada 5½% Bonds
Victory Bonds Free from Dominion Income Taxes)

Due	Price		Yield
Dec., 1922	98	and interest	6.37%
Nov., 1923	98	and interest	6.14%
Dec., 1927	97	and interest	6.00%
Nov., 1933	96½	and interest	5.88%
Dec., 1937	98	and interest	5.68%
Victory Bonds Subject to the Usual Income Taxes
Nov., 1924	97	and interest	6.27%
Nov., 1934	93	and interest	6.24%

We shall welcome an opportunity to serve you in your investment matters irrespective of the amount of your funds.

DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION
LIMITED.
Established 1901

E. R. Wood - - - President
G. A. Morrow - Vice-President
J. W. Mitchell - Vice-President
W. S. Hodgens - - - Secretary
J. A. Fraser - - - Treasurer
T. H. Andison - Ass't Secretary
A. F. White - - Ass't Treasurer

HEAD OFFICE:
26 KING STREET EAST
TORONTO

MONTREAL BRANCH
Canada Life Building
R. W. Steele - - Manager

LONDON, ENG., BRANCH
No. 6 Austin Friars
A. L. Fullerton, Manager

RAILWAYMAN SHOT BY MASKED GUNMEN

Toronto, Sept. 24.—Nick Evanoff, a C.N.R. construction man, is in St. Michael's Hospital with a bullet wound in his thigh as the result of being held up in a boarding car by three masked men with revolvers in the Don Valley Brickyard. The police are searching for the gunmen.

The hold-up occurred yesterday morning at an early hour. Evanoff and his workmates were asleep when the car door was pushed open and a masked man, carrying a revolver entered, and called to the inmates to throw up their hands. An empty purse was thrown to the robbers. The two men on guard outside the car picked it up. Suddenly Evanoff began to yell for help. A shot rang out and Evanoff went down with a bullet in his thigh. It was not until after six o'clock that P. C. Murray was informed of the affair. He picked up P. C. Graham, and in a car they went out there, investigated, and sent the injured man to the hospital.

Patrick Beatty, 16 Palmerston Avenue, reported to the police that he was held up and robbed of $130 in a lane at the rear of 123 Centre Avenue, early yesterday morning.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS

IN THE ESTATE OF ANNIE LAURA MATHER, late of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Widow, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Chapter 121, that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of Annie Laura Mather, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Widow, who died on or about the 25th day of April, 1920, are required to deliver or send by post, prepaid, on or before the 30th day of September, 1920, to the Administrator of the above Estate, or to his solicitors, their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars in writing, verified by Statutory Declaration, of their claims, and accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

And take notice that after the said 30th day of September, 1920, the Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the Estate amongst those entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he or his solicitors shall then have had notice, and he will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person of whose claim notice is not then received.

Dated at Belleville this 3rd day of September, A.D., 1920.

LEWIS F. PURDY,
Administrator.
PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE,
219 Front Street, Belleville,
Ontario, Solicitors.
s4,11,18,25

IMPORTANT CHANGE OF TIME
EFFECTIVE OCT. 3RD
For full particulars enquire nearest agent.
CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the Estate of Elizabeth Beatrice Haight late of the Village of Foxboro, Married Woman, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given, pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Chapter 121, that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of Elizabeth Beatrice Haight, late of the Village of Foxboro, in the County of Hastings, Married Woman, who died on or about the ninth day of April, 1920, are required to deliver or send by post, prepaid, on or before the 20th day of October, 1920, to the Executor of the said estate, or to his solicitors, their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars in writing, verified by Statutory Declaration, of their claims and accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after the said 20th day of October, 1920, the Executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the estate amongst those entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have had notice, and he will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to person of whose claim notice is not then received.

Dated at Belleville this 15th day of September, A. D. 1920.

GIDEON S. WAY, Executor.
PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE,
Belleville, Ont.,
Solicitors for Executor.
s18,25:o2,9

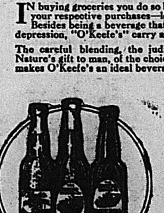
After taking 1000 ZUTOO TABLETS Says they are Harmless

Mrs. (Dr.) Shurtleff, of Coaticook, says "I must have taken 1000 Zutoo Tablets. After trying every remedy within reach, I discarded them all four years ago for ZUTOO, which I have taken ever since. I find the tablets a harmless and efficient remedy for all kinds of headache."
25 cents per box—at all dealers.

O'Keefe's has a Food Value

IN buying groceries you do so bearing in mind the relative food values of your respective purchases—look on O'Keefe's Beers in the same light. Besides being a beverage that allays thirst and overcomes tiredness and depression, "O'Keefe's" carry a distinct food value.

The careful blending, the judicious extracting from Malt and Hops—Nature's gift to man, of the choicest nutritive elements that they contain, makes O'Keefe's an ideal beverage for home consumption.



O'Keefe's
Imperial Ale, Stout, Lager are the trio that stand unrivalled for their tonic, nutritive and thirst-quenching properties.
Your grocer or dealer will supply O'Keefe's to your order.
Keep a case in the house, they are suited for young and old.
O'Keefe's, Toronto
Phone Main 4202
O'Keefe's Beverages are also procurable at Restaurants, Hotels, Cafes, etc.
70

W. RODBOURNE. Distributor, Uptown 2 1-2 per cent. Store

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, [illegible] Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING: Measurement Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 15c. per line. Reading advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 25 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for classified advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.50; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.50; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $5.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 50 per cent. will be added.

PLAY UP AND PLAY THE GAME THINK OF THE OTHER FELLOW.

Play the game and play it right! It is noticeable that some people do not play the game in the true sporting spirit. Take for instance the line-up for the advanced sale of theatre reserved seats or the line- up for rush seats the night of the show. Some people come early and remain patiently in line for an hour or so while others come late and try to crowd in at the head of the line.

In baseball, if a player on first base tried to make third without touching second, he would be held guilty of a heinous offence against all standards of manly sport as well as an infraction of the rules of the game.

The same holds good in theatre line-ups or in any other branch of human effort.

Short cuts gained at the expense of others is not playing the game and is not manly or straightforward. Let's play up and play the game, helping each other always, and ever considerate of the rights and feelings of others.

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD CROP ROTATION

"The maintaining of the farm in a condition free from weeds and keeping the moisture-holding power of the land as high as possible are factors that are of prime importance. A crop rotation, therefore, that is satisfactory makes preparations both by getting the soil in right shape and by cultural methods to hold that moisture as well as it possibly can be held, by storing all the moisture that comes along.

"Another advantage in crop rotation is the conservation of the fertility and the maintenance, if not the increasing, of the fibre content of the soil.

"Nearly all farmers are following rotations. They get into the habit of following some kind of a system, and if you are handling some land year after year you are bound to have some kind of a scheme worked out. Unfortunately we have too many farmers with a bad scheme—a bad rotation. What we want to get introduced on every farm is a good rotation, and what is a good rotation on one farm is not necessarily the best rotation on another. That we appreciate this is shown by the fact that we have on trial on our experimental farms some twenty-odd rotations in the West.

"I think the most important step in progression to be made on these prairies is the introduction of a better rotation. We have a rotation now, but it is a bad one. What we went to do is to change it and put a better one in. If we could get that change—if we could get the farmers of this country thinking along that line, the changing from that three-year rotation in the West or four-year in the eastern part of these prairies, including a summer-fallow in each case, and considering all the possibility of our hoed or cultivated crop, we shall have done more for agriculture in these provinces than any other convention or meeting of men has ever done in the history of the Prairies."—From the address of Dr. J. H. Grisdale, at Conference on Soil Fertility of the Commission of Conservation at Winnipeg.

A KING WITHOUT A CROWN WHO KNOWS NOT VICTORY

The sorry plight in which the once powerful party of Laurier finds itself under the leadership of Mr. Mackenzie King is strikingly illustrated by examination of the bye-election results in English-speaking Canada since Mr. King was elected leader. Following is the record:

Assiniboia—Liberal candidate overwhelmingly beaten.
Stormont-Glengarry—Liberals failed to put up a candidate.
Carleton-Victoria—Liberals abdicated to Farmers.
North Ontario—No Liberal candidate.
Temiskaming—Liberal candidate decisively beaten.
Colchester—No Liberal candidate.
St. John—Liberal candidate lost deposit.

When one considers that four of the seven foregoing seats went Liberal in 1911—three of them were strongholds of Sir Wilfrid—some idea is had of the extent of the Liberal debacle in Canada.—Ottawa Journal.

CRISP COMMENT troubles appear to be mostly home brew.

× × ×

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm will present a hospital to Amerongen as a memento of his stay there. He might well present many hospitals to Belgium, France, et al, as a memento of his bloody march toward Paris.

× × ×

English "Pilgrims" coming to celebrate the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers were insulted at the New York docks by banners carried by well-dressed women flaunting offensive slogans. This could not happen in England or Canada to visitors from the United States, who are always protected against hoodlums. Any attempted demonstration of the kind would mean the immediate arrest of the disturbers for disorderly conduct. The "land of the free" is getting so free that it is altogether offensive and ostracism may result.

× × ×

Striped stockings with jeweled garters just below the knee will be worn by smart women this fall says a New York style expert, who states that "skirts will fall four inches below the knee but will be lined only to the bend of the knee and the jeweled garter will flash from beneath diaphanous laces." Looks as if the New York society folks do not believe in hiding their light under a bushel of skirts. Safe bet also that men's fashions will include magnifying glasses for street wear.

× × ×

An editor in New York, according to the Magazine of Wall Street, wrote a fine article for a Sunday paper showing how motor trucks were going to take most of the railroads' business away from them. We knew it was a fine article because Brother Editor said it was. He wrote it and he ought to know. He also got $200 for it, which is pretty doggoned good evidence. So when he had a thousand pounds of summer furniture to come down to New York from Hampshire he knew just what to do. He had it put right on a motor truck and hauled down—no transfers, no crating, no delay, no nothing. But when it arrived the truckman presented a bill of $200. After Brother Editor came to and got past the "Where-am-I?" stage, he endorsed the Sunday paper's $200 check over to the truckman. Then Mrs. Editor called up the railroad and found that the rate on household furniture from New Hampshire was 63 cents per cwt., which would have made a total bill of about $6.30. She said—but let that pass.

OTHER VIEWS

Our Vanished Spreedom
Kingston Whig

Immigrants are arriving in droves. Evidently they haven't heard that this is no longer a land of spreedom.

Satan Rebuking Sin?
Hamilton Spectators

Dr. Steele of Toronto, before publicly attacking the National Railway mangement because of what he claimed to be its abuse of the pass-issuing practice, should not have forgotten that urgent appel of his own to D. B. Hanna for a railway pass. Mr. Hanna has made the doctor look rather ridiculous.

Chasing the Rainbow
Kingston Standard

A committee has been formed at London, Ontario, of members representing the Labor Party, Trades and Labor and three soldier organizations to try finding a method of keeping living costs within the incomes of the workers. It is said that the members have decided that constantly seeking increases in wages is only "chasing the rainbow." Perfectly true; and if the simile be continued, the rainbow can be extended till it becomes the "vicious circle" of which so much has been heard. Wages increase, so do prices, and so the whirligig goes on, ending nowhere. The members will try to propose concrete proposals which "should improve the conditions of everyone." It is to be hoped that they will be forced to the conclusion that one of the most successful remedies will be that which the Governor General, Premier Meighen, Sir Auckland Geddes and other leaders have put forward simply—work. Poets have written of "gems and gold" hid in "the radiant bow," and work will be the means of finding them, of adding to the production of wealth and improving the conditions of everyone.

POET'S CORNER

OUR SHOP

Mother says it's awful, now, the price she has to pay
When she goes to do the marketing for dinner every day.
She says she wishes we could live on what the birdies eat,
With berries for our pudding, and a juicy worm for meat!

But underneath the gorse-bush, just above the old sea-wall,
Phyl and I, we have a shop that isn't dear at all,
And we are always most polite to customers, and say,
'How can I serve you, madam? Every thing is cheap today.'

"We have pebble new potatoes at a penny for a pound—
And we'll throw you in this pebble egg, so smooth and white and round.
And Phyl has made some cakes and scones that look extremely nice
And a lovely slab of butter—may I offer you a slice?

'We can sell you needles, also, for they grow in dozens here
Or a yard of seaweed ribbon—would a penny be too dear?
While today we're very lucky; we've a set of furs in store,
For Mr. Rabbit caught his coat when passing by our door!

The reason why our price is sure to be within your reach
Is because we mostly get our goods for nothing from the beach.
Materials for our butter and our cakes are close at hand—
They are made of best sea-water and the very finest sand.

So when you're tired of spending in the ordinary way
Just walk along the old sea-wall where every sunny day,
We are spreading out our goods, and hoping somebody will stop
For we love to have a customer at our little shop!

—B. Noel Saxelby in Chamber's Journal.

A LAUGH OR TWO

His Cruel Silence

The mother's heart sank as she entered the abode of her newly-married daughter and found the young wife in tears—floods of 'em.

"What is the matter, my darling?" she demanded, anxiously.

"Oh, Edward is a brute—a brute!" wailed the girl.

"Why do you say so?" asked the mother.

"He—he came home late for supper last night, and—and I scolded him a little."

"Quite right, too," agreed the older lady. "And what did he do?"

"Oh, mother, he—he—" Her voice failed her.

"Did he—did the callous wretch dare strike you?"

"Oh, worse than that, mother! He just sat there and—and yawned!"

The Same Sounds

Little Jimmie Pester—You promised to take me to the zoo to see the animals.

His Mother—I know I did, dear, but we won't have time. Your father will be home to dinner in a few minutes and you may sit up and go to the table with him.

Lawrence Wilson Company

87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES
RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

When a Scream Startles You —and your heart jumps up in your throat—and you know one of the children is hurt—run to the medicine cabinet for the bottle of Absorbine Jr.

Whether it is a cut hand or a gashed knee—a torn arm, burnt finger, sprained ankle, bruise or open wound—apply "ABSORBINE JR." full strength.

It may smart for an instant—but it will cleanse the wound, destroy germs, prevent infection, ease the pain and promote rapid and healthy healing.

For toothache, saturate cotton with "ABSORBINE JR." and place in the cavity in the tooth. Then rub the face with this reliable liniment—it stops the pain.

If the children get sore throat or tonsilitis, make a gargle with "ABSORBINE JR." You see how useful, how handy, how necessary it is to keep a bottle of "ABSORBINE JR." always in the house—it saves so much pain and suffering.

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists' or sent postpaid by

W. F. YOUNG Inc.,
Lyman Building. - - Montreal.

For that Crunchy Freshness and that honey-touched Flavor

Kellogg's HAVE BEEN MADE FOR 14 YEARS IN A BIG CLEAN PLANT AT LONDON, ONT.

THIS BAR IN RED INK IS PRINTED ONLY ON GENUINE ORIGINAL KELLOGG'S

London the home of Kellogg's

HENRY FORD SAYS: "DOWN GO CARS"

HOLMES & MURDOFF SAY: "DOWN GO SHOES!"

Yes, DOWN --- DOWN --- DOWN Goes

SHOES

Greatest buy of the season Men's HIGH CLASS SHOES at $6.00 pr

Having been in a position to secure 400 pairs of Men's High Grade Goodyear Welt Shoes, in Black and Mahogany Leather, new recede toes, at a very remarkable price, we are offering the complete lot, all sizes, at the ridiculous price of $6.00. It is actually $1.00 below the cost to manufacture these goods and means a

Saving of $3.00 to $4.00 pair

Women's Black Kid Oxfords, wing tip, heavy double soles. All sizes $5.95

Boys' School Boots of black durable leather. Sizes 11, 12, 13. Only $2.45

Just 39 pairs Women's High Cut Black Kid Walking Boots, all sizes, wing tip, recede toe $6.95
(We Can Fit You Correctly)

CLASSIC FOOTWEAR for INFANTS $2.35 & $3.00

HOLMES & MURDOFF
SHOE SPECIALISTS
BELLEVILLE TRENTON

KORKER SHOES for all the KIDDIES $3.00 to $6.00

"How Delicious"
is the opinion of all who have once tried
"SALADA"
TEA
B719

If YOU have not tried it, send us a post card for a free sample, stating the price you now pay and if you use Black, Green or Mixed Tea. Address Salada, Toronto

Choose your "D & A"—there is one to suit your figure—which will do full justice to it—help it—give the latest contour—and absolute comfort.

Made in a perfectly equipped Canadian corsetry—one of the largest in the world—giving the benefit of a perfect system, working to produce in Canada at lowest cost, corsets best suited for Canadian women.

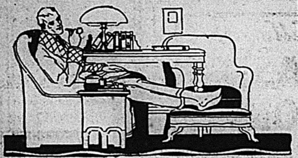
Sold by the best dealers.

DOMINION CORSET CO., Quebec, Montreal, Toronto.
Makers of "LA DIVA" and "GODDESS" Corsets.

Style 360

NON RUSTABLE D&A CORSETS

1-120



A PERFECT END OF A DAY.

Cool, comfortable feet, no burning, itching or aching.

That's what Mercury Socks have made possible.

Designed for foot comfort as well as durability! Carefully knit, plenty of foot room, no skimping anywhere to save material—all factors of the Mercury quality.

Tested threads and yarns and permanent dyes are our assurance of durability.

Mercury socks are made in a wide range of materials from the finest silk for dress wear to heavy wool for rough outdoor use.

If your dealer does not carry Mercury hose, send us his name.

MERCURY MILLS, LIMITED, Hamilton, Canada

Makers of Mercury Underwear and Hosiery for Men, Women and Children.

Mercury Hosiery
112

BRUCE'S FLOWERING BULBS

For Wintering Flowering in the House and Spring Flowering in the Garden

Exquisite colors and fragrance—EASILY GROWN
Must be planted this Fall.

	Each	Doz.	100
Crocus, in 4 colors	$0.04	$0.35	$2.00
Freezias	.05	.40	2.50
Lilies, Calla White	.25	2.50
Lilies, Chinese Sacred	.25	2.50
Hyacinths, Roman, 3 colors	.12	1.25	9.00
Hyacinths, Dutch, 4 colors	.11	1.15	8.50
Narcissus, single, 4 varieties	.08	.80	5.50
Narcissus, double, 4 varieties	.09	.85	6.00
Narcissus, Paper White	.08	.75	5.00
Scilla Siberica, Blue	.05	.50	3.75
Snowdrops, single, White	.04	.40	2.75
Tulips, single, 4 colors	.07	.70	4.75
Tulips, double 4 colors	.07	.70	5.00
Tulips, Parrot, mixed	.07	.65	4.50
Tulips, Darwin, mixed	.07	.70	5.00

All these bulbs will be ready the end of September

FREE—Send for our 32 page illustrated catalogue of Bulbs, Plants, Seeds and Poultry Supplies, etc., NOW READY.

JOHN A. BRUCE & COMPANY, LIMITED
HAMILTON • Established 1850 • ONTARIO 228

The Thirteenth Commandment

By RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

He felt like the pauper who received a white elephant for a present. But she was gorgeous in her trappings. They embraced with mutual approval. He laughed:

"I was going to begin economy by cutting out the taxi business, but I couldn't carry a Cleopatra like you in the subway. You look like all the money in the world. And you're worth it." In the taxicab he crushed her to him again in a dismal ecstasy and sighed gayly: "You're too grand for me, honey. I'm busted higher than a kite. You didn't bring home any change, of course."

"I did better than that," she beamed, and, being married to him, made no bones about bending and disclosing one entire silk stocking most elegantly repleted. It was transparent, translucent, indeed, like gossamer over marble, and of a sapling symmetry except for one unsightly knob which she deftly removed and placed in the hand of Bayard.

He did not need to glance at his palm to tell that: it was full of banknotes.

"What's all this?" he said.

And she, prim and proper again, chortled. "That's the money you telegraphed me to pay my bills with."

"But—"

"This is no time to pay bills."

"You're a genius," he said.

And she was, in her way.

When they were at home again he told her of his ruinous speculations. She did not reproach him. She was gambler enough to thrill at the high chance, and sportswoman enough not to blame him for losing his stakes.

"Don't you worry!" she said, from his lap, as from a dais. "We'll be rich yet. You mustn't imagine anything else. There's everything in thinking a thing is going to happen. I'm too sensitive to be a Christian Scientist about pain, but I am one about good luck. You must just tell yourself that you're going to come out all right and you will.

"And we must keep up appearances so that other people will believe in us. It's the only way, too, to keep your credit good. I learned that at Newport. People who are people up there never pay their bills. That's why they get trusted everywhere, and have plenty of cash. Their creditors don't dare insult 'em or sue 'em. The only people who get sued are the poor little dubs that pay cash most of the time and then ask to be trusted when they're hard up."

Bayard had rebuked Leila for spending money on clothes and on amusements. But she had had the fun; she still had the clothes; and where were the fruits of his years of self-denial? Where were his hoarded earnings? His few bonds were irredeemably in pawn. And on the roads of Belgium and East Prussia myriads of wretches who had kept thrift and builded them houses were staggering along in hungry penury, fugitive from shattered homes and wondering about the next day's bread.

CHAPTER XV.

Bayard tried Leila's recipe for a time, but there were expenses that he could not charge, and even the wad of money she had smuggled out of Newport did not last long. Other people were no more willing to pay bills than he. Moneys that were owed to him he could not collect. He could not respond to the multitudinous appeals for charity. This was a real shame in times of such frantic needs. He could not do any of the honorable, pleasant things that one can do with money. He had to do many of the dishonorable, loathsome things one without money must do.

In his desperation Bayard's thoughts reverted to his original rescuer, his father. He never appealed to the old man in vain. Bayard had often promised himself the delight of sending home a big check as a subtraction from his venerable debt. But it was a promise easy to defer in the face of all the other temptations and opportunities. His father never pressed him, never expected a return of the money he had been investing in the boy. For a child is a piece of furniture bought on the instalment plan to go into somebody's else house as soon as it is paid for.

Bayard put off the appeal to his father as long as he dared, but at last sat down to the hateful letter.

He hated to trouble his poor old dad at such a time (he wrote with truth), but his very life depended on raising some immediate money. He was young and husky and he would be on his feet in a jiffy. He would pay back every cent in a short while, even if he had to borrow it of some one else. Anyway, in a few weeks the panicky conditions would be over and business would return to the normal. He knew, he wrote, that "Old Reliable Kip" could perform his usual miracle and get blood from some of those Cleveland turnips.

He was so sure of his father that he ended his letter with an advance payment of thanks. This was the first payment he had made in advance for a long time.

He sealed the letter, put a special delivery stamp on it, and took it to the branch post office so that it would reach Cleveland without fail the next morning.

When he got back to the house there was a telegram from home.

"Leaving beaver due tomorrow a. m. don't meet me but be home must see you important mamma well love.

"FATHER."

The next morning Bayard rose betimes to meet his father at the train. And Daphne went to the Grand Central station with him. She ran to her father and flung her arms about him, and Bayard hugged him and carried his suitcase for him. It was no time to be tipping a porter. Nor to be making use of taxicabs with the jitney subway at hand. Bayard lugged his father's suitcase along Fifty-ninth street. The hall boy, who had not been tipped for some days, observed a strict neutrality. He was feeling the pinch, too.

When breakfast was ended Wesley noted that Leila herself carried the dishes away, with Daphne's help. When the table was clear she closed the door on the two men and said:

"We'll leave you two alone to talk business."

The two men regarded each other askance, as uneasily as two wrestlers circling for a hold. Wesley was the first to speak. He said:

"Well, my boy?"

"I wrote you a long letter last night, dad," Bayard said.

"You did? What about?"

(To Be Continued)

She Ran to Her Father and Flung Her Arms About Him.

WHEN USING WILSON'S
FLY PADS
READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

HAT MADE OF WOOD SHAVINGS

© Western Newspaper Union

From wood pulp and shavings this exquisite hat is fashioned. It was recently shown in New York, among a number of other late Parisian ideas.

Washing Laces.

Fine laces should be basted to a piece of cheesecloth before they are washed. Wash by "sousing" up and down in lukewarm neutral soap solution. Rinse in several clear waters. Lay out flat to partially dry, and then iron on the wrong side, so that the iron only comes in contact with the cheesecloth and not directly with the lace. When ironed and thoroughly dry, cut open the stitching, and the lace will be as fresh as new, if carefully done.

Latest Fichus.

Many of the latest fichus are long enough to reach the waistline. Some of them are so fashioned as to make a sort of combination vestee and fichu. But long or short, every woman should have at least one of these dress accessories in her top bureau drawer, for nothing will change the looks and freshen up an old dress so quickly.

GAY TOGGERY AT DANCES IN PARIS

Wealth of Beautiful Color Is Expressed in Clothes of the Richly Attired Women.

JABOT DRESSES IN EVIDENCE

Outfit Is Striking for Afternoon Wear; Almost Gaudy Silks Combined in Wonderful Way With Other Material.

The popularity of the dansant and the revival of the tango in Paris have had a remarkable influence on dress, writes a French fashion correspondent. The smart places where people gather for afternoon dancing have become centers of fashion. There are those who do not go to dance but simply to study the clothes, not only for the styles themselves, but for the wealth of beautiful color that is expressed in many of them, for this dancing craze has been the means of introducing unusual colorings of Spanish origin into our clothes.

Jabot dresses are still a very strong feature in Paris fashions; one sees an endless number of them at afternoon dances. The jabot skirt, when topped by a simple little bodice, makes a remarkably pretty afternoon dress. In fact, nothing could be more attractive than such a model when developed in a soft, clinging fabric. But all have not these modest corsages. There are extreme ones having sleeveless bodices almost as decollete as an evening gown.

One worn recently at a tea dance in Paris, too extreme to be worn by American women as an afternoon dress, would make a charming informal dinner frock. The original is developed in black satin and silver lace, the lace forming the jabot cascade down the sides of the draped skirt. A straight piece of the lace goes about the figure to make an under portion for the surplice bodice of black satin.

Old Favorites in New Patterns.

A great many beautiful new fabrics have large designs printed in bright colors. The fashion for having frocks made to match coat linings, which prevailed during the past winter, no doubt had a great deal to do with the development and elaboration of silks that were similar to the materials which we have been wont to employ as linings for wraps only. Many old favorites have returned to us in new guises as a result of the extensive use of these silks. Chiffon is one that has followed the lead of gay patterned silks.

Sleeveless dress worn recently at an afternoon tea dance in Paris. It is developed in black satin, the skirt having a jabot drapery of lace.

To read of a chiffon frock in which the material printed in a large design of two colors is combined with chiffon in two solid tones might give you the impression of a decidedly bizarre gown, but one has been developed in just this way and the result obtained by such a combination is simple and quaint.

The marriage, as the French say, of two colors, navy blue and white, is wonderfully worked out in this design. There is just enough of the deep blue in the upper part of the skirt to accentuate this note without making the dress dark. Where the printed fabric, which is white with a large blue design, joins the plain one, lace entre-deux is used for outlining the edges of the points and the oblique ends of the panels.

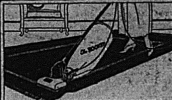
Chiffon Finds Fountain of Youth.

The straight line figure is preserved through the draped blouse, which is made entirely of the printed chiffon and has a fichu collar of pure white chiffon, also elaborated with the entre-deux. This dress is quite as charming when developed in emerald green and white or cerise and white.

Elaborate Hair Ornaments.

Spanish combs are more than ever favored. They are built quite high, with elaborate designs of iridescent stones. All kinds of pins and ornaments for the hair will be worn and the barrette will again be favored.

TO THE RESCUE



The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.

THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS
WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER
BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : :

The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.

THE HYDRO SHOP
Contractors in all kinds of
Electric Wiring
32 BRIDGE STREET

Last call for fall fruits

Do not miss your chance to preserve these last sun-ripened gifts of summertime. How your folks will enjoy them, and how pleased you will be to serve them when canned goods made with top-priced sugar are out of reach. The time for preserving foresight is when the fruit is still in season.

Lantic is your best friend in retaining the rare bouquet of luscious plums and peaches, of delicately-flavoured pears. Over-cooking is unnecessary, because it's

ATLANTIC
SUGAR REFINERIES,
LIMITED

Let us be known as
A THRIFTY PEOPLE!

Let us stop spending heedlessly and needlessly, and begin to save now and save regularly.

THERE IS A SAVINGS DEPARTMENT
AT EVERY BRANCH OF
THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

Belleville, Ont., Branch. W. A. PARKER, MANAGER

The Farmer-Banker Alliance

You go to your lawyer for legal advice; to the doctor for medical advice; why not to The Merchants Bank for financial advice?

If you want a loan to buy cattle, hogs or equipment—if you want information as to how to invest money—come to those who make a business of financial matters, and are in a position to give you sound and impartial advice.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA
DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.
Time of Departure from Belleville.
GOING EAST.
G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)
GOING WEST.
G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.
GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'
GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

"How Delicious"

is the opinion of all who have once tried

"SALADA"

TEA

B719

If YOU have not tried it, send us a post card for a free sample, stating the price you now pay and if you use Black, Green or Mixed Tea. Address Salada, Toronto

Choose your "D & A"—there is one to suit your figure—which will do full justice to it—help it—give the latest contour—and absolute comfort.

Made in a perfectly equipped Canadian corsetry—one of the largest in the world—giving the benefit of a perfect system, working to produce in Canada at lowest cost, corsets best suited for Canadian women.

Sold by the best dealers.

DOMINION CORSET CO., Quebec, Montreal, Toronto.
Makers of "LA DIVA" and "GODDESS" Corsets.

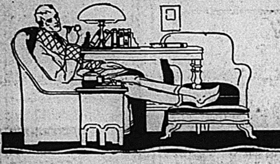
Style 360

NON RUSTABLE

D&A

CORSETS

1-120



A PERFECT END OF A DAY.

Cool, comfortable feet, no burning, itching or aching.

That's what Mercury Socks have made possible.

Designed for foot comfort as well as durability! Carefully knit, plenty of foot room, no skimping anywhere to save material—all factors of the Mercury quality.

Tested threads and yarns and permanent dyes are our assurance of durability.

Mercury socks are made in a wide range of materials from the finest silk for dress wear to heavy wool for rough outdoor use.

If your dealer does not carry Mercury hose, send us his name.

MERCURY MILLS, LIMITED, Hamilton, Canada

Makers of Mercury Underwear and Hosiery for Men, Women and Children.

Mercury Hosiery

112

BRUCE'S FLOWERING BULBS

For Wintering Flowering in the House and Spring Flowering in the Garden

Exquisite colors and fragrance—EASILY GROWN
Must be planted this Fall.

	Each	Doz.	100
Crocus, in 4 colors	$0.04	$0.35	$2.00
Freezias	.05	.40	2.50
Lilies, Calla White	.25	2.50
Lilies, Chinese Sacred	.25	2.50
Hyacinths, Roman, 3 colors	.12	1.25	9.00
Hyacinths, Dutch, 4 colors	.11	1.15	8.50
Narcissus, single, 4 varieties	.08	.80	5.50
Narcissus, double, 4 varieties	.09	.85	6.00
Narcissus, Paper White	.08	.75	5.00
Scilla Siberica, Blue	.05	.50	3.75
Snowdrops, single, White	.04	.40	2.75
Tulips, single, 4 colors	.07	.70	4.75
Tulips, double 4 colors	.07	.70	5.00
Tulips, Parrot, mixed	.07	.65	4.50
Tulips, Darwin, mixed	.07	.70	5.00

All these bulbs will be ready the end of September

FREE—Send for our 32 page illustrated catalogue of Bulbs, Plants, Seeds and Poultry Supplies, etc., NOW READY.

JOHN A. BRUCE & COMPANY, LIMITED
HAMILTON - Established 1850 - ONTARIO 226

The Thirteenth Commandment

By

RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

He felt like the pauper who received a white elephant for a present. But she was gorgeous in her trappings. They embraced with mutual approval. He laughed:

"I was going to begin economy by cutting out the taxi business, but I couldn't carry a Cleopatra like you in the subway. You look like all the money in the world. And you're worth it." In the taxicab he crushed her to him again in a dismal ecstasy and sighed gayly: "You're too grand for me, honey. I'm busted higher than a kite. You didn't bring home any change, of course."

"I did better than that," she beamed, and, being married to him, made no bones about bending and disclosing one entire silk stocking most elegantly repleted. It was transparent, translucent, indeed, like gossamer over marble, and of a sapling symmetry except for one unsightly knob which she deftly removed and placed in the hand of Bayard.

He did not need to glance at his palm to tell it: it was full of banknotes.

"What's all this?" he said.

And she, prim and proper again, chortled. "That's the money you telegraphed me to pay my bills with."

"But—"

"This is no time to pay bills."

"You're a genius," he said.

And she was, in her way.

When they were at home again he told her of his ruinous speculations. She did not reproach him. She was gambler enough to thrill at the high chance, and sportswoman enough not to blame him for losing his stakes.

"Don't you worry!" she said, from his lap, as from a dais. "We'll be rich yet. You mustn't imagine anything else. There's everything in thinking a thing is going to happen. I'm too sensitive to be a Christian Scientist about pain, but I am one about good luck. You must just tell yourself that you're going to come out all right and you will.

"And we must keep up appearances so that other people will believe in us. It's the only way, too, to keep your credit good. I learned that at Newport. People who are people up there never pay their bills. That's why they get trusted everywhere, and have plenty of cash. Their creditors don't dare insult 'em or sue 'em. The only people who get sued are the poor little dubs that pay cash most of the time and then ask to be trusted when they're hard up."

Bayard had rebuked Leila for spending money on clothes and on amusements. But she had had the fun; she still had the clothes; and where were the fruits of his years of self-denial? Where were his hoarded earnings? His few bonds were irredeemably in pawn. And on the roads of Belgium and East Prussia myriads of wretches who had kept thrift and builded them houses were staggering along in hungry penury, fugitive from shattered homes and wondering about the next day's bread.

CHAPTER XV.

Bayard tried Leila's recipe for a time, but there were expenses that he could not charge, and even the wad of money she had smuggled out of Newport did not last long. Other people were no more willing to pay bills than he. Moneys that were owed to him he could not collect. He could not respond to the multitudinous appeals for charity. This was a real shame in times of such frantic needs. He could not do any of the honorable, pleasant things that one can do with money. He had to do many of the dishonorable, loathsome things one without money must do.

In his desperation Bayard's thoughts reverted to his original rescuer, his father. He never appealed to the old man in vain. Bayard had often promised himself the delight of sending home a big check as a subtraction from his venerable debt. But it was a promise easy to defer in the face of all the other [illegible] and opportunities. His father never pressed him, never expected a return of the money he had been investing in the boy. For a child is a piece of furniture bought on the instalment plan to go into somebody's else house as soon as it is paid for.

Bayard put off the appeal to his father as long as he dared, but at last sat down to the hateful letter.

He hated to trouble his poor old dad at such a time (he wrote with truth), but his very life depended on raising some immediate money. He was young and husky and he would be on his feet in a jiffy. He would pay back every cent in a short while, even if he had to borrow it of some one else. Anyway, in a few weeks the panicky conditions would be over and business would return to the normal. He knew, he wrote, that "Old Reliable Kip" could perform his usual miracle and get blood from some of those Cleveland turnips.

He was so sure of his father that he ended his letter with an advance payment of thanks. This was the first payment he had made in advance for a long time.

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

He sealed the letter, put a special delivery stamp on it, and took it to the branch post office so that it would reach Cleveland without fail the next morning.

When he got back to the house there was a telegram from home.

"Leaving beaver due tomorrow a. m. don't meet me but be home must see you important mamma well love.

"FATHER."

The next morning Bayard rose betimes to meet his father at the train. And Daphne went to the Grand Central station with him. She ran to her father and flung her arms about him, and Bayard hugged him and carried his suitcase for him. It was no time to be tipping a porter. Nor to be making use of taxicabs with the jitney subway at hand. Bayard lugged his father's suitcase along Fifty-ninth street. The hall boy, who had not been tipped for some days, observed a strict neutrality. He was feeling the pinch, too.

When breakfast was ended Wesley noted that Leila herself carried the dishes away, with Daphne's help. When the table was clear she closed the door on the two men and said:

"We'll leave you two alone to talk business."

The two men regarded each other askance, as uneasily as two wrestlers circling for a hold. Wesley was the first to speak. He said:

She Ran to Her Father and Flung Her Arms About Him.

"Well, my boy?"

"I wrote you a long letter last night, dad," Bayard said.

"You did? What about?"

(To Be Continued)

HAT MADE OF WOOD SHAVINGS

© Western Newspaper Union

From wood pulp and shavings this exquisite hat is fashioned. It was recently shown in New York, among a number of other late Parisian ideas.

Washing Laces.

Fine laces should be basted to a piece of cheesecloth before they are washed. Wash by "sousing" up and down in lukewarm neutral soap solution. Rinse in several clear waters. Lay out flat to partially dry, and then iron on the wrong side, so that the iron only comes in contact with the cheesecloth and not directly with the lace. When ironed and thoroughly dry, cut open the stitching, and the lace will be as fresh as new, if carefully done.

Latest Fichus.

Many of the latest fichus are long enough to reach the waistline. Some of them are so fashioned as to make a sort of combination vestee and fichu. But long or short, every woman should have at least one of these dress accessories in her top bureau drawer, for nothing will change the looks and freshen up an old dress so quickly.

GAY TOGGERY AT DANCES IN PARIS

Wealth of Beautiful Color Is Expressed in Clothes of the Richly Attired Women.

JABOT DRESSES IN EVIDENCE

Outfit Is Striking for Afternoon Wear; Almost Gaudy Silks Combined in Wonderful Way With Other Material.

The popularity of the dansant and the revival of the tango in Paris have had a remarkable influence on dress, writes a French fashion correspondent. The smart places where people gather for afternoon dancing have become centers of fashion. There are those who do not go to dance but simply to study the clothes, not only for the styles themselves, but for the wealth of beautiful color that is expressed in many of them, for this dancing craze has been the means of introducing unusual colorings of Spanish origin into our clothes.

Jabot dresses are still a very strong feature in Paris fashions; one sees an endless number of them at afternoon dances. The jabot skirt, when topped by a simple little bodice, makes a remarkably pretty afternoon dress. In fact, nothing could be more attractive than such a model when developed in a soft, clinging fabric. But all have not these modest corsages. There are extreme ones having sleeveless bodices almost as decollete as an evening gown.

One worn recently at a tea dance in Paris, too extreme to be worn by American women as an afternoon dress, would make a charming informal dinner frock. The original is developed in black satin and silver lace, the lace forming the jabot cascade down the sides of the draped skirt. A straight piece of the lace goes about the figure to make an under portion for the surplice bodice of black satin.

Old Favorites in New Patterns.

A great many beautiful new fabrics have large designs printed in bright colors. The fashion for having frocks made to match coat linings, which prevailed during the past winter, no doubt had a great deal to do with the development and elaboration of silks that were similar to the materials which we have been wont to employ as linings for wraps only. Many old favorites have returned to us in new guises as a result of the extensive use of these silks. Chiffon is one that has followed the lead of gay patterned silks.

Sleeveless dress worn recently at an afternoon tea dance in Paris. It is developed in black satin, the skirt having a jabot drapery of lace.

To read of a chiffon frock in which the material printed in a large design of two colors is combined with chiffon in two solid tones might give you the impression of a decidedly bizarre gown, but one has been developed in just this way and the result obtained by such a combination is simple and quaint.

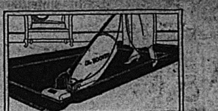
The marriage, as the French say, of two colors, navy blue and white, is wonderfully worked out in this design. There is just enough of the deep blue in the upper part of the skirt to accentuate this note without making the dress dark. Where the printed fabric, which is white with a large blue design, joins the plain one, lace entre-deux is used for outlining the edges of the points and the oblique ends of the panels.

Chiffon Finds Fountain of Youth.

The straight line figure is preserved through the draped blouse, which is made entirely of the printed chiffon and has a fichu collar of pure white chiffon, also elaborated with the entre-deux. This dress is quite as charming when developed in emerald green and white or cerise and white.

Elaborate Hair Ornaments.

Spanish combs are more than ever favored. They are built quite high, with elaborate designs of iridescent stones. All kinds of pins and ornaments for the hair will be worn and the barrette will again be favored.



TO THE RESCUE

The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.

☞ THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : : ☜

The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.

THE HYDRO SHOP

Contractors in all kinds of
Electric Wiring
32 BRIDGE STREET

Last call for fall fruits

Do not miss your chance to preserve these last sun-ripened gifts of summertime. How your folks will enjoy them, and how pleased you will be to serve them when canned goods made with top-priced sugar are out of reach. The time for preserving foresight is when the fruit is still in season.

Lantic is your best friend in retaining the rare bouquet of luscious plums and peaches, of delicately-flavoured pears. Over-cooking is unnecessary, because it's

ATLANTIC
SUGAR REFINERIES,
LIMITED

Let us be known as

A THRIFTY PEOPLE!

Let us stop spending heedlessly and needlessly, and begin to save now and save regularly.

THERE IS A SAVINGS DEPARTMENT AT EVERY BRANCH OF

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

Belleville, Ont., Branch, W. A. PARKER, MANAGER

The Farmer-Banker Alliance

You go to your lawyer for legal advice; to the doctor for medical advice; why not to The Merchants Bank for financial advice?

If you want a loan to buy cattle, hogs or equipment—if you want information as to how to invest money—come to those who make a business of financial matters, and are in a position to give you sound and impartial advice.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

1870 Our Golden Jubilee 1920

The Spirit of the Mutual

THE spirit of the Mutual is reflected in the well-known slogan of the company —"we aim to furnish the largest amount of sound life insurance for the least possible outlay."

The spirit of the Mutual is therefore the spirit of public service, and to achieve its purpose, much unselfish effort and even of sacrifice has gone into the building up of the organization. The good of the many, not personal profit, is the secret of the wonderful success of the Mutual of Canada.

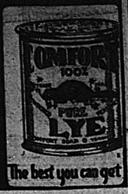
To see such an altruistic institution as the Mutual Life of Canada planted and growing, and year by year widening the area of its protecting branches is the motive of the leaders of the company.

In the last five years the business of the company has doubled; the next five will probably see a similar development. Fifty years of Public Service have revealed to the people of Canada the spirit of the Mutual which is the spirit of co-operative service.

Be a Mutualist!

The Mutual Life of Canada
Waterloo, Ontario

S. BURROWS, GENERAL AGENT,
BELLEVILLE, ONT.



WE WILL TELL YOU

—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.

Phone DAY 531

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

A Reformed Crook.

Sauntering along the streets of Toronto a few days ago, his straw hat tipped with the same jaunty angle, but his eye lacking the predatory glance which in former years spotted rolls in rich men's pockets, "Razor" Fenton paid a visit to former surroundings and bases of operation. Ten years ago he left Toronto, branded from coast to coast as yeggman and professional crook. To-day, after three years of straight steering he comes with advice to all young men to "live clean." Since his conversion, "Razor" has not touched a drop of whiskey and though surrounded daily with chances, has never had an inclination to steal. He is now on lecture tours throughout the country.

The yeggman's career has been an interesting one. Born in Montreal, he developed an early taste for crime and says that until his conversion he had stolen over $250,000.

"All I did was 'dip' into the pockets of men coming out of the banks, boarding "shorts" (street cars) and flim flam merchants," he said in describing his life. "In 1901 I was arrested in Windsor for relieving a Montreal business man of $10,000 as he was coming out of a bank. I had evaded the police for eighteen months, but served three years in the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary for it. In 1899 I was arrested in Toronto on suspicion. I told them my name was Gordon and I was the son of an Adelaide street broker. They took me along and told me to show them my father's office. At Victoria street I turned and while the coppers were looking for the place I was indicating with my arm I made a get-away. They never saw me again."

Fenton still recalls his conversion at the same meeting in the Pacific Garden Mission, where Billy Sunday renounced his old life. "I had been always dissatisfied with my life, and the appeal of the minister was so strong that I decided to renounce the old gang forever." Fenton said to an old acquaintance in Toronto. "I still claim that a criminal is not mentally wrong. He is simply wrong at the heart. Since I took Christ at His word that night I have never had the slightest inclination to steal."

The former convict carries two bullets in his leg, trophies of an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the Texas penitentiary. He also spent six months in the Toronto Jail, following a short campaign of short-changing a number of Toronto merchants. The subjects which he now addresses young men on include "Does Crime Pay the Criminal?" "Is There Honor Among Thieves," "Crooked Policemen," "Are Criminals Mentally Abnormal?" "The Idea of God as a Friend."

Real Criticism.

"How did Bliggins get to be so relentless a musical critic?"

"By listening attentively to all the things musicians say about one another."

FOR SPLINT LAMENESS

How to Deal With This Trouble in Young Horses.

A Bone Affection — Young Animals Most Commonly Affected—Symptoms Described and Treatment Offered.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

SPLINT lameness is a common complaint in young horses, and occasionally seen in horses of any age. It is rarely noticed in the hand limbs.

In order to understand and appreciate the trouble it is necessary to have an intelligent idea of the bony anatomy of the horse from the knee to the fetlock. This part is usually called the cannon. It consists of three bones: one large cannon bone extending the whole distance, from the knee in the fore limb, and from the hock in the hind limb to their respective fetlock joints. This bone has a broad and somewhat flat posterior surface. To each edge of this surface is attached (by ligamentous attachment) a small somewhat triangular-shaped bone, of considerable size above, where it articulates with the bones of the knee joint, and gradually decreases in size as it extends downwards, becoming quite small, and terminating in a small somewhat pea-shaped nodule, a little more than two-thirds down the large bone. These nodules can be readily felt, one on each side of the posterior aspect of the large bone, a few inches above the fetlock.

A splint consists in a bony union between the large and small bones.

Inflammation is set up, usually by concussion during travelling, especially on hard roads. As a result of this inflammation an exudate is thrown out, and the ligamentous attachment is destroyed. The exudate is, of course, soft at first, but soon become converted into bone and unites the large and small bones by bony union. An enlargement of greater or less size can usually be seen, which, in most cases, gradually disappears, by absorption until nothing can be noticed, and in many cases cannot be detected even by manipulation; at the same time the ossific (bony) union between the bones is permanent. Hence a horse that once has a splint will always have it, although all visible symptoms may have disappeared.

We often hear people say that "A horse over seven years old never has splints." This arises from the fact that the visible enlargement has usually disappeared, but the union of the bones remains. This absorption does not always occur. It is not uncommon to observe well marked splints in horses of any age. In some cases the splint is double—that is, an enlargement is noticable on each side of the limb. In such cases there is usually a bony deposit extending across the posterior surface of the large bone, from one splint to the other. This often causes an irritation to the suspensory ligament (which passes down this surface) and causes permanent lameness. Splints seldom cause persistent or permanent lameness.

Symptoms.—In many cases no lameness is caused. The first intimation of the presence of splint is the appearance of the enlargement, which usually gradually disappears. In other cases lameness is well marked, and is usually characteristic. A horse lame from splint will usually stand and walk sound, but if asked to jog or trot will show well marked lameness, the head dropping decidedly when the foot of the sound leg touches the ground. The lameness is often noticed before there is any visible enlargement. The lameness is more marked when the horse trots down grade, and the intensity of the lameness usually increases as exercise is continued. Manipulation will usually reveal the seat of the trouble. By pressing between the thumb and finger the line of attachment between the large and small bones from the knee downwards, the seat can be located by the horse flinching when the seat of the trouble is pressed. And, if severe pressure be applied he will often rear on his hind legs. The usual seat of splint is on the inner surface of the fore cannen, or it may be on the outer surface, or both, and is usually one to three inches below the knee, but may be either higher or lower. The hind limb is seldom affected, but when it is the seat is usually on the outer surface.

Treatment.—Lameness is usually present only during the inflammatory stage. When the exudate becomes ossified (converted into bone) the inflammatory action ceases and lameness disappears, except the enlargement be of sufficient size, or so situated that it irritates the suspensory ligament or involves the joint. Hence treatment should be directed to allay inflammation as promptly as possible. Splint lameness usually appears very suddenly. A horse may go perfectly sound and after a rest of a variable duration when taken out to drive again, may show the characteristic symptoms noted.

The patient should be given perfect rest, and the seat of the splint should be showered with cold water frequently, or pounded ice kept to it for a few days. This will often be all that is necessary. In other cases lameness is more persistent, and it is necessary to apply a blister. A blister made of one dram each of biniodide of mercury and cantharides mixed with one oz. vaseline, and applied in the ordinary way will usually effect a cure. In some cases it is necessary to blister the second time (in about a month). In rare cases an operation by a veterinarian is necessary.

When lameness is not shown it is seldom considered necessary to treat splint, as the enlargement usually, gradually disappears without treatment.—J. H. Reed, V.S., O. A. College, Guelph.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound. A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

Fried Cakes

We are again making these ever popular old fashioned cakes.

30c. a dozen.

GET SOME TODAY!

CHAS. S. CLAPP

NEW GOODS
At Wallbridge & Clarke's

at WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S
Robertson's Scotch Marmalade
Clover Leaf Salmon
Bird's Custard Powder
New Gulf Lobster
Strained Honey—5 & 10 lb. tins.
Asparagus Tips
Canadian Peas
Buckwheat Flour
Candied Ginger—½ lb. tins
Domolco Molasses
Cinnamon Sticks (fine quality) pkgs 5c
Gusto
Force
H—O—Oats
New Fancy Biscuits—
  Oatcakes, Shortbreads
  Chocolate Biscuits, etc.
Crosse & Blackwell's Pickles—
  Walnuts, Chow-Chow, etc.
Lea & Perrins' Sauce
Libby's Baked Beans, tins, 20c.
Chloride Lime—10 & 15c. boxes

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

School Days are Alarm Clock Days

To get family dressed, fed and off to work and school on time means getting out of bed early, and there is only one sure way of waking up at the desired hour every morning. It is the trusty alarm clock.

It is the greatest little regulator, organizer, time, trouble and worry saver you can put in the house. Buy one today at Blackburn's. We've the style you like, and the make that you can depend on as an alarm, and as a timekeeper.

$2.75 to $6.00.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

THE "LIFTUP"
(Patented)

ALL BIAS FILLED CORSETS are designed in conformity with the science of Anatomy.

The "Liftup" a patented invention with non-slip elastic inside belt, gently supports the abdomen, and is very beneficial for use after an operation involving an abdominal incision. Most effective in relieving those physical ailments from which many women suffer.

Write us NOW, for useful hints on fitting and self-measurement. Free upon request.

BIAS CORSETS LIMITED,
41 BRITTAIN STREET
TORONTO

Built in Canada by Skilled Canadian Workers and Canadian Capital

GRAY-DORT

Adding Many Improvements to Original Value

TO-DAY'S Gray-Dort is modern, refined, a year ahead of other light cars. From the front axle to the gasoline tank in the rear, our engineers have made changes at every point where change meant improvement.

And from the European-type hood, with its many long, narrow louvres, to the Rayntite top, hand-tailored in our own shop, to-day's Gray-Dort has the simple, dignified elegance, and quality look, that makes every owner speak proudly of "his car."

You must see, drive, ride in, the new Gray-Dort. Our dealers tell us that they are going to be short of cars. Better see your dealer now.

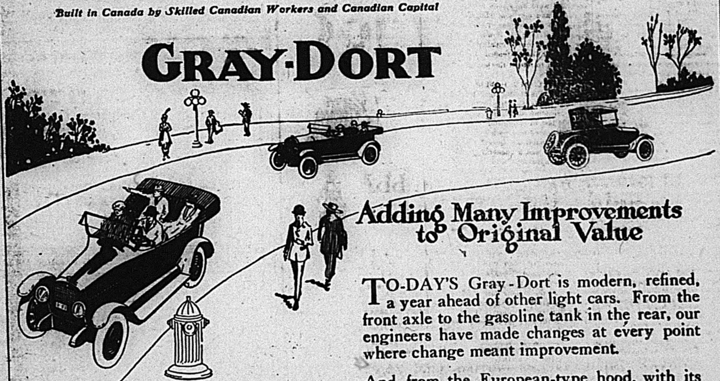
F. C. LEE,
DEALER
BELLEVILLE

PRICES

		ALL TAXES INCLUDED
Model 15 Regular	$1575.00	"
" 15M Special	$1746.00	"
" 15D Ace	$1862.00	"
" 10 Roadster	$1575.00	"

All f.o.b. Factory—Freight only extra

GRAY-DORT MOTORS, LIMITED
Chatham, Ontario



Fall Suits and Coats

of Superb Style and Excellent Quality

A WONDERFUL SHOWING OF NEW FALL STYLES IN THE LATEST MODELS.

NEW SUITS—in Velour, specially priced at $55.00 and $58.50

NEW COATS in Velour, Silvertone, Tweeds, Plush, etc., specially priced at .... $35.00 to $110.00

KIDDIE SWEATERS.—We have just placed in stock a big shipment of Children's Pullover Sweaters. Just the garment for cool weather. Priced at $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50

ENGLISH FLANNELETTES.—A big assortment of English Striped Flannelette. Special va'ues at 45c., 50c. and 60c.

EARLE & COOK CO.

WE SELL McCALL PATTERNS.

McCALL'S FASHIONS ARE HERE

Autumn Footwear

Ladies and Men, we invite your inspection of our

New Fall Shoes

as our lines are complete in every detail, and the greatest variety of styles and different kinds of leather can be seen at the

Leslie Shoe Store

PHONE 553.

SEE SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Misses & Young Ladies Fur Sets

If you are needing a Fur for the chilly evenings, call in and take a look around our stock. We have a nice assortment of MISSES' and YOUNG LADIES' sets cut from the choicest skins and fashioned on the very latest designs.

We would especially recommend you to see our sets in

JAPANESE CROSS FOX, BADGER AUSTRALIAN AND AMERICAN OPOSSUM, GREY SQUIRREL.

The price you will find reasonable, being from $35.00 per set up

DELANEY

Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.

17 Campbell Street.

PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE

CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily.

ED. A. KELLAWAY

PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

City And Country

CANNING FACTORIES BUSY

The canning factories have, been working overtime for the last two weeks. This year's crop of corn and tomatoes is proving to be a bountiful one. Not for many years have such quantities been delivered at the local factories. In fact so abundant is the crop that it is taxing the capacity of the seven canning factories in Picton to take care of it without serious loss. Every one of the Picton factories are running at full capacity from 7 o'clock in the morning until late at night. Many thousands of bushels of tomatoes and many hundred tons of corn are being put in the cans each day. The canning business in Prince Edward County is a great industry and this is a banner year. The pea crop was excellent and now the farmers are gathering a bumper crop of corn and tomatoes. Prince Edward bids fair to continue this year to hold her former record of producing annually the greatest value of agricultural products per capita of any county in the province.—Picton Gazette.

A LARGE MARKET

As was anticipated there was a large attendance upon the market this morning and in consequence much produce was offered for sale and remunerative prices were obtained. Fresh dairy butter was scarce and sold readily at 72c to 75c a pound. The ruling price for strictly fresh eggs was 63c and 65c per dozen. Dressed chickens sold from $2 to $2.50 a pair according to size and quality and ducks, $3.50 to $4.00 a pair. Garden produce was exceptionally plentiful and much was disposed of. Potatoes sold at 90c and $1.00 a bushel and from $1.40 to $1.50 a bag. apples from 25c to 35 c a peck. Water melons and musk melons were offered for sale in considerable quantities and the price varied from 10c to 25c each according to size.

GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Wm. A. Richardson, a young man from Tweed who was convicted on a charge of theft of a watch and chain, was this morning before Magistrate Masson for sentence. Owing to testimonials being presented on his behalf the magistrate alowed him out on suspended sentence of one year. Mr. Ruston, agent of the Childrens' Aid Society undertook to interest himself on behalf of Richardson.

AN ANNOYANCE

The police were yesterday informed by a lady residing on Bleecker avenue that she was annoyed by boys lighting grass fires near her residence.. The police investigated the affair and gave timely warning to the boys to desist in their actions.

WANTED A RIDE

Last night a Ford car, the property of Mr. T. O. Smith of Canifton was reported stolen, but was later recovered. The car was taken from off Front street and was found on Church street.

FOUND DEAD ON ROAD

A sad occurrence happened at Ivanhoe on Thursday evening when Mr. Thos. Tummon was found dead on the road between A. Dugan's and the corner. He had brought a pail of water from Mr. H. Elliott's and fell on the way. Heart failure is believed to have been the cause.

TWO ARRESTS MADE

As the result of two calls answered by the police last night, two arrests were made, one for drunkenness and one for soliciting alms.

FAMILY REUNION.

A family reunion of the LaRue family was held on Friday at Massassaga Point. The party left by motor boat from the Government dock early in the morning and cruised around the bay before landing at Massassaga. Several family groups were taken and at 2 o'clock a sumptuous dinner was served, about fifty plates being laid. The afternoon was spent in talking over old times. The leading feature of the afternoon was a trip to Point Ann, where the LaRue seniors visited their old family home, which was vacated by them many years ago. Almost all the family connections were present, from the senior brothers and sisters to their great-grandchildren. The day was brought to a close by a delightful supper, served in old fashioned style on the grounds. Among the out of town members were: Mrs. W. H. Burdick, Pierre Ponte Manor, N.Y.; Mrs. Margaret Collins, Belleville, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Collins, Belleville, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Damon and son Jack from Grace Bend, N.Y.

SUMMER

ASTHMA— HAY FEVER

—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—

RAZ-MAH

brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.

Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

GET PENNY BAGS READY.

Citizens who have the penny bags are reminded to have them ready for the collectors, who will make their round on Monday.

MARINE NOTES.

The barge White and Frisk, capacity 700 tons, owned by Robert Weddell of Trenton, is unloading coal at Point Ann into cars for distribution to various points in Ontario. The schooners Grace M. Filer and Horace Taber, each with 450 tons, are discharging their cargoes into cars at the new Government wharf. These cargoes are all owned and under the direction of the Schuster Co., Ltd. The steamer Belleville is stopping at the new Government wharf and is carrying large cargoes east and west.

FINED $200 AND COSTS

Michael Deboni, in whose place of business on Front street, the police found nine bottles of liquor, was today before Magistrate Masson convicted of having liquor in a place other than his residence. A fine of $200 and costs was imposed which was paid. Mr. Carnew for prosecution. Mr. E. J. Butler for the accused.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Clem Ellis was today before Magistrate Masson charged with disorderly conduct. The offence was proved and a fine of $15 and costs was imposed which was paid. Mr. E. D. O'Flynn appeared for the accused.

Called by Death

WILLIAM WALTER POWER

In the passing of Mr. William Walter Power, which occurred yesterday afternoon at Seaton Hospital. New York, a former well known and much esteemed citizen has entered into rest. Deceased was 52 years of age and was born at Canifton, being a son of the late Capt. William Power. For a number of years Mr. Power was in the theatrical business and for some time was manager of the opera house here. Of late years he had been the owner of an educated troupe of elephants which attracted the attention of many spectators at the hippodrome at New York and were once seen in this city. A widow and one son, Thomas, survives, also one brother, T.P.J. of Chicago and Miss Maud Power of this city. The sincere sympathy of many citizens will be extended to those called upon to mourn the loss of a loved one.

WILLIAM J. HASLIP

William John Haslip, aged 11 years, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Haslip, residing at 373 Bleecker avenue died last evening after a brief illness. Deceased was born in this city and was a pupil of Queen Victoria School. He was a general favorite with his companions who mourn his demise. Deceased was a scholar of the Tabernacle Sunday School. In addition to the parents, two sisters, Julia and Marguerite survive. To the bereaved will be extended the heartfelt sympathy of many.

DIED

HASLIP—In Belleville on Friday, September 24th, 1920, William John Haslip, aged 11 years.

The funeral will take place from the residence of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Haslip, 373 Bleecker avenue on Monday, 27th inst at 2.30 p.m. Services at the house at 2 o'clock. Interment Belleville cemetery.

Y. M. C. A. BILLIARD AND BOWLING OPENING.

The Y.M.C.A. billiard and bowling department will be open on Monday, September 27th. The billiaad tables and bowling alleys have been thoroughly overhauled and everything will be in good condition for the opening. The various leagues will be organized in the near future and a busy season is anticipated.

On Saturday morning in the Y. tank the first swimming events for the season were "run" off. The junior one-length swim was won by E. Blanchard in fairly fast time for a beginner, with W. VanTassel second and J. Ackerman third.

In the intermediate event there were three heats, in the two lengths as follows:

First heat—H. Seamark, first; J. Turner, second.

Second heat—G. Brown, H. Lee.

Third heat—S. Tobe, H. Gilbert.

Final—J. Turner, 21 2-5; S. Tobe, 23 1-5; H. Gilbert, 24 seconds.

Social And Personal

Mr. D. W. Deacon, Station street left on Monday for Cambrook, B.C., to visit his brother.

Digby Denike, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Oshawa, is here for a few days before leaving for Chatham, to which city he has been transferred.

Miss Lucy Grant, Forin Street, returned today from an extended trip to the western coast.

AN IDEAL MOTORING OUTFIT

Coat of brown velour trimmed with glazed leather in self tone. The hat is one of the newest models with a serviceable and prettily draped veil attached.

STYLES FOR KIDDIE CLOTHES

Great Leeway Admitted in Fashions for Younger Set Same as for Grownups.

The time is certainly past when children's clothes can be purchased ready to wear for a mere song. Making them at home is a great saving this season, especially if the stores are carefully "shopped" for bargains in materials. Fortunately no one style dominates the style field for children (for the matter of that, great leeway is admitted in fashions for grownups as well) and variety is really the important point to achieve.

Cotton poplin is in high favor for sturdy service dresses for little girls and for suits for small boys. Cotton crepe is another fabric that is a favorite when clothes for everyday wear are under consideration. The small girl will be becomingly outfitted in voile, organdie, swiss and similar transparent fabrics when really warm weather arrives—that is, for somewhat dressy occasions—but the sturdy percales, poplins, chambrays and cotton crepes will be selected for play hours.

Vivid, rather dark, or at least medium shades are in great favor for service clothes for members of the younger set. Jade green is liked and is very smart when becoming. Marigold yellow and a medium blue are much used.

PARIS STYLES IN BLOUSES

Overgarment in Contrasting Color to Tailored Suit Is Distinctive Note in Fashions.

The blouse in contrasting color to the skirt or to the tailored suit is the distinctive note in fashions in blouses for spring in Paris, says the Dry Goods Economist. With practically no exceptions, blouses worn with skirt and jacket suits are shown in brilliant contrasting colors. The day of the blouse in matching crepe for wear with suits is finished and the colored blouse in taffeta, voile or crepe de chine, or the blouse in bold striped silk tussah or linen is now the great vogue.

Quantities of blouses in waxed satin and in kid, covered with an all-over embroidery in contrasting color, are featured at Renee for wear with suits. These blouses are simply made, are in slip-over-the-head style, have rounded necks, and short sleeves, the bodices are flat at the front and, as a rule, close in surplice fashion at the back. The belt is cut in one with the bodice section and buttons snugly around the hips at either side.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR GLOVES

Short Sleeve Vogue Indicates Manufacturers Will Be Unable to Supply Market.

This season's vogue for short sleeves should mean a fortune to glovemakers. The only unfortunate part about the matter, so far as the glove manufacturers are concerned, is that glove fabrics and the labor necessary for their making are scarce and high, so it is said to be difficult to make enough gloves to meet the demand.

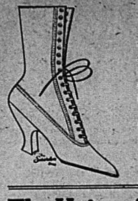
When really warm weather arrives, many women will wear these little short sleeved frocks without gloves, of course, as comfort rules in the final showing in this rather sensible age.

It is interesting and really pleasant, to observe that the very short skirts approved for several seasons are not in evidence this year. Skirts are short enough for comfort, but they are long enough for grace, and because of the added length women as a whole appear much better dressed. Like practically all extremes, the ultra-short skirt is conspicuous by its absence in this season's style line-up.

BIRTH

COOKSON—In Belleville, Ont., on Saturday, Sept. 25th, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cookson, 125 Yeomans street, a daughter, Viola Gwendoline.

Footwear of Special Merit



The more particular a woman is in regard to the sort of shoes she wears, the more she will enjoy seeing the new styles we are showing for Fall.

EVERY WOMAN'S SHOE is a masterpiece of expert Shoemaker's Skill.

The Haines Shoe Houses

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.

Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.

194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.

SATURDAY NIGHT BARGAINS

Ladies' Vests and Drawers 89c

Just the proper weight for Fall and early Winter, in white or natural. All shades. Special .... 89c. garment

Children's Vests and Drawers 65c

An exceptional value in heavy weight vests and drawers. Priced as follows:

Size 18—65c. Size 20—65c. Size 22—70c. Size 24—75c.
Size 26—80c. Sizes 28 to 32—$1.00.

Ladies' Heavy Black Hose 75c pr.

Black only and a splendid Fall weight in heavy cotton with cashmere finish. All sizes. Saturday .... 75c. pair

LADIES SUITS $37.50 to $90.00

LADIES SUITS $30.00 to $95.00

Wottens Limit'd

LADIES' WEAR STORE

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.

Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Imlah & Armstrong

MANAGERS

BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.

UNDERTAKERS

14 Campbell St. Phone 774

Motor Equipment

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.

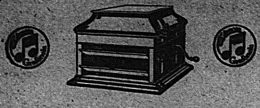
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.

Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.

Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS

68 SINCLAIR STREET.



Prolongs the Pleasure

The moment of all moments to enjoy beautiful music to the full comes between the last strains of a selection and the outburst of applause.

The Non-Set Automatic Stop, found exclusively in the Grafonola, gives you that measureless moment of pleasure. Without setting, it automatically stops the motor when the music is finished, regardless of the record's length.

Come in and hear how you can use that exquisite moment to fully savor all the sweetness of the Grafonola's music.

LINDSAY'S 249 Front Belleville
C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 1 cents per word. Count 5 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE—1 TEAM GENERAL purpose horses, or exchange as part payment on used Ford Car. No reasonable offer refused. Apply at once. 42 Murney Street. s25-2td

FOR SALE—2,000 ACRE RANCH AT EGAN Creek Siding, 15 miles south of Bancroft, along railway. 100 acres of work land, 75 acres now sown to rye. Wire fenced. Good buildings, machinery. Apply to N. A. R. Green, Coe Hill. s24-4td

FOR SALE—WHITE SILK AND SILVER evening dress, size 36, never been worn, also embroidered scarf, at a reasonable price. Call at 143 West Bridge St. 24-2td

FOR SALE—FIRE-PLACE SET — SCREEN, basket, tongs, shovel and poker, in wrought iron finish. Apply 3 Moira Street east. s24-2td

FOR SALE—NEW SEVEN ROOM HOUSE —cellar, cistern, electric wired. Three minutes walk from Front St. Apply 402½ Front Street. Price right. s24-6td

FOR SALE—THREE HOUSES IN GOOD localities—Fifteen hundred, Thirty-five hundred, and Forty-five hundred. Apply 271 Albert St., or Phone 980. s21-6td

FOR SALE—ONE FOUR ROOM COTTAGE with large lot; also one seven room house with large summer kitchen on one and three-quarters acres of land, on MacDonald Ave., north of Victoria Ave. Apply on premises. Township taxes. s23 6t

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front Street. a6-dtf

FOR SALE—220 STATION STREET, EIGHT roomed house, electric light, water in side. Large barn and garden. Price reasonable. Apply W. Parry, 225 Station St. s2[illegible]

FOR SALE—SMALL FARM, NINE ACRES mostly in apples and small fruit, just outside city limits, 9 roomed house, with hot air furnace, good well and cistern. Will sell house separate. If not sold by October 1st will rent. Apply G. D. Gratton, R.R. 3, Belleville. s21-6td

FOR SALE—DOHERTY PLAYER PIANO and 40 rolls. Apply N. Curlett, N. Park St., Belleville. s21-6td

$3500 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. a18-12td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 108 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a19-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHER, capable of keeping set of books. Address replies to Box "H," The Intelligencer. s24-4td

WANTED—A GOOD PLAIN COOK, GENERAL. No laundry work. Highest wages to capable person with references. Apply 161 E. Albert Street. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED — CAPABLE COOK-GENERAL, for family of three. No washing. Wages $35 per month. References required. Address Box "V," Intelligencer Office, Belleville, stating capabilities, age and references. All replies will be considered confidential. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED AT HOTEL QUINTE, A LAUNDRESS; also a bell boy. s21-4t

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-d1rc

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED MAIDS for chamber work; also strong kitchen girl. Apply Mrs. C. F. Robinson, Windsor House. s4-dtf

LADIES WANTED—TO DO PLAIN AND light sewing at home, whole or spare time. Good pay. Work sent any distance. Charges paid. Send stamp for particulars. National Manufacturing Company, Montreal. a13-6sd;6tw

TO LET.

TO RENT — WELL FURNISHED SMALL house. Hot water heating. Centrally located. Box "K," Intelligencer. s25-6td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s20-12td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 8[illegible]. s14-dtf

WANTED.

WANTED—TWO FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED rooms, with or without board. Apply to Mrs. J. W. Johnson, 259 Charles St. Phone 839. s23-tfd

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,000 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G, Toronto. stt—s30

MAKE $30 NEXT SATURDAY — BRAND new proposition. Patented Chemical Auto Windshield Wiper—one rub over rub over glass gives clear vision in rain, snow or fog. Stays clear 24 hours. Can't blur. One man sold two thousand already. Write quick for details and exclusive details and exclusive territories. Auto Accessories Co., 502 Echo Drive, Ottawa, Ont.

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—PRESSMAN — DUPLEX PRESS and jobbers; also linotype operator. Apply immediately, Intelligencer Office, Belleville. s23-3td

$30 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day of evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o1

WANTED — A BOY TO LEARN THE printing trade. Apply The Intelligencer Office. s20-dtf

BOY WANTED TO WORK IN SHOE REPAIR Shop. Apply John Henley, Footbridge s20-dtf

FOUND

FOUND—BRINDLE BULL DOG, FEMALE. Owner may obtain same at 84 Gordon St., or phone 922, by identifying and paying for advertisement. s24-2td

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press Limited

President Wilson declines to terminate commercial treaties.

Carry your lunch crusade hits cafes in New York.

Man-of-war and Sir Barton will race at Kenilworth, Windsor, for a seventy five thousand dollar purse.

Flour falls $2 a barrel in Chicago.

Attempt made to kill General Strickland, commander of Cork troops.

Another one cent drop in sugar at Montreal.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Poles Surround Town

Warsaw, Sept. 25.—The Poles in their northern advance have virtually surrounded the important town of Grodno, 80 miles southwest of Vilna and its capture is expected momentarily says an official statement issued just before last midnight. On Volhynia front the Poles have smashed Russian Soviet forces taking 3,000 prisoners the statement added.

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville.

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393. We can make it look like new. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

The 34th. Battery C.F.A. commanded by Major Riordan, has been reorganized and is about to open for the coming season. On and after Monday, September 20 anyone wishing to join or desiring any information, may obtain same by applying to: C.A. Payne, W.H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R.J.E. Graham. 12td

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

SPECIAL PRICES

Of good Crawford peaches. On account of the enormous large crop, peaches are running smaller than usual. Fresh car in every day. Get our prices before buying. S. Domenico, 50 Bridge Street, opp. P.O. Phone 520. s20-6td

You will enjoy the cool evenings of September with a few new dance records. Ask to hear these:

In Sweet September (fox trot) A2959.
Happy (one step) A2963.
Frogs Legs (fox trot) A2925.
Tell Me Little Gipsy (fox trot) A2972.
In the Gloaming (waltz) A2970.
C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Hear Henry Burr's latest song, "Down the Trail to Home Sweet Home," coupled with the tenor solo "The Love Nest," by Frank Crumit. A2973.—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

You are invited to hear the following Player Rolls at C. W. Lindsay, Limited:

Fifth Nocturn Story Roll.
One Fleeting Hour (song).
Paderewski Menuet.
Let the Rest of the World Go By. (waltz).
—C. W. Lindsay, Limited

If you like comic records don't miss hearing "Oh Mother, I'm Wild" A2865 sung by Jack Kaufan.—C. W. Lindsay Limited.

SATURDAY IS RECORD DAY — AND ALL THE LATEST RECORDS WILL BE PLAYED AT C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED. Bring your friends and come and hear the latest popular songs, dance pieces, comic, jigs and reels, sacred, overtures and songs by Columbia's best artists. C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED.

Hear the "Love Nest," from Mary—A2973, sung by Frank Crumit.—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Night School Classes will begin for the Fall term on Tuesday Evening, October 5th, 1920, in the Belleville High School. Enrolment will begin on Monday evening, October 4th, at 8 o'clock. s24-2td

To brighten your furniture use Slay-Brite Polish. Sold only at C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

NOTICE

The party who took the seal scarf from the ladies' cloak room at the Club House Friday night, Sept. 24, must return same within one day to 302 Charles Street, as the owner knows who took the scarf and has witnesses—otherwise the police will be notified.

BETHEL HALL—SUNDAY, 7 P.M. —SUBJECT—"THE COMING KINGDOM.—MR. THOS RICH.

Y. M. C. A. GYM. OPENING.

The regular Gym. Classes will open at the Y.M.C.A. on Monday, September 27th. Classes for all. Class Schedule, Belleville Y.M.C.A., Season 1920-21:—

Monday—Seniors, 8.15-9.30; Senior (day) 4.15-5; Junior (night) 7-8.
Tuesday—Business Men, a.m., 10.30; Business Men, p.m., 5.15-6; Junior (day) 4.15-5.5; Senior (night) 7-8.15.
Wednesday—Day Girls, 4.15; Night Girls, 7.30-8.30; Women, 2.30-3.30.
Thursday—Seniors, 8.15-9.30; Junior (night) 7-8; Albert College, 4.15-5.15.
Friday—Business Men, a.m., 10.30; 5.15-6; Senior (day) 4.15-5; Senior (night) 7-8.15.
Saturday—Junior (day) 11-12; Albert College, 10-11. s25,27,30,o2

The ladies of John Street Presbyterian Church will hold their Annual Bazaar on Friday, December 3rd. Remember the date. Further announcements later. 1td

FOR SALE — CHEVROLET CAR— touring, 5 passenger model, newly painted. Has not been used this year. Will sell cheap. This is a snap for someone looking for a used car in A1 condition. Apply Box "L," Intelligencer. 1t

AUCTION SALE

Household furniture, 223 John street, Wednesday, September 29th at 2 o'clock. Estate Mrs. D. O'Hare. S. J. Fisher, auctioneer. s25-3td

The synod of the Reformed Episcopal Church will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday the 28th and 29th. To the following services, the public are invited. Tuesday at 7.30 p.m., Our attitude to the Lambeth appeal, by Bishop Brewing. Wednesday at 3 p.m., Missionary Enterprise. Wednesday at 8 p.m., The value of the Sunday School. s25-2td

NOVEMBER 23 AND 24

The Christ Church Ladies will hold their Annual Sale of useful and fancy articles on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 23 and 24. On Tuesday 23 an Old Time Bountiful Supper will be served. 1td

Olde Fashioned Supper— St. Andrew's Church, Thursday, October 21. 1td

THE JOHNSTONE SCHOOL OF DANCING.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone's select social dances, Saturday and Monday. Private lessons given at hours to suit pupils. Phone 750. Pupils for childrens' class will enrolled Wednesday afternoon at the Academy from 4.30 to 5. -t

WOLVERINE AN UGLY FIGHTER

Animal That Looks Like a Small Bear Has Been Described as "Crazy as a Bat."

Ugliest of all the animals encountered in that wonderful game area (Mt. Whitney) is the wolverine, closely resembling a small bear, but much more powerful. This beast is credited with the ability to vanquish a grizzly, but there is no record of a witnessed combat and the possible result must remain a matter of conjecture.

The wolverine is aptly described as "crazy as a bat." On occasion it will make a mad, blind rush regardless of obstacles or consequences. Recently a power company drove a long tunnel under the Sierra Nevada to carry a stream for hydroelectric development. One morning a party of miners entering the bore saw a pair of blazing eyes in the darkness ahead reflecting the glare of their lanterns. They expected the owner to turn and run away. Instead it came dashing toward them, knocked one man off his feet and sent him sprawling, frightened the others almost speechless, and kept going. It was a big wolverine and its action was characteristic.

This creature's hide brings only $15 and nobody's looking for it. Dogs find it uncompanionable—it "breaks 'em all up" to come in contact.—John L. Von Blon in Scientific American.

The Way Iron "Grows."

The "growth" of cast iron is the result of repeatedly heating and cooling the cast iron parts. For instance, cast iron annealing ovens, originally eight feet in length, have grown to a length of nine feet as the result of being kept red hot for prolonged periods between which they have been permitted to cool. Cast iron furnace grates and other parts subjected to alternate heating and cooling are also frequently distorted and sometimes broken because of the growth. To avoid this growth or increase in size as far as possible, white cast iron having a carbon content of about three per cent and a relatively small amount of silicon and other impurities should be used.

Pretty Hanging Ball.

It really isn't necessary to make the children an excuse for trying the trick, as old as it is pretty, of a feathery hanging carrot ball. From a large carrot cut away the taper end, leaving about five inches of top. Turn it upside down and hollow out a deep well in the cut end—deep, not wide, for the sides must be left thick. Fill the well with water and hang the carrot in a sunny window. The exquisite feathery shoots soon begin to sprout out from the top—now the bottom—and, seeking the light, curve crisply upward, surrounding and concealing the carrot in a mist of green.

Justly So.

"I know a man who always charges cut rates for his work."

"What? In these times."

"Yes; he trims our trees and mows our lawn."

STYLE HEADQUARTERS
where Society Brand Clothes are sold
MADE IN CANADA

Decided Style Changes in Men's Fall Clothes

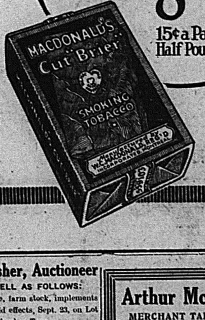
The designing that marks this season's models embraces welcome changes—a shorter vent, a lower, less restricted waist, and a more graceful fullness to the entire coat.

There's an easy smartness about these clothes that sharply distinguishes them from the styles of the past two or three seasons and from the models being shown elsewhere this fall.

Society Brand Clothes maintain their style leadership. They are the first to break away from the influence that military uniforms have had upon clothes styles—styles of which men are becoming tired.

Come in and see the latest, the final in style, in the most approved of fabrics.

RITCHIE'S
MEN'S STORE



MACDONALD'S
Cut Brier
SMOKING TOBACCO
Manufactured by W. C. MACDONALD, REG'D INCORPORATED MONTREAL

MACDONALD'S
Cut "Brier"
Smoking Tobacco
15¢ a Package
Half Pound Tin 85¢

"Brier" has been Canada's Favorite Smoking Tobacco for over 40 years.
The same old original quality can now be had in Cut "Brier"

"The Tobacco with a heart"

S. J. Fisher, Auctioneer
WILL SELL AS FOLLOWS:

Wm. Maine, farm stock, implements and household effects, Sept. 23, on Lot 27, Con. 2, Thurlow Twp.

Miss Minnie Adams, household effects, Sept. 28, at No. 12 Cedar Street, Belleville.

P. L. Shorey, farm stock, Oct. 13th, Lot 13, Con. 3, Thurlow Twp. For particulars see posters, or phone 168, S. J. Fisher, 19 Campbell St.

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

Wanted
YOUNG MAN AS APPRENTICE
Apply by letter in own handwriting to
OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS

THE WEATHER

Moderate south and west winds, partly fair with showers or thunderstorms in most localities and becoming cooler.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business Is Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 290.

Murders Bring Reprisals Blood Flows in Belfast

ONE POLICEMAN KILLED, TWO WOUNDED—THREE CIVILIANS KILLED BY MASKED MEN — POLICEMAN SHOT DOWN ON STREET—HOMES INVADED AND INMATES SHOT TO DEATH.

BELFAST, Sept. 26.—The Falls district of Belfast was seething with excitement today as a result of the murder Saturday night of a policeman, the wounding of two others, and the rapid vengeance enacted in the killing of three civilians who were shot down in rapid succession by bands of men who visited their homes.

Previously the shootings in this city had occurred in the heat of rioting but now for the first time, deliberately planned killings have been carried out. The affair had its beginning around 11 o'clock last night as Constables Leonard and Carroll were patrolling the Falls road, when, passing a public house, they heard footsteps behind them. Swinging around they were confronted by two men armed with revolvers, who ordered: "Hands up."

First Bullet Killed Leonard

Simultaneously with the hold-up order fire was opened on the officers and Leonard fell dead, the first bullet taking effect in the breast. His companion had a miraculous escape. Four shots were directed at him. Three of them missed and the fourth lodged in the thigh. Apparently thinking both men dead the assassins made off.

At about the same time Constables Farrell and Kearin were fired upon in a locality about a mile from the scene of the other attack. The assailants sprang upon the policemen unexpectedly. Farrell was shot in the arms. Kearin was knocked down and several shots were fired at him while he was on the ground. Some of the bullets passed through his cape without touching his body, and he came out of the affair unscathed. Farrell was taken to a hospital.

Prompt Reprisals

The reprisals came swiftly. Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning (Sunday) three civilians, Edward Trodzen, John MacFadden and John Gaynor who lived near the scene of the attacks upon the policemen, were slain in their homes. Different parties visited each house.

Four men took part in the shooting of Trodzen, who was a barber. After knocking at the door they fired a shot through the barbershop window. Trodzen's son opened the door and the men, wearing masks, rushed upstairs. They dragged Trodzen to the yard where several shots were fired at his head, shattering it. The men immediately left without molesting the other occupants of the house.

Fell Dead On Doorstep

The scene of the second shooting was a hundred yards from the Springfield Road Barracks.

Here three men knocked. As MacFadden opened the door several shots were discharged at him and he fell dead on the doorstep.

Gaynor met his fate farther along the Springfield road. His mother answered the tapping on the door, and the men entered. She told them she would get a candle, but they rushed to a room at the top of the house, where they found their victim partly dressed. They made him walk down the stairs ahead of them, and fired three shots into his body, killing him. The distracted mother declares she can identify the men of the party.

City of Grodno Taken by Poles

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WARSAW, Sept. 27.—Grodno, near the Lithuanian frontier, has been captured by Polish troops after heavy fighting, says an official statement issued here this morning. A large number of prisoners and much war material were taken by the Poles. It is said the Polish forces for some time have been working their way around the city, which has been the concentration point of the Russian Bolshevik forces on the northeastern Polish front.

* * *

NEW BREW MADE WITH APPLES AND PRUNES

Montreal, Sept. 25.—How with fresh apples and dried prunes as ingredients a New Brunswick farmer at St. Isadore concocted a mixture which in aroma resembled Scotch whisky is told by J. Alfred Easson, chief preventitive officer of inland revenue, who has just returned from an expedition through Gloucester county, N.B., in search of illicit stills.

Ten stills in all were discovered at Caraquet, St. Ignace, Shippegan, Inkerman, Pokemouche and Petite Lamso, in Gloucester county.

Bandits Die in Blazing Haystack

REGINA, Sept. 26.—The last pair of the bandit quartette who raided the Red Deer lumber camp a week ago were taken dead by the Saskatchewan Provincial Police posse in a haystack five miles east of Tisdale on Saturday afternoon.

The end came only with the firing of the stack by the police, following a five-hour battle, in which four hundred rounds of ammunition were fired on both sides.

One riddled with shot and both partly burned, the bodies of the captured bandits were difficult to recognize. Tattoo marks on one arm, however, showed that one man was Joe Trycliuk, a Russian, and the other was identified as "Tony" by the first pair captured by the police.

* * *

NO SIGN OF THE "WETS"

Regina, Sask., Sept. 27.—With the "dry" forces now hard at work organizing for the referendum to be taken in Saskatchewan October 25 they are apparently alone in the field. The only move approaching a "wet" one is the resolution of the Prince Albert Imperial Veterans in which they come out flatfooted against "dry" laws.

City Board of Health Holds Emergency Meeting

UNSANITARY CONDITION OF THE RIVER DISCUSSED—EX-MAYOR WALMSLEY THREATENS INJUNCTION — EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO HAVE DAMS OPENED—FIREMEN TO FLUSH RIVER BED.

An emergency meeting of the Board of Health of the city was held at the Council Chamber this afternoon at which Dr. Yeomans, Medical Health Officer, Dr. Clinton, District Medical Health Officer, Mayor Riggs, Mr. L. P. Hughes, and Mr. Thos. F. Wills, Sanitary Inspector, were present. The present condition of the river was the theme under discussion.

Ex-Mayor Walmsley was present and threatened to have issued an injunction upon the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company at Corbyville to restrain them from depositing refuse in the river.

It was decided that those present proceed to the upper part of the river where it is alleged water is being stored for power purposes and ascertain if this water cannot be released with the object of flushing the river. A large volume of water will also be poured into the river from various hydrants to assist in the flushing process. By this means it is hoped that the existing nuisance will be abated for the time being at least.

Find Loophole in Liquor Laws

Say Motorists May Carry Whiskey From Quebec to Ontario.

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—Loopholes in the law, and what appears to have been a too great eagerness to make cases, have resulted in an awkward situation for the officers seeking to enforce the prohibition law, following on the seizures of last week on the roads leading out of Montreal of automobiles laden with liquor.

The trouble with the seizures is that the Quebec prohibition law does not specify that it is illegal for a man to go to a wholesaler in Montreal, load his automobile with liquor and take it outside the province.

Orders for Ontario are usually shipped there by express, but there is nothing in the law forbidding the use of automobiles in this connection. On the other hand, liquor so shipped, is known to be sold up and down the province, but proof of such sale is necessary before seizure can legally be made.

Mr. Eudo Sanders, K.C., the solicitor to the License Board, readily admitted last night that any bona fide householder could go into the province of Quebec, obtain a supply of liquor for his own use and return with it to his home in Ontario without interference from the law officers. This applies to shipments by autos or by express. If for any reason the officers had any reason to believe that any liquor in transit was not for the personal use of the man in whose name the shipment was made, the officers could seize the shipment and ask a magistrate for an order of confiscation. Section 39 of the Ontario Temperance Act protects bona fide persons. Section 41 contains the provisions for confiscation.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Church Union Vote.

London, Sept. 27.—A despatch to the Times from Melbourne, Australia, says that the ballot of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregationalist churches over the question of union shows the Congregationalists to be overwhelmingly favorable, the Methodists generally supporting, and the Presbyterians doubtful. The despatch contends the indications are that in the end union will be accepted, although a fierce battle is raging among the Presbyterians.

Dumping U. S. Fruit

Vancouver, Sept. 2.—Asking for extension of Customs Tariff to sufficiently protect the fruit growing industry of British Columbia aganist the dumping of imported American fruit from the States of Washington and Oregon at less than cost of production, R. M. Winslow and W. F. Laidman this afternoon presented the views of British Columbia Fruit Growers to the Board of Tariff Commissioners. Mr. Winslow explained that in big crop years American growers used Canada as a dumping ground for their low grade apples while their best grades were sold on the American market at good prices, thus bolstering up the American market and maintaining prices.

Minister of Lands and Mines

St. John, N.S., Sept. 27.—Premier Foster announced last night that Hon. Clifford Robinson of Moncton, had accepted the portfolio of lands and mines recently made vacant by the resignation of Hon. Dr. E. I. Smith. Hon. Mr. Robinson has been a member of the Cabinet without portfolio since 1917. For a time in 1907-08 he was Premier of the province.

* * *

BLOCK UP DOORS, THEN SET FIRE TO HOUSE

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 25.—After blocking up the front and back doors of the residence with cordwood, incendiaries are alleged to have set a barn belonging to A. D. Libman, 13 miles north of Winnipeg, on fire early this morning. The flames spread, completely destroying the house, barn, several small buildings and livestock to a total loss of $34,885. Mr. Libman, his wife, two sons and three hired men escaped through windows, after finding all the doors locked.

G. T. R. BRAKEMAN KILLED

Woodstock, Sept. 27.—Telford Ellis, a Grand Trunk brakeman, was struck by a passing engine at Patton's siding, and died in Ingersoll.

Retail Prices Drop 20 to 100 per cent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Prices here are slipping. A tour of the shopping district, together with statements of special investigators, established these reductions:

Woollens (by the yard) are selling from 20 per cent. to 25 per cent. less than they sold two months ago.

Cotton goods were reduced approximately 30 per cent. in the past week.

Silk, which broke in price last May, now sells at about 40 per cent. under the maximum charge.

Women's suits are $100 per garment less than they were a year ago and $75 under the price of last spring.

Shoes are reduced about 10 per cent.

Although there was no glaring evidences of these knocked-off percentages in salesrooms, which this sunny Fall day thronged with shoppers, all discussion in directing offices was turned upon prices.

A special investigator for one of the oldest and largest department stores upon Fifth Avenue, made this statement in amplification of the figures quoted above:

"Woollen prices broke about eight weeks ago. Less than a month ago many retailers notified manufacturers that selling cotton goods at the old high prices—$1.25 and more for gingham which once sold for fifty or sixty cents—was impossible; the public would not pay such prices longer. There then was a break of 20 or 25 per cent. which since has dropped another 5 per cent.

"Silk still is dropping and there have been long periods during the past few months when it was considerably cheaper than cotton materials by the yard."

The investigator, who has just returned from a trip through the New England and Middle Western shoe and clothing manufacturing districts, said further that men's clothing and shoes, as well as women's shoes, are selling at ten per cent. reductions.

* * *

Spirit Message Cost Him $62,000

Secretary to Founder of American Red Cross Has Now Instituted Legal Action for the Return of His Money.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Making the charge that through spiritualistic messages alleged to come from the late Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross, he was induced to turn over $62,000 to Mrs. Mabell Rawson Hirons, Dr. James B. Hubbel has instituted legal action for the return of his property. The plaintiff was secretary to Miss Barton for 30 years, and the defendant his life-long friend.

In his bill of complaint filed in the Montgomery Court at Rockville, Md., Dr. Hubbel asserts that when Miss Barton died in 1912 he owned real estate valued at $50,000, costly household furniture, and a claim for $5,000 against the town of Glen Echo, as well as other property. It was his cherished hope, he said, to establish a memorial for Miss Barton.

Mrs. Hirons, the plaintiff alleges, visited him in May, 1914, and expressed great interest in his project. On this occasion, Dr. Hubbel states, the defendant simulated a trance, during which she pretended to be in communication with the spirit of the deceased founder of the Red Cross.

According to the complaint Mrs. Hirons alleged that Miss Barton directed her to tell Dr. Hubbel she (the defendant) had come to help carry out his plan, and that he should turn over all his property to her.

Dr. Hubbel, the petition states, was much affected, and believing that it was possible for departed spirits to communicate with their earthly friends through certain persons known as mediums, conveyed the real estate to Mrs. Hirons, together with $4,500 he had received under Miss Barton's will, $2,000 he borrowed from relatives, and $4,100 in Glen Echo bonds, all of which were to be used in furtherance of the memorial.

Sixty days ago, Dr. Hubbel alleges, he heard Mrs. Hirons say to a neighbor that "she had given up all thought of a memorial to Clara Barton, and that she was not worthy of it."

So shocked and upset was Dr. Hubbel, according to the bill, that he was unable for a time to collect the data necessary for the suit which he now brings.

Dr. Edward C. Peter signed a temporary bill restraining Mrs. Hirons from disposing of any of the property mentioned in the bill.

Explosion Shakes Cork City Departmental Store Wrecked

CITY OF CORK AWAKENED AT EARLY MORNING HOUR BY TREMENDOUS EXPLOSION — FRONT OF LARGE STORE WRECKED AND MANY WINDOWS SMASHED — MAIN THOROUGHFARE LITTERED WITH GLASS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CORK, Sept. 27.—A violent explosion shook this city about two o'clock this morning. It was followed by the rattle of rifle fire in various parts of the business district. Patrick street, the main thoroughfare, was littered with glass and the front of a large departmental store which is said to employ a large number of young Sinn Feiners, was completely wrecked as if by bombs. The windows were smashed in practically every building in the vicinity.

Have High Prices Reached the Peak?

OTTAWA Sept. 27—There are some indications that the high cost of building has reached the peak and started to decline. Many Government works have been delayed during the season now nearing a close because of the great difficulty in getting contractors to tender at all, owing to the uncertain demands of labor. Where tenders were submitted they usually were accompanied by qualifying conditions providing against contingencies and almost invariably they were in excess of the estimate.

Within the past month, however, a change has been noted. Government jobs put up at tender have not only brought normal competition but in several instances the figures quoted were below the estimate, indicating a belief that both wages and materials have reached the limit and that the turn now is downward.

One factor which is said to have helped the situation right itself is the comparatively small volume of construction. People refused to build, save under very urgent circumstances so long as everything was so high. It is believed here that any decrease in the cost of living next year, of which there are evidences already will be reflected also in a somewhat lower cost of building construction.

Say Tendency Downward

While not disposed to definitely commit themselves, officials of the Dominion Government in touch with matters reflecting the cost of living are disposed to the opinion that the tendency from now on will be downward. They point to the steady decrease in the past few months in wholesale sugar quotations, the prospect of a lower price level for such commodities as flour and milk and the announcement that the peak of the cost of clothing has been reached as sure indications that the five per cent. decrease in the family budget indicated in the September report of the department of Labor on prices is likely to be followed by further decreases.

The prospect of a certain amount of unemployment during the winter months which will lessen the ability of the public to buy, is also regarded as an important factor in the cost of living situation.

While there is no disposition to believe there is any possibility of getting back to pre-war prices for a long time to come, a steady improvement of conditions for the purchasing public is confidently looked forward to.

Flour Still Lower

Abolition of wheat control and getting back to pre-war conditions in milling of flour will mean a reduction in the price of Canadian flour.

* * *

ANOTHER 1-CENT DROP IN SUGAR IN CANADA

Montreal, Sept. 24.—It was learned here today in wholesale sugar circles that all Canadian sugar refineries will on Monday announce reductions in all grades of refined sugar.

The drop in price that is being planned will, it is understood, consist of a reducion of a cent a pound on granulated and all other grades of refined sugar. It is learned that this reduction is not the result of concerted action on the part of sugar refiners, as was the case when the last drop was made, but is due to independent action

* * *

REGISTER NEW YORK BOYS UNDER MILITARY LAW

New York, Sept. 27—Approximately 200,000 boys in New York State were required to register under the provisions of the State's military training law. The ages for registration are between 16 and 18 years.

* * *

The Hungarian Parliament has limited the number of Jews entering the higher educational institutions.

Fruit Goes to Waste in Niagara District

Estimate Four-Day Loss at $200,000—Desperate Attempts Made to Salvage Crop by Sunday Labor

GRIMSBY, Sept. 26.—Today, for the first time in the history of the great Grimsby fruit belt, growers have picked and hauled fruit and dealers have loaded cars on a Sunday, and even with the Sabbath work thousands of baskets of luscious fruit are rotting on the trees. While housewives in Toronto and other citeis are bemoaning the shortage of fruit jars for canning purposes, the fruit growers are getting grey hair through the shortaeg of cars to ship the fruit in.

A conservative estimate made here to-night by fruit growers and dealers who have made a close study of the situation places the loss to the growers between Winona and Jordan at $200,000 during the past four days. This stretch of country is about sixteen miles long and varies in width from one mile to three miles and at every point on the line fruit of all kinds is rotting on the ground and on the trees and vines.

Plums Given Away

Early in the season plums by the thousands of baskets were allowed to shrivel up on the trees on account of the low market price and the shortage of baskets. Thousands of baskets were given away to motorists who came with their own baskets and picked them. Today motorists from the cities were here in droves and purchased the finest of St. John, Crawford, Elbertas and Niagara peaches for 25c a basket doing their own picking and providing their own baskets.

This condition of affairs was brought about by a bumper crop, a shortage of baskets and a shortage of proper cars for shipping the fruit in.

* * *

Belfast Shooting Causes a Stampede

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

BELFAST, Sept. 27.—Shooting by snipers and others which occurred in the centre of Belfast last night caused a panic among the crowds which were promenading on Royal avenue, the city's main artery. Disturbances followed the shooting of Saturday night and early Sunday. Shooting in side streets of Sinn Fein quarter caused the crowd in Royal avenue to swell to large proportions and a stampede was created when sudden volleys rang out from the side streets. The crowd rushed here and there in a frenzy and order was only restored after the arrival of military and police.

* * *

Sugar and Flour Prices Drop

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—Canadian sugar refiners of this city announced this morning that the price of sugar is to be reduced one and a half cents, the reduction to take place from today. This brings the price now down to 19½ cents per pound.

The price of flour went down this morning fifty cents a barrel, being for sale to the public at $13.50 and to bakers at $13.00.

* * *

TO JOIN GENERAL STAFF.

Major W. Neilson, who a fortnight ago assumed the duties of General Staff Officer for Military District No. 3, leaves next week for Ottawa. There he will be attached to the staff of Major-General Burstall, Inspector-General.

BOIL THE WATER.

Citizens who use city water for drinking purposes, are requested by the Board of Health to boil the water before using.

Imperial Limited Arrives at Hamilton

Six Thousand Dollar Shipment of Whisky by Auto Truck Delivered to Consignee.

The Imperial Limited, as the truck load of whisky en route from Montreal to Hamilton might have been called, arrived safely at its destination in the Ambitious City with Police Officer Truaisch, of Belleville, acting as conductor. The cargo of one hundred and forty cases of Imperial whisky and fifty cases of Canadian Club whisky was delivered to Mr. J. Donohue, the consignee, and stored in his cellar.

The truck, with its six thousand dollar load of spirits fermenti which was detained by Belleville police authorities and Inspector Arnott, pending instructions from the Provincial License Board, left Belleville last Thursday afternoon at 3.15, the two men in charge being accompanied by Police Officer Truaisch in accordance with instructions from the provincial authorities, and arrived at the consignee's house in Hamilton at 5 p.m. Friday, the policeman going without sleep for the entire journey.

At Cobourg the truck was halted by Chief of Police Cruse, who permitted it to proceed when informed that an officer was in charge.

The truck passed through Toronto along King street without incident, passing many policemen without being challenged.

Police Officer Truaisch reported the consignment to the representative of the Provincial License Board at Hamilton, who gave permiseion for its delivery to Mr. Donohue. The consignee was not any too well pleased at the publicity accorded his shipment of liquor and will take extra precautions to ensure his cellar being air tight, waterproof and burglar proof.

* * *

Toronto Casualties in Auto Accidents

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—Two children killed and nine adults injured was the week-end motor toll in the streets of Toronto. The children dead were injured in the east end of the city Saturday night.

Seven persons riding in a motor car were hurled for some distance when another car collided with them at Oriole road and Heath street at 6.25 last evening.

For some time it was not known who drove the colliding car. It developed about midnight that the driver was Dwight J. Turner, 46 Oriole road. Mr. Turner himself walked into No. 5 Police station, saying that he was the driver of the car in question. He was placed under arrest on a charge of criminal negligence.

Crossing Queen near Morse street at 9.30 Saturday night with three little girls, Dora Lancaster, aged twelve years, of 100 Morse street, was so seriously injured when struck by a motor car, that she died Sunday in St. Michael's Hospital. William Gill, 191 King street east, was driving his car west on Queen street. Nearing Morse street, he noticed three children about to cross the road from the north to the south side. He sounded his horn several times as a warning to the children, and when he neared them two stepped back to the curbstone, while the Lancaster child is said to have run directly in front of the car.

Woman Has Arm Broken.

Mrs. Sarah McDonald, 63 years of age, living at 283 Logan avenue, had her arm broken at 8.30 Saturday night when she was run down by a motor car opposite 530 Queen street. Mrs. McDonald was crossing the street at the time of the accident. She was admitted to St. Michael's Hospital. The automobile was in charge of Henry Simmers, 633 Jones Avenue. Simmers was examined by the police and allowed to go.

F. Blair, 76 Annette street, and F. R. Green, 1224 Davenport road, were cut about the face and head by flying glass when an automobile in which they were driving skidded at King street and Wilson avenue at 1.25 Sunday morning, striking a telegraph pole. The pole and front of the motor car were damaged. Both men were taken to the Western Hospital in the police ambulance.

A Witness Testifies

SHE WAS WEAK AND NERVOUS

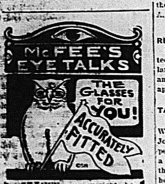
Brampton, Ont.:—"About five years ago I began suffering with woman's trouble. I became all run-down weak and nervous. I was so completely down and out that I could not do anything, could scarcely dress myself. I had the doctor and took other medicine but without getting better until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his Golden Medical Discovery. It was only necessary for me to take about three bottles when I was completely restored to health and strength and I have been in better health than I ever was before. I have had no use for medicine since, but should I need it I would take these same remedies, knowing them to be excellent."—MRS. HARRY KNIGHT, Jobie St.

OWES HER LIFE

Ft. Saskatchewan, Alta.:—"It is with great pleasure that I write the following and I hope it will help the many sufferers who do not know the good Dr. Pierce's medicines would do them if they would try them.

"In regard to my condition, I will say that I suffered from childhood from a very weak back; I had the misfortune of having spinal meningitis when I was one year old and until I was 13 I did not see a well day, but a very kind lady told my mother about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and she got a bottle to try it. It did me so much good that mother got me 6 bottles. Recently I happened with a car accident and hurt my back badly. My doctor gave me up and said I would not live, but I still stick to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and to my surprise in three weeks I was out of bed and better. I owe my life to it and nothing else, and shall never be without it.

"If any sufferer wishes to write I will answer with pleasure."—MRS. NOEL BARTHOLOMEW.



WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG OPTICIAN

FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus. 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each
—Also
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
192 Front St. Phone 283

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
BY Alex Ray, Opt.D.
YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

TICKET AGENT DEAD

Mr. T. C. Matchett, for years uptown ticket agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway and agent for the Dominion Express Company died at his home in Lindsay Friday morning after a short illness.

PECULIAR AUTO ACCIDENT

Dr. W. C. Brown, collector of customs at the port of Prescott, was taken to the Hepburn hospital, Ogdensburg, suffering from severe injuries received returning to Prescott from Brockville where he attended the fair with a party of friends. About a mile out of Prescott a point where the road describes a curve the automobilists overtook a team of horses hitched to a wagon laden with boards and ties. As the driver of the car turned out to pass the wagon a long pole which extended from the rear of the vehicle struck Dr. Brown on the chest glanced upward and passed through the back of the machine just above the seat. The car was driven with all possible speed to the ferry dock and arrangements were made for a special trip to Ogdensburg by the steamer Ferdinand. Accompanied by his friends the doctor was placed aboard and taken to the hospital, arriving there at mid night. The doctor was suffering intense pain and the full extent of his injuries cannot be immediately ascertained. It is hoped, however, that they are not of a fatal nature. Dr. Brown was occupying the rear seat of the car which was owned by Edward A. Cook of Prescott.

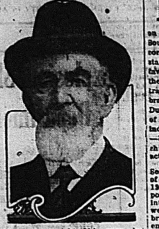
REAR LAMPS OUT

Police officer White last night detected six autos without the rear lamps lit. He secured the numbers and the owners will be summoned to appear before the magistrate.

TARRED AND FEATHERED

Four young men from Martintown, Wm. Merpaw, Wm. Paradis or Allinet Jos. Ladoucer and George Flaro, appeared in teh Cornwall police court on a charge of assaulting Frank Tyo on the night of August 29. The case was heard by Deputy Police Magistrate C. H. Cline. The assault was the result of the refusal of Tyo to leave the town. His house had been stoned and stale eggs were thrown at him. As he still remained in the locality the four men visited Tyo's house, took him out side, and Ladouceur put hot tar in his hair, on his face, neck and hands, while the other three held the victim. The defence, while admitting applying the tar, denied that it was hot. The magistrate said that it was inconceivable that such a state of affairs as shown by the evidence could exist in the United Counties and in a respectable community. Someone must have been lax in duty. If truant officers were appointed by councils and attended properly to their duties the spectacle of witnesses being unable to sign their names would not be so prevalent, as was disclosed in the case before the bench. The young men whom he likened to a self-appointed vigilance committee, were not justified in taking the action they had, and he felt that there was something more in the motive than a desire to change the conduct of the complainant. He therefore, found all four guilty of assault and imposed a fine of $15 in each case, in default of which they were to be sent to jail for 15 days at hard labor.

W. H. MORSE, of Seattle, Wash., who says he can now turn out as much work as he could thirty years ago in spite of his age. Gives Tanlac credit for his splendid health.



"I am in my eighty-fifth year, but since taking Tanlac I am as hale and hearty as I ever was and can do as much work as I could thirty years ago," declared W. H. Morse, of 52 Blaine St., Seattle, Wash. Although in his eighty-fifth year, Mr. Morse is still daily to be found engaged in hard work down at the Ames Shipyard and is remarkably well preserved for his years.

"Last spring I had an attack of the flu that left me in a very badly rundown condition and so weak that I could hardly get around. For a long while I had a very bad cold that I couldn't shake off and my bronchial tubes were so choked up that I was coughing all the time. I had no appetite and in fact ate so little that I couldn't sleep at nights and became very much worried about my condition, because I couldn't find anything to straighten me up and restore my lost strength.

"I saw by the papers what fine work Tanlac was doing for other folks, so I got some for myself. It did me good right from the start, for in a very short while my cough left me and I was eating fine and sure did enjoy every mouthful. I slept better at nights and was soon feeling much better in every way. I have gained seven pounds in weight and am so much stronger that I can turn out about as much work as most any other man, in spite of my years. Tanlac certainly must be a great medicine to put me on my feet like it has, and I'm glad of the chance to tell everybody about it."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Coo Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Stella	Sept 28
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

Canada Can

—Reduce Her Taxes
—Pay Her War Debts
—Keep Workers Busy
—Make Farmers Prosperous

By Selling Her Surplus
Grain, Fruits,
Dairy Produce,
Manufactures

To the Nations of
The British Empire

The Key to the market is

Ships—
Canadian Ships

The Navy League of Canada

Total Prohibition For Natives in Transvaal.

A Big Illicit Traffic

THOMAS SEARLE, president of the South African Temperance Alliance, contributes an interesting article on the prohibition movement in South Africa in the International Record. Affairs in South Africa, he states, have taken a decided turn in favor of prohibition. In recent years the evils associated with the drink traffic—especially in the wine and brandy farming districts, where the Dutch Reformed Church, on account of the support it derived from the industry, was inclined to stand aloof—have become so great that the church has been obliged to take action.

In the course of his article, Mr. Searle says: "During the last session of the South African Parliament, in 1918, two select committees were appointed by that body. One to enquire into the drunkenness prevalent in the western districts (the wine and brandy districts), and the other to enquire into the working of the Transvaal liquor laws. Under the Act of Union, by which, in 1910, the four provinces of Cape Colony, Orange Free State, Transvaal, and Natal, became the Union of South Africa, provision was made that until the Union Parliament passed consolidating laws the laws in force in each of the provinces should continue to be the law in these provinces. Thus it is that in each of these four provinces there is a different liquor law. In the Transvaal there are the gold mines, the chief labor of which is drawn from the native races, and there are about a quarter of a million of these people working there. The law of the province is total prohibition for all colored and native people. But a large illicit liquor traffic is carried on, and many of the poorer classes of Europeans, chiefly Dutch, have taken to this nefarious business. The result is that very drastic laws have been passed against the traffic, but so remunerative is it, that notwithstanding heavy fines and long terms of imprisonment, the traffic still flourishes.

"It was to inquire into this matter that the select committee referred to was appointed. The chairman of the committee was Mr. Rooth, a prominent supporter of the South African Political Party, which now holds the reins of government. This select committee reported, by a majority of one, that, as total prohibition for natives in the Transvaal had broken down (so it said), as was shown by the large number of convictions for illicit sale, it would be better for the Government itself to open canteens for the sale of European beer and wines of 'approved alcoholic strength' to these people.

"The state of affairs in the mines before the total prohibition law was enacted was terrible, and drunken orgies, and consequent crime, were a very great evil. It has been proved that natives, as a rule, cannot drink in moderation, and they very soon get a craving for strong spirituous liquors. Knowing this, and the terrible state of affairs that existed before total prohibition to these people was enacted, the report of the committee above referred to—known as the 'Rooth Committee'—thoroughly roused the temperance people, and a large section of other people not actively engaged in temperance work, and made them raise their voices in protest against the dangerous proposition. Public meetings were held throughout the length and breadth of the Union. The Dutch Reformed Church, too, took action, and practically unanimously at the meetings of the presbyteries passed resolutions condemning the proposal. Nothing had ever so consolidated the temperance forces.

"Notwithstanding these protests and the very clear expression of opinion by the public, Mr. Rooth in the session of Parliament, proposed that the recommendation of his committee should be adopted. The Ministry in power, themselves, were divided on the subject, and it was made known that the matter would not be made a party issue. Thus in all the political parties there were those in favor of, and those against the proposals. It soon became apparent, however, that the proposals, if the matter came to a vote, would not get the majority support, although the issue would be fairly close. The result is that the debate has been adjourned from time to time, and no vote is likely ever to be taken.

"The reports of the committee proving so conclusively the hopelessness of trying to deal with the liquor evil by merely partial restrictive measures, has convinced a large body of people outside of those usually known as temperance reformers of the necessity for total prohibition, and they are prepared to support it. The Dutch Reformed Church of the Transvaal has definitely declared that it looks upon total prohibition as the ideal at which they should aim, and they have appointed a committee to inquire into the effects of prohibition in America and elsewhere, and to act as a vigilance committee on behalf of the church. It is hoped that the synods of the church in other provinces will take similar action. When once the Dutch Reformed Church will unitedly and actively take up the cudgels on behalf of prohibition we may then consider the matter as practically settled."—Christian Science Monitor.

Latest Fichus.

Many of the latest fichus are long enough to reach the waistline. Some of them are so fashioned as to make a sort of combination vestee and fichu. But long or short, every woman should have at least one of these dress accessories in her top bureau drawer, for nothing will change the looks and freshen up an old dress so quickly.

RUTH MAKES IT 51

New York, September 25.—Ruth made another home run, his 51st, in the first inning of the second game. Shaw of Washington was pitching against him.

Every 10c Packet of
WILSON'S
FLY PADS
WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"EXPERIENCE"

"Experience," George V. Hobart's modern morality comedy drama will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at Griffin's Opera House this Wednesday night September 29th for one night only. This drama now in its seventh season, is one of the most successful of recent years and in every city where it has been presented it has met with a tremendous success and has been endorsed by the clergy of all denominations.

The scenery is the acme of stage settings and the producers have specially selected the cast which will appear in this city. The seat sale opens at Griffin's Tuesday morning at 10 a.m.

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

"My Soldier Girl," offering an entire new version, makes its bow before local theatregoers at Griffin's Opera House, next Monday night, October 4th. There is action both in music and dialogue from the rise to fall of the final curtain. Scenic beauty and gorgeous costumes delight the eye and tuneful melodies are abundant. The excellent cast and bewitching beauty chorus help to make the performance complete while the tuneful music is a tower of strength, since it is of the sort that makes the head "nod" and the foot "tap."

"SQUARE DEAL SANDERSON"

To be fair above all—to give the other fellow a chance, no matter what his character—is a code that obtains in the West today as it did long ago. In William S. Hart's Artcraft picture, "Square Deal Sanderson," it is seen how a pursuer shoots a horsethief in the back. This so angers the watcher that he is almost gratified when the dying culprit manages to revenge himself by shooting his assailant. This "Bill" Hart picture will be seen at Griffin's to-night and Tuesday only and it will be found as thrilling as any in which the Western star has ever appeared. There is a lovely girl—Ann Little plays the part who owns a ranch in Mexico. She is beset by scoundrels who are trying to get her property. She is rescued by the hero, "Square Deal Sanderson," played by Bill Hart, and of course they fall in love. There is hard riding, fighting and gunplay aplenty. There is romance and the breeziness of the west in every foot of film. It is a picture to see and see again and to remember because it is so graphic and withal so wholesome. The supporting company is of the highest grade. The program is augmented by the exhibition of an interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, "Slippery Feet," a funny 2-reel Sunshine comedy and Jack Dempsey in his thrilling picture, "Daredevil Jack."

"CARRY YOUR LUNCH" SLOGAN IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 27.—A "carry-your-lunch" campaign to force a cut in the prices for food charged by restaurants was started yesterday when Max Adamowski, chairman of the city council committee on living costs, and Russel J. Poole, its secretary, appeared at their offices with lunches from home.

"At a cost of 28 cents we received more wholesome food than can be purchased at Loop hotels and restaurants for from 60 cents to a dollar," Mr. Poole said. "It consisted of a sandwich containing two ounces of meat, 8 cents; one apple, 2 cents; sandwich containing two ounces of cheese, 4 cents; one piece of pie, 4 cents, and one pint of milk, delivered by milkman at 10 cents."

When Coffee begins to play pranks with your nerves or digestion, quit coffee ten days, drinking in its place.
POSTUM
"There's a Reason"

SINCLAIR'S

WOOL FROCKS
More Artistic Than Ever

Each season the styles show more of that refined taste that you formerly thought obtainable in custom-made gowns. The fabrics are so well chosen, the styles so graceful and varied, and the trimmings in such good taste and so artistic. That's why we are selling more Dresses than ever this season. Prices range from $19.50 upward.

A Marabou Ruff

—will prove a very useful wrap for Autumn Days. Light in weight, yet warm and comfortable, these stylish wraps will add much smartness to your costume. Prices from $8.50 to $27.50.

Motoring Rugs

Do you enjoy motoring these cool Autumn days? One of these Scotch Plaid Rugs will make your trips more comfortable. Priced $15.00 to $17.50.

Heather Cashmere Hose

Of course, with low shoes so stylish for Autumn wear, you will need these Heather Cashmere Hose. All sizes at $1.75 pair.

Colorful Silk Petticoats

Brilliant colors are the season's new note, and here are radiant effects in Silk Petticoats to harmonize perfectly with your new Fall gown. Cut correctly; flounced effectively—the perfect finish for suit or gown. Priced from $5.00 to $16.50.

AN EXTRA SKIRT

—will make your wardrobe more complete. With an extra blouse it may be worn mornings or shopping. We have just received some stunning models which we would like you to see. They are very becoming and are reasonably priced from $9.50 up.

Flannelette Blankets

Have you felt the need of Flannelette Blankets yet? You will want them very soon, and here is an opportunity to fill your requirements. Shown in grey or white with pink or blue borders. Ibex and Kingcot makes.

12-4 size....$4.50 and $4.00 pair
11-4 size .... $4.00 pair

GREY SHIRTING FLANNELS

We have a very complete range of Grey Flannels, either plain or twilled, in pure wool or wool and cotton, at 40c. to $1.00 yard.

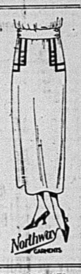
VERY CHEAP SUITS.

Here are about eight suits, all old stock, in broadcloth and tweed. Your size may be here, if you want a cheap suit, or they could be cut up and made into children's dresses, at the price of one yard of goods. Your choice, $7.50.

CREPE
FOR KIMONOS AND UNDERWEAR.

There is a full range of good designs in Serpentine and Delmona Crepe for Kimonos. Also in plain blue or mauve for underwear, at 85c. yard. White Crepe at 65c. and 90c. yard.

SINCLAIR'S



GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

For bare Walls or Ceilings
An artistic coating that is easy to mix and apply. Many attractive shades
RAMSAY'S
Perfecto Wall Finish
Ready for use when mixed with cold water
"Save the surface and you save all"—Paint & Varnish
J. W. WALKER - - - HARDWARE.

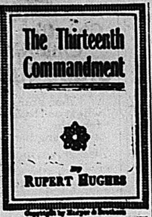
Griffin's Theatre, Wed., Sept. 29
F. RAY COMSTOCK AND MORRIS GEST PRESENT
The One Big Dramatic Sensation of This Day and Generation
Experience
The Greatest Moral Lesson ever devised in the form of Brilliant Entertainment
Bigger and Better than Ever Before. Elaborate Scenic Effects. New Costumes. Endorsed by the Clergy from Coast to Coast
Seat Sale Opens at Theatre Box Office 10 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 28th.
PRICES—50c., 75c., $1.00, $1.50, $2.00.

Griffin's Theatre, Mon. Oct. 4th
1920 EDITION—NEW SONGS, DANCES AND NOVELTIES
LeComte and Flesher offer
THE SPARKLING MUSICAL PLAY
MY SOLDIER GIRL
BRIGHT TUNEFUL AND GORGEOUSLY GIRLY
SMART SWIFT AND SAUCY CAST BRIGADE OF GIRLS
TWENTY SONG HITS
The Famous "Pony" Ballet on "Flirtation Walk" one of the many Novelties
PRICES—50c., 75c., $1.00 and $1.50—Plus Tax.
SEATS FRIDAY, 10 A.M., AT BOX OFFICE

DARING THIEVES ENTER WHITBY CLOTHING SHOP

Whitby, Sept. 26.—The business section of this town was again visited by daring thieves early this morning, when the clothing store of D. F. Johnston was robbed of about $1,500 worth of goods, mostly in suits. Entry was secured by forcing open a window in the rear of the store, and although Mr. Saunders, one of the clerks, lives upstairs, no noise was heard, and it was not until morning that it was discovered that the store had been entered and many suits and other men's furnishings stolen.

BROGUES for Men and Women
Men's Brogues selected stock $12.00
Women's Brogues Oxfords Black and Brown $9, $10, $11
Special Clearing
40 pairs Women's Kid Boots - - $4.85
48 pr. Women's Grey Boots, Louis Heels regular $12.00, clearing - - $7.95
ADAMS The Shoeman



Copyright by Harper & Brothers

Bayard had guessed the situation; he saw the cruel joke of it. He thought he could dull the edge with mockery. He snickered, rather cravenly:

"I wrote to ask you to lend me some money. I guess I wasted the postage."

"And I guess I wasted the fare over here. I thought I oughn't have taken a berth in the sleeper, but your mother insisted—said I'd not been feelin' any too well."

Bayard laughed outright—a laugh wet with vinegar tears.

Wesley sank into a chair with the little whimper of a sick old man.

Bayard went to his father and put his arm about him and regretted his Wall street disaster with a ferocious remorse. He could not speak, and there was a long dumbness before Wesley sighed:

"I guess we got to lose the home, then."

That "then" was a history in a word.

Bayard bent his head in shame at his helplessness. As usual, it was Wesley who found a shabby comfort in the situation—found it for his son.

"Don't you think anything more about it, my boy. I'm kind of relieved." He giggled with a pitiful senility. "I been so ashamed at traipsin' over here to bother you instead of rushin' over to help you like I ought to—being your father—that I'm kind of glad you can't help me. I got no right to add to your troubles. I'm supposed to take care of you."

Bayard kept groaning:

"To lose your home! To think of you losing your home! And me standing by!"

"Why, it's nothing, Bayard. After all, we're not in Belgium. We've got friends. And relations. There's no danger of anything happening to us." Daphne and Leila overheard this conversation while listening in the hall.

Daphne clung to Leila and buried her face in Leila's bosom to smother her frenzied grief. Leila, mopping Daphne's cheek with her own handkerchief, caught the glint of a diamond on her finger. It glistened like a great, immortal tear.

It inspired her with a new hope. She had often consoled herself with the thought of her jewels as a final refuge, but she had put off the evil day. Now she felt that the time had come. She threw open the door and spoke into the gloom with a voice of seraphic beauty:

"I couldn't help hearing what you were saying. You needn't be downhearted, though, for I've just thought of a way to help daddy out." He was "daddy" to her also.

Bayard and Wesley turned and stared at her in amazement. She went on in a kind of ecstasy.

"My rings!" she cried. "Don't you see! My diamonds and rubies! And I've got a necklace or two, and some chains and brooches. They're worth a lot of money. And you're welcome to 'em, daddy."

The men were confused with too many emotions to know what to feel, much less what to say. Leila's mission was so divinely meant that it was sacrilege to receive it with reluctance. And yet for Wesley to let this new daughter-in-law pawn her trinkets for him was post-graduate humiliation.

The end of it was that Bayard demanded the melancholy privilege of visiting the pawnshop himself. Leila made a heap of her adornments. Last of all she took from her neck the little plaque he had given her with its stardust of diamonds frosting a platinum filigree.

He kissed her mournfully and hurried away to the pawnshop. He skulked in and out like a burglar, and he brought away a pack of tickets and a lump of money. The pawnbroker apologized for lending him less than half the value of the gems; so many people were looking to the pawnbrokers for salvation, he said, that he could not find cash enough for all. Times were hard indeed when the pawnbrokers were overworked.

Bayard went home and surrendered to Leila her funds. She passed them over to her father-in-law. Poor Wesley peeled off the minimum that would serve as a sop to his creditors and said he would take the afternoon train home.

CHAPTER XVI.

Daphne had watched Leila's little scene with as much confusion as the other two Kips. She felt a normal amount of jealousy, of course, as woman to woman, but no more than a healthy amount, for she liked Leila and she was grateful to Leila for being able to rescue her father and for being willing to. It was a fine thing for Leila to strip herself of her last splendor to help an old father-in-law pay the interest on a mortgage on a house in another town. Daphne gave Leila full meed of applause for that.

What embittered Daphne was that it had to be Leila and not herself that saved her father, and that Leila had to do the deed by spending things she had not paid for herself—ornaments, gewgaws, gifts.

Leila had collected from life perhaps three thousand dollars' worth of jewels and Daphne had collected a fifty-dollar check, framed—and that check was in lieu of work. As soon as she remembered that check she ran up to her room and took it down from the wall, ripped off the back of the frame and removed the check from the mat. She studied it and thought, "The first money and the last." Then a vigor and determination clenched all her muscles in a kind of lockjaw. She came out of the spasm in a tremor of hysterical faith. She spoke her thought aloud in a fury: "It sha'n't be the last, it sha'n't, it sha'n't, by golly!" The feebleness of the expletive disgusted her. She tried to be powerful by way of powerful language. Before she knew it she ripped out a resounding oath that would have pleased good Queen Bess. 'By G—, I'll pay my way! —honestly! like a man!"

All her powder exploded in that one detonation.

She fell over into a chair in horror. The blasphemy seemed to rattle about the little room. It terrified her. Mrs. Chivvis ran down the hall, carrying her everlasting sewing, and tapped on the door and asked:

"Did you call me, my dear? Are you ill?"

"No, thank you. I'm all right. I didn't say anything."

That was doubly false. She had said something. In the slang of the hour she had "said something." She had "said an earful," also a heartful.

Mrs. Chivvis supposed that what she had heard was some voice from the street, and went back along the hall, stitching as she walked.

Daphne took the check and went down to Bayard's apartment. Bayard was on his way to the pawnbroker's. Leila was in his room. Old Wesley sat in a chair facing a wall. He seemed to see through it. Daphne went to him and put the check in his hand, explaining what it was.

"It's all I ever earned, daddy, and I want you to have it."

He looked at it and smiled and tears fairly shot out of his eyes. He patted her hand between his and said:

"Why, honey, I couldn't take your poor little earnings! Not for anything in this world."

"Please, daddy; it would make me ever so happy!"

"But it would kill me! You don't want to do that, do you? You must spend it on yourself. Buy yourself something nice with it."

"I'll buy myself a picture of you."

(To Be Continued)

ALGONQUIN PARK

Commencing October 5th, a through sleeper car will be operated between Toronto and Algonquin Park leaving Toronto 8.45 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays, arriving Algonquin Park Station ("The Highland Inn") 11.52 a.m. Wednesdays and Saturdays. Returning this car will leave Algonquin Park Station 3.30 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays, arriving Toronto 7.30 a.m. Tuesdays and Fridays. This will give those desiring to visit the Park during the fall months a comfortable means of transportation to this most delightful region. The "Highland Inn" will be open all winter for the reception of guests. For all information inquire of Grand Trunk Railway System Agents and for reservations at the "Highland Inn" apply to N. T. Clarke, Manager, "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park Station, Ont.

◆

Sports

A CHALLENGE

The Red Sox baseball team of this city, winners of the Junior League here challenge the Marsh Engineering Works team to a game to be played at the Agricultural Park next Saturday afternoon.

WON CHAMPIONSHIP

At the Agricultural Park on Saturday afternoon, a number of baseball fans gathered to witness the final and championship game of baseball in the Industrial League of the city. The teams were from the Marsh Engineering Works and the G. T. R. work shops and the former team scored a hollow victory. At the conclusion of the game the score was 22 to 7 in favor of Marsh Engineering Works team. It was alleged the G.T.R. team were minus of some of their best players which accounted for the poor showing made. With the win goes a valuable cup donated by Mr. Elliott of the Elliott Woodworking Company. Mr. H. Smith was umpire and fulfilled that position in a most impartial manner. The line up of the teams was as follows:

Marsh Works—Cornell, 3rd b.; McKenna, 1st b.; Rushlow, c.f.; Draycott s.s.; Schooner, r.f.; Canning, 2nd b.; Stork, l.f.; Rogers, c.; Knott, p.

G.T.R.—F. Miles, 1st b.; Bunton, s. s.; Reynolds, 3rd b.; Ford, 2nd b.; J. Miles, c.; Morrison, l.f.; Walsh, c.f.; Rainbird, p.; Hibbard, r.f.

Score by innings:

Marsh—1 3 2 2 4 0 5 5 0—22.
G.T.R.—0 1 1 0 1 0 0 4 0—7.

WIN FOR PETERBORO

At Peterboro on Saturday afternoon a game of baseball was played between the G.T.R. team of this city and the Peterboro team champions of the Central Ontario League for this season. It proved to be a great game and was a battle royal between the pitchers of both teams. The result was a win for Peterboro by a score of 1 to 0. A return match will be played here on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE
22,000 Canadian Men and Women ask you to buy "Made-in-Canada" Shoes
22,000 CANADIANS are engaged exclusively in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes.
The industry provides them with over $20,000,000 a year to spend within the Dominion.
They buy food and clothing; pay rent and taxes—they help swell the total of Canadian trade.
ALLIED with these 22,000 men and women are many thousands of other workers who contribute to the making of Boots and Shoes. These include textile operatives; wire, nail and metal workers; machine manufacturers; box and carton makers; coal miners and dealers; railway men and shippers; printers; packers and battalions of clerks.
All these, and more, participate in the 50 million dollars which is the yearly value of the Canadian-Made Shoes.
EVERY pair of Canadian-made Shoes you buy actually puts money in the pay envelope of this vast army of men and women.
Every pair of imported Shoes you buy reduces Canada's capital stock and puts money in the pockets of foreigners who contribute nothing to our national growth
CANADIAN-made Shoes, grade for grade, are the equal of the best in the world.
The most scientific processes of manufacture are employed.
Canadian workmen are as conscientious and skilled as those of any other country.
SITUATED as we are between the Old World and the New, every authoritative idea of shape and style and fashion is immediately seized and developed.
The price of Canadian-made Shoes is based entirely on actual production costs. It represents 100% of value.
¶ Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.
SHOE MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

We Would Be Delighted
—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.
T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

Swiss Government to ask Lenine emissary to get out of the country.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
A change of schedules will be made on October 3rd, 1920. Information now in agents' hands.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

S. J. Fisher, Auctioneer
WILL SELL AS FOLLOWS:
Wm. Maipe, farm stock, implements and household effects, Sept. 23, on Lot 27, Con. 2, Thurlow Twp.
Miss Minnie Adams, household effects, Sept. 28, at No. 12 Cedar Street, Belleville.
P. L. Shorey, farm stock, Oct. 13th, Lot 13, Con. 3, Thurlow Twp. For particulars see posters, or phone 168, S. J. Fisher, 19 Campbell St.

PILES
Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

MILLBANK

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, 217 Front Street. Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $5.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added.

INDIGNANT CITIZENS WONDER AT DELAY.

Citizens are still waiting and wondering why prompt and vigorous measures have not been taken in regard to the intolerable nuisance and menace to health from the open sewer, yclypt Moira River. Special emergent meeting meetings of the Board of Health may have been called and steps taken to abate the nuisance, but the general public has not heard the call and the steps have not appeared to date. For several years this rotten nuisance has been endured and the smell this year is strong enough to rouse even the most moribund of Public Health Boards. Action is demanded, prompt and vigorous, and the annual shelving of this question will not answer this time.

BRIEF AND POINTED—

MINISTER OF LABOR'S MESSAGE

Hon. Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, has long since established a reputation for moderation and common-sense. A Labor Day message was a model of sound sense compressed into a few words. He said:

> Throughout the past year industrial relations in Canada have been marked by considerable unrest. And yet it is no exaggeration to say that Canada has been relatively fortunate in this respect by comparison with all the other participants in the great war. The reason is not far to seek. It lies in the moderation and common sense which is characteristic of so many Canadian employers and labor leaders in their dealings with one another. With the whole world in a state of economic turmoil and in the face of present world-wide scarcity of the necessaries of life, it would be impossible that we would escape, in some measure, the truly terrible experiences through which the nations of Europe are now passing.
>
> No one can foretell what difficulties may confront us in the future. But whatever the future may hold in store, we shall have supreme need of all the common sense we can bring to bear on the situation, avoiding the dictates of ultra-radicalism, on the one hand, and ultra-conservatism on the other and endeavoring by calm thought and temperate discussion to reach the decision in all cases which will be the fairest to all concerned.
>
> If this spirit controls the councils of business and labor affairs in Canada, I have no doubt as to the certainty of our industrial stability in the days that lie ahead and the attainment of a reasonable measure of satisfaction all around.

Amidst the babel of voices making the air hideous with confusion, such a clear call to straight thinking is refreshing. And if Canadians only heed its advice, only learn to spurn the extremist and the agitator, they can face the future confident and without fear.

CANADA'S PENSION BILL THIRTY-THREE MILLION THIS YEAR.

In the fiscal year ending with the 31st of March last, Canada paid out in pensions to soldiers or their dependents the sum of $25,176,287. The estimate for the current year is $33,000,000. In all since the pensions began in Sept., 1916, and up to August of this year, the Canadian Pensions Board has disbursed in pensions about $65,000,000.

As the cost of living increased and as the country's realization of its duty in the matter of pensions grew clearer the amount paid to disabled soldiers and to the dependents of those who fell in the war has been repeatedly increased. In the case of a totally disabled private soldier the 1914 rate was $264 per annum, and the 1920 rate for the same man is $900. The various increases are shown by the following table:

Dependents—
1914, widow of private, $264 and $60 per child.
1916, widow of private, 384 and 72 per child.
1917, widow of private, 480 and 96 per child.
1918, widow of private, 480 and 144 per child.
1919, widow of private, 576 and 180 for first child.
1920, widow of private, 720 and 180 for first child.
Disabilities—
1914, rate for total disability, $264.
1916, rate for total disability, 480.
1917, rate for total disability, 600.
1918, rate for total disability, 720 and $96 for first child.
1920 (inc. for Canada alone), $900 and $180 for first child.

There are, of course, grants and expenditures made in other cases not included in the foregoing. There is no disposition on the part of the Government or the people of Canada to fail in their duty, by being neglectful or penurious, in dealing with returned soldiers and the dependents of those who fell in the war. There is, on the contrary, a determination to do all that is possible, and this, at least, can be said: that no other country is meeting its obligations better.

DIVORCE CASES KEEP SENATORS BUSY.

Through the Journal of Commerce, Hon. W. S. Fielding makes another plea for the transference of divorce from Parliament to the courts of the country. He is moved to a revival of the subject by the number of applications for divorce already waiting the next session of Parliament. A dozen stand over from the last session and already thirty new ones are listed in the Canada Gazette, while many more are certain to be filed before the session opens.

Mr. Fielding urges that if the Government is not prepared itself to initiate legislation for divorce reform it should at least leave the way open for the independent action of members. Two independent attempts to have the desired legislation enacted have failed. Two years ago Mr. W. F. Nickle's bill got past second reading but was lost afterwards. Last session the bill of Hon. W. B. Ross, chairman of the Divorce Committee of the Senate, passed that House but was not dealt with by the Commons.

CRISP COMMENT

Toronto restaurants have been caught exacting 1400 per cent. in gross profit on tomatoes. Gross profit is right.

× × ×

We have with us tonight the smell of the Moira—YET.

× × ×

Beautiful Belleville on the Moira—Hush! Change the record, please.

× × ×

Are young Canadians giving up religion? asks the Toronto Star, and in an effort to find out what the matter is with the churches secures interviews with four Toronto preachers. Strange to say, the preachers inform the Star that there is nothing the matter with the churches, business as usual at the old stand, as it were; but, howsomever, and otherwise notwithstanding, Byron Stauffer gets the big business at a new stand not as usual but as unusual. From the inside looking out is a different view from the outside looking in.

× × ×

He stood on the bridge at midnight, the clock was striking the hour, and the smell rose up from the river and encircled the old clock tower. He would have liked to linger longer, but he could no longer linger; he went!

× × ×

If your smeller's on the blink, don't worry; only think what you're missing of the smell which can well up from the river, calm and peaceful in the moonlight, but pervasive not evasive—so if your smeller's on the blink you should worry in the think that the drink is on the blink, poison gas and S. T. INK.

× × ×

That Mackenzie King as a political party leader is a dead one is evidenced from the fact that the skeleton of his noted ancestor, William Lyon Mackenzie, is being trotted out to attract prestige to the former corner stone of the Rockefeller Foundation. However, rattling the bones of William Lyon Mackenzie, agitator and rebel, will not create any Lady Luck for the spite leader of a forlorn hope.

× × ×

Well, this sort of weather is a tonic, anyway, says the Brockville Recorder apropos of the hot wave. Tonic is right brother, but when flavored with miasma from the muddy Moira the tonic is apt to be tinctured with cuss words.

× × ×

Man dropped dead carrying a pail of water. Another warning!

Man dropped dead last winter shovelling snow; another one went to glory chopping wood.

Resolved, that we carry no more water, shovel no more snow, cut no more wood, and henceforth abstain from all like hazardous games.

OTHER VIEWS

Striking Matches

Orillia Packet

The Woodstock Sentinel Review says gentlemen used to strike matches on their pants, but in these days pants will not stand the strain. Not altogether accurate. "Gents" used to strike matches on their "pants," and no doubt do so still. Gentlemen do not wear pants; they wear trousers.

Probably Odoriferous

Clinton News-Record

A Kentucky man boasts that he is wearing the suit in which he was married sixty years ago! which prompts The Saskatoon Star to observe that they don't make that kind of a suit nowadays; to which The Toronto Globe adds that they don't make that kind of a man who would wear that kind of a suit. The comment of The News Record is that they don't seem to make that kind of a wife that would allow that kind of a man to wear that kind of a suit.

POET'S CORNER

MORNING AND EVENING

The husk of the darkness slips away;
Out of the dusk blooms the flower of day.
And the sweetest thing in the world to me
Is the chatter of children full of glee,
The patter of feet on the nursery floor,
The rap of elves at my chamber door,
All the little ones wide awake,
I face the world for the children's sake.

In the gathering dusk the dayflower shuts;
Wearily plodding in year-long ruts
I seek my home; as I turn the key,
The chatter of children welcomes me.

Never was music half so sweet
As the merry rush of the little feet
I hear the sound of a blithe uproar
As I turn the key in my dear home door;
With hurry and flurry the little band
Fall on me, storm me; seize my hand
And then the soft warm cloak of the dusk
Wraps the day in a circling husk.
The stars come out, the day is done,
Sleep gathers my babies, every one,
And what do I care for the world's hard fight
I am safe with my own till the morning light.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

A LAUGH OR TWO

She Knew

Teacher (to new girl)—Now, Dolly, I'll give you a sum. Supposing your father owed the butcher fifteen pounds eleven shillings and two-pence halfpenny, seven pounds, three shillings to the bootmaker, fourteen pounds and ninepence to the milkman, and thirty-one pounds nineteen shillings and threepence three farthings to the coal merchant—

Dolly (confident) — We should move!

Rubbing It In

They had been out together the night before and were comparing notes in the morning.

"I had a rotten time," confessed Smith; "the missus jawed me for half an hour. How did you get on?"

Jones groaned miserably.

"You got off lightly," he said. "You don't know what it is like being married to a woman who has been a school-teacher. She didn't say much, but she made me sit up till I had written out: 'I must be home every night by ten o'clock' a hundred times."

When Haste is Worse

A Japanese baron visited the University of California, and on leaving was put aboard a partly filled local car.

At a junction the party transferred to a much crowded through car. Japanese courtesy weathered the test so far as matters went, but the baron could not resist the question, "Why do we leave the comfortable car for this one, which is so crowded?"

He was told, "Oh, we save two minutes getting into San Francisco."

"Ah," said he, "and what will we do with the two minutes?"

Settled

Rumor charged a resident in a northeast suburb with dragging his wife from a certain meeting and compelling her to return home with him.

The man let the story travel until he had a fair opportunity to give it a broadside, and then he replied in the local paper as follows:

"In the first place I never attempted to influence my wife in her views or her choice of meeting.

Second, my wife did not attend the meeting in question.

In the third place, I did not attend the meeting myself.

Finally, I never had a wife."

◆

MAUSOLEUM TO BE SPLENDID

Beautiful Resting Place for the Dead Will Soon Be Dedicated in San Francisco.

One of the most beautiful homes of the dead on the western continent will be opened in San Francisco a few months hence when the community's mausoleum at Holy Cross cemetery is dedicated to its solemn purpose, says the San Francisco Chronicle.

Every race and every epoch has had its great mausoleums—temples to hold the dust of the departed and stand as monuments to the lasting memory of the dead.

Back in the dawn of history the greatest sculptors the world has ever known were gathered at Halicarnassus by Queen Artemisia to adorn and make immortal the tomb of her husband, Mausolaus, the king. Hence came the name mausoleum, for the house beautiful wherein Mausolaus and his queen Artemisia slept, was reckoned as one of the seven wonders of the world more than 2,000 years ago.

Centuries later the mausoleum of Augustus Caesar was built on the Campus Martius, honoring the body of the emperor, emulating the glory and beauty of the tomb of the Carian king.

Other ages and other lands saw similar great memorials—the mausoleum of Theodric at Ravenna, the five-towered pagoda to the great emperors in the Forbidden City of Peking, the tomb of Mahmud at Bjijapur, the Taj Mahal at Agar—the dream palace that the great Shah Jehan raised over all that was left to him of his beloved queen.

The community mausoleum at Holy Cross cemetery, will be a severely noble structure, 205 feet in length, 90 feet in width and a general height of 85 feet, the facade of which is surmounted by a central pylon rising to a height of 65 feet.

Within its walls there will be 1,150 individual crypts, with 18 private sections and four private rooms; opening from splendid corridors of marble and bronze that converge on the chapel, which occupy the central space of the edifice.

The walks are constructed of cement and steel. The interior is entirely of marble and bronze—brocadillo trimmed with olive over a verde antique base.

This marble alone cost more than $100,000. The building will cost $300,000, exclusive of the real estate value, roads and landscape gardening that covers the two-acre site.

For Air or Water.

A new type of airplane is being experimented with on Long Island which is adapted for use on the land, water or in the air. It has folding wheels which are operated by levers from the pilot's seat and which are dropped when it is desired to make a landing on the solid ground. At other times they are disposed out of the way.

One Drawback.

"My friend," said the pious old gentleman, "it grieves me to see you under the influence of liquor."

"Save your sympathy, sir," replied the inebriated one, quite shamelessly withal. "If I could just forget what this jag cost me I wouldn't have a care in the world."—Birmingham Age Herald.

Had Help.

Mr. Hardfax—So your son left us to go into a bank in the city? How did he acquit himself?

Mr. Timbertop—He didn't acquit himself. It took the best lawyers in the county to get him acquitted.—Boston Globe.

Give the Children Grape-Nuts

That sturdy wheat and barley food that builds and strengthens

Needs No Sugar

One dish a day will make for health

For Every Morning's Breakfast—

Your favorite cereal and

Borden's

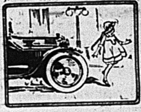
ST. CHARLES MILK

Rich as cream with a distinct zestful flavor all its own. You'll look forward daily to breakfast hour.

Try it to-morrow.

The BORDEN COMPANY Limited
MONTREAL 12-920

MOTORISTS' BOOK MARK



Keep Your Car Fully Under Control

These Demand Unusual Care

Street Intersections
Blind Corners
Nearby Schools
Railway Tracks
Slippery Pavements

ONTARIO SAFETY LEAGUE
ROYAL BANK BUILDING • TORONTO

Wanted

YOUNG MAN AS APPRENTICE

Apply by letter in own handwriting, to

OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Arthur McGie

MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

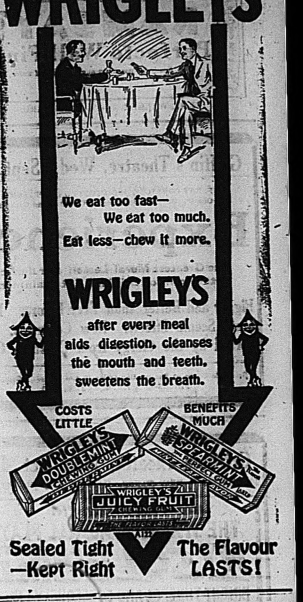
"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

WRIGLEYS



We eat too fast—
We eat too much.
Eat less—chew it more.

WRIGLEYS

after every meal aids digestion, cleanses the mouth and teeth, sweetens the breath.

COSTS LITTLE

BENEFITS MUCH

Sealed Tight —Kept Right

The Flavour LASTS!

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 3.15
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 436.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
288 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 205

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C. M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r31
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER.
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
26 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

Advertise in The Intelligencer

BEAUTIFUL SHOWING OF

Autumn Dress Fabrics

A Magnificent Showing of New Dress Materials, Embracing the Choicest Weaves, Most Beautiful Colorings Created this Season.

DRESS GOODS.

All Wool Serge in Navy, Black, Brown, Copen. and Purple. Special value at $2.50

ALL WOOL SERGE

50 ins. and 54 ins. wide, in Black, Navy, Copen., Taupe and Brown; priced at $4.50 to $6.00.

TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, in Navy, Copen. and Brown, priced at $5.50

BROADCLOTH, in Navy, Brown, Black, priced at $5.00 and $6.00

ARMURE TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, all wool, in Navy, Copen. and Reindeer. Special value at $5.00

VELOURS in the new shades, priced at $6.00

ALL WOOL JERSEY CLOTH in newest shades, at $5.00 and $6.00.

DRESS SILKS

HABUTAI SILKS, 36 ins. wide in white and black, priced at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

PAILETTE SILKS in Navy, White, Taupe Brown, Green, Grey, 36 ins. Good value at $2.50.

DUCHESSE SATINS in the newest shades of Navy, Brown, Sand, Taupe, Grey, Orchid, in a good heavy quality. Priced at $3.50.

TAFFETA SILKS in a big showing of plain and shot effects —36 ins. wide, good value at $3.50.

BLACK DRESS SILKS in three special values:

36 inch Pailette Silk at .. $3.00

36 inch Duchesse Silk at $3.50

36 inch Duchesse Satin, extra heavy quality, at $4.50

EARLE & COOK CO

Autumn Footwear

Ladies and Men, we invite your inspection of our

New Fall Shoes

as our lines are complete in every detail, and the greatest variety of styles and different kinds of leather can be seen at the

Leslie Shoe Store

PHONE 553.

SEE SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Misses & Young Ladies Fur Sets

If you are needing a Fur for the chilly evenings, call in and take a look around our stock. We have a nice assortment of MISSES' and YOUNG LADIES' sets cut from the choicest skins and fashioned on the very latest designs.

We would especially recommend you to see our sets in

JAPANESE CROSS FOX, BADGER AUSTRALIAN AND AMERICAN OPOSSUM, GREY SQUIRREL.

The price you will find reasonable, being from $35.00 per set up

DELANEY

Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.

17 Campbell Street.

PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special

Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at

39c per Pair

THE BEEHIVE

CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices

Before You Buy Your

PEACHES, PLUMS GAGES, etc.

We Can Save You Money

Fresh Stock Arriving Daily

ED. A. KELLAWAY

PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

City And Country

ALLEGED RECKLESS DRIVING

Mr. Hamilton residing in the 2nd Concession of Sidney Township reported to the police that on Sunday afternoon an auto with marker 127,-355 drove past his place in a reckless manner and ran over his valuable dog killing it.

STOLEN FROM AUTO

Miss Cora Bell of Point Ann reports to the police that on Saturday evening a grip belonging to her was rifled and articles taken out. The grip was in a motor car on Bridge street east. A camera, some films and a purse containing $5.25 were taken.

SHOT HORSE

On Sunday morning at the corner of Holloway and Howard streets, a horse was found in a dying condition. The police were notified of the occurrence and an officer shot the animal at the request of the owner, Mr. T. M. Rankin of Ormsby. The animal had been allowed its liberty and became entangled in a rope which was tied about its neck and one of its front legs. In some way the horse had almost strangled and otherwise injured itself, hence its destruction.

FARMER BADLY HURT

His skull fractured as the result of the breaking of a fly wheel on a gasoline engine during ensilage-cutting operations, John Thompson, aged 18, residing in the township of Matilda, six miles in rear of Iroquois lies in the General hospital, Brockville, in a dangerous condition. In company with a number of other farmers Thompson was engaged in corn-cutting when the flywheel of the gasoline engine driving the cutter broke without warning, a large piece of metal striking him on the forehead and inflicting a terrible wound, from which it is feared the young man may not recover. His fellow-workers rushed to his assistance and Dr. Collison of Dixon's Corners, was summoned. He at once ordered Thompson's removal to the Brockville General hospital and he was rushed there in an automobile.

RESCUED BY FIREMEN

Mrs. C. H. Boardman, formerly of Belleville, was rescued from a burning building in Brockville a few nights ago. The flat and furnishings of Mrs. Boardman were destroyed in the fire.

RAN AWAY FROM HOME

The local police have been asked by the Peterboro department to locate a boy named Percy Ward, who recently ran away from his home in that city. He was described as being about 15 years of age, and wearing tan shoes, a blue suit and green cap, his hair being dark and curly.

BRAVE DEED REWARDED

In recognition of her brave action in saving a small boy named Sayer from drowning last June, Mrs. Grover Kerr of Hastings, will be presented with the Royal Humaine Society medal at Hastings on Wednesday evening. The circumstances under which the rescue was effected were unusual. Hearing desperate calls for help, Mrs. Kerr rushed to the river's edge and found the little boy had gone down in nine feet of water. She quickly secured a punt and rowed to the place she judged he would be, but with unusual presence of mind refrained from diving for him, fearing that in so doing she might dive on top of him and cause him to sink beyond hope of recovery. At the time of his last rising she jumped into the water fully dressed and caught the struggling child, bringing him safely to land.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLIES

In the various Methodist churches of the city yesterday, Sunday School rallies were held and were well attended despite the somewhat oppressive

FARMER COLLECTED TOLL

Most people were of the opinion that the toll gates on the York Road were things of the past, but a number of citizens who were returning from the Odessa fair last night were reminded that such was not exactly the case for they were mulcted to the extent of half a dollar apiece to get their autos and carriages past an obstruction which had been placed across the road on this side of Odessa. Two heavy road rollers were drawn across the roadway at a point a few miles on this side of Odessa, and when the autoists reached that point they were confronted with the fact that they would have to turn about and retrace their way by a long round-about to get to the city. However, a farmer who happened, whether by accident or design, to be near when the string of autos was longest volunteered to open the fence on both sides of the obstruction and allow them to pass around the rollers at the price of half a dollar each. Rather than retrace, their way, they paid the half and the farmer is said to have pocketed a nice amount as the result. Now they are wondering if the farmer placed the rollers on the road or if it was the government officials or the contractors.—Kingston Standard.

O.B.C. GRADUATE APPOINTED

uaydgtacF ng ImYtafi ayou

At a Chapleau, Ont., town council meeting, Randolph Serre was elected town clerk and treasurer to take over his duties October 1st. The council's choice is a popular one and the new clerk will enter upon his duties with the good wishes of the citizens. He is a returned soldier and a member of Chapleau branch of the G.W.V.A., an old Chapleau boy of lifelong residence and recently married. Mr. Serre, who is pleased with the council's decision and the appointment has expressed himself as determined to do his utmost to make good and give his best in the interests of the town. He is a graduate of the Ontario Business College and was married last June in Belleville to Miss Hilda Barrett of Belleville.

BELLEVILLE CHEESE BOARD

At the Belleville Cheese Board on Saturday, 1170 boxes of cheese were offered for sale and all were sold at 25 3-16c.

FINED FOR INTOXICATION.

Eugene Donegan and Patrick Ryal who claim to be citizens of the neighboring republic, were this morning before Magistrate Masson charged with being intoxicated. They admitted the offence and were find $10 and costs each, which was paid.

SOME SQUASH.

Mr. Beaumont Jarvis, architect, is harvesting his cottage garden crop, situated near his apartments on George street. The crop includes a Hubbard squash of majestic proportions, measuring thirty-six inches around the waist. The squash is on exhibition at Wallbridge & Clarke's Bridge street store.

Social And Personal

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Harker have returned home after a two weeks' visit to relatives and friends at Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. MacFayden and Miss McGregor of Galt spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. G. N. Beatty, Sidney.

Mr. Sam Towner, Iowa, is visiting his brother, W. H. Towner, 12 Patterson street.

Mrs. W. H. Towner, son and daughter, who have been spending the past six weeks in New Orleans have returned to their home, 12 Patterson street.

Miss Beatrice Bradshaw, of Kingston, Ont., is spending a few weeks' vacation with Miss Madeline Doyle, 190½ Front street, city.

Called by Death

JAMES G. COPELAND

James Garfield Copeland, son of Henry Copeland died on Saturday night at his father's residence, 334 Pinnacle street at the age of 6 years. He had been sick about six weeks. The funeral took place this afternoon, interment being at Plainfield cemetery.

INNOCENT ASH CAN PROVES TO BE A STILL

Hamilton, Sept. 25.—Hamilton foreigners have developed a brand-new wrinkle to outwit the Inland Revenue men in connection with the O. T. A. It is the travelling still. The householder makes a mash. When the concoction develops a proper kick a moonshiner receives the passward and arrives on the scene with what appears to be an ordinary metal ash-can. When the still owner has completed operations he steals away.

Inspector Baby of the Inland Revenue Department says the apparatus is very simple looking. It is composed of a clean metal ash-can in which a basin fits tightly about half way up. Holes are left in the side of the basin to permit steam to pass from the bottom of the can to the top. In the top of the can is placed a basin of cold water. The mash is poured into the bottom of the container, the whole apparatus, heated, and when the steam passes to the top and strikes the cold basin it condenses and falls into the second basin.

DROP IN WINNIPEG FLOUR.

Winnipeg, Sept. 25.—A reduction of 20 cents on the barrel of flour this week and the prospect of a further drop by Monday is Winnipeg's contribution towards the reduction of the cost of living.

The wholesale price of flour in Winnipeg is $1.65 a barrel less than it was two months ago when wheat prices were controlled by the Government. Grades equivalent to the former Government standard are selling for $12.75 or $1.50 less, and the highest grades worth, according to the former price and standard $17 a barrel, for $15.15.

QUAINT DESIGN FOR MILADY

This unique design in black and white on printed chiffon, elaborately embroidered in beads, is sure to please the most critical. The touch of filet at neck and on the sleeves adds another bit of beauty to the frock. The hat is one of the late styles imported from France.

VERY NEWEST LEATHER BELT

Cut-Out Scheme Affords Fastenings Without Hook, Buckle or Button; Good for Summer Wear.

In this era of the leather belt, it is not surprising to see that it is showing brand new possibilities. The most charming is one which colorfully enlists the use of worsted flowers.

Buy enough of one of the leather substitutes to make the belt of the desirable width. It should be from two inches to two and one-half inches in width. The width of the material used will doubtless do for the length of the belt.

On one end of the belt cut an oval slit. On the other cut out near the end at top and bottom a "tooth" about a half inch or more in depth. These two "teeth" or notches will be the means of holding the end in place when it is slipped through the slit on the other end of the belt. Thus is it fastened together without hook, buckle or button and will easily stay in place if your material has sufficient body, and if you do not submit the belt to too much strain in fastening too tightly. Belts of this sort really look ever so much better if they are not any tighter than is absolutely necessary to keep them from dipping too much in front.

Now, upon the center-back applique a henna color rose which you have crocheted of worsted. On either side have flowers which decrease gradually in size until upon the sides of the flowers are nothing more than flowers whose petals are single strands of worsted embroidered directly upon the belt. You might have a smaller crocheted flower upon either side of the central one and then embroidered ones after that. Or you might have only the central one crocheted and appliqued and all the rest embroidered.

A very lovely color scheme consists of using with the henna some yellow, peach color and lavender. These colors upon the black are both effective and charmingly delicate.

A belt of this sort many be charmingly worn upon a jersey, serge or tricotine frock. It is equally attractive upon a sweater. And when summer comes, the uses for it shall have found to have increased. It is one of those articles of apparel which defy the changeable and fickle seasons!

WHEN SHE IS UNDER FIFTEEN

Tailored Spring Suit for Young Miss Promises to Be Interesting Item for Season.

For the girl of ten to fourteen years, the tailored spring suit will be an interesting item this season, as the charming little bolero and Eton jackets are to have such a vogue. Frocks with bolero jackets are also shown, so much like the suits really that a casual glance detects no difference at all.

A little tailored frock for a young girl recently seen is quite worth describing. It had a plaited skirt and a little bolero jacket with underblouse of vivid red. The frock proper was of navy, and the jacket was finished at the edges with round scallops piped with red. A tiny navy frill edged with red finished the neck of the blouse. The sleeves were elbow length so far as the blouse was concerned, scalloped, of course, and with wrist length full sleeves of the red.

Embroidery.

Cross stitch embroidery marks one of the newest duvetyn frocks. The cross stitch is done in silk, in the same shade as the duvetyn, and this break in the surface of the fabric furnishes the only bit of decoration needed on the frock.

◆

Two killed and nine injured in Toronto auto accidents over week-end.

McClary's

Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

Footwear of Special Merit

The more particular a woman is in regard to the sort of shoes she wears, the more she will enjoy seeing the new styles we are showing for Fall.

EVERY WOMAN'S SHOE is a masterpiece of expert Shoemaker's Skill.

The Haines Shoe Houses

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.

SAVE

By Shopping at

WOTTEN'S

You will actually save on your autumn wearables by shopping at this new Ladies Wear Store. Our stock is fresh and new for the season, and every article has been marked at very advantageous prices for thrifty women to take advantage of. There is always something new to be seen here, so drop in any time you are down town and look around. You are welcome indeed, whether a purchase is intended or not.

Wottens Limit'd

LADIES' WEAR STORE

Service Phone 1100 - 808

UPHOLSTERING

Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.

F. W. CHURCHILL.

Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.

194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

More Bread and Butter

Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.

Brad and Butter, the food forwhich little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.

Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.

Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.

YEREX & SONS

68 SINCLAIR STREET.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.						READ UP.
Train 18	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS.		Train 20	Train 22	Train 30
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	——	Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*9.00 a.m.	——
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.28 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
5.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	8.20 p.m.	——
7.55 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	8.00 a.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	5.40 p.m.	——

* Daily §Daily except Sunday

— BURROWS, City Passenger Agent

DR. BELL'S PRESCRIPTIONS FOR THE STOMACH. For Sale at DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

McCOY BROS.

Fine Shoe Rapairing and Dyeing.

All material and workmanship guaranteed or your money cheerfully refunded.

McCOY BROS.
Opposite Graham's Cold Storage
Stores in Belleville and Picton

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER GRIFFIN

Tonight & Tues. Only
WM. S. HART
and ANNA LITTLE
in
"SQUARE DEAL SANDERSON"

Tender as a new-born babe with a woman, with a heart as big as himself, he's ready to fight with insane fury for the woman he loves. You never saw Bill Hart as he is in "Square Deal Sanderson." He couldn't be better!

SUNSHINE COMEDY
JACK DEMPSEY SERIAL
BURTON HOLMES SCENIC

COMING THURSDAY—MABEL NORMAND in "UPSTAIRS" CHARLIE CHAPLIN in his latest 2-reel scream—"A DAY'S PLEASURE"—You'll say so!

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word: 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 3 cents per word. Count 5 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word. If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

HAVE YOUR TIRES REPAIRED at the IDEAL VULCANIZING CO., 353 Front St.

FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE, FIVE MILES FROM Belleville, 100 acres of good work land, well watered and fenced. About 4 acres of orchard and other small fruits. Good buildings. For further particulars apply to Harry Fitzgerald, R. R. No. 6, Belleville Ont. s27-2tw,4td

FOR SALE OR TO LET—FIVE ROOMED house with modern conveniences. Apply 9 Everett Street. s27-2td

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s27-6td

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE—1 TEAM GENERAL purpose horses, or exchange as part payment on used Ford Car. No reasonable offer refused. Apply at once. 42 Murney Street. s25-2td

FOR SALE—2,000 ACRE RANCH AT EGAN Creek Siding, 15 miles south of Bancroft, along railway. 100 acres of work land, 75 acres now sown to rye. Wire fenced. Good buildings, machinery. Apply to N. A. R. Green, Coe Hill. s24-4td

FOR SALE—NEW SEVEN ROOM HOUSE —cellar, cistern, electric wired. Three minutes walk from Front St. Apply 402 Front Street. Price right. s24-6td

FOR SALE—THREE HOUSES IN GOOD localities—Fifteen hundred, Thirty-five hundred, and Forty-five hundred. Apply 271 Albert St., or Phone 920. s24-6td

FOR SALE—ONE FOUR ROOM COTTAGE with large lot; also one seven room house with large summer kitchen on one and three-quarters acres of land, on MacDonald Ave., north of Victoria Ave. Apply on premises. Township taxes. s23 6t

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front Street. a6-dtf

FOR SALE—SMALL FARM, NINE ACRES, mostly in apples and small fruit, just outside city limits, 9 roomed house, with hot air furnace, good well and cistern. Will sell house separate. If not sold by October 1st will rent. Apply G. D. Gratton, R.R. 3, Belleville. s21-6td

FOR SALE—DOHERTY PLAYER PIANO and 40 rolls. Apply N. Curlett, N. Park St., Belleville. s21-6td

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. s18-12td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a19-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED — A MAID FOR GENERAL housework; small family. Apply 93 Victoria Avenue. s27-6td

WANTED—WOMAN TO WORK BY THE week. Sleep in or out; plain cooking and housework. Apply with references. 161 S. Albert Street. s27-3td

WANTED—EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHER, capable of keeping set of books. Address replies to Box "H," The Intelligencer. s24-4td

WANTED—A GOOD PLAIN COOK, GENERAL. No laundry work. Highest wages to capable person with references. Apply 161 S. Albert Street. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED — CAPABLE COOK-GENERAL, for family of three. No washing. Wages $36 per month. References required. Address Box "V," Intelligencer Office, Belleville, stating capabilities, age and references. All replies will be considered confidential. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dim

FOUND

FOUND—A BUNCH OF KEYS. OWNER may have same by claiming same at this office and paying for advt. s27-2td

TO LET.

TO RENT — WELL FURNISHED SMALL house. Hot water heating. Centrally located. Box "K," Intelligencer. s25-6td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s20-12td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 859. s14-dtf

WANTED.

WANTED—TWO FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED rooms, with or without board. Apply to Mrs. J. W. Johnson, 259 Charles St. Phone 859. s23-tfd

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10 $25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED PRESSMAN — DUPLEX PRESS and jobbers; also linotype operator. Apply immediately. Intelligencer Office, Belleville. s23-3td

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day of evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d-o2

WANTED — A BOY TO LEARN THE printing trade. Apply The Intelligencer Office. s20-dtf

EXPERIENCED LINOTYPE OPERATOR wanted at once. Apply at The Intelligencer Office. s27-dtf

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press Limited

Deadly reprisals at Belfast for attacks on police. Three civilians near scene of outrages killed by masked men.

Sinn Fein adherents assemble in Toronto. Bitter resolution passed denouncing Toronto Orangemen for banning meeting. Quebec branch declares boycott against Toronto.

Last two Western bandits killed by Posse.

Twenty-five persons killed in disturbances at Gensan, Korea. It is claimed that students of Canadian Presbyterian mission led rioters.

W. M. Charlton has been appointed Crown Attorney for Brant county.

The proposed Irish meeting, banned in Toronto, will assemble in Ottawa

One refinery is reported to have cut sugar $2.00 per hundred weight.

Andrew Yensen, aged 3, of Sudbury, died in convulsions from eating green apples.

John Weaver, aged 10, of Fonthill, a prizewinner at the Pelham School Fair, was killed.

The milk condensories at Picton and Bloomfield, have closed owing to overproduction.

Windsorites are assured of coal from the municipal fuel yard if the dealers are unable to supply them.

Bavarian workmen have announced a strike in the event of a monarchy being proclaimed.

Gabriele D'Annunzio has appealed to the nations to recognize the "Italian Regency of Quarnero."

COTTON PRICES DROP ALSO CORN AND FLOUR

New York, Sept. 27.—There was a break of more than $5 a bale in the price of cotton for November delivery which sold at $23.80 in the market here Saturday.

Flour broke 25c to 40c a barrel at the principal mills in Minneapolis due to the weak wheat market.

September delivery of corn dropped in Kansas City to 97 cents, 13 cents under its previous close.

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like new. My 'Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

Y. M. C. A. GYM. OPENING.

The regular Gym. Classes will open at the Y.M.C.A. on Monday, September 27th. Classes for all. Class Schedule, Belleville Y.M.C.A., Season 1920-21:—

Monday—Seniors, 8.15-9.30; Senior (day) 4.15-5; Junior (night) 7-8.

Tuesday—Business Men, a.m., 10.30; Business Men, p.m., 5.15-6; Junior (day) 4.15-5.-5; Senior (night) 7-8.15.

Wednesday—Day Girls, 4.15; Night Girls, 7.30-8.30; Women, 2.30-3.30.

Thursday—Seniors, 8.15-9.30; Junior (night) 7-8; Albert College, 4.15-5.15.

Friday—Business Men, a.m., 10.30; 5.15-6; Senior (day) 4.15-5; Senior (night) 7-8.15.

Saturday—Junior (day) 11-12; Albert College, 10-11. s25,27,30,o2

AUCTION SALE

Household furniture, 223 John street, Wednesday, September 29th at 2 o'clock. Estate Mrs. D. O'Hare. S. J. Fisher, auctioneer. s25-3td

The synod of the Reformed Episcopal Church will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday the 28th and 29th. To the following services, the public are invited. Tuesday at 7.30 p.m., Our attitude to the Lambeth appeal, by Bishop Brewing. Wednesday at 3 p.m., Missionary Enterprise. Wednesday at 8 p.m., The value of the Sunday School. s25-2td

Benjamin Lodge L.O.L. 274 will open Tuesday evening, Sept. 28th. All members and brethren cordially welcome.

WM. McINTOSH, W. M.
S. A. RUTTAN, Sec. 27-2t

"RECORDS" "RECORDS"
C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED

For your private Fall Dances try this programme of latest Dance Records:

1—Waltz—Miami Shore A6144.
2—Fox Trot—In Sweet September A2959.
3—One Step—Happy A2963.
4—F. T.—A Young Man's Fancy A2970.
5—Waltz — Pickaninny Blues A6162.

6—O. S.—Come Back to Georgia A2938.
7—F. T.—Hold Me A2899.
8—Moon Waltz—Shadowland.
9—F. T.—Tell Me, Little Gypsy A2972.
10—Hiawatha's Melody of Love A6150.

AUCTION SALE

Miss Minnie Adams, at 12 Cedar Street, Belleville, will sell her household effects by auction on Tuesday, Sept. 29th, at 2 o'clock. 1t

The very latest song is "The Love Nest." Ask to hear the Record A2973 at C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

CONDENSORIES CLOSE.

The milk condensories in Prince Edward county at Picton and Bloomfield have closed down owing to overproduction, and the farmers have flocked back to the cheese factories that were closed down in the spring, when they gave up in preference to the condensories. There is still a demand for cheese and butter, and the farmers are not likely to meet with any loss.

"LITTLE HSU."

Chinese Leader Who Has Great Ambitions.

"Little Hsu."

The name is in everyone's mouth in China.

Gen. Hsu Shu-cheng is the proper designation and title of the man. He is called "Little Hsu" because there is an elder and formerly more prominent Hsu, who is President Hsu Shih-chang. In many respects "Little Hsu" now overshadows Old Hsu.

"Little Hsu" is a soldier who has seen little or nothing of war. He is selfish, domineering, inordinately ambitious. To the anti-militarists he is the embodiment of militarism in China. For that reason and because he is pro-Japanese he is feared and hated by all liberal and enlightened elements of the population.

Hsu has been forging ahead. He is the dominant figure in the politico-military Anfu Club at Peking. He manages to keep the support of Marshal Tuan Chi-jui. He made himself the chief figure in the Northwest Frontier Defence Bureau, under the Military Pact with Japan. Gen. Benzai, of the Japanese army, is chief of staff of the bureau, and he and his Japanese assistants furnish the military knowledge required by the bureau, and Japanese officers train the Chinese soldiers who protect the Mongolian frontier.

Single-handed, except for Japanese encouragement, Hsu recently cancelled the autonomy of Mongolia and made that vast and undeveloped country again an integral part of China. Chinese would be more enthusiastic over that if they did not believe that the reclamation of Mongolia will ultimately be of greater benefit to Japan than to China. Also they fear it will involve them in concert with the Japanese, in warfare along the border with the Russians.

Abviously, Hsu is trying to build up for himself in Mongolia a military strength that will exceed that of Chang Tso-ling in Manchuria, where Chang has a formidable army by virtue of Japanese support. If he should succeed, a day would come when Hsu's Mongolian horde would descend upon Peking and make Little Hsu dictator. In the meantime, Hsu is plotting and planning, seeking mostly to supplant the tuchuns of the three Yangtse provinces with Aufu Club generals. If he wins and the new military governors of these provinces, which are pivotal as between the north and the south, remain loyal to him, his dream of dictatorship may come true.

But those "if's" are the rub. In spite of his having a finger in every pie now, the wise ones say he will not go far nor last long. He has no friends. He is so arrogant and self-seeking that he commands no loyalty. Wise old Marshal Tuan has always shouldered the blame for mistakes of his pupils and followers; in striking contrast Hsu makes scapegoats of his subordinates. The generals and tuchuns of his approximate rank are all against him, and it is predicted that when Marshal Tuan dies or loses interest entirely through the feebleness of old age, these others will make quick work of finishing off "Little Hsu."

I had an interview with "Little Hsu" on March 5, in which he freely expressed his conviction that what China needs is a strong man and declared that if he was found to be that man he would not shirk the responsibilities of a military dictatorship.

Hsu received me in his office in the headquarters of the Northwest Frontier Defence Bureau, the very centre of Japanese militarist influence in Peking. His office is far in the rear of the compound which encloses the old palace of a prince. Soldiers were on guard from the gate all the way back through the quandrangles and courts, and I got through only because I held his card making the appointment. A young Chinese who is "English secretary" interpreted.

Hsu came in, of course, in uniform, his sword dangling and clanking. He is a short, thick-set man, not more than forty years of age. He does not look high class or capable or soldierly. He looks shrewd and self-willed.

In his own way, Hsu impressed me as having something of statesmanship. He spoke freely of the folly of China borrowing and spending and wasting the country's natural resources. He talked volubly of his desire to have Chinese themselves contribute the money to build a railroad projected for Mongolia, over the old camel trail from Kalgan to Chita. But doubtless in the meantime he is ready to let the Japanese provide the money and gain advantages that will sacrifice the interests of China. Also he himself could stop the borrowing from Japan and spending process that is wasting the resources of China if he were willing to forego ambition and be a wise and patriotic leader.

Hsu assured me he knew the limits of military success; he cited the fate of Napoleon as an example of what happens to a general who turns out from national defence to conquest. Just the same, I fancy "Little Hsu" often closes his little eyes and swells his pudgy chest as he dreams of riding into Peking on a white mule or a caparisoned camel or a high-powered automobile at the head of a conquering army from Mongolia.

Watch Hsu Shu-cheng. He will be the centre of sensational doings. He will be monarch or a tramp, dictator or a refugee in Japan.

Men Forced Out.

The male residents of the town of Arcola, Sask., have lost their voice in the administration of Public school affairs in that place. When the board dismissed D. S. Williams as principal of the High school, such a protest was raised that the board quit in a body and an election called. The result showed that with one exception all women had been returned. Their first official act was to restore the dismissed school principal to his former position.

◆

Brooklyn advanced a step nearer the National League pennant by beating New York.

Arthur Spencer regained his title as champion bicycle rider of the United States.

Efficiency

Good sight is of great importance in doing good work, and because glasses help good sight they aid efficiency.

To make sure of the utmost helpfulness from Blackburn glasses, interested personal attention is given each detail of testing eyes, making the lenses, selecting the frames and fitting the glasses.

For to make the glasses efficient for our patrons we ourselves must be highly efficient in the making of the glasses.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

Fried Cakes

We are again making these ever popular old fashioned cakes.
30c. a dozen.

GET SOME TODAY!

CHAS. S. CLAPP

NEW GOODS At Wallbridge & Clarke's

at WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

Robertson's Scotch Marmalade
Clover Leaf Salmon
Bird's Custard Powder
New Gulf Lobster
Strained Honey—5 & 10 lb. tins.
Asparagus Tips
Canadian Peas
Buckwheat Flour
Candied Ginger—½ lb. tins
Domolco Molasses
Cinnamon Sticks (fine quality) pkgs 5c
Gusto
Force
H—O—Oats
New Fancy Biscuits—
Oatcakes, Shortbreads
Chocolate Biscuits, etc.
Crosse & Blackwell's Pickles—
Walnuts, Chow-Chow, etc.
Lea & Perrins' Sauce
Libby's Baked Beans, tins, 20c.
Chloride Lime—10 & 15c. boxes

WE WILL TELL YOU —exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.

Phone DAY 531

Lantic Sugar quickly brings out the full flavour fine!

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

The Ladies' Aid of Bridge Street Church will hold their annual bazaar and tea on the 25th of November. 1t

RITCHIE'S

5 DAYS SALE 5 DAYS

Of Curtains And Draperies

SHOP EARLY

DOORS OPEN 8.30 a.m. DOURS OPEN 8.30 a.m.

Tuesday, - Sept. - 28th

In Our Drapery Department
THIRD FLOOR

BARGAINS EXTRAORDINARY. COME Early and Share in the Savings

White and Colored Frilled Muslin Curtains

About 20 pairs, fine qualities, in figured designs, in plain white and colored frilled muslin curtains, some in only one pair each, and several designs, consisting of four to six pairs alike. Manufactured by the best English makers. These are Curtains that would not be replaced in our store at very much higher prices. Siz 36 inches wide by 2½ yards long. Regular price $3.00 pair. Special sale price—

$1.75 pr.

IMPORTED SCOTCH MADRAS CASEMENT CURTAINS

About twenty pairs of Colored Madras Casement Curtains, suitable for living-rooms, reception-rooms, library or bed-rooms, and would add great value to the interior furnishing of the above rooms. These are manufactured by a very reliable Scotch firm, and all designs are thoroughly woven, in beautiful artistic floral borders, and the curtains on sale are shown in green, bisque and blue, 50 inches wide x 3 yards and 3½ yards in length. Our regular price is $10.00.

Special Sale Price $4.75

Also a few pairs of solid colors in gold, with contrast borders, in heavy mercerised silk, 50 inches wide ½ 3 yards and 3½ yards in length. Regular $8.50 to $9.00 per pair.

Special Sale Price $3.50 pair

EXTRA!
About 200 yards, consisting of Plain White Frilled Bobbinett, Frilled Muslin, and Colored Spot Muslin, splendid wearing material, suitable for Sash Curtains, Bedroom Curtains — 27 to 32 inches wide. Regular price 50c. per yard.. Special sale price—15c per yard

EXTRA!
White Scrims and Net, embroidered design, suitable for sash drapery, for reception room, hall and beed room. Regular price $1 per yard. Special sale price—50c a yard

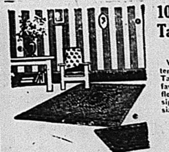
EXTRA!
English all wool drapery in plain bisque ground, with a stencil conventional design in blue, making a beautiful curtain drapery. A splendid wearing curtain material, 50 inches wide, and trimmed with a ball edge. Regular price $1.00. Special sale price—
50c per yard



10 Only Imported Tapestry Rugs
10 Only

We wish to clear these ten English manufactured Tapestry Rugs; shown in fawn and tan grounds, in floral and conventional designs, in the following sizes and at One-half the Regular Selling Price.

4 rugs, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $25.00. Sale price $12.5
2 rugs, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $20.00. Sale price $10.0
1 rug, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $32.00. Sale price $16.0
1 rug, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $36.50. Sale price $18.2
1 rug, size 3 yards x 3 yards, regular price $32.00. Sale price $16.0
1 rug, size 4 yards x 3½ yards, reg. price $39.00. Sale price $19.5

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO
UNDERTAKERS
11 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment

Have the Intelligencer Se to Your Home Address

THE WEATHER

Fresh south to southwest winds; fair.

Wednesday—Strong winds, moderate gales, west to northwest, partly fair and cooler, with passing showers.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is
Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 3; Residence, 299.

Black and Tan Reprisals Condemned in England

ENGLISH NEWSPAPERS DEMAND THAT GOVERNMENT TAKE PROMPT ACTION TO HALT "SEMI-OFFICIAL LYNCH LAW"—ARCHBISHOP CALLS CHRISTIANS TO PRAYER.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Serious anxiety over the recurrence of Black and Tan reprisals in Ireland is reflected by English newspapers, which sharply call on the Government to halt what is described by the London Times as semi-official lynch law. Earlier occurrences in Ireland passed without much notice here, but recent raids, especially those on Balbriggan and Antrim, and lukewarm criticism of the Black and Tan police forces by Sir Neville MacCready, military commander in Ireland, are causing considerable disquiet.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has issued an appeal to Christians to make national troubles the subject of prayer.

Searching Chicago For A.J. Small

Investigation Started to Find Missing Theatrical Man—Chief Has Important Clue.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Search for Ambrose J. Small, millionaire Canadian theatrical man, has been started here by chief of detectives James L. Mooney, who said last night he was convinced that Small is being held here by kidnappers.

Both Small and his secretary, John Doughty, disappeared last December. Chief Mooney said he was in possession of information which had caused the search to be centred here, and while he declined to reveal the source of his knowledge, he said he expected to learn the whereabouts of Small within twenty-four hours.

A reward of $15,000 has been offered for the arrest of Doughty, it was learned last night. It is understood that he is sought in connection with an alleged conspiracy to kidnap Mr. Small, and with the disappearance of $100,000 in Canadian war bonds belonging to Mr. Small.

Golden Wedding of Mr. & Mrs. Quincey

Unique Anniversary Celebration at Church—Reunion of Old Folks

On the 27th day of September, 1870 Mr. Benjamin R. Quincey and Miss Belvia Merriam were married in this city by the late Rev. Dr. Wild. Monday was the anniversary of their golden wedding and the occasion was fittingly commemorated by a reception at Holloway Street Methodist Church provided by the members of the Epworth League. It was also a reception to the aged members of the congregation and upwards of fifty were brought to the church by autos loaned for the occasion.

Mr. Ewart Jones, President of the League, presided over the gathering and stated briefly the object.

Rev. A. H. Foster, pastor, read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Quincey who for a number of years have been members of the church, Mr. Quincey being a beloved class leader and church official.

The Womens Missionary Society of the church presented Mrs. Quincey with a life membership certificate while Mr. Quincey was the recepient of a purse of gold. Mr. Quincey suitably acknowledged the gifts and gave a resume of the past fifty years of his life in Belleville, reviewing its growth in various ways including religious activities. He predicted a bright future for Holloway Street Church.

A programme, consisting of instrumental and vocal solos was given by Misses Meyers and Jones, Miss S. Walton, Messrs. Roe, Farrell and Jones. Readings were given by Miss Marjory Hudgins and Rae Farrell. The aged present also took part in the programme, when Mrs. Farrell gave a piano solo. Mrs. Rev. Martin sang a solo and Mrs. Graham gave a reading. Mr. A. E. Bailey thanked the League for the entertainment provided. Refreshments were then served and a social hour was spent.

The decorations were of goldenrod, white asters and other flowers.

The pleasing function was brought to a close by the reading of the 23rd Psalm by the pastor. All present expressed the wish that Mr. and Mrs. Quincey might be spared to enjoy many more years of life.

Belleville Was Well Represented

Empire Congress of Chambers of Commerce Cemented Imperial Ties.

Belleville delegates creditably held their own at the recent gathering of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire. Rrepresentatives of New Zealand, the West Indies and the Mother Land took an especially prominent part in the proceedings, and the results of the six days' conferences were eminently satisfying both in the invaluable information shared, the fruitful discussions, the practical resolutions and the spirit of unity intensified through personal intercourse and through the realization, in proper perspective and proportion, of the goodly heritage which as cotrustees we share together in the great commonwealth of the British family of nations.

Belleville Motions.

Four Belleville motions were on the agenda and met with approval. The resources — natural, industrial and ideal—of the Empire, with special reference to Ontario, were vividly outlined by Colonel Ponton, Mr. John Elliott and Mr. R. J. Graham. The important subjects of Shipping and Shipbuilding and of Public Utilities were ably dealt with by Mr. E. P. Fredericks. Colonel Ponton was "at home" in his motion on the systematizing and assimilating of laws and had the honor of being chosen one of seven appointed by the Congress as the Canadian Committee to arrange for Canada's part in the great International Congress in connection with the League of Nations to be held in May or June next. Mr. R. J. Graham also spoke with weight and experience on the tariff question and the British preference.

Belleville Cheese.

Mr. John Elliott, with a stroke of genius, advertised Belleville by providing two 1918 and 1919 cheese for the use of the overseas delegates on their tour through Canada, now progressing. The last motion on the agenda was moved by Belleville, and yesterday a letter was received from the head of the Commission of Conservation at Ottawa officially congratulating the Belleville delegates on their good work for Canada and the Empire. Mrs. R. J. Graham, Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. R. D. Ponton and Miss Ponton attenled all the various social functions and business meetings and helped effectively to interpret Canada to the many visiting ladies from overseas, who accompanied their husbands and fathers.

Generous Hospitality.

The Toronto Board of Trade was splendid in its generous hospitality and its strikingly well conceived and educating entertainments. Sir Robert Falconer, Premier Drury and others made speeches of momentous importance and made a deep impression. Canada may indeed be proud of such leaders of thought and action who, whether we agree with all their policies or not, are personally outstanding Canadians and imperialists.

Lightning Bolt Knocked Men Down

Workmen on the Provincial Highway, east of Belleville, say that when the storm began Monday afternoon, a bolt of lightning struck so close to the road that teh men and horses were thrown to the ground.

Scotland Yard Caught the Spies

Clever Woman Spy Dead—How Notorious German Agent Was Trapped

One of the war's sinister episodes is recalled by the death of a notorious female spy, Lizzie Louise Wertheim, who was sentenced at the Old Bailey on September 7, 1915 to ten years penal servitude after being convicted of collecting information in respect of His Majesty's ships and assisting the enemy generally. She was one of the most striking figures of the esponage service during the war, and might be described as Germany's chief woman spy in Great Britain. Her companion and accomplice, a young German officer named Reginald Rowlands was also found guilty and was shot in the Tower of London in 1915, born in Poland in 1882, Wertheim possessed an attractive personality, good taste—in short all the attributes of the woman spy of romance. With Rowlands she made a desperate attempt to bring off one of the most sensational coups of the war. She might have succeeded but for fatal incaution. It was at a little flat in Hammersmith that she and Rowlands first met, the acquaintanceship being the outcome of an introduction by a Dutch spy. Rowlands had been sent to England to learn the secrets of the Grand Fleet, Lizzie Wertheim elected to help him. The plot consisted of an attempt to gain the confidence of British naval officers. Lizzie Wertheim with her attractions was

A Pawn in the Game

Rowlands and his woman confederate frequented the most fashionable hotels, and mixed freely with the guests. From their west London flat the two spies made frequent journeys by motor car to Rosyth, and other ports to obtain news of the movements of the Grand Fleet by mixing with the crews of various battleships. A deal of information was collected by the pair, but before Rowlands could leave the country to transmit it to Germany he and his partner were arrested by Scotland Yard detectives. For some time the Secret Service had been aware of the plot. One day a friendly alien who landed in England informed the authorities that a fashionable woman—who eventually was caught and sentenced to a long term of imprisonment—had asked him to deliver a letter to a certain west London address. The premises were watched and secretly raided with the result that a number of incriminating documents were found. Close watch was kept on the movements of the occupant, Lizzie Wertheim, her correspondence was "tapped" and so were her telephone messages. It was noticed that she was frequently in the company of young officers, clever as she was, Lizzie was no match for our Secret Service.

A minor indiscretion revealed her motive. In her anxiety to acquire information about battleships and destroyers she asked a too pertinent question which excited suspicion. On several other occasions she gave herself away. Then, following upon a letter received from Paris one day, she hurriedly rang up an address on the Essex Coast, where lived an accomplice who was able to signal U-boats at sea, and as a result of the conversation which was overheard, Scotland Yard intervened and made the arrests. Both she and Rowland protested their innocence, but the latter betrayed his mission and identity under severe cross-examination. At the trial of the woman it was considered by the jury that she had been acting under the influence of Rowlands, and she therefore escaped with a sentence of ten years penal servitude, and was sent to Aylesbury Convict Gaol. Rowlands made a complete confession. His end was inglorious and reflected the cowardice which distinguished his activities in England. He broke down and had to be carried to the execution shed. His fate had a great effect upon Wertheim whose health suffered so much that in 1918 her mind gave way, and she was removed to Broadmoor Asylum.

True Bills Found Against Players

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Cook County grand jury this afternoon voted true bills against the following baseball players in connection with its investigation of the alleged throwing of the world's series games last year: Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams, Chick Gandil, Happy Falsch, Chas. Risberg, Joe Jackson, and Fred McMullin. All are members of the Chicago Americans.

Irish Propaganda Poisoning Public Opinion World Over

DECLARES BRITISH PREMIER — INVESTIGATION MUST BE HELD TO CLEAR UNSULLIED NAME OF BRITAIN—POLICEMEN DID NOT RESORT TO SUCH IGNOMINIOUS TACTICS AS WERE REPORTED—NO DOUBT THAT SINN FEINERS DELIBERATELY MURDERED POLICEMEN.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—With clenching fists, emphasizing his points by pounding the table, Lloyd George declared today that British honor in the States and before the world demanded an investigation into conditions in Ireland. The Premier's address was delivered at an epoch making meeting of the Cabinet.

Lloyd George, having completed the investigation of coal disturbances in Britain, declared that next month the important question for all Britain would be the Irish question.

Irish propaganda was poisoning public opinion in the United States, the Premier declared. The financial and moral support being obtained was preventing absolute settlement of the Irish question. The moderate elements of the empire and other countries who were friendly to the Irish group were in favor of rigid national inquiry into the disorders in Balbriggan and other points in Ireland. From the meagre reports received from Ireland, he considered the depredations in Balbriggan absolutely inexcusable. It was probably true that Sinn Feiners murdered policemen, but policemen did not resort to such ignominious tactics as reported.

The Premier pointed out one most important question before the Cabinet—Anglo-American unity, and declared that unless pogroms such as reported occurred in the United States after the Irish uprising was stopped, such unity was impossible. Depredations were inexcusable, the Premier declared, and the Government must maintain order by legal and just proceedings. If disorders occur, policemen must maintain order for the protection of the people in Ireland regardless of the political issue or religious views.

Following the Premier's dramatic speech it was understood that the Cabinet decided to order a full inquiry into the Balbriggan reprisals and other local Irish affairs.

Two Men Burned to Death in Shack

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 28.—Jas. Collins and A. P. Doonan, canal helpers, were burned to death early this morning in a shack near the guard gate of the Welland Canal, south of Thorold. Each body was burned to a crisp. The owner of the shack known as "Yankee Jack" was taken into custody this morning and will be questioned when he becomes sober. Fire was discovered by a lock tender who left his shanty to admit a steamer to the lock. Collins is a brother of the Thorold Chief of Police.

O.T.A. Scored by Toronto Doctor

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—The position of medical men under the Ontario temperance legislation occupied the brief morning sitting of the special committee of the Legislature which today commenced its inquiry into the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Dr. Forbes Godfrey, of West York, objectel to doctors being subjected to threats from the Ontario License Board that his prescriptions would not be honored because he issued more prescriptions than the arbitrary allowance fixed by the Board without consideration of the size of his practice or conditions of his business. He complained that doctors had been treated with less consideration than "blind piggers," who got rich in illegal traffic and paid their fines blithely as part of the game. Addressing the Premier and Attorney-General directly, Dr. Godfrey said that he would continue to issue prescriptions when and where he pleased for liquor in reasonable quantities, based on his medical knowledge and authority and he would abide by the issue. He also expressed the opinion that unrestricted sale of five per cent. beer would have gone far to destroy the whiskey habit, which he found was growing upon many people.

WIND DOES DAMAGE

During the storm yesterday afternoon, the severe wind accompanying same was responsible for considerable damage being done. In the Township of Thurlow three silos were levelled, they being on the farms of Cronk Bros. Mr. Clifford Ketcheson and Mrs. L. Sills. Trees and fences were also levelled. A stack of hay on Mr. H. K. Denyes, M.P.P. farm which was put up two years ago was scattered in various directions.

Bribery Alleged Against Inspector

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Sept. 28.—On the strength of statements made by Clayton Toyne, a resident of this town, and observations made by County Constable Daniels, License Inspector T. Bulmer was taken into custody yesterday on a charge of having accepted a bribe. According to Toyne a bottle of whiskey was found on his property and he asked License Officers Hallam and Bulmer whether he could settle the matter for a financial consideration. He was told three hundred dollars would fix it, and obtaining the money from the bank he handed it over to Bulmer in the presence of Constable Kennedy. On witnessing the transaction the constable took Bulmer into custody and he will appear in Leamington police court this afternoon. Mrs. Toyne said that in conversation with her, Bulmer said, "It seems a shame to lay a charge for such a little bit of liquor as that, but a little money goes a long way."

THIEVES PLAN WORKED TO TUNE OF $20,000

New York, Sept. 28.—Two men appeared at the office of the Cuthbertson Contracting Company on the eleventh floor of the Lincoln Building, No. 1 Union Square on Saturday afternoon. They had two big tanks of acetylene gas which they said they had been told to deliver to the company. No acteylene had been ordered by the Cuthbertson concern and delivery was not accepted. The men refused to take the tanks away, and left them in the hall.

Some time between closing time Saturday and Sunday, thieves entered the laboratory of Samuel C. Supplee & Co., manufacturers of dentists supplies and false teeth, on the eighth floor of the building, making their way in from the roof by way of the fire escape.

The actylene tanks were carried up to the eighth floor and attached to an acetylene torch, with which the whole front of the big safe in the laboratory was burned out.

Five thousand dollars in cash and $15,000 worth of platinum, gold and silver were taken from the safe.

FLOUR DROPS 20 CENTS SACK IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Sept. 28.—Flour has declined 20 cents here per sack since Friday last, according to reports today, being quoted at $6.77 per 98-pound sack. Rolled oats have declined from 30 to 40 cents per sack, being quoted at $4.20 to $4.35 for a 98-pound sack and mill feeds are down to $4 per ton, with bran at $45 and shorts at $50.

Was World's Baseball Series Manipulated by Gamblers?

SCANDAL GROWS WORSE — PHILADELPHIA SPORT TELLS STORY ALLEGING CORRUPTION OF BALL PLAYERS—HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS BRIBE MONEY SHRUNK TO TEN THOUSAND, SAYS BILLY MASARG.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—Billy Masarg, former boxer and well known local sportsman, in a story published here yesterday, revealed what he claimed to be a plan for throwing last year's world series baseball games. According to the story the first, second and final games of the series were thrown to Cincinnati by eight members of the Chicago Americans. He said he and Bill Burns, business partner and former American League pitcher, were approached by Eddie Cicotte, Chicago pitcher, who told them a group of prominent Chicago players would be willing to throw the series if they were given one hundred thousand dollars. Masarg said that the White Sox players were double-crossed by Abe Attell, former featherweight boxing champion, who acted as fixer and go-between, and that they received only ten thousand dollars. Attell is the man the Chicago grand jury wants, says Masarg's story. He made bets and turned over ten thousand dollars to Burns for the Sox players, and double-crossed them out of ninety thousand, according to Masarg.

Steps Taken to Abate Nuisance

Taking Dead Fish From Moira River—One Dam Opened

The disagreeable odor arising from the river was somewhat abated today owing to the rain last night, followed by cooler weather. The dead fish which are afloat in the water were today being gathered up and the bed of the river was being cleaned. This is expected to have the effect of abating the nuisance. Some water was let off from a dam near Poucher's Mills and this assisted in the work of cleaning up.

At Flinton there is a dam with a ten foot head of water and at Cloyne another dam with a twenty foot head of water. These dams are controlled by the Cobalt, Frontenac Mining Company and the Chimney Ore Mines which control all the rights at Loon Lake. These companies claim that they conserved the water from small streams which do not flow into the Moira River and they would not free any of the water thus stored up.

Stirling Citizens Hunt Burglars

Great excitement prevailed in Stirling on Monday evening when a burglar was caught in the act of attempting to rob McGee and Lagrow's hardware store.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock Mrs. Hugh Morton was awakened by hearing someone at the rear of the garage downstairs. She looked out the window and saw two suspicious looking characters flashing a light in the window of the garage. Thinking to frighten them away she rattled the window. One of the men ran across the bridge and a few minutes later returned and joined his companion. She watched them cross the sereet and remove the grating in front of Cook's Shoe store, where they entered the cellar and were there about fifteen minutes. When they came out Mrs. Jackson Moore heard the noise and from her window saw them crawl through the opening and replace the grating. Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Moore got busy at the telephone and sent in an alarm and Mr. Jackson Moore with a number of citizens formed a scouting party to search for the burglars. They saw one of the men enter McGee & Lagrow's store by the back door which he had broken open. They searched the store from cellar to roof and finally decided to remain on guard until daylight. The burglar, finding he was trapped came, came out from hiding and was held until Constable Tanner arrived, when he was taken to Belleville to await trial. He gave his name as James Naylor. He was allowed his liberty on suspended sentence only a few days ago for an infraction of the law. It is alleged that three other young men were implicated.

Next morning it was discovered that Mr. F. T. Ward's store had been entered during the night by the cellar route and a suit of clothes, thre caps and a small box of cigars were missing. G. H. Luery found the bar across the back door had been raised, but a fastening prevented them from getting in. They also tried L. & R. W. Meiklejohn's, but were unsuccessful.—Stirling Leader.

Back to Belleville After Many Years

The Daily Herald of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, refers as follows to Mr. D. C. Paul, a pioneer Western farmer, who after thirty-four years residence in Northern Saskatchewan is returning east to take up his residence in Belleville:

"D. C. Paul, who for the past ten years has been a familiar and active figure in the life of the rural municipality of Prince Albert, is shortly leaving for Belleville, Ont., and with his removal the municipality loses its reeve and the district one of its best known citizens.

"It is now thirty-four years since Mr. Paul, then a single young man, made his advent into the northern part part of Saskatchewan and he has assisted in the great developments which has been made since that time in the settlement of the area. Describing his journey into the country from Qu'Appelle to a reporter for The Herald, Mr. Paul said that the trip in those days was a tedious one. No railway communication existed through the district then and he made the journey on the wagon of the mail driver, whose name was John Hart. Although much of the land in the district was being homesteaded at that time or was in the hands of speculators, there were few fences and the nearest route was the road usually taken to move from place to place. One of the great changes he has seen during his long residence here is the passing of much of this land from the hands of speculators who were holding up the development of the country, into the possession of farmers who have converted the wild lands into well tilled and prosperous homesteads.

"His first venture in the district was to take up a homestead at Rosthern and he remained upon it long enough to obtain his patent but subsequently returned to Macdowall where he has resided ever since.

"With a natural inclination to take part in public affairs, he soon found scope for his interest in this direction and for the past ten years has been an active member of the council of the municipality, holding the position of reeve for half of that period, and this office he will now resign."

PROPOSED BUYING OF CAR BY FAMILY WORRIED HIM

Lindsay, Sept. 28.—County Constable Conquergood arrived in town this morning with a man who resides two miles north of Coboconk, and who it is alleged, attempted or threatened to shoot his wife and family on Saturday and Sunday. The trouble arose from the proposed purchase of a car by the family. They disposed of stock, he claims for that purpose and this so worried him that the matter preyed upon his mind.

HE DROPS DEAD AT NEWS OF RELEASE

Ossining, N.Y., Sept. 28.—Isidore Berman, aged twenty-one an inmate of Sing Sing Prison, died of heart disease when informed he had been pardoned by Governor Smith. He had been in prison since December, after conviction for assault in New York city. The pardon was recommended by the prison physician because of Berman's illness from heart trouble.

HER CASE SEEMED HOPELESS

But "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Health and Strength

29 St. [illegible] St., Montreal.

"I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to "Fruit-a-tives". This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well.

I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good.

I read about "Fruit-a-tives" and tried them. After taking a few boxes, of this wonderful medicine made from fruit juices, I am now entirely well"

Madame ROSINA FOISIZ.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or send postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus, 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each
—Also
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
182 Front St. Phone 283

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE" BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt. D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

pears clear, white, well flavoured, preserved with

SINCE 1870 SHILOH 30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

City & Country

CHANGE IN GAME LAWS.

Partridge may be shot between the 5th and 20th of November only and no person shall take, kill or have in possession more than five birds on any one day, not more than ten for the season. No muskrat shall be shot or speared at any time, nor shall any muskrat or beaver house or dam be cut, speared, broken or destroyed at any time. No trap must be set closer than five feet from a muskrat or beaver house. Another important change is that deer or moose cannot be shot or molested while in the water.

RAILWAY MEN INJURED.

Harvey F. Saddler, Carleton Place, C. P. R. brakesman, was seriously injured and Norman G. Edmunds, of Smith's Falls, C. P. R. conductor, shaken up, when train No. 72, an eastbound way freight on the C. P. R. was derailed near Sand Point, four cars, among them the caboose, being damaged. Saddler, who is about 50 years of age and an old employee of the C. P. R., was injured about the neck and taken to hospital at Renfrew. He is in a serious condition. Edmunds was able to go to his home at Smith's Falls. The accident is said to have resulted from the dropping of brake rigging. Saddler is a married man and has one son.

CALLED AS WITNESSES.

A number of Grand Trunk trainmen were called to Kingston on Monday to appear as witnesses in the action brought by Smith Elliott, of the township of Kingston, against the G. T. R. for damages as a result of his motor truck being struck at a crossing near that city some months ago by the Belleville-Brockville local train. The men summoned as witnesses in the trial include Conductor Robert Dickson, Brakemen Harry Walter and James Lorimer. Engineer Chas. Blaylock, now of Toronto, who has since retired from the service, will also give evidence. All were members of the train crew.

AUTO STOLEN AT KINGSTON.

The police here have been advised of the theft of a five-passenger Dodge car at Kingston. The auto was stolen some time last night. The marker number was 15041 and two spare tires were fastened on the rear.

EAST BELLEVILLE PLAYGROUND

The ladies interested in the East Belleville playground met on Monday to finish up the season's business. The playground work was carried on very successfully with Miss Ketcheson as supervisor. Thanks to the generosity of some of our citizens, several new pieces of equipment were added, needed repairs made, and a new tennis court was a very popular spot. The subscriptions received were $385.85. The expenditures were $384.25. It was decided to send Miss Sinclair, school nurse, to the Child Welfare convention in Ottawa, Oct. 19-20 as representative from the East Belleville Women's Institute. This step will no doubt lead up to the interesting work in the near future.

CASTING FELL TO WALK.

An iron casting weighing a number of pounds, at 9.30 last night dropped from above a window in the second storey of the building occupied by Mr. John McIntosh, on Front Street. Fortunately no person was passing at the time. The casting is a piece of the coping above the window.

FAMILY TROUBLE.

The police last night answered a call to a residence on Station street, where it was alleged a disturbance was in progress. It was ascertained that the trouble was of a family nature and no arrest was made.

AFTER NEW INDUSTRIES.

Mr. E. P. Fredericks, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Commissioner of the city, will leave the latter part of this week for a business trip to New York and some eastern states with the object of procuring new industries for Belleville.

ALLEGED NON-SUPPORT.

On advice from Kingston, John H. Dean was yesterday afternoon placed under arrest here. He is wanted in the Limestone City on a charge of non-support preferred by his wife. An officer arrived from Kingston today to take Dean to that city.

WILSON'S FLY PADS
Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

FIRST TO TEACH PHILOSOPHY

Honor Is Accorded Thales, Who Established a School Which Exerted Wide Influence.

The first school of philosophy was established in Miletus (Asia Minor) by Thales, one of the wise men, and was quite a remarkable institution, exerting an influence for more than a century.

Thales seems to have given himself more entirely to this school than to any of his other undertakings. There is a legend that he never married, and when his mother pressed him to do so he said: "It is not yet time." After his youth was passed she again urged him to marry and he said: "It is no longer time."

Many of the subjects taught in his school, such as astronomy, geometry and geography, show the influence of Egypt and Phoenicia; but the philosophy was probably an original product, for while some of the sciences were somewhat advanced, the philosophy was apparently a first attempt at an explanation of the origin of the world. It originated a movement which culminated more than a century later in the idealism of Plato.

We may perhaps understand something of the attitude of the common people toward Thales' school of philosophy from the story of the old woman who laughed when the master fell backward into a ditch after gazing too long at the stars. The old woman not only laughed, but she is said to have called after him: "If you cannot see what is under your feet, how can you understand what is in heaven?"

The geography and astronomy taught in this school were very primitive: The earth was flat, the sun circled around it horizontally, being concealed at night by high hills. One writer of the time describes the world in the following poetical way: "God makes a mantle, large and fair and embroiders on it earth and ocean and ocean's dwellings."

DIFFERENT KINDS OF SPEED

Aviator and Motorist Didn't Have the Same Kind of Comparison as They Traveled.

The motorist was taking an aviator friend, recently returned from the army air service, out for a spin. Thinking of the 125-mile-an-hour speed to which the airman was accustomed, the motorist felt that it was incumbent upon him to "let 'er out." His friend, he felt, would feel badly ambling along at the land rate folks are used to traveling. So he cut loose and the car was zipping along at something like 50 miles an hour.

Then the motorist felt a hand laid upon his arm.

"Going pretty fast, aren't you?" remarked the aviator, a trifle uneasily.

After the motorist had slowed down he asked: "Why, I thought the best speed I could make would seem slow to you. How is it that it appeared so fast?"

"You see, in the air, even at our greatest speed, we seem more or less stationary unless we look below us and see objects flitting past," explained the aviator. "You know speed can only be reckoned visually—by things one is leaving behind. Now, the gait you were moving a few minutes ago looked mighty fast, uncomfortably fast I might say, to me. I kept noticing things we are leaving behind."

"Well, I'll be darned," said the motorist. "I never thought of it in that way before."

And the hand of the speed clock jiggled back to the 25-mile mark.—Kansas City Star.

If It Only Were!

The late Ella Wheeler Wilcox, though the most popular poet of modern times, steadfastly refused to enter New York society. The most exclusive Fifth avenue portals were open to her, but Mrs. Wilcox passed them indifferently by.

A New York magazine editor once sought her out with an invitation to a Fifth avenue dinner party.

"I'm sorry," she said, "but I can't go."

"Oh," said the editor, "you must accept this invitation!"

"Why must I?" said the poet.

"Our host," the editor answered, "is rich—rich—a multimillionaire. You must accept."

"Well, I would," said Mrs. Wilcox, with a smile, "if it were catching!"

He Was No Mollycoddle.

A neighbor's son was entertaining about twenty of his little boy and girl friends at his birthday party. The children were supposed to return to their respective homes at eight o'clock in the evening; however, they were having such a good time when the going home hour arrived, its passing still found them hard at it. The mother of the little host suggested to him the advisability of intimating to his little friends the lateness of the hour. This is how he did it:

"Say, it's nine o'clock; I'm getting sleepy, and you kids have got to go home!"

"What's that? Go home this early?" said one of his indignant little guests. "I thought this was to be an all-night affair!"

Some Did.

"So you've been in the army, eh?" asked the old gentleman kindly. "And tell me, did you do much shooting while you were over there?"

"I won $90 the first day I landed in France," answered the gambler, proudly.—Home Sector.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample Box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp to pay postage.

Everything Is Stagnant Now in British Honduras Though Country Is Rich

A CROWN colony that presents excellent opportunities for development, but which is calling loudly for labor to open up its vast resources, is British Honduras, Britain's only colonial possession in Central America. It is 8,598 square miles in area with a population of only slightly over 41,000 persons. Its interior consists of millions of acres of virgin land of untold wealth; its water power is immense, but the country cannot be opened up to the cultivation of sugar cane on an extensive scale until more labor is available.

The colony came under the British crown in 1672, when it was ceded to the Empire by Spain. Jamaica played a prominent part in assisting to establish British supremacy to Honduras. A commission headed by Admiral Burnaby was despatched from there and established a code of laws, which for many years after were known as "Burnaby's laws." Then the British sovereign granted a constitution to British Honduras by which the people were able to legislate by public meetings and elect magistrates annually. This was to all intents and purposes a Village Assembly, and is spoken of as the freest form of Government ever granted to a British community.

British Honduras abounds with timber of the most valuable description; the interior is watered by powerful streams, and agriculture would be a handsome investment. The output of logwood in these days is not so large as it was years ago; whereas 2,000 tons of that article are shipped annually, from eight to ten million feet of mahogany are sent to Great Britain and the United States during the same period. Very little cane is grown in the colony; the sugar manufactured there is of the "pan" variety; rum is manufactured, but only for local consumption. The banana and cacao industry was taken up some years ago, and it was hoped that this would be the means of attracting men from other parts to settle in the interior for development work; but results have been disappointing, for the banana fields, which at their best gave a yield of about 500,000 bunches annually, are being wiped out by a scourge known as "Panama disease." It is only a question of time when the banana fields around Stann Creek will cease to produce fruit, just as large areas have been wiped out by the same disease in Costa Rica and other parts of Central America.

Belize, the capital, is on the sea coast; the harbor is sheltered by bays, and affords a safe anchorage inside to vessels, whereas higher up on the Mexican coast of Yucatan the heavy northers that frequently prevail make the loading of ships a difficult matter. Belize is a low-lying marshy city, where in many directions very primitive methods are still observed which do not conduce to the health of the community. Visualize a town where drinking water is collected in casks or puncheons, screened with wire gauze to prevent it from becoming the habitat of the malarial mosquito; a town intersected with canals for drainage purposes, and you see Belize.

But with all her drawbacks Belize is not as unhealthy as one might be inclined to suppose. The death rate is approximately 33.0 per 1,000 of the population. The bulk of the population are Creoles, of splendid physique, who work well. Belize must be provided with a proper water supply. In 1908 water had to be "imported" from New Orleans, for domestic purposes during a period of drought; and again, in 1917, water had to be brought from the Manatee river, 100 miles in the interior. Once the city is provided with an adequate water supply, brought from the hinterland, the question of sewerage works would be solved. The colony wants better shipping facilities. To get from Belize to Colon, which is but a few hundred miles south, one has to travel to the United States to join a ship for the Isthmian port; to travel to the West Indies the same route to America must first be taken; even direct communication with the British Isles is not frequent. It is to be hoped that in the rearrangement of shipping in the West Indies the case of British Honduras will be considered, and that she will at least be linked up with Jamaica and other islands in the Caribbean, as well as with Canada. The press of Belize is constantly urging reforms, and even in her isolated position, it is suggested that the colony should join the West Indies in seeking to secure West Indian federation.

During the war British Honduras sent close upon 500 men to fight for the Empire. They formed a unit of the British West Indies Regiment and gave a good account of themselves against the Turks in Egypt and Palestine. The colony's import trade is about $3,000,000, while she exports close upon $4,000,000 worth of produce, 92 per cent. of which goes to the United States. The public debt to March 31, 1919, was $874,-800. The revenue is $676,227, and expenditure 0675,235x.

Gold and opals have been found in British Honduras. Other minerals, possibly petroleum, exist there.—London Times.

Uses for Tattooing.

Tattooing in some countries is a useful art. In Samoa when a woman is married several tattoo marks are placed on her, and both in Fiji and Samoa the birth of each child is registered in this way on the mother's hand. At Tahiti serious crimes are punished by tattooing a mark upon the forehead of the delinquent.

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY
CATARRH of the BLADDER relieved in 24 HOURS
Each Capsule bears the name MIDY
Beware of counterfeits

Lightens Work and Heightens Pleasure

It costs no more to get a really good Working or Outing Shirt—one that fits right, feels good, and wears splendidly. All you have to do is ask for, and see that you get, a "Deacon" Shirt. Sold at all good stores.

DEACON SHIRT COMPANY
BELLEVILLE - CANADA

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

FASCINATING DANCES SEEN IN "EXPERIENCE"

The latest of modern dances are shown in the Golden Cabaret scene on the Primrose Path of Pleasure in "Experience," which F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will present at Griffin's Opera House to-morrow night, September 29th, for one night only. Seated at various tables in the cabaret, dining and chatting are such fascinating ladies as Fashion, Beauty, Excitement, Song, Frivolity, Pleasure, Slander and Pride. With their escorts they sit intent simply on dining and chatting, but as soon as the music strikes up a dance step, everything is changed, and the Golden Cabaret becomes a whirl of merry dancers, whose greatest ambition in life seems to keep dancing all night.

One can very easily realize the impression that this scene makes upon Youth on his first visit to the cabaret as he turns to Pleasure and says: "Pleasure, let me thank you. It's glorious! The music and laughter; the air is sweet with the far faint odor of dying roses. Eerywhere there are women's eyes that sparkle like the moonlight on a silver river. Everywhere there are white arms that beckon me. Oh, Pleasure, how wonderful you are to grant me all this!" In his fascination with the scene of revelry, Youth turns to Experience and asks him if Pleasure isn't wonderful. And Experience answers: "Wonderful indeed, in that she has no knowledge of the pain that follows ever in her footsteps.

Youth's enthusiasm however, is not dampened, and he says to Pleasure, "I think you are the end of the rainbow and all the treasures of the world are in your keeping. I think you are the sunshine of a cloudless day and all the flowers of the earth look up to you."

Experience has a different point of view. He says: "I think Pleasure is but the stain of last night's wine, spilled upon the tablecloth. She is but a snowflake fallen into the ocean. Pleasure, my boy, is the last crimson flood that the setting sun has left to die in a cold gray sky."

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

The long arm of the movie realm has reached in vain for clever Georgia Emmett, vaudeville headliner, prima donna, dancer, and is considered one of the beauties of all the stage and screen stars. Miss Emmett is now the prima donna with the popular musical comedy, "My Soldier Girl," coming to Griffin's Theatre, next Monday night, October 4th.

She has a splendid voice, charming personality, and is a remarkable dancer. Aside from the prima donna role in "My Soldier Girl" she will introduce her remarkable vaudeville offering in its entirety thus giving the theatre-patrons an idea just why she made such rapid strides in the two-a-day houses. Seat sale opens Saturday morning at Griffin's at 10 a.m.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

SINCLAIR'S

SPECIAL!

3 Day Sale
—OF—
Georgette Crepes
—AT—
$2.00 yard

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday only of this week we are placing on sale our entire stock of $3.00 Georgette Crepes. This gives you a choice of over fifty shades in all the wanted autumn colorings in French Georgettes. This means actually a saving of $1.30 per yard by bringing the price below the taxable limit. An assortment of these Crepes may be seen in our window. Priced $2.00 per yard.

NO WAR TAX

Silk Hose, $1.25 pair

Here is a table of Hosiery Values worthy of your inspection. Included are lines of Silk and Lisle Hose in Black, White, Navy, Brown, Sand and Grey shades. Excellent values at .... $1.25 pair

School Girls' Middies, $1.00

In this assortment are Middies with White, Pink, Red or Green Collars; made from good qualities of Indian Head and Middy Twill. Sizes from 3 to 14 years. To clear at $1.00 each.

SINCLAIR'S

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, dail

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to ronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBOR

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterbo
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterbo
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

Griffin Theatre Tomorrow Night

Still good seats to be had

F. RAY COMSTOCK AND MORRIS GEST PRESENT

The One Big Dramatic Sensation of This Day and Generation

Experience

Bigger and Better than Ever Before. Elaborate Scenic Effects. New Costumes. Endorsed by the Clergy from Coast to Coast

Seats now selling—Prices 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2

BROGUES for Men and Women

Men's Brogues selected stock $12.00

Women's Brogues Oxfords Black and Brown $9, $10, $11

Special Clearing

40 pairs Women's Kid Boots - $4.85

48 pr. Women's Grey Boots, Louis Heels regular $12.00, clearing - - $7.95

ADAMS The Shoeman

GRIFFIN PICTURES

DIRECTION JOHN & PETER F. GRIFFIN

LAST TIME TONIGHT.

WM. S. HART and ANNA LITTLE in "SQUARE DEAL SANDERSON"

On the square, but as bad as ever when his anger is aroused. They get him red under the collar when they mistreat a helpless girl and then he wraps the infernal regions around their ears. You ought to see "Bill" Hart in this one. COME TONIGHT!

SUNSHINE COMEDY

JACK DEMPSEY SERIAL

BURTON HOLMES SCENIC

COMING THURSDAY—MABEL NORMAND in "UPSTAIRS" CHARLIE CHAPLIN in his latest 2-reel scream—"A DAY'S PLEASURE"—You'll say so!

We ould Be Delighted

—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.

T. Donoahue

232 Front Street.

ECZEMA You are not experimenting when you use Dr Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Story of the Welsh Guards.

In his elaborate tribute to the history of the Welsh Guards, Major Dudley Ward, D.S.O., M.C., tells some amusing stories. Here is one relating to the mercurial major, Humphrey Dene:

"He had as servant Dai Evans, a smart, good-looking boy, who was devoted to him. Humphrey Dene's voice would be heard roaring in his billet. "Evans! Evans!" And at his elbow Evans would say: "Do you want me, sir?"

"Evans, where have you been? I have been calling you for half an hour! Where are my breeches, Evans, where are my breeches? Damn it! You don't care if I live or die!"

"They are on the chair, sir—you are sitting on them."

There were Welsh Guards in Tudor times, notes the author, and the oldest Guards of all were those who formed the King's Bodyguard of the Yeoman of the Guard.

Japs Plan to Build Planes.

Nagoya is destined to become the centre of Japanese aviation, according to a translation from the Osaka Mainichi Shimbun. The army machine works, now under construction at Chikusa, a suburb of Nagoya, will be partially completed and in operation, it is expected, by the beginning of this month, at which time the Atsuta airplane factory will be removed to the same place. In this factory seven powerful motors of the Salmson type are under construction, which, while nominally of 230 h.p., actually develops 250 h.p. The material used is wholly Japanese, and the results of tests are reported to be most satisfactory.

POST TOASTIES make breakfast easier for Ma, quicker for Pa, and jollier for me —says Bobby Order a package of these delicious corn flakes, but specify the name.

SATISFIED WITH DOG'S MEAL

Westerner in New York Proved He Knew a Good Thing When He Saw It.

A man and wife moved to New York from the West—a sane, conservative American man and wife, used to money and knowing the worth of it—and brought the family dog along, paying $5 extra fare for the dog, by the way, on the train. They went to a large and gorgeous hotel and in the due course of time the dog needed sustenance.

"Ring for a waiter," said the husband, "and we'll get the dog some scraps."

The floor waiter came and when asked to bring some food for the dog explained with some hauteur that he was the floor waiter and not the dog waiter, but would inform the dog waiter of the desires of the dog. The dog waiter arrived in course of time and the predicament of the dog was explained to him. The dog waiter wrote down the order carefully and departed. Presently he returned bearing a silver tray on which were displayed daintily various articles of food—some vegetables, some meat and a cracker or two.

"What's that?" asked the husband, examining the contents of the tray with interest.

"The service for the dog, sir," the waiter replied.

"How much is it?"

"One dollar, sir."

The husband took the tray.

"Get the dog a bone," he said. "I'll eat this. It's the best-looking meal I have seen in the place, and the cheapest."—Samuel G. Blythe, in Saturday Evening Post.

KNIFE ENDED ALL SQUAWKING

Pets of Clemenceau No Longer Created Disturbance, After Undergoing a Slight Operation.

M. Clemenceau's love of pets, of which much has appeared in the press since his recent visit to London, once involved him in trouble with his neighbors. Twelve years ago, during his first term as premier, he had a number of peacocks and storks installed in the gardens attached to the ministry of the interior. There are no trees in these gardens, only lawn and flower beds, which in M. Clemenceau's opinion lack animation—hence the peacocks. But other people living in the Place Beauvan complained that these birds were too animated, their cries being so persistent as to render sleep impossible.

Things reached such a pass that the prefect of police was asked to indict his official superior for disturbing the peace of his neighbors, who were all the more indignant because M. Clemenceau went home every night to sleep at his flat in the Rue Franklin, far out of the range of the peacocks' cries. However a scandal was averted by the premier allowing a slight operation to be performed on the vocal chords of his pets, which, without otherwise injuring them, rendered them incapable of squawking.

MORE OR LESS A MYSTERY

Few Seem to Know the Real Facts Concerning the So-Called Monkey of Mons.

Are you acquainted with the monkey of Mons?

An army officer brought home from Belgium a replica—a tiny silver figure with one clawish hand posed reflectively against its chin and with a look of introspection in its deepset eyes. In showing it to a friend he mentioned that, like a number of officers who had been to Mons, he carried the thing as a mascot. The friend told a woman about it, and she, being unacquainted with the monkey of Mons, asked a soldier who had been there.

"Never heard of it, but you can't judge by me, as I was only in Mons a couple of days—got great coal mines there, though."

Another soldier who had been to Mons long enough to go sightseeing was impressed mainly by the cathedral of St. Waldrup—"built in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries; Gothic architecture, and—the monkey must have been there, of course, but—"

Then the woman extended her inquiry to a private who had hobbled around Mons for two hours while waiting to get away.

"Sure I saw it! Bronze statue in a street—or maybe it was one of those gargoyle things on the church wall, but, anyhow, I saw it—at least it looked like a monkey, though I wouldn't be willing to swear to it."

Which is the why of this cry:

"Are you acquainted with the monkey of Mons?"—Washington Star

Some Famous Ghosts

THE news that a "veiled spectre" has recently been seen on three separate occasions promenading the corridors of Windsor Castle recalls a story told by a young officer, Mr. Carr Glyn, of the Grenadier Guards, some twenty years ago, says London Answers.

Mr. Glyn was reading a book in the castle library, when, glancing up, he saw the black-veiled figure of a woman walk past him and disappear in the inner library. As she did not return, he followed her; but found to his amazement that she had completely vanished, although there was no means of exit from the inner room.

When he told his uncanny story the following morning it created consternation in the palace, especially when it was discovered that three centuries ago the room had had an exit at the very place through which the black lady had passed. It was generally believed that the mysterious figure must have been that of Queen Elizabeth herself of whose midnight appearances in her old haunts in the castle many stories are told.

But Queen Bess is only one of the several royal spectres which are said to haunt our royal palace. The Duchess de Mazarin, one of the Merry Monarch's many favorites, has been seen more than once in the rooms and corridors of St. James' Palace, which is also said to be a favorite haunt of Nell Gwyn, of the saucy tongue and merry laugh, and of that termagant beauty, the Duchess of Cleveland.

Hampton Court Palace, too, has the reputation of being visited by the shades of several great people who have once "walked in splendor" within its historic walls. Strange tales are told of spectral figures which vanish when accosted; of mysterious noises, the uncanny opening of doors without visible agency, and of sounds of merriment and snatches of song proceeding from empty rooms.

But the most affrighting vision of all is that of a white-robed figure running down a corridor, with her long hair streaming behind her, and disappearing into the chapel. This startling apparition is said to be that of the unhappy Catherine Howard, the second queen whom Henry VIII. sent to the executioner's block, and who, so long after her tragic death, repeats an incident in her troubled existence when, escaping from her guards, she rushed into the chapel to beg for her life from her tyrannous lord who was praying there.

Catherine of Aragon is also said to haunt the Palace of Hampton, where her spectre has been seen many a time, clothed in black, and lighted taper in her hand, walking up a certain staircase, and disappearing through the beautiful archway known as Queen's Gate.

On the night before the death of Frederick III., father of the present ex-Kaiser, a sentry declared that he had seen the figure of an old woman, bowed with age, and carrying a broom in her hand; and his story would certainly have been scoffed at as the creation of a disordered brain had not a similar figure been seen on former occasions, notably on the death of the Emperor William I. This grotesque old lady, whose visits bode so little good to the House of Hohenzollern, is disrespectfully spoken of as "The Sweeper."

Spectres in white or even in black are perhaps intelligible, but what are we to think of the "Red Man," who is said to haunt the Tuileries, and to have been seen by no less famous persons than Catherine de Medici and the great Napoleon, the latter of whom is said to have held a long conversation with him on the eve of his ill-fated Russian campaign.

During the night before the late Empress of Austria was so treacherously assassinated, a sentry on guard in the Castle of Schonbrunn was frightened "out of his wits" by the spectacle of a beautiful woman, robed in white, and wearing a long, flowing white veil, walking along the corridor where he was on duty. Thrice he challenged the trespasser and had started in pursuit of her, when she vanished as suddenly and mysteriously as she had appeared.

This was by no means the first appearance of the "lady in white," for she was seen as long ago as 1867, just before the tragic death of Maximilian, the ill-fated archduke, who was made Emperor of Mexico; again, in 1889, on the very night when Rudolf, heir to the Austrian throne, was so strangely done to death in the forest of Meyerling; and on other occasions when a member of the Imperial family has died.

So coincident have been her appearances with disaster to the reigning house of Austro-Hungary that her visits have always been dreaded as the heralds of calamity.

Absent-Minded.

A famous Scotch minister of the last century was very absent-minded, and many amusing stories are told of this awkward failing. On one occasion he had arranged to preach in a certain church a few miles from Aberdeen. He set out on a pony in good time, but when near the end of the journey he felt a desire to take a pinch of snuff. The wind was blowing in his face, so he turned the head of the pony around, the better to enjoy the luxury. Pocketing his snuff box, he started the pony without thinking to turn it in the right direction, and he did not discover his error until he found himself back in Aberdeen, at the very time, when he ought to have been preaching seven miles away.

Progress in Burma.

There are two schools for the blind in Burma, one at Rangoon and one in Moulmein. The former, with fifteen pupils, of whom seven are girls, now enjoys the services of a blind Oxford graduate.

Makes Hair Grow

All drug stores sell DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC, and it is guaranteed to grow hair or money back.

The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears.

The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC, the Great French Hair Grower, first discovered in Paris. DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed.

And remember, it destroys the Dandruff germ, the little pest that saps life that should go to the hair from the roots.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC a positive guarantee to remove Dandruff, is sold by first-class druggists under stop falling hair and itching scalp in ten days or money back. A bottle costs $1.00 Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store only.

Sports

BASEBALL

Peterboro and Belleville come together again for the return match tomorrow afternoon at the Fair Grounds. The game is bound to be a fast and interesting one, because the two teams have run neck and neck throughout the season. Belleville won the first game of the season on the 24th May last by 5 to 3. The second game took 12 innings to decide and resulted in a victory for the Petes at home. The third game was played on Saturday and was very tight, a 1 to 0 victory for Peterboro. So you see there is not much to choose between the two teams. Belleville will have a good lineup and are out to win. Goyer and Rose will probably be the opposing pitchers. The game will start sharp at 3.15 p.m.

ADVERTISING FOR ADVERTISING

We will devote this space regularly to a series of advertisements to stimulate interest in our Classified Want Ads.

We are publicity advocates and practice our own precepts because we appreciate their value.

This series will be pregnant with pertinent points of general interest, whether you wish to buy or sell, to employ or be employed, to borrow or to lend, to find a finder or an owner.

It will pay us to run these advertisements. That is the best proof we have to offer that it will be profitable to you to use our Classified Want Ad. Columns.

For four hundred years the freedom of the Empire has been maintained by the sacrifice of countless gallant lives on land and sea.

"He that Commands the Sea is at Great Liberty"

—Bacon

Liberty to Live
Liberty to Trade

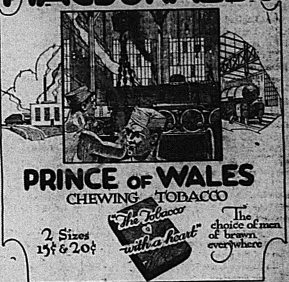
Trade Means Prosperity—
Liberty to Trade
Lies Upon the Sea!

The congregated wealth of the Nation must stand behind the forward movement to the sea.

Every pound of Canadian products shipped from a port outside Canadian territory retards our maritime growth, weakens our National prosperity, and places control of part of our sea-borne commerce in the hands of a competitive nation.

The Navy League of Canada.

MACDONALD'S

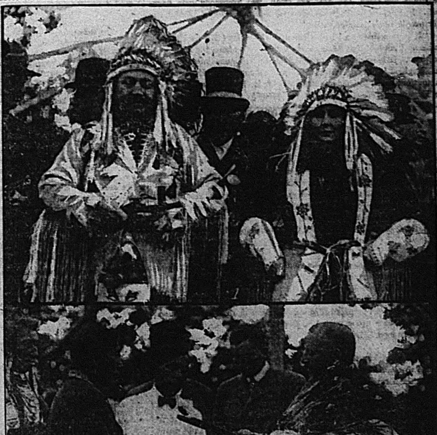


"The Tobacco with a heart"

PRINCE OF WALES CHEWING TOBACCO

2 Sizes 15¢ & 20¢

The choice of men of brawn everywhere



Photos by Courtesy C.P.R.

(1). Lord and Lady Burnham, Chief David Yellow Horse in the centre, after the ceremony of making Lord Burnham a chief, he is wearing the regulation dress and carrying the pipe of peace. Lady Burnham is also wearing the Indian dress presented to her by the Indian women as a souvenir of the occasion. Chief Yellow Horse is wearing his uniform of office and medals presented to him by the British Government and Imperial Press Party.

(2) Ceremony of conferring chieftainship of Black Foot Indian upon Lord Burnham by Chief Yellow Horse.

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, [illegible] Front Street, [illegible], Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, [illegible] per line. Reading advertisements, [illegible] per line. Legal advertisements, [illegible] per line first insertion, [illegible] per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, [illegible] per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space [illegible] lines. Births, [illegible] each insertion. Marriages, [illegible] each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either [illegible]. In Memoriams not exceeding [illegible] lines, [illegible]. Rates for [illegible] will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, [illegible]; one year, post office box or general delivery, [illegible]; one year by mail to rural offices, [illegible]; one year to U.S.A., [illegible]. Weekly edition—One year by mail, [illegible]; one year to U.S.A., [illegible]; six months pro-rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of [illegible] per cent. will be added.

WHO AM I?

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.

I am more deadly than bullets, and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of siege guns.

I steal in Canada alone over $30,000,000 each year.

I spare no one, and find my victims among the rich and poor alike, the young and old, the strong and the weak; widows and orphans know me.

I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage-earners in a year.

I lurk in unseen places, and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.

I am relentless. I am everywhere; in the home, on the street, in the factory, at railroad crossings, and on the sea.

I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.

I destroy, crush and maim; I give nothing, but take all.

I am your worst enemy.

I AM CARELESSNESS.

YANKEE WAYS ARE RATHER DIFFERENT—RATHER!

E. V. Lucas' epigrammatic style, which is familiar to readers of London Punch, is illustrated by the following excerpts from the interview he gave the New York World contrasting American and English life:

"In America your are fond of business and proud of being business men, while in England we are bored of business and would prefer to obtain our money in other ways. I don't say which is right and which is wrong, but I am certain of this—that your attitude provides much more fun."

"In England they say 'yes,' and in America they gulp."

"In England the railway cars are divided up for first, second and third class passengers. In America only the first-class people travel.

"In England if you ask a man how he is he gives you an account of his more recent maladies and this morning's temperature. In America he says 'Fine'."

"In England a series of comic pictures in a newspaper would have culminate in a point."

"In England the waiter brings you something at once, to go on with. In America he brings the meal all together, just as you begin to swoon from hunger."

"In England a policeman's baton is so rarely used that there is a chance to get away before he can find it and draw it. In America it swings at every corner, hungry for a head."

"In England a smoker is treated with more consideration than a non-smoker. In America, where England gets most of its tobacco, you are forbidden to smoke even in a stone railway hall bigger than the Hippodrome."

"In England on the Day of Rest we are still able to see some of the furniture in our sitting rooms. In America it is covered by the Sunday edition s of the papers."

"In America coffee is always good. Your fourth-rate coffee is better than our first-class."

"Moreover, the food is served here with much more distinction. The cloths are clean, the cups are clean, and everybody gets finger bowls. In England finger bowls belong to a certain class of restaurants; other people never hear of them."

"It is refreshing to be in a country where there are no class distinctions. I am told that there are class distinctions here, but I have not seen them. It is so nice to be called 'Mr. Lucas' immediately by every one. England is entirely full of 'Sirs' and hat-touching. Even the war has not done much to change conditions. It is in the English blood. The English like class distinctions and rank."

READY FOR EFFORT TO UNITE PROTESTANTISM

Protestant denominations in Canada are ready to join with the Anglicans in an effort to bring about a wider Christian union than was thought possible a few years ago. Church leaders say that soon arrangements will be made for conferences between the various communions to discuss a basis of organic union. All this is the net result of the Lambeth Conference of 250 Anglican bishops in England and its "appeal" for a closer union of Christian bodies.

Speaking of the Archbishops of Canterbury appeal, endorsed by the Conference, the Christian Guardian, the Canadian Methodist organ, says:

"As we view it, the great facts emphasized by the appeal are: First, that the Anglican Church is prepared, officially, to acknowledge that the non-Episcopal Churches are really vital parts of the Catholic Church; secondly, that the ministries of these Churches are not invalid; and, lastly, that they are prepared to discuss union with them upon common ground, when each group must "be prepared to make sacrifices for the sake of a common fellowship, a common ministry, and a common service to the world."

"This appeal for union will not fall upon deaf ears, and it will probably lead to some much more wide-reaching conferences, to discuss and deal with the matter. The Anglican Church has spoken, and it will now be in order for the other Churches to respond. It is manifest that union, when it comes, must be a compromise. Neither the Episcopal, nor the non-Episcopal Churches can lay down the laws which should govern it. There will have to be compromise, and the compromise will not all be arranged by one side. But we think the great Anglican Church has acted wisely in recognizing the demand of the age for closer Christian union, and, even if organic union is a great way off, a spirit of co-operation may be introduced which will pave the way for a real union.

"In the meantime, in Canada, Britain, Australasia, and the United States, we trust the cause of Church Union will be pushed forward as speedily as possible. There are unions, which have been under consideration for years which ought to be consummated speedily, and this appeal of the Anglican Church should have the effect of accelerating such unions. Every union which is consummated seems naturally to prepare the way for another and more far-reaching one. The whole Christian world is beginning to see that our present ecclesiastical divisions are often a real hindrance to the work of the Kingdom."

CRISP COMMENT

The cigar manufacturer who planned to name a new brand of smokes "Moira" has changed his mind.

× × ×

To express the hope that the Moira be dammed is not necessarily profane.

× × ×

Despatch from New York city says good chorus girls are scarce. Well, we'll have to put up with the other kind.

× × ×

Returned soldiers still in possession of their poison gas masks have use for them these days and nights, especially if they chance to cross the foot-bridge.

× × ×

Toronto Star, referring to the possibility of Brig.-Gen. Dr. Ross of Kingston being selected as Conservative provincial leader, remarks that Ontario may have another Ross Government. Quite so; but it will be a Ross Government—not mis-government.

× × ×

A Detroit paper is considerably interested in an experiment at Flint, Mich., where 150 school teachers, unable to locate homes, have been accommodated in a municipal hospital. The only drawback encountered so far is that the school children now speak of the hospital as the pest house.—Ottawa Journal.

× × ×

A visitor from London, says the Montreal Star, had his pockets rifled twelve times in Chicago. Now he understands what is meant by "American pep."

× × ×

The public, says the Toronto Globe, is waiting to hear the Railway Commissioners order the Bell Telephone company to ring off.

× × ×

Premier Meighen pretends not to know what Mackenzie King's tariff policy is. And yet the Liberal leader has made it quite clear in his public addresses what he is not. He assures Ontario audiences that he is not a free trader, and in the west he inveighs against tariff protection. Cannot his position be guessed by his statements as to what he is not?—Hamilton Herald.

× × ×

The newspapers of the United States and Canada consume 2,150,000 tons of newsprint annually. Stated in this way, it probably conveys little information to you respecting the effect upon our forests. You will better appreciate the situation when I say that it represents the denudation of the mature trees on an area of 1,000 square miles of forest land each and every year. This will give you an idea of the enormous inroads that newsprint manufacture is making upon the forests of North America.—James White, in an address to the Vancouver Rotary Club.

× × ×

An opinion justifying the conduct of Gen. Dyer in using force to quell the Amritzar riots which broke out in India some time ago, is advanced by Rev. D. M. Rose. an Anglican missionary who has been in India for the past five years, and who arrived in Toronto this week on sick leave. "I am firmly convinced that Gen. Dyer's action at Amritzar prevented a serious uprising in the Punjab," said Mr. Rose, and he thought that an overwhelming majority of the Europeans in Indian would say the same thing. "No one likes to see bloodshed," he continued, "but I thoroughly believe that in this case force was absolutely necessary to save the situation. In spite of the fact that Gen. Dyer has been dismissed from the army and his action condemned, Europeans who understand the situation he faced uphold the course he took."

OTHER VIEWS

Sure Thing
Kingston Standard

There is one thing a protective tariff does not do, despite all the free trade arguments against it. It does not close down industries or throw workingmen out of work.

The Irish Puzzle
Hamilton Herald

If only Bishop Fallon who accuses Lloyd George of wrecking the British commonwealth by his Irish policy, would only show Lloyd George some better way! The bishop might. He's a good imperialist.

The Growth of Montreal
Baltimore Sun

Montreal proudly reports that as the result of her phenomenal growth she is now the fifth city of North America in population, having a slight lead on Boston and Cleveland which are the sixth and seventh cites, respectively. The majestic city of the St. Lawrence indeed has reason to be proud of her jump from 4[illegible],000 in 1911 to 801,000 in 1920—the latter figure announced as a conservative statistical estimate based on the city directory returns, and not an actual census returns next year may trim Montreal's sails a bit but there seems to be no doubt that she has given both Detroit and Los Angeles a hard race is growth and development during the past decade.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Rich Have Their Troubles

The rich have their troubles as well as the poor,
Life is for no class any great sinecure,
With dangers and ills one must ever contend,
'Tis a fight from the start clear down to the end.

Though wealth may aid some many comforts to gain,
It cannot heal grief nor exterminate pain,
One never can tell where the lightning will strike,
But death and disease treats all classes alike.

There are troubles in owning a factory or mill,
The kind that cut deep and the sort that may kill,
And whoe'er has houses to care for and rent,
That e'er he had money may come to repent.

The burden of riches curtails a great care,
The heart and the heels too, they ofttimes ensnare,
Because of the striving still richer to be;
From which an offending the poor man is free.

We all have our troubles, the rich and the poor,
Life is for no class any great sinecure,
With dangers and ills we must ever contend,
'Tis a fight from the start clear down to the end.

He Ought to Know Better

There is no use trying to joke with a woman. The other day Jones heard a pretty good conundrum and decided to try it on his wife.

"Do you know why I am like a mule?" he asked her when he went home.

"No," she replied promptly. "I know you are, but I don't know why you are."

POET'S CORNER

ON GROWING OLD
John Masefield

Be with me Beauty for the fire is dying.
My dog and I are old, too old for roving.
Man, whose young passion sets the spindrift flying
Is soon too lame to march, too cold for loving.

I take the book and gather to the fire,
Turning old yellow leaves; minute by minute,
The clock ticks to my heart; a withered wire
Moves a thin ghost of music in the spinet.

I cannot sail your sea, I cannot wander.
Your cornland, nor your hill-land, nor your valleys,
Eer again, nor share the battle yonder
Where the young knight the broken squadron rallies.

Only stay quiet while my mind remembers
The beauty of ire from the beauty of embers.
Beauty, have pity, for the strong have power,
The rich their wealth, the beautiful their grace;
Summer of man is sunlight and its flower,
Spring time of man all April in a face.

Only, as in the jostling in the Strand,
Where the mob thrusts or loiters or is loud
The beggar with the saucer in his hand
Asks only a penny from the passing crowd.

So, from this glittering world with all its fashion,
Its fire and play of men; its stir, its march;
Let me have wisdom, Beauty, wisdom and passion,
Bread to the soul, rain where the summers parch.

Give me but these, and though the darkness close,
Een the night will blossom as the rose.

British Government has reliable information that Sinn eFin plot exists in London.

Torch and bullet aevnge an attack on County Meath Barracks.

A Fry's Cocoa Girl

SHE has rosy cheeks—yes—FRY'S enriches the blood. She is always ready for a romp—yes—FRY'S is a great energy maker. She is "pretty good" at school, too—FRY'S is good for her nerves. And all this wonderful food value comes at little cost, for FRY'S is very concentrated, a small spoonful making a big cup of delicious, nourishing Cocoa. Of course—

"Remember, nothing will do but FRY'S"

111

Wanted
YOUNG MAN AS APPRENTICE
Apply by letter in own handwriting, to
OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

S. J. FISHER
Licensed Auctioneer

—will conduct your Auction Sale in a business-like manner, and at reasonable rates.
Call, Phone or Write.
Office, 19 Campbell St., phone 168; or
Residence, 171 Bridge St. East, phone 1110.

HEARTBURN
or heaviness after meals are most annoying manifestations of acid-dyspepsia.
KI-MOIDS
pleasant to take, neutralize acidity and help restore normal digestion.
MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE
MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION
17-3A

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters,
Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work
Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.40
Leaves Belleville at 8.10
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 435.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
230 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
81 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 208.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r61
R. F. D. 2, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Money is Scarce and Bond Prices are Low

A scarcity of money means high interest rates and low prices for bonds.

Just now money is scarce.

To finance the grain harvest, loans to business houses and others are of necessity curtailed and money is "tight."

Money usually available for investment purposes is required to "carry on" business.

Private individuals, therefore, with money to invest, can now get long-term securities at prices which offer unusually high interest yields.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

Dominion of Canada 5½% Bonds

Victory Bonds Free from Dominion Income Taxes

Due	Price		Yield
Dec., 1922	98	and interest	6.37%
Nov., 1925	98	and interest	6.14%
Dec., 1927	97	and interest	6.00%
Nov., 1933	96½	and interest	5.88%
Dec., 1937	98	and interest	5.68%
Victory Bonds Subject to the Usual Income Taxes
Nov., 1924	97	and interest	6.27%
Nov., 1934	93	and interest	6.24%

We shall welcome an opportunity to serve you in your investment matters irrespective of the amount of your funds.

DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION
LIMITED.
Established 1901

E. R. Wood - - - President
G. A. Morrow - Vice-President
J. W. Mitchell - Vice-President
W. S. Hodgens - - - Secretary
J. A. Fraser - - - Treasurer
T. H. Andison - Ass't Secretary
A. F. White - - Ass't Treasurer

HEAD OFFICE:
26 KING STREET EAST
TORONTO

MONTREAL BRANCH
Canada Life Building
R. W. Steele - - Manager

LONDON, ENG., BRANCH
No. 6 Austin Friars
A. L. Fullerton, Manager

Are You Run-Down, Pale, Weak, Nervous, Anaemic? No Vitality, No Ambition? Have You Stomach Trouble? Are You All In?

VITAL TABLETS THE GREAT FRENCH TONIC

BUILDS UP A RUN DOWN CONSTITUTION. TONES YOU UP GENERALLY

Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble will feel the influence of this wonderful remedy.

I cannot praise Vital Tablets sufficiently. I only wish I could tell every one who suffers as I did. I was a nervous wreck. My nerves were all unstrung. I had indigestion so bad that at times I became very despondent. I saw your advertisement of Vital Tablets in a newspaper. I have used twelve boxes. To-day I am a new woman and so happy. I have told dozens about your wonderful remedy.

(Signed) MRS. McGEE, Halifax, N.S.

VITAL TABLETS will do all we claim for them. Ask someone who has tried them. You will feel like a new person in a few days. Headaches, biliousness, constipation, weak nerves and all nervous trouble will at once feel the relief that follows. You will sleep better, eat better, and life will be truly worth living. Why drag on with your suffering? VITAL TABLETS do not cost a fortune, but will be worth a fortune to you. If you need bracing up, if you need a tonic, if you have rheumatism, if your blood and nerves need toning up—take VITAL TABLETS. Your stomach will be sweet; the coating from your tongue will go; your eyes will be bright; your colour better. No matter what your trouble is, just you try VITAL TABLETS. Price, 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sold at all Drug Stores. If you have any difficulty purchasing VITAL TABLETS, send to us and we will mail them to you. THE SCOBELL DRUG COMPANY, Manufacturing Chemists, Canadian Agents, Montreal, Que. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

"The National Smoke"

WILSON'S BACHELOR

Still the most for the money 10c.

ANDREW WILSON & Co TORONTO AND MONTREAL

CONTAINS NO ANIMAL OIL OR FAT & NOR ANY MINERAL PURELY VEGETABLE
Zam-Buk
CUTS BRUISES SORES-BURNS
PILES-PIMPLES-ECZEMA
RHEUMATISM-SCIATICA-BAD LEGS
SORE HEADS & BACKS-CHAPPED HANDS
UNEQUALLED FOR CRICKETERS, CYCLISTS, FOOTBALL PLAYERS & SPORTSMEN GENERALLY EMBROCATION
THAT'S WHAT YOU NEED

for that cut, burn, sore or eczema. Ends pain, prevents blood-poisoning and grows new skin.

All dealers 50c box.

Business Grows when it is Well Advertised

Regina, Sask., Sept. 27.—Gone is the buffalo, but not the prairie schooner, the emblem of pioneer days. While the schooner was thought to be extinct it has reappeared in a new form in the streets of Regina.

From Elkhorn, Iowa, to Cudworth, Sask., and return is the ambitious trip being undertaken by W. E. Potts and wife with two children in a modernized prairie schooner. The vehicle is little short of a house on wheels. The body is a motor truck and the upper part self-contained except for an occasional trip to the grocery store. Even electric light is furnished. The total weight of the schooner is 6,000 pounds. The party left the United States in July and have already travelled 1,500 miles. When they complete their journey they will have gone 2,500 miles.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By

RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

She told of her longing for a photograph of him, but did not tell him of her need of it as a talisman. He laughed aloud at this incredible way of spending money, till she began suddenly to cry. He had no answer to that argument except yes. Then she began to laugh. They decided to stop at a photographer's on the way to the five-thirty train.

"I'd Give a Thousand Dollars for One Photograph of My Father."

Daphne ran out and cashed Reben's check at the grocer's much to the relief of Reben's bookkeeper, whose books had been held up by the missing check.

Daphne asked for the privilege of taking her father to the train, and Bayard was so busy figuring where to put the cash he had on hand that he consented to stop at home.

They went first to the gallery of a photographer whose show-case had displayed some strong and veracious portraits of men. The photographer's prices staggered Daphne and she protested, but he answered dolefully:

"I'd give a thousand dollars for one photograph of my father."

That settled it.

After the sitting Daphne and her father proceeded to the station. She stopped at the gate because she had neither a ticket for the train nor a platform pass from the station master.

She watched him dwindling down the long platform. He was a mere manikin when he reached his place and waved to her before he vanished through the magic door of the train.

She waved to him with her handkerchief, and when he was gone she buried her eyes in it. Her partings with her father had marked epochs in her life. She wondered what destiny would do to her between now and the next one. She felt forlorn, afraid for his life on the train, afraid for her soul in the perils before it, and so sorry for him and for herself that she could not help boo-hooing a little.

Destiny did not keep her waiting, for while she was strangling her sobs as best she could she heard a voice over her shoulder. It said:

"Aha, gel, at last I have you in me power."

"Mr. Duane!" she gasped, as she turned to meet his smile with another. "And where have you been all this long while?"

"A lot you've cared," he growled. "Did you ever telephone me as you promised you would? No! Were you always out when I telephoned? Yes! Did you let me call on you? You did not! When at last it penetrated my thick hide that you were actually giving me a hint that you didn't want me round and that you had thrown me overboard, neck and crop, I grew very proud. I refused to call on you again."

"I'm awfully sor-ry," she said, and her voice broke.

"Sorry" was a dangerous word for her at that moment, and her sobs were beginning again, when he made a vigorous effort to talk them down.

The crowds in the station were too well preoccupied with their own errands to notice a girl crying, and to the gateman farewell tears were no luxury.

Duane tried the best he could to help her. He was saying: "And now I suppose I've got to miss my train and my golf and all that while I take you home in a taxi. You're far too pretty to be running around loose in a mob like this."

She shook her head. "You mustn't miss your train, Mr. Duane, or your golf. I'm used to going about alone, and I've got to get useder to it. I'm going home in the subway. Good-by and thank you."

She put out her hand formally, and he took it. It was like a soft, sun-warmed flower in his palm, and he clung to it. Its warmth seemed to reach through his blood to his heart and to make it ache.

"I must go. You can't put me off again!" he said. "I will take you home!" He turned to call a redcap standing in solemn patience beside two traveling bags and a bristling golf bag. "Porter, take my things to the parcel room and bring me the check."

"No," said Daphne, hastily. "I mustn't! You mustn't! Really! I mean it! Good-by!"

She walked away so rapidly that he could not follow her without unseemly haste. She heard him call, sharply: "Porter, never mind the parcel room. Come along to the train."

Her success in escaping him was so complete that she rather regretted it. When she reached the apartment she found Leila almost prostrated from the effects of her altruism and from the fact that Bayard was in one of his tantrums.

A special delivery letter had just come from Dutilh's shop. It said that Mr. Dutilh was arriving from Paris with his winter models, and since he would have to pay a large sum at the customs house it was regrettably necessary to beg Mr. Kip to send by return mail a check for the inclosed bill, which was long past due.

And now the briefly adjourned laws of finance were reassembled. Leila's short reign was over; her extravagance had again found her out and demanded punishment. The gown she had bought, and was asked to pay for, had been worn shabby, danced to shreds in Newport. But the bill was as bright as ever.

Bayard was so fagged with his weeks of discouragement that he was as irascible as a veteran of the gout whose toe has been stepped on. When Daphne walked in he was denouncing Leila in excellent form. He used Daphne as a further club.

"My poor sister sent back the gown she bought! But you—you bought more!"

Daphne realized how much this would endear her to Leila and she took immediate flight. She found the Chivvises in a state of tension. Mr. Chivvis was not usually home before half-past six. Daphne felt an omen in the way they looked at her when they acknowledged her entrance.

She went to her room in a state of foreboding misery. She had not paid her board for several weeks. She had not mentioned the fact to Mrs. Chivvis, nor Mrs. Chivvis to her, though the nonpayment of a board bill is one of the self-evident truths that landladies usually discuss with freedom.

A few minutes later Mrs. Chivvis tapped on the door, her thimble making a sharp clack. She brought her sewing with her and sewed as she

(To Be Continued)

[illegible] "DUCHESS" STOLEN, [illegible]

[illegible] Restored Picture They Could Not Sell.

There are many masterpieces on the walls of the Royal Academy in London this year, but their newness will probably not be a sufficient bait for the picture stealer, who likes something "old and crusted," as a rule, with a pedigree and a price that runs to five figures, says Answers.

There are always collectors who are ready to buy a painting they want without being too inquisitive as to how the seller came into possession of it. Some collectors have even been known to become thieves, so great is their craving to own certain works of art. Though what use such possession can be to them is difficult to imagine, since they must always remain hidden away through fear of detection.

Undoubtedly the most sensational theft in the history of art in England was that of Gainsborough's famous "Duchess of Devonshire," known to everybody by innumerable reproductions.

This masterpiece by one of England's greatest painters was offered at Christie's salesrooms in King street, St. James, where the Red Cross sale was recently held, for 10,000 guineas. This was in May, 1876.

Some days later the picture was placed on exhibition in a Bond street gallery, and on May 26, when the place was reopened, it was found that the famous "Duchess" had disappeared. The picture had been cut out of its frame with a knife, the edges of the canvas being left in the empty frame.

For twenty-five years the affair remained a mystery, and it was feared that the picture was gone forever. At least, so the public thought, although there were some who knew otherwise. But whether it would ever be restored was in doubt to the very last.

The chief thief was a hyphenated German-American, named Adam Wirth, a clever crook. His helper was a man twice his bulk, an Englishman named Jack Phillips.

Being a small man, Wirth had climbed on Phillips' shoulders. The night was dark and Bond street silent. By means of the awning, the German reached the window ledge on the first floor, and gained an entrance to the gallery. There he carefully cut the picture from its frame, rolled it up, and departed by the way he had come.

But the masterpiece was no use to him. It was known to dealers in every city. To show it was to give the game away. Wirth got into touch with some solicitors, and held the picture to ransom.

The owners refused to compound a felony, so Wirth put the painting into a tin tube and built it into the wall of his cellar, where it lay hidden until the year 1901, when the world was surprised to hear that the lost "Duchess" was found and that a reward of $20,000 had been paid. The man through whose "good offices" the picture was restored was "Pat" Sheedy, a man of international notoriety. So, after a lapse of twenty-five years, the picture was again restored to the public.

Its Kind.

"I hear that Daisy's love for Jim was not the same when he put on civilian clothes and had no more the glamor of the soldier."

"I believe her love was a uniform devotion."

Pure, Clean, Economical | Preserved & sold only in Sealed air-tight packets to preserve its native goodness.

"SALADA"

Used in Millions of Tea-Pots Daily

Fires Break Out and thieves break in. Don't risk the first, or invite the second, by keeping money in the house.

Put it in The Merchants Bank where it will be safe from loss—always available—and earn interest at highest current rates.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

DONALD MacFADYEN - - MANAGER BELLEVILLE BRANCH

Burning the Nation's Wealth

EVERY HOUR OF THE DAY AND NIGHT

The Torch of Carlessness

BRINGS DESTRUCTION TO SOMEBODY'S PROPERTY IN ONTARIO

The work of Fire Prevention should appeal to every Merchant and Manufacturer who wishes to preserve the continuity and non-interference of his business.

SPECIAL EFFORTS SHOULD BE MADE DURING

Fire Prevention Week---Oct. 9 to remove all Fire Hazards and take every possible precaution to Prevent Fire.

CLEAN UP

accumulations of waste material, rubbish, boxes and conditions that create disorder.

ONTARIO FIRE PREVENTION LEAGUE, INC.,
In Affiliation with
THE ONTARIO FIRE MARSHAL'S OFFICE, TORONTO.

The Best Oil Speculation in Canada

Mail this Coupon Now!

Is in the stock and properties of the Ontario and Peace River Oil and Gas Producing Company Limited.

We have oil. The call for it is faster than we can supply it. That's why we need more money for development.

And that explains why we are offering shares at $1.00 each.

We do not wish to deceive anybody. This is a speculative investment, but a wonderfully good one.

Big business men are behind it, as you will see from reading our prospectus. Fill out this coupon and get particulars.

To COMMERCIAL SALES COMPANY, LIMITED,
79 Adelaide Street East, Toronto.

Gentlemen,—

Please send me at once complete particulars of the offering of $1.00 shares in the Ontario Peace River Oil and Gas Producing Co., Limited.

FULL NAME ....

FULL ADDRESS ....

(Please write plainly)

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Coe Hill	Sept. 28-29
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30
Norwood	Oct. 12 and 13
OTTAWA (Central)	Sept. 10-20
Odessa	Oct. 1
Stella	Sept. 28
Tweed	Sept. 30-Oct. 1

ALGONQUIN PARK

The autumn months are delightful in Algonquin Park. The Highland Inn offers splendid accommodation at reasonable rates. It is owned and operated by the Grand Trunk Railway. Altitude 2,000 feet above sea level. Just the place for rest, recreation and recuperation. The Inn will be open for the reception of guests all winter. For rates and all information apply to N. T. Clarke, Manager, Highland Inn, Algonquin Park Station, Ont., or any agent of the Grand Trunk Railway System. s23,27,30,o2

LOOK! BUY! SAVE!
NONE SHOULD MISS IT!

Values Unheard Of Gorman's BOOT SHOP Values Undreamed Of Women's Bargains

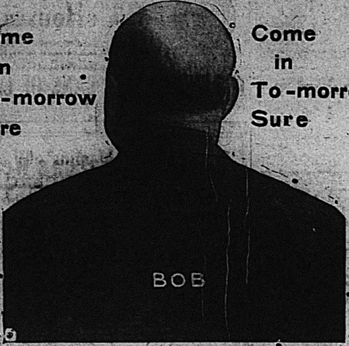
$6.95

Come in To-morrow Sure



Come in To-morrow Sure

MEET ME FACE TO FACE

GREATEST SHOE BARGAINS OF THE SEASON

Women's Black Kid High Lace Boots, Taupe Top, low and high heels, all sizes, all widths, A to D, price was $12 Now - - - - - - - - - - - $6.95

Women's Brown Calf, and Kid High Lace Boots, low and high heels, all sizes, all widths, A to D, was $9.00 Now - - - - - - - - - - - $6.95

Come Early While Your Size and Width are Here

Money Refunded Goods Exchanged

The Family Smoke

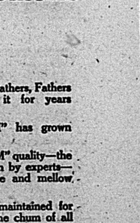
"OLD CHUM" is a family friend. Grandfathers, Fathers and Sons have been smoking it for years and years.

During this half century, "OLD CHUM" has grown steadily in popularity and favour.

Every pipe smoker appreciates "OLD CHUM" quality—the choice Virginia Flake Cut tobacco—chosen by experts—stored away until the perfect tobacco taste and mellow flavour are fully developed.

It is this dependable, constant quality, maintained for years, which has made "OLD CHUM" the chum of all pipe smokers in Canada.

OLD CHUM



Canada's Favorite Pipe Tobacco.

CHIFFON FOR DAYS TO COME

Flowered chiffon bids fair to play an important part in milady's summer wardrobe. Here is a puff-and-frill combination of the most exquisite daintiness, in this fetching gown for the young miss.

HATS VERY SMALL OR LARGE

Advance Models of Season Show Well-Marked Tendencies and Some Novelties.

The advance hats for spring show many indications of the coming fashions, some well-marked tendencies and some novelties. These novelties, from the very fact of their entire newness, are apt to remain novelties and to lack definite influence on the mode. Many of the first spring hats of the season are made up, rather to interest and attract the foreign buyer. Later a more conservative charm marks the millinery fashion both in France and America, after they have been modified by the influence of well-dressed women.

Several general tendencies may be noted. Hats are either very small or of quite large proportions. This does not mean that the enormous "Merry Widow" headgear is in any danger of returning. The Frenchwoman does not look well in a very large hat, though it is often becoming to her tall and slender American cousin. If the hat is small it is almost sure to have a tuft of something sticking out sharply at one side. Swathed effects, defining the shape of the head, are shown in Vogue. They are popular, especially with a bow of stiff ribbon, or a short broom of aigrettes set at right angles to the head at the right side over the ear.

FASHION NOTES OF INTEREST

Overskirts fall below the foundation skirt.

Black satin and gold lace is a good combination.

Vanity cases are of brocaded velvet, leather or suede.

Leather is much used for a millinery decoration.

Moccasin brown is a new color among negligees.

Handkerchiefs are of printed linens in vivid colors.

Lace collars finish the collarless necks of simple serge dresses.

Chestnut brown straw, with pink quills is a recent Paris idea for a hat.

A dominant note in color schemes and designs is of oriental inspiration.

Tailored dimity blouses and the latest tailored nets are also favored.

Tucked and scalloped chemisettes of white organdie are used on serge frocks with jacket opening.

Paris suit skirts are short, with fullness about the hips, many being draped with cascade rather than pannier effects.

NEW DEMAND FOR RIBBONS

Vestees Incorporated in Garments, Accounts for Suit Manufacturers Entering Trade.

Salesmen now on the road with ribbon lines are sending in good orders and the trade as a whole is described as being in a healthy condition. Production still fails to come up to what manufacturers desire, and the record prices of raw silk are giving a very firm tone to ribbon values. While the call from the bag trade is not as active as it was, the loss in this direction is more than made up by the business coming from the suit trade. Vestees are no longer separate articles, but are incorporated in garments, which accounts for the entrance of the suit manufacturers into the ribbon trade for the first time in several years.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

HOME-MADE BREAD

Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with should be sufficient incentive to the thoughtful housewife to give this important food item the attention to which it is justly entitled. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Made in Canada

Y.M.C.A. Notes

Monday night was the opening night at the Y.M.C.A. with a fairly good attendance of the boys of the Junior Business Class.

With a fairly hot game of baseball and finishing up on the track with a fast relay race, the boys adjourned to the swimming tank where the first swimming events of the season were run off.

In the two lengths of the tank it was necessary to run three heats as follows:

First Heat—R. Buskard, 1st; T. Townsend, 2nd; L. Barlow, 3rd.

Second Heat—P. Cole, 1st; F. Symons, 2nd; C. Barnett, 3rd.

Third Heat—W. Saunders, 1st; F. Reeder, 2nd; F. McArthur, 3rd.

Final Heat—P. Cole, 1st; R. Buskard, 2nd; W. Saunders, 3rd.

The second event was diving. The boys have had very little training in this event but with a little practice will develop into good divers. Two dives were held, the running neat and the back dive.

W. Reeder, 1st, 16 points; P. Cole, 2nd, 15 points; L. Barlow, 3rd, 12 points; W. Saunders, 3rd, 12 points.

It is the intention of the Physical Department to organize classes in the Life Saving, and the events held last night will help to give the contestants confidence in the water which is the first requisition good swimming.

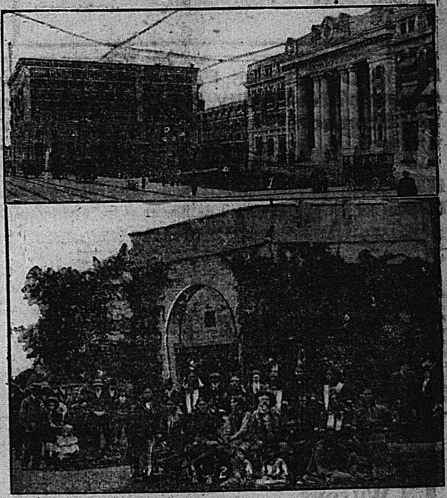
* * *

Black and Tans issue ultimatum. Unless kidnapped officer is returned five towns in Ireland will be burned.

A violent earthquake reported at Giarre, Sicily. One village destroyed and many persons killed.

Gigantic task undertaken by Rockefeller foundation in plan to eradicate Malaria from world.

The Progress of Manitoba



(1) On the left the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg, and on the right a portion of the C. P. R. Station Building. (2) Fort Garry, Winnipeg.—A plate on the wall, presented by Winnipeg Canadian Club, tells its story.

There is an Indian legend of a race of people who dwelt upon the Canadian Prairies before the Red Men came, but why they vanished or who they were no man knows. Vanish they did and their place was taken by wandering tribes of Indians who hunted and fished, built their wigwams and their camp-fires, told their wild legends and smoked their peace-pipes for many a generation before the foot of the white men ever visited the plains that were their heritage.

The first discoverer of Manitoba was the ill-fated Henry Hudson, exactly 310 years ago. Others followed in his steps. Presently came the adventurer, de Grosseillier, who after spying out the land, went back to England, where, with Radisson, his companion, and under the auspices of Prince Rupert, he obtained large grants of land from Charles II. and formed that Hudson's Bay Company which was destined to play so great a part in the future history of Canada. During the one hundred odd years that intervened between that time and 1912, the story of the Hudson's Bay Company is the story of Manitoba. The years are filled with its treaties with the Indians, its feuds with rival companies and its usurpation of all the trade of the vast country over which it ruled, for the most part, beneficently. Of its rivals the most important was the North-West Fur Company. Bitter was the contest between these two companies and many a skirmish was fought between bands of their adherents, until about 1817 the two companies were united and peace followed.

Early in 1812, however, Lord Selkirk, after buying a controlling interest in the stock of the Hudson's Bay Company, obtained from it a grant in fee simple of 116,000 square miles of Red River territory, between the present international boundaries and Lakes Winnipeg and Winnipegosis. This land he proceeded to colonize with settlers from the Scottish Highlands. The Colony grew and flourished. About 1830 the population of Red River was 1,500. In 1835 the Council of Assiniboia was organized to govern the colony and Fort Garry (now Winnipeg) was built.

From this time on the history of Manitoba is one of growing prosperity, broken only by the Riel rebellions of 1869 and 1885. To Sir Edmund Head, Governor-General of Canada in 1861, is due the fact that Manitoba was confederated into the Dominion. In 1869 the Hudson's Bay Company, of which he was a director, transferred back to England, in consideration of a sum of £300,000, the lands which it had received from her some two hundred years before. England transferred the territories and the debt of $15,000,000 to the young Dominion of Canada and on June 17th., 1870, Manitoba became a Province of that Dominion, taking her place among her sisters under the Lieutenant-Governorship of Adams G. Archibald. In 1871 she elected her first Premier, Hon. H. J. Clarke.

Manitoba has always been a great cattle raising province. But besides this she possesses many other sources of wealth. In the valuable area now known as Northern Manitoba she has mineral deposits of great value, water powers to develop immense power, fisheries capable of yielding large returns, fur bearing animals innumerable and much good land available for the hardier crops. The climate in this northern part of Manitoba is extreme but healthy.

Up to 1870 the history of education in Manitoba is largely written in the heroic efforts of the Church, both Catholic and Protestant. In the beginning of the Provincial era there were 33 parish schools in operation, but in 1876 the number of schools had grown to 53. Last year there were 3,200 teachers and 115,000 pupils in the public and high schools of the Province.

It is a far cry from the old trading post of Fort Garry to the big, modern city of Winnipeg. Fifty years ago this city was a mere village of only a couple of hundred people. Main Street was only a prairie trail. There was no school, no railway or telegraph connection with the outer world; no banks, except that the Hudson's Bay Company accepted deposits and issued paper money of its own; and property owners paid no taxes. But after 1870 the place began to grow. Three years afterwards it had a population of over 2,000, and in 1874 it became an incorporated city, with F. E. Cornish, a lawyer, as first Mayor.

In 1880 the building of the C.P.R. east and west from Winnipeg was begun and in 1885 the first through train from Montreal arrived in the city. Now the C.P.R. freight yards at Winnipeg are the largest in the world. Winnipeg's growth became steady and solid. In the period just before the war Winnipeg's population had increased to 183,378 and her aggregate industrial production for the year 1918 was $62,000,000. She is now the third city in Canada and the little colony, begun by Radisson and his fellow adventurers, is now a great and flourishing part of the wide Dominion, whose confines stretch from sea to sea and "whose name is known in all lands."—From the Manitoba Free Press.

BEAUTIFUL SHOWING OF
Autumn Dress Fabrics
A Magnificent Showing of New Dress Materials, Embracing the Choicest Weaves, Most Beautiful Colorings Created this Season.

DRESS GOODS.
All Wool Serge in Navy, Black, Brown, Copen, and Purple. Special value at $2.50
ALL WOOL SERGE 50 ins. and 54 ins. wide, in Black, Navy, Copen., Taupe and Brown; priced at $4.50 to $8.00.
TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, in Navy, Copen. and Brown, priced at $5.50
BROADCLOTH, in Navy, Brown, Black, priced at $5.00 and $6.00
ARMURE TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, all wool, in Navy, Copen. and Reindeer. Special value at $5.00
VELOURS in the new shades, priced at $6.00
ALL WOOL JERSEY CLOTH in newest shades, at $5.00 and $6.00.

DRESS SILKS
HABUTAI SILKS, 36 ins. wide in white and black, priced at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.
PAILETTE SILKS in Navy, White, Taupe Brown, Green, Grey, 36 ins. Good value at $2.50.
DUCHESSE SATINS in the newest shades of Navy, Brown, Sand, Taupe, Grey, Orchid, in a good heavy quality. Priced at $3.50.
TAFFETA SILKS in a big showing of plain and shot effects —36 ins. wide, good value at $3.50.
BLACK DRESS SILKS in three special values:
36 inch Pailette Silk at .. $3.00
36 inch Duchesse Silk at $3.50
36 inch Duchesse Satin, extra heavy quality, at $4.50

EARLE & COO K CO

Autumn Footwear
Ladies and Men, we invite your inspection of our
New Fall Shoes
as our lines are complete in every detail, and the greatest variety of styles and different kinds of leather can be seen at the
Leslie Shoe Store
PHONE 553.
SEE SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Hudson Seal Coats
The Hudson Seal coat is the most practical, the most serviceable and the most reliable of fur coats, and in spite of the high price of furs we are in a position to offer plain and untrimmed HUDSON SEAL COATS at .... $330.00 and up, in 30 to 48 inch lengths.
We extend a cordial invitation to you to come in and see these coats.
DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
17 Campbell Street.
PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily
ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.				READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 27	STATIONS.	Train 20	Train 22	Train 28
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	—	Lv. Montreal Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*9.00 a.m.	—
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	$1.00 p.m.	Lv. Ottawa Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	$10.00 p.m.
2.23 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	6.28 p.m.	Lv. Belleville Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.50 p.m.	Arr. Toronto Lv.	8.00 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr. Detroit Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.30 p.m.	—
7.05 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	3.00 p.m.	Arr. Chicago Lv.	4.40 p.m.	—

* Daily. $Daily except Sunday.
S. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

City And Country

SHRINERS PILGRIMAGE.

Because of lack of hotel accommodation in Ottawa, Brockville's members of the Mystic Shrine, who will attend the fall ceremonial of Rameses Temple to be held in that city on October 4, have arranged to occupy two sleeping cars which will be placed at their disposal as accommodation in lieu of hotel rooms. Rameses Temple and Patrol will attend in full strength, travelling to Ottawa by special train. Aleppo Temple, Boston, Mass., accompanied by its band and patrol, will also travel by special train.

FROM RAILWAY TO PULPIT.

Lawrence Pocock, clerk in the office of the supervisor of track, G.T.R., at Brockville, has resigned and gone to Wycliffe College, Toronto, to study for the Anglican ministry.

PRIVILEGE WITHDRAWN

Postmasters have been informed that the privilege of exemption from postal charges granted to correspondence posted by soldiers in military forces and by members of naval forces of the Empire has been withdrawn except in the case of letters from the British forces in Mesopotamia and the army of the Black Sea, for which the privilege has been extended until October 1st.

CARS LEFT TRACK

On Friday afternoon last a C.P.R. grain train enroute from Port McNicoll to Lindsay met with a mishap at Brechin when the engine and seven cars left the track. Four or five cars of grain were spilled. The auxiliary from Havelock was dispatched to the scene.

HELP THE ARMY

The Salvation Army Campaign to raise $4,000 for the renovation of the Citadel on Pinnacle street is now in progress, every street is being done from door to door and it is hoped that the collectors will meet with a generous response. The money is badly needed, please give liberally.

THE BAY BRIDGE.

At the Chamber of Commerce building here on Thursday evening a meeting will be held at which representatives from the city and the adjoining County of Prince Edward will be in attendance. The object of the meeting will be to consider what proposition will be submitted to the electors at the municipal election relative to the purchasing of the Bay Bridge. Hon. N. Parliament, Mayor Newman of Picton, Mr. E. M. Young of Picton and others from Prince Edward county are expected to be present.

MUNICIPAL WOOD YARD

The corporation of Perth has purchased a twenty-five acre bush lot in the township of Drummond, four miles distant from the town, from Walter McLaren. The purchase will mean a good supply of wood for the town in months to come.

AUTO CRANK FOUND.

An auto crank is at the police station awaiting an owner. It was picked up on the street yesterday.

SILO DESTROYED.

A large silo situated on a farm in the 8th concession of Thurlow township, operated by Cronk Brothers, two returned soldiers, was struck by lightning last evening and destroyed. The loss is covered by insurance.

A RELIGIOUS CONVENTION.

On October 26th, 27th and 28th, a convention for Eastern Ontario will be held in Belleville of the Ontario Religious Council. Prominent speakers from Canada and the United States wi'l be present to speak on the religious topics of the day.

GEORGIA EMMETT, prima donna with "My Soldier Girl," this season, coming directly from four seasons in vaudeville. This clever little artist is a big feature with this successful play at Griffin's next Monday night, Oct. 4th.

GIRL SEEKS THRILL.

A Toronto girl, Miss Irene Todd, of the Publicity Staff of the Canadian National Railways, left the Ottawa Central Station, Monday afternoon at 2.15 for Toronto. Clothed in a suit of dungarees, with a firemen's cap perched on her pretty head, Miss Todd, armed with the necessary authority from general headquarters in Toronto, climbed into the cab of the engine, which is one of the largest and most powerful on the road, and smilingly waved her hand as the train pulled out of the station on its 250-mile journey. Miss Todd has already enjoyed the adventure of an airplane flight at Armour Heights, Toronto.

REMOVED RIFLE TRAP.

The Kingston police gave instructions for the removal of the rifle trap from the orchard of C. H. Powell, following the shooting of Percy Vincent, ten year old lad, on Thursday night. The lad was shot in the knee when he ran against the trap. It was stated on Saturday morning that the father of the boy would take action against Mr. Powell. The lad who was shot is reported at the Hotel Dieu as having passed a quiet night. The case is under the care of Dr. Cowley. If bloodpoisoning does not set in it is probably that recovery will take place, but owing to the condition of the knee joint there is no certainty as to its usefulness after the wound heals, and there is danger of the boy being crippled.—Kingston Whig.

THREE YEARS FOR THEFT

Henry Smith, a young man who a week ago pleaded guilty to the theft of a valise containing clothing and other articles, the property of Joseph Brodeau, a French-Canadian, was this morning brought up before Magistrate Masson for sentence. His Worship sentenced Smith to three years in the penitentiary. The valise was stolen from a C.P.R. working car here, and Smith was suspected. The stolen property was all recovered.

BARN AND CONTENTS BURNED

During the severe electrical storm which passed over the city and vicinity between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the vivid lightning was responsible for at least one fire. The barn of Mr. T. Faull who resides in the 2nd Concession of Thurlow Township was struck and destroyed. All the season's crop and some farm implements fell a prey to the devouring elements. A cow which was near the barn was also killed by the bolt. The loss to Mr. Faull is a serious one, but is partially covered by insurance.

Obsequies

WILLIE J. HASLIP

The funeral of Willie J. Haslip took place Monday afternoon from the family residence, 373 Bleecker avenue and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Elliott of the Tabernacle Church conducted services at the house and grave at Belleville cemetery. The bearers were six of his school mates of Queen Victoria School, namely, Ben Burley, Fred Robinson, Leonard Rainbird, Allen Hickin, Clayton and Earle Darragh. The following members of the Tabernacle S. S. with the teacher, Miss Bell, were floral bearers, Clarence McLean, Gordon Davies, Earle Bawden, William Jackson, Stanley Wilbur, Donald Roe Cecil and Douglas Jones. The floral tributes were many and beautiful in effect, being as follows:

Pillows—Father, mother and sisters Mr. and Mrs. W. Potts, (Toronto), Mr. and Mrs. W. Simmons, (Toronto).

Gates Ajar—Miss Margaret Simmons, (Toronto), James Potts, (Toronto).

Crosses—Mr. and Mrs. J. Lafferty; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Proven; Mr. and Mrs. C. Hickin.

Star—Sunday School teacher and class, Miss Bell.

Wreaths—Mr. and Mrs. Lindstrom; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Haslip; East Toronto Lodge, No. 108 B. of R. T.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bush, (Madoc).

Heart—Mr. and Mrs. T. Yerrow.

Anchor—Mr. and Mrs. G. Garrison; Employes of Freight Office and Shed, (G.T.R.).

Sheaths—Queen Victoria School; Mr. and Mrs. Hope McGinnis; Mr. and Mrs. B. Robinson and daughter; Mr. M. Flagler and family; Percy and Harry Morgan; Mr. and Mrs. F. Palos Leo and Frank Boyer; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Shorey; Mr. and Mrs. J. Rigby; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cole; Mr. and Mrs. A. Skinner; Mr. and Mrs. Burley; Mr. Bert Heath, (Toronto); Freddie and Leo St. Louis.

Sprays—Mr. and Mrs. L. Crew; Mr. and Mrs. I. Naylor and Percy Alexander; Earle and Clayton Darrah; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Kaiser; Mr. and Mrs. Niles; Jocy McLeod; Benny and Ralph Burley; James Alexander and family; Mr. and Mrs. R. Forester and Lucy Forester; Leonard, Vera and Edith Rainbird; Mr. and Mrs. B. Mayo Mrs. David Ketcheson; Ladies Auxiliary to B. of R. T.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Carson; Mrs. W. Taylor and family; Mr. and Mrs. N. P. North; Grace and Helen Lindstrom; Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith, (Toronto); Mr. and Mrs. J. Little, (Milltown, Ont.); Mr. and Mrs. C. Kline, (Toronto); Mr. and Mrs. F. Wheeler; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carson; Mr. and Mrs. S. Taylor and Marjorie; Mr. and Mrs. J. Garrison; School Class; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrews; Eileen and Betty Jenkins; Mrs. Stewart and Clara; W. J. Callaghan and mother; Mrs. Longden; J. and L. Donovan; Mr. and Mrs. J. Walden; Mr. and Mrs. Dan McLeod; Mr. and Mrs. Baldree; Rebekahs; Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and Freddie.

FRUIT WASTED

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cronk and family have just returned from an automobile trip to Western Ontario and New York State. Mr. Cronk states that the fruit crop in the Niagara peninsula is a wonderful sight, but the scarcity of labor and baskets will mean a fearful waste.

RAIN HELPED

The heavy rainfall on Monday evening and olwer temperature relieved the situation somewhat in regard to the Moira river nuisance and the offensive odor was omewhat mitigated.

RIPE RASPBERRIES

Henry Hale, baker, Oliver street, has been enjoying ripe raspberries picked from his garden where an abundant crop is defying all precedent.

1000 Eggs in Every Hen

New System of Poultry Keeping—Get Dollar a Dozen Eggs—Famous Poultryman

TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; make slacker hens hustle; $5.00 profit from every hen in six winter months. These and many other money making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs should go to a dollar or more a dozen this winter. This means big profit to the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how. If you keep chickens and want to them to make money for you, cut this ad and send it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 567M Tyne Bldg., Binghamton, N.Y., and a free copy of "The 1,000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.

Bill Hart in Breezy Western Play

"Square Deal Sanderson" is a Man's Man—Hard Riding, Sharp Shooting and Thrills Galore

In "Square Deal Sanderson," William S. Hart's Artcraft picture which is being shown at Griffin's for the last time to-night, will be found one of the strongest stories ever employed for a photoplay. It was written by Chas. A. Seltzer and picturized by Thomas H. Ince.

It tells about a Westerner who sees a horse thief shot in the back, who afterwards kills his assailant. A letter tells "Square Deal Sanderson" that the thief is a brother of Mary Bransford, owner of a ranch in New Mexico, who writes that she is beset by a man who is trying to steal her property. Square Deal goes to the rescue and poses as her brother, whom she had not been from childhood. He saves her, gets into and out of many bad scrapes, but finally besets the villain and his band and wins the girl as his reward. Ann Little plays the girl and of course Bill Hart is the Westerner whose "handle" typifies his character.

This picture is one of Bill Hart's best photoplays which in the parlance of the day may be said to be "going some."

An interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, "Slippery Feet," a funny 2-reel Sunshine comedy, Canadian News Pictorial showing important happenings in Canada, and Jack Dempsey in a thrilling chapter of "Daredevil Jack" serial, completes a splendid aried bill. cownnM.nu. .. offE5.x Sh afiM

Social And Personal

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Paul and son Robert of Prince Albert, Sask., are spending a few days with Mrs. Paul's sister, Mrs. C. J. Bell, Gordon street.

Footwear of Special Merit
The more particular a woman is in regard to the sort of shoes she wears, the more she will enjoy seeing the new styles we are showing for Fall.
EVERY WOMAN'S SHOE is a masterpiece of expert Shoemaker's Skill.
The Haines Shoe Houses

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.
SAVE
By Shopping at
WOTTEN'S
You will actually save on your autumn wearables by shopping at this new Ladies Wear Store. Our stock is fresh and new for the season, and every article has been marked at very advantageous prices for thrifty women to take advantage of. There is always something new to be seen here, so drop in any time you are down town and look around. You are welcome indeed, whether a purchase is intended or not.
Wottens Limit'd
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for?, More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

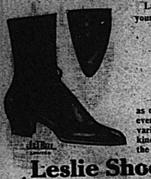
TO THE RESCUE
The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.
☞ THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : : ☜
The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.
THE HYDRO SHOP
Contractors in all kinds of Electric Wiring
32 BRIDGE STREET

BEAUTIFUL SHOWING OF
Autumn Dress Fabrics
A Magnificent Showing of New Dress Materials, Embracing the Choicest Weaves, Most Beautiful Colorings Created this Season.

DRESS GOODS.
All Wool Serge in Navy, Black, Brown, Copen. and Purple. Special value at $2.50
ALL WOOL SERGE
50 ins. and 54 ins. wide, in Black, Navy, Copen., Taupe and Brown; priced at $4.50 to $8.00.
TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, in Navy, Copen. and Brown, priced at $5.50
BROADCLOTH, in Navy, Brown, Black, priced at $5.00 and $6.00
ARMURE TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, all wool, in Navy, Copen. and Reindeer. Special value at $5.00
VELOURS in the new shades, priced at $6.00
ALL WOOL JERSEY CLOTH in newest shades, at $5.00 and $6.00.

DRESS SILKS
HABUTAI SILKS, 36 ins. wide in white and black, priced at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.
PAILETTE SILKS in Navy, White, Taupe, Brown, Green, Grey, 36 ins. Good value at $2.50.
DUCHESSE SATINS in the newest shades of Navy, Brown, Sand, Taupe, Grey, Orchid, in a good heavy quality. Priced at $3.50.
TAFFETA SILKS in a big showing of plain and shot effects—36 ins. wide, good value at $3.50.
BLACK DRESS SILKS in three special values:
36 inch Pailette Silk at .. $3.00
36 inch Duchesse Silk at $3.50
36 inch Duchesse Satin, extra heavy quality, at $4.50

EARLE & COOK CO



Autumn Footwear
Ladies and Men, we invite your inspection of our New Fall
Shoes
as our lines are complete in every detail, and the greatest variety of styles and different kinds of leather can be seen at the
Leslie Shoe Store
PHONE 553.
SEE SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Hudson Seal Coats
The Hudson Seal coat is the most practical, the most serviceable and the most reliable of fur coats, and in spite of the high price of furs we are in a position to offer plain and untrimmed HUDSON SEAL COATS at ....!.... $330.00 and up, in 30 to 48 inch lengths.
We extend a cordial invitation to you to come in and see these coats.
DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
17 Campbell Street.
PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily
ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.						READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS.		Train 20	Train 22	Train [illegible]
*9.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.		Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*7.00 a.m.
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	1.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.23 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	6.23 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.30 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.30 p.m.
7.45 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	3.00 a.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	6.40 p.m.

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday.

B. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

City And Country

SHRINERS' PILGRIMAGE.

Because of lack of hotel accommodation in Ottawa, Brockville members of the Mystic Shrine, who will attend the fall ceremonial of Rameses Temple to be held in that city on October 4, have arranged to occupy two sleeping cars which will be placed at their disposal as accommodation in lieu of hotel rooms. Rameses Temple and Patrol will attend in full strength, travelling to Ottawa by special train. Aleppo Temple, Boston, Mass., accompanied by its band and patrol, will also travel by special train.

FROM RAILWAY TO PULPIT.

Lawrence Pocock, clerk in the office of the supervisor of track, G.T.R., at Brockville, has resigned and gone to Wycliffe College, Toronto, to study for the Anglican ministry.

PRIVILEGE WITHDRAWN

Postmasters have been informed that the privilege of exemption from postal charges granted to correspondence posted by soldiers in military forces and by members of naval forces of the Empire has been withdrawn except in the case of letters from the British forces in Mesopotamia and the army of the Black Sea, for which the privilege has been extended until October 1st.

CARS LEFT TRACK

On Friday afternoon last a C.P.R. grain train enroute from Port McNicoll to Lindsay met with a mishap at Brechin when the engine and seven cars left the track. Four or five cars of grain were spilled. The auxiliary from Havelock was dispatched to the scene.

HELP THE ARMY

The Salvation Army Campaign to raise $4,000 for the renovation of the Citadel on Pinnacle street is now in progress, every street is being done from door to door and it is hoped that the collectors will meet with a generous response. The money is badly needed, please give liberally.

THE BAY BRIDGE.

At the Chamber of Commerce building here on Thursday evening a meeting will be held at which representatives from the city and the adjoining County of Prince Edward will be in attendance. The object of the meeting will be to consider what proposition will be submitted to the electors at the municipal election relative to the purchasing of the Bay Bridge. Hon. N. Parliament, Mayor Newman of Picton, Mr. E. M. Young of Picton and others from Prince Edward county are expected to be present.

MUNICIPAL WOOD YARD

The corporation of Perth has purchased a twenty-five acre bush lot in the township of Drummond, four miles distant from the town, from Walter McLaren. The purchase will mean a good supply of wood for the town in months to come.

AUTO CRANK FOUND.

An auto crank is at the police station awaiting an owner. It was picked up on the street yesterday.

SILO DESTROYED.

A large silo situated on a farm in the 8th concession of Thurlow township, operated by Cronk Brothers, two returned soldiers, was struck by lightning last evening and destroyed. The loss is covered by insurance.

A RELIGIOUS CONVENTION.

On October 26th, 27th and 28th, a convention for Eastern Ontario will be held in Belleville of the Ontario Religious Council. Prominent speakers from Canada and the United States will be present to speak on the religious topics of the day.

GEORGIA EMMETT, prima donna with "My Soldier Girl," this season, coming directly from four seasons in vaudeville. This clever little artist is a big feature with this successful play at Griffin's next Monday night, Oct. 4th.

GIRL SEEKS THRILL.

A Toronto girl, Miss Irene Todd, of the Publicity Staff of the Canadian National Railways, left the Ottawa Central Station, Monday afternoon at 2.15 for Toronto. Clothed in a suit of dungarees, with a firemen's cap perched on her pretty head, Miss Todd, armed with the necessary authority from general headquarters in Toronto, climbed into the cab of the engine, which is one of the largest and most powerful on the road, and smilingly waved her hand as the train pulled out of the station on its 250-mile journey. Miss Todd has already enjoyed the adventure of an airplane flight at Armour Heights, Toronto.

REMOVED RIFLE TRAP.

The Kingston police gave instructions for the removal of the rifle trap from the orchard of C. H. Powell, following the shooting of Percy Vincent, ten year old lad, on Thursday night. The lad was shot in the knee when he ran against the trap. It was stated on Saturday morning that the father of the boy would take action against Mr. Powell. The lad who was shot is reported at the Hotel Dieu as having passed a quiet night. The case is under the care of Dr. Cowley. If blood-poisoning does not set in it is probably that recovery will take place, but owing to the condition of the knee joint there is no certainty as to its usefulness after the wound heals, and there is danger of the boy being crippled.—Kingston Whig.

THREE YEARS FOR THEFT

Henry Smith, a young man who a week ago pleaded guilty to the theft of a valise containing clothing and other articles, the property of Joseph Brodeau, a French-Canadian, was this morning brought up before Magistrate Masson for sentence. His Worship sentenced Smith to three years in the penitentiary. The valise was stolen from a C.P.R. working car here, and Smith was suspected. The stolen property was all recovered.

BARN AND CONTENTS BURNED

During the severe electrical storm which passed over the city and vicinity between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the vivid lightning was responsible for at least one fire. The barn of Mr. T. Faull who resides in the 2nd Concession of Thurlow Township was struck and destroyed. All the season's crop and some farm implements fell a prey to the devouring elements. A cow which was near the barn was also killed by the bolt. The loss to Mr. Faull is a serious one, but is partially covered by insurance.

Obsequies

WILLIE J. HASLIP

The funeral of Willie J. Haslip took place Monday afternoon from the family residence, 373 Bleecker avenue and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Elliott of the Tabernacle Church conducted services at the house and grave at Bellevile cemetery. The bearers were six of his school mates of Queen Victoria School, namely, Ben Burley, Fred Robinson, Leonard Rainbird, Allen Hickin, Clayton and Earle Darragh. The following members of the Tabernacle S. S. with the teacher, Miss Bell, were floral bearers, Clarence McLean, Gordon Davies, Earle Bawden, William Jackson, Stanley Wilbur, Donald Roe Cecil and Douglas Jones. The floral tributes were many and beautiful in effect, being as follows:

Pillows—Father, mother and sisters Mr. and Mrs. W. Potts, (Toronto), Mr. and Mrs. W. Simmons, (Toronto).

Gates Ajar—Miss Margaret Simmons, (Toronto), James Potts, (Toronto).

Crosses—Mr. and Mrs. J. Lafferty; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Proven; Mr. and Mrs. C. Hickin.

Star—Sunday School teacher and class, Miss Bell.

Wreaths—Mr. and Mrs. Lindstrom; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Haslip; East Toronto Lodge, No. 108 B. of R. T.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bush, (Madoc).

Heart—Mr. and Mrs. T. Yerrow.

Anchor—Mr. and Mrs. G. Garrison; Employes of Freight Office and Shed, (G.T.R.).

Sheaths—Queen Victoria School; Mr. and Mrs. Hope McGinnis; Mr. and Mrs. B. Robinson and daughter; Mr. M. Flagler and family; Percy and Harry Morgan; Mr. and Mrs. F. Palos Leo and Frank Boyer; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Shorey; Mr. and Mrs. J. Rigby; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cole; Mr. and Mrs. A. Skinner; Mr. and Mrs. Burley; Mr. Bert Heath, (Toronto); Freddie and Leo St. Louis.

Sprays—Mr. and Mrs. L. Crew; Mr. and Mrs. I. Naylor and Percy Alexander; Earle and Clayton Darrah; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Kaiser; Mr. and Mrs. Niles; Jocy McLeod; Benny and Ralph Burley; James Alexander and family; Mr. and Mrs. R. Forester and Lucy Forester; Leonard, Vera and Edith Rainbird; Mr. and Mrs. B. Mayo Mrs. David Ketcheson; Ladies Auxiliary to B. of R. T.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Carson; Mrs. W. Taylor and family; Mr. and Mrs. N. P. North; Grace and Helen Lindstrom; Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith, (Toronto); Mr. and Mrs. J. Little, (Milltown, Ont.); Mr. and Mrs. C. Kline, (Toronto); Mr. and Mrs. F. Wheeler; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carson; Mr. and Mrs. S. Taylor and Marjorie; Mr. and Mrs. J. Garrison; School Class; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrews; Eileen and Betty Jenkins; Mrs. Stewart and Clara; W. J. Callaghan and mother; Mrs. Longden; J. and L. Donovan; Mr. and Mrs. J. Walden; Mr. and Mrs. Dan McLeod; Mr. and Mrs. Baldree; Rebekahs; Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and Freddie.

FRUIT WASTED

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cronk and family have just returned from an automobile trip to Western Ontario and New York State. Mr. Cronk states that the fruit crop in the Niagara peninsula is a wonderful sight, but the scarcity of labor and baskets will mean a fearful waste.

RAIN HELPED

The heavy rainfall on Monday evening and olwer temperature relieved the situation somewhat in regard to the Moira river nuisance and the offensive odor was omewhat mitigated.

RIPE RASPBERRIES

Henry Hale, baker, Oliver street, has been enjoying ripe raspberries picked from his garden where an abundant crop is defying all precedent.

1000 Eggs in Every Hen

New System of Poultry Keeping—Get Dollar a Dozen Eggs—Famous Poultryman

TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; make slacker hens hustle; $5.00 profit from every hen in six winter months. These and many other money making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs should go to a dollar or more a dozen this winter. This means big profit to the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how. If you keep chickens and want to them to make money for you, cut this ad and send it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 567M Tyne Bldg., Binghamton, N.Y., and a free copy of "The 1,000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.

Bill Hart in Breezy Western Play

"Square Deal Sanderson" is a Man's Man—Hard Riding, Sharp Shooting and Thrills Galore

In "Square Deal Sanderson," William S. Hart's Artcraft picture which is being shown at Griffin's for the last time to-night, will be found one of the strongest stories ever employed for a photoplay. It was written by Chas. A. Seltzer and picturized by Thomas H. Ince.

It tells about a Westerner who sees a horse thief shot in the back, who afterwards kills his assailant. A letter tells "Square Deal Sanderson" that the thief is a brother of Mary Bransford, owner of a ranch in New Mexico, who writes that she is beset by a man who is trying to steal her property. Square Deal goes to the rescue and poses as her brother, whom she had not seen from childhood. He saves her, gets into and out of many bad scrapes, but finally besets the villain and his band and wins the girl as his reward. Ann Little plays the girl and of course Bill Hart is the Westerner whose "handle" typifies his character.

This picture is one of Bill Hart's best photoplays which in the parlance of the day may be said to be "going some."

An interesting Burton Holmes Travelogue, "Slippery Feet," a funny 2-reel Sunshine comedy, Canadian News Pictorial showing important happenings in Canada, and Jack Dempsey in a thrilling chapter of "Daredevil Jack" serial, completes a splendid aried bill. cownnM,nu. .. offE5.x Sh afiM

Social And Personal

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Paul and son Robert of Prince Albert, Sask., are spending a few days with Mrs. Paul's sister, Mrs. C. J. Bell, Gordon street.

Footwear of Special Merit
The more particular a woman is in regard to the sort of shoes she wears, the more she will enjoy seeing the new styles we are showing for Fall.
EVERY WOMAN'S SHOE is a masterpiece of expert Shoemaker's Skill.
The Haines Shoe Houses

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.
SAVE
By Shopping at
WOTTEN'S
You will actually save on your autumn wearables by shopping at this new Ladies Wear Store. Our stock is fresh and new for the season, and every article has been marked at very advantageous prices for thrifty women to take advantage of. There is always something new to be seen here, so drop in any time you are down town and look around. You are welcome indeed, whether a purchase is intended or not.
Wottens Limit'd
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

TO THE RESCUE
The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.
☞ THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : : ☜
The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.
THE HYDRO SHOP
Contractors in all kinds of Electric Wiring
32 BRIDGE STREET

87 St. James Street
Montreal

ALL ENQUIRIES
RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION

Licensed by Quebec Government
Since Thirty Years

CROWN LIFE

Your Family and Your Business

The death of every man worth while means financial loss to those dear to him and to the undertakings in which he is engaged.

A Crown Life Policy is the ideal combination of protection and investment.

Crown Life Insurance Co., Toronto

T. J. OLIVER, Belleville Representative. 88

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word: 4 insertions, 75 cents; 6 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 1 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (122) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

Sacrifice Sale

30 x 3½ USED TIRES
$5.95 WHILE THEY LAST
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.
353 FRONT ST.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE — CHEVROLET CAR—touring, 5 passenger model, newly painted. Has not been used this year. Will sell cheap. This is a snap for someone looking for a used car in A1 condition. Apply Box "L," Intelligencer. 1t

FOR SALE — ONE LIGHT DELIVERY truck; one 1-ton truck. Any reasonable offer accepted. The Stafford Hardware Co. s28-4td

BAY MARE FOR SALE. CHEAP. GOOD worker. Apply A. Bales, 17 West Bridge Street. 1td

FARM FOR SALE. FIVE MILES FROM Belleville, 100 acres of good work land, well watered and fenced. About 4 acres of orchard and other small fruits. Good buildings. For further particulars apply to Harry Fitzgerald, R. R. No. 6, Belleville Ont. s27-2tw,4td

FOR SALE OR TO LET—FIVE ROOMED house with modern conveniences. Apply 9 Everett Street. s27-2td

$3500 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s27-6td

FOR SALE—2,000 ACRE RANCH AT EGAN Creek Siding, 15 miles south of Bancroft, along railway. 100 acres of work land, 75 acres now sown to rye. Wire fenced. Good buildings, machinery. Apply to N. A. R. Green, Coe Hill. s24-6td

FOR SALE—NEW SEVEN ROOM HOUSE—cellar, cistern, electric wired. Three minutes walk from Front St. Apply 402½ Front Street. Price right. s24-6td

FOR SALE—THREE HOUSES IN GOOD localities—Fifteen hundred, Thirty-five hundred, and Forty-five hundred. Apply 271 Albert St., or Phone 980. s21-6td

FOR SALE—ONE FOUR ROOM COTTAGE with large lot; also one seven room house with large summer kitchen on one and three-quarters acres of land, on MacDonald Ave., north of Victoria Ave. Apply on premises. Township taxes. s23 6

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front Street. a6-dtf

$3500 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. s18 12td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1mo

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. s18-dtf

FOUND

FOUND—A BUNCH OF KEYS. OWNER may have same by claiming same at this office and paying for advt. s27-2td

LOST

LOST—A PEARL TIE PIN. RETURN TO George E. Graham. $25 reward. 23-4t

TO LET.

FOR RENT—SOLID BRICK HOUSE, ALL modern conveniences. Apply No. 6 Pine, or Whelan & Yeomans, 29 Bridge St. s28-6td

TO LET — HOUSE. APPLY 17 WEST Bridge St. A. Bales. 1td

TO RENT — WELL FURNISHED SMALL house. Hot water heating. Centrally located. Box "K," Intelligencer. s25-6td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s23-12td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 869. s14-dtf

AGENTS WANTED

MEN AND WOMEN, NOT TO CANVASS, but to travel and appoint local representatives, $1,092 and expenses guaranteed first year, with good chance to make $2,600 and expenses. State age and qualifications. Experience unnecessary. Winston Co., Dept. G. Toronto. stt—s30

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED — EXPERIENCED MAN TO drive truck. Steady job to right man. State wages expected. Apply Box "J," Intelligencer Office. s28-1td

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day of evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d—o8

EXPERIENCED LINOTYPE OPERATOR wanted at once. Apply at The Intelligencer Office. s27-dtf

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—SALESLADY. GOOD WAGES. Apply B. Shniffer, 331 Front St. s28-3td

WANTED — A MAID FOR GENERAL housework; small family. Apply, 93 Victoria Avenue. s27-6td

WANTED—WOMAN TO WORK BY THE week. Sleep in or out; plain cooking and housework. Apply with references. 161 S. Albert Street. s27-3td

WANTED—EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHER, capable of keeping set of books. Address replies to Box "H," The Intelligencer. s24-6td

WANTED—A GOOD PLAIN COOK, GENERAL. No laundry work. Highest wages to capable person with references. Apply 161 S. Albert Street. s22-2tw,6td

WANTED — CAPABLE COOK-GENERAL, for family of three. No washing. Wages $36 per month. References required. Address Box "V," Intelligencer Office, Belleville, stating capabilities, age and references. All replies will be considered confidential. s22 2tw,6td

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s-dlm

WANTED.

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

WANTED—SMALL UNFURNISHED DETACHED house. All conveniences. Address, stating rent. W. B., Intelligencer Office. s28 2t

WANTED—POSITION OF RESPONSIBILITY. Long and varied experience in estate management and administration. Highest references. C. D. Intelligencer Office. s28 3td

WANTED — PARTNERSHIP IN SMALL sound business. Must stand accountant's investigation. Address E. F., Intelligencer Office. s28-2td

it look like new. My Wardrobe. E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe," Phone 393. E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

AUCTION SALE

Household furniture, 223 John street, Wednesday, September 29th at 2 o'clock. Estate Mrs. D. O'Hare. S. J. Fisher, auctioneer. s25-3td

Benjamin Lodge L.O.L. 274 will open Tuesday evening, Sept. 28th. All members and brethren cordially welcome.

WM. McINTOSH, W. M. — S. A. RUTTAN, Sec. 27-2t

"RECORDS" "RECORDS"
C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED

For your private Fall Dances try this programme of latest Dance Records:

1—Waltz—Miami Shore A6144.
2—Fox Trot—In Sweet September A2959.
3—One Step—Happy A2963.
4—F. T.—A Young Man's Fancy A2970.
5—Waltz — Pickaninny Blues A6162.

6—O. S.—Come Back to Georgia A2938.
7—F. T.—Hold Me A2899.
8—Moon Waltz—Shadowland.
9—F. T.—Tell Me, Little Gypsy A2972.
10—Hiawatha's Melody of Love A6150.

The very latest song is "The Love Nest." Ask to hear the Record A2973 at C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

In Memoriam

In memory of my beloved husband, Private S. Coburn, died of wounds, received in action September 28th, 1915. Rest in peace.

Wife.

Card of Thank

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haslip desire to thank their many friends for the kindness and sympathy extended to them in their recent bereavement.

You are invited to hear the following Player Rolls at C. W. Lindsay, Limited:

Fifth Nocturn Story Roll.
One Fleeting Hour (song).
Paderewski Menuet.
Let the Rest of the World Go By. (waltz).

—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

Y.M.C.A. Star Course Dates, October 19, November 9, February 4, March 15. Keep these dates open. s28,30, o2,5.

"There comes Blithersby."
"I see him. Let's avoid him."
"Why?"
"He's the worst crepe hanger I know. Every time he hears me start to talk about buying a new motor car or taking a little trip to Florida or Cuba he wants to tell me how many babies die every day in Europe."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Boy Scouts' Equipment.

Chief Sea Scout James A. Wilder of Honolulu has aroused the Boy Scouts of America until 30 sea scout centers have already acquired training ships, 16 cities now have shipping boards, and 63 others are following suit. It is probable that training ships for this branch of scouting will soon be sailing the oceans and rivers of America.

being situated 10 degrees north of the Equator, between the 61st and 62nd degrees of west longitude. She is the second largest island of the group, and the most prosperous. She is rich in soil, vegetation, and minerals. Situated close to the mainland of South America, possessing extensive petroleum fields, and with modern facilities at Port of Spain for the handling of cargo, she has been singled out by the Committee on Shipping in the Caribbean after the war as the headquarters for West Indian shipping.

The "Land of the Humming Bird," as Trinidad was called by the Caribs who inhabited the island, was discovered by Christopher Columbus in 1498. Like Jamaica and the majority of the West Indian islands, Trinidad is mountainous, intersected with ravines and plains, all of which abound in luxuriant vegetation. The scenery is gorgeous. Above, sunny skies, around the island glassy sea; sloping hills, rich foliage, avenues of palms. You marvel, on passing the little islands that rise sentinel-like off the coast, at such sights as the Gulf of Paria, which separates Trinidad from the Republic of Venezuela, the four or five channels at the northern entrance known as the Dragon's Mouth, each of the four islands at the entrance rising, as someone has written, like a jewel from the sea. To the south is the Serpent's Mouth. Then comes Port of Spain, nestling below lofty peaks, with hills and valleys in the distance clothed in nature's garb, and looking resplendent under a tropical sun.

In 1797 Trinidad passed from Spanish control into the hands of Britain, the Spanish Governor having capitulated to an expedition headed by Admiral Harvey and Gen. Sir Ralph Abercromby. Sir Walter Raleigh had, however, visited it years before when he was on what is recorded as "his ill-starred expedition to the Eldorado—Guiana"; Raleigh attacked St. Josef, one of the coast towns of Trinidad, and burnt it. It was from close to her shores that Nelson chased the French fleet through the West Indies across the Atlantic to Trafalgar.

Trinidad contains 1,860 square miles and is 55 miles in length. Her industries are many; her population is about 400,000. Of this number one-third consists of East Indians.

About 1857 borings for petroleum were made by an American concern, but the venture was not successful. In 1866 another start was made at Brighton, and at a depth of 160 feet small deposits of oil were found, the weekly output being from 50 to 60 gallons. In 1901 Mr. Randolph Rust and others took up the question, with the result that operations were commenced on extensive lines. Success crowned the efforts of those concerned. In the financial year 1914-15, 36,753,981 gallons of petroleum were handled. To-day there are at least 70 oil-wells in the colony, the product of each being from the heavy asphaltic to light oils. Refineries have been established to manufacture gasoline, kerosene, and other oils; and to-day the Trinidad product is being placed on the market of the neighboring islands. In 1917 35,805,505 gallons of petroleum were exported; in 1918, 41,132,837 gallons; and in 1919, 46,017,819 gallons.

The increase of sugar in Trinidad is satisfactory. From 10,000 tons in the years gone by, it has advanced steadily until last year the output was considerably over 50,000 tons. In the second year of the war, the sugar industry was worth to Trinidad more than one million sterling. Large quantities of molasses are exported, along with sugar, to Britain and Canada.

Trinidad cocoa has won its way to popular favor. In 1840, but 1,254 tons were exported; in 1915 a high-water mark was reached, 24,000 tons being shipped to British markets at a price of at least two millions. Last year more than 24,000 tons were sent abroad. Trinidad produces cocoanuts by the million each season. Last year 30,000,000 nuts were exported.

Trinidad is the only colony in the Caribbean proper that possesses a floating dock and up-to-date repair plant, and a line of steamers owned in the colony.

The island is well provided with hotels, clubs, and golf links. The Savannah is the centre of gaiety at race meetings, cricket, or other sports which attract many persons to Port of Spain. Her rivers, pools, and waterfalls — the Diego Martin and Maracas falls, the Blue Basin with its beautiful cascade — in the midst of the most luxuriant tropical vegetation, are worth seeing. Being an agricultural colony, no effort is spared in the training of young men in matters relating to that industry. Agricultural societies preach the gospel of production and co-operation; an extensive Government stock farm is maintained, where cattle and horses of high grade are offered at public auction yearly. The botanical gardens, attached to the Agricultural Department, and a monastery on the hills, are among the institutions that have helped to advance agriculture, and it is the desire of the Government and people that a West Indian Agricultural College should be created here, to which not only lads from the Caribbean colonies but those of other tropical lands could be sent to learn scientific agriculture. Her railway system does its share in the development of trade; it is to be extended; water supply is to be provided for villages, and harbor works are to be undertaken at a cost of $2,500,000. —London Times.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

Prosperity of a lodge depends on the interest the members take in it. The "brother" who wears the emblem helps the organization. He makes known the character of the membership, and adds to the influence for good of the lodge.

Blackburn makes a specialty of Emblem jewelry of the various orders for men and women. The display of Rings, Pins, Buttons and Charms will interest you.

New styles and designs are shown.

Quality is the good kind you want and prices extra good values.

Men's Rings.
$7.50 to $35.00.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

Fried Cakes

We are again making these ever popular old fashioned cakes.

30c. a dozen.

GET SOME TODAY!

CHAS. S. CLAPP

NEW GOODS
At Wallbridge & Clarke's

at WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

Robertson's Scotch Marmalade
Clover Leaf Salmon
Bird's Custard Powder
New Gulf Lobster
Strained Honey—5 & 10 lb. tins.
Asparagus Tips
Canadian Peas
Buckwheat Flour
Candied Ginger—½ lb. tins
Domelco Molasses
Cinnamon Sticks (fine quality) pkgs 5c
Gusto
Force
H—O—Oats
New Fancy Biscuits—
  Oatcakes, Shortbreads
  Chocolate Biscuits, etc
Crosse & Blackwell's Pickles—
  Walnuts, Chow-Chow, etc.
Lea & Perrins' Sauce
Libby's Baked Beans, tins, 20c.
Chloride Lime—10 & 15c. boxes

WE WILL TELL YOU

—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.

Phone DAY 531

Deprecating "Flying Dream."

In the flying dream, you suddenly leap off your feet and undergo the experience of rising to great heights and skimming over innumerable objects. If the dream only embraces this and nothing more, it may be taken to augur some kind of a surprise usually of a more or less pleasant nature; but if, as so often happens, one imagines one flies to escape some peculiarly evil presence, then the dream may be regarded as a warning against some sinister person or plot. Flying dreams generally occur to people with marked psychic tendencies.

Painter's Fame Came Slowly.

August Renoir, seventy-eight years old, the famous French impressionist, died recently at Cagnes, France, on the day that his picture of the Pont Neff fetched 100,000 francs at an art sale. In his youth he often paid for his dinner with a picture. Renoir was one of the first of the impressionists. He worked to the last, and died with his palette in his hands. "I feel I am just beginning to know my trade," he said when he was well over seventy.

Of Curtains And Draperies

DOORS OPEN 8.30 a.m. — DOORS OPEN 8.30 a.m.

Tuesday, - Sept. - 28th
In Our Drapery Department

THIRD FLOOR.

BARGAINS EXTRAORDINARY. COME Early and Share in the Savings

White and Colored Frilled Muslin Curtains

About 20 pairs, fine qualities, in figured designs, in plain white and colored frilled muslin curtains, some in only one pair each, and several designs, consisting of four to six pairs alike. Manufactured by the best English makers. These are Curtains that would not be replaced in our store at very much higher prices. Siz 36 inches wide by 2½ yards long. Regular price $3.00 pair. Special sale price—

$1.75 pr.

IMPORTED SCOTCH MADRAS CASEMENT CURTAINS

About twenty pairs of Colored Madras Casement Curtains, suitable for living-rooms, reception-rooms, library or bed-rooms, and would add great value to the interior furnishing of the above rooms. These are manufactured by a very reliable Scotch firm, and all designs are thoroughly woven, in beautiful artistic floral borders, and the curtains on sale are shown in green, bisque and blue, 50 inches wide x 3 yards and 3½ yards in length. Our regular price is $10.00.

Special Sale Price $4.75

Also a few pairs of solid colors in gold, with contrast borders, in heavy mercerised silk, 50 inches wide ½ 3 yards and 3½ yards in length. Regular $8.50 to $9.00 per pair.

Special Sale Price $3.50 pair

EXTRA!

About 200 yards, consisting of Plain White Frilled Bobbinett, Frilled Muslin, and Colored Spot Muslin, splendid wearing material, suitable for Sash Curtains, Bedroom Curtains — 27 to 32 inches wide. Regular price 50c. per yard.. Special sale price—

15c per yard

EXTRA!

White Scrims and Net, embroidered design, suitable for sash drapery, for reception room, hall and beed room. Regular price $1 per yard. Special sale price—

50c a yard

EXTRA!

English all wool drapery in plain bisque ground, with a stencil conventional design in blue, making a beautiful curtain drapery. A splendid wearing curtain material, 50 inches wide, and trimmed with a ball edge. Regular price $1.00. Special sale price—

50c per yard

10 Only Imported Tapestry Rugs
10 Only

We wish to clear these ten English manufactured Tapestry Rugs; shown in fawn and tan grounds, in floral and conventional designs, in the following sizes and at One-half the Regular Selling Price.

4 rugs, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $25.00. Sale price $12.50
2 rugs, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $20.00. Sale price $10.00
1 rug, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $32.00. Sale price $16.00
1 rug, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $36.50. Sale price $18.25
1 rug, size 3 yards x 3 yards, regular price $32.00. Sale price $16.00
1 rug, size 4 yards x 3½ yards, reg. price $39.00. Sale price $19.50

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.
UNDERTAKERS
14 Campbell St. — Phone 774
Motor Equipment

Have the Intelligencer Sent to Your Home Address

THE WEATHER

Strong west to northwest winds, cooler with occasional showers.

Thursday, fresh to strong northwest winds, fair and cool.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS

—Established 18[illegible]—
52 Years' Continuous Business is Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 3; Residence, 290.

Plot to Blow up Buildings Frustrated in London

SCOTLAND YARD OFFICIAL DECLARES SINN FEINERS AND BOLSHEVIKI PLANNED TO WRECK IRISH OFFICE AND TREASURY BUILDING IN LONDON AS REPRISALS FOR POLICE ACTIVITY—NUMBER OF SECRET ARRESTS REPORTED MADE.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Rumors of widespread plots which have ranged from conspiracies to assassinate King George to the blowing up of public buildings have been current in London during the past few days. These reports have been caused by the fear that the lives of public men in Great Britain might be jeopardized should any of the Irish hunger strikers die, particularly now that Black and Tan police have made reprisals in several Irish towns. Police authorities have investigated some of the more plausible stories and newspapers have run down many more; always with the same negative results.

LONDON, Tuesday.—Scotland Yard has frustrated a plot to blow up the Irish Office and the Treasury building here, a Scotland Yard official declared today. He said Sinn Feiners and Bolsheviki planned the explosion in reprisal for police activity against them.

The Irish Office in London is located in a building known as Montague House, in Whitehall. It is about a block distant from the Treasury building, which is also in Whitehall. Most of the Government buildings are in Whitehall. Thousands are employed in them.

WAGONS WITH EXPLOSIVES.

The plotters planned to send taxicabs, loaded with high explosives into the street before the two buildings. After the explosion, it was declared, it was planned to have a large body of armed men rush into the district, inflict as much damage as possible ,and escape in the confusion which was certain to follow.

The official said a number of secret arrests had been made. A number of others were implicated, he said. The ringleaders, it was admitted, were unknown as yet.

From the nature of the plot, it was believed to have been inspired by the Wall Street explosion, where a wagon-load of explosives is supposed to have been driven into the financial district and detonated.

Other plots have been reported, especially if Lord Mayor MacSwiney dies. A number of arrests were made in that connection and the guard about Brixton prison was augmented greatly.

Town of Mallow Sacked in Reprisal for Sinn Fein Raid

TORCH APPLIED TO IRISH TOWN FOLLOWING SINN FEIN RAID ON MILITARY BARRACKS IN WHICH SOLDIER WAS SHOT DEAD — SEVENTEENTH LANCERS CHARGED WITH REPRISAL.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CORK, Sept. 29.—The sacking of the town of Mallow, County of Cork, during Tuesday night, followed promptly on the Sinn Fein coup of yesterday in which the military barracks were raided and a sergeant was killed. Not the Black and Tans, but the Seventeenth Lancers are said to have exacted the reprisal. There was much promiscuous shooting by the soldiers, but no casualties have been reported. The fire was still burning this forenoon.

There was a recurrence Tuesday night of the rioting and shooting which have been in progress here at intervals since the week-end.

The outbreak occurred in the Old Lodge Road district where shipyard workers were attacked by armed men. Seven persons were wounded by revolver firing.

The military dispersed the rioters by bayonet charges. There were seventeen arrests for violation o fthe curfew law.

Prince Edward Farmer Killed by Lightning

Mr. William Grimshaw, a farmer residing at Green Point, Prince Edward County was instantly killed by lightning during a severe electric storm which passed over this section of the country on Monday evening. He was leaving his field and while crossing the road was struck. Another farmer, Mr. Van Horn was so severely shocked and stunned that he has been unconscious since and it is feared, if he recovers, he will be blind.

* * *

RUM RUNNING NOT ALL AT WINDSOR

Plattsburg, N.Y., Sept. 29.—New York newspaper men investigating liquor smuggling in this district claim to have received information to the effect that an average of 100 cases of bonded Canadian whiskey and gin are brought across the border nightly. This is sold at from $6 to $15 a quart and is obtained in Montreal, according to this report, at from $2.50 to $4 a quart.

* * *

It is stated that Speedwell Military Hospital, at Guelph, is about to be closed.

Duplicate Liberty Bonds in Circulation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. — The startling charge that many millions of dollars in duplicate numbered Liberty bonds are in circulation in the United States, was made public in a letter sent to Secretary of the Treasury Houston, by J. W. McCarter, who recently resigned as Assistant Registrar of the Treasurery.

Mr. McCarter also alleges that millions of dollars' worth of other Liberty bonds, which were paid off by the Treasury, but were never cancelled, are also again in circulation.

Many such bonds, he says, have been stolen from the Treasury.

If Mr. McCarter's allegations are true, then many bonds now held by some of the 21,000,000 Liberty bond subscribers have already been paid off by the Government. It would appear, however, that this stupendous loss, being due to the alleged carelessness of the Government, will fall upon the Treasury, and not upon holders of the bonds.

In his letter, Mr. McCarter gives a long list of bonds, with their numbers and denominations, which, he declares were redeemed and reach the paid securities' vault for destruction just as they were originally issued, without being cancelled or marked "paid" in any manner whatever.

Liquor Question Agitates the West

Old Country Women Take Part in British Columbia Campaign.

BY THE PEG.

Western Canada is to vote again on the great liquor question, which still seems to be not "What'll you have to drink?" as much as, "How do you want it?"

British Columbia leads off with a referendum on October 20. Alberta and Saskatchewan follow on October 25. All of which means that the far west is to set the pace for the rest of the Dominion. If one province starts the ball rolling this way or that, both sides expect the result elsewhere will be considerably affected.

So the fighting commenced early and is waxing hot out at the coast, according to all accounts received in Winnipeg. The Women's Liberty League is hard at it and there are other local conditions which make the contest decidedly interesting.

The effete east did not wake up in time to realize that no less a person than Findlay, late prohibition commissioner of British Columbia, was in its midst for some time a few weeks ago. But the west is very well aware of his departure from the custody of the four walls and his pleasant sojourn in a Toronto hotel. He is something of an issue in British Columbia, or at least a cause for pointing the scornful finger, his efforts at law enforcement having proved so very interesting.

But votes count, and in British Columbia there are many thousands of returned soldiers. Plenty of the boys took their transportation from a grateful government to Vancouver. If there had been a more distant point they would have sought it. Having arrived there and with their gratuity money gone, they have found it easier to stay than to return east. And they are going to vote.

Then there are the many thousands of men and women from the Old Country who have come out since the war. Word from Vancouver is that they are exhibiting the traditional passion for personal liberty and political discussion. If prohibition advocates want an argument they can find it. The Women's Liberty League, something of an inovation in Canadian prohibition elections, is mainly due to the presence and personal activities of newly-arrived English women and Scotch women. They have been hard at it since early summer with open air meetings in a number of centres.

In Alberta the principal factor is the enforcement or non-enforcement of the existing temperance act by the Stewart government. Rum-running across the Dakota-Montana border figures in Saskatchewan.

But on the prairies the vote comes later and the result will be visibly affected by the turn in the coast province. The "moderates" are relying on British Columbia more than on Saskatchewan, or even Alberta, and their tacticians are glad that the news will have five days to travel over the Rockies eastward. It is taken for granted in the west that Ontario will be affected to some extent by the way in which the western provinces dispose of the present situation.

Manitoba, and, it is understood, Prince Edward Island, will also have referendums at a later date, although on just what questions has not been definitely decided. Meanwhile, keep your eyes on the sunset provinces.

Aurora is Cruiser For Canadian Navy

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The light cruiser which the Royal Canadian Navy is to receive from the Imperial Government is the Aurora, which will leave Devonport as soon as she can be got ready in company with the destroyers Patriot and Patrician, which are also being transferred to Canada.

Launched in 1913 as one of the original vessels of the Arethusa type, the Aurora was the first oil-fired cruiser to be launched for the British Navy, and served in the Harwich force during the war. She has a displacement of 3,500 tons and is armed with two 6 in., six 4 in., and lighter guns with four torpedo tubes. Turbine engines of 40,000 horsepower give her a speed of 30 knots and her complement includes 270 officers and men.

The Niobe was of a much older larger and slower type, with a displacement of 11,000 tons and a speed when built in 1898 of 20½ knots. The Rainbow, launched in 1891, was of 3,600 tons and a speed of 19½ knots. The full crews of the two vessels numbered 600 and 273 respectively.

Union of all Protestant Churches

"Our attitude to the Lambeth Appeal," was the subject spoken on last evening by Bishop Brewing at the opening session of the Synod of the Reformed Episcopal Church at Emmanual Church here. There was a good congregation present and the remarks of the gifted bishop were listened to with rapt attention.

In his opening remarks Bishop Brewing stated that all were intensely interested in Christian unity, for that unity that was in the heart and teaching of our Saviour and also of the Apostles. There was a strong desire for a great family re-union of Protestant churches. Through forms of doctrine there had been in the past divisions but of late there had been a marked change and ministers of various denominations had been walking and talking together on this great movement. At the Lambeth Conference composed of the Bishops of the Anglican church, the matter was discussed and the mother church has stretched out her hand, and the reason for separation which took place appears to be disappearing. In the air there is today a spirit of re-union which is welcomed. Many differences of opinion have already been swept away. There is a pressing necessity for unity, and Christians of various denominations are awaking to this fact. If vast stretches of the universe are to be brought under Christian influences it can only be accomplished by unity. It is not a fact that we are all preaching the same gospel, and all desire the same results. Today we are standing face to face with the possibilites of the Protestant churches uniting for a Christian warfare. The appeal from the Lambeth Conference was explained to some extent by His Lordship and some of the paragraphs relating to steps toward union were read. In the past there had been a spirit of exclusiveness which he was pleased to state is being swept away. The Presbyterian church cannot alone lay claim to John Knox, the Methodist to John Wesley and the Anglican to Wycliffe. These men were God's rich gifts to the whole world. His Lordship also referred to beautiful hymns which are sung out of the Anglican hymnal some of which were written by men of various religious beliefs. We should be united to go forward against the common enemies of Jesus Christ. The doctrine of apostolic succession has in the past been a barrier but it is being swept away. Let us have reordination. We will not be judged by our certificates but judged by the marks of Jesus Christ and by those who have been led to Christ by us. The Reformed Episcopal Church was established fifty years ago in New York. For these years we have been demonstrating to the world our belief in greater things than mere doctrines. The new church will be an Episcopalian church with a modified episcopacy. The union which takes place must be in Christ, a union to embrace all even the Greeks and the Jews. We must take Christ as our centre and with this vision in view be as one as even Christ and the Father are one. We shall accomplish union by practising this . His prayer was and the prayer of all should be for union in Christ.

At the conclusion of the address Holy Communion was celebrated. The rector, Rev. Mr. Marshall and Rev. A. M. Hubly and other clergymen present took part in the service.

* * *

FINDS $400 DIAMOND IN PIECE OF CANDY

Tuxedo, Sept. 29.—Relatives of Miss Ada Uuer, Warwick, reported that, while eating molasses candy she had bought in a carton, she found a diamond in a piece of the candy. It was taken to a jeweller, and it was said, appraised at $400.

It is supposed the daimond stuck in the batter when the person to whom it belonged was making the candy.

* * *

FRANCE WINS THE INTERNATIONAL CUP

Etampes, France, Sept. 29.—Sadie Lecointe, the famous French aviator, today won the International airplane race for the James—Gordon Bennett trophy. He covered the course of 300 kilometers or 186.3 miles in an hour, 6 minutes, 17 1-5 seconds. F. P. Faynham, the sole British representative withdrew after covering the first lap.

* * *

BANDITS GET $12,000 IN MONEY AND GEMS

Detroit, Sept. 28.—The bandits entered the jewelry store of Nathan Rose on Hastings street beat the proprietor's two sons, Emil, 20, and Fred, 10, and escaped with money and jewelry valued at $12,000. The two Rose youths were seriously injured and re-

"Black and Tans" Issue Ultimatum

Unless Kidnapped Officer is Returned Five Towns Will be Burned.

DUBLIN, Sept. 29.—The "Black and Tans", as the police recruited from the ranks of former soldiers are called, have announced that the towns of Kilkee, Kilrush, Carrigaholt, Deonbeg and Kilmhill, will be burned to the ground if Captain Lendrum, a resident magistrate in West Clare, and missing since Saturday, is not returned within forty-eight hours. It is the first heralding in advance of an intended pillage.

All of the towns are in the western part of Clare County. Their inhabitants know what a police raid, generally characterized as a reprisal, is, as they have seen the police handiwork in Milltown Malbay, Lehinch and Ennistymon, towns that were partially sacked last week after police and soldiers clashed with civilians on the Milltown Malbay-Lehinch road.

Trim, County of Meath, a little town in which the police barracks was captured and burned by the Sinn Feiners, last Saturday, was sacked on Monday.

A number of armed men descended on the town and burned buildings, attacked the residences of Sinn Feiners and indulged in indiscriminate shooting. Several casualties are reported. The reprisals are alleged to be the work of the "Black and Tan" police. The regular police are taking steps to prevent further damage. During the reprisals some thirty houses were burned.

Among the premises destroyed were a mineral water factory, which was a principal industry, and the market house. Practically all the houses on both sides of the chief thoroughfare were set on fire. The damage is estimated at fifty thousand pounds sterling. Two small boys were shot during the night, one being seriously injured.

The police who were captured in the raid on the barracks had been warned to resign within a week.

To Psychometer All the Cranks

Turn Over Crank Letter Writers to the Neurologists.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Psychometer all cranks!

Such is the recommendation of Dr. Max G. Schlapp, head of the Children's Court clinic of the New York Post-graduate Medical School, where neurologists have made a special study of the criminal aspects of mental abnormalties.

Cranks, says Dr. Schlapp, who makes his recommendation in an effort to avoid any more disasters such as occurred at Broad and Wall Streets are persons not necessarily insane, but organically powerless to check strong waves of feeling. Such a wave brought into play by a desire to get even with the moneyed interests of Wall Street may very easily have been responsible, the physician holds, for the crazed actions which led up to the Wall Street catastrophe.

The detection of such menaces to society, Dr. Schlapp writes, will be greatly simplified when science has improved upon the psychometer. This apparatus is simply a galvanic circuit with the human being suspected of weak tendencies being made a part of the circuit by placing two hands or feet in a mercury bath. A fluctuating needle shows the responses of the nervous system to strong waves of feeling such as fear.

All police departments are called upon to have suspected cranks and writers of "crank" letters turned over to the neurologists for nervous analysis.

Big Job Looking For a Big Man

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—Cabled reports that the appointment of a Canadian Ambassador to Washington is likely to be delayed for awhile are in agreement with the general impression that has prevailed here for some time past. There is no indication, however, that the plan will be abandoned. It is understood that no Canadian statesman with the necessary qualifications for the post has yet indicated any strong desire to become the representative at the United States capital.

Chicago Players Suspended Result of Baseball Scandal

GRAND JURY RETURNS INDICTMENTS AGAINST FELSCH, WEAVER, McMULLEN, RISBERG, CICOTTE, WILLIAMS, GANDIL AND JACKSON, ON CHARGES OF CONSPIRACY TO DO AN ILLEGAL ACT—INFORMATION OF MYSTERIOUS WITNESS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Indictments against five or six gamblers were considered today by the Cook County grand jury investigating the throwing away of baseball games. According to the Assistant State Attorney in charge of the inquiry, Abe Attell, former featherweight champion pugilist, and Arnold Rothstein, of New York, were said by officials to have been involved in the testimony presented to the graid jury. Attell, it was said, handled money paid White Sox players. More players also may be indicted.

CONFESSIONS EXPECTED.

Further confessions by some of the White Sox players who were indicted yesterday in connection with the alleged throwing of the 1919 world's series, will be made within a day or two, Alfred J. Austrian, Attorney for the ball club, announced today.

Williams Confesses.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The identity of the alleged go-betweens and gamblers who bribed the White Sox players was revealed in a confession made to the grand jury today by Claude Williams, who joined Cicotte and Jackson in making a clean breast of the 1919 frame-up. Williams named Chick Gandil, former White Sox player, as as chief go-between on the team and Brown and Sullivan, from either New York or Boston, as go-betweens for the gamblers. True bills were immediately voted for these men by the jury. Williams said that he was supposed to get $20,000 and Jackson the same, but that he received only $10,000, half of which he gave to Jackson.

Players Suspended.

Charles Comiskey, president of the White Sox, today suspended every member of the team indicted today in connection with the alleged fixing of baseball games. Seven of the eight indicted are affected. Chick Gandil, the eighth, is not playing this year.

The suspension practically kills all hope of the White Sox winning the American League pennant this year.

Assistant State's Attorney Replogle announced that Cicotte was taken into custody after leaving the grand jury room and is now in charge of William Sullivan, a detective of the State's attorney's office. He declined to say where the pitcher was being taken.

Mysterious Witness.

The indictments were based on information given by a mysterious witness who was before the grand jury from 12.30 until 1.30 today.

The witness appeared before the jury without knowledge of newspapermen, and Assistant State Attorney Replogle refused to make his name public.

Alfred Austrian, attorney for Charles Comisky, owner of the White Sox, conferred with Replogle shortly before the indictments were returned.

The information given the grand jury which led to the indictments is understood to have been substantially the same as that made public in the statement alleged to have been given out by a Philadelphia sporting man today.

Rumors of a scandal in connection with the last world series started immediately after the first game was played in Cincinnati. The investigations were started by Owner Comiskey and other baseball officials, but no criminal action ever actually got under way until Judge McDonald, of the criminal court instructed the present Cook County grand jury to take up alleged crookedness in baseball generally, and the 1919 world series in particular.

Among the first witnesses called were Comiskey and Ban Johnson, the latter president of the American League. They gave the grand jury the results of their private investigations.

Arrangements were made to hear John Seydler, president of the National League; John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants; and others high in the baseball world; but as far as known they were not called.

The Players Involved.

Around the court room at one time or another were some of baseball's greatest leaders, among them John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, awaiting a call to testify tomorrow afternoon, and John Heydler, President of the National League, who went before the Grand Jurors this afternoon.

The exact nature of the information Mr. Comiskey put before the grand jury was not disclosed. Men whom the jury involved as a result of testimony uncovered by their owner were:

Eddie Cicotte, star pitcher, who waived immunity and confessed, according to court attaches, that he took a $10,000 bribe.

Arnold Gandil, former first baseman.

"Shoeless Joe" Jackson, heavy hitting left fielder.

Charles "Swede" Risberg, shortstop.

Oscar "Hap" Felsch, centre fielder.

Claude Williams, pitcher.

George "Buck" Weaver, third baseman.

Fred McMullin, utility player.

Cicotte, according to court attaches. told the grand jury he received $10,000 from the gamblers, finding the money under his pillow when he returned to his hotel room on the night before the first game at Cincinnati.

"I refused to pitch a ball until I got it," they quoted him as saying.

Jackson, it was said, testified he was promised $20,000 by "Chick" Gandil, but received only $5,000. Claude Williams, according to the witnesses, got $10,000.

Scraps His $200,000 Team.

With his voice trembling, Mr. Comiskey, who has owned the White Sox since the inception of the American League, said this was the first time scandal had ever touched his "family," and that it distressed him too much to talk about it.

The rush of players to bare their part in the affair started today when Cicotte appeared at Criminal Court building and asked permission to testify. Cicotte wept, court attaches said, and exclaimed in anguish his sorrow for his two small children, as he told how he did his utmost to lose rather than win the 1919 World's Series after he had "found" $10,000 beneath his pillow, where it had been placed by professional gamblers.

He said he lobbed the ball to the plate so slowly "you could read the trade-mark on it" in the first game at Cincinnati, when he was taken out of the box after three and two-thirds innings had been played.

Stiff Fight Against Rate Increases

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—"If this judgment is correct, it is a judgment that entitles them to take ten per cent. dividends and in addition from ten to fifteen millions by way of annual surplus. To the yoke of such a judgment Mr. Premier, the people will never submit. There will be a continuous fight against it." In this sentence the Manitoba Government Counsel, W. J. Symington, expressed his general objection to the recent judgment of the Railway Board increasing railway freight and passenger rates when the appeal from the judgment was being argued today before Premier Meighen and Cabinet.

Hugh Blain, representing the wholesale grocers, vigorously supported the appeal declaring there was no valid reason for the increase in rates and imposing a heavy burden on consumers.

G. R. Geary, Toronto Corporation counsel, expressed the opinion that the railways had not been frank in their way of bringing the application in the first place. They have asked for thirty per cent. increase, knowing well that the wage commission was going to issue a report from Chicago on a certain date. When that report had come out they had advanced their demand to forty per cent. on the plea that they must pay increased wages,

BROGUES for Men and Women

Men's Brogues selected stock $12.00

Women's Brogues Oxfords Black and Brown $9, $10; $11

Special Clearing

40 pairs Women's Kid Boots - - $4.85

48 pr. Women's Grey Boots, Louis Heels regular $12.00, clearing - - $7.95

ADAMS The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE OPTOMETRIST MFG OPTICIAN

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters, Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON Florist

Erin St. Phone 189

S. J. FISHER Licensed Auctioneer

—will conduct your Auction Sale in a business-like manner, and at reasonable rates.

Call, Phone or Write.

Office, 19 Campbell St., phone 168; or

Residence, 171 Bridge St. East, phone 1110.

Wanted

YOUNG MAN AS APPRENTICE

Apply by letter in own handwriting, to

OSTROM'S DRUG STORE.

"The Best in Drugs"

ALL KINDS OF Foundry and Repair Work

Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

Arthur McGie

MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

FRENCH BULBS

Just Arrived

Paper White Narcissus, 5c. each.

Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each —Also

Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.

Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.

BISHOP'S SEED STORE

192 Front St. Phone 233

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE" BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.

YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt. D.

EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

For Your Aching Head

Take one ZUTOO TABLET and in 20 minutes, the pain is gone and you feel fine.

ZUTOO will stop any Headache, Sick, Nervous, Dyspeptic or Monthly—in 20 minutes by the clock. 25c at dealers.

ADVERTISING FOR ADVERTISING

We will devote this space regularly to a series of advertisements to stimulate interest in our Classified Want Ads.

We are publicity advocates and practice our own precepts because we appreciate their value.

This series will be pregnant with pertinent points of general interest, whether you wish to buy or sell, to employ or be employed, to borrow or to lend, to find a finder or an owner.

It will pay us to run these advertisements. That is the best proof we have to offer that it will be profitable to you to use our Classified Want Ad. Columns.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Quotations of the Board of Trade yesterday were as follows:

Manitoba Wheat (In Store Ft. William)

No. 1 northern, $2.55¾.
No. 2 northern, $2.51¾.
No. 3 northern, $2.46¾.
No. 4 wheat, $2.34¾.

Manitoba Oats (In Store Ft. William)

No. 2 C.W., 73¾c.
No. 3 C.W., 70¾c.
No. 2 feed, 66¾c.

Manitoba Barley (In Store Ft. William)

No. 3 C.W., $1.11¾.
No. 4 C.W., $1.05¾.
Rejected, 96¾c.
Feed, 94¾c.

American Corn (Track, Toronto, Prompt Shipment).

No. 3 yellow, $1.65, nominal.

Ontario Oats (According to Freights Outside).

No. 2 white, 68c to 72c.

Ontario Wheat (F.o.b. Shipping Points, According to Freights).

No. 2 winter, per car lot, $2.30 to $2.40.

No. 2 spring, per car lot, $2.25 to $2.35.

Peas (According to Freights Outside)

No. 2 nominal.

Barley (According to Freights Outside)

Malting, $1.15 to $1.20.

Buckwheat (According to Freights Outside).

No. 2, nominal.

Rye (According to Freights Outside)

No. 3, $1.75, nominal.

Manitoba Flour.

Government standard, $13.40, Toronto.

Ontario Flour (Prompt Shipment).

Government standard, nominal, in jute bags, Montreal; nominal, in jute bags, Toronto; $10.30 to $10.40 bulk seaboard.

Millfeed (Car Lots, Delivered Montreal Freights, Bags Included).

Bran, per ton, $54.50.
Shorts, per ton, $53.50.
Good feed flour, per bag, $3.60 to $3.75.

Farmers' Market.

Fall wheat—No. 2, nominal.
Spring wheat—No. 2, nominal.
Goose wheat—No. 3, nominal.
Barley—Malting and feed, nominal.
Oats—Nominal.
Buckwheat—Nominal.
Rye—According to sample, nominal.
Peas—According to sample, nominal.
Hay—Timothy and mixed and clover, nominal.
Straw—Bundled and loose, nominal.

CATTLE MARKETS

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—With around 4,000 cattle on sale yesterday, the demand was weak for all classes excepting choice steers and heifers and heavy finished steers. We would quote the market 50c to 75c off from the close of last week.

The trade for feeding cattle was slow, owing to the dry weather. For milch cows and springers there was a good trade for the better class.

The bull market was dull, but choice butcher bulls would sell. The outlook is not too good, excepting for choice cattle showing weight and quality. Quite a large percentage of the receipts were left unsold.

The run of sheep and lambs was exceptionally heavy, more than 8,000 head all told. In view of the heavy offering, the market held fairly steady from 13¾c to 14c, and one bunch at 14¼c. The sheep market ran around from 7c to 8c a lb. The calf trade was little affected by the decline in cattle, selling around 19c a lb.

The hog market was unsettled, packers in some cases quoting 19¼c and 20¼c, fed and watered, with the commission houses holding out for the 19½c and 20½c.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Cattle, 20,000; choice steers steady; good grades, 10c to 25c lower; top, $18.25; bulk good and choice, $15.50 to $17.75; other grades, very dull and uneven, 25c to 50c lower; bulk, $9.25 to $14.25; she stock, 25c to 50c lower; bulk $5.50 to $9; calves, $6.50 to $11; bologna bulls, $6 to $7; steady; best feeders, slow to 25c lower; common grades and stockers almost unsalable. Receipts, western, 14,000; market low on good kinds, others 25c to 50c; bulk, $8.50 to $13.25.

Hogs, 20,000; slow, mostly 10c to 25c higher than Saturday's average, closing weak with part of the advance lost; early top, $17.85; late top, $17.75; bulk light and butchers, $17 to $17.75; bulk packing sows, $15.75 to $16.10; pigs, weak to 25c lower; bulk desirable kinds, $16 to $16.50.

Sheep, 25,000; fat lambs closing mostly 25c higher; top western, $13.65; top natives, $13; bulk natives, $12 to $12.50; sheep steady; top wethers, $7.75; ewes, $6.10; bulk fat native ewes, $5.50; feeders steady.

BUFFALO LIVE STOCK.

EAST BUFFALO, Sept. 28.—Cattle—Receipts 4,000; slow; heavy and butcher, 15c to 25c lower; light and common, 15c to 25c lower. Shippings—Steers, $16 to $17; butchers, $9 to $15; yearlings, $15.50 to $17; heifers, $6 to $12; cows, $7.50 to $10; bulls, $5.50 to $9; stockers and feeders, $5.50 to $9; fresh cows and springers, $5 to $10; lower, $2.50 to $3.50.

Calves—Receipts 1,700; steady, $6 to $19.50.

Hogs—Receipts 11,200; pigs, 25c to 50c lower; others, 15c lower. Heavy, $18 to $18.25; mixed and yorkers, $18.25; light do., $17.50 to $18.25; pigs, $17.25 to $17.50; roughs, $14.25 to $14.50; stags, $9 to $11.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 9,600; lambs, 50c lower. Lambs, $7 to $14.75; yearlings, $6 to $10; wethers, $7.50 to $8; ewes, $3 to $6; mixed sheep, $7 to $7.50.

Must Drink Wine or Beer.

GENEVA, Sept. 28.—The inhabitants of the village of Martigny face the prospect of being able to drink only wine and beer for some time, as a result of the town waterworks being washed away on Saturday by the flood which swept through the Charmonieux valley, caused by the bursting of a glacier pocket.

The flood is now receding, but it will be many weeks before the waterworks can be rebuilt.

The damage done through the valley totals many millions of francs, but no lives were lost.

Must Pay Taxes.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 28.—The long arm of the law at Ottawa was felt here Saturday when the Minister of Justice for Canada issued writs against 200 people in the city and district for failure to pay their income taxes within the required period.

These writs are for a number of prominent people in the city, and are causing quite a sensation.

French Author to Be Married.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Anatole France, the author, is to be married shortly to Mlle. Emma La Prevotto, according to an announcement published in L'Oeuvre.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Copeland wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy extended to them in their recent bereavement.

City & Country

A SEVERE LOSS.

Stored in the barn of Mr. M. Faul, of Thurlow Township, which was struck by lightning and burned on Monday afternoon was 350 bushels of threshed grain, a large quantity of unthreshed grain and about 20 tons of hay. Fortunately there was no stock in the barn at the time. The loss to Mr. Faul is a serious one, as the insurance was light.

CATTLE DYING

Farmers of Verulam Township are very much troubled over the loss of a large number of cattle during the past few weeks. There has been in the neighborhood of thirty choice cattle die from some unknown cause, but it is believed to be the effects of something they are getting to eat. One of the farmers is said to have been the loser of thirteen head.

Good Judgement, After Eating

Giving the Stomach the Alkaline Effect by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet is Worth Remembering

You cannot, as a rule, say in advance that this, that or the other food will cause indigestion. Experience has taught most people that even mince pie fits snugly at times while at others a galss of milk raises hobs with the stomach.

One good rule to follow is the preventative measure of taking one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. You thus avoid gassiness, sour stomach, heartburn and such distresses due to indigestion or dyspepsia. These tablets also help to digest the food by giving the stomach the alkaline effect to offset acidity; they relieve the distress when the mince pie or milk should be more than a match for your digestive powers. Get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tabelts at any drug store and note how nicely they seem to calm the stomach wae nit feels all upset.

THE RED GODS.

Teeming with interest to all who have heard the Red Gods calling, ROD AND GUN IN CANADA for October will especially appeal to followers of the trap-line. The leading story in this splendid issue of Canada's premier sportsmen's monthly is entitled, "Animickiwash Lake." Illustrated with six pages of photographs taken right on the Trap-Line by F. V. Williams, it will appeal to everyone who ever had dreams of capturing the many fur-bearers which go to make Canada the richest in wild life. Geo. R. Belton tells in his own inimitable manner how he has been mistaken for several kinds of wild animals. His story will be read with interest. The usual contributors, Bonnycastle Dale, Robert Page Lincoln, etc., need no introduction to the sportsmen of North America. In addition to the regular departments this month, M. U. Bates takes charge of the Trap Line Department and will conduct it in the usual interesting manner. ROD AND GUN IN CANADA is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

THIRD LINE THURLOW.

A severe electrical storm passed over here Monday evening with heavy rain. The lightning struck Mr. M. Faul's barn, burning it to the ground with the season's crop, also one cow which was near the barn. Fortunately there was no stock in the stables. About 350 bushels of threshed grain, together with the barn full of unthreshed grain and hay were losta Much sympathy is expressed over his serious loss. The insurance was light.

Mr. Harold Faul and bride returned Monday evening from their wedding trip to Rochester.

McClary's

Make good stoves and Cooking utensils.

HAY FEVER and ASTHMA

Conquered by the World's Only Two-bottle Remedy. Don't suffer a minute longer. Send today $4—25-day treatment. Trial size 25c. and guaranteed.

W. K. BUCKLEY, Mfg. Chemist

97 DUNDAS ST. E., TORONTO.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

What will prove the real big success of the present season standing out above all the new musical comedies that have been sent forth this year is the new version of "My Soldier Girl," to be presented at Griffin's Theatre, next Monday night, October 4th. Many names of prominent artists well known to lovers of musical plays are in the cast of this remarkable play, including Georgia Emmett, Maxine Lockwood, J. Lorch Baber, Moore and Murphy, Geo. B. Hall, John H. Erickson and others equally as clever. The chorus is composed of the most attractive lot of girls ever gathered together in one company. The production offers an artistic presentation whether in the first act during a brilliant lawn fete', or during the last act, which is a novel and gorgeous Follies setting. Many new dance ensembles are introduced for the first time, offering spicy moments of amusement and good wholesome entertainment. Some of the song hits are "My Soldier Girl," "Jasper's Ragtime Band," "Bundle of Love," "Just For You, Dear," "That Dixie Wedding Tune," "I Want a Regular Man" "Irish Eyes Are Shining," "New York," and "When You Dance With the Girl You Love."

TRIPLE FEATURE BILL

A triple feature bill of varied screen entertainment has been arranged for presentation at the Palace to-night only, consisting of William S. Hart in a thrilling Western drama, "Square Deal Sanderson," Frank Keenan in a gripping drama of capital and labor, "Brothers Divided," in which Mr. Keenan plays the two roles and which reveals the finest bit of acting seen on a local screen in many months. Jack Dempsey in "Daredevil Jack," and George Seitze in "Bound and Gagged" are also being shown on the same program.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND MABEL NORMAND

Charlie Chaplin's latest comedy production, "A Day's Pleasure," under his million dollar contract will be shown at Griffin's to-morrow to Saturday, with a matinee Saturday. In this production Chaplin crowns his previous comedy successes. As the father of a household, consisting of a dimpled wife and two miniature "Charlies," he undertakes to spend a day of pleasure with his family. Providing the means of enjoyment in a rattling good car of familiar make, but decidedly antique. To start the engine is a matter of extreme technique. Later in the day the family journeys to the river for a boat excursion, where a negro jazz band is making a drastic effort to stimulate the tepischorean talent of the guests. Instead, a sudden wind, a hard-hearted husband and the peanut boy stimulate an unexpected mid-riff activity. Mabel Normand appears on the same program in a 5-reel Goldwyn comedy, "Upstairs," a selected program of varied plays have also been arranged for presentation on the same program.

ALGONQUIN PARK

Commencing October 5th, a through sleeper car will be operated between Toronto and Algonquin Park leaving Toronto 8.45 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays, arriving Algonquin Park Station ("The Highland Inn") 11.52 a.m. Wednesdays and Saturdays. Returning this car will leave Algonquin Park Station 3.30 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays, arriving Toronto 7.30 a.m. Tuesdays and Fridays. This will give those desiring to visit the Park during the fall months a comfortable means of transportation to this most delightful region. The "Highland Inn" will be open all winter for the reception of guests. For all information inquire of Grand Trunk Railway System Agents and for reservations at the "Highland Inn" apply to N. T. Clarke, Manager, "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park Station, Ont.

s27,29,o1,4

SINCLAIR'S

SPECIAL!

3 Day Sale —OF— Georgette Crepes —AT— $2.00 yard

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday only of this week we are placing on sale our entire stock of $3.00 Georgette Crepes. This gives you a choice of over fifty shades in all the wanted autumn colorings in French Georgettes. This means actually a saving of $1.30 per yard by bringing the price below the taxable limit. An assortment of these Crepes may be seen in our window. Priced $2.00 per yard.

NO WAR TAX

Silk Hose, $1.25 pair

Here is a table of Hosiery Values worthy of your inspection. Included are lines of Silk and Lisle Hose in Black, White, Navy, Brown, Sand and Grey shades. Excellent values at .... $1.25 pair

School Girls' Middies, $1.00

In this assortment are Middies with White, Pink, Red or Green Collars; made from good qualities of Indian Head and Middy Twill. Sizes from 3 to 14 years. To clear at $1.00 each.

SINCLAIR'S

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.

Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

GRIFFIN'S THEATRE
Monday Night, October 2
COMING WITH MANY NEW SONGS, DANCES AND NOVELTIES

LeCONTE & FLESHER — OFFER
THE TUNEFUL MUSICAL COMEDY
MY SOLDIER GIRL

BRIGHT CLEAN AND LIVELY
BRIGADE OF WONDERFUL GIRLS

SMART SWIFT SAUCY CAST
GORGEOUSLY MOUNTED PRODUCTION

SIX WONDERFUL DANCERS from the CLEVER "PONY" BALLET on "FLIRTATION WALK"

PRICES:—50—75—$1.00—$1.50 PLUS TAX.
SEATS SATURDAY 10 a.m. BOX OFFICE.

Listen!

Just peruse the excellent varied bill of screen entertainment arranged for presentation at the

PALACE

Tonight Only

And I think you will agree with me that it will be worth while to puncture your pocketbook for tickets for the whole family and give them an evening's pleasure. This triple feature bill at regular prices hits the high cost of living, and loving an awful swat.

WILLIAM S. HART
in
'Square Deal Sanderson'

FRANK KEENAN
in
"Brothers Divided"

JACK DEMPSEY
in
"Daredevil Jack"

SLIPPERY FEET
2-reel Sunshine Comedy

GEORGE SEITZ
in
Bound and Gagged

PRICES—Children, 16c.
Adults, 27c.

Program Starts 7:30

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER GRIFFIN

Tomorrow to Sat.

Special Comedy Program

Charlie Chaplin
in his latest 2-reel scream
"A Day's Pleasure"
YOU'LL SAY SO!

There's laugh ignition in every spin of Charlie's sick-cylindered engine.

Poor Charlie in his car is a "show fer" everybody.

You will "gas" about "A Day's Pleasure" for weeks.

—ALSO—

Mabel Normand
in a highly amusing 5-reel Comedy,
"UPSTAIRS"
3—OTHER VARIED PLAYS—3

COMING NEXT TUES. AND WED.—MARGUERITE CLARK in "LET'S ELOPE."

We ould Be Delighted

—to make a portrait of you hy the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.

T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

ECZEMA [illegible] are not experimenting when you use Dr Chase's Ointment for Eczema and Skin Irritations. It relieves at once and gradually heals the skin. Sample box Dr. Chase's Ointment free if you mention this paper and send 2c. stamp for postage. 60c. a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Thirteenth Commandment

By
RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

said: "May I sit down a moment? Thank you." She kept her eyes on the seam while she talked.

"Well, Miss Kip, the war has reached us also at last. My husband lost his position today."

"Yes? Oh, how horrible!" Daphne gasped, with double sincerity.

"The office was closed unexpectedly by an involuntary petition in bankruptcy. His salary was not paid last week nor this, and—well——we don't want to inconvenience you, but—"

"I understand," said Daphne. "I'll give you what I can."

She took her poor little wealth from her handbag. She had paid ten of the fifty to the photographer as a deposit. She gave Mrs. Chivvis twenty-five dollars, and promised her more.

Mrs. Chivvis was very grateful and went down the hall, smiling a little over her seam.

Clay called that evening. He was exhausted with a day of tramping the town, looking for work. He was too weary to talk and he fell asleep twice during one of Mr. Chivvis' commentaries on the probable effects of the imminent capture of Paris by the irresistible Germans. The French government had already moved to Bordeaux and— But Clay had read it all in a dozen different newspapers, and he passed away.

Daphne was restless. Mr. Chivvis was on her nerves. Clay was not pretty, asleep, sitting with his jaw dropped and his hands hanging down, palms forward, like an ape's. She was enjoying another of the woes of marriage without its privileges.

The Chivvises began to yawn, and Mrs. Chivvis finally bade the startled Clay "Good evening." She had been brought up to believe that it was indelicate for a woman to bid a man "Good-night."

Clay, left alone with Daphne, attempted a drowsy caress, but she felt insulted and she snapped at him:

"If you're only walking in your sleep you'd better walk yourself out of here and go to bed."

His apology was incoherent and she was indignantly curt with him at the door. She went to her room and sat at the window, staring down at the dark swarm of watchers before the bulletin boards.

She had told her brother that she did not have to starve or sin, because she had a father, a brother, a lover to protect her from want. And now her father and her brother and her lover were all in dire predicament, staggering blindly in a fog of debt.

Suppose her father's train ran off the track or into another train. A spread rail, a block signal overlooked, a switch left unlocked, might bring doom upon his train as on so many others. She shivered at the horror of her father's loss. She shivered again at the thought of what it would mean to her.

Suppose the Chivvises turned her out. Why should they feed her for nothing when their own future was endangered?

What could Bayard do for her? or Clay? There was Mr. Duane, of course; but she could not take his money without paying him. And in what coin could she pay him? She trembled, and the breeze turned glacial.

The next morning was another day of the same shoddy pattern. She rose unrefreshed with only her fears renewed. She borrowed the Chivvises newspaper and, skipping the horrid advertisements of foreign barbarity and American dismay, turned to the last pages. The "Situations Wanted" columns were eloquently numerous and the "Help Wanted—Female" columns were few; still, she made a list of such places as there were. She wrote letters to all sorts of people who gave newspaper letter-box addresses, and she went out to call on all sorts of people who gave their street numbers.

The letters she wrote were not answered at all. She lost her postage as she had lost her car fares. It seemed as if the end of the world, or at least the breakup of its civilization, had arrived without warning and without refuge.

CHAPTER XVII.

Daphne had not told Mrs. Chivvis of her financial plight, nor of her father's, nor her brother's. She had simply let the days of payment go past one by one. She saw a chillier glitter in Mrs. Chivvis' eye and there was a constant restraint upon the conversation for many days.

Mr. Chivvis was at home most of the time now, sitting about in his old clothes to save the others. He and his wife naturally talked of Daphne. Sometimes she overheard their undertones. Each seemed to urge the other to the attack. Finally, one evening Mrs. Chivvis made so bold as to call on Daphne in her room, and to say, after much improvising:

"I dislike to speak of it, Miss Kip, but—well—er—you see—the fact is—if you— The grocer is sending round in the morning for his last week's bill, and—if it's not inconvenient—"

Daphne felt sick with shame, but she had to confess, "I can't tell you how sorry I am, but I haven't any."

"Really? That's too bad!" Mrs. Chivvis said. She was hardly sorrier for herself than for Daphne. She tried to brighten them both with hope. "But you expect—no doubt you expect soon to—"

"I've been looking for—for some work to do, but there doesn't seem to be any."

"Oh, I see!" said Mrs. Chivvis, confirmed in her suspicions and reduced to silence. Daphne went on, after swallowing several cobblestones:

"But, of course, I've no right to be eating your food and staying on here as a guest. And I suppose I'd better give up my room, so that you can take in somebody who can pay."

Mrs. Chivvis was close, but she was not up to an eviction, and she gasped. "Oh, really!—I hardly think—I shouldn't like—"

Her hard voice crackled like an icicle snapping off the eaves in a spring sun; and before either of them quite understood it the hard eyes of both thawed; tears streamed, and they were in each other's arms.

Mr. Chivvis Was at Home Most of the Time Now, Sitting About in His Old Clothes to Save the Others.

Daphne was the better weeper of the two. Poor Mrs. Chivvis could not be really lavish even with tears; but she did very well, for her.

Immediately they felt years better acquainted—old-friends all of a sudden. They were laughing foolishly when an apologetic knock on the open door introduced Mr. Chevvis, who would no more have crossed the sill than he would have broken into the temple of Vesta. His name was Chivvis, not Clodius.

The surprised eyes of Daphne threw him into confusion, but he said: "I've been thinking, Miss Kip, that if you really want to work and aren't too particular what at—maybe I could get publishing house. They turned me off, but the receivers are trying to keep the business going. Not much pay, but something's always better'n nothing."

"Anything is better than nothing." said Daphne, "and it might be a beginning."

She applied the next day and the firm accepted her.

(To Be Continued)

Society Brand Clothes
FOR YOUNG MEN AND MEN WHO STAY YOUNG
MADE IN CANADA

© A. D. & C., 1920

Men Will Look Better This Season

This season's style is quite different; and many men will be glad, because it is more comfortable and easy looking than the soldier-like models of past seasons.

The new coats have a free swing from the shoulders—the waist line is lower and not shaped in—the vent is shorter and behaves better.

And remember there is art in the cut of a full coat. It must hang right when you sit or stand—when it's buttoned or unbuttoned—when your arms are up or down. Art in design is what has made the Style reputation of Society Brand Clothes. And all-wool fabrics along with fine hand-tailoring hold these clothes to the lines of the design.

WITH THE VARIED GRADES OF CLOTHING FLOODING THE MARKET, LOOK FOR THE LABEL AS YOUR GUIDE

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES, Limited, Canada — ALFRED DECKER & COHN, United States
Montreal — New York — Chicago

STYLE HEADQUARTERS
where Society Brand Clothes are sold

Ritchie's Men's Store

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

A change of schedules will be made on October 3rd, 1920. Information now in agents' hands.

Nothing better is made

Nothing better can be made

The Genuine Original

Kellogg's

TOASTED CORN FLAKES

Nut-like kernels of sweetest corn, cleanly pan-cooked, ice-cooled and flaked, then touched with a flavor like honey, and toasted to a turn.

London the home of Kellogg's

35

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their offices, [illegible] Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $3.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.50; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added.

PRACTICAL RELIGION FOR WEEK-DAY AND SUNDAY

The Salvation Army grew out of the spirit of service—the desire for an active, helpful religion of unselfishness, bearing one another's burdens and thus fulfilling the law of Christ.

The Salvation Army went out into the highways and by-ways, and enduring insult and injury, compelled the fallen to come in.

The Salvation Army gets down on its knees in the dirty tenement and makes clean the way of the Lord.

The Salvation Army watches the derelicts in the police court and strives to guide human wrecks into safe harbors and drydocks for renovation into lives of usefulness.

The Salvation Army waits at prison gates for the hopeless ones liberated with the brand of criminality closing every honest door to them but that of the Salvation Army.

In sickness, sorrow, life and death the Salvation Army is ever ready with smiling helpfulness.

What does the world owe the Salvation Army?

What does Belleville owe the Salvation Army?

At least the $4,000 needed to repair, renovate and enlarge the citadel.

Each of us owe the Salvation Army a goodly sum. Let us give all we can.

GROWING INDUSTRIES IN WESTERN CANADA.

The development of industry other than agriculture in the Canadian west in recent years is strikingly set forth in a despatch dated Calgary fro ma staff correspondent of the Montreal Gazette:

> In the pricipal cities of the three prairie provinces, there were, two years ago, 1,606 manufactories, employing five persons or over. These were distributed as follows: Winnipeg, 745; Brandon, 64; Regina, 116; Saskatoon, 119; Moose Jaw, 69; Edmonton, 207; Calgary, 229; and Medicine Hat, 57; with a capital of $164,275,487, employing 35,562 persons, and producing annually goods valued at $232,497,626. Here is industrial production on the prairie equal at least in the same years to fifty per cent. of the value of the wheat crop. All these industries were founded under protection and exist in many instances by protection, and the unanimous demand is a continuance of that protection as essential to their existence and prosperity.

NO FREE TRADE FOR KINGSTON WHIG

The Kingston Whig, long the upholder of Liberal policies, as well as Liberal principles, is cutting away on the tariff issue. After approving of the manner in which Sir Henry Drayton and his ministerial colleagues have begun their enquiry into the operations of the customs taxes and the views of people thereon, it proceeds:

"The issue in Canadian politics today is purely an economic one, and we must, therefore, approach the subject from every angle in order that justice may be done to all the varied interests of the country. In the first place, there must be found an annual revenue of $350,000,000 to meet all government charges. This money is now raised by import duties, income-tax, excess profits tax and the sales tax recently imposed by the Government as a temporary measure. As it is not necessary to deal with the Liberal tariff, since it has been adopted by the Government in so far as it advocates a revision of the tariff downward, we have to chooes between the Government's programme and that of the United Farmers, who would establish free trade and devise some system of land taxation not as yet clearly defined. It is just here that the principle of protection comes in. Even were the owners of land willing to pay all the taxes—and this means that the farmers would have to pay most—what would become of the industries of this country, representing a capital investment of nearly $3,000,000,000, employing about 693,000 men, the value of whose products exceeds $3,000,000,000? Last year we imported two dollars' worth of goods for every one dollar's worth exported. By the adoption of free trade, or even an appreciable lowering of the present tariff, it is evident that the Canadian market for manufactured goods would pass into the control of United States' manufacturers, with whose enormous capital and highly organized industries we could never compete. With an overstocked market, our industries would be forced to close down and thousands of our workmen would be idle. Do we want a situation of this kind here?"

CRISP COMMENT

Modern mansion construction includes wine vaults protected by burglar-proof doors and combination locks. However, spirits sometimes laugh at locksmiths.

× × ×

The large sign "Railway Crossing" erected near the corner of Victoria Avenue and Pinnacle Street does not necessarily mean that the International Limited is approaching.

× × ×

Isn't it rather late in the day for the Board of Health to advise the citizens to boil the water. Better boil the people who have already absorbed large quantities of water. Ignorance may be bliss, but it is ofttimes typhoid fever and other disagreeable things.

× × ×

Professional baseball is in danger of death from the designs of crooked sporting men, judging from the revelations in the investigation being made into the 1919 world's baseball series. Crooked sport can not live, for the system has not yet been devised that can fool all of the people all of the time.

× × ×

John McGraw, the New York baseball magnate, is some bad medicine. A short time ago he was in a mix-up at the Lambs' Club in which lamb chops and spare ribs were bombarded by untender lions. There were several casualties, including McGraw. An actor, friend of McGraw's, Wilton Lackaye, went to sympathize with him and was belted promiscuously about the apartment. Evidently McGraw has declared war against all Thespians.

× × ×

New York Telegraph tells of a man who rushed out of his flat at the cry of fire only to find when he tried to get back again that the landlord had locked him out and raised the rent.

× × ×

Two hundred cases of whiskey is on the way from Montreal to a private house address in Hamilton, packed in a motor truck. Evidently somebody is going to give a party, says the Toronto World.

OTHER VIEWS

Golden Bantam Days
(Chicago Tribune)

A subtle flatterer refers us back to an editorial of August 18, 1912, on the subject of Golden Bantum corn, with a request that it be reprinted. We bow to the flattery, but the Golden Bantum corn of 1912 is dust, and we hesitate to disturb its repose, lest we bring tears unbidden to our eyes. The memory is clear and untarnished, and we may safely revel in that, thanking our correspondent for its recall. The day is at hand when memory will have its rebirth in reality. Today we picture a steaming, gleaming ear of Golden Bantum corn, fresh from the pot, its lustre enhanced by a bit of butter, its savor made piquant by a dash of salt, and—for those who like it—pepper. The very thought tickles the palate. It is more than food. It is an inspiration. It makes us forget the Red terror, the political campaign, the high cost of living, and cling to life and to our daily task for another week when it may become a reality. Such realities are rare. When one tastes the season's first ear of Golden Bantam corn, fresh from the pot—steamed, not boiled—one's attitude towards life is subject to change. The ordinary physical processes suddenly take on new importance. The business of fueling the human furnace becomes a pleasure. Faces across the table, bisected as they are by ears of Golden Bantam corn, take on new significance. They are a product of the corn full of health, full of strength, full of possibilites for good and soon to be full of corn.

Never Despair—a Timely Sermon
(London Daily Express)

Don't despair just because things don't seem to right themselves as quickly as you expected. To give way to despair is precisely the most useless thing you can possibly do. It is the nature of despair to blind us to the way of escape, even when the way is fairly obvious. Just keep on the alert, watching for a chance to come when you yourself, however insignificant you may seem to be, can do something to help. You may remember that once a mouse was able to release a lion from the net in which he was trapped. The chance of helping may come to you. Behind all the clouds that rise from the still seething world gleams the same sun that shines on Paradise.

Teacher—You see, had the lamb been obedient and stayed in the fold it would not have been eaten by the wolf, would it?"

Boy—No ma'am it would have been eaten by us.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Old-Fashioned Mother

The reason more bedtime stories are not told to children these days is that the children come in after mother has gone to bed.

Treatment Fitting the Case

"What are you treating me for, doctor?"

"Loss of memory. You hae owed me a bill of $60 for two years."

Try This

"Do you believe in the beneficial effects of laughter?"

"I certainly do. If I can get a man laughing I can nearly always borrow $5 from him."

The Useful Ouija

"Where were you all evening?"

"At the club."

"I don't believe it."

"All right. Ask the ouija board."

When The Day Is Over

When the household cares and the worries of everyday life have dragged you down, made you unhappy, and there is nothing in life but headache, backache and worry, turn to the right prescription, one gotten up by Dr. Pierce fifty years ago.

Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, irregularities, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life.

Orillia, Ont.:—"I suffered from a bad case of woman's trouble with backache, nervousness, disordered digestion, irregularity and I had great pain all the time, sometimes I would faint at my work. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I then took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it fixed me up all right, I look much better and feel fine. I will recommend the 'Prescription' to all suffering as I did."—MRS. MAYBELLE B. GRATRIX, 115 Albert St.

Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for confidential advice and you will receive the medical attention of a specialist, wholly without fee—no charge whatever.

WHEAT PARTICIPATION CERTIFICATES

Leave your certificates with this Bank and we will collect for you the final payment which will probably be authorized by the Wheat Board about the end of October.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

PAID-UP CAPITAL - $15,000,000
RESERVE FUND - - $15,000,000

A. Y. SNIDER,
Manager Belleville Branch.

521

Mason & Risch Pianos

PIANO VALUE of the Highest Kind

Compare the Mason & Risch Piano with any other piano on the market in the same price class. We will abide by your own verdict.

From the casters to the top lid, this Piano stands out uniquely as a highest grade product—unapproached, unequalled, unexcelled.

Piano Tuning Promptly Attended to at Warburton's MUSIC STORE

299 Front Street

Save Your Eyes

Should you wear glasses?

GLASSES are worn for three reasons. They help the wearer to see comfortably and well, they preserve the sight, and by removing all strain from the eyes they improve the general health.

Try to grasp the full meaning of this.

Think what it means to have your sight preserved. That is what glasses do for those who need them.

You know how much your eyes are worth to you, but you don't know whether you need glasses or not. You cannot tell the exact condition of your eyes, but if you consult a qualified Optometrist, he can tell you. He knows.

"Have your eyes examined

Watch for this sign — It is an emblem of service

Write the Secretary, Box 92, Dundas, Ont., for free booklet on the care of the eyes.

PREPARE FOR YOUR WINTER MUSIC EARLY

PIANO PHONOGRAPH

If you have an old instrument, a piano or organ that has ceased to give you pleasure—has probably gone long past its term of usefulness, arrange with us to replace it with a beautiful, sweet toned new piano, Player Piano, New Edison Phonograph or Grafonola. We will take your old instrument and allow you all we can for it and give you the easiest possible terms of payment for the balance of the purchase price.

The Green Music Store is prepared to take the best of care of you, not only at the time of purchase, but afterwards, in seeing that you get the best of satisfaction.

The J. M. Greene Music Co., Ltd.
THE HOME OF GOOD MUSIC FRONT STREET

Lantic Sugar mixes readily with cake batter because it's fine!

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

Examine

our stock of Aluminum ware, Pyrex and Nickel Plated ware; also plumbing goods. They will please you.

DIAMOND & HYDE

Agents for the famous HAPPY THOUGHT RANGES

Phone 38.

STIFF JOINTS

Limber Up After Being Rubbed With "ABSORBINE JR."

A stiff knee, due to rheumatism—or a stiff ankle, the result of a sprain—or a stiff arm, because of a fall—can be relieved of pain and stiffness, by the use of "ABSORBINE JR."

Many people who have limped and suffered for years, now have free use of their limbs since treating themselves with "ABSORBINE JR."

This successful home treatment gives prompt relief from Rheumatic Pain, Lumbago, Sciatica, Inflammation of the Joints, Weeping Sinew and Lameness and Stiffness.

No matter what else you have tried, get a bottle of "ABSORBINE JR." and see what relief it will give you.

$1.25 a bottle—at most druggists or sent postpaid by W. F. YOUNG, INC., Lyman Building, Montreal. 37

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.40
Leaves Belleville at 5.10
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 436.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
279 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street - - - Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 206.

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; 131
R. F. D. 2, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating, Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

BEAUTIFUL SHOWING OF
Autumn Dress Fabrics
A Magnificent Showing of New Dress Materials, Embracing the Choicest Weaves, Most Beautiful Colorings Created this Season.

DRESS GOODS.
All Wool Serge in Navy, Black, Brown, Copen. and Purple. Special value at $2.50
ALL WOOL SERGE
50 ins. and 54 ins. wide, in Black, Navy, Copen., Taupe and Brown; priced at $4.50 to $6.00.
TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, in Navy, Copen. and Brown, priced at $5.50
BROADCLOTH, in Navy, Brown, Black, priced at $5.00 and $6.00
ARMURE TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, all wool, in Navy, Copen. and Reindeer. Special value at $5.00
VELOURS in the new shades, priced at $6.00
ALL WOOL JERSEY CLOTH in newest shades, at $5.00 and $6.00.

DRESS SILKS
HABUTAI SILKS, 36 ins. wide in white and black, priced at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.
PAILETTE SILKS in Navy, White, Taupe Brown, Green, Grey, 36 ins. Good value at $2.50.
DUCHESSE SATINS in the newest shades of Navy, Brown, Sand, Taupe, Grey, Orchid, in a good heavy quality. Priced at $3.50.
TAFFETA SILKS in a big showing of plain and shot effects—36 ins. wide, good value at $3.50.
BLACK DRESS SILKS in three special values:
36 inch Pailette Silk at .. $3.00
36 inch Duchesse Silk at $3.50
36 inch Duchesse Satin, extra heavy quality, at $4.50

EARLE & COOK CO.

Autumn Footwear
Ladies and Men, we invite your inspection of our New Fall
Shoes
as our lines are complete in every detail, and the greatest variety of styles and different kinds of leather can be seen at the
Leslie Shoe Store
PHONE 553.
SEE SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Hudson Seal Coats
The Hudson Seal coat is the most practical, the most serviceable and the most reliable of fur coats, and in spite of the high price of furs we are in a position to offer plain and untrimmed HUDSON SEAL COATS at .... $330.00 and up, in 30 to 48 inch lengths.
We extend a cordial invitation to you to come in and see these coats.
DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
17 Campbell Street.
PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

Get Our Prices
Before You Buy Your
PEACHES, PLUMS
GAGES, etc.
We Can Save You Money
Fresh Stock Arriving Daily
ED. A. KELLAWAY
PHONE 91. BRIDGE & EVERETT STS.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
Timetable Effective June 4th, 1919.

READ DOWN.			STATIONS.	READ UP.
Train 10	Train 21	Train 37		Train 19	Train 22	Train 36
§9.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.	———	Lv. Montreal Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*8.00 a.m.	———
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv. Ottawa Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.23 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	6.22 p.m.	Lv. Belleville Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
6.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr. Toronto Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr. Detroit Lv.	12.35 a.m.	8.20 p.m.
7.05 a.m.	8.05 p.m.	8.00 a.m.	Arr. Chicago Lv.	6.40 p.m.	———	———

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday. S. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

City And Country

EXHIBITION WELL PATRONIZED

The number of paid admissions to the Peterboro Exhibition during the four days was 23,529, which netted a goodly sum to the management.

CATTLE DIED FROM HEAT

Last Thursday Mr. R. Gardener, a drover of Garden Hill, near Port Hope purchased two head of cattle from a farmer at Osaca and when about a mile down the road both cattle collapsed on the side of the road and died a few minutes later. The cattle had put up quite a fight in being driven along the road and were simply overcome by the heat.

FLUSHING THE RIVER

Under the direction of Chief Brown of the City Fire Department, the river at the vicinity of the lower bridge was flushed out this morning by the use of hose and nozzle. It had the effect of cleaning the bottom of the river from an accumulation of refuse which was causing annoyance.

PINTA TO LAY UP IN TORONTO

The Pinta, training ship of the Navy League has returned to Windsor. She will proceed to Toronto as soon as necessary repairs are made to her engines and will be laid up there for the winter. Boys from the border cities will remain on board until Toronto is reached, boys from Port Arthur and Sault Ste. Marie having already returned to their homes.

BOIL THE WATER

Children in the City Schools have been instructed not to drink the city water on account of danger of impurities and the Board of Health have announced that on account of prevailing conditions all water for drinking purposes should be boiled.

DIED IN FIELD

The following despatch to the Toronto Globe refers to a former resident of Belleville: "Quyon, Que., Sept. 27—The body of Kirks Pimlott, aged twenty-six years, and son of Rev. W. S. Pimlott, former Methodist minister was found in a field near his home here Sunday afternoon with a bullet wound in his head."

SECURED CERTIFICATE

Mr. William M. Leslie, of this city, has secured a certificate from the American School of Practipedics which shows he has successfully passed the course of elementary indoor study of this branch of learning which has to do with the fitting of boots and shoes to feet out of the ordinary shape.

HORTICULTURAL SHOW

The first exhibiton of the Trenton Horticultural Society was held yesterday in the new Arena building and proved to be a great success, the exhibits of flowers, fruits and vegetables in particular exceeded the expectations of the management committee, and many applicants for space were turned away for lack of room. The society and citizens are so encouraged they propose holding an annual agricultural and horticultural exhibition. The manufacturers, merchants and other dealers in town contributed largely to the exhibits.

PAID THEIR FINE

Some of the parties who on Saturday night were detected driving autos with the rear lamp not lit have appeared before the Magistrate and admitted the offence. In each case a fine of $5 and costs was imposed. Some of the offenders live in the country and have been notified to appear in court.

REDNERVILLE.

A crowd from here attended Picton Fair last week.

Mr. Walter Belnap of Trenton spent Sunday in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Reid, of Rossmore were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Brickman on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson.

Mr. Wm. Baker is very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mansfield and family of Belleville visited Mr. C. Brickman on Sunday.

Miss Maud Sharpe is home for a time.

SUMMER
ASTHMA—
HAY FEVER
—sleepless nights, constant sneezing, streaming eyes, wheezy breathing:—
RAZ-MAH
brings relief. Put up in capsules, easily swallowed. Sold by reliable druggists for a dollar. Ask our agents or send card for free sample to Templeton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. Agents, all Toronto and Hamilton druggists.
Local Agent—Dolan's Drug Store

ANDERSON FORCED TO QUIT WORK ENTIRELY

"Tanlac has Put Me Back on Job Feeling as Well as I Ever Felt in My Life," He Declares.

"After being such a sick man for six months that I had to quit all work, Tanlac has put me back on the job feeling as well as I ever did," said W. Anderson, 3460 Quebec street, Vancouver, B.C.

"I suffered untold agonies on account of stomach trouble. Everything I ate would lie on my stomach like a lump of lead and then sour and form gas that bloated me up until I could hardly breathe and my heart would beat like a trip-hammer. I had spells of dizziness and often had terrible headaches. At night I used to roll and toss about on the bed for hours unable to sleep and when morning came I was so tired and worn out that I could hardly stand up. Finally I became so weak that I had to give up my job.

"I read a statement in the papers telling how a man with troubles just like mine had been helped by Tanlac so I decided to try it myself. The first bottle did me so much good that I kept right on with it and by the time I was through with the second I was at work and haven't missed a day since. My appetite is splendid, all trouble from indigestion has disappeared and I have gained several pounds in weight. I haven't had a headache or dizzy spell since I finished the first bottle of Tanlac, and I sleep like a log every night."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

Meighen Forces Look for Victory

By-elections in East Elgin and Yale Expected to Result in Triumph for Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—Two constituencies, both largely rural in character, and both, until recently, represented in the House of Commons by a Conservative, will be called upon to make their pronouncements upon present Dominion political issues before the end of November. Already the writ for a by-election in East Elgin, Ont., on November 22nd, has been issued. The writ for the by-election in Yale, B.C., is expected to issue at once. It will, it is understood, call for polling in Yale on the same day as in the Ontario constituency.

In both ridings the official nominations will take place on November 8th.

The Government and the National-Liberal and Conservative party, which recently triumphed in by-elections in Colchester, N.S., and St. John, N.B., seek endorsement under rather different circumstances in East Elgin and in Yale.

In Colchester, Hon. F. B. McCurdy won a notable victory in a straight contest with a candidate of the United Farmers' organization. In the two by-elections in the Maritime Provinces, however, two candidates, elected in 1917, were returning to their constituents for approval of their acceptance of office in the Government. In East Elgin and Yale, the Government candidates will not appear before the electors with the newly acquired prestige of Ministers of the Crown. In both constituencies new candidates will strive for election as champions of the Government, the National Liberal and Conservative party and the policies for which they stand. In East Elgin the campaign is already under way with a United Farmers' candidate in the field.

East Elgin is largely rural in character but it lies in a section of Ontario which is dotted with manufacturing centres. East Elgin farmers should, therefore, be in a position to appreciate the value of maintaining a diversified industrial system by moderate tariff protection. East Elgin, moreover, has elected a Conservative to Parliament for more than a decade.

Thus, it is felt here that an active campaign for the presentation of the issues to the electors should result in a victory for the Government candidate.

Yale Pro-Tariff.

Yale, too, is rural in character. British Columbia agriculturists, however, do not see eye to eye on the tariff question with the leaders of the agrarian movement in Ontario and the Prairie Provinces. Yale elected in 1917 Hon. Martin Burrell, a Conservative, who had represented the old constituency of Yale-Cariboo since 1908. It is not unlikely that both Right Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. Mackenzie King will have something to say for electors of Yale before November 22nd. The Prime Minister is expected to undertake a tour of Western Canada, beginning at Winnipeg about the middle of October. He should be able to reach British Columbia before polling day. The leader of the Opposition in the Commons is now in British Columbia and will spend the greater part of the next three weeks in that province, according to his present arrangements.

Social And Personal

H. Vernon Clarke and Miss Helen Clarke went to Kingston on Tuesday to attend Queen's University.

Dr. J. E. Affleck and bride, of Penticton, B.C., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Affleck, George street.

Miss Rita Collip left yesterday to resume her studies at the University of Toronto.

Mr. J. F. Yorke and wife of Corbyville returned today after a four months' visit in the prairie provinces.

CALLED BY DEATH

MRS. H. R. TUDHOPE

Relatives and friends were shocked by the news that Mrs. Hugh R. Tudhope had passed away unexpectedly in the General Hospital at Toronto. She had undergone an operation on Wednesday of last week. She was apparently doing very satisfactorily up till Tuesday when she began to show signs of collapse from the shock and sank rapidly.

Mrs. Tudhope was a native of Perth, Scotland, and was a daughter of the late Alexander Begg, for many years a resident of this town, and widely known throughout the Dominion and in the old country, as Commissioner for the settlement of Scottish crofters in British Columbia, and as author of a history of that Province. She went to Orillia with her parents as a child and with short intervals had lived there ever since. She has been active in social circles and church work, having been a faithful teacher in the Presbyterian Sunday-school. She was married to Mr. Hugh R. Tudhope, the youngest of the sons of the late William Tudhope, 20 years ago, and leaves one son, Brockett, and two daughters, Frances and Norah. She is survived by her mother, five brothers and four sisters—Peter, Alexander, Roderick, Ralph, Colin and Robert and Mrs. Hinckley, Mrs. Travis, Mrs. Cramer and Miss Begg. All are residents of New York, except Mr. Robert Begg, who lives at Calgary. The grief stricken husband and other relatives have the deep sympathy of the whole community.

The late Mr. Begg and Mrs. Tudhope were uncle and cousin of Mrs. Peter Mather, 4th Line Thurlow.

Obsequies

JAMES G. COPELAND

The funeral of the late James Garfield Copeland took place yesterday from the family residence, 244 Pinnacle street, interment being at Plainfield cemetery. Rev. Mr. Wallace of the Baptist church conducted services. The floral tributes were as follows:

Sprays—Mrs. McDonald and family; Mrs. T. Blackburn; Mrs. Gould and family; Mr. and Mrs. Bottom; Baptist Sunday School; Mr. Labarge; Miss Holten and Miss Pallian.

Sheafs—Salvation Army Sunday School; Queen Victoria School; Mr. and Mrs. Day; Mrs. Whiteman, Toronto.

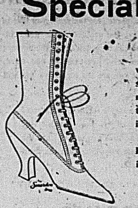
PREACHER PROPHET PREDICTS END OF WORLD

Fredericton, N.B., Sept. 29.—That we are falling into perilous times, as illustrated by Fredericton having taken a holiday last week to go to horse races and that every evidence points to the ending of this world's drama, was the declaration yesterday of Rev. Milton C. Burtt, of Presque Isle, Maine, at the quarterly sessions of the Adventist Church Christian Conference conened at the Adventist Church at North Devon and which closed last evening.

Rev. Mr. Burtt urged the congregation to make ready for "the coming of the King," and told them that he confidently expected to see the end of the world before the end of his life-time and that he was over 50 years old. He preached from St. Matthew 24, and St. Luke 21, viz.: "This generation shall not pass till all these things be fulfilled."

OLD FASHIONED DINNER PAIL RETURNS

Toronto, Sept. 29.—The carry your lunch campaigns has reached Toronto although there has been no organized effort to promote it here. Local papers publish articles to the effect that many thousands of Toronto's downtown restaurants have now returned to the "old fashioned dinner pail," in various forms. Many cases it is merely a "snack" in a piece of white paper but the movement is making an appreciable hole in the receipts of the restaurateurs, as the result of which more of the eating houses have made extensive cuts in their prices.



Footwear of Special Merit
The more particular a woman is in regard to the sort of shoes she wears, the more she will enjoy seeing the new styles we are showing for Fall.
EVERY WOMAN'S SHOE is a masterpiece of expert Shoemaker's Skill.
The Haines Shoe Houses

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.
SAVE
By Shopping at
WOTTEN'S
You will actually save on your autumn wearables by shopping at this new Ladies Wear Store. Our stock is fresh and new for the season, and every article has been marked at very advantageous prices for thrifty women to take advantage of. There is always something new to be seen here, so drop in any time you are down town and look around. You are welcome indeed, whether a purchase is intended or not.
Wottens Limit'd
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

No Investment Worries for Fourteen Years
1934 maturity Victory Loan Bonds, at 93 and interest, assure the purchaser of an interest return of 6¼% for fourteen years, regardless of any changes that may occur in the money market in years to come.
During this period, interest is prompt and sure, and is payable at any branch of any chartered bank in Canada. All that is necessary is to clip the coupons and present them for payment each six months.
Mail your order or write for particulars.
Those with substantial incomes, who are materially affected by the income tax, will find an attractive investment in the 1933 maturity (tax free) at 96½ and interest, which yields a net return of 5.87%.
We deliver bonds to your local bank free of expense to you.
Wood, Gundy & Company
Canadian Pacific Railway Building
Toronto

LINDSAY'S

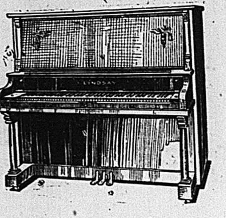
Buying With Confidence

When you purchase a piano, for instance, you like to feel confident, first, that you are getting a good instrument, the best than can be acquired for the money; second, that you are not being overcharged, and, third, that you will get what you are led to believe you will get.

In dealing with Lindsay's the first and second essentials are covered by this firm's "One Price" policy. The firm's standing in the piano trade is ample assurance that the third essential's taken care of.

"IF LINDSAY'S SELL IT—IT'S ALL RIGHT"

LINDSAY'S
C. W. LINDSAY LIMITED
249 Front Street, - Belleville



CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head, 25 words or less, 25 cents for each insertion and 1 cent for each additional word; 4 insertions, 75 cents; 8 insertions, $1.00, invariably in advance. This rate applies to all except advertisements for Auction Sales, which will be published at 5 cents per word. Count 8 marks and figures (123) as one word each

Above ads, if phoned, 1 1-2 cents a word.
If charged, 1 1-2 cents a word.

Sacrifice Sale

30 x 3½ USED TIRES
$5.95 WHILE THEY LAST
IDEAL VULCANIZING CO.
353 FRONT ST.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—PARLOR RUG AND FURNITURE; also nice bedroom suite. 19 Pine Street. s29-4td

FOR SALE—TEN SHARES OF WOOD AIR-TIGHT Valve Co. stock. Box No. 287 Brownsburg, Que. 1td

FOR SALE — ONE LIGHT DELIVERY truck; one 1-ton truck. Any reasonable offer accepted. The Stafford Hardware Co. s28-4td

FARM FOR SALE, FIVE MILES FROM Belleville, 100 acres of good work land, well watered and fenced. About 4 acres of orchard and other small fruits. Good buildings. For further particulars apply to Harry Fitzgerald, R. R. No. 6, Belleville Ont. s27-2tw,4td

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s27-6td

FOR SALE—NEW SEVEN ROOM HOUSE —cellar, cistern, electric wired. Three minutes walk from Front St. Apply 402½ Front Street. Price right. s24-6td

FOR SALE—THREE HOUSES IN GOOD localities—Fifteen hundred, Thirty-five hundred, and Forty-five hundred. Apply 271 Albert St., or Phone 980. s24-6td

FOR SALE—ONE FOUR ROOM COTTAGE with large lot; also one seven room house with large summer kitchen on one and three-quarters acres of land, on MacDonald Ave., north of Victoria Ave. Apply on premises. Township taxes. s23 6t

FOR SALE—BICYCLES. BRING IN YOUR old one for part payment on a new Massey. All the latest improvements and colors that stand any weather. Bicycle Licence, 333 Front Street. a6-dtf

$3600 BUNGALOW FOR SALE, 122 MOIRA street west (corner of Purdy street)—new, six rooms and kitchen and bathroom. Furnace and stationary tubs in basement. Best quality plumbing and electric fixtures. Apply Bank of Montreal. s20-dtf

FOR SALE — THAT NEW SIX-ROOMED cottage, west side Sidney street, second south overhead bridge. Good garden, well and cistern. Electric lights. Verandah. Township taxes. Apply on premises to owner. s18-12td

FARM FOR SALE—EAST HALF LOT ONE sixth concession Rawdon, one hundred acres good land, five acres hard wood, good fences. Good buildings, well watered, three never failing wells. Murney T. Hagerman, Ivanhoe, R. R. No. 1. a30-1md

SEVERAL UP TO DATE HOUSES FOR sale. Apply T. Finnegan, 188 Victoria Avenue. Phone 807. a10-dtf

LOST

LOST—A PEARL TIE PIN. RETURN TO George K. Graham. $25 reward. 28-4t

AGENTS WANTED

INTELLIGENT PERSON REQUIRED WHO can devote spare time to submitting our Samples to the people he knows or the public. Income $10—$25. Weekly payment. Carlton Publishing Co., Greeting Card Publishers, 328 Spadina Ave., Toronto. s17-20td

TO LET.

FOR RENT—FURNISHED ROOMS, ALL conveniences. Board if desired. 238 Albert street. s29-4t

TO LET—HOUSE ON ISABEL STREET. Apply 265 Front St. s29-3td

FOR RENT—SOLID BRICK HOUSE, ALL modern conveniences. Apply No. 6 Pine, or Whelan & Yeomans, 29 Bridge St. s28-6td

TO RENT — WELL FURNISHED SMALL house. Hot water heating. Centrally located. Box "K," Intelligencer. s25-6td

FOR RENT—OFFICE FORMERLY OCCUPIED by the late Dr. Dolan. Apply 17 Victoria Ave. s29-12td

TO LET—HOUSE ON CATHERINE STREET. Apply Dan Doyle. Phone 869. s14-dtf

HELP WANTED—MALE

$20 AND UP MADE WEEKLY BY OUR agents, men and women, in spare time, day or evenings, selling the best and largest selection of Personal Greeting Christmas Cards, at popular prices. Magnificent sample book free. No experience necessary. Does not interfere with regular work. Service guaranteed. Modern Art Company, manufacturers, 122 Richmond West, Toronto. d-o2

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

WANTED—LITTLE GIRL TO TAKE CARE of a child. Apply Mrs. Moores, 260 Front street. s29-4td

WANTED—SALESLADY. GOOD WAGES. Apply B. Shniffer, 331 Front St. s28-3td

WANTED — A MAID FOR GENERAL housework; small family. Apply 93 Victoria Avenue. s27-6td

WANTED—WOMAN TO WORK BY THE week. Sleep in or out; plain cooking and housework. Apply with references. 161 S. Albert Street. s27-3td

WANTED—OPERATORS ON SEWING MACHINES—also girls to learn. Steady work at good pay. Also one woman to iron shirts. Apply The Deacon Shirt Co., Coleman St., city. s4-dtm

WANTED.

WANTED — SECOND HAND UPRIGHT Pianos for cash or in exchange as part payment on new instruments. C. W. Lindsay, Limited. s21-dtf

WANTED — SMALL UNFURNISHED DETACHED house. All conveniences. Address, stating rent, W. B., Intelligencer Office. s28-2t

WANTED—POSITION OF RESPONSIBILITY. Long and varied experience in estate management and administration. Highest references. C. D. Intelligencer Office. s28-3td

WANTED — PARTNERSHIP IN SMALL sound business. Must stand accountant's investigation. Address E. F., Intel-

BUSINESS PERSONAL

WANTED — NO OTHER RECOMMENDATION than that those who come once, come often to the office of Miss Davis because her Typewriting is Typed Right. It is Your Right to prove it. Office: Hotel Quinte. Phone 103. s29,30;o2,4

Dates of Fall Fairs

Arden	Oct. 5
Bancroft	Oct. 7-8
Forest	Oct. 5-6
KINGSTON	Sept. 28-Oct. 2
Madoc	Oct. 5-6
Maynooth	Sept. 30

City and Vicinity

Famous throughout Canada for 75 years—Daly's Good Tea. Get it at McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville

Get out that last Spring's suit or overcoat and Phone 393 We can make it look like now. My Wardrobe, E. C. Sprague, 219 Front St. 22-tf

We Dry Clean by the latest methods and modern machinery. Ladies and Gents' wearing apparel, Furs, Laces, Curtains, Gloves, Shoes, Blankets, etc. We know how.—Sprague the Cleaner, 219 Front St., Phone 393. 22-tf

NOTICE

We have removed our office to 219 Front Street, over Ostrom's Drug Store. "My Wardrobe." Phone 393, E. C. Sprague. m16-dtf

DR. G. A. MORTON
Dentist
X-Ray Equipment
Office: Burrows Block, Belleville
Phone 462.

If you have to buy a new suit walk upstairs and save ten dollars. We have a choice arrangement of suiting to choose from. Sprague the Cleaner and Dyer. 22-tf

"RECORDS" "RECORDS"
C. W. LINDSAY, LIMITED

For your private Fall Dances try this programme of latest Dance Records:

1—Waltz—Miami Shore A6144.
2—Fox Trot—In Sweet September A2959.
3—One Step—Happy A2963.
4—F. T.—A Young Man's Fancy A2970.
5—Waltz — Pickaninny Blues A6162.

6—O. S.—Come Back to Georgia A2938.
7—F. T.—Hold Me A2899.
8—Moon Waltz—Shadowland.
9—F. T.—Tell Me, Little Gypsy A2972.
10—Hiawatha's Melody of Love A6150.

The very latest song is "The Love Nest." Ask to hear the Record A2973 at C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

You are invited to hear the following Player Rolls at C. W. Lindsay, Limited:

Fifth Nocturn Story Roll.
One Fleeting Hour (song).
Paderewski Menuet.
Let the Rest of the World Go By. (waltz).
—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

TWO WEEKS FOR THE LADIES

For two weeks only, we offer special cut in ladies' shoe repairing. Half soles and leather heels $1. Half soles and rubber heels $1.35. Yeomans & Tilbrook, Belleville Shoe Hospital. s29-12td

NOTICE

The L. E. to the B. of R. T. announce their At Home to be held in Johnstone's Academy on October 1st. All brothers of the brotherhood, Railway, are cordially invited. Cards sharp at 8 o'clock. Good prizes for euchre. s29-2td

Veterans' Lunch
Specials for Saturday—meals 40 cents. s29-2td

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

FURS
Of Quality

Our stock of Manufactured Furs comprises a complete assortment of the season's latest novelties.

MADE TO ORDER GARMENTS
From the newest models.
MISS GRAHAM
10 Everett St. Phone 415

Olive Thomas' Last Fade-Out

Funeral of Popular Star Largely Attended—Millionaires and Paupers in Great Throng.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Grey shadows filtering down from the high windows softened the hues of the great banks of flowers and dimmed the lustre of the gowns of richly dressed women.

A silence pervaded the great church, broken only by the solemn voice of a priest intoning the episcopal funeral ritual. From the street came the muffled hum of traffic. The entire setting gave the illusion of a silent drama.

The funeral of the noted motion picture actress, who died in Paris as the result of taking poison, drew thousands of persons from all walks of life to St. Thomas' church on Fifth avenue. There were millionaires and paupers, stars and members of the chorus, friends and the merely curious.

Hundreds of men and women, mostly the latter, stormed the church doors when officials turned them away after the edifice was filled. The police lines were broken time and again, only to be reformed.

Order was not finally restored until long after the services were over and the body had been removed from the church.

Simple Ceremony.

The ceremony was simple. Dr. Ernest M. Stiers, the rector, who conducted the services, said "it was the same as anyone else would have."

During the services Jack Pickford, husband of Miss Thomas, sat with her mother, Mrs. H. B. VanKirk, and Miss Thomas' brother, James Duffy. Among the honorary pallbearers were: Owen Moore, former husband of Mary Pickford, and Harrison Fisher, one of the first to discover Miss Thomas' beauty and immortalize it on canvas.

The coffin rested in the centre of the chancel under a blanket of pink and white orchids. Surrounding were great banks of pink and white flowers, the gifts of relatives, friends and members of the theatrical profession. There was one floral piece from the Ziegfield Follies, in which Miss Thomas began her stage life, and one from Miss Pickford, bearing a card inscribed "From Sister Mary."

As the floral pieces were carried through the street to waiting vehicles after the service, many were torn to pieces by women and girls who sought the flowers as souvenirs. The police tried to protect them, but were powerless.

As a protection against the curious, the burial place of Miss Thomas was kept secret. It was learned, however, that it would be in one of the New York cemeteries.

Machines Clicked.

When the coffin was carried through the throngs to the hearse several motion picture machines near the steps clicked in unison. Miss Thomas was the central figure of a film for the last time.

Over on Broadway, but a few blocks away, a huge electric sign, grotesque in the glare of daylight, announced the featuring of Miss Thomas in a popular film play. Within the theatre the wraith of the famous actress smiled from the screen in the bewitching way that had endeared her to thousands.

Late Telegraph Briets

The Yale (B.C.) Federal by-election is set for Nov. 23.

George Stanton was electrocuted at the Orillia power plant.

Brantford citizens will be appealed to to cease using electric heaters.

The One Big Union is said to have ordered a strike of Alberta coal miners on October 1st.

It is stated that the two bandits who were killed in Saskatchewan were Bolshevik agents.

China has refused to receive the Soviet representatives from Russia.

Bolshevists looted Bokhara when they captured it.

Cloudbursts have done much damage from Trieste to the Riviera.

Amundsen's polar ship is held in the ice on the Siberian coast.

Brooklyn are champions of the National League, the Giants being eliminated when Boston beat them 3 to 2.

Babe Ruth made two home-runs, boosting his total for the season to fifty-three.

Temperance Act may be amended. Special comittee will obtain views of police magistrates.

Belfast in turmoil. After two days quiet, two men were killed in Falls district. Several others wounded.

Charges against U.F.O. central body dropped in election protest case at Orangeville.

Government to hear appeal against railway boosts today.

Curfew confines firemen indoors while town of Mallow, County Cork, is burning up.

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Helpfulness

The reason for wearing glasses is to make the eyes see better.

Naturally when you get the personal help of an expert on every detail that enters into the fitting of glasses, those glasses are going to be the most helpful possible.

It is this interested personal service, from the examination of the eyes on through adjusting the finished glasses to the features, that makes Blackburn's glasses helpful to the eyes.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and
Optician

Fried Cakes

We are again making these ever popular old fashioned cakes.
30c. a dozen.
GET SOME TODAY!

CHAS. S. CLAPP

POTTED BLOATER
POTTED ANCHOVY
In tins at 20c.
from England.
At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

New Goods and Fresh Supplies Arriving Daily

Fine and Granulated Oatmeal
Jireh Wheat and Barley
Cream of Barley
H-O Oatmeal
Robinson's Patent Groats
Robinson's Patent Barley
Graham Flour
Pearl Barley
Two-Minute Oats
Bran
MacLaren's Imperial Cheese (jars)
Robertson's Scotch Marmalade
Candied Ginger, in tins
Neilson's Italian Chocolates, lb. 80c.
Oatcakes, pkgs. 18c.
Delicious Teas and Coffee

At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

WE WILL TELL YOU

—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.

Phone DAY 531

RITCHIE'S

5 DAYS SALE 5 DAYS

Of Curtains And Draperies

DOORS OPEN 8.30 a.m. SHOP EARLY. DOORS OPEN 8.30 a.m.

Tuesday, - Sept. - 28th

In Our Drapery Department

THIRD FLOOR

BARGAINS EXTRAORDINARY. COME Early and Share in the Savings

White and Colored Frilled Muslin Curtains

About 20 pairs, fine qualities, in figured designs, in plain white and colored frilled muslin curtains, some in only one pair each, and several designs, consisting of four to six pairs alike. Manufactured by the best English makers. These are Curtains that would not be replaced in our store at very much higher prices. Siz 36 inches wide by 2½ yards long. Regular price $3.00 pair. Special sale price—

$1.75 pr.

IMPORTED SCOTCH MADRAS CASEMENT CURTAINS

About twenty pairs of Colored Madras Casement Curtains, suitable for living-rooms, reception-rooms, library or bed-rooms, and would add great value to the interior furnishing of the above rooms. These are manufactured by a very reliable Scotch firm, and all designs are thoroughly woven, in beautiful artistic floral borders, and the curtains on sale are shown in green, bisque and blue, 50 inches wide x 3 yards and 3½ yards in length. Our regular price is $10.00.

Special Sale Price $4.75

Also a few pairs of solid colors in gold, with contrast borders, in heavy mercerised silk, 50 inches wide ½ 3 yards and 3½ yards in length. Regular $8.50 to $9.00 per pair.

Special Sale Price $3.50 pair

EXTRA!

About 200 yards, consisting of Plain White Frilled Bobbinett, Frilled Muslin, and Colored Spot Muslin, splendid wearing material, suitable for Sash Curtains, Bedroom Curtains — 27 to 32 inches wide. Regular price 50c. per yard. Special sale price—

15c per yard

EXTRA!

White Scrims and Net, embroidered design, suitable for sash drapery, for reception room, hall and beed room. Regular price $1 per yard. Special sale price—

50c a yard

EXTRA!

English all wool drapery in plain bisque ground, with a stencil conventional design in blue, making a beautiful curtain drapery. A splendid wearing curtain material, 50 inches wide, and trimmed with a ball edge. Regular price $1.00. Special sale price—

50c per yard

10 Only Imported Tapestry Rugs

10 Only

We wish to clear these ten English manufactured Tapestry Rugs; shown in fawn and tan grounds, in floral and conventional designs, in the following sizes and at One-half the Regular Selling Price.

4 rugs, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $25.00. Sale price $12.50
2 rugs, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $20.00. Sale price $10.00
1 rug, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $32.00. Sale price $16.00
1 rug, size 3 yards x 2½ yards, reg. price $36.50. Sale price $18.25
1 rug, size 3 yards x 3 yards, regular price $32.00. Sale price $16.00
1 rug, size 4 yards x 3½ yards, reg. price $39.00. Sale price $19.50

THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED

Imlah & Armstrong
MANAGERS
BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO
UNDERTAKERS
14 Campbell St. Phone 774
Motor Equipment

DR. BELL'S PRESCRIPTIONS FOR THE STOMACH. For Sale at DOYLE'S DRUG STOR

THE WEATHER

Fair and cool

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERTY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1920.

—Established 1858—
62 Years' Continuous Business is Guarantee for Square Deal.
TICKELL & SONS CO.
FURNITURE and UNDERTAKING
Phones: Office, 2; Residence, 298.

World Wide Propaganda to Destroy British Empire

CONDEMNED BY SYNOD OF REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH—CAMPAIGN OF SEDITION, HATRED AND STRIFE SHOWS NEED OF GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST, DECLARES RESOLUTION ADOPTED AT SYNOD MEETING IN BELLEVILLE.

The annual Synod of the Reformed Episcopal Church which was held in this city, was brought to a close Wednesday evening at Emmanuel Church. It was one of the most successful Synod gatherings in the history of the church.

Progress of the Church.

The condition of the Reformed Episcopal Church is far in advance of what it was last year in all departments, according to the statistical reports presented to the synod. Officers were elected as follows:

President — Rev. Bishop Willard Brewing, Toronto.

Vice-President—Rev. A. M. Hubly, Toronto.

Secretary—Rev. C. E. Wincott, Ottawa.

Asst. Sec.—Mr. H. Botherell, Ottawa.

Treas.—Mr. T. J. Irvine, Toronto.

Standing Committee—Rev. J. B. Donaldson, Ottawa; Rev. A. M. Hubly, Toronto; Rev. T. J. Gladstone, Ottawa; Rev. C. E. Wincott, Ottawa; Mr. J. Hervey Spencer, Ottawa; Mr. J. W. Barlow, Belleville; Mr. Robt. Johnston, Toronto; Dr. W. D. M. Bell, Ottawa; George Ambridge, Ottawa.

Board of Trustees—F. S. Wallbridge, Belleville, (5 years); Rev. C. E. Wincott, Ottawa, (4 years); Rev. A. M. Hubly, Toronto, (3 years); Mr. Russell Nesbitt, Ottawa, (2 years); Dr. W. D. M. Bell, (1 year).

Constitution and Canon—Rev. J. B. Donaldson, Ottawa; Rev. George Marshall, Belleville; Dr. Bell, Ottawa; A. H. Power.

State of the Church—Rev. C. E. Wincott, Mr. G. Nayler, Belleville; Mr. C. Lowrie, Rev. Geo. Marshall.

Publication—Rev. Bishop Brewing, A. Hall, Miss Everall.

Memorials and Resolutions—Rev. George Marshall, Mr. R. H. Ketcheson.

Auditors—J. W. Barlow, Belleville; Alex. Hall, Toronto.

Troubles in Ireland.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the present conditions in Ireland, due to the reign of terror and campaign of sedition, rebellion, crime and outrage, instigated by the Sinn Fein, are to be regarded with grave concern by every loyal British citizen; Loyalists are being persecuted, intimidated and slain because of their devotion to the Empire; officers of the law to the number of nearly one hundred have been murdered during the past few months, and a large part of the country is at the mercy of the midnight assassin;

"Whereas, there is apparently a world-wide propaganda to disrupt and destroy the British Empire, and whereas the Reformed Episcopal Church stands for maintaining the unity and integrity of British democratic institutions, believing that the aspirations of the people can be achieved by constitutional means, and that it is the duty of professing Christians to be obedient to legally constituted authority; therefore,

"Resolved, that we tender sincere sympathy to our loyal Protestant fellow-citizens in Ireland in their determination to defend their heritage and remain within the Empire and under the British flag and that we protest against any and every effort to set up a Sinn Fein republic or in any other way to dismember the British Empire, and

"Further resolved, that in the opinion of the Canadian Synod Reformed Episcopal Church in annual session assembled, the present campaign of sedition, hatred and strife shows that there is still a great need for the Gospel of Jesus Christ, which alone is capable of producing good citizens, who will realize their obligations to God and their fellow-men, practice self-sacrifice and restrain and appreciate the privileges of popular government."

Lambeth Conference.

Resolved, that we, the synod of the Reformed Episcopal Churcll, put on record our satisfaction and appreciation for the broad Christian spirit and brotherly tone of the appeal of the Lambeth Conference. The Reformed Episcopal Church has always stood for an episcopacy, not as essential to the being of the church, but as an ancient and desirable form of church polity, and have hope that the Anglican church has begun to modify its interpretation of its office so that in the not distant future the episcopate will be found to be an aid rather than a barrier to union. We are glad for the promise of a broader fellowship of all Christian churches in the blessing of the pulpit and the Lord's table, and that we are moving towards the day when the Master's prayer for unity will be answered amongst His people.

Evening Meeting.

In the Sunday School rooms of Emmanuel Church tea was last evening provided by the ladies to the members of the synod. Others present were Revs. Dr. Cleaver, D. C. Ramsay, W. H. Wallace, W. Elliott and A. H. Foster, and Mr. John Elliott, all of whom gave brief but appropriate addresses. Bishop Brewing presided over the gathering.

After tea the synod resumed and a discussion took place in reference to Sunday School work. The discussion was opened by Rev. C. E. Wincott, of Ottawa, and others taking part were Rev. Col. Donaldson of Ottawa and Rev. G. Marshall of Belleville.

Notes.

There are two parishes without rectors and steps will be taken to provide them.

For the first time lady delegates were present, one being Miss Vera Gillet of New Westminster, B. C.

If a competent minister's services can be obtained it was decided to hold evangelistic services in certain missions.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the Ladies' Aid of Emmanuel Church for their labors of love.

The synod was closed with prayer by the Bishop, and Toronto was selected as the place of meeting next September.

Rioting and Bloodshed Continues in Belfast

INTOLERABLE CONDITIONS MAY CAUSE ACCEPTANCE OF ULSTER PROPOSAL FOR ARMED CIVIC GUARD DESPITE THREAT OF SINN FEIN THAT GUARD ORGANIZATION WOULD BE TAKEN AS DECLARATION OF WAR.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

BELFAST, Sept. 30.—The continuance of rioting and bloodshed in this city is viewed officially as creating an intolerable situation and the Ulster proposal for an armed civic guard is likely to be adopted by the Government if the disorders continue. Threats by the Sinn Fein that the organization of such a guard would be taken as a declaration of war with a resultant uprising of Irish Nationalists are not taken seriously, it being assured that the existing situation cannot possibly be worse. It is claimed that the Government cannot afford to maintain sufficient military forces in this city to cope with the disturbances and must rely on the co-operation of loyal subjects to maintain order.

Struck on Crossing $6,000 Damages

G.T.R. Train Struck Truck, Injuring Driver Who Sues For Damages

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 30.—Mr. Smith Elliott was this morning awarded $6,000 by the jury, against the Grand Trunk Railway for damages received by a train near Cataraquai a year ago. The jury was out for about an hour and a half, and returned a verdict at 11.45 this morning. Mr. Elliott sued for $10,000.

Thomas Carson, the first witness called in the Elliott-G.T.R. case when the court resumed Tuesday afternoon train bell ring but did not hear the crossing when the accident happened. He saw both the train and truck approaching the crossing. He heard the tarin bell ring but did not hear the whistle. When he first saw the truck it was travelling about 20 miles an hour. It slackened at a point 40 to 50 yards from the track and then speeded up the grade to the crossing. He heard the smash and was the first to reach Mr. Elliott's side.

Henry Walter, brakesman on the train said the whistle had been blowing almost continuously after it left Collin's Bay and he remembered hearing the whistle one to two minutes before reaching the said crossing. The train was going about 21 miles an hour. He was the first to reach Mr. Elliott who was still conscious and to whom he talked about the accident.

James Lorimer, brakesman on the train, could not recollect any whistles after the Cataraqui crossing (the last one before the crossing in question), but remembered the bell was ringing all the time up till the accident. He also talked to Mr. Elliott after the accident.

Charles E. Bowler, fireman on the train, said the bell, which was worked by air, was ringing continuously from Collin's Bay to the scene of the accident. The engineer gave the proper whistle for the said crossing.

Mr. Blaylock, engineer on the train said he was 67 years of age, had been employed with the G.T.R. over fifty years, forty years as an engineer, during which time he had never had an accident, struck or killed a man. He had recently been pensioned. He sounded the whistle at all the crossings after leaving Collin's Bay including the one in question, and the bell had been kept ringing continuously after leaving Collin's Bay till after the accident. The train was running 30 to 35 miles an hour. He did not see the train strike the auto. He backed the engine to the scene of the accident when the trainman signalled.

George H. Frith, G.T.R. civil engineer, submitted plans of the crossing. The trees reached about eight feet above the highway or seven feet above the base of the trees.

Robert Dickson, conductor on the train, said the westbound track was being used that day because the other track was being repaired. He heard the whistle blow for the crossing. It had been blowing almost continuously after it left Collin's Bay to warn the workmen. He did not know anything had happened till he felt the brakes put on. Then he remembered the whistle had blown a few seconds before.

C.P.R. Defends Rate Increase

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—That the railway is entitled to whatever profits are involved in working under rates that are fair and reasonable was the crux of the argument advanced by W. N. Tilley, K.C., chief C. P. R. counsel in opposing the request for reversal of the decision of the Railway Board by the Governor-in-Council in the railway rates case being argued before Premier Meighen and members of the Cabinet. It is expected the counsel will conclude today and the hearing be brought to a close. So far as Canada is concerned, Tilley maintained this general principle had been established by the Railway Commission in the western rates case. In that case the matter of the C. P. R. surplus had been introduced and the Board had decided that the "question for us to decide is what rates are fair, irrespective of what the surplus is."

PATIENT BURNED BY X-RAY WINS $3,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Montreal, Sept. 30—Dr. Georges Dupont was committed in the Superior Court to pay $3,000 damages to Chas. St. Martin, on an action taken by the latter to recover $10,000 damages, alleging that he was burned and injured in October, 1916, while under X-ray treatment.

British Cabinet Trying to Stop All Reprisals

Government Neither Supports Nor Connives at Acts of Revenge.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Reprisals in Ireland are neither connived at nor supported by the Government, it was declared by Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Chief Secretary for Ireland. Sir Hamar made this statement in reply to the storm of criticism which had been raised in the British press over the recent declaration of General Sir Nevill Macready, Commander of the military forces in Ireland, made in an interview, in which he was quoted as saying that the reprisals were not actuated by any set policy of the Government, but that the situation might become such if the guerilla warfare of the Irish Republican army continued, that reprisals would be necessary.

Orders by Government.

"There is no truth in the allegation that the Government connived at or supported reprisals," declared Sir Hamar in today's statement, made public in today's special communication to the Pall Mall Gazette. "The Government condemns reprisals, has issued orders condemning them, and has taken steps to prevent them.

"Nearly 100 policemen have been brutally murdered, five recently in one day by expanding bullets, resulting in horrible mutilation. In spite of the intolerable provocation, the police forces maintain their discipline, are increasing in number and efficiency, and command the support of every law-abiding citizen. The number of alleged reprisals is few and the damage done exaggerated."

Late Telegraph Briefs

Canadian Press Limited

Madam Gagnon, mother of twins, to escape hanging.

Enrolment at University of Toronto expected to total 5,500.

The Owen Sound Sun-Times is to be published thrice instead of twice a week.

Hon. R. W. Wigmore, Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, is planning a tour to explain the luxury taxes.

Dr. W. C. Arnold has been appointed Director of Medical Services of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

The preliminary peace terms of the Reds have been submitted to the Riga Conference.

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy has given the Royal assent to the Treaty of St. Germain between Italy and Austria.

Forty-five thousand rifles captured by the Germans from the Russians during the war have been sent to Gen. Wrangel.

The first three games of the World's Series will be played in Brooklyn.

Sizler of St. Louis established a new record by making his 250th hit of the season.

Miss MacKenzie and Miss Pepler of Toronto defeated Miss Alexia Stirling and Miss Annable in a foursome at Lambton yesterday.

Mrs. Albert Spenceley, of Peterboro, dropped dead while playing cards at a Veterans' party.

The Welland Tribune and The Telegraph have amalgamated, to be run as an independent paper.

The Hamilton Collegiate girls have decided to wear middies and skirts to combat the high cost of clothes.

It is reported that Sir Geo. H. Perley will return to London as High Commissioner.

The Reds are accusing the allies of sending large supplies to Poland through Danzig.

Cleveland made a clean sweep of the series with St. Louis.

The opening games in the O. R. F. U. senior series will be played on October 9.

Woodbine won the Stanley Produce Stakes, run at Woodbine Park.

Orangeville won the O.A.L.A. intermediate title, beating the Mimico and New Toronto team on the round by twenty goals.

Felsch and Williams of the Chicago White Sox confessed that they accepted bribes to throw the 1919 World Series to Cincinnati.

No Agreement Yet.

London, Sept. 30.—Representatives of the owners of coal mines and of the miners have thus far failed to reach an agreement relative to wages, which is the principal question involved in the threat of the miners to strike. The conference was held at the Board of Trade yesterday and proposals were discussed but nothing was done.

13-Year-Old Boy Was Electrocuted

Electric Wire Kills Roy Gossen On Frankford Bridge

At four o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, a terrible fatality occurred when Roy Gossen, 13-year-old son of Mr. Charles Gossen, Manager of the Frankford Canning Company, was electrocuted. The unfortunate boy, in company with a number of boy friends, had climbed up on the arch girder of the bridge across the Trent river and were near the Frankford side. In order to get down the arch it appears that the Gosesn lad started backwards on his hands and knees. It is thought while in this position he put his foot across an electric wire strung on arms at the top of the bridge. He was held there for several minutes, the electric current burning the foot off. His body being against the steel, the current passed through his body.

Finally the body fell against a girder, about twenty-five feet below. His neck was broken and his skull fractured. Dr. Simmons was called to the scene of the accident immediately but life was extinct. The injuries alone were sufficient to cause death without the electric shock.

Mr. William Smith of this city who is employed at the power house at Frankford, was the first on the scene of the accident, he removing the body from the girder in the hope that life was not yet extinct, but the unfortunate lad had passed beyond human aid.

The boy's father was in Trenton at the time but reached the scene of the fatality a short time after receiving the message.

The funeral was held at 2 o'clock this, Thursday, afternoon. Services were held at Trinity Church, Frankford, interment being made in Frankford cemetery.

ARSENIC IN MILK KILLS THREE CHILDREN

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 29.—Arsenic administered in milk made deadly by unknown hands caused the death of Shirley, four years old; Carl, two years old, and Stanley, four months old, children of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Williams, Newport, Ky., a Campbell county Coroner's jury has declared.

Blain McLaughlin, County Prosecutor, caused a sensation by calling William Simonson, chemist, to testify that analysis of the milk taken from the Williams' home following the death of the children showed a large percentage of arsenic.

WOMAN SENTENCED TO HANG FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND

Edmonton, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Sarah Jackson, tried for the murder of her husband, Hugh Jackson, at Swan River last Christmas, was found guilty by a jury here yesterday and sentenced to be hanged on December 21 next. The jury, after 20 minutes' deliberation, returned with the verdict, and made a strong plea that leniency be recommended to the Governor General at Ottawa. Mrs. Jackson is the first woman in the Province of Alberta to have been found guilty of murder and to be sentenced to be hanged.

No Patronage list in Timber Dep't

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Appearing as a witness at the Ontario timber investigation today, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Minister of Lands and Forests, declared under oath that at no time was there in his department a patronage list from which cullers and crown timber agents were appointed on the recommendation of lumber companies. Mr. Ferguson stated that he ran his department on the same principles that were in vogue when he took charge. He admitted that cullers were appointed on the recommendation of lumbermen, but was not prepared to say that this was a dangerous practice. He said that in measuring timber the department had to assume an average of honesty among people with whom the department had to deal.

Custom Receipts Increase

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Increase of almost twenty-four millions is shown in Custom receipts for six months ending today as compared with corresponding period of last year. In the month of September just closed there was an increase of more than 697,000 over September, 1919.

Baseball Players Confess to Selling of Games

MORE CONFESSIONS SECURED IN BASEBALL INVESTIGATION—1919 WORLD'S SERIES FIXED IN CHICAGO HOTEL BACK ROOM—REACHING OUT AFTER GAMBLERS IMPLICATED.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Confessions from Claude Williams and Oscar Felsch admitting that they were bribed to "throw" last year's World Series were made public today and at the same time the Grand Jury investigating the baseball scandal took its first action against the gamblers who are said to have engineered the deal by indicting two men whose identity was only partly revealed.

EFFORTS TO APPREHEND GAMBLERS.

"Brown" and "Sullivan" were the names under which true bills were voted against the alleged gamblers, and both are said to be from Boston or New York. Later, however, it came out that the jury believed these names to be mythical and used only by the men when they discussed the series "throwing" with the ball players. Possibility that they are two men whose names already have been brought before the Grand Jury and who are widely known was expressed by officials in the State Attorney's office.

LOST BEFORE IT STARTED.

The statement by Williams and the newspaper reports of Felsch's confession tallied with those made yesterday by Eddie Cicotte and Joe Jackson. They revealed that last year's World Series was settled in a tiny room in a small South Side hotel. In this room, occupied by Eddie Cicotte, once the American League's leading pitcher, the deal was made which "threw" the series, wrecked a world championship team and brought some of the greatest idols in baseball to disgrace.

Polish Successful Advance Continues

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Polish forces captured Lida, 45 miles south of Vilna, and Pinsk, ninety miles east of Brest-Litovsk, according to an official announcement issued here. The Polish advance toward the northeast is continuing and the fall of Vilna, which is the Lithuanian capital, is expected within a few days. Kamenetz-Podolsk a city on the northern bank of Dnister River, in Ukraine, has been recovered by Ukrainian troops from the Bolsheviki, it is reported.

Storm Signals Warn Mariners

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Storm signals are displayed today at Government signal stations on Lakes Ontario and Erie and the lower part of Lake Huron. Lake captains are taking unusual precautions. There is unusually heavy freight traffic on the Great Lakes this fall according to a statement of steamship agencies, and passenger traffic has extended to late in the season.

New York Fanatics Break up Meeting

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Police were called to Carnegie Hall to-night to eject a crowd of men and women who forced their way into the building during the tercentary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims

The intruders, carrying banners with anti-British inscriptions, created great disorder with shouts of "Hurrah for America! Down with England!"

The disturbance reached such proportions that it was impossible for the speakers to continue and it was decided to adjourn the meeting without further attempt to complete the program.

A group of women who said they were members of an organization known as "The American Women Pickets for the Enforcement of America's War Aims," led the intruders. Some of the banners they carried bore the names of British delegates to the tercentary celebration and characterized the delegates as "British spies."

The disturbance started when "God Save the King" was reached. Several boys and girls in a chorus of the musical program left the stage, saying they would not sing the number and that they did not know it was on the list.

Some evil-minded person or persons broke into several of the rabbit hutches about Deseronto on Saturday night and permitting the rabbits to escape set the dogs upon them. Several prized animals were found next morning lying dead on the streets. The police should investigate. —Deseronto Post.

Mother of Twins Escapes Hanging

Madame Gagnon, Murderess, Will Spend the Rest of Her Life In Prison

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Madame Gagnon, sentenced to die at Quebec on Friday morning, will serve a life imprisonment in the penitentiary. After further consideration of her case at a special meeting the Cabinet Council decided to commute the death sentence.

The action of the Government was based entirely on the fact that Madame Gagnon is nursing the twins, to which she gave birth in prison rather more than two months ago. Medical reports go to show that to execute the mother at the present stage would compromise the health of the children. It is unlikely that, in the ordinary course, there would have been any interference with the sentence of death also it has been customary in Canada to commute a sentence of death passed on a woman.

Madame Gagnon, however, was found guilty of the murder of her step-daughter under circumstances of extreme cruelty, and but for the twins would have suffered the full penalty of the law.

Cost of Living Shows Further Declines

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Further declines in the cost of living throughout Canada are to be expected. A statement from the Labor Department today says that declines in prices already noted, appear to be the beginning of a downward movement towards pre-war level. Between March and June retail prices of clothing in the United States were found to have fallen four per cent. decreases being pronounced in woollen clothing, while woollen goods, shoes, blouses and muslin underwear dropped slightly, but cotton yarns, goods, hosiery, fine underwear, shirts and overalls, gloves and hats, advanced.

50 per cent. Increase in Immigration

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—An increase of fifty per cent. in immigration in July as compared with the same month of last year, is shown in figures for the department which were issued today. In July last year there were eleven thousand immigrants and in July 1920, numbers had increased to sixteen thousand from all countries. There were over ten thousand British, and four thousand Americans.

General Wrangel in control of famous Donetz Canal Basin. Twenty thousand Bolsheviki taken prisoners.

Joseph Apert was sentenced to five years for killing Louis Tillman at Dunville at a circus.

BROGUES for Men and Women

Men's Brogues
selected stock
$12.00

Women's Brogues
Oxfords Black and Brown
$9, $10, $11

Special Clearing
40 pairs Women's Kid Boots - $4.85
48 pr. Women's Grey Boots, Louis Heels regular $12.00, clearing - - - $7.95

ADAMS The Shoeman

WHEN your eyesight begins to fail you have a right to the most expert examination to be secured. Our skillful optometrist will examine your eyes on the interior as well as the exterior. He will discover any opacities if they are present or any astigmatism of the vision. He will find out the exact degree of lens that will correct your sight.

ANGUS McFEE
OPTOMETRIST
MFG. OPTICIAN

"Say It With Flowers"

Gladiolas, Asters,
Ferns & Begonias

Artistic Floral Work
Our Specialty

T. GIVINS & SON
Florist
Forin St. Phone 189

S. J. FISHER
Licensed Auctioneer

—will conduct your Auction Sale in a business-like manner, and at reasonable rates.
Call, Phone or Write.
Office, 19 Campbell St., phone 168; or
Residence, 171 Bridge St. East, phone 1110.

Wanted
YOUNG MAN AS APPRENTICE
Apply by letter in own handwriting, to
OSTROM'S
DRUG STORE.
"The Best in Drugs"

ALL KINDS OF
Foundry and Repair Work
Prompt Service. Highest cash price for scrap iron. At the Old Walker Foundry, Belleville

Arthur McGie
MERCHANT TAILOR

We are now showing a complete stock of Fall and Winter Suitings, Overcoatings and Trousers at prices that are right. You are invited to inspect our stock.

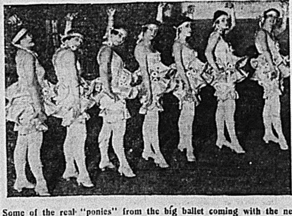
FRENCH BULBS
Just Arrived
Paper White Narcissus, 5c. each.
Roman Hyacinths, 10c. each
—Also
Chinese Lilies, 20c. each, or 2 for .... 35c.
Our Dutch Bulbs are on the way and we are expecting their arrival daily.
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
192 Front St. Phone 283

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE
BY Alex. Ray, Opt. D.
YOUR EYES SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

IF the letters on a printed page blur or seem to run into each other, an eye examination at the hands of a skilled optometrist is imperative. We will give your vision a thorough test and tell you whether you are near or far sighted or both or if because of an imperfection of the cornea an astigmatism has set in. Our service is eminently satisfactory.

Alexander Ray, Opt.D.
EXCLUSIVE EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address
THE COOK MEDICINE CO.
TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)



Some of the real "ponies" from the big ballet coming with the new edition of "My Soldier Girl," at Griffin's Theatre next Monday night, October 4th.

Morality Play Well Presented

Experience Again Drew Crowded House and Gave Good Satisfaction

And Fancy, working side by side with Truth said:
"Help me set this story down of Youth:
Of Youth with springtime ever in his heart,
And scenes of Joy where Sorrow plays no part."
And Truth said, "No, we'll write of seas had sailed,
Whose barque o'er dreams and stormy seas had failed,
We'll write of things that are and must abide,
Till Good and Evil perish side by side
Some weary Heart out where Life's breakers roar
May see our feeble light and reach the shore."
Then Fancy said, with sadness in her tone,
"You'll write it, Truth," and Truth wrote on alone,

Experience, not a new play, yet ever new in the age old problem it presents as staged at Griffin's Theatre Wednesday evening by the F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest Co., pleased by the excellent quality of the acting and scenic perfection of settings. The very severe and intense lessons in life which are firmly embedded in every line, were well brought out illustrating as it does the easy downward path to the pit, accompanied by all the evils popularly attributed to the devil. Experience gives an unclouded view of a certain type of life.

Is True to Life

The story of Experience is simple and to a certain point ordinary in the life of every city. A young man leaves his home and sweetheart, fired by ambition to conquer the world. Instead, lured by pleasure, wine, passion greed and numerous other evil influences he plunges downward through strata after strata of society, until at the point of crime he is won back to respectable society by memories of his mother. He returns to his home and sweetheart and there ambition awakes and he goes forth to success. In this characteristic only does the piece depart from the ordinary in that those who so descend, seldom return to the better life.

Handles Role of Youth Well

Mr. Gerald Rowan, as Youth, the hero of the play, gives a powerful presentation, and shows a keen sympathy with the understanding of the character he is called upon to portray. In the third, seventh and last episodes, Mr. Rowan shows himself particularly to advantage. Mr. Rowan is given many opportunities to show his art, and handles each situation with a fine sense of the dramatic.

A play, such as Experience needs good acting throughout and Mr. Rowan is supported by an able company. Mr. Henry West as Experience plays his part exceptionally well and as the guide, mentor and friend of Youth gives the audience striking examples of discretion, sympathy and understanding. Mr. Edward Settle as Ambition is also good as are each of the others. Mr. George B. Miller first as Makeshift and later as Crime, Mr. Harold Burnett as Delusion both do well.

Portrays Song Well

Of the ladies, Miss Ruth Tausaig as Love gives a pleasing presentation of the sweet girl and is ably supported by Miss Dora Matthews as Hope. Miss Patricia Carr as Song and again as Frailty shows knowledge and appreciation of her respective parts but as Song is especially clever. Miss Willia Frederick as Intoxication is in an especially difficult part and handles it with that touch of realism that goes with success. Miss Ann Delefield as Passion also gives an excellent portrayal.

The gowning of the actresses is one of the attractions of the show and coupled with the splendid scenic arrangements gives the stage the proper touch in keeping with the presentation.

The audience was large and appreciative.

o'oflatfli'Ol ..erfiH- .n . fl-....?gF

◆

A MAMMOTH SQUASH

Displayed in Mr. R. L. Zufelt's window is a squash of the Hubbard variety which measures 4 feet, 11 inches in circumference. It was grown in the garden of Mr. George Sprackett, 54 Geddes street, city.

City & Country

FIELD DAY

On Friday, October 1st, the Belleville High School holds its annual field day. It is expected that this year's program will be even more interesting than any one of those of previous years. Since teams from Trenton, Napanee and Picton are going to enter the different sports, the competition promises to be very keen. In the morning the sports are to be held at the school grounds beginning at 9 a.m. and in the afternoon at the Agricultural Grounds beginning at 1.30 p.m. It is hoped that Belleville citizens will show their interest in the home school by turning out in large numbers.

A STURDY STALK

Mr. John Haris, 29 Herchimer street the well-known market gardener, brought to The Intelligencer Office a novelty in cabbage culture, consisting of seven fully developed cabbages on one stalk, second growth at that. A fine big head having been cut originally from the stalk which demonstrated its vigor by producing seven more.

SHIPMENT OF HOGS

Yesterday and today a considerable number of live hogs were shipped from here by Messrs. D. Scott & Son and R. Empson & Son. The price paid was $20 per hundred weight.

BOYS CAUSE ANNOYANCE

Boys alleged to be annoying the keeper of a grocery on Station street were last night responsible for a call by the police. The boys decamped on the approach of the officer but the names of some were obtained and they will probably have to answer a charge of disorderly conduct.

LEFT SHOES OUTSIDE

A pair of shoes were last night found by the police hanging outside a shoe store after the latter had been closed up for the night. The shoes were taken to the police station for safe keeping.

◆

Ladies of Culture And Refinement Use DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC. It Makes the Hair Beautiful And Lustrous.

At last a remedy has been discovered that will positively destroy the Pest Dandruff.

That Dandruff is caused by germs is accepted by every sensible person.

Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC will kill the dandruff germs and remove dandruff in ten days, or money back.

The manufacturer guarantees it. It will grow hair, stop itching scalp, falling hair and make the hair thick and abundant. It prevents hair from turning grey, and adds life and lustre.

DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC is a hair dressing that has become the favorite with women of taste and culture who know the social value of beautiful hair. A large, generous bottle costs only $1.00 at leading druggists everywhere. The name "DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC" is on every bottle. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

The Deacon SHIRT

Cut roomy, yet trim—of flannels, drills, tweeds and serges that are soft, yet substantial—made with turned, felled and double-stitched seams, collars in all the popular styles. DEACON Shirts look well, feel good, and wear better.

Every shirt guaranteed—your money back for any defect in material or workmanship. Ask your dealer.

Deacon Shirt Company
Belleville - Canada 56

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

This is what consistent effort and hard work has done for Billy Moore and Billy Murphy, the clever comedians who are playing the leading comedy roles with the popular musical novelty, "My Soldier Girl," coming to Griffin's Theatre, Monday night, October 4th.

Just five seasons ago these two boys met, having been engaged to portray comedy roles in the same production, and the remarkable strides they have made in this short period has placed them on a pedestal hardly dreamed of in their boyhood days.

The comedy roles which Moore and Murphy have created in "My Soldier Girl," seemingly were written for them, therefore the theatre patron receives the best there is in them. Both are members of B.P.O.E. while Mr. Moore is also a member of the Masonic order.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN "A DAY'S PLEASURE"

"Thirty minutes in laughland," could well be the title of Charlie Chaplin's latest million dollar picture entitled, "A Day's Pleasure," which will be shown at Griffin's to-night to Saturday, with a matinee Saturday. All the humor of Chaplin's previous successes have been combined in this production the theme of which is a strong avowal of the fact that often what is intended to be a day's pleasure turns out to be a day of intense labor.

Charlie's troubles begin when he attempts to crank the family touring car, a remnant of the dark ages, and which conveyance might be barred from the more exclusive streets. However, the world's greatest comedian shafts his machine about with all the dignity of the village bank president.

The day takes a turn for the comical side the minute Chaplin's machine appears at a busy street corner. The car immediately becomes temperamental and even the wiles of the world famous comedian fail to make it obey the instructions of the traffic cop—much to the amusement of the audience.

The many admirers of Mabel Normand will be pleased to learn that she is to appear on the same program in an amusing 5-reel Goldwyn comedy, "Upstairs."

The latest chapter of "The Whirlwind," featuring Charles Hutchison, and other plays of interest have also been arranged on the same program.

Canada Can Do What Britain Has Done—

Make and Control Her Own Trade Routes with Canadian Ships.

Protected by the British Empire Navy, of which the Canadian Navy will be a unit.

It will be an honor to this country. And that contribution to All-British Sea Power in keeping with Canada's premier place within the Empire.

But we must develop Sea-Conscious Spirit
—In the People
—In the Government
—In the Schools

The Navy League of Canada

10

SINCLAIR'S

Georgette Crepes
$2.00 yard

You Save $1.00 per yard and Luxury Tax in buying THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY of, this week.

This sale provides an unusual opportunity to provide for your immediate and future requirements of Georgette Crepes. For three days only—Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week—we are placing on sale our complete stock of over FIFTY SHADES of our best selling FRENCH GEORGETTE CREPE. This is our regular $3.00 quality and at our sale price of $2.00 per yard you save $1.00 per yard as well as the Luxury Tax of 30c. per yard. See these Crepes in our window.

NO WAR TAX

Children's School Dresses
$1.65

This clearing line of about 24 Dresses is repriced for quick clearance. Included in it are Dresses in sizes 10, 12 and 14 years only, made from Chambray, Gingham, Twill and Crepe. Plain colors, plaids, stripes and combinations of colors are shown. These will make excellent school dresses. Regular $3.00 to $5.00, for $1.65

Raincoats

There will be many days this Autumn when a good Raincoat will be an absolute necessity. Don't put off buying yours till after you have been caught in the rain. Buy it now, and have it ready for the next storm. These Raincoats are both good looking and serviceable. Priced $5.00 to $24.50.

Specially Priced Sweaters

Here are two special clearing lines of Pullover Sweaters, shown in a good variety of shades. One group of Sleeveless Sweaters are marked to clear at $2.50. The others have sleeves and a collar at $3.50 each.

SINCLAIR'S

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA
Established 1873.

Progress can only be assured by looking ahead and preparing for it.

Farmers — by exercising foresight in raising cattle, hogs, and other readily saleable products — can add to their worth. This Bank aids and encourages every kind of agricultural operation.

John Elliott, Manager Belleville Branch.
Sub-branches at Melrose, Foxboro, Shannonville and Rednersville.

GRAND TRUNK—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.

Time of Departure from Belleville.

GOING EAST.

G. T. Stn. No. 18: 12.20 a.m.—Mail train, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 16: 1.51 a.m.—Fast train, flyer, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 10: 11.00 a.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 14: 12.06 p.m.—International Limited, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 6: 2.50 p.m.—The Capital City, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 28: 5.20 p.m.—Local passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 30: 9.35 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 52: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. No. 8: 2.45 a.m.—Express (runs via C.N.R. Toronto to Ottawa, daily)

GOING WEST.

G. T. Stn. No. 19: 2.10 a.m.—Mail, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 17: 4.27 a.m.—Limited Express, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 29: 7.50 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 27: 11.35 a.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
G. T. Stn. No. 5: 5.32 p.m.—The Queen City, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 9: 5.50 p.m.—Mail and Express, daily.
G. T. Stn. No. 15: 2.56 p.m.—The International Limited, daily.
C. N. Stn. No. 51: 8.40 p.m.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
C. N. Stn. No. 7: 2.45 a.m.—Express, daily (runs via C.N.R. Ottawa to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE AND MADOC.

GOING NORTH.

	Leave.	Ar. Madoc
Mixed	5.10 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Mixed	12.10 p.m.	1.50 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

	Arrive.	Lv. Madoc
Mixed	4.15 p.m.	2.50 p.m.
Mixed	10.30 a.m.	9.00 a.m.

BELLEVILLE AND PETERBORO'

GOING WEST.

	Leave.	Ar. Peterboro'
Mail	5.20 a.m.	8.00 a.m.
Passenger	5.40 p.m.	8.15 p.m.

GOING EAST.

	Arrive.	Lv. Peterboro'
Mixed	11.00 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
Mail	4.45 p.m.	2.00 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

GRIFFIN PICTURES
DIRECTION JOHN & PETER GRIFFIN

Tonight to Sat.

Special Comedy Program

Charlie Chaplin

in his latest 2-reel scream
"A Day's Pleasure"
YOU'LL SAY SO!

There's laugh ignition in every spin of Charlie's sick-cylindered engine.

Poor Charlie in his car is a "show fer" everybody.

You will "gas" about "A Day's Pleasure" for weeks.

—ALSO—

Mabel Normand

in a highly amusing 5-reel Comedy,
"UPSTAIRS"
3—OTHER VARIED PLAYS—3

COMING NEXT TUES. AND WED.—MARGUERITE CLARK in "LET'S ELOPE."

We ould Be Delighted

—to make a portrait of you by the photographic method in our studio, or if you prefer it, in your own home, with home surroundings. We would be just as well pleased to do the work of taking the negatives there. Make the appointment today.

T. Donoahue
232 Front Street.

Efficiency

Good sight is of great importance in doing good work, and because glasses help good sight they aid efficiency.

To make sure of the utmost helpfulness from Blackburn glasses, interested personal attention is given each detail of testing eyes, making the lenses, selecting the frames and fitting the glasses.

For to make the glasses efficient for our patrons we ourselves must be highly efficient in the making of the glasses.

T. Blackburn
Jeweler and Optician

Cooler Days and Evenings

—gives one a renewed appetite for candy. We have a very choice assortment to choose from: Marshmallows, Creams, Tablets, Humbugs, Chocolate Bars in many varieties, Chocolate Almonds, Maple Buds, Pastilles, Clear Gums, etc., etc.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

FURS

Of Quality

Our stock of Manufactured Furs comprises a complete assortment of the season's latest novelties.

MADE TO ORDER GARMENTS

From the newest models.

MISS GRAHAM
10 Everett St. Phone 415

HELPLESS WITH RHEUMATISM

Until He Took "Fruit-a-tives" The Fruit Medicine

R. R. No. 1. Lorne, Ont.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. I treated with doctors, and tried nearly everything without benefit. Finally, I tried "Fruit-a-tives". Before I had used half a box I saw improvement; the pain was easier and the swelling started to go down. I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

ALEXANDER MUNRO.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

33 years ago an ulcer appeared on my ankle," writes Mrs. Jeffrey, of Methuen, Mass. "In spite of all the remedies I used, it spread to my knee, and developed into an open sore. I had medical treatment for twenty-five years, but only got temporary relief. The pain I suffered was terrible, and for years I was unable to leave the house.

"One day I saw in a newspaper an account of a bad ulcer having been cured by Zam-Buk. Although I was skeptical, now, of anything curing me—having tried so many remedies in vain—I decided to give Zam-Buk a trial. I applied the balm freely every day and to my delight the sore soon showed some improvement. Gradually the inflammation was drawn out, the pain was ended, and, after thirty years of suffering, I realized I was on the road to recovery. With perseverance, the awful sore was finally completely healed, and, although that was three years ago, there has not been the slightest trace of the ulcer returning."

Zam-Buk is the best remedy, also, for eczema, boils, pimples, blood-poisoning, piles, burns, scalds and cuts. All dealers, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

Zam-Buk

POTTED BLOATER
POTTED ANCHOVY
In tins at 20c.
from England.
At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

New Goods and Fresh Supplies Arriving Daily

- Fine and Granulated Oatmeal
- Jireh Wheat and Barley
- Cream of Barley
- H-O Oatmeal
- Robinson's Patent Groats
- Robinson's Patent Barley
- Graham Flour
- Pearl Barley
- Two-Minute Oats
- Bran
- MacLaren's Imperial Cheese (jars)
- Robertson's Scotch Marmalade
- Candied Ginger, in tins
- Neilson's Italian Chocolates, lb. 80c.
- Oatcakes, pkgs. 18c.
- Delicious Teas and Coffee

At WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE'S

WE WILL TELL YOU

—exactly what we know of any brand of goods we sell. We do not say things are cheap merely because low priced. But, if you'd cut expenses down, we can help you by recommending groceries we know give greatest value and satisfaction for the money you have to spend.

Phone DAY 531

The comfortable results of correct living generally shine right out in the faces of people who drink

POSTUM

A delightfully flavored beverage —healthful and Economical
Sold by grocers.

The Thirteenth Commandment

by

RUPERT HUGHES

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

Now Daphne was truly a working woman; not a dramatic artist with peculiar hours, but a toiler by the clock. She entered the office of the company at half-past eight, punched her number on the time register, and set to work addressing large envelopes. She wrote and wrote and wrote till twelve; at one she took up her pen again, and the afternoon went in an endless reiteration of dip and write, till five-thirty. Then she joined the home-going panic and took the crowded subway to Columbus circle.

She plodded the treadmill, till at the end of the sixth day, her forty-eighth hour of transcribing names and addresses from the lists to the wrappers, she carried off a cash reward of eight dollars. This was not clear gain. Her street car fares had totaled sixty cents, her lunches a dollar and a half; she had worn her costumes at the sleeves and damaged them with a few ink spots, and her shoes were taking on a shabby nap.

It was not encouraging.

At Daphne's left elbow was a large, fat girl whose pen rolled off large, fat letters. She talked all the time about nothing of importance, laughed and fidgeted and asked questions that would have been impertinent if they had come from anything but a large, fat head.

Her name was Maria Pribik. She was a Bohemian of the second generation; but she was dyed in the wool with New Yorkishness. She was an incessant optimist and kept reminding everybody to "cheer up, goils, the woisst might be woisser yet."

Daphne's luck did not last long. The receivers found that the percentage of inquiries following upon the advertising and circularizing campaigns was hardly paying the postage. People were either too poor to buy books or too busy with the molten history pouring from the caldrons of Europe. Yesterday's paper was ancient history enough.

The receivers closed down the business abruptly on a Saturday and instructed the manager to announce to his flock that there would be no more work at present. Daphne's heart stopped. Here she was again, learning again the dreadful significance of "out of a job"—what the theatrical people called "at liberty."

Miss Pribik looked at Daphne and noted her gloom. "Say, kid, listen here. Whyn't choo come with me? I can land you a job at the Lar de Lucks. Guy name of Goist is the boss and he'll always gimme a job or any lady friend. He's kind of rough, but what's the diff? His money buys just as much as anybody's. We better beat it over there ahead this bunch."

Daphne murmured her hasty thanks and they left at once. Miss Pribik led the way to a huge building full of "Pants Makers," "Nightshirt Makers," "Waist Makers," and publishers of calendars, favors and subscription books. She asked for Mr. Gerst, saw him, beckoned him over, and hailed him with bravado:

"Well, Mist' Goist, here I am, back to the mines. This is me friend Kip. I want you should give her a job—and me, too."

Daphne faced Mr. Gerst's inspection without visible flinching, though she was uneasy within. Gerst was a large, flamboyant brute with eyes that seemed less to receive light than to send forth vision. He had an inquisitive and stripping gaze. But Daphne must endure it. After ransacking Daphne with his eyes, he grunted: "You look pretty good to me, kiddo. You can begin Monday."

"Thanks," said Daphne, humbly.

"I'm comin', too," said Miss Pribik.

"All right," said Gerst. "It's time you did. We'll take some of that beef off you." And he playfully pinched her arm.

Adroitly evading his pincers, Miss Pribik led the way out, and Daphne trailed her outside.

Daphne loathed and feared the man already. He stood like a glowering menace in the path ahead of her.

Monday morning at eight Daphne reported for work with the L'Art de Luxe Publishing society, pronounced by its own people (who ought to know) "Lar de Lucks."

This firm was engaged in the peculiarly Anglo-Saxon business of grazing the censorship as closely as possible. It printed everything that it dared to print under the whimsically Puritanic eye of the law. Toward the authorities it turned the white side of a banner of culture claiming to put in the hands of the people the noblest works of foreign genius and defying any but an impure mind to find impurity in its classic wares. The other side of the banner was purple and informed the customers by every prurient innuendo that the books were published in their entirety without expurgation. Vice has its hypocritical cant no less than religion.

◆

Anti-British mob breaks up New New York meeting honoring pilgrims Call delegates British spies.

Wall street explosion death list now numbers 37.

SPORT

G.T.R. 8—PETERBORO 7

At the Agricultural Park here yesterday afternoon despite the chilly atmosphere there was a good attendance of baseball fans of the city present to witness a return game of base ball between the G.T.R. team of this city and Peterboro team, the champions this year of the Central Ontario League. At Peterboro on Saturday last, our team was shut out by a score of 1 to 0, but yesterday the tables were turned, the G.T.R. team winning out by a score of 8 to 7 in an eight innings game. As the Peterboro team had to catch their train for home the ninth innings was dispensed with. It was a good game of ball and the result was pleasing to the crowd. During its progress considerable hitting was done by members of both teams. Fred Goyer, Belleville's ace pitcher did well in the box and was ably supported in the field, the errors being few and far between. Kerr pitched five innings for the Peterboro team and Harrison the other three. Goyer had nine strike outs to his credit. Mr. Ed. Thomas was umpire on balls and strikes and Rev. D. C. Ramsay on bases. The play of the various innings was as follows:

1st Innings

Peterboro—Cherritt flew to H. Mills Murray flew to Frank Goyer. Ross struck out. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Meagher out at 1st. Weir made a hit to centre field. Frank Goyer hit to centre field. W. Mills flew to McKenney. Meagher out at 3rd. Weir scored on wild throw. Parker made a two base hit scoring Frank Goyer. Phillips out at 1st. Two runs, 3 hits, 1 error.

2nd Innings

Peterboro—Harrison out at 1st. R. Rose made a hit to centre field. L. Rose walked. Kirn struck out Shaughnessy, made a hit to right field scoring L. Rose. McCarney struck out. One run, 2 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—H. Mills out at 1st. Symons made a hit to right field. Fred Goyer struck out. Meagher made a hit to right field. Weir flew to McKenney. No runs, 2 hits, 0 errors.

3rd Innings

Peterboro—Cheritt reached 1st on a bunt. Murray out at 1st. Cherritt came home on a wild throw to 3rd. Ross flew to W. Mills. Harrison made a two bagger to centre field. R. Rose out at 2nd. Harrison scoring. Two runs, 1 hit, 1 error.

G.T.R.—Frank Goyer out at 1st. W. Mills reached 1st on infield hit. Parker flew to L. Rose. Phillips flew to L. Rose. No runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

4th Innings

Peterboro—L. Rose made a triple to right field. Kirn flew to W. Mills. Shaughnessy struck out. L Rose out trying to reach home. No runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—H. Mills walked. Symons made hit to centre field. Fred Goyer made a three bagger hit to right field scoring H. Mills and Symons. Meagher flew to R. Rose. Weir walked. Frank Goyer out at 1st. W. Mills flew to McCarney. Two runs, 2 hits, 0 errors.

5th Innings

Peterboro—McCarney out at 1st. Cherritt walked. Murray out at 1st. Harrison out at 1st. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Parker out at 1st. Phillips struck out. H. Mills flew to L. Rose. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

6th Innings

Peterboro—R. Rose out at 1st. L. Rose fouled to W. Mills. Kirn struck out. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Symons out at 1st. Fred Goyer out at 1st. Meagher out at 1st. No hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

7th Innings

Peterboro—Shaughnessy made a hit to centre field. McCarney made a bunt reaching 1st. Shaughnessy out at 2nd. Cherritt made a bunt reaching 1st. Murray made a hit scoring McCarney and Cherritt. Ross made a hit. Harrison struck out. R. Rose made a two bagger scoring Murray and Ross. L. Rose out at 1st. Four runs, 4 hits, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Weir walked. Frank Goyer made a two bagger to right field. W. Mills made a two bagger scoring Weir and Frank Goyer. Parker made a three bagger to centre field scoring W. Mills. Cap Smith replaced Phillips and reached 1st on a bunt, Parker scoring. H. Mills struck out. Smith out at 3rd. Symons struck out. Four runs, 3 hits.

8th Innings

Peterboro—Kirn struck out. Shaughnessy made a hit to right field reaching 1st. McCarney out at 1st. Cherritt struck out. No runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

G.T.R.—Fred Goyer hit by pitched ball. Meagher out at 1st on a bunt. Weir walked. Fred Goyer out at 3rd. Frank Goyer out at 1st. No runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

The line up of the teams was as follows:

G.T.R.—Meagher, 3rd b.; Weir, s.s.; Frank Goyer, 2nd b.; W. Mills, c.; Parker, c.f.; Phillips, 1st b.; H. Mills, r.f.; Symons,; l.f.; Fred Goyer, p. Cap Smith, spare.

Peterboro—Cherritt, s.s.; Murray, 3rd b.; Ross, c.; Harrison, 1st and p.; R. Rose, 2nd b.; L. Rose, l.f.; Kirn, p. and 1st b.; Shaughnessy, r.f.; McCarney, c.f.

Score by innings:
G.T.R.—2 0 0 2 0 0 4 0—8.
Peterboro—1 2 0 0 4 0 0 0—7.

GAMBLERS TRIED TO FIX 1920 SERIES

New York, Sept. 29.—District Attorney Lewis of King's county announced today that he would start an immediate investigation of a report that a clique of gamblers plan to bribe members of the Brooklyn Nationals purposely to lose games to their American League opponents in the coming world's series.

Last year's bowling league on Y. M. C. A. alleys proved very successful with splendid recreation and interesting contests. The prospects for this season are excellent and the bowlers will meet Friday evening at eight o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. to organize and prepare schedules.

Grumbling, But Staying

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

More than one-fifth of the population of the United States lives in thirty-three cities. And 99 per cent. of that population is always talking about how fine it would be to live in the country.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

Heart and Stomach Trouble Why have Them?

Do you know that Vital Tablets purify the stomach, removes the gas and therefore helps the heart. They are a wonderful tonic. If you are not feeling well, don't know just what is wrong, go and get a box of Vital Tablets. At all drug stores or by mail. The Scobell Drug Co., Montreal. Price 50c a box or 6 for $2.50. Sold in Belleville at Doyle's Drug Store.

Saskatchewan—

A Province of Inherent Wealth

Saskatchewan has played an important part in gaining for Canada her place amongst the great wheat producing countries of the world. In 1915, 56% of Canada's bumper crop was reaped in that Province. This year, estimates say that 136,000,000 bushels of the Dominion's total of 289,000,000 bushels, will be produced there.

Province of Saskatchewan 6% Gold Bonds at 96.62 yield 6.30% for Twenty Years

The value of this Province's 1920 wheat and oat crop alone is estimated at $400,000,000. This large natural wealth constitutes one of the reasons that Saskatchewan bonds rank high in investment circles.

We offer, in $500 and $1,000 denominations, $3,000,000 of this Province's 6% Gold Bonds at 96.62 yielding 6.30%.

Mail your order or telegraph at our expense for a descriptive circular.

Wood, Gundy & Company
Canadian Pacific Railway Building
Toronto

OFF AGAIN TO THE LAND OF NOD

—where babies do their growing

That's the kind of a baby to have—drops right off without any fuss, as soon as his meal is finished.

The baby nourished on Eagle Brand is a comfort to the whole household. For as every nurse and mother knows, sound sleep depends on proper feeding, especially in hot weather.

The Leader Since 1857

Borden's Eagle Brand is the safe and reliable infant food when Nature's supply is insufficient. It is prepared from rich cow's milk, and even in the withering heat of midsummer it is uniformly pure with no possibility of contamination. It is easily digestible, wholesome and economical with a 63 year record as the standard infant food.

At better groceries; drug stores too.

THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
MONTREAL

11-620

THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED
EAGLE BRAND
GAIL BORDEN
EAGLE BRAND
Gail Borden
THE BORDEN COMPANY LIMITED MONTREAL, CANADA

Borden's EAGLE BRAND

"NOTHING but the tea leaves left to tell my fortune by, eh, Dot?"

"Well there's no sugar left anyway, Harry. I can see good fortune in that. You make the money, and I'll help on the savings by using Lantic. It certainly takes less."

As fine as the silver, as snowy white as the linen in homes of refinement, yet its thrifty goodness earns for Lantic a hearty welcome in the humblest home. Multiply your saving of sugar in each cup, at each meal, by 365 days, and the yearly saving by using Lantic becomes considerable.

Write for Lantic Library. Three new Cook Books on Preserving, Cakes and Candies and Desserts. Sent FREE for a Red Ball Trade-mark, cut from a sack or from the top panel of a Lantic carton. Write for them today.

because it's fine!

In 2-lb. and 5-lb. cartons. 10-lb., 20-lb. and 100-lb. bags. 14A

Daily Intelligencer.

Printed and published every afternoon (except Sundays) for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) in the City of Belleville, County of Hastings Province of Ontario, at their offices, 227 Front Street, Charles James Bowell, Publisher.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Measurement, Agate, 14 lines to the inch. Display advertisements, 10c. per line. Reading advertisements, 15c. per line. Legal advertisements, 10c. per line first insertion, 5c. per line subsequent insertions. Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual contract rates. Minimum space 10 lines. Births, 50c. each insertion. Marriages, $1.00 each insertion. Deaths or funeral notices, either singly or combined, $1.00. In Memoriams not exceeding 10 lines, $1.00. Rates for condensed advertisements will be found elsewhere. Business cards by the year at low rates. Further information may be obtained at The Intelligencer business office.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Edition—One year delivered in city, $7.00; one year, post office box or general delivery, $4.00; one year by mail to rural offices, $4.00; one year to U.S.A., $3.00. Weekly edition—One year by mail, $2.00; one year to U.S.A., $2.00; six months pro rata. All above subscriptions payable in advance or an additional amount of 20 per cent. will be added

GERMANY HAS NO INTENTION OF KEEPING FAITH.

The London Times, in an article dealing with German army plans, recalls that Napoleon, after he overran middle Europe, imposed upon Prussia the obligation not to maintain an army of more than 42,000 men and not to raise an exceptional force of militia, or of citizen guards, or any force of a kind to increase the regular army. Prussia pledged herself to observe these conditions (September 8, 1808) and immediately set to work to evade them. Everybody knows the success with which she did so. Scharnhorst and Gneisenau invented the scheme, and Hardenberg and the King supported it underhand, while openly they loaded Napoleon with fulsome assurance of fidelity and devotion. In 1813-14, after a course of lying and dissimulation by Frederick William and his Chancellor, which moves even Treitschke to disgust, Prussia put into the field 271,000 men—one in every seventeen of her inhabitants. The "militarists" had kept the word of promise to the ear. They had seemed to limit the army to 42,000, but they had passed through its ranks for a short period of intensive training in successive drafts the whole population of military age. The regular army, with its veteran officers and non-commissioned officers, was the school of the "People in Arms" during the truce and its nucleus when summoned to war.

There is the fullest evidence that ever since they recovered from the first shock of the armistice, German soldiers and German statesmen have been repeating these tactics. Some they scarcely trouble to conceal. New formations under half-a-dozen names were immediately enrolled. Their character was unmistakable. They were troops, and some of them picked troops, with organization, discipline, arms and equipment, fitted for war, and for nothing but war. In response to Allied complaints, some o fthese forces have been ostensibly dissolved. Their names have been changed, but in substance the most effective have been preserved. The most formidable of them, the so-called "Security Police," has not even changed its title. It is a real corps d'elite, composed of veterans, armed to the teeth, equipped with artillery, and even, it is said, with airplanes. It has just been employed to "intern" Polish troops which have crossed the frontier—remarkable work for mere civilian police, as the German government declare this Sicherheitspolizel to be. The treaty, as modified in favor of Germany, limits her regular army to 200,000, to be reduced to 100,000 by January 1, 1921. Nominally, she has reduced it to the 200,000, but in fact she is using it, exactly as Prussia used the royal army after Jena, as a mill through which she is passing the material for a huge conscript army. The officers do not conceal that the creation of such an army is their purpose. Attempts at concealment from competent observers would be hopeless. The whole machinery for conscription remains intact to belie them.

Conscription in Force.

Germany, it is true, has pledged her oath and her honor not to maintain a conscript army. She has undertaken to substitute for it a long-service voluntary army. She is not keeping her word; that is all. She says she cannot get recruits for long service—no recruits to feed an army of 100,000 men out of a population of 60,000,000, of whose military spirit every historian boasts! So she has not repealed her conscription law. It is still in force, and every German of military age is still bound to serve under its provisions. They are serving. There is no difficulty about getting recruits. They are being passed through the mill of the Reichswehr of the German democratic Republic precisely as the Krumpers were passed through the mill of the royal Prussian army of the Hohenzollerns in preparation for 1813. Each batch of recruits is kept with the colors for a few weeks, and then sent home to make room for the next. They are sent home, but their addresses are carefully registered. A high proportion of the veteran regulars demobilized are not even sent home. They are transferred from the ranks of the Reichswehr to the sham police forces or to other organizations under a civilian disguise, from which they can be immediately called up. On paper, indeed, the whole military population can be called up almost as expeditiously as in August, 1914. The old lists and indexes have been preserved and brought up to date. Up to and including last year's class, the system is complete. Special care is devoted to the retention of non-commissioned officers and members of the technical services. Neither can be improvised; both are indispensable for the projected conscript army. The N.C.O.'s are necessary to give the finishing touches to the Krumpers; the technicians to handle their special weapons and instruments, from heavy guns and aircraft to field telegraphs and poison gases.

But far more eloquent than all the rest of Germany's intention to defy the Treaty and restore her army on pre-war lines is its projected formation. It is from no mere desire to have a second 100,000 in the ranks that her soldiers are pressing so eagerly to have the numbers of the Reichswehr fixed at 200,000. It is because 200,000 can be distributed into 17 divisions, and, by the plans already in partial operation, the seventeen divisions can be readily expanded into as many army corps. With 200,000 Reichswehr distributed into seventeen divisions on the old territorial basis, the skeleton of the pre-war German army will be complete—with the exception, of course, of the contingents furnished by the lost provinces and by the districts at present in Allied occupation.

Old Army Preserved.

This is what the distribution of the Reichswehr is to be, according to the German Note to the Allies at San Remo. There are to be twelve divisions and five "reinforced brigades"—which is only another name for divisions; in other words, the cadres of seventeen territorial army corps are to be preserved. The preservation of the cadres of the old army from top to bottom is the supreme object of the German "militarists," and it is in order to facilitate the attainment of this object at the top that they are so extremely anxious to keep the numbers of the Reichswehr at 200,000. At the bottom, they are pursuing it by identifying, so far as possible, the battalions of the Republican Reichswehr with the regiments of the old Imperial Army. The old regimental and squadron numbers are retained, and so are the old uniforms.

Every soldier knows what these things mean in preserving the traditional spirit among troops, and that spirit in the Reichswehr remains the spirit of "Prussian militarism"—the very temper which the ex-Emperor boasted that he and his ancestors had fostered, and in which he gratefully acknowledged he and his House had ever found their chief support. The danger caused by Germany's persistent resistance to disarmament has naturally appealed to the public more strongly than that caused by her equally persistent effort to reform or rather to conserve, the essential frame of the Prusso-German military and "militarist" system. The danger of her retention of great numbers of guns and rifles is more obvious to the layman than the more subtle, but more formidable, danger lurking behind her petition for a regular army of 200,000 men.

But while armaments have excited attention and present numbers have been notified, the cardinal feature in the whole scheme of the Great General Staff has been generally overlooked. To that feature material is but a supplement and the 200,000 but a means. The reconstruction of the old Prusso-German conscript and "militarist" army is the object. It may be attained without the existing guns and rifles; it cannot be attained on the present plan without the 17 territorial brigades, and for these brigades the 200,000 men are indispensable. Latet anguis in herba. That is the secret.

CRISP COMMENT

A Canadian dollar would look like thirty cents if the free traders had their way—and also act like thirty cents.

× × ×

The free trade wing of the Mackenzie King party wink the other eye in the east and say "We're only kidding the western farmers." They can keep on kidding, but Canada wants no kids in public office.

× × ×

Newspaper paragraphers are making merry over the fact that Belleville's new chief of police is named Captain Kidd. Kidding Capt. Kidd at long distance is safe enough, but from all accounts it will not be wise to kid Capt. Kidd too much at short range.

× × ×

A contributor to the Chicago Tribune came to Montreal, doubtless for a spree, and told in a write-up how easy it was for him to obtain whiskey "openly over the bar." This is quoted by the Toronto Globe as a warning against beer and light wines. There are no bars in Montreal, but spirits are sold under regulation. There is, according to official evidence, more hard liquor consumed in New York now than before prohibition became "effective".—Montreal Herald.

× × ×

The Dominion Government patronage is at the moment almost too fat for easy digestion, says the Montreal Herald. It has on its hands a High Commissioner in London, a minister at Washington, a permanent representative at the headquarters of the League of Nations, the chief justiceship of Canada, a chairman for the Board of Commerce, a Solicitor-General, and other smaller jobs too numerous to mention but quite remunerative. Don't all speak at once.

× × ×

There is a better market for smiles than frowns.—Kingston Whig.

× × ×

Lloyd George has the world beaten when it comes to juggling a handful of crises.—Toledo Blade.

× × ×

That man in Toronto who asked to have his assessment increased so that he could vote deserves a monument. How many people pay taxes and don't vote?—Kingston Standard.

× × ×

What do you think Texas ought to do about the negro who has just been pardoned after serving eight years of a life sentence for a crime of which he has been proven innocent?—Houston Post.

× × ×

Miss Green (at her first ball game)—Isn't the pitcher perfectly splendid? He hits the club nearly every throw.—Boston Transcript.

OTHER VIEWS

Rule and Exception

Vancouver Sun (Ind.)

Many a man puts his foot in it every time he opens his mouth, but the more the Hon. Arthur Meighen talks the fewer opponents he has. It takes an exception to prove the rule.

Excellent Evidence

Hamilton Herald

Lindsay Crawford's Statesman has very bitter things to say about President Tom Moore and Secretary Paddy Draper of the Dominion Trade congress and of Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor. Which fact is to the credit of those three labor leaders, indicating, as it does, that they are sound, loyal Canadians.

The Boy Scouts

Hamilton Spectator

As a refreshing counter-irritant to the gloomy pessimism displayed toward the Boy Scout movement lately by John Burns, a fallen idol in British politics the London Daily Telegraph concludes a eulogy of their association with these remarks:

"They have a frankness and a courage of bearing which distinguishes them from their fellows who have not passed through the ranks of ordered comradeship. Above all, they have acquired that mysterious quality of handiness which enables them somehow to be on the spot when they are wanted and to do the right thing at the right time, with cheerful briskness. The Boy Scout is one of the best hopes of the world. More power to their poles! There are still foul dragons which await their slaying."

A LAUGH OR TWO

Drawing the Line on Love

I'd steal the Kohinoor, love,
To bind your necklace rare;
I'd steal the sunset's gold, love,
And twine it in your hair;
To grace your queenly brow, love,
I'd filch the morning star;
But darned if I'll agree, love,
To let you drive my car!

Overpowering Leonidas

"Leonidas!" exclaimed Mrs. Meekton, "are you aware that I was reading my essay on politics aloud to you?

"Yes, my dear."

"But you went to sleep."

"Why not? You removed every doubt so thoroughly and solved every problem so completely that I saw no further reason for retaining personal consciousness."

Domestic Economics

"If you wear overalls, girlie, you can save on skirts."

"Then I can buy that lace waist."

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Incomes of More Than Two Thousand Dollars

For the accumulation of an estate, sound long-term bonds offer many advantages—among others, ready convertibility.

And just now, owing to the fact that money is scarce and interest rates high, good bonds are selling at low prices.

But in the choice of bonds purchased, discrimination should be exercised.

Incomes of more than two thousand dollars are subject to income tax. And this includes income from interest on securities.

Some Victory Bonds are tax free.

Naturally, the net income yield from these bonds is higher than on some other securities which, though they may pay higher interest, are subject to taxation.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those, FREE FROM INCOME TAX, falling due in 1933 and 1937.

Dominion of Canada 5½% Bonds

Victory Bonds Free from Dominion Income Taxes

Due	Price		Yield
Dec., 1922	98	and interest	6.37%
Nov., 1923	98	and interest	6.14%
Dec., 1927	97	and interest	6.00%
Nov., 1933	96½	and interest	5.88%
Dec., 1937	98	and interest	5.68%

Victory Bonds Subject to the Usual Income Taxes

Due	Price		Yield
Nov., 1924	97	and interest	6.27%
Nov., 1934	93	and interest	6.24%

We shall welcome an opportunity to serve you in your investment matters irrespective of the amount of your funds.

DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION LIMITED.

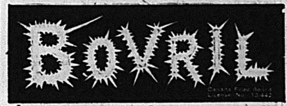
Established 1901

E. R. Wood - - - President
G. A. Morrow - Vice-President
J. W. Mitchell - Vice-President
W. S. Hodgens - - Secretary
J. A. Fraser - - - Treasurer
T. H. Andison - Ass't Secretary
A. F. White - - Ass't Treasurer

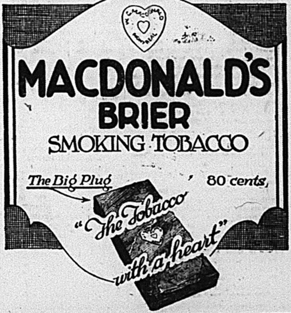
HEAD OFFICE:
26 KING STREET EAST
TORONTO

MONTREAL BRANCH
Canada Life Building
R. W. Steele - - Manager

LONDON, ENG., BRANCH
No. 6 Austin Friars
A. L. Fullerton, Manager



Canada Food Board License No. 13-442



TO THE RESCUE

The HOOVER comes to the rescue of every woman who knows the drudgery of housecleaning.

THE WOMAN WHO CLEANS WITH A HOOVER LOOKS HER BEST AT ALL TIMES. : : :

The HOOVER gets all the dirt and does it thoroughly, without injury to the carpets.

THE HYDRO SHOP
Contractors in all kinds of Electric Wiring
32 BRIDGE STREET

Belleville Business Directory

The professional fraternity of our city will find under this head an exceptionally advantageous investment, the returns hitherto obtained making the extremely moderate rates but normal. By consulting our price list in another column or calling at The Intelligencer business office, full information may be obtained.

ASELSTINE'S
MOTOR BUS AND AUTO LIVERY
TWEED AND BELLEVILLE
Motor Bus leaves Tweed at . . . 7.45
Leaves Belleville at 8.10
Phone 229 . . . . Belleville

WM. CARNEW
Barrister, etc.
County Crown Attorney.
Office: Court House Building.
Phones: Office, 238; House, 436.

C. J. HALLIDAY
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER
Designing, Planning and Estimating Plans made to meet approval of the Ontario Housing Committee a specialty.
212 George St.

REAL ESTATE.
Insurance—Life and Fire.
Estates Managed.
Debentures Bought and Sold.
J. C. McCARTHY
278 Front St., Belleville.

INSURANCE
Frame Buildings — 75c. to $1.00 per $100.00.
Brick Buildings—50c. to 75c. per $100.
Reduction of 10c. for lightning rods or metal roof. Why pay higher rates when you can get cheaper rates and company guaranteed?
Bring in your policies and let me quote many rates before you renew your insurance.
CHANCEY ASHLEY
299 Front Street . . . Belleville

MEDICAL.

DR. F. G. WALLBRIDGE
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
91 Bridge St. E. Tel. No. 368.

MIKEL & ALFORD
Barristers, etc.
Solicitors for the Molson's Bank.
W. C. Mikel, K.C. G. Alford
Offices: Belleville and Trenton.

J. D. COLLIP
FLORIST
CUT FLOWERS IN SEASON
Wedding and Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Night Phone 175. Day Phone 205

PORTER, BUTLER & PAYNE
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc.
E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; E. J. Butler; Chas. A. Payne.
Money to loan on mortgages and investments made.
Solicitors for Union Bank.
Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

R. H. KETCHESON
Agent for
Live Stock Insurance; Canadian Fire Insurance Co.; Inter-State Queen Fire Insurance Co.; York Railway Accident Insurance Co.

HARDWOOD FLOORS
When you require anything in the line of Hardwood Flooring get my prices before placing your order, as I keep all varieties in stock and prices right.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
Telephone: 72; r81
R. F. D. 3, Belleville.

ARCHITECT.

BEAUMONT JARVIS
ARCHITECT AND ENGINEER
OFFICE: 8 CAMPBELL ST.
Phone 705. Belleville, Ont.

C. B. Scantlebury
ARCHITECT ON INTERIORS
Church, Bank and House Decorating. Painting, Graining and Mural Decorations.
Designs, Sketches, Specifications and Estimates Submitted.
Address: 312 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON & PONTON
W. N. PONTON, K.C.
R. D. PONTON
Offices: Belleville and Stirling.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners.
Offices: North Bridge St.
Solicitors for the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal, and the Town of Deseronto. Money to loan on mortgage.

FIRE, LIFE, AUTO & ACCIDENT
Fair rates, and the best English, Canadian and United States companies.
Your business will receive prompt, careful and expert attention.
Insure with
The H. F. KETCHESON CO., Ltd.
H. Freeman Ketcheson, Mgr.,
28 Bridge Street,
Telephone 228. Belleville, Ont.

GEO. A. REID
GREAT-WEST LIFE
District Agent.
BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD
Office: 8 Campbell St.

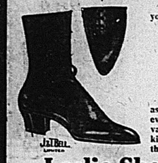
BEAUTIFUL SHOWING OF
Autumn Dress Fabrics
A Magnificent Showing of New Dress Materials, Embracing the Choicest Weaves, Most Beautiful Colorings Created this Season.

DRESS GOODS.
All Wool Serge in Navy, Black, Brown, Copen. and Purple. Special value at $2.50
ALL WOOL SERGE
50 ins. and 54 ins. wide, in Black, Navy, Copen., Taupe and Brown; priced at $4.50 to $6.00.
TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, in Navy, Copen. and Brown, priced at $5.50
BROADCLOTH, in Navy, Brown, Black, priced at $5.00 and $6.00
ARMURE TRICOTINE, 50 ins. wide, all wool, in Navy, Copen. and Reindeer. Special value at $5.00
VELOURS in the new shades, priced at $5.00
ALL WOOL JERSEY CLOTH in newest shades, at $5.00 and $6.00.

DRESS SILKS
HABUTAI SILKS, 36 ins. wide in white and black, priced at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.
PAILETTE SILKS in Navy, White, Taupe Brown, Green, Grey, 36 ins. Good value at $2.50.
DUCHESSE SATINS in the newest shades of Navy, Brown, Sand, Taupe, Grey, Orchid, in a good heavy quality. Priced at $3.50.
TAFFETA SILKS in a big showing of plain and shot effects —36 ins. wide, good value at $3.50.
BLACK DRESS SILKS in three special values:
36 inch Pailette Silk at .. $3.00
36 inch Duchesse Silk at $3.50
36 inch Duchesse Satin, extra heavy quality, at $4.50

EARLE & COOK CO.

Autumn Footwear



Ladies and Men, we invite your inspection of our
New Fall Shoes
as our lines are complete in every detail, and the greatest variety of styles and different kinds of leather can be seen at the
Leslie Shoe Store
PHONE 553.
SEE SPECIAL BARGAIN TABLES.

Hudson Seal Coats
The Hudson Seal coat is the most practical, the most serviceable and the most reliable of fur coats, and in spite of the high price of furs we are in a position to offer plain and untrimmed HUDSON SEAL COATS at .... $330.00 and up, in 30 to 48 inch lengths.
We extend a cordial invitation to you to come in and see these coats.
DELANEY
Belleville's Exclusive Furrier.
17 Campbell Street.
PHONE 797. OPP. Y.M.C.A.

Ladies' White Stockings—Special
Just received a quantity of very slightly damaged White Stockings, sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10. For a few days we will sell them at
39c per Pair
THE BEEHIVE
CHAS. N. SULMAN

KELLAWAY'S
PHONE 91 Cor. Bridge & Everett Sts.

SPECIALS FOR THIS WEEK

Peaches, 11 quart basket	75c.	Regular 70c. Broom	55c.
Riene Claude Gages, 11-qt. basket,	75c.	Fancy $1.00 Broom	88c.
Granulated Sugar, lb.	22c.	Corn Starch, 2 pkgs.	25c.
Baby's Own Soap, 2 bars	25c.	Benson's Corn Starch, 18c., for	15c.
Glycerine Soap, bar	5c.	Silver Gloss Starch, 18c., for	15c.
Ammonia Powder, 3 pkgs.	24c.	Lily Baking Powder, 35c. for	25c.
Pure Borax, 3 pkgs.	24c.	Aunt Dinah Molasses, 2 for	24c.
Stovepipe Varnish, 2 for	25c.	Crown Corn Syrup, 5 lb. pail	68c.
Zebra Stove Polish, 3 for	25c.	Jello, 2 pkgs.	25c.
Black Knight Stove Polish, 2 for	25c.	Pure Gold Jelly Powders, 2 for	25c.
Glosso Stove Polish, 2 for	25c.	Pure Cocoa, bulk, lb.	39c.
Rickett's Bluing, 3 squares	6c.	Lipton's Cocoa, ½ lb. can	32c.
Best Norwegian Sardines, tin	27c.	Good Black Tea, lb.	49c.
Cohoe Red Salmon, 1 lb. tin	34c.	Good Japan Tea, lb.	49c.
Cohoe Red Salmon, ½ lb. can	20c.	Soda Biscuits, 22c., for	18c.
Pink Salmon, 1 lb. can	20c.	Soda Biscuits, 45c., for	35c.
Kippered Herring, tin	23c.	Fancy Cakes, 40c., for	35c.
Chicken Haddie, tin	23c.	Raspberry Jam, pail	$1.30
Seedless Raisins, 35c. lb.	30c.	Eye-Opener Sauce, 35c., for	25c.
Tapioca, per lb.	15c.	Worcester Sauce, 2 for	25c.
Pastry Flour, 24 lbs.	$1.85	Nutmegs, dozen	5c.
Amelia Currants, lb.	27c.	Flavoring Extracts, 15c., 3 for	25c.
Siam Rice, 2 lbs.	35c.	Pure Black Pepper, lb.	45c.
Finest Rolled Oats, 3 lbs.	25c.

We deliver your orders free of charge to any par of the city. We solicit your orders.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

READ DOWN.						READ UP.
Train 19	Train 21	Train 37		STATIONS.		Train 20	Train 22	Train [illegible]
*8.45 a.m.	*10.00 p.m.		Lv.	Montreal	Arr.	*6.20 p.m.	*9.00 a.m.
9.50 a.m.	10.32 p.m.	§1.00 p.m.	Lv.	Ottawa	Arr.	5.15 p.m.	7.45 a.m.	§10.00 p.m.
2.23 p.m.	3.52 a.m.	5.28 p.m.	Lv.	Belleville	Lv.	12.25 p.m.	2.08 a.m.	4.52 p.m.
5.15 p.m.	7.40 a.m.	9.30 p.m.	Arr.	Toronto	Lv.	8.50 a.m.	10.30 p.m.	1.30 p.m.
12.15 a.m.	1.20 p.m.	6.50 a.m.	Arr.	Detroit	Lv.	12.35 a.m.	2.20 p.m.
7.55 a.m.	9.05 p.m.	8.00 a.m.	Arr.	Chicago	Lv.	4.40 p.m.

* Daily. §Daily except Sunday. S. BURROWS, City Passenger Agent.

City And Country

SEVERAL BARNS BURNED

Farmers in the vicinity of Brockville suffered heavy losses in the severe electric storm of Monday night. Several barns were burned and numerous horses and cattle killed. The heaviest loss was suffered by Samuel Percival, residing near North Augusta who had three large barns destroyed together with their contents, the result of his harvest.

LOOKING FOR WIFE

Stanley Babcock of Kingston, arrested at Brockville, after he had made threats regarding a man who had abducted his wife was fined $10 and $6.75 costs on a charge of intoxication. Babcock spent the night in jail pending the arrival of the necessary funds from his father, who lives in Napanee. He claimed to have traced the runaway couple to Montreal and thence to Brockville, where the man, a stone cutter, had shipped his tools. The hammer which Babcock carried and with which he threatened to kill the abductor of his wife belonged to the stone cutter and was obtained in Montreal.

LADIES DEVELOP MUSCLE

Gymnasium and swimming classes held every Wednesday for young women and children at the Y.M.C.A. building are proving very popular and large numbers are taking advantage of them.

CIVIC COMMITTEES

A regular meeting of the civic committees, the first since the Council's holiday will be held this evening. There are several matters to be considered.

Social And Personal

Miss Florence Thompson of this city has gone to Toronto to attend Trinity College.

Miss Libby, a teacher in the Belleville High School is confined to the hospital here owing to illness.

Mrs. Waddell and Mrs. J. Waddell have returned home from Woodstock after visiting the former's sister, who is seriously ill.

Shoplifter Visits Belleville Store

On Tuesday of this week a comparatively young woman, a stranger in this city visited the store of Wotten's Limited on Front street under the pretext of purchasing a lady's coat. She examined a number which apparently did not suit, and for a few minutes the lady clerk who was waiting upon her was called to another part of the store. Upon the return of the clerk, the woman stated that she did not see what she desired and left the store taking with her a wrap which she had laid aside whilst trying on coats. After the woman left the following articles were missed:

One georgette crepe lady's dress, one lady's silk suit, one silk camisole, two Jersey silk petticoats, a piece of lady's neckwear and a pair of silk gloves.

Mr. Wotten reported the affair to the police and yesterday afternoon, he, in company with Sergt. Naphin of the local force visited Kingston with the result that the alleged shop-lifter was arrested at an early hour this morning and the stolen goods recovered.

The woman was brought to the city later and by Magistrate Masson was remanded to jail until October 8th. She gave her name as Mrs. Marguerite Bates, wife of Lester Bates and address as 97 City Councillor street, Montreal. Her husband, she stated was at present engaged in visiting fairs where he operates a wheel. She also stated that she was born at Perth and had resided there for some time. Her age is given as 21 years.

To Sergt. Naphin is due much credit for effecting the arrest of the woman as he had but little to work upon. He also states that he was materially assisted by the Kingston police and especially Constable Cotter. The goods taken were to the value of $150.

CALLED BY DEATH

H. E. BOND

Mr. Hedleigh E. Bond, 10 McKenzie Avenue, Toronto, died on Monday night following an operation. He was for many years in the wholesale clothing business in Toronto retiring about eight years ago. He was born in Belleville 59 years ago. A widow and two daughters survive: Mrs. C. Ferguson, of Ottawa, and Miss Mary Bond; also three step-children, Col. Carlton Allen, D.S.O., Mrs. Arthur Wright and Miss June Allen. A son, Capt. St. George Bond of the Royal Engineers, was killed in action.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Used for Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $2 per box, 3 for $5. Sold by all druggists, or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

GRIFFIN'S THEATRE
Monday Night, October 2
COMING WITH MANY NEW SONGS, DANCES AND NOVELTIES

LECONTE & FLESHER OFFER
THE TUNEFUL MUSICAL COMEDY
MY SOLDIER GIRL

BRIGHT CLEAN AND LIVELY
BRIGADE OF WONDERFUL GIRLS
SMART SWIFT SAUCY CAST
GORGEOUSLY MOUNTED PRODUCTION
SIX WONDERFUL DANCERS from the CLEVER "PONY" BALLET on "FLIRTATION WALK"
PRICES:—50—75—$1.00—$1.50 PLUS TAX.
SEATS SATURDAY 10 a.m. BOX OFFICE.

G.V.W.A. Notes

The regular meeting of the Belleville branch, Great War Veterans, association, was held in the association rooms, 224 Front street. The president, Comrade C. F. Wallbridge, occupied the chair. Owing to "Experience" being played in the Griffin Theatre, the attendance was not as large as expected.

The president reported for the Decoration Day service, on Sunday, Oct. 3rd on the Armouries lawn at 2.30 p. m. Invitations have been sent to the local clergy and a number have already accepted. The Rev. Major Kidd of Kingston, chaplain of the 4th Brigade in France, will be present. A good program will be furnished, consisting of singing; the G.W.V.A. band will furnish the music, and Adjutant I. Cavender of the Salvation Army will lead the singing. The Rev. Major Kidd will deliver a short address, Comrade James Booth will sing. An invitation is extended to all citizens to attend this Memorial Service. All ex-members of the forces and nursing sisters are especially invited to be present and pay tribute to our deceased comrades overseas and those buried in the Belleville cemetery. After the ceremony cars will convey the ex-soldiers and nursing sisters to the cemetery, where flowers will be distributed on the soldiers' graves. An appeal is made to the citizens who would like to contribute flowers for this occasion to kindly send them to the G. W. V. A. rooms on Saturday, where they will be attended to until Sunday afternoon. The association have the names of seventeen comrades who are buried in the two cemeteries.

Arrangements are being made with the entertainment committee to furnish a program at each meeting of the association during the winter months. It is the intention to hold a lady's night in the near future when the members will have the privilege of bringing their wives, mothers and lady friends.

Pension Medical Board.

The Pension Committee reported that the travelling medical board will be in Belleville Nov. 15 to Nov. 19 inclusive, when the different pensioners will be examined. Anyone not satisfied with their award, or those who think they should receive a pension, kindly call and see the Secretary and the names will be forwarded to the Pension Committee. The association is at the service of all returned men to adjust any claims, etc., so kindly take advantage of this.

Soldiers' Insurance.

A number of pamphlets explaining the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act and a number of application forms have been received. There are a number of returned men who cannot get insurance of any kind owing to their disabilities, so the government will insure these men at a low rate. The amount that you can be insured for ranges from $500 to $5000.

A number of positions are vacant at the Thurlow hatchery. Notices of these positions and application forms can be had at the G.W.V.A.

Trophy Cup.

On September 23 a tug-of-war team journeyed to Napanee fair and put up a contest with the Napanee Branch for a beautiful silver cup donated by J. L. Boyes & Son. The result of the pull was in favor of Belleville Branch. The cup was on view last evening at the meeting. In order that the trophy becomes the property of the Belleville Branch we must win it again next year.

California Talk.

After the business had been transacted, the president announced that Mr. J. J. B. Flint would deliver an address on California and introduced the speaker to the members.

After listening to Mr. Flint's address one would think they had been to California and seen the land of sunshine and flowers. Mr. Flint had a number of colored portraits of California and also a number of illustrated booklets. These were passed around and viewed by the members. Those who failed to hear Mr. Flint's travel talk missed a great treat. The Veterans hope to have the pleasure of listening to Mr. Flint at some furture date. At the conclusion of the address a hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Flint.

How to Make Your Hair Beautiful

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics," in the world is a simple, old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona de Composee and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum and ½ drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you should not find a loose or straggling hair. Dandruff should quickly disappear. You should find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair growing with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its results.

Comes already sweetened
Its own sugar is developed in the baking. It solves your sugar problem among ready-to-eat cereals.
Grape-Nuts
Order a package from the grocer. Its flavor appeals and there is no waste.

Made by Canadian Postum Cereal Co. Ltd., Windsor, Ontario.

MEN'S NEW FALL FOOTWEAR
One of the newest styles in Men's Fall Shoes is the Popular BROGUE
We have this desirable style in heavy or medium weight in a rich nut brown shade.
Other New Fall Boots in brown leathers, priced at $7.50, $8.00, $9.00, $10.00—extra values.

New Brogue Oxfords for Ladies
This popular shoe intended for Fall and Winter, to be worn with spats or heavy hose. Several shades—brown or black—B, C or D widths. Priced from $9.00 to $11.00.

THE HAINES SHOE HOUSES

WOTTEN'S LIMITED.

SAVE
By Shopping at
WOTTEN'S
You will actually save on your autumn wearables by shopping at this new Ladies Wear Store. Our stock is fresh and new for the season, and every article has been marked at very advantageous prices for thrifty women to take advantage of. There is always something new to be seen here, so drop in any time you are down town and look around. You are welcome indeed, whether a purchase is intended or not.
Wottens Limit'd
LADIES' WEAR STORE

Service Phone 1100 - 808
UPHOLSTERING
Full line of Tapestries and Coverings at lowest prices.
F. W. CHURCHILL.
Undertaker--Motor and Horse Equipment.
194 Front St. Opposite Standard Bank

More Bread and Butter
Little Tommy Tucker, singing for his supper;
What shall he sing for? More bread and butter.
Brad and Butter, the food for which little Tommy has been singing in Mother Goose for years and years, is good food. Science now says so.
Feed children the simple foods regularly: Bread and butter, bread and milk, fruits and vegetables. Note their ruddy cheeks. Watch them grow.
Bread is your best food—eat more of it. Order an extra loaf today and save on your food bill.
YEREX & SONS
68 SINCLAIR STREET.

Lawrence Wilson Company
87 St. James Street
Montreal
ALL ENQUIRIES RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION
Licensed by Quebec Government Since Thirty Years